The answer to this objection is that the events of Acts 12 took place between the time of Agabus’ prophecy and the departure of Paul and Barnabas for Jerusalem. It would require some little time to collect the material for famine relief. Acts 11:30 is an example of the normal procedure of ancient historians to carry an account to a suitable stopping place before turning to another source (cf. W. L. Knox, comm. on Acts [1948], pp. 36f.).

(3) The visit recorded in Acts 11 is too early to be equated with Gal. 2, which is specifically dated either fourteen or seventeen years after Paul’s conversion.

But if the famine is dated A.D. 46, then Paul’s conversion would be 32/33, a perfectly acceptable date although a bit earlier than most commentators have it. The lack of Damascus coins indicating Roman occupation between 34–62 and the mention of King Aretas of Nabataea

(1) 割礼问题在《使徒行传》11章中已有定论，为何《使徒行传》15章还要再次提起这个问题呢？

两处的“割礼的问题”并不相同。《使徒行传》11章中割礼问题的出现与保罗福音的独立性有关。而《使徒行传》15章中的割礼只是教会是否接纳外邦人这一真正问题的象征。

(2) 从历史角度看，《使徒行传》11章中救济访问值得怀疑，因为约瑟夫斯认为这一事件发生在希律·亚基帕死后，而路加认为这一事件发生在希律王死前。

(3) 《使徒行传》11章中访问的时间比较明确，要么是保罗归信之后14年，要么是归信之后17年，这个日期太早了，因此不可能是《加拉太书》2章中的访问。

但如果救济访问的时间是公元46年，那么保罗归信的时间应该是公元32或33年，这个时间虽然比大多数评注者认为的时间稍早，但是完全可接受。人们没有找到公元34至62年的大马士革钱币，这表明这一时期该地被罗马占领，而且《哥林多后书》11:32中提到了纳

in 2 Cor. 11:32 allow a conversion date as early as A.D. 31.

(4) It would be anachronous to assume that the “developed outlook” of Paul in Gal. 2 could be true at an early date when he was still subordinate to Barnabas.

This objection misunderstands the relationship between Paul and Barnabas (placing unwarranted significance on the order of names) and overlooks the vigorous activity of Paul in Damascus immediately after his conversion (Acts 9:20–22), to say nothing of the eleven intervening years.

(5) Why should two accounts of the “famine visit” be so different?

Notice, however, that we have but one account (Gal. 2); in Acts there is no more than a reference. Paul relates certain developments of the visits for personal reasons and Luke refers to the incident as one step in the shift of primitive Christianity from Jerusalem to the gentile world.

(6) Filson holds that “the council of Acts 15 implies that no previous conference on Gentile Christianity had been held” (p. 711).

A careful reading of the text fails, to reveal any such implication. Besides, the former meeting (Gal. 2; Acts 11) was not a conference on gentile Christianity but a meeting in which Paul’s authority as an apostle was fully recognized and a division of the missionary task was effected.

We conclude that since the Gal. 2-Acts 11

巴泰王亚哩达，因此我们可以将保罗归信的时间向前推至公元 31 年。

(4) 有一种假设认为在早期当保罗仍然作巴拿巴的副手时，保罗有可能真的在《加拉太书》2 章中提出了这种“成熟的观点”，但这种假设有年代错误。

这种反对观点误解了保罗和巴拿巴之间的关系（在毫无根据的情况下，给名字的先后顺序赋予了意义），而且忽视了保罗转信后不久在大马士革积极传道的行为（徒 9:20-22），更不用说中间的那 11 年了。

(5) 为什么两次“救济访问”的描述如此不同？

但注意，对于这次访问我们只能找到一种描述（加 2）；《使徒行传》仅仅提及了这次访问。保罗出于个人原因讲述了这次访问的某些发展，而路加认为这次访问是原始基督教从耶路撒冷向外邦世界传播过程中的一步。

(6) 费尔森认为“《使徒行传》15 章中的会议暗示出此前未举行过任何关于外邦基督徒的会议”（711 页）。

equation provides “a perfectly clear historical development” (W. L. Knox, p. 49) there is no need to assume the essential untrustworthiness of Luke, develop an ingenious system of doubtlets, or manufacture new visits in Acts. Thus in our treatment of the Jerusalem Council we take as our source of information Acts 15 without modification.

II. Occasion.-Paul and Barnabas returned from their first missionary journey into Asia Minor and reported to the church at Antioch all that God had done with them (Acts 14:27). Here they remained with the disciples for a considerable period of time (Gk. ouk oligos is a characteristic Lukan understatement). During this period “certain men” came from Judea and began to teach (edidaskon is probably to be taken as an inceptive impf.) the brethren at Antioch that circumcision was necessary for salvation. The exact identity of these men is not known but they were probably believing Pharisees who had recently joined the Christian movement. They are the tinias apó Iakóbou of Gal. 2:12.

The rapid expansion of the Christian Church into gentile territory posed a crucial problem for the Jerusalem church. Although they had accepted in principle the inclusion of Gentiles (had not Peter’s vision indicated God’s approval?) they were not prepared for the full implication of their concession. Now they realized that Christianity would be a break with the Mosaic religion and constitute a denial that they were the chosen people of God. From a practical standpoint there would soon be more Gentiles than Jews in the Church, and this could have serious effects upon the level of Christian morality. Since Christ had specifically denied the abolition of the law (Mt. 5:17f.) the Jew would also feel that he had tradition squarely on his side.

II. 会议时机。保罗和巴拿巴结束了在小亚细亚的第一次传道旅程之后, 回到了安提阿, 他们向当地教会讲述了神藉着他们所行的一切事 (徒 14:27)。然后他们就在那里同门徒住了多日 (希腊语: ouk oligos [“不少”], 这是典型的路加式保守陈述)。在这期间, “有几个人”从犹太下来, 开始教训 (希腊语 edidaskon [“教训”], 或许应将这个词视为表始动词的过去未完成式) 安提阿的弟兄们说, 要得救就必须接受割礼。我们不清楚这几个人具体是谁, 但他们可能是信主的法利赛人, 刚加入基督教运动不久。他们是《加拉太书》2:12 中的 tinias apó Iakóbou (“从雅各那里来的人”)。

But while the Jew viewed Christianity as the consummation of his faith, thus stressing its continuity with the past, the Gentile adopted the forward look and conceived of his newfound faith as dissociated from Judaism. For the Gentile the idea of circumcision was both unnecessary and unwise: unnecessary because salvation is by faith, and unwise because it would seriously hinder the propagation of the faith among those who looked with great disfavor upon any form of bodily mutilation (cf. A.D. Nock, St. Paul [1938], p. 104). The seriousness of the situation is aptly stated by W. F. Burnside: "Judaism ... was the birthplace of Christianity and it threatened to be its grave" (comm. on Acts [CGT, 1916], p. 171).

The answer of the more legalistic element of the Jewish wing was that all Gentiles should undergo circumcision and thus come under the legal prescriptions of the Mosaic law. Since Antioch was a thriving center of gentile Christianity it was soon investigated by proponents of this point of view. Not only did they stir up controversy about the way of salvation but they completely upset the existing practice of table fellowship. Gal. 2:11ff. is an illustration of the persuasiveness of their approach. Peter had learned at Joppa and Caesarea that no man was to be considered unclean and excluded from the fellowship (Acts 10:28). Acting in good faith he came to Antioch and joined in the table fellowship. But upon the arrival of the Pharisaic group he lost his nerve and separated himself from the Gentiles. The Jewish Christians at Antioch followed his example and even Barnabas, who recently had returned with Paul from a tour of evangelizing in gentile territory, contravened his convictions. Paul, realizing the implications of the withdrawal (that it would ultimately destroy the basic principle of salvation by grace), opposed Peter openly and pointed out the inconsistency of his action.

Considerable dissension and debate followed. It soon became apparent that the question was too important to be decided apart from consultation with the Jerusalem leaders. That the Antiochene church was willing to consult the mother church indicates that they were not at all persuaded that the emissaries represented the majority opinion of the Jewish church. Thus Paul and Barnabas, along with some others, were appointed to take the issue to Jerusalem. (The subject of Gk. étaksan, Acts 15:2, is disputed. While the Western text rewrites the verse to indicate that “those who had come from Jerusalem” charged them to go, it is more probable that the verb is an impersonal plural and best translated by the passive.) Although it must have been a temptation to Paul to repudiate his opposition and “establish Gentile Christianity in a sphere free from the power, influence, and bigotry of Pharisaism” (E. M. Blaiklock, comm. on Acts [Tyndale, 1959], p. 113), his sense of propriety and his willingness to negotiate for the freedom of the gospel determined his course of action. En route to Jerusalem they passed through Phoenicia and Samaria reporting the conversion of Gentiles and bringing great joy to the hearts of the brethren (15:3).

随后出现了重要的纠纷和争论。人们很快便明显意识到, 这个问题非常重要, 所以不能抛开耶路撒冷的领袖私下做决定。安提阿教会希望同母教会商议, 这表明他们并未被完全接受, 他们派遣的使者代表了犹太教教会的多数意见。因此保罗、巴拿巴和其他人接受指派, 就这个问题咨询耶路撒冷教会。(人们对《使徒行传》15:2 中希腊语 étaksan [“定规”] 的主语存有争议。虽然有许多西方的版本将这一节改写为“那些从耶路撒冷下来的人”嘱托保罗和巴拿巴等人上路, 但这个动词更可能是非人称动词的复数形式, 最好译为被动语态。) 虽然这有可能诱使保罗批判他的反对派, 并“在摆脱法利赛人的权力、影响和偏执的氛围中发展外邦的基督徒” (E. M. Blaiklock, 《使徒行传》评注 [Tyndale, 1959], 113 页), 但保罗的分寸感和为福音争取自由的意愿决定了他的行动。在去往耶路撒冷途中, 他们经过腓尼基和撒玛利亚, “随处传说外邦人归主的事, 叫众弟兄都甚欢喜” (徒 15:3)。

III. The Council.-Arriving in Jerusalem the delegation was warmly received by the apostles and elders. They recounted what God had accomplished through them. Losing no time a group of believing Pharisees seized the opportunity to raise the problem of circumcision and law. Some commentators hold that the legalists had already given some ground in that Acts 15:5 says nothing specific about the relationship of legal obligations to salvation. It is possible that they made a strategic retreat to ground more theologically firm and were content to press their point of view in regard only to social intercourse.

Those who equate Gal. 2 with Acts 15 usually insert the “private conference” at Acts 15:6. But the reference to “all the assembly” (v. 12) and “the whole church” (v. 22) indicate that what followed was a general meeting of the entire congregation. After much debate (zētēsis ranges in meaning from “investigation” to “controversy”) Peter took the floor and presented the crucial argument. He reminded the Council that the issue in question had already been settled in principle. At the house of Cornelius God Himself bore witness to the believing Gentiles by giving them the Holy Spirit. In cleansing their hearts by faith He had erased the line of distinction between Jew and Gentile. How then could the Jews make trial of God by challenging His acceptance of Gentiles and attempting to impose additional requirements? Peter boldly likens circumcision and the law to a yoke that neither their fathers nor they had been able to bear (v. 10). Since they had failed to fulfil the law they must realize that their own salvation, as well as that of the Gentiles, must come as the free gift of God.

III. 使徒会议。到达耶路撒冷后，使徒和长老热情地接待安提阿的代表团。保罗等人就述说神藉着他们完成的事。一群法利赛教门的信徒抓住时机提出了割礼和律法的问题。一些评注者认为这些律法主义者已经做出了一些让步，因为根据《使徒行传》15:5 中的描述，他们并未明确提及律法和救赎的关系。这可能是他们做出的战略撤退，他们将论点更多建立在神学的基础上，并只重点强调关于社交的观点。

那些认为《加拉太书》2 章和《使徒行传》15 章描述的是同一事件的人，通常在《使徒行传》15:6 中添加一次“私下会议”。但经文中后来提及“众人”（徒 15:12）和“全教会”（徒 15:22），这表明这次会议是全部会众都参加的集体会议。“辩论已经多了（zētēsis 可以表示‘调查’或‘辩论’），彼得就起来”，提出了关键论点。他提醒与会者，他们讨论的问题已经基本决定了。在哥尼流家里，神亲自为外邦信徒作了见证，赐予他们圣灵。祂因信心洁净了他们的心，消除了犹太人和外邦人之间的分界线。那么犹太人怎么可以试探神，质疑祂接受外邦人，并试图强加给他们许多额外的要求呢？彼得大胆地将割礼和律法比作犹太人的祖先和他们自己所不能负的轭（徒 15:10）。既然犹太人没有遵守律法，那么他们必须意识到他们自己和外邦人得救乃是出于神的自由恩典。

It has been argued that a man so devoted to the law as Peter (cf. Acts 10:14) could never have spoken of it as a yoke. Was not the attitude of the pious toward the law one of intense pride and joy (cf. Ps. 119)? Perhaps Luke inadvertently gave Peter's speech a "Pauline accent." And what of such Pauline traces as the antithesis of faith to law (Acts 15:9) and salvation by grace (v. 11)?

All such reconstructions reflect the Tübingen assumption of a Petrine-Pauline schism in primitive Christianity. Although laid to rest by the end of the 19th cent., this point of view continues to haunt twentieth-century scholarship. Actually, Peter's speech is true to what we know of him elsewhere. He states his opinion with an enthusiasm that is almost guilty of bending the evidence. (On the Jewish attitude toward the law during this era cf. Bruce, Acts of the Apostles, p. 294.)

Following Peter's speech Barnabas and Paul gave witness to the signs and wonders God had done through them among the Gentiles. This served to answer any objection that the Cornelius episode was an isolated example and not intended as normative. Since Luke is primarily interested in the testimony of Peter and James (the readers of Acts had already learned in narrative form the substance of Paul and Barnabas' remarks in chs. 13f.), he passes by this stage of the Council with no more than a brief reference.

The time for decision had arrived. Peter

有人争论说，像彼得这样遵守律法的人（参：徒 10:14）本不应该认为律法是一种轭。一个虔诚地遵守律法的人难道不应该是非非常尊荣和喜乐的吗（参：诗 119）？路加可能不小心用“保罗的口吻”描述了彼得的述说。保罗式的话语能可以视为忠实遵守律法（徒 15:9）和蒙恩得救（徒 15:11）的对立面吗？

这类重构都反映了杜平根学派对原始基督教中分裂的假想，即彼得派的犹太基督徒和保罗派的外邦基督徒之间存在的分歧。虽然 19 世纪的学者们不再坚持这种观点，但 20 世纪的学者们仍然摆脱不掉这种观点。实际上，此处彼得的说话方式与我们在其他地方看到的他的说话方式一致。他热情洋溢地陈述了他的观点，但这几乎有歪曲事实之嫌。（关于这一时代犹太人对律法的态度，参： Acts of the Apostles, 294 页。）

had established the basic principle by reference to God's acceptance of Cornelius. Barnabas and Paul had given ample illustration of what God was in fact doing among the Gentiles. As leader of the Jerusalem church and moderator of the Council, James, the brother of Jesus, summarized the salient points of the discussion, related it to prophetic declaration, and offered a final decision. In that James was by no means a Paulinist by background or temperament (he was the one who later requested Paul to demonstrate his fidelity to his Jewish heritage by undergoing ceremonial purification, Acts 21:18ff.), what he would say would be widely acceptable among the stricter group.

The crucial point in the entire argument was Peter's experience at Caesarea. It is to this that James redirected the thinking of the Council. God had indicated his own will in visiting the Gentiles and taking out of them a people for His name (Acts 15:14). Luke's use of Gk. episképtomai ("visit") had a note of divine intention (cf. such verses as Lk. 1:68 and 7:16). The remarkable thing about James's statement is not discernible in English translation. The juxtaposition in Greek is significant: ex ethnōn laón ("out of Gentiles a people"). Gk. laós was a word used regularly for the Jews. But the new laós, the Christian community, was to come from the éthnē, Gentiles, as well. The implication of the Caesarean incident was that the Church was to be constituted of Gentiles as well as Jews.

The clinching argument was that this "new departure" was in perfect harmony (Gk. symphōnéō; cf. symphony) with prophetic promise. James quotes from the

彼得在凯撒利亚的经历是全部争论的要点。雅各因此改变了会议的主题。神眷顾外邦人，从他们中间选取百姓归于自己的名下，以此揭示了祂的旨意（徒 15:14）。路加使用希腊词语 episképtomai（“眷顾”）解释神的旨意（参：路 1:68；路 7:16 等经文）。在英语译文中无法辨别出雅各的陈述里值得注意的事。希腊语中的并置非常重要：ex ethnōn laón（“在外邦人中拣选百姓”）。希腊词语 laós（“选民、神的子民”）通常表示犹太人。但新的选民（“基督教社团”）也来自于 éthnē（“外邦人”）。凯撒利亚发生的事暗示出，教会将由外邦人和犹太人共同组成。

会议的最终定论是这种“新起点”完全符合（希腊语：symphōnéō；参：和谐）先知的应允。雅各引用了《七十士译本》里《阿摩司书》9:11-12 中的经文并将其

LXX text of Am. 9:11f. and applies it to the immediate situation. It should be noted that the LXX text has several significant deviations from the MT. In the MT the passage means that Israel will be restored and rule the nations inhabiting the territory of David's kingdom. The LXX reads "man" (from Heb. 'ādām) for "Edom," making it subject rather than object, and has "they will seek" for "they will inherit." This has a meaning decidedly different from the MT. James quotes the LXX, and relates the first part of the prophecy (rebuilding of David's dwelling) to the resurrection of Christ and the founding of His Church on Jewish soil, and the second part (Acts 15:17) to the inclusion of believing Gentiles (the kai, "and," in this verse is epexegetic and places the two clauses in apposition). The presence of gentile believers, such as Cornelius and those reached by Paul and Barnabas, is not a novel departure but the fulfillment of prophecy.

The conclusion follows naturally. If God has allowed the Gentiles entrance and included them as part of His people, who are we to trouble them with legal requirements that are strictly Jewish? The conclusion is not handed down ex cathedra but comes as a respected opinion of the leader (Gk. egō krinō may be translated, "I, for my part, judge ..."; cf. Bruce, Acts of the Apostles, p. 299). It is high time to stop troubling (note the present tense, parenochlein) the gentile converts. Thus the Judaizers' complaint is overruled and the threat of a divided Church is averted. There is but one way of salvation and one qualification for entrance into the Christian fellowship.

IV. Apostolic Decree.-Once it had been determined that gentile converts had no obligation to Jewish ceremonial law, the problem of table fellowship would become that much more acute. How could the Jew, with his conscience sensitive to traditional religious taboos, enter wholeheartedly into fellowship with converts out of paganism who were not only uninformed about Jewish phobias but would be unable to appreciate the “weaker conscience” of the Jew? As a partial answer to this inevitable problem James suggests that the Gentiles abstain from certain practices especially offensive to the Jew. These prohibitions (known now as the Apostolic Decree) are recorded three times in Acts: as suggested by James (Acts 15:20), as stated in the letter (15:29), and as referred to at a later date (21:25).

应用于当下情况。人们应注意《七十士译本》与《马所拉文本》中的经文存在重要偏差。在《马所拉文本》中，这段经文的含义是以色列将重修、统治并居住在大卫王国的领地中。而《七十士译本》则将“以东”改作“人”（翻译自希伯来语：'ādām），从而使该词成为了主语，而非宾语，《七十士译本》还将“他们会寻找”译为“他们会继承”。这种含义与《马所拉文本》中的含义完全不同。雅各引用了《七十士译本》中的经文，将预言中的第一部分（重建大卫的居所）与基督复活和在犹太建立教会联系在一起，将第二部分（徒 15:17）与接纳外邦信徒联系在一起（希腊语 kai，意为“和”，在这一节中是补充成分，将两个从句并置）。外邦信徒的出现，如哥尼流和那些通过保罗和巴拿巴归主的人，并没有违背预言，而是应验了预言。

从中自然得出了结论。如果神接纳了外邦人，并使他们也成为神的子民，那我们又怎么能够用严格的犹太律法要求去难为归信主的外邦人呢？这一结论并不是宗座权威（ex cathedra）宣布的，而是源于一位领袖的受人尊敬的观点（希腊语 egō krinō 可以译为，“至于我，我决定……”；参：Bruce, Acts of the Apostles, 299 页）。是时候停止难为（parenochlein，注意该词是现在式）外邦归信者了。因此犹太派基督徒的抱怨遭到批驳，避免了教会分裂的危险。救赎只有一种方式，进入基督社团的资格也只有一种。

IV. 使徒法令。会议一旦决定外邦归信

Whether the Decree, which prohibits pollutions of idols, fornication, things strangled, and blood, is to be taken as moral or ceremonial depends upon one’s evaluation of the critical variations between the Alexandrian and Western texts. The Alexandrian text has the fourfold prohibition and understands it as a food regulation against meat offered to idols or from which the blood has not properly been drained, and a request that Gentiles conform to the high code of conduct between sexes as maintained in the Jewish community. The Western text omits GK. pniktoú (“what is strangled”) and understands the Decree as a threefold moral prohibition against idolatry, unchastity, and murder. It also adds a negative version of the Golden Rule (in 15:20 and 15:29, but not in 21:25).

In favor of the Western text it has been argued: (1) The addition of pniktoú by a scribe who misunderstood “blood” in a ceremonial sense, and wanted to clarify the prohibition, is more acceptable than the omission of pniktoú if it were original. (2) An admonition to gentile converts to avoid their former heathen worship in its three most characteristic features—idolatry, temple prostitution, blood baths of the mystery cults (cf. the suggestion in IB, IX, 204)—would be appropriate to the context. (3) It explains why Paul makes no later reference to the Decree when dealing with the problem of meat offered to idols at Corinth (1 Cor. 8–10). (4) The uncial support of the Alexandrian text is from the 4th cent., while the Western reading is confirmed by Irenaeus in the 2nd and Tertullian in the 3rd.

者不必遵守犹太的仪式律法，餐桌团契的问题就变得更加尖锐。犹太人对于传统的宗教禁忌十分敏感，而来自异教的归信者不仅不知道犹太人憎恶的事，也不能领会犹太人这种“软弱的两信”，那么犹太人怎么可能全心全意地与外邦归信者一同参加团契呢？对于这个不可避免的问题，雅各做出了一种比较迁就外邦归信者的回应，他建议外邦人弃绝那些犹太人尤其厌恶的习俗。这些禁令（被称为使徒法令）在《使徒行传》中出现了三次：雅各建议过（徒 15:20），信中陈述过（徒 15:29），后来又再次提到过（徒 21:25）。

使徒法令要求外邦归信者“禁忌偶像的污秽和奸淫，并勒死的牲畜和血”，人们对《亚历山太抄本》和西方译本中经文的主要变化的评价，决定了人们将使徒法令看作是道德法令还是礼仪法令。《亚历山太抄本》中有四个禁令，并将其理解为一种饮食规定，即禁止吃祭过偶像的肉或祭牲没流干的血，并要求外邦归信者遵守犹太会众之中的两性间的高标准行为准则。西方译本的经文中则省略了希腊语 pniktoú（“勒死的”），并将法令理解为三个道德禁令，即禁忌崇拜偶像、奸淫和谋杀。它还增加了一种消极版的“道德金律”（徒 15:20 和 15:29，而非徒 21:25）。

In favor of the Alexandrian text: (1) The weight of MS evidence (the trustworthiness of the textual family still takes precedence over date). (2) The Gk. aligēmátōn (“pollutions”) is a hapax legomenon; and the entire phrase, as defined by 15:29 (eidōlothýtōn, “things offered to idols”), is distinctly ceremonial rather than moral. (3) “To abstain [apéchesthai, “hold oneself away”] from blood” is a curious way of saying “Thou shalt not kill.” (4) Instructions to gentile converts regarding Jewish scruples would be expected in this context. Filson writes, “Respect for Jewish aversion to meat containing blood and taken from strangled animals is as intelligible as not serving pork at a modern conference of Jews and Christians” (IDB, I, 711). (5) Although the inclusion of fornication in a series of regulations about food may seem strange, the purpose of the Decree was not to be a model of homogeneity, but a reminder of those things especially offensive to Jewish sensitivities. Bruce mentions an interesting emendation, Gk. porkeias (“swine flesh”) for porneias (“fornication”), but notes that porkeia is not found in Greek and porkos only as a transliteration of the Latin porcus (Acts of the Apostles, p. 300). (6) It would be far more natural for a specific regulation about foods to be broadened at a later time into a general statement of morality than for the reverse to take place. With the passing of time and the shift to a predominantly gentile Church we would even expect some scribe to rescue the relevancy of the regulation by transforming it into a moral code.

(3) 这解释了保罗在解决哥林多吃祭偶像的肉的问题时, 为何没有再次提及使徒法令 (林前 8-10)。(4) 《亚历山太抄本》的大楷体证源来自 4 世纪, 而 2 世纪时爱任纽和 3 世纪时特土良的作品就已经证实了西方译本。

支持《亚历山太抄本》的人认为: (1) 《马所拉文本》的证据非常重要 (这一文本的可信性仍然非常高)。(2) 希腊语 aligēmátōn (“污秽”) 是一个罕用语; 而《使徒行传》15:29 中这个短语 (eidōlothýtōn, “祭偶像的物”) 明显用于仪式方面而非道德方面的含义。(3) 如果说 “要禁忌 (apéchesthai, “使自己远离”) 血” 的意思是 “不要杀人”, 就会显得很奇怪。(4) 此处语境中应该是将犹太人的禁忌告知外邦归信者。费尔森写道, “犹太人厌恶带血的肉和勒死牲畜的肉, 遵守这种传统就像不要在现代会议给犹太人和基督徒提供猪肉一样容易理解” (IDB, I, 711)。(5) 虽然在一系列关于食物的规定中提到奸淫的禁令有些奇怪, 但这一法令不是要告知人们同类的禁忌, 而是提醒外邦归信者禁忌犹太人尤其厌恶的事。布鲁斯提出了一种值得注意的修订, 他认为应当将 porneias (“奸淫”) 修订成 porkeias (“猪肉”), 但注意, 希腊语中并没有 porkeia 一词, 而 porkos 则只用来翻译拉丁语中的 porcus (“猪”) (Acts of the

One interesting explanation for the critical variants is that the Alexandrian text was original but consisted of only two prohibitions: one against meat offered to idols and another against meat from which the blood had not properly been drained. The textual group represented by *p*⁴⁵ (Chester Beatty) and Ethiopic, which have no reference to fornication, understood it as a food law and added “what is strangled” as explanation. The Western group took it as moral and added a third major sin, fornication.

Since the evidence favors the fourfold Alexandrian text, we interpret the Decree as relating to those gentile practices that were abhorrent to the Jew and would seriously impair the table fellowship in the local congregation. Since blood was considered a delicacy in pagan society but prohibited to the Jews (Lev. 17:10ff.) on the basis that the “life of the flesh is in the blood,” imagine the horror of Jewish Christians at a fellowship meal where recent gentile converts were relishing meat with the blood in it!

Apostles, 300 页)。(6) 一个单独的关于食物的规定，后来被扩展成了关于道德的一般陈述，这种发展顺序如果反过来就会显得不那么自然。随着时间的推移，外邦归信者逐渐成为教会的主体，那么我们甚至可以认为某个文士为了使规定更切合实际情况，而将其改成了道德准则。

由于证据支持《亚历山太抄本》中的四个禁令，所以我们将使徒法令解读为禁止那些犹太人厌恶的、严重影响当地会众间餐桌团契的外邦习俗。异教社会认为血是一种美味佳肴，而神却因“活物的生命是在血中”(利 17:10 起) 而禁止犹太人吃血，那么想象一下，当参加餐桌团契时，新近加入的外邦归信者却品尝着带血的肉，这对犹太派基督徒来说会是多么可怕！

Some have traced the background of the Decree to the so-called Noachic precepts. It was believed by later rabbis that prohibitions against blasphemy, idolatry, murder, incest, robbery, resistance to magistrates, and the eating of blood, were enjoined upon the sons of Noah as representatives of the whole human race. This stems from Gen. 9, where murder and the eating of meat containing blood are forbidden. These Noachic prohibitions are taken as an elementary code of universal obligation in existence before the perfect law of God given through Moses. Hence James could make valid appeal to them in his attempt to regulate gentile conduct. The planting of such a subtle scheme in the mind of James, however, seems to be an unnecessary tour de force. All he was doing was giving practical advice on how gentile converts could avoid offending the weaker conscience of their Jewish friends.

Some have doubted the genuineness of the Decree, holding that it originated at a later date (e.g., H. Lietzmann, Beginnings of the Christian Church [Eng. tr. 1937], p. 109). It is said that James's reference to the Decree in Acts 21:25 indicates that Paul had never heard of it. A careful reading of the text, however, indicates that such an inference is unwarranted.

It is also argued that Paul would have referred to the Decree in his extended discussion with the Corinthians about meat offered to idols (1 Cor. 8-10). But in 1 Corinthians Paul is arguing for a principle and could achieve little by bringing up as evidence a decision given in a totally different situation. At Antioch the problem was one of instruction so as to avoid offense; at Corinth of wilful disregard of the weaker brother. Reference to a Council decision before the disorderly element at Corinth would have been utterly futile. Even if such an appeal to an external authority would have carried the day in Corinth it would have laid Paul wide open to the criticism of those who refused to recognize him as an apostle in the full sense.

一些人质疑使徒法令的真实性，他们认为这是后期才形成的（如 H. Lietzmann, Beginnings of the Christian Church [1937 年英文译本], 109 页）。他们认为雅各在《使徒行传》21:25 中提及使徒法令表明保罗从未听说过该法令。然而，仔细阅读经文就会发现这种推论毫无根据。

The relationship of James's concluding statement (v. 21) to the preceding Decree is obscure. Among the more plausible explanations are: (1) This proposal will not undermine Israel's impact upon the gentile world because there is ample opportunity for them to learn the law of Moses. (2) These precautions are necessary because Jewish worshipers reside in every gentile community and the majority must make concession to the scruples of the minority. (3) The gentile God-fearers are so accustomed to hear the law of Moses that they will readily see the wisdom in avoiding offense. (4) Moses would not lose out by not gaining a people who were never his.

V. Outcome.-James's proposal won acceptance among the leaders of the Jerusalem church (Gk. édoxe, "it pleased," is used regularly for taking a decision in assembly). Judas (presumably a brother of Joseph, mentioned in Acts 1:23) and Silas (Silvanus of 2 Cor. 1:19) were chosen by the leaders to accompany Paul and Barnabas to Antioch. They were to confirm by word of mouth the written report (Acts 15:27).

The letter is sent by the apostles and

雅各总结辞（徒 15:21）和之前的法令的关系非常模糊。更为可信的解释有：

（1）这种提议不会破坏以色列对外邦世界的影响，因为外邦归信者有足够的机会学习摩西律法。（2）这类预防措施很重要，因为每个外邦社团中都有犹太信徒，而多数人应该为少数人的禁忌做出让步。（3）敬畏神的外邦人已经习惯了听人们说起摩西律法，因此他们会明白避免冒犯是明智的。（4）摩西不会因未能赢得从来不属于他的民而失败。

V. 会议成果。耶路撒冷教会的领袖接受了雅各的提议（希腊语：édoxe，“定意”，通常用于表示集体做出决定）。领袖们拣选犹大（可能《使徒行传》1:23中提到的约瑟的一个弟兄）和西拉（《哥林多后书》1:19将西拉的名字拼写为“Silvanus”）和保罗、巴拿巴同往安提阿去。他们要亲口诉说这件事来证明信中所写之事（徒 15:27）。

elders of Jerusalem. They are further designated “brethren,” although some join Gk. adelphoi to presbyteroi and read “elder brethren.” It is addressed to the gentile brethren in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia. In view of those who had reportedly gone out from the Jerusalem church to trouble with words and subvert the faith of the converts, it seemed appropriate not only to write the decision of the Council but to send along official spokesmen. When the entourage reached Antioch the letter was read and the church received the exhortation with great rejoicing. After a period Judas returned to Jerusalem but Silas remained in Antioch.

The significance of the Jerusalem Council is that in the first great threat to the unity of the early Church, intelligent arbitration prevented a drastic division along ethnic and religious lines. “Ultimately, the [Judaizing] movement developed into Ebionism, which in time became a great force in world-history in Islam, with its passionate protest against the Son of God” (Schlatter, p. 128). But within the Christian Church a major step forward was taken. The Jewish wing, with its ceremonial practices, agreed that God was accepting Gentiles on the basis of faith alone, and the gentile wing willingly altered their cultural pattern so as not to be offensive to their Jewish brethren and thus undermine the possibility of genuine harmony within the Church.

被进一步称为“弟兄们”，虽然有些人将希腊语 adelphoi 和 presbyteroi 连在一起，译为“年长的弟兄们”。这封信的收信人是安提阿、叙利亚和基利家的外邦弟兄。由于那些用言语难为外邦归信者，颠覆他们信心的人据称是从耶路撒冷教会来的，所以使徒和长老应当既写信告知会议的结果，同时又派出正式的发言人。这些人到安提阿之后，念了这封信，教会就欢喜地领受了信中的训诫。住了一段日子后，犹大回了耶路撒冷，而西拉则继续留在安提阿。

APOSTOLIC FATHERS.

Any attempt to classify the Christian literature of the second and early third centuries under distinct headings is bound to be somewhat arbitrary. The original editors of ISBE included in “Subapostolic Literature” the writings more commonly known as the “Apostolic Fathers” (except for the Martyrdom of Polycarp) plus the fragments of Papias, and two of the early apologists, Aristides and Justin Martyr. These were the documents believed to have been written before A.D. 156, the date of the death of Polycarp who was, according to Irenaeus, a disciple of the apostle John and therefore presumably the last surviving disciple of an apostle. Excluded from the list (even if they fell within the stipulated dates) were writings falsely attributed to apostles (i.e., the NT Apocrypha) and writings which by later standards were judged to be “heretical” (e.g., the fragments of the Gnostics Basilides and Valentinus).

Such a method of classification exhibits many arbitrary features and creates a number of problems. For example, there is now wide agreement that the so-called Epistle to Diognetus belongs not to this early period but to the end of the 2nd and the beginning of the 3rd century. Moreover, the thirteen papyrus codices discovered in 1945 near NAG HAMMADI on the banks of the Nile in Upper Egypt, have enriched and virtually revolutionized our picture of this “subapostolic age.” Although they may generally be described as Gnostic, some of them, such as the Valentinian Gospel of Truth and Epistle to Rheginos, stand almost as close to “orthodoxy” (depending on how that term is defined) as parts of the Apostolic Fathers and the Apologists. The “subapostolic age” was in any case a period in which the bounds of orthodoxy and heresy had not yet been firmly established. All sides on virtually every question seem to have claimed support for their views in some kind of apostolic tradition. It is historically misleading to abstract one group of early second-century writings, no matter how diverse a group it may be, from the rest and distinguish it with the title of “subapostolic literature.” Only on the basis of tradition, remembering the subsequent influence which the “Apostolic Fathers” have had on the Christian Church, can such a procedure be justified. These documents have functioned as a kind of secondary “canon” for centuries, and as such are entitled to separate treatment. The only misconception to be avoided is that they offer anything like a complete picture of the era immediately following the death of the last apostles.

APOSTOLIC FATHERS. 使徒后期教父著作

试图将 2 世纪和 3 世纪早期的基督教文学划分为不同标题的做法似乎有些武断。《国际标准圣经百科全书》的最初编辑者将通常称为“使徒后期教父著作”(除了 Martyrdom of Polycarp)、帕皮亚的作品残本和两个早期护教士(阿立斯蒂亚和殉道者游斯丁)的作品都归于“使徒后期文献”之中。人们认为这些作品都是在公元 156 年之前写成的,即坡旅甲殉道之前写成的,根据爱任纽的记载,坡旅甲是使徒约翰的门徒,因此可能是最后一位使徒门徒。但还有一些被误认为是使徒所作的作品(即新约次经)或根据后世的标准被定为“异端学说”的作品(即诺斯替教巴西利得和华伦提努的作品残本)不属于上述文献之列,虽然这些作品也是在公元 156 年之前所作。

通常认为这些作品属于诺斯替教作品，但其中的某些作品，如华伦提努派的《真理福音》和《雷及诺书》(Epistle to Rheginos)，与使徒后期教父和护教士的某些作品同样接近“正统”(取决于“正统”一词是如何定义的)。总之，在“使徒后期”，正统和异端的界限还未牢固确立。实际上，每个问题的各种方面似乎都能在使徒传统那里找到根据。无论一类作品与其他2世纪早期的作品有多大区别，将这类作品从中划分出来，并称其为“使徒后期”作品，这从历史角度来讲都是带有误导性的。只有基于传统，牢记“使徒后期教父著作”对随后的基督教会产生的影响，才能证明这一做法是合理的。长达数个世纪，这些作品曾一直视为“正典”，因此应当区别对待。人们唯一要避免的，就是不要将这类作品误认为是最后一位使徒死后那段时期全部情况的体现。

I. First Clement.-This epistle is the earliest and best known of the so-called “Apostolic Fathers.” It is extant in two Greek MSS:the fifth-century biblical Codex Alexandrinus, where it stands at the end of the NT, and the Constantinople MS written in 1056 and rediscovered by Philotheos Bryennios in 1873, containing both 1 and 2 Clement, as well as Barnabas, Didache, and a long recension of the letters of Ignatius. In addition there are Latin, Syriac, and Coptic versions of 1 Clement, as well as extensive quotations by Clement of Alexandria.

I. 《革利免一书》。这封书信是所谓的“使徒后期教父著作”中最早的，也是最著名的。该作品现有两份希腊语手稿流传下来：15 世纪时的《亚历山太抄本》，在这份抄本中，该作品被放在《新

The salutation of this letter designates it as an epistle from the church at Rome to the church at Corinth. No author is mentioned by name, but tradition uniformly identifies the author as Clement. As early as A.D. 170 Dionysius bishop of Corinth wrote to Soter bishop of Rome in answer to a letter received from Rome by the Corinthian church: "Today we observed the holy day of the Lord, and read out your letter, which we shall continue to read from time to time for our admonition, as we do with that which was formerly sent to us through Clement" (Eusebius HE iv.23.11). Clement of Alexandria quotes this letter frequently, referring to it both as "the letter of the Romans to the Corinthians" (Misc. v.80.1) and as the letter of "Clement" (i.38.5), or even "the apostle Clement" (iv. 105.1).

This Clement of Rome is probably to be identified with the Clement whom Eusebius mentions as the third bishop of Rome after Peter (HE iii.4.9; iii.15.1f.). Eusebius' assumption that the Roman church at this early period was ruled by a single bishop is in all likelihood an anachronism, even though it was believed already by Irenaeus near the end of the 2nd cent. (Adv. haer. iii.3). Much earlier, when Ignatius wrote his letter to the Roman church, the monarchical bishop is conspicuously absent, while 1 Clement itself speaks consistently in terms of a body of presbyters rather than a single ruling bishop. Clement was therefore most likely one of the chief presbyters in the Roman church near the end of the 1st cent. and wrote his epistle on behalf of the congregation (cf. Eusebius HE iii.38.1). In the Shepherd of Hermas (Vis. 2:4:3) a Clement is mentioned whose duty it was, presumably in the church of Rome, to send messages to other cities, and it is possible that the same individual is in view.

这封书信中的称谓表明这是一封罗马教会写给哥林多教会的书信。信中没有提到作者的姓名，但依据传统人们一致认定这封信的作者就是革利免。早在公元170年，哥林多主教狄尼修就曾写信给罗马主教索泰尔，回复他此前收到的哥林多教会寄来的书信：“今天是主日，我们在诵读你们的书信。因为信中的宝贵告诫，我们将会经常诵读它，正如我们经常诵读革利免早先为你们的缘故所写的那封书信一样”（Eusebius HE iv.23.11）。亚历山太的革利免多次引用这封书信，称它是“罗马人致哥林多书信”（Misc. v.80.1）和“革利免书信”（i.38.5），甚至是“使徒革利免书信”（iv. 105.1）。

这个罗马的革利免可能就是优西比乌提到的继彼得之后的第三个罗马主教革利免（HE iii.4.9; iii.15.1-2）。优西比乌认为早期的罗马教会仅由一个主教统治，虽然2世纪末期的爱任纽就已经认同这种观点（Adv. haer. iii.3），但这很有可能并不符合当时的真实情况。更早时期，当伊格那丢给罗马教会写信时，教会中显然没有这种专制的主教，而《革利免一书》中也一再提到教会中有长老会，没有专制的主教。因此，革利免很可能是1世纪末期罗马教会中的一

Two other identifications are more speculative: the ancient one of Origen and Eusebius that this Clement is also Paul's co-worker mentioned in Phil. 4:3, and the modern one that he is the same as, or belonged to the household of, the consul Titus Flavius Clemens who was put to death about A.D. 95 for disloyalty to the gods and pro-Jewish tendencies (Dio Cassius Hist. lxvii. 14). These are no more than guesses. Essentially 1 Clement is not the product of an identifiable "great personality," but a letter from one important church to another in response to a particular crisis.

The situation in the Corinthian church is sketched in the first three chapters. Chs. 4–36 consist of a general discourse on the Christian virtues (with the Corinthian problem in view). Chs. 37–61 bring the argument to bear on the immediate crisis. Chs. 62–65 function as a summary and final exhortation from the Roman church. The author begins by apologizing for the congregation's delay in addressing itself to the predicament of its sister church. He refers vaguely to "misfortunes and calamities" in Rome which have hindered this ministry of exhortation (1:1). We have no way of knowing what these troubles were, but possibly the reference is to provocations against Christians late in the reign of the Emperor Domitian (A.D. 81–96). The threat in Corinth, however, was from within, an “abominable and unholy schism” (1:1) in which there had been a rebellion against those in authority in the church (3:1–4). The description becomes more explicit later on when the author states that “in spite of their good service you have removed some from the ministry which they fulfilled blamelessly” (44:6). He contrasts the present sedition with an idealized past when Corinthians were obedient to their leaders and wholly at peace among themselves (1:2–2:8). The reader of the NT will think that the divisions Paul faced at Corinth have been overlooked, but Clement later qualifies this simplistic picture by admitting that when “the blessed Paul the Apostle” wrote his epistle, “even then you had made yourselves partisans” (47:3). But in those days they had at least aligned themselves with apostles (cf. 1 Cor. 1:12), “men of high reputation,” while now they had overturned all authority, so that “on account of one or two persons the old and well-established church of the Corinthians is in revolt against the presbyters” (47:6).

The central section of 1 Clement (4:1–36:6) draws on many sources for examples to combat the rebellion. Jealousy and envy have brought about all kinds of evil in the past, not only in the OT (4:1–13) but in “our own generation” in the trials which confronted Peter and Paul and the other martyrs (5:1–6:4). But God has always given repentance to those who will turn to Him, and according to the “venerable rule of our tradition” (7:2) has made this repentance available to all through Jesus Christ (7:1–8:5). Thus Clement anticipates the outright appeal for repentance which he will make in ch. 57. He similarly extols the virtues of obedience, faithfulness, and hospitality as exemplified in such OT figures as Abraham, Lot, and Rahab (9:1–12:8). These were evidently the qualities he felt to be conspicuously lacking in the rebels at Corinth. The frequent mention of hospitality in particular suggests that antagonism had been directed not only toward the Corinthian presbyters, but perhaps toward emissaries from other churches as well, possibly to messengers from Rome (cf. 63:3; 65:1). What is needed above all else is humility, and Clement speaks of many who exemplified this virtue (13:1–19:1), preeminently Christ Himself (16:1–17) and David (18:1–16).

The keynote of the next subsection is peace and harmony, which Clement illustrates from the natural creation (19:2–20:12). He reinforces his appeal to the Corinthians by pointing to the reality of divine judgment and the hope of resurrection (21:1–28:4). Creation and redemption are inextricably bound together as the basis on which he presses home his argument. To support the idea of a future resurrection he can appeal without much distinction to Scripture, to the raising of Jesus Christ, to the regularity of nature, and even to the strange legend of the phoenix bird who renews himself every fifty years (25:1–5), a legend which is paralleled in several of the pagan “natural histories.” Clement brings to a close his general discourse on the Christian life with an emphasis on holiness as the way to the blessedness that comes from God (29:1–36:6). Here his argument is heavily laced with Scripture citations, not only from the OT but from the NT as well (esp. in ch. 36, the Epistle to the Hebrews). The words of 36:6, “Who then are the enemies?” anticipate the last main section of 1 Clement, which turns once more to the Corinthian situation.

人都能悔改得救 (7:1-8:5)。因此, 革利免在第 57 章中期望人们都能悔改。他同样还赞扬了顺从、信心和好客的美德, 并以亚伯拉罕、罗得和喇合等《旧约》中的人物为例进行了说明 (9:1-12:8)。他认为这是哥林多骚动的人群显然缺少的品质。革利免还经常提及好客, 这表明哥林多的人们不仅反抗哥林多教会的长老, 还敌视来自其他教会的使者, 这可能指的是从罗马来的信使 (参: 63:3; 65:1)。另一个极为重要的美德是谦卑, 革利免列举了许多拥有谦卑美德的人作例子 (13:1-19:1), 最突出的例子就是基督 (16:1-17) 和大卫 (18:1-16)。

Clement adopts military imagery as the framework for his solution to the problem afflicting the church. He reiterates the divinely established order which must govern all things (37:1–43:6) and simultaneously pleads with and warns those who he feels have violated this order (44:1–48:6). After a short excursus on love (49:1–50:7) he renews his appeal for repentance (51:1–59:2), closing with a long liturgical prayer for harmony (59:3–61:3) and a summary of his argument (62:1–65:2). The epistle is carried from Rome to Corinth by “faithful and prudent men, who have lived among us without blame from youth to old age, and they shall be witnesses between you and us” (63:3). These three messengers are named in 65:1 with the request that they be allowed quickly to return to Rome, hopefully with news of reconciliation.

1 Clement has considerable historical importance as a witness to the authority exercised by the church of Rome over a sister church near the end of the 1st century. Such authority is not surprising in view of the city of Rome’s relation to Corinth as a Roman colony, and in any case it should not be forgotten that two decades later Ignatius bishop of Antioch does not hesitate to instruct the churches of Asia Minor. There is therefore no reason to assume that the authority reflected in 1 Clement belonged to the Roman church in any exclusive way.

革利免以军事意象为框架提出了解决哥林多困扰的方法。他一再陈述神建立的秩序将管理万有 (37:1-43:6)，同时他还恳求并警示那些他认为违背了神的秩序的人 (44:1-48:6)。革利免简单地论述了爱心之后 (49:1-50:7)，再次呼吁人们悔改 (51:1-59:2)，然后以一段赞颂和谐的长篇赞美诗和一段总结 (62:1-65:2) 结束了这封书信。将这封书信从罗马送至哥林多的信使是几位 “忠实而谨慎的人，他们是从少时直到老年，住在我们当中，始终无可指摘的，他们必将为你们与我们中间的见证人” (63:3)。《革利免一书》65:1 中提到了这三个信使的名字，同时还要求这三个人尽快回到罗马，希望他们能带回和解的消息。

II. Second Clement.-The designation of Clement's epistle as "first" is really a misnomer, for there is no authentic "second" letter from him to any church. The document known in tradition as 2 Clement is not an epistle but an anonymous sermon of uncertain date. Doubt was expressed about its authenticity as early as Eusebius (HE iii.38.4). It generally circulated with 1 Clement in the later Church, and is extant in the same two Greek manuscripts and Syriac version as the other writing, though it is not found in the Latin or Coptic versions. Codex Alexandrinus breaks off after ch. 12 so that the complete Greek text was unknown until the Bryennios discovery of the Constantinople manuscript in 1873. This find made it clear that the document was indeed a sermon, for a specific occasion of public worship is presupposed. The hearers are exhorted to "pay attention" both "now" and "when we have gone home," and to "try to come here more frequently" (17:3; cf. 19:1).

The traditional association with 1 Clement suggests that it was written in Rome, though its non-epistolary character weakens Harnack's theory that it is the lost letter of Bishop Soter to the Corinthian church. Certain similarities with the Shepherd of Hermas (e.g., 2 Clem. 8:6) tend to confirm Roman origin. The use of material otherwise more familiar to us in Gnostic writings suggests that 2 Clement comes from a time and place in which orthodox and Gnostic alike drew on a common stock of traditions. In 12:2-6 the author takes a saying now known to us from the Nag Hammadi Gospel of Thomas Logion 22 and (with no trace of polemic) attaches to it a wholly orthodox interpretation (much as the Gnostics took apostolic traditions and without hesitation interpreted them in Gnostic fashion). R. M. Grant feels that such a practice points to the time around A.D. 140 when such Gnostic teachers as Marcion and Valentinus were active in Rome without being immediately rejected as heretics. This is possible, though there is every likelihood that this kind of fluidity between "orthodox" and "Gnostic" traditions existed in many times and places in the 2nd century.

II. 《革利免二书》。人们称之前提到的作品为“一书”，这实在有些不恰当，因为革利免并没有给任何教会写过“第二封”书信。传统中的《革利免二书》并不是一封书信，而是一份时间不详、作者不明的讲道词。早在优西比乌时期，这本书的真实性就已经受到了质疑（HE iii.38.4）。这部作品通常和《革利免一书》一起流传于后期的教会之中，两部相同的希腊语手稿和另一部同名不同作的叙利亚版本流传了下来，但人们并未发现该书的拉丁语或科普特语版本。《亚历山大抄本》在第12章后突然终止，因此直到1873年布里恩尼乌斯（Bryennios）发现君士坦丁堡手稿之前，人们并不知道该书的完整希腊语文本。这次发现使得人们明确认识到该书实际上是一本讲道词，而该书的前提是公开崇拜这一个特殊场合。书中规劝听众不单要“现在”“相信倾听”长老的全面，“回至家中以后”也要记住主的诫命，并“要勉力常常到教堂来”（17:3；参：19:1）。

This ancient Christian sermon begins with a reflection on the salvation which God has granted to the gentile hearers (1:1-4:5). They must not take lightly either the salvation itself or Jesus Christ through whom it has come. He must be acknowledged as Lord, along with God the Father, not only with words but with deeds as well. The preacher appeals to Isa. 54:1 and to certain sayings of Jesus (cf. Mk. 2:17; Lk. 19:10) to make his point that those who were lost are now saved (2:1-7). It is perhaps significant for an understanding of authority in the second-century Church that the author appeals to Scripture and tradition, and to the OT and "the Gospel" (8:5; cf. 2:4) in much the same way. He confronts his hearers with the choice between this world and the world to come (5:1-7:6) and calls them to repentance (8:1-20:5). This repentance is defined as "self-control" (15:1) or "keeping the flesh pure" (8:6). This demand is grounded in the complicated argument that Christ (and with Him the Church) was originally “spirit” but became “flesh,” and that in the resurrection the flesh will rise again as it “receives the Spirit” (9:1–5; 14:1–5). More broadly and simply, the demand is grounded in the fear of judgment and hope of the kingdom of God (10:1–12:6; 16:1–3; 17:4–7). Again and again the preacher renews his call to repentance (8:1f.; 13:1; 16:1; 17:1; 19:1), urging that if they repent, his hearers will save both themselves and him their counsellor (15:1; cf. 19:1). Like the ancient prophets, he sees his own fate intertwined with those to whom he ministers.

这部古老的基督教讲道词以一段关于救赎的反思开篇，神已经同意赐予外邦听众这种救赎（1:1-4:5）。人们不能看轻救赎本身，也不能看轻基督，救赎正是藉着祂实现的。人们必须将基督认作主和父神，不单用言语，还要用行动尊敬祂。作者引用了《以赛亚书》54:1 和耶稣的某些话语（参：可 2:17；路：19:10）来建立论点，即那些失丧的人现在得救了（2:1-7）。作者以同样的方式引用了《圣经》、圣传、《旧约》和“福音”（8:5；参：2:4），这对于我们理解 2 世纪时教会的权威十分重要。他将这个世界和将来的世界摆在听众面前供他们选择（5:1-7:6）并呼吁他们悔改（8:1-20:5）。书中将悔改称为“克己”（15:1）或“在肉身上守圣洁”（8:6）。这个要求的基础是一个复杂的论点，即基督（和教会）本是“灵”，但成了“肉身”，在复活时，肉身也将再次复活，因为它“受了圣灵”（9:1-5；14:1-5）。更为简单概括的说，这个要求的基础是人们对审判的敬畏和对神之国度的期盼（10:1-12:6；16:1-3；17:4-7）。作者一再呼吁人们悔

III. Barnabas.—Once again the title (the Epistle of Barnabas) is a misnomer. Though Clement of Alexandria (e.g., Misc. ii.31.2) and Origen (Contra Celsum i.63) attributed it to Barnabas the companion of Paul, it is an anonymous work, and Eusebius classed it among the “spurious” (HE iii.25.4) or at least “disputed” (vi.13.6; 14.1) books circulating in the ancient Church. Yet its inclusion in the fourth-century Greek manuscript of the Bible, Codex Sinaiticus, testifies to the great esteem and near-canonical status it enjoyed in some sectors of the Church. In addition it is contained in the Constantinople manuscript (see above under First Clement), and in a family of nine Greek manuscripts in which 5:7ff. is abruptly joined to Polycarp’s Epistle to the Philippians (after 9:2) without a break of any kind. There is also a Latin version, in somewhat abridged form, of the first seventeen chapters of Barnabas, as well as a few Syriac fragments and a number of quotations by Clement of Alexandria.

III. 《巴拿巴书》。本书的题目同样误用了姓名。虽然亚历山太的革利免 (如 Misc. ii.31.2) 和俄利根 (Contra Celsum i.63) 认为这部作品的作者是保罗的同行者巴拿巴, 但这其实是一部匿名作品, 优西比乌将该书归为“伪作” (HE iii.25.4) 或至少是“有争议的作品” (vi.13.6; 14.1), 这部作品曾在古时的教会中流传。然而, 4 世纪时的希腊语《圣经》手稿和《西奈抄本》中包含这部作品, 这表明某些分支教会极为推崇这部作品, 而且该作品的地位曾非常接近正典。此外, 君士坦丁堡的手稿也收录了这部作品 (见上文《革利免一书》标题下的内容), 9 部希腊语手稿中也包含这部作品, 其中该作品的 5:7 起的章节被硬生生地安置在《坡旅甲致腓立比人书》9:2 之后, 但却没有造成任何内容上的不连贯。《巴拿巴书》的前 17 章还有拉丁语版本, 但内容上却有所删节, 一些叙利亚语的残本和亚历山太的革利免引用该书的大量内容也同样流传了下来。

The date of this work cannot be established with any certainty. A statement in 16:4 indicates that the Jerusalem temple is in ruins, thus supporting a date between A.D. 70 and 135, but attempts to be more specific are only conjectures. The reference in 4:4 to the ten kingdoms of Dnl. 7:24 is simply traditional apocalyptic language and should probably not to be made the basis for any conclusions about the epistle's date.

Though it cannot be proved that Barnabas the companion of Paul did not write this book, neither the range of possible dates nor the nature of the document itself makes the tradition that he did very plausible. The author is apparently writing to Gentiles who have been saved out of darkness and idolatry (14:5-8; 16:7), and he claims to write as one of their own (1:8; 4:6). The most obvious affinities of Barnabas are with Alexandrian Christianity, as evidenced on the one side by similarities in its OT exegesis with Philo, and on the other by the acquaintance with Barnabas shown by Clement and Origen. Barnabas is more likely the work of a gentile Christian of Alexandria in the early 2nd cent. than of the Jewish Christian from Cyprus mentioned in the book of Acts.

The introduction (1:1-2:3) is rather general and gives only a slight indication of what is to follow. The author presents himself as one whose task it is to impart perfect knowledge to his readers (1:5), not as a teacher (which he apparently is), but as a father to the children he loves. This knowledge has to do with the past, the present, and the future (1:7; cf. 5:3). The knowledge about the future turns out to be conventional eschatological teaching (e.g., ch. 4); the knowledge of past and present, which comprises most of the epistle, turns out to be a series of allegorical interpretations of the OT.

人们无法确定该作品的成书时间。书中 16:4 中的陈述表明耶路撒冷圣殿已经倾倒了，因此该书的成书时间应该在公元 70 年至 135 年之间，但更具体的时间则只能靠推测了。该书 4:4 中提及了《但以理书》7:24 中的十个王国，此处使用的都仅是传统的启示性语言，并不能作为确定这部书信写作时间的根据。

虽然人们无法确定保罗的同行者巴拿巴没有写下这封书信，但该书成书的时间范围和书信本身的性质也使人们无法确信该书为巴拿巴所作。这封书信显然是写给那些从黑暗和偶像崇拜中得救的外邦人的 (15:5-8; 16:7)，作者称他是作为外邦人中的一个写下了这封书信 (1:8; 4:6)。《巴拿巴书》明显与亚历山太的基督教有密切联系，因为一方面该书与斐罗对《圣经》的注释有很多相似之处，另一方面革利免和俄利根都非常熟悉这部作品。《巴拿巴书》更像是 2 世纪早期亚历山太的外邦基督徒所作的作品，而非《使徒行传》中提到的来自塞浦路斯的犹太派基督徒所作的作品。

In the ancient prophetic tradition, the author makes it clear that God does not desire ceremonial fasts and sacrifices, but justice and mercy (2:4-3:6). The readers are called on to be ready for the eschatological crisis and not to be lured into the false security that deceived the Jews under the old covenant (4:1-14). He underscores the greatness of the Christian calling by a discussion of the work of Christ, who suffered to prepare a new people and to bring to completion the sins of the old Israel. He illustrates many aspects of Jesus' career by quotations and allegorical interpretations of OT passages (5:1-8:7). Especially elaborate is his exegesis of Gen. 1:26, 28 and Ex. 33:1, 3 (6:8-19), of the ritual of the Day of Atonement (7:3-11) and of the red heifer ritual of Nu. 19:1-10 (8:1-7). Then he offers "spiritual" interpretations of such Jewish institutions as circumcision and the various Mosaic food laws (9:1-10:12). His procedure is to reinterpret ceremonial rules as moral and ethical exhortations. Even though he employs these interpretative principles in the framework of a polemic against the Judaism of his day, the author of Barnabas had ample precedent for his sometimes fanciful exegesis within Judaism itself (notably Philo and the Letter of Aristeas).

Turning his attention to what is distinctly Christian, "Barnabas" finds many subtle intimations in the OT of the water of baptism, the wood and the shape of the

作者通过古时先知的传统,表明神悦纳的不是仪式性的禁食或献祭,而是公义和怜悯(2:4-3:6)。作者提醒读者要准备好迎接末世的危机,不要受诱惑,听信使犹太人违背旧约的错误保证(4:1-14)。作者讨论了基督所作的工,祂通过受磨难除去了旧以色列的罪,造成新人类,并终结了旧以色列的罪,作者通过这种讨论强调基督徒蒙召的伟大。作者通过引用《旧约》经文和寓意解经(5:1-8:7)来阐明耶稣所做的工的各个方面。作者尤其详尽地解释了《创世记》1:26, 28和《出埃及记》33:1, 3中经文(6:8-19)、赎罪日的仪式(7:3-11)以及《民数记》19:1-10中纯红母牛的仪式(8:1-7)。随后,作者对割礼和各种摩西饮食律法等犹太人传统仪式进行了“属灵”的解释(9:1-10:12)。他将仪式规定重新解读为道德和伦理的讲道词。虽然《巴拿巴书》的作者使用了反对当时犹太教框架中的解经原则,但他偶尔采用的空想似的解释在犹太教中有大量先例(尤其在斐罗的作品和《阿里斯提亚斯书信》中)。 cross, and even the name and person of Jesus Himself (11:1–12:11). Here Barnabas exhibits several of the same interpretative traditions which show up in more detail in the writings of Justin Martyr.

The heart of the Epistle of Barnabas is the contrast between the old covenant and the new, with the assertion that God's true covenant belongs not to the Jews but to the Christians (13:1–14:9). Correspondingly the ancient sabbath has given way to the Christian "eighth day," or Sunday, in which Jesus rose from the dead (15:1–9), just as the physical temple in Jerusalem has been replaced by the spiritual temple, the Christian community where God has made his dwelling (16:1–10). Chapter 17 reads like a conclusion; though there is more he could write about present and future (cf. 1:7; 5:3), it is "hidden in parables" and he judges that what he has said is sufficient (17:2).

There is thus a definite break at the end of ch. 17 and in fact the Latin version ends at this point. But the Greek manuscripts make a new beginning with the words, "But let us move on to other knowledge and teaching" (18:1). This begins the famous "Two Ways" section of Barnabas (18:1–21:9), which is paralleled in Did. 1:1–6:2. The way of light (ch. 19) is under the rule of God through his angels, while the way of darkness (ch. 20) belongs to the angels of Satan (18:1f.). This "Two Ways" teaching is by no means profound or "hidden in parables," but sounds more like elementary instruction for new converts (which is exactly how it functions in the Didache). Older commentators argued for literary dependence of Barnabas on the Didache or of the Didache on Barnabas, but the more recent tendency has been to favor the dependence of both on a common primitive source. There are, for example, close parallels between the “Two Ways” tradition and the Qumrân Manual of Discipline (1QS 3:18ff.). It is surprising to find in such an anti-Jewish document as Barnabas a section like this in which there is little or nothing that is distinctively Christian, but in which all that is said can function appropriately in either a Christian or a Jewish setting. The most plausible explanation is that Barnabas comes from a gentile Christian community in which the basic instruction given to new converts from idolatry and paganism necessarily focused as much on general moral principles and things which Christianity inherited from Judaism as it did on the distinctively new Christian message of the cross. New converts needed to be taught to love each other and give alms, and to shun idolatry, murder, lies, and witchcraft. Nothing could be assumed. There is some evidence that “Barnabas” is at times alluding to this moral catechism even in the earlier parts of his epistle (e.g., 1:4; 2:9; 4:1, 10; 5:4), and chs. 18–21 give the impression that the author (or someone else) has simply appended the full text of his source for the sake of completeness. Certainly the Latin tradition witnesses to the fact that Barnabas circulated without this material as well as with it. But in any case the author or final editor has attached a summary which draws together chs. 1–17 and 18–20 and serves as the conclusion to both (ch. 21). The very first verse of this concluding statement makes it clear that “Barnabas” has made use of the primitive “Two

Ways” material in written form (21:1). Like the NT writers, the author knows that his readers are never too mature to be reminded of what they have been taught at conversion.

IV. Didache.-The longer title of this work, “The Teaching of the Lord, through the Twelve Apostles, to the Gentiles,” gives a clue to its nature. It seems to be a work conceived against the background of Mt. 28:18–20, purporting to give the content of that which the twelve apostles taught to the “Gentiles” or “nations” of the things which Jesus the Lord had commanded. It therefore stands in a tradition somewhat different from the one which sees Paul as the apostle to the Gentiles par excellence and the Twelve as missionaries to the Jews (cf., e.g., Gal. 2:9); instead the Twelve, representing the whole Church, are sent to the whole world, and indeed especially to the Gentiles. Shorter variations of this title (e.g., Teaching [or Teachings] of the Apostles) are cited by several patristic writers (e.g., Eusebius HE iii.25.4; Athanasius Festal Letter 39; the ninth-century Stichometry of Nicephorus), but there is no way to be sure that they are identical to the work now known by this name.

This work really came to light for the first time in the Constantinople MS discovered by Bryennios. As a result of the publication of the full text of the Didache in 1883, the “canon” of the Apostolic Fathers was enlarged by one. It then became possible to go back and see that the Didache in Greek was actually to be found (in a somewhat revised form) in book vii of the fourth-century Egyptian Apostolic Constitutions. In addition there

IV. 《十二使徒遗训》。这部作品有一个较长的题目，即“主藉十二使徒向外邦人的训话”，这提示了该书的性质。这部作品似乎以《马太福音》28:18-20中的经文为背景，书中声称记录了主耶稣要求十二使徒传达给“外邦人”或“列国”的训话。因此该书的传统似乎与另一个传统有些不同，在另一个传统中，保罗是向外邦人传道的最卓越的使徒，而十二使徒则负责向犹太人传教（参：如加 2:9）；保罗代替十二使徒，代表整个教会，前往世界各地传教，实际上他主要向外邦人讲道。一些教父作者（如 Eusebius HE iii.25.4; Athanasius Festal Letter 39; 9 世纪时的 Stichometry of Nicephorus）曾引用了这个题目的较短形式（如使徒的训话），但人们无法确定他们提及的作品就是这部同名作品。

are fragments in Greek (Oxyrhynchus Papyrus 1782), Coptic, and Ethiopic, and a complete Georgian version. For the “Two Ways” section there is (besides the witness of Barn. 18–20) a Latin version (the Doctrina) the fourth-century Apostolic Church Order, and three other manuals of the 4th cent. or later. There is no way of being sure that the Constantinople MS represents the “original” Didache nor even what the term “original” exactly means in such a context. We are not dealing here simply with textual variants as we do when studying the NT, but with a developing tradition, and our various witnesses to the Didache merely afford us glimpses of this tradition at various stages. Total agreement is seldom possible as to which forms are primitive and which are later adaptations. Therefore it is difficult to speak about dates, but the compilation of purportedly apostolic material under the name of the apostles as a group indicates that the apostles are already figures of the past. This together with the apparent use of Matthew’s Gospel tends to suggest a date of composition in the 2nd cent., though many specific elements (e.g., the prayers, the “Two Ways,” and the eschatological teaching) may well go back to the apostolic age and even perhaps to the early days of the Jerusalem church.

The “Two Ways” section of the Didache comes at the beginning (1:1–6:2) rather than at the end as in Barnabas. The “way of life” is found in 1:2–4:14 and the “way of death” in 5:1f., with a brief summary in 6:1–3. The parallels with Barnabas are rather close, though by no means verbal. Didache contains an interpolation in its “Two Ways” material, consisting of words of Jesus based on Matthew and Luke and/or an unknown collection of traditional sayings (1:3b–2:1). This section is missing from the “Two Ways” both in Barnabas and in the Doctrina. It has been inserted here as the “teaching” or explanation of the negative form of the Golden Rule found in 1:2. Thus 2:2–7 (which does belong to the “Two Ways”) becomes the second such explanation (2:1), this time using a traditional list of prohibitions based on the Ten Commandments.

Didache 3:1–6 is another interpolation into the “Two Ways,” this time designed to warn against certain attitudes and practices which lead to the more serious sins enumerated in ch. 2. In good rabbinic fashion the author or compiler is “building a fence around the law” (cf. Mish. Pirke Aboth i.1) by avoiding even that which might lead to sin. Unlike the NT, however, the Didachist seems to locate the real sin in the act rather than in the heart. The attitudes are dangerous because of what they engender, not because they indicate a sinful nature already at work. In his appended conclusion to the “Two Ways” (6:1–3) the editor adds a pragmatic touch to bring the commands within reach of everyone: if the readers can bear the whole “yoke of the law” they will be perfect, but if not, they must simply do the best they can (6:2).

In 7:1–4 the theme is baptism, with a clear indication that the “Two Ways” material has functioned in the Didache as instruction designed for baptismal candidates. After reviewing “all these things” the community is to “baptize in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit” (7:1). This closely parallels Mt. 28:19f., where “teaching the Gentiles” to obey Jesus’ commands is linked to baptism involving the same trinitarian formula. Ch.8 deals with fasting and prayer, centering on a version of the Lord’s Prayer quite similar to that found in Matthew. Here for the first time a doxology is attached to the prayer; this doxology is repeated twice in chs. 9f., and along with a shorter formula (“To thee be glory forever”) is used to punctuate the eucharistic meal prayers found in those chapters. These prayers, before (9:1-5) and after (10:1-7) the meal, are traditional and very ancient, exhibiting a number of parallels with Jewish table prayers, and embodying traces of a primitive Palestinian Christology which described Jesus as God’s servant or as the “holy Vine of David.”

料包括《马太福音》和《路加福音》中耶稣的话语以及（或）一部未知的古训集（1:3b–2:1）。《巴拿巴书》和《使徒教义》中的“两条路”部分都没有这一部分内容。作者插入了这些内容作为“教导”或对 1:2 中“道德金律”的反面解释。因此 2:2–7（确实属于“生死两道”）成为了“第二个”这类解释（2:1），这一次作者采用了基于“十诫”的传统禁令列表。

7:1–4 中的主题是洗礼，这表明《十二使徒遗训》中关于“生死两道”的论述是为了指导那些将要受洗的人。会众在学习过“以上所说的一切事”之后，将要“奉圣父圣子圣灵的名施行洗礼”（7:1）。这与《马太福音》28:19–20 中的经文十分相似，此处经文也将“教导

The rest of the Didache addresses itself to other concerns of the ancient Church in no particularly logical sequence: the testing of traveling teachers and prophets to tell the true from the false (11:1-12:5); the responsibility of the congregation to those who are found to be worthy (13:1-7); the Sunday gatherings for worship (14:1-3, possibly eucharistic again as in chs. 9f.); the qualifications for resident leaders (bishops and deacons) with an appeal to have respect for them and to be at peace with one another (15:1-4); and finally a chapter of eschatological instruction, including a call to readiness and a small apocalypse (not unlike Mt. 24) which sets forth the events leading up to the end of the age and the return of Christ (16:1-8).

Thus the Didache as we know it is a

外邦人”遵守耶稣的诫命和奉三位一体的神之名受洗联系在了一起。第8章讲述了禁食和祷告，此处核心的主祷文与《马太福音》中的主祷文非常相似。此处，祈祷文第一次附加上了赞美诗；第9至10章中这首赞美诗重复出现了两次，这些章节中的圣餐祈祷文中还不时出现一个较短的常用语（“愿荣耀归于你，直到永远”）。圣餐前（9:1-5）后（10:1-7）的祈祷文都很传统也很古老，它们与犹太教的餐桌祈祷文非常相似，这表现出了一种原始的巴勒斯坦式基督论的痕迹，这种神学理论将耶稣形容为上帝的仆人或“大卫的圣葡萄树”。

《十二使徒遗训》的剩余部分处理了古时教会关注的其他问题，但并没有采取特殊的逻辑顺序作为论述方式：如何考验并分辨旅行传道的教师和先知的真假（11:1-12:5）；会众发现值得供给的真先知时应尽的责任（13:1-7）；在主日要聚集侍奉（14:1-3，可能指的是第9-10章中的圣餐礼）；住民领袖（主教与执事）应具备的素质，并呼吁会众要尊敬他们，会众之间要和平相处；最后的一章是关于末世的教导，包括呼吁人们做好准备并给出了一则简短的启示（类似《马太福音》24章），启示中描述了末世时和基督复临之前的事（16:1-8）。

compendium of practical teaching on various subjects which must have come up in the course of the Church's fulfillment of its commission to teach the Gentiles. The Jewish or Jewish Christian origin of much of the material makes the Didache (along with Matthew) an important witness to the fact that segments of Jewish Christianity besides the Apostle Paul took seriously their calling to be a light and a blessing to the nations. Syria is a plausible locale for such a community of Jewish Christians. Though recensions of the Didache, or parts of it, can be traced to Egypt, Ethiopia, Rome, etc., many scholars have suggested Syria or Palestine as the setting of the form of the tradition found in the Bryennios MS. The parallels with Matthew and the references to bread or wheat gathered from the "mountains" (9:4) point in this direction, but no one really knows.

V. Ignatius.-The letters of Ignatius, bishop of Antioch at the beginning of the 2nd cent., are known to us in three recensions.

(1) The short recension, accepted today as the authentic collection of Ignatius' writings, consists of the seven letters mentioned by Eusebius in HE iii.36.5-11: four from Smyrna, to the churches of Ephesus, Magnesia, Tralles, and Rome; and three from Troas (after leaving Smyrna), to the churches of Philadelphia and Smyrna, and to Smyrna's bishop, Polycarp. They were said to have been written while Ignatius was en route from Syria to Rome to suffer martyrdom (HE iii.36.3f.; cf. Ign. Rom. 5:1).

(2) The long recension consists of 外邦人的使命的过程中,会出现各种问题,而《十二使徒遗训》正是针对这些问题的实用教导的汇编。《十二使徒遗训》的大多材料来自于犹太教或犹太派基督教,这使得该书(和《马太福音》一样)成为了除使徒保罗之外的犹太派基督徒认真执行主吩咐他们作万民的灯光和祝福这一使命的重要见证。这类犹太派基督徒会众很可能居住在叙利亚。虽然《十二使徒遗训》的校订本或某些部分可能源自埃及、埃塞俄比亚或罗马等地,但许多学者认为布里恩尼乌斯手稿中涉及到的传统的背景应该是叙利亚或巴勒斯坦。该书与《马太福音》类似,而且书中提及饼和麦子曾“散满在山冈”(9:4),这能够指向这些学者的观点,但没人能够真正知道该书的来源。

V. 《伊格那丢书》。我们现在知道的 2 世纪初期安提阿主教伊格那丢的书信一共有三种校订本。

(1) 简短校订本,现代学者认为它是真正的伊格那丢作品合集,其中包含优西比乌提到的七封书信(HE iii.36.5-11):其中四封是伊格那丢从士每拿写给以弗所教会、马内夏教会、他拉勒教会和罗马教会的书信;另外三封是伊格那丢(离开士每拿后)从特罗亚写给非拉铁非教会、士每拿教会和士每拿主教坡旅甲的书信。据说这些书信是伊格那丢被从叙利亚押往罗马殉道途中写下的(HE iii.36.3-4; 参: Ign. Rom. 5:1)。

(2) 长篇校订本,总共包含 13 封书信,

thirteen letters in all, in the following order: two from Antioch—one from a certain Mary of Cassobola (a neighboring town) to Ignatius, and Ignatius' letter to her in reply; the four from Smyrna and three from Troas found in the short recension; three from Philippi, to Tarsus, Antioch, and Hero (Ignatius' successor as bishop of Antioch); and one from Italy to Philippi. In addition there are some extensive interpolations in the seven letters from Smyrna and Troas mentioned by Eusebius. In the early Middle Ages this collection was enlarged still further by two letters to the apostle John, one to Mary the mother of Jesus, and one from Mary to Ignatius in return! Even though these latter were soon rejected as forgeries, the works of Ignatius continued to be known in the Church only in the long recension until the middle of the 17th century.

(3) The Syriac abridgement, discovered by W. Cureton in 1845, is a Syriac version consisting of only three epistles (to the Ephesians, to the Romans, and to Polycarp), similar in form to the short recension.

The dominance of the long recension began to be broken in 1644 when Archbishop James Ussher published an edition of Ignatius based on two medieval Latin MSS which, while containing all the letters of the long recension, provided an uninterpolated text of the seven core epistles known to Eusebius. Soon afterward a Greek MS was found which confirmed the existence of the short recension. It contained the epistles of the short recension in the same uninterpolated form, except for Romans; a martyrological text discovered a few decades later supplied this lack with a similarly short text of Romans. Since then, as the result of careful investigations of Theodor Zahn, J. B. Lightfoot, and others, scholarship came to a point of virtual consensus in favor of the short recension. Though some for a time defended the originality of the Syriac abridgment, the consensus still stands. In addition to the Greek and Latin witnesses and the Syriac abridgment mentioned above, there are fragments in Greek, Syriac, and Coptic, and an Armenian version.

(3) 叙利亚语简本, 丘尔顿 (W. Cureton) 于 1845 年发现, 这个叙利亚语版本只包含三封书信 (写给以弗所人、罗马人和坡旅甲的书信), 形式上与简短校订本类似。

1644 年, 大主教雅各·乌社尔在两份中世纪拉丁语手稿的基础上发表了一版伊格那丢书信, 这部作品中包含长篇校订本中的全部书信, 但其中优西比乌提到的 7 封主要书信却是未经篡改的版本, 这打破了长篇校订本占据主导地位的局面。不久之后, 人们发现了一部希腊语手稿, 这证明了简短校订本的存在。该手稿包含简短校订本中除了《伊格那丢达罗马人书》之外的其他书信, 书信的内容同样未经篡改; 几十年后, 人们发现了一部殉道史, 其中同样包含了除《伊格那丢达罗马人书》之外的简短版本。从那之后, 扎恩 (Theodor

In his letter to Polycarp, Ignatius states that he was unable to write to all the churches because he was taken on short notice from Troas to Neapolis on the Macedonian coast. He asks Polycarp to write to the churches that lay ahead on his itinerary, so that they might have news of Ignatius and send messengers or letters to him (Ign. Polyc. 8:1). The first of these churches would be the one at Philippi, and we have Polycarp's letter to this church, in which he states clearly that he is sending them "the letters of Ignatius, which were sent to us by him, and others which we had by us" (Polyc. Phil. 13:2). Presumably these would include Ignatius' letters to Smyrna and to Polycarp as well as copies of the four letters written from Smyrna (i.e., all the letters except that to the Philadelphians, a copy of which may have been sent to Polycarp as well). Thus Polycarp was the earliest collector of the Ignatian corpus and the person chiefly responsible for its preservation.

Without discussing each of Ignatius' letters in detail, it can be said that they share a common structure which enables the reader to know more or less what to expect: first there is an elaborate salutation with praise for the church and its bishop; then often an appeal to live in harmony with the bishop; then usually some attention to the particular heresy threatening the church; and finally some reference to Ignatius' own situation and that of the church in Syria.

Zahn)、莱特福特 (J. B. Lightfoot) 等学者进行了详细的调查, 他们一致倾向于认为简短校订本是原始的作品。虽然一些学者曾一度认为叙利亚语简本是原始作品, 但之前的共识仍然存在。除了希腊语译本和拉丁语译本, 以及上文提到的叙利亚语简本之外, 还有希腊语、叙利亚语、科普特语的残本, 另外还有一份亚美尼亚语的版本。

The theology and Christology of Ignatius arises out of a life situation in which three factors were at work: (1) his sense of impending martyrdom, (2) his awareness of the threat of heresy and schism, and (3) his concern for unity in the churches under the authority of the bishop.

(1) The factor of martyrdom looms largest in his letter to the Romans, where his aim is to make sure that the church at Rome does nothing to prevent his execution by the Roman authorities. For him to die as a martyr is to “attain to God” (Ign. Rom. 1:2; 2:1; 9:2) or to Christ (5:3), to “become a disciple” (4:2; 5:1, 3) or a true Christian (3:2), to be reborn (6:1) and thus fully to “become a man” (6:2). His death is a sacrifice (2:2; 4:2), sometimes specifically a eucharistic sacrifice. For Ignatius, violent death means participation in the sacrifice of the flesh and blood of Jesus Christ. To be martyred is to receive the sacrament of the eucharist in the ultimate sense (7:3). He longs to be devoured by wild beasts and ground as wheat so as to become the “pure bread of Christ” (4:1). If the beasts are reluctant, he will entice and compel them to destroy him (5:2). Such language has led to a widespread characterization of Ignatius as morbid and fanatical in his longing for self-annihilation, but two qualifying factors must be kept in mind: first, his language is only an extension and a heightening of similar phrases used by the apostle Paul (e.g., Phil. 1:23; 2:17; 3:10; Col. 1:24ff.); second, he saw his death as virtually inevitable and so addressed his concern to the one church which, for its own sake, most needed to see Ignatius' death as a victory and to interpret it in this way to other Christians and to the world.

伊格那丢的神学和基督论源于他的生平境遇, 其中有三个因素起了作用: (1) 他对即将殉道的感觉, (2) 他对于异端和教会分裂的威胁的认识, (3) 他对在主教权柄下教会统一的关注。

(1) 殉道的因素占据了他给罗马人的书信的主要部分, 他写下这封书信的主要目的是确保罗马教会不会做任何事阻止罗马当局对他用刑。对他来说, 作为一个殉道者死去是“到达上帝那里去”(Ign. Rom. 1:2; 2:1; 9:2) 或“到达耶稣基督的地方”(5:3), 是“成为基督门徒”(4:2; 5:1, 3) 或“成为一个真基督徒”(3:2), 是重生(6:1) 并因此“真成为人了”(6:2)。他的死是献祭(2:2; 4:2), 有时尤其是一种感恩祭。对伊格那丢来说, 因暴力而死亡意味着他于耶稣以肉身和血为神所献的祭里面有份。殉道就意味着他领受了圣餐的圣礼(7:3)。他渴望被野兽吞噬, 渴望能够变成麦子, 被做成“基督洁净的饼”(4:1)。如果野兽不愿碰他, 他会诱使或命令野兽来毁灭自己(5:2)。这类语言会使人们普遍认为伊格那丢在渴望自毁时是病态而狂热的, 但是我们必须牢记两种限制因素: 第一, 他的语言只是对使徒保罗的类似话语的一种夸张和升华(如腓 1:23; 2:17; 3:10; 西 1:24 起); 第二, 他知道自己的死实际上是无可避免的, 因此他表达了对教会的担忧, 他需要这个教会为了自身的利益, 视他的死为一种胜利, 并向其他基督徒

Ignatius draws freely on Pauline language, and a case can be made that he, like Paul, sees himself as a decisive figure in the redemptive historical plan of God for the world. Though (like Paul) he is the "least" and like an "untimely birth" (Ign. Rom. 9:2; cf. 1 Cor. 15:8f.), his great journey from East to West is as crucial to him as Paul's collection journey to Jerusalem (and from there to Rome and possibly Spain) was to the apostle (cf. Paul in Rom. 15:16-33; also 1 Clem. 5:5-7). Mal. 1:11 seems to stand behind Ignatius' thinking here as a kind of hidden Scripture citation: observance of the eucharist in the gentile churches "from furthest east to furthest west" is the proof that now God's name is "great among the nations" (cf. Did. 14:3; Justin Martyr Dial. 41.2;117:1). To Ignatius this eucharistic sacrifice finds supreme expression in the sacrifice of his own life (Ign. Rom. 2:2; 7:3).

(2) The threat of false teaching comes to the surface especially in his letters to the Magnesians, Trallians, Smyrneans, and Philadelphians. Heresy is compared to a deadly poison (Ign. Trall. 6). It seems to have confronted Ignatius in two forms: a re-Judaizing of the Christian message not unlike the threat which Paul faced, and a docetic denial of the reality of Jesus' human nature. With regard to the first,

伊格那丢大量引用了保罗的话语, 这样他就可以将自己看作和保罗一样, 是神救赎整个世界的历史计划中的决定性人物。虽然他(和保罗一样)是“最微小的”, 如同“未到产期而生的人”(Ign. Rom. 9:2; 参: 林前 15:8-9), 他从东部到西部的伟大旅程对他的意义与保罗去耶路撒冷的救济访问(他从那里去了罗马, 可能也去了西班牙)对门徒的意义同样重要(参: 罗 15:16-33 中的保罗; 另参: 1 Clem. 5:5-7)。伊格那丢似乎是暗指了《玛拉基书》1:11 中的这段经文, 以此支持他的观点: “从极西之地到极东之地”的外邦教会都遵守圣礼, 这证明了神的名此时“在外邦中必尊为大”(参: 《十二使徒遗训》14:3; Justin Martyr Dial. 41.2;117:1)。对伊格那丢来说, 这种感恩祭的最高表现形式就是将自己献为祭品。

(2) 伊格那丢写给马内夏人、他拉勒人、士每拿人和非拉铁非人的书信尤其表明错误教导的威胁已经出现了。伊格那丢将异端邪说比作致命的毒药 (Ign. Trall. 6)。伊格那丢似乎面对着两种威胁: 一种是基督教知识的犹太化, 类似于保罗曾经面对的危机, 另一种是否定耶稣道成肉身的基督幻影说。关于第一种威胁, 伊格那丢像保罗那样, 告诫人们“如果我们仍按照犹太教生活, 就无

Ignatius follows Paul in warning that “if we are still living according to Judaism, we acknowledge that we have not received grace” (Ign. Magn. 8:1; cf. Ign. Philad. 6:1). He argues that even the ancient prophets were disciples of Jesus Christ in the Spirit (Ign. Magn. 9:2; cf. 8:2), and that we who stand in their tradition must therefore observe not the sabbath but the Lord’s Day, on which Christ rose from the dead (9:1). Though Ignatius retains and respects the OT, his supreme authority is Jesus Christ whom he knows first of all not through ancient Jewish prophecies but through the proclaimed message of the gospel (Ign. Philad. 8:2; 9:2). Having placed his faith firmly in Christ on this basis, Ignatius then goes back and “after the fact” sees the prophets and the OT scriptures as witnesses to him. His answer to the Judaizers is to test the Jewish Scriptures by means of the new Christian tradition, not the tradition by the Scriptures. It is no accident that he seems much more influenced by Paul and John and certain freely quoted sayings of Jesus than by the OT. We have no way of knowing who these Judaizers were, but one statement (Ign. Philad. 6:1) suggests that they may have been gentile converts to Judaism and Jewish Christianity who developed an extreme zeal for the law. We are reminded of the references in the book of Revelation (2:9; 3:9) in letters to Smyrna and Philadelphia (!) to “those who claim to be Jews, but are not.”

With regard to Docetism, the second heresy which he faced, Ignatius even provides us with the derivation of the term. He speaks of those who say that the suffering of Jesus was unreal, a semblance (Gk. tó dokein), and condemns them by claiming that it is they who are unreal, for they shall become like phantoms, without bodies (Ign. Trall. 10:1; cf. Smyrn. 2:1). He affirms that Christ really suffered and really rose from the dead (Ign. Smyrn. 2:1). Because they deny this, the heretics abstain from the eucharist, which witnesses to the reality of Jesus' flesh (7:1). Once again Ignatius' appeal is to the validity and necessity of this sacrament, the "medicine of immortality" and antidote to all such poisonous teachings (Ign. Eph. 20:2); more immediately, he argues from his own experience of imminent death. If Christ's sufferings are unreal, then why is Ignatius a prisoner, longing for the sword and the beasts of the arena? (Ign. Smyrn. 4:2; Trall. 10:1). His campaign against heresy is thus not waged in a vacuum but always and inevitably within the context of his life (and death) situation.

异供认自己不曾受过恩典” (Ign. Magn. 8:1; 参: Ign. Philad. 6:1)。他认为就连古时的众先知也在圣灵里成了耶稣基督的门徒 (Ign. Magn. 9:2; 参: 8:2), 那么既然我们奉行了众先知的传统, 就应当不再拘守安息日, 而是要守基督从死里复活的主日 (9:1)。虽然伊格那丢信守并重视《旧约》, 但他在耶稣基督里的至高权柄不是从古时犹太人的预言中得来的, 乃是藉着福音中的启示得来的, 他第一个认识的也是耶稣基督 (Ign. Philad. 8:2; 9:2)。伊格那丢在基督里的坚实信心正基于此, 然后他又返回去, 在“事后”认为先知和《旧约》中的经卷是他的见证。他对犹太派基督徒的回复是要他们用新的基督教传统, 而非圣经传统, 来检验犹太人的经卷。他深受保罗和约翰影响, 并大量引用耶稣的话语, 而不是《旧约》中的经文, 这绝非偶然。我们无从得知这些犹太派基督徒是谁, 但是一段陈述 (Ign. Philad. 6:1) 表明他们可能是归信犹太教的外邦人和极其热衷于律法的犹太派基督徒。给士每拿和非拉铁非 (!) 书信中的内容使我们想起了《启示录》(启 2:9; 3:9) 中的经文, “自称是犹太人, 其实不是犹太人”。

(3) The third concern of Ignatius has to do with church order and submission to the bishop's authority. His theology may be described as sacramental in both a narrower and a broader sense. In the narrow sense it is clear that he puts great emphasis on the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. But in the broad sense his thought is sacramental in its insistence that spiritual realities must find their embodiment in that which is visible and physical. Just as Jesus was no phantom but actually "became flesh" (cf. Jn. 1:14), so the Spirit must "become flesh" in different ways in order to have any validity or authority. Flesh is not a worldly or evil principle opposed to the Spirit, as it is sometimes in Paul, but rather as in John the natural and appropriate sphere in which the Spirit must express Himself. This is clear in

(3) 伊格那丢的第三个担忧与教会法规和顺从主教权柄有关。从狭义和广义上讲,伊格那丢的神学理论都可以描述为“圣礼的”理论。从狭义上讲,他明显着重强调主的圣餐礼。但从广义上讲,他坚持认为属灵的事实必须具象化为有形的和物质的事物,因此他的思想是“圣礼的”思想。正如耶稣不是幻影,而是确实“成了肉身”(参:约 1:14),圣灵为了拥有有效性和权威性,也必须以不同的形式“成为属血气的事物”。肉身(或属血气的)的本质并非是世俗的或邪恶的,并不与圣灵对立,正如保罗偶尔表达的观点一样,但这更像《约翰福音》中所营造的一种自然而合适的氛围,圣灵就在这种氛围中自我表达。伊格那丢关于圣礼的理论十分清晰,这种理论的基础是《约翰福音》6:52-58 中的经文,这段经文要求人们吃受难后复活的主耶稣的肉,喝祂的血(见 Ign. Eph. 20:2; Smyrn. 7:1)。但此处约翰的

Ignatius' theology of the eucharist, which builds upon Jn. 6:52–58 with its demand to eat the flesh and drink the blood of the crucified and risen Lord (see Ign. Eph. 20:2; Smyrn. 7:1). But where John limited his insistence on “flesh” to the sacrament and to the historical reality of Jesus Christ, Ignatius extends it also to the matter of church organization. In fact there can be no valid eucharist unless the bishop (or someone he appoints) is present to celebrate it (Ign. Smyrn. 8:1f.; cf. Magn. 4:1). John's sacramentalism is combined with virtual silence about particular offices or ministries, but to Ignatius spiritual realities must find their embodiment in the structure of the institutional Church. Ignatius is the first real advocate of episcopacy in the ancient Church—probably not episcopacy in the modern sense of one bishop supervising a group of churches each with its individual pastor, but in an incipient form involving “one man rule” in each local congregation. This is of course a form of “episcopacy” which is found today in the vast majority of Christian denominations, even those which follow a “congregational” type of church government, but it is not characteristic of the NT period.

Ignatius undergirds his high view of episcopal authority with theological arguments and elaborate imagery. At Ephesus the presbytery “is attuned to the bishop like the strings of a harp” so that “by your concord and harmonious love, Jesus Christ is sung” (Ign. Eph. 4:1). Unity is essential to the Church, and for Ignatius this means unity with the bishop, even as the Church is united with Jesus Christ and Jesus with the Father (5:1). The bishop is sent from the Lord and is therefore to be regarded as if he were the Lord himself (6:1; cf. Mt. 10:40). Sometimes the bishop represents Jesus Christ (e.g., Ign. Trall. 2:1); at other times the bishop represents the Father, while the deacons represent Christ the servant, and the presbytery the apostles (Ign. Trall. 3:1; cf. Magn. 6:1). While on the one hand he is the divine representative, on the other he is the embodiment of the whole congregation, especially as it ministers to the needs of Ignatius himself, the prisoner (e.g., Ign. Eph. 1:3, Trall. 1:1). The churches must recognize and submit to his authority and do nothing apart from him, just as Jesus did nothing apart from the Father (Ign. Magn. 7:1; Trall. 2:2). Even though his function is not primarily that of prophecy or teaching, his authority is beyond question (Ign. Eph. 6:1; 15:1), for he is the administrative leader of the church. There can be only one bishop even as there is only one eucharist (Ign. Philad. 4:1). Nevertheless, Ignatius knows that the bishop is not absolutely essential for a church. His own church at Antioch is of course without its bishop for a time. God is its shepherd in place of Ignatius, and Jesus Christ alone is its bishop (Ign. Rom. 9:1). For this reason, however, the other churches are to support Antioch with their prayers. The one church in which nothing is said of a bishop is the church of Rome, and it is possible that the supreme authority there still lies with the presbytery, as it did a short time earlier according to the witness of 1 Clement.

There is every indication that these major theological concerns of Ignatius are all tied together in his mind. His martyrdom is a kind of ultimate expression or illustration of the reality of the eucharist; the eucharist depends for its validity on the authority of the bishop; the sacrament and the episcopal office together bring about and guarantee the unity of the Church so as to furnish the antidote to the deadly poison of false teaching. This means that Ignatius is also a pivotal figure in preserving and drawing together several strands from the NT: Paul's intense consciousness of mission, John's emphasis on the reality of the "flesh" both in the Incarnation and the sacraments, the developing institutionalism which can be seen in Matthew and in the Pastoral Epistles, and the concern over heresy which appears conspicuously in the Pastoral and the Catholic Epistles (e.g., 2 Peter, Jude, 1-3 John). Perhaps more than any other theologian, Ignatius bridges the apostolic and the subapostolic periods.

(如 Ign. Trall. 2:1); 有时主教代表着圣父, 执事代表着神的仆人基督, 而长老代表着使徒 (Ign. Trall. 3:1; 参: Magn. 6:1)。主教一方面是神的代表, 另一方面是整个会众的化身, 尤其因为这有助于囚徒伊格那丢自身的需求 (如 Ign. Eph. 1:3, Trall. 1:1)。教会必须承认并服从于主教的权柄, 不能做任何没有主教许可的事, 正如耶稣绝不独自作任何离了父的份的事 (Ign. Magn. 7:1; Trall. 2:2)。即使主教的主要职分不是说预言或教导信徒, 但他的权柄不容置疑 (Ign. Eph. 6:1; 15:1), 因为他是管理教会的领袖。主教只能有一位, 正如圣餐必须是同一的 (Ign. Philad. 4:1)。此外, 伊格那丢知道主教对于教会来说不是绝对必要的。他所管理的安提阿教会就一度没有主教。神亲自代替伊格那丢作了牧人, 耶稣基督作了主教 (Ign. Rom. 9:1)。但是, 出于这个原因, 其他教会需要用祈祷支持安提阿教会。唯有罗马教会从未提到过主教的事情, 这可能是因为罗马教会中的至高权柄仍由众长老掌控, 《革利免一书》就证明了早些时候的罗马教会确实存在这个情况。

An especially valuable feature of Ignatius' corpus, from the standpoint of the history of Christian thought, is his preservation of earlier credal formulations, some of which must reach well back into the NT era. Even more conspicuous here than the customary emphasis on the cross and the resurrection is the particular attention given to the birth of Jesus, somewhat in the manner of the Pauline formula in Rom. 1:3. Jesus is born of Mary from the family of David (see Ign. Eph. 18:2; Trall. 9:1; Smyrn. 1:1; cf. Ign. Eph. 7:2; Magn. 11:1). The virgin birth takes its place in the core of the Christian message, not primarily as a proof of Jesus' deity, but as a witness to his humanity and his messianic descent from David (cf. Mt. 1f.). A different expression of this theology of birth comes in the great hymn in Ign. Eph. 19 to the new revelation in Jesus Christ by which God broke the ancient powers of magic and wickedness. Mary's virginity and childbearing introduce nothing less than the manifestation of God to man "for the newness of eternal life" (19:3).

的权威；圣礼和主教的职分共同实现并保证了教会的统一，因此可以作错误教导这种致命毒药的解毒剂。这意味着伊格那丢也是保留并结合《圣经》中数个部分的关键人物，这些部分包括：保罗强烈的使命意识、约翰对道成肉身和圣礼中“肉身”真实性的强调、《马太福音》和教牧书信中正在发展的制度主义以及教牧书信和大公书信中表现的对异端学说的明显担忧（如《彼得后书》《犹太书》《约翰一书》《约翰二书》《约翰三书》）。伊格那丢起到了连接使徒时期和使徒后期的桥梁作用，他所起到的这种作用可能要高于其他任何神学家。

VI. Polycarp.-The letter of Polycarp bishop of Smyrna to the church at Philippi appears to be a kind of "covering letter" for the Ignatian corpus which Polycarp sends on to the Philippians (Polyc. Phil. 13:2; and see above). It exists in nine Greek MSS, all apparently based on a single archetype. These MSS break off after ch. 9 (see above on Barnabas), though there exists a Latin version which is complete. Thus most of chs. 10-14 are known to us only in Latin. Ch. 13, however (all but the last sentence), can be found (along with ch. 9) quoted in Greek in Eusebius HE iii.36.13-15.

As a man—though not as a theologian—Polycarp stands even more than Ignatius as a link between the apostolic and the subapostolic ages (HE iii.36.1, 10). Irenaeus, who claims to remember him, identifies him as a disciple of the apostle John, and an opponent of Gnosticism (Adv. haer. iii.3.4; cf. his letter to Florinus in Eusebius HE v. 20.4-8). Polycarp's traditional connection with John on the one hand and Irenaeus on the other makes Irenaeus' testimony to the apostolic authorship of the Fourth Gospel a particularly weighty piece of evidence. Polycarp seems to have been involved not only in the Church's conflict with Gnosticism, but also (somewhat more amicably) in the early disputes over the date of Easter (Irenaeus, in Eusebius HE v.24.14–18).

VI. 《坡旅甲书》。士每拿主教坡旅甲给腓立比教会写的信似乎是一种“附信”，坡旅甲将伊格那丢的书信集发送给腓立比人，同上附上了他的这封书信 (Polyc. Phil. 13:2; 见上文)。显然是来自同一个原作的9份希腊语手稿中保留了这部作品。这些手稿在第9章之后就中断了(见上文中《巴拿巴书》标题下的内容)，但还有一部完成的拉丁语版本。因此我们只了解拉丁语的第10至14章的大部分内容。然而，优西比乌的作品 (HE iii.36.13-15) 中引用了希腊语的第13章(除了最后一句之外)。

坡旅甲作为一个人，但不是作为一个神学家，比起伊格那丢更起到了连接使徒时期和使徒后期的作用 (HE iii.36.1, 10)。爱任纽声称他记得坡旅甲，并认定他是使徒约翰的门徒，同时也是诺斯替教的反对者 (Adv. haer. iii.3.4; 参：Eusebius HE v. 20.4-8 中爱任纽写给佛罗里努斯的信)。坡旅甲与约翰的传说中的关系，再加上坡旅甲和爱任纽的关系，这使爱任纽的作品成为了证明《第四福音书》为使徒真作的有力证据。坡旅甲似乎参与了教会与诺斯替教派之间的争论，同时也(从某种程度上来说更为友善地)参与了早期关于复活节日期的争论 (Irenaeus, 见 in Eusebius HE v.24.14-18)。

Irenaeus speaks of several letters of Polycarp to various churches, but only the letter to the Philippians is now extant. It may be dated as roughly contemporary with the letters of Ignatius (i.e., within the reign of Trajan, and probably around A.D. 110). P. N. Harrison argued that the Philippian epistle is really two epistles copied on the same scroll: the first, consisting of chs. 13f., was the original covering letter for the Ignatian epistles, while the second was written perhaps twenty years later, when the name of “blessed Ignatius” the martyr had become a memory (see 9:1f.). This is possible, but MS evidence for it is lacking. Moreover, (a) it is not altogether certain that Ignatius is assumed to be dead in 9:1; (b) sufficient time may have elapsed between Ignatius’ letter to Polycarp and Polycarp’s letter to the Philippians for Polycarp to assume that Ignatius was by this time a martyr; (c) it is not entirely clear whether the end of 13:2 refers to an inquiry about Ignatius’ current situation or about the circumstances of his death.

Whether regarded as one letter or two, the Epistle to the Philippians is a rather conventional document, especially in contrast with the writings of the creative and almost flamboyant Ignatius. To a considerable extent it is a patchwork of allusions to NT books (e.g., 1 Peter, 1 Timothy, and most of the rest of the Pauline letters) and to 1 Clement. Polycarp commends the Philippians for their faith and endurance, and summons them to continue in the service of God (chs. 1f.). He speaks to them of righteousness at their invitation, though he declines to compare himself with “the blessed and glorious Paul” who had taught the word of truth and written letters to them. In the Pauline tradition, Polycarp sees righteousness as coming through faith, hope, and love (ch. 3). He sets forth the duties of groups in the church, husbands, wives, widows, deacons, younger men, and presbyters (chs. 4–6; no bishop is mentioned). He then warns against heresy in terms reminiscent of John: “Everyone who does not confess that Jesus Christ has come in the flesh is an anti-Christ” (7:1; cf. 1 Jn. 4:2f.; 2 Jn. 7). In the face of denials of resurrection and judgment, the Church must return to the tradition it received in the beginning (7:2), and imitate the endurance of Christ and the martyrs (chs. 8f.). Christian believers are to love each other and give alms (ch. 10), avoiding the greed that has led some astray (e.g., a certain presbyter named Valens, 11:1–12:1). Polycarp closes the epistle with a benediction, an appeal to pray for fellow Christians and for rulers, some final remarks about Ignatius and his letters, and a word of recommendation for the messenger who will bring the epistles to Philippi (12:2–14:1).

爱任纽提及了多封坡旅甲写给不同教会的书信，但是只有写给腓立比教会的书信流传了下来。这封书信的写作时间大约与伊格那丢书信处于同一时期（即图拉真统治时间，约公元 110 年）。哈里森（P. N. Harrison）认为《坡旅甲达腓立比人书》实际上是同一本书卷中抄录下来的两封书信：第一封书信，即第 13 至 14 章，是原始的伊格那丢书信的附信，而第二部分可能写于 20 年后，此时“有福的伊格那丢”已经殉道了（见 9:1-2）。这种观点是有可能的，但人们并未找到手稿中的证据。此外，(a) 人们无法根据 9:1 中的内容完全确定当时伊格那丢已经殉道了；(b) 《伊格那丢达坡旅甲书》和《坡旅甲达腓立比人书》之间间隔很久，坡旅甲只是推测伊格那丢已经殉道了；(c) 13:2 中末尾的语句究竟是询问伊格那丢当时的情况还是询问他死时的情形，人们对此还不完全明确。

If any one theme can be singled out, it is expressed by the phrase “concerning righteousness” in 3:1 (cf. 3:3; 4:1; 8:1; 9:1f.). Though Polycarp connects this theme with Paul, he develops it not in the Pauline sense but in terms of rather conventional exhortations to virtue and faithfulness. He is more concerned to preserve and hand down traditions of generally-accepted Christian truth than to shape or adapt them to particular needs or situations, much less to move out in any new directions. Polycarp’s epistle is of more interest for its sources than for itself.

VII. Martyrdom of Polycarp.-This most ancient of Christian martyr accounts takes the form of a letter from the church of Smyrna to the church of Philomelium in Phrygia, and beyond that church “to all the parishes of the holy universal church in every place” (Mart. Polyc., inscr.; cf. 20:1 and 1 Cor. 1:1). It gives every evidence of being what it claims to be, an eyewitness report (15:1), apparently written within a year of the event it describes (18:3).

The Martyrdom of Polycarp is known in six Greek MSS, in extensive quotations by Eusebius (HE iv.15) and a Latin version (Armenian, Syriac, and Coptic versions are simply based on Eusebius). The most reliable Greek witness is generally considered to be the so-called Moscow MS. Several appendices volunteer information about the Martyrdom's transmission: a certain Gaius claims to have copied it from papers belonging to Irenaeus (a disciple of Polycarp), and at a later time a certain Pionius claims to have transcribed it from a copy whose location was revealed to him by “the blessed Polycarp” himself in a vision (22:2f.). Another conclusion, found only in the Moscow MS, seems to attribute the actual writing of the Martyrdom to Irenaeus and goes to great lengths to emphasize the close connection of Irenaeus with Polycarp. (At the exact moment when Polycarp died in Smyrna, Irenaeus heard a voice in Rome saying, “Polycarp has been martyred”!) Such traditions seem to be shaped by a desire to reinforce the links between the orthodox fathers and the apostles. Though the reference to Gaius may well be authentic, much of the rest is open to serious question. Still another appendix (21:1) offers an exact date for the martyrdom (Feb. 23, 155, or Feb. 22, 156, according to different methods of reckoning), which disagrees with the date of 166/167 fixed by Eusebius in his Chronicon. The ruling officials mentioned in 21:1 and 12:2 suggest in any case a date before 160. But in general the epistle itself carries more marks of its own authenticity than do the appendices which were written to validate it.

VII. 《坡旅甲殉道记》。这部最为古老的基督教殉道史采取了书信的形式，这是一封从士每拿教会写给弗吕家的斐罗美伦教会和“其他各处圣教会的旅居人”的书信 (Mart. Polyc., 题词; 参: 20:1; 林前 1:1)。书信自称是目击者的报告 (15:1), 各处内容也确实证实了这点。这封书信显然写于坡旅甲殉道后一年之内 (18:3)。

The writer introduces his narrative as a “martyrdom in accord with the Gospel” (1:1), and prefaces the actual story of Polycarp with a few briefer accounts of those who had just previously suffered for Christ (2:1–4:2). He makes the point that to give oneself up voluntarily or to seek martyrdom is not in accordance with the teaching of the gospel (4:2). Polycarp’s martyrdom was thus “in accord with the Gospel” by virtue of the fact that “he waited to be betrayed, as also the Lord had done” (1:2). Such martyrdom is also “in accord with the will of God” (2:1). This theme of not forcing God’s hand or the hand of the oppressors is part of a larger complex, in which parallels between Polycarp’s death and the death of Christ are noted and stressed. After withdrawing from the city, Polycarp is hunted by a police captain named Herod and betrayed by young slaves who belong to his own house (6:2). He is arrested late in the evening in an “upper room” by police armed as if advancing against a robber (7:1; cf. Mt. 26:55). He refuses to flee, but like Jesus in Gethsemane says “the will of God be done.” After a long prayer (7:3) he is taken back to the city riding on an ass on a “great Sabbath day” (8:1). Because of his great age, he is urged to say “Caesar is Lord,” offer the right sacrifices, and so spare himself; but he refuses and is taken to the arena (8:2f.). Here he is questioned and commanded to denounce Christ and the Christians by shouting “Away with the atheists” (i.e., those who deny the Roman gods). Instead he motions to the pagan crowds looking on and says of them, “Away with the atheists” (9:2). He then confesses that he is a Christian and has been for 86 years (thus dating his birth at A.D. 70 or earlier), and refuses to renounce his faith, even under the severest threats (9:3–11:2). The martyrdom itself is described in some detail (12:1–16:2), focusing on such features as the particular role of the Smyranean Jews—even in violation of the sabbath (12:2; 13:1; 17:2; 18:1; cf. Rev. 2:9), the last prayer of Polycarp (14:1–3), and the miracles attending the death itself (15:2; 16:1). He is burned alive, in fulfillment of his own vision (cf. 5:2).

作者称自己叙述的是“一种与福音符合的殉道”(1:1), 他先简要介绍了几个刚刚为基督受磨难的人的故事(2:1-4:2), 从而引出坡旅甲殉道的真实故事。他称主动献上自己或主动殉道的行为不符合福音中的教训(4:2)。坡旅甲的殉道是与福音符合的, 因为“坡旅甲等候了被卖, 正如主也曾如此”(1:2)。这种殉道同时还“遵从上帝的旨意”(2:1)。不将上帝之手或压迫者之手强加给殉道者属于一个更复杂的主题, 这个主题关注并强调了坡旅甲殉道和基督受难之间的相似之处。坡旅甲离开该城之后, 他家中的一个小年轻奴隶出卖了他, 于是一个名叫希律的警察长将他抓了起来(6:2)。那天晚上, 兵丁佩上武器, 好像去捉强盗一样, 在一间“大楼”里捉住了坡旅甲(7:1; 参: 太 26:55)。他拒绝逃跑。而是像耶稣在客西马尼时一样, 说道: “愿上帝的旨意成就”。在一段长长的祈祷(7:3)之后, 人们把他放在驴子上带回了城中, 那天是“大安息日”(8:1)。人们怜他年纪大, 就让他说“主凯撒”, 献上正确的祭物, 然后就可以将他无罪释放; 但他拒绝了, 于是他被带到了竞技场(8:2-3)。到了竞技场, 总督问了他问题, 然后要求他谴责基督和基督徒, 并喊出“打倒这些无神论者吧”(即那些不认罗马神祇的人)。

It is clear from this account that although there is an interest in showing similarities between the martyr’s death and that of his Lord, this interest has not been pushed so far as to violate the probabilities of what actually happened. Several features (e.g., Polycarp’s great age, the death by burning, the “great Sabbath day”), do not fit this pattern and are not forced. Though he is like a ram to be sacrificed he is not nailed but bound in the fire (14:1). Moreover the element of the miraculous, though present, is somewhat more restrained than in later martyr accounts.

After his death Polycarp’s body is destroyed and his bones are taken by the 但他却望向围观的异教群众，并对他们说，“打倒那些无神论者吧”（9:2）。随后他承认自己已经做了 86 年的基督徒（因此他的出生日期可能是公元 70 年或更早），他拒绝放弃信仰，即使是在受到了最严重的威胁时也不背弃信仰（9:3-11:2）。信中随后详细地描述了坡旅甲殉道的过程（12:1-16:2），作者着重描述了士每拿的犹太人在这一过程中所起到的特殊作用——他们甚至违反了安息日的规定（12:2； 13:1； 17:2； 18:1； 参：启 2:9），信中还描述了坡旅甲的最后一段祷告（14:1-3），以及他死时发生的奇事（15:2； 16:1）。坡旅甲被活活烧死了，这正应验了他之前看到的异象（参：5:2）。

从叙述中我们可以明显看出，作者虽然倾向于描述坡旅甲殉道和主受难之间的相似之处，但他并没有因此便改写了真实发生的事。坡旅甲殉道的几个特征（如年纪很大，被烧死，“大安息日”）与主受难时不同，这些特征也不会显得不自然。虽然坡旅甲就像即将被献祭的羔羊一样，但人们并未将他钉牢，而是把他捆绑起来，然后烧死了他（14:1）。此外，信中虽然描述了殉道时发生的奇事，但却比后来的殉道故事中的描述更委婉一些。

Christians to an appropriate place (17:1-18:2) where they intend to celebrate “the birthday of his martyrdom” (18:3). Here we have the beginning of the later custom of treasuring the relics of the saints, but also the concept that martyrdom is not an end, but a birth into another life. It is fully in accord with Ignatius’ notion that he will truly become a disciple only when he gives up his life.

The concluding chapters summarize Polycarp’s career (19:1f.), and identify a certain Marcion (not the heretic) as the one who drafted the letter on behalf of the church of Smyrna (20:1f.). Though we know nothing else of this person, he probably deserves to be called the author of this church epistle just as much as Clement deserves to be called the author of the famous letter from the Romans to the Corinthians (see above).

In the appendices (21:1-22:3) a noteworthy feature is the exact time reference in 21:1, where the names of the asiarch and the proconsul are given, but instead of naming the emperor the text concludes “Jesus Christ was reigning for ever, to whom be glory, honor, majesty, and an eternal throne...” Whatever its claim to authenticity, this citation has caught the point of Polycarp’s confession (see 8:2; 9:2f.). Not Caesar but Christ is Lord.

VIII. Papias.-Papias, like Polycarp, was traditionally believed to have been a disciple of the apostle John (Irenaeus Adv. haer. v.33.4). He was bishop of Hierapolis in Phrygia during the first half of the 2nd cent. A.D. (Eusebius HE iii.36.2), whose writings are known to us only in fragments quoted by later fathers.

结尾的章节总结了坡旅甲的生平 (19:1-2), 并称某个马吉安(当然不是指那个异教徒)代表士每拿教会起草了这封书信(20:1-2)。虽然我们对这个人一无所知, 但他很有可能就是这封教会书信的作者, 正如革利免很可能是著名的“罗马人致哥林多书信”的作者一样(见上文)。

值得注意的是, 附言中(21:1-22:3)提到了坡旅甲殉道的具体时间(21:1), 还提到了大祭司和总督的名字, 但此处没有提到皇帝的名字, 而是总结道:“耶稣基督乃是永久的统治者, 但愿荣耀、尊荣、庄严和世世代代的永恒宝座都归于祂……”。无论这段引用的真实性如何, 它都抓住了坡旅甲信条中的重点(见 8:2; 9:2-3)。王权归于基督而非凯撒。

VII. 《帕皮亚残篇集》。人们习惯上认为帕皮亚和坡旅甲一样, 是使徒约翰的门徒 (Irenaeus Adv. haer. v.33.4)。帕皮亚是2世纪上半叶时弗吕家希拉波立的主教 (Eusebius HE iii.36.2), 我们仅能通过后期教父作品中的引用得知他作品中的部分内容。之前优西比乌(在其作品 Chronicon 中)曾接受了帕皮亚是

At first (in his Chronicon) Eusebius accepted the claim that Papias was a hearer and eyewitness of the apostles, but later disputed it on the basis of an interpretation of one of Papias' own statements (HE iii.39.2). He attributes to Papias a work consisting of five treatises and entitled "Interpretation of the Sayings of the Lord," in which Papias claims to draw much of his information from "the presbyters" or their followers concerning what the Lord's disciples had said or were saying (iii.39.1-4). Eusebius argues that this puts intermediaries between Papias and the apostles. But the case is not conclusive, for a few lines later Eusebius himself speaks of "the apostles" and "their followers" (iii.39.7), apparently as a clarification of Papias' reference to the presbyters and their followers. It is hard to avoid the conclusion that for Eusebius no less than for Papias, "presbyters" and "apostles" can be used interchangeably. This raises a serious question about Eusebius' effort in the context to draw a sharp distinction between the two, especially between John the apostle (whom Papias mentions with other members of the Twelve), and John the presbyter (named with a certain Aristion as Papias' contemporary). Many theories have been built on Eusebius' exegesis here, but it should not be too quickly assumed that two Johns are mentioned, especially since: (a) both times the name occurs, it refers to a "disciple of the Lord," and (b) both times it is found in close association with "presbyter." It is clear that Eusebius is not self-consistent at this point, and the traditional view that Papias speaks of the aged apostle John first as a man of the past and then as a contemporary should not be summarily ruled out. All this has considerable bearing on the traditions about the Fourth Gospel, but does not enable us to fix the role of Papias with any exactness. Whether mediated by “presbyters” or simply by “followers,” Papias’ knowledge does seem to be at least once removed from the apostles themselves. In this respect Eusebius is right.

Another tradition preserved by Papias describes the Gospels of Mark and Matthew. According to Eusebius, Papias attributes to “the Presbyter” a statement that Mark presented his Gospel without making an ordered arrangement of what Jesus had said and done. He simply followed the oral teaching of Peter, becoming in effect Peter’s recorder (HE iii.39.15). Matthew on the other hand did what Mark did not do: he made an ordered arrangement of the gospel in the Hebrew language (or a Hebraic style). Thus each of them presented the gospel according to the possibilities open to him (iii.39.16). We have no statement of Papias preserved about Luke and John, but the Gospels are presumably the “interpretations” or “presentations” which he proposes to supplement with the oral traditions of the presbyters (iii.39.3). Though he does not disdain the written Gospels, he attributes equal or greater authority to “the living and abiding voice” of the apostles or of those who (like Mark) were their followers (iii. 39.4).

Other statements attributed to Papias reflect this interest in oral traditions. He cites, for example, otherwise unknown sayings of Jesus about a coming thousand-year reign on earth (iii.39.11f.; cf. Rev. 20:1–6), and about unbelievably plentiful harvests of grapes and wheat on the earth in those days (Irenaeus Adv. haer. v.33.3f., a tradition supposedly from Jesus by way of John and the “presbyters”). He also preserves stories of apostolic miracles involving in one case the daughters of Philip (cf. Acts 21:8), and in another the Justus Barsabbas of Acts 1:23f. (Eusebius HE iii.39.8–10). He refers to an account of a woman accused of many sins in the Lord’s presence (HE iii.39.17; cf. Jn. 7:53–8:11), and is said to have been responsible for a particularly gruesome report of the death of Judas Iscariot now found in commentary fragments of a fourth-century writer named Apollinaris of Laodicea. A number of other statements are assigned to Papias by late historians and epitomists, including references to a martyrdom of the apostle John, and even a legend that Papias wrote the Gospel of John at the apostle’s dictation! In such accounts the uncertainty about Papias himself is compounded by the tendentious and confusing growth of legends about him and about the apostles he is supposed to have known.

《帕皮亚残篇集》中保留了另一个关于《马可福音》和《马太福音》的传说。根据优西比乌的记载，帕皮亚写道“长老”曾说《马可福音》没有按顺序记录耶稣的话语和行为。马可仅仅是按照彼得口头教导写下了他的福音书，他实际上是彼得的记录者 (HE iii.39.15)。另一方面，马太做了马可没有做的事：他用希伯来语（或希伯来语的风格）以正确的时间顺序写下了他的福音书。因此，他们两个只是根据听到的事情写下了福音书 (iii.39.16)。现存的残篇中并没有帕皮亚对《路加福音》或《约翰福音》的评论，但这些福音书可能是“解释性的”或“描述性的”，他准备用长老们的口传圣传来补充这些福音书 (iii.39.3)。虽然他并没有鄙弃成文的福音书，但他认为使徒和他们门徒（如马可）的“活生生的、依然还存留的讲述”有同样或者更高的权威 (iii. 39.4)。

Largely because of his extravagant depictions of millennial plenty, Eusebius described Papias as a “man of very little intelligence” (HE iii.39.13). Though this verdict is perhaps unfair on such limited data, Papias seems to have been a person who was fascinated by eschatological hopes, especially when they involved extravagant and bizarre projections of certain features of the present life into the future.

IX. Shepherd of Hermas.—The longest of the writings of the Apostolic Fathers is also one of the most remarkable. The v.33.3-4, 可能是约翰和“长老”口传下来的一则圣传)。他还保留了一些关于使徒所行的奇事的故事, 一个是关于腓力众女儿的故事(参: 徒 21:8), 另一个是关于《使徒行传》1:23-24 中犹太都·巴撒巴的故事(Eusebius HE iii.39.8–10)。他还讲述了一个妇人的故事, 她由于罪恶累累, 在主面前遭人指控(HE iii.39.17; 参: 约 7:53-8:11), 此外, 一部由名叫老底嘉的亚波里留拿的作者, 在4世纪时所作的评注残本, 其中讲述了关于加略人犹大之死的尤其可怕的故事, 据说这个故事就来自帕皮亚的作品。后期的历史学家或写摘录者认为许多其他语句也出自帕皮亚的作品, 如关于使徒约翰殉道的故事, 甚至有传说称帕皮亚在使徒的讲述下写下了《约翰福音》! 此外, 围绕帕皮亚本人和他可能见证过的使徒产生了越来越多的传闻, 这些传闻带有强烈的倾向性, 令人迷惑, 使帕皮亚的身份更加扑朔迷离。

优西比乌将帕皮亚描述为一个“不太聪明的人”(HE iii.39.13), 这可能主要是因为帕皮亚夸张地描述了千禧年国度的富足。虽然根据有限的资料就这样评价帕皮亚可能不大公平, 但帕皮亚似乎是一个热衷于末世希望的人, 尤其是那些在将来世界的概念中融入了这个世界中对某些特征夸张而离奇的推测的末世希望。

IX. 《黑马牧人书》。这是使徒后期教父著作中篇幅最长也是最出色的一部作品。《黑马牧人书》既是小说, 又是

Shepherd of Hermas is part novel and part apocalypse, with the literary features of both of these genres directed toward an overall purpose of edification and moral exhortation. It is divided into three sections, commonly known as the Visions, the Mandates, and the Similitudes.

The work is found in three Greek MSS: the fourth-century biblical Codex Sinaiticus, containing only Vis. 1:1:1 through Mand. 4:3:6; Codex Athous, from the 15th cent., ending at Sim. 9:30:2; and Papyrus 129, containing Sim. 2:8 through Sim. 9:5:1. In addition there are a number of Greek fragments, two complete Latin versions (the Vulgate and the Palatine version), an Ethiopic version, and a few fragments in Coptic and Middle Persian. This means in Sim. 9:30:3 through 10:4:5 we are mainly dependent on the Latin for our text.

The first four visions form a literary unit. The fifth and last of the visions is really the introduction to the twelve Mandates and ten Similitudes which are to follow, and in a very real sense belongs with them in the structuring of the book. This is acknowledged even in the MS tradition. Codex Sinaiticus entitles the fifth Vision the fifth "Revelation"; before the fifth Vision the Palatine version says, "Here begin the Twelve Mandates of the Shepherd," and (most significantly) the Vulgate says, "The fifth Vision is the beginning of the Shepherd." There is indeed a sense in which the Shepherd of Hermas proper begins with the fifth Vision. The Coptic Sahidic version and apparently Papyrus 129 originally began at this point, and some of the patristic citations provide further evidence that at times the book circulated in this shorter form. The most obvious difference between the two major divisions is that in the first four Visions the Church in the form of a woman is the revealer of what is seen, while in the fifth Vision to the end the mysterious figure known as the “Shepherd” assumes this role.

三份希腊语手稿中有这部作品: 4 世纪的《西奈抄本》, 仅包括《异象篇》1:1:1 至《命令篇》4:3:6; 15 世纪的《奥瑟斯抄本》(Codex Athous) 以《比喻篇》9:30:2 结篇; 《蒲草纸 129》包括从《比喻篇》2:8 至 9:5:1。此外, 还有许多希腊语残本、两份完整的拉丁语译本(《武加大译本》和《巴拉汀译本》)、一份埃塞俄比亚语译本以及一些科普特语和中古波斯语的残本。这意味着本段内容中《比喻篇》9:30:3 至 10:4:5 中的内容主要参照了拉丁语译本。

前四个异象形成了一个文献单位。第五个也是最后一个异象实际上是对后文中 12 条命令和 10 则比喻的介绍, 而从该书的结构来看, 第五个异象也确实应归入命令和比喻部分。就连手稿传统也认可这种观点。《西奈抄本》将第五个异象命名为第五个“启示”; 《巴拉汀译本》中在第五个异象之前写道“以下是牧人的十二命令”, (最为重要的是)《武加大译本》中写道, “第五个异象是牧人书的开始”。这实际上意味着《黑马牧人书》可能从第五个异象开始。科普特语沙希地语译本和《蒲草纸 129》显然就从这部分内容开始, 而教父作品中的一些引用进一步表明当时流传的是这部作品的较短版本。书中这两部分的明显区别是, 在前四个异象中, 教会以女人的形象出现, 揭示了她所看到的异象, 而从第五个异象到最后, 被称为“牧人”的神秘人物充当了启示者的角色。

The Visions are unusual among apocalyptic writings in that the author writes in his own name instead of assuming the guise of some great man of the past. He begins in an autobiographical vein, introducing himself as a former slave in Rome who entertains desire in his heart for a woman named Rhoda, who had once been his owner. She reproves him in an initial vision by a river for his evil desire, and warns him to repent (Vis. 1:1:1-9). In subsequent visions an aged woman (representing the Church) appears to him assuring him that his sin is thus far potential rather than actual, but that he must take steps to convert and discipline his family (1:2:1-1:4:3). More important he is to bring a message to the Church that a limiting day has been fixed: Christians who have sinned and repent before that day will be forgiven, but those who have not repented by that time will not be forgiven (second Vision). He is shown a tower being built, which like the aged lady represents the Church. The different kinds of stones put into the tower represent various types of Christian believers who comprise the Church which, though old as creation, is nevertheless still in process of being completed. Around the tower are seven maidens representing the virtues which must belong to those who find a place in the tower (third Vision). Finally he sees a vision of a great dragon or Leviathan, representing the great persecution to come and is shown how to escape it through faithfulness (fourth Vision).

In the fifth Vision Hermas meets the shepherd to whom he has been “handed over” (5:1:3f.), and who dictates to him the Mandates and the Similitudes (Vis. 5:1:5f.). In spite of the familiarity of the biblical image of the Good Shepherd (e.g., Jn. 10), this shepherd is not Christ. Elsewhere the Son of God is identified with the “glorious man” who appears in a later sequence as the lord of the tower (Sim. 9:12:8), and even he is not so much Christ himself as the Spirit of God manifest in human flesh, whether of Jesus or of Christians (see Sim. 5:6:5f.; cf. 9:1:1). As for the shepherd, he is identified as the “angel of repentance” (e.g., Vis. 5:7; Mand. 12:4:7). He is a christological figure in that he carries out certain functions normally assigned to Christ. But in himself he is simply an angel sent to watch over and instruct Hermas.

The Mandates are a series of moral injunctions (not unlike the Didache) perhaps intended in part for new converts. They urge such things as belief in God, simplicity and generosity, truth, purity, faith, and cheerfulness, and warn against bitterness, double-mindedness, grief, and evil desire. They grapple with the specifics of such problems as divorce and second marriage and the testing of false prophets. They bear the marks of very early traditional material and, like the “Two Ways” in Barnabas, recognize two angels at work in man, one of righteousness and one of wickedness. Their aim is to help believers to know the difference and to choose always what is

在第五个异象中，黑马看到了牧人，他被“交给”了这个牧人（《异象篇》5:1:3-4），这个牧人向他表明了命令和比喻（《异象篇》5:1:5-6）。这个牧人和人们熟知的圣经意象“好牧人”（如约10）不同，他不是基督。书中其他处将圣子称为“大有荣耀者”，后文提到圣子是塔的主人（《比喻篇》9:12:8），但就连圣子也不是基督，在耶稣或基督徒的肉身上显现的圣灵才是基督（见《比喻篇》5:6:5-6；参9:1:1）。至于牧人，则是“掌管悔罪的天使”（如《异象篇》5:7；《命令篇》12:4:7）。他是一个基督性的人物，因为他执行一些类似基督所做的工作。但他自身仅仅是派去照管和指示黑马的天使。

《命令篇》是一系列道德劝诫（类似《十二使徒遗训》），从某种程度上来说，可能是为了新归信者准备的。命令中强调信上帝、真诚清白、爱慕真理、纯洁、在苦难中的信心和喜乐，并且要防避怀疑与心怀二意、忧愁和邪恶的欲望。其中处理的课题包括离婚、再婚和试验假先知等。《命令篇》还参照了类似于《巴拿巴书》中“两条路”的传统，认为有两个天使在人的生命中公正，一个为善，一个为恶。这些命令旨在帮助信徒区分公义和邪恶，始终选择正确的路。

The Similitudes, or Parables, are told to Hermas by the shepherd to illustrate the things he has learned from the Visions and the Mandates. Among these are the parables of the two cities (on the heavenly citizenship of the Christian), the elm and the vine (on mutual responsibilities of rich and poor), the trees in winter and summer (on the differences between the righteous and the sinners, which become apparent only in the “summer” of the world to come), the vineyard (on the Christian’s stewardship of the Spirit that God has given him), and the willow tree (on different types and classes of believers, distinguished by the use they have made of their gifts and by the quality of their repentance).

The ninth Similitude, the so-called parable of the tower, is by far the longest, and in fact encompasses more than a fourth of the whole Shepherd of Hermas. Essentially it is a long elaboration and reinterpretation of the third Vision, the vision of the Church as a tower. It is set apart from the first eight Similitudes by a time lapse of a few days (Sim. 8:11:5) and seems to presuppose that Hermas has already written down the rest of the Similitudes and Mandates (9:1:1). This distinction of the ninth Similitude from the rest is anticipated as early as Vis. 5:5, in which the shepherd tells Hermas, “First of all write my commandments and the parables; but the rest you shall write as I shall show you.” Some have argued from this that the ninth Similitude is a later addition, but if so the final editor has prepared for it carefully and woven it skillfully into the literary structure of the whole work. Possibly the first four

Visions represent a substratum (either of traditions or of personal visionary experiences) which the author has drawn up and made the basis of a moral appeal to the Church. Thus the ninth Similitude in particular would be a special adaptation of the third Vision to the needs of a somewhat later time. Certainly the ninth Similitude speaks more overtly to a real ecclesiastical situation. The Church is no longer an idealized eschatological community as in the third Vision but a real institution existing in history. Instead of being kept out of the tower altogether (Vis. 3:2:7-9; 3:7:5) the unsuitable stones are already there and need to be removed (Sim. 9:4:7; 9:6:5), like the bad fish in Jesus' parable of the net (Mt. 13:44-50).

Such signs of development in the tradition suggest that the dating of the Shepherd of Hermas is no simple matter, and the external evidence and internal evidence confirm this. The threat of persecution in the fourth Vision and the apparent absence of a monarchical bishop suggest the last decade of the 1st cent. or slightly later. The locale is clearly Rome (Vis 1:1:1), and the mention of Clement in Vis. 2:4:3 may indeed refer to the Roman presbyter who wrote 1 Clement. There is even a remarkable confirmation of the "limiting day" for the forgiveness of sins committed after baptism (Vis. 2:2:4f.) in a tradition recorded by Hippolytus of Rome that a Jewish Christian (Ebionite) prophet named Elkesai announced just such a day in the third year of Trajan (i.e., about A.D. 100; Ref. ix.13). A multitude of distinctly Jewish features in the thought and terminology of the Shepherd of Hermas suggest that this document's tradition arises not in the church of Rome as such but probably in a distinctly Jewish Christian subculture within, or on the property of, the church from which Clement wrote and to which Ignatius addressed his letter.

显然提及了更多关于教会的真实情况。教会不再是第三个异象中理想化的末世会众，而是在历史上真实存在的机构。在第三个异象中，不合适的石头都在塔的外面（《异象篇》3:2:7-9; 3:7:5），在第九个比喻中则不同，这些石头本已在塔中，需要搭建的人将其移出（《比喻篇》9:4:7; 9:6:5），就像耶稣曾提到关于网中不好的鱼的比喻。

Over against the evidence for an early date is the witness of the Muratorian Canon (from Rome shortly before 200) that “Hermas composed the Shepherd quite recently in our times in the city of Rome, while his brother Pius held the office of bishop.” This would yield a date close to 150. Though certainty is impossible, perhaps a series of visions originating in a small Jewish Christian community in Rome were later made available and began to circulate in the mainstream of the Roman church, and in the process were greatly enlarged (by either the original author or someone else) and adapted to the needs and ecclesiastical situation of a larger Christian community made up of Jews and Gentiles.

In any case there is no doubt that the Shepherd of Hermas became popular in the later Church; it was an exciting story with allegorical features (like Pilgrim's Progress in another era), and it spoke pointedly to the ever-recurring problem of sin and repentance in the life of the baptized Christian. Origen considered it inspired and identified its author with the Hermas of Rom. 16:14 (Comm. on Romans, in loc.). Though Eusebius rejected it, he admitted that it was widely quoted and read publicly in the churches, being considered especially valuable “for those who need elementary instruction” (HE iii.3.6). Irenaeus' quotation of the elementary instruction in the first Mandate as “Scripture” (Adv. haer. iv.20) seems to support this, though it is not impossible that Irenaeus is drawing on an earlier catechism to which Hermas itself is also indebted. The value of the Shepherd of Hermas today does not lie in its theology; its author can hardly be called one of the “Fathers” (apostolic or otherwise?). Rather, like the somewhat later NT apocrypha, it is worthwhile because of the vivid glimpse it affords of the “grass roots” piety and the practical concerns of the churches around Rome in the 2nd century.

但《穆拉多利经目》(公元 200 年前不久写于罗马)中的证据则与前文中的较早日期相对立,这部作品写道“黑马最近在罗马写下了《黑马牧人书》,他的弟兄庇护正担任罗马主教一职”。这表明《黑马牧人书》的写作时间接近公元 150 年。虽然人们无法确定具体时间,但书中的一系列异象可能源自一个罗马的小规模犹太派基督徒群体,这部分内容后来在罗马教会的主流群体中流传,在这一过程中,为了适应群体需要和教会情况,(原始的作者或其他人可能)大量扩充了该书的内容,此时的教会由犹太人和外邦人组成的更大的基督徒群体。

Thus the so-called “Apostolic Fathers,” though brought together in later tradition arbitrarily and seemingly almost by chance, offer to the student of the Bible by their very diversity at least a cross section of the Christian literature produced in the first few decades after the NT period. If he is perceptive they will teach him that diversity is no scandal for the Church, but is always the inevitable and healthy result when revealed truth confronts a variety of life situations.

因此，所谓的“使徒后期教父著作”虽然是根据后来的传统被武断地、甚至几乎是偶然地划分在一起的，但以其多样性至少为《圣经》的研究者提供了新约时代之后几十年中基督教文献的典型例子。如果这个研究者感觉敏锐，那么这些著作就教导他，对于教会来说，多样化并不是丑闻，当神揭示的真理面对多种生活情况时，这种多样化反而始终是不可避免的、合理的结果。

APPEAL.

In the sense of a request for review of a lower-court decision by a higher court, we find no such instance either in the OT or the NT. In the institution of judges by Moses (Ex. 18:26), the statement “hard cases they brought to Moses, but any small matter they decided themselves,” indicates simply a distribution of cases between two courts, but gives no evidence that appeal could be made to Moses of a decision made by lower court. In Dt. 17:8–13 directions are given that a lower court, under certain conditions, shall ask a higher for instructions as to procedure, and shall strictly follow the order prescribed; nevertheless, the decision itself belongs to the lower court. APPEAL. 上告、恳求、劝勉

was no appeal.

In the NT, the provision of the Roman law for an appeal from a lower to a higher court is clearly recognized, although the case of Paul in Acts 25 does not strictly fall within its scope. The Roman law originally gave a citizen the right of appeal to the tribune of the people; but with the establishment of the empire, the emperor himself assumed this function of the tribune, and became the court of last resort. The case of Paul, however, had not been tried before Festus, nor any verdict rendered, when (Acts 25:10f.) he uttered the proper legal formula: "I appeal to Caesar" (Gk. Kaisara epikaloúmai). That Roman citizens could insist upon such procedure, as a right, is not perfectly certain (HJP, II/2, 279). Paul evidently didn't act upon the suggestion of the governor himself (v. 9), who seems to have been desirous of avoiding the responsibility of a case involving questions most remote from his ordinary attention.

At first sight, Paul's decision to appeal seems premature. He throws away his chance of acquittal by Festus, and acts upon the assumption that he has been already condemned. Acts 26:32 shows that the possibility of his acquittal had amounted almost to a certainty. His course is explicable only by regarding his appeal the master stroke of a great leader, who was ready to take risks. In the proposition of Festus, he grasps at what had been an object of hope long deferred. For many years he had been desiring and praying to get to Rome (Acts 19:21; Rom. 1:11, 15; 15:23f.). The Lord had just assured him (Acts 23:11) that as he had testified at Jerusalem, "so you must

APPEAR.

The usual Hebrew word is rā'ā, used mainly of God’s self-revelations in person and in dreams and visions: “The Lord appeared to Abram” (Gen. 12:7); to Moses (Ex. 3:2); to Solomon (1 K. 3:5).

In the NT, Gk. óphthēn, passive of hōráō, “see,” is used especially of angelic revelations and visions: as on the Mount of Transfiguration (Mt. 17:3); an angel (Lk. 1:11); the risen Lord (24:34; cf. optáinomai in Acts 1:3); cloven tongues at Pentecost (Acts 2:3); vision to Paul (Acts 16:9); a great wonder in heaven (Rev. 12:1).

Other NT words are: phainomai, “shine,” with the thought of a resplendent, luminous revelation, as of the Bethlehem star (Mt. 2:7); and phanerōō, “make manifest,” used of the postresurrection appearances and second coming of Christ, and of the disclosures of the great judgment day. See Col. 3:4; 2 Cor. 5:10; 1 Jn. 2:28; etc.

本词通常用来翻译希伯来词语 rā'ā，主要表示神亲自、或在梦境和异象中的自我揭示：“耶和华向亚伯兰显现”（创 12:7）；向摩西显现（出 3:2）；向所罗门显现（王上 3:5）。

在《新约》中，希腊语 hōráō（“看见”）的被动语态 óphthēn 专门用来表示有关天使的异象和启示：如耶稣登山变像（太 17:3）；主的使者（路 1:11）；复活的主（路 24:34；参：《使徒行传》1:3 中的 optáinomai）；五旬节上分开的舌头（徒 2:3）；保罗看见的异象（徒 16:9）；天上的大异象（启 12:1）。

《新约》中其他译为“显现或出现”的希腊词语有：phainomai，意思是“闪耀”，表示启示是光辉明亮的，就像伯利恒的星一样（太 2:7）；phanerōō，意思是“显现”，用来表示主复活后的显现以及基督复临，还用来表示最终审判之日的揭示。见西 3:4；林后 5:10；约壹 2:28 等。

APPEARANCE.

In the OT, Heb. Mar'eh occurs especially in Ezekiel and Daniel in describing supernatural visions (e.g., Ezk. 1:5, 16, 26 - 28; 8:2; 10:9f.; 40:3; Dnl. 1:13; 10:6, 18; also Joel 2:4).

The main NT word is Gk. prósōpon, as in Lk. 9:29 of Jesus on the mount of the Transfiguration, and in Mt. 16:3 par. Lk. 12:56, the “appearance of (earth and) sky.” Other words are Gk. eidéa (Mt. 28:3) and ópsis (Jn. 7:24, “Do not judge by appearances”); also lógos (Col. 2:23), homoíōma (Rev. 9:7).

APPEARING.

[Gk. epipháneia—‘manifestation’]. A term referring to the parousia of Christ (2 Thess. 2:8 [AV “brightness”]; 1 Tim. 6:14; 2 Tim. 1:10; 4:1, 8; Tit. 2:13); for 1 Pet. 1:7, AV, the word is apokálypsis (RSV “revelation”).

APPENDAGE OF THE LIVER

APPEARANCE. 形像、形状、面貌、气色、像貌、外貌

在《旧约》中，希伯来词语 Mar'eh 主要出现在《以西结书》和《但以理书》中，表示超自然的异象（如结 1:5, 16, 26-28; 8:2; 10:9-10; 40:3; 但 1:13; 10:6, 18; 珥 2:4）。

《新约》中主要使用的希腊词语是 prósōpon，如《路加福音》9:29 中的耶稣登山变像，《马太福音》16:3 和平行经文《路加福音》12:56 中的“天地的气色”。其他希腊词语有 eidéa（“像貌”，太 28:3）和 ópsis（“外貌”，约 7:24，“不可按外貌断定是非”）；还有 lógos（“表面上”，西 2:23）和 homoíōma（“形状”，启 9:7）。

APPEARING. 降临、显现

【希腊语：epipháneia——“显现”】。本词指的是基督复临（帖后 2:8 [《钦定版圣经》译为“brightness”，意思是“降临”]；提前 6:14；提后 1:10；4:1, 8；多 2:13）；《钦定版圣经》的《彼得前书》1:7 中用这个词翻译希腊词语 apokálypsis（“启示”；《修订标准译本》译为“revelation” [“启示”]）。

APPENDAGE OF THE LIVER 肝上的网子

【希伯来语：yōteret 'al-hakkābēd】（出 29:13, 22；利 3:4, 10, 15；4:9 等）；《钦定版圣经》译为“caul above the liver”；《新英文译本》译为“long lobe of the liver”（汉译均为“肝上的网子”）。肝脏上的大叶或皮瓣，通常和腰子、脂肪一起出现，它们都是燔祭中烧掉的特殊祭物。

Appetite is most often a translation of nepeš. Cognate with the Akkadian term for “neck” or “throat,” the Heb. nepeš sometimes retains that meaning, but by extension came to signify the most vital function of the throat: breathing. It was natural, then, for nepeš to become equated with the living and active expression of life, or life itself. As a description of human vitality, it came to embrace all the basic human urges and emotions. The nepeš can thirst (Prov. 25:25), hate (2 S. 5:8), rejoice (Ps. 35:9), etc. Hence, a full life includes a joyous satisfying of the appetites for food and drink (Dt. 14:26). The appetite is a constant constituent of man’s life (Prov. 16:26; Eccl. 6:7), and while the wicked are ceaselessly driven by it (Isa. 56:11), the righteous are satisfied (Prov. 13:25). Therefore, self-control over one’s appetite is a recommended virtue (Prov. 23:2; cf. vv. 20f.).

Paul’s reference to those who “do not serve our Lord Christ, but their own appetites” (Rom. 16:18) is probably a sardonic jab at Judaizers who sought to

APPETITE 饱足、胃口、口腹、肚腹

【希伯来语：nepeš, ḥayyâ（伯 38:39）；希腊语：koilia（罗 16:18）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 SOUL（“灵”）、GREEDY（“贪吃的”）、“herself”（“自身”，赛 5:14）、BELLY（“肚腹”）等；《新英文译本》还译为 DESIRE（“欲念”）、GREEDY（“贪吃的”）、HUNGER（“饥饿”）、RELISH（“食欲”）、THROAT（“喉咙”）等。

Appetite 通常用来翻译希伯来词语 nepeš。该词与阿卡德语中表示“脖子”或“喉咙”的词是同根词，希伯来语 nepeš 有时会保留这层含义，但从广义上讲，它可以表示喉咙最重要的作用：呼吸。因此该词很自然地演变为生存、生命的主要表达或生命本身的同义词。该词描述了人类的生命力，因此开始包含了人类所有的基本需求和情绪。nepeš 可以表示口渴（箴 25:25）、恨恶（撒下 5:8）、高兴（诗 35:9）等。因此，完全的生命包括“吃喝快乐”（申 14:26）。口腹之欲是人类生活的一个恒定组成部分（箴 16:26；传 6:7），恶人不知饱足（赛 56:11），义人却会饱足（箴 13:25）。因此，控制食欲是一种值得推崇的美德（箴 23:2；参：箴 23:20-21）。

保罗提及那些“不服侍我们的主基督，只服侍自己的肚腹”的人（罗 16:18），他可能是在讽刺那些想要把犹太饮食律法引入福音书中的犹太派基督徒。

It has been supposed, since this Epistle concerns one household exclusively, that Apphia was Philemon’s wife and the mother or sister of Archippus. Tradition says she was stoned to death with Philemon, Onesimus, and Archippus in the reign of Nero.

Tiberius 2; cf. T. Mommsen, Römische Forschungen, I [2nd ed. 1864], 308), who laid out the famous highway from Rome to Capua in 312 B.C. In the 1st cent. it had the rank of a municipality (Pliny Nat. hist. iii.64). Its importance as a highway station is due chiefly to the canal which ran by the side of the road from there to within a short distance of Tarracina (at the sixty-second milestone), affording an alternative means of conveyance (Strabo Geog. v.3.6). It was customary to cover this section of the journey, passing through the Pontine marshes, by night in canal boats drawn by mules. Horace (Satires i.5) offers a lively picture of the discomforts of the trip, mentioning the importunate innkeepers and intolerable drinking water at Appii Forum, the gnats and frogs which were enemies to repose, and the exasperating procrastination of the muleteer.

The Christian brethren in Rome went out along the Appian Road to welcome the apostle Paul upon hearing of his arrival at Puteoli. One party awaited him at Three Taverns while another proceeded as far as the Forum of Appius (Acts 28:15).

Some botanists have favored identifying the apple of the OT with the citron (C.

(Suetonius Tiberius 2; 参: T. Mommsen, Römische Forschungen, I [1864 年再版], 308), 他于公元前 312 年修建了从罗马通往加普亚的大道。公元 1 世纪, 该地被列为自治市 (Pliny Nat. hist. iii.64)。从亚比乌大道旁流过的一条运河连接了亚比乌和不远处的特腊契纳(在第 62 块里程碑处), 于是两地之间就多出一种可选择的运输方式 (Strabo Geog. v.3.6), 因此亚比乌是大道上的重要一站。当人们走在这段路上时, 通常会选择在晚上坐骡子拉的运河船穿过彭甸沼泽。霍勒思 (Horace, Satires i.5) 形象地描绘了旅途中的不适, 他提到了旅店老板纠缠不休和亚比乌市的饮用水令人难以咽下, 昆虫和青蛙使人无法入眠, 可气的是赶骡子的人还总是拖延。

罗马的基督教弟兄们听到使徒保罗到达部丢利的消息后, 就沿着亚比乌大道来迎接他。一部分人在三馆等待保罗, 其他人则来到了较远的亚比乌市来迎接他 (徒 28:15)。

APPLE; APPLE-TREE 苹果; 苹果树

【希伯来语: tappû(a)h; 希腊语: mélon】;《新英文译本》还译为 APRICOT (-TREE) (“杏[树]”)。《圣经》中苹果的鉴定是圣经植物学中最令人困惑的问题之一。常见的苹果 (拉丁学名: Malus pumila Mill.) 是近来才引进巴勒斯坦的, 野生的苹果可能并不符合《旧约》中对这种植物的简要描述。

medica L.); but the tree affords little shade, and the fruit, though pleasantly scented, is bitter. The citron is a native of India, and it probably was unknown in ancient Palestine. The “apple” of Cant. 2:3, 5; 7:8; 8:5 has been identified as the quince (Cydonia oblonga Mill.), a native of Asia Minor bearing a yellowish fragrant fruit that is exceedingly acrid to taste.

The OT descriptions of “apple” and “apple tree” seem to indicate the apricot (Prunus armeniaca L.), a native of China that was introduced into Mesopotamia and Palestine prior to the patriarchal period. The apricot is now widespread there, and in a favorable environment grows to 30 ft. (9 m.) in height. The spreading branches make it a desirable shade tree, and it yields abundant harvests. The apricot may very well have been the “forbidden fruit” of Eden.

APPLE OF THE EYE.

An old English expression denoting the pupil of the eye, used metaphorically of something extremely precious and jealously protected. In Dt. 32:10; Prov. 7:2 the Heb. ’išōn (“little man”) evidently refers to the beholder’s reflection in the eye of another, while in Ps. 17:8 the apple is the “daughter of the eye” (bat-’āyin; cf. Lam. 2:18, MT). The word bābā, “gate,” “opening” (Zec. 2:8), is also rendered “apple” in the RSV and NEB.

APPLES OF SODOM.

A name often associated with the Vine of Sodom (see SODOM, VINE OF), but

L.); but香橼树的枝叶较少，因此提供的树荫也很少，而香橼果虽然气味芳香，但尝起来却是苦的。香橼的原产地是印度，古代巴勒斯坦可能并不知晓这种植物。人们认为《雅歌》2:3, 5; 7:8; 8:5 中的“苹果”是榲桲（拉丁学名：Cydonia oblonga Mill.），榲桲的原产地是小亚细亚，这种果实呈黄色，气味芳香，但吃起来却非常苦。

APPLE OF THE EYE. 眼中的瞳人

本词是一种古英语的表达方式，指的是眼中的瞳人，通常用来比喻极其珍贵并需要小心保护的东西。在《申命记》32:10；《箴言》7:2 中，希伯来词语 ’išōn (“小个子”) 显然指的是在另一个人眼中旁观者的反应，而在《诗篇》17:8 中指的是“眼中的瞳人” (bat-’āyin; 参：哀 2:18, 《马所拉文本》)。《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》也用“apple” (“眼中的瞳人”) 来翻译 bābā, 意为“门”、“开口” (亚 2:8)。 designating more likely the Jericho potato or Palestine nightshade (Solanum sanctum L.). It is probably referred to by Josephus (BJ iv.8.4), who describes fruits of Sodom that “dissolve into smoke and ashes” when picked, supposedly giving evidence of the city’s destruction by fire. The shrub has coarse, low brier-like branches, and bears a yellow fruit which when ripe contains a dusty pulp. It is reportedly abundant in the Dead Sea region.

APPLY

[Heb. nāṭan (Eccl. 1:13, 17; 8:9, 16), bō’ (Prov. 23:12), mārah (Isa. 38:21), mēyūššār (1 K. 6:35), šīt (Prov. 22:17); Gk. proīstēmi (Tit. 3:8, 14), metaschēmatizō (1 Cor. 4:6)]; AV also GIVE, FIT, MAINTAIN, “in a figure transferred” (1 Cor. 4:6); NEB also ENGAGE IN, OPEN (Prov. 22:17), BRING.

“Apply” occurs most frequently in the sense of devoting one’s attention or efforts toward a specific end or activity. Four times (Eccl. 1:13, 17; 8:9, 16) the Preacher says he applied his heart (RSV “mind”) to the search for wisdom, but he found nothing of enduring significance in this futile venture. However, the writer of Proverbs looks more positively upon the pursuit of applying the heart (RSV “mind”) to knowledge (22:17) and instruction (23:12). Paul exhorts the people to apply themselves to the doing of good deeds, or to engage in honorable occupations (Tit. 3:8, 14).

APPLY 留心、专心、贴、转比

【希伯来语: nāṭan (传 1:13, 17; 8:9, 16), bō’ (箴 23:12), mārah (赛 38:21), mēyūššār (王上 6:35), šīt (箴 22:17); 希腊语: proīstēmi (多 3:8, 14), metaschēmatizō (林前 4:6)】; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 GIVE (“给”)、FIT (“符合”)、MAINTAIN (“保持”)、“in a figure transferred” (“转比”, 林前 4:6); 《新英文译本》还译为 ENGAGE IN (“从事”)、OPEN (“留心”, 箴 22:17)、BRING (带来)。

本词通常用来表示专注或全力达成具体的目标或行动。祈祷者四次提到他专心(《修订标准译本》译为“mind”[“心”])寻求智慧, 在这次徒劳的冒险中, 他在这徒劳的探索中没有找到任何持久重要的事物。然而, 《箴言》的作者更看重专心(《修订标准译本》译为“mind”[“心”])寻求知识(箴 22:17)和训诲(箴 23:12)的过程。保罗劝诫人们留心做善工或正经事业(多 3:8, 14)。

Elsewhere “apply” is used of laying some material over something else, such as gold over carved work (1 K. 6:35) or a cake of figs over a boil (Isa. 38:21).

“Apply” occurs once in a third sense, viz., for utilizing something (e.g., a teaching) with reference to a particular person, situation, etc. In 1 Cor. 4:6 Paul uses metaschēmātizō (lit. “transform”) to inform his readers that he is bringing his teaching to bear upon his relationship with Apollos. Apollos and Paul are thus used as examples for the early Church. Because there was no contention between the apostle and Apollos, it follows that the Church has no ground to form opposing parties.

本词在其他经文中还可以表示将某种材料贴在另一种事物上，如将金子贴在雕像上（王上 6:35）或将无花果饼贴在疮上（赛 38:21）。

本词的第三种含义出现过一次，即拿某物（如教导）转比某个特定的人或情况等。在《哥林多前书》4:6 中，保罗使用 metaschēmātizō（字面意思“转换”）一词来告知读者他曾经与亚波罗讨论过他的教训。因此亚波罗和保罗被当作了早期教会的榜样。使徒保罗和亚波罗之间没有争论，因此教会中也不应形成反对派。

ASSIGN(“指派”)、CHOOSE(“选定”)、APPLY(嘱咐)、INSTALL(“命定”)、GIVE(“派”)、VEST(“指派”)、INSTITUTE(“设立”)。

Of the thirty-two times that “appoint” occurs in the OT, roughly a third of the instances translate the word pāqad, which can mean either “visit” or “establish or set in authority.” It is the latter usage which is relevant here. Šim (with variant šûm) means “put” or “place (a time, place, event)”; thus its meaning becomes extended to mean “establish, set up.” Nātan is the normal Hebrew word for “give,” but it is one of the most flexible words in the language, having meanings that range from “permit” to “pay.” In some cases nātan is almost synonymous to šim and is often found parallel to it (esp. in the P source of the Pentateuch and Ezekiel). Āmaḏ in the qal means “stand,” or “take a stand” (1 S. 26:13), but when put into the hiphil it means “cause to stand, establish, appoint” (1 Ch. 15:16).

The most common meaning for šiwwā (in the piel) is “command,” but it also may mean “lay a charge upon” (2 S. 6:21). Šît is very similar to šim. It may mean “lay” or “put,” but it may also take on the meaning “fix” or “make (someone) into something” (1 K. 11:34, where the RSV translates it “I will make him ruler,” or Isa. 5:6, “I will make it a waste”). In Job 14:13 the RSV translates šît as “appoint” in the clause, “that thou wouldst appoint me a set time, and remember me.” In Ps. 75:2 the RSV translates the word lāqah (lit. “take”) as “appoint,” whereas the NEB gives a more usual translation, “seize,” in the clause, “I seize the appointed time.” Yāsaḏ has as its basic

šiwwā（加强主动干）最常见的含义是“命令”，但它也可以指“立”（撒下 6:21）。Šît 和 šim 非常类似，它可以指“安置”或“放置”，也可以指“设立”或“使（某人）变成某事”（王上 11:34，《修订标准译本》译为“使他为君”，或《以赛亚书》5:6 中译为“我必使它荒废”）。《修订标准版》的《约伯记》14:13 将从句“愿你为我定了日期纪念我”中的 šît 译为“选定”。《修订标准版》的《诗篇》75:2 将 lāqah（字面意思是“拿”）译为“指定”，而《新英文译本》则采用了一个更常见的翻译，即“利用”，该句话被译为“我到了所定的日期”。Yāsaḏ 的基本含义是“建立、设立、立”。在《修订标准版》的《诗篇》104:8 中，Yāsaḏ 被译为“安定”。 meaning “establish, found, set.” In Ps. 104:8 the word is translated by the RSV “appoint.” Earlier in the same Psalm (v. 5), yāsaq is translated as “set” in “Thou didst set the earth on its foundations.”

Two Aramaic words are translated as “appoint” by the RSV. M^enâ, which in the peal means “number” (cf. Heb. mānâ), in the pael means “assign.” So, in Ezr. 7:25 (Artaxerxes’ letter to Ezra) we find “... appoint magistrates and judges.” N^etan (cf. Heb. nātan) is not the common Aramaic word for “give.” The more common word by far is y^ehab (Dnl. 2:48; 5:17; etc.). N^etan is used (in Dnl. 2:16) in a way comparable to that in which nātan is used in Josh. 20:2 (see above), and is probably a Hebraism.

NT usage is confined to four passages. Diatithēmi means literally “put through (by means of),” or “put throughout.” It is the common term used to translate “decree.” It also has a very common meaning, “dispose of something by means of a will,” although this meaning is not found in the NT. The noun diathēkē (usually translated as “covenant,” but with the original meaning “last will and testament”) comes from this verb. This understanding of diatithēmi can give us an important clue to understanding Jesus’ statement about the kingdom which he is “appointing” to his followers. If the idea of covenant (with all its OT heritage behind it) and the idea of a will are kept in mind, the matter of an inheritance is the natural outcome. When it is remembered that the one who “appointed” the kingdom to Jesus is the God Almighty, then it is easy to see that the inheritance which Jesus is “willing” to his followers is also eternal.

《修订标准译本》用本词来翻译两个亚兰词语。M^enâ，简单主动干指“数字”（参：希伯来语：mānâ），加强主动干指“指派”。因此，在《以斯拉记》7:25（亚达薛西给以斯拉的信）中有这样一段经文“……立为士师、审判官”。N^etan（参：希伯来语：nātan）不是表示“派”的常见亚兰语。通常使用 y^ehab 表达这一含义（但 2:48；5:17 等）。《但以理书》2:16 中 N^etan 的用法和《约书亚记》20:2 中 nātan 的用法（见上文）相似，N^etan 可能是希伯来语。

Kathístēmi is usually translated “bring, ordain, make (someone) to become something.” The literal meaning is probably “set down.” In the LXX of Nu. 3:10 kathístēmi translates the Heb. pāqad. In Mt. 24:45 and Lk. 12:42 kathístēmi is translated as “set over” by the RSV. Tit. 1:5 uses the word in connection with ordaining elders.

Procheirízomai is a middle deponent from procheirízō, literally “hand forth.” In Acts 26:16 Paul uses this term in recounting his experience with the risen Christ. God has “handed Paul forth” into His service. The idiom is very forceful, and gives one the mental picture of God picking Paul up and pushing him in the direction He intends.

APPOINTED FEAST

[Heb. mô'ēd (Lev. 23:2, 4, 37, 44; Nu. 10:10; 15:3; 29:39; etc.), hag (Ezk. 45:17), “šārā (Isa. 1:14)]; AV FEAST, SOLEMN DAY, SOLEMN FEAST, SET FEAST, ASSEMBLY; NEB APPOINTED SEASON, APPOINTED FESTIVAL, “sacred season appointed by the Lord” (Ezr. 3:5), SACRED FEAST, PLACE OF ASSEMBLY, etc.

When mô'ēd means “appointed feast” it is usually in the plural (but cf. Lam. 2:6; Hos. 12:9). When it is in the singular, a more normal rendering is “set time,

Kathístēmi 通常被译为“使、指派、使(某人)变成某事”。它的字面含义可能是“放下”。《七十士译本》的《民数记》3:10中用 kathístēmi 翻译希伯来词语 pāqad (“嘱咐”)。在《马太福音》24:45和《路加福音》12:42中,《修订标准译本》将 kathístēmi 译为“set over” (“派人管理”)。《提多书》1:5用该词表示“设立长老”。

Procheirízomai 是一个衍生自 procheirízō 的中间语态异相动词,它的字面含义是“派”。在《使徒行传》26:16中,保罗用这个词重述了他看见复活的基督的经历。神“派保罗”侍奉祂。这个习语非常有说服力,在人头脑中描绘了一幅神拣选保罗并按祂的旨意指派保罗的画面。

APPOINTED FEAST 神所定的节期、指定的节期、大会的日子、圣会之日

【希伯来语: mô'ēd (利 23:2, 4, 37, 44; 民 10:10; 15:3; 29:39 等), hag (节 45:17), “šārā (赛 1:14)】;《钦定版圣经》还译为 FEAST (“节期”)、SOLEMN DAY (“神圣的日子”)、SOLEMN FEAST (“神圣的节期”)、SET FEAST (“神所定的节期”)、ASSEMBLY (“圣会”) ;《新英文译本》还译为 APPOINTED SEASON (“圣会的日子”)、APPOINTED FESTIVAL (“神所定的节期”)、“sacred season appointed by the Lord” (“耶和华的一切圣节”, 拉 3:5)、SACRED FEAST (“圣会”)、PLACE OF ASSEMBLY (“大会”) 等。 season.” Although ḥag is translated “appointed feast” in Ezk. 45:17, its more usual meaning is “pilgrim feast” (the verbal form, ḥagag, means to “make a pilgrimage”). The term “ṣārā has the more usual meaning of “assembly,” coming from a verb meaning to “hold in.”

The festal times, exclusive of the sabbath, were kept three times a year. This threefold pattern of “appointed feasts” may reflect the agricultural environment of Canaan; they correspond to the times connected with planting, harvest, etc. The feast of the Passover is kept, along with the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for seven days, starting “in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month” (Lev. 23:5). This means that the dates are Nisan 14–21. Framing the feast time are two convocations, one on the first day and one on the last. The ordinances for the keeping of the Passover and Feast of Unleavened Bread are found in Ex. 12:1–13:16; 23:15; 34:18ff.; Lev. 23:5–14; Nu. 28:16–25; Dt. 16:1–8.

The Feast of Weeks was a one-day celebration, and although no precise date is given for it, the regulation states that it be fifty full days after the bringing of the barley offering at the Feast of Unleavened Bread (cf. Lev. 23:15f.). This would put the Feast of Weeks in the early part of the third month. The basic texts ordaining this “appointed feast” are Lev. 23:15–21; Ex. 23:16; 34:22; Nu. 28:26–31; Dt. 16:9–12.

The Feast of Booths is ordained, among other places, in Lev. 23:33: “On the fifteenth day of this seventh month and for seven days is the feast of booths.” This feast corresponds in time of year to 45:17 将 ḥag 译为“神所定的节期”，但它通常指“朝圣节”（动词形式为 ḥagag，意思是“去朝圣”）。“ṣārā 通常指“大会”，它衍生自表示“控制”的动词。

除了安息日之外，一年中有三次节期。这三次“神所定的节期”可能反映了迦南地的农业环境；节期对应着种植、收获等时期。人们要从“正月十四”开始（利 23:5）守逾越节和七日的无酵节。这意味着这个节期从尼散月 14 到 21 日。在此期间，人们要召开两次圣会，节期第一天召开一次，节期最后一天召开一次。《出埃及记》12:1-13:16; 23:15; 34:18 起; 《利未记》23:5-14; 《民数记》28:16-25; 《申命记》16:1-8 中的经文记载了守逾越节和无酵节的规定。

五旬节要庆祝一天，虽然经文中没有给出这个节期的具体时间，但规定了无酵节献禾捆为摇祭之后的第五十天为五旬节（参：利 23:15-16）。那么五旬节可能在三月初。规定五旬节的主要经文是《利未记》23:15-21; 《出埃及记》23:16; 34:22; 《民数记》28:26-31; 《申命记》16:9-12。

the autumn ingathering of the crops. Earlier in the month (on the first day) the ram's horn is sounded, and on the tenth of the month the solemn fast (Heb. šôm) of Yôm Kippur ("day of atonement") occurs. For further details on the Feast of Booths see Ex. 23:16; 34:22; Lev. 23:33-36, 39-43; Nu. 29:12-32; Dt. 16:13-16.

There are several feasts celebrated in later Judaism which are not set out in the Torah. Two of these are Ḥⁿnukkâ ("dedication"), also known as the Festival of Lights, and Pûrîm. Ḥⁿnukkâ celebrates the cleansing of the temple of Judas Maccabeus in December, 164 B.C. (1 Macc. 4:52-59). It is observed starting on the twenty-fifth day of the ninth month. Pûrîm is a joyful celebration on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month, commemorating the Jews' deliverance from Haman by Mordecai and Esther (Est. 9:23ff.)

GIVE; NEB LAY DOWN, GIVE.

There is little apparent uniformity in translation; the context and the translator are the major determinants. The Heb. ḥālaq is a basic term meaning “divide” with a noun form that means “portion” or “territory.” Even more common and general is nāṭan, meaning essentially “give.” “Count” or “number” is the root idea of mānā. Nāpal is the common verb for “fall.” More to the point is nāḥal, which means “get or take as a possession” (Gesenius). The Gk. diairéō is found only twice in the NT; it means “divide into parts” or “distribute.” More common is merízō, also meaning “divide,” “distribute,” or “separate into parts.” A significant cognate is méros, which has two basic uses in the NT: it is seen as a “part” of something or it conveys the idea of “share,” whether relating to a person, group, thing, or event (Schneider).

An important concept in 1 Cor. 12:11 is that the Holy Spirit is one, and that He is the author of the various gifts given to men at His discretion. Since men are not complete in themselves, they must be joined into Christ with others of like faith. Thus the Spirit ministers to the various parts of the body with a diversity of gifts intended to make the body complete in Christ, individual members becoming vital channels of God's grace to the whole body. Paul recognizes that such interdependence presupposes limitations. No member can get along without the others, because his gifts and role are restricted by God's design. Paul acknowledges that he and Timothy operate within distinct limits (2 Cor. 10:13f.). God had apportioned to them a ministry of being the first to come to the Corinthians with the gospel. Paul wanted them to remember that he led them to Christ, but also that his rights were not unlimited; he wanted to operate only within divine appointment.

APPREHEND.

In Phil. 3:12f., AV, an archaic rendering of Gk. katalambánō; the RSV renders "make (one's) own," the NEB "take (get) hold of"; cf. Eph. 3:18, "comprehend." The same word in Jn. 1:5 is translated "overcome" in the RSV.

APPROACH

[Heb. qārab, Ugar. qrb]. The Hebrew verb is commonly used in the normal sense of "draw near," the causative form being particularly prominent in the prescriptions for sacrificial offerings. It was also used to mean sexual intercourse in Gen. 20:4; Lev. 18:6, 14, 19; 20:16; Dt. 22:14; Isa. 8:3; Ezk. 18:6.

个肢体都有局限性，所以它们才相互依赖。没有哪个肢体可以独立存在，因为肢体得到的赏赐和它们的作用要受到上帝旨意的限制。保罗称他和提摩太按照神所量给他们的界限行事（林后 10:13-14）。神分派保罗和提摩太作第一批来到哥林多传播福音的人。保罗希望哥林多人记住是他令他们知晓了基督的福音，但他的权柄是有界限的；他希望照神所量给他们的界限行事。

APPREHEND. 得着

在《钦定版圣经》的《腓立比书》3:12-13 中，这个词是希腊语 katalambánō 的古语译法；《修订标准译本》译为 "make (one's) own" ("得着")，《新英文译本》译为 "take (get) hold of" ("得着")；参：《以弗所书》3:18, "comprehend" ("明白")。《修订标准译本》在《约翰福音》1:5 中将同一个希腊词语译为 "overcome" ("接受")。

APPROACH 亲近、近前、临近

【希伯来语: qārab, 乌加里特语: qrb】。这个希伯来语动词通常指 "接近", 他的使役动词形式在祭品的规定中尤其突出。《创世记》20:4; 《利未记》18:6, 14, 19; 20:16; 《申命记》22:14; 《以赛亚书》8:3; 《以西结书》18:6 中还用该词表示男女交合。

APPROVE.

Biblical and archaic usages of the word often intend a stronger meaning than the ordinary “have a favorable opinion of,” especially in the NT. As a translation of Gk. dokimázo, dókimos (“approved”), it implies a testing or proving. The RSV often uses a stronger or more specific word, such as 1 Cor. 16:3, “accredit”; 11:19, “genuine”; 2 Cor. 13:7, “to have met the test.” Similarly, apodeiknymi in Acts 2:22, RSV, is “attested”; and synistáō is rendered “commend” in 2 Cor. 6:4 and “prove” in 7:11.

The Gk. dókimos is frequently used extrabiblically for the testing of ores. That which does not stand the test is adókimos; that which passes the test is dókimos. “Greet Apelles, who is approved in Christ” (Rom. 16:10). “Present yourself to God as one approved” (2 Tim. 2:15). See also Rom. 14:22 and 1 Thess. 2:4 (AV “allow”); Rom. 2:18; 14:18; Phil. 1:10.

Other words translated “approve” or “approved” in the RSV are Heb. rā’ā (Lam. 3:36), bārar, “purify” (1 Ch. 7:40), ’ūd (Job 29:11), rāšā (Eccl. 9:7); Gk. syneudokéō (Acts 22:20; Rom. 1:32), and cháris (1 Pet. 2:19). “Approval” translates Gk. épainos (Rom. 13:3), martyréō (He. 11:2, 4), and cháris (1 Pet. 2:20).

本词在《圣经》中的用法，尤其是在《新约》中的用法，或古语用法比通常的“赞成”含义要更强烈。本词用于翻译希腊语 dokimázo, dókimos (“被认可的”)时，它隐含了试验或证明的含义。《修订标准译本》中通常使用语义更重或更具体的词语，如《哥林多前书》16:3, “accredit” (“举荐”); 《哥林多前书》11:19, “genuine” (“经得起考验的”); 《哥林多后书》13:7, “to have met the test” (“经得起考验的”)。同样，《修订标准译本》的《使徒行传》2:22 将 apodeiknymi 译为 “attested” (“证明”), synistáō 在《哥林多后书》6:4 中被译为 “commend” (“表明”), 在《哥林多后书》7:11 中被译为 “prove” (“表明”)。

希腊语 dókimos 在《圣经》之外通常用于表达测试金属。测试不合格的被称为 adókimo; 测试合格的被称为 dókimos。 “又问在基督里经过试验的亚比利安” (罗 16:10)。“你当竭力在神面前得蒙喜悦”(提后 2:15)。另见《罗马书》14:22 和《帖撒罗尼迦前书》2:4 (《钦定版圣经》译为 “allow” [“验中”]); 《罗马书》2:18; 14:18; 《腓立比书》1:10。

《修订标准译本》中译为 “approve” 或 “approved” 的词语有希伯来词语 rā’ā (哀 3:36)、bārar (“洁净”, 代上 7:40)、’ūd (伯 29:11)、rāšā (传 9:7); 希腊语 syneudokéō (徒 22:20; 罗 1:32)、cháris (彼前 2:19)。“Approval” 被用来翻译希腊语 épainos (罗 13:3)、martyréō (来 11:2, 4)、cháris (彼前 2:20)。

APRON 裙子、围裙

【希伯来语: h^agôrâ】(创 3:7); 《新英文译本》译为 LOINCLOTH (“腰布”);

19:12); NEB SCARF.

In Gen. 3:7, Heb. ḥ^agôrâ is used for mankind's first garment—the fig leaves sewed together by Adam and Eve. The word comes from ḥāgar, “gird,” and elsewhere means “girdle” (2 S. 18:11; 1 K. 2:5; Isa. 3:24). It undoubtedly covered only the loins.

The Gk. simikínthion in Acts 19:12 is a dialectic form of sēmikínthion, from Lat. semicinctium, normally a workman's apron, or “half-girdle” (i.e., covering only the front). Some other possibilities have been suggested, however, for this passage. MM (p. 575) cites Nestle, Expos. T., 13 (1901), 282, who thinks the reference is to an undergarment which had been in contact with Paul's skin. Others suppose it may have been a scarf or band, which is easily removable.

APT.

In 1 Tim. 3:2; 2 Tim. 2:24 the RSV has “an apt teacher” for Gk. didaktikós (AV “apt to teach”; NEB “a good teacher”); in both passages it is a qualification for leadership in the church. The word is very rare, found elsewhere only in Philo and Philodemus, although it may be a late form of the classical Greek didaskalikós (cf. MM, p. 158), “fit for teaching.”

AQUEDUCT.

See CISTERN.

【希腊语：simikínthion】(徒 19:12);《新英文译本》译为 SCARF (“围巾”)。

在《创世记》3:7 中，希伯来语 ḥ^agôrâ 用于表示人类的第一件衣服——亚当和夏娃用无花果叶做的裙子。这个词衍生自 ḥāgar，意思是“佩带”，在其他经文中被译为“腰带”(撒下 18:11; 王上 2:5; 赛 3:24)。这种裙子无疑仅能盖住腰部。

《使徒行传》19:12 中的希腊语 simikínthion 是 sēmikínthion 的方言形式，它衍生自拉丁语 semicinctium，通常表示工匠的围裙，或“半腰带”(即仅遮盖前面的围裙)。但是，人们认为这里指的还可能是其他事物。奈瑟勒认为这指的是保罗贴身穿的内衣 (Expos. T., 13 (1901), 282; 作品 MM 的第 575 页引用了他的观点)。其他人还认为这个词指的是容易摘下的围巾或带子。

APT. 善于

《修订标准译本》的《提摩太前书》3:2 和《提摩太后书》2:24 将希腊语 didaktikós 译为 “an apt teacher” (“善于教导的教师，《钦定版圣经》译为 “apt to teach” [“善于教导”];《新英文译本》译为 “a good teacher” [“好教师”]); 在这两段经文中，本词都指教会领袖应具有 的资质。这个词非常少见，除了《圣经》，只有斐罗和菲洛德穆在作品中使用了它，虽然这个词可能是古希腊语的 didaskalikós (“适于教导”) 一种后期形式 (参: MM, 158 页)。

ak'wi-lə [Gk. Akylas—‘eagle’]. A Jew at Corinth, a refugee along with his wife Priscilla (diminutive form of Prisca) from Rome, who became a friend of Paul (Acts 18).

Aquila was a native of Pontus, doubtless one of the colony of Jews mentioned in Acts 2:9; 1 Pet. 1:1. They were victims of the cruel and unjust edict of Claudius which expelled all Jews from Rome ca. A.D. 49. The decree, it is said by Suetonius, was issued on account of tumults raised by the Jews, and he especially mentions one Chrestus (Suetonius Claudius 25). Since the word Christus could easily be confounded by him to refer to some individual whose name was Chrestus and who was an agitator, resulting in these disorders, it has been concluded that the fanatical Jews were then persecuting their Christian brethren and disturbances resulted. The cause of the trouble did not concern Claudius, and so without making inquiry, he expelled all Jews.

The conjecture that Aquila was a freedman and that his master had been Aquila Pontius, the Roman senator, and that from him he received his name, is without foundation. He doubtless had a Hebrew name, but it is not known. It was a common custom for Jews outside of Palestine to take Roman names.

Driven from Rome, Aquila sought refuge in Corinth, where Paul on his second missionary journey met him because they had the same trade: that of making tents of Cilician cloth (Acts 18:3). The account does not justify the conclusion that he

音译: ak'wi-lə 【希腊语: Akylas——“鹰”】。哥林多的一个犹太人,他和妻子百基拉(Priscilla, Prisca 的昵称形式)从罗马逃亡到哥林多,后来成了保罗的朋友(徒 18)。

亚居拉是本都人,本都无疑就是《使徒行传》2:9 和《彼得前书》1:1 中提到的犹太人居住地本都。约公元 49 年,克劳狄下令驱逐罗马境内的所有犹太人,亚居拉和百基拉受到这个残忍不公的法令的迫害。苏埃托尼乌斯称由于犹太人引发了骚动,克劳狄才颁布了这条法令,他还特别提到了一个名叫基里斯都(Chrestus)的人(Suetonius Claudius 25)。基督的名字和基里斯都的名字非常容易混淆,基里斯是这些骚动的煽动者,狂热的犹太人后来迫害他们的基督徒弟兄,并引发了骚动。克劳狄并不关心动乱的原因,他未经调查就驱逐了所有的犹太人。

有人推测亚居拉是被解放的奴隶,他的主人是罗马执政官亚居拉·本丢,他的名字也是从主人那里得来的,但这种推测并没有根据。他一定有一个希伯来语名字,但人们并不知道那个名字。巴勒斯坦之外的犹太人通常会取一个罗马名字。

and his wife were already Christians when Paul met them. Had that been the case Luke would almost certainly have said so, especially if it was true that Paul sought them out on that account. Judging from their well-known activity in Christian work they would have gathered a little band of inquirers or possibly converts, even though they had been there for but a short time. It is more in harmony with the account to conclude that Paul met them as fellow tradespeople, and that he took the opportunity of preaching Christ to them as they toiled. There can be no doubt that Paul would use these days to lead them into the kingdom and instruct them in it, so that afterward they would be capable of being teachers themselves (Acts 18:26).

Not only did they become Christians, but they also became fast and devoted friends of Paul, and he fully reciprocated their affection for him (Rom. 16:3f.). They accompanied him when he left Corinth to go to Ephesus and remained there while he went on his journey into Syria. When he wrote the first letter to the church at Corinth they were still at Ephesus, and their house there was used as a Christian assembly place (1 Cor. 16:19).

The decree of Claudius excluded the Jews from Rome only temporarily, and so afterward Paul is found there; his need of friends and their affection for him doubtless led Aquila and Priscilla also to go to that city (Rom. 16:3). At the time of the writing of Paul's second letter to Timothy they have again removed to Ephesus, possibly sent there by Paul to further the work in that city (2 Tim. 4:19). While nothing more is known of them they doubtless remained the devoted friends of Paul to the end.

他们不仅成为了基督徒，还成为了保罗坚定忠诚的朋友，保罗非常感念他们的恩情（罗 16:3-4）。他们陪同保罗一起离开哥林多前往以弗所，当保罗前往叙利亚时，他们留在了以弗所。当保罗给哥林多教会写第一封信时，他们仍在以弗所，他们的家成为基督徒的聚会之所（林前 16:19）。

克劳狄驱逐犹太人的法令只是暂时的，因此保罗后来来到了罗马；保罗需要朋友，而亚居拉和百基拉对保罗的感情深厚，因此他们也来到了罗马（罗 16:3）。保罗在给提摩太写第二封书信时，他们再次迁居到以弗所，这可能是由于保罗请他们去以弗所继续做工（提后 4:19）。虽然人们对他们的了解仅止于此，但他们无疑一直是保罗忠诚的朋友。

That Priscilla's name is mentioned several times before that of her husband has called forth a number of conjectures. The best explanation seems to be that she was the more active Christian.

AR

är; AR OF MOAB mō'ab [Heb. 'ār, 'ār mō'āb; Gk. Ēr, Aroēr, Sēeir]. A Moabite site located on the southern bank of the Arnon River (Nu. 21:28). At the time of the Israelite Exodus it lay on the northern border of Moab (Nu. 21:15; Dt. 2:18). There is some question as to whether Ar refers to a city or a region. It may be the place called the city of Moab (Nu. 22:36; cf. NEB). It is probably also intended by "the city that is in the middle of the valley" (Dt. 2:36; Josh. 13:9, 16; 2 S. 24:5). In Dt. 2:9, however, Ar may be a synonym of Moab. Dt. 2:29 speaks of Moabites living in Ar and Edomites in Seir. The term, therefore, may refer to both a city and a region. Ar has been identified with Areopolis and Rabbath Moab; but this is unlikely, since the location of this latter site is 14 mi. (22.5 km.) S of the Arnon.

ARABAH 亚拉巴

- I. 用法
- II. 自然分区
- III. 矿产
- IV. 道路
- V. 历史

I. 用法。本词专指约旦谷的部分或全部洼地,从外黎巴嫩山脉中海拔 9100 英尺(2775 米)的黑门山,沿基尼烈湖海(加利利海)向南延伸,包括约旦河两岸地区、死海地区和西南方地区,甚至包括亚喀巴湾的湾峡。

In the AV the term was transliterated once only (Josh. 18:18), in describing the border of Benjamin, being rendered “plain” elsewhere, and once “champaign” (Dt. 11:30). But in the RSV and NEB it is normally transliterated “Arabah.” The rendering “plain” is misleading, since the Arabah constitutes a depression between areas of considerably higher ground, and is actually below sea level for much of its length. The designation “Arabah” almost always occurs with the article, and it is used topographically in the OT to designate any specific area of the rift-valley. Because it was sometimes applied to the arid and sterile land lying S of the Dead Sea (Dt. 2:8), the word was employed by Judean writers in the sense of “desert” or “steppe” (Ps. 68:4 [MT 5]; Isa. 33:9; Jer. 17:6). In Josh. 11:16; 12:8 it is used to describe one of the great natural divisions of the country W of the Jordan, while in Dt. 4:49 it refers to an area E of the river.

Its location is connected variously with the Sea of Chinnereth (Dt. 3:17; Josh. 11:2; 12:3) and with the area far S of the depression, around Elath and the Red Sea (Dt. 1:1; 2:8). In 2 S. 4:7 the word describes the entire length of the Jordan Valley below the Sea of Chinnereth, while in Josh. 3:16; 12:3; Dt. 4:49; 2 K. 14:25 the expression “Sea of Arabah” is applied to the Dead Sea. In many places the designation “Sea of the Arabah” is qualified by the addition of “the Salt Sea.” The plural (“rābōt”) generally indicates specific waste sections within the depression, such as the “plains of Moab” (Nu. 22:1; Dt. 34:1), which are clearly distinguished from the pastoral and cultivated lands of the plateaus above the rift-valley. Similarly, the “plains of Jericho” (Josh. 4:13; 5:10) designate an infertile tract of territory in the Arabah near Jericho. The “plains of the wilderness” (2 S. 15:28; 17:16, AV) no doubt allude to that section of the Arabah that merges into the wilderness of Judah, although the RSV emends the Hebrew to read “fords of the wilderness,” making the reference doubtful.

亚拉巴多处地区与基尼烈湖相连（申 3:17；书 11:2；12:3），洼地较远的南部地区围绕着以拦和红海（申 1:1；2:8）。在《撒母耳记下》4:7 中，该词指的是基尼烈湖下方的整个约旦谷，而在《约书亚记》3:16；12:3；《申命记》4:49；《列王纪下》14:25 中，“亚拉巴海”指的是“死海”。许多提到“亚拉巴海”的经文将“盐海”作为补充解释。该词的复数形式（“rābōt”）通常特指洼地中的荒芜地区，如“摩押平原”（民 22:1；申 34:1），这片地区明显不同于裂谷上方的高原牧场和耕地。同样，“耶利哥的平原”（书 4:13；5:10）也指耶利哥附近亚拉巴范围内的贫瘠土地。“旷野的平原”（撒下 15:28；17:16，《钦定版圣经》）无疑指的是并入犹大旷野的亚拉巴地区，虽然《修订标准译本》将其译

Although largely ignored by earlier commentators, the topographical usage of the designation “Arabah” carried a precise connotation for many OT writers. For Jeroboam II the “Sea of the Arabah” marked one of the limits of his kingdom (2 K. 14:25), the reference being to the entire eastern boundary of Israel as far S as the southerly reaches of Moab. The expression naḥal hā^arābā (Am. 6:14), rendered “river of the wilderness” by the AV, “Brook of the Arabah” by the RSV, and “gorge of the Arabah” by the NEB, is paralleled exactly by the Arabic expression Wādī el-‘Arabah, which describes the region between the southern end of the Dead Sea and the Gulf of Aqabah. Almost certainly Amos had this territory in mind, the southerly limit of the nation, which included Judah, being marked by the beginning of the wadi. The “Brook of the Willows” (naḥal hā^arābīm) of Isa. 15:7 was probably some specific stream flowing into the Dead Sea, such as the Wādī Qelt or the “brook Zered” (Wādī el-Ḥesā).

II. Natural Dimensions.—The Arabah consists of three distinct areas, comprising the Jordan Valley, the Dead Sea region, and the territory from the southern end of the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Aqabah. Starting S of the Sea of

虽然早期的注释者大多忽视了“亚拉巴”的地形学用法，但该词在《旧约》作者看来是有明确含义的。对耶罗波安二世来说，“亚拉巴海”是他国土的边界之一（王下 14:25），此处该词指的是以色列的整个东部边界，远至南方的摩押地。naḥal hā^arābā（摩 6:14）在《钦定版圣经》中被译为“旷野的河”，在《修订标准译本》中被译为“亚拉巴的河”，在《新英文译本》中被译为“亚拉巴的峡谷”，这一表达方式等同与阿拉伯语中的亚拉巴河（Wādī el-‘Arabah），也就是死海南端和亚喀巴湾之间的地区。几乎可以肯定，阿摩司指的就是这片区域，也就是王国的南部境界，其中包括河流的起始地犹大。《以赛亚书》15:7 中的“柳树河”（naḥal hā^arābīm）可能指的是某条流入死海的溪流，如盖勒特河（Wādī Qelt）或“撒烈溪”（希撒河 [Wādī el-Ḥesā])。

II. 自然分区。亚拉巴包含三个不同区域——约旦谷、死海地区，以及死海南端至亚喀巴湾之间的地区。约旦谷（或霍尔谷）北起基尼烈湖南端，向南延伸直至死海，全长约 65 英里（105 公里）。约旦谷由北至南海拔逐渐降低，基尼烈

Chinnereth, the Jordan Valley or Ghôr runs for about 65 mi. (105 km.) before entering the Dead Sea. It slopes southward from 696 ft. (212 m.) below sea level at the Sea of Chinnereth to 1286 ft. (392 m.) below sea level at the Dead Sea. For the first 25 mi. (40 km.) the valley is about 12 mi. (20 km.) wide and is fed by a number of streams including the Yarmuk, 'Arab, Taiyibeh, Ziqlâb, and Yâbis. The Yarmuk enters the Jordan from the east about 5 mi. (8 km.) S of the Sea of Chinnereth, doubles the volume of water flowing in the river, and makes for a progressive deepening of the Jordan bed. In this region the land has always been comparatively fertile and well watered, and lines of communication were established early by means of numerous fords.

Opposite Samaria, where the rift is crossed by the line of the Judean-Gilead dome, the river narrows for a distance of 5 mi. (8 km.) and the land grows progressively infertile. The last 30 mi. (48 km.) of the valley are augmented by the waters of the Wâdī Fâr'ah from the west, and those of the Jabbok River and the Shu'aib from the east. South of Gilead the trough becomes much drier—little more than 5 cm. of mean annual rainfall can be measured at the head of the Dead Sea. The valley exhibits three physical zones, consisting of the broad terrace of the Pliocene trough, the Ghor proper; the dissected soft marl and clay slopes of the Qattara badlands; and the lower Quaternary terrace and flood plain of the river, known as the Zor. The Zor is characterized by an impenetrable jungle of tamarisks and other shrubs, whose vivid green vegetation is in sharp contrast to the Qattara wastes. The

Qattara and the Zor have combined to constitute a formidable natural barrier to human communication in this area.

The Dead Sea region is about 50 mi. (80 km.) long and nearly 11 mi. (18 km.) wide, of which the sea itself occupies the major part. The rift-valley reaches its lowest point at the Dead Sea basin, whose surface is 1286 ft. (392 m.) below sea level and whose deepest point is some 1300 ft. (395 m.) lower still. On the western side the narrow Judean shore is bounded by numerous terraces, but apart from a few springs the district is arid and barren. So rapid is the rate of evaporation that the combined inflow of the Jordan and the four main streams of Zerqa, Ma'în, Arnon, and Kerak from the east barely manage to keep the sea level constant. Luxurious vegetation abounds at the mouths of the inflowing streams, or where fresh-water springs occur. The rugged terrain of Moab stands E of the Dead Sea, comprising a plateau of some 3000 ft. (915 m.) in height, deeply dissected by gorges.

The modern Wâdī el-'Arabah stretches for about 100 mi. (160 km.) slightly W of S from the Dead Sea to the Gulf of Aqabah. Immediately S of the Dead Sea is the Sebkhah, a mud-flat area watered by the Wâdī el-Jeib and its tributaries. Here the Arabah is 1275 ft. (388 m.) below sea level, but farther to the south in the area W of Sela, an ancient Edomite stronghold, it rises to 300 ft. (90 m.) above sea level, the highest point being reached near Jebel er-Rishe. Here the valley widens out to as much as 25 mi. (40 km.) in places, but narrows again as it slopes downward to the Gulf of Aqabah, terminating at Elath (Ezion-geber). The entire region is barren save for occasional oases, and even the careful irrigation procedures of Nabatean times produced indifferent results.

III. Minerals.-Mineral deposits are not especially prominent in the Jordan Valley, being sparse in the agricultural area S of Chinnereth. But E of the valley, in Gilead, there were considerable iron deposits; and the mine at Magharat Warda, between the Jabbok and the Wādī Râjeb, was undoubtedly worked in antiquity. From ore mined in this area may have come the bed of Og king of Bashan (Dt. 3:11), although more probably the Heb. 'eres' meant "throne" rather than "bed," reflecting Hittite traditions. The copper-mining industry was also developed in the Jordan Valley between Succoth (Tell Deir 'allā) near the Jabbok, and Zarethan (perhaps Tell es-Sa'idiyeh), 12 mi. (19 km.) NE of Adamah.

The entire region between Succoth and Zarethan furnished suitable clay for the molds in which the copper was cast. In the Dead Sea region are heavy chemical deposits of sodium, potash, magnesium, calcium chlorides, and bromide, and in solution these constitute about one quarter of the liquid in the Dead Sea, giving it a peculiar buoyancy. In Nabatean times there was a limited trade in the bitumen that collected on the surface.

The southern extent of the Arabah contained the only mines for iron and copper found in Canaan. The presence of iron slag at certain mining and smelting camps along the Arabah indicates commercial production of this metal in

III. 矿产。约旦谷的矿藏并不是十分丰富，基尼烈湖南部的耕地区矿藏稀少。但约旦谷东部的基列地区有大量铁矿床；人们无疑从古代就已经开始开采雅博河和拉耶河（Wādī Râjeb）之间的马格哈拉特沃尔代的矿床。巴珊王铁床（申 3:11）的原料可能就是从这片地区的矿床中开采的，虽然希伯来语 'eres' 的含义可能是“王座”而不是“床”，这反映了赫人的传统。雅博河附近的疏割（代尔阿拉废丘[Tell Deir 'allā]）与亚大玛东北 12 英里（19 公里）的撒拉但之间的约旦谷，采铜工业也很发达。

疏割和撒拉但之间的整片地区都可以为制作铸铜模具提供适合的泥土。死海地区大量蕴藏着钠、钾、镁、氯化钙、溴化物等化学物质，死海的四分之一的水体是由这些溶解的化学物质组成的，死海因此形成了其特有的浮力。在纳巴泰时期，人们收集死海表面上的天然沥青，并形成了一种有限的贸易。

the Iron Age, although the exact site of the mines is uncertain. A large deposit of iron ore exists in the Wādī es-Sabrah, about 5 mi. (8 km.) SE of Petra; but this was probably worked only by the Nabateans in the 2nd cent. B.C. Copper ore, principally malachite, is found on both sides of the Wādī el-‘Arabah, with heavy deposits in certain tributary wadis from the east, some sandstone veins containing up to 40 percent of metal. They are associated with the geology of the Sinai Peninsula, where the metal was mined at Serābīṭ el-Khâdim (perhaps Dophkah) and elsewhere from predynastic times. The earliest mining in the Arabah was undertaken at Punon (modern Feinân), from 2200 B.C., principally at a site now named Umm el-‘Amad, some 2 mi. (3 km.) to the southeast. In the Iron I–II Age (1200–550 B.C.) the Arabah copper deposits were developed extensively, first probably by the Kenites (“coppersmiths”), who had their center at Sela (Nu. 24:21), the later Edomite city of Petra. Probably the chief cause of hostility between Judah and Edom was the desire to control the mineral resources of the Arabah. To the north the most important mining area was at Khirbet en-Nahas, nearly 17 mi. (27 km.) S of the Dead Sea, while in the south the heavy ore deposits at Mene‘iyyeh, some 22 mi. (35 km.) from the head of the Gulf of Aqabah, made it an important location for mining and smelting. Clearly this area of the Promised Land was one “whose stones are iron, and out of whose hills you can dig copper” (Dt. 8:9).

IV. Routes.—Only one major road in antiquity, the “King’s Highway” (Nu. 20:17), followed the direction of the es-Sabrah) 中有一个大铁矿床; 但可能只有纳巴泰人在公元前2世纪时开采了这个矿床。亚拉巴河两岸都有铜矿石, 主要是孔雀石, 从东面汇入亚拉巴河的某些支流中富含大量的铜矿石, 一些砂石层中的金属含量高达百分之四十。这些矿石都与西奈半岛的地质有关, 人们从前王朝时期开始就在西奈半岛的别艾卡锭 (Serābīṭ el-Khâdim, 可能是脱加) 和其他地方开采金属。从公元前2200年开始, 人们最先在亚拉巴的普嫩 (现代的费南[Feinân]) 开采矿产, 主要的开采区位于费南东南2英里 (3公里) 处, 该地现被称为乌姆阿迈德 (Umm el-‘Amad)。铁器时代早期和中期 (公元前1200年至550年), 人们大量开采亚拉巴的铜矿床, 第一批开采的人可能是基尼人 (“铜匠”), 他们的开采中心是西拉 (民 24:21), 也就是后来的以东城邑佩特拉。犹太和以东之间的争战可能主要是为了争夺亚拉巴的矿产资源的控制权。北方最重要的采矿区是纳哈斯废墟 (Khirbet en-Nahas), 约在死海以南17英里 (27公里) 处, 而南方主要的矿床位于迈奈伊耶 (Mene‘iyyeh), 位于亚喀巴湾北端约22英里 (35公里) 处, 该地是重要的采矿区和冶炼区。显然, 在应许之地的这片区域, “那地的石头是铁, 山内可以挖铜” (申 8:9)。

III. 道路。 古代只有一条大体上沿着亚拉巴方向的主干道, 即 “王道” (民 20:17)。这条大道起始于亚喀巴湾, 从

Arabah as a whole. It ran from the Gulf of Aqabah to Syria, skirting the Dead Sea and the Jordan Valley on the east and passing through Edom, Moab, Ammon, Gilead, and Bashan. Early Bronze Age settlements along its extent show that it was in use from the 23rd cent. B.C. Further datable ruins between the 13th and 6th cents B.C. indicate that the road was controlled by Edomites and Ammonites when Moses and the Hebrews desired to use it (Nu. 20:17). A number of smaller transverse routes joined the King's Highway, notably the most southerly one, where Arabian and oriental commerce came through Sela to Beer-sheba and Gaza. An important link with the Jordan Valley was provided by the road between Jericho, Bethel, and Joppa, while further north lay the route connecting Gilead, Adam, Shechem, and Joppa (Josh. 3:16). Yet another important transverse road lay between Gilead, Megiddo, and Esdraelon.

V. History.-The lower Arabah witnessed the semisedentary activities of the early patriarchs, who had migrated from Harrân along the western extremity of the Fertile Crescent. Scarcity of pasture land (Gen. 13:5) caused Abraham to move to the Hebron uplands, whereas Lot chose the area around Sodom. The latter was very fertile prior to the catastrophe that overtook the "cities of the plain," for fresh mountain streams from Moab made the location most productive. Its agricultural and mineral wealth apparently attracted invaders from the east under Chedorlaomer, who were initially successful in securing tribute from the region before being pursued up the King's Highway by Abraham (Gen. 14:14).

V. 历史。下亚拉巴地区见证了早期族长们的半游牧生活，他们是从肥沃月湾最西端的哈兰迁徙过来的。该地缺少牧场（创 13:5），于是亚伯拉罕迁移至希伯仑高地，而罗得则选择了所多玛周边的地区。所多玛灭亡之前，这里的土地丰沃，从这里可以俯瞰“平原诸城”，摩押清澈的山林溪水使这片地区十分丰饶。这片土地上丰富的农业和矿产资源显然引来了基大老玛率领的东方侵略者，在亚伯拉罕在王道上追击他们之前，他们起初成功实现了让当地人向他们纳贡（创 14:14）。

The southern Arabah was crossed by the wandering Israelites on their journey from Egypt to Canaan. Dt. 2:8 shows that they traveled down the Arabah from a point near Kadesh-barnea to Ezion-geber, after which they turned northward through the Wādī Yitm to skirt the borders of Edom and Moab. Subsequently the Moabite part of the Arabah was conquered by the Amorite King Sihon (Nu. 21:26). When Sihon was killed by the Israelites at Jahaz, his territory was occupied by the victorious invaders. It was the site alike of the apostasy at Abel-Shittim (Nu. 25:1) and the final acts of Moses (Dt. 1:1). From there Joshua crossed into the Jericho Arabah, establishing Gilgal and gaining access to Canaan with the fall of Jericho.

The northern Arabah is mentioned occasionally in subsequent historical narratives. Abner fled through it after being vanquished at Gibeon (2 S. 2:29), and the murderers of Ish-bosheth crossed its terrain to bring his head to David at Hebron (2 S. 4:7). At the time of the captivity of Judah, Zedekiah was fleeing there for refuge from Jerusalem when he was taken prisoner by the Babylonians (Jer. 39:4). The southern Arabah was prominent in the time of Solomon, furnishing much of his mineral wealth. Glueck discovered what he first identified as the remains of the Solomonic copper refinery at Ezion-geber (Tell el-Kheleifeh), constructed in the 10th cent. B.C. by Phoenician workmen. Subsequently he regarded the site as some kind of storehouse, of approximately the same period. At Timna in 1941 Glueck observed a large slag heap that indicated mining activities.

在旷野中游荡的以色列人出埃及后，向穿越了亚拉巴南部地区，来到迦南地。《申命记》2:8 中的经文表明，以色列人从加低斯巴尼亚附近的某处进入了亚拉巴，然后到达以旬迦别，随后他们向北行进，横渡以提河 (Wādī Yitm)，沿着以东和摩押边境行进。亚摩利王西宏后来占领了亚拉巴中摩押人居住的地区 (民 21:26)。以色列人在雅杂杀败西宏后，占领了西宏的领地。亚伯什亭背道发生在这里 (民 25:1)，摩西也死在这里 (申 1:1)。约书亚是从亚拉巴进入耶利哥的，他建立了吉甲，并攻陷了耶利哥，进入了迦南地。

随后的历史故事中偶尔会提到亚拉巴北部地区。押尼珥在基遍战败后，经亚拉巴北部逃亡 (撒下 2:29)；人们杀死伊施波设后，穿越亚拉巴北部，带着他的首级来到希伯仑面见大卫王 (撒下 4:7)。犹大被攻破时，西底家离开耶路撒冷，逃往亚拉巴北部避难，但巴比伦人在那里将他俘虏 (耶 39:4)。所罗门时期，亚拉巴南部因给他提供了大部分矿产资源而非常著名。格吕克首先认定他在以旬迦别 (哈莱弗废丘 [Tell el-Kheleifeh]) 发现的废墟正是所罗门的铜精炼厂，这座工厂是在公元前 10 世纪有腓尼基工匠修建的。但他后来认为这些遗址可能是同时期的某种仓库。1941 年，格吕克在亭纳发现了一个大矿渣堆，这表明有人曾在这里采矿。30 年后，罗滕伯格 (B. Rothenberg) 发掘出了一系列的铜矿和竖井，它们至少比近东地区其他相同规模和相同复杂程度的工程早了一千年。亭纳的采矿作业表明该地全年都可以采矿。人们还发掘出了纳哈斯废墟和以旬迦别的围墙，这

Thirty years later B. Rothenberg uncovered a complex of copper mines and shafts that antedate any others in the Near East of comparable size and sophistication by at least a millennium. Mining operations at Timna were such as to suggest that they could have been conducted throughout the year. At Khirbet en-Nahas and Ezion-geber enclosures were unearthed that seem to have comprised some sort of compound for accomodating the laborers, who would doubtless have been slaves. Khirbet en-Nahas (“copper ruin”) may perhaps be identified with Ir-nahash, the “copper city” of 1 Ch. 4:12. Ezion-geber was also an important base for the trading activities of Solomon, whose merchantmen sailed to southwest Arabia and elsewhere carrying smelted copper. Solomonic control of the sea trade and overland caravan routes in the south posed a serious economic threat to the Sabeans of southwest Arabia. The visit of their queen to Jerusalem (1 K. 10:1ff.) was most likely prompted by commercial considerations.

Edom attempted to reoccupy portions of the southern Arabah whenever Judah was weak (2 Ch. 20:1) and suffered periodic reprisals (2 K. 14:7). Later prophets spoke of the restoration of the productivity of this barren territory (Ezk. 47:1; Zec. 14:8). After the 3rd cent. B.C. it was occupied by the Nabateans.

些废墟和围墙内似乎有一些安置劳工的场地，这些劳工无疑都是奴隶。纳哈斯废墟（“铜矿废墟”）可能是《历代志上》4:12中的“铜城”珥拿辖。以旬迦别也是所罗门进行贸易活动的一个重要基地，他的商人将精炼过的铜装上货船，运往阿拉伯西南和其他地区。所罗门控制了海上的贸易路线和南方陆地上的商队路线，这对阿拉伯西南的示巴人来说严重的经济威胁。示巴女王拜访耶路撒冷（王上 10:1 起）可能主要出于贸易考量。

每当犹大国力微弱时，以东人就试图重新占领亚拉巴南部地区（代下 20:1），他们会不时遭到以色列人的报复（王下 14:7）。后来的先知都提及这片贫瘠的土地会再次变得丰饶（结 47:1；亚 14:8）。公元前 3 世纪之后，纳巴泰人占领了这片土地。

ARABIA 阿拉伯

I. 《圣经》中的阿拉伯。A. 名称。希伯来语词根 'rb 的基本含义是“干旱的”, rab 的意思是“干草原、荒凉的高原”。因此, rab 指的是“居住在荒原的人”, 它可以用作表示民族的集合名词, 意思 used as a collective of the people, “the Arab,” or by extension to the area in which the people dwell. The gentilic form ‘arbī means “the Arabian.” Another word, usually taken to be from a distinctly different root, is ‘ereb, “mixed company,” which is used of the people who joined the Israelites at the time of the Exodus (Ex. 12:38). It is at once obvious that there is no clear-cut term for “Arabia” in the OT. Moreover, no occurrence of Gk. Arabia is found in the LXX. (The word does, however, occur in the NT, Gal. 1:17; 4:25.) The terms b^enê qedem, “sons of (the) East” (Gen. 29:1, etc.), and ‘ereṣ qedem, “land of (the) East” (Gen. 25:6), are found, and numerous names of tribes and peoples of Arabia are scattered throughout the OT.

B. In the OT. In the Table of Nations (Gen. 10) a number of Arabian tribes are mentioned: among the descendants of Joktan (of the line of Shem), Hazermaveth, Sheba, Havilah, and others (10:26–29); and among the descendants of Cush (of the line of Ham), Seba, Havilah, and others (10:7). If Cush is to be taken to mean Ethiopia, then the relationship of the south Arabian peoples and the Ethiopic peoples (or some of them), which is clearly indicated linguistically, may lie behind the dual reference in the Semite and Hamite genealogies. We also find northern Arabian tribes mentioned among the descendants of Abraham by Keturah (Gen. 25:1–4) and by Hagar (25:12–15), and among the descendants of Esau (Gen. 36). At the time of Solomon, contacts with the Arabian peninsula are indicated, both in the visit of the Queen of Sheba (1 K. 9:26ff., etc.) and in the tribute from the “kings of (the) Arab” (2 Ch. 9:14).

B. 《旧约》中的阿拉伯。“列邦列国”（创 10）中提到了许多阿拉伯的部族：（闪的后裔中）约坦的子孙有哈萨玛非、示巴、哈腓拉等（创 10:26–29）；（含的后裔中）古实的子孙有西巴、哈腓拉等（创 10:7）。如果古实指的是埃塞俄比亚，那么阿拉伯南部的民族和埃塞俄比亚的民族（中的一些）之间是存在联系的，我们从语言上明显可以看出他们之间的联系，这可能就是闪族和含族族谱中都提到他们的原因。亚伯拉罕和基土拉的后裔（创 25:1–4）、亚伯拉罕和夏甲的后裔（创 25:12–15）、以扫的后裔（创 36）中也提到了阿拉伯北部的部族。所罗门时期，示巴女王来访（王上 9:26 起等），“阿拉伯诸王”纳贡（代下 9:14）都表明了以色列人与阿拉伯半岛有接触。

Jehoshaphat king of Judah received tribute from the “Arabian” (2 Ch. 17:11). The wives, sons, and possessions of his son Jehoram were carried off by “the Arabs who are near the Ethiopians” (2 Ch. 21:16f.), which may mean tribes of south Arabia. Isaiah proclaims an oracle concerning “the Arab” (RSV “Arabia”), mentioning the caravans of Dedanites and the inhabitants of the land of Tema (Isa. 21:13f.), which would seem to refer to the nearer or northwestern portion of Arabia. The mention of “Kedar” (21:16f.) indicates the same. Jeremiah includes the “kings of (the) Arab” (RSV “Arabia”) in his “cup of wrath” prophecy (Jer. 25:24), along with Dedan, Tema, and possibly other Arabic tribes (e.g., Uz and Buz). In the prophecy against Tyre Ezekiel mentions many of the nations and peoples who were engaged in commerce with Tyre, including “(the) Arab” (RSV “Arabia”), Dedan, the princes of Kedar, Sheba, and Raaman (Ezk. 27:20–22). The context indicates that he is referring to areas S of Damascus in northwest Arabia. In Ezk. 30:5, reference is made to “all the Arab” (RSV “all Arabia”), which in context seems to refer to south Arabia as well as the nearer parts of the peninsula. Joel 3:8 refers to the Sabeans, “a nation far off,” referring no doubt to south Arabia. Geshem “the Arab” (Neh. 2:19; 6:1) is clearly from the nearby region of Arabia.

The book of Job is generally considered to be set in Arabia, i.e., in nearer Arabia. The land of Uz (Job 1:1) cannot be positively located; it has been tentatively placed between Edom and Arabia, or in the Haurân S of Damascus, or near Palmyra NE of Damascus. Eliphaz is called a Temanite (Job 2:11), and Teman was in Edom (Am. 1:11f.). Job's home was located where the Sabeans (Job 1:15) and the Babylonians (or Chaldeans, 1:17) alike could raid them. Once again it is clear that we are dealing with the portion of Arabia that borders on Transjordan. The OT, then, is principally concerned with nearer Arabia, and references to south Arabia are very few.

Traditionally the Queen of Sheba is considered to have come from south Arabia. However, this question needs careful study (see QUEEN OF SHEBA). The names Sheba and Seba both occur in the OT; and Seba is clearly to be located in south Arabia, probably to be identified with the Sabeans. The location of Sheba is less certain; some authorities argue for its location in north Arabia, while others are convinced that it is in the south. If we can form a conclusion from phonemic data (which are not always reliable in the case of proper names), the South Arabic word for the kingdom of the Sabeans is to be related to the Hebrew word for Sheba, not Seba. (For discussion of the phonemic problem, cf. W. S. LaSor, JQR, 48 [1957/58], 161–173.)

C. In the Apocrypha. The word Arabia is used of the Nabatean kingdom (in north Arabia) in 1 Macc. 11:16. In Jth. 2:25 the term, according to the context, refers to the region around Damascus. The “dragons from Arabia” of 2 Esd. 15:29 cannot be geographically located.

D. In the NT. Jesus refers to “the Queen of the South,” referring to the visit of the Queen of Sheba (Mt. 12:42; Lk. 11:31), which some would equate with Yemen, since yemen means “south” as well as

1:11-12)。约伯的家处于示巴人（伯 1:15）和巴比伦人（或迦勒底人，伯 1:17）都能掳掠到的位置上。显然会还是指阿拉伯和外约旦交界的地区。因此，《旧约》中主要提及的是阿拉伯的临近地区，很少提及南阿拉伯。

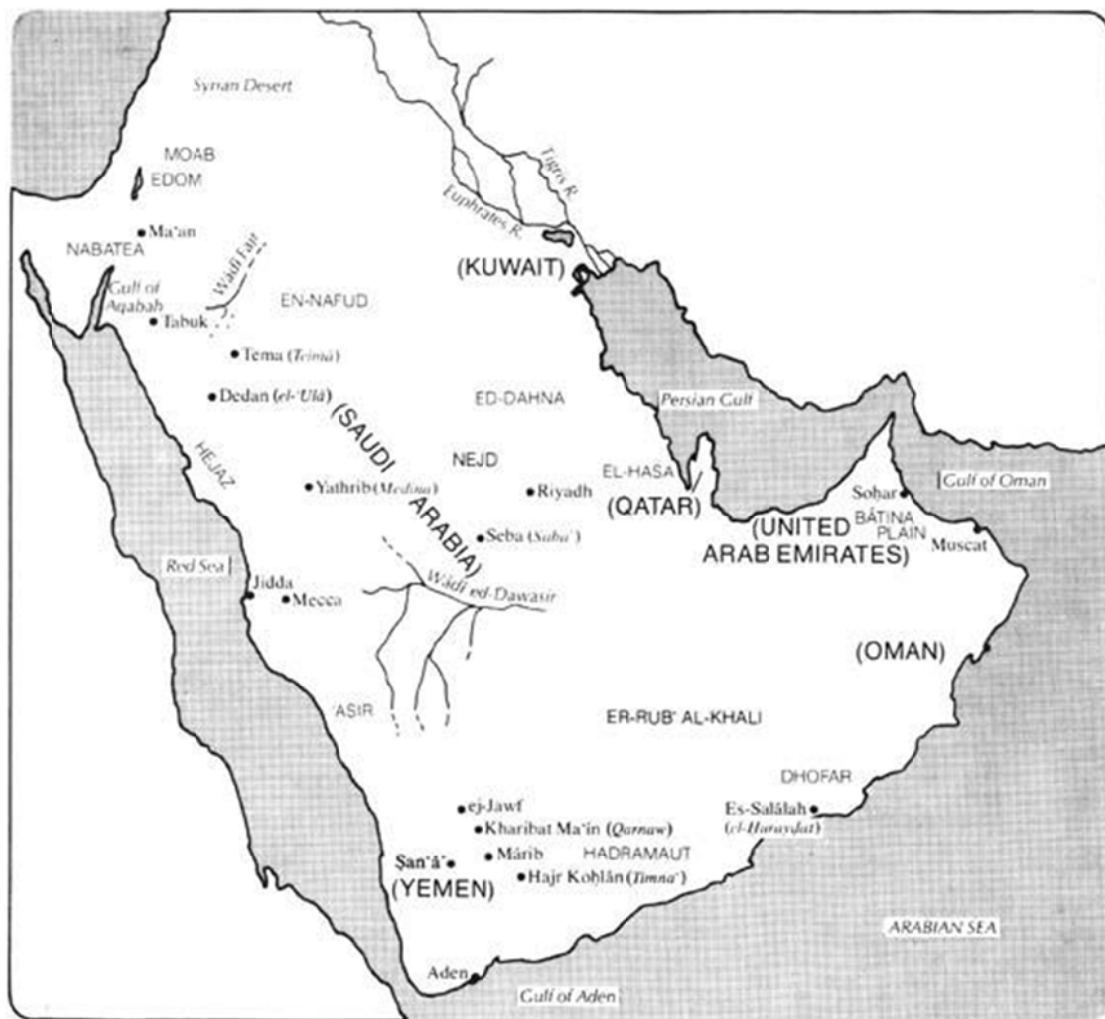

据说示巴女王来自南阿拉伯。然而，这个问题有待仔细研究（见 QUEEN OF SHEBA [示巴女王]）。示巴和西巴的名字都出现在了《旧约》中；西巴显然位于南阿拉伯，可能指的就是塞巴人。示巴的位置不那么确定；一些权威人士认为示巴位于北阿拉伯，而其他人则认为示巴位于南阿拉伯。如果我们以音位数据推理（在处理专有名词时，这种方法不大可靠），南阿拉伯语中表达塞巴人王国的词语应该对应着希腊语中的示巴，而非西巴。（关于音位问题的讨论，参：W. S. LaSor, JQR, 48 [1957/58], 161–173。）

C. 《次经》中的阿拉伯。《马加比一书》11:16 中“阿拉伯”一词指纳巴泰人的王国（位于北阿拉伯）。在《犹滴传》2:25 中，根据语境分析，该词指的是大马士革周边的地区。尚无法确定《以斯得拉二书》15:29 中“阿拉伯的战车”的地理位置。

*D. 《新约》中的阿拉伯。*耶稣提到的“南方的女王”指的是来访的示巴女王（太 12:42；路 11:31），有人认为南方指的是也门，因为希伯来语中，yemen 既可以指“南方”，也可以指“右手”。 “right hand” in Hebrew. Paul speaks of going to “Arabia” after his Damascus experience (Gal. 1:17), which has been taken to refer to (1) the region E of Damascus, or (2) that S of Damascus, or (3) Mt. Sinai. He includes Sinai in Arabia in Gal. 4:25, following the classical view of Arabia Petrea; but this is hardly sufficient evidence to decide the location of his postconversion visit. King Aretas, elsewhere identified as an Arabian (cf. Josephus Ant. xiv.1.4), is mentioned in 2 Cor. 11:32, and we are reasonably certain that he is to be identified with Aretas IV, king of the Nabateans, whose kingdom extended E and S of Damascus, with its capital at Petra.

保罗称他离开大马士革之后去了“阿拉伯”（加 1:17），这可能指的是（1）大马士革东方的地区，或（2）大马士革南方的地区，或（3）西奈山。保罗参照了佩特拉的阿拉伯（Arabia Petrea）的经典观点，在《加拉太书》4:25 中将西奈山归到了阿拉伯；但这并不足以证明保罗归信后访问了阿拉伯。《哥林多后书》11:32 中提到的亚哩达王，在其他作品中被认作是阿拉伯人（参：Josephus Ant. xiv.1.4），我们有理由认为他就是纳巴泰人的王亚哩达四世，他的王国从大马士革东部延伸到南部，首都都是佩特拉。

II. Size and Location.-Arabia is the largest peninsula in the world, occupying more than 1,000,000 sq. mi. (2,600,000 sq. km.), almost one-quarter the size of all Europe, and one-third the size of continental USA. The peninsula is almost a right triangle in shape, with the altitude lying along a line running NW-SE, about 1400 mi. (2250 km.) in length, the base on a line running NE-SW, approximately 1100 mi. (1770 km.) in width, and the hypotenuse roughly forming the northeast side of the triangle. The peninsula is bounded on the southwest by the Red Sea, on the southeast by the Gulf of Aden and the Arabian Sea, on the northeast by the Gulf of Oman and the Persian Gulf, and on the north by the modern borders of Iraq and Jordan. Where the Arabian

II. 面积和地理位置。阿拉伯是世界上最大的半岛，面积超过一百万平方英里（260 万平方公里），几乎相当于整个欧洲大陆面积的四分之一，美国大陆面积的三分之一。阿拉伯半岛几乎是一个直角三角形，海拔高度由西北向东南逐渐降低，半岛长约 1400 英里（2250 公里），基线为东北至西南走向，约 1100 英里（1770 公里）宽，半岛的东北边界构成了直角三角形的斜边。半岛的西南是红海，东南是亚丁湾和阿拉伯海，东北是阿曼湾和波斯湾，北部是现代的伊拉克和约旦。阿拉伯沙漠和叙利亚沙漠分界线不易确定。如果我们以阿拉伯语名字作为参考的话（“阿拉伯诸岛”），那么就认为幼发拉底河和地中海分别是阿拉伯的北部和西部边界。

Desert ends and the Syrian Desert begins is not easily determined. If we were to take the Arabic name as a guide (“the island of the Arabs”), we should consider the Euphrates River and the Mediterranean Sea as the northern and western limits of Arabia.

III. Physical Description.-The entire peninsula can be thought of as a plateau raised along the southwest (the Red Sea) side, with the highest point at the south (about 10,700 ft., 3250 m.), and sloping gradually toward the northeast. The northeast side (along the Persian Gulf) is but little above sea level. At the eastern corner the mountain peaks of Oman form an exception to the general description. In general the peninsula is a desert surrounded by the more or less fertile coastal regions; however, this simple description needs to be developed to suit the complexities of Arabia.

Classical geographers speak of three main divisions: Arabia Petrea (Arabia of Petra), including Petra and the Arabah, Edom, Moab, and Transjordan; Arabia deserta (Desert Arabia), the northern and central portion including the Syrian Desert and the Nejd; and Arabia felix (Fortunate Arabia), the southern portion. This is not completely satisfactory for modern study. We shall consider first the interior, and then the coastal regions.

A. Interior. A rocky spur, running approximately N-S, and the high land on its west side (called the Nejd), divide the interior of Arabia into desert areas, the smaller toward the north called en-Nafud, and the larger toward the south called er-Rub‘el-Khali (“the empty quarter”). The Nafud, which is about 400 mi. (650

III. 自然特征。我们可以将整座半岛看作是一个从西南（红海）向东北地势逐渐降低的高原，其最高点位于南部（约 10,700 英尺，3250 米）。东北部（波斯湾沿岸）略高于海平面。东北角的阿曼峰是个例外，不同于上述一般描述。半岛的大部分地区是沙漠地貌，四周的沿海地区则是土壤相对肥沃的地区；然而，要想阐述阿拉伯的复杂地貌，必须完善这个简单的描述。

A. 内陆地区。一座约为南北走向的石坡和它西边的高地（名为内志）将阿拉伯的内陆地区分为若干块沙漠，北部面积较小的沙漠叫做内夫得沙漠，南部面积较大的沙漠叫做鲁卜哈利沙漠（“空白之地”）。内夫得沙漠东西方向的长度约为 400 英里（650 公里），宽约 200 英里（325 公里），沙漠中几乎无水，但 km.) E-W, and about half as wide, is almost waterless, but during the rainy season it produces good pasture. It is crossed by many large sand dunes. The Rub'el-Khali, which is well named, is almost devoid of plant and animal life. It is roughly triangular in shape, about 800 mi. (1300 km.) NE-SW and nearly 400 mi. (650 km.) wide at the northeast end. Toward the east there are huge sand dunes, some more than 500 ft. (150 m.) high. The southwest portion of the Rub'el-Khali lies at an altitude of about 2000 ft. (600 m.), and the east portion about 600 ft. (180 m.). A desert strip connecting the Nafud with the Rub'el-Khali, lying between the Nejd and the coastal region (the Hasa) along the Persian Gulf, is known as the Dahna, about 400 mi. (650 km.) N-S and averaging about 30 mi. (50 km.) in width. This is described as consisting of seven longitudinal bands of sand separated by sandy valleys about a mile across. In the northern Dahna, peaks of pure red sand rise to heights of 200 to 300 ft. (60 to 90 m.). The southern Dahna yields rich pasture in the winter and spring.

Lying within this desert encirclement is the Nejd, which is the principal part of interior Arabia, and according to some theories the source of the Arab peoples. It is a region of numerous oases, traversed by three wadi systems that flow W-E in addition to mountain chains and a strip of desert.

At one time there were volcanoes along the western part of the interior, and large lava fields separate the Nejd from the coastal regions of the Hejaz and the Tehâma. In Arabic such an area is designated as harrä, and on the map we may note Harrat el-'Uwairidh (W of the Nafud), Harrat Khaibir (N of Medina), Harrat el-Kishib (NE of Mecca), and Harrat Nawasif (E of Mecca). Another lava field, Hadhaudha Mukhaidhir, lies E of Wâdī Sirhân, near the present Jordan border, in the north.

内志位于这片沙漠内部，是阿拉伯内陆地区的主体部分，根据某些理论推测，这里是阿拉伯民族的发源地。内志地区有大量绿洲，除了山链和沙漠带，还有三条东西走向的河流流经这片地区。

B. Coastal Regions. We shall describe the coastal regions beginning in the west (at the north end of the Red Sea) and continuing counterclockwise. The most important region, from the religious point of view, is the Hejaz, which stretches from S of the Gulf of Aqabah to about the vicinity of Jidda (some 500 mi. [800 km.]), and extends inland from 100 to 200 mi. (160 to 320 km.). This region includes the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina. Southeast of the Hejaz is the Tehâma, a narrow fringe of well-watered land between the Red Sea and the high mountains that form the southwest side of the peninsula. The mountainous region lying between Tehâma and the Nejd is 'Asîr, separated from the Tehâma by the range known as Jebel Hijaz. The southern corner is Yemen, a region of many mountains and valleys, and of great fertility. In this region were some of the earliest civilizations of Arabia.

The southern coast on the Gulf of Aden is known as Hadramaut (probably the OT Hazarmaveth), while the eastern coast on the Arabian Sea and the Gulf of Oman is Oman, marked by a mountain mass, cut by rugged valleys, and of unusual fertility. The coastal region along the Persian Gulf is known as Hasa; here are Trucial Oman, Qatar, and the offshore island of Bahrain.

B. 沿海地区。我们将从西部 (红海北端) 开始, 逆时针描述沿海地区。从宗教角度来看, 最重要的地区是希贾兹, 这片地区从亚喀巴湾南部向吉达附近延伸 (约 500 英里[800 公里]), 并向内陆延伸 100 至 200 英里 (160 至 320 公里)。麦加和麦地那圣城位于这片地区内。希贾兹的东南是特哈玛——红海和半岛西南高山中间的水源丰富的狭长地带。山区阿西尔位于特哈玛和内志之间, 汉志山将阿西尔和特哈玛分成两部分。南端是也门, 这部分地区多山多峡谷, 土地十分肥沃。某些最早的阿拉伯文明就是发源于这里。

亚丁湾的南部海岸地区被称为哈德拉毛 (可能是《旧约》中的哈萨玛非), 阿拉伯海和阿曼湾的东部海岸地区是阿曼, 被崎岖的山谷切开的山体是它的标志, 该地区土壤非常肥沃。波斯湾的沿岸地区被称为哈萨; 特鲁西尔阿曼、卡塔尔和巴林岛 (离岸岛) 也位于这一地区。

If we are to follow the natural boundaries we must include the fertile strip along the Euphrates (modern Iraq), the Syrian Desert, the Transjordanian plateau, and the eastern shore of the Gulf of Aqabah, to conclude the circuit of Arabia.

C. Mountains. Mountain peaks in the Hejaz reach heights of 6000 to 8461 ft. (1800 to 2580 m.). In the Tehâma, just S of Mecca, one peak rises to 9400 ft. (2865 m.) while in Yemen several peaks are above 10,000 ft. (3050 m.) and one near Şan'â' rises to an elevation of 12,336 ft. (3760 m.). In Oman there is one peak (Jebel esh-Sham) reaching 11,000 ft (3350 m). In the central area (the Nejd) there are scattered peaks rising to elevations from 3500 to 4500 ft. (1070 to 1370 m.), and one range (Jebel et-Tuwaiq) running S from Riyadh with one peak of 2766 ft. (843 m.). A mountainous region SW of Riyadh in the Nejd is known as Jebel el-'Alaiya (3547 ft. [1081 m.]). A range of mountains (the Jebel Hijaz), as we have noted, separates 'Asir from the Tehâma.

D. Rivers. There are no true rivers in the Arabian peninsula. There are, however, numerous seasonal river beds (wadis), some of which are murderous torrents after a sudden rain. Three main wadi systems run W-E across the Nejd. In the northern part, Wâdī er-Rima rises in the Harrat Khaibar and ultimately loses itself in the sand. Wâdī es-Surra rises in the western Nejd, cuts its way through the Jebel et-Tuwaiq, and under several different names can be traced until it reaches the Persian Gulf near Qatar. Wâdī ed-Dawasir, formed by several wadis rising in 'Asîr and Yemen, cuts through the lower end of Jebel et-Tuwaiq, and loses itself in the sand of er-Rub‘el-Khali. Because of its significance as a trade route, we should mention the Wādī Fajr, in the extreme northwest, which opens into the Wādī Sirhîn, E of Amman in Transjordan. We shall not mention here the names of the numerous wadis that cut the ranges bordering the Hejaz, the Tehâma, Yemen, Hadramaut, or Oman. In spite of these, some of which reach the sea, there are no good harbors in the Arabian peninsula with the exception of Aden at the extreme south, and Muscat in Oman.

*C. 山脉。*希贾兹的山峰高达 6000 至 8461 英尺(1800 至 2580 米)。在麦加正南方的特哈玛,有一座山峰的高度达到了 9400 英尺(2865 米),而也门的数个山峰都高于 10,000 英尺(3050 米),萨那附近的一座高峰海拔高度达到了 12,336 英尺(3760 米)。阿曼有一座山峰(舍姆山[Jebel esh-Sham])高达 11,000 英尺(3350 米)。中部地区(内志)分散着数座海拔高度介于 3500 至 4500 英尺(1070 米至 1370 米)的山峰,有一座山脉(图韦格山[Jebel et-Tuwaiq])始于南部的利雅得,其中有一座山峰高 2766 英尺(843 米)。位于利雅得西南和内志地区的一片山地被称为艾莱盖山(Jebel el-'Alaiya, 3547 英尺[1081 米])。我们会注意有一座山脉(汉志山)将阿西尔和特哈玛分割开来。

E. Climate. The weather is hot and humid in the coastal regions, and since these are the areas best known to travelers, inaccurate generalizations have been drawn. Actually, the interior is often quite pleasant. Maximum summer temperature in the Nejd is about 112°F (44°C), and a low of 18°F (-8°C) has been recorded in the northern Nejd, where frost is not uncommon in winter. The high plateau and mountains of western Arabia as well as the mountainous region of Oman are pleasant at all times. Snow falls on the higher parts of Yemen in December; but the temperature at the Red Sea, perhaps 100 mi. (160 km.) distant, remains around 80°F (27°C). Snow falls also in the Oman massif, and in the high regions in the extreme northwest.

Along the precipitous southwest edge of the plateau, in ‘Asîr, Yemen, and part of Hadramaut, the annual rainfall may exceed 20 in. (50 cm.), extending inland 50 mi. (80 km.) or more; and settled habitation is possible. This was the Arabia felix of the ancients. Likewise there is sufficient rainfall in Oman to support a settled population. For the rest of the peninsula the rainfall is minimal, although it is sufficient to cause the desert to blossom in the spring; only nomadic life is possible, supported by wells and oases. In the region around the cities of Mecca and Medina, rainfall, although scant, is often in the form of thundershowers that result in flooding and erosion.

E. 气候。沿海地区气候炎热潮湿，旅人们最熟悉这片地区，因此错误地以为这就是整个阿拉伯半岛的一般气候特征。实际上，内陆地区气候宜人。内志的夏季最高温度约为 112 华氏度（44 摄氏度），内志北部的最低温度为 18 华氏度（零下 8 摄氏度），此地冬天多雾。阿拉伯西部的高原和山地以及阿曼的山地全年气候宜人。也门海拔较高的地区在 12 月有降雪；但约 100 英里（160 公里）外的红海地区，温度却仍然维持在 80 华氏度（27 摄氏度）。阿曼山丘和西北角海拔较高的地区也有降雪。

在高原西南边缘向内陆延伸 50 英里（80 公里）或更远的崎岖地区，即阿西尔、也门和哈德拉毛的部分地区，年均降水量可能超过 20 英尺（50 厘米）；这片地区适宜人类定居。古时人们所说的阿拉伯福地指的就是这片地区。阿曼同样有充足的降水，适宜人类定居。半岛的其他地区虽降水稀少，却足以使沙漠在春天焕发出旺盛的生机；人类只可能在这

The northern part is in the area of the etesian winds, which blow prevailingly from the west. This is the area of two seasons, rainy and dry, the rainy season coming in the winter. Yemen, on the other hand, is in the monsoon area, getting heavy rain in the late summer months. For the rest of the peninsula, winds are generally either from the north or from the south, the south wind bringing heat in summer and rain in winter. The Nafud and the Empty Quarter are sand deserts, the latter being the largest in the world.

F. Flora and Fauna. It is unnecessary to name in detail all of the flora of Arabia, for it is typical of any region of desert and steppe. Of biblical relevance we mention first frankincense, which is often named in connection with various peoples of Arabia (e.g., Havilah, Gen. 2:12; Sheba, 1 K. 10:2; Ishmaelites, Gen. 37:25). The date palm is also of importance, but specific reference to it as being on Arabian soil is limited to Sinai (Ex. 15:27; Nu. 33:9). In Job typical desert flora is mentioned, such as the mallow, bushes, broom (30:4-7). Almug wood (1 K. 10:11f.) and ebony (Ezk. 27:15) were not indigenous to Arabia, hence must have been imported, probably from eastern Africa to Sheba, as part of the extensive commerce of south Arabia.

F. 动植物。我们无需列出阿拉伯的所有植物，因为这些植物很有代表性，任何沙漠和干草原都有这些典型的植物。我们此处提及的第一种与《圣经》相关的植物是乳香，这种植物的命名通常与阿拉伯的诸多民族有关（如哈腓拉，创 2:12；示巴，王上 10:2；以实玛利人，创 37:25）。棕树也很重要，但《圣经》中提到，在阿拉伯地区只有西奈山生长着这种植物（出 15:27；民 33:9）。《约伯记》中提到了典型的沙漠植物，如罗腾、草丛、荆棘（30:4-7）。檀香木（王上 10:11-12）和乌木（结 27:15）并非原产自阿拉伯，因此它们一定是引进的植物，示巴可能从东非进口了这种植物，这种贸易成为南阿拉伯大量贸易中的一部分。

Likewise it is unnecessary to list all of the animals and birds to be found in Arabia. The most important of all animals to the Arab is the camel, and biblical references to the camel are numerous: in connection with the Ishmaelites, Midianites, and Amalekites (Gen. 37:25ff.; Jgs. 6:3-5), with Kedar (Jer. 49:29), with the Queen of Sheba (1 K. 10:2), etc. Next in importance for the Arab were his sheep and particularly goats (cf. Ezk. 27:21). Before the domestication of the camel the Arab was doubtless among the ass-nomads, and mention of asses is found among the booty taken from the Midianites (Nu. 31:1-47, esp. vv. 34, 39). Cattle belong to pasture land, not to steppe; and the cattle mentioned in this account properly belong to the fertile area in northwest Arabia—which must be taken into consideration when we try to locate the land of Midian. The horse, mentioned in Job 39:19ff., was a later import of the Arabians, now considered one of their prize animals. A long list of wild animals and birds could be added, particularly from Job 38f.; but this article is not the place for such a treatise. The reference to “peacocks” or “baboons,” however the word is to be translated, and to apes (1 K. 10:22), is to be taken as part of the commerce of south Arabia and not necessarily to indigenous fauna. We might mention the oysters of the Persian Gulf, from which were gotten the exquisite pearls of the ancient Middle East; but there is no specific reference to them in the OT (Heb. gābîš in Job 28:18 is properly translated “crystal”).

IV. Peoples and Languages.—It is reasonably certain that there were two racial stocks in Arabia, which can possibly be identified with the sedentary population of the south and the nomads of the north. The nomads of the Nejd seem to belong to the same stock as those of the south, judging from the linguistic evidence. The northern nomads spoke a language akin to Aramaic or Canaanite, or more likely the common ancestor of these languages. The other peoples spoke a language more closely related to Arabic, probably the ancestor of South Arabic and North (or Classical) Arabic. It has been customary to refer to periodic irruptions of the desert Arabs into the "sown," or the Fertile Crescent. Some of these periodic migrations can be traced with great probability: one just before the patriarchal period, and another around the time of the Israelite conquest of Canaan. These "invasions" seem to have been by groups of north Arabian peoples, from what meager linguistic evidence has come down to us. The later invasion, at the time of the Muhammedan conquest, was accomplished by south Arabians. We may note in passing, with cautious restraint, that the genealogical tables in Gen. 10 likewise indicate both Hamitic (Gen. 10:7) and Semitic (Gen. 10:23) origins for the peoples of Arabia.

同样无需列出阿拉伯的所有兽类和鸟类。骆驼是阿拉伯最重要的动物，《圣经》中多次提及这种动物：提到以实玛利人、米甸人和亚玛力人时（创 37:25 起；士 6:3-5），提到基达时（耶 49:29），提到示巴女王时（王上 10:2）等。对阿拉伯第二重要的动物是羊，尤其是山羊（参：结 27:21）。阿拉伯人驯养骆驼之前，无疑是放牧驴子的游牧民族，米甸人带走的战利品中提到了驴子（民 31:1-47，尤见民 31:34, 39）。牛属于牧场动物，不宜在干草原中养殖；这里提到的牛可能养殖于阿拉伯西北的肥沃地区，要想确定米甸地业的位置，必须考虑上述因素。《约伯记》39:19 起的经文中提到的马是阿拉伯人后期引进的一种动物，现在的阿拉伯人认为马十分重要。此外经文中还提到了许多野生的兽类和鸟类，尤其在《约伯记》38-39 章中；但本文并非专业论文，无需具体提及这些动物。经文（王上 10:22）中提到了“孔雀”和“猿猴”（但原词是“baboons”[“狒狒”]），它们是南阿拉伯贸易中的一部分，不一定是本土的动物。我们还应提及波斯湾的牡蛎，古中东的人们从中获取精美的珍珠；但《旧约》中没有特别提及这种生物（《约伯记》28:18 中的希伯来语应译为“水晶”）。

IV. 民族和语言。我们有理由认为阿拉伯有两个种族，他们可能是分别定居在南方的民族和北方的游牧民族。从语言学证据来看，内志的游牧民族可能和南

The languages of Arabia likewise confirm this duality of origin, with West Semitic (Proto-Canaanite[?]-Aramaic) and South Semitic (Proto-North-South-Arabic), but in addition indicate a clear development of two branches of South Semitic, namely Old South Arabic and North Arabic. In south Arabia we know principally the languages of the early kingdoms: Sabean, Minaean, Qatabanian, Hadramauti, and Awsani. These exist almost exclusively in inscriptional materials, several thousands of inscriptions having been recovered over the past century and a quarter. The script, which is very neat and regular and which is clearly related to Ethiopic, seems to be independent of Canaanite or Phoenician alphabetic writing, and is the only system of Semitic writing known to us that preserves all twenty-nine of the parent phonemes. Unfortunately, the material is limited to votive inscriptions, dedications, and the like, with a very small vocabulary, a limited set of formulaic expressions, and very little to help us reconstruct the history or the life of the people. These dialects, generally classified as Old South Arabic, or Epigraphic South Arabic, are closely related to Classical Arabic, but there are a number of significant differences. The serious Semitist therefore must give careful attention to Old South Arabic evidence—a fact that has not always been apparent.

The inscriptions from the northern region are in related dialects known as Lihyanite, Thamudic, and Safaitic. These dialects are generally classified as North Arabic, and are closer to Classical (Koranic) Arabic than is Old South Arabic. Classical Arabic developed from the dialect of Mecca through the tremendous influence of the Koran, and represents a later stage of development (approximately a thousand years later than the early OSA inscriptions).

It seems likely that both South Arabic and North Arabic are to be traced to a common origin, with North Arabic developing from colonial extensions of the south Arabian kingdoms. On the other hand, the nomadic peoples of north Arabia, as far as we have been able to study them linguistically—and it must be admitted that we are seriously handicapped, since they have left little if any material that we can use for the study of their language—are perhaps to be classified as non-Arabic. The Nabateans and Palmyrenes, of the southern and northern portions of the extreme northwest of the Arabian peninsula respectively, were Aramaic-speaking peoples, although admittedly they may have adopted Aramaic as a trade-language.

南阿拉伯语和北阿拉伯语似乎有一个共同的起源，北阿拉伯语是随着南阿拉伯王国的殖民扩张而发展形成的。此外，根据我们对北阿拉伯游牧民族的语言学研究，我们必须承认我们的研究非常受限，因为可供研究这类语言的资料几乎没能保留下来，它们可能会被归类为阿拉伯语之外的语言。纳巴泰人和帕尔美拉人分别居住在阿拉伯半岛的南

V. Literature.—Within the period of our present discussion there are few literary remains. It is obvious, however, that the peoples of the desert must have had a rich literary heritage, for much of it is reflected in the literature of later periods. Arabic poetry, for example, is known to us only from the centuries immediately preceding the rise of Islam (7th cent. A.D.). But it is already well developed in form and style, which to most scholars suggests a long period of preparation. This, of course, is not an infallible principle, for frequently we find the sudden appearance of some literary or art form of excellence due to the advent of a genius. In the case of Arabic literature, one of the chief figures is the prophet Muhammad. But the imagery of the language, the richness of the vocabulary, and many other features, all seem to point to a long period of development. We could wish that we had other types than inscriptional material in Old South Arabic!

VI. Arts and Crafts.—Moscati says, “Art does not flourish in the desert” (p. 207). This statement is open to question. It is probably true that the life of the nomad does not offer the time or the opportunity for the cultivation of artistic skills and

V. 文学。我们现在讨论的时期的文献流传下来的很少。然而，沙漠中的民族显然拥有丰富的文学遗产，其中一些体现在后期的文学中。例如，我们仅能从伊斯兰兴起之前（公元7世纪）数个世纪的文学中了解阿拉伯诗歌。但阿拉伯诗歌已经有完善的形式和风格，许多学者认为这种文学形式一定经历了长时间的发展。当然，这种原则并不完全可靠，因为我们经常会发现当一个天才出现时，某种卓越的文学或艺术形式也会随之突然出现。先知穆罕默德是阿拉伯文学的一个主要人物。但阿拉伯语中的意象、丰富的词汇等许多其他特征似乎都表明这种语言经过了长时期的发展。我们多希望能够发现古南阿拉伯语铭文之外的其他类型材料！

VI. 艺术和工艺。莫斯卡迪说，“沙漠中的艺术并不发达”（207页）。这种说法值得怀疑。或许游牧民族确实没有足够的时间和机会像定居的民族那样发展艺术技巧和工艺。但是，他们可以发挥想象力，并凭借想象力创作出作品。 crafts that a settled civilization does. On the other hand, there is opportunity for the development of the imagination, and creative work comes from the imagination. The discoveries in south Arabia by the expedition of the American Foundation for the Study of Man have brought to light a number of interesting items, including fine bronze statues, stone statues and reliefs, and articles of jewelry. The craftsmanship is often rough and primitive. South Arabian architecture was largely dependent on the granite found in the area, and buildings were made of great stone blocks, often with drafted margins and pecked faces, laid up without mortar and therefore depending on careful fitting and finishing. Pillars were fitted into sockets, and there was extensive use of pilasters and columns. G. W. van Beek has traced the style to Assyria about the middle of the 7th cent. B.C. (in Archaeological Discoveries in South Arabia [1958], Appendix v, pp. 287-295). Temples were elliptical or rectangular in plan. Castles, walls, and towers have also been discovered. Of particular note are the numerous structures for water storage, particularly dams and dikes, which were essential to the large and flourishing civilization in south Arabia for centuries. One of these, the great dam at Mârib, at first built of packed earth, was later constructed of limestone finely cut and well engineered. The collapse of this dam after A.D. 542 is credited by Arab historians with the collapse of the entire south Arabian civilization. It is more reasonable to suppose that the mastery of navigation by the Romans, using the monsoon winds to reach India and thus by-passing Arabia, and the constant warfare of the south Arabian tribes, were the most significant

VII. Cities.-Due to the physical nature of Arabia, which is for the large part desert and steppe, there are few important cities. In the extreme north in the Syrian desert NE of Damascus was Palmyra (TADMOR), one-time kingdom of Queen Zenobia, an oasis city-state on an important caravan road. Tadmor is attributed to Solomon in 2 Ch. 8:4, but possibly this is a textual error (cf. 1 K. 9:18). The Palmyrene inscriptions came from this location. On the western edge of the Syrian desert is DAMASCUS, called in Arabic esh-Shâm (“the North”), also an oasis city-state at the junction of important caravan routes, and most significant of the Aramean city-kingdoms. In the mountains SE of the Dead Sea is Petra (Sela, 2 K. 14:7), one-time capital of the Nabatean kingdom. Possibly there is a connection between Nabateans and the Nebaioth of Gen. 25:13, etc. As we have seen, Palmyrene and Nabatean are Aramaic dialects, hence we assume that these cities were properly Aramean rather than Arabian.

Southwest of the Nafud is the important oasis of Teimā (Tema, Gen. 25:15; Job 6:19), and about 100 mi. (160 km.) SSW is el-‘Ulā, often identified with biblical Dedan (Isa. 21:13; Jer. 25:23, etc.). In the Hejaz, nearly 100 mi. (160 km.) inland from the Red Sea, is the important city of Yathrib, better known as Medina, lying in a fertile plain; it was to this city that Muhammad made his epochal hegira in A.D. 622, from which the Muhammadan calendar takes its starting point. About 200 mi. (320 km.) further S is Mecca, birthplace of the Prophet and the holiest city of Islam. Jidda, the port and airport for Mecca, lies on the Red Sea, about 45 mi. (75 km.) W of Mecca. These cities are north Arabian, possibly originating as we have suggested as colonial outposts of south Arabian kingdoms.

VII. 城市。阿拉伯的大部分地区是沙漠和干草原，受自然环境的影响，阿拉伯的重要城市很少。帕尔美拉（达莫，见 TADMOR [达莫]）位于叙利亚沙漠的最北端，大马士革东北，它是位于重要商路上的一座绿洲城邦，季诺碧亚是这个古国的女王。《历代志下》8:4 中称达莫是所罗门建造的，但这个记录可能有误（参：王上 9:18）。帕尔美拉铭文就来自这一地区。叙利亚沙漠的西部边缘是大马士革（见 DAMASCUS），阿拉伯语为舍姆（“北方”），它也是一座位于重要商路交汇处的绿洲城邦，同时还是最重要的亚兰城邦之一。死海东南山脉上的城市是佩特拉（西拉，王下 14:7），它是纳巴泰王国的古都。纳巴泰和《创世记》25:13 等经文中提到的尼拜约有一定联系。正如我们所见，帕尔美拉语和纳巴泰语是亚兰语方言，因此我们推断这些城市应属于亚兰而非阿拉伯。

内夫得沙漠西南是重要的提玛绿洲（Teimā，创 25:15；伯 6:19），约位于乌拉西南偏南 100 英里（160 公里）处，人们通常认为乌拉就是《圣经》中的底但（赛 21:13；耶 25:23 等）。在汉志地区，据红海约 100 英里（160 公里）的内陆上，有一座重要的城市叶斯里卜，人们通常称它为麦地那，该城坐落在一片肥沃的平原上；公元 622 年，穆罕默德正是逃到了这座城市，这事一个划时代的事件，公元 622 年也是伊斯兰历的起始时间。麦地那以南 200 英里（320 公里）是麦加，这是先知默罕默德的出生地，也是伊斯兰教的圣城。麦加的海港和机场吉达位于麦加以西 45 英里（75

In the extreme south, in the region known as Yemen (“South,” possibly in contrast to esh-Sham, “the North,” or Damascus), were several cities in biblical times, but it would appear that none of them is named in the Bible. We might mention, for the record, Qarnaw the capital of Ma‘în, Mârib the capital of Saba’, Timna the capital of Qatabân, and Shabwa the capital of Hadramaut. Today, the only significant cities in the area are Aden on the coast of the Gulf of Aden, and Şan‘â’ the capital of Yemen, about 170 mi. (275 km.) NNW of Aden and inland about 100 mi. (160 km.) from the Red Sea. In east Arabia, Muscat the capital of Oman is a city of significance, partly because of its natural harbor. Finally, Riyadh the capital of Saudi Arabia is in the heart of the Nejd and close to the center of the Arabian peninsula.

公里) 的红海沿岸。这些城市位于北阿拉伯, 它们最初可能是南阿拉伯王国的殖民地边界。

VIII. Caravan Routes.-There are many indications of the importance of caravan trade in Arabia in antiquity, and it would seem that a number of items were imported from eastern Africa and probably India to south Arabia, thence to Gaza and Egypt, to Damascus and regions N and W from there, and to Mesopotamia. One route led from Yemen by Mârib, Qarnaw, and the wadis and oases of Tehâma to the vicinity of Mecca. From Mecca one route led across the peninsula, through the Nejd, to the Persian Gulf in the vicinity of Bahrein (ancient Dilbat?) and along the coast to what is now Iraq. Another route led by an interior valley to Yathrib (Medina), where again the route divided, the one way crossing the southern edge of the Nafud going on to Babylon, and the other proceeding northwestward, via el-'Ulâ

VIII. 商路。有许多迹象表明了古时阿拉伯沙漠商队贸易的重要性，他们从东非进口了许多货物，南阿拉伯可能也从印度进口了大量货物，然后他们将这些货物出口到迦萨、埃及、大马士革及其北部和西部地区，还有美索不达米亚。一条商路始于也门，途经马里卜、盖尔诺、特哈玛的河流和绿洲，然后到达麦加周边地区。另一条商路始于麦加，穿过半岛和内志，到达巴林岛附近的波斯湾（不确定该地是否就是古时的迪勒巴特），最后延海岸抵达今天的伊拉克。还有一条商路从约旦谷内穿过，到达叶斯里卜（麦地那），然后分成两条道路，一条穿过内夫得沙漠的南部边缘，一直抵达巴比伦，另一条则继续向西南延伸，穿越乌拉（可能是底但），到达迈达因萨利赫（Madâ'in Şâlih）、特布克（Tebuk）、马安、迦萨、埃及等地。在现代，马安是通往佩特拉的入口，佩特拉曾是纳巴泰王国的首都，因此我们很

(probably Dedan), to Madâ'in Şâlih, Tebuk, Ma'an, to Gaza, Egypt, etc. Since Ma'an is the present-day entrance to Petra, which was once the capital of the Nabatean kingdom, we can readily understand why the Nabateans rose to power by control of this caravan road. From Madâ'in Şâlih another route branched northward by Wâdī Sirhân into Transjordan and on to Damascus. This, too, came under the control of the Nabateans toward the beginning of the Christian era. The important King's Highway skirted the edge of the desert from the Gulf of Aqabah (Ezion-geber) to Damascus, and from Damascus several routes branched east, north, and west.

Starting again at Yemen, we can trace a spice route northeastward via Shabwa in Hadramaut to Dhofar, where the "frankincense mountains" were located (about halfway between Aden and Muscat), thence to Oman. Another route ran from Mârib and Qarnaw almost due N across the peninsula through the Nejd, to the Persian Gulf near Bahrain. A further route connected with this route somewhere in the general vicinity of modern Riyadh and led to Oman.

容易理解为何纳巴泰在控制这条商路之后便开始兴起。另一条商路的分支始于迈达因萨利赫，向北延伸，途经西尔汉河，到达外约旦，并一直通往大马士革。这条商路同样从基督纪元开始便受纳巴泰人掌控。重要的王道始于亚喀巴湾（以旬迦别），绕过沙漠边缘，抵达大马士革，大马士革还有数条通往东、北、西方向的商路分支。

我们还能发现一条香料商路的痕迹，这条商路同样始于也门，向东北延伸，途经哈德拉毛的舍卜沃，到达佐法尔，“乳香山”就位于佐法尔境内（约在亚丁和马斯喀特中间），然后商路继续延伸到阿曼。另一条商路始于马里卜和盖尔诺，几乎从正北方向穿越了内志和半岛，到达巴林岛附近的波斯湾。一条更远的商路与这条商路相连并通往阿曼，两条商路的交点位于现代的利雅得附近。

IX. Discoveries.-Exploration in Arabia has been carried out since the 18th cent., but archeological work has been undertaken only within the past few decades and that has been largely confined to north Arabia. See ARCHEOLOGY OF ARABIA.

IX. 考古发现。自 18 世纪起，人们一直在对阿拉伯进行探究，但直到最近几十年，人们才开始进行考古工作，而且考古的范围主要局限在北阿拉伯。见 ARCHEOLOGY OF ARABIA（阿拉伯考古）。

X. History.-The history of ancient Arabia is not yet clear. It would seem that there were two different peoples in north Arabia and in south Arabia by the end of the Paleolithic era. It has generally been proposed that the Semitic peoples of south Arabia came there from the north in the 2nd millennium B.C. Basing our hypothesis upon the evidence of language and phonetic shifts, we have suggested that these Semites may rather have come from the Nile Valley, through Abyssinia, and across the Bâb el-Mandeb into

Yemen—but this is far from proven. At any rate, toward the end of the 2nd millennium there were several peoples who were later to become the Sabeans, the Minaeans, the Qatabanians, the Hadramauti, and the Awsani. Perhaps as early as 1200 B.C. these peoples had developed a remarkable civilization, with public buildings, political organization, agricultural and commercial achievements, and other indications of wealth and cultural achievement.

The kingdom of Saba' is the first to come to light historically, with inscriptions probably from the 8th cent. B.C. indicating a well-organized city-state under a mkrb (mukarrib), who was evidently a high priest. Later (in the 5th cent.) the term mlk (malk?), "king," replaced the term mkrb, marking a "transition to a lay form of government based on the oligarchy of a small number of military and landed families" (Moscati, p. 185). The kingdom of Ma'in (the Minaeans) began to challenge Sabean supremacy by the end of the 5th cent., and in the following century the kingdom of Qatabân was a third important power. The kingdom of Hadramaut (often incorrectly spelled Hadhramaut, but the letter is ḏ, not ḍ) also came into the political picture, and the fortunes favored first one and then the other. Finally, the region came under the dominion of the Himyarites. Moscati dates the Minaean period from ca. 400 B.C. to the end of the 1st cent. B.C., the Qataban ca. 400 to 50 B.C., and the Hadramaut ca. 450 B.C. to the 2nd cent. A.D. The Himyarites he identifies as a Sabean tribe that rose to power in the 2nd cent. B.C. and welded south Arabia into a single state until the Ethiopian Christians occupied Yemen in

历史上第一个众所周知的王国是赛巴王国，公元前 8 世纪的许多铭文表明赛巴王国在穆卡里卜 (mukarrib 或 mkrb) 的统治下，建成了一个有序的城邦，穆卡里卜显然是一个大祭司。后来 (公元前 5 世纪)，mlk (可能是 malk, 意思是“国王”) 一词取代了 mkrb, 标志着此时的王国“过渡为一种世俗的政体，由少数拥有军队和土地的家族形成的寡头政治成为这种政体的基础”(Moscati, 185 页)。公元前 5 世纪末期，迈因王国 (迈因人) 开始挑战赛巴王国的霸权，在下一个世纪，阿拉伯兴起了第三个重要的势力——卡塔班王国。哈德拉毛王国 (经常被误拼为“Hadhramaut”，但该字母应该是 ḏ, 而不是 ḍ) 也加入了政治角逐，这些王国都曾兴盛一时。最终，希米亚里特人控制了这片地区。莫斯卡迪认为迈因王国的统治时期约为公元前 400 年至公元前 1 世纪末期，哈德拉毛王国约为公元前 450 年至公元 2 世纪。他认为希米亚里特人是一支兴起于公元前 2 世纪的赛巴宗族，他们融入南阿拉伯之后形成了一个独立的王国，他们一直统治这片地区，直到公元 525 年，埃塞俄比亚的基督徒占领了也门。约公元前 575 年，马里卜的大水坝倒塌了，这一事件标志着南阿拉伯的文明最终灭亡。

A.D. 525. By the time the great dam at Mârib collapsed, perhaps ca. 575 A.D., the death knell had sounded for the south Arabian civilization.

Saba' is mentioned in a number of Assyrian inscriptions. Tiglath-pileser III (744–727 B.C.) mentions two queens of Arabia by name, Zabiba and Samsi (ARAB, I, §§ 778, 817; ANET, p. 283), Sargon II (721–705 B.C.) also mentions Samsi the queen of Arabia as well as It'amra the Sabean (ARAB, II, § 18; ANET, p. 286; N. Abbot, AJSL, 58 [1941], 1–22). It is not always clear that south Arabia is in view in the Assyrian inscriptions, and in some cases it would seem that there were colonial centers in the north, indicating the extent of south Arabian control of the trade routes.

The history of north Arabia is not known to us until a somewhat later date. From remote antiquity there were nomads in the area, but our first knowledge of "Arabs" is found in an inscription of Shalmaneser III (858–824 B.C.) in which he mentions "Gindibu' the Arabian" (ARAB, II, § 611; ANET, p. 279). Thereafter the Arabians, who are camel-riding raiders, are found often in Assyrian inscriptions, and are portrayed in Ashurbanipal's bas-reliefs at Nineveh. The Nabateans had developed control of the trade routes and probably become a political entity by the 4th cent. B.C., but the earliest known ruler is Aretas I (ca. 170 B.C.; cf. 2 Macc. 5:8). Nabatean villages and towns and the cultivation of the desert can be traced to the same time and a bit earlier. The capital was at Petra, and the kingdom extended N to Damascus. The Nabatean period ended with the Roman occupation in A.D. 106.

许多亚述铭文中提到了赛巴。提革拉毗列色三世（公元前 744-727 年）提到了两位阿拉伯女王的名字——宰比拜和塞姆西（ARAB, I, 778, 817 章; ANET, 283 页），撒珥根二世（公元前 721-705 年）也提及了阿拉伯女王塞姆西和赛巴女王伊塔姆拉（ARAB, II, 18 章; ANET, 286 页; N. Abbot, AJSL, 58 [1941], 1–22）。亚述铭文中并没有一直清楚地提及南阿拉伯，有时北阿拉伯似乎也有殖民地中心，这表明了南阿拉伯控制的商路的范围。

直到后来，我们才知道了北阿拉伯的历史。自远古时期开始，这片地区就有游牧民族生活，撒幔以色列三世（公元前 858-824 年）的铭文第一次提及了“阿拉伯”，其中还提到了“阿拉伯王根迪布”（ARAB, II, 611 章; ANET, 279 页）。从那以后亚述铭文上经常提及阿拉伯人，他们是骑骆驼的掠夺者，尼尼微的亚述巴尼帕半浮雕上也描绘了阿拉伯人。纳巴泰人逐渐控制了商路，并可能在公元前 4 世纪时成为了政治实体，但最早被人知晓的统治者是亚哩达一世（约公元前 170 年；参：马二 5:8）。纳巴泰人的村庄和城邑，以及他们在沙漠上的耕种活动，可以追溯到那个时期或更早时期。纳巴泰王国的首都是佩特拉，王国北部边界扩展到了大马士革。公元 106 年，罗马占领纳巴泰王国，纳巴泰时期结束了。公元前 1 世纪，绿洲国家帕尔美拉（达莫）开始崛起，直到公元 272 年，奥勒良皇帝占领了该国。帕尔美拉位于大马士革东北的叙利亚沙漠中，其最著名的统治者是季诺碧亚

The oasis-state of Palmyra (Tadmor) became important in the 1st cent. B.C., and rose to power until it was conquered by the emperor Aurelian in A.D. 272. It was located in the Syrian desert, NE of Damascus, and its best-known ruler was Queen Zenobia. Both the Nabatean and the Palmyrene kingdoms were Aramaic-speaking. Further S, in the region about Dedan (modern el-‘Ulā), which had been a Minaean colony, the kingdom of the Lihyanites developed and reached its zenith at the beginning of the Christian era. The rise of Mecca and the Islamic state is beyond the scope of this present article.

ARABIC LANGUAGE.

For the student of the Bible the Arabic language is of interest, first, as one of the members of the Semitic group of languages, to which belong the Hebrew and Aramaic tongues of the Bible; second, as one of the languages into which the Bible and other church literature were early translated and in which a Christian literature was produced; and third, as the vernacular of Muhammad and his followers, the classical tongue of Islam.

I. Philological Characterization.-Scholars are generally agreed in grouping the Arabic and Ethiopic together as a South Semitic branch of the Semitic stock. For the geographical and ethnological background of the Arabic language, see ARABIA III, IV. A general characteristic of this tongue of the desert is its remarkable retention, into a late historical period, of grammatical features obliterated or in process of obliteration in other Semitic tongues at their earliest emergence in literature, so that in the period since the golden age of its literature, Arabic has been undergoing changes in some respects analogous to those which its sister dialects underwent in their preliterate or earliest literary stage. Thus, e.g., the case-endings of

ARABIC GOSPEL OF THE INFANCY. 阿拉伯语《耶稣婴童福音》

见 APOCRYPHAL GOSPELS II.E (次经福音书 II.E)。

ARABIC LANGUAGE. 阿拉伯语

阿拉伯语值得《圣经》学者注意, 首先它是闪族语系中的一个分支, 《圣经》中的希伯来语和亚兰语同样属于闪族语系; 其次, 《圣经》和其他教会文献在早期被翻译为阿拉伯语, 基督教文献在创作时也会使用这种语言; 再次, 穆罕默德和他的门徒都使用阿拉伯语, 阿拉伯语也是伊斯兰教的传统语言。

I. 文献学特征。学者们通常认同将阿拉伯语和埃塞俄比亚语一同归为闪族语系下的南闪族语分支。关于阿拉伯语的地理学和民族学背景, 见 ARABIA III, IV (阿拉伯 III, IV)。这种沙漠中语言的一个一般特性便是它的语法特征一直保留到了后来的历史时期, 而其他的闪族语言在最早出现于文学中时, 已经删除了或正在删除它们的语言特征, 因此自阿拉伯文学的黄金时期开始, 阿拉伯语在某些方面所经历的改变与它的同源语言在前文学阶段或最初的文学阶段所经历的改变类似。因此, 举例来说, 亚兰语、迦南语 (包括希伯来语)、阿比西尼亚语方言中的名词变格词尾都已经消失了, 就连早期 (普遍流传) 的巴比伦语都开始忽略这种词尾, 现代的阿拉伯语方言也不再使用名词变格词尾, 但在整个经典阿拉伯文学时期, 这 nouns, lost in Aramaic and Canaanitish (including Hebrew), all but lost in the Abyssinian dialects, beginning to be disregarded in even the early (popular) Babylonian, lost also in the dialects of Modern Arabic, are in full vitality throughout the classical period of Arabic literature.

The Arabic language itself, ancient and modern, divides into a vast number of dialects, many of which have attained the distinction of producing a literature greater or less. But the dialect of the tribe of Koreish, to which Muhammad belonged, is the one that, by the circumstances of the Koran's composition and diffusion, has become the norm of pure Arabic. Old Arabic poems, some of them produced in "the Ignorance," that is, before the days of Muhammad, are in substantially the same dialect as that of the Koran, for it appears that bedouin tribes ranging within the limits of the Arabian desert spoke an Arabic little differentiated by tribal or geographical peculiarities. On the other hand the inhabitants of the coast of the Indian Ocean from Yemen to Oman, and of the island of Socotra off that coast, spoke an Arabic differing widely from that of the northern tribes. The various dialects of this "South Arabic," known partly through their daughter dialects of today (Mehri, Socotri, etc.), partly from the numerous and important inscriptions ("Minaean" and "Sabeian") found in Yemen by modern travelers, notably Halévy and Glaser, show a closer affinity than do the "North Arabic" with the Abyssinian dialects (Ge'ez, i.e., "Ethiopic," Tigre, Tigrîña, Amharic, etc.), as might indeed be expected from the admitted south Arabian origin of the

阿拉伯语自身，无论是古阿拉伯语还是现代阿拉伯语，都拥有大量的方言，其中许多方言在创作文学作品时都或多或少变得不同。但默罕默德所属的古来氏部族使用的方言，因是《古兰经》创作和传播语言，而成为了标准的纯正阿拉伯语。一些古阿拉伯语诗歌创作于“愚昧时期”（即默罕默德出现之前的时期），它们所使用的方言和《古兰经》中的方言大体相同，因为生活在阿拉伯沙漠中的贝多因人所说的阿拉伯方言与其他部族和独特地域所讲的语言没有多大的差别。另一方面，一些阿拉伯人居住在印度洋海岸从也门至阿曼地区，以及海岸对面的索科特拉岛上，他们所说的方言则与北方部族所说的方言截然不同。人们对“南阿拉伯语”各种方言的了解一部分来自其流传至今的派生语言（迈赫里语、索科特拉语等），一部分来自现代旅行者在也门（尤其是哈莱维和格拉塞）发现的大量重要铭文（“迈因铭文”和“示巴铭文”），这种方言使人们清晰地看出“南阿拉伯语”与阿比西尼亚方言（吉兹语，即“埃塞俄比亚语”、提格雷语、提格里纳语、阿姆哈拉语等）的关系要比“北阿拉伯语”与阿比西尼亚方言的关系密切地多，实际上，“南阿拉伯语”可能公认为起源于南阿拉伯——哈贝什部族或阿比西尼亚人。

Habesh tribes or Abyssinians.

For the interpretation of the OT the Arabic language has been of service in a variety of ways. In the department of lexicography it has thrown light not only on many a word used but once in the Bible or too seldom for usage alone to determine its meaning, but also on words which had seemed clear enough in their biblical setting, but which have received illustration or correction from their usage in the immense bulk and range of Arabic literature with its enormous vocabulary. For the modern scientific study of Hebrew grammar, with its genetic method, Arabic has been of the greatest value, through the comparison of its cognate forms, where in the main the Arabic has the simpler, fuller, and more regular morphology, and through the comparison of similar constructions, for which the highly developed Arabic syntax furnishes useful rubrics. In addition to this the Arabic language plays a prominent part, perhaps the foremost part, in the determination of those laws of the mutation of sounds which once governed the development and now reveal the mutual relationships of the various Semitic languages.

The script which we know as Arabic script, with its numerous varieties, developed out of the vulgar Aramaic alphabet in north Arabia; diacritical points were added to many of those letters, either to distinguish Arabic sounds for which no letter existed, or to differentiate letters the forms of which had become so similar as to create confusion. In Yemen another script arose early, that of the inscriptions above mentioned, admirably clear and adapted to express probably all the chief varieties of consonantal sounds in actual use, though entirely without vowels.

II. Christian Arabic Literature.-For Arabic versions of the Bible, see VERSIONS. Outside of the Scriptures themselves there was felt by Christian communities living in the Arabic-speaking world (primarily, though not exclusively, in Egypt and Syria) the need of a Christian literature suited to the tastes of the time and region. Apocryphal and legendary material makes up a large part, therefore, of the list of Christian Arabic literature. See APOCRYPHAL GOSPELS. But this material was not original. With the small degree of intellectual activity in those circles it is not surprising that most of such material, and indeed of the entire literary output, consists of translations from Syriac, Greek, or Coptic, and that original productions are few.

Of these last the most noteworthy are the following: theological and apologetic tracts by Theodore bishop of Haran, the same who held the famous disputation with Muhammadan scholars at the court of Caliph al-Mamun early in the 9th cent.; apologetic and polemic writings of Yahya ibn-Adi of Tekrit, and of his pupil abu-Ali Isa ibn-Ishaq, both in the 10th cent.; the Arabic works of Bar-Hebraeus, better known for his numerous Syriac compositions, but productive also of both historical and theological works in Arabic (13th cent.); in Egypt, but belonging to the same Jacobite or Monophysite communion as the above, the polemic and homiletic productions of Bishop Severus of Eshmunain (10th cent.), and, a generation earlier than Servus and belonging to the opposing or Melkite Egyptian Church, the chronicle of Eutychius patriarch of Alexandria, continued a century later by Yahya ibn-Said of Antioch; large compilations of church history, church law, and theological miscellany by the Coptic Christians al-Makin, abu-Ishaq ibn-al-Assal, Abu'l Barakat, and others, the leaders in a general revival of Egyptian Christianity in the 13th cent.; on the soil of Nestorianism, finally, the ecclesiastical, dogmatic, and exegetical writings of Abulfaraj Abdallah ibn-at-Tayyib (11th cent.), the apologetic compositions of his contemporary, Elias ben Shinaya the historian, and the Nestorian church chronicle begun in the 12th cent. by Mari ibn-Suleiman and continued two centuries later by Amr ibn-Mattai and Saliba bar Johannan. After this date there is no original literature produced by Arabic-speaking Christians until the modern intellectual revival brought about by contact with European Christianity.

II. 基督教阿拉伯语文学。关于《圣经》的阿拉伯语译本, 见 VERSIONS (译本)。除《圣经》中的经卷之外, 居住在阿拉伯语世界 (主要是埃及和叙利亚, 但不仅限于此) 的基督徒会众意识到, 他们需要阿拉伯语的基督教文学来满足当时该地的偏好。因此, 伪经和传奇性质的文献是基督教阿拉伯语文献的主要组成部分。见 APOCRYPHAL GOSPELS (次经福音书)。但这些文献并非原创。说阿拉伯语的基督教会众的文学创作水平并不高, 因此我们不难理解基督教阿拉伯语文献大多, 甚至实际上所有文献都是叙利亚语、希腊语和科普特语文献的译本, 原创的作品非常少。

III. Literary Vehicle of Islam.-What Aramaic, Greek, and Latin have been successively in the history of Christianity, all this and more Arabic has been in the history of Islam. The language of its founder and his "helpers," the language of the Koran "sent down" from God to Muhammad by the angel Gabriel, the language therefore in which it has always been preserved by the faithful, untranslated, wherever it has spread in the wide world of Islam, Arabic is identified with Islam in its origin, its history, its literature, and its propaganda. All the points of contact between the religion of the Bible and the religion of the Koran, literary, historical, apologetic, âr'ad [Heb. “rād]. One of the descendants of Elpaal son of Shaharaim, mentioned among the descendants of Benjamin (1 Ch. 8:15).

III. 伊斯兰教的文学载体。正如亚兰语、希腊语、拉丁语相继记载了基督教的历史, 伊斯兰教的历史也采用上述语言来记录, 但更多使用的是阿拉伯语。阿拉伯语是伊斯兰教创立者所使用的语言和“辅助载体”, 也是《古兰经》中神通过天使加百列“传给”穆罕默德的语言, 因此《古兰经》无论传到广阔伊斯兰世界的任何地方, 人们都始终忠实于该作品的语言, 没有进行翻译, 人们认为阿拉伯语和伊斯兰教在起源、历史、文学和传播上是一致的。《圣经》中的宗教和《古兰经》中的宗教之间所有的接触点, 无论是文学、历史、护教还是传教学, 都非常相似, 它们都需要聪明的基督教学者熟知伟大的阿拉伯语真作和杰作, 并与其产生共鸣。

ARAD.

An important biblical town in the eastern Negeb that dominated the frontier region and the outset of the highway to Edom and to the harbor of Elath.

I. Biblical Data.-In the desert traditions Arad figured as the main obstacle on the direct way of the Israelites to the land of Canaan. “The Canaanite, the king of Arad, who dwelt in the Negeb,” withstood the assault of the tribes on their approach from Kadesh-barnea by way of Atharim (Nu. 21:1; 33:40), defeating them at neighboring Hormah (Nu. 14:44f.; Dt. 1:44). That the latter detail may be a popular explanation of the origin of the name (from the root h₁rm, “ban, devote to destruction”) is indicated by the divergent tradition of the defeat at Hormah of the king of Arad due to a second Israelite assault (Nu. 21:2f.). Both neighboring cities were enumerated in the list of the defeated Canaanite kings (Josh. 12:14). According to Jgs. 1:16 “the descendants of [LXX “Hobab”] the

I. 《圣经》中的资料。在沙漠传统中, 亚拉得是以色列人直通迦南地途中的主要障碍。以色列支派从加低斯巴尼亚经亚他林路接近南地时, “住南地的迦南人亚拉得王”抵挡了他们的攻击(民 21:1; 33:40), 并在何珥玛附近击败了他们(民 14:44-45; 申 1:44)。但后来以色列人又发动攻击了一次攻击(民 21:2-3), 因此出现了亚拉得王在何珥玛战败的不同传说, 这表明何珥玛争战的细节可能是该地名起源的通俗解释(源自词根 h₁rm, 意思是“禁止, 当灭之物”)。战败的迦南王名单中列出了这两座相邻城市的国王(书 12:14)。根据《士师记》1:16 中的记载, “摩西的内兄, 是基尼人, 他【《七十士译本》译为“何巴”】的子孙与犹太人一同离了棕树城, 往亚拉得以南【字面意思: 南部】的犹太旷野去, 就住在民中”(《七十士译本》译为“亚玛力人”; 参: 撒上 15:6)。当

In the list of cities conquered by Pharaoh Sheshonq (Shishak) after the death of Solomon (ca. 920 B.C.) the following names are mentioned among other places in the Negeb: ḥqrm. 'rd. rbt. nbt. yrḥm. (nos. 107–112), i.e., "the fortresses Arad the Great and Arad of the House of Yrḥm" (=Jerahmeel? cf. 1 S. 27:1; 30:29). The last biblical reference to Arad lists the city in the Negeb district of Judah (Josh. 15:21, corrupted to Heb. 'eder, LXX B Gk. Ara; Lucianic MSS Arad). Eusebius (Onom. 14.2) still knew a village called Arad 20 Roman mi. from Hebron and 4 mi. from Malaatha (Moleatha), distances that fit modern Tell 'Arâd, situated about 20 mi. (32 km.) ENE from Beersheba.

所罗门死后（约公元前 920 年），在法老舍契松（示撒）占领的城市名单中提到了下面一些南地的地名：ḥqrm. 'rd. rbt. nbt. yrḥm.（第 107-112 号），即“大亚拉得和耶拉箴（Yrḥm，不确定是否指耶拉箴）家的亚拉得的要塞”（参：撒上 27:1；30:29）。《圣经》中最后一次提到亚拉得时，列出了犹太地业中的南地城邑（书 15:21，被误写为希伯来语 'eder，《七十士译本》的《梵蒂冈抄本》中译为希腊语 Ara；琉善的手稿中译为 Arad）。优西比乌（Onom. 14.2）还提到了一个名为亚拉得的村庄，这个村庄距希伯仑 6 罗马里，距离马拉萨（Malaatha，也叫 Moleatha）4 英里，这一距离与现代亚拉得废丘的位置相符，该遗址位于别是巴东北偏东约 20 英里（32 公里）处。

II. 考古.1962 至 1967 年，一支以色列探险队对亚拉得废丘进行了发掘，他们在该地发现了两个不同的定居点。

(1) A large fortified city of the Early Bronze Age II (ca. 2900–2700 B.C.) preceded by an open settlement of the Late Chalcolithic period. It was surrounded by a stone wall about 8 ft. (2.4 m.) thick supported by projecting semicircular towers. The city was divided into quarters, and the houses were built according to a fixed architectural concept of a distinct “broad house” (with an entrance at one of the longer sides). A unique find is a clay model of one of these houses. Other remarkable finds are vessels imported from Egypt and an abundance of painted and well-burnished local pottery known hitherto mainly from Egyptian 1st Dynasty tombs (Abydos ware). They give evidence of the intense trade with Egypt in this early age and are of much importance for its chronology. The early city was completely destroyed and deserted before the end of the Early Bronze Age II, i.e., not later than 2700 B.C.

(1) 第一个定居点是青铜时代早期 II（约公元前 2900-2700 年）的一座巨大的要塞城邑，该城之前是一个红铜时代晚期的空旷定居点。该城周围是约 8 英

(2) The site lay deserted for over fifteen hundred years, and a new settlement was founded on its southeast ridge only during the 12th–11th cent. B.C. It was a small, open village built around the hill, and in its center was a paved témenos with a crescent-shaped bāmā and a square altar. This evidently was a Kenite high place, where the venerated priestly family related to Moses served (Jgs. 1:16). On its place a temple was erected during the 10th cent., which now became part of a strongly fortified royal citadel, founded possibly by Solomon. During the period of the monarchy it was six times destroyed and burned (the first time evidently by Shishak), but always was quickly rebuilt, and served until the end of the first temple as the royal military and administrative center of the border area. Later, fortresses stood on the site, in the Persian, Hellenistic, and Roman periods up to the Early Arab period.

尺（2.4 米）厚的石墙，突出的半圆形卫塔支撑着这座石墙。城内分为四个区，城中的房子都按照独特的“大房子”的固定建筑构思来建造（入口位于房屋较长的一侧）。一个独特考古发现是当地一座房子的泥塑模型。其他值得注意的发现还包括从埃及进口的容器和大量上色抛光的当地陶器，迄今为止，人们主要从埃及第一王朝时期的坟墓中看到过这种陶器（阿比多斯陶器）。这些发现表明该城在早期便与埃及有密切的贸易往来，而且对于该城的年代学研究极其重要。在青铜时代初期 II 期结束之前（即，不晚于公元前 2700 年），这座早期的城市被完全摧毁和遗弃。

(2) 上述地点废弃了 1500 多年，仅在公元前 12 至 11 世纪期间，该地的东南山脉上才建立过新的定居点。这是一个绕山而建的空旷的小村庄，村子中心是一座铺砌而成的圣所 (témenos)，其中有一座新月型的平台 (bāmā) 和一座正方形的祭坛。这明显是一座基尼人的邱坛，摩西的亲戚、受人崇敬的祭司家庭在这里侍奉 (士 1:16)。公元前 10 世纪，该地建起了一座神殿，它现在成为了一座固若金汤的王室城堡（可能是由所罗门建造的）的一部分。君主制时期，这里曾六次遭到摧毁焚烧（第一次显然是示撒所为），但总是很快又被重建起来，在第一座神殿被毁灭之前，这里始终是皇室军队驻扎之地，同时还是边境地区的行政中心。后来，从波斯时期、希腊化时期和罗马时期开始，直到阿拉伯时代早期，该地一直建有若干要塞。

Excavations at Tell Arad, which determined two distinct sites (Consulate General of Israel in New York)

III. Ostraca.-Much information about the royal Judean administration is obtained from the Hebrew inscriptions found at the place. The excavations have resulted in almost two hundred inscribed potsherds (ostraca), nearly half Aramaic from ca. 400 B.C., and the rest Hebrew from the period of the monarchy. This is the largest and most varied find of early inscriptions in any Palestinian excavation. The Aramaic ostraca are mainly dockets of the Persian garrison, containing lists of names and troops (dgl) and quantities of various commodities like wine, oil, flour, and silver. The Hebrew ostraca derive from different Iron Age strata (which increases their paleographic importance); most are letters and dockets from the royal archives of the various citadels. Some contain lists of private names,

亚拉得废丘的发掘现场，在该地发现了两个不同的遗址。(以色列驻纽约总领事馆)

III. 陶器碎片。从该地发现的希伯来铭文中可以获得许多关于犹大王室统治的信息。该地出土了约两百块刻有铭文的陶器碎片(碎石块)，其中半数是亚看语铭文(约公元前400年)，其余则是君主制时期的希伯来语铭文。在巴勒斯坦的所有考古发掘中，这次发掘发现的铭文数量最多、种类最齐全。刻有亚兰语的陶器碎片记录的主要是波斯驻军的记事表，其中包括人名和军队(dgl)的名单，以及酒、油、面粉和银器等大量不同用品的清单。希伯来语陶器碎片是从铁器时代的不同地层中挖掘出来的(这增加了它们的古文书学价值)；大多数碎片是各城堡间王室档案中的信件和记事表。一些碎片中包含人名的列表，偶尔还会附加数字和农产品的标示，如麦子(h₁m)。 occasionally with the addition of numerals and an indication of the produce, such as wheat (ḥṭm).

Several ostraca were found in rooms bounding the temple and apparently connected with it. Some of these contain only the name of a single person, two of them names of well-known biblical priestly families: Meremoth and Pashhur. They served probably as lots for the priestly terms, similar to the custom in the Jerusalem temple. On a fragment of a large bowl, names of families and numerals were written in various directions, among them the “sons of Korach” (bny qrh). This may be a list of donations for the temple. Most illuminating are a group of letters from the archive of Eliashib son of Eshyahu, who was a high official, possibly the commander of the last citadel (ca. 600 B.C.). Their main contents are orders to provide certain peoples with rations of wine and bread, among them Kittim (ktym), probably mercenaries of Aegean stock in the service of Judah. In one is a reference to Beer-sheba and in another to the “house of Yahweh” (byt yhwh), probably the Jerusalem temple. This is the first and only instance of a direct reference to the temple in Hebrew epigraphy.

A letter from the same period contains a strict order to dispatch reinforcements of men from Arad and Kinah (Josh. 15:22) to Ramath-negeb (Josh. 19:8; 1 S. 30:27) against a threatening Edomite attack. This is probably the assault hinted at in the Bible in the days of Jehoiakim, preceding Nebuchadrezzar’s first campaign (1 K. 22:2; Jer. 35:11, reading Edom instead of Aram).

同时期的一封信件包含一个严厉的命令，信中要求亚拉得和基拿向南地的拉玛(书 19:8; 撒下 30:27)派遣增援部队来抵御以东人的袭击。这可能指的是《圣经》中暗示的发生在约雅敬时期，在尼布甲尼撒第一次战役之前的那次袭击(王上 22:2; 耶 35:11, 其中译为以东, 而非亚兰)。

IV. The Temple.-The most surprising discovery at Arad is the temple occupying the northwest corner of the citadel. It is the only Israelite temple discovered by archeology. Its direction, general plan, and contents stand in basic agreement with the Solomonic temple and especially with the tabernacle. It consists of one main room, the (Heb.) hēkāl, and to the west of it a raised cella, the holy of holies or d^ehîr. Flanking the entrance of the latter were two incense altars, and inside were a small bāmâ and a maṣṣēbâ. East of the building was a relatively large courtyard, divided into a large outer and smaller inner part (the 'ûlām). Flanking the entrance to the hēkāl were two stone slabs, probably bases of pillars, evidently similar to the biblical Jachin and Boaz (cf. 2 Ch. 3:17!). In the outer court was the altar for burnt offerings. It was built of earth and unhewn stones (cf. Ex. 20:25, etc.) and its measurements were a square of 5 cubits, 3 cubits high, like the altar in the tabernacle (Ex. 27:1; cf. 2 Ch. 6:13!).

The history of the temple seems to correspond to the development of worship in Israel. It was built on a sanctified place in the days of the united monarchy; its altar went out of use at the end of the 8th cent. and the temple was finally destroyed with the erection of the last Israelite citadel in the second half of the 7th century. The two phases of its abolition belong evidently to the days of Hezekiah and Josiah, the two reformers who concentrated the worship in Jerusalem. Its foundation at Arad may be explained as a royal border sanctuary like Dan and Bethel in Israel and probably Beer-sheba in Judah (cf. Am. 5:5; 7:13;

IV. 神殿。亚拉得废丘中最惊人的发现便是这座占据了城堡西北角的神庙。这是唯一一座通过考古发现的以色列神殿。它的朝向、总体规划和建筑与所罗门圣殿基本一致，尤其是与会幕基本一致。这座神殿中包含一个主室，即正殿（希伯来语：hēkāl），在神殿的西部是一座高高的内殿，即至圣所（d^ehîr）。内殿入口的侧面是两个香坛，内殿中有一个小平台和一根柱子（maṣṣēbâ）。神殿东面是一个相对较大的庭院，庭院分为面积较大的外院和面积较小的内院（'ûlām）。正殿的入口侧面有两块石板，可能是柱子的基座，这显然类似于《圣经》中的雅斤和波阿斯（参：代上 3:17!）。燔祭坛位于外院中，由土和未砍削过的石头堆成（参：出 20:25 等），面积为 5 肘见方，3 肘高，类似于会幕中的祭坛（出 27:1；参：代下 6:13!）。

这座神殿的历史似乎相当于以色列人敬拜的发展史。王国统一时期，以色列人在圣地上建起了这座神殿；公元前 8 世纪末期，祭坛被弃用，公元前 7 世纪下半叶，随着最后一座以色列城堡的建立，这座神殿最终被摧毁。神殿被废弃的两个阶段显然分别处于希西家统治时期和约西亚统治时期，这两位改革家使耶路撒冷成为以色列人的敬拜中心。在亚拉得建立的这座神殿或许可以被视为王室境界上的圣所，类似于以色列的但和伯特利，或许也可能类似于犹大的别是巴（参：摩 5:5；7:13；8:14）。

V. Identification.—The results of the excavations contradict the accepted identification of the Canaanite city with Tell ‘Arâd, which lacks remains of the Middle and Late Bronze Ages. On the other hand its identification with the Israelite city has been further confirmed by the appearance of the name Arad in two Hebrew ostraca. Two possible solutions have been suggested: (1) In the Canaanite period no city of Arad existed, but this was the name of the whole region, the Negeb of Arad. (2) Canaanite Arad was located at Tell el-Milh, 8 mi. (13 km.) SW of Tell ‘Arâd, where strong Hyksos fortifications have been discovered. This suggestion is strengthened by the double appearance of the name in the Shishak list. We may assume that “Arad of the House of Yrhm” is the early city, which was settled by Jerahmeelite families; “Great Arad” is then the strong citadel on the outstanding hill dominating the Negeb of Arad, which was founded by Solomon on the site of the venerated Kenite high place.

V. 鉴定。考古发掘的结果否定了亚拉得废丘是迦南城邑的说法，因为该地缺少青铜时代中期和晚期的遗迹。此外，两块希伯来语陶瓷碎片上出现了亚拉得这个名字，这进一步证明了该地是以色列的城邑。人们对此提出了两种可能性：(1) 在迦南时期，亚拉得不是城邑名，而是整个地区的名字，即亚拉得的南地。(2) 迦南的亚拉得位于米列废丘，地处亚拉得废丘西南 8 英里（13 公里）处，在米列废丘发现了希克索斯王朝时期的防御工事。示撒的列表上两次出现亚拉得的名字，更加佐证了这种可能性。我们可以假定，“耶拉篋家的亚拉得”是早期的城邑，耶拉篋的家族曾定居于此；“大亚拉得”是之后所罗门在受人崇敬的基尼邱坛遗址上修建的坚固城堡，它位于一座高山之上，俯瞰着整个亚拉得的南地。

I. History of the Language.-Aramaic takes its name from the Arameans, or the people of Aram. These strange people, whose origins are unknown, probably occupied the stage of history for a longer period of time than any others, yet never developed an empire or even a strong kingdom. They furnished a language that became the medium of international communication in the days of the Assyrian, Babylonian, and Persian empires, and faded only gradually in the Hellenistic period; yet they gave the world no great literature (others who used their language did) nor indeed any other form of art. They borrowed an alphabet and gave it, in its many forms, to most of the literate world (including even the names for the Greek letters, in most cases); yet the alphabet was so poorly suited to their speech that scholars become confused by the orthography when discussing the phonetics and phonemics of Aramaic. And if any other paradox needs to be mentioned, the Arameans were often the enemies of the people of the OT—even though the Israelite was constantly reminded that “a wandering Aramean” was his father (Dt. 26:5).

I. 语言历史。亚兰语的名字来源于阿拉米人或亚兰人。这支起源不明的外邦民族在历史上存在的时间要比其他任何民族都长,但却从未发展为一个帝国,甚至从未发展为一个强大的王国。亚兰人创造了亚兰语,在亚述帝国、巴比伦帝国和波斯帝国时期,亚兰语成为了各国间沟通的媒介,直到希腊化时期才逐渐衰落;但是,亚兰人没有创造出伟大的文学(其他使用亚兰语的人却做到了),也确实没有创作出其他任何形式的艺术。亚兰人借鉴了一种字母表,这种字母表所演化出的许多形式传入了大多数文明世界(在大多数情况下,甚至包括希腊语字母的名称);但这个字母表却与亚兰人的日常用语极不相称,以至于学者们在讨论亚兰语的语音学和音位学时,会对正字学产生困惑。如果要提到其他悖论的话,那么就要提到亚兰人通常是《旧约》中民族的敌人——虽然以色列人要时常提起“将亡的亚兰人”是他们的祖先(申 26:5)。

Aram is a place name in Old Akkadian writings, from the middle of the 3rd millennium B.C., referring to the region of the Tigris N of Elam and E of Assyria. Some scholars think the name is non-Semitic. Tiglath-pileser I (ca. 1100 B.C.) gave the name Aramean to the Semitic nomads in that area who were troubling his borders. Aram is also a personal name, found in the 3rd dynasty of Ur (ca. 2000 B.C.) and at Mari (ca. 1800 B.C.). In the Table of Nations, Aram is named as one of the sons of Shem along with Elam and Asshur (Gen. 10:22). At least two of the “sons” of Shem listed are not “Semitic,” linguistically speaking, viz., Elam and Arpachshad.

The Aḥḫlamê, long identified with the Arameans, are mentioned in cuneiform texts from Mesopotamia from about the 26th cent. B.C. on; they were principally troublesome marauders, nomads who moved with the flocks according to the season, knowing no boundaries, and constantly raiding the borderlands of civilized peoples. Along with them we should probably group similar nomads, such as the Suti, the Kaldi, and the Arami. They seem to have come from the Arabian Desert, and they spread into Mesopotamia, Egypt, and the western and northern edge of the Syrian Desert, better known as the Fertile Crescent. They doubtless spoke a common language or closely related dialects of a language, to which we might give the name Proto-Aramaic, although we have no literary remains to support this theory. There is, however, much evidence in written records of their existence (cf. Dupont-Sommer, Les Araméens). Their principal location was in upper Mesopotamia, within the great bend of the Euphrates known as Aram-Naharaim, “Aram of the Two Rivers” (the Euphrates and the Habor), or Paddanaram (Gen. 28:6). According to Israelite tradition, this was where Abram and his father and brother located after leaving Ur (Gen. 11:31); to this region Abraham sent his servant to get a wife for Isaac (Gen. 24:10), and Isaac in turn sent Jacob to get a wife (Gen. 28:2); and here the sons of Jacob, the heads of the twelve tribes, were born, excepting Benjamin (Gen. 29:31–30:24). It was following the departure of Jacob and his sons, when Laban pursued and overtook him, that the cairn of stones was named “Jegarshadutha” in Aramaic and “Galeed” in Canaanite (or Hebrew) (Gen. 31:47). We are led to the conclusion that Aramaic (in an early form) was spoken in Paddan-aram.

In the 12th cent. B.C., groups of nomads are found along the Tigris and Euphrates from the Persian Gulf to Aram-Naharaim, and along the Levantine coast as far as north Arabia. In the 11th cent. we find the beginnings of the Aramean states, actually small kingdoms consisting of a city or town and its surroundings, with such names as Aram-Zobah, Aram-Maacah, Aram-Dammesek, Aram-Rehob, as well as names not compounded with Aram, such as Geshur, Hamath, and Bit-Adini (Beth Eden). By the 10th, or at the latest the 9th cent., Aramaic inscriptions begin to appear, and the study of Aramaic is put on a basis no longer highly speculative.

Aramaic, however, was already a lingua franca of the merchants who traveled the highways from town to town. This hypothesis alone can explain the next development, when Aramaic became the official language of trade and diplomacy. Aramaic “dockets” began to be attached to Assyrian and Babylonian tablets. The records were kept in the languages of the kingdoms, but brief descriptions were attached in Aramaic—obviously because more persons could understand it. (For these texts, see L. Delaporte, Épigraphes Araméens [1912].) In some Assyrian tablets “Aramaic scribes” (dupšarrê armaya) are mentioned—certainly meaning that they could write Aramaic as well as (or instead of) Assyrian. Aramaic inscriptions appear on weights, seals, and vessels. The statue of Bar Rekub, found at Zenjirli (in the Kara Su Valley, now in Turkey), includes a scribe who has pen and ink: Akkadian tablets were pressed with a stylus, but Aramaic was usually written with ink. Similarly, a relief from Nimrûd shows two scribes recording the booty taken by Tiglathpileser III (ca. 740 B.C.); one scribe has a stylus in the right hand and a tablet in the left, the other has a pen and a scroll of leather or papyrus.

Evidence of the use of Aramaic is found in the story of the siege of Jerusalem by Sennacherib, where Hezekiah's representatives plead with the Assyrian official to speak in Aramaic so the common people will not understand the plight (2 K. 18:26). Aramaic inscriptions are found in Egypt from the time of Esarhaddon of Assyria (681–669 B.C.). But it was in the time of the Persian empire that Aramaic flourished as the official language. Correspondence between the priests of a Jewish colony in Upper Egypt and the Persian governor in Jerusalem were written in Aramaic (the Aramaic papyri from Elephantine, 5th cent. B.C.). An Aramaic copy of the famous Behistun inscription of Darius I was found in Egypt (Cowley, pp. 251–54). Even a Persian satrap sent his orders to an Egyptian boat builder in Aramaic (Cowley, no. 26)! Aramaic inscriptions of various types, including some on metal objects and coins, have been found in many parts of the Middle East, from Greece to Pakistan, and from the Ural Mountains to Arabia. 在西拿基立围攻耶路撒冷的故事中可以找到使用亚兰语的证据，希西家差遣的人请求亚述官员说亚兰语，这样百姓就不会知道当时的困境（王下 18:26）。人们在埃及发现了亚述的以撒哈顿时期（公元前 681-669 年）的亚兰语铭文。但到波斯帝国时期，亚兰语才发展为官方语言。上埃及一个犹太殖民地的祭司们与驻耶路撒冷的波斯官员之间用亚兰语通信（来自伊里芬丁的亚兰语蒲草纸，公元前 5 世纪）。人们在埃及发现了著名的大流士一世贝希斯敦铭文的亚兰语抄本（Cowley, 251–254 页）。就连波斯总督给埃及造船匠所下的命令也是用亚兰语写成的（Cowley, 26 号）！人们在从希腊到巴基斯坦和从乌拉尔山脉到阿拉伯等中东的多个地区发现了各种亚兰语铭文，其中一些被刻在金属物品或硬币上。在《圣经》中，《以斯拉记》中表明亚兰语曾是官方通信用语，《但以理书》中记载的人们在宫殿中用亚兰语描述了一个关于希伯来青年的故事，都完全符合当时的习俗。 biblical use of Aramaic for official correspondence, as found in Ezra, and for description of events in the palace concerning a Hebrew youth, as found in Daniel, is fully in accord with the custom of the times.

With the spread of Hellenism, including the deliberate attempt to extend the usage of the Greek language, Aramaic all but vanished. In three areas, however, it survived: in Arabia, among the Nabateans and the Palmyrenes, down into the Christian era; in Palestine, among Jews and later among the Melkite Christians, until the conquest by Islam; and in Mesopotamia, among Jews, Christians, and Mandeans, in some cases right to the present day. Jewish literature in Aramaic includes the Targums (translations of the OT into Aramaic), the Palestinian Talmud and Midrash, and the Gemara of the Babylonian Talmud—though these are not all in the same dialect. Christian literature includes the Old Syriac and Peshitta versions of the Bible, or portions of the Bible, and a wide variety of religious and historical literature. The term “Syriac” is usually applied to the dialect of Aramaic used by Christians in the East; and it spread eastward as far as India and even to China, and westward to Asia Minor, Egypt, and Arabia. Christian communities in Syria, Iraq, and Iran still speak subdialects of Syriac. The Mandeans of Iraq have a considerable religious literature in a dialect supposedly preserved from impurities that Jewish and Christian backgrounds have imposed on their respective bodies of literature. Lady Drower has recently published extensively on the Mandeans. Some liturgical use of Aramaic is found in the Jewish prayer book and also in Syriac

II. Description.—Within the limits of this article we can give only the most salient features of the language. For further information, any of the recognized grammars may be consulted, particularly the standard work by Bauer and Leander. But until one has worked extensively in Aramaic dialects of several different periods, he should hesitate to speak categorically on these subjects.

A. Phonetics. In the parent language (generally called “Proto-Semitic”), there were at least twenty-nine consonantal phonemes and three vocalic phonemes. The vowels were further distinguished by long and short forms. (A phoneme is a discretely meaningful basic unit of sound in a given language or dialect.) Through the centuries, various phonetic shifts have occurred, contributing to the development of dialects and languages within the family derived from the parent. Where written remains have accurately reflected the phonetic patterns we can trace some of these shifts—but we must always use caution when following out this line of research, for the written form of the language does not always accurately represent the phonetic form.

In Aramaic, the twenty-nine parent consonantal phonemes seem to have been reduced to twenty-two or twenty-three, while the vowels, particularly the short vowels, developed additional gradations. To demonstrate these changes we may use Arabic, Aramaic, and Hebrew for comparison, although this is not in any way to be considered a complete picture.

II. 描述。受本文讨论范围所限，我们此处仅讨论亚兰语最显著的特性。为了解更多信息和查询更多已知语法，尤其可以参阅鲍尔和利安得的标准作品。但是，只有对数个不同时期的亚兰语方言进行大量研究之后，才能对这些主题做出断言。

A. 语音学。在原始的亚兰语中（通常被称为“原始闪米特语”），至少有 29 个辅音音素和 3 个元音音素。元音又分为长元音和短元音。（音素指给定语言或方言中独立的、有含义的基本单位。）几个世纪以来，语音发生了多种变化，这促进了源语言所衍生出的各种方言和语言的发展。我们可以根据保留下来的文本所精确反映的语音格局来追溯一些语音变化，但在通过这种方式进行彻底研究时，我们务必要谨慎，因为这种语言的书写形式并不总是准确地代表着语音形式。

亚兰语似乎将源语言中的 29 个辅音音素缩减为 22 个或 23 个，而元音，尤其是短元音，被进一步细分。我们可以对比阿拉伯语、亚兰语和希伯来语来演示这种变化，虽然这并不能体现变化的全貌。

It will be seen that the fricatives (such as th in then and th in thin) tended to drop out of both Aramaic and Hebrew; but whereas in Hebrew they became sibilants (z and s), in Aramaic they became stops (d and t). The shift of the long â to ô is a feature of the Canaanite dialects and is not found in Aramaic (nor, for that matter, in Ugaritic). However, in eastern Syriac dialects (and probably in the Hebrew of qāmāš 和 *qāmāš-hatūp*使用同样的标 我们可以看出亚兰语和希伯来语都逐渐不使用摩擦音(如 then 中的 th 和 thin 中的 th); 在希伯来语中, 它们变成了齿擦音 (z 和 s), 而在亚兰语中, 它们变成了破裂音 (d 和 t)。长音 â 转变为 ô 是迦南语方言的一种特点, 而亚兰语并没有这种特点 (乌加里特语同样没有)。但是, 在叙利亚东部方言中 (可能也在马所拉学派的希伯来语中, the Masoretes, who used the same sign for the qāmāš as for the qāmāš-ḥaṭūp), both long ā and short a (under certain conditions) shifted to ô/ō. In certain Aramaic dialects, we should add, fricatives shifted to sibilants rather than to stops.

Both Aramaic and Hebrew developed vocalic gradations, so that in addition to the basic a, i, and u, we find e and o (in long and short quantitative forms). But whereas Hebrew tended to avoid short i (developing to e or ē), Aramaic often keeps the i-vowel. On the other hand, just prior to Masoretic times Hebrew attenuated short a in unaccented, closed syllables to short i, but Aramaic (except Biblical Aramaic) and Syriac kept the short a in such a position.

B. Morphology. Like all Semitic languages, Aramaic is chiefly triconsonantal in word-formation; in other words, a “root” consists of three consonants that carry a root meaning, while the various developments, whether as nouns or verbs, give precision to the general root meaning by vocalic alteration and/or the addition of prefixes, infixes, and suffixes.

1. Nouns. Instead of a prefixed definite article, as is found in Hebrew and Arabic, Aramaic uses the emphatic state (or determinate state), which in the singular may generally be described as a long -ā (-ā', sometimes -ā) affixed to the noun or adjective, with vocalic alteration of the basic word depending upon the effect of the shift of accent occasioned by the addition of the affirmative. Thus, méleḵ means “king,” and malkā' “the king.” Nouns built on the CvCC pattern (C=root

亚兰语和希伯来语的元音都发生了变化, 除了基本的 a、i、和 u 之外, 我们还发现了 e 和 o (分为长音和短音)。但希伯来语中常常避免使用短音的 i (发展为 e 或 ē), 而亚兰语则通常保留 i 这个元音。另外, 就在马所拉学派时期之前, 希伯来语将非重音闭音节中的短音 a 减弱成短音 i, 但亚兰语 (除了《圣经》中的亚兰语) 和叙利亚语在这种情况下保留了短音 a。

B. 词态学。 亚兰语和所有闪族语一样, 在构词时主要采取三辅音构词; 换言之, 包含 3 个辅音的“词根”拥有一个基本含义, 而其各种变体, 无论是名词或是动词, 通过改变元音或添加前缀、中缀和后缀从而使词根的笼统含义变得更为精确。

1、名词。 希伯来语和阿拉伯语名词前使用定冠词, 而亚兰语则使用加强状态 (或限定状态), 其中, 单数的状态通常在名词或形容词后添加长音 -ā (-ā', 有时为 -ā), 并通过添加构词要素引起重音变化, 从而更改基本词的元音。因此, méleḵ 表示“王”, 而 malkā' 则表示“这位王”。以 CvCC (C 相当于根辅音, v 相当于元音) 模式构建的名词, 无论是 qatl, qitl 或 qutl 形态, 都会出现加音现象 (插入元音), 在希伯来语中, 重音仍保留在根元音上, 而亚兰语则常常将

consonant, v=vowel), whether qatl, qitl, or qutl formations, undergo anaptyxis (vowel insertion), in Hebrew retaining the accent on the basic vowel, but in Aramaic tending to shift the accent to the anaptyctic (inserted) vowel thus forming a new pattern. This can be seen in the following illustrations: Arab. 'alf, Heb. 'élep, Aram. 'aláp, “thousand”; Arab. milh, Heb. mélah, Aram. meláh, “salt”; Akk. šuršû, Heb. šôreš, Aram. šeráš, “root.” In Biblical Aramaic, however, this is not consistent, and many “segholates” are found with the same development as in Hebrew (cf. mélek, mentioned above). It is possible that this resulted from Hebrew influence in the Hebrew Bible.

One other feature of noun morphology worthy of mention is the use of -în for the masculine plural absolute ending (contrast Heb. -îm).

2. Verbs. As in Hebrew, the verb develops “stems” from the basic root, indicating repetition, causation, etc. The common stems are the G (Ground-stem, Heb. qal, Aram. p^eal), the D (Double-stem, Heb. piel, Aram. pael), and the H (Causative, Heb. hiphil, Aram. haphel). These are usually described, with great oversimplification, as the “simple,” “intensive,” and “causative” stems, respectively. The passive voice in a number of Semitic languages is formed by internal vocalic change, generally a u-type vowel after the first radical of the root or after the prefixed causative morpheme (thus, Heb. pual, hophal). However, in some of the Semitic languages, including Aramaic, a prefixed middle or reflexive morpheme, hit- or 'it-, came into general use for the passive, more or less replacing the passive formed by vocalic change (or “internal passive”). Thus in Aramaic we find 'ethp^eel used for the passive of the G-stem, 'ethpa^eel for the passive of the D, and 'ettaphal for the passive of the H (or A) causative stem. Once again, however, Biblical Aramaic has not completely moved in the direction of other Aramaic dialects, and we find internal passives (the p^eil for G-passive, the pual for D-passive, often; and the huphal for H-passive always). The N-stem (Heb. niph^{al}, used as passive of G-stem) is not found in Biblical Aramaic. Instead of the H-stem (haph^{el}), the A-stem ('aph^{el}) is sometimes found in Biblical Aramaic; and instead of the *hit-*morpheme the *'et-*morpheme is occasionally found. The Š-causative stem also occurs (active shaph^{el}, passive hishtaph^{al}).

另一个值得一提的名词词态学特征是阳性复数名词末尾的后缀 -în（比照希伯来语中的 -îm）。

2、动词。和希伯来语一样，亚兰语的动词也从基本词根上发展出了“语干”，表示重复或因果关系等。常见的语干是 G 干（基础干，即简单主动干，希伯来语： qal, 亚兰语： p^eal），D 干（双干，即加强主动干，希伯来语： piel, 亚兰语： pael）和 H 干（使役干，即使役主动干，希伯来语： hiphil, 亚兰语： haphel）。这些语干通常分别被过度简化为“简单干”、“加强干”和“使役干”。许多闪族语通过改变单词内部的元音使之变成被动式，这种变化通常是将词根第一部分之后的元音或前缀使役语素后的元音改为 u 型元音（因此，希伯来语中有 pual [加强被动干]、hophal [使役被动干]）。但是，在一些闪族语（含亚兰语）中，前缀中间语素或反身语素，即 hit- 或 'it-, 开始普遍用于表示被动式，这或多或少地取代了通过元音变化（或“内在被动式”）来形成被动式的方式。

In verbal inflection to show person, number, and aspect (“tense”), we may note the following characteristics of Biblical Aramaic. In the perfect, 3 f.s. -at (Heb. -ā), 2 m.s. -t (Heb. -tā), 1 s. -ē^t (Heb. -tī), 2 m.pl. --tūn (Heb. -tem), 2 f.pl. -tēn (Heb. -ten); in the imperfect, 2 f.s. t---īn (Heb. t---ī), 3 m.pl. y---ūn (Heb. y---ū), 3 f.pl. y---ān (Heb. t---nā), 2 m.pl. t---ūn (Heb. t---ū), 2. f.pl. t---ān (Heb. t---nā). In the verb h^ewā, “he was,” the imperfect 3 m.s., 3 m.pl., and 3 f.pl. forms have the preformative l- instead of the regular y- (leh^ewē, “he will be”). The G-stem infinitive in Aramaic has preformative m- (mi^ktab; cf. Heb. kā^tōb, “to write”); and the G-passive participle has i as the second vowel (Aram. ke^tib; cf. Heb. kā^tūb), a formation often found in Biblical Hebrew but not recognized as a passive formation (cf. nā^bi, “one called, prophet,” and nā^si, “one lifted up,

C. Syntax. Syntax is always a very complicated subject, and there is risk in picking out a few characteristics in any language, since personal style is often involved. We suggest the following noteworthy points in Biblical Aramaic. (1) The verb “to be” is used as an auxiliary verb to form compound tenses: the perfect with the participle to indicate continuous action in past time (hawā’ ’ābēd, “he was doing,” Dnl. 6:11), and the imperfect with the participle to indicate continuous action in future time (miṭ’ār^eḥîn lehewôn, “they will be mixing,” Dnl. 2:43). In fact, the participle comes to be used in Aramaic as a present tense, and stands alone as the verb in a clause, sometimes as a historical present (cf. ’ānēh we’āmar, “he answered and said,” lit. “answering and saying,” Dnl. 2:5).

(2) The direct object of the verb is often indicated by the prefixed preposition l^e- (dānīyē’l bārīk le^elāh š^emayyā’, “Daniel blessed the God of Heaven,” Dnl. 2:19).

(3) The genitive relationship can be indicated, as in Hebrew, by the use of the construct state (two words joined into a single phrase with but one major accent). In Aramaic, however, there are two other means commonly used to express the genitive, the ruling element in the emphatic state followed by the particle dī, and the ruling element with an anticipatory suffix followed by dī. The following examples illustrate all three methods: millat malkā’, mill^etā dī malkā’,

参：希伯来语：kātūb），《圣经》希伯来语经常使用这种结构，但通常不表示被动式（参：nābī’，“那位被召唤的，先知”和 nāśī，“那位被高举的，君王”）。

C. 语法。语法始终是一个非常复杂的问题，指出任何一种语言的一些特征都是存在风险的，因为其中通常包含了个人的语言风格。我们在此提出《圣经》亚兰语中几个值得注意的要点。（1）性质动词用作助动词，用来构成复合时态：完成时态加分词表示过去的持续动作（hawā’ ’ābēd，“他过去正在做”，但 6:11），未完成时态加分词表示将来的持续动作（miṭ’ār^eḥîn lehewôn，“他们必与……掺杂”，但 2:43）。实际上，亚兰语中使用分词来表达现在时态，在从句中单独出现时充当动词，有时也使用历史现在时（参：’ānēh we’āmar，“他回答说”，字面意思是“回答和说 [answering and saying]”，但 2:5）。

（2）动词的直接宾语通常用前置介词 l^e-表明（dānīyē’l bārīk le^elāh š^emayyā’，“但以理便称颂天上的神”，但 2:19）。

millē tēh dī malkā, “the word of the king.”

III. Date of Biblical Aramaic.-The discussion of the date of Biblical Aramaic involves other issues over which there is deep disagreement among scholars. Thus, Montgomery assigns chs. 1–6 of Daniel to the 3rd cent. and chs. 7–12 to 168–165 B.C. (ICC, p. 96), though he agrees with Wilson in taking issue with Driver over the late character of the Aramaic of Daniel (p. 20 n. 5). On the other hand, E. J. Young writes, “Even if it could be conclusively demonstrated that the Aramaic of our Bibles was from the 3rd cent. B.C., this would not preclude authorship by Daniel in the 6th century B.C.” (Prophecy of Daniel [1949], p. 23).

Leaving aside the matter of interpretation as well as authorship, we believe we are able to place the Aramaic of the Bible in the 5th or 4th cent. B.C. In the first place, there is little objective reason to attempt to remove either the Hebrew or the Aramaic of Ezra from the time of Ezra. The critical view does not attempt to date the Chronicler later than “between 350 and 250” (R. H. Pfeiffer in IDB, II, 219), and it is generally admitted that the Chronicler is the author of Ezra-Nehemiah. It is admitted by nearly all scholars that there is little if any difference between the Aramaic of Ezra and the Aramaic of Daniel (e.g., C. C. Torrey, Ezra Studies [1910], p. 162, says, “there is not a single particular, major or minor, in which one of them can be said with confidence to belong to a more advanced stage of development than its fellow”). Therefore, there is little if any linguistic reason to date the Aramaic later than the 4th century. If we press for the unity of authorship of Daniel and of Ezra, we can argue that the language of the Hebrew portions of these books is certainly not as late as that of Ecclesiastes. Rather, it is quite like that of Esther, which again puts it not later than the 4th century. 之前。

III. 《圣经》亚兰语的时期。关于《圣经》亚兰语时期的讨论，学者们对其中几个问题存在很大的分歧。因此，蒙哥马利认为《但以理书》第1至6章属于公元前3世纪，第7至12章属于公元前168至165年（ICC，96页），虽然他同意威尔森在与德赖弗争论《但以理书》中亚兰语的新特征时所提出的观点（20页，5点）。此外，杨爱德（E. J. Young）写道，“即使人们可以最终确定《圣经》中的亚兰语源自公元前3世纪，但这也不能否定但以理在公元前6世纪写下了《但以理书》”（Prophecy of Daniel [1949]，23页）。

In the second place, the Aramaic of Daniel is not greatly different from that of the Elephantine papyri. The whole matter of dialectal differences enters into this discussion, and it is admittedly complex. Rowley, who is committed to a second-century date for Daniel, concludes that Biblical Aramaic is later than the papyri, “but as to how much later, we have scant means of judging” (p. 154). The Aramaic papyri from Elephantine can be absolutely dated, since they contain date formulas in the 5th century. It seems clear that the Aramaic of Daniel is much more closely related to that of the papyri than either to that of the Zanjirli inscriptions of the 8th cent. B.C. on the one hand, or to that of the Nabatean inscriptions of the 1st cent. B.C. on the other. We therefore would hesitate to argue that the Aramaic of the Bible is much earlier (or much later) than the Aramaic of the papyri.

When we take these two lines of evidence as our guides there seems to be little doubt that the Aramaic of the OT must be placed in the 5th or 4th cents, with a possible deviation of a half-century on either side, in other words, between 550 and 250 B.C., probably around 400 or the time of Ezra.

What bearing does this have on the authorship of Daniel? E. J. Young, who insists on the Danielic authorship of the entire work, claims that this is no problem (see quotation above). We are forced to recognize later editorial work, particularly in spelling and linguistic matters, for several portions of the Scripture, otherwise we cannot explain the great uniformity of Biblical Hebrew over a period of nearly a millennium (let us say, from Moses to Haggai). We should not be embarrassed, then, to admit editorial alterations to Daniel if it becomes necessary.

当我们以这两种证据为指导时,几乎可以确认《旧约》中亚兰语源于公元前5或4世纪,前后可能各差半个世纪,换言之,在公元前550年至250年之间,可能大约在公元前400年左右或在以斯拉时期。

What bearing does this have on the critical position? The burden would seem to be on the critics to explain the nature of the Aramaic of the OT, including the great similarity of the Aramaic of Daniel to that of Ezra, the difference between the Aramaic of Daniel and that of 1QapGen, and similar matters, which they have generally ignored while insisting on a second-century date for Daniel. The critic must certainly be willing to subject his own theories to rigid critical methodology!

IV. Aramaic and the NT.-It is commonly accepted that Jesus spoke Aramaic. As a matter of fact, one writer has made quite a reputation by his translation of the Bible from the "original Aramaic," which, he assures us in many popular presentations, is "the language Jesus spoke." Paul on occasion spoke "in the Hebrew dialect" (Acts 21:40; 22:2; 26:14), which according to most commentaries and lexicons is to be translated as "the Aramaic vernacular of Palestine." This view is so common that we need waste no space on presenting it; it is the contrary view that needs to be defended.

IV. 亚兰语和《新约》。人们普遍认为耶稣讲亚兰语。实际上，一个作者因翻译了“原始的亚兰语”《圣经》而声名鹊起，他用许多通俗的陈述证明了“这就是耶稣所说的语言”。保罗有时讲“希伯来话”（徒 21:40； 22:2； 26:14），大多数注释和辞典将这种方言译为“巴勒斯坦的亚兰语方言”。这种观点非常普遍，我们无需多做赘述；在此需要辩护的是与之相反的观点。

With the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls in 1947ff. it became obvious that Hebrew was indeed not a “dead” language in Palestine in the 1st cent. A.D. In fact, it was used by the Qumrân sectarians not only for the commentaries and religious writings (e.g., 1QpHab, 1QM, 1QH), but even for 1QS; hence it was understood by the rank-and-file. Slowly this has opened up anew the question of the language of Jesus and Paul, in fact, the language of Palestine in the 1st century.

In a compelling article on “Hebrew in the Days of the Second Temple” (JBL, 79 [1960], 32–47), J. M. Grintz has offered several lines of evidence to show that Hebrew, rather than Aramaic, lay behind the Gospel of Matthew. A number of expressions in the Gospel can only be explained on the basis of Hebrew, where the Aramaic would not lend the same interpretation, such as the use of “Israel” (Aram. regularly uses “Jews”), “gentiles” (Aram. has no word like gôyîm), “Canaanite” (Aram. has no such word), “flesh-and-blood” for “human being” (Aram. uses “son of man”), “Queen of the south” for “Sheba” (in Heb. but not in Aram. yémen means “south”; cf. Yemen), etc. After a study of the references in Josephus, Grintz states: “... [Josephus] means precisely what he says: Hebrew and not Syrian [= Aramaic]” (p. 44). He finally concludes that “in the last days of the Second Temple, Hebrew was a living language. And it continued to be so seventy years later, though the destruction of Jerusalem wreaked terrible havoc among the speakers of Hebrew. The final blow to Hebrew as a spoken language was a direct outcome of the disastrous wars of 132–35 C.E.” (p. 47).

This does not mean that Aramaic was not used in Palestine. There is positive evidence in the NT in the form of Aramaic words. But perhaps we should look upon these as the uncommon, unusual words. Possibly the exact words of Jesus were remembered at certain times just because He uttered Aramaic on those occasions. Possibly “in the Hebrew dialect” is noted with reference to Paul on occasion because he more often spoke in Aramaic or even in Greek. The entire subject needs very careful restudy, and theories of Aramaic backgrounds to the Gospels, etc., must not be allowed to distort this study.

这并不意味着巴勒斯坦不使用亚兰语。《新约》中亚兰语的形式能够充分证明当时巴勒斯坦使用了亚兰语。但我们或许应该将这些词看作是不寻常的、罕见的词语。某些时期所记录的耶稣讲亚兰语，这可能仅仅由于祂在那些场合里说了亚兰语。保罗偶尔所说的“希伯来话”都带有引号，这可能是因为他更常说亚兰语，或甚至是希腊语。整个主题需要重新进行谨慎的研究，决不能让亚兰语是福音书的背景这类理论决影响这一研究。

I. Biblical Ararat.—The name, mentioned four times in the OT, has achieved fame because of its connection with Noah's ark. At the end of the Flood, the ark is said to have come to rest “upon the mountains of Ararat” (Gen. 8:4), i.e., in the mountainous region of Armenia. The use of the plural indicates that the author does not have in mind the high mountain peak known traditionally as Mt. Ararat, but rather the general region of what was later called Armenia. Adrammelech and Sharezer, the sons of Sennacherib, are said to have fled to that land for asylum following their assassination of their father (2 K. 19:37 par. Isa. 37:38). Jeremiah (51:27) associates Ararat with the nations of Minni and Ashkenaz in the call to rise up against the tyranny of Babylonia. The AV reads “Armenia” in 2 Kings and Isaiah, which is a fairly accurate representation of the region designated.

I. 《圣经》中的亚拉腊。《旧约》中四次提及这个地名, 它因与挪亚方舟有关而非常著名。大洪水结束时, 据说方舟就“停在亚拉腊山上” (创 8:4), 也就是亚美尼亚地区的山脉中。经文中的“山”用了复数形式, 这表明作者所指的不是通常被称为亚拉腊山的山峰, 而是后来被称为亚美尼亚的大致区域。据说, 西拿基立的儿子亚得米勒和沙利色在杀死他们的父亲之后, 逃到了亚拉腊地寻求庇护 (王下 19:37, 平行经文, 赛 37:38)。耶利米 (耶 51:27) 称要召集亚拉腊、米尼和亚实基拿一同反抗巴比伦的暴政。《钦定版圣经》将《列王纪下》和《以赛亚书》中出现的亚拉腊

II. History.-The country of the Urartu is first mentioned in an inscription of Shalmaneser I (1274–1245 B.C.) when it was still a tiny kingdom. Its rise to importance came during the decline of Assyrian power during the following centuries. In the 9th cent. Urartu is mentioned in the inscriptions of Ashurnasirpal II (884–859 B.C.) and Shalmaneser III (859–824 B.C.) as an important power. Ashurnasirpal lists Urartu as one of the boundaries of his conquests; his successor reports several campaigns against the Urartian king Sarduri I, who founded a new dynasty ca. 830. B.C. During this time the Urartian kings built strong cities, which were partly carved out of the rocks and were served by elaborate aqueducts and irrigation systems. The capture of some of these mountain fortress-cities by Shalmaneser III is depicted on the bronze gates from Balawat. Throughout the 7th and 6th cents, the kingdom of Urartu was continually attacked and invaded by the surrounding nations until it ceased to exist as an independent unit. The region subsequently became a part of Armenia.

III. Archeology.-Fairly extensive excavation has been done in the region of Lake Van in recent years by British, Turkish, and Russian archeologists. The most detailed information has come from the Russian excavations at Kamir Blur.

II. 亚拉腊的历史。撒曼以色列一世（公元前 1274-1245 年）的一篇铭文中首次提到了乌拉尔图王国，当时该国还只是一个小王国。随后数个世纪，亚述政权逐渐消亡，乌拉尔图开始崛起。公元前 9 世纪，亚述纳西尔帕二世（公元前 884-859 年）和撒曼以色列三世（公元前 859-824 年）的铭文中都提到乌拉尔图王国是一个重要的政权。亚述纳西尔帕将乌拉尔图列为其侵略的界限之一；他的继承人记录了数次与乌拉尔图王撒督里一世之间的战役，撒督里一世在约公元前 830 年建立了一个新的王朝。在此期间，乌拉尔图国王建造了数个强大的城市，这些城市部分是在山岩上雕凿而成的，并有设计精良的水槽和灌溉系统。巴拉瓦特的青铜大门上描绘了撒曼以色列三世掠夺一些山上要塞城市的画面。在公元前 7 世纪和 6 世纪，乌拉尔图王国不断遭受周边国家的袭击和侵略，最终不再是一个独立的王国。这一地区随后成为了亚美尼亚的一部分。

III. 考古。英国、土耳其和俄罗斯考古学家近年来在凡湖地区进行了大量的考古发掘活动。俄罗斯考古学家在卡米尔布勒（Kamir Blur）的发掘提供了最为详细的信息。该地出土了约两百块乌拉尔图语铭文，这些铭文采用并修改了

Approximately two hundred inscriptions written in the Urartian language, which adopted and modified the cuneiform script, have been discovered. In these inscriptions the land is referred to as Biai-nae, from which the modern name Van is derived; and its inhabitants are “children of [the god] Haldi.” Many objects of bronze and other metals have been found, demonstrating that Urartu was the center of an important metal industry. Urartian bronzes have been discovered elsewhere in Asia Minor, Greece, and even Italy. Excavations are being carried on at present by various Turkish universities in cooperation with the Department of Antiquities, as well as by the British Institute of Archeology at Ankara.

ar'ə-rath (Tob. 1:21, AV). See ARARAT.

ar'ə-təs [Gk. Aretos]. A Stoic poet of Soli in Cilicia who died about 240 B.C. He wrote and taught under the patronage of Antigonus Gonatas, king of Macedonia, and Antiochus I of Syria. His most famous work—the only one extant in a complete form—is Phaenomena, a didactic poem about astronomy. This work was quite popular in the 1st cent., so it is not surprising that Paul quotes

音译: ar'ə-təs 【希腊语: Aretos】。基利家索里的一个斯多亚学派诗人，卒于约公元前 240 年。他在马其顿王安提柯·贡那塔斯和叙利亚王安提阿古一世的资助下进行创作和教学。他最著名的，也是唯一一部现存的完整作品是 Phaenomena，这是一部关于天文学的说理诗。1 世纪时，这部著作很受欢迎，因此保罗在亚略巴古宣讲时 (徒 17:28) 引用了他的作品也就不足为奇了。保罗

Aratus was born in Cilicia, and was thus a fellow countryman of Paul. Yet it could also be said that he belonged to Athens (“even some of your poets have said”), for he studied there during a formative period of his life.

A Jebusite from whom David at the request of the prophet Gad bought a threshing floor located upon Mt. Moriah, as a site for an altar of the Lord at the time of the great plague (2 S. 24:15ff.; 1 Ch. 21:15ff.), and upon which Solomon later erected the temple (2 Ch. 3:1).

är'bə [Heb. 'arba ‘—‘four’] (Josh. 14:15; 15:13; 21:11). An important inhabitant of Kiriath-arba (Hebron) in the time of Joshua, and the ancestor of the gigantic Anakim. While the MT regarded Arba as a personal name, the LXX suggests that it was a shortened form of Kiriatharba, making that city, rather than Arba himself, the source of the Anakim. This interpretation is questionable, since it was common in antiquity for cities to be named after their founders.

ARAUNAH 亚劳拿

ARBA 亚巴

音译：är'bə【希伯来语：'arba ‘——“四”】（书 14:15；15:13；21:11）。约书亚时期，亚巴是基列亚巴（希伯仑）的一个重要居民，他是巨人亚纳人的祖先。《马所拉文本》将亚巴译为一个人名，而《七十士译本》则将亚巴视为基列亚巴的缩写，根据这种观点，亚纳人的起源是基列亚巴城，而非亚巴本人。这种译法值得怀疑，因为古代的城市经常用其建立者的名字来命名的。

är'bə-thīt [Heb. hā'arbāṭī]. A resident of Beth-araba, notably Abi-albon (2 S. 23:31), also named Abiel (1 Ch. 11:32), one of David's heroes.

är-bat'ə [Gk. en Arbattois] (1 Macc. 5:23); AV ARBATTIS. Apparently a district in the neighborhood of Galilee, from which the Jews who were in danger of attack by the heathen were carried by Simon Maccabeus to Jerusalem (1 Macc. 5:21ff.). It cannot be identified with certainty. Ewald (History of Israel [Eng. tr. 1883], V, 314) favored el-Bateiḥa, the plain through which the Jordan flows into the Lake of Galilee. EB suggests "the Arabah, or Araboth of Jordan"; and GAB suggest a possible connection with ARUBBOTH. Possibly, however, we should look for it in the toparchy of Akrabattis, SE of Shechem (Josephus BJ iii.3.4f.).

ARBATTA 阿巴塔

音译: är-bat'ə【希腊语: en Arbattois】(马一 5:23);《钦定版圣经》译为 ARBATTIS(“阿巴提斯”)。阿巴塔显然指的是加利利附近的一片区域, 当地的犹太人受异教徒的攻击, 于是西门·马加比将他们带回耶路撒冷(马一 5:21起)。该地的位置还无法确认。埃瓦尔德(Ewald, History of Israel [1883年英译本], V, 314)认为该地是拜泰哈平原(el-Bateiḥa), 约旦河流经该平原汇入加利利海。《圣经百科全书》(EB)中指出该地是“亚拉巴, 或约旦的亚拉泊”;《圣经图谱》(GAB)中指出该地可能与亚鲁泊(见 ARUBBOTH[亚鲁泊])有关。但是, 或许我们应该在示剑东南的亚克拉巴提小国内寻找该地(Josephus BJ iii.3.4-5)。

är-bē'lə [Gk. Arbēla]. The name of several sites in biblical times.

1. Erbil (Arbil), in Mesopotamia, near Gaugamela, E of Nineveh, near the site of Alexander's decisive victory over Darius in 331 B.C.

2. Khirbet Irbid, in Galilee on the southern bank of Wādī el-Haman (Arbel Valley), 2¹/₂ mi. (4 km.) W of the Sea of Galilee, the probable site mentioned in 1 Macc. 9:2, and by Josephus (Ant. xii.11.1), as an encampment of the Syrian army under Bacchides in his line of invasion against Judas Maccabeus in 161 B.C., although the site in Gilead and sites in Samaria and by Aijalon have been suggested (see EB; HDB). If this be so the "Messaloth in/near Arbela" (1 Macc. 9:2) besieged by Bacchides may refer to the fortified, terraced caves of Jewish refugees, robbers, and insurgents mentioned elsewhere by (BJ ii.20.6 etc.).

Josephus gives a vivid account of the stout resistance put up by the Jews when the caves of Arbela were later stormed by Herod in the winter of 39 B.C. (Ant. xiv.15.4f.; BJ i.16.204). Afterward Josephus himself fortified the caves for the great war (Vita 37) and held an important conference with the Jews of Galilee in Arbela (Vita 60). Noted for its wheat and durable thick linen (Midr.Gen. Rabbah xix.38b; Eccl. Rabbah i.18.75b), the "plain of Arbela" was used in Jewish literature as a site for messianic redemption of the Jews from foreign domination (TP Berakoth 2e, 5a; Mahzor Romania 143b).

约瑟夫斯生动地描绘了公元前 39 年冬当犹太人在阿博拉的洞穴遭到希律王的猛攻时，他们进行激烈的抵抗的情况 (Ant. xiv.15.4-5; BJ i.16.204)。后来约瑟夫斯加固了这些应对大战的洞穴 (Vita 37)，并同住在阿博拉的加利利犹太人召开了重要的会议 (Vita 60)。“阿博拉平原”盛产小麦和耐用的厚亚麻布 (Midr.Gen. Rabbah xix.38b ; Eccl. Rabbah i.18.75b)，在犹太人文献中，阿博拉平原是弥赛亚解救犹太人脱离外邦压迫之地 (TP Berakoth 2e, 5a; Mahzor Romania 143b)。

ARCHEOLOGY.

The scientific study of the material remains of past human life and activities.

- II. MATERIALS
- III. GEOLOGICAL AND CULTURAL LEVELS
- IV. THE TASK
- V. METHODS
- VI. DATING THE FINDS
- VII. ARCHEOLOGY AND THE BIBLE
- VIII. EVIDENTIAL VALUE OF ARCHEOLOGY

I. Definition.

The word archeology (British archaeology), which is derived from Gk.archaio + logos, “orderly arrangement of ancient [things],” can be defined broadly to include all study of antiquity, and this use of the word indeed is found in works of the 19th century. Accordingly, subjects included are often more properly covered under physical anthropology or human paleontology. In the narrower sense, which is the scope of this article, archeology deals with the material remains of human life in antiquity. Thus the Zinjanthropus skull, for example, would be more properly studied under anthropology, while the stone artifacts found in the vicinity of the skull would be treated under archeology. The distinction, obviously, is a tenuous one, and overlapping can hardly be avoided. Some scholars limit the study of archeology to the study of artifactual remains, i.e., those which have been made by man, while others include also the nonartifactual materials, or those

对古代人类及人类活动遗留下来的物质资料进行研究的科学。

- III. 地质学和文化水平
- IV. 任务
- V. 方法

- VIII. 考古学证据的价值

I. 定义。

考古学一词源于希腊语 archaio 和 logos, 意思是“有序地安排古代遗物”, 广泛的考古学包括所有古物研究, 早在 19 世纪的作品中人们就能找到考古学一词。因此, 它通常也是人类学和人类古生物学的一个分支学科。而狭义的考古学, 也是本文涉猎的范畴, 指的是对古代人类生活遗留下来的物质资料的研究。因此, 东非人的头盖骨更应该属于人类学的研究范围, 而在这一头盖骨附近发现的石质古器物则属于考古学的研究领域。显然, 这两个学科之间的差异非常小, 不可避免地存在着学科交叉。有些学者将考古学定义为对人造遗迹(如人类创造的器物)进行研究的科学, 而另一些学者认为考古学还包括对非人造物质资料的研究, 或者说是对人类使用的但非人类制造的工具的研究。既然“非人造物质资料”是一个很庞大的术语, 我建议采用“用品”一词代表所有人类使用, 但非人类制造的东西。

things that were used, but not made or fashioned, by man. Since “nonartifactual materials” is a rather unwieldy term, I suggest “usuquid” as a term to indicate anything used, but not made or fashioned, by man.

Biblical archeology is a specialized branch of archeology that is devoted to the gathering and classification of archeological data that come from or relate to the areas included in the biblical world and the times pertinent to the biblical story. There is no special technique in biblical archeology; indeed, some scholars would deny that there is such a discipline as “biblical archeology,” any more than there are such disciplines as “biblical geology” or “biblical mathematics.” The difference, however, lies not in methods or results but in the definition of purpose. Just as there are valid studies of “biblical metrology” (i.e., those weights and measures that are specifically mentioned in the Bible) and “biblical Hebrew” (the specific kinds of Hebrew that are used in the Bible), so there is a valid limitation of archeology to shed light on the social and political structures, the religious concepts and practices, and other human activities and relationships that are found in the Bible or pertain to peoples mentioned in the Bible.

But just as it is difficult if not impossible to decide where to draw the line between archeology and physical anthropology, so it is to establish the limits of biblical archeology. In Egypt, for example, the first biblical situation is in the time of Abraham (Gen. 12:10), and we are given details of Egyptian life only in the time of Joseph (Gen. 37:36). But it is unrealistic to start our study of the material remains of man in Egypt at one of these points, for the cultural level of Egypt in Joseph's day had its own antecedents, and Egyptian archeology, as it contributes to our understanding of the closing portion of Genesis and the opening chapters of Exodus, must include some of those earlier elements. We want to know, for example, what evidence there is of merchant caravans traveling through Canaan to Egypt, or what the social structure of Egypt was and the status of slaves within it. We want to know something about the "divining cup" (Gen. 44:5, 15), and many other details, to help us understand the biblical account. As the biblical scholar searches for such details, he finds himself going further and further back in the findings reported by Egyptian archeologists. Where does he stop? Usually this is determined by the time and patience he has, rather than by some definition of the limits of the subject. Biblical archeology, then, is the study of any of the material remains of man's activity that may properly be used to shed further light on the biblical story.

但是，正如我们很难（并非不可能）确定考古学和人类学之间的学科界限，我们也很难确定圣经考古学的学科边界。例如，《圣经》中对埃及最早的记载是在亚伯兰时期（创 12:10），但是到约瑟时期，我们才对埃及的生活细节有所了解（创 37:36）。但是如果我们从这两个时间点开始研究埃及的人类遗物不太现实，因为在约瑟时期，埃及的文化水

II. Materials.

According to our definition, anything made by man (artifact) or used by him (usuquid) is properly a subject for study by the archeologist. Artifacts include tools, household utensils, furnishings, ornaments, buildings, weapons, fortifications, coins, sculpture, paintings, mosaics, and all other things made or fashioned by man. Usuquids include such things as bones, shells, teeth, etc., of animals that served for food or other domestic purposes, traces of plants that were collected or cultivated for food, weaving, basket-making, or other purposes (but not the finished item, which is an artifact), mineral items such as semiprecious stones (unfashioned) used for decorative or other purposes (for example, to be inlaid in mosaics or worn as ornaments), charcoal from the hearth, and any other materials occurring in nature that were adapted for use by man. A special category, which some scholars (e.g., Braidwood) would not consider under archeology, includes any kind of written material, whether carved in stone, impressed in clay, stamped in metal, written with ink on papyrus or parchment, or produced in any other way. The list is long, and grows longer as our knowledge of the past and our areas of interest expand, and the study of many items requires high levels of specialization. Accordingly, modern archeological excavations generally are done by groups or teams of scholars that include experts in many fields.

平所达到的高度有其渊源，埃及考古学让我们对创世记后期以及出埃及记前期的历史有了更多的了解，所以埃及考古必须从更早的历史时期开始。例如，我们想要掌握商人驾着大篷车从迦南来到埃及的证据，或我们想要了解埃及的社会机构，以及在这样的社会结构下奴隶的地位如何。我们想要了解关于“占卜杯子”和其他具体细节历史（创44:5, 15），从而帮助我们理解《圣经》中的记载。当圣经研究学者想要了解这些细节时，他会越来越依赖于埃及考古学家的考古发现。圣经学者的研究在何处停下？通常情况下，这取决于他拥有的时间和他个人的耐心，而不取决于该学科的研究界限。因此，任何有助于我们了解圣经故事的人类活动的物质遗迹都在圣经考古学的研究范围之内。

Several subdivisions of the materials have been suggested; quite frequently these follow the peculiar interests of the person making the division. For example, we might separate the materials that remain above ground (such as the pyramids, the Parthenon, or the Colosseum) from those which have been excavated from the earth (such as Sargon's palace at Khorsabad, or Pompeii). Or we might distinguish between the prehistoric and the historical remains—which would require definition of our terms. Or we might simply separate artifactual from nonartifactual materials. Any method has advantages and disadvantages; perhaps the greatest disadvantage is the artificial fragmentation of a very complex subject and the resulting tendency to ignore what lies outside one's own special interests. The biblical archeologist, for example, could never dismiss the documentary remains as lying outside his field, for without the religious, legal, historical, and other writings that have been recovered in Mesopotamia, or Egypt, or Râs Shamrah, or Boghazköy—to mention just these few places—the interpretation of the other data and the interpretation of the Bible itself would be filled with all sorts of fantasy. In a very definite way, the documentary materials of archeology provide the necessary controls for interpreting much of the other data. One has only to recall the strange interpretations that were placed on Egyptian archeological materials prior to the decipherment of Egyptian inscriptions!

III. Geological and Cultural Levels.

A person coming to the study of archeology for the first time finds himself encountering a large number of unfamiliar terms, or familiar terms used in unfamiliar ways. Geologists refer to the last million years of earth's history as the Pleistocene (or Glacial) Epoch, which extended from about 1,000,000 B.P.(= Before the Present) to about 11,000 B.P., and the Holocene (or Recent) Epoch, since about 11,000 B.P. (= 9000 B.C.). During the Pleistocene there were alternating periods of advance and retreat of the great ice sheets that covered the northern latitudes. The periods of extensive glaciation are generally called by the names that originated in the Alps: Günz, Mindel, Riss, and Würm glacial periods. With the last ice age (the Würm), the Pleistocene ended and the Holocene began.

文献明确地为解读其他数据提供了必要的标准。人们在解密埃及碑文之前，必须收起那些对埃及考古材料生硬的解读！

初次进行考古研究的人会遇到很多生僻的词语，或者他们遇到的词语很常见，但是其用法不常见。地质学家将最近一百万年的地球历史分为两个时代：更新世（或冰河时期）和全新世（也就是现在），更新世始于一百万年前，终于一万一千年前，全新世始于一万一千年前（公元前九千年）并延续至今。处于更新世的北半球，随着冰川的前进和退缩，形成了寒冷的冰期和温暖的间冰期的多次交替。冰川作用的地史时期是根据阿尔卑斯山冰期划分的，分为：贡兹冰期、民德冰期、里斯冰期和玉木冰期。更新世随着最后的冰期（玉木冰期）的结束而终结，地球从此进入全新世。

Anthropologists distinguish the cultural levels of man with terms such as Paleolithic (Old Stone) Age, Mesolithic (Middle Stone) Age, and Neolithic (New Stone) Age. The principal characteristic distinguishing the New Stone Age from the Old Stone Age is the fact that during the Old Stone Age man was a food-gatherer, a hunter and fisher, whereas in the New Stone Age man became a food-producer, having cultivated cereals and domesticated cattle. The Paleolithic Age lies within the Pleistocene Epoch, and the Neolithic Age began in Europe-Asia-Africa approximately with the Holocene Epoch, in other words, ca. 9000 B.C. (some scholars would reduce this to ca. 8000 B.C.).

It appears obvious, from passages such as Genesis 2:19; 4:2, 20–22, etc., that the life-situation (or Sitz im Leben) of the earliest portions of the biblical story is the New Stone Age. This would seem to provide a reasonable beginning-point for biblical archeology. While it may be interesting to study the bifacial-tool traditions of Abbevillian and Acheulean, and the flake-tool traditions of Clactonian and Levalloisian cultural levels of the second and third interglacial periods, it is open to serious question whether these areas of study make any significant contribution to understanding the Bible. At best we might conclude that the Old Stone Age was one of the final steps of God's creative activity before He created Adam in His own image.

Biblical archeology, then, lies within the Holocene Epoch of geological study. It may expect to find its most meaningful contributions for biblical study in the

从《创世记》2:19; 4:2, 20-22 等章节可知，最早的《圣经》故事中所记录的生活景况显然发生在新石器时代。这似乎为圣经考古提供了一个合理的开端。虽然研究双面手斧文化系统（阿布维利文化和阿舍利文化）和石片石器文化系统（如在第二和第三间冰期的克拉克当文化和勒瓦娄哇文化）非常有趣，但是研究者也必须面对一个严肃的问题：对于这些领域的研究是否有助于人们理解《圣经》。我们至多可以得出结论说，旧石器时代是上帝创造活动的最后阶段之一，在这之后祂按照自己的形象创造了亚当。

而圣经考古是立足于全新世时期的地质研究。它对于新石器时期及其后的人类文化发展阶段的圣经研究，有望做出巨大的贡献。在圣经世界，该时期的人

Further subdivision of the Early Bronze (E.B. I, II, III, IV), the Middle Bronze (M.B. I, IIa, IIb, IIc), Late Bronze (L.B. I, II, III), and Iron (Iron I or Early Iron [E.I.], Iron II [M.I.], Iron III [L.I. or Persian]) are commonly found. Within the past twenty-five years there have been some alterations of terminology by certain scholars, such as the use of “Urban” instead of “Bronze,” and some slight shifting of the dates given (E.U. 3300–1850, M.U. 1850–1550, L.U. 1550–1200). For the Greek mainland, archeologists use the terms Early Helladic, Middle Helladic, and Late Helladic, and for Crete they use the terms Early Minoan, Middle Minoan, and Late Minoan. Within reasonable limits we may make the following equations: E.B. = E.H. = E.M., MB = M.H. = M.M., and LB = L.H. = L.M.

以下是对各个时期常见的划分: 青铜器时代初期 (青铜器时代初期: I 期、II 期、III 期、IV 期), 青铜器时代中期 (青铜器时代中期: I 期、Ia 期、IIb 期、IIc 期), 青铜器时代晚期 (青铜器时代晚期: I 期、II 期、III 期), 铁器时代 (铁器时代一期或铁器时代早期、铁器时代二期[铁器时代中期]、铁器时代 III 期[铁器时代后期或波斯帝国时期])。在过去的 25 年里, 一些学者改变了上面的术语, 如, 用“Urban”(城市)代替“Bronze”(青铜), 青铜器时代的时间划分也发生过细微的变化 (青铜器时代初期: 公元前 3300-1850 年, 青铜器时代中期: 公元前 1850-1550 年, 青铜器时代晚期: 公元前 1550-1200 年)。在希腊本土, 考古学家采用“希腊文化早期”、“希腊文化中期”和“希腊文化晚期”等术语进行划分, 而在克里特岛, 考古学家采用“米诺斯文化早期”、“米诺斯文化中期”和“米诺斯文化晚期”予以划分。在合理的范围内, 我们大致可以列出如下等式: 青铜器初期=希腊文化初期=米诺斯文化初期, 青铜器中期=希腊文化中期=米诺斯文化中期, 青铜器晚期=希腊文化晚期=米诺斯文化晚期。

did not occur simultaneously throughout the world of the Bible. The discovery of how to make plastic clay, fashion it, fire it, and so fabricate pottery was localized to one, or more likely to several places, from which the craft spread into other areas. Likewise the discovery of metallurgical crafts spread, probably more slowly because of the relatively limited sources of copper ore and the higher levels of skill needed in making copper tools as compared to making pottery. As recently as the time of World War II aboriginal tribes were living in the Paleolithic cultural level in Australia, and in the 1970's a Paleolithic group was discovered in a remote section of Mindanao in the Philippines. But when all factors are taken into consideration and the problems of terminology are understood, the terms and dates given above are a satisfactory working basis for all of the areas included in biblical archeology.

IV. The Task.

The work of the archeologist may be divided into three main areas: recovery of the data, reporting the discovery, and interpreting the significance of the finds. In the early days of archeology only the recovery (or discovery) seemed to be important. That was the day of antiquities-collecting, and many museums and private collections were the recipients of rare treasures. In some cases, unfortunately, exhibits are marked "provenance unknown." Human curiosity and pride were served, but knowledge was not advanced by such collections. With the rise of scientific methodology in archeology, the exact reporting of all details of the discovery became of primary importance. We are no longer interested in the mere collecting of treasures; we now want to know as much as possible of the life and thought of the people who produced the items, lived in the place where the “treasures” were discovered, and were part of a larger community with complex sociological, political, and religious relationships with still other communities. In the past century and the first half of this century, there was a great effort to explore as many sites as possible; often an archeologist began work at a new site before he had published the detailed reports for the excavation just completed. Today, the writing of the report is considered to be as important as the discovery, for the discovery has little value if other scholars do not have access to the details.

Interpretation is a necessary part of the task—and here the work may be done by “armchair” archeologists. Indeed, Professor G. Ernest Wright has defined biblical archeology as “a special ‘armchair’ variety of general archaeology” (WBA, p. 17). The best interpretation of the finds at one site will be made against the background of discoveries at other sites. The archeological term used here is typology, which is the classification of the various types of objects that have been found in an excavation, and the study of their relationship to earlier and later finds of the same types at that location as well as to the same or similar types that have been discovered at other locations.

The archeologist who spends twenty-five years exclusively at one location may become somewhat myopic, particularly if he fails to keep up with the discoveries in other areas. In fact, this specialization had progressed to such extent that until about 1950 very little effort was made to integrate the archeology of Egypt, to take just one example, with that of other parts of the Near East. In December, 1952, the American Anthropological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America held a symposium on "The Integration of Relative Chronologies in Old World Archaeology." The publication of their discussions in Relative Chronologies in Old World Archaeology, edited by R. W. Ehrich (1954), was a major step in the integration of archeological knowledge, principally but not exclusively for the Near East. Such integration is necessary if sound interpretation is to be formulated. The "armchair archeologist," therefore, is not working from ignorance; rather, he should be fully cognizant of all the significant discoveries in all of the periods and locations that comprise his area of study.

可能多地进行考古发掘；通常一个考古发掘的报告还未发表，他们就开始进行下一个考古发掘。现在，书写考古发掘报告与考古发现一样重要，因为，如果其他学者无法知晓一个考古发现的细节，那么这一考古发现就没有任何价值。

V. Methods.

The most obvious—and in some ways the simplest—method is surface exploration. Travelers to the Arabian peninsula in the 19th cent. brought back our first, and for a long time our only, knowledge of southern Arabia, including many inscriptions that had been laboriously copied. Napoleon's scholars, who accompanied him on his expedition to Egypt in 1798, brought back a vast storehouse of knowledge and this greatly accelerated Egyptological studies. One of the most significant finds of this expedition was the Rosetta Stone, which gave Champollion the bilingual inscription needed for the decipherment of Egyptian hieroglyphic inscriptions. The Behistun inscription, from which Rawlinson was able to decipher Babylonian cuneiform writing, was likewise a surface discovery, in this instance in Persia (modern Iran).

Usually, however, we think of excavation when we speak of archeology. But before we attempt to discuss archeological excavation, it will be helpful to know something about archeological sites. The Arabic word tell, commonly meaning “hill,” has been taken over by archeologists to designate a hill that has been formed by successive occupations of the location. There are thousands of tells of this nature in the Near East.

In its earliest stage, the tell was sometimes a natural rise of ground, but more often a level surface. Among the reasons the first community located there would be its location on a trade route, or, more important, a supply of water to meet the needs of the community. The houses were built close together, a wall was built for protection, and the people used the surrounding fields for farming and grazing. During the lifetime of that first community, which may have been fifty or one hundred years, garbage and trash accumulated in the lanes, dust blown by the wind settled against the walls of the houses and the city wall, and gradually the level of the town was raised, sometimes making it necessary to raise the earth floors in the houses in order to keep water from flowing in during the rainy season. At last the community came to an end, whether by pestilence, earthquake, or warfare. At a later period, perhaps a dozen or a score of years after the first community ceased to exist, a new community located there, for the water supply was still ample. Some of the old walls may have been reused; others were levelled, resulting in raising the base of the new city. Years later, the second community, too, met its fate. Over a span of perhaps as much as four thousand years, the same story was repeated many times, and from these superimposed layers of human occupation the tell was formed. The hill had grown possibly 10 or 20 m. (33 or 66 ft.) in height, and was composed of perhaps 15 to 30 levels of occupation. Finally, when great empires gobbled up the small city-states, military governors were appointed, and aqueducts were built to bring in water, such walled cities were no longer necessary, and many tells were no longer occupied. A few cities, however, can still be seen “sitting on their tells” (cf. Josh. 11:13).

The archeologist locates a tell which, from various kinds of evidence, such as references in ancient documents, types of pottery scattered around the sloping sides, the imposing size of the tell, and other facts known to the archeologist, seems to be a likely location for an ancient city, e.g., Gath or Lachish. Then he prepares to excavate the site.

一名考古学家发现了一个山岗的遗址，据古籍记载并从山坡上散布的陶器的类型，山体的宏伟规模和其他考古学家已知的事实可知，这里可能是一座古城的遗址，如迦特或拉吉。于是他准备发掘这个遗址。

Three types of excavation have been used: trenching, stepping (or step-trenching), and area excavation. A modified kind of trenching, seldom used, was tunneling. Today, as a general rule, only area excavation or stratigraphy is used.

Trenching, as the name suggests, consists of digging a trench across a portion of a tell, going as deep as possible, noting the levels that appear, and collecting the materials that are found at each level. Tunneling consisted of digging down to the desired level, possibly a wall, and then tunneling along that structure. In several instances in the past century, tunneling was used to excavate parts of Jerusalem, with results that were little short of disastrous from a modern archeologist's point of view. Trenching has several disadvantages, principally that of the limited amount of area that will be excavated in each stratum. Since all levels were not formed in exactly the same way, it is entirely possible to miss a complete stratum in trenching. It is even more likely that the most significant parts of any level (such as the palace, the library, etc.) will not be discovered. Trenching was relatively inexpensive and quick. It served the purpose for collecting "treasures." It is still valuable for exploration, as for example when the archeologist wants to determine the limits of the palace

Stepping consists of digging a series of steps or a step-trench at the edge of the tell, possibly 5 or 10 m. (16¹/₂ or 33 ft.) in width, each step reaching the next successive stratum of the mound. Since the sides of a tell slope, generally at the natural angle of repose of the earth that forms the tell, the steps will roughly follow the contour of the slope. But once again, this method is highly subject to chance, and therefore to misleading or erroneous interpretation. For example, the lowest level (the first occupation level) was quite likely much smaller than the area covered by the sloping sides, for they have been spreading out through the centuries, as successive communities have thrown earth, rubbish, rocks, and many other items outside the walls, and the rains have washed this debris down the slope. Furthermore, the very fact that debris from various occupation levels has been washed down and mixed with materials from other levels increases the possibility of later intrusions in the finds of lower levels. Stepping is used occasionally (as at Tell Arad) to locate the outer walls of the successive levels of occupation, and it does make a graphic display of the successive strata (as at Tell ej-Judeideh).

例如，最底层的面积（第一个堆积层）很有可能比边坡表面的面积小，因为若干世纪以来，各个聚落的人们往墙外倒土，扔垃圾、岩石和其他物品，雨水将这些杂物冲下边坡，随着时间的推移边坡面不断延伸扩展。另外，来自于不同高度住宅的杂物被冲刷下来，与散落在山体上的物品混杂在一起，在重力的作用下更容易造成对下层山体发掘物的挤压。人们偶尔采用梯级挖沟法确定叠层结构外部墙体的位置（如，亚拉得遗址发掘），这个方法确实能够形象地显示出各个考古层的情况（如，帖尔叶犹太遗址发掘）。

Area stratigraphy, the favored method at present, is carried out in somewhat the following manner. First a surveyor establishes a grid for the surface of the mound, setting pegs or concrete blocks on the surface to mark the grid. The recorder will use this grid as a reference for all the data of the excavation. A zero-datum or bench mark is established and the vertical location (or elevation) of each stratum will be measured with surveying equipment from that mark. Thus the exact vertical and horizontal location of every significant find can be determined. The archeologist and his team of experts meanwhile have decided where to begin digging, and he will mark out a square or oblong area that includes a number of the 5-meter (16¹/₂-foot) squares of the grid. His excavation will be strictly confined to this area and he will leave balks standing along the grid-lines as long as possible. Thus the visitor who sees the excavation after it is well under way notes that it is crisscrossed by straight walls of untouched earth at 5- or 10-meter intervals. He may even see cards tacked into one of these walls marking the levels that have been uncovered.

Why does the archeologist not take off the entire top of the mound down to the first level of occupation below the surface, and get a complete picture of that level? For one thing, it is too expensive and time-consuming. For another, the uppermost level is generally of lesser interest; the deeper levels are most significant, for they go back to periods where our interests are centered. (At one site, however, a portion of the top level seemed to be Chalcolithic!) But most important, all archeology is destructive. The archeologist, in order to discover what lies below the level he has uncovered, must destroy that stratum.

Once excavated, it cannot be put together again. It is essential that the archeologist keep in mind the limitations of his knowledge, no matter how great his knowledge may be. Fifty years, or possibly even ten years later, as a result of other discoveries in other places, entirely new light will be shed on the materials to be found at this site. It will be necessary to excavate again, and to revise the former interpretations in the light of the new knowledge. Therefore the archeologist must leave part of the tell untouched for the next round of studies.

So the archeologist digs away the earth—or more precisely, the actual digging is done by those members of his expedition who handle the rough excavation (with picks and shovels). Then, as signs appear that they are nearing the floor of that occupation level, those with special training do the more careful work with hand picks and trowels,

and finally with penknives, icepicks, teaspoons, and soft brushes. With experience the archeologist learns to recognize (by feel and by coloration) different types of soil such as surface humus, subsoil, rubble that has been used to level off an area, the tamped earth floor of the occupation level, the sub-floor, etc. Since significant artifacts and usquids will be found on or in the floor level, the excavator must approach the floor level with extreme care. The first excavated stratum may be labeled "Level I." The level is carefully cleared, every artifact and usquid is carefully marked, recorded, and, if significant, photographed where found (in situ). The entire level is photographed and sketched to scale. When this is done, so that the entire level can be reconstructed in the minds of other scholars, the archeologist prepares to go down to the next stratum (Level II). This continues until the season is over, and may be resumed in subsequent seasons. An archeological "season" is determined by the weather (avoiding excessively hot or cold periods, rainy seasons, etc.), religious holidays, the amount of money available, and other factors. It may be several weeks or months in length. If the archeologist has sufficient means, he may continue the excavation until he reaches the bottom level. If the tell is quite large (most tells are less than a city-block [approximately 4 hectares or 10 acres] in size), and if the resources are sufficient, the archeologist and his staff may excavate two or three areas in different parts of the tell. This increases the chance of hitting the important parts of each level, and diminishes the possibility of missing a stratum entirely.

同土壤，如表层腐殖质、底土、用于填平的碎石、压实的夯土层、底层等。既然主要的古代遗物和生活用品都埋在最底层，所以考古学家必须小心翼翼地进行挖掘。首先被发掘的考古层可能被标记为“第一层”，考古学家必须仔细地清除这一层，每一件古物和生活用品都被仔细地标记和记录，如果考古发现之物很重要还要在考古发现之物原地对其进行拍照。考古学家为整个考古层拍照，并勾勒出它的轮廓。当考古学家完成这些工作之后，其他学者才能在脑海里还原这一层的面貌，然后考古学家准备进行下一个考古层（第二层）的发掘工作。整个考古发掘工作在考古季结束时才停下来，并有可能在下一个考古季继续展开。影响考古季时长的因素有天气（考古工作需要避开酷热和严寒的天气，也要避开雨季等不利于挖掘的天气）、宗教节日、资金情况和其他因素。一个考古季可能持续几周也有可能持续数月。如果一个考古学家拥有足够的发掘手段，他可以一直发掘到最底层。如果考古山体规模巨大（大多数考古山岗小于一个城市的规模，大约4公顷或10英亩大小），如果有充足的考古资源可供利用，那么考古学家和他的团队可以从这个山岗的两处或三处同时进行挖掘。这样挖掘可能增加破坏重要考古层的风险，却可能避免遗漏某一整个考古层。

The record of the digging is now an inverted history of the mound, i.e ... Level I is the latest, and Level IX (or whatever the lowest stratum happens to be) is the earliest. In the final form of the report, the order may be reversed, and the chronological sequence followed.

Each day, usually in the late afternoon and evening, the finds of the day are carefully sorted and indexed. Pottery fragments are washed. Preliminary interpretation comes out in the discussion held by the staff, and questions are raised that will sharpen the observations of the following day. One who has never seen a “dig” may have little idea of how meaningless a stone, or a jar, or a hearth may be when first uncovered. The entire picture takes shape slowly, and usually it requires the trained observation of the veteran to put it all together. Maps, sketches, drawings, and prints of the photographs shot during the day have to be made. Artist, architect, surveyor, photographer, the chief archeologist and members of his staff are busy until bedtime—and the next day probably begins with a truck ride to the tell at 5 A.M.! Archeology to the uninitiated is glamorous; to the person at the dig, it is dust and dirt and flies and heat and backbreaking work—and significant discoveries are relatively rare.

Modern techniques have added many variations to the archeological method. For example, at Tell Arad electrodes were inserted in the surface of the mound at regular intervals, and the current was measured across them in order to identify the probable locations of walls under the surface. With the help of the electrodes, stepping was highly successful at Arad. At Gordion, an oil rig was used to make a test boring in a tumulus, and the tomb covered by the mound was quickly located. In Italy, small holes have been drilled and tubes with lights, mirror, and lenses have been inserted so that the contents of tombs could be photographed without any excavation. In England, aerial photography and infrared film have been combined to locate ancient roads, walls, and other features. The great pyramid of Gizeh was explored by X-ray in an effort to locate a second burial chamber (the tests proved negative).

Of particular significance are tombs and other types of burial. Because of religious beliefs and other customs, personal items were often buried with the dead, and in the case of royal burials sometimes personal servants, oxen or horses, and large quantities of valuable goods were included. Because of the great value of some of the items, there has been much plundering of tombs, but those that remained undisturbed, such as the tomb of Tutankhamen (“King Tut”) or of Queen Shub-ad at Ur, have provided us with finds of unusual significance. Often the best of the art and craft of the period will be found in a royal tomb, and comparison of these items with those found in tombs of commoners provides interesting sidelights on social structures. Pottery and other fragile items, which are almost always broken in excavated sites, may be unbroken or only slightly damaged in tombs. In some cases, inscriptions provide important information. In a few cases, as for example in an Egyptian royal tomb, small figurines and models (miniature housing complexes complete with furnishings, boats with oarsmen and sails, etc.) may furnish evidence for many of the details of daily life, such as grinding flour, slaughtering cattle, cooking, making beer, and other activities. As a result, the daily life of that period can be reconstructed. Skeletons give us evidence of the size of the people and in some cases the hair and clothing are sufficiently well preserved to furnish details of dress and appearance. Mummified remains from Egypt even let us see the person much as he looked (e.g. Seti I and Ramses II).

墓穴和其他的安葬地具有特殊的考古意义，因为人们经常可以从死者陪葬物中看到当时宗教信仰和其他风俗习惯，有些皇室墓穴的陪葬物包括奴仆、牛马和大量珍贵珠宝。因为墓穴中部分物品价值昂贵，所以经常有盗墓的行为，但是有些墓穴依然保持完整，如：图坦卡蒙法老的墓穴以及乌尔的舒德·阿德（Shub-ad）皇后的墓穴，这些墓穴为我

Cave archeology has not been described, since it lies principally outside the period of biblical archeology. Those who are interested in Palestinian Paleolithic and Mesolithic eras will of course fault us for this omission—but there must be limits to this article.

VI. Dating the Finds.

Chronology is a subject of great importance, and because of the complexity of the methods, can be presented here only in general outline.

VI. 考古发现年代鉴定。

年代学是一个极其重要的学科，因为其研究方法复杂，我们这里只能给出年代学的概要。

Relative chronology is to be carefully distinguished from absolute chronology. Most archeological data provide us at best with relative chronology: Level II was later than Level III and earlier than Level I. Accordingly, the types of materials found in those levels can be arranged typologically and sequentially. The pottery, for example, can be put in relative chronology. If similar types are found at other tells, the pottery of Level II of Tell "A" may be compared with the pottery of Level IV of Tell "B" and the chronology of those strata can probably be related. If this process is continued for enough types, for many tells, and for a representative sequence of strata at each tell, it is possible to build up a relative chronology for all those tells, and even for the general area in which those particular tells are located. In the work to which we have already referred, Relative Chronologies in Old World Archaeology, and in its sequel, Chronologies in Old World Archaeology (1965, also edited by Robert W. Ehrich), this method has been carried out for Palestine, Egypt, Syria, Mesopotamia, Iran, the Aegean, and for other areas that lie beyond that in which biblical archeology is principally interested.

The term absolute chronology is used with reference to a year-by-year chronology for a given area and period of time, and it is also used to mean a calendar date. On the basis of king lists, which give the names of successive kings and the number of years each king reigned, limmu—lists, which name the officials for whom the successive years in a sequence were named, and similar data, we may be able to construct an absolute chronology for a certain period. For example, the names and lengths of reign of the kings of Israel and Judah, which are given in the books of Kings, supply the data for an absolute chronology of the period (with a few problem points). Scholars have reconstructed similar absolute chronologies for lengthy periods of Mesopotamian and Egyptian history. In a more popular sense, absolute chronology means calendar dates, whether converted to our Julian calendar or based on some other system of calendration such as the Seleucid era. If a calendar date can be attached to one item in an absolute chronology, such as the solar eclipse at Assur in the limmu of Buru-Sagale (established by astronomers at June 15, 763 B.C.), this provides calendar dates for the other parts of the absolute chronology.

One of the most important items in establishing a chronological sequence is pottery. Contrary to popular belief, a scholar cannot pick up a piece of broken pottery and place an exact date on it. If it lies within the area of his expertise, he can put a probable date on it. But how does he do this?

There are several features that make pottery the ideal material for relative chronology. For one thing, pottery style changed rather frequently. Second, pottery is relatively inexpensive, and therefore quite plentiful, in all communities of the Near East. (This is not true everywhere, and archeologists who specialize in American archeology have been known to become quite excited upon seeing the hundreds of fragments of pottery that can be found lying on the ground around almost any tell in the Near East.) Third, pottery is fragile, and once broken it is practically useless. Gold, silver, precious stones, and other valuables, even if damaged, were carefully treasured, but broken pottery was kicked into a corner or thrown outside. Fourth, sherds of pottery are almost indestructible. After a certain point, depending on the curvature of the vessel, one can step on a sherd and it breaks no further. Moreover, it does not dissolve in water and it is not consumed by fire. (My son and I picked up four pieces of a bowl that were lying on the surface of the mound at Rayy, near Tehran—and they proved to be about 5,000 years old!) As a result of all these factors, pottery is the most plentiful and the most reliable means of building a relative chronology.

The expert—e.g., in Palestinian Early Bronze Age pottery—has seen and handled thousands of fragments of pottery. He knows the color, the glaze or decoration (if any), the general shape of the neck, the base, the handle, the spout, and other details, and by breaking pieces he has come to recognize texture. Through long and careful study he has put the typology of pottery found in Early Bronze Age strata of tells in Palestine into a chronological sequence. By combining his expertise with that of other scholars who have specialized in Nabatean, Israelite, Chalcolithic, or other pottery, it is possible to construct a pottery sequence for Palestine that extends from Ceramic Neolithic to Byzantine or Islamic. Combine this with similar studies in other parts of the Near East, and the result is a study like that in Chronologies of Old World Archaeology, mentioned above. Examination of either of the volumes mentioned will show at once the large part that pottery plays in chronological study.

Absolute chronology requires other data besides pottery. Coins found in the ruins at Qumrân, for example, could be dated by the names of kings issuing the coins, and these dates could, with reasonable certainty, be applied to the strata in which the coins were found. This in turn dates the pottery found in those strata. Egyptian scarabs found in Palestinian sites were likewise used to synchronize the levels in which they were found with the pharaohs whose seals they included. The pottery fragments which we found at Rayy could be dated because that type of pottery was produced only at that place ca. 3200 B.C.—the date being established by other means.

Thus we see that synchronisms are of very great importance in establishing chronology for the entire Near East. A scarab in a certain level of a Palestinian tell synchronizes that level with a certain Egyptian pharaoh, e.g., Ramses II. A letter is found that is part of the correspondence between Ramses II of Egypt and Hattushilish III of the Hittite Empire, thus synchronizing the Hittite ruler not only with Ramses II but also with the stratum of a Palestinian mound. A wine jar or oil jar found in a lower level of the Palestinian mound may synchronize that level with a certain period in Crete, and a cylinder seal in another tell may synchronize that stratum with a certain ruler in Babylon. A building inscription of a Babylonian king may record a victory of that king over the king of another land. What we have is a number of portions of chronological ladders which can be tied to each other by synchronistic data.

Building the chronology of the ancient Near East, therefore, consists in building chronological ladders for each locality from the many bits of data that are available (relative chronology), and from whatever fixed sequences such as king lists, etc., have been discovered (absolute chronology), and joining as many rungs of these ladders as possible with those of other areas by data that provide synchronisms. If we add firm calendar dating at various points (such as solar eclipses, synchronisms with the Sothic cycle in Egypt, or with other systems of calendration that are reasonably reliable [e.g., the Seleucid era]), we can apply calendar dates to much of the structure we have built.

Obviously, this is a long and detailed process, which only in the past two decades has been worked out to any satisfactory extent. If we had enough ladders of chronology to cover the entire history of each area, and enough correlations to tie all the chronological ladders together, and enough absolute chronology to fit dates to significant rungs of these ladders, we could account for every year. At present, we fall short of this desideratum by small amounts back to ca. 1200 B.C., by perhaps ± 75 years back to 2000 B.C., and by increasing amounts as we go further back in time.

There are several other methods of establishing dates, such as carbon-14 dating, dendrochronology (analysis of the annular rings in trees), varve analysis (study of the deposit-lines left by the receding water at the end of the last ice age), potassium-argon dating, etc. With the exception of carbon-14 dating, these lie outside the limits of our discussion.

Carbon-14 has been used in thousands of cases to determine the dates of materials found in archeological excavations, with varying results. A certain amount of radioactive carbon, or the isotope of carbon with fourteen neutrons in the atom instead of the customary twelve, is produced in the upper atmosphere, and this ultimately finds its way into the soil about us. This is taken up by organic

也有其他年代鉴定的方法，如碳 14 断代法、树木年轮鉴定法（分析树木生长的年轮线）、纹泥分析法（研究最后一个冰期结束时水位退去之后的沉积线）、钾氩测年法等。除了碳 14 断代法之外，其他方法不在我们讨论的范围之内。

matter such as plants, trees, and animals. Since it is constantly replaced, as long as the life process continues, the proportion of radioactive carbon remains constant, but when the life process ends, i.e. when the tree is cut down or the animal dies, the radioactive isotope deteriorates at a fixed rate, defined as the "half-life." In other words, after approximately 5500 years (which is the half-life of carbon-14), only half the amount of the radioactive carbon will be present. The scientist, with very delicate instruments, can measure the amount of radioactive carbon that remains, and from this he can determine when the life process ended. Because of the geometric nature of the half-life (one-half remains after 5500 years, one-quarter after 11,000 years, one-eighth after 16,000 years, one-sixteenth after 22,000 years, etc.) the test is valid only for the past 25,000 or 50,000 years. Obviously it applies only to organic material. The most useful materials for dating by this process are wood, charcoal, shell, antler, burned bone, dung, and peat. For various reasons, unburned animal and human bone do not provide satisfactory results, and most other organic material decays rather quickly. In order to make the test, a measurable amount of material must be burned, so the archeologist is reluctant to apply the test to finds that should be preserved.

The results of carbon-14 dating have been irregular. In some locations, all the tests have yielded results remarkably close to the dates that could be determined by other means, thus yielding a "control" for the process. In other cases, however, the results of carbon-14 dating have varied widely, both with duplicate tests of the same material and with control dates. It therefore follows that some scholars remain highly skeptical of dates established by carbon-14. While such skepticism seems unwarranted, in the face of thousands of highly satisfactory results, we still must remember that this science is young (about twenty-five years old), that scientists are constantly refining the process and rechecking their results, and that the dates obtained are at best approximations with a margin of error of approximately 5 percent. The lammu—lists of the 8th cent. B.C. will therefore give far greater accuracy than carbon-14 tests from the same period (at 750 B.C., ± 5 percent amounts to about 137 years on either side, or between 887 and 613 B.C!).

VII. Archeology and the Bible.

For a century and a quarter biblical studies have been influenced to some extent by the results of archeological discovery. It is not our purpose to give a detailed study of the finds; the more significant discoveries will be discussed either in the individual articles on areas of archeology that follow, or in articles particularly concerned with some of the most significant finds. A general summary statement can be made: archeology has added a tremendous amount to our knowledge and understanding of the Bible.

The Babylonian creation and flood stories, the discoveries of early villages in northern Iraq, and other materials have given us a background for our studies of the early chapters of Genesis. From Nuzi and Mari we have material that throws light on several points in the patriarchal narratives. The Joseph-cycle of Genesis is

有些学者对碳 14 断代法测定的年代深表怀疑。但在数以千计的令人非常满意的测定结果面前，学者们对这一年代测定法的质疑似乎是毫无根据的，但是我们也必须记住这一科学还比较年轻（起步只有 25 年），科学家们也一直在不断完善这个测定程序，不断核验测定的结论，所测定的日期至多是一些近似日期，仍有大约 5% 的误差。因此，相比较碳 14 对同一时期的年代测定，公元前 8 世纪的里木纪年法更加准确（如果公元前 750 年前后有 5% 的误差，那么也就相当于公元前 750 年向前或向后推移了 137 年，即公元前 887 年至公元前 613 年之间!）。

VII. 考古与《圣经》。

近 125 年的《圣经》研究在不同程度上受到了考古发现的影响。研究的目的在于详细介绍这些考古发现；更为重要的考古发现在关于考古地区的某些文章或那些特别关注最重要考古发现的文章中都会进行讨论。我们可以得出如下的概述：考古学极大地丰富了我们的《圣经》知识，增强了我们对《圣经》的理解。

巴比伦创世神话和巴比伦洪水、伊拉克北部发现的历史早期的村庄以及其他考古发现物为我们研究早期《创世记》章节设定了背景。努斯和马里的考古资料让我们对族长故事有了更多的了解。埃及出土的考古材料阐明了《创世记》中约瑟时期的历史情况。埃及、乌加里特和美索不达米亚的考古发现让我们

illuminated by materials from Egypt. From Egyptian, Ugaritic, and Mesopotamian sources we are able to draw a rather full picture of the land of Canaan both at the time of the patriarchs and later in the period of Israelite occupation. Babylonian, Assyrian, and Hittite legal codes provide a very full background for the study of Mosaic legislation, while the materials from Râs Shamrah supply details for the study of Wilderness cultic provisions. The Egyptian tales of Sinuhe and Wen-amon and the Amarna Letters add further details concerning the land of Canaan and its customs, and Greek legends probably supply still more.

Probably our greatest help, both in quantity and relevance, comes from the royal annals of Assyria, Babylonian chronicles, and similar material contemporary with the kings of Israel and Judah. A few details are added by the Mesha Inscription (MOABITE STONE) and by Phoenician and Old Aramaic inscriptions. The great stumbling block to the Israelites was Baal worship, introduced on a grand scale by Jezebel the Phoenician princess. From the Ugaritic materials we have a firsthand presentation of the religion of Baal and other deities in the Canaanite pantheon, and the teachings of the prophets have taken on new dimensions of reality. Egyptian and Mesopotamian wisdom literature helps us understand the nature of this literary genre and brings biblical wisdom writings into clearer focus.

For the Exile and the postexilic period we have documents of Babylonian kings, the Cyrus inscription, correspondence in Aramaic from Elephantine, and additional details from Persian and Greek sources that have once and for all destroyed the theory that there was no Exile, while helping us understand both the return to the land and the reestablishment of the Jerusalem cultus on the one hand, and the establishment of Diaspora Judaism on the other.

The DEAD SEA SCROLLS have filled in many details of the rise of sectarian Judaism, and help us see how Christianity as a Jewish sect could be so quickly established. Sir William Ramsay's extensive and intensive explorations in Asia Minor put Pauline studies on a more solid basis. Many incidental archeological discoveries have added significant details about the Roman empire, its administration (including the offices and many of the officials named in the NT), its changing attitudes toward the Jews and later the Christians, and other matters that come into the NT account.

For those who wish to study certain of these matters in detail, there are many reliable books (see the bibliography, below). The value of various discoveries for biblical study is often a matter of personal axiology: for the person who wants "archeological proof" of the Bible, the inscription mentioning the proconsulship of Gallio in Corinth is far more significant than the Admonitions of Ipuwer or the Wisdom of Amenemope, and reports of the discovery of "Noah's Ark" on Mount Ararat are of greater import than the Dead Sea Scrolls. Some want proof to bolster faith, others want knowledge to make faith more certain, and still others want knowledge to replace faith. Archeology serves each in

有许多可靠书籍供那些致力于详细研究上述问题的人使用 (见后面的参考书目)。对于不同的人来说, 各类考古发现的价值通常有所不同: 对于想要得到圣经 "考古证据" 的人来说, 记载着在哥林多的迦流总督的碑文远比 "易普危忠言" 或 "阿曼尼摩比王的训诲" 重要, 而有关亚拉腊山上发现 "挪亚方舟" 的报告也比《死海古卷》重要。有人想要以考古证据支撑信心, 有人想要用知识坚定信心, 也有人想要用知识取代信心。考古学满足了不同人的需求。

VIII. The Evidential Value of Archeology. VIII. 考古学证据的价值。

The materials and techniques of biblical archeology must be precisely the same as those of all archeology. Only the purpose is different, for the biblical archeologist is interested in applying the results to the study of the Bible. But what, precisely, is meant by this? In the 19th and early 20th cents, the expression “archeology proves the Bible” was often used. It is the opinion of many scholars today, including many who are personally committed to faith in the Bible as the word of God, that the evidential value of archeology is not properly understood if it is taken to mean that archeology proves the Bible. Just what, then, does archeology prove? The Bible tells us, among other things, that the Israelites under Joshua went in and took possession of the land of Canaan. Archeological evidence indicates that certain Canaanite cities, including some of those specifically mentioned in the book of Joshua, were destroyed in the 13th cent. B.C.—which corresponds with the time of the Israelite invasion, according to one system of biblical chronology—and that the Canaanite culture was for a time replaced by a different (and inferior) culture. The Bible tells us that the reason the Israelites were able to capture Canaanite territory was that Yahweh their God fought their battles. Archeology has nothing to say on this point. Archeology, then, “proves” that some people—probably Israelites, for they are found in the land at a subsequent time—conquered the land of Canaan. Archeology does not and cannot prove that Yahweh fought the battles and gave the Israelites the land. This was a matter of Israelite faith, and it remains a point of faith for all who accept the Bible by faith.

Similar points could be set forth for other parts of the Bible for which archeology has provided material for study. An inscription proves that Gallio was proconsul of Achaia in A.D. 51–52. This and other archeological data help us establish a reasonable chronology for Paul's ministry. But the most significant fact in the life of Paul, namely, that when he was a persecutor of the Church he was confronted by the risen Jesus, is not capable of archeological proof. No item of faith is dependent on proof. Once we insist on proof we no longer have faith.

Nevertheless, there is evidential value in the study of biblical archeology. It is a unique doctrine of the religion of the Bible, both in the OT and in the NT, and therefore believed by Jews as well as Christians, that the God of the Bible, the Yahweh of the Israelites and the Father of Jesus Christ, revealed Himself to His people in historical situations in time and space. He called Abram (later Abraham) out of Ur to go to the land of Canaan. He brought Israel into Egypt; and after the time He had ordained, He led Israel out of Egypt and subsequently into the land of Canaan. He used the Assyrians as the rod in His hand to punish the Israelites. He took Judah into exile in Babylonia, and later returned them to the land by the agency of His anointed Cyrus (Isa. 45:1). He sent His son, Jesus, to the little country of Palestine, more specifically to Nazareth in Galilee in the days of Herod the Great, Jesus was crucified in Jerusalem after suffering under the Roman procurator Pontius

但是，考古证据在圣经研究中仍有价值。《圣经》中的上帝是以色列人的耶和华，也是耶稣基督的父，祂在历史中向祂的子民显现，这是《旧约》和《新约》中独特的教义，因此犹太人和基督徒也相信这一教义。耶和华神命亚伯兰（后改名亚伯拉罕）走出吾珥，前往迦南地。祂带领以色列人进入埃及，并在祂预定的时间内带领他们走出了埃及，而后来到迦南。亚述人是祂手中的杖，祂藉亚述人惩罚以色列人。祂让犹太人在巴比伦流亡，后又膏立居鲁士（赛 45:1），从而让犹太人归回家园。祂派祂的儿子耶稣来到小地巴勒斯坦，更具体地说，在希律大帝时期祂让耶稣降生于加利利的拿撒勒。耶稣受难之后，被罗马执政长官本丢·彼拉多钉于十字架之上。亚利马太的约瑟提供了自己的坟墓给耶稣安葬用，耶稣死后却从这个坟墓中复活。《圣经》从开篇到结束随处可见民族名、地名、列王名和平民的姓名。没有任何一个宗教像基督教一样，将其信仰完全融进历史和地理细节中。因此，圣经研究必然包括民族学和地名的研究，而考古再现了这些民族和地区。

Pilate. The tomb in which Jesus was buried and from which He rose belonged to Joseph of Arimathea. From beginning to end, the Bible is filled with the names of peoples and places, of kings and commoners. No other religion has its faith so thoroughly intermingled with historical and geographical details. It therefore becomes necessary to include the study of peoples and places with our study of the Bible. Archeology brings to life these peoples and places.

There were nineteenth-century scholars who were convinced that Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, and perhaps even Moses were simply imaginary creations of later Israelite authors. But archeology has put these persons in a real world. As a result, a scholar such as J. Bright, after devoting thirty-six pages to the subject, can write, “the Bible’s picture of the patriarchs is deeply rooted in history” (BHI p. 102).

Faith that requires proof is no faith, but faith that says, “Help my unbelief!” is quite common among human beings. Archeology supplies means for understanding many of the biblical situations, it adds the dimension of reality to pictures that otherwise would be strange and somewhat unreal, and therefore it provides an element of credibility. While the person of faith does not ask for proof, he does want to feel that his faith is reasonable and not mere fantasy. Archeology, by supplying him with material remains from biblical times and places, and by interpreting these data, provides a context of reality for the biblical story and reasonability for biblical faith.

Bibliography.—Method: K.

需要证据证明的信仰不是真正的信仰，我们常见人们说，“我信，但我的信不足，求你帮助！”考古为了解《圣经》景况提供了方法，并为研究《圣经》提供了现实依据，否则《圣经》中的记载就会让人感觉陌生而且不真实，因此，考古增强了《圣经》的可信度。虽然有信心的人不求证据，但是他一定想让自己感受到他的信心是有道理的，而不只是幻想。考古通过向有信心的人呈现圣经时代和圣经地区的历史遗留物，向他解释考古数据，为圣经故事提供了现实的背景，也就证明了相信《圣经》是有道理的。

ARCHEOLOGY OF ARABIA.

Archeology in Arabia is still at a very early stage, although the archeological information to be found in the reports of many travelers and especially the results of the few limited excavations portend a wealth of data still hidden under the sand.

I. Northwest.

Tema and Dedan are mentioned in Genesis, TEMA as son of Ishmael (25:15) and DEDAN as descendant of Ham (10:6f.). In antiquity these two cities (modern Teimā and el-'Ulā) were important commercial centers at crossings of incense trade routes. Teimā, renowned for its springs, is mentioned by Tiglath-pileser III (745 B.C.), and became the residence of Nabonidus. Circular tumuli with steps leading to rectangular tombs and Thamudic graffiti were found in the vicinity, as well as a stele. The text of the stele is Aramaic (6th cent. B.C.), the god and his priest (the author) are Assyrian, and the name of the author's father Egyptian. Dedan was populated by Dedanites and Lihyanites when (6th cent. B.C.) Minaeans from south Arabia founded there an important trading center, which included a temple dedicated to their lunar god Wadd. Dedan became a Minaean colony (3rd cent. B.C.), which was conquered by Nabateans shortly before the Christian era. The cultural characteristics of all the populations are found in many different inscriptions and beautiful monuments in el-'Ulā and vicinity, especially the necropolis on the flank of the mountain Khureybeh and the ruins of tombs and of a sanctuary at el-Hajrā (modern

ARCHEOLOGY OF ARABIA 阿拉伯考古

虽然旅行者记载了一些关于阿拉伯考古的信息,但是阿拉伯考古仍然处于初始阶段,尤其是,目前的考古挖掘非常有限,这片沙漠之下仍有丰富的考古资源等待挖掘。

I. 西北。

《创世记》中提到了提玛和底但,提玛(见 TEMA)是以实玛利的儿子(创 25:15),底但(见 DEDAN)是含的后裔(创 10:7)。在古代,提玛和底但两座城市(现名为“Teimā”和“el-'Ulā”)是重要的商业中心,它们位于香料贸易路线的十字路口上。提玛因富含泉水而闻名于世,提革拉·毗列色三世(公元前 745 年)提到过这座城市,拿波尼度曾在这里居住过。在这座城市周围发现了一座石碑和一些圆形古墓,这些圆形古墓中间有台阶,可以通向另一些矩形坟墓,同时也发现了一些萨姆得克文字涂鸦。碑文上的正文用亚兰语(公元前 6 世纪)写成,提到上帝和祂的祭司(碑文作者)的地方用亚述语写成,而祭司父亲的名字却是用埃及语写的。公元前 6 世纪,南阿拉伯的迈因人将底但建成为一个重要的贸易中心,并在这里为他们崇拜的月亮神瓦德建了一个庙宇,在这之前底但人和里西安人曾居住于此。公元前 3 世纪底但成为迈因王国的一个殖民地,在基督时代前不久纳巴泰人就征服了这里。底但和其周围地区的众多碑文和漂亮的纪念碑显示出该地不同民族的不同文化风格,尤其是胡赖拜山(Khureybeh)侧翼的大墓地和坟墓遗迹以及赫伊拉(el-Hajrā, 今迈达因萨利[Medā'in Šāliḥ])神庙更能体现这里的多民族文化特点。

Medâ'in Šâlih).

II. Southwest.

A. Ma'in. This is the only ancient south Arabian kingdom still awaiting excavators. The relatively small country ej-Jawf (about 75 mi. [120 km.] NE of Šan'â') contains ruins of several Minaean cities. Kharibat Ma'in (ancient Qarnâwû, capital of the Minaean kingdom) is a huge field of ruins of a walled city with two rectangular temples. The smaller one is inside the wall, and the larger one, Risâf (um) (modern el-'Urayš), dedicated to the stellar god 'Aṭtar, is outside the wall. It is preceded by a monumental vestibule. The crenelated wall of Barâqiš (ancient Yaṭil, SW of the preceding city) is well preserved; the two remaining temples have been located inside the wall. Other important ruins are located at el-Baydâ' (ancient Našq), es-Sawdâ' (ancient Našân), Kharibat Sa'ûd (ancient Kutal) and Kamina (ancient Kamnahû).

B. Saba'. The first excavations in south Arabia were conducted by C. Rathjens and H. von Wissman in 1928, in a small rectangular temple at el-Hbuqqat (about 14 mi. [22 km.] NNW of Šan'â') dedicated to the solar goddess Dât-Ba'dân, which had been in use for several centuries before the Christian era. The 1951–1952 American excavations in the peristyle of Maḥram Bilqîs (the elliptic 'Awwâm temple built in the 8th cent. B.C., SE of Mârib) cleared the entrance court almost completely. Among the numerous discoveries, those worthy of special mention are Ma'adkarib's bronze statue with Syro-Hittite features (7th cent. B.C.) and the complex of remains in and facing the southern entrance of the elliptic wall (inside the peristyle). The latter was used for an ablution ritual, by immersion and aspersion, in which the faithful engaged before entering the temple. Further, more than three hundred new texts, unearthed in the peristyle, contain priceless data for Sabaeen studies. The famous dam of Mârib and the ruins of el-Amayid (the ancient temple Bara'ân) are located NW and SE of Mârib, respectively. Other major ruins are found in Şirwâh (with its monumental temple) and Şan'â' (with its fortress Gumdân and the church built by the Ethiopian viceroy'Abraha).

II. 西南。

A. 迈因。古迈因王国是阿拉伯南部唯一一个有待挖掘的王国。面积较小的焦夫 (ej-Jawf) 位于萨那 (Šan'â') 东北约 75 英里 (120 公里) 处, 该地保有多个迈因城市的废墟。卡里巴迈因 (Kharibat Ma'in, 迈因王国古城噶尔诺) 原是一座建有城墙的城市, 现在是一片巨大的废墟, 该城有两个矩形的神庙。较小的神庙位于城墙内侧, 较大的里萨夫神庙 (Risâf, 今乌拉伊斯 [el-'Urayš]) 是献给阿塔那神 ('Aṭtar) 的神庙, 位于城墙外侧。城前有一座宏伟的前厅。巴拉吉斯 (Barâqiš, 古代耶提勒 [Yaṭil], 位于噶尔诺西南) 的锥堞墙保留完好; 仅存的两个庙宇都位于城墙以里。其他重要的遗址分散在巴伊达 (el-Baydâ', 古代奈斯格 [Našq])、塞乌达 (es-Sawdâ', 古代奈桑 [Našân])、海里巴特萨乌德 (Kharibat Sa'ûd, 古库泰勒 [Kutal]) 和凯米奈 (Kamina, 古凯姆奈胡 [Kamnahû])。

B. 塞巴。1928 年, 拉斯金斯 (C. Rathjens) 和威斯曼 (H. von Wissman) 首次联合发掘了阿拉伯南部位于赫布盖特 (el-Hbuqqat, 此地大约位于萨那北北西 14 英里 [22 公里] 处) 的一座矩形的神庙, 在基督教出现之前的数百年间, 人们在这里敬拜太阳女神达特巴丹 (Dât-Ba'dân)。1951 年至 1952 年间美国人对月神殿 (Maḥram Bilqîs, 公元前 8 世纪建造的椭圆形神殿, 位于马里卜 [Mârib] 东南处) 的柱廊展开了挖掘, 他们几乎将前院入口处的古物全部挖掘了出来。在众多的考古发现中, 最值得一提的是带有叙利亚赫梯特征的迈艾德凯里卜 (Ma'adkarib) 青铜像 (公元前 7 世纪) 和椭圆形墙内的其他建筑遗迹 (柱廊内部), 这些建筑正对着南入口。信徒在进入神殿前, 先要在南入

C. Qatabân. The American excavations worked in 1950/51 at Hajr Kohlân (ancient Timna', capital of the Qatabanian kingdom), its necropolis called Heid bin 'Aqîl, and Hajr bin Humeid and vicinity. Of particular importance are the following discoveries. One of the wooden beams from stratified Hajr bin Humeid is dated from ca. 852 B.C. (± 160 years) by radiocarbon analysis, thus providing a basis for dating the jar with a monogram found below the beams. The first typological sequence of pottery from the same site will help in dating the different strata of the site itself and of other Qatabanian sites. The remains in Wâdî Beihân of an irrigation system, whose origin in the middle of the 2nd millennium B.C. is proved by the rate of silt accumulation found below the first occupation of Hajr bin Humeid, indicate that the sedentary occupation in Wâdî Beihân goes back at least to 1500 B.C. The two bronze lionesses with infant riders testify to a strong Hellenistic influence in the 1st. cent. B.C., and the stele from Hajr bin Humeid is an adaptation from Syrian art. A drain facing the entrance of the temple Riṣâfum dedicated to the lunar god 'Anbay, at Heid bin 'Aqīl, is similar to that of the peristyle of Maḥram Bilqīs near Mârib. Finally, most of the tombs of the cemetery at Heid bin 'Aqīl are dug in the rock and divided by stone slabs in the manner of the boxes of a wine cellar. Other important ruins are located at 'Imm`adīyah (E of Mukerâs) and Hajr Henû ez-Zurîr (in Wâdī Ḥarīb).

C. 夸塔班。1950至1951年间,美国的考古人员在哈杰尔考兰(Hajr Kohlân,夸塔班王国的古都亭纳)、大墓地海德宾艾吉勒(Heid bin 'Aqîl)、哈杰尔宾胡梅德(Hajr bin Humeid)及附近地区进行考古发掘。其中一个考古发现的意义极为重大:考古学家利用放射性分析在哈杰尔宾胡梅德(Hajr bin Humeid)的某一考古层中发掘出一根大约公元前852年(或者这一年代160年前后)的木梁,并在这根木梁下方发现了一个印有字母组合图案的坛子,因此木梁所处的年代成了为坛子鉴定年代的依据。这一考古现场出土的陶器的第一类型序列帮助人们确定该地不同考古层的年代,同时也为夸塔班王国的其他遗址的断代提供了参考。根据大墓地哈杰尔宾胡梅德(Hajr bin Humeid)的第一堆积层的泥沙淤积速度,可知贝含河谷的一个灌溉系统遗址最早可以追溯到公元前1500年,这证明至少在公元前1500年,贝含河谷一带就已经形成了稳定的聚落形态。两尊小孩骑在母狮上的铜像显示出浓郁的公元前1世纪的希腊艺术风格,哈杰尔宾胡梅德(Hajr bin Humeid)的石碑是汲取叙利亚艺术特色创造的。当地人在海德宾艾吉勒(Heid bin 'Aqîl)为月神安巴伊

III. Central South.

In 1937–1938, G. Caton Thompson excavated a small, rectangular temple dedicated to the lunar god Sîn (ENE of el-Ḥuraydat in Wâdī`Amid), a “farm house,” and two tombs. Benches, bones, ashes, crudely made statues in the apsidal shrines at el-Ḥuraydat, as well as in the small temple excavated by F. P. Albright at Khôr Rôri (ancient Sumhuram), are best interpreted as evidence for practice of a ritual repast, associated with some ancestor or other deceased person represented by a statue. III. 中南部。 1937年至1938年间，汤普森 (G. Caton Thompson) 在阿拉伯中南部挖掘出了一个献给月神辛 (Sîn) 的长方形小型神庙 (该庙位于厄米德河谷 [Wâdī`Amid] 胡哈达 [el-Ḥuraydat] 的东北东方向)、一座“农舍”和两座坟墓。胡哈达的半圆形陵墓和科尔罗里 (Khôr Rôri, 古代的苏姆胡姆 [Sumhuram]) 的小坟墓 (由奥尔布赖特 [F. P. Albright] 发掘) 中出土的长椅、尸骨、骨灰和粗糙朴拙的雕塑是研究当地就餐仪式的有力证据，他们的这一风俗习惯可能与雕像所代表的某位祖先或者其他的某位逝者有关。克利夫兰 (R. L. Cleveland) 在哈嫩 (Ḥânûn, V. Eastern Center.

R. LeBaron Bowen, Jr. made excavations in the necropolis at Jâwân, and a Danish expedition in 1957 discovered remains of Sumerians in the island of el-Baḥrayn (Bahrain).

ARCHEOLOGY OF ASIA MINOR.

The area generally included in the designation Asia Minor is what today comprises the greater part of Turkey, especially the large peninsula lying between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean Sea. Frequently, when the earlier periods are considered, the name

IV. 东南。

克利夫兰 (R. L. Cleveland) 在苏哈尔 (Soḥar, 大约位于马斯喀特东北 65 英里[105 公里]) 以及巴提奈平原 (Bâṭina) 的其他地点进行了一些考古发掘, 他发现了一些晚期的 (大约 6 世纪或 7 世纪) 历史遗迹。

V. 东部中央地区。

鲍恩 (R. LeBaron Bowen, Jr.) 挖掘了亚旺 (Jâwân) 的一个大墓地, 1957 年, 一个丹麦的科考队在巴林岛 (el-Baḥrayn) 考古中发现了苏美尔人遗址。

ARCHEOLOGY OF ASIA MINOR 小亚细亚考古

人们通常所说的小亚细亚地区包括今天土耳其的大部分地区, 特别是黑海与地中海之间的大半岛。早期小亚细亚常常指的是安纳托利亚地区。这一地区的考古研究起步晚, 发展缓慢, 因为考古学家对该地区以西 (希腊传统考古)、

Anatolia is used for this area. The beginning and development of archeological research in this area were slow since the areas to the west (classical archeology in Greece), to the south (biblical archeology in Syria and Palestine), and to the southeast (Mesopotamian archeology) commanded greater interest and attention. Presently, however, Anatolian archeology has developed and expanded to such a degree that scholars working in the eastern Mediterranean area must reckon with the significant contributions from Asia Minor. These contributions date from prehistoric to Islamic times and deeply influence the discussions relating to all the archeological periods.

Asia Minor illustrates inter alia the glamorous excitement of archeology (Schliemann's discovery of Troy), the frustration and persistence of the archeologist (Wood's discovery of the temple of ARTEMIS at Ephesus), the unparalleled contributions of archeology (the discovery of the remains of the Hittite empire), and the growing frontiers of archeology (the identification of numerous prehistoric sites).

As was true of other areas in the Middle East, modern knowledge of ancient Asia Minor first came from accounts by nineteenth-century travelers. In the last three decades of that century some excavations of sites were undertaken (e.g., cities of Ionia, MYSIA, and CARIA), although these were often more quarrying and treasure hunting than scientific and systematic excavating. Perhaps the best-known of the responsible excavations was H. Schliemann's work at Troy, which, although conducted somewhat haphazardly and with inaccurate conclusions, did arouse unending interest in archeology. Regrettably, before World War I the antiquities of Turkey were frequently plundered by foreign expeditions and some of the most prized monuments were transferred to European museums. On the other hand, between the two world wars Continental, British, and American scholars and institutions contributed significantly to the development and expansion of the archeology of Asia Minor. Many foreign academic and archeological institutions now sponsor excavations.

以南（叙利亚和巴勒斯坦圣经考古）、东南（美索不达米亚考古）地区的考古更感兴趣。但是，今天安纳托利亚考古发展迅速，甚至从事东地中海考古研究的工作者都必须关注小亚细亚的考古发现。这些考古发现可以从伊斯兰时期追溯到史前时期，而且深深地影响了各时期的考古研究。

中东其他地区也为考古学做出了很大贡献，19 世纪的旅行者让人们首次了解到古代小亚细亚。19 世纪最后 30 年，人们开始对该地展开挖掘（如，伊奥尼亚、每西亚[MYSIA]和卡里亚[CARIA]的发掘），虽然此时的挖掘主要是为了采石、寻宝，而不是进行科学的、系统的

Concomitant with and encouraged by these foreign expeditions has been the development of Turkish interest in the heritage of the land. Following the political reforms of Kemal Atatürk, faculties and departments of ancient history and archeology were established in the universities, and scientific institutes were founded. Public interest was stimulated through local museums and the expansion of museums in major cities by the addition of excellent new facilities. The enlarged Department of Antiquities properly and scientifically controls and supervises archeological work. These developments have given rise to a generation of competent Turkish scholars and archeologists, whose contributions, with those of foreign expeditions, have made Turkey one of the most productive areas in archeological research.

伴随着外国人的入侵, 同时受到外国人掠夺的刺激, 土耳其人开始重视本地考古遗产的挖掘。凯末尔·阿塔图尔克政治改革之后, 大学里建立了古代史和考古学等院系, 同时成立了科研机构。随着当地博物馆和其他大城市博物馆的纷纷建立, 博物馆内不断引进新的先进设备, 大众对考古的兴趣被激发出来。不断扩大的古物管理局科学合理地控制和监督着考古工作。这些进步使土耳其拥有了一代有能力的学者和考古学家, 在他们和外国科考队为土耳其考古工作的共同努力下, 使得土耳其成为世界上考古研究最为繁荣的国家之一。

The first major contribution of Anatolian archeology to biblical studies was the identification of the Hittite empire, previously known only from the biblical documents. Sayce's initial identification (1876) of pictographs in several remote places in Asia Minor with the HITTITES of the OT spurred a more extensive search for, and collection of, Hittite antiquities. Between 1907 and 1911 Winckler found cuneiform tablets at Boghazköy. B. Hrozný deciphered them in 1915, identifying the Hittite language as Indo-European. Several Hittite sites were excavated, the principal ones being CARCHEMISH, Alaça Hüyük, Boghazköy, Kültepe, Karatepe, and Alişar. "Hittite archeology" and "Hittitology" became significant disciplines in the scholarly world. A bilingual inscription found at Karatepe in 1945 provided H. T. Bossert the key to the deciphering of the Hittite hieroglyphs. This new body of literature and the related archeological data have added major new dimensions to historical, economic, and political studies of the 2nd millennium B.C. In addition, the legal codes of the Hittites have illumined the parallels in the OT.

Asia Minor was the scene of extensive apostolic mission activity, especially by Paul, who devoted most of his work to this area and was himself a native of Tarsus (see ASIA MINOR V.A.). Scholars have identified all the sites in Asia Minor mentioned in the NT. A pioneer in the archeology of Asia Minor of the Roman period was W. M. Ramsay (1851–1939), a classicist at the University of Aberdeen. Through his extensive travels in Turkey, begun in 1880, he was able to identify numerous sites with certainty and to define the major roads and trade routes of ancient Anatolia. In NT studies his identification of biblical sites and corroboration of related details have greatly supported the accuracy and reliability of the Lucan writings. His scholarship and contributions have been very significant in the development of the archeology of Asia Minor as it relates to the NT period (cf. W. W. Gasque, Sir William Ramsay: Archaeologist and NT Scholar [1966]).

Some of the NT sites have been or are being extensively excavated, e.g., Ephesus, Sardis, and Hierapolis. Others farther inland still await the archeologist's spade, e.g., COLOSSAE, LYSTRA, and DERBE. The epigraphical evidence dating to the early Christian centuries is very extensive (cf. Monumenta Asiae Minoris Antiqua [8 vols., 1925–1962]). Continuing investigations of these documents and remains with artifacts of the sites are delineating more precisely the religious character of the 1st cent. A.D.: a syncretism of Greco-Roman religions and local deities and practices. It was into this environment that Paul brought Christianity.

有些《新约》时期的遗址已经或正在被大面积挖掘，如以弗所、撒狄、希拉波利。而其他遗址仍然等待着考古学家挖掘，如歌罗西（见 COLOSSAE [歌罗西]）、路司得（见 LYSTRA [路司得]）和特庇（见 DERBE [特庇]）。大量的碑文证据可以追溯到基督教早期（参：Monumenta Asiae Minoris Antiqua [8卷，1925–1962]）。对这些遗址中的文献和古物继续调查研究可以更加确切地描述出公元1世纪的宗教特征：希腊人和罗马人的宗教信仰、所崇拜的神和宗教风俗融合到了一起。保罗正是在这样的历史背景下开始宣传基督教。

The seven cities of Rev. 2 and 3 (EPHESUS, SMYRNA, PERGAMUM, THYATIRA, SARDIS, PHILADELPHIA, LAODICEA) have been identified and some of their individual features can be correlated with allusions in the scriptural accounts (see also ASIA MINOR V.D). New light on the provincial boundaries of the Roman empire and the administration of these as shown by epigraphical and literary sources will soon lay to rest the problem of North Galatia or South Galatia in favor of the latter (see also GALATIA; GALATIANS, EPISTLE TO THE III). Similarly, as collections of Greek inscriptions of Asia Minor become more available, there will be new insights into the vocabulary and syntax of the Northeast Mediterranean Greek of the NT.

加泰土丘遗址的挖掘为早期的城市化进程提供了证据。(B. K. Condit)

启示录 2 和 3 中提到了七个城市，(见 EPHESUS[以弗所]、SMYRNA[士每拿]、PERGAMUM[别迦摩]、THYATIRA[推雅推喇]、SARDIS[撒狄]、PHILADELPHIA[非拉铁非]、LAODICEA[老底嘉])，其地理位置现在已经可以确定，它们各自的特点也与经文中描述一一对应(另见 ASIA MINOR V.D [小亚细亚 V.D])。出土的碑文与文献中记载了罗马帝国各行省的边界以及各行省的管辖情况，这些记载很容易消除学者们就北加拉太和南加拉太的争议，赞同南加拉太的假设(另见 GALATIA[加拉太]; GALATIANS, EPISTLE TO THE III [加拉太书 III])。同样，因为考古人员更容易在小亚细亚找到希腊碑文，这能够为《新约》时期地中海东北部的希腊语词汇和句法方面的研究提供更多的启示。 found throughout Asia Minor. Although no systematic study of this vast and scattered body of evidence has been undertaken, preliminary surveys and a few major excavations (e.g., Alahan, Ephesus) indicate that much information about history, art, architecture, worship, and life in the early Christian and Byzantine periods must still be uncovered by the archeologist.

Evidence of early Christianity can be 我们在整个小亚细亚地区随处可以找

Anatolian archeology in recent years has acquired an exciting new dimension: the study of prehistoric and Bronze Age man. Some of the best preserved and earliest forms of civilization have been found in south central Turkey. The Neolithic site at Çatal Hüyük (near Konya) provides evidence of early urbanization, of developed art forms in frescoes and statues over 8500 years old, and of humanity's religious and economic quests. Other sites in the same area have produced similar evidence. Surveys by I. Todd and others have identified numerous prehistoric and Bronze Age sites (cf. U. B. Alkim, Anatolia I [1968]; J. Mellaart, Çatal Hüyük. A Neolithic Town in Anatolia [1967]).

A complete study of archeological discoveries in Egypt would exceed the space available and go far beyond the purpose of a Bible encyclopedia. Archeological discoveries from Egypt are very abundant, because the area has an extremely long history of continuous habitation by productive civilizations and because the climate of Egypt favors the preservation of nearly all kinds of artifacts and usquids (non-artifactual materials). But only an extremely small proportion of Egyptian material is directly relevant to biblical studies.

That there is relevance, however, is unquestionable. The biblical account includes a brief visit to Egypt by Abraham and Sarah (Gen. 12:10-20), a long period when the sons of Jacob and their descendants dwelt in Egypt (Gen. 39:1–Ex. 14:31), several references to Egyptian pharaohs during the periods of the Israelite monarchy and the divided kingdom, the mention of a colony of Jews in Egypt in the days of Jeremiah (Jer. 43–44), and the visit of Jesus’ family to Egypt in the days of Herod the Great (Mt. 2:13–21).

I. 本文讨论范围。

如果我们要对埃及考古发现进行完整的研究，其结论将远远超出有限的表达空间，也就偏离了《圣经百科全书》的写作目标。埃及的考古发现非常丰富，因为埃及文明源远流长，这里有悠久连续的定居史，同时埃及的气候特点使这里几乎可以保留所有的史前古器物和生活用品（非人造产品）。但是埃及这些考古材料中，只有极小的一部分与《圣经》研究直接相关。

但是这种关联却是确定无疑的。《圣经》中说，亚伯兰和撒莱曾短暂地下埃及（创 12:10-20），雅各的儿子和他们的后裔曾长期在埃及居住（创 39:1-出

Moreover, evidence of many significant contacts between Egypt and Palestine is found in extrabiblical sources. From the earliest period of which we have record Egypt maintained trade with Byblos, principally to obtain timber for building purposes. “Asiatics” (Aamu)—certainly including Palestinians—visited Egypt for commerce and, in times of famine, for food. In the middle of the 2nd millennium B.C. Asiatic invaders took control of Lower Egypt (and, according to the words attributed to Manetho by Josephus, even Upper Egypt; cf. CAp 1.14 [§ 77]). Thutmose I marched to Nahrin, the region beyond the Euphrates known in the Hebrew Bible as Aram-naharaim. Thutmose III likewise marched to the Euphrates and undertook to expand the borders of Egypt. Between the twenty-third and thirty-ninth years of his reign he conducted fourteen campaigns into Palestine and Syria and erected forts at several places, including Beth-shean. In the following century Egypt seemed to be concerned principally with other matters, and the kings of small city-states in Palestine were pleading with the ruler of Egypt to send help against the Avaris or Habiru (see AMARNA TABLETS V). The Egyptian Aramaic papyri reveal the existence of a Jewish colony at 14:31), 《圣经》中也提到, 在以色列君主制时期埃及几位法老的名字、分裂的王国的名字以及耶利米时期埃及的犹太人聚居地的名字 (耶 43-44), 耶稣的家人在希律大帝时期曾逃往埃及 (太 2:13-21)。

此外, 在《圣经》之外的很多文献中, 我们发现了很多埃及与巴勒斯坦交往的重要证据。据历史记载, 埃及很早以前就与比布鲁斯存在贸易联系, 埃及人主要进口当地的建筑木材。“亚洲人” (埃及人称之为 Aamu) (当然包括巴勒斯坦人) 也与埃及人有贸易往来, 在饥荒时期, 亚洲人从埃及获得食物。公元前 2000 年中叶, 亚洲侵略者控制了下埃及地区 (约瑟夫斯根据满涅托的记载推测, 他们甚至也占领了上埃及地区; 参: CAp 1.14 [77 段])。图特摩斯一世曾进军纳林, 此地位于幼发拉底河对岸, 希伯来《圣经》称之为亚兰拿哈林。图特摩斯三世也曾行军至幼发拉底河流域, 并准备向埃及边境地区扩张。在图特摩斯三世执政第 23 年至第 29 年期间, 他在巴勒斯坦和叙利亚地区发动了 14 次战役, 而且在很多地方 (包括伯珊) 建立了军事要塞。在接下来的一个世纪, 我们应该将关注点放在其他历史事件上: 巴勒斯坦的小城邦国王向埃及统治者求援, 希望埃及帮助他们击退哈皮鲁人, 见 AMARNA TABLETS V (亚玛拿泥版 V)。埃及出土的蒲纸草文献揭示出, 除了在答比匿有犹太人聚落 (耶 2:16; 结 30: 18; 滴 1:9), 在埃及象岛 (阿斯旺附近) 也有犹太人聚落, 公元前 3 世纪和 2 世纪亚历山大的《七十士译本》证明在亚历山大地区也有一个很大且重要的犹太聚落。

Elephantine (near Aswan), in addition to that at Tahpanhes (Jer. 2:16; Ezk. 30:18; Jth. 1:9), and the production of the LXX at Alexandria in the 3rd and 2nd cents B.C. testifies to a large and important Jewish colony there.

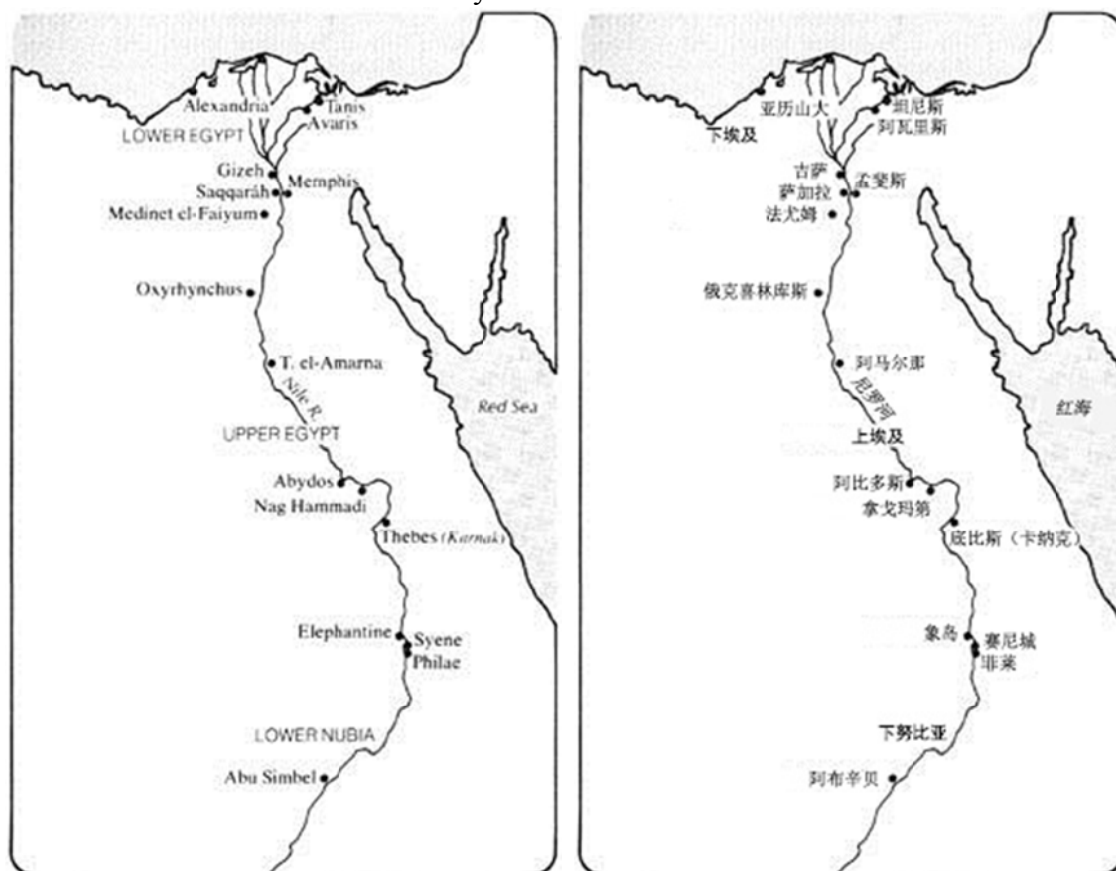

But how much of Egyptian history and archeology is necessary for biblical study? The answer is complicated by several factors. First and perhaps most important is the problem of dating the entrance of the sons of Jacob into Israel and the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt (See EXODUS). Working from figures in Josephus and from certain biblical data, we might put the entrance of Joseph as early as the 20th century, and if we follow Montet's thesis that the pharaoh of the Exodus was Siptah or even Seti II, we could date the Exodus around the end of the 13th century. To examine the various theories carefully the biblical scholar is obliged to consider details in Egyptian history and geography within that span of seven hundred years. The whole picture is further complicated by the conservatism of Egypt. Many customs, for example, that might be found in the New Kingdom (18th to 20th Dynasties) had their origin in the Old Kingdom (4th to 6th Dynasties), the Archaic Period (1st to 3rd Dynasties), or even in the Predynastic Period (ca. 4000–3200 B.C.). Quite often a study of the earlier periods is necessary for a clear understanding of a later incident.

Obviously, then, it is necessary to make a selection from the vast amount of material to be handled, and any such choice will be largely subjective. This article selects aspects of Egyptian archeology that seem to have greater

那么,我们显然需要对众多的材料进行筛选,这个过程大都是主观选择的过程。本文只选择对《圣经》研究具有更重要意义的埃及考古材料,其他的材料留待进一步的研究。

II. History of Egyptian Archeology.

A. General Survey. In general, the history of Egyptian archeology has two main periods, before and after Napoleon's campaign into Egypt, A.D. 1798–1799. Pre-Napoleonic archeology consists of references to monuments, inscriptions, and the like, e.g., the report of Thutmose IV (1413–1405 B.C.) that he cleared the sand away from the Sphinx, or reports of Greek and Latin visitors or of medieval pilgrims to several of the great monuments. These give us valuable information about the condition of the monuments, and in some cases, the location of monuments no longer extant. Important as such data are, they cannot be considered scientific archeology.

II. 埃及考古历史。

A. 综述。一般来说，埃及考古历史分为两个阶段：拿破仑进军埃及（公元1798-1799年）前期和后期。拿破仑进军埃及前期，埃及考古包括对纪念碑、碑文或诸如此类的古迹的研究，如，考古发现图特摩斯四世对埃及的狮身人面像进行了修复和保护，希腊和拉丁裔或中世纪的朝圣者曾参观过埃及的数个纪念碑。这些记载让我们获得了有关埃及古迹情况的宝贵信息，即使有些古迹已经不复存在。虽然这些数据很重要，但是我们不能认为它们属于科学考古。

after a year in Egypt, took with him a staff of 175 scientists, including orientologists, geographers, cartographers, and many other specialists, as well as a large library and a shipload of scientific instruments. These scientists explored Egypt from the Mediterranean coast to the Sudan. Among many other kinds of data, they brought back casts of statues, copies of inscriptions, and many valuable records of monuments that they uncovered. Among their discoveries was a slab of black basalt inscribed in what appeared to be three languages, now known from the place of discovery as the Rosetta Stone, which was very important for the deciphering of the Egyptian language (see II.B). The publication of ten volumes of texts and fourteen volumes of plates describing the discoveries of Napoleon's expedition, plus the deciphering of Egyptian hieroglyphs by J. F. Champollion and others, greatly increased the desire to know more about Egyptian antiquities.

175 名科学家，其中包括东方学者、地理学者、制图师和许多其他领域的专家，他为埃及建造了一个大型图书馆，并为之载运来了一船的科学仪器。这些科学家在埃及展开考古探究，他们的考古范围从地中海沿岸延伸到苏丹。他们带回来的考古数据包括：雕像的铸型、碑文的副本和一些关于出土纪念碑的有价值的记载。他们发掘出了一个黑玄武岩石板，石板上刻有 3 种文字，现在人们根据其发掘地将之命名为罗塞达石刻，这个石刻对破译埃及语言发挥了极其重要的作用（见本文第二部分 2 节）。拿破仑的科考队针对埃及考古发现发表了 10 本说明书和 14 本画册，而且商博良和其他学者一起破译了埃及的象形文字，这极大地激发了人们了解埃及古物的欲望。 coronation of Ptolemy V Epiphanes as king of all Egypt (186 B.C.). The Greek inscription (bottom) was a major key to decipherment of the hieroglyphic and demotic Egyptian (above). (Trustees of the British Museum)

Also important were discoverers and explorers, such as G. B. Belzoni, who explored the Nile Valley to Abu Simbel, and who found the tomb of Seti I, among other achievements. Twenty important items in the British Museum were acquired through Belzoni's expeditions. He was a collector, however, rather than an archeologist. About the same time (first quarter of the 19th cent.), H. Salt, British Consul-General in Egypt, and W. J. Bankes explored the length of Egypt. Salt removed a colossal head of Ramses II from Thebes, and correctly diagnosed the direction that hieroglyphs should be read. Bankes discovered a list of kings at Abydos, which was useful to T. Young and Champollion in their deciphering of Egyptian inscriptions. R. Howard-Vyse, whose work in Egypt had the advantage of beginning after Champollion and who had completed his work of deciphering the inscriptions, worked at Gizeh. He rejected the fantastic notions about the pyramids and concluded that they were tombs of pharaohs. He discovered the entrance of the pyramid of Mycerinus, discovered chambers in the pyramid of Cheops that had not previously been found, and uncovered some of the polished limestone casing that had once covered the entire pyramid of Chephren. There were several others, but all of them were more interested in collecting than in studying and interpreting. Some of their efforts were destructive, but like the work of H. Schliemann at Troy and elsewhere, they formed a necessary step to true investigation.

R. Lepsius led a Prussian expedition to Egypt in 1842, to catalogue and to classify, and to make the first steps toward a chronological framework for the materials. Over the next few years the expedition conducted a careful survey of Gîzeh, the Faiyûm, Tell el-Amarna, Thebes, Philae, Abu Simbel, and other sites, and produced Monuments of Egypt and Ethiopia (12 vols., 1849–1859). Lepsius' chronological work appeared in Egyptian Chronology (1849) and Book of Egyptian Kings (1850). Besides his cataloging and classifying, he sent 15,000 objects to Berlin for the museum that was yet to be built. He rationalized, as others have done, that if he had not taken the treasures to Europe they would have been stolen or destroyed by vandals—and to some extent he was right.

With the appointment of A. Mariette as Director of the Service of Antiquities in 1858, Egyptian archeology was placed under supervision. For the next ninety-four years this position was held by French scholars. Only experience can lead to sound principles, and Mariette had a few things to learn. He established the rule that all antiquities found in Egypt were to stay in Egypt—basically a sound principle, but one not easy to enforce—and he refused to allow anyone else to conduct an archeological excavation. His own efforts at thirty-seven locations, by lack of supervision and unsatisfactory cataloguing, proved that it takes more than one man to excavate Egypt. Still, his work was tremendous by any standard, and by no means the least of his achievements was the founding of the museum at Bulaq, later moved to Gîzeh, and now located in Cairo.

W. M. Flinders Petrie (1853–1942), the first, if not the only, person who could appropriately write a book entitled Seventy Years in Archaeology, is credited with opening the age of scientific archeology in Egypt, and to a degree in other parts of the Near East. His book Inductive Metrology (1877) and his use of “Sequence Dating” provided the basis for relative chronology. Simply stated, Sequence Dating (abbr. S.D.) is the arrangement of different styles (principally of pottery) in accordance with the sequence of their appearance in successive levels of an excavation, and, by comparing these styles with those found at other sites, the construction of a sequence for a larger area. This method is accepted today as a matter of course, but it was indeed revolutionary when Petrie introduced it. With no way to establish dates based on our calendar or on any other continuous calendration, Petrie took what appeared to him to be the earliest style in wavy-handle pots, and arranged a sequence. Starting with S.D. 30 (to allow for later discoveries that would prove to be earlier), Petrie developed a sequence to S.D. 77, which corresponded with the beginning of the 1st Dynasty. His foresight was rewarded when Badarian remains were dated S.D. 21–29. S.D. 30–39 are now identified as Amratian, and S.D. 40–62 as Gerzean. The dates that Petrie hazarded (Faïyûm 9000, Badarian 7400–7100, Menes 4236 B.C.) now seem fantastic.

Only a few of the great scholars who have contributed to Egyptian archeology since the days of Petrie can be listed here. J. H. Breasted edited the five-volume collection Ancient Records of Egypt

在皮特里之后, 只有几位大学者曾为埃及考古做出过贡献。布雷斯特德 (J. H. Breasted) 编纂了五卷丛书 Ancient Records of Egypt (1906–1907)。埃尔曼 (A. Erman) 与葛伯 (H. Grapow) 合编

(1906–1907). A. Erman and H. Grapow edited the seven-volume Wörterbuch der ägyptischen Sprache (1926–1963), and Erman and his pupils, notably K. Sethe, laid the foundations of scientific grammar. A. H. Gardiner made the results available to the English-speaking world in his Egyptian Grammar (1st ed. 1927; 3rd ed. 1957). Erman also produced the very valuable Ägypten und ägyptisches Leben im Altertum (rev. ed. by H. Ranke, 1923; Eng. tr. of 1st German ed. 1894). American, British, French, German, and Egyptian archeologists, as well as those of several other nations, have provided us with important excavations, writings, interpretations, and other works.

B. Deciphering the Language. The Rosetta Stone, which fell into British hands when they took possession of Egypt in 1802, was actually written in two languages: Egyptian in two forms (hieroglyphic and demotic) and Greek. It was correctly assumed that the Egyptian inscriptions were substantially the same as the Greek, and scholars went to work at deciphering the Egyptian. S. de Sacy identified several names. J. D. Åkerblad identified all the names and added a few other words, but he was working on the mistaken hypothesis that demotic was an alphabetic system of writing. T. Young, a physicist, physician of Cambridge, and an Egyptologist by hobby, made considerable advance on the others. But it is to the French scholar J. F. Champollion that credit is usually given for deciphering the work. A genius who could read Arabic, Syriac, and Coptic at the age of thirteen, and who was made a member of the faculty of the Lycée in Grenoble at seventeen, Champollion determined to solve the riddle of

B. 破译埃及语。 1802年英国人占领埃及之后，罗塞达石碑落入英国人手中，实际上，罗塞达碑文是用两种语言写成的：两种书写体的埃及语（僧侣体与世俗体）和希腊语。有人认为埃及碑文与希腊碑文实质上是一样的，这种假设是正确的，学者们也开始着手破译埃及语。萨科（S. de Sacy）辨认出碑文上的几个名字，阿克布拉德（J. D. Åkerblad）辨认出了所有名字并增加几个词汇，但他却错误地认为世俗体属于字母文字体系。杨格（T. Young）既是一位物理学家也是剑桥的一名医生，他的业余爱好是埃及古物研究，而且他在这方面的研究远超过了其他学者。但是，人们通常给予法国学者商博良（J. F. Champollion）的文字破译工作以较高的赞誉。商博良是一位天才，他13岁便会说阿拉伯语、古叙利亚语、古埃及语，17岁就成为格勒诺布尔公立中学的教师，他决心破译埃及的象形文字。他还对科普特语进行了深入的研究，发现这是一种处于古埃及语言发展末期的语言，其字母大量借用了希腊语的字母，1808年，他开始破译罗塞达石的碑文。他的研究历时14年，并于1822年公布

Egyptian hieroglyphs. He applied himself to intensive study of Coptic—a later form of Egyptian written in an alphabet largely borrowed from Greek—and in 1808 started work on the Rosetta Stone. It took him fourteen years, and in 1822 he published the results of his study. He had succeeded partly as a result of comparing the inscription on the Philae Obelisk, which mentioned the names of Ptolemy and Cleopatra (as did the Rosetta Stone), but mostly because he correctly concluded that hieroglyphic writing is a mixture of alphabetic, phonetic, and ideographic symbols. Although Champollion had never visited Egypt up to that time, he was made director of the Egyptian collection in the Louvre and professor of Egyptology at the Collège de France. Before his death at the age of 42 he was privileged to make an expedition to Egypt (1828–1829). His works, Grammaire Égyptienne and Dictionnaire Égyptienne, published after his death in 1832, served as a foundation for other scholars. The standard work in English today is Gardiner's Egyptian Grammar (3rd ed. 1957).

Prior to the decipherment of Egyptian, fantastic explanations of hieroglyphic writings had been made. Even the name “hieroglyph” is a fantasy, for it is composed of the Greek elements hierós “sacred,” and glýphein “carve in stone,” suggesting that these inscriptions were some religious or cultic secret. Champollion's work, at first opposed by other scholars, ultimately led to a scientifically acceptable knowledge of Egyptian and placed Egyptological studies on a firm basis.

C. Establishing Chronology. Egyptian

了他的研究结果。他将罗塞达碑文与菲莱方尖碑上的碑文进行对比，两者都提到了多利买和埃及女王克里欧佩特拉，他这方面的研究取得了一定的成就，但是他最大的成就是：他正确地总结出，象形文字是字母符号、语音符号和表意符合的混合文字。虽然商博良那时还未到过埃及，但是他已经开始负责为卢浮宫收集埃及的古物，并且是法兰西学院的埃及古物学教授。商博良 42 岁便英年早逝，在他去世之前，法国政府授权他在埃及展开考古探究（1828-1829）。他的两部作品 Grammaire Égyptienne 和 Dictionnaire Égyptienne，在他逝世后出版（1832 年），这两部作品为其他学者的研究提供了根据。今天的英语标准之作是加德纳的 Egyptian Grammar（1957 年第三版）。

在破译古埃及语之前，学者们对象形文字的解释都不切合实际。甚至“hieroglyph”（象形文字）一词都是人们想象的产物，这个词由希腊词“hierós”（“神圣的”）和“glýphein”（“在石头上雕刻”）构成，这表明这种碑文带有神秘的宗教色彩。起初其他学者反对商博良对象形文字的解释，但是他们最终承认商博良对古埃及语的解释是科学的，他的工作为埃及学研究奠定了坚实的基础。

history, even today, is almost always related to the system of dynasties established by the priest-historian Manetho. He compiled a list of the kings of Egypt for a history of Egypt which he wrote for Ptolemy I Soter (304–285 B.C.). Manetho had worked from earlier lists similar to those found in the Turin Papyrus and the Palermo Stone. These are fragmentary, and can be augmented by the list of Thutmose III, the list of Seti I, and the Saqqârah list. (See IV.I below.) On the basis of synchronisms it is possible to put approximate dates on some of the kings named, and from data in the king lists, other dates can be calculated; but because of gaps in the lists, coregencies, and other factors, the results are far from satisfactory.

For many years Egyptian scholars worked more or less in isolation, and Egyptian chronology was considerably out of phase with other chronologies of the ancient Near East. The union of Upper and Lower Egypt and the beginning of the 1st Dynasty was formerly dated ca. 4200 or ca. 4400 B.C. Today scholars generally agree that it should be dated ca. 3200 B.C. The later date, established by synchronistic evidence, was confirmed by radiocarbon dating of wood from a roof beam of a first-dynasty tomb at Saqqârah. Tests gave the following dates: 4803 B.P. (before the present) \pm 260 (= 3112–2592 B.C.); 4961 B.P. \pm 240 (= 3250–2770 B.C.). For a discussion of radiocarbon dates, see the general article ARCHEOLOGY VI.

Early in history the Egyptians had developed a calendar of 365 days, consisting of 12 months of 30 days each, plus 5 epagomenal days added at the end of the year. A theory that this was intended to be an agricultural calendar is suggested by the division of the year into three seasons of four months each, called “inundation,” “winter,” and “summer”; but this theory is not convincing because the Egyptians made no effort to keep the calendar in phase with the seasons until the time of Ptolemy III Euergetes (247–221 B.C.). Because of the importance of the annual inundation of the Nile for agriculture, the Egyptians had also noted from early times that the beginning of the rising of the Nile occurred about the same time as the heliacal rising of the star Sirius (called by the Egyptians Sopde, in Greek Sothis; see ASTRONOMY I.A). Accordingly, the festival of “the going up of Sothis” was observed either on the day of the first observation of Sothis or shortly thereafter. Later the divergences between the “going up of Sothis” and the New Year’s Day of the civil calendar were noted. Unfortunately, only a very few of these synchronisms have been preserved. The heliacal rising of Sothis occurred on the 16th day of the 8th. month of the 7th year of Sesostris III (12th Dynasty). The Roman scholar Censorinus reported that the calendar New Year coincided with the Sothic festival in A.D. 139. Since the divergence is 1/4 day per year, other Sothic cycles would have begun at intervals of 1460 (365 times 4) years, i.e., in 1321 B.C. and 2781 B.C. From this a date of 1877 B.C. for the 7th year of Sesostris III can be calculated. (The rising was 226 days out of phase—30 days for each of the 7 months plus 16 days of the 8th. month—and each full day out of phase represents 4 years, so this was 904 years after the beginning of a cycle. Subtracting this from 1321 yields 417 B.C., obviously too late for the 12th. Dynasty; so it must be 904 years after 2781 B.C.) Another synchronism is recorded for the 9th day of the 11th month of the 9th year of Amenhotep I (= 1536 B.C.), and for the 28th day of the 11th month of an unspecified year of Thutmose III (= 1469 B.C.). These figures are reasonably satisfactory, but several facts must be borne in mind. First, it is uncertain where the observations of Sothis were made; observations made at Thebes would be slightly different from observations made at Memphis. Second, it is uncertain whether the festival of the “going up of Sothis” occurred on the day of the observation of the heliacal rising or a day or two later. Third, the atmospheric conditions could obscure the faintly visible star, making the observation a day or two late. Furthermore, each day’s difference amounts to four years in the calculations. The 7th year of Sesostris III, according to Gardiner (Egypt of the Pharaohs, p. 66), is probably 1872, five years later than the figure obtained from the Sothic synchronism, while the 9th year of Amenhotep I is probably 1543, or seven years earlier than the Sothic calculation.

托编辑了王朝与国王的朝代表, 埃及历史(甚至包括今天的历史)几乎始终与这个朝代表有关。曼涅托基于埃及历史为多利买一世(公元 304-285 年)编纂了一个王朝与国王的朝代表。都灵蒲草纸文献和巴勒莫石碑上记载着早期王朝与国王的朝代表, 但是这些年代是不连续的, 曼涅托根据这个列王朝代表, 添加了图特摩斯三世、塞提一世和塞加拉三个朝代, 制作了一个新的列王朝代表。(见下文 IV.I) 根据这个对照性历史年谱, 我们可以确定一些王所处的大致年代, 根据列王朝代表的数字, 我们可以计算出其他的年代; 由于这个朝代表中遗漏了一些朝代以及其他原因, 出现了一朝二王的情况, 总之这个列王朝代表不太尽如人意。

In general, Egyptian chronology is established principally from relative chronology developed from the various king lists, aided by synchronisms. Most significant for our purposes are the synchronisms found in the Amarna correspondence and the treaty between Ramses II and the Hittite king Ḫattusilis III in the 5th month of the 21st year of Ramses’ reign. From these data we know that: Ramses II fought with the Hittite king Muršilis II, and made the treaty with his son Ḫattusilis III; the treaty is mentioned in a letter from Ḫattusilis to the Kassite king Kadašman-ḫarbe II; Amenhotep III died very shortly before Kadašman-ḫarbe II; both Amenhotep III and Amenhotep IV (Akhenaten) were contemporaries with Aššur-uballiṭ of Assyria. (The complete data available to us from the king lists are found in Gardiner, Egypt of the Pharaohs [1962], pp. 429–453.)

总而言之，埃及的年代表主要是根据相对年代确立的，而相对年代是综合了很多王朝列表和对照性历史年谱之后确定的。我们所取得的最重大的发现是，在亚玛拿泥版中发现了对照性历史年谱以及拉美西斯二世与赫人国王哈图斯里三世在拉美西斯执政第 21 年的 5 月与其签署的和约。我们从这些数据可知：拉美西斯三世曾与赫人国王穆尔西里斯二世发生过战争，并且后来与穆尔西里斯二世的儿子（哈图斯里三世）签订了和约；哈图斯里三世给喀西特王卡

III. Outline of Egyptian History.

For a more complete study see the article on EGYPT. This brief survey is included here so that the pertinent details of Egyptian archeology to be recorded may be quickly placed into historical perspective.

Since the days of Manetho, Egyptian history has been divided into thirty-one dynasties. (A dynasty is generally understood to be a continued reign by members of the same family.) Manetho's 1st Dynasty begins with the union of Upper and Lower Egypt, but obviously this was preceded by a period when Upper and Lower Egypt were not united. Thus, we must preface the dynastic history with a predynastic or prehistoric period—which is what Flinders Petrie accomplished with his Sequence Dating. Also, Manetho's arrangement ends with the conquest of Egypt by Alexander the Great; but for purposes of biblical study the history is extended to Roman times.

A. Predynastic Period (ca. 5000–3200 B.C.). In the Lower Pleistocene period the waters of the Mediterranean, which had spread far into the Nile Valley, receded and the water level in the Nile Valley dropped. Periodic pauses in this process

达什曼哈尔贝二世的信中提到过这个和约；卡达什曼哈尔贝二世在阿蒙霍特普三世去世后不久也离世而去；阿蒙霍特普三世和阿蒙霍特普四世都是与亚述王亚述乌巴立特同时期的历史人物。

III. 埃及史概述。

更详尽的埃及历史研究，请见词条 EGYPT（埃及）。这一部分仅是对埃及历史的概述，方便读者从历史的视角理解埃及考古的相关细节。

曼涅托将埃及历史分为 31 个王朝。（一般人们认为，一个王朝通常指的是同一个家族对一个地区的持续统治。）曼涅托以上埃及与下埃及统一作为埃及的第一个王朝，但是，显然还有一段上下埃及未统一前的历史。因此，我们应该从前王朝时期或史前时期开始研究埃及的朝代史，这也就是弗林德斯·皮特里（Flinders Petrie）的考古序列断代法所取得的成就。而且，曼涅托以亚历山大大帝征服埃及作为埃及王朝结束的时间；但是《圣经》所研究的埃及历史要延续到罗马帝国时期。

A. 前王朝时期（大约公元前 5000-3200 年）。更新世晚期，吞噬尼罗河河谷的地中海的海水退去，尼罗河河谷的水位也随之降低。涨潮退潮交替出现，海水在河谷沿岸留下了印记，河岸的砾石的高度不断降低，从高于现在尼罗河河水 left their marks in successively lower gravel terraces along the sides of the valley, beginning at 295 to 148 ft. (90 to 45 m.) above the present level of the Nile River. The first evidence of human presence is found in the 98-foot (30-meter) terrace, and since the remains are Paleolithic they lie beyond our present interest. The Neolithic "revolution" seems to have reached the Nile Valley around 5000 B.C., and Neolithic communities have been discovered at Merimda (Beni Salameh), about 30 mi. (48 km.) NW of Cairo on the edge of the desert, and at Der Tasa and Badari, between Asyut and Akhmim in Upper Egypt. Typical finds are called "Tasian" and "Badarian." At Nagada (Naqada) N of Luxor on the west bank, two types were identified, now called "Amratian" and "Gerzean." That humanity had passed into the Chalcolithic Age is inferred from the presence of copper artifacts among the finds.

A number of small areas, probably controlled by individual clans, were governed by petty rulers. The historian Herodotus called the areas "nomes" and the rulers "nomarchs." At some time prior to the 1st Dynasty the twenty-two nomes of southern Egypt federated to form Upper Egypt, and the twenty nomes of the northern Egypt united to form Lower Egypt. Writing does not yet appear in this period, and our reconstructions are made from low-relief carvings on flat palettes of stone. The introduction of Babylonian influence, according to H. Frankfort and other scholars, is found just before the 1st Dynasty, and a synchronism with the Jemdet-Nasr period of Babylonia is established.

B. Archaic Period (ca. 3200–2700 B.C.). Upper and Lower Egypt were united, probably by Narmer (= Menes), although Egyptologists are still debating this problem. Memphis was built and became the capital. Writing was introduced, perhaps from Mesopotamian influence, but it quickly went in an independent direction. Architecture and art were revolutionized.

C. Old Kingdom (ca. 2700–ca. 2400 B.C.). The 3rd Dynasty, located at Memphis, began the building of pyramids, notably the Step Pyramid of Djoser (Zoser), the first large stone building, probably the work of Djoser's architect Imhotep. The 4th Dynasty (ca. 2620) included Cheops (Khufu) and Chephren (Khafre), who built the greatest of the pyramids. Art and architecture were formalized; literature developed; campaigns were conducted against Nubia and Libya; trade with Byblos (by sea) was conducted, and some have suggested that Byblos was actually an Egyptian colony. In the minds of some, this was the apogee of Egyptian history.

B. 上古王朝时期。(约公元前 3200-2700 年)。可能是那尔迈(也就是美尼斯)统一了上埃及和下埃及,虽然埃及古物学者对此仍然争论不休。统一后,那尔迈建立了孟斐斯城,并将之作为埃及的首都。可能是受到了美索不达米亚文明的影响,埃及人创造了文字,但是埃及文字很快独成一体。建筑与艺术也有革命性的进步。

C. 古王国(约公元前 2700-2400 年)。埃及第三王朝建都孟斐斯,自此时起,埃及人开始建造金字塔,特别要提到的是乔赛尔(左塞尔)的阶梯金字塔,该金字塔可能是乔赛尔时期的建筑师伊姆荷泰普的建筑作品。第四王朝(约公元前 2620 年)的两位法老基奥普斯(胡夫)和齐夫林(哈夫拉)建造了埃及最大的金字塔群。此时,埃及的艺术和建筑风格最终确立;文学也日臻成熟;埃及向努比亚和利比亚发动了战争,并与港口城市比布鲁斯进行贸易往来,有人认为比布鲁斯实际上是埃及的殖民地。有些人认为这一时期是埃及历史上最辉煌的时期。

D. First Intermediate Period (ca. 2400–2150 B.C.). The period between the 6th Dynasty and the 11th (or 12th) was a time of decline. The Memphite rule was replaced by rulers in various parts of Egypt, suggesting to some scholars a separation of Upper and Lower Egypts, and Thebes in Upper Egypt rose to prominence.

E. Middle Kingdom (ca. 2134 or 1991–1786 B.C.). Scholars divide on the question of where to put the 11th Dynasty. Gardiner, for example, puts it at the close of the 1st Intermediate Period, and W. Stevenson Smith takes it as the beginning of the Middle Kingdom. The 11th Dynasty was located at Thebes in Upper Egypt. Mentuhotep I is credited with reuniting Egypt. The 12th Dynasty was inaugurated by Amenemhet I (1991 B.C.). Thebes continued to be honored, but the second king of the dynasty, Sesostri I, saw the need of establishing a capital midway between Memphis and Thebes. Asiatics came into the Delta. Turquoise mines were worked in the peninsula of Sinai. “Upper Retjenu” extended to Byblos, and relations between Egypt and Retjenu were amicable, at least at the beginning. Sesostri III (1878–1843 B.C.), however, traveled to Sekmem, generally identified as Shechem, to overthrow the Asiatics (Aamu), and Egyptian remains have been found at Qatna (N of Homs), Ugarit, and as far as Atçana, not far from the mouth of the Orontes. Certain kinds of art, notably jewelry and cloisonné, reached its highest level, while great literary remains have come down from the Middle Kingdom, including the Story of Sinuhe

D. 第一中间时期（大约公元前 2400-2150 年）。从第六王朝至第十一（或第十二）王朝期间是埃及的衰落时期，各地区的统治者取代了孟斐斯的法老，很多学者认为，上埃及和下埃及在此时走向分裂，而上埃及的底比斯在此时崛起。

E. 中期王国（约公元前 2134 或 1991 年—1786 年）。学者们对于第十一王朝所处的历史时期存有很多分歧。例如，加德纳（Gardiner）认为第十一王朝大约处于第一中间时期，而史蒂文森（W. Stevenson）则认为第十一王朝处于中王国初期。埃及第十一王朝位于上埃及的底比斯。曼图霍特普一世再次统一了埃及。第十二王朝的第一位君主是阿门内姆哈特一世（公元前 1991 年）。底比斯仍久享盛名，但是该王朝第二位君主塞索斯特里斯一世认为应该在孟斐斯与底比斯之间建立一座都城。这一时期，亚细亚人来到了尼罗河三角洲。他们开始在西奈半岛上开采绿松石矿。“上瑞德鲁”（Upper Retjenu）延伸到比布鲁斯边境，埃及人与瑞德鲁人之间的关系也比较和睦，至少初期是这样。但是，塞索斯特里斯三世（公元前 1878—1843 年）后来进军迦南的一座城市（Sekmem，也就是示剑），推翻了亚细亚人（Aamu）的统治，考古学家在夸特那（霍姆斯以北）、乌加里特甚至阿卡那（Atçana，距离奥龙特斯河河口不远）发现了很多埃及的遗迹。其中一些艺术品（尤其是珠宝和景泰蓝制品）达到了最高的工艺水平，而且大量的中王国时期的遗著流传了下来，其中包括《辛奴亥的故事》和《娜芙蒂的预言》。许多学者认为中王国时期是埃及文学的黄金时期。人们通常认为亚伯拉罕就是在这时期来到了埃及。 and the Prophecy of Neferti. Many scholars consider the Middle Kingdom the golden age of Egyptian literature. The visit of Abraham to Egypt is generally placed in this period.

F. Second Intermediate Period (ca. 1786–1573 B.C.). A combination of internecine strife and foreign restlessness brought about the end of the glorious Middle Kingdom. The 15th Dynasty, according to Africanus' report of Manetho, consisted of six "Shepherd Kings," generally known as the Hyksos. The 16th and 17th Dynasties also were led by "Shepherd Kings." The combined reigns of the 217 kings of these three dynasties according to Manetho would be 1590 years. But the date of the end of the 12th Dynasty involves the Sothic date (1877; see II.C above); and the founding of the Hyksos capital of Avaris according to the Stele of the Four Hundred was 400 years before a celebration that Seti I offered to the god Seth Nubti, dated ca. 1330 B.C., hence 1730 B.C. Therefore, this period must be compressed to about 200 years. The descent of Joseph followed by that of his father and brothers is generally placed in this period.

G. New Kingdom (Empire) (1570–1085 B.C.). Ahmose (1573–1550), the first king of the 18th Dynasty, is credited with driving the foreign rulers from Egyptian soil. Although Josephus connected the Hebrew Exodus from Egypt with this event, this is highly unlikely (see EXODUS). Under Amenhotep I, Thutmose I, and Thutmose III, Egypt pushed its frontiers to the Euphrates (into Nahrin of the kingdom of the Mitanni). There were numerous campaigns into Asia and Egyptian remains can be found at many places. The Egyptian capital, however, was at Thebes—an important point to bear in mind when considering the date of the Exodus. Amenhotep IV revolted against the Amon priesthood, changed his name to Akhenaten and located his capital at Akhetaton, known today as Tell el-Amarna. The art of the Amarna age represents a revolution in several areas of Egyptian art. The Amarna Letters tell of great disturbances in Retjenu (Palestine), in which the SA.GAZ or Ḫabiru were prominent; the Egyptian kings seem to have lost interest in their satellite kings in Palestine. One of Akhenaten's successors was Tutankhamen, "King Tut," whose tomb yielded such a fabulously rich collection. The 19th Dynasty was inaugurated by Ramses I (1314–1309), who was succeeded by Seti I (1309–1291). The greatest king, however, was Ramses II (1290–1224), who left colossal monuments over all of Egypt from Abu Simbel on the border of Nubia to Tanis in the Delta. The building of Pithom and Raamses by the Hebrew slaves (Ex. 1:11) is connected by some scholars with the building operations of Ramses II. Of great significance for the date of the Exodus is the fact that Ramses II had a second capital at Avaris. The other kings of the 18th and 19th Dynasties, except for Akhenaten, had their capital at Thebes, 500 mi. (800 km.) to the south. Ramses extended the borders of Egypt southward into Nubia, and claimed victory over the Hittites at Qadesh on the Orontes; but subsequent history indicates that the battle of Qadesh was the end of Ramses' operations in Asia. Merneptah, successor of Ramses II, has left the first known reference to Israel in his stele. The 20th Dynasty (1197–1085 B.C.) is known as the Ramesside Dynasty, for after the first

F. 第二中间时期(约公元前1786—1573年)。中王国后期埃及人内部自相残杀,加之外部环境动荡,一度辉煌的中王国最终瓦解。根据阿弗里卡纳斯(Africanus)对曼涅托的朝代表的理解,埃及第十五王朝有6个“牧人国王”,通常人们称这一王朝为希克索斯王朝。第十六和第十七王朝也是由“牧人国王”统治埃及。曼涅托认为这三个王朝的217位国王统治了埃及1590年。但是第十二王朝的结束时间恰好与天狼星偕日升日期重合(1877;见上文II.C);根据“四百年石碑”上的记载,希克索斯王朝在阿瓦里斯城建都时间要比塞提一世向神塞特努提(智慧之神)献祭的时间(大约公元前1330年)早400年,也就是大约公元前1730年。因此第二中间时期缩短至大约200年的时间。人们通常认为,约瑟的后裔跟随约瑟的父亲和兄弟都生活在这一历史时期。

G. 新王国时期(帝国时期)(公元前1570–1085年)。阿赫摩斯一世(1573–1550)是第十八王朝的创立者,他将外邦统治者驱逐出埃及。虽然约瑟夫斯认为《圣经》中以色列人出埃及与这一历史事件相关,但是这一推测非常值得怀疑(见EXODUS[出埃及记])。阿蒙霍特普一世、图特摩斯一世和图特摩斯三世在位时期,他们将埃及的疆域扩张到幼发拉底河流域(直至米坦尼王国的纳林)。埃及人在亚洲发动了很多战争,在亚洲的很多地区都能发现埃及人的遗迹。但是,当我们研究以色列人出埃

及的时间时，务必要注意当时埃及的都城是在底比斯。阿蒙霍特普四世发动了对阿蒙祭司的战争，后来，阿蒙霍特普四世改名为亚肯那顿，定都阿克塔顿，也就是今天的亚玛拿。亚玛拿时期的艺术显示出埃及一些地方的艺术取得了革命性进步。亚玛拿泥版中提到了哈皮鲁人居住区瑞德鲁（巴勒斯坦）的动荡局面；埃及的君主们似乎不再关心他们在巴勒斯坦的附属国国王。亚肯那顿之后的一位继任者是图坦卡蒙，也就是“图坦王”，图坦王的陵墓中出土了大量的古物。拉美西斯一世（1314–1309）是第十九王朝的开国君主，塞提一世（1309–1291）是其继任者。但是最伟大的君主却是拉美西斯二世（1290–1224），从努比亚边境的阿布辛贝勒到尼罗河三角洲的坦尼斯，在埃及全境都能发现拉美西斯二世留下的大量历史遗迹。一些学者认为希伯来仆人建造的两座积货城——比东和兰塞（出 1:11）属于拉美西斯二世时期的建筑。拉美西斯二世在阿瓦里斯建造了第二都城，这座城市对于学者们研究以色列人出埃及的时间具有重要的意义。第十八和第十九王朝的其他法老（亚肯那顿除外）的都城都设在底比斯，也就是阿瓦里斯以南 500 英里（800 公里）的地方。拉美西斯二世将埃及的领土向南扩张到努比亚境内，他在奥龙特斯河岸的卡迭石战胜了赫人；但是后来的历史表明拉美西斯在卡迭石战役结束了拉美西斯二世在亚细亚的扩张。麦伦普塔是拉美西斯二世的王位继承人，麦伦普塔的石碑上首次提到了以色列。埃及的第二十王朝时期（公元前 1197–1085 年）也称作拉美西斯王朝时期，因为除了这一时期的首位君主赛特纳克特外，所有的法老都叫拉美西斯（从拉美西斯三世至拉美西斯十一世）。埃及的鼎盛时期结束了。

H. Late Dynastic Period (1085–332 B.C.). The closing period of Egypt's dynastic history is of relative insignificance, from artistic or political viewpoints, but it is in this period that the names of Egyptian pharaohs first come into the biblical account. Sheshonq I (950–930) is generally identified as the pharaoh who gave Gezer as a dowry to Solomon (1 K. 9:16; cf. 11:40). The mummy of Sheshonq was found at Tanis. There is considerable confusion about the chronology of the 22nd to 25th Dynasties, and considerable overlapping must be allowed. Pharaohs of the 25th (Cushite or Ethiopian) Dynasty are mentioned in the biblical account, including So (2 K. 17:4; the identification is very problematic) and Tirhakah (2 K. 19:9; Isa. 37:9). Esarhaddon captured Memphis in 671 and Ashurbanipal sacked Thebes in 663. Neco II of the 26th Dynasty is mentioned in 2 K. 23:29–35 and 2 Ch. 35:20–24; 36:4. Hophra (Jer. 44:30) is identified with Apries (588–568) of the same dynasty. The 27th Dynasty was Persian (Cambyses to Darius II). From the Aramaic papyri discovered in Egypt we know that there was a Jewish colony at Elephantine. With the conquest of Egypt by Alexander the Great, the dynastic history came to an end (332 B.C.).

H. 后帝国时期 (公元前 1085–332 年)。从艺术和政治角度来看, 埃及王朝后期的历史相对不太重要, 但是, 《圣经》中提到的埃及法老就是这一时期的法老。舍松挈一世 (950–930) 将基色城赐给他女儿所罗门的妻作妆奁 (王上 9:16; 参: 王上 11:40)。人们在坦尼斯发现了舍松挈的木乃伊。第二十二王朝与第二十五王朝的年代代表相当的混乱, 因此不可避免地存在大量时间上的重叠。《圣经》中提到了第二十五王朝的很多法老 (古实人或埃塞俄比亚人), 其中包括埃及王梭 (王下 17:4, 很难确定这位埃及法老的身份) 和古实王特哈加 (王下 19:9; 赛 37:9)。公元前 671 年以撒哈顿占领了孟斐斯, 公元前 663 年亚述巴尼帕占领了埃及的底比斯。《旧约》也有多处经文提到了第二十六王朝的法老尼哥二世 (王下 23:29-35; 代下 35:20-24; 36:4)。《耶利米书》44:30 中提到的合弗拉也就是二十二六王朝的法老阿普里伊 (公元前 588–568 年)。第二十七王朝是波斯王朝 (从冈比西斯到大流士二世)。根据埃及出土的亚兰语蒲草纸文献中的记载, 在埃及象岛有一个犹太人聚落。亚历山大大帝征服埃及之后, 埃及王朝最终覆灭 (公元前 332 年)。

I. Ptolemaic Period (332–30 B.C.). After the division of Alexander's empire, the Ptolemies (I to XIII) ruled Egypt, followed by Cleopatra VII (44–30 B.C.). The Romans occupied Egypt in 30 B.C.

I. 多利买王朝时期 (公元前 332–30 年)。亚历山大大帝国分裂后, 多利买王朝开始统治埃及 (多利买一世至多利买十三世), 之后, 克里欧佩特拉七世 (公元前 44-30 年) 继续统治埃及。公元前 30 年, 罗马人占领了埃及。

IV. Archeological Discoveries of Significance for Biblical Studies. IV. 考古发现对《圣经》研究的意义。

A. Pyramids. On the surface, there is no reason to connect the great pyramids (built ca. 2600 B.C.) with biblical studies. However, in the 19th cent. fantastic theories were published, and received widespread acceptance, suggesting that the Great Pyramid of Gîzeh (i.e., that of Cheops or Khufu) is the monument mentioned in Isa. 19:19, and that all of its dimensions have significance. Even the date of the Second Coming of Christ was supposedly foretold by these measurements. More recently a Swiss author has suggested that the great pyramids were built by “gods” who visited this planet from outer space. The biblical scholar would do well to study the works by I. E. S. Edwards, The Pyramids of Egypt (rev. ed. 1960) and A. Fakhry, The Pyramids (1961), and become acquainted with the factual material. The pyramids are truly tremendous monuments of Egyptian architectural and engineering genius. They are tombs of the pharaohs. They are neither charts to foretell the future, nor monuments of the so-called gods from another solar system.

B. Tombs. Except for those who built pyramids, the pharaohs were commonly buried in tombs, many of them in the Valley of the Kings near Luxor. The best known of these is the spectacular tomb of Tutankhamen, discovered by H. Carter in 1922. The evidence of great wealth found in these tombs is impressive, but of little value for biblical studies. More important are the wall decorations, which show many of the details of everyday life in ancient Egypt.

A. 金字塔。从表面上看，我们没有理由把大金字塔（约建于公元前 2600 年）与《圣经》研究联系到一起。但是，19 世纪出现了许多不可思议的理论，而且它们得到了广泛的认可，根据这些理论的推测，《以赛亚书》19:19 中提到的历史遗迹就是伟大的吉萨金字塔（即基奥普斯金字塔，或胡夫金字塔），这个金字塔的所有建筑尺寸都有重要的研究价值，这些尺寸甚至有可能预言了基督复临的日期。前不久，一位瑞士作家认为埃及的大金字塔是由外太空的“神”造访地球时建造的。《圣经》研究学者应该研究一下爱德华 (I. E. S. Edwards) 的著作 The Pyramids of Egypt (1960 年修订版)。法赫里 (A. Fakhry) 的作品 The Pyramids (1961) 是关于这方面研究的可靠材料。埃及的金字塔是埃及真正的惊人古迹，也是真正的建筑杰作。它们是法老的陵墓。但金字塔不能预测未来，也不是所谓其他太阳系的神明留下的遗迹。

B. 墓穴。除了修建金字塔的法老外，其他的法老在死后一般都埋葬在墓穴中，许多法老的坟墓位于卢克索附近的帝王谷中。其中最著名的坟墓是 1922 年由卡特 (H. Carter) 在考古中发现的图特卡蒙的陵墓。这些陵墓中发现的大量证据给人留下了深刻的印象，但对圣经研究没有多大价值。比较有价值的是墓穴墙壁上的装饰，它们展现了古埃及人日常生活的诸多细节。

C. Mummies. The Egyptian custom of mummification, preserving the body of the dead king, queen, or person of noble birth, is mentioned in connection with the deaths of Jacob and Joseph (Gen. 50:2f, 26). Because the bodies were so well preserved we have visual access to the mummified persons of kings Seti I, Ramses II, Sheshonq, and others. Thus their historic reality helps make biblical interpretation more vivid.

D. Inscriptions. The exceedingly great number of inscriptions (cf. J. H. Breasted, Ancient Records of Egypt [5 vols., 1906–1907]) on walls, stelae, statues, etc., makes it impossible for the biblical scholar to have more than a passing acquaintance with some of them. We have already mentioned several king lists, important for chronology, and the Merneptah stele with the first mention of Israel (yšrr; Egyptian has no sign for l, so n and r are often used to represent l, and scholarly consensus holds that Israel is intended). A number of inscriptions by “King” Hatshepsut, the woman who ruled Egypt (1490–1468), may be worth studying, particularly because she is sometimes put forth as the “Pharaoh’s daughter” who adopted the baby Moses (Ex. 2:3–10), or because the miraculous birth of Hatshepsut is preferred to counteract the effect of biblical miracle stories. The Seven Lean Years is an account of seven years of famine which were to be followed by years of plenty according to the promise of the god Khnum. The setting is in the reign of Djoser of the 3rd Dynasty (ca. 2700 B.C.), but the inscription is from the Ptolemaic period, around the end of the 2nd cent. B.C. (cf. J. Vandier, La famine dans

C. 木乃伊。《旧约》中关于雅各和约瑟寿终时的描述，提到了埃及人薰尸的常例（创 50:2-3, 26），埃及人将去世的国王、王后或贵族的尸体制成干尸即木乃伊保存下来。由于塞提一世、拉美西斯二世和舍松契等多位法老的尸体保存完好，所以我们可以根据他们的木乃伊来复原他们的样貌。因此他们参与的真实的历史使解经变得更加生动。

D. 铭文。圣经研究学者在墙面、石碑、雕塑上发现的铭文（参：J. H. Breasted, Ancient Records of Egypt [卷 5, 1906–1907]）浩如烟海，他们想要对其中一部分铭文有一知半解，都难上加难。我们上文已经提到了一些王朝年代表，它们在年代学中具有重要的地位，麦伦普塔赫石碑是第一个提到以色列的石碑（yšrr；埃及语中没有 l 这个字母，所以埃及人经常用 n 和 r 代替 l，学者们一致认为这个词指的是以色列）。埃及“女王”哈特谢普苏特（公元前 1490-1468 年）时期的铭文值得研究，特别是因为她有时被认为是收养婴儿摩西的那个“法老的女儿”（出 2:3-10），或是因为哈特谢普苏特奇迹般的降生盖过了《圣经》中神奇故事的影响力。The Seven Lean Years 中记载道：根据努姆神的预言，七年的荒年之后将是富足之年。预言的背景是左塞尔法老统治下的埃及第三王朝（约公元前 2700 年），但这篇铭文却是多利买王朝（约公元前 2 世纪末）时期的铭文（参：J. Vandier, La famine dans l'Égypte ancienne [1936], 132–139 页；ANET, 31-32 页）。圣经研究学者经常将《太阳颂》（Hymn to Aton）与《诗篇》104 进行比较（参：J. H. Breasted, Dawn of Conscience [1933], 366–370 页）。《太阳颂》阐明了阿蒙霍特普四世（亚肯那顿）的“一神论”，由于其中提出了“一神教”的 l'Égypte ancienne [1936], pp. 132–39; ANET, pp. 31f.). The Hymn to Aton is often compared to Ps. 104 (cf. J. H. Breasted, Dawn of Conscience [1933], pp. 366–370). It sets forth the “monotheism” of Amenhotep IV (Akhenaten), and deserves careful study in view of extreme claims that have been made both with reference to monotheism and concerning the relationship of this “hymn” to Ps. 104 (cf. N. de G. Davies, Rock Tombs of El Amarna, VI [1908], plate XXVII; ANET, pp. 369–371). Many other inscriptions of significance for OT studies are readily available in works such as ANET, DOTT, and Breasted, Ancient Records of Egypt.

E. Excavations at Tanis. Because of the Egyptian religious beliefs, buildings for this life (built mostly on the east bank of the Nile) were made of rather temporary materials, while those for the ka (the protective genius, the vital force, the true self) and the purified body were made of permanent materials. As a result, little is known of the common buildings. At Tanis, however, we see the remains of buildings or storerooms built of mud brick, some of the bricks bearing the stamp-seal of Ramses II (cf. Ex. 1:14; 5:7f.). The biblical account of the plagues suggests that the Israelites and Moses were located reasonably near the dwelling of Pharaoh (cf. Ex. 7:15). According to one tradition, which claims support from the fact that the nearby river is called Bahr Yûsûf, “river/sea of Joseph,” the Hebrew slaves were in the Faiyûm. But the story of the actual flight of the Hebrews from Egypt (Ex. 13:17–20) seems to require a location in the eastern Delta, and the subsequent events suggest that Pharaoh’s forces were stationed nearby (Ex. 14:5–10). The location of Tanis, on the very edge of the fertile region of the eastern Delta, fits these requirements. The pharaohs of the 18th Dynasty (except for the brief Amarna period) had their capital at Thebes. Ramses II and succeeding kings of the 19th and 20th Dynasties had an alternate capital at Avaris. It is remarkable that the name Ramses (Ramesses or Ra`messe) comes into Egyptian history for the first time in the 19th Dynasty, while the name Raamses (Ra`amses) is used in the Exodus account in Ex. 1:11. A few scholars, however, locate Ramses' capital at Qantir, 11 mi. (18 km.) S of Tanis.

极端想法，并与《诗篇》104 有一定的关系，所以这篇颂诗值得仔细研究（参：N. de G. Davies, Rock Tombs of El Amarna, VI [1908], 彩图 XXVII; ANET, 369–371 页）。在一些作品中（如，ANET, DOTT 和 Breasted, Ancient Records of Egypt）可以看到其他有助于《旧约》研究的重要铭文。

E. 塔尼斯考古发掘。由于埃及人的宗教信仰，当时建筑（大多数建筑位于尼罗河的东岸）都是由临时材料建成的，而灵魂（守护精灵、生机、真我）建筑和安放圣洁身体的建筑是用耐用材料建成的。因此，埃及的公共建筑很罕见。然而，我们在塔尼斯却看到了泥砖结构的建筑或库房的遗迹，而且有些砖块上依然留有拉美西斯二世的印章（参：出 1:14; 5:7-8）。《圣经》中对灾难的描述表明，以色列人和摩西那时极有可能住在法老的宫殿附近（参：出 7:15）。一个传说证明附近的河流被称为“约瑟的河或海”（Bahr Yûsûf），以色列人就住在法尤姆（Faiyûm）。但是，以色列人出埃及时，他们似乎在尼罗河三角洲东侧（出 13:17-20），而后来的历史事件表明埃及法老的军队就驻扎在以色列人的安营地附近（出 14:5-10）。塔尼斯恰好处在土壤肥沃的尼罗河三角洲的东部边缘，所以以色列人当时有可能就住在塔尼斯。第十八王朝的法老们（除了短暂的亚玛拿时期）都将都城建在底比斯，而拉美西斯二世和后来埃及第十九王朝和第二十王朝的法老建立了一个陪都——阿瓦里斯。值得注意的是，

F. Hatshepsut. Since Queen Hatshepsut (1490–1468 B.C.), has sometimes been identified as the “Pharaoh’s daughter” who took the baby Moses and raised him as her son, some attention may be given to certain details known of her reign. There is some confusion, but it appears that Hatshepsut was the daughter of Thutmose I and the wife of Thutmose II; hence, she had a strong claim to the throne. There was another claimant, a son of Thutmose II by a concubine who reigned as Thutmose III (1490–1436), but who was apparently kept under ward by Hatshepsut for more than twenty years, during which time she reigned as “king,” wearing men’s clothing and sometimes also the symbolic false beard. Her funerary temple at Deir el-Bahri is one of the noblest architectural remains in all Egypt. Among other archeological remains is an inscription on the north wall of a portico between the Fourth and Fifth Pylons at Karnak, telling of the queen’s miraculous conception and birth. Guides at Karnak have been known to point to this inscription and tell how it records the miraculous finding of her “son,” suggesting the Moses story. But there are serious objections to identifying Hatshepsut as Moses’ adoptive mother. For one thing, the 18th Dynasty was located at Thebes and had no known building complexes in the eastern Delta. Then there is the matter of chronology: if the Exodus occurred in 1446 B.C. when Moses was 80 years of age (he died forty years later at 120), then he was born in 1526 and became a fugitive ca. 1486—at which time Hatshepsut would have been the reigning “king.” It is unlikely that we can apply Ex. 2:15 to Hatshepsut, and it is even less likely that the daughter of Thutmose I would have been bathing in the Nile in the eastern Delta or that the baby Moses would have been placed in a basket among the reeds at Thebes.

G. Papyrus Discoveries. A great many documents written on papyrus have been discovered in Egypt. Some of these are noteworthy for biblical studies. The Story of Sinuhe dates from the 20th cent. B.C., and MSS are found from ca. 1800 to ca. 1000 B.C. It tells of the exile of an Egyptian official, and describes life of that period in Canaan (for the text, see A. M. Blackman, Middle-Egyptian Stories [1932], pp. 1–41; ANET, pp. 18–22). The Tale of Two Brothers is sometimes suggested as the original of the story of Joseph and Potiphar’s wife, but without good reasons (cf. A. H. Gardiner, Late-Egyptian Stories [1932], pp. 9–29; ANET, pp. 23–25). The Travels of Wen-Amon tells of a journey by an official of the temple of Amon to Byblos to procure lumber (cedars of Lebanon?), in the 12th or 11th cent. B.C., and furnishes many details of geography and customs in Canaan (cf. Gardiner,

G. 蒲草纸考古发现。人们在埃及发现了大量蒲草纸文献, 其中一些文献值得圣经学者进行研究。《辛努海的故事》(Story of Sinuhe) 可以追溯到公元前 20 世纪, 而在大约公元前 1800 年至公元前 1000 年期间, 人们才发现它的原稿。这一文献讲述了埃及一官员被流放的故事, 并描述了当时迦南的生活场景 (具体内容, 见 A. M. Blackman, Middle-Egyptian Stories [1932], 1–41 页; ANET, 18–22 页)。《两兄弟的故事》(Tale of Two Brothers) 有时被认为是约瑟和波提乏妻子的故事的来源, 但是没有任何可靠的证据可以证明这一点 (参: A. H. Gardiner, Late-Egyptian Stories [1932], 9–29 页; ANET, 23–25 页)。《Travels of Wen-Amon 讲述了公元前 12 世纪或 11 世纪阿蒙神庙中一名神职人员来到比布鲁斯, 想要获取当地的木材 (可能是黎巴嫩香柏) 的故事, 这一作品增加了人们对于迦南的地形和风俗细节的了解 (参: Gardiner, Late-Egyptian Stories, 61–76 页; ANET, 25–29 页)。

Late-Egyptian Stories, pp. 61–76; ANET, pp. 25–29). The Wisdom of Ptahhotep is a compilation of wisdom sayings supposedly from Ptahhotep, the vizier of King Djedkare Isesi (5th Dynasty, ca. 2450 B.C.). (Cf. G. Möller, Hieratische Lesestücke [2nd ed. 1927], I, 2f.; E. Dévaud, Les Maximes de Ptah-hotep [1916]; ANET, pp. 412–14.). The early date of this type of literature is particularly significant in view of many claims that wisdom literature came very late to Israel. The Instruction of Ani is also a type of the wisdom genre, instructions from a “father” to his “son,” dating from the Empire (ca. 12th cent. B.C.), although the principal MS is a papyrus of the 21st or 22nd Dynasty (11th – 8th cent. B.C.). (Cf. E. Suys, La sagesse d’Ani [1935]; ANET, pp. 420f.) The Wisdom of Amenemope is remarkably like Prov. 22:17 – 24:22, and the claim has often been made that it is the source of these biblical proverbs (cf. A. Erman, “Eine ägyptische Quelle der ‘Sprüche Salomos,’ ” Sitzungsberichte der preussischen Akademie der Wissenschaften [May 1924], pp. 86–93; H. Gressmann, ZAW, 42 [1924], 273–296; standard text: H. O. Lange, Das Weisheitsbuch des Amenemope [1925]; ANET, pp. 421–25). The Admonitions of Ipuwer is sometimes described as “prophetic,” in the sense that Ipuwer stood before a pharaoh (possibly one of the last rulers of the 16th Dynasty) and placed the blame for deteriorating conditions on the past and present administrations (cf. A. H. Gardiner, Admonitions of an Egyptian Sage [1909]; ANET, pp. 441–44).

The Aramaic papyri from Elephantine contain various types of documents from the 5th cent. B.C., most of them precisely dated in the Persian period (cf. A. E. Cowley, Aramaic Papyri of the Fifth Century B.C. [1923]). For studies of the text of the NT the papyri found at Oxyrhynchus have been very important (cf. G. Maldfeld and B. M. Metzger, JBL, 68 [1949], 359–370). The Coptic Gnostic documents discovered at Nag Hammadi in the 1940's were published in the 1970's. They lie just beyond the biblical period, but will be of considerable value in the study of the development of Gnostic and early Christian thought. See also PAPYRUS.

Wisdom of Ptahhotep 收录了可能由普塔霍特普所说的至理名言，普塔霍特普是第五王朝法老杰德卡拉统治时期（约公元前 2450 年）的官员。（参：G. Möller, Hieratische Lesestücke [1927 年第二版], I, 2-3; E. Dévaud, Les Maximes de Ptah-hotep [1916]; ANET, 412–414 页）。早期智慧文学作品具有特殊的意义，因为很多人都认为这种文学体裁很晚才传入以色列。Instruction of Ani 也是一部智慧文学作品——“父亲”对“儿子”的教导，这部作品可以追溯至帝国时期（约公元前 12 世纪），虽然其主要的手稿是第二十一王朝或第二十二王朝（公元前 11 世纪至公元前 8 世纪）的一份蒲草纸文献。（参：E. Suys, La sagesse d’Ani [1935]; ANET, 420-421 页）。Wisdom of Amenemope 一书与《箴言》22:17-24:22 非常相似，常常有人认为《圣经》中的《箴言》就源于这本书（参：A. Erman, “Eine ägyptische Quelle der ‘Sprüche Salomos,’ ” Sitzungsberichte der preussischen Akademie der Wissenschaften [1924 五月], 86–93 页; H. Gressmann, ZAW, 42 [1924], 273–296; 标准本：H. O. Lange, Das Weisheitsbuch des Amenemope [1925]; ANET, 421–425 页）。《易卜术的忠告》（Admonitions of Ipuwer）常被认为是一部“预言书”，因为易卜术（Ipuwer）在埃及法老面前（可能是第十六王朝的最后一位法老）痛斥埃及历史上和当时日益腐败的统治（参：A. H. Gardiner, Admonitions of an Egyptian Sage [1909]; ANET, 441–444 页）。

H. Amarna Letters. A flood of light was thrown on several problems by the accidental discovery and subsequent publication of the tablets from Tell el-Amarna. They have been helpful for such matters as the synchronizing of Egyptian history with that of the Hittites, Assyrians, and other nations; details of Palestinian political and social conditions in the 15th and 14th cent. B.C.; linguistic fine points (with the aid of Canaanite "glosses" in the Akkadian documents, as well as for dialect studies in Akkadian); treaties both in Hittite and Akkadian; and internal problems in the Egyptian political structure. (See also AMARNA TABLETS.)

I. Manetho's List and other King Lists. Egyptian history has long been reconstructed on the basis of a chronicle of Egyptian kings made by Manetho, priest of Heliopolis early in the 3rd cent. B.C. The original work is not extant, but there are edited extracts in the writings of Josephus, and an abridgement, somewhat garbled, in the works of Sextus Julius Africanus (early 3rd cent. A.D.) and

准确地说,其中大多数文献是在波斯帝国时期写成的(参:A. E. Cowley, Aramaic Papyri of the Fifth Century B.C. [1923])。在俄克喜林库斯发现的蒲草纸对于研究《新约》具有极其重要的价值(参:G. Maldfeld 和 B. M. Metzger, JBL, 68 [1949], 359–370)。20世纪40年代,人们在拿哈玛地区发现了诺斯底教派的科普特语文献,并于20世纪70年代公布了这些文献。这些文献超出了《圣经》研究的范围,但是它们对于研究诺斯底教派的发展和早期基督徒的思想具有重要的价值。另见PAPYRUS(蒲草纸)。

H. 亚玛拿泥版。偶然的发现和后来公开的亚玛拿泥版为人们解决一些难题提供了极大的启发。这些泥版对解决多个问题都有帮助:如,它们将埃及的历史与赫人、亚述人和其他民族的历史进行同步比较;提供了关于公元前15世纪和14世纪巴勒斯坦政治和社会景况的细节;提供了理解迦南语的要点(在阿卡德语文献中迦南语“注释”和阿卡德语方言研究的辅助下);赫人与阿卡德人签订的条约以及埃及政治结构的内部问题。(另见AMARNA TABLETS[亚玛拿泥版])。

I. 曼涅托王表和其他法老名目。很久以前人们根据公元前3世纪赫利奥波利斯的祭司曼涅托编纂的列王表还原了埃及的历史。最初的列王表已不复存在,但是约瑟夫斯的作品摘录了其中的内容。阿非利加努斯(Sextus Julius Africanus, 公元3世纪早期)和优西比乌(Eusebius, 公元4世纪早期)的作品中节选了这个列王表,并篡改了一些内容,大约公元800年辛凯路斯

Eusebius (early 4th cent. A.D.), edited by Syncellus ca. A.D. 800. This work is now supplemented by other discoveries. The Turin Papyrus, a hieratic papyrus from the early 13th cent. B.C., agrees closely with Manetho's list for the first six dynasties, but after the 12th Dynasty it adds many names, some of which are "of so fantastic an appearance that they are unlikely to have belonged to any real kings" (Gardiner). The Table of Abydos is a list of kings inscribed on the walls of the temple at Abydos, in which Seti I (1309–1291) and his son Ramses are making offerings to seventy-six of their ancestors. The Table of Saqqârah originally had the cartouches of fifty-seven kings honored by Ramses II, but, because of damage to the wall, only about fifty can now be read. In the great temple of Karnak, the Table of Karnak contained sixty-one names, of which forty-eight were legible when the table was discovered in 1825. The names of the kings in this list are not given in order, hence certain names that were omitted in the other lists cannot be inserted with any assurance.

ARCHEOLOGY OF GREECE AND ROME.

Before the 19th cent. neither Greece nor Italy was in a position to preserve or to investigate adequately her past. Greece did not win formal independence from the Ottoman empire until 1832, and Italy did not become a fully united power with Rome as capital until 1870. Before these pivotal dates ancient structures often were valued only as quarries for building material, and clandestine hunts for museum pieces frequently passed for archeological investigations. When an opportunity to begin archeological projects did exist, neither government found itself with sufficient funds or qualified personnel. So, at least in the early days, these governments turned to foreign help. Now, however, highly qualified archeologists of both countries are in the field. Nationals now conduct most archeological work in Italy, but in Greece important projects remain in the hands of foreign teams.

ARCHEOLOGY OF GREECE AND ROME.

在 19 世纪之前，希腊和意大利两国都未能很好地保护历史遗迹，也没有充分地研究本国的历史。希腊直到 1832 年才最终从奥斯曼帝国中独立出来，而意大利直到 1870 年才最终实现统一，建都罗马。在这两个关键日期之前，古代建筑经常被人们忽视，只有在为建筑搜寻石材时才会想到这些古建筑，而为博物馆偷偷搜罗珍品时经常打着考古研究的幌子。当人们真正开始进行考古发掘时，政府既拿不出充足的资金，也不能提供合格的考古人员。因此，至少在考古研究早期，两国政府仍然需要向外国寻求帮助。但是，现在这两个国家都有了高素质的考古专家。如今，意大利人进行着本国的大部分考古工作，但是希腊的重要的考古项目依然需要外国的科考团队来完成。

I. Greece.

A. History of Greek Archeology. Soon after Greek independence, interest was kindled in antiquities of that country. The Greek Archaeological Society was founded in 1836, the French in 1846, the German in 1874, the American in 1882, the British in 1886, the Austrian in 1898, the Italian in 1909, and the Swedish after World War II.

Even before these schools went into action, some individual efforts were begun. But Greek archeology did not develop effectively until the last decades of the 19th cent. and did not come to full flower until the 20th century. To a real extent the story of Greek archeology began not in Greece but in Asia Minor; the two areas are linked in what is called Aegean archeology. H. Schliemann's successes at Troy, beginning in 1870, led him to work at Mycenae on mainland Greece. There in 1876 he announced that he had found the remains of Agamemnon. Actually he had uncovered Grave Circle A, with its magnificent collection of Mycenaean gold objects. He also worked at the nearby Mycenaean center of Tiryns.

A. 希腊考古历史。希腊获得独立后不久，希腊人考古的热情日益高涨。希腊考古学会于 1836 年成立，其他国家考古学会成立的时间分别是：法国 1846 年，德国 1874 年，美国 1882 年，英国 1886 年，奥地利 1898 年，意大利 1909 年，瑞典考古学会成立的时间是在二战之后。

甚至在这些考古组织进行考古研究之前，个别人已经开始在希腊考古。但是直到 19 世纪最后十年，希腊考古工作才取得显著的进步，并且在 20 世纪全面展开考古工作。希腊人的考古历史实际上并不是从希腊开始的，而是从小亚细亚开始的。这两个地区都在爱琴海考古的范围内。施里曼（H. Schliemann）从 1870 年开始在特洛伊城进行考古发掘，并取得了成功，于是他开始挖掘希腊本土的迈锡尼文明遗址。他在 1876 年宣布他找到了阿伽门农遗址。实际上，他发掘出了圆形墓葬 A，该墓葬中出土了大量迈锡尼文明时期的华丽金饰。他也在迈锡尼文明的中心城市附近——梯林斯进行了考古发掘。

Meanwhile, three other important excavations were launched in the Greek world. In 1872 on the Aegean island of Delos the French school began a dig that has continued intermittently until the present. At Olympia, beginning in 1874, the Germans launched a project that brought the ancient center back to life. Simultaneously the Austrians were digging on the island of Samothrace. The Germans and Austrians introduced a discipline and scientific spirit to Greek archeology that was to affect not only that field but others of the Mediterranean and Near East as well.

In the 1880's and 1890's extended excavations were launched in several parts of Greece. Greek archeologists D. Filios and A. Skias excavated the site of the Eleusinian Mysteries (1882-1910). Greek archeologists dug the whole Athenian acropolis area down to bedrock (1884-1891); C. Tsountas initiated a major dig for the Greek Archaeological Society at Mycenae (1884-1903). The Society also excavated the temple of Zeus in Athens (1886-1901). Three extensive campaigns began in the 1890's. In 1890

the Greek Archaeological Society began a dig at the Roman market in Athens that continued intermittently until 1931, the French School uncovered much of the site of Delphi (1892–1903), and in 1896 the American School of Classical Studies began the massive task of uncovering ancient Corinth, where they have continued to work.

希腊考古学会开始挖掘古罗马人在雅典的集市，他们的发掘工作时断时续，直到 1931 年才最终完成，而法国的一支考古队发掘了特尔斐的大部分遗址（1892–1903），1896 年美国古典研究院开始在古哥林多进行连续、大范围的考古挖掘。

During the 20th cent. Greek archeology has continued to improve. Archeological technique has been extensively refined. Minoan culture has been discovered and the knowledge of it amplified with continuing exploration. Numerous excavations have increased the knowledge of previously known Mycenaean culture. Work at Corinth has gone forward steadily, and the Athenian Agora has been almost completely uncovered. Sparta has been extensively studied, as has Philippi. Interesting work has been done at Pella, birthplace of Alexander the Great. It is not germane to biblical study to note numerous other digs relating to classical or early Hellenic periods.

Comments on Minoan and Mycenaean cultures of the Aegean area do deserve mention, however, because artifacts produced by these two cultures are found in excavations throughout the eastern Mediterranean world, and have significance for biblical studies. Moreover, if one is to accept the commonly held view that Crete is Caphtor (home of the Philistines) and that the Philistines are somehow connected with Mycenaean developments, it is necessary to give attention to early Aegean archeology.

Foremost in Minoan studies was A. Evans, who worked at Knossos in northern Crete from 1900 until his death in 1941, and uncovered the site that first revealed Minoan culture. J. Evans (1958–1961) and S. Hood (1960–1961) led subsequent British excavations at Knossos. L. Pernier began an extended Italian School dig at the Cretan palace of Phaistos in the south of Crete beginning in 1900. Late in the 1950's and the 1960's the Italians returned to Phaistos under the leadership of D. Levi. Several other Minoan sites have been investigated.

Meanwhile, considerable work has been done on Mycenaean sites. At Mycenae itself Greek expeditions conducted excavations before World War I and A. J. B. Wace worked there between the wars and from 1950 to 1955; since 1963 excavation there has been entrusted to G. Mylonas. Nearby Tiryns drew the attention of W. Dorpfeld before World War I and K. Müller after the war. In 1939 C. Blegen found at Pylos what he identified as the palace of Nestor; he returned in 1952 for extended excavations at the site. Discoveries at numerous sites of tablets written in an early Greek script known as Linear B provided M. Ventris with materials on which he based a successful decipherment in 1952.

然而,值得一提的是爱琴海地区的米诺安文明和迈锡尼文明,因为在整个地中海东部地区考古时,发现了这两大文明遗址中的许多古物,这些古物对于《圣经》研究具有重要的意义。而且,如果人们接受克里特岛就是迦斐托(非利士人的家乡),非利士人对迈锡尼文明的发展做出过贡献,那么我们就必须关注爱琴海地区的早期考古。

In addition to the extensive attention to Minoan and Mycenaean sites in this century, and the continuing projects already noted at places like Corinth, Athens, and Delos, numerous other significant excavations have been carried on in Greece. For example, the British School excavated at Sparta (1906–1910, 1924–1929), the French School at Philippi (1914–1938), Greek archeologists at Eleusis (1919–1932), the American School of Classical Studies on the north slope of the Athenian Acropolis (1931–1939), the American School in the Athenian Agora (1931–1940, since 1946), the Germans at Olympia since World War II, the American School at the Isthmus of Corinth (since 1952), and the Greek Archaeological Service at Pella (since 1957).

B. Sites of Biblical Significance. Nine Greek cities are mentioned in the NT in connection with the ministry of Paul and his companions. Four have undergone no organized excavation (Apollonia, Beroea, Neapolis, and Thessalonica) and hence receive no comment here. The other five (Amphipolis, Athens, Corinth, Cenchreae, and Philippi) are noted briefly; more extensive comments appear in the separate articles in this encyclopedia. In addition, since excavations at Eleusis and Delphi have significance for the religious development of Greece, they require attention here.

年开始，政府委托米洛纳斯（G. Mylonas）继续对迈锡尼古城进行考古研究。一战前，梯林斯附近地区引起了多普费尔特（W. Dorpfeld）的注意，一战后，缪勒（K. Müller）继续对这一地区进行考古研究。1939年，布利根（C. Blegen）在皮洛斯特城发现了涅斯托尔的宫殿遗址。1952年，他返回该遗址继续进行挖掘，许多考古遗址中出土了刻有希腊线形文字 B 的石碑，文特里斯（M. Ventris）根据这些石碑上的文字，于 1952 年成功地破译了这种文字。

B. 《圣经》中的重要希腊城市。《新约》中提到了保罗和他的同工在传道过程中所经过的九座希腊城市。其中的四座城市，考古人员尚未展开过有序的发掘（这四座城市是：亚波罗尼亚、庇哩亚、尼亚波利和帖撒罗尼迦），因此本文不予讨论。本文对另外五座城市（暗妃波里、雅典、哥林多、坚革哩和腓立比）做了简短的描述；在本书的分词条中，

1. Amphipolis. Paul's first stop on the road from Philippi to Thessalonica was Amphipolis, about 30 mi. (50 km.) SW of Philippi. The Greek Archaeological Service excavated S of the acropolis of Amphipolis in 1920, uncovering the foundations of an early Christian basilica and the "Lion of Amphipolis," a stone sculpture (4th cent. B.C.) commemorating a victory. The lion has been properly mounted once more along the highway. The excavators also worked in the necropolis, about one mi. NW of the ancient town. There has not been a detailed archeological survey of the site, however.

1、暗妃波里。使徒保罗从腓立比前往帖撒罗尼迦传道时，他途径的第一站就是暗妃波里，该地位于腓立比西南 30 英里（50 公里）处。1920 年，希腊考古委员会挖掘了暗妃波里卫城的南部地区，并发现了早期基督教长方形会堂和一座“暗妃波里狮雕”，它是为庆祝胜利而建造的石雕（公元前 4 世纪）。这座狮雕后来被人们放在王道上。考古发掘人员在城西北 1 英里处发现了一个大墓地。但还没有对该遗址进行详细的考古研究。

2. Athens. ATHENS was still the great cultural center of Greece in NT times, though political prominence had passed to such cities as Corinth and Thessalonica. Much of the archeological effort in Athens has significance for NT study. The hub of Athenian life was the agora (marketplace), and there Paul reasoned daily with prospective converts (Acts 17:17). The American School of Classical Studies worked in the agora from 1931 to 1940 and from 1946 to 1960, and is now engaged in a campaign to complete excavation of the north end. The task has been prodigious, involving the removal of over 250,000 tons of earth and the discovery of about 68,000 objects in addition to 94,000 coins. The archeologists rebuilt the magnificent Stoa of Attalos (385 by 64 ft. [117 by 19.5 m.]) as the Agora Museum.

A few hundred feet E of the Greek agora lay the Roman market (forum), which housed wine and oil shops and which was dominated by the tower of the winds (a hydraulic clock). The Greek Archaeological Society undertook excavation of this area in 1890 and carried on intermittently until 1931.

From 1884 to 1891 Greek archeologists examined the entire Acropolis area down to bedrock. The Greek Archaeological Society also excavated the remains of the Odeion of Pericles in the 1920's. Several German scholars studied the theater of Dionysus. The American School of Classical Studies excavated the north slope of the Acropolis from 1931 to 1939 under the direction of O. Broneer. The great temple of Zeus, unfinished when Paul visited Athens, was excavated by the

希腊集市东侧几百英尺就是古罗马市场，当时的酒馆和油铺都位于这个市场上，从风之塔上可以俯瞰整个市场的景象（风之塔是一个液压钟楼）。1890 年，希腊考古委员会开始对这一遗址进行考古挖掘，挖掘工作断断续续，一直持续到 1931 年。

1884 年至 1891 年，希腊的考古学家一直致力于雅典卫城的考古探究。20 世纪 20 年代，希腊考古委员会对伯里克利剧场进行了考古发掘。多名德国学者研究了雅典的狄奥尼索斯剧场。1931 年至 1939 年，在美国考古学家布隆涅（O. Broneer）的带领下，美国古典研究学院对雅典卫城的北坡进行了挖掘。保罗来到雅典时，伟大的宙斯神庙尚未完工，希腊考古委员会（1886-1901）和德国的考古人员（1922-1923）都参与了这座神庙的挖掘。

Greek Archaeological Society between 1886 and 1901, and by the German School in 1922–1923.

3. Corinth. Because the apostle Paul spent eighteen months ministering at CORINTH (second only to Ephesus, where he stayed more than two years), the site holds special interest for biblical studies. The American School of Classical Studies began to excavate there in 1896 and has continued, except during war years.

The city and its acropolis were enclosed by a wall over 6 mi. (10 km.) long. Inside the city the agora (700 by 300 ft. [215 by 90 m.]), the Odeion (music hall), the theater, and the Asklepion (health center) have been excavated.

About 6 mi. (10 km.) E of Corinth at the Isthmus of Corinth was a sanctuary of Poseidon where games were held in honor of that god every two years. The American School of Classical Studies has been making annual digs there since 1952. They have excavated the temple of Poseidon, the 650-foot (200-meter) stadium, the theater, and an impressive propylaeum to the sanctuary with adjacent structures. Roman baths also have come to light there.

4. Cenchreae. CENCHREAE (Acts 18:18), the eastern port of Corinth, lay on the Saronic Gulf and so handled the city's Aegean and Asian trade. In 1963 and 1964 R. L. Scranton led a joint University of Chicago and Indiana University expedition there and worked on some remains at the water's edge, which were once thought to be a church but seem instead to have been a center of Isis

3、哥林多。因为使徒保罗在哥林多（见 CORINTH[哥林多]）传道 18 个月（保罗在哥林多传道时间仅次于他在以弗所的传道时间，他在以弗所传道两年多），所以哥林多是《圣经》研究中必须给予特别关注的一个地方。1896 年，美国古典研究学院开始挖掘哥林多城，除了战争时期，他们的发掘工作从未间断过。

哥林多与其卫城被超过 6 英里（10 公里）长的城墙包围着。城内挖掘出一个市场（700 英尺[215 米]×300 英尺[90 米]）、一座剧场（音乐厅）、一座戏院和阿斯克雷皮翁（疗养中心）。

哥林多以东约 6 英里（10 公里）处是哥林多地峡，在此处有一座波塞冬神庙，每两年在这里举行一次地峡运动会，以此纪念海神波塞冬。从 1952 年开始，美国古典研究学院每年都会在这里进行考古挖掘工作。他们发掘出了波塞冬神庙、一个 650 英尺（200 米）的体育场、一座剧院和一个令人印象深刻的神庙入口，以及毗邻建筑。罗马浴场也被发掘了出来。

4. 坚革哩。坚革哩（见 CENCHREAE[坚革哩]，徒 18:18）是哥林多东部的港口，位于塞隆尼克湾附近，它是哥林多与爱琴海和亚洲进行贸易的集散地。1963 年至 1964 年间，斯克兰顿（R. L. Scranton）率领由芝加哥大学与印第安纳大学的考古学者构成的联合科考队，开始在坚革哩展开考古探究，并对海湾边的建筑遗迹进行了发掘，他们在水边发现了一些遗迹，这些遗迹曾被认为是 worship later used as a warehouse.

一座教堂，但似乎是崇拜丰饶女神伊西斯的中心，后来被用作仓库。

5. Philippi. PHILIPPI stood inland, some 10 mi. (16 km.) NW of Neapolis (its port). The French School at Athens worked at the site from 1914 to 1936, and the Greek Archaeological Service has been active there since World War II. While important beginnings have been made, much remains to be excavated at Philippi. As usual, attention has focused on a limited number of major structures in the middle of the town (such as the agora). The agora, center of Greek life, where the mob scene took place and accusations were leveled against Paul and Silas (Acts 16:19f.), is a large rectangular area 300 ft. (90 m.) long and 150 ft. (45 m.) wide.

5、腓立比。腓立比（见 PHILIPPI[腓立比]）位于内陆地区，大约在尼亚波利（腓立比港口）西北 10 英里（16 公里）处。雅典的法国考古队于 1914 年至 1936 年在这里展开了考古挖掘，二战之后，希腊考古委员会在这里的考古活动也日益增多。虽然初期获得了重要的考古发现，但是此地仍然有很多遗迹有待发掘。考古学者通常将主要注意力都集中在城中心几个主要建筑物上，如城中的集市。集市是希腊人生活的中心，是市民集会的场所，当地人曾在市上指控保罗和西拉（徒 16:19-20），集市是一个长 300 英尺（90 米），宽 150 英尺（45 米）的大长方形区域。

The success of the gospel at Philippi is evident from the imposing ruins of great churches. At the south side of the agora stand the remains of a sixth-century church known as Basilica B. North of the agora lie the ruins of a large fifth-century church known as Basilica A. East of the agora in an area of more recent excavation may be seen the remains of another fifth-century church flanked by a third-century bath. Over 1000 ft. (300 m.) above the town towers the acropolis of Philippi. On its eastern slope are the well-preserved remains of a Greek theater built in the 4th cent. B.C., and nearby was a temple to Egyptian gods constructed early in the 1st cent. A.D.

壮观的教堂遗址证明了当时腓立比的福音传道工作取得了成功。集市南面发现了一个 6 世纪的教堂遗址，人们称它为长方形会堂 B。集市北面是一个 5 世纪大教堂的遗址，人们称之为长方形会堂 A。最近，考古人员在集市东侧发掘出了另一个 5 世纪的教堂遗址，这个教堂两侧各有一个 3 世纪的浴场。腓立比城上方 1000 英尺（300 米）的地方是一座卫城。在这个考古土丘的东坡上有一个保存完好的公元前 4 世纪的希腊剧场遗址，附近是一座献给埃及神的神庙，这个神庙大约建于 1 世纪初期。

6. Delphi. The oracle at Delphi, about 100 mi. (160 km.) NW of Athens, was significant in the ancient world from the 2nd millennium B.C. to the end of the 4th cent. A.D. There the Pythian Games took place, in honor of Apollo. The first private excavations at Delphi were made by a British officer, W. M. Leake, in 1806. He was followed by five others in a private capacity and by brief expeditions of the French School of Archaeology in Athens. The French School carried on the definitive campaign there from 1892 to 1903 and again in 1920.

The total results of all efforts have been impressive. There is the great hillside enclosure of Apollo, with its sacred way angling up to the temple itself past treasuries of various city-states designed to house votive offerings. Adjacent to the temple is a well-preserved theater and a magnificent stadium, both seated in stone. At a lower level may be seen a gymnasium with two racecourses and baths.

7. Eleusis. The site of Eleusis, 14 mi. (23 km.) W of Athens, is particularly interesting because here it is possible to see the center of operations of a mystery religion. After brief earlier excavations, Filios and Skias made real progress in uncovering the sacred complex (1882–1910). K. Kuruniotis took over leadership of the dig from 1919 to 1932. The sanctuary on the east slope of the acropolis was surrounded by a wall with a massive entrance propylaeum. Inside the gateway the marble sacred way ascended the hill past sanctuaries of Pluto (god of the underworld) and Demeter (goddess of the mysteries) to the large initiation room (56 by 59 yds., 51 by 54 m.). See RELIGIONS OF THE BIBLICAL WORLD: GRECO-ROMAN.

II. Roman Italy.

Although Italy is important for biblical

念太阳神阿波罗的活动。1806年，英国官员利克（W. M. Leake）率先在特尔斐展开私人考古发掘。在他之后，另有5人以私人名义在此地开展考古探究，法国的考古队随后在雅典展开了短暂的考古发掘。法国考古队分别在1892年至1903年和1920年在特尔斐进行了两次明确的考古发掘。

这些考古活动的所有发现给人们留下了深刻的印象。有一座大山坡围绕着阿波罗神庙，沿着山坡是一个通向神庙的Z形圣路，途径一个储藏各城邦贡品的仓库。在神庙周围有一座保存完好的剧场和一个宽敞的运动场，两建筑内皆有石座。山坡下面有一座体育馆，还有两个赛马场和两个浴场。

7、艾留西斯。艾留西斯遗址位于雅典以西14英里（23公里）处，这个遗址特别有趣，因为从这里可以看到一种神秘宗教活动的中心。经过短暂的初期挖掘之后，考古学家菲利约斯（D. Filios）和斯克亚斯（A. Skias）发现了一座神圣的建筑群（1882–1910）。1919年至1932年间，库鲁尼奥提斯（K. Kuruniotis）领导艾留西斯的考古发掘工作。卫城东坡的圣所被城墙包围着，通过一个巨大的入口可进入圣所。朝圣者可以沿着城门里用大理石铺就的圣路登上山，这条道路途径冥王（冥界之神）神庙和德墨忒尔（神秘女神）神庙以及宽敞的印心室（长宽为56×59码，51×54米）。见 RELIGIONS OF THE BIBLICAL WORLD: GRECO-ROMAN（圣经世界的宗教信仰：希腊和罗马）。

II. 罗马帝国时期的意大利。

studies, few of its cities are mentioned in Scripture. Only PUTEOLI, FORUM OF APPIUS, THREE TAVERNS, and ROME appear as stops on Paul's Italian itinerary; and of these sites archeological work of note has been done only in Rome. Therefore, limitations of space and orientation of interest seem to dictate omission here of a survey of the history of Italian archeology with its heavy emphasis on Etruscan and Roman themes that have no real bearing on Scripture. Attention is focused instead on the city of Rome and only on those structures that Paul may have known or that may have been significant when he was there, with supplementary comments on Pompeii and Ostia as cities where one may learn something of life during NT times.

A. Rome. As Paul walked up the Appian Way and entered the city of Rome, he undoubtedly passed the Palatine Hill with its palaces of the Caesars. He may have been arraigned before Nero in the Forum, possibly in the Basilica Julia; and he may have been imprisoned in the Mamertine Prison, near the west end of the Forum. Nero's Golden House was largely completed by the time of Paul's martyrdom; and the Mausoleum of Augustus was an important monument of the city at that time. Moreover, there is the persistent tradition that Peter was buried in the Vaticanus section of Rome during Nero's persecution; and the Roman Church claims that his tomb is under the high altar of St. Peter's Cathedral.

A. 罗马。保罗沿着古亚庇路传道，并来到了罗马城，毫无疑问，他经过了帕拉丁山，山上是凯撒的宫殿。他可能是在古罗马广场受尼禄提审，也有可能是在朱利亚会堂受审；他可能后来被关进了马马丁监狱，此监狱靠近古罗马广场西端。保罗殉道时，尼禄的金宫基本建成；奥古斯都陵墓是当时罗马重要的历史遗迹。此外，根据传说，彼得在尼禄迫害基督徒期间被埋在罗马梵蒂冈；罗马教会认为彼得的坟墓位于圣彼得大教堂的大祭坛下面。

1. Palatine. Systematic excavations on the Palatine began about 1724 under the auspices of Francis I of Parma, who concentrated on the area of the official palace of Domitian (who sent the apostle John to Patmos). About a half century later the French abbot Rancoureuil worked on Domitian's residential palace. After sporadic excavations during the first half of the 19th cent., in 1860 Napoleon III launched a campaign under the direction of P. Rosa, who explored the palace of Tiberius Caesar beneath the Farnese gardens. After the Italian State took over Rome in 1870, Rosa continued to dig on the Palatine and excavated, among other things, the stadium of Domitian. Italian excavators have been busy on the Palatine during most of this century, but especially noteworthy has been the work of A. Bartoli, who worked there during most of the period between World Wars I and II and uncovered and studied the whole residential palace of Domitian.

2. Forum. Archeological investigation in the Forum took its first feeble steps in 1788 when the Swedish ambassador in Rome excavated there briefly. C. Fea became Commissioner for Roman Antiquities in 1803, and conducted work there for over thirty years. The government of the Roman Republic prepared an extensive plan of excavation which the papacy continued. After the new government of Italy obtained Rome for its capital in 1870, a new phase in excavation of the Forum began. P. Rosa supervised the work until 1885. G. Boni directed the excavations from 1898 to 1925 and began the practice of excavating down to bedrock. He was followed by A. Bartoli. Work has continued at the Forum since World War II.

2、罗马广场。1788 年，瑞典大使对罗马广场进行了短暂的考古挖掘，这标志着罗马广场的考古研究首次迈出了一小步。1803 年，费亚（C. Fea）成为了罗马古物研究会的理事，他在罗马古物研究会工作了 30 余年。罗马共和国政府制定了一个全面的考古挖掘计划，并且罗马教皇一直坚持实施这一计划。1870 年，意大利新政府建都罗马后，罗马广场的发掘工作进入了一个新阶段。在 1885 年之前，一直由罗萨（P. Rosa）监督这项发掘工作。1898 年至 1925 年间，博尼（G. Boni）负责罗马广场的发掘工作，他展开了彻底的考古发掘，后来巴尔托利（A. Bartoli）接续了他的工作。二战之后，罗马广场的发掘工作继续展开。

As the hub of Roman life, the Forum became altogether too small with the growth of the empire. Adjacent to it Julius Caesar added his own forum, as did Augustus and Nerva and Trajan. C. Ricci won permission from Mussolini in 1924 to excavate these forums and uncovered them all by 1932.

3. Nero's Golden House. When Nero's palace went up in flames during the fire of Rome in A.D. 64, he determined to build a massive new palace complex across the whole center of Rome, with a total area of 125 acres (50 hectares), including the palace, parks, groves, and a lake. Archeologists have been working on the site since 1906, when the German F. Weege squeezed his way through a hole in the wall of the baths of Trajan and began to explore Nero's palace on the Oppian Hill. Thus far eighty-eight rooms have been cleared.

4. Mausoleum of Augustus. Begun in 28 B.C. in northwestern Rome, this imperial tomb was to resemble an Etruscan burial mound. It had a core of concrete covered with soil and planted with cypress trees, and was surmounted with a statue of Augustus. By the time Paul came to Rome, Augustus, Caligula, and Claudius had been buried there, and Vespasian and Nerva would follow. Italian excavators stripped the soil from the concrete core in 1935 and thoroughly investigated the structure.

5. Tomb of St. Peter. Excavations were conducted under St. Peter's Basilica from 罗马广场是罗马人生活的中心，但是随着罗马帝国的扩张，狭小的罗马广场已经不能满足罗马人的生活需求。尤利西斯·凯撒、奥古斯都、涅尔瓦和图拉真都曾在罗马广场附近建造过新广场。1924年，墨索里尼允许里奇（C. Ricci）挖掘这些广场，并于1932年完成了所有的发掘任务。

3、尼禄的金宫。公元64年尼禄的宫殿付之一炬，他决心在整个罗马市中心建造一个新的宏伟的宫殿建筑群，新的宫殿建筑群的总占地面积为125英亩（50公顷），其中包括一座宫殿、许多公园和果园以及一个湖泊。从1906年开始，考古学家就开始挖掘这一遗址，德国人韦格（F. Weege）从图拉真浴室墙洞中挤过去，进而挖掘俄比安丘上的尼禄宫殿。迄今为止，考古学家已经挖出宫殿的88个房间。

5、圣彼得墓地。考古人员分别在1949年至1949年和1953年对圣彼得大教堂

1940 to 1949 and again in 1953. What was found has led to considerable debate, with the Roman Church taking the stand that the bones of Peter were found, though others are not so certain of this identification. G. F. Snyder has written an excellent survey of the situation in BA, 32 (1969), 2–24.

地下展开了挖掘。该遗址内的发现引起了不少争论，罗马教会认为彼得就埋葬在教堂下的墓葬里，而其他人不能断定这就是彼得的坟墓。针对此次考古发现，斯奈德（G. F. Snyder）写了一篇优秀的调查文章（BA, 32 [1969], 2–24）。

B. Pompeii. Because life in this city was frozen in action, the study of Pompeii offers a glimpse of what life was like in a typical Roman city of the NT period. Food was deserted as it was cooking on the stove, dishes were left in the pantry, and furniture was left in place throughout the house when Mt. Vesuvius erupted in A.D. 79, destroying the city and burying it to a depth of 19 to 23 ft. (6 to 7 m.) with volcanic ash. Probably about two thousand perished of its population of twenty thousand.

B. 庞培。因为庞培古城上的生活被凝固在一个历史时刻，所以研究庞培古城可以让我们大致看到《新约》时期典型罗马城市的生活情况。公元 79 年，维苏威火山突然爆发，吞噬了这座城市，掩埋城市的火山灰的高度可达 19 至 23 英尺（6 至 7 米）。火山爆发后，正在炉中烹饪的食物被丢弃，餐具被封存在餐具室内，家具依然摆放在屋内的原处。当时城市有 2 万人，大约有 2000 人因这次火山爆发丧生。

Excavations began at Pompeii in 1748 on a more or less exploratory basis. Between 1806 and 1832 most of the public buildings of the forum and several important private structures were excavated. Systematic, house-by-house excavation began in 1860 under the direction of G. Fiorelli and has continued sporadically to the present. Now some three-fifths of this city of 161 acres (65 hectares) has been uncovered.

1748 年，考古人员大致根据探究结果，开始对庞培古城进行挖掘。1806 至 1832 年间，广场上的绝大多数公共建筑和几个重要的私人建筑被挖掘出来。1860 年，费奥雷利 (G. Fiorelli) 指挥考古人员对该古城进行系统的、逐个的挖掘，他们的发掘工作时停时续，一直延续至今。现在，这个面积 161 英亩 (65 公顷)

C. Ostia. Ostia, the great port of Rome, did not die all at once like Pompeii but gradually declined until its end ca. A.D. 500. Therefore it does not offer the same insights on first-century life that Pompeii does; but many of its structures originated in the 1st cent., and a study of the place is useful for biblical backgrounds.

Of some 160 acres (65 hectares) of Ostia, about half have now been excavated. During the last years of the 19th cent. Pius VII and Pius IX began excavations at Ostia. The first systematic excavations began only in 1909 and have been continued by the Italian Government with few interruptions. Especially fruitful campaigns were led by G. Calza (1938–1942) and P. Romanelli (1950–1953). Today if one walks down the streets of Pompeii and Ostia it is possible to imagine life there as it must have been during NT times.

C. 奥斯提亚。奥斯提亚是罗马帝国的一大港口城市，这个城市不像庞培古城那样突然消失，而是渐渐衰落，直到公元 500 年，才最终灭亡。因此，它不能像庞培遗址那样，可以让我们大致看到 1 世纪的生活；但是这里的许多建筑却始建于 1 世纪，因此，对该地的研究可以帮助我们了解《圣经》的历史背景。

ARCHEOLOGY OF IRAN

Archeological work in Iran goes back to the early part of the 19th century. In 1835 H. C. Rawlinson discovered the large inscription of Darius I on the side of the cliff at Behistun. This inscription, written in three languages (Old Persian, Akkadian, and Elamite), gave scholars the key to unlock the mysteries of

ARCHEOLOGY OF IRAN 伊朗考古

伊朗考古从19世纪初期开始。1835年，罗林森（H. C. Rawlinson）在贝希斯敦的悬崖边发现了大流士一世时期的大型铭文。这种铭文由三种语言写成（古波斯语、阿卡德语和埃兰语），成为学者破译阿拉德语楔形文字秘密的钥匙（见 ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA II[美索不达米亚考古 II]）。

Akkadian cuneiform script (see ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA II).

In 1851 another Englishman, W. K. Loftus, did some digging at Susa and salvaged a large number of figurines. More scientific field research was undertaken by the French expedition to Susa in 1884, led by M. Dieulafoy, which excavated the acropolis and unearthed the Archer Frieze. Under the direction of J. de Morgan the famous diorite stele of the Code of Hammurabi was discovered at Susa in 1901–1902. R. de Mocuquiem was director from 1912 to 1939. R. Ghirshman became supervisor in 1946, and the work has continued since that time. Excavations have disclosed that SUSA was occupied for over five thousand years, from 4000 B.C. to A.D. 1200. During the Persian period Susa shared with Ctesiphon, Ecbatana, and Persepolis the honor of being a royal capital.

Susa and Ecbatana have special interest for biblical studies. At Susa Nehemiah served as cupbearer to Artaxerxes I (Neh. 1:1, 11; 2:1), and Esther lived with her cousin Mordecai and was chosen queen by Ahasuerus (Xerxes I) (Est. 2:5–8). At ECBATANA Darius I found a scroll which contained the decree of Cyrus authorizing the return of the Jews to Jerusalem and the rebuilding of the temple (Ezra 6:2). Ecbatana is mentioned several times in the apocryphal literature. Arphaxad is portrayed as king over the Medes in Ecbatana (Jth. 1:1–14). According to 2 Macc. 9:3 Antiochus Epiphanes stopped at Ecbatana on his retreat from Persepolis. At Ecbatana Tobias met and married Sarah, Raguel's daughter (Tob. 7–8).

书珊城和亚马他对于圣经研究具有极其重要的意义。尼希米在书珊城做亚达薛西王的酒政(尼1:1, 11; 2:1),末底改和他叔叔的女儿以斯帖住在书珊城,后来以斯帖被选为亚哈随鲁的王后(斯2:5-8)。大流士一世在亚马他城(见ECBATANA[亚马他城])寻得一卷,其中记载道:居鲁士降旨要犹太人归回耶路撒冷,并重建耶路撒冷神的殿(拉6:2)。亚马他这个地名在《次经》中也被提及多次。亚法撒(或阿法撒)是玛代亚马他(《次经》译为:伊克巴他拿)的国王(滴1:1-14)。根据《马加比二书》9:3的描述,安提阿哥·伊皮法尼从波西波利斯撤回到伊克巴他拿(亚马他城)。托比雅在伊克巴他拿(亚马他城)看到了拉格尔的女儿撒拉,并且娶她为妻(比7-8)。

Completely scientific expeditions in Iran date from 1931 and are attributed mainly to R. Ghirshman and G. Contenau, who worked at Tepe Giyan. This site, together with excavations at Tepe Siyalk in 1933, made possible the establishment of a relative chronology for the prehistoric levels in western Iran. In the 1930's excavations were carried out at Tureng Tepe, Tepe Hissar Damghan, Shah Tepe, Jamshidi, Chashmah-Ali, Surkh Dum, Chuga Zambil, and Persepolis. World War II interrupted the work. Several expeditions have been undertaken since 1946, investigating such major sites as Susa, Hasanlu (where a gold bowl and a silver and electrum cup have been recovered), Ziwiye (which yielded a group of gold and ivory objects in a bronze sarcophagus), the necropolis of Khurwin, Tell-i-Bakun, Tureng Tepe, Marlik at Rudbar, and British expeditions at Geoy Tepe, Yanik Tepe, Yarim Tepe, and Pasargadae.

The only written records from before the Achaemenid period found in Iran are proto-Elamite tablets discovered at Susa and Siyalk. Most of our knowledge of Iran during the 3rd and 2nd millennia B.C. has to do with the Elamites, but much of the available information about their political and military history comes from foreign sources: the cuneiform material from Mesopotamia. The archeologist is dependent on pottery and other human remains to reconstruct the history of pre-Achaemenid Iran. The beautiful painted pottery, architecture, and art give evidence of a highly developed culture.

Thousands of bronze objects have come from Luristan, where a peasant's discovery of a tomb while plowing a field in 1928 set off a rash of unsupervised excavations, mainly by peasants. These bronze pieces include weapons (daggers, swords, arrowheads, lances, and axes), personal ornaments (bracelets, earrings, necklaces, pins, and buckles), and equipment for horses (harnesses, bits, and rein-stalls). This material has been dated to anywhere between 2000 and 600 B.C. Additional information from supervised

Dum)、恰高占比尔 (Chuga Zambil) 和波西波利斯遗址。第二次世界大战曾使发掘工作一度中止。1946年后,考古人员又进行了几次考古探究,他们发现了以下主要的遗址:书珊、哈桑卢 (Hasanlu,出土了一个金碗和一个琥珀金杯)、齐维耶 (Ziwiye,在该地一青铜色石棺中发现了大量金饰和象牙饰品)、库尔温 (Khurwin) 的卫城、巴坤 (Tell-i-Bakun)、图兰格 (Tureng Tepe) 和罗得巴的马利克 (Marlik)。英国的考古人员发掘了乔泰比遗址 (Geoy Tepe)、亚尼克遗址 (Yanik Tepe)、耶里姆遗址 (Yarim Tepe) 和帕萨尔加德遗址。

卢里斯坦出土了数以千计的铜器文物,1928年一位农民在耕地时发现了一个坟墓,他的这一发现引起了一波盗墓的浪潮,盗墓的主力就是农民。出土的铜器古物包括:武器(匕首、刀剑、箭头、长矛和斧子)、个人装饰品(手镯、耳环、项链、饰针和鞋扣)以及马上装备(挽具、马衔和缰绳)。这些文物可以追溯至公元前 2000 年至公元前 600 年之间。要想解决确定古物年代的难题,必须在考古学家监督下进行考古发掘,进而获得关于这些古物的更多信息。

Architecture in ancient Iran reached its zenith during the Achaemenid period. A good example is PERSEPOLIS, at a site probably chosen by Cyrus, but built by Darius I, Xerxes I, and Artaxerxes I. An outstanding feature of this architecture is the vast pillared (or hypostyle) hall. This type of structure was not new to Iran, but the use of new materials—the long cedar beams from Lebanon—allowed a reduction in the number of pillars needed to support the ceiling. The Apadana is supported by only thirty-six pillars set thirty feet apart. Another hall at Pesepolis, known as the hall of “hundred pillars,” was even larger than the Apadana.

ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA

The archeology of Mesopotamia holds special interest for Bible students because so much of the OT narrative is linked with this area. In this general vicinity the Garden of Eden was located and civilization began. Later Noah's ark came to rest on the mountains of Ararat at the northern fringe of Mesopotamia; and after the flood descendants of Noah founded such cities as Babylon, Calah, Erech, and Nineveh (Gen. 10:10f.). Abraham was born in Ur, one of the greatest cities of the region. Subsequently he moved to Haran in northern Mesopotamia. At Haran some of Abraham's relatives remained; there Abraham sought a wife for his son Isaac (Gen. 24), and there Jacob married Leah and Rachel and lived for twenty years. In the 8th cent. B.C., Assyria subjugated the kingdom of Israel and carried thousands of Hebrews into captivity in Mesopotamia. Early in the 6th cent. Babylon destroyed the kingdom of Judah and deported additional thousands of Hebrews to Mesopotamia, where they remained until the Persians subjugated the area and permitted those who wished to return home.

ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA 美索不达米亚考古

圣经学者对美索不达米亚考古特别感兴趣，因为《旧约》中的许多故事都与这一地区有关。伊甸园就在美索不达米亚附近，人类文明也从这里发端。后来，挪亚的方舟放在了亚拉腊山上，亚拉腊山位于美索不达米亚平原北部边缘地区；大洪水过后，挪亚的后裔建立了几座城市：巴别（或巴比伦）、迦拉、以力和尼尼微（创 10:10-12）。亚伯拉罕出生在吾珥——美索不达米亚地区最大的城市之一。后来，他迁到了美索不达米亚平原北部的哈兰。亚伯拉罕的许多亲属后来留在了哈兰；而且亚伯拉罕在那里为他的儿子以撒娶了一个妻子（创 24），雅各在那里娶了利亚和拉结，并在那里生活了 20 年。公元前 8 世纪，亚述征服了以色列王国，成千上万的以色列人被掳至美索不达米亚。公元前 6 世纪初期，巴比伦打败了犹太王国，成千上万的希伯来人被掳至美索不达米亚，直到波斯人征服这片区域，他们才被允许离开美索不达米亚，归回了自己的家园。

The archeology of Mesopotamia commands interest among students of general culture, too. Civilization began in Mesopotamia. Social organization, the origin of writing, formulation of law codes, effective use of the wheel, discovery of the principle of the arch as a weight-carrying device, and much more apparently must be attributed to early Mesopotamians. Therefore, these peoples deserve much archeological attention to see what yet can be learned about the origins of civilization.

The term “Mesopotamia” has been subject to a diversity of usage over the millennia. Today it generally applies to the entire area between the Tigris and Euphrates rivers from the mountains of Armenia to the Persian Gulf, and even includes some land to the east and west of those great rivers. Roughly, the dimensions of the area may be put at 600 mi. (1000 km.) northwest to southeast and 300 mi. (500 km.) from east to west. It is included within the modern state of Iraq, but is not exactly coextensive with it. It is difficult to determine exactly the boundaries of Mesopotamia with Persia on the east, Turkey (Anatolia) on the north, Syria on the northwest, and Arabia on the west. Therefore some rather arbitrary decisions have been made concerning which excavations to include in this article.

在过去一千多年的时间里，“美索不达米亚”这个词有很多用法。今天，美索不达米亚指的是从亚美尼亚山脉至波斯湾，底格里斯河与幼发拉底河之间的整个区域，甚至包括了一些大河流东侧和西侧的部分区域。该地区从西北至东南大致 600 英里（1000 公里），从西到东大致 300 英里（500 公里）。美索不达米亚地区位于现代的伊拉克境内，但是两者的范围并不完全相同。美索不达米亚东侧是波斯，北侧是土耳其（安托利亚），西北是叙利亚，西侧是阿拉伯，但是我们很难确定它的边界。因此，本文武断地决定了美索不达米亚范围内的考古发现。

I. History of Mesopotamian Archeology.

A. Early Explorers. The first significant western explorer of Mesopotamia was the learned Jewish merchant Benjamin Bar Jona of Tudela (in the kingdom of Aragon in Spain). Although primarily interested in Jewish communities of the East as he traveled in 1160, he made significant notes on Nineveh and Babylon and what he considered to be the Tower of Babel at Birs Nimrûd, ancient Borsippa. After they were translated from Spanish into English and French, his writings made an increasing impact on European scholars.

Many followed in Benjamin's train. One of the most important was an Italian nobleman, Pietro della Valle, who visited Babylon in 1616 and Ur in 1625. Apparently he was the first to send copies of cuneiform inscriptions back to Europe and the first to engage in limited rummaging among the ruins of Babylon with the aid of a pick. The Danish scholar Carsten Niebuhr published an account of his travels in 1788, and receives credit for having more positively identified the sites of Nineveh and Babylon than previous visitors. The Abbé de Beauchamp, papal vicar-general at Baghdad, made extended visits to the ruins of Babylon and engaged in minor excavations (the first known, 1781-1786), collecting inscribed bricks and other small antiquities which he brought back to France. His detailed and accurate accounts of Babylon helped to spur interest in Mesopotamian antiquities, especially in British East India Company circles in London. The company authorized their agents in Baghdad to do archeological prospecting. Of special importance in this connection was C. J. Rich, resident of the company in Baghdad from 1808 until his death from cholera in 1821. A gifted linguist, Rich was fluent in Turkish, Arabic, and several other languages. His informative memoirs on Babylon, Nineveh, and other Mesopotamian sites, and the collection of antiquities he accumulated for the British Museum, did much to kindle a desire for actual excavation in the area.

I. 美索不达米亚的考古历史。

A. 早期考古发掘。 致力于美索不达米亚考古的第一位西方考古人员是学识渊博的犹太商人本杰明 (Benjamin Bar Jona), 他来自于西班牙阿拉贡王国的图德拉。他于 1160 年来到了美索不达米亚, 尽管他的探究主要集中于东部的犹太聚落, 但是他对尼尼微和巴比伦都做 出过重要的考古记载, 他以为巴别塔遗址就在比尔斯·宁录 (Birs Nimrûd, 古代博尔西帕)。他的西班牙语考古著作被翻译成英语和法语后, 对欧洲的学者产生了深远的影响。

B. Nineteenth-Century Beginnings. But the French, not the English, were destined to begin large-scale and more or less systematic excavation in Mesopotamia. In 1842 the French government established a vice-consulate at Mosul, on the west bank of the Tigris opposite the ruins of ancient Nineveh, and named P. E. Botta vice-consul. His responsibilities were to be in part archeological. In December he began to dig at Nineveh, but after three fruitless months decided to abandon the effort in favor of Khorsabad, 14 mi. (23 km.) to the northeast. The site proved to be the magnificent capital of Sargon II (722–705 B.C.) with its 25-acre (10-hectare) palace complex. After two successful years, Botta sent his extensive finds to the Louvre in Paris. V. Place, Botta's successor at Mosul, continued excavations at Khorsabad (1851–1855) with a French government grant, inspired by Botta's accomplishments. Although many of Place's finest discoveries sank to the bottom of the Tigris en route to Paris, some reached their destination; and Place and his architects were able to complete a systematic study of the palace and reconstruct its ground plan. Discoveries at Khorsabad were important in confirming the existence of Sargon II (disputed by biblical critics) and in throwing light on the reign of this king who claimed to be conqueror of the kingdom of Israel.

B. 19 世纪考古开始阶段。但是, 美索不达米亚的大规模考古和大致系统的发掘是由法国人 (而不是英国人) 率先进行的。1842 年, 法国政府委任鲍塔 (P. E. Botta) 为摩苏尔的副领事 (摩苏尔位于底格里斯河西岸, 河对岸就是古尼尼微遗址)。副领事的一项工作职责就是进行考古活动。同年 12 月, 鲍塔开始挖掘尼尼微城, 但是 3 个月之后, 发掘工作仍然毫无收获, 因此他转而在霍尔萨巴德 (Khorsabad) 境内展开了挖掘, 霍尔萨巴德位于尼尼微城东北 14 英里 (23 公里) 处。发掘结果证明该地是撒珥根二世 (公元前 722 至 705 年) 的雄伟的都城, 城中宫殿建筑群的占地面积达到 25 英亩 (10 公顷)。鲍塔成功挖掘两年后, 将大量的考古发现送到了巴黎的卢浮宫博物馆, 摩苏尔的下一任副领事普莱斯 (V. Place) 继续对霍尔萨巴德进行发掘 (1851–1855), 但是, 受到鲍塔考古成功的影响, 法国政府开始对这里的考古发掘提供资金支持。虽然普莱斯 (Place) 挖掘出的许多精美的文物在送往巴黎的路上都沉入了底格里斯河

The second pioneer archeologist of Mesopotamia was A. H. Layard, an Englishman of Huguenot descent who had made Botta's acquaintance in Mosul and had been inspired by his successes at Khorsabad. Layard began his work at Nimrûd (biblical Calah). At first supported only by a few friends, he gained a sponsorship by the British Museum after his discovery of a royal palace at Calah. Layard's efforts were crowned with much good fortune. In 1846 he found the famous Black Obelisk of Shalmaneser III (859–824 B.C.); and by the time he returned to England in 1847 he had partially explored palaces of Ashurnasirpal I, Shalmaneser III, Adadnirari III, and Esarhaddon at Calah (which had served as one of Assyria's great capitals). In addition, in a brief campaign of only one month at Nineveh he had found and partially excavated Sennacherib's palace. Commissioned a second time by the British Museum to direct their work in Mesopotamia, Layard alternated his supervision between digs at Calah and Nineveh (1849–1851). During those years he concentrated on Sennacherib's palace, with its almost two miles of halls and galleries faced with bas reliefs, and the ziggurat of Calah. His most significant find was part of the great

Assyrian library.

With Layard's return to England, H. C. Rawlinson, decipherer of cuneiform, was dispatched to take charge of all excavations of the British Museum in Assyria, Babylonia, and Persia (1851–1855). H. Rassam, a native of Mosul who had worked under Layard, was retained as excavator of Nineveh (1852–1854). He located Ashurbanipal's palace and the major part of his library. Including as it did a wide variety of Assyrian and Babylonian literature, this constitutes one of the most important archeological discoveries ever made.

During this period some successful attempts were made in Babylonia. W. K. Loftus worked briefly at biblical Erech (modern Warka, ancient Uruk) about 40 mi. (65 km.) NW of Ur (1850). Initial successful reports from his dig led the French to lay plans in 1851 to work at Hilla (Babylon) and Birs Nimrūd (Borsippa) under the leadership of J. Oppert. Returns there were minimal because the team had to spend most of their time and effort clearing debris from the site.

J. E. Taylor, British vice-consul at Basra, worked under Rawlinson's supervision at el-Muqaiyar (Ur) in 1854, examining the ziggurat, the famous temple of the moon-god Sin, and finding some valuable inscriptions. In the same year Rawlinson himself examined the great ziggurat at Birs Nimrūd and found some important inscriptions dating to the reign of Nebuchadrezzar (605–562 B.C.). After this, interest in excavation seems to have declined for several decades. Scholarly efforts in part turned to decipherment and interpretation of the scores of thousands of tablets and inscriptions already in hand.

在这一时期，考古人员在巴比伦王国遗址进行了多次成功的考古探究。洛夫特斯 (W. K. Loftus) 短暂地研究了《圣经》中的城市以力 (现名瓦尔卡，古代乌胡克)，它位于吾珥西北 40 英里 (65 公里) 处 (1850)。他最初的成功发掘报告促使法国人于 1851 年在澳佩尔 (J. Oppert) 领导下挖掘了希拉 (巴比伦) 和比尔斯宁录 (博尔西帕)。这两地的考古发现很少，因为考古队员不得不将毕生大部分精力花在考古现场的碎片清理上。

1854 年，英国驻巴士拉的副领事泰勒 (J. E. Taylor) 在罗林森的监督下挖掘了穆盖亚尔 (el-Muqaiyar，也就是吾珥)，并仔细研究了月神辛 (Sin) 的庙塔，同时发现了一些很有价值的铭文。同年，罗林森亲自调研比尔斯宁录 (Birs Nimrūd) 的伟大庙塔，并发现一些碑文可以追溯到尼布甲尼撒时期 (公元前 605–562 年)。此后，人们的考古热情似乎消退了几十年。部分考古学者的工作开始转向破译和解释手头上成千上万的碑文和铭文。

Interest in Mesopotamian antiquities was suddenly rekindled in December, 1872, when G. Smith reported on the discovery of a Babylonian flood story from the library of Ashurbanipal. In response to demands for reopening the Nineveh excavations in order to find the missing portion of the account, the Daily Telegraph agreed to finance the expedition in return for exclusive reporting rights. Smith arrived at Nineveh the following May, and had unbelievable success in finding the flood fragment after only about one week of excavation. But Mesopotamian archeology during the last quarter of the 19th cent. proved not to be quite the same hunt for museum pieces that earlier campaigns had been.

Now French and Americans chose to settle down to extended excavation of a single site, and the focus of attention shifted southward to Babylonia, with the realization that there was a culture in ancient Mesopotamia older than that of the Assyrians. (Later it became known that the Sumerians were responsible for the earliest cultural developments in Mesopotamia, during the 5th to the 3rd millennia B.C.) E. de Sarzec, French vice-consul at Basra, began to work at the Sumerian site at Telloh, 50 mi. (80 km.) N of Ur, in 1877, and continued intermittently until his death in 1901. Other French archeologists continued the work for nine more seasons. It is one of the most important sites of Mesopotamia, yielding a large quantity of sculptures, inscriptions, and tablets (30,000 business documents were found in one room alone), which have added much to our knowledge of early Babylonia.

Another major Sumerian site was Nippur, the religious center of Sumerian times, about 100 mi. (160 km.) S of Baghdad and unconvincingly identified with the biblical Calneh (Am. 6:2). There a University of Pennsylvania team conducted four campaigns (1888/89; 1889/90; 1893–1896; 1898–1900), under the general direction of J. P. Peters, with J. H. Haynes as field director and leader of the fourth expedition. The first expedition surveyed the ruins, began systematic excavation of the temple of Bel, and unearthed over two thousand cuneiform documents. The second expedition recovered, among other things, about eight thousand tablets. The third concentrated on the temple mound and netted about 21,000 largely fragmentary tablets. The fourth definitely located the famous temple library of Nippur, from which thousands of tablets had been already obtained, and excavated about 23,000 tablets and fragments, mostly of a literary character and including parts of a Sumerian flood and creation account.

C. Scientific Advances. About the turn of the century Near Eastern archeology in general and Mesopotamian archeology in particular entered a new phase. No longer was its primary objective the accumulation of museum pieces but rather rediscovery of the past by means of systematic uncovering of the remains of civilizations buried in layers in the tells or mounds of the region. This shift occurred for five reasons. First, the excavators themselves became increasingly concerned about the destruction wrought when museum pieces were removed from meaningful contexts in the ruins, making future interpretation difficult or impossible. Second, the Turkish government became increasingly interested in the preservation of antiquities and the recovery of a knowledge of the past. Third, archeology itself was maturing; better ways of understanding the past began to present themselves. Fourth, enough museum pieces had been collected in centers like Paris, London, Philadelphia, and elsewhere to stir an interest in the founding of archeological societies and the subsidizing of digs by wealthy donors. Thus it was now possible to finance prolonged expeditions dedicated to a more scholarly interpretation of the ruins.

C. 科学考古阶段。接近世纪之交，近东大部分地区的考古，尤其是美索不达米亚考古开始进入一个新阶段。这一时期考古的主要目标不再是单纯为了帮助博物馆收集文物，而是通过对考古地区的废丘或土丘下的文明遗址展开系统的挖掘，进而再现历史。发生这一转变的原因有五点。第一，发掘者越来越关注博物馆文物从重要遗址中被挖掘出来时对废墟所造成的破坏，这给未来的考古解释带来了困难或使考古人员无法做出考古解释。第二，土耳其政府越来越注重古物保护和历史还原。第三，考古学也越来越成熟；并开始出现更好地理解历史的方法。第四，巴黎、伦敦、费城和其他城市中心的博物馆收集了相当多的古物，从而促使考古协会纷纷建立起来，富有的捐助者也开始向考古挖掘提供资金支持。因此，那些致力于对遗址进行更为专业解释的长期考古发掘现在有可能获得资金的支持。

Fifth, the Germans entered the field with their more strict, meticulous scholarship; architects turned archeologists were more concerned with the layout of cities, functions of buildings, diagrams of structures and sites than some of the earlier excavators. They turned away from tunneling into mounds and sinking shafts down through them to the practice of removing a part or entire layer of a mound at a time to reveal the stratigraphic sequence. The Germans especially focused attention on Babylon, Asshur, and Erech, with minor activity elsewhere.

The newly-formed German oriental society (Deutsche Orientgesellschaft), under the patronage of Emperor Wilhelm II, decided to make its first major task the excavation of Babylon, and appointed R. Koldewey to leadership of the operation. Digging continued through all seasons of the year from the spring of 1899 to the spring of 1917, a feat in itself remarkable considering the high summer temperatures in the area. Since the ground water had risen considerably during the millennia, the Babylon of Hammurabi's day was under water and could not be excavated. Therefore Koldewey was forced to concentrate on the level of Nebuchadrezzar's day.

With the aid of competent architects Koldewey successfully recreated the main features of Nebuchadrezzar's city—its walls, palaces, temples, and parts of the residential areas. Although he found a few inscriptions, Koldewey was not destined to unearth at Babylon the vast treasure troves of antiquities located elsewhere. This was partly because the

Babylonian plain had no stone; so the statuary and bas reliefs appearing in Assyrian palaces and temples were not to be found in the south. The Babylonians built largely in sun-dried brick, which in time became solid masses of clay almost indistinguishable from the surrounding soil. It is important, therefore, that the early excavators did not extensively dig away the mounds of Babylonia, for they had not yet developed techniques equal to the task of excavating cities of mud. In his brief attack on the site Layard had been unable to detect the difference between the mud of walls and mud of debris and quickly reached the conclusion that “nothing” could “be hoped for from the site of Babylon.” Happily Koldewey proved him wrong.

Under Koldewey’s general direction, J. Jordan dug at Erech (Warka) in 1912–1913, uncovering much of the great temple of Ishtar, part of the city wall, many houses, and tablets. A pupil of Koldewey, W. Andrae, directed an excavation at Qal’ât Sherqât (ancient Asshur [Gen. 10:10f.] from which Assyria was named). Andrae’s excavation technique was of especially high quality, considering the relative infancy of Assyriology. His work enabled him to reconstruct the history of the site from ca. 3000 B.C. to the 3rd cent. A.D. He found inscriptions from every period of Assyrian history and uncovered palaces and temples. At Halâf, in the upper reaches of the Habor River, M. von Oppenheim excavated during 1911–1913, finding a whole new culture dating to ca. 4500 B.C. Especially noteworthy among his finds was a magnificent collection of pottery decorated in two or three colors, with figures of human beings or animals.

1912 年至 1913 年，在柯德威的总指导下，乔丹 (J. Jordan) 对以力展开了挖掘，他挖掘出了伊师塔神庙的主体部分、城墙的一部分、许多房屋和石碑。柯德威的学生安德烈 (W. Andrae) 挖掘了谢夸特堡 (Qal’ât Sherqât, 古代：亚述城[创 10:10-11]，亚述王国以此地名命名)。鉴于亚述研究还处于初期阶段，所以安德烈的挖掘技术已经非常高。他还还原了该遗址从大约公元前 3000 年至公元 3 世纪的历史。他发现了亚述各个历史时期的铭文，并挖掘出一些宫殿和神庙。1911 年至 1913 年，奥本海姆 (M. von Oppenheim) 发掘了哈博河上游的哈拉夫 (Halâf)，并发现了一个大约可追溯至公元前 4500 年的新文明遗址。他的发现中最值得关注的是一套华丽的陶器古物，陶器上有两三种装饰颜色，并绘有人物和动物图案。

Although the Germans dominated the archeological scene in Mesopotamia during the years prior to World War I, others worked in the area. For instance, Henri de Genouillac led a French dig at Kish near Babylon in 1914, discovering the temple of the god of Kish. E. J. Banks in 1903 led a University of Chicago expedition to Bismaya (ancient Adab) near Nippur.

D. Between the Wars. A wholly new political situation existed in Iraq between World Wars I and II. With the dissolution of the Ottoman Empire at the end of World War I, the League of Nations assigned Britain a mandate over Iraq. The British established a department of antiquities in 1924. Two years later the Iraqi Museum was established at Baghdad. In 1932 Iraq became an independent, sovereign nation and gradually developed its own qualified staff of archeologists.

During the years between the wars archeological research gathered momentum and there was unbroken advance in excavation technique. The use of pottery as a means of dating was increasingly refined. Moreover, the basic chronological framework of the area was established. With the aid of the accumulation of evidence from the excavations, it was largely regularized by the Eighteenth Congress of Orientalists in 1931, which agreed that prehistoric periods were to be named after sites where a culture was first found. Thus, Ubaid (Obeid), Uruk (Warka), and Jemdet Nasr periods (in that order) were prehistoric and the Early Dynastic was the first historic period. Halâf and

D. 两次世界大战之间的考古。两次世界大战之间，伊拉克面临着全新的政治形势。一战后期，随着奥斯曼帝国瓦解，国际联盟委托英国人管辖伊拉克。英国人于1924年建立了文物部。两年后，伊拉克博物馆在巴格达成立。1932年，伊拉克成为独立的主权国家，并开始逐步培养伊拉克自己的合格考古人员。

两次世界大战期间，考古研究方兴未艾，考古发掘技术也不断改进。陶器断代法得到进一步的改进。此外，该地的基本年代框架也得以确立。随着发掘证据不断增加，在1931年的第十八次东方专家代表大会上，参会人员规范了这一年代框架中的大部分年代，大会成员同意根据第一个被发现的文明遗址来命名史前时期。因此，奥贝伊德时期、乌胡克（瓦尔卡）时期、杰姆代特奈斯尔时期（以此排序）属于史前时期，而王朝早期属于第一历史时期。后来史前时期增加了哈拉夫和前哈拉夫（哈苏纳）两个时期，并将它们排在了奥贝伊德时期之前。现在，这些时期的一个大致年代已经确立：哈苏纳时期（公元前5000—4500年）；哈拉夫时期（公元前4500—4000年）；奥贝伊德时期（公元前

Pre-Halâf (Hassuna) periods were later introduced before Ubaid. An approximate chronology has now been adopted for these periods: Hassuna (5000–4500 B.C.); Halâf (4500–4000 B.C.); Ubaid (4000–3500 B.C.); Uruk (3500–3200 B.C.); Jemdet Nasr (3200–2800 B.C.); Early Dynastic (2800–2350 B.C.). (For a generally accepted chronology of the more recent periods of Mesopotamian history, see LAP, pp. 36–73; 196–246.)

Even before the British signed the 1918 armistice British Museum archeologist R. C. Thompson was in the field, working at Ur and Eridu. Within a few months his brief campaign led to another, under H. R. Hall. Hall found Ubaid 4 mi. (6.5 km.) W of Ur and excavated a temple platform there. The work of Thompson and Hall was taken over by C. L. Woolley, who led an expedition sponsored jointly by the British Museum and the University of Pennsylvania Museum. During the years 1922–1934 he concentrated on Ur but spent several seasons at Ubaid, where distinctive finds established a whole new culture period of Mesopotamian prehistory. At Ur itself Woolley's greatest successes illuminated two periods in the city's history: Ur I and Ur III. Dating to the Ur I period (ca. 2500 B.C.) were the magnificent royal tombs with treasures that caused a sensation in the popular mind somewhat comparable to the discovery of King Tutankhamen's tomb in Egypt. As a result, the Sumerian culture that they represented was soon known all over the world. Woolley was able to document the Ur III period (ca. 2000 B.C., approximately the time of Abraham) in an entirely different way: with walls, temples, houses, streets, the ziggurat, and scores of thousands of cuneiform tablets.

At the same time other significant excavations were in progress. S. Langdon directed a joint Oxford-Field Museum (Chicago) dig at Kish, 8 mi. (13 km.) E of Babylon (1923–1933), and Jemdet Nasr, 18 mi. (29 km.) NE of Kish (1926–1928). At the former site a palace, a temple, and important tablets came to light; at the latter, important documents and distinctive cultural elements that bore witness to a whole new culture period in Mesopotamian history. Americans cooperated also in an excavation at Nuzi, SE of Nineveh. E. Chiera led the first seasons of excavation, which continued from 1925 to 1931. The American Schools of Oriental Research and the Iraqi government backed the project, and other American institutions joined later. Nuzi was significant for the light it shed on Hurrian civilization and for the clay tablets from private homes with striking parallels to biblical passages (e.g., sale of birthright and oral blessing).

Americans were busy elsewhere in Mesopotamia. E. A. Speiser of the University of Pennsylvania led an extended dig at Tepe Gawra, 4 mi. (6.5 km.) NE of Khorsabad (1927–1938). The venture, a cooperative effort of the University of Pennsylvania, the American Schools of Oriental Research, and Dropsie College, was important both for the history of archeological technique (as it systematically uncovered the mound layer by layer) and the history of Mesopotamian culture (as it confirmed the development of Halafian culture and helped to round out understanding of the 5th millennium B.C.). L. Waterman of the University of Michigan worked at Tell ‘Umar (1927–1932), a site which proved to be the Babylonian Opis (Hellenistic Seleucia). The Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago entered the field in 1928 and conducted a very successful campaign at Khorsabad until 1936, under the leadership of E. Chiera and H. Frankfort. Although they excavated parts of the complex not previously dug and added considerably to knowledge of the site, one of the most important discoveries was the Khorsabad king list, which helped to establish the chronology of ancient Mesopotamia. At the same time the Oriental Institute was digging at Tell Asmar, Khafaje, and Tell Agrab in the Diyala region east of Baghdad.

At Erech Germans dug for eleven seasons (1928–1939) under the leadership of J. Jordan, A. Nöldeke, and E. Heinrich, concentrating on some of the important temples of the site. Also, in 1929 von Oppenheim returned to Halâf, from which he recovered numerous large stone monuments and much pottery.

The British returned to Nineveh in 1927 and continued to work there until 1932. R. Campbell Thompson cut a 70-ft. shaft to virgin soil, locating in stratified sequence all the periods of Mesopotamian history from Assyrian back through pre-Halâfian, thus confirming the commonly accepted arrangement of periods of Mesopotamian culture. In 1933 M. E. L. Mallowan and his wife Agatha Christie excavated for the British Museum at Arpachiyah just N of Nineveh. The not-unreasonable 1933 antiquities law of Iraq (to the effect that unique finds could no longer leave the country and that only half of the rest might be exported) led Mallowan and others to set up operations elsewhere. Several went to Syria.

One Syrian site that belongs to Mesopotamian studies was Tell Hariri (ancient Mari), a French dig in the middle Euphrates region. A. Parrot of the Louvre led excavations there in 1933–1939. Most dramatic of the finds were the royal palace, covering more than 8 acres (3.2 hectares), and its archive of over 20,000 tablets. These tablets are important for the establishment of the chronology of the 2nd millennium B.C., and contain names appearing in Gen. 11:16, 23f., 27 (e.g., Peleg, Serug, Nahor).

E. Postwar Developments. With the outbreak of World War II all excavation did not cease as it did during World War I. Iraqi archeologists worked at ‘Uqair (1940–1941), Hassuna (1943–1944), Tell Harmel (1943–1945) and Eridu (1946–1949). Of special interest were the results at Hassuna, where materials similar to those in the lowest levels at Nineveh came to light. So the tendency today is to call the earliest period of Mesopotamian culture “Hassuna” and to label the five periods of Mesopotamian prehistory at Hassuna, Halâf, Ubaid (Obeid), Uruk (Warka), and Jemdet Nasr. In 1960’s Iraqi expeditions worked at Ḥaṭra, the strange capital of a pre-Islamic Arab kingdom dating ca. 140 B.C.–A.D. 226, and at Tell es-Sawwan, which had village life going back to ca. 5500 B.C.

Other important developments in Mesopotamian archeology since World War II were a new museum, a new technique, and participation by two more nations. The Iraqi Museum’s new building in Baghdad (1966) at last brought together in one place many of the magnificent treasures of the region. The new technique was carbon-14 dating (not restricted to Mesopotamia, of course), a scientific means of determining the validity of earlier conclusions about chronology and of establishing new ones (see ARCHEOLOGY VI). New participants in Mesopotamian archeology were the Danes and Japanese. P. V. Glob of Aarhus worked on the island of Bahrain at the head of the Persian Gulf during the 1950's and concluded that it was the land of Dilmun, home of Utnapishtim, the Babylonian Noah. In the 1960's Glob excavated on the Kuwaiti island of Failaka with considerable success. In 1956 the Dane H. Ingold visited the sixteen tells of the Little Zab valley in northeast Iraq, which was to be flooded on completion of the Dokan reservoir, and found interesting clay tablets. N. Egami of the University of Tokyo in 1956 began a dig at Telul ath-Thalathat, 37 mi. (60 km.) W of Mosul and found, among other things, a temple thought to be one of the oldest and best preserved in Mesopotamia.

E. 二战后的考古。第二次世界大战爆发后，所有的考古发掘并没有像一战时期那样全部停止。伊拉克的考古学家在乌奎尔（1940–1941）、哈苏纳（1943–1944）、哈默尔（1943–1945）和埃里都（1946–1949）进行考古发掘。哈苏纳遗址上的考古发现特别引人关注，其中出土的考古文物与尼尼微最底层出土的文物很相似。所以，今天人们称“哈苏纳”文明时期是美索不达米亚最早的历史时期，美索不达米亚5个史前时期的排序依次是：哈苏纳时期；哈拉夫时期；奥贝伊德时期；乌胡克时期和杰姆代特奈斯尔时期。20世纪60年代，伊拉克考古人员开始挖掘哈特拉（Ḥaṭra）遗址和梭万（Tell es-Sawwan）遗址，哈特拉是阿拉伯王国前伊斯兰时期的奇特都城，它的历史可以从大约公元226年追溯到公元前140年，梭万的村庄可以追溯到大约公元前5500年。

Much of the postwar archeological development in Iraq was a continuation of previous activity. German excavators, this time under the leadership of H. Lenzen, resumed work at Uruk in 1954. A. Parrot dug at Mari again in 1951–1956. After a seventy-year lapse the British returned to Nimrûd. M. E. L. Mallowan led the campaign on behalf of the British School of Archaeology in Iraq (1949–1961). Special finds included the Banquet Stele of Ashurnasirpal, which celebrated the king's completion of his palace; a fine collection of ivories; the great fort of Shalmaneser III; and his throne base. Americans, this time the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago and the University of Pennsylvania, resumed excavations at Nippur in 1948 on a plan to work there every second year. D. E. McCown and R. C. Haines led the campaigns through the 1950's and 1960's, with concentration on the great temple of Inanna but with attention to other structures of the main tell and the surrounding area.

A new feature of excavation in postwar years has been attention to the earliest life in the area. R. J. Braidwood of the Oriental Institute, beginning in 1948, spent three seasons at Jarmo, 30 mi. (50 km.) E of the modern oil town of Kirkûk in northeastern Iraq, where he found a village site dated by carbon-14 to ca. 6750 B.C. R. S. Solecki of the Smithsonian Institution excavated in the Shanidar Cave in the Zagros Mountains in northeastern Iraq (1951, 1953, and 1956/57) and found three Neanderthal adults and an infant dated about 50,000 years before the present.

After almost two hundred years of digging in the soil of Mesopotamia it is now possible to write the history of the region, at least in outline, from ca. 7000 B.C. to the present. But only a beginning has been made. The Iraqi Department of Antiquities has records of over 6500 tells in the country; well over 6000 of them have not yet been excavated at all.

II. Decipherment of Cuneiform.

The herculean efforts of Mesopotamian excavators would be of little value in reconstructing the past if we could not read the hundreds of thousands of texts they uncovered. Ultimately what made

20世纪50年代至60年代, 麦克考恩(D. E. McCown)和海恩斯(R. C. Haines)在这里进行考古, 他们专心研究伟大的伊南娜神庙, 同时关注主要考古废丘和周围地区的其他建筑物。

美索不达米亚考古挖掘经历大约200年历史之后, 我们大致可以勾勒出该地区从约公元前7000年至今的大概历史轮廓。但美索不达米亚考古还处于起始阶段。根据伊拉克文物部的记载, 伊拉克境内有6500多个考古废丘; 但是其中6000多个废丘尚未被挖掘。

II. 破译楔形文字。

如果我们无法破译美索不达米亚考古人员发掘的文献, 那么发掘者的艰苦工作对于还原历史就毫无价值。波斯人征服巴比伦王国之前, 他们还没有自己的书写文字, 这一情况使我们最终可以破

decipherment possible was that the Persians did not have their own system of writing when they conquered the Babylonians. Therefore they adopted the Babylonian script for the writing of Persian, and, because their empire was so ethnically diverse, they then wrote many of their public documents and inscriptions in three languages: Persian, Elamite, and Assyro-Babylonian (now called Akkadian).

Pietro della Valle was the first to bring back to Europe some of the Persian inscriptions from Persepolis. T. Hyde of Oxford coined the term cuneiform (“wedge-shaped”) to apply to this writing (1700). C. Niebuhr made additional copies of Persepolis inscriptions (1765). This provided only a little raw material—no clues to decipherment.

Several individuals had a part in translating cuneiform. S. de Sacy, a French scholar, deciphered (1789–1791) some late Persian inscriptions (Sassanid, A.D. 226–640, written when cuneiform had given way to the Phoenician alphabet). In those materials he continually found a formula, “X, the great king, king of kings, son of Y, etc.” In 1802 G. Grotefend, a German scholar, read a paper before the learned society of Göttingen in which he claimed to have worked out the value of thirteen cuneiform signs and to have identified the names of Darius and Xerxes and the words “king” and “son.” He had used Niebuhr’s texts, which had appeared over the heads of kings, and had guessed that de Sacy’s formula was represented in them. But he could go no further. Finally in 1836 Bonn professor C. Lassen and French scholar E. Burnouf completed the translation of Grotefend's two texts.

译楔形文字。因此，波斯人借鉴巴比伦人的文字创造了波斯文，由于波斯帝国是一个多民族的国家，所以波斯帝国的很多公文是由3种语言书写的：波斯语，埃兰语和亚述巴比伦语（今称阿卡德语）。

Paralleling the work of Grotefend was that of H. C. Rawlinson, an officer of the British army in India who was later stationed in Persia (1833). He was very much intrigued by the trilingual inscriptions on the cliffs of Behistun 65 mi. (105 km.) W of Hamadan, not far from his camp. In 1835 he began copying these texts, which had been carved in the side of the cliff by Darius the Great (522–486 B.C.) 400–500 ft. (120–150 m.) above the plain. He guessed that Class I, the simplest of the inscriptions, was Old Persian and that the decipherment of Class I would be the clue to decipherment of Classes II and III. He realized that in order to identify all the signs in Class I he would have to work through a large number of proper names. He had already learned late Persian in India and so had the benefit of that background. Rawlinson guessed that words occurring many times would be common nouns like “king.” Using a combination of shrewd guesses, clues from late Persian (such as the formula noted above) and other helps, he made amazing progress. By 1839 he had worked out the whole alphabet and translated 200 lines and was able to read a survey paper before the Royal Asiatic Society of London. He realized that many imperfections still existed. Finally, however, he was able to publish a full interpretation of the Persian column in 1846. Then Rawlinson began work on Class II, which he assumed to be Babylonian. This was much more difficult. Persian was alphabetic and Indo-European; Babylonian was syllabic ideographic and Semitic. Nevertheless, Rawlinson was able to publish 112 lines in 1851. He was not able to decipher the 罗林森 (H. C. Rawlinson) 的工作可与格罗特芬德的工作相媲美, 罗林森是英国驻印度军队的长官, 后来驻扎在波斯 (1833)。此时, 他对一帙镌刻在贝希顿山峰陡峭石壁上用三种语言记述的铭文产生了兴趣, 贝希顿峰位于哈马丹以西 65 英里 (105 公里) 处, 距离他的营地不远。他从 1835 年开始抄写这些铭文, 它们是由大流士大帝 (公元前 522–486) 刻在 400 至 500 英尺 (120 至 150 米) 高悬崖边的。他推测第一种文字 (最简单的铭文) 是古波斯语, 破译第一种文字有助于破译第二种文字和第三种文字。他发现, 如果想要破译第一种文字上所有文字符号, 就必须破译大量的专有名词。他在印度时曾经学习了现代波斯语, 他也因此从中受益。罗林森认为经常出现的词语应该是普通名词, 如 “王”。他结合聪明的猜想, 从晚期波斯语中寻找线索 (如上文提到的公式), 并且寻求其他的帮助, 因此取得了惊人的进展。到 1839 年, 他已经制成了完整的字母表, 翻译了 200 行文字, 并能够在伦敦皇家亚洲学会中发表调查论文。他意识到自己的工作仍然存有缺陷。但是, 1846 年, 他最终发表了完整波斯语翻译的专栏。于是, 罗林森开始破译第二种文字, 他认为第二种文字是巴比伦文字。这一文字的破译工作更加艰难。波斯语是拼音文字, 属于印欧语系; 而巴比伦语是音节表意文字, 属于闪族语系。但是 1851 年, 罗林森发表了 112 行文字的破译结果。但是他未能破译埃兰语 (也就是第三种文字)。

Elamite (Class III), however.

Cuneiform is not a language but a script in which many languages of Western Asia have been written. The decipherment of one language will often lead to the decipherment of another. For instance, the translation of Akkadian led to translation of Sumerian, the oldest written language of Mesopotamia. The Sumerians were writing in cuneiform before 3000 B.C. and apparently invented it. When Semites came in contact with the Sumerians they evidently borrowed their script, as the Persians were to do later. To promote understanding by ancient scribes, "syllabaries" were drawn up listing Sumerian signs and their Semitic (Akkadian) equivalents; some have been found in the excavations. Thus, the decipherment of Akkadian led, in the 20th cent., to the ability to read Sumerian, Elamite, and several other very difficult Near Eastern languages written in cuneiform. See also CUNEIFORM.

III. Biblical Sites Individually Considered.

Information about biblical sites that is found throughout the chronological presentation of Mesopotamian archeology is here summarized.

A. Asshur. This was the ancient city that gave Assyria its name. Its site is modern Qal'ât Sherqât, about 60 mi. (100 km.) S of Nineveh on the west bank of the Tigris. Layard, Rassam, and Place dug briefly there. The major campaign was led by W. Andrae and the German oriental society (1903-1914). Andrae was able to work out the general history of the site from 3000 B.C. to A.D. 300 and to study its palaces and temples.

III. 《圣经》中提到的个别地点。

*A. 亚述。*亚述帝国根据这一古城命名，现址为谢夸特堡（Qal'ât Sherqât），距离底格里斯河西岸的尼尼微城南大约 60 英里（100 公里）。莱亚德、拉森和普莱斯都曾在这里进行过短暂的挖掘。1903 年至 1914 年，安德烈（W. Andrae）和德国东方协会曾率领考古队进行了重要的挖掘。安德烈可以描绘出该遗址从公元前 3000 年至公元 300 年的历史情况，并对这里的宫殿和庙宇进行了研究。

Asshur began to assume significance in the 19th cent. B.C., after the end of the Ur III period. At that time the city was well fortified, had a fine temple to its god, and enjoyed the success of a well-established merchant colony in central Asia Minor. After a period of decline late in the century, there was a political revival during the 18th cent., until Hammurabi absorbed Assyria into his empire (ca. 1700). After Hammurabi's dynasty ended in 1550 Assyria was relatively free to expand once more. Although Asshur was the capital during much of the following millennium, Nineveh became an alternate royal residence in the 12th cent. and the main capital during the height of empire in the 7th century.

Among important texts excavated at Asshur were a fragmentary Assyrian law code dating to ca. 1100 (more severe than Hammurabi's) and part of a creation account dating to ca. 1000 B.C.

B. Babylon. The Abbé de Beauchamp cut the first archeological trenches in the ruins in the 1780's. Rich visited Babylon in 1811 and 1818, measured the various mounds that encased the ruins, and made the first accurate plan of the site. In 1828 R. Mignan cut a shaft into the site and removed a number of clay tablets. In 1850 A. H. Layard dug into three mounds but soon concluded that the place was not worth his time. His assistant Rassam came back in 1879 for a quick dig, at which time he unearthed a large collection of business documents and the famous Cyrus Cylinder (giving Cyrus' account of his conquest of Babylon). Meanwhile, in 1852 the French had begun an expedition under the direction

乌尔第三王朝结束之后，亚述城在公元前 19 世纪开始凸显它的重要性。此时，亚述城防卫森严，城内建有漂亮的神庙，并且是亚细亚中部的繁华的商业中心。公元前 19 世纪后期，亚述城开始衰落，公元前 18 世纪，亚述恢复了它的政治职能，直到汉莫拉比将其并入巴比伦帝国版图（约公元前 1700 年）。公元前 1550 年，拉莫拉比王朝结束之后，亚述进入一个相对宽松的扩张时期。虽然在下一个千禧年的大部分时间里，亚述城一直是都城，但是公元前 12 世纪亚述帝国在尼尼微建造了另一个都城，并且在公元前 7 世纪亚述帝国鼎盛时期，尼尼微一直是主要的都城。

考古人员在亚述城发现的两个重要文献就是约公元前 1100 年亚述帝国的法典碎片（此法典要比汉莫拉比法典还要严苛）和约公元前 1000 年关于创世的描述。

B. 巴比伦。 18 世纪 80 年代，比彻姆神父（Abbé de Beauchamp）首先在巴比伦遗址上展开了挖掘。1811 年至 1818 年，里奇（Rich）来到巴比伦，并测量了包围该遗址的废丘范围，之后制作了关于该遗址的首张精确的平面图。米格南（R. Mignan）在该遗址上挖一个竖井，从中挖掘出很多泥版。1850 年，莱亚德在 3 个考古废丘中展开挖掘，并很快得出结论说，此地毫无考古价值。1879 年，莱亚德的助手拉森重返巴比伦，短暂挖掘之后，他便发现了大量商业文献和著名的居鲁士铭筒（上面有居鲁士征服巴比伦的记录）。与其同时，1852 年，澳佩尔（J. Oppert）和其他人开始带领法国考古人员在此地考古。他们在这里发现了不计其数的小文物，并于 1855 年准备将这些文物装筏送往法国。不幸 of J. Oppert and others. They extracted numerous small objects from the mounds and began to ship them back to France in 1855. Unfortunately, all was lost when their rafts overturned in the Euphrates. Finally a more scientific team led by R. Koldewey systematically worked at the site (1899–1917).

的是，木筏在幼发拉底河侧翻，所有文物沉入了河底。最后，1899年至1917年间，考德威（R. Koldewey）率领一支更为科学的科考队对这里进行了系统发掘。

C. Calah. Biblical CALAH (Gen. 10:11) is the mound known today as Nimrūd, about 20 mi. (32 km.) S of Nineveh. A. H. Layard excavated there from 1845 to 1848 and M. E. L. Mallowan led a dig there for the British School of Archaeology in Iraq from 1949 to 1961. Though Calah has a history extending from prehistoric to Hellenistic times, it enjoyed real prosperity only when Assyrian kings chose to bestow their blessings on the site. Around 1250 B.C. Shalmaneser I rebuilt Calah and brought a period of prosperity. Ashurnasirpal II,

关于那些较大且复杂的遗址的考古信息描述，见 BABYLON (巴比伦)。

C. 迦拉。《圣经》中的迦拉(见 CALAH[迦拉]，创 10:10)就是今天的尼姆鲁德，距离尼尼微城南部约 20 英里(32 公里)。1845 年，莱亚德在该地进行考古挖掘，1949 年至 1961 年，马洛温代表英国在伊拉克的考古学院对该地进行了挖掘。虽然迦拉的历史可以从希腊化时期追溯到史前时期，但是只有当亚述王祝福该地时，这里才真正实现过繁荣。公元前 1250 年前后，撒缛以色列一世重建了迦拉城，并为之带来了繁荣。约在公元前 879 年，亚述纳西尔帕二世在迦拉建立都城，并在此建造了一座占地 6 英亩(2.4 公顷)的宏伟宫殿，马

ca. 879, made the town his capital and built a magnificent palace covering 6 acres (2.4 hectares), of which Mallowan completed excavation and a plan. This is now the best preserved of Assyrian royal dwellings. In 1951 Mallowan found the king's banquet stele, which describes a great feast for about 70,000 to celebrate completion of the palace. This would have included more than the entire population of the city, estimated at about 60,000. Mallowan also found a number of fine pieces of ivory inlay in the palace. Ashurnasirpal's son Shalmaneser III (859–824) also built himself a palace at Calah and set up his Black Obelisk (a kind of victory monument, found by Layard in 1846; see JEHU) in the public square. Mallowan discovered and largely excavated Shalmaneser's great 18-acre (7.3-hectare) fort, which lay just inside the 5-mi. (8-km.) circuit of the city wall at its southeast edge. This is the most extensive military installation yet discovered in ancient Assyria. Sargon II (722–705) made his capital at Asshur, Calah, and Nineveh before building Khorsabad. In fact, it was from Calah that he launched attacks on the Israelites and to Calah that he brought the booty after the fall of Samaria.

D. Erech. Biblical ERECH (modern Warka, ancient Uruk) lies 40 mi. (65 km.) NW of Ur. In 1850 Loftus investigated the site, as did Rawlinson on occasion during the years he supervised British Museum work in Mesopotamia (1851–1855). Jordan, for the German oriental society, conducted the first scientific excavation there in 1912–1913, discovering the great temple of the goddess Ishtar and part of the city wall. German teams led by Jordan and others worked again at Erech from 1928 to 1939, and after World War II returned to the site in 1954.

To date no city can be described at Erech, but the earliest ziggurat, the earliest cylinder seals, and the earliest known writing (ca. 3300 B.C.) appeared at this site. This early writing, apparently in Sumerian, was found on a number of clay tablets in a pictographic script in the Red Temple (one of three located there). Most of the finds at Erech date to the period 3500–3200 B.C.

Several mounds (the highest about 100 ft. [30 m.]) encase the ruins of ancient Uruk. Four of these cover the remains of temples, the largest of which was dedicated to Inanna, Lady of the Heavens. Another mound contains the palace of a Babylonian king. Though all these structures have been partially excavated, work has centered on the great Inanna temple. Occupation of the site apparently goes back to the 5th or 4th millennium B.C. Numerous houses of the 1st millennium B.C. (Assyrian and Persian) have been uncovered. The whole area of the city, surrounded by a wall, is 5¹/₂ sq. mi. (14 sq. km.).

E. Haran. HARAN stands 10 mi. (16 Km.) N of the Syrian border inside the Republic of Turkey, at a point almost equidistant from the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. Since medieval and modern towns have occupied most of the ancient site, large-scale excavations have been impossible. An Anglo-Turkish expedition began work in the region in 1951, concentrating on the nearby mound of Sultan Tepe, which may have been a part of ancient Haran. In Sultan Tepe

迄今为止，考古人员在以力遗址中发现了最早的庙塔、最早的圆筒印章和最早的书写文字（约公元前 3300 年）。人们在红庙（当地 3 座神庙之一）中发现了大量象形文字泥版，这些泥版上的文字显然是用苏美尔语书写的。以力的大多数考古发现界于公元前 3500 年至公元前 3200 年之间。

古代的乌鲁克遗址被多个废丘（最高的一个为 100 英尺[30 米]）覆盖着。其中 4 个废丘是神庙遗址，其中最大的一座神庙是献给“天之女王”伊南娜的。还有一个废丘是巴比伦王的宫殿遗址。尽管考古人员对所有的遗址都进行了部分挖掘，但是考古的中心仍然集中在伊南娜神庙遗址上。该遗址上的覆盖的土层似乎可以追溯到公元前 5000 年或 4000 年。人们在该地发掘出许多公元前 1000 年（亚述人和波斯人）的房屋。整个城市被城墙包围着，城市面积为 5¹/₂ 平方英里（14 平方公里）。

E. 哈兰。哈兰（见 HARAN）位于土耳其共和国境内，距离叙利亚北部边境 10 英里（16 公里），哈兰到幼发拉底河与底格里斯河距离几乎相同。因为大多数古代遗址位于中世纪和现代的城镇地下，考古人员很难开展大范围的发掘。1951 年，一支英裔土耳其考察队开始挖掘哈兰遗址，他们将发掘的重点集中在萨尔坦废丘上（Sultan Tepe），该废丘可能是古哈兰的一部分。考古挖掘者在萨尔坦发现了一座亚述神庙及其附属建筑。考古发掘者在神庙中发现了大量的

excavators found an Assyrian sanctuary with dependent buildings. The prize discovery was a rich collection of literary and religious texts belonging to Qurdi Nergal, priest of the moon-god, and dating from 648 to 612 B.C. This library, written in Sumerian and Assyrian, included literary texts (poems of Gilgamesh, creation, etc.), prayers and rituals, medical texts, and astronomical materials.

In 1956 D. S. Rice found in the mosque of Haran three reused stelae of Nabonidus' day, probably originally erected in the temple of the moon-god Sin. The three slabs bear a continuous text and include an autobiographical account by Nabonidus' mother telling why her son usurped the throne, Nabonidus' mission of restoring the temple at Haran, and other interesting details of the king's life.

F. Nineveh. The ruins of NINEVEH cover an area of 1800 acres (730 hectares) surrounded by remains of a brick wall almost 8 mi. (13 km.) long and still standing to a height of over 10 ft. (3 m.). Within this area are two large mounds, Kuyunjik and Nebi Yûnus, and a number of smaller ones. Kuyunjik is unoccupied and the site of most of the archeological work at Nineveh. Nebi Yûnus is occupied by a village, so little excavating can be done there.

The first to excavate briefly at Nineveh was P. E. Botta (1842), followed by A. H. Layard in 1845. Most of the work there has been done by British expeditions: H. Rassam (1852–1854); G. Smith (1872–1873, 1876); Rassam (1878–1882); E. A. W. Budge (1888–1891); L. W. King and

1956 年，赖斯 (D. S. Rice) 发现哈兰清真寺中所使用的三根石柱可以追溯到那波尼德时期，这 3 根石柱可能最初矗立在月神辛的神庙中。该地出土的 3 块厚板中有一段连续的文字，其中包括那波尼德母亲为儿子写的自传，她讲述了那波尼德篡夺王位的原因，那波尼德在哈兰重建神庙的使命以及其他与这位王的生活相关的细节。

F. 尼尼微。尼尼微 (见 NINEVEH) 遗址占地 1800 英亩 (730 公顷)，残留的砖墙围绕着城市，其长度大约为 8 英里 (13 公里)，高度超过 10 英尺 (3 米)。这一地区有两大废丘 (库云吉克 [Kuyunjik] 和先知约拿坟地) 和一些小丘。库云吉克废丘之上没有建筑覆盖，尼尼微考古大部分考古工作都在此进行。先知约拿坟地遗址上面是一个小村庄，考古人员几乎无法挖掘该遗址。

博塔 (P. E. Botta) 是第一个对尼尼微遗址进行短暂挖掘的考古人员 (1842)，1845 年莱亚德继续在这里展开挖掘。尼尼微遗址的大部分发掘工作是由英国考古人员完成的：拉森 (1852 - 1854)；史密斯 (1872 - 1873, 1876)；拉森 (1878 - 1882)；巴奇 (1888 - 1891)；

R. Campbell Thompson (1903–1905); Thompson (1927–1932); Iraqi Department of Antiquities (1954). Thompson was especially responsible for bringing a degree of order out of the chaos created by previous campaigns at the site. He cut down to virgin soil and established the history of the site from 612 B.C. (when the Babylonians destroyed the city) back to almost 5000 B.C.

Nineveh was periodically the capital of Assyria, along with Nimrûd and Asshur; but from Sennacherib's reign on (705–682) it was permanently the capital. To Sennacherib goes credit for the city wall, an aqueduct that brought water from about 30 mi. (50 km.), and a great palace. His palace, at the southern edge of Kuyunjik, had more than seventy rooms decorated with sculptured stone slabs for a total of almost two miles of reliefs. In the middle of Kuyunjik stood Sennacherib's temple to Nabû (god of writing), where he deposited his royal library (found by Layard). At the northern edge of the mound was the palace of Ashurbanipal (Osnappar of Ezr. 4:10), where Rassam found the rest of the royal library (perhaps totaling more than 100,000 texts, including Babylonian accounts of creation and the flood). Palaces of Shalmaneser I, Tiglath-pileser I, Adadnirari II, Ashurnasirpal, and Tukulti-Ninurta II also came to light at Kuyunjik, and a palace of Esarhaddon on Nebi Yûnus. The site of Nineveh is so huge that work there has hardly begun.

尼尼微、尼姆鲁德和亚述三个城市在亚述帝国时期轮流作都城; 但是从西拿基立统治时期开始 (705 - 682), 亚述帝国将尼尼微定为永久的都城。西拿基立为其修建了城墙, 从 30 英里 (50 公里) 外引来了沟渠, 并建造了一座宏伟的宫殿。西拿基立的宫殿位于库云吉克南部边缘地区, 宫殿内有 70 多个房间, 房间内饰有雕刻石板, 这些雕刻石板构成了长达 2 英里的浮雕。库云吉克中部是西拿基立为尼波神 (文字之神) 建造的神庙, 这座神庙也是西拿基立的皇家图书馆 (由莱亚德发现)。库云吉克北部是亚述巴尼帕的宫殿 (以斯拉记 4:10 中的亚斯那巴), 拉森在这里发现了皇室图书馆的其余部分 (图书馆内藏有超过 10 万文献, 其中包括巴比伦人对创世和洪水的记载)。考古人员还在库云吉克发现了撒幔以色列一世、提革拉毗列色一世、亚达尼拉利二世、亚述纳西尔帕和图库尔提尼努尔塔二世的宫殿, 在先知约拿墓地 (Nebi Yûnus) 发现了以撒哈顿的宫殿。尼尼微城遗址极其庞大, 发掘工作才刚刚开始。

G. Ur. The home of Abraham was first excavated briefly by J. E. Taylor for the British Museum in 1854. He found inscriptions at the ziggurat which demonstrated that Tell el-Muqaiyar was truly Ur. In 1918 R. Campbell Thompson worked there briefly, followed a few months later by H. R. Hall, who concentrated on the ziggurat area but also uncovered tombs and houses. The main campaign, however, was a cooperative effort of the British Museum and the Museum of the University of Pennsylvania under the direction of C. L. Woolley (1922–1934).

G. 吾珥。1854 年，大英博物馆派泰勒（J. E. Taylor）率先对亚伯兰罕的故乡展开短暂的挖掘。他在金字形神塔中发现了一些铭文，这些铭文证明穆喀雅废丘（Tell el-Muqaiyar）就是吾珥。1918 年，汤普森在此进行了短暂的考古探究，数月之后，霍尔在这里展开考古挖掘，他主要发掘了金字形神塔地区，而且发掘出了一些坟墓和房屋。但是，该地主要的考古活动却是由大英博物馆和宾夕法尼亚大学博物馆组成的联合考古队开展的，伍利是这支联合科考队的队长（1922–1934）。

Most interesting for biblical studies, as possibly the time when Abraham lived there, is the Ur III period (2070–1960 B.C.), which saw the city at its height. Woolley estimated the population of the city and its environs at about 250,000. The wall around the city proper was some 21/2 mi. (4 km.) in circumference and 77 ft. (23 m.) thick. In the northwestern part of the city was the sacred enclosure of the moon-god Nanna, within which stood the great brick ziggurat measuring 200 ft. (60 m.) in length, 150 ft. (45 m.) in width, and 70 ft. (21 m.) in height. The city had two harbors and numerous business houses with sales representatives scattered far and wide. Houses of the middle class normally had ten to twenty rooms in two stories arranged around a central court. Education was quite highly developed. In mathematics one not only knew multiplication and division but also could extract square roots and do exercises in practical geometry. Scores of thousands of clay tablets have come to light, a large percentage of which are bills of lading, invoices, records of court cases, tax records, and the like, demonstrating the prosperity and social and economic advancement of the community.

Later, during the 17th cent., the city was badly damaged by Hammurabi's son when Ur rebelled against her overlords, but it was restored to greatness by Nebuchadnezzar and Cyrus. For a general description of the city's history and significance see UR.

港, 多个商行, 销售网点遍布全城。中产阶级的房屋通常分为上下两层, 拥有 10 到 20 个房间, 大约位于院子中间。当时的教育水平很高。在数学方面, 人们不仅掌握了乘除法运算而且学会了求平方根, 进行实用几何学练习。考古人员在此发现了成千上万的泥版, 大部分泥版上的文字是关于装箱单、发票、庭审、税务诸如此类的记录, 这证明当时这里社会繁荣、经济发达。

后来, 吾珥人发动了反对其领主的反叛战争, 汉莫拉比之子在平息叛乱时重创了这座城市, 但是尼布甲尼撒和居鲁士后来让这座城市重现了昔日繁荣景象。关于这座城市历史和重要性概述, 见 UR (吾珥)。

ARCHEOLOGY OF PALESTINE AND SYRIA.

The ancient areas of Palestine, Phoenicia, and Syria are now incorporated into four modern nations: Israel, Jordan, Lebanon, and Syria. The modern nation Israel was formed in 1948. The wars of 1967 and 1970 resulted in Israeli occupation of the Sinai and Gaza Strip territories of Egypt, the Golan Heights of Syria, and the West Bank of Jordan. The last is a large area of Cisjordan that includes Samaria, the Old City of Jerusalem, and many other important biblical sites. The Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan includes the transjordanian areas of ancient Gilead, Ammon, Moab, and Edom.

Modern Lebanon, a small country about 135 mi. (215 km.) long and no broader than 50 mi. (80 km.), includes the ancient Phoenician coast, the Lebanon Mountains, and the fertile Beqa' Valley.

The Syrian Arab Republic extends 350 mi. (560 km.) inland to include the northwestern area of ancient Mesopotamia—the region of the upper Euphrates River and its major tributary, the Khābûr (Habor) River. Although the mouth of the Orontes lies in the district of Alexandretta ceded to Turkey in 1939, this important area of ancient Syria will be included in the following discussion.

ARCHEOLOGY OF PALESTINE AND SYRIA巴勒斯坦和叙利亚考古

现代黎巴嫩是一个面积狭小的国家, 长约 135 英里 (215 公里), 宽不超过 50 英里 (80 公里), 古代的腓尼基海岸、黎巴嫩山和富饶的贝卡山谷位于其境内。

阿拉伯叙利亚共和国是一个面积达 350 英里 (560 公里) 的内陆国家, 其国土面积中包括了古代美索不达米亚的西北部地区, 也就是幼发拉底河和其支流哈博河的上游地区。虽然奥龙特斯河口位于 1939 年割让给了土耳其的亚历山大勒塔地区, 但是下面将继续讨论古叙利亚的这一重要区域。

I. History of Archeological Investigation.

A. Syria. Major excavations in Syria began in the early 20th century. From 1911 to the outbreak of World War I, R. C. Thompson, T. E. Lawrence (of Arabia), D. G. Hogarth, and C. L. Woolley worked at Carchemish on the Euphrates River near the Syrian-Turkish border, uncovering a large number of Syro-Hittite reliefs. Carchemish was the site of the battle in 605 B.C. between Nebuchadrezzar and Neco (2 Ch. 35:20; Jer. 46:2). The excavators found evidence of this battle, including the shield of a Greek mercenary soldier in the hire of Neco.

I. 考古探究的历史。

A. 叙利亚。叙利亚的主要考古发掘从 20 世纪初期开始。从 1911 年至一战爆发，汤普森、劳伦斯 (T. E. Lawrence, 阿拉伯人)、贺加斯 (D. G. Hogarth) 和伍利都曾在迦基米施考古，迦基米施位于叙利亚和土耳其边境附近的幼发拉底河沿岸，他们在这里发掘出大量的叙利亚赫人的浮雕。迦基米施是公元前 605 年巴比伦王尼布甲尼撒和埃及王尼哥战争的战场 (代下 35:20; 耶 46:2)。考古人员发现了关于这场战争的考古证据，其中包括尼哥军中希腊佣兵的盾牌。

On the Habor (Khābûr) River near the 哈拉夫 (古城歌散, 见 GOZAN[歌散])

Turkish border is Tell Halâf, ancient GOZAN. Max von Oppenheim excavated the site in 1911–1913 and 1927–1929. An inscribed altar from Halâf yields our oldest Aramaic text, dated to 925 B.C. Under the Assyrians Gozan was a provincial capital. Israelites were sent there by Tiglath-pileser III in 734–732 B.C. (1 Ch. 5:26) and by Shalmaneser V and Sargon II in 722 (2 K. 17:6; 18:11).

DURA-EUROPAS is a huge settlement of 160 acres (65 hectares), 25 mi. (40 km.) up the Euphrates from the Iraqi border. Eminent Belgian, French, and American scholars worked at the site in 1922–1923 and from 1928 to 1937. Among their significant discoveries were a Mithraeum (2nd cent. A.D.), a synagogue (3rd cent. A.D.), and a church (3rd cent. A.D.) which is the earliest yet found. All these buildings were decorated with frescoes.

Tell ‘Asharah is situated 15 mi. (25 km.) below the confluence of the Habor and the Euphrates. It was identified by E. Herzfeld as ancient Terqa, the capital of the kingdom of Ḥana in the Old Babylonian period. In 1923 F. Thureau-Dangin conducted a short season there. At that time the mound measured 2600 by 2000 ft. (800 by 600 m.), but erosion by the Euphrates has reduced this to only 1870 by 1670 ft. (570 by 510 m.). In 1974 T. H. Carter began new excavations at the site; these were continued by G. Buccellati.

杜拉欧罗普斯（见 DURA-EUROPAS[杜拉欧罗普斯]）是一个面积达 160 英亩（65 公顷）的庞大定居点，它距离幼发拉底河上游（伊拉克边境段）25 英里（40 公里）。1922 年至 1923 年和 1928 年至 1937 年两个时间段，比利时、法国和美国的杰出学者们曾对这一遗址展开了挖掘。该遗址上的重大考古发现包括：一个公元 2 世纪的密特拉地下洞窟、一座公元 3 世纪的犹太会堂和一座公元 3 世纪的教堂（最早被发现的教堂）。所有这些建筑上装饰着壁画。 period. The site, about 3300 ft. (1000 m.) square, was protected by steep “Hyksos” ramparts, some 50 ft. (15 m.) high.

F. Thureau-Dangin excavated Arslan Tash, ancient Hadātu, from 1927 to 1929. He found an important collection of ivories in a magnificent provincial palace of Tiglath-pileser III.

On the coast E of the tip of Cyprus is one of the most important sites in the Near East, Râs Shamrah, ancient UGARIT. The initial discovery was made accidentally in 1928 by a farmer whose plow struck a tomb. This led to the excavation of the tell of Ugarit less than a mile away. Begun in 1929 by C. Schaeffer, excavations continued until 1939. They were resumed in 1948.

Ugarit flourished between 2100 and 1200 B.C. The excavators have uncovered a palace, and temples of Dagon and Baal. Most important are the archives, with numerous clay tablets in Akkadian and the previously unknown Ugaritic. The latter was deciphered concurrently in 1930 by H. Bauer of Germany and by E. Dhorme and C. Virolleaud of France. As recently as 1960 excavators came upon a new archive, which produced thirty boxes of texts. The Ugaritic texts are of paramount importance to OT studies because the religion of Baal, Anath, and other Ugaritic gods is similar to that of the Canaanites of Palestine. The literary style and vocabulary of texts such as the epics of Aqhat and of Keret are very similar to the poetic portions of the OT.

Ancient HAMATH on the Orontes was investigated by the Danes under H. Ingholt between 1931 and 1938. Hamath

3300 英尺（1000 米）的正方形，城四周被“希克索斯式”陡峭的壁垒保护着，有些壁垒高达 50 英尺（15 米）。

丹金于 1927 年至 1929 年发掘了阿斯拉斯塔什（古名：哈达图[Hadātu]）。他获得了重要的考古发现，在提革拉毗列三世时期的一个行省的宏伟宫殿中发现了许多象牙。

拉斯姆拉（古名：乌加列，见 UGARIT [乌加列]）位于基提岛东端，它是近东最重要的遗址之一。1928 年一位农民在犁地时偶然发现了一座古墓，这揭开了此地考古挖掘的序幕，考古人员开始在距离该古墓不到 1 英里以外的乌加列废丘展开挖掘。舍弗尔（C. Schaeffer）的考古发掘从 1929 年一直持续到 1939 年，他在 1948 年又重新开始挖掘该遗址。 was an independent kingdom conquered by Jeroboam II (2 K. 14:28).

1931 年至 1938 年，英格霍特（H. Ingholt）率领丹麦科考队调研了奥龙特斯河岸上的古城哈马（见 HAMATH [哈

Tell Ta'yinat near Antioch was excavated by C. W. McEwan from 1932 to 1938. He found a Syro-Hittite temple of the 9th cent. B.C. with a ground plan similar to that of Solomon's temple.

Ancient ANTIOCH (SYRIAN) was the third largest city in the Roman empire. Joint American-French excavations were conducted between 1932 and 1939 under G. Elderkin, C. Morey, and R. Stillwell. Hundreds of fine mosaics were recovered from twenty churches of the 4th century. Unfortunately, little of the earlier levels was recovered, as these are now under the water table of the Orontes. Only one inscription and a marble fragment bear witness to the Jews of ancient Antioch, who comprised one-seventh of the population. At the famous suburb of DAPHNE, 5 mi. (8 km.) S of Antioch, excavators found the Roman theater built by Vespasian on the site of the Jewish synagogue.

On the Euphrates just across from the Iraqi border is one of the most important sites in the Near East, ancient Mari, a major city that flourished until it was destroyed by Hammurabi in the 18th cent. B.C. A bedouin accidentally discovered the site in 1933. The French under A. Parrot have excavated Mari in more than twenty seasons (1933-1939, 1951-1956, and since 1960). They cleared a royal palace of the 2nd millennium B.C., covering 15 acres (6 hectares) and including 270 rooms, some with striking frescoes. Of the greatest significance are more than twenty

塔伊纳特 (Tell Ta'yinat) 靠近安提阿, 1932 年至 1938 年, 麦克尤恩 (C. W. McEwan) 对该遗址展开了挖掘, 并在此发现了一座公元前 9 世纪的叙裔赫人神庙和一张与所罗门神殿平面图相似的平面图。

古城安提阿 (叙利亚) (见 ANTIOCH [SYRIAN]) 是罗马帝国的第三大城市。埃尔德金 (G. Elderkin)、莫雷 (C. Morey) 和史迪威 (R. Stillwell) 于 1932 年至 1939 年率领美国和法国人组成的联合科考队在这里进行考古挖掘。他们从公元 4 世纪的 20 座教堂中发掘出数以百计的精美的镶嵌图案。遗憾的是, 他们没有找到更早期的镶嵌图案, 因为它们现在都位于奥龙特斯河的河底。只有一篇铭文和一个大理石碎片见证着犹太人曾在安提阿生活过, 他们占整个城市人口数的七分之一。安提阿以南 5 英里 (8 公里) 的郊区是著名的达弗尼 (见 DAPHNE[达弗尼]), 发掘者发现了维斯帕先在犹太会堂遗址上建造的罗马剧场遗址。 thousand cuneiform tablets, which provide us with (among other things) names similar to those found in Abraham's genealogy. Recently published texts from Mari provide the first substantial parallels to biblical prophecy.

刚过伊拉克边境的幼发拉底河沿岸是近东一个重要的遗址所在地, 它就是古代的马里 (Mari), 公元前 18 世纪汉莫拉比将这一城市毁灭, 但是在这之前, 它是近东一个繁华大城市。1933 年贝多因 (bedouin) 偶然发现了这一遗址。帕罗 (A. Parrot) 曾率领法国科考队在这里进行了 20 多年的发掘 (1933 至 1939, 1951 至 1956 和 1960 年之后)。他们发掘出公元前 2000 年的一个占地 15 英亩 (6 公顷) 皇宫, 宫殿内有 270 个房间, 有些房间内饰有醒目的壁画。该遗址出土了 2000 多块楔形文字石碑, 这些石碑极富考古价值, 碑文中许多名字与亚伯拉罕的宗谱上的名字很相似 (碑文中

Tell Chagar Bazar, on a branch of the Habor about 20 mi. (30 km.) S of the Turkish border, was excavated under M. E. L. Mallowan (1935–1937). Its identification is uncertain. It is significant that an Old Babylonian text from the site mentions horses, for this area became part of the state of Mitanni, which flourished because of its charioteers. Just S of Tell Chagar Bazar, Tell Brâk also was excavated by Mallowan between 1937 and 1939. In the temple terrace (2900 B.C.) were thousands of black and white alabaster "eye idols," figurines of gods consisting of pairs of eyes. An unexpected discovery was a palace belonging to Naram-Sin of Akkad (2250 B.C.).

From 1937 to 1939 and from 1946 to 1949 C. L. Woolley labored at the large mound of ancient Alalakh on the Orontes in Turkish territory, and also at the port of el-Mina (Gk. Poseideion), located at the mouth of the Orontes. A total of 466 Akkadian texts from Alalakh sheds important light on the background of the biblical patriarchs. El-Mina was the major Greek outpost for trade with Syria and Mesopotamia from the 8th to the 4th cents B.C.

1935年至1937年，马洛温对哈博河支流沿岸的查加尔·巴扎尔（Tell Chagar Bazar）展开了挖掘，该地位于土耳其边境以南20英里（30公里）处。人们无法确定它的古名。但值得注意的是，该地出土的一份古巴比伦文献提到了马匹，因为这一地区曾是米坦尼王国的领地，而米坦尼人因善于驾驶战车而兴盛一时。查加尔·巴扎尔以南就是布拉克（Tell Brâk），1937年至1939年马洛温也曾挖掘了这里。该地的庙台（公元前2900年）内拥有数以千计的用黑白雪花石膏制成的多眼神像，也被称为“眼偶”。考古人员还意外发现了阿卡德的纳拉姆辛国王的宫殿（公元前2250年）。

《圣经》中达莫（见 TADMOR[达莫]，代下 8:4）是罗马帝国时期帕尔米拉的一个著名绿洲城市，它在季诺碧亚作女王时期达到鼎盛，这位女王竟敢于挑战

Roman emperor Aurelian (A.D. 271). The extensive ruins, including over one hundred columns still in place, were seen by the Jewish traveler Benjamin of Tudela in A.D. 1172, and were then rediscovered by English merchants at the end of the 17th century. Between the World Wars French scholars such as R. Dussaud, C. Virolleaud, A. Gabriel, and M. Dunand worked at Palmyra. In 1939 H. Seyrig investigated the agora. Just before World War II Chinese silks of the 1st–2nd cents A.D. were discovered. From 1954 to 1961 Swiss excavators under P. Collart worked in the Baalshamin temple area. Since 1959 Polish scholars under K. Michalowski have been excavating the camp of Diocletian. From 1963 to 1966 Syrians under A. Bounni uncovered the temple of Nebo.

The capital of Syria, DAMASCUS, was also the capital of the Arameans (2 S. 8:5f) until its conquest by Tiglathpileser III in 732 B.C. The outline of “the street called Straight” (Acts 9:11) is still preserved by the modern Sharia‘et-Tawwil, which ends at the Eastern Gate (Bâb esh-Sharqi). In 1947 the Syrians discovered a Roman arch about 13 ft. (4 m.) below the present street level. The eastern triple gate (now largely restored) at the end of the street also dates from the Roman period.

In 1955–1956 the West Germans under A. Moortgat worked at the great mound of Tell Fekherîyeh, E of Tell Halâf on the Habor River. They uncovered a Hurrian settlement of the mid-2nd millennium B.C., which may have been ancient-Waššukanni, the capital of the kingdom of Mitanni.

罗马皇帝奥勒利安（公元 271 年）。公元 1172 年来自于图德拉的犹太人本杰明来到了这里，他在此地看到了大量的遗迹，其中包括一百多根宫殿的廊柱。17 世纪末期，英国商人重新挖掘了该遗址。两次世界大战期间，法国学者杜索（R. Dussaud）、维洛列伍德、加布里埃尔（A. Gabriel）和达兰德（M. Dunand）在帕尔米拉开展考古探究。1939 年，塞里格对该地的集市进行了考古研究。二战爆发之前，人们在这里发现了公元 1 世纪至公元 2 世纪的中国丝绸制品。1954 年至 1961 年，卡拉特（P. Collart）率领瑞士考古挖掘者在对巴力神庙遗址进行了考古探究。从 1959 年，米查罗斯基（K. Michalowski）带领波兰学者开始挖掘戴克里先的露营。1963 年至 1966 年，布尼（A. Bounni）带领叙利亚考古人员挖掘了尼波神庙。

大马士革（见 DAMASCUS[大马士革]）是叙利亚的首都，公元前 732 年提革拉毗列色征服亚兰人之前，大马士革也是亚兰人的都城（撒下 8:5-6）。现代城市沙里阿亚特塔维尔（Sharia‘et-Tawwil）仍然保存着《使徒行传》中提到的“直街”（徒 9:11），这条街道一直延伸到东门（夏奇城门）。1947 年，叙利亚人在这条街道下方 13 英尺（4 米）处发现了一个罗马拱门。街道尽头的东门分为三重（大部分现已被修复），东门也是罗马时期的建成的。

1955 年至 1956 年，摩盖特（A. Moortgat）率领西德考古人员对弗海里耶（Tell Fekherîyeh）的大废丘展开了挖掘，该废丘位于哈博河沿岸的哈里夫东侧。他们在该遗址发现了一个公元前 2000 年中叶的胡里安人聚落，这里有可能是米坦尼王国的古都瓦舒戛尼（Waššukanni）。

The Danes under P. Riis excavated the site of Tell Sukas on the coast from 1958 to 1963. Sukas is probably the Šuksi mentioned in Ugaritic texts. Gifted with two harbors, Sukas served as an important Greek trading outpost from 850 to 550 B.C.

Ancient ARPAD has been excavated by British archeologists since 1960. They have uncovered the remains of the Aramean city whose destruction by the Assyrians left such a deep impression on biblical writers (2 K. 18:34, par. Isa. 36:19; Jer. 49:23).

Between 1968 and 1974 the Syrians built a major dam on the Euphrates at Tabqa, about 90 mi. (145 km.) E of Aleppo. The new lake created by the dam, 50 mi. (80 km.) long and 5 mi. (8 km.) wide, has covered many tells, including those of the southern part of the kingdom of Carchemish and the eastern part of the kingdom of Yamhad (Aleppo). Emergency salvage excavations were conducted by many nations at Tell Frey, 12 mi. (20 km.) upstream from the dam. A palace of the 17th–16th cents B.C., with a number of cuneiform texts, was cleared. Another site, Tell Selenkahiyah, which flourished from 2400 to 2200 B.C., also was subject to salvage excavations.

1958年至1963年，里斯(P. Riis)率领丹麦人挖掘了海岸边的叙卡斯(Tell Sukas)。叙卡斯有可能就是乌加里特语文献中的“Šuksi”。叙卡斯拥有两个海港，从公元前850年至公元前550年，它始终是希腊重要的贸易口岸。

英国考古学家从1960年开始挖掘古城亚珥拔(见ARPAD[亚珥拔])。他们挖掘到了这座亚兰城市的很多遗迹，亚述人摧毁这些城市给《圣经》作者们留下了深刻的印象(王下18:34, 平行经文赛36:19; 耶49:23)。

1968年至1974年，叙利亚人在幼发拉底河沿岸的泰巴盖建造了一座大坝，泰巴盖大约位于阿勒波以东90英里(145公里)处。这座长50英里(80公里)宽5英里(8公里)的大坝形成了一个新湖泊，新湖泊淹没了许多土丘，包括迦基米施王国南面和亚姆哈德(阿勒波)王国东面的土丘。许多国家的考古人员在大坝上游12英里(20公里)处的弗雷(Tell Frey)展开紧急的营救性挖掘。考古人员在此地发掘出一座公元前17世纪或16世纪的宫殿和大量楔形文字文献。考古人员也对另一个考古遗址——塞兰凯伊耶(Tell Selenkahiyah)展开了营救性的挖掘，该遗址在公元前2400年至公元前2200年曾盛极一时。

Third-millennium temple at Byblos. During the Amorite period (2nd millennium B.C.) the site was occupied by the "obelisk temple" of Resheph (reconstructed at left). (W. S. LaSor)

The Italians under P. Matthiae have been working since 1964 at TELL MARDIKH, 43 mi. (70 km.) SW of Aleppo. This large tell of 140 acres (56 hectares) has turned out to be one of the most spectacular sites ever excavated, for it was ancient Ebla, one of the main kingdoms of the area. Over twenty thousand cuneiform tablets in Sumerian and in a new dialect, Paleo-Canaanite, have come from its archives, dated to 2400–2250 B.C. Of great significance is the appearance of a king named Ebrum (cf. Eber in Gen. 10:21). Also, cities of Palestine such as Salem, Hazor, Lachish, Megiddo, Gaza, Joppa, etc., are mentioned.

B. Phoenicia. The earliest explorations in Phoenicia were conducted by the French scholar E. Renan, who came to the Levant in 1860 with troops sent by Napoleon III.

The most famous site in Lebanon is the spectacular Roman temple complex of BAALBEK (Gk. Heliopolis) in the Beqa' Valley. Some scholars have sought to associate Aven (Am. 1:5) with the area.

马提亚（P. Matthiae）率领的意大利科考队于 1964 年开始在阿勒波西南 43 英里（70 公里）的马尔迪赫丘（见 TELL MARDIKH）进行考古挖掘。这一土丘占地 140 英亩（56 公顷），是目前被挖掘出的最壮观的遗址之一，因为这里就是该地区一主要古国——埃勃拉王国的遗址所在地。考古人员在该遗址发掘到了公元前 2400 年至公元前 2250 年之间的 2000 多块苏美尔语和古迦南语（新方言）楔形文字石碑。其中一个重要的考古发现是当地一位王的名字叫希伯（Ebrum）（参：《创世记》10:21 中希伯）。另外提及了一些巴勒斯坦地区的城市：撒冷、夏琐、拉吉、米吉多、迦萨、约帕等。

B. 腓尼基。法国学者勒南（E. Renan）率先在腓尼基展开了考古研究，1860 年他随从拿破仑三世的军队来到了黎凡特。

黎巴嫩最著名的考古遗址就是贝卡山谷中的巴勒贝克（见 BAALBEK[巴勒贝克]）（希腊语：Heliopolis）。有些学者试图将亚文平原（摩 1:5）与该地区联系在一起。1555 年，贝隆（P. Belon）

Baalbek was first brought to Europe's attention by P. Belon in 1555, and was then accurately described by Wood and Dawkins in 1751. After the visit in 1898 of Emperor Wilhelm II, the German scholars O. Puchstein and B. Schulz worked at the site. Since World War II excavations and reconstruction have been directed by M. Chehab and H. Kalayan. Soundings have revealed Persian and Hellenistic remains.

The French have excavated the port of Byblos under M. Dunand and P. Montet (1921–1924, 1933–1938, 1960–1962, and since 1968). The Egyptians traded with Byblos for the famous cedars of Lebanon from the 3rd millennium B.C., and many Egyptian objects have been recovered from the site. In 1923 the sarcophagus of Ahiram was discovered. Inscribed in archaic Phoenician, it is one of the oldest extant alphabetic inscriptions (early 10th cent. B.C.).

Ancient SIDON was a great Phoenician city (Gen. 10:19; 1 K. 5:6 [MT 20]; 16:31). In 1855 the black basalt sarcophagus of Eshmun'azar, with an important Phoenician inscription, was discovered at Sidon. Thirty-two years later the sarcophagus of his son Tabnit, "priest of Astarte," was found. At the end of the 19th cent. the Turkish archeologist O. Hamdi discovered four carved sarcophagi, which are the finest Hellenistic sculptures on display in the Istanbul Museum. Outstanding is the "Alexander Sarcophagus," which depicts a battle between Alexander and the Persians.

达兰德和蒙泰 (P. Montet) 带领法国考古人员挖掘了比布鲁斯港 (1921–1924, 1933–1938, 1960–1962, 1968 年之后)。从公元前 3000 年开始，埃及人就与比布鲁斯人进行贸易，换取当地著名的黎巴嫩香柏木，许多埃及人物件也被人们发掘出来。1923 年，考古人员发现了阿希雷姆石棺。石棺上刻有古腓尼基语碑文，这也是现存最古老的字母碑文 (公元前 10 世纪初期)。

古城西顿 (见 SIDON [西顿]) 是腓尼基人的一座大城市 (创 10:19; 王上 5:6 [《马所拉文本》 20]; 16:31)。1855 年，人们在西顿发现了以斯玛鲁沙二世的黑玄武岩石棺，石棺上刻有重要的腓尼基语碑文。32 年之后，人们又发现了他的儿子塔伯尼特 (阿施塔特的祭司) 的石棺。19 世纪末期，土耳其考古学家哈姆迪 (O. Hamdi) 发现了 4 个雕刻的石棺，它们是伊斯坦布尔博物馆展示的最精美的希腊风格雕塑。“亚历山大石棺”最为引人注目，因为石棺上描绘着亚历山大与波斯人战争的场面。

Bronze figure of Syrian god discovered near Tyre (Trustees of the British Museum)

The temple of Eshmun at Boston esh-Sheh, 3 mi. (5 km.) N of Sidon, was partly excavated by Macridi-Bey and Van Landau in the early 20th century. Work was resumed in 1963 by M. Dunand, who discovered eleven statues of squatting children dedicated to Eshmun. Four of these have Phoenician inscriptions, one with a text naming a series of three kings and a prince from the 5th-4th cents B.C.

The Phoenician city of Tyre was renowned for its maritime trade (Ezk. 26:4-14). It was actually an island that was transformed into a peninsula by Alexander the Great's causeway. Aerial and underwater surveys of the harbor installations were conducted in 1934-

爱希慕恩神庙位于西顿以北 3 英里（5 公里）的波斯顿伊沙舍（Boston esh-Sheh），20 世纪初期，马克里迪（Macridi-Bey）和兰道（Van Landau）对这一神殿进行了部分挖掘。1963 年，达兰德重新开始挖掘，并发现了 11 樽献给医神爱希慕恩的蹲着的儿童雕像。其中 4 樽雕像上刻有腓尼基语铭文，其中 1 篇铭文中提到了公元前 5 世纪至公元前 4 世纪的 3 位国王和 1 位王子的名字。

腓尼基人城市推罗因海上贸易而闻名于世（结 26:4-14）。它实际上是一座岛屿，亚历山大大帝铺设长堤之后，这里变成了一个半岛。1934 年至 1936 年，泊巴德（A. Poidebard）从空中和水中对这一港口上的设施展开了调查。从 1947 年开始，谢哈卜对本土的罗马拜占庭式

1936 by A. Poidebard. Since 1947 systematic excavations under M. Chehab have uncovered 40 acres (16 hectares) in the Roman Byzantine necropolis on the mainland and in the area of the southern harbor on the peninsula. On the mainland at Tyre hundreds of carved sarcophagi (2nd–7th cents A.D.) have been uncovered on both sides of a columned roadway with a monumental gateway. Most impressive is a well-preserved hippodrome (4th cent. A.D.) which seated 100,000 spectators. In the area of the peninsula the excavators have uncovered marble and mosaic pavements of the 4th cent. A.D. and a square arena for two thousand spectators. Unfortunately, pre-Roman levels have proved elusive.

German scholars under R. Hachmann conducted excavations from 1963 to 1970 at the site of Kamed el-Loz, ancient Kumidi, in the Beqa' Valley. Important finds include a fortress and temple with early (13th cent. B.C.) alphabetic ostraca. Also discovered were four cuneiform tablets, similar to the Amarna Letters, which refer to the deportation of some Habiru to Nubia.

Midway between Sidon and Tyre lies the site of ZAREPHATH (1 K. 17:8–24; Lk. 4:26). J. B. Pritchard conducted systematic excavations from 1969 to 1974, uncovering for the first time stratified Iron Age (9th–6th cents B.C.) remains of the Phoenicians. The site yielded painted clay masks, a small shrine, and an ivory plaque with an inscription to Tanit-Ashtart (RSV “Ashtaroth,” Jgs. 10:6; 1 K. 11:5). This is the first inscriptional reference in the East to Tanit, who was the goddess worshiped at Carthage.

的大墓地和半岛南部的港口进行了系统挖掘，他挖掘的面积达到了 40 英亩（16 公顷）。考古人员在推罗本土发现了上百个雕刻石棺（公元 2 世纪至 7 世纪），推罗本土的道路立着许多圆柱，还建有一个不朽的城门。最为引人注意的是一个保存完好的竞技场（公元 4 世纪），其中可以容纳 10 万观众。考古人员在半岛上挖掘到一些公元 4 世纪用大理石铺就的道路和一个可以容纳 2000 人的正方形竞技场。遗憾的是，该地罗马帝国时期之前的考古发现很少。

1963 年至 1970 年，哈赫曼（R. Hachmann）带领德国的考古学者挖掘了贝卡山谷内卡姆德洛兹（Kamed el-Loz），这里就是古代的库米提。该地重要的考古发现包括一座堡垒和一座神庙，以及印有早期字母的瓦片（公元前 13 世纪）。哈赫曼还发现了四块与亚玛拿泥版类似的楔形文字石碑，碑文中提到哈皮鲁人被掳到努比亚。

西顿和推罗中间是撒勒法（见 ZAREPHATH[撒勒法]）（王上 17:8-24；路 4:26）。1969 年至 1974 年，普里查德（J. B. Pritchard）在此地进行了系统的考古发掘，并且首次从铁器时代（公元前 9 世纪至公元前 6 世纪）的各考古地层中发掘出许多腓尼基人的遗迹。该遗址中出土了许多彩绘泥质面具、一座规模较小的神庙和一块象牙匾，该匾上刻有献给塔尼特阿斯塔塔的铭文（《修订标准译本》为“亚斯她录”，士 10:6；王上 11:5）。这也是东方的碑文中首次出现塔尼特这个名字，她是迦太基人崇拜的女神。

C. Palestine. In 1838 an American seminary professor E. Robinson, with his former student E. Smith, made a pioneer survey of sites and established many important identifications. From 1872 to 1878 the British Palestine Exploration Fund sponsored a topographical survey of Cisjordan, conducted by C. R. Conder and H. H. Kitchener. In 1884 and the following years G. Schumacher explored northern Transjordan.

The first excavation was undertaken in Jerusalem in 1863 by F. de Saulcy at the so-called “Tombs of the Kings” N of the present walled city. He believed that he had found the mausoleum of the kings of Judah. One tomb, which has a rolling stone, is actually that of Helena, Queen of Adiabene, who was converted to Judaism in A.D. 48.

The first important excavator in Palestine was the British Egyptologist Flinders Petrie, who dug in 1890 at Tell el-Ḥesī (mistakenly identified with Lachish, but now believed to be Eglon). He was able to synchronize Palestinian pottery with that found in Egypt. Petrie later dug SE of Tell el-Ḥesī at Tell Jemmeh in 1926–1927, at Tell el-Fār‘ah (S) in 1928–1930, and at Tell el-‘Ajjûl in 1930–1934. His identifications of these sites are not maintained today.

R. A. S. Macalister of Ireland excavated the site of GEZER (Tell Jezer) from 1902 to 1909. An important find was the Gezer Calendar (10th cent. B.C.), the oldest Hebrew text yet discovered. (See also below.)

At TAANACH (Tell Ta‘annak) E. Sellin

C. 巴勒斯坦。1838 年美国神学院教授罗宾逊 (E. Robinson) 和其校友史密斯 (E. Smith) 率先研究巴勒斯坦的遗址, 并且获得了重要的考古发现。1872 年至 1878 年, 英国巴勒斯坦探索基金会为康德 (C. R. Conder) 和基奇纳 (H. H. Kitchener) 在内约旦进行的地形测量提供了资金援助。1884 年及其之后的数年, 舒马赫 (G. Schumacher) 在外约旦的北部地区展开了探究。

1863 年, 索尔西 (F. de Saulcy) 率先挖掘了耶路撒冷所谓的“帝王坟墓”, 该墓地位于今城墙之都北侧。他认为自己发现了犹太王的陵墓。拥有滚石的坟墓实际上是阿狄亚贝尼女王海伦娜 (Helena) 的坟墓, 这位女王于公元 48 年改信犹太教。

巴勒斯坦首个重要的考古发掘者是英国埃及古物学家皮特里, 他于 1890 年挖掘了特拉黑斯 (他以为该地就是拉吉, 但是现在人们知道该地是伊矾伦)。他能找出巴勒斯坦出土的陶器与埃及出土的陶器的年代对应关系。1926 年至 1927 年, 皮特里挖掘了特拉黑斯东南面的帖尔耶米 (Tell Jemmeh), 并于 1928 年至 1930 年挖掘了特拉黑斯南面的法拉 (Tell el-Fār‘ah), 于 1930 年至 1934 年发掘了阿朱勒。但是他发掘的这些遗址现已不复存在。

1902 年至 1909 年, 爱尔兰考古学家麦卡利斯特对基色 (见 GEZER[基色]) 进行了考古挖掘。其中一个重要考古发现是基色日历 (公元前 10 世纪), 这也是迄今为止发现的最古老的希伯来历。(另见下文。)

initiated Austrian involvement with campaigns from 1902 to 1904. The cache of twelve cuneiform texts that he discovered is the largest corpus of Akkadian texts found in Palestine. (See also below.)

From 1908 to 1910 G. Reisner, who had worked in Egypt, excavated SAMARIA (Sebastiyeh), introducing more exact techniques into Palestinian archeology.

Excavations were conducted by D. MacKenzie in 1911–1912 at BETH-SHEMESH (Tell er-Rumeileh). His earlier work in the Aegean enabled him to identify Philistine sherds.

Because of faulty techniques and inadequate records, most of the results of excavations before World War I are difficult to use. The liberation of Palestine from the Turks by General Allenby opened a period of many fruitful excavations.

W. F. Albright, who was to become a leading biblical archeologist, began his career by digging at Tell el-Fûl in 1922–1923. Early Iron Age materials that he discovered strongly support its identification with GIBEAH, Saul's capital.

The Germans, who began excavations at SHECHEM (Tell Balâtah) in 1913–1914, returned to the site from 1926 to 1934. Unfortunately, digging proceeded without adequate supervision, evidence of pottery was neglected until 1934, and Sellin's files were destroyed by the American bombing of Berlin in 1943. (See also below.)

TAANACH[他纳]进行考古研究的奥地利人，他在1902年至1904年在这里展开了考古发掘。他发现了一个拥有12本楔形文字文献的資料庫，这也是巴勒斯坦地区发现的最大的阿卡德语文献資料庫。（另见下文。）

从1908年至1910年，之前参与埃及考古的学者赖斯纳（G. Reisner）挖掘了撒玛利亚（见SAMARIA[撒玛利亚]）（塞巴斯），他还为巴勒斯坦考古带来了更为精确的考古方法。

麦肯齐于1911年至1912年在伯示麦（见BETH-SHEMESH[伯示麦]）（卢梅拉山）进行考古发掘。他之前爱琴海的考古经验使他能够辨认出巴勒斯坦的古物碎片。

第一次世界大战之前的考古技术存在缺陷，而且考古记录不完整，所以很难使用当时的大多数考古发掘结论。艾伦比将军将巴勒斯坦从土耳其的统治中解放出来，自此，巴勒斯坦的考古发掘进入富有成效的阶段。

德国的考古人员从1913年至1914年对示剑（见SHECHEM[示剑]）（巴拉塔）遗址展开了挖掘，并且后来重返这一遗址（1926–1934）。遗憾的是，当时考古发掘监管不力，出土的陶器一直被人们忽视，直到1934年人们才开始注意到它们的考古价值。1943年美国轰炸了柏林，塞林（Sellin）的考古档案也随之被毁坏。（另见下文。）

Tell el-Huṣn (ancient Beth-shean), from Roman theater. The site has been occupied almost continuously since Chalcolithic times. (W. S. LaSor)

Excavations at BETH-SHEAN (Tell el-Huṣn) were conducted from 1921 to 1933 by C. S. Fisher, A. Rowe, and G. M. Fitzgerald. Nearly all the top five levels were removed and a sounding to virgin soil went through 70 ft. (21 m.) of debris. Four Canaanite temples (1400–1000 B.C.) with evidence of a serpent cult were uncovered. Prized discoveries were inscribed stelae of Seti I and Ramses II. That the Egyptians used Philistine mercenaries at this key outpost is evidenced by numerous anthropoid coffins with Philistine features.

The most ambitious excavation undertaken in Palestine was that of the Oriental Institute of Chicago at Megiddo (Tell el-Mutesellim). The work, directed in turn by C. S. Fisher, P. L. O. Guy, and G. Loud, continued from 1925 to 1939. The five top strata, dating from 350 to 1000 B.C., were completely removed, but in only one area was bedrock reached. The most noteworthy of the discoveries are the so-called stables of Solomon, which were later proved to be from the period of Ahab (9th cent. B.C.). (J. Pritchard has argued that these structures are storehouses, but Y. Yadin would still

费舍尔（C. S. Fisher）、罗威（A. Rowe）和菲茨杰拉德（G. M. Fitzgerald）于1921年至1933年联合挖掘了伯善（见BETH-SHEAN[伯善]）（胡斯恩）遗址。他们几乎将该遗址最上面的5个考古层全部移除，考古探究从70英尺（21米）的考古碎片层一直探测到处女地。考古人员发现了四座迦南人神庙（公元前1400年至公元前1000年），这些神庙证明当时的迦南人崇拜蛇这种动物。塞提一世和拉美西斯二世的雕刻石柱是比较有价值的考古发现。人们还在该遗址上发现了大量具有非利士人特点的人形棺，这证明当时埃及人雇佣非利士的士兵驻守这一战略要地。

芝加哥大学东方学院在巴勒斯坦的米吉多（缪特沙林丘）的考古挖掘最耗费时间。从1925年至1939年，费舍尔、盖伊（P. L. O. Guy）和劳德（G. Loud）轮流指挥此次考古行动。遗址最上面的5个考古层（公元前1000年至350年）被全部移除，但是只有一处地点挖掘到了基岩层。最为值得关注的考古发现就是所谓的所罗门马厩，后来证明它们是亚哈时期（公元前9世纪）的马厩。普里查德（J. Pritchard）认为这些建筑是储藏库，但是亚丁（Y. Yadin）仍然坚持认为它们是马厩。此次考古活动另一个引人注意的方面是考古人员采用他们挖隧道下竖井的技术进入到地面以

On the boundary between Judah and Israel W. F. Badè excavated the site of Tell en-Naşbeh from 1926 to 1935. The tell is identified with Mizpah (1 K. 15:21f.). Badè cleared a large city gate (9th cent. B.C.) equipped with benches, and found a seal of Jaazaniah (2 K. 25:23) dated to 600 B.C. See MIZPAH 3.

Shiloh (Seilûn) was excavated by the Danes under H. Kjaer from 1926 to 1932. The results indicate that the site was destroyed ca. 1100 B.C. See SHILOH 2.

W. F. Albright and M. G. Kyle excavated Tell Beit Mirsim from 1926 to 1932. They found a seal of Eliakim, steward of Jehoiachin (2 K. 24:6). Albright's publication of the stratification and pottery provided the definitive framework for subsequent work in Palestine. He persisted in his identification of the site with biblical DEBIR (originally called Kiriath-sepher); but see II.F below.

Improved methods of analysis developed by M. Wheeler were introduced by the British excavations of J. W. Crowfoot and K. Kenyon at Samaria from 1931 to 1935. From the NT period is preserved a large basilica and the broad staircase of Herod's temple to Augustus. (See also II.I below.)

R. W. Hamilton excavated Tell Abū Hawâm on the Bay of Haifa in 1932–1933. He found imported Mycenaean pottery and Greek ware of the 10th–9th cents B.C. The latter are among the

下 118 英尺 (36 米) 的水层。

1926 年至 1935 年，巴德 (W. F. Badè) 对犹大王国和以色列王国边界的纳斯贝山丘 (Tell en-Naşbeh) 进行了考古挖掘。这个山丘就是米斯巴遗址 (王上 15:22)。巴德挖掘到了一个公元前 9 世纪的大城门 (城门旁有长椅)，还发现了公元前 600 年雅撒尼亚的印章 (王下 25:23)。见 MIZPAH 3 (米斯巴 3)。

1926 年至 1932 年，克亚尔 (H. Kjaer) 率领丹麦考古人员挖掘了示罗 (塞伦) 遗址。挖掘结果表明大约公元前 1100 年示罗被摧毁。见 SHILOH 2 (示罗 2)。

同一时期 (1926–1932)，奥尔布赖特和凯尔 (M. G. Kyle) 挖掘了贝特米西姆丘。他们发现了约雅敬的管家——以利亚敬的印章 (王下 24:6)。奥尔布赖特公开的考古层和陶器为巴勒斯坦地区后续的考古工作提供了明确的研究框架。他坚持认为该遗址就是《圣经》中的底璧 (见 DEBIR[底璧]) (最初被称为基列西弗)；见下文 II.F。

1931 年至 1935 年，英国的考古学家克劳福特 (J. W. Crowfoot) 和凯尼恩 (K. Kenyon) 在挖掘撒玛利亚城时，借鉴了惠勒 (M. Wheeler) 提出的改良分析法。《新约》时期的长方形大会堂和希律圣殿中宽阔的台阶都保留了下来。(另见下文 II.I。) earliest Greek wares exported to the Near East after the inception of the Dark Age in 1200 B.C.

汉密尔顿于 1932 年至 1933 年挖掘了海法湾的阿布哈瓦姆 (Tell Abū Hawâm)。他在该地发现了从迈锡尼进口的陶器和公元 10 世纪至 9 世纪的希腊陶器。后一种陶器是“黑暗时期”(公元前 1200

Work on the great mound of LACHISH (Tell ed-Duweir) begun by J. Starkey in 1932 was cut short by his murder by bandits in 1938. Sennacherib captured Lachish in 701 B.C. (2 K. 18:13f.), a feat proudly recorded on reliefs in his palace. The remains of fifteen hundred victims desecrated by a layer of pig bones, and an Assyrian helmet, arms, and arrows are grim remnants of the siege. In 1966 Y. Aharoni excavated the “solar shrine.”

BETHEL (Beitín) was excavated in 1934 by W. F. Albright and J. L. Kelso and by the latter in 1954, 1957, and 1960. They found a Canaanite temple and well-built houses. Bethel was burned in the late 13th cent. B.C. and covered with ash nearly 2 m. (6.5 ft.) thick in places (Jgs. 1:22–26). The Canaanite structures were followed by poorly-built Israelite houses.

In JERUSALEM C. N. Johns conducted excavations in the citadel area between 1934 and 1940. He found eighth-to seventh-century B.C. pottery, and walls from the Maccabean period. Excavations in the 1930's by L. H. Vincent under the building of the Sisters of Zion near the Ecce Homo Arch uncovered what he interpreted as remains of the Herodian fortress Antonia. P. Benoit, however, has argued that the striated flagstones are not part of the Lithostroton where Jesus was tried (Jn. 19:13) but the eastern forum of Hadrian's Aelia Capitolina. (See also II.L below.)

1934 年, 奥尔布赖特和凯尔索挖掘了伯特利 (见 BETHEL[伯特利]) (贝丁), 1954, 1957 和 1960 年凯尔索再次发掘了伯特利。他们发现了迦南的神庙和一些结实的房屋。伯特利在公元前 13 世纪被烧毁, 燃烧之后的灰烬接近 2 米 (6.5 英尺) 厚 (士 1:22-26)。相比较迦南人的建筑, 以色列人后来建造的房屋质量很差。

从 1934 年至 1940 年, 约翰斯 (C. N. Johns) 对耶路撒冷 (见 JERUSALEM [耶路撒冷]) 的堡垒进行了挖掘。他发现了公元前 18 世纪至公元前 17 世纪的陶器和一些马加比时期的墙体。20 世纪 30 年代, 文森特 (L. H. Vincent) 在锡安修女修道院 (“戴荆冕之耶稣拱门” [Ecce Homo Arch] 附近) 地下发现了希律时期的遗迹, 他称之为安东尼亚城门。但是, 伯努瓦认为这些条纹石板并不是 “铺华石处” 的石板 (耶稣就是被带到这里受审的 [约 19:13]), 而是罗马皇帝哈德良建造普屯林纳 (Aelia Capitolina) 城东广场的石板。(另见下文 II.L.)

第二次世界大战爆发后, 犹太人和阿拉伯人之间发生了战争, 巴勒斯坦考古在

Arabs, excavations in Palestine ceased almost completely during the 1940's. One exception was the excavation at Tell el-Fâr'ah (N) begun in 1946 by R. de Vaux and continued until 1960. This was the site of TIRZAH, the capital of some of the Israelite kings before Omri founded Samaria. In 1947 a Canaanite temple was discovered at Nahariyah. Excavations there by I. Ben-Dor in 1947, by M. Dothan in 1954-1955 and by D. Barag in 1968 recovered Canaanite figurines and a mold for casting them.

The year 1948 marked the establishment of the state of Israel. In Jordan (including the West Bank) foreign archeologists continued to dominate the work of excavation, but in the new Jewish state Israeli archeologists themselves took the lead.

In 1950-1951 J. L. Kelso and J. B. Pritchard, working at the site of NT JERICHO, uncovered Herodian buildings, including a sunken garden and a reflecting pool. From 1952 to 1958 K. Kenyon reexcavated the site of OT Jericho (Tell es-Sultân), which had been worked earlier by E. Sellin and C. Watzinger in 1907-1909, and by John Garstang in 1930-1936. The latter believed that he had found the walls that had fallen flat in Joshua's siege, an event that he dated to ca. 1400 B.C. Kenyon demonstrated that Garstang's walls belonged instead to a far earlier period. Her expedition found very little from Joshua's day, for most of the material from this period seems to have been eroded away. Her greatest achievement was the demonstration that Jericho is the oldest Neolithic city in the world, dated to 7000 B.C.

20 世纪 40 年代几乎完全中断。只有沃克斯 (R. de Vaux) 在 1946 年挖掘了撒拉丘 (北侧), 直到 1960 年他才得以继续在此展开挖掘。这里就是暗利建都撒玛利亚之前以色列国王的都城——得撒 (见 TIRZAH[得撒])。1947 年, 考古学家在纳哈尼雅发现了一座迦南神庙。同年本·多尔 (I. Ben-Dor) 在此展开挖掘, 后来多森 (M. Dothan, 于 1954-1955 年)、巴哈格 (D. Barag, 于 1968 年) 继续在这里进行发掘, 他们发现了许多迦南人的雕像和一个建造这些雕像的模具。

以色列共和国在 1948 年成立。约旦 (包括约旦河西岸) 考古仍然以外国考古学家为主导, 但是在新建立的犹太国家, 以色列考古学家在考古中占主导地位。

1950 年至 1951 年, 凯索尔和普里查德对《新约》时期耶利哥进行了考古探究, 他们挖掘到了希律时期一些建筑, 包括一个下沉花园和一个倒影池。凯尼恩于 1952 年至 1958 年重新挖掘了《旧约》时期的耶利哥 (见 JERICHO[耶利哥]) (苏丹废丘), 在这之前, 塞林和瓦辛格 (C. Watzinger) (1907-1909) 以及约翰·加斯唐 (1930-1936) 也曾经对该遗址进行过考古挖掘。加斯唐认为他发现的墙体就是约书亚包围耶利哥时推倒的城墙, 并且认为这一历史事件大约发生在公元前 1400 年。凯尼恩却证明这些墙属于更早时期的建筑。他在考古探究时并没有发现约书亚时期的历史遗迹, 因为这一时期的大多数史料似乎已经被侵蚀掉了。他的最大的成就是证明了耶利哥是世界上最古老的新石器时代城市, 该城市可以追溯到公元前 7000 年。

From 1953 to 1964 J. P. Free excavated the site of DOTHAN (Tell Dôthā). At this site rectangular cisterns 10 ft. (3 m.) deep may illustrate the type of pit into which Joseph was placed by his brothers (Gen. 37:24).

Y. Aharoni, an Israeli archeologist, excavated Ramat Raḥel, just S of Jerusalem, from 1959 to 1962. He believed that he had discovered the palace built by Jehoiakim and denounced by Jeremiah (Jer. 22:13-19).

Israeli archeologist Y. Yadin excavated the massive site of HAZOR (Tell el-Qedah) between 1955 and 1958. Among the significant discoveries were numerous Canaanite shrines, and a clay liver model (for extispicy; see Babylonia IX.D) inscribed in cuneiform. (See also II.I below.)

Jaffa (Yâfā) was excavated by Y. Kaplan from 1955 to 1961. An important find was part of the city gate, inscribed with the name of Ramses II (13th cent. B.C.). See JOPPA.

J. B. Pritchard worked at the site of Gibeon (el-Jîb) from 1956 to 1962. Among his finds were inscriptions with the name Gibeon. The most spectacular discovery was an elaborate water system involving an enormous "pool" with a spiral stairway (cf. 2 S. 2:13).

A major salvage expedition was directed from 1957 to 1966 at SHECHEM by G. E. Wright. Shechem served as the training ground for a new generation of American archeologists. A large fortress-temple from the Hyksos period was uncovered. A

1959 年至 1962 年, 以色列考古学家阿哈罗尼挖掘了以色列南面的拉玛特拉哈 (Ramat Raḥel)。他认为这里就是约雅金建造的宫殿, 耶利米曾公开抨击过这座宫殿 (耶 22:13-19)。

以色列考古学家在 1955 年至 1958 年期间挖掘了一个巨大考古遗址——夏琐 (见 HAZOR[夏琐]) (科达废丘)。该遗址中的重要考古发现包括: 很多迦南神庙和一个刻有楔形文字的泥质肝脏模型 (用于牲羊之脏卜; 见 Babylonia IX.D[巴比伦王国 IX.D]; 另见下文 II.I。)

1955 年至 1961 年, 卡普兰 (Y. Kaplan) 挖掘了雅法遗址 (阿拉伯语: Yâfā)。该遗址上的一个重要考古发现是一个刻有拉美西斯二世名字的城门 (公元前 13 世纪)。见 JOPPA (约帕)。

普里查德从 1956 年至 1962 年挖掘了基遍 (基伯) 遗址。他发现当地的很多铭文中都有基遍这个名字。该地最壮观的考古发现就是一个精心设计的供水系统, 其中包括一个巨大的“蓄水池”与一个螺旋楼梯 (参: 撒下 2:13)。

1957 年至 1966 年, 赖特率领考古人员对示剑 (见 SHECHEM[示剑]) 遗址进行了重要的营救性考古。示剑一直是美国新一代考古学家的考古训练场。赖特发掘出一个希克索斯时期的巨大堡垒式神庙。塔纳尼尔 (Tananir) 附近的一座

Canaanite shrine at nearby Tananir, built ca. 1400 B.C., may have served as the central shrine for a league of seminomadic tribes.

‘Avdat, about 30 mi. (50 km.) S of Beersheba, was excavated between 1958 and 1960 by M. Avi-Yonah and A. Negev. There are remains from its Nabatean, Roman, and Byzantine eras. Among the discoveries from the last phase are well-preserved churches and a monastery.

From 1959 to 1961 an Italian expedition led by Antonio Frova excavated Qeishâriyeh, the Herodian port of CAESAREA. The archeologists cleared the theater that was the scene of Herod Agrippa’s fatal stroke (Acts 12:23) and found an inscription naming Pilate. In 1962 M. Avi-Yonah cleared the remains of a fourth-century A.D. synagogue and found fragments of an inscription mentioning Nazareth—the only occurrence of its name on an inscription.

K. Kenyon directed a major expedition designed to investigate the area of OPHEL, OT Jerusalem, from 1961 to 1968. Her work was begun when the area was in Jordanian hands and was completed after the capture of the Old City by the Israelis. (See also II.I, K below.)

Excavations from 1962 to 1972 were conducted by M. Dothan, D. N. Freedman, and J. L. Swauger at the major Philistine settlement of ASHDOD (Esdûd). Mycenaean goddess figurines and Cypro-Minoan texts were among the finds. (See also II.I below.)

Between 1962 and 1967 Y. Aharoni worked at Tell ‘Arâd in the Negev. The 迦南神庙大约建造于公元前 1400 年，这一神庙可能是一支半游牧部落的圣地中心。

1958 年至 1960 年，约纳(M. Avi-Yonah)和内盖夫(A. Negev)对别是巴以南 30 英里(50 千米)的阿伏达特进行了考古挖掘，并发现了很多纳巴泰、罗马帝国时期和东罗马帝国时期的遗迹。他发现了东罗马帝国时期许多保存完好的教堂和一座修道院。

从 1959 年到 1961 年，弗洛瓦(Antonio Frova)率领一支意大利科考队挖掘了希律时期凯撒利亚(见 CAESAREA[凯撒利亚])的港口——盖塞里耶(Qeishâriyeh)。考古学家们发现了一个剧场，它就是希律亚基帕气绝之地(徒 12:23)，并发现了一篇以彼拉多命名的铭文。1962 年，约纳发掘出一个公元 4 世纪的犹太会堂，并在其中发现了一篇铭文的大量碎片，这篇铭文提到了拿撒勒，这也是唯一一篇提到拿撒勒的铭文。

1961 年至 1968 年，凯尼恩指挥了一次重要的考古行动，他率领考古学家发掘了俄斐勒城(见 OPHEL[俄斐勒])——《旧约》时期耶路撒冷。他开始考古挖掘时，俄斐勒城还掌握在约旦人手中，而当他结束考古活动时，以色列人已经夺得了这座古城。(另见下文 II.I, K。)

1962 年至 1967 年，阿哈罗尼挖掘了内盖夫地区的亚拉得。一个碗上刻有“亚

identification of the site was confirmed by a bowl with the name ARAD incised upon it. Arad was rich in inscribed ostraca from the 9th-4th cents B.C. The greatest surprise was an Israelite sanctuary from the Solomonic period.

From 1962 to 1967 an Italian expedition under V. Corbo worked at Herodium (Jebel Fureidîs), where Herod the Great was buried. Many of the structures were uncovered, including a double concentric wall, towers, and a Roman bath. (See also II.L. below)

Y. Yadin excavated es-Sebbeh, the spectacular Herodian stronghold of MASADA, from 1963 to 1965. He found valuable remains of the last stand of the Jewish zealots in A.D. 73 against the Romans. (See II.L below.)

Between 1963 and 1968 P. W. Lapp reexcavated Taanach. Numerous objects used in Canaanite religion were found, including a terra-cotta mold for the mass production of nude fertility-goddess figurines.

A major excavation was conducted at Gezer (see also above) under the directorship of G. E. Wright, W. G. Dever, and others from 1964 to 1974. They cleared the famous row of Canaanite pillars (apparently legal symbols of a treaty) that Macalister had discovered and dated them to ca. 1600 B.C.

In 1966 an expedition led by A. Biran began excavations at the northern city of DAN. The finds include a monumental Israelite city gate and a high place.

1963年至1968年，拉普(P. W. Lapp)重新挖掘了他纳，并且发现了许多迦南宗教物品，包括大规模生产裸体生育女神雕像的赤土陶器模具。

1964年至1974年，赖特、德弗(W. G. Dever)和其他人共同对基色(另加上文)展开了重要的挖掘。麦卡利斯特之前发现的一排著名的迦南石柱也被他们发掘了出来，这些石柱显然是签订条约的法律标志，大约可以追溯到约公元前1600年。

1966年，比朗(A. Biran)率领的考古队开始挖掘但(见 DAN[但])的北部城市。他们发现了以色列一个重要城门和一个邱坛。

B. Mazar conducted extensive excavations between 1968 and 1977 in the area S of the temple platform in JERUSALEM. He recovered materials from the Herodian period and evidence of the Roman attack in A.D. 70 that destroyed the temple. (See also II.I, L below.)

In 1969 Y. Aharoni began excavations at BEER-SHEBA (Tell es-Seba'). He found extensive structures from the period of the Israelite monarchy. The displacement of a horned altar may have been a result of Josiah's reforms.

D. Transjordan. 'Arâq el-Emîr, about 11 mi. (18 km.) W of Amman, was discovered in 1817. The site was the home of the influential Tobiad family (cf. Neh. 2:19). H. C. Butler made a study of the palace in 1904-1905; further excavations were undertaken by P. W. Lapp in 1961. (See II.K below.)

Jerash (Roman GERASA) was excavated by the British from 1928 to 1929 and by Americans between 1930-1931 and 1933-1934. They traced the two-mile circuit wall and found 150 inscriptions. Among the well-preserved structures are Hadrian's triumphal arch, the famed elliptical forum, a colonnaded street 2000 ft. (600 m.) long, and thirteen churches.

Khirbet et-Tannur, about 14 mi. (23 km.) E of the southern tip of the Dead Sea, was excavated by N. Glueck in 1937-1938. Its Nabatean temple yielded architectural fragments and sculptured reliefs of such deities as Atargatis and Zeus-Hadad.

Between 1938 and 1940 Glueck worked at the small mound of Tell el-Kheleifeh on the Gulf of Aqabah. Glueck, who

1969年，阿哈罗尼开始挖掘别是巴(见 BEER-SHEBA[别是巴])(西巴丘)。他发现了以色列君主制时期的大量建筑遗迹。当时带角的邱坛已经不复存在，这也许是约西亚改革的结果。

D. 外约旦。1817年，安曼以西11英里(18公里)的一处宫殿遗址('Arâq el-Emîr 宫)被挖掘了出来。这个宫殿是当时很有势力的多比雅家族的住所(参：尼2:19)。巴特勒(H. C. Butler)于1904年至1905年期间研究了这一宫殿；拉普在1961年继续发掘这一遗址(见下文 II.K。)

英国人(1928-1929)和美国人(1930-131; 1933-1934)都曾对杰拉什(见 GERASA[杰拉什])古城进行过考古挖掘。他们发现了2英里长的环形墙和150多份铭文。该遗址上保存完好的建筑的包括哈德良的凯旋门、著名的椭圆形广场、2000英尺(600米)长的立有柱廊的街道和13座教堂。

基伯塔努尔(Khirbet et-Tannur)大约位于死海南端以东14英里(23公里)处。1937年至1938年期间，格吕克(N. Glueck)对其进行了挖掘。该地的纳巴泰神庙中出土了一些建筑碎片和阿塔伽和宙斯等神的浮雕。

1938至1940年间，格吕克对亚喀巴湾上一个小废丘——凯利费(Tell el-Kheleifeh)展开了挖掘，他发现了当

discovered evidence of copper smelting, identified the site with EZION-GEBER, Solomon's seaport (1 K. 9:26). A building with holes in its walls was originally interpreted by Glueck as a smelter, but B. Rothenberg has demonstrated that the building was simply a storehouse or granary. (See also ELATH.)

In 1950 and 1956 F. V. Winnett, W. L. Reed and G. W. Van Beek worked at Dhībân (DIBON, or Dibon-Gad). They found fragments of a Moabite stele, the first Moabite ostrakon, and the first Moabite structure ever recovered.

Excavations were conducted at PETRA, the famous Nabatean capital, from 1958 to 1964 by P. J. Parr and P. Hammond. The Roman theater was cleared.

Between 1964 and 1967 J. B. Pritchard worked at the large mound of Tell es-Sa'îdiyeh. The excavator identified the tell with biblical ZARETHAN, a bronze-working center in the days of Solomon (1 K. 7:45f.).

Excavations were conducted in 1960–1962 and 1964 at Tell Deir 'allā, just N of the Jabbok and E of the Jordan, by the Dutch scholar H. J. Franken. The site was identified as Succoth by Glueck, but Franken rejects this identification. Among the rich finds of this cult center are tablets in a unique script similar to the Aegean linear scripts and a wall inscribed in Aramaic mentioning the words of Balaam (Nu. 23). (See SUCCOTH 1.)

In 1967 R. H. Smith was able to work briefly at PELLA before fighting broke out

1950 年至 1956 年期间，温纳特（F. V. Winnett）、里德（W. L. Reed）和贝克（G. W. Van Beek）共同挖掘了底本（见 DIBON[底本]）遗址（阿拉伯语：Dhībân，或称底本迦得）。他们在此发现了许多摩押石碑的碎片，并首次发现了摩押瓦片和摩押建筑。

帕尔（P. J. Parr）和哈蒙德（P. Hammond）历时六年（1958 至 1964）挖掘了著名的纳巴泰王国古都——佩特拉城（见 PETRA[佩特拉城]），同时发掘出一座罗马剧场。

普里查德从 1964 年至 1967 年一直致力于西迪耶大废丘的考古探究。他发现这个废丘就是所罗门时期的铸铜中心撒拉但（见 ZARETHAN[撒拉但]）（王上 7:45-46）。

史密斯在以色列与约旦爆发战争之前（1967 年）对佩拉城（见 PELLA[佩拉

between Israel and Jordan. He reached only Byzantine levels but found a sarcophagus which may be descended from the first-century ossuary style.

HESHBON (Tell Ḥesbân) was excavated between 1968 and 1976 by S. H. Horn, R. S. Boraas, and L. Geraty. As no Late Bronze remains have been found, Sihon's capital city (Nu. 21:21-30) must have been located elsewhere. A large plastered cistern from the 9th cent. B.C. has been found (cf. Cant. 7:4). Among the extensive remains from the Roman period are two tombs with rolling stones and a lead flogging head used for scourging.

C. M. Bennett conducted a decade-long examination of Edomite sites. In 1960, 1962, and 1965 she worked at Umm el-Bayyârah, which rises almost 1000 ft. (300 m.) above Petra. Her finds include a royal seal with the name "Qos Gabr," an Edomite king mentioned in the Assyrian annals of the 7th cent. B.C. In 1968-1969 she excavated Tawîlân, E of Petra. The site proved to be a large Edomite settlement that flourished from the 8th to the 6th cents B.C. In 1971 she worked at Buṣeirah, which is possibly biblical BOZRAH (Am. 1:12; Isa. 34:6), one of the great Edomite cities.

A major development in Jordanian archeology has been the training of Jordanian students by American archeologists at the University of Jordan in Amman, established in 1963.

II. Significant Archeological Discoveries.

A. Surveys. From extensive surface surveys in Transjordan between 1932 and 城])进行了短暂的考古发掘。他仅挖掘到了东罗马帝国时期的考古层,却发现了一个公元1世纪遗留下来的骨罐式石棺。

1968至1976年间,霍恩(S. H. Horn)、布拉斯(S. Boraas)和盖诺第(L. Geraty)联合发掘了希实本(见 HESHBON[希实本])(阿拉伯语: Tell Ḥesbân)。他们并没有发现青铜器时代后期的遗迹,因此,西宏的都城(民 21:21-30)一定不在这里。他们发现了一个公元前9世纪的灰泥大水池(参:歌 7:4)和大量罗马帝国时期的遗迹,如两座带有滚石的坟墓和一个铅质鞭头。

班尼特(C. M. Bennett)对以东遗址进行了长达十年的考古探究。她于1960、1962和1963三个年份挖掘了佩特拉古城之上大约1000英尺(300米)处的一个废丘(Umm el-Bayyârah)。她发现了一枚刻有“Qos Gabr”的王室印章,在公元前7世纪的亚述编年史中提到了这位以东王。1968至1969年间,她对佩特拉东侧的塔维蓝(Tawîlân)遗址进行了考古发掘。该遗址是一个巨大的以东人聚落,公元前8世纪至公元前6世纪这里曾盛极一时。班尼特在公元前1971年挖掘了别士拉(Buṣeirah)遗址,这里有可能就是《圣经》中以东人的重要城市波斯拉(见 BOZRAH[波斯拉])(摩 1:12; 赛 34:6)。

1963年,约旦大学在安曼成立,美国的考古学家在这所大学里培训约旦的学生,这也是约旦考古学取得的一个重要发展。

II. 重要的考古发现。

A. 调研。根据1932至1947年间人们对外约旦地区大量表层地质的调查,格

1947 N. Glueck concluded that there was a major break in intensive sedentary occupation between 1900 and 1300 B.C., a conclusion that would support the late date of the Exodus and the Conquest in the 13th century. The German scholar S. Mittmann surveyed the area between the Jabbok and the Yarmuk Rivers from 1963 to 1966, mapping about 350 sites. A survey was also conducted by the Heshbon excavations within a 6-mi. (10-km.) radius of the site. Both of these surveys support in general Glueck's basic thesis. The Spanish scholar E. Olávarri, who excavated Aroer between 1964 and 1966, found an occupational gap between 2050 B.C. and the end of the Late Bronze period (1550–1200 B.C.).

On the other hand, Middle Bronze materials have come to light at Mt. Nebo, Nā'ûr, and Amman, and L.B. materials at Medeba and Amman. In 1955 a bulldozer on a runway at the Amman airport uncovered a L.B. shrine. Salvage operations by G. L. Harding and later work in 1966 by J. B. Hennessy showed that the temple contained a large quantity of imported Mycenaean ware. It has been suggested that this was a tribal-league shrine for seminomadic peoples.

Between 1952 and 1964 Glueck surveyed the southern area of the Negeb in Israel and discovered over 1500 sites. In 1963 Lapp estimated that out of 5000 sites in Palestine there had been scientific excavations at about 150, including twenty-six major excavations. Since 1967 Israeli surveys have uncovered thousands of new sites. Of 2500 sites plotted in the Golan Heights and in Judah in 1967–1968, 1000 were hitherto unknown. Thus, in spite of the great increase in excavations, only a very small percentage of the known sites has been excavated.

吕克总结到：公元前 1900 年至公元前 1300 年是大量人口在此定居的主要时期。这一结论证明以色列人在公元前 13 世纪才出埃及，征服迦南。德国学者米特曼 (S. Mittmann) 从 1963 年至 1966 年调查了雅博河与耶尔穆克河之间的区域，并绘制了大约 350 个遗址的地图。同时，考古人员对希实本遗址 6 英里 (10 公里) 半径内的地区进行了调查研究。上述两次调查基本证明了格吕克基础理论。西班牙学者奥拉瓦里 (E. Olávarri) 于 1964 年至 1966 年挖掘了亚罗珥，发现从公元前 2050 年至青铜器时代晚期结束 (公元前 1550 年至公元前 1200 年)，没有人类在这里居住。

B. Mesolithic and Neolithic Ages (ca. 10,000–4300 B.C.). Important finds from the Mesolithic Natufian culture (10,000–7000 B.C.) were discovered in the caves at the base of Mt. Carmel by D. Garrod between 1929 and 1934. In addition to the major Neolithic (ca. 7000–4300 B.C.) materials from Jericho, other remains from this period have been found at Abū Ghôsh by J. Perrot and at Beidha (near Petra) by D. Kirkbride.

C. Chalcolithic Age (4300–3200 B.C.). Between 1929 and 1938 A. Mallon and R. Koepfel excavated Teleilat el-Ghassûl NE of the Dead Sea. They discovered houses with multicolored frescoes of animals. Excavations in the area of Tel Azor, just SE of Tel Aviv, have yielded ossuary tombs in the shape of dwellings. At Tell Abū Maṭar and other sites in the Beersheba Valley excavations by J. Perrot and others have uncovered Chalcolithic settlements. At En-gedi (‘Ain Jidi) B. Mazar in 1949 and 1961–1962 uncovered a Chalcolithic temenos. In 1960 the Israelis recovered over four hundred cultic objects from a cave in Nahal Mishmar near En-gedi.

D. Early Bronze Age (3200–ca. 2000 B.C.). On the southwest shore of the Sea of Galilee is the 50-acre (20-hectare) site of Khirbet Kerak, identified as Beth-Yerah. This was excavated between 1944 and 1964 by B. Mazar and others. The red and black burnished pottery, named Khirbet Kerak ware (2550–2275 B.C.), may have had its origins in Anatolia.

B. 中石器和新石器时代（约公元前 10000 年至公元前 4300 年）。1929 年至 1934 年，加罗德 (D. Garrod) 在迦密山麓地带的洞穴中发现了中石器时代纳图夫文明的重要遗迹。耶利哥出土了很多新石器时代（约公元前 7000 年至公元前 4300 年）的史料，除此之外，佩罗特 (J. Perrot) 在阿布高什，柯克布赖德 (D. Kirkbride) 在贝特哈（佩特拉附近）也发现了一些新石器时代的遗迹。

C. 铜石并用时代（公元前 4300 年至公元前 3200 年）。马伦 (A. Mallon) 和克佩尔 (R. Koepfel) 于 1929 年至 1938 年共同发掘了死海东北部的特雷拉迦苏 (Teleilat el-Ghassûl)。他们发现该遗址的房间内拥有多彩的动物壁画。特拉维夫东南的特拉亚所 (Tel Azor) 出土了一些房屋形状的骨罐墓。佩罗特等人在阿布玛达 (Tell Abū Maṭar) 和别是巴谷的其他遗址中发掘出许多铜石并用时代的聚落。1949 年以及 1961 年至 1962 年，马萨尔 (B. Mazar) 对隐基底进行了考古挖掘，发掘出了一个铜石并用时代的贵族领地。1960 年，以色列人在隐基底附近的纳哈尔米什马尔洞穴中发现了四百多件宗教用品。

D. 青铜器时代初期（公元前 3200 年至大约公元前 2000 年）。伯克拉克 (Khirbet Kerak) 位于加利利海西南海岸，占地 50 英亩 (20 公顷)，人们认为它就是贝特耶拉。马萨尔等人在 1944 至 1964 年间挖掘了这一遗址。该遗址出土的红黑色抛光陶器也被称作基伯克拉克陶器（公元前 2550–2275 年），这种陶器可能最初产于安纳托利亚地区。

Excavations by J. Marquet-Krause from 1933 to 1935 and by J. Callaway between 1964 and 1972 have revealed a 28-acre (11-hectare) E.B. city at et-Tell (identified by Albright with biblical Ai). Work at the E.B. lower city of ARAD by R. Amiran from 1962 to 1966 and since 1971 has uncovered a towered wall and evidence of contacts with Egypt. S. Yeivin conducted excavations at Tell Sheikh Ahmed el-'Areini (near modern Tel Gat) from 1956 to 1961. He found a sherd with the name of Narmer, the earliest of the Egyptian pharaohs (3100 B.C.).

On the peninsula el-Lisan of the Dead Sea are the walled city and cemetery of Bâb edh-Dhrâ', discovered in 1924 by A. Mallon. Excavations by Lapp in 1965 and 1967 at the 10-acre (4-hectare) E.B. town revealed that the cemetery with its shaft tombs and charnel houses contained an estimated 500,000 individual burials. Surveys in the area by W. Rast and T. Schaub in 1973 indicated that there are four other impressive E.B. settlements in the area, which was noted in the OT for its five CITIES OF THE VALLEY (Gen. 14:2).

E. Middle Bronze Age (ca. 2000–1550 B.C.). Archeologists disagree about the parameters and the designation of the earliest phase of the Middle Bronze Age in Palestine. While Albright favored 2000–1800 as the M.B. I period, K. Kenyon preferred to speak of an Intermediate E.B.-M.B. Age with the M.B. I Age proper beginning ca. 1900, and W. Dever preferred to begin the M.B. I period ca. 2100.

克劳斯 (J. Marquet-Krause) 和卡拉威 (J. Callaway) 经过多年的发掘 (分别于 1933-1935; 1964 至 1972), 在耶特尔发现了一座青铜器时代初期的城市 (奥尔布赖特认为耶特尔就是《圣经》中的艾城), 该城市占地 28 英亩 (11 公顷)。阿米兰 (R. Amiran) 对这一时期亚拉得 (见 ARAD[亚拉得]) 的低城进行了两次挖掘 (1962-1966; 1971 年之后)。他发掘到了一堵高墙和当地人与埃及人交往的证据。1956 年至 1961 年, 叶文 (S. Yeivin) 对现代盖特 (Tel Gat) 附近一个废丘 (Tell Sheikh Ahmed el-'Areini) 进行了发掘。他发现该地出土的碎片中有埃及最早的法老的名字——那尔迈 (公元前 3100 年)。

1924 年马伦在死海半岛艾利珊半岛上发现了许多城寨城和巴杜拉墓地。1965 年和 1967 年, 拉普两次挖掘了青铜器时代初期的一座 10 英亩 (4 公顷) 的城邑, 发现墓地中的坟墓和藏骸所足可以埋葬 50 万人。拉斯特 (W. Rast) 和绍布 (T. Schaub) 于 1973 年调查了这一区域。他们发现这一地区还有其他四个引入注目的青铜时期初期聚落, 《旧约》中记载了这五个“山谷城市”(见 CITIES OF THE VALLEY[山谷城市]) (创 14:2)。

E. 青铜器时代中期 (大约公元前 2000-1550 年)。考古学家对于巴勒斯坦青铜器时代中期最早阶段的时间界定未能达成一致。奥尔布赖特认为公元前 2000 年至公元前 1800 年是青铜器时代中期的第一阶段, 而凯尼恩认为青铜器时代初期与青铜器时代中期的过渡阶段是青铜器时代中期第一时期, 这一时期大概开始于公元前 1900 年, 德弗则认为青铜器时代中期第一阶段大概从约公元前 2100 年开始。

This era witnessed major destructions caused by the incursions of nomads, whose presence is indicated by large cemeteries. Lapp believed that the newcomers included non-Semitic elements from beyond the Caucasus, whereas Dever and Kenyon identified the invaders as Amorites from Syria.

In the 1960's Dever and Lapp investigated M.B. I settlements and burials at Jebel Qa'aqir (8 mi. [13 km.] W of Hebron) and at Dhahr Mirzbaneh (7 mi. [11 km.] NE of Bethel). In 1970 Yeivin investigated forty-four tombs at 'Ain Samiya (9 mi. [14 km.] NE of Ramallah) and found a silver cup with Mesopotamian mythological motifs. It appears that the nomadic M.B. I tribes also set up some of the dolmens in the Golan area. Hut foundations were found in the rocky Har Yeruham by M. Kochavi.

Albright, who dated Abraham ca. 1800 B.C., associated the patriarchal movements with caravan sites that flourished in the M.B. I period in Transjordan and in the Negeb. By using a magnetometer P. C. Hammond discovered some M.B. remains at Jebel er-Rumeide, a terraced hill W of Hebron. In 1971 he cleared a thick wall from the late 18th century. On the other hand, excavations at Tell es-Seba'(Beer-sheba) have failed to produce any M.B. materials.

Excavations at Aphek (Râs el-'Ain), begun in 1972 by M. Kochavi, have revealed a major M.B. IIA (1900–1750 B.C.) palace with large courtyards. In 1974–1975 several cuneiform lexical fragments were discovered, including a

大片的墓地证明游牧民族曾入侵过这里，他们给这里带来了严重的破坏。拉普认为入侵者包括来自于高加索山另一侧的闪米特之外的民族，而德弗和凯尼恩则认为入侵者是来自于叙利亚的亚摩利人。

20世纪60年代，德弗和拉普研究了青铜时期中期第一阶段盖吉尔（Jebel Qa'aqir）和德哈尔米兹巴奈（Dhahr Mirzbaneh）的聚落和墓地，盖吉尔位于希实本以西8英里（13公里）处，德哈尔米兹巴奈位于伯特利东北7英里（11公里）处。1970年，叶文调查了艾因萨米亚（'Ain Samiya，位于拉马拉东北9英里[14公里]），发现了一个印有美索不达米亚神话图案的银杯。游牧民族似乎在青铜器时代中期第一阶段也在戈兰高地建造了一些石墓。柯查威（M. Kochavi）在哈尔耶胡哈姆山区（Har Yeruham）发现了一些房屋的地基。

柯查威从1972年开始挖掘亚弗遗址（今：拉斯艾因），他发现了青铜器时代时期中期第二阶段A时期（公元前1900-1650）的一座拥有很大庭院的重要宫殿。1974年至1975年，该遗址中出土了许多楔形文字碎片，其中一份文字

The M.B. IIB-C (1750–1550 B.C.) period is the age of the Hyksos domination of Egypt, when Jacob and his descendants emigrated to Egypt. Excavations at Dan, Beer-sheba, Tell Malhata, etc., have uncovered “Hyksos” sloped ramparts. A large fortress temple of this period was found in Shechem.

Religious structures of the Canaanites during the M.B. II period include the spectacular row of pillars at Gezer (see above I.C). At Bethel, Kelso found traces of blood—which he interpreted as evidence of Canaanite sacrifices—under a gate destroyed in the 16th century. C. Epstein discovered a bāmā, or open-air precinct (see BAMAḤ), marked off by cyclopean stones at Turbo Mecha just S of Beth-shemesh.

F. Late Bronze Age (1550–1200 B.C.). The L.B. I (1550–1400) was a period dominated by the expansionistic activities of the 18th Dynasty of Egypt. Vivid evidence of the devastation by Thutmose III’s campaign in 1468 B.C. has been found at GEZER.

The L.B. II period covers the 14th and 13th centuries. In the 14th cent. Palestine was threatened by the Ḥabiru during the Amarna age of Akhenaten. The Mycenaean pottery imported from the Aegean in the L.B. II can be used for dating strata.

Egyptian interest in controlling the Via Maris from Egypt along the Philistine coast has been illuminated by finds from

F. 青铜器时代晚期（公元前 1550-1200 年）。青铜器时代晚期第一阶段（公元前 1500-1400 年）正值埃及第十八王朝对外扩张时期。考古人员发现了公元前 1468 年图特摩斯三世摧毁基色（见 GEZER[基色]）的有力证据。

青铜器时代晚期第二阶段包括公元前 14 和 13 两个世纪。公元前 14 世纪正处于阿肯纳顿统治埃及的亚玛拿时期，巴勒斯坦面临着哈皮鲁人的威胁。迈锡尼文明遗址中发现了从爱琴海地区进口的陶器，这些陶器可以帮助人们确定考古层所处的年代。

迦萨西南的代尔巴拉赫出土的考古发现表明，埃及人企图控制了从埃及至巴勒斯坦海岸的沿海地区。1972 年，多森

Deir el-Balah, SW of Gaza. In 1972 T. Dothan found about forty anthropoid clay coffins in a cemetery used by an Egyptian garrison from the 14th to the 11th centuries. These served as the prototypes for the later Philistine coffins.

Important evidence of the Egyptians in the Negeb was discovered by B. Rothenberg in 1969 at Timna. An Egyptian temple, with inscriptions from Seti I (1318–1304) to Ramses V (1160–1156), was uncovered at the base of the so-called Solomon's pillars. In opposition to Glueck's attribution of copper mining in the ARABAH to Solomon, Rothenberg suggests that these operations were conducted at an earlier date by the Egyptians.

There are only minimal L.B. remains from Jericho and Gibeon and none from Ai, cities associated with Joshua's campaigns. Scholars who believe that Joshua's campaign can be dated to the 13th cent. cite a number of Canaanite cities that were attacked at this time. The burning of Hazor (Josh. 11:1–11) is assigned by Yadin to ca. 1230 B.C. on the basis of Mycenaean pottery. The thirteenth-century devastation of Bethel is also attributed to the Israelites by Kelso.

Albright identified Tell Beit Mirsim, which was destroyed in the 13th cent., with Debir (see I.C. above). Khirbet Rabûd, 9 mi. (14 km.) S of Hebron, excavated by M. Kochavi in 1968–1969 has now been proposed as a better candidate for DEBIR.

The biblical account which indicates that Shechem passed peacefully into Israelite hands is confirmed by its transition from

(T. Dothan) 在一个墓地中发现了 40 个泥质人形棺，这一墓地是公元前 14 世纪至 11 世纪埃及卫戍部队用来埋葬死去的士兵的。这些棺材是巴勒斯坦后期棺材的原型。

1969 年，罗滕贝格在亭纳发现了埃及人曾在内盖夫地区生活过的重要证据。考古人员在所罗门石柱的地基处发现了一座埃及的神庙，这座神庙中发现了很多塞提一世（公元前 1318-1304 年）至拉美西斯五世（公元前 1160-1156 年）时期的铭文。格吕高认为所罗门在位时曾命以色列人在亚拉巴（见 ARABAH[亚拉巴]）地区炼铜，但是罗滕贝格却持不同意见，他认为在亚拉巴炼铜的不是所罗门时期的以色列人，而是更早时期的埃及人。

耶利哥、基遍留下青铜器时代晚期的遗迹非常少，在艾城和约书亚占领的地方没有发现任何遗迹。有些学者认为约书亚的争战行动发生在公元前 13 世纪，并列举了这一时期约书亚占领的许多迦南城市。亚丁根据迈锡尼遗址中出土的陶器推断，约在公元前 1230 年约书亚焚烧了夏琐（书 11:1-11）。凯尔索认为是以色列人在约公元前 13 世纪焚毁了伯特利。

奥尔布赖特认为贝特米西姆丘和底璧都于公元前 13 世纪被毁（见上文 I.C.）。拉布德废墟（Khirbet Rabûd）位于希伯伦以南 9 英里（14 公里）处，1968 年至 1969 年期间，柯查威对该废墟进行了发掘，现在人们认为这里就是底璧（见 DEBIR[底璧]）。

青铜器时代晚期向铁器时代的过渡时并未出现大量废墟，这也证明了《圣经》中关于以色列人以和平手段获得了示

L.B. to Iron I without a major destruction. 剑的描述。

G. Early Iron Age (12th–11th cents B.C.). The E.I. IA-B period was the time of the settlement of the Philistines along the coast and their conflict with the Israelites during the days of the judges and of Saul.

The excavations at Taanach confirm the biblical record that the city was captured not by Joshua but later (ca. 1125) under Deborah (Jgs. 5:19). The destruction of Dan in the 12th cent. is believed by A. Biran to be the result of the invasion of the tribe of Dan (Josh. 19:47; Jgs. 18:29). The devastation of Shechem in the 12th cent. is attributed to Abimelech (Jgs. 9). (See also SHECHEM II.)

In the late 13th and early 12th centuries the sea-peoples from the Aegean invaded the Levant and Egypt during the reigns of Merneptah and Ramses III. The newcomers may have been responsible for the shrine with a lion's skull discovered in the thirteenth-century level at Jaffa.

The most famous of the sea-peoples were the Philistines. Impressive Philistine objects, which betray their Aegean origins (Am. 9:7), have been recovered from Ashdod. A unique Philistine temple with two column bases, reminiscent of the temple destroyed by Samson (Jgs. 16:29), was uncovered by A. Mazar in 1971–1972 at Tell el-Qasîleh. The penetration of the Philistines into the interior has been illustrated by extensive remains at Gezer and by Philistine objects found as far north as Dan.

H. United Monarchy (10th cent B.C.). The mastery of iron smelting, which gave the

G. 铁器时代初期(公元前 12 世纪至 11 世纪)。在铁器时代初期 IA-B 阶段, 非利士人沿着海岸边定居下来, 在士师和扫罗时期, 他们与以色列人之间爆发了战争。

根据《圣经》中的记载, 约书亚并没有攻占他纳, 这一城市是后来(约公元前 1125 年)由底波拉率领的军队攻取的(士 5:19), 他纳的发掘结果也证明了这一记载。比朗(A. Biran)认为公元前 12 世纪但支派攻取利善(后改名为“但”)导致这一城市最终被毁(书 19:47; 士 18:29)。亚比米勒于公元前 12 世纪摧毁了示剑(士 9)(另见 SHECHEM II[示剑 II])。

公元前 13 世纪末期至公元前 12 世纪初, 爱琴海地区的海上民族入侵黎凡特和埃及, 这时统治埃及的法老是麦伦普塔和拉美西斯三世。考古人员在雅法考古时, 从公元前 13 世纪的考古层中发掘出一个神庙, 并在神庙中发现了一个狮子头盖骨, 这座神庙或许就是这些海上民族建造的。

最有名的海上民族当属非利士人。考古人员在亚实突发掘出了许多令人印象深刻的非利士人遗迹, 这证明他们是起源于爱琴海的民族(摩 9:7)。马萨尔于 1971 至 1972 年间在奎西利废丘(Tell el-Qasîleh)考古时, 发现了一座拥有两个柱基的独特神庙, 这让人想起了参孙毁坏的大衮庙(士 16:29)。人们在基色甚至更北面的但发现了非利士人的大量遗迹, 这些遗迹证明了非利士人曾侵入到内陆地区。

H. 统一的君主制时期(公元前 10 世纪)。非利士人因掌握了炼铁技术一直

Philistines an upper hand until the reign of Saul, is vividly illustrated by the discovery of an iron plow in Saul's palace at Gibeah, reexcavated by Lapp in 1964.

David's capture of Jerusalem from the Jebusites has been illuminated by the excavations of K. Kenyon, who found a massive corner of the wall of the Jebusite city on the slope above the spring Gihon.

Unfortunately, almost all of Solomon's extensive building projects in Jerusalem have been obliterated. One possibly Solomonic structure is a fragmentary casemate wall. Kenyon believes that the enigmatic MILLO, "filling," which was repaired by David (2 S. 5:9) and by Solomon (1 K. 9:15), referred to the massive platforms on the eastern edge of Ophel, which were in constant need of repair.

Striking evidence to illustrate the biblical statement that Solomon built "Hazor, Megiddo, and Gezer" (1 K. 9:15) has come from the discovery of nearly identical gates at these sites. Yadin, recalling that the earlier excavation at Megiddo had uncovered a gate with three chambers on each side, anticipated the discovery of a similar gate at Hazor. His reexamination of Macalister's report on GEZER (see also above) led to the discovery of an identical gate there. The gateway at Gezer was destroyed late in the 10th cent., probably by Pharaoh Shishak (Sheshonq), who invaded Palestine five years after Solomon's death (1 K. 14:25). Shishak's raid at Megiddo was confirmed by a fragment (published in 1929) of his monumental stele.

凯尼恩在基训河之上的斜坡上发现了耶布斯的一个巨大的墙角，这一发掘结果表明大卫是从耶布斯人手里夺取的耶路撒冷。

遗憾的是，所罗门在耶路撒冷建造的所有大型建筑几乎都被彻底摧毁了。遗留下来的一个残破不全的炮台墙壁可能属于所罗门时期的建筑。凯尼恩认为大卫（撒下 5:9）和所罗门（王上 9:15）修复的神秘米罗（MILLO[米罗]）的城墙指的就是俄斐勒城东边的巨大平台，这些平台需要人们不停地进行修复。

考古人员在夏琐、米吉多、基色发现了相同的城门，这一引人注目的证据证明了《圣经》中关于扫罗修建“夏琐、米吉多和基色”的描述（王上 9:15）。之前考古人员在米吉多发掘到一个城门，其两侧各有三个内庭，亚丁根据这一发现预测夏琐也有相似的城门。他重新研究麦卡利斯特关于基色考古的报告后（见上文），竟在基色（见 GEZER[基色]）发现了相同的城门。基色的门道可能是在公元前 10 世纪后期被法老示撒（舍松契）摧毁的，这位法老在所罗门死后第五年进攻巴勒斯坦（王上 14:25）。1929 年公布的示撒纪念碑残片证明了示撒曾经进攻过米吉多。

I. The Divided Kingdom (9th–7th cents B.C.). Upon Solomon’s death his kingdom split into the southern kingdom of Judah, headed by his son Rehoboam, and the northern kingdom of Israel, led by the rebel Jeroboam I. The northern kingdom, which was more open to the influence of its pagan neighbors in Phoenicia and Syria, had a history characterized by spiritual apostasy and political instability. The northern kingdom was also the first to succumb to the expansion of the powerful Assyrian empire in the 8th century.

Phoenician materials from the 8th–6th cents have been recovered from Achzib on the coast, where I. Ben-Dor cleared seventy tombs in 1941–1942 and 1944. Additional tombs were excavated between 1958 and 1970 by M. Prausnitz. (See ACHZIB 2.)

Omri, the sixth king of Israel, transferred his capital from Tirzah to Samaria (1 K. 16:23f.). This transfer is confirmed by the discovery of unfinished buildings from Omri’s time at Tell el Fâr’ah (N), identified with Tirzah (see I.C above). Omri’s son Ahab married the notorious Phoenician princess Jezebel; this explains the presence of fine Phoenician masonry at Samaria. Ivory fragments found there illustrate the reference to Ahab’s “ivory palace” (1 K. 22:39). Ahab’s reign has also been credited with a number of constructions at Hazor, including the large pillared hall and the impressive water system, which descended 130 ft. (40 m.) to a spring. The so-called stables of Solomon at Megiddo have been redated to Ahab’s reign.

I. 王国分裂时期（公元前 9 世纪至 7 世纪）。所罗门去世后，古以色列王国分类成南国犹大和北国以色列，两王国分别由所罗门的儿子罗波安和反叛者耶罗波安一世进行统治。北国更多地受到了其异教邻邦腓尼基和叙利亚的影响，其典型历史特征是放弃了属灵信仰，政局动荡。同时，以色列王国也在公元前 8 世纪首先屈服于强大亚述帝国的扩展。

1941 至 1942 年间以及 1944 年，本·多尔 (I. Ben-Dor) 在海岸城市亚革悉考古时，发掘出 70 个坟墓，并在该遗址中发现了一些腓尼基人在公元前 8 世纪至 6 世纪留下的遗迹。1958 至 1970 年期间，普劳斯尼茨 (M. Prausnitz) 又在这里发掘出一些坟墓。（见 ACHZIB 2[亚革悉 2]。）

以色列的第十六任王暗利将都城从得撒迁移到撒玛利亚（王上 16:23-24）。考古人员在泰勒法拉（北部）发掘到暗利时期的建筑遗址，这也证明了此次迁都事件（泰勒法拉就是得撒，见上文 I.C），目前这一发掘尚在进行之中。暗利的儿子亚哈娶了臭名昭著的腓尼基公主耶洗别；因此撒玛利亚出现了一些精美的腓尼基石造建筑。撒玛利亚出土的象牙碎片证明亚哈曾修建过象牙宫（王上 22:39）。亚哈执政期间在夏琐建造了大量建筑，包括石柱大厅和令人印象深刻的供水系统，这个供水系统从 130 英尺（40 米）高的地方一直下到一眼泉水旁。所谓所罗门在米吉多的马厩实际上是亚哈时期的遗迹。

In the 8th cent. Judah was threatened and Israel was destroyed by the Assyrian expansion to the west. Hazor was destroyed by Tiglath-pileser III in 732, during the reign of Pekah (2 K. 15:29); in the burned debris of the acropolis was found an ostrakon with Pekah's name. At the site of ACCO (Tel 'Akko) M. Dothan, who began excavations in 1973, has found further evidence of the Assyrian attack. Lapp discovered a small fortress, destroyed probably by Tiglath-pileser III, at Tell er-Rumeith in Gilead.

After completing the siege of Samaria in 722, Sargon II sent further armies against the rebel Yamani ("Greek") of ASHDOD in 721. J. Kaplan, who excavated the seaport of Ashdod-Yam from 1965 to 1968, believed that he had found the wall built by Yamani. M. Dothan discovered at Ashdod a fragment of an Assyrian stele which confirms the reference (Isa. 20:1) to the campaign of Sargon's field marshal at Ashdod.

The presence of the paganism denounced by the prophets of Judah has been vividly illustrated by K. Kenyon's work at Jerusalem. Along the east slopes of OPHEL she discovered a ritual complex, including two stone pillars and a cultic cave dated ca. 800 B.C. (2 K. 12:3; 14:4). She also found a cave deposit dated ca. 700 with thirteen hundred pottery vessels and numerous human and animal figurines.

公元前 8 世纪，向西扩张的亚述帝国威胁着犹大王国，并毁坏了以色列。以色列比加年间，公元前 732 年，亚述王提革拉毗列色三世夺了夏琐（王下 15:29）；人们在焚毁的卫城废墟中发现了一个写有比加名字的陶片。多森 1973 年开始发掘亚柯遗址（Tel 'Akko），他发现了关于亚述侵略亚柯（见 ACCO[亚柯]）的更多的证据。拉普在基列的拉梅斯丘（Tell er-Rumeith）发掘出一个可能由提革拉毗列色三世摧毁的小城堡。

凯尼恩在耶路撒冷的发掘结果生动地再现了犹大王国的先知们谴责异教的历史。她在俄斐勒（OPHEL[俄斐勒]）遗址东部的山坡上发现了一个宗教建筑群，其中包括两根石柱和一个约公元前 800 年的邱坛（王下 12:3; 14:4）。她还发现了一个约公元前 700 年洞穴的藏品，其中包括 1300 个陶器容器和许多人物和动物雕像。

Middle Bronze and Late Middle Bronze (ca. 2000–1500 B.C.) pottery from Megiddo, a period of prosperity but little peace, indicated by numerous strata and phases of strata (Oriental Institute, University of Chicago)

B. Mazar has found eighth-to seventh-century tombs near the southwest corner of the temple platform; he suggested that these may represent a royal cemetery. In the Jewish quarter of the walled city of Jerusalem, which N. Avigad has excavated since 1969, a city wall (cf. Neh. 3:8) 23 ft. (7 m.) broad was found. This wall, which enclosed the mišneh, “second quarter” (2 K. 22:14), was probably built by Hezekiah as a defense against Sennacherib’s attack in 701. An inscription discovered at the Pool of Siloam in 1880 describes Hezekiah’s construction of the Siloam tunnel.

In Transjordan, also, key discoveries have been made for this era. In 1879 H. Clermont-Ganneau was able to secure for the Louvre the important Mesha Stele (MOABITE STONE) from DIBON, the capital of Moab. It gives the Moabite king's version of his conflict with the Israelites in the 9th cent. (2 K. 3:4-27).

外约旦地区也出土了一些这一时期的重大考古发现。1879年，加诺（H. Clermont-Ganneau）在摩押都城底本（见

Objects identified as manger and hitching post from level IV at Megiddo. Once identified as "Solomon's stables," the building complexes have been dated to Ahab's time, and their function is open to question. (B. Van Elderen)

In 1961 a stone slab with eight lines in Ammonite was discovered on the citadel mound at Amman. This rare inscription, which includes a reference to the god Milcom (1 K. 11:5), is dated by F. Cross to the 9th cent. and by S. Horn to the 8th century. In 1972 excavations under H. Thompson at Tell Siran on the campus of the University of Jordan in Amman uncovered a unique bronze bottle with eight lines of Ammonite. The text contains an inscription of the king of Ammon in the 7th cent. B.C.

J. Babylonian Conquest (6th cent B.C.). In 1960 J. Naveh excavated the fortress of Meşad Ḥashavyahu on the coast between Jaffa and Ashdod. The large quantity of Greek pottery indicates that this was held by Greek mercenaries in the service of Pharaoh Neco. Neco was defeated in 605 B.C. at Carchemish by Nebuchadrezzar, 米吉多第四考古层中出土的马槽和栓马柱。过去人们认为这些综合建筑遗迹是“所罗门的马厩”，现在人们知道它们是亚哈时期的建筑，但是关于这些建筑的用途，人们一直存在争议。(B. Van Elderen)

1961 年，人们在安曼的城堡废丘上发现了一块刻有八行亚扪文字的石碑。这篇罕见的碑文中提到了亚扪人的神米勒公 (王上 11:5)， 克罗斯 (F. Cross) 认为这篇碑文可以追溯到公元前 9 世纪，而霍恩 (S. Horn) 认为它可以追溯到公元前 8 世纪。1972 年，汤普森对西兰丘 (Tell Siran) 进行了挖掘，该废丘位于安曼约旦大学的校园内，废丘中出土了一个独特青铜瓶，上面刻有八行亚扪文字。这些文字中包含了一篇公元前 7 世纪亚扪王撰写的铭文。

J. 巴比伦征服 (公元前 6 世纪)。1960 年，纳维 (J. Naveh) 对雅法和亚实突之间的滨海城堡梅撒哈沙雅胡 (Meşad Ḥashavyahu) 展开了考古发掘。该遗址中出土了大量希腊陶器，这些陶器应该是法老尼哥军中的希腊佣兵的生活用品。公元前 605 年，尼布甲尼撒在迦基米施打败了法老尼哥，但尼布甲尼撒的 who also employed Greek mercenaries. From Arad have come ostraca from a fort destroyed by Nebuchadrezzar. They include instructions for the distribution of supplies to the KITTIM, who according to Aharoni were Greek mercenaries fighting for Judah. The abundant evidence of Greeks in the Near East at this early date indicates that the presence of Greek words in the Aramaic of Daniel is not an anachronism.

军中也有希腊雇佣兵。尼布甲尼撒摧毁的亚拉得城堡中也出土了一些陶器碎片。这些陶器当时是分配给基提（见 KITTIM[基提]）人的生活用品，阿哈罗尼认为这些基提人就是位犹太大军中的希腊雇佣兵。近东地区在这一时期就出现了大批希腊人，从而证明了亚兰语《但以理书》中出现的希腊文字并不存在年代错误。

In 1942 an Aramaic papyrus was found at Saqqârah in Egypt. It is a letter, dated 604 B.C., from a King Adon to Pharaoh Neco. Adon, who was probably the king of ASHKELON, asks for aid against the invading forces of Nebuchadrezzar (2 K. 24f.).

1942年，埃及的塞加拉出土了亚兰语莎草纸文献。这份文献是公元前604年亚顿（Adon）写给法老尼哥的书信，亚顿可能是亚实基伦的王，他在信中请求尼哥援助他击退入侵亚实基伦的尼布甲尼撒的军队（王下24-25）。

A vivid memorial of one man's faith in the face of the Babylonian invasion has been found at Khirbet Beit Lei, 5 mi. (8 km.) E of Lachish. F. Cross has translated the inscription, first published by J. Naveh in 1963, as follows: "I am Yahweh thy God; I will accept the cities of Judah and will redeem Jerusalem," and has suggested that this may have been incised by a refugee who thus expressed his trust in God's faithfulness in spite of the desolation of the Holy City (Lam. 3:22-24).

拉吉以东 5 英里 (8 公里) 的贝特雷废丘 (Khirbet Beit Lei) 出土了一个纪念碑，纪念碑上的碑文生动地描绘出巴比伦入侵时一位信徒的宗教信仰。克罗斯翻译了这篇碑文，1963 年，纳维首次公布了这篇碑文，内容如下：“我是耶和华，你们的神；我必悦纳犹大的城市，必救赎耶路撒冷”，有人认为一位流亡者将上面的文字雕刻在纪念碑上，并以此表达他对上帝的忠实，虽然当时圣城一片荒芜 (哀 3:22-24)。

In addition to the well-known sites that were devastated by the Babylonians, the Israeli surveys of Judah in 1967-1968 uncovered many previously unknown settlements that are small and nameless. S. Weinberg has suggested that we may obtain a truer picture of Palestine in this period by the excavation of these sites, which have sixth-to fifth-century sherds.

除了这些巴比伦人摧毁的著名城市遗址，以色列人于 1967 年至 1968 年对犹大地进行了研究，他们发现了一些之前无人知晓的小型的和不知名的聚落。温伯格 (S. Weinberg) 认为这些遗址中出土了很多公元前 6 世纪至 7 世纪的历史遗迹，对它们进行发掘可以帮助我们更加真实地了解巴勒斯坦这一时期的历史。

K. Persian and Hellenistic Periods (5th–2nd cents B.C.). From the second temple of Zerubbabel the only visible remains may be a straight joint about 100 ft. (30 m.) N of the southeast corner of the temple platform, noted by K. Kenyon in 1966. Kenyon's excavations revealed that in Nehemiah's day the perimeter wall was reduced to about 8500 ft. (2600 m.), which explains how the walls could be repaired within fifty-two days (Neh. 6:15).

On the cliff face at 'Arâq el-Emîr in Jordan is an inscription with the name Tobiah (Neh. 2:19). This is dated to the 6th or 5th cent. B.C. by B. Mazar but to the 3rd cent. B.C. by Albright.

In the Persian period the Sidonians established a colony at DOR on the coast. Dor was closely allied with Athens in the 5th cent., as indicated by its inclusion in the Athenian tribute lists and as confirmed by the presence of Attic pottery.

At Wādī ed-Dâliyeh NW of Jericho, bedouin discovered a cave in 1962 and removed rare fourth-century papyri which contain the name of a Sanballat, perhaps the grandson of the governor of Samaria in Nehemiah's day (Neh. 2:10). Lapp, who explored the cave in 1963–1964, discovered grim remains of about two hundred men, women, and children from Samaria who had tried unsuccessfully to flee from the troops of Alexander the Great in 331 B.C.

BETH-ZUR (Khirbet eṭ-Ṭubeiqah) was excavated in 1931 by W. F. Albright and O. R. Sellers, and in 1957 by Sellers. The

K. 波斯帝国和希腊化时期(公元前 500 至 200 年)。所罗巴伯第二座神庙中出土的唯一遗迹可能就是一个直线接头,它大约位于庙台东南角以北 100 英尺(3 米)的地方,凯尼恩于 1966 年发现了这一遗迹。凯尼恩的发掘结果表明在尼希米时期围墙减少到大约 8500 英尺(2600 米),这就是可以在 52 天内修完围墙的原因(尼 6:15)。

约旦阿哈格埃米尔('Arâq el-Emîr)的悬崖面上的一篇碑文中提到了多比雅这个名字(尼 2:19)。马萨尔认为这篇碑文写于公元前 6 或 5 世纪,奥尔布赖特却认为它写于公元前 3 世纪。

波斯帝国时期,西顿人在海岸边的多珥(见 DOR[多珥])建立了一个聚落。雅典人的纳贡表(其中包含多珥)和多珥出土的雅典陶器表明公元前 500 年多珥与雅典已结成紧密的同盟。

贝多因人于 1962 年在耶利哥西北的达利耶河谷(Wādī ed-Dâliyeh)发现了一个山洞,并从中发现了一份罕见的公元前 4 世纪的莎草纸文献,这份文献中提到了参巴拉这个名字,他可能就是尼希米时期撒玛利亚省长的孙子(尼 2:10)。拉普于 1963 至 1964 年探究了这个山洞,并从中发掘出大约 200 具撒玛利亚成年男女和儿童的遗骸,他们在公元前 331 年未能成功从亚历山大帝的军队中逃走,后被残忍地杀害。

奥尔布赖特和塞勒斯(O. R. Sellers)在 1931 年共同发掘了伯夙(见 BETH-ZUR[伯夙])遗址(图贝卡废墟), excavators recovered a dozen bathtubs from the Maccabean era, Beth-zur's period of greatest prosperity.

At ACCO (Roman Ptolemais) in the Bay of Haifa, while clearing the crusader castle between 1955 and 1964, S. Applebaum discovered a Hellenistic temple with an inscription of Antiochus V.

Between 1968 and 1973 S. Weinberg excavated Tel Anafa, an important Hellenistic site N of the Sea of Galilee. The settlement, founded before 200 B.C. and destroyed ca. 80 B.C., has yielded an unparalleled amount of molded glass and striking architectural ornaments.

L. The Herodian Period (1st cent B.C.). Herod the Great built at numerous sites during his reign (37–4 B.C.). In JERUSALEM, B. Mazar has cleared the area S of the great temple platform (see I.C above). He has uncovered magnificent ashlar of the platform, some 30 ft. (9 m.) long (cf. Mk. 13:1), a street, and a staircase 215 ft. (64 m.) wide which leads up to the Huldah Gates. A Herodian aqueduct has been traced underground for over 600 ft. (180 m.). Among the most significant objects uncovered are a fragment of a sundial, a limestone object inscribed qrbn (“offering”; cf. Mk. 7:11), and the inscription “for the place of the blowing [of the trumpet]” on the cornerstone of the parapet of the royal stoa. Fragments with gold leaf enable one to visualize the grandeur of the temple. Evidence of the destruction of the temple in A.D. 70 includes 6 ft. (2 m.) of debris and ash, and an inscription of Vespasian and Titus discovered in 1970.

1957年塞勒斯继续对该遗址进行发掘。他们从该遗址中挖掘出迈锡尼文明时期和伯夙鼎盛时期的十几个浴缸。

1955年至1964年间，阿普勒鲍姆（S. Applebaum）在海法湾中的亚柯（见 Acco[亚柯]）（罗马多利买）进行考古研究，他在清理十字军城堡遗址时发现了一个希腊风格的神庙，并在其中发现了一篇安提阿古五世的铭文。

1968年至1973年，温伯格发掘了加利利海北面的一个重要的希腊文化遗址——艾奈弗（Tel Anafa）。这一据点在公元前200年前建立，大约在公元前80年被毁坏，其中出土了大量的模制玻璃和引人注目的建筑装饰。

L. 希律时期（公元前1世纪）。希律大帝在位期间大型土建（公元前37至公元前4年）。马萨尔已经完成了耶路撒冷（见 JERUSALEM[耶路撒冷]）神殿南部区域的考古挖掘（见上文 I.C）。他挖掘到神殿宏伟的方石（约30英尺[9米]长，参可 13:1）、一条街道和一个通向户勒大城门的楼梯（215英尺[64米]宽）。人们在地下600英尺（180米）处发现了希律修建的沟渠。这一时期最重要的考古发现包括日晷的碎片、刻有各耳板的石灰岩（各耳板就是供献的意思，参可 7:11），以及皇家柱廊栏杆的柱石上镌刻的关于“吹号之地”的铭文。这里出土的金叶碎片再现了当时神殿的富丽堂皇。6英尺（2米）厚的废墟和灰烬，以及1970年发现的维斯帕先和提图斯铭文都证明神殿是在公元70年被摧毁的。

Excavations along the southwest corner of the retaining wall surrounding the temple mount in Jerusalem. An inscription found in this area confirmed that a tower stood here, from which a priest sounded the beginning of the sabbath. (Consulate General of Israel in New York)

In the Jewish quarter W of the temple platform N. Avigad uncovered in 1969 a Herodian building with frescoes and a depiction of a menorah. Another house contained mortars, weights, and a mold for coins. The excavators cleared a sewage canal, which may have served as a temporary refuge for Jews fleeing from the Romans in A.D. 70.

In the citadel area of Jerusalem Israeli archeologists in 1970–1971 found Herodian remains believed to be extensions of structures found by Tushingham in 1967 in the Armenian gardens to the south. They interpret these structures as part of a huge platform, perhaps 1000 to 1150 ft. (300 to 350 m.) long, which would have served as the foundation for Herod's palace. Some scholars believe that the praetorium of Pilate, where Jesus was tried, was at Herod's palace rather than at the fortress Antonia, which overlooked the temple area.

1969年阿维加得在神殿西侧的犹太区进行考古发掘时，发现了一座希律时期建筑，这一建筑的墙壁上有许多壁画和关于金灯台的描述。另一房间里出土了研钵、砝码和铸币的模具。考古发掘者发现了一个污水管道，公元70年从罗马逃回的犹太人将它作为临时的避难所。

1970年至1971年，以色列的考古学家在耶路撒冷的卫城考古时，发现了一些希律时期的遗迹，他们认为这些遗迹与塔欣厄姆(Tushingham)1967年在亚美尼亚花园(耶路撒冷以南)中发现的建筑同属一类建筑。他们认为这些建筑结构是大平台的一部分，这个大平台大约1000至1150英尺(300至350米)长，曾是希律宫殿的地基。有些学者认为彼拉多审问耶稣的总督府位于希律的宫

Yadin uncovered spectacular remains at Herod's fortress of Masada (see I.C above), including Herod's palaces and the first synagogue from the 1st cent. A.D. Over four thousand coins, numerous cosmetic objects, and a few MSS were found. Yadin discovered about thirty skeletons of the 960 men, women, and children who perished. Among the remains of the Roman assault still visible are the siege ramp, the circumvallation wall, and several camps.

The Herodian fortress of Machaerus in Jordan, where John the Baptist was imprisoned, was excavated by J. Vardaman in 1968. He found aqueducts, bath installations, and evidences of the Roman siege of A.D. 72.

At NT Jericho, E. Netzer in 1972-1974 uncovered on the north bank of the Wâdî Qelt a palace complex with a swimming pool. This may have been the pool where the young high priest Aristobulos III was drowned at Herod's orders.

At Herodium, work since 1969 by G. Foerster and E. Netzer has uncovered a large reservoir, 150 by 230 ft. (45 by 70 m.), at the base of the hill.

M. NT Period (1st cent A.D.). Locating Jesus' exorcism of the so-called Gadarene demoniac has been a problem because of the textual variants in the name of the site (Mt. 8:28; Mk. 5:1; Lk. 8:26; some MSS read "Gerasene" and others

殿内，而不是在安东尼亚堡垒中（从堡垒上可以俯瞰圣殿区域）。

亚丁在马萨达的希律堡中取得了惊人的考古发现（见上文 I.C），其中就包括希律的宫殿和公元 1 世纪的第一座犹太会堂。他在这里发现了四千多枚硬币、大量的化妆品和一些文献原稿，同时还发现了死在这里的 960 名成年男女和儿童的大约 30 个骷髅。人们仍然可以看见罗马人围攻这里时留下的坡道、城墙和几处营地。

1968 年瓦达曼 (J. Vardaman) 挖掘出了希律建造的马卡鲁斯城堡，施洗约翰曾被囚禁在这里。他发现一些沟渠和洗浴设施以及公元 72 年罗马人包围这里的证据。

1972 年至 1974 年间，内策尔 (E. Netzer) 开始对《新约》中的耶利哥进行考古发掘，他在凯尔特河谷的北岸挖掘出一个宫殿建筑群和一个游泳池。这里或许就是按照希律的命令，溺死年轻大祭司的亚里托斯布鲁斯三世的那个游泳池。

弗斯特 (G. Foerster) 和内策尔从 1969 年开始挖掘希罗底，他们在山麓地带挖掘出一个 230 英尺 (70 米) 长，150 英尺 (45 米) 宽的大蓄水池。

M. 新约时期 (公元 1 世纪)。耶稣在加大拉医治了两个被鬼附着的人，但是我们很难确定加大拉的位置，因为经文中这个地名的表达有很多种（太 8:28；可 5:1；路 8:26；有些经文将之译为“加大拉”，其他处经文将之译为“格拉森”）。

“Gergesene”). Origen’s comment that there was a village called Gergesa on the eastern shore of the Sea of Galilee was confirmed in the course of road-building operations in 1970. D. Urman has excavated a first-century A.D. fishing village, called Kursi in Jewish sources, and a fifth-century A.D. church that commemorated the site of the miracle.

Excavations begun by G. Foerster in 1973 at Tiberias (cf. Jn. 6:23) have uncovered a gate complex dated to the reign of Herod Antipas, who founded the city and named it in honor of the emperor Tiberius. South of Tiberias by the warm springs at Hamath-Tiberias, work by M. Dothan in 1961 cleared a building that may have been used as a synagogue as early as the 1st cent. A.D.

The synagogue at CAPERNAUM (Tell Hûm), which may rest upon the site of the synagogue attended by Jesus, has been dated to the 2nd cent. A.D. But V. Corbo and S. Loffreda, who reexcavated Capernaum in 1968, now date the building to the 4th cent. on the basis of coins. Digging under an octagonal structure about 30 ft. (9 m.) from the Capernaum synagogue, the excavators uncovered the remains of a household church. They have suggested, on the basis of graffiti at the site and references by pilgrims (4th–6th cents A.D.), that it was built upon the home of Peter.

In 1968 the first physical evidence of crucifixion as a form of punishment was recovered from an ossuary at Giv’at ha-Mivtar in northeastern Jerusalem. The ossuary, which dates to between A.D. 6 and 66, contained heel bones still transfixing by an iron nail. A crease in the

弗斯特从 1973 年开始挖掘提比哩亚 (参: 约 6:23), 希律王建造了这座城市, 并为纪念提比略皇帝将它命名为提比哩亚, 弗斯特在该遗址中发现了一个希律安提帕时期的城门建筑群。提比哩亚南面是哈马提比哩亚的温泉, 多森于 1961 年这里考古时, 发掘一个建筑遗迹, 这个建筑可能就是公元 1 世纪的犹太会堂。

迦百农 (见 CAPERNAUM[迦百农]) (胡姆废丘[Tell Hûm]) 犹太会堂就坐落在当年耶稣教训迦百农人的那座犹太会堂遗址的上面, 它是公元 2 世纪的建筑遗迹。但是科尔博 (V. Corbo) 和洛夫拉达 (S.Loffreda) 于 1968 年重新发掘了这一遗址, 并根据那里出土的钱币推测出这座会堂始建于公元 4 世纪。迦百农犹太会堂 30 英尺 (9 米) 的地下是一座八角形的建筑, 考古发掘者在这里挖出一座家庭教堂。根据该遗址上的涂鸦和朝圣者的记载 (公元 4-6 世纪), 他们推测该地的原址就是彼得的家。

1968 年, 人们在位于耶路撒冷东北的马萨里角的一个骨罐中首次发现了耶稣在十字架受刑的实物证据。这个骨罐是公元 6 年至 66 年之间的遗迹, 骨罐中死者根骨处仍然钉着一根铁钉。桡骨处的折痕表明当时捆绑的是受害者的前臂而不是他的手掌, 根据传统说法, 人

radial bone indicates that the victim had been pinioned in his forearms, rather than in the palms as in the traditional picture of Christ's crucifixion (Gk. cheir in Jn. 20:27 can mean "arm"). The victim's calf bones had been shattered (cf. Jn. 19:32). (See also CROSS; CRUCIFY VI.)

Excavations in and around the Church of the Holy Sepulchre have helped to demonstrate that it lay outside the wall in Jesus' day. There is therefore no reason to doubt its authenticity as the site of Calvary and the empty tomb. Shafts dug in the church show that the area was used as a quarry and was therefore extramural, a conclusion also supported by Kenyon's excavation in the adjoining Muristan area.

In the area N of the present walled city of Jerusalem, L. Mayer and E. Sukenik discovered in 1925–1927 and 1940 what they believed were sections of the "third wall" of Herod Agrippa I. Subsequent discoveries, including the clearing of a tower facing north in 1972 by S. Ben-Aryeh and E. Netzer, have extended the line of the wall to 3950 ft. (1200 m.) and have confirmed the identification. This means that by the time of Agrippa I (A.D. 40–44) Jerusalem had expanded to 450 acres (180 hectares), and housed 120,000–150,000 people.

N. Dead Sea Scrolls and the Bar Cochba Finds (2nd cent B.C.–2nd cent A.D.). An outstanding development for biblical studies was the discovery between 1947 and 1956 of the DEAD SEA SCROLLS in the caves of QUMRÂN. The MSS include copies of the OT a thousand years older than the Hebrew texts previously available, and sectarian compositions of a

们一直认为基督受难时，祂的手掌被捆绑住了（约翰福音 20:27 中希腊语 "cheir" 意思可能是“手臂”）。受害者的腓骨已被打碎（参：约 19:32）。（另见 CROSS[十字架]；CRUCIFY VI[钉十字架 VI]）。

考古人员对圣墓大教堂及其周围地区的考古发掘结果表明，耶稣在世时，这座教堂坐落在城墙之外。因此，我们没有理由质疑这里就是耶稣受难地和空坟墓所在地。考古人员采用竖井对这座教堂遗址进行了挖掘，发现这一区域过去曾是一个采石场，因此建在了城墙之外，凯尼恩的发掘结论也证明了这一点（他在邻近的穆林斯坦地区进行了发掘）。

N. 《死海古卷》和巴克巴考古发现（公元前2世纪至公元2世纪）。1947年至1956年，人们在昆兰（见 QUMRÂN[昆兰]）山洞中发现的《死海古卷》使得《圣经》研究取得了重大进展。古卷中《旧约》抄本比之前的希伯来《旧约》还早1000年，古卷中还包括一些教派文献，许多学者认为这些文献是艾赛尼派的著作。 community that many scholars identify with the Essenes.

From 1951 to 1956 R. de Vaux and G. L. Harding excavated the khirbeh, or ruins, of the monastery at Qumrân, which flourished from ca. 130 B.C. to A.D. 68. In 1958 the community's farm buildings at 'Ain Feshkha were excavated. De Vaux also investigated forty-three of the more than eleven hundred tombs in the cemeteries. In 1966–1967 S. Steckoll uncovered ten skeletons from the main cemetery.

P. Bar-Adon discovered the site of 'Ain Ghuweir, 9 mi. (15 km.) S of Qumrân, in 1969. He uncovered a banquet hall, the burials of twelve men, seven women, and a child, and a jar inscribed with the same script as that used in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

In 1952 Harding and de Vaux investigated caves at Wâdī Murabba'ât, 11 mi. (18 km.) S of Qumrân, where the bedouin had discovered letters and contracts from the Bar Cochba revolt in A.D. 132–135. In 1960 and 1961 at Nahal Heber, just N of Masada, the Israelis found additional materials from this period, including letters and documents in Aramaic, Hebrew, Nabatean, and Greek.

O. Late Roman and Byzantine Periods (2nd–6th cents A.D.). BETH-SHEARIM (Sheikh Abreiq) was famous as a rabbinic center from the 2nd to the 4th cents A.D. Excavations by B. Mazar and N. Avigad between 1936 and 1958 have uncovered numerous sarcophagi, some with mythological motifs. Inscriptions bear witness that notable Jewish dead were brought there from Syria, Phoenicia,

1952年，哈丁和沃克斯对昆兰以南11英里（18公里）的穆拉巴特干谷进行了调研，贝多因人曾在这里发现了有关巴克巴起义（公元132至135年）的信件和契约。1960至1961年间，以色列人在马察达以北的纳里耳赫贝耳（Nahal Heber）发现了这一时期的其他遗迹，其中包括用亚兰语、希伯来语、纳巴泰语和希腊语书写的书信和文件。

O. 罗马帝国晚期和拜占廷帝国时期（公元2世纪至6世纪）。伯谢阿林（见BETH-SHEARIM[伯谢阿林]）（谢赫阿布莱克[Sheikh Abreiq]）是公元2世纪至4世纪时著名的拉比中心。马萨尔和阿维加得1936年至1958年在这里考古时，发掘出许多石棺，其中一些石棺上雕刻的内容包含着神话母题。该遗址出土的铭文证明叙利亚、腓尼基、美索不达米亚和阿拉伯来的地位显赫的犹太人在

Mesopotamia, and Arabia.

Khirbet Shema' was the burial place of Rabbi Shimon bar Yokhai, revered as the author of the Zohar. Between 1970 and 1975 E. Meyers excavated the site, which flourished from A.D. 135 to 360. Its noted synagogue is dated to A.D. 300. Other synagogues of the 4th–5th cents A.D. have been cleared at Ḥammath-Gader, at Chorazin (Mt. 11:21), and at Beth-Alfa. The last building has a mosaic with the signs of the zodiac encircling the figure of Helios-Apollo.

The tradition of Jesus' birth in a cave in BETHLEHEM (Beit Laḥm) was known to Justin Martyr in the 2nd cent. A.D. In 325 Helena, the mother of Constantine, had a church built over the traditional site. Investigations by W. Harvey in 1934 proved that the present Church of the Nativity dates only to Justinian (6th cent. A.D.). He uncovered remains of the Constantinian structure at a depth of 4 ft. (1.3 m.) below the present floor. At Beit Sahur to the E of Bethlehem, in the Greek Orthodox site of the shepherds' field, V. Tzaferis discovered in 1972 a well-preserved fourth-century chapel. This is the earliest Christian monument in the Holy Land in such an excellent state of preservation.

In 1973 R. Bull discovered a fourth-century A.D. Mithraeum at Caesarea, the first found in Palestine. Soundings were also made in the third-century A.D. hippodrome.

MEDEBA (Mâdebā) in Jordan is noted for an important mosaic map of Palestine, dating from the 6th cent. A.D., on the floor of a Greek Orthodox church. Other

示玛废墟是拉比西蒙·约哈衣 (Shimon bar Yokhai) 埋葬之地, 他因撰写了《光明篇》(Zohar) 受到人们的崇敬。迈耶斯 (E. Meyers) 于 1970 年至 1975 年期间发掘了这一遗址, 该地在公元 135 至 360 年间曾一度兴盛。该遗址上的著名的犹太会堂可以追溯到公元 300 年。在哈马迦得 (Ḥammath-Gader)、歌拉汛 (太 11:21) 和伯阿尔法 (Beth-Alfa) 出土了一些公元 4 世纪至 5 世纪的犹太会堂。最后一座犹太会堂在太阳神赫利奥斯阿波罗的画像四周镶嵌了黄道十二宫。

生活于公元 2 世纪的殉道者游斯丁认为耶稣出生在伯利恒 (见 BETHLEHEM [伯利恒]) (以法他) 的一个山洞中。公元 325 年, 君士坦丁的母亲伊琳娜在耶稣的出生地建起了一座教堂。哈维 (W. Harvey) 于 1934 年对这座教堂进行了调查研究, 并证明现在的圣诞教堂不过是查士丁尼时期 (公元 6 世纪) 的建筑。他在现在地面之下 4 英尺 (1.3 米) 发掘到了君士坦丁时期的建筑遗迹。1972 年, 扎弗里斯 (V. Tzaferis) 在伯利恒以东的贝特萨哈 (Beit Sahur) 进行考古时, 他从希腊东正教的牧羊人田野遗址中挖出了一个保存完好的公元 4 世纪建造的小教堂。这是圣地发掘出的最早的基督教历史遗迹, 而且保存十分完好。

1973 年, 布尔 (R. Bull) 在凯撒利亚挖掘出一个公元 4 世纪的密特拉地下洞窟, 这也是在巴勒斯坦发现的第一个这种样式的洞穴。考古人员也开始探测公元 3 世纪建造的竞技场。

在约旦的米底巴 (见 MEDEBA [米底巴]) (Mâdebā), 人们在一座希腊东正教堂中发现了一幅重要的巴勒斯坦时期镶嵌图, 米底巴因此而闻名于世。现在,

Byzantine mosaics may still be seen in private houses.

ARCHEOLOGY OF THE INDUS VALLEY.

The Indus Valley forms the eastern limit of the region that we may designate “the biblical world,” viz., the region between the great deserts of Africa and Arabia and the mountains that extend almost unbrokenly from the Pyrenees to the Himalayas. It was at the Indus that Alexander the Great was forced by his soldiers to turn back. Millennia earlier trade between the Indus and Mesopotamia (and probably even Egypt) left its traces. We therefore include a brief summary of the archeology of the region.

Archeological findings since 1920 have revealed the existence of an advanced, distinct, and independent civilization in the great river system of what now is Pakistan. The Indus civilization flourished from 2500 to 1500 B.C., and ranks as one of the first three literate civilizations of the world, following closely upon those of Mesopotamia and Egypt. Nearly one hundred sites have been discovered in an area over 1000 mi. (1600 km.) in length, making the Indus larger in area than any other known preclassical civilization.

ARCHEOLOGY OF THE INDUS VALLEY.

我们通常所说的“圣经世界”的东部边界位于印度河谷，圣经世界囊括了非洲和阿拉伯的大沙漠与比利牛斯山至喜马拉雅山这段连绵的山脉之间的区域。正是行至印度河谷时，亚历山大大帝受士兵所迫而撤军。人们发现了一千年以前印度河流域与美索不达米亚地区（甚至可能包括埃及）存留着古人的贸易遗迹。因此，我们要简述一下这一地区的考古发现。

1920 年以来的考古发现揭示出这一大河流域（今巴基斯坦）曾拥有一段先进、独特和独立的文明。印度河流域文明曾兴盛于公元前 2500 年至公元前 1500 年，它也是世界上最早的三大文明之一，紧随其后的两大文明是美索不达米亚文明和埃及文明。印度河流域长约 1000 英里（1600 公里），因此印度河流域文明是前古典时期文明中比其他文明波及地域范围更广，人们在这一地区发现了接近 100 处遗址。

I. Sites.-Knowledge of the Indus civilization comes primarily from excavations at two principal sites: Mohenjo-daro and Harappā. These “twin capitals,” 400 mi. (650 km.) apart but joined by a continuous river, were constructed of baked bricks; and some authorities believe this innovation stems from here rather than Mesopotamia. Both cities consisted of carefully engineered civic layouts, containing elaborate drainage systems, well-ventilated granaries, large public baths, and a high citadel-mound from which governmental authority was enforced, as evidenced by the numerous weights, measures, and seals that have been discovered.

I. 遗址。人们对印度河流域文明的了解主要来自于两大遗址的发掘结果：摩亨佐达罗遗址和哈拉帕遗址。这“两座都城”相距 400 英里（650 公里），但一条连绵不绝的河流将这两座砖砌城市连接在了一起；有些权威人士认为烧砖这一技术创新起源于印度河流域而不是美索不达米亚地区。这两座城市的布局都非常严谨，都有精心设计的排水系统、通风良好的谷仓、大型公共浴场，还有一座高大的城堡废丘，政府颁布的典章制度在这里强制执行，这从此地出土的大量的砝码、量具和印章便可得到证明。

摩亨佐达罗遗址（约公元前 15 世纪）中出土的带有“独角兽”形象的图章。人们尚未破译图章上文字的含义。（W. S. LaSor）

II. Economy.-Although the Indus civilization derived its wealth from both agriculture and trade, its basic economy was agricultural. A variety of crops existed, but the most interesting finds of all are traces of cotton cloth which have survived at Mohenjo-daro. This is by far its earliest known occurrence.

II. 经济。虽然农业和贸易都为印度河流域文明的繁荣贡献了力量，但是这一文明的基本经济形式仍是农业。大量的农作物在这里种植，但是最引人关注的还是在摩亨佐达罗遗址中发现了棉布。到目前为止，这是人们发现的最早的棉布。

III. Arts and Crafts.-In general the artistry of the Indus civilization is not

III. 艺术与工艺。总体来说，印度河流域文明的艺术成就不能与同时期的美 comparable with that of contemporary work found in Mesopotamia and Egypt. The best products uncovered are the stone sculptures. Some animal and human figures are reminiscent of Mesopotamian religious mythology and suggest a possible link between East and West in this area. Several bronze figurines have been unearthed, but the vast number of terra-cotta figurines are especially characteristic. They exist at all known periods and are quite like those of Mesopotamia, consisting of animal and human forms and various toy miniature vessels.

Indus pottery is a mass of inchoate material and more exploration is needed in this area. As a whole it is without analogy, and thus helps to isolate this civilization as independent of other cultures.

Beads are abundant, varied in form and material and important historically. Their similarity with Mesopotamian beads of the Sargonid period indicates their derivation from a common source, and possible use in export trade from the Indus.

Seals constitute the outstanding contribution of the Indus civilization to ancient craftsmanship. Over twelve hundred have been found at Mohenjo-daro alone. The most typical animal is an oxlike beast with a single horn and therefore nicknamed "unicorn." Aristotle ascribed the unicorn to India and called it the Indian ass. The animal seals always include a standard that possibly represented an offering of food or incense. Series of composite animal monsters suggest their religious character.

索不达米亚和埃及文明的艺术成就相媲美。印度河流域发现的最好的艺术制品是石雕。这一文明遗址中出土的一些动物和人物雕像让人们联想到美索不达米亚的宗教神话，也暗示这一地区可能是东西方交流之地。这一文明遗址中也出土了一些青铜雕像，但该地出土的大量赤陶土雕像却极具特色。这种雕像在各个历史时期都存在，它们和美索不达米亚的雕像非常相似，包括动物雕像、人物雕像和各种船舶的微型雕像。

印度河流域出土的陶器只是印度河流域历史初期的遗迹，人们仍然需要对该地区进行更深入的探究。总的来说，印度河流域文明与其他文明可类比之处，因此，它从其他文明中分离出来，成为了一个独立的文明。

印度河流域出土了大量的念珠，它们的形状和材料各异，具有重要的历史参考价值。这里的念珠与美索不达米亚撒珥根时期的念珠很相似，这表明它们来自同一来源，也有可能是印度河流域的居民将他们的念珠出口到了美索不达米亚地区。

印度河流域文明的印章为古代工艺的发展做出了杰出的贡献。单在摩亨佐达罗遗址中就出土了 1200 多枚印章。印章上最典型的动物形象是一只像牛一样的动物，因其长有一支角，人们给它取了个绰号“独角兽”。亚里士多德认为独角兽源于印度，并称它为印度驴。这些动物印章总有一定的标准，可能代表着向神献素祭或香祭。这些合成的动物怪兽形象可能暗指印度人的宗教角色。有一枚印章描述的是人类献祭的场景，其他的印章中明显含有他们崇拜的神明形象。巴比伦文明中有“生命树”，

One seal suggests a scene of human sacrifice and several contain obvious images of deities. The Babylonian Tree of Life may even have had its counterpart in Mohenjo-daro and Harappā, where seals often display the sacred tree.

IV. Dating.-The Indus civilization is dated primarily on the basis of its commercial and trade contacts with Mesopotamia. Indus seals have been found in Ur, Kish, Susa, Lagash, Umma, and Tell Asmar, in layers allowing a maximum period from 2500 to 1500 B.C. It is safe to assume a trade link between Ur and the Indus valley during the time of Abraham.

V. Conclusion.-Skeletal remains at Mohenjo-daro suggest a sudden and tragic end to the city, probably caused by invading hordes of Indo-Aryans. Thus many gaps are left in our knowledge of this civilization. The undeciphered pictographic script of the seals and tablets still constitutes one of the major mysteries. It bears no apparent relationship to any script of that period.

Finally, recent excavations at Kot Diji and Amri indicate the existence of an Indus civilization earlier than and alien to that of Mohenjo-daro and Harappā. These discoveries are still under study and only preliminary reports on them have been published, but they may be expected to throw light on the beginnings of Harappā and Mohenjo-daro and their connection with this earlier culture.

摩亨佐达罗遗址和哈拉帕遗址中也出土了相似的东西，这两大遗址出土的印章中经常有圣树的形象。

IV. 年代鉴定。人们主要根据印度河流域与美索不达米亚的商业和贸易往来确定印度河流域文明的年代。人们在吾珥、基什、书珊、拉迦什、乌玛和阿斯马尔都发现了印度河流域的印章，这些印章出土的考古层的最大年限介于公元前 2500 年至公元前 1500 年之间。我们可以大胆推测：在亚伯拉罕时期，吾珥与印度河谷之间存在贸易来往。

V. 结论。摩亨佐达罗遗址中发现了一些骨骸，表明这座城市的毁灭发生的突然，很可能是印度雅利安人的入侵所致。因此，这一文明还有很多地方需要了解。印章上和石碑上仍未被破译的象形文字仍然是一大谜团。这种文字与同时期的所有文字似乎都没有明显的关联。

最后，人们最近在果德迪吉（Kot Diji）和阿姆里考古发掘时，发现了一处印度河流域文明遗址，这一文明比摩亨佐达罗遗址和哈拉帕遗址的文明还要早，而且与这两大文明不同。这些考古发现仍在研究之中，目前只发表了关于这些考古发现的初步研究报告，但是这些发现有望为了解摩亨佐达罗文明和哈拉帕文明的开端提供线索，它们与这些早期文明的联系也为学者提供了启示。

armies of Assyria, Babylonia, Egypt, Hatti, Israel, Philistia, and Ugarit were served well by their archers, as is attested both by written documents and by pictorial representations. Both the infantries and the cavalries of these ancient Near Eastern nations were well staffed by trained and experienced archers.

Curiously enough the OT gives very little information with regard to the status, training, or even employment of archers in Israel. Except for Jonathan in 1 S. 20, most of the archers mentioned are of foreign armies: Philistines who killed Saul (1 S. 31:3; 1 Ch. 10:3); archers of the city Rabbah who killed Uriah the Hittite with one of their arrows (2 S. 11:24); a Syrian archer who hit Ahab (1 K. 22:34); and the Egyptian archer who killed Josiah (2 Ch. 35:23). Only by way of inclusion in a genealogical account are we apprised of the existence of archers (RSV “bowmen”) in Israel (1 Ch. 8:40). We have some indirect hints about the archer’s importance in the nation: David’s lament over Saul (2 Sa. 1:17ff.) was apparently used to teach the men of Judah the bow (RSV mg of 1:18). The RSV has chosen to emend this passage on basis of a Greek text; the lectio difficilior would suggest the MT reading. Furthermore, the virility and manliness of the archer is evident in the imagery of the psalmist, wherein the archer’s equipment becomes the symbol of great fertility (Ps. 127:3–5).

Both Isaiah and Jeremiah picture the weakness of a nation in terms of a lack of, or inability on the part of, its archers (Jer. 51:3; Isa. 21:17). A would-be conqueror is required to “summon

近东国家的步兵和骑兵队伍中都配有训练有素、战争经验丰富的弓箭手。

奇怪的是，《旧约》中对以色列弓箭手的地位、训练和雇佣制度几乎没有任何的记载。只有《撒母耳记上》20章在记述约拿单的事迹时提到了弓箭手，但是这些弓箭手都来自外国的军队，如，非利士弓箭手射死了扫罗（撒上 31:3；代上 10:3）；拉巴城的弓箭手一箭射杀了赫人乌利亚（撒下 11:24）；以色列弓箭手重伤了亚哈（王上 22:34）；埃及的弓箭手杀死了约西亚（代下 35:23）。只有当人们查阅族谱中的描述时，才知道以色列也有弓箭手（《修订标准译本》中作“bowmen”）（代上 8:40）。我们可以看到一些关于弓箭手对这个民族的重要性的间接暗示：大卫为扫罗作的哀歌（撒下 1:17 起）显然是在教犹大王国的士兵拉弓（《修订标准译本》1:18 旁注）。《修订标准译本》根据希腊译本对这段经文进行了修订；《马所拉文本》中的这段经文有一些较困难的读音。此外，诗篇作者心目中的弓箭手英姿飒爽，充满了男子汉气概，而弓箭手手中的箭也成了生育力强的象征（诗 127:3-5）。

以赛亚和耶利米都认为，如果一个国家缺少弓箭手或弓箭手无能，也就意味着这个国家国力弱（耶 51:3；赛 21:17）。每一次征战前都要“招集弓箭手”（耶 50:29），这样才能在战争中获胜。雅各

är'kə-vīts [Heb. K'arkāwē, Q'ark^ewāyē'] (Ezr. 4:9, AV). One of the tribes transplanted by Ashurbanipal (Asnapper, Osnapper) to swell the mixed multitudes in the cities of Samaria. The word is taken as a gentile and generally identified with ERECH.

ARCHI

är'kī (Josh. 16:2, AV). See ARCHITE.

är-kip'əs [Gk. Archippos] (Col. 4:17; Philem. 2). Probably a member of Philemon’s family circle who held some official position in the church. He is addressed by Paul as “our fellow soldier” (Philem. 2). The tradition that he was one of the seventy disciples, became bishop of Laodicea, and later became a martyr, seems to have little historical foundation. See also APPHIA.

ARCHITE

är'kīt [Heb. hā'arkī]; AV pl. ARCHI (Josh. 16:2). A member of a Benjaminite clan, notably David’s friend HUSHAI (2 S. 15:32; 16:16; 17:5, 14; 1 Ch. 27:33). The clan is also mentioned in connection with the marking of the southern boundary of

ARCHEVITES 亚基卫人

音译：är'kə-vīts【希伯来语 K'arkāwē, Q'ark^ewāyē'】（拉 4:9，《钦定版圣经》）。亚述巴尼拔（亚斯那巴）将亚基卫人迁徙至撒玛利亚，这一行动增加了这一多民族城市的人口。本词指的是一个民族，也就是人们通常所说的以力人（见 ERECH[以力]）。

ARCHI 亚基人

音译：är'kī（《钦定版圣经》，书 16:2）。见 ARCHITE（亚基人）。

ARCHIPPUS 亚基布

音译：är-kip'əs【希腊语 Archippos】（西 4:17；门 2）。他可能是腓利门家族的成员，并且在教会中承担一定的圣职。保罗称他为“与我们同当兵的”亚基布（门 2）。传说他是七十门徒之一，是老底嘉的主教，并且后来成为殉道者，但似乎没有任何历史依据可以加以证明。另见 APPHIA（亚腓亚）。

ARCHITE 亚基人

音译：är'kīt【希伯来语 hā'arkī】；《钦定版圣经》中这个词复数形式是 ARCHI（书 16:2）。便雅悯支派的一个代表人物就是大卫的朋友亚基人户筛（撒下 15:32；16:16；17:5，14；代上 27:33）。在描述约瑟所得之地南部边界时也提

ARCHITECTURE.

Near Eastern archeology has uncovered many palaces, temples, private houses, walls, city gates, and fortifications. Egypt, Mesopotamia, Persia, Greece, and Rome had well-developed architectural traditions. So dependent upon these arts and skills was Israel that it is debatable whether one can properly think of a distinctive Israelite architecture (S. Moscati, Face of the Ancient Orient [Eng. tr. 1960], p. 264).

"What the Hebrews were forbidden to make with their hands they made with words." This oft repeated aphorism is applicable, as in other areas of culture, to architecture in the Bible. The words "architecture" and "architect" do not occur in the OT or in the NT. The literature shows little concern with the aesthetics of building in general, no awareness of styles that are so characteristic of architecture in other cultures, and no detailed consideration of construction techniques.

The land offered the builder materials that were useful for such basic structures as houses, walls, and gates. On the other hand, it would appear that none of the available raw materials (mainly stone or wood) by its inherent beauty or excellence challenged the artist to creative experimentation, again in

ARCHITECTURE. 建筑风格、建筑学

考古人员在近东考古时,发掘出许多宫殿、神庙、私人住宅、墙体、城门和城堡的遗址。埃及、美索不达米亚、波斯、希腊和罗马的建筑艺术非常发达。以色列的建筑非常依赖上述地区的建筑艺术和建筑工艺,因此人们一直对以色列的建筑是否有其独立的风格存在争议 (S. Moscati, Face of the Ancient Orient [1960 年英文译本], 264 页)。

“希伯来人用他们被束缚的手创造了文字。”这句格言除了可以用在其他文化领域,也经常用在《圣经》建筑领域。《旧约》或《新约》中被没有出现“建筑”或“建筑师”这样的词汇。一般来说,《圣经》不太关注建筑美学,也没有意识到在其他文化中,建筑风格是建筑文化的显著特征,更没有对建筑技巧进行仔细地斟酌。

contrast to the experience of neighboring peoples. The people of the Bible did engage in building from the time of entry into Canaan, but the archeologically known remains support the literature in the conclusion that the performance was unpretentious and unprofessional, the main wall form being of home-dressed stones laid in mortar by common laborers. When the Hebrew author sought to describe a different form of building from that to which he was accustomed, he wrote of the substitution of “brick for stone and slime for mortar” (Tower of Babel, Gen. 11:3). The regular result was walls of rubble stone, sometimes reinforced by long stones and, if desired, sealed outside and in with mud mortar. Incidentally, it would be difficult for any save perhaps a professional thief (Mt. 6:20) visually to distinguish a house wall built of stone covered with mud from a house wall built of mud bricks or adobe. Indicative of Israel’s pre-Davidic building is “Gibeah of Saul” (1 S. 15:34, i.e., Tell el-Fûl) with its massive stone walls and towers, a castle rather than a royal palace. W. F. Albright remarks, “Saul was only a rustic chieftain, as far as architecture and the amenities of life were concerned” (FSAC, p. 292).

The technique of using waterproof lime plaster, Albright holds, was developed in Palestine at precisely the time Israel was populating the previously unusable hill country (AP, p. 113). There may be a relation between this observation and the fact that aqueducts and water systems demonstrate most clearly the engineering skills of biblical builders. Hezekiah’s tunnel at Jerusalem and the pool at Gibeah would be illustrations. Neither is ornamented or decorated as one might expect of architecture but each demonstrates, as a piece of engineering, forethought and precise planning.

Until the Persian period, when the vault and arch were introduced to Palestine, roofing was done simply with timber or stone beams laid from wall to wall or supported by interior columns, usually wooden. As Nelson Glueck discovered at Ezion-geber, the rough boards supported brush into which clay had been impacted by rolling, the whole being covered over with a layer of stone chips. The roofs of Jerusalem, being covered with white limestone chippings, must have reflected sun by day and moon by night, thus adding attractiveness to the city.

Recent excavation has shown that in the Iron Age (as at Lachish, Gezer, Mizpah, Megiddo, Hazor) Palestinian builders gave thought and effort to making efficient and defensible city gates. Here human requirements for the military guards and “judiciary” at the city gate, as well as a certain feeling for symmetry and proportion, are in evidence. In the city gates is to be found the earliest finely dressed and deliberately laid masonry in styles borrowed from the Phoenicians. Is it simply coincidence that during the same period there came into being the Bible’s most famous buildings, those of the Jerusalem “suburb” Solomon developed around the site of the tabernacle?

1 Kings 5–8 tells of the building of Solomon’s temple, his palace, and the other state buildings erected simultaneously in the same location, with much the same materials and by the same Phoenician craftsmen. From the accounts as we have them no assuredly accurate reconstruction is possible. They are not primarily concerned with architectural terms of detail. Yet by coupling the texts as understood by competent linguists with what is known by archeological investigation, it is possible to indicate the main arrangements and proportions of at least the temple. Neither text nor archeological discoveries give the same opportunity for a reconstruction of the other buildings—palace, Hall of Cedars, etc.

最近考古发掘结果显示，在铁器时代（如在拉吉、基色、米斯巴、米吉多和夏琐这些城市）巴勒斯坦的建筑者精心设计了坚固耐用的城门。人们要求城门不仅拥有军事防御功能，还要承载司法机构的功能，同时在建筑风格上还要讲究对称性和均衡性。在城门处可以看到装饰精美和设计巧妙的最早石造建筑，这种建筑风格是学自腓尼基人。同一时期，所罗门在会幕的周围建造了《圣经》中最著名的建筑——耶路撒冷的“近郊住宅”，难道这仅仅是巧合？

《列王纪上》5至8章中提到了所罗门的圣殿、宫殿和其他官式建筑，它们是同一时期由腓尼基工匠用相同的材料在同一地点建造的。根据经文中的描述，我们不可能精确地还原这些建筑。经文不太注重建筑细节的描述。但是，

根据出色的语言学家对经文的理解，再结合考古调查结果，我们至少弄清楚圣殿的主要格局和面积大小。但是学者们却无法根据经文或考古发现还原所罗门宫殿和黎巴嫩林宫等其他建筑。

Reconstruction of Solomon's temple by C. F. Stevens from specifications by W. F. Albright and G. E. Wright (Biblical Archeologist)

根据奥尔布赖特和赖特的详细描述，史蒂文斯 (C. F. Stevens) 还原了所罗门的圣殿。(Biblical Archeologist)

What is demonstrated by such a work as the Howland-Garber model reconstruction of Solomon's temple (1950) is that the sanctuary, as described in the Bible and illustrated by archeological findings relevant to the early Iron Age, architecturally belongs to its age. The "style" or fashion of building temples in the Middle East was followed. The raised basement, the two columns, the "liwan" porch, the two rooms of the house arranged lengthwise, and the appended storage chambers are all features that can be observed in recently excavated temples at Shechem, Hazor, and Arad. Some innovations, as the lavish use of bronze, reflecting Solomon's vast economic interests in this and other metals, may have been included. But by and large, for the "house of Yahweh" the Phoenician builders who worked under Solomon's sponsorship employed that sort of architecture with which they were familiar, including the form of cherub, the proto-Ionic capitals for the holy-place pilasters, the Egyptian streamlined cornice, the bulls, the repeated symbolism of the pomegranates, the lotus plant, and blossom. It was by contributions to the temple's significance, and these of a nonmaterial sort, that the Hebrews over a period of nearly four centuries made the temple a national symbol of their own particular religious faith and devotion.

Other Hebrew kings who were noteworthy for their building accomplishments include Asa (1 K. 15:23), Baasha (15:17), Omri (16:24), Ahab (16:23; cf. the excavations at Samaria), Hezekiah (2 K. 12:11; cf. the Siloam tunnel and inscription), and Jehoiakim (Jer. 22:14; 36:22). After the return from Exile the Jewish community's poverty made possible only the most modest repair of the walls and construction of a temple (Ezr. 3:8; 5:8; Neh. 2:8).

Near the end of the divided kingdom, Persian influences appear. Architecturally interesting in this connection is the governor's residence at Lachish, a building distinguished for its long chamber with an impressive vaulted roof whose stones were laid in diagonal lines. Thus inner supports were eliminated and a roof of unusual appearance in Palestine was produced.

Second only to Solomon as a builder mentioned in the Bible was Herod, who as an Idumaeon had had a detailed introduction to Greco-Roman decorative arts. The Maccabees before him had responded in one degree or another to the Greco-Roman influences as mediated to them through Syria. Excavations tend to reveal a greater influence than the literature suggests. “Huge Roman-type buildings appeared in Palestine, undoubtedly employing the newly invented Roman concrete” (WBA, p. 243). Herod’s building activities according to Josephus (Ant.xv.7ff.) included rebuilding Samaria/Sebaste, the new city of Antipatris, a palace and a tower near Jericho, a Pythian temple on the island of Rhodes, aid to Caesar Augustus in building Nicopolis near Actium in western Greece, and providing the broad, paved and colonnaded main street of Antioch in Syria. Certainly one of Herod’s chief accomplishments as a builder, even beyond the spectacular, remote fortress-palaces of Alexandria, Herodium, and Masada, was the creation of Caesarea Maritima, a place named in honor of Caesar Augustus and so closely resembling the ideal of a Greco-Roman city that the Procurators made it their provincial political capital. What Herod contributed to the Jerusalem temple during the long years (Jn. 2:20; Josephus BJ v.5) of his efforts is not known in detail. It may be surmised that the architecture generally followed Greco-Roman models as suggested by the rock-cut tombs of the Jerusalem area and perhaps, as Muehsam’s study suggests, by ancient Jewish coins. The provisions and appearance of the Herodian constructions may be projected by impressions drawn from the earlier mausoleum at ‘Arâq el-Emir as well as from the later synagogues of Capernaum and Dura-Europus.

建筑上有所建树的其他以色列王包括：亚撒（王上 15:23）、巴沙（王上 15:17）、暗利（王上 16:24）、亚哈（王上 16:23；参：撒玛利亚发掘）、希西家（王下 12:11；参：西罗亚水道和碑文）和约雅敬（耶 22:14；36:22）。出埃及之后，贫穷的犹太百姓只能承担起简单地维修墙体和建造神殿的费用（拉 3:8；5:8；尼 2:8）。

文献中描述的影响大得多。“巴勒斯坦出现了大型的罗马式建筑，毫无疑问，这里的建筑也采用了罗马人新发明的混凝土” (WBA, 243 页)。约瑟夫斯认为希律王的建筑活动包括：重建撒玛利亚（瑟巴斯特）；新建安提帕底；在耶利哥附近修建一座宫殿和高塔；在罗德岛建造阿波罗神庙；帮助奥古斯都在希腊西岸的阿克兴角附近建造尼哥波城；在叙利亚的安提阿铺设宽阔的大街，街道两侧还建有柱廊 (Ant.xv.7 起)。希律王在偏远地区建造了亚历山大堡、希律堡、马察达等壮观的城堡式宫殿，除此之外，他还修建了凯撒利亚玛理提马城，这个名字是为了纪念凯撒·奥古斯都而取的，这座城市与一座理想的希腊罗马城市（古罗马地方财政官的政治中心）非常相似。希律王历时数十年修建了圣殿（约 2:20；Josephus BJ v.5），但是具体建造圣殿的细节却无人知晓。根据耶路撒冷出土的石墓和穆耶萨姆（Muehsam）对古犹太硬币的研究推测，这座圣殿主要通常遵循希腊罗马的建筑风格。在阿拉吉埃米尔（‘Arâq el-Emir）发掘出的早期陵墓以及迦百农和杜拉欧罗普斯出土的晚期的犹太会堂有可能为了解希律建筑的材料和外观提供了一些参考。

In architecture as otherwise, the literature and the remains indicate that Palestine was no backwoods, isolated province but rather a forum for worldwide exchange of knowledge and techniques as well as of ideas.

除了建筑，文献和遗迹都表明巴勒斯坦这里不是一片荒蛮、孤立的土地，而是世界各地的知识、技艺和思想交流之所。

关于这座山的命名有两种说法。第一种说法认为, 它因为战神阿瑞斯而得名, 阿瑞斯因杀死海神波塞冬的儿子哈利罗提奥斯而在这座山上受审; 因此《使徒行传》17:22 称这座山为马尔山(阿瑞斯就等同于罗马战神马尔山)。第二种说法认为亚略巴古的意思“诅咒之山”(hill of the Arai)。诅咒之神(Arai)也就是人们通常所说的复仇三女神, 他们肩负着为死者复仇的使命。如果这种说法成立, 那么第一种说法也成立, 因为亚略巴古正是审判杀人犯(阿瑞斯)的地方。此外, 山脚下的一个山洞中供奉着这些女神的神龛。三女神的另外两

the place where cases of homicide were tried. Moreover, at the foot of this hill there is a cave wherein the shrine of these goddesses was located. The goddesses are also known by the names Semnai and Erinyes. Pausanias of Sparta tells of a tradition that the first trial on the Areopagus was that of Orestes, whom the goddesses cursed and pursued relentlessly for the murder of his own mother, Clytemnestra.

个名字是塞谟奈和厄里倪厄斯。斯巴达旅行家鲍桑尼亚（Pausanias）也讲述了一种传说：第一个在亚略巴古接受审判的人是俄瑞斯忒斯，他因杀死自己母亲吕泰涅斯特拉而遭到复仇女神的诅咒和纠缠，不得安宁。

The Areopagus, meeting place of the council before whom Paul preached at Athens (W. S. LaSor)

元老委员会在亚略巴古开会，保罗曾在这里教导雅典人。（W. S. LaSor）

A staircase hewn out of the rock leads to the summit of this hill (which is about 370 ft. [113 m.] high), where traces of benches are visible forming three sides of a square, also cut out of the stone. At one time, two white stones were also there, upon which the defendant and his accuser stood. They were named “The Stone of Shamelessness” and “The Stone of Pride,” respectively.

石头刻出的楼梯一直通向山顶（高约370英尺[113米]），石刻长凳的遗迹依然可见，这些长凳围成了正方形的三面。这里还曾有两块白色石头，原告和被告在审判时就站在这两块石头上。这两块石头分别被叫作“无耻之石”和“尊严之石”。

The name of the hill was given later to the council whose meetings were held upon it. The council of the Areopagus retained this name even when its meetings were transferred from the hill to the Royal Stoa, which should, perhaps, be identified with the stoa of Zeus Eleutheros in the agora. It is suggested that the council met at times on the Acropolis as well. The council of the Areopagus was similar to a council of elders, and was subject to the king of Athens. It was very influential in the formation of the aristocracy. Aristotle (Pol. viii.2) describes the scope of its power as including the appointment to all offices, the work of administration, and the right to punish all cases. Through the reforms of Solon (594 B.C.) the authority of the Areopagus was greatly limited, though the council did maintain jurisdiction in cases of conspiracy against the state. During the time of Pericles its functions were mainly those of a criminal court. Further transfers of its functions to the Boule, the Ecclesia, and the Popular Court of Law detracted from the prestige of the court, though it retained jurisdiction in cases of homicide. Under Demosthenes it recaptured some of its power and was able to annul the election of certain officers. In times of Roman domination the council of the Areopagus concerned itself with cases of forgery, maintaining correct standards of measure, supervision of buildings, and matters of religion and education. The Areopagus was the court where Socrates met his accusers.

The apostle Paul was brought to the Areopagus by certain Epicureans and Stoics who wished to hear more of his teaching about Jesus and the Resurrection. Since the name Areopagus may be applied to the hill or to the council, there is an ambiguity which has given rise to debate as to whether Paul spoke publicly on the hill or was examined for his religious teaching before the council. Ramsay (SPT) rejected the view that they took Paul to the summit of the Areopagus in an effort to find a more suitable place for him to address the crowd. He considers that pride would have prevented the Athenians from asking Paul, a despised person, to address them in such an honored locality. Furthermore, he asserts that the language of the text will not allow it, for one cannot stand “in the midst of the hill.” It is likely that Paul was examined by the council on account of the religious tenets he was proclaiming. The control the council exercised over public instruction is illustrated by Plutarch’s statement with respect to Cratippus the peripatetic, that Cicero “got the court of Areopagus, by public decree, to request his stay at Athens, for the instruction of their youth, and the honor of their city” (Plutarch Cicero 24.5). Although it is recognized that the council met in various places, its common practice to convene on the hill from which it took its name makes plausible the position of Wright and certain others who consider that Paul stood before the council on the hill of the Areopagus.

伊壁鸠鲁和斯多亚两门的某些学士想要了解更多关于耶稣和耶稣复活的道，因此他们把使徒保罗带到了亚略巴古。由于亚略巴古这个名字既可以指亚略巴古山，也可以指议会，这种模糊的表达引起了人们的争论，有人认为保罗在亚略巴古山上向众人传播福音，也有人

ar'ə-təs [Gk. Haretas—'virtuous, pleasing' < hāriṭat, found on Nabatean inscriptions]. A common name among Arabian rulers, mentioned in the Apocrypha, in the NT, and in Josephus.

1. An Arabian king who accused (Gk. and NEB "imprisoned") Jason, causing him to become a fugitive (2 Macc. 5:8). He was a contemporary of Antiochus Epiphanes (ca. 170 B.C.).

2. An Arabian prince surnamed Obodas, who defeated Antiochus Dionysius and reigned over Coele-Syria and Damascus (Josephus Ant. xiii.15.2; 16.2; xvi.9.4). He participated with Hyrcanus in the war for the Jewish throne against his brother Aristobulus; but the allies were completely defeated at Papyron by Aristobulus and Scaurus, the Roman general. Scaurus carried the war into Arabia and forced Aretas to make an ignominious peace, at the price of 300 talents of silver. Of that event a memorial denarius still exists; one side shows a Roman chariot in full charge while the other has a camel by the side of which a kneeling Arab holds out a branch of frankincense.

3. Aretas IV, the successor of Obodas, apparently surnamed Aeneas; the Arabian king who figures in the NT (2 Cor. 11:32; cf. Acts 9:24). He was the father-in-law of Herod Antipas, who divorced his wife to marry Herodias, the wife of his brother Philip (Mt. 14:3; Mk. 6:17; Lk. 3:19).

ARETAS 亚哩达

音译：ar'ə-təs 【希腊语 Haretas—'virtuous, pleasing'（善良的、讨人喜欢的）衍生自 hāriṭat，纳巴泰石碑上发现了这个名字】。阿拉伯统治者常用的一个名字，经常出现在《次经》、《新约》和约瑟夫斯的著作中。

1、阿拉伯国王亚哩达指控（希腊语和《新英文译本》中为“imprisoned”[囚禁]）耶孙，致使后者成为了逃亡者（马二 5:8）。他是与安提阿古·伊皮法尼同时期的历史人物（约公元前 170 年）。

2、另一个姓奥保达的阿拉伯王，他战胜了安提阿古·狄奥尼修斯，统治了基利叙利亚和大马士革。（Josephus Ant. xiii.15.2; 16.2; xvi.9.4）。在争夺犹太王位的战争中，他与许尔堪一同反对其兄弟亚利多布，但是亚利多布和罗马将军斯考卢斯在帕皮伦（Papyron）彻底打败了二人同盟，同时将战争引到了阿拉伯，迫使亚哩达签订屈辱的和约，以 300 公斤银子的代价换来了和平。罗马的一枚纪念币上仍记载着这一事件，纪念币的一面是一个勇往直前的罗马战车，另一面是一只骆驼，骆驼旁边跪着一个阿拉伯人，他手里向前举着一束乳香。

3、奥保达的继承人是亚哩达四世，显然他的姓氏是以尼雅，他是《新约》中一位阿拉伯王（林后 11:32；参：徒 9:24）。这个亚哩达是希律安提帕的岳父，希律休了他的妻子，娶了他兄弟腓力的妻子希罗底（太 14:13；可 6:17；路 3:19）。

leading up to and following the conduct of Antipas. Coupled with a boundary dispute, it occasioned a bitter war between the two princes, in which Antipas was completely overwhelmed, and thereupon invoked the aid of the Romans. Tiberias ordered Vitellius, proconsul of Syria, to make war on Aretas and to deliver him dead or alive into the hands of the emperor. On the way, at Jerusalem, Vitellius received intelligence of the death of Tiberius, Mar. 16, A.D. 37, and stopped all warlike proceedings.

According to 2 Cor. 11:32, Damascus, which had formerly belonged to the Arabian princes, was again in the hands of Aretas when Paul escaped from it, not immediately after his conversion, but on a subsequent visit, after his Arabian exile (Gal. 1:16f.). It is inconceivable that Aretas should have taken Damascus by force in the face of the almost omnipotent power of Rome. Moreover, the picture that Josephus draws of the Herodian events points to a passive rather than an active attitude on the part of Aretas. The probability is that the new emperor Caligula, wishing to settle the affairs of Syria, freely gave Damascus to Aretas, inasmuch as it had formerly belonged to his territory.

As Tiberius died in A.D. 37, and as the Arabian affair was completely settled in 39, it is evident that the date of Paul's conversion must lie somewhere between 34 and 36. This date is further fixed by a Damascus coin, with the image of King Aretas and the date 101. If that date points to the Pompeian era, it equals a.d. 37, making the date of Paul's conversion A.D. 34 (T. E. Mionnet, Description des

根据《哥林多后书》11:32 描述，大马士革之前被阿拉伯王占领，此时再次回到了亚哩达王手中，保罗从这里逃离之后并没有立即归信，保罗是从阿拉伯流亡回到这里之后才归向主的（加 1:16-17）。面对几乎不可战胜的罗马军队，难以想象亚哩达王是怎样以军事手段占领大马士革的。此外，从约瑟夫斯对希律事件的描述上来看，亚哩达在这件事情上是被动的而不是主动的。大概新皇帝卡利古拉想要解决叙利亚问题，所以主动将大马士革还给了亚哩达，因为这里本来就是该王的领土。

提比略于公元 37 年去世，公元 39 年阿拉伯问题最终完全解决，很明显保罗归信的时间应该介于公元 36 年至公元 34 年之间。大马士革出土的硬币更进一步证实了这一推断，因为硬币上有亚哩达王的画像和 101 的日期。如果 101 这个日期指的是庞培时期，那么就等同于公元 37 年，也就说明保罗在公元 34 年归信的（T. E. Mionnet, Description des médailles antiques grecques et romaines,

är'gob [Heb. 'argōb—'mound']. A district in northern Transjordan, apparently identified as the kingdom of Og in Bashan (Dt. 3:4). The name occurs four times in the OT, once with the definite article, "the Argob," and always preceded by Heb. hebel, "the measured region of [the] Argob."

ARGOB 亚珥歌伯

音译: är'gob【希伯来语: 'argōb—“高地”】。亚珥歌伯位于外约旦北部,也就是巴珊地噩的王国(申 3:4)。这个名字在《旧约》中出现四次,其中一次,该词前有一个定冠词(the Argob),这个词经常出现在希伯来词 hebel 后面,“亚珥歌伯地”。

When the Israelites were advancing from the wilderness to the crossing of the Jordan, they “turned and went up on the way to Bashan” (Dt. 3:1), where they were confronted by Og king of Bashan. When Og was defeated the land was allotted, and Jair the Manassite “took all the region of Argob, that is, Bashan, as far as the border of the Geshurites and the Maacathites, and called the villages after his own name, Havvoth-jair, as it is to this day” (3:14). In spite of the obvious clarity of the description, we are faced with difficulties that make positive identification all but impossible.

Judging from the words “as it is to this day,” Dt. 3:14 is a gloss. Furthermore, the reference to Havvoth-jair is problematical. Havvoth-jair, “the tent-villages of Jair,” were in Gilead, and are clearly distinguished from the cities of Bashan in 1 K. 4:13. It would of course be possible to assume that there were other Havvoth-jair in Bashan, but this needs further confirmation. The territory of the Geshurites and the Maacathites can be located with little hesitation on the eastern edge of the Jordan rift, stretching from Mt. Hermon on the north to the Yarmuk River on the south, and extending east to the plateau of Bashan, the boundary of which may have been the tributary of the Yarmuk that divides the region of Golan (Jaulan); the Maacathites occupied the northern part and the Geshurites the southern part. Hence we would assume that the district of Argob lay E of the Nahr er-Ruqqâd.

But there are other factors that must be taken into consideration. The Targum translates Argob by tarkônâ, reflected in the Gk. Trachôn from which is derived "Trachonitis," which is the modern el-Lejâ, a volcanic region about 30 mi. (50 km.) E of the Sea of Galilee. This region is clearly defined by natural characteristics resulting from the hardening of the lava flow. Moreover, the ruins of many cities have been discovered, leading earlier writers to find the sixty great cities of 1 K. 4:13 and Dt. 3:4. But if the meaning of Argob is indeed "clod" or "region of clods," i.e., arable land, this name does not fit the region of el-Lejâ. Turning again to the reference to "sixty great cities with walls and bronze bars" (1 K. 4:13) we find that Josephus locates these in Gaulanitis or Golan (Ant. viii.2.3), which lies W of the eastern border of the Geshurites and Maacathites as defined in Dt. 3:14. Further, ruins of "cities" or villages can be found in almost any district in northern Transjordan.

It is possible to read 1 K. 4:13 so as to make the district of Argob a portion of Bashan (this is not so easy to do in the other references): “to him the district of Argob, which is in the Bashan...” Possibly the solution to the problem is to be found in this direction, although we must not shut our eyes to the difficulties it raises with the other texts. The district of Argob is certainly in Bashan; it may be a synonym for Bashan, or it may be a part of Bashan. If the latter is to be accepted, we might suggest that portion of Bashan lying E of Nahr er-Ruqqâd and extending to Wâdī el-Ehreir or even to the edge of el-Lejâ.

处，他们的东部边界是约旦裂谷，他们的交界从北部的黑门山向南延伸至雅尔穆克河，从东部向西延伸至巴珊高原，这个边界可能就是雅尔穆克河支流围成的区域，这些支流分割了戈兰高地（佳兰地区）；玛迦人占据了北部地区，而基述人占领了南部地区。因此，我们认为亚珥歌伯地可能就位于鲁盖德河（Nahr er-Ruqqâd）东部。

其他的几个因素也必须加以考虑。《他尔根》将亚珥歌伯译为“tarkônâ”（“多山的”），体现在希腊语中则是“Trachôn”。“Trachonitis”（特拉可尼）这个词就源自 Trachôn，也就是现代的莱贾火山区（el-Lejâ），这一地区位于加利利海以东约 30 英里（50 公里）处，它是由岩浆流动时硬化形成的自然地貌。而且，考古发掘出的遗迹让早期的作家们找到了《列王纪上》4:13 和《申命记》3:4 中提到的 60 座大城。但是如果亚珥歌伯的意思的确是“土块”或“土块地区”，即，耕地，那么这个名字就不适用于莱贾地区。让我们再次将注意力转移到《列王纪上》4:13 中提到的“都有城墙和铜门的六十座大城”，我们发现约瑟夫斯认为这六十座大城位于高拉尼提斯地区或戈兰高地（Ant. viii.2.3），戈兰高地就位于《申命记》3:14 中所描述的基述人和玛迦人东部交界的西侧。而且，在外约旦北部地区随处可见“大城”或村庄的废墟。

根据《列王纪上》4:13 中经文，人们可

ARGOB AND ARIEH 亚珥歌伯和亚利耶

音译: är'gob, âr'ē-ə 【希伯来语 'argōb—“高地”，hā'aryēh】。《列王纪下》15:25 中出现的两个名字，《钦定版圣经》采纳了《马所拉文本》的译文，但是删除了《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》中的旁注。《修订标准译本》中旁注称应将这两个名字归入《列王纪下》15:29 中，这两个人可能是和比加一同背叛的密谋者，也可能是与比加辖一同被杀的卫士。

见 J. A. Montgomery, ICC (1951 年版), 在上引文中。

ARGUE; ARGUMENT 辩驳; 争论

【希伯来语: yākaḥ (伯 13:3; 15:3; 19:5; 40:2), rib (箴 25:9), šāpaṭ (箴 29:9; 赛 43:26), tōkaḥaṭ (伯 23:4); 希腊语:

dialégomai, dialogízomai, dialogismós (路 9:46), logismós (林后 10:5), logízomai (可 11:31), syztéō (可 8:11; 9; 14)】;《钦定版圣经》也译作 CONTEND (“争论”)、DEBATE (“辩论”)、DISPUTE (“辩论”)、IMAGINATIONS (“想象力”)、PLEAD (“辩护”)、QUESTION (“质疑”)、REASON (“说服”)、REPROVE (“谴责”);《新英文译本》也译为 BANDY (“争吵”)、DISCOURSE (“谈论”)、DISPUTE (“辩论”)、“go to law” (“打官司”)、“engage in discussion” (“争论”)、“hold discussions” (“讨论”)、SOPHISTRIES (“诡辩”)等。

The RSV uses “argue” to translate various Hebrew and Greek words whose contexts suggest spirited controversy (Mk. 9:14). Most instances indicate an attempt to prove oneself right (Isa. 43:26), the very meaning of the causative form of yāqah. Dialégomai, frequently used of Paul’s “arguing” in the Diaspora synagogues (Acts 17:2, 17; 18:4, 19; 19:8f.), does not refer to public debates but to religious discourses (Bauer, p. 184; cf. Acts 24:25, NEB). The LXX used dialégomai as the primary translation for the intensive form of dābar, with the predominant meaning “say” or “speak.” A material parallel to Paul’s practice may be found in Jesus’ Sabbath teaching (Mk. 1:21 par.; see TDNT, II, 94f.). Similarly, dialogízomai probably indicates group reflection or discussion rather than argumentation (Mt. 21:25; Mk. 11:31). See also DISCUSSION.

如果希伯来和希腊词语的上下文语境中体现出激烈的争论,《修订标准译本》就用“argue”(辩论)一词翻译这些希伯来和希腊词语(可 9:14)。大多数例子中,使用这个词是想证明自己正确(赛 43:26),用的是 yāqah 的使动含义。当形容保罗在犹太人的会堂与犹太人“辩论”时,经常采用“Dialégomai”一词(徒 17:12, 17; 18:4, 19; 19:8-9),但是这个词语并没有公开争论的意思,它指的是宗教中的布道((Bauer, 184 页;参:徒 24:25,《新英文译本》)。《七十士译本》主要采用 dialégomai 一词翻译 dābar 的加强语气,其主要含义是“说”或“讲”。与保罗传道平行的经文是耶稣在安息日教训人(可 1:21 平行经文;见 TDNT, II, 94-95)。同样, dialogízomai 可能指的是集体反思或集体讨论,而不是指争论(太 21:25; 可 11:31)。另见 DISCUSSION (讨论)。

“Argument” is used in two senses. It may mean a dispute involving two or more people: “And an argument arose among them” (Lk. 9:46; cf. Prov. 29:9), or a reason advanced as proof of a position: "I would ... fill my mouth with arguments" (Job 23:4; cf. 19:5). The latter sense is probably in view when Paul speaks of destroying "arguments and every proud obstacle to the knowledge of God" (2 Cor. 10:5); they are the "sophistries" (NEB) of a reason which is earth-bound and devoid of spiritual enlightenment.

ARIARATHES

ar-ē-ə-rā'thēz [Gk. Ariarathēs] (1 Macc. 15:22). King of Cappadocia, 163–130 B.C. Educated in Rome, he imbibed Roman ideas and became a faithful ally of the Romans, in conformity with whose wishes he declined a proposal of marriage with the sister of Demetrius Soter. Demetrius declared war, drove Ariarathes from his kingdom, and set up Holophernes in his stead. He fled to Rome about 158, and through the good offices of the Romans succeeded in obtaining for himself a participation in the government of Cappadocia. Later he again became sole king.

In 139 B.C., as a result of an embassy sent by Simon Maccabeus, the Romans wrote letters to Ariarathes (1 Macc. 15:22) and other eastern kings in behalf of the Jews. See Diodorus xxxi.19, 28, 32; Polybius iii.5; xxxii. 20–30; xxxiii.12.

ARIMATH(A)EA

ar-ə-mə-thē'ə [Gk. Arimathaia]. "A city of the Jews," the home of Joseph, in whose sepulchre the body of Jesus was laid. The place is mentioned once in each Gospel (Mt. 27:57; Mk. 15:43; Lk. 23:50; Jn. 19:38). In the Davidic account, the home of Samuel is called Ramah (1 S. 19:19) and Ramathaim (1 S. 1:1), always with the definite article. Often the word is formed with he-directive ("toward Rama"), hence Heb. hārāmāṭā, which becomes in the LXX Gk. Armathaim. This agrees with the early identification of Arimathea and Ramathaim-zophim (cf. Eusebius Onom 144.28). Eusebius further identified Arimathea with Remphis, elsewhere called Remtis, probably the modern village of Rentîs, 9 mi. (14.5 km.) NE of Lydda (Lod). Arimathea is mentioned in 1 Macc. 11:34, and, as Ramatha, in Josephus Ant. xiii.4.9.

ARIOCH 亚略

音译：ar'eök 【希伯来语、亚兰语：'aryôk】。

1、亚略是以拉撒的诸侯王，他曾与以拦王基大老玛和示拿王暗拉非结盟攻打巴勒斯坦南部的五王，并与五王在西订谷交战（创 14:1, 9）。 five south Palestinian kings, routing them in the Valley of Siddim (Gen. 14:1, 9).

The identification of the name is uncertain, despite the attempts of earlier Assyriologists to connect Arioch with Eri-Aku (Warad-Sin) king of Larsa, and to regard Ellasar as the Hebrew form of al-Larsa. The name Arioch is evidently of Hurrian origin, and was found in the Mari correspondence as the name (Arriwuk) of the fifth son of Zimri-Lim, king of Mari ca. 1750 B.C. In the form Ar-ri-uk-ki this Hurrian cognomen also occurred in the Nuzi documents from the 15th cent. B.C. Thus the name, with slight variants, seems to have been in use somewhat frequently in the 2nd millennium B.C., and this fact alone should preclude a definite identification of any particular individual with Arioch.

The district over which Arioch ruled is also uncertain in locale and extent. While the Hebrew text spoke of it as “Ellasar,” 1QapGen favored kptwk, possibly a corruption of kptwr (Caphtor). Recent scholars have suggested Ilanzura, a city located between Carchemish and Harran, as comprising Ellasar.

2. Captain of the bodyguard of Nebuchadnezzar (Dnl. 2:14f., 24f.), who introduced Daniel to the king.

âr'ə-sī [Heb. ^a*risay*]. One of Haman's sons, slain by the Jews (Est. 9:9).

ARISTARCHUS

虽然早期的亚述学家将亚略这个名字与拉尔撒王埃里·阿库（月神之仆）联系在一起，并认为以拉撒就是“al-Larsa”的希伯来语形式，但是人们仍然无法确定这个名字的出处。显然这个名字起源于胡里安语，在马里信件中，亚略就是亚里——马里国王基姆利里姆的第五个儿子（约公元前 1750 年）。公元前 15 世纪的努斯文献中也出现了胡里安姓氏亚里（Ar-ri-uk-ki）。因此，虽然这个名字的拼写形式略有差异，但是，在公元前 2000 年这个名字频繁被人们使用，这也就排除了亚略专指某一个人的可能性。

人们也无法判断亚略统治的地点和范围。虽然希伯来语《圣经》提到亚略统治区域就是“以拉撒”，但是《创世记藏经》认为该地应该是“kptwk”（迦斐托），这个词有可能是“kptwr”（迦斐托）的一种拼写错误。近代学者认为迦基米施和哈兰之间的城市伊兰祖拉（Ilanzura）就包含了古代的以拉撒地区。

ar-is-tār'kəs [Gk. Aristarchos—‘best ruler’]. One of those faithful companions of the apostle Paul who shared with him his labors and sufferings. He is first mentioned along with Gaius as having been seized by the excited Ephesians during the riot stirred up by the silversmiths (Acts 19:29). They are designated “men of Macedonia, Paul’s companions in travel.” We learn later that he was a native of Thessalonica (20:4; 27:2). They were probably seized to extract from them information about their leader Paul, but when they could tell nothing, and since they were Greeks, nothing further was done to them.

We do not know when Aristarchus attached himself to Paul, but he seems to have remained in Paul’s company ever after the Ephesian uproar. He was one of those who accompanied Paul from Greece via Macedonia (20:4). Having preceded Paul to Troas, where they waited for him, they traveled with him to Palestine. He is next mentioned as accompanying Paul to Rome (27:2). There he attended Paul and shared his imprisonment.

He is mentioned in two of the letters of the Roman captivity, viz., Colossians (4:10) and Philemon (v. 24), in both of which he sends greetings. In the former Paul calls him “my fellow prisoner.” According to tradition he was martyred during the persecution by Nero.

虽然我们不知道亚里达古何时开始追随保罗,但是大概可以确定在以弗所骚乱之后他一直跟随着保罗。他与其他人曾陪伴保罗从希腊来到马其顿(徒 20:4)。他先于保罗到达特罗亚,并和其他人一起在那里等待保罗,他们一起去了巴勒斯坦。《使徒行传》27:2 中再次提到了他陪伴保罗去了罗马。他一直照顾保罗并且与保罗一起被囚禁。

保罗囚禁在罗马时写的两封书信中,也就是《歌罗西书》(西 4:10)和《腓利门书》(门 1:24)中都提到了亚里达古。保罗之前称他为“与我同坐监的”。据说,他后来遭到尼禄迫害成为了一名殉道者。

Pompey came to Palestine and supported the cause of Hyrcanus. Aristobulus was defeated and taken prisoner, and Hyrcanus was appointed ethnarch in 63 B.C. Aristobulus and his two daughters were taken to Rome, where he graced the triumph of Pompey. Aristobulus escaped later (56 B.C.) and appeared in Palestine again as a claimant to the throne. Many followers flocked to his standard, but he was finally defeated, severely wounded, taken prisoner a second time, and with his son Antigonus taken again to Rome. Julius Caesar not only restored him to freedom (49 B.C.), but also gave him two legions to recover Judea and to work in his interest against Pompey. [Heb. tēbâ; Gk. kibōtós] (Gen. 6:14ff.; Mt. 24:38; Lk. 17:27; He. 11:7; 1 Pet. 3:20). A vessel built by Noah at the command of God to preserve from the Flood a remnant of the human race and of the animals associated with man.

ARK OF NOAH 挪亚方舟

【希伯来语: tēbâ; 希腊语: kibōtós】(创 6:14-21; 太 24:38; 路 17:27; 来 11:7; 彼前 3:20)。为了让人类剩民和动物逃离洪水，挪亚按照神吩咐建造挪亚方舟。

The Hebrew word for the ark is related to the Egyptian ḏb't “chest,” “box,” “coffin,” and is used only to designate Noah’s vessel and the reed vessel in which the infant Moses was saved (Ex. 2:3, 5). The Greek term means “box,” “chest,” “coffin.” Accordingly, Heidel (p.

希伯来语中“方舟或约柜”的埃及语形式是 ḏb't (意思是“箱子”、“盒子”或“柜子”)，“ark”这个词一般指的是挪亚方舟或装幼年摩西的蒲草箱(出 2:3, 5)。希腊语中的“方舟或约柜”意思是“箱子”、“盒子”或“柜子”。海德(Heidel)认为方舟为“平底、长方形

235) proposes that the ark “was a flat-bottomed, rectangular construction, square on both ends and straight up on the sides. Such a craft is represented on bronze coins from the Phrygian city Apameia.”

The ark was made of GOPHER WOOD, coated inside and out with pitch, or bitumen, to make it watertight, and contained numerous unspecified cells or compartments (Gen. 6:14). The obscure Hebrew text of Gen. 6:16 is normally taken to mean that the ark had three stories, with a door in its side and probably an opening for light below the roof.

Reckoning the cubit at 17.5 inches, the ark was about 437.5 feet long, 72.92 feet wide and 43.75 feet high (Gen. 6:15), giving it, according to Whitcomb and Morris, a total deck area of 95,700 sq. ft. and a total volume of 1,396,000 cubic feet. This size should be contrasted with the much smaller size of ancient vessels, which seldom exceeded 150 to 200 ft. at the most, and with Utnapishtim’s unfloatable cubical vessel described in the Gilgamesh Epic.

The ark carried Noah, his wife, his three sons and their wives, every kind of animal dependent upon the earth for food, and the required amount of food. More precisely, there were seven of every clean animal—i.e., three pairs and probably one supernumerary for sacrifice after the termination of the Flood—and one pair of every unclean animal (Gen. 7:2f.). The instruction concerning the animals has raised both literary and logistical problems. The supposed clash between Gen. 6:19f. (cf. 7:8f.) and 7:2f. over “two

方舟是由“歌斐木”建造而成，方舟内外都抹上树脂或松香用来防水，舟体分成若干隔间或隔室，经文中对这些隔间未做详细说明（创 6:14）。希伯来语《圣经》中《创世记》6:16 描述不清，这段经文通常被解读为“方舟分为上、中、下三层，方舟的门要开在旁边，方舟上边要留透光处”。

以 1 肘相当于 17.5 英寸计算，它应该长 437.5 英尺，宽 72.92 英尺，高 43.75 英尺（创 6:15），根据惠特科姆（Whitcomb）和莫里斯（Morris）的统计，方舟的甲板总面积为 95,700 平方英尺，方舟的总体积为 1,396,000 立方英尺。古代船只的尺寸与之相比要小得多，它们的最大长度一般不会超过 150 至 200 英尺，他还和《吉尔伽美什史诗》（Gilgamesh Epic）中描述的乌特纳比西丁的立方形船形成鲜明对比，后者根本就漂浮不起来。

挪亚同他的妻和儿子、儿妇，都进了方舟，并载上了地上各种不同的动物和所需的食物。更准确的说，方舟内载有洁净的动物七公七母（即三对再加上可能留待洪水退去后献祭用的一只动物）和不洁净的动物一公一母（创 7:2-3）。关于动物的说明产生了文字上的出入和逻辑问题。《创世记》6:19-20（参：创 7:8-9）和《创世记》7:2-3 中的描述有所不同，一个是“一公一母”，另一个是“七公七母”，但是所谓的冲突性文字都是虚数；因为，第一处经文可能将“对”当成一个集合名词使用，所作的

by two” or “seven pairs” is imaginary; for the first set of passages, probably using “pairs” as a collective, is a general statement, while 7:2f. is specific. Logistical problems pertain (1) to the gathering of the animals, (2) to the capacity of the ark, and (3) to the caring for the animals. Concerning these objections Whitcomb and Morris plausibly suggest: (1) that the climate, and the geography and topography of the earth differed before the Flood, making it probable that representatives of each created kind of animal lived in that part of the earth when Noah was building the ark; (2) that according to the best estimates of modern taxonomy only 35,000 individual vertebrate animals need to have been on the ark, a number easily accommodated according to the stated dimensions; and (3) that the animals probably hibernated.

Persistent rumors of the discovery of the ark on the slopes of Mt. Ararat have never been confirmed.

Peter uses the salvation of the few persons in the ark as a type of the believers’ salvation in Christ (1 Pet. 3:20). Warning of the Flood was given 120 years beforehand (Gen. 6:3; 1 Pet. 3:20; 2 Pet. 2:5), during which time Noah, while preparing the ark, became a preacher of righteousness.

是整体性描述，而《创世记》7:2中所作的是详细的描述。关于（1）如何擒获这些动物，（2）方舟的容量，（3）如何在方舟上饲养这些动物等方面似乎存在一些逻辑问题。惠特科姆和莫里斯对此给出了一些貌似合理的解释：（1）洪水前后的气候、地形和地势有所差异，所以挪亚建造方舟时有可能从他的居住地捕捉到各动物；（2）根据现代分类学的最佳统计结果，方舟只需要承载35,000只脊椎动物，而方舟的尺寸足以容纳这些动物；（3）这些动物可能都有冬眠的习惯（不需要特殊的照料和饲养）。

彼得认为挪亚方舟对为数不多的人的拯救正是基督拯救信徒的一种方式（彼前3:20）。上帝曾在洪水爆发前120年提前警告人们洪水将至（创6:3；彼前3:20；彼后2:5），挪亚在此期间，一边筹建方舟，一边传播公义。

I. Biblical Data.-A. Pentateuch. Ex. 25:10–22 records the command to Moses to build an ark of acacia wood. Within this ark were to be placed the “testimony” (Heb. 'edūt), an apparent reference in this context to the tables of the law that God was about to give to Moses. Upon the top of the ark, probably not as a lid but above the lid, the mercy seat (Heb. kappōret; Gk. hilastērion, He. 9:5) was to be placed. This was a golden plate upon which two cherubim, with raised wings and facing each other, covered the ark. From the place between the two cherubim God promised to speak to Moses, and the whole structure was to be placed in the innermost room (holy of holies) of the tabernacle (Ex. 26:33).

In Deuteronomy the ark’s origin is the subject of a much abbreviated narrative, the command to build and its execution forming part of the account of Moses’ creation of the second two tablets of the

I. 《圣经》资料。A. 《摩西五经》。《出埃及记》25:10-22 中记载到，神命令摩西用皂荚木建造一柜子，并要将神赐予摩西的“法版”（希伯来语: 'edūt）放在柜里。在约柜上面不是一个盖子，而是一个施恩座（希伯来语: kappōret; 希腊语: hilastērion, 来 9:5），用金子锤出两个基路伯来，放在施恩座的两头，两个基路伯高张翅膀，脸对着脸，覆盖在约柜之上。上帝在两个基路伯之间吩咐摩西要将约柜放在会幕中最里面的房间内（至圣所里）（出 26:33）。

law (Dt. 10:1-5). Commentators have often pointed out that the parallel account in Exodus would be found in Ex. 33:1-6, and many have argued that following v. 6 there must originally have been a statement concerning the erection of the sacred ark. Adherents to the documentary theory hold that this material, which consists of E-document narrative interposed within the dominant P source for the legal prescriptions, was originally separate from the entire section on the tabernacle and its furnishings, and should therefore contain some record of the making of the ark. If the material is parallel to that in Dt. 10, however, it is not clear that the making of the ark should in fact be introduced in Ex. 33 rather than in Ex. 34, following the commandment to make two additional tablets of stone. What has given rise to the suggestion is not some kind of exact parallel with the Deuteronomic material, but rather the enigmatic nature of the reference to God's withdrawal in Ex. 33:1-6 and the subsequent apparent reversal of this action in vv 7ff. If the ark is the symbol of God's presence in Israel, it should logically figure in the narrative at some point; thus the attempt to match this narrative with that of Dt. 10.

A final reference of note is found in Nu. 10:33-36, in which appears the so-called Song of the Ark. This passage, considered to be very early by most critics, establishes the ark's position as accompanying Israel in its wilderness journeying. The "Song," which will be considered again below, seems to identify Yahweh and the ark in the closest possible fashion.

B. Historical Books. According to the 述(出 33:1-6), 有些人认为最初在《出埃及记》33:6 之后一定还有一段关于建立约柜的描述。这部分记载中包含了 E 底本中的内容, 也引入了 P 底本中的律法规定, 底本学说拥护者认为最初该段内容与描述会幕及其摆设的内容是分离的, 因此, 其中应该有约柜的记载。如果这些经文是与《申命记》10 章平行的经文, 但是, 人们还弄不清造约柜的描述究竟是应该出现在《出埃及记》33 章中, 还是在《出埃及记》34 章描述完神命令摩西凿出另外两块石板之后。之所以得出这样的启示, 并不是因为某些经文与《申命记》中的描述完全一致, 而是因为《出埃及记》33:1-6 中神秘地提到耶和华不与以色列人一同上去, 而后来在《出埃及记》33:7 中耶和华却又再次出现在摩西的会幕前。如果约柜象征着神在以色列人中间的临在, 那么从逻辑上讲经文中应该有所描述; 因此, 人们才试图将这段描述与《申命记》10 章中的经文匹配在一起来读。 narrative in Josh. 3 the ark cooperated at the crossing of the Jordan in such a way that the waters of the river ceased to flow as soon as the feet of the priests who were carrying the ark entered the water, and that they stood still above that point until these priests left the bed of the river. In the account of the solemn march around Jericho, which according to ch. 6 caused the walls of the city to fall, the carrying of the ark around the city is regarded as an essential feature in vv 4, 7, 11. In ch. 7 it is narrated that Joshua, after the defeat of the army before Ai, lamented and prayed before the ark. In 8:30–34 the ark is mentioned as forming the central focus for the assemblage of Israel on Ebal and Gerizim, an action reminiscent of the later assembly in Shechem (ch. 24) which contains, however, no record of the ark.

《民数记》10:33-36 在最后的经文中引出了约柜, 其中出现了所谓的“约柜赞歌”。大多数评论家认为这段经文的描述非常清晰, 说明在以色列人在旷野中行走时, 约柜一直陪伴着他们。关于这首“赞歌”, 下文中还会有所描述, 这首赞歌似乎在说约柜最能代表耶和华与他们同在。

B. 历史书。《约书亚记》3 章中描述了

Just where the ark was during the period of the judges is still a matter of some uncertainty. According to Josh. 18:1 the center of the amphictyony had moved to Shiloh during the time of Joshua, though the tent of meeting, not the ark, is mentioned in this connection. A brief reference in Jgs. 2:1 to a movement of “the angel of the Lord” from Gilgal to Bochim (LXX adds “unto Bethel”) has given rise to the idea that at least one tradition saw the ark in Bethel during the entire period. This, so the argument goes, is confirmed by the ark’s appearance in Bethel at the close of the period of the judges (Jgs. 20:18, 26–28), and the lack of mention of Shiloh in Jgs. 20. Such arguments are not entirely convincing when it is noted that Judges does, like Joshua, place the religious center of the amphictyony in Shiloh (18:31). Furthermore, the cult center is called the house of God (bēt ha'elōhîm) in that passage, and it is quite possible that the reference to Bethel (Heb. bēt-'ēl, “house of God”) in ch. 20 is also a reference to the ark or tent of meeting in Shiloh. Conversely, the ark could well have been resident in Shiloh but simply moved to Bethel for convenience at the battle, although 20:27 seems to indicate a period of general residence for the ark in that place. In view of the otherwise unbroken testimony to the ark’s presence in Shiloh (excepting only the LXX of Jgs. 2:1) it seems best to explain the Bethel reference by some means such as that suggested above.

约柜帮助以色列人过约旦河的事情：当抬约柜的祭司到了约旦河，脚一入水，约旦河水停住了，立起成垒，直到祭司过了约旦河，河水才重新流动。根据《约书亚记》6章的记载，当以色列人抬着约柜隆重地在耶利哥行走时，耶利哥的城墙倒塌了，提及抬着约柜绕城行走也是《约书亚记》6:4, 7 和 11 经文的一个基本特征。《约书亚记》7章中描述到，艾城兵败之后，约书亚在约柜前哀悼、祷告。《约书亚记》8:30-34 记载，以色列人聚集到以巴路山和基利心山上，站在到约柜两旁，这行为让人们联想到后来以色列人聚集在示剑（书 24:1-33），但是后一处经文中并没有提到约柜。

At the time of Eli the ark stood in the sanctuary at Shiloh (1 S. 3:3). It was taken from this place after Israel had been defeated by the Philistines at Ebenezer, in order to assure the help of Yahweh to the people, but instead of this the ark fell into the hands of the Philistines (ch. 4). The various misfortunes that then afflicted the Philistines induced them to regard the possession of the ark as a calamity (ch. 5), and they sent it back to Israel (ch. 6). It was taken first to Beth-shemesh in the border-country between Philistia and Judah and soon after to Kiriath-jearim about 7¹/₂ mi. (12 km.) NW of Jerusalem. There the ark remained for years (unless 1 S. 14:18 be an exception, but cf. the LXX where “ephod” is read in place of “ark”) in the house of a man named Abinadab, whose son was its guardian (7:1), until David had it removed to Mt. Zion after he had established his camp and court there. He placed it in a tent (see TABERNACLE) prepared for it (2 S. 6; 1 Ch. 16:1).

In David’s time the ark was taken again

可能指的就是示罗的约柜和会幕。相反，约柜很有可能被放在示罗，但是仅因为战争需要被转移到了伯特利，虽然《士师记》20:27 似乎是说在一段时间内约柜一直停在伯特利。鉴于有其他完整的证据表明约柜被放在示罗（《七十士译本》中士 2:1 除外），我们最好还是用类似于上文提到的原因来解释约柜为何出现在伯特利。

在以利时期，约柜放在示罗的耶和华殿内（撒上 3:3）。当以色列人在以便以谢被非利士人打败时，他们将约柜从耶和华殿抬出，好让耶和华救他们脱离敌人的手，但是，事与愿违，约柜反被非利士人掳去（撒上 4）。但是之后非利士人厄运不断，令他们认为占有约柜给他们带来了不幸（撒上 5:1-12），所以他们将约柜送还给以色列人（撒上 6）。约柜首先被送到了伯示麦，此地位于犹大和非利士人边界附近，不久之后被送到了耶路撒冷西北 7.5 英里（12 公里）的基列耶琳。约柜在亚比拿达的家中存放了多年（撒上 14:18 除外，但参考《七十士译本》，其中用“以弗得”一词取代了“约柜”），他的儿子负责看守耶和华的约柜（撒上 7:1）。大卫在锡安山扎营登基之后，将约柜转移到了锡安山，他在那里为约柜支搭帐幕（见 TABERNACLE[会幕]撒下 6；代上 16:1）。

into battle (2 S. 11:11). When David fled from Absalom the priests wanted to accompany him with the ark, but he sent it back (2 S. 15:24f.). David had also intended to build a temple in which the ark was to be located, since before this it had always found its resting-place in a tent. But God forbade this through Nathan, because He was willing to build a house for David, but unwilling that David should build one for Him (2 S. 7). Solomon then built the temple and placed the ark of the covenant in the holy of holies, where it was located under the wings of two mighty cherubim images (1 K. 8; 2 Ch. 5).

C. Prophetic and Poetic Books. Jer. 3:16 states that in the future new Jerusalem nobody will concern himself about the ark, nor make an attempt to rebuild it—presumably in view of the ark's loss or destruction in the collapse of the city in 586 B.C. Only one reference in the Psalms explicitly mentions the ark (Ps. 132), but recent study of this psalm in connection with 2 S. 6 has convinced commentators that there is a whole genre of praise literature properly associated with the ark narratives in Samuel. Even considering the excesses to which this kind of scholarship has tended in modern times, it is certainly reasonable to see in various references within the Psalms (e.g., 78:61; 26:8) allusions to the ark. One need not reorient Israel around an illusionary New Year's Festival to appreciate the enthronement nature of certain psalms and the reenactment of the ascent of the ark in connection with the liturgical celebration of the new king, or the ultimate position of Yahweh as the truly enthroned monarch of Israel. To say that the king and the ark were probably in close contact does not, however, justify claims that the ark was considered a repository for Yahweh or that the king represented Yahweh in a cultic reenactment. The Lord was from the beginning in heaven, although His presence was somehow implied in the possession of the little rectangular chest that figured so prominently in Israel's history and, undoubtedly, its worship as well.

(撒下 11:11)。当大卫逃离了押沙龙，祭司们想要抬着约柜追随大卫，但是大卫让他们把约柜抬进城去（撒下 15:24-25）。大卫想要为约柜建一座殿，因为之前约柜始终放在幔子里。但是神默示拿单禁止大卫为祂建造殿宇，因为祂必为大卫建造宫殿，却不希望大卫为祂建造殿宇（撒下 7）。后来所罗门建造了圣殿，并将约柜安置在圣所内，放在两个基路伯翅膀底下（王上 8；代下 5）。

C. 先知书和诗歌书。《耶利米书》3:16 中写到，在新的耶路撒冷，人们必不再提说耶和华的约柜，也不再建造新的约柜，这可能是由于公元前 586 年耶路撒冷被毁时，约柜随之遗失或被毁。《诗篇》中仅有一次明确地提到了约柜（诗 132），但是近来解经人将这一诗篇与《撒母耳记下》6 章放在一起研究后发现：有一种赞美文学的整体风格与《撒母耳记》中的约柜叙述相关联。虽然在现代社会，这样的学术广泛存在，但是基于《诗篇》中多处经文关于约柜的隐喻，人们仍有理由相信这种研究是合理的（如诗 78:61；诗 26:8）。人们不需要根据虚幻的新年重新定位以色列，从而理解某些《诗篇》中的登基仪式和约柜的重现，并认为它们与新王的祭典或耶和華是以色列的真正君王有关。以色列的王与约柜之间存在密切的联系，但是这并等于说耶和華就在约柜里，或者说这位君王在祭典上就代表着耶和華。我们的主一直在天堂之中，虽然这个狭小的柜子代表了他的同在，并在以色列的历史上，以及以色列人的宗教崇拜方面占据着显著的地位。

D. New Testament. In the NT the ark of the covenant is mentioned only in He. 9:4, in the description of the Jewish tabernacle, though a heavenly counterpart does appear in Rev. 11:19.

II. Form of the Ark.- The ark was a chest made of acacia wood, 2¹/₂ cubits long, 1¹/₂ cubits wide, and 1¹/₂ cubits high. That there are two widely varying traditions, whereby the ark is represented in the so-called P document as an elaborate golden shrine, and in the earlier narratives as a simple wooden chest, is not clear from the Scriptures themselves. The statement of Dt. 10:3 and the full account of instructions in Ex. 25 are in agreement so far as they go. Exodus, in addition to mentioning an acacia-wood chest, goes on to prescribe an overlay of gold within and without, and a molding of gold running all around. At the feet of the ark were to be four rings of gold for use with the gold-covered carrying staves. These staves are also mentioned in 1 K. 8:7f.; 2 Ch. 5:8f., while reference is often made to those who carried the ark (2 S. 6:13; 15:24). Such carefully crafted wooden chests with gold overlay are known from the time of Tutankhamen and earlier (ANEP, nos. 318, 548) and need cause no incredulity when set in the context of Israelite handiwork following the exodus from Egypt.

D. 《新约》。虽然《启示录》11:19中也提到了天上的殿中的约柜，但是《新约》中真正提到约柜，是在《希伯来书》9:4对犹太人的会幕的描述中。

II. 约柜的形状。约柜是由皂荚木制成的一个小箱子，2.5肘长，1.5肘宽，1.5肘高。P底本中说约柜是一个精致的金制神龛，而此前仅将约柜描述为一个木制的柜子，这两种传说相距甚远，而《圣经》中的描述也非常模糊。就目前来看，《申命记》10:3中的描述和《出埃及记》25章中的描述还算比较一致。《出埃及记》除了提到约柜由皂荚木制成的，还描述到约柜“里外包上精金，四周镶上金牙边”。柜的四角铸有四个金环，杠穿在柜旁的环内，以便抬柜。《列王纪上》8:7-8和《历代志下》5:8-9的经文中也经常提到这些杠，同时也经常提及抬柜的人（撒下6:13；15:24）。这种做工精细、外包精金的木柜子可以追溯到图坦卡蒙法老时期或更早时期（ANEP, 318, 548号），因此，毫无疑问，当以色列人出埃及时，他们已经掌握了制造这种柜子的工艺。

On top of the ark was the gold kappōret or “mercy-seat,” flanked by two gold cherubim (see CHERUBIM) with outstretched wings. In the later temple of Solomon the ark was placed between two much more massive cherub figures (1 K. 6:19, 23ff.; 8:6), a fact which does not prove that there were no cherubim on the ark itself, or even that those cherubim, which according to Ex. 25:19 were found on the ark, were nothing else than those of Solomon’s days transferred in imagination to an earlier period. Excavations from Syria-Palestine have uncovered a variety of symbolic winged creatures from the late 2nd and early 1st millennium B.C. (ANEP, nos. 644–659).

III. Contents.- Unbroken tradition in the pentateuchal narratives (including both the so-called P and D sources) affirms that from the beginning the ark served as a container for the tables of the law (Ex. 25:16; 40:20; Dt. 10:5; 1 K. 8:9). Arguments of older critics who felt that the receptacle concept of the ark was incompatible with the idea of the ark as a dwelling place or throne for Yahweh have now been set aside by evidence from the ancient Near East (cf. deVaux, p. 301) showing that the covenant or treaty was often placed beneath the feet of a god who served as witness to it. In similar form, the Ten Words form the basis for the covenant of which the ark was the symbol. Note that the common Deuteronomic term “ark of the covenant” is replaced in Exodus by the term “ark of the testimony,” similarly a reference to the tables of the law as covenant witnesses.

约柜上面是一个金制的“施恩座”(kappōret), 两侧放着两个张着的翅膀的金制基路伯(见 CHERUBIM[基路伯])。后来所罗门将约柜放在圣殿内两个更大的基路伯雕像之间(王上 6:19, 23起; 8:6), 但是这并不能证明约柜上没有基路伯的形象, 而且根据《出埃及记》25:19 中的描述, 约柜上有基路伯形象, 它们无异于所罗门时期的基路伯, 所罗门时期的人们根据早期的基路伯形象创造了他们自己的基路伯。叙利亚和巴勒斯坦发掘出大量带翅膀的象征物, 他们的时期可追溯至公元前 2000 年至 1000 年 (ANEP, 644 - 659 号)。

III. 柜中之物。根据《摩西五经》中延续下来的传说(包括所谓的 P 底本和 D 底本中的记载), 约柜从一开始就是用来存放法版的(出 25:16; 40:20; 申 10:5; 王上 8:9)。早期的评家们认为, 将约柜视为容器的想法与约柜是耶和华的圣所或王座的想法是互相矛盾的, 现在这一争议已经被古代近东地区的考古发现所化解(参: deVaux, 301 页), 有证据证明圣约就放在神明的脚下, 接受这位神的见证。同样, “十诫”构成了圣约的基础, 而约柜是圣约的象征。既然《出埃及记》中用“法柜”代替了《申命记》中常见的术语“约柜”, 也就说明法版同样是圣约的见证之物。

Relief of Torah shrine (ark of the law) from second-century A.D. Jewish catacomb at Beth Shearim (Consulate General of Israel in New York)

Additional objects within the ark were but two. According to Ex. 16:33f. a pot of manna was to be placed “before the Lord” or “before the testimony” as a witness throughout the generations. Nu. 17 furnishes evidence that Aaron’s rod was similarly placed “before the testimony,” this time as a sign for would-be rebels in Israel; and He. 9:4 confirms the tradition that the testimony spoken of in both passages was, or became, the law tablets within the ark of the covenant.

IV. Names.-Over twenty different designations appear with reference to the ark, and discerning any invariable pattern in usage is difficult. Certainly the long narratives of Exodus in which directions are given for the tabernacle favor the designation “ark of the testimony” or simply “the ark.” The so-called Deuteronomic term “ark of the covenant

除了法版之外，约柜之内只有另外两件东西。根据《出埃及记》16:33-34 中的记载，一个盛满吗哪的罐子存放在了“耶和华的面前”或“法柜前”，作为世世代代的见证。《民数记》17 章证明亚伦的杖同样放在“法柜前”，作为以色列人试图反叛的证据；《希伯来书》9:4 证明上面两段经文中所说的法柜就是（或后变成了）约柜中的法版。

IV. 约柜的名字。《圣经》中有 20 多种对约柜的不同命名，人们很难在经文中找到一个长久不变的称谓。当然，《出埃及记》中对会幕的长篇叙述给出了一些命名约柜的方法，如“法柜”或者简称其为“柜”。《申命记》中一律称其为“耶和华的约柜”，在《民数记》10:33-35 的古老“约柜赞歌”中也出现了这个名字（JE）。《约书亚记》、《撒母耳记》和 of the Lord” is uniformly used in Deuteronomy, but also appears in the very old “Song of the Ark” passage of Nu. 10:33–35 (JE). Joshua seems to use “ark of the covenant of the Lord” and “ark of the Lord” indiscriminately, as do the Samuel-Kings narratives, which add frequently the term “ark of God.” Some indication of the complexity of the problem is found in an examination of Josh. 4, where the ark is mentioned seven times. It is called the “ark of the Lord” (vv. 5, 11), the “ark of the covenant of the Lord” (vv. 7, 18), the “ark of the covenant” (v. 9), the “ark” (v. 10), and the “ark of the testimony” (v. 16). The last designation is especially significant, as it appears nowhere else outside of the pentateuchal narratives claimed for the P document, and is considered a clear mark of P.

V. Origin.-Nineteenth-century scholarship produced various suggestions concerning the ark’s origin, including the view that it was a shrine taken over by Israel from the Canaanites after the entry into Palestine. Another theory saw in the ark an ancient palladium of the tribe of Ephraim which was only at a later period recognized by all Israel. Contemporary scholarship recognizes that the Mosaic connection with the ark, deeply embedded in each of the traditions (cf. Ex. 25; Nu. 10:33–36; Dt. 10), must reflect the situation in the desert, confirming the Bible’s own testimony that the ark accompanied the children of Israel from Sinai onward.

VI. Significance.-The ark has been variously interpreted as (1) the extension or embodiment of the presence of Yahweh; (2) a war palladium of Israel’s

《列王纪》不加区别地使用“耶和华的约柜”、“耶和华的柜”两种称谓，后两本书中除此之外，还频繁地使用“神的约柜”一词。当人们仔细地查阅《约书亚记》4章的经文时，他们会发现约柜的称谓极为复杂，在该段经文中约柜一词共出现了7次。它被称作“神的约柜”（书4:5, 11）、“耶和华的约柜”（书4:7, 18）、“约柜”（书4:9）、“柜”（书4:10）和“法柜”（书4:16）。最后一个称谓极为重要，因为《摩西五经》中只有《申命记》引用了祭典（P）中的这一称谓，“法柜”这一称谓带有明显的P底本印记。

V. 起源。19世纪的学者对于约柜的起源有多种意见，其中一个观点认为在以色列人进入巴勒斯坦之后，他们接管了迦南人的这一神龛。另一种推测认为约柜是古代以法莲支派的守护神，后来以色列人也接受了这一守护神。当代学者认为摩西与约柜的关系深植于《圣经》中的传统之中（参：出25；民10:33-36；申10），这一关系必然反映出以色列人在旷野中的境况，也证明了《圣经》中的描述：以色列人从西奈半岛开始路程中一直抬着约柜。

VI. 重要性。约柜一直被人们认为是（1）耶和华的化身和庇护，（2）以色列全众的战争守护神，（3）装有法版的容器，（4）无形的耶和华向人们显现时

amphictyony; (3) a container for the tables of the law; and (4) a portable throne for the invisible presence of Yahweh. We have already shown that the container idea is both original and compatible with other concepts put forth. Proposal (2) is favored in light of texts such as 1 S. 4 and 2 S. 11:11 which show that the ark was taken into battle in order to enlist the divine help. Note also the word of Moses which he spoke when the ark was taken up to be carried: "Arise, O Lord, and let thy enemies be scattered" (Nu. 10:35). However, nothing of what we know or presuppose concerning the form and contents of the ark points to an original military purpose, and in other statements concerning the ark a much more general significance is assigned to it. The importance of the ark for Israel in connection with her wars is only the outcome of the significance as the symbol of the presence of Yahweh, a God whose presence was necessary if His people were to be victorious in their struggle.

Proposals (1) and (4) may be taken together, as both refer to the deeply rooted idea that the ark somehow meant Yahweh was present. The throne concept has arisen from the epithet of Yahweh of Hosts who is "enthroned upon the cherubim" (1 S. 4:4; 2 S. 6:2; 2 K. 19:15; etc.). In postexilic times it was promised that Jerusalem itself would be the throne of Yahweh, a fact that would render the ark superfluous (Jer. 3:16f.); and in the prophecy of Ezekiel it is specifically said that the temple is both throne and footstool for the Lord (Ezk. 43:7). Much was made of this material, and parallels have been drawn from various areas of the ancient Near East in which empty thrones were a part of the sacred furnishings of a temple. However, inasmuch as the ark in the OT is always described as an ark (Lat arca, “chest”) and never as a throne or seat, it seems best to take these references to a throne in a somewhat figurative sense. What is clear is that the ark was designed to be a symbol of the presence of God in the midst of His people. When the people were to leave the mountain where God had caused them to realize His presence (Ex. 30:6), the ark was made to serve as a comfortable assurance that He would indeed accompany them on the journey. In Ex. 25:21f, God promised to meet with Moses and to speak with him from above the kappōret, between the two cherubim upon the ark. When Israel in the time of Eli was overpowered by the Philistines, the Israelites sent for the ark in order that Yahweh should come into the camp of Israel, and this was also believed to be the case by the Philistines (1 S. 4:3ff.). After the ark had come to Beth-shemesh and a pestilence had broken out there, the people did not want to keep the ark, because no one could live in the presence of Yahweh, this holy God (1 S. 6:20). Jeremiah says (3:16f.) that an ark of the covenant would not be made again after the restoration, because the city itself, as God’s throne, would guarantee the presence of God at least as much as the ark formerly did.

的移动王座。我们前面已经说过，“容器说”与其他学说并不矛盾，约柜最初就是一个容器。《撒母耳记上》4章和《撒母耳记下》11:11赞成(2)中的说法，这两处经文写到：以色列人将约柜抬到战场以求耶和華為他们的战争带来帮助。同时需要注意一下约柜往前行的时候，摩西说的话：“耶和華阿，求你兴起。愿你的仇敌四散”（民 10:35）。但是，就我们对约柜形状或所装之物的了解或推测，最初制造约柜并不是为了战争之用，其他关于约柜的描述给出了它更广泛的意义。以色列人之所以认为约柜在战争中能发挥重要作用，是因为他们认为约柜是耶和華与他们同在的象征，如果神的子民想要取得战争的胜利，那么他们的神必须与他们同在。

In all the discussion it is foolish to press the aspect of physical presence to great lengths. That Yahweh was present with His people is clear from the texts. But that Yahweh was confined to the ark runs counter both to Hebrew notions about the nonspatial nature of God, and to the explicit statements of Scripture which, dating from the same times, mention God dwelling in many places both within and outside of Canaan. The statement of Moses, "Arise, O Lord, and let thy enemies be scattered" (Nu. 10:35), is not the command addressed to those who carry the ark to lift it up and thereby elevate Yahweh for the journey, but is a demand made upon Yahweh, in accordance with His promise, to go ahead of Israel as the ark does. According to 1 S. 4:3 the Israelites did not say, "We want to go and get the Lord," but "We want to go and get the ark of the Lord, that he may come among us." They accordingly wanted only to induce Him to come by getting the ark. This, too, the priests and the soothsayers of the Philistines say: "Do not send away the ark of the God of Israel empty [i.e., without a gift]" (1 S. 6:3), but they do not speak as though they really thought Yahweh was Himself confined therein. That Samuel, who slept near the ark, when he was addressed by the Lord did not at all originally think that the Lord was addressing him, proves that at that time the view did not prevail that He was in the ark or had His seat upon it. Ancient Israel was therefore evidently of the conviction that the ark was closely connected with Yahweh, and that something of His power was inherent in the ark; consequently the feeling prevailed that when near the ark they were in a special way in the presence of the Lord. But this is something different from the opinion that the ark was, in the very literal sense, a seat or dwelling place of Yahweh. Ancient man was not conscious to the extent we are of the difference between the symbolic presence and the literal reality, but that this difference was felt is not a matter of doubt.

和华阿，求你兴起。愿你的仇敌四散”，这并不是给抬柜之人下的命令，并不是说抬着约柜就等于抬着耶和华走在路上，而是根据耶和华的允诺，摩西向祂发出的诉求，希望耶和华能像与以色列人同行的约柜一样，一路上与他们同在。根据《撒母耳记上》4:3中的记载，以色列人并没有说：“我们不如去将耶和华抬到这里来”，而是说：“我们不如将耶和华的约柜抬到这里来，这样祂就在我们中间。”所以，他们只想将约柜抬来，并希望耶和华一同与之前来。祭司和占卜的也说：“若要将以色列神的约柜送回去，不可空空地送去[即，不给他礼物]”（撒上6:3），但是他们的话并未表示出好像耶和华就囿于约柜之内。撒母耳在约柜旁睡觉时，神与祂说话，但是起初他并不认为是神在说话，这也证明在撒母耳时期，神在约柜内或约柜内有神的宝座的说法还不太盛行。因此，古以色列人显然相信约柜与耶和华存在着密切的联系，耶和华的大能就隐藏在约柜之中；所以，他们对约柜这种情感寄托开始普遍存在：认为当他们走近约柜时，他们也以一种特殊的方式走到了耶和华的面前。但是，这与照字面理解（认为约柜曾是耶和华的宝座或圣所）是有所区别的。古人并没有清楚地认识到象征着神的约柜与真实的神之间是由差异的，但是，毫无疑问，他们也感受到了这种差异。

That the ark was built to embody the presence of God among His people seems equally clear from each one of the supposed documents of the documentary theory, though the tables of the law, rather than Yahweh Himself, constituted the contents of the ark. What would have been better adapted to make the presence of God felt as a reality than the stone tables with the Ten Words, through which the Lord had made known to His people His ethical character? For the words on these tables were a kind of spiritual portrait of the God of Israel, who could not be pictured in a bodily form, but whose living, holy presence was a vital element in His people's daily life.

ārk'īt [Heb. 'arqî]. An inhabitant of Arqat (Irqata), a town on the Phoenician border about 11 mi. (17.5 km.) N of Tripoli, Lebanon. The Arkites are mentioned in Gen. 10:17 and 1 Ch. 1:15 as descendants of Canaan. Arqat is mentioned in the Amarna Letters: ^{al}ir-qat^{ki} (62.13), ^{māt}ir-qa-ta (140.10), etc. It was conquered by Thutmose in his sixteenth or seventeenth campaign and was conquered again by Tiglath-pileser III. In Roman times it was known as Caesarea Libani, and it was the birthplace of Alexander Severus. The site is marked today as Tell 'Arqah.

ARM 膀臂

【希伯来语: z^ērô (a)' (出 6:6; 15:6 等), 'ezrô (a)' (伯 31:22; 耶 32:21), yād——“手” (王上 10:19; 王下 5:18; 代下 9:18; 结 17:9); 亚兰语: d^ērā' (但 2:32); 希腊语: brachiōn (路 1:51; 约 12:38; 徒 13:17)】; 《钦定版圣经》也译作 HELP (“帮手”) (诗 83:8)、POWER (“力量”) (结 17:9)、STAYS (“扶手”) (王上 10:19; 代下 9:18); 《新英文译本》也译成 POWER (“力量”)、“帮手” (诗 83:8)、HANDS (“手”) (结 17:9)、STRENGTH (“肉膀”) (代下 32:8)、SUPPORT (“膀臂”) (耶 17:5)、INFLUENCE (“依靠之力”) (但 11:6) 等。

The usual term z'êrô (a), is used surprisingly infrequently in its literal meaning (2 S. 1:10; Isa. 44:12). As the natural instrument of human volition, the arm became a metaphorical symbol of effective power. It is in this sense that the word is most often used. A king's arms represented his ability to muster and project an effective military force (cf. z'êrô (a), RSV "forces," "armies," in Dnl. 11:15, 22, 31). Hence, to break the arms of an enemy nation is to break its power (Jer. 48:25; Ezk. 30:21f.).

In the vast majority of usages, this word denotes the awesome might of Yahweh. The "descending blow of his arm" is as swift and overwhelming as a bolt of lightning (Isa. 30:30). Defeating the chaos monster, Rahab (Ps. 89:10; Isa. 51:9), it had both brought the universe into existence (Jer. 27:5; 32:17) and created the nation of Israel. The latter theme is by far the most typical motif associated with the arm of God. With "an outstretched arm" He had delivered His people from bondage (Ex. 6:6; Dt. 4:34; Ps. 44:3). Because of that mighty display of power, Israel knew that her national life rested upon "the everlasting arms" of her God (Dt. 33:27). This experience of deliverance also provided the basis for Israel's eschatological hope (Isa. 40:10f.; 51:5, 9; Ezk. 20:33ff.).

The NT saw the arm of God at work in the birth (Lk. 1:51) and ministry (Jn. 12:38) of Jesus. In Him the promises of old were being fulfilled.

See TDNT, I, s.v. βραχίον (Schlier).

经文中极少采用常见词 z'êrô (a) 的字面含义 (撒下 1:10; 赛 44:12)。臂膀是人展现意志力的天生工具, 也成为强大力量的象征物。经文中经常采用的正是它的比喻意义。君王的臂膀代表着他有效统帅军队的能力 (参: z'êrô (a), 《修订标准译本》的《但以理书》11:15, 22, 31 译为 "forces" [军兵]、"armies" [军队])。因此, 打破敌国的膀臂就是打败敌人的军队 (耶 48:25; 结 30:21-22)。

在绝大多数情况下, 这个词体现的是耶和華的大能。“祂降罰的臂膀”像闪电般迅速而又势不可挡 (赛 30:30)。祂用有能的臂膀打败了混沌的怪物拉哈伯 (诗 89:10; 赛 51:9), 创造了宇宙间的万物 (耶 27:5; 32:17), 创造了以色列民族。以色列民族的创造最能体现出神的臂膀所达成的旨意。耶和華“伸出臂膀”将以色列人从重担底下救出来 (出 6:6; 申 4:34; 诗 44:3)。因为耶和華的臂膀所彰显出的大能, 以色列人知道他们民族的生命在“祂永久的臂膀”之下 (申 33:27)。救赎的经历也奠定了以色列终末盼望的基础 (赛 40:10-11; 51:5, 9; 结 20:33 起)。

《新约》中神的臂膀在圣子的孕育 (路 1:51) 和耶稣传道 (约 12:38) 过程中施展大能。过去所立之约在基督里兑现。

är-mə-ged'ən [Gk. Harmagedon]. A name found only in Rev. 16:16. It is described as the rallying place of the kings of the whole world who, led by the unclean spirits issuing from the mouth of the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet, assemble here for “the war of the great day of God, the Almighty.”

Although the author designates the name as Hebrew, it appears nowhere else in that language and its derivation is uncertain. The generally accepted view is that the word har means mountain (or mountains) and that magedon refers to Megiddo, the biblical city near which many notable battles were fought. Here the armies of Israel defeated Sisera and his host (Jgs. 5:19), and later it was the scene of the fatal struggle between Josiah and Pharaoh Neco (2 K. 23:29f.; 2 Ch. 35:22). There was, therefore, a peculiar appropriateness in the choice of this as the arena of the last mighty struggle between the powers of good and evil. This is apocalyptic language, and it is possible that Armageddon is used not as a name for a particular locality but as a symbolic term for the final decisive conflict.

Because the phrase “mountains of Megiddo” does not occur elsewhere, some scholars have conjectured interpretations such as “city of Megiddo,” “land of Megiddo,” or “mount of assembly”; but none has met with general acceptance. “Mountains” seems to be the best translation for har. Megiddo itself was a hill town, and the district was in part mountainous (cf. Mt. Tabor, Jgs. 4:6, 12; “the heights of the field,” 5:18). Also, as Charles has pointed out (ICC), the final conflict is pictured by the prophet

音译：är-mə-ged'ən 【希腊语：Harmagedon】。这个名字只在《启示录》16:16 中出现过，指的是世界上的众王聚集之处，从龙口、兽口并假先知的口中出来的三个污秽的灵指挥众王，“叫他们在 神全能者的大日聚集争战”。

虽然经文作者说这个名字来自于希伯来语，但是这门语言中根本找不到这个词，该词词源不详。人们普遍认为“har”意思是山（或众山），“magedon”指的是米吉多——很多著名的战争都发生在这座《圣经》中城市的周围。以色列人的军队在米吉多战胜了西西拉和她指挥的军队（士 5:19），后来埃及王尼哥在米吉多战役中杀死了约西亚（王下 23:29-30；代下 35:22）。因此，将这一地点作为最终善恶力量的决战之地就特别的恰当。此处经文中的话语是启示语，哈米吉多顿可能指的不是一个具体的地名而是最后决战的象征。

由于在其他处经文中并没有出现“米吉多众山”这个词组，所以有些学者推测，应该将哈米吉多顿这个词翻译为“米吉多城”、“米吉多地”或“集结之山”；但是，上述称谓没有一个得到人们的普遍认可。“众山”似乎是对“har”最好的翻译。米吉多本身就是一座山城，该城市的部分地区被山脉覆盖（参：他泊山，士 4:6, 12；“田野的高处”，士 5:18）。同时，查尔斯（Charles）指出，先知以西结曾预言过（ICC），最后的决战将发生在“以色列山上”（结 38:8, 21；39:2, 4, 17），《启示录》20:8-11 中的

Ezekiel—in a passage that influenced Rev. 20:8–11—as taking place on “the mountains of Israel” (38:8, 21; 39:2, 4, 17).

ARMOR-BEARER

[Heb. nōšē' kēlī; Gk. ho airōn tá skeuē]. One who carried the large shield and perhaps other weapons for a king (1 S. 31:4), commander-in-chief (2 S. 23:37), captain (1 S. 14:7), or champion (17:7). All warriors of distinction had such attendants.

Rather than perish by the hand of a woman, Abimelech called upon his armor-bearer to give him the finishing stroke (Jgs. 9:54); and when King Saul's armor-bearer refused to do this for him that he might not become the prisoner of the Philistines, he took a sword himself and fell upon it (1 S. 31:4). David had been Saul's armor-bearer for a time. Jonathan's armor-bearer was a man of resource and courage (1 S. 14:7).

The shield-bearer was a figure well known in the chariots of Egypt, Assyria, and the Hittites, his business being to protect his fighting companion during the engagement.

ARMOR-BEARER 拿兵器的人

【希伯来语：nōšē' kēlī；希腊语：ho airōn tá skeuē】。拿兵器的人就是为王（撒上 31:4）、主帅（撒下 23:37）、首领（撒上 14:7）或者战士（撒上 17:7），持着大盾牌或者其他兵器的人。每个荣耀的勇士都有一个这样的随从。

亚比米勒宁愿让拿兵器的人给他一刀，也不愿意死在妇人之手（士 9:54）；扫罗王的拿兵器的人不肯拿刀刺他，而他又愿意做非利士人的俘虏，所以扫罗自己伏在刀上死了（撒上 31:4）。大卫曾是为扫罗拿兵器的人。为约拿单拿兵器的人是一个足智多谋的勇士（撒上 14:7）。

人们都知道埃及、亚述和赫人的战车上持有持盾的人，他们的职责是在两军交战时保护同伴的安全。

10:38 中的武库指的是圣殿的府库。《尼希米记》3:19 中的表述模糊。另见 ARSENAL（军械库）。

以色列不是善战的民族，但是他们生活在迦南地，该地的地理位置迫使他们必须进行一些自我防御。族长时期，当敌人来犯时，以色列人就会召集身强力壮的勇士来抵御敌军。《创世记》14 章记载，亚伯兰率领他家里的三百一十八名壮丁发动了一场典型的贝多因式的夜袭，据亚玛拿泥版中描述，突袭军队通

raiding parties described in the Amarna tablets. Although army commanders were mentioned in the Wilderness narratives (cf. Nu. 31:14), men were mustered at the summons of a leader such as Joshua (Ex. 17:9ff.) or Gideon (Jgs. 6:34). The g^edūdim the judges period were individual marauding companies which sometimes served the national cause with fidelity and usefulness (Jgs. 11:3). The first standing army was formed in the time of Saul, consisting mostly of his personal retinue (cf. 1 S. 13:2); and under David the numbers increased considerably by the addition of mercenaries (2 S. 15:18). Even in spite of this they were outnumbered by the Philistines (cf. 1 S. 13:5).

Under Joab the Israelite army became an efficient fighting force, adept at siege warfare (cf. 2 S. 20:15). Solomon introduced the iron-fitted chariot as a military weapon (1 K. 10:26–29), following Egyptian tradition; but chariots were distrusted by the prophets generally (cf. Isa. 2:7; Hos. 1:7; etc.) if only because enemy chariots invariably outnumbered those of Israel (cf. 2 K. 18:23). Also introduced under Solomon were cavalry units, in disregard of the Torah (Dt. 17:16; cf. 20:1).

Under Mosaic law all males became liable for military service (Nu. 1:3; 26:2; 2 Ch. 25:5), but Levites (Nu. 2:33), those with newly acquired property, the recently married, and the timid were exempt from battle (Dt. 20:1–9). These exemptions were still being maintained in the Maccabean period (1 Macc. 3:56). Very little is known about preexilic army organization, despite the mention of officers and corps of troops. The term 'elep (“thousand”) is not necessarily a strictly literal number, and could perhaps be as low as 200. Prior to the monarchy, soldiers provided both their own food and weapons (1 S. 17:17f), but on foreign soil they were allowed to pillage. Occasionally they were maintained by regular pay (1 K. 4:27). After the exile there was no Israelite army until the Maccabean period, when guerilla bands rose to the defense of the nation. Under the Hasmoneans a standing army was formed, and augmented by mercenary soldiers (Josephus BJ i.2.5) at considerable expense (cf. 1 Macc. 14:32). Though Jewish soldiers are mentioned in Mk. 6:27; Lk. 3:14; 23:11, it is the Roman army that is prominent in the NT (Acts 10:1; 27:1; Phil. 1:13; etc.).

常包含这样的人数。虽然关于旷野行军的经文中提到了军队的军长（参：民 31:14），但是人们正是响应约书亚（出 17:9 起）或基甸（士 6:34）等首领的号召才聚集到了一起。士师时期，军队有时是由一个个匪徒组成的，他们忠诚而又有效地保卫着国家安全（士 11:3）。扫罗时期出现了第一支常备军，军中的兵丁大都是扫罗的随从（参：撒上 13:2），大卫增加了雇佣兵，从而使常备军的人数得到了极大地扩充（撒下 15:18）。虽然常备军开始出现，但是非利士人的作战人数还是超过了以色列的兵丁数量（参：撒上 13:5）。

ARMY, ROMAN.

The treatment will be confined to (I) a brief description of the organization of the army and (II) a consideration of the allusions in the NT to the Roman military establishment.

I. Organization.—Originally there were no standing forces, but citizens of the wealthier classes performed military service when summoned by the magistrates, providing their own equipment. The gradual development of a military profession and standing army culminated in the admission of the poorest classes to the ranks by Marius (107 B.C.). Henceforth the Roman army was made up of men who were essentially mercenaries, with periods of

ARMY, ROMAN. 罗马军队

这个词条讨论的内容包括：(I) 简述罗马军队编制 (II) 《新约》中有关罗马军队编制的典故。

I. 军队编制。起初，罗马并没有常备军，在战时罗马地方行政长官召集相对富有的民众奔赴战场，武器自备。军事职业和常备军不断发展，直到盖乌斯·马略时期（约公元前 107 年）达到顶峰，他将最贫困的民众招募成为军人。自此，罗马军队中的士兵主要是由雇佣兵组成，不同军团的雇佣兵的服役时间也从 16 至 26 年不等。罗马共和国晚期爆发了内战，此时兵丁对统帅的忠诚度通常超越了他们对国家的忠诚度。

The forces that composed the Roman army under the empire may be divided into the following five groups: (1) the imperial guard and garrison of the capital, (2) the legions, (3) the auxilia, (4) the numeri, (5) the fleet.

罗马皇帝统领的军队分为五个部分：（1）皇家侍卫队和首都卫戍部队，（2）罗马军团，（3）辅助军团，（4）轻骑兵营，（5）海军舰队。

A. The Imperial Guard. The imperial guard consisted of the cohortes praetoriae, which together with the cohortes urbanae and vigiles made up the garrison of Rome. In the military system established by Augustus there were nine cohorts of the praetorian guard, three of the urban troops, and seven of the vigiles. Each cohort numbered a thousand men, and was commanded by a tribune of equestrian rank. The praetorian prefects (praefecti praetorii), of whom there were usually two, were commanders of the entire garrison of the capital, and stood at the highest point of distinction and authority in the equestrian career.

A. 皇家侍卫队。皇家侍卫队由禁卫军组成，他们与城市守备营和警察部队构成了罗马的戍卫部队。奥古斯都建立了九支禁卫军、三支城市守备大队以及七支治安大队。每个大队有 1000 人，由罗马骑士高官统领。通常有两名禁卫军长官，他们是整个首都戍卫部队的指挥官，这个职位是骑兵所能达到的荣誉和权力的最高点。

B. The Legions. There were twenty-five legions in A.D. 23 (Tacitus Ann. iv–v), which had been increased to thirty at the time of the reign of Marcus Aurelius, A.D. 161–180 (CIL, VI, 3492 a–b) and to thirty-three under Septimius Severus (Dio Cassius iv.23f.). Each legion was made up, ordinarily, of six thousand men, who were divided into ten cohorts, each cohort containing three maniples, and each maniple in turn two centuries.

The legatus Augusti pro praetore, or governor of each imperial province, was chief commander of all the troops within the province. An officer of senatorial rank known as legatus Augusti legionis was entrusted with the command of each legion, together with the bodies of auxilia that were associated with it. Besides, there were six tribuni militum, officers of equestrian rank (usually sons of senators who had not yet held the quaestorship), in each legion. The centurions commanding the centuries belonged to the plebeian class, but were the mainstay of the whole system both in discipline and in the actual fighting. Under them served the principales of lower noncommissioned rank.

C. The "Auxilia." The auxilia were organized as infantry in cohortes, as cavalry in alae, or as mixed bodies, cohortes equitatae. Some of these divisions contained approximately a thousand men (cohortes or alae

B. 罗马军团。公元 23 年罗马有 25 个军团 (Tacitus Ann. iv–v), 在马可·奥勒留时期 (公元 161-180 年), 军团数目增加至 30 个 (CIL, VI, 3492 a–b), 到塞维鲁时期, 增加到 33 个 (Dio Cassius iv.23-24)。每个军团有 6000 名士兵, 每个军团分成 10 个大队, 每个大队再分成 3 个小队, 每个小队再分成 2 个百人队。

C. 辅助军团。辅助军团由步兵营组成或由骑兵翼营组成, 亦或由两者联合组成。有些辅助军团大约有 1000 名兵丁 (步兵或骑兵), 但是大多数辅助军团只有 500 名骑兵或步兵。他们由骑士级别的军事保民官和营长统领。辅助军团

miliariae), but most divisions only about five hundred (cohortes or alae quingenariae). They were commanded by tribuni and praefecti of equestrian rank. The importance of the auxilia consisted originally in the diversity of their equipment and manner of fighting, since each group adhered to the customs of the nation in whose midst it had been recruited. But with the gradual romanization of the empire they were assimilated more and more to the character of the legionaries.

D. The "Numeri." The numeri developed out of the auxiliary forces, additional infantry and cavalry who retained their local character (cf., e.g., Tacitus Hist i.6; Agricola 18; Pliny Ep. x.29). Their commanders were also of equestrian rank.

E. The Fleet. The Roman fleet, which had first achieved strength in the Punic Wars, was not organized as a state force until after the death of Julius Caesar. It consisted chiefly of triremes and quinqueremes, and was commanded by high-ranking equestrian officers (praefecti classis). The principal naval stations were at Misenum (near Naples) and Ravenna.

F. Defensive Arrangements. Augustus established the northern boundary of the empire at the Rhine and at the Danube, throughout the greater part of its course, and bequeathed to his successors the advice that they should not extend their sovereignty beyond the limits he had set (Tacitus Ann. i.11; Agricola 13). Although this policy was departed from in many instances, such as the annexation of Thrace, Cappadocia, Mauretania, Britain, and Dacia, not to mention the 的装备多样，战斗方式多变，这是因为这支军队中的雇佣兵仍然保持着自己民族的战斗习惯，但他们却是非常重要的战斗部队。随着渐渐地被罗马帝国同化，他们变得越来越像罗马军团。

D. 轻骑兵营。轻骑兵营由辅助军团和其他保持着本族的作战方式的步兵和骑兵发展而来（参：如 Tacitus Hist i.6; Agricola 18; Pliny Ep. x.29）。轻骑兵营的指挥官是骑兵级别的军官。

E. 海军舰队。罗马海军舰队在布匿战争中初显其优势，但是直到尤里乌斯·凯撒去世之后，罗马才建成了国家海军。海军舰队主要是由三列桨战船和五列桨战船组成，并由高级别的骑兵长官统领。米塞努姆（靠近那不勒斯）和拉文那是当时两个主要的海军基地。

F. 防御部署。奥古斯都将莱茵河和多瑙河定为罗马帝国的北部边界，贯穿了两河河道的绝大部分。奥古斯都留给他的继任者的遗嘱是：罗马帝国的领土不可超出他所设定的边界线（Tacitus Ann. i.11; Agricola 13）。后来的继任者经常违背他的遗嘱，例如，罗马帝国后来吞并色雷斯、卡帕多西亚、毛里塔尼亚、不列颠和达契亚，更不要说罗马皇帝图拉真所进行的短暂的兼并，尽管如此，罗马帝国的军事部署主要是为了对各个行省进行防御而不是为了大举侵略 more ephemeral acquisitions by Trajan, yet the military system of the empire was arranged primarily with the view of providing for the defense of the provinces and not for carrying on aggressive warfare on a large scale. Thus Palestine generally was dependent on the four legions stationed in Syria, Rome's most important frontier to the east. Nearly all the forces, with the exception of the imperial guard, were distributed among the provinces on the border of the empire; and the essential feature of the disposition of the troops in these provinces was the permanent fortress in which each unit was stationed. The combination of large camps for the legions with a series of smaller forts for the alae, cohorts, and numeri was the characteristic arrangement on all the frontiers. The immediate protection of the frontier was regularly entrusted to the auxiliary troops, while the legions were usually stationed some distance to the rear of the actual boundary. This system of "defense in depth," based on the limites (fortified posts) and their linking roads, proved generally satisfactory in view of the conditions that prevailed, and secured for the millions of subjects of the Roman empire the longest period of undisturbed tranquility known to European history.

G. Recruiting System. In accordance with the arrangements of Augustus, the cohortes praetoriae and cohortes urbanae were recruited from Latium, Etruria, Umbria, and the older Roman colonies (Tacitus Ann. iv-v), the legions from the remaining portions of Italy, and the auxilia from the subject communities of the empire.

But in course of time the natives of Italy

扩张。因此，巴勒斯坦的军事防御主要依赖驻扎在叙利亚的四个罗马军团，叙利亚是罗马东部最重要的边界。除了皇家侍卫队之外，几乎所有的罗马军团都驻扎在罗马边界的各行省的上；罗马在各行省军事部署的主要特点是常驻要塞，军队就驻扎在其中。罗马军团的营地与较小军团的翼军、步兵和轻骑兵营的堡垒结合在一起，这是罗马边境军事部署的显著特点。罗马帝国经常将辅助军团安排在国境的最前线，而罗马军团则驻扎在后方，距离实际边界有一定距离。这种依托边界（防御点）和交错相连的道路的“纵深防御”体系一般情况下非常奏效，它也给罗马帝国数百万的百姓带了欧洲历史上最长久的和平。

G. 征兵体系。根据奥古斯都的军事部署，罗马帝国从拉丁姆、伊特鲁利亚、翁布里亚和古老的罗马殖民地招募禁卫军和城市守备军的兵丁((Tacitus Ann. iv-v), 从意大利的其他地方招募罗马军团的兵丁，从罗马帝国的附庸国中招募辅助军团的兵丁。

disappeared, first from the legions and later from the garrison of the capital. Antoninus Pius established the rule that each body of troops should draw its recruits from the district where it was stationed. Henceforth the previous possession of Roman citizenship was no longer required for enlistment in the legions. The legionary was granted the privilege of citizenship upon entering the service, the auxiliary soldier upon being discharged (O. Seeck, Geschichte des Untergangs der antiken Welt [1897–1920], I, 250).

II. Allusions in the NT to the Roman Military Establishment.— Such references relate chiefly to the bodies of troops that were stationed in Judea. Agrippa I left a military establishment of one ala and five cohorts at his death in A.D. 44 (Josephus Ant. xix.9.2; BJ iii.4.2), which he had doubtless received from the earlier Roman administration. These divisions were composed of local recruits, chiefly Samaritans (O. Hirschfeld, Die Kaiserlichen Verwaltungsbeamten bis auf Diocletian [1876; 3rd ed. 1963], p. 395; T. Mommsen, Hermes, 19 [1884], 217 n. 1). The Ala I gemina Sebastenorum was stationed at Caesarea (Josephus Ant. xx.6; BJ, ii.12.5; CIL, VIII, 9359).

A. Augustan Band. Julius, the centurion to whom Paul and other prisoners were delivered to be escorted to Rome (Acts 27:1), belonged to one of the five cohorts stationed at or near Caesarea. This spéira Sebasté, “Augustus’ Band” or “Cohort,” was probably identical with the Cohors I Augusta (Dessau, no 2683) based in Syria, and is to be distinguished from the Cohors Augusta Sebastenorum consisting of men from the town of Sebaste 服役，后来也不再为首都侍卫队服役。罗马皇帝安东尼·庇护规定每个军队都必须从各自驻扎的地区招募兵丁。自此以后，各个军团不再需要招募罗马人为帝国打仗。罗马军团的士兵一旦应征入伍就享有罗马公民的特权，辅助军团的兵丁在退伍后也享这项特权 (O. Seeck, Geschichte des Untergangs der antiken Welt [1897–1920], I, 250)。

II. 《新约》中关于罗马军队编制的典故。《新约》中主要提及了罗马军队驻扎在犹太地的罗马军队。公元 44 年，亚基帕一世逝世，他留下了 1 支翼军和 5 支步兵 (Josephus Ant. xix.9.2; BJ iii.4.2)，毫无疑问，这些军团是他在罗马执政早期建立的。各个分军团由当地的雇佣兵组成，主要是撒玛利亚人 (O. Hirschfeld, Die Kaiserlichen Verwaltungsbeamten bis auf Diocletian [1876; 1963 年第三版], 395 页; T. Mommsen, Hermes, 19 [1884], 217 n. 1)。其中一支翼军 (Ala I gemina Sebastenorum) 就驻扎在凯撒利亚 (Josephus Ant. xx.6; BJ, ii.12.5; CIL, VIII, 9359)。

A. 御营。保罗和其他囚犯被押送到罗马，交给犹流 (徒 27:1)。有 5 支罗马步兵大队驻扎在凯撒利亚附近，犹流就是其中的一支步兵大队的百夫长。spéira Sebasté (拉丁语：瑟巴斯特营，或被称为“奥古斯都营”或“步兵大队”) 可能指的就是驻扎在叙利亚的一支步兵营——Cohors I Augusta (Dessau, no 2683)，这支兵营和另一支招募了瑟巴斯特人 (撒玛利亚人) 的步兵营 (Cohors Augusta Sebastenorum) 有所不同

(Josephus BJ ii.3.4).

B. Italian Band. There was another cohort in Caesarea, the “Italian band” (Cohors Italica, Vulg.), of which Cornelius was centurion (Acts 10:1: Gk. ek speíres tēs kalouménēs Italikēs). The cohortes Italicae were made up of Roman citizens (Marquardt, II, 467). Our earliest evidence of such a cohort is from Syria in A.D. 69 (Dessau, no. 9168), but a similar unit was evidently at Caesarea at this time (cf. F. F. Bruce, Acts of the Apostles [2nd ed. 1952], in loc).

C. Praetorian Guard. One of the five cohorts was stationed in Jerusalem (Mt. 27:27; Mk. 15:16), the “chief captain” of which was Claudius Lysias. His title, chiliárchos in the Greek (Acts 21:31; 23:10, 15, 17, 19, 22, 26; 24:7, AV), meaning “leader of a thousand men” (Vulg. tribunus), indicates that this body of soldiers was a cohortes miliaria. Claudius Lysias sent Paul to Felix at Caesarea under escort of two hundred soldiers, seventy horsemen, and two hundred spearmen (Acts 23:23). The spearmen (Gk. dexioláboi, a very rare word; cf. Bauer, p. 173) are thought to have been a party of provincial militia. Several centurions of the cohort at Jerusalem appear during the riot and subsequent rescue and arrest of Paul (Acts 21:32; 22:25f.; 23:17, 23). A centurion, doubtless of the same cohort, was in charge of the crucifixion of Jesus (Mt. 27:54; Mk. 15:39, 44f.; Lk. 23:47). It was customary for centurions to be entrusted with the execution of capital penalties (Tacitus Ann. i.6; xvi.9, 15; Hist ii.85).

B. 意大利营。在凯撒利亚还驻扎着另一支军队，它就是“意大利营”(Cohors Italica, 《武加大译本》)，哥尼流是百夫长(徒 10:1 中希腊语: ek speíres tēs kalouménēs Italikēs)。意大利营(cohortes Italicae)是由罗马公民组成的(Marquardt, II, 467)。这类军营最早(公元 69 年)出现在叙利亚(Dessau, no. 9168)，但这时的凯撒利亚也明显有类似的建制。(参: F. F. Bruce, Acts of the Apostles [1952 年再版], 见本段)。

C. 禁卫军。罗马的一支军团(共 5 支)就驻扎在耶路撒冷(太 27:27; 可 15:16)，革老丢·吕西亚是这支队伍的“首领”，也就是“千夫长”。这一称谓的希腊语形式是 chiliárchos (徒 21:31; 23:10; 23:15; 23:17; 23:19; 23:22; 23:26; 24:7, 《钦定版圣经》)，“千夫长”意思是“一千人的首领”(《武加大译本》，tribunus)，所以这支队伍是一支“千人大队”。革老丢·吕西亚预备步兵二百，骑兵七十，长枪手二百，将保罗押到凯撒利亚去见巡抚腓力斯(徒 23:23)。长枪手组成了各行省的民兵(希腊语: dexioláboi, 该词极为罕见; 参: Bauer, 173 页)。在暴乱中，几名耶路撒冷的百夫长参与了逮捕保罗和营救保罗的行动(徒 21:32; 徒 22:25-26; 徒 23:17, 徒 23:23)。每个“千人大队”有 10 个百夫长。负责对耶稣施行的百夫长无疑也来自禁卫军(太 27:54; 可 15:39, 可 15:44-45; 路 23:47)。按照惯例，百夫长拥有执行死刑的权力(Tacitus Ann. i.6; xvi.9, 15; Hist ii.85)。

The AV contains the passage in Acts 28:16, “The Centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard” (Gk. stratopedárchēs), which rests on doubtful MS authority (cf. RSV, NEB). This officer was perhaps the prefect of the praetorian guard (Lat. praefectus praetorii), who at this time was Sextus Afranius Burrus (Tacitus Ann. xii.42, 69; xiii.2ff.; xiv.7ff.). But this Greek title is nowhere used for the praetorian prefect, and Mommsen’s view is more likely, that the stratopedárchēs was the centurion in command of the frumentarii at Rome (princeps castrorum peregrinorum). These troops served as military couriers between Rome and the provinces, as political spies, and as imperial police; the reading in question thus no doubt preserves an authentic tradition.

är'nə [Lat. Arna]. One of the ancestors of Ezra given in 2 Esd. 1:2, evidently identical with Zerariah of Ezr. 7:4 and Zariaias of 1 Esd. 8:2, AV (NEB Zariaeus).

《钦定版圣经》的《使徒行传》28:16 中有这样的描述：“百夫长把众囚犯交给御营的统领”（希腊语：stratopedárchēs），这一定是遵照《圣经》的权威译本进行的翻译（参：《修订标准译本》，《新英文译本》）。这位百夫长或许就是禁卫军的长官（拉丁语：praefectus praetorii），这一职位此时由瑟科斯塔斯·阿芙洛尼亚斯·巴罗斯担任（Tacitus Ann. xii.42, 69; xiii.2 起; xiv.7 起）。但是希腊语“stratopedárchēs”并没有禁卫军长官的含义，莫姆森（Mommsen）的观点似乎更值得相信，他认为应该将“stratopedárchēs”翻译成“罗马特务组织”（frumentarii）的百夫长（拉丁语：princeps castrorum peregrinorum）。罗马特务组织是首都和各行省之间的军事联络员，他们也是政治特务和皇家警察；因此，毫无疑问，这个被人们质疑的词语采用了该词的最初的含义。

ARNA 亚珥拿

音译：är'nə【拉丁语：Arna】。根据《以斯拉二书》1:2 中记载，他是以斯拉的祖先之一，显然，他就是《钦定版圣经》的《以斯拉记》7:4 和《以斯拉一书》8:2 中西拉希雅（《新英文译本》译作 Zariaeus[西拉希雅]）。

är'nən [Heb. 'arnān; Gk. Orna]. A descendant of David (1 Ch. 3:21).

ARNI

But in the AV, following TR, and in the genealogical list of Mt. 1:3f., the name is Aram (Gk. Aram); in the latter passage, however, the RSV and NEB have “Ram,” like the OT name (Heb. rām) for the great-grandson of Judah and ancestor of David (Ruth 4:19; 1 Ch. 2:9f.).

är'non [Heb. 'arnōn; Gk. Arnōn]. A river flowing into the Dead Sea on the east. Apart from 2 K. 10:33; Isa. 16:2; Jer. 48:20, this river is mentioned only in Numbers through Judges, and always as marking the boundary between Moab to the south, and first the Amorites, then Israel, to the north.

The high plateau of Moab is drained by two streams, the Seil Hedān or Wādī Wālā to the north and Seil el-Môjib to the south, and by their tributaries—the valleys (AV “brooks”) of Arnon (Nu. 21:14)—which for most of their course flow through gorges about 2 mi. (3 km.) wide at the top and about 120 ft. (37 m.) wide at the bottom; at points the depth is nearly 2300 ft. (700 m.). About 13 mi.

ARNI 亚珥尼

音译: är'nī【希腊语: Arni】(路 3:33); 《钦定版圣经》中译作 ARAM (亚兰)。耶稣的肉身祖先之一。但是《钦定版圣经》在《马太福音》1:3-4 记载的家谱中称亚珥尼被为亚兰 (希腊语: Aram), 这是采纳了《公认经文》中的译法; 但是《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》后面的章节中, 却称亚珥尼为“兰” (“Ram”), 《旧约》中也有“兰” (希伯来语: rām) 这个名字, 他是犹大的曾孙, 是大卫的祖先 (得 4:19; 代上 2:9-10)。

ARNON 亚嫩河

音译: är'non【希伯来语: 'arnōn; 希腊语: Arnōn】。亚嫩河从东面流入死海。在《圣经》中除了《列王纪下》10:33, 《以赛亚书》16:2 和《耶利米书》48:22 中提到过亚嫩河, 这条河仅出现在《民数记》至《士师记》中, 以亚嫩河始终作为界河, 南岸土地属摩押, 北岸土地先属亚摩利人, 后被以色列占领。

摩押高原上有两条溪流: 北面海丹河 (Seil Hedān) 或沃莱河 (Wādī Wālā); 南面是穆亚卜河 (Seil el-Môjib), 另外还包括这两条河流的一些支流——亚嫩河 (《钦定版圣经》译为 “brooks” [小溪]) (民 21:14), 这些支流流经的峡谷顶端约宽 2 英里 (3 公里), 低端约宽 120 英尺 (37 米); 峡谷的某些地点接近 2300 英尺 (700 米) 深。这些支流在死海以东约 13 英里 (21 公里) 处汇聚

(21 km.) E of the Dead Sea they unite to form the Arnon (Wādī Mōjib), which continues through the gorge to discharge its water into the sea just about halfway down its length. The depth of its gorge is one of the reasons “the King’s Highway” (Nu. 20:17; 21:22) ran so far E of the Jordan Valley.

In spite of the apparent suitability of the Arnon as a natural frontier, it is clear that the essential continuity of the land on either side was more potent than the influence of the gorge. Not only had Sihon been able to carve out a kingdom N of it at the expense of Moab (Nu. 21:26), but the Ammonites also claimed the territory as traditionally theirs (Jgs. 11:13). When Israel was weak, Moab was able to recapture much of the area, as Mesha claims in his inscription; many of the Moabite towns listed in Isa. 15 traditionally belonged to Israel.

虽然亚嫩河显然可以作为天然的屏障，但是这一河流两侧的土地始终占据着至关重要的地位，要比这条峡谷更具影响力。因此不但西宏曾从摩押人手中夺取了亚嫩河东岸地区，在那里建立了王国。（民 21:26），亚摩利人也宣称亚嫩河流域历来归他们所有（士 11:13）。正如米沙碑文中所记载的，以色列王国衰落以后，摩押重获了这一地区；《以赛亚书》15 章中列举的很多摩押城邑原来都是以色列的城邑。 southern boundary of the Amorite kingdom of Sihon (Josh. 12:2). Following the Israelite conquest it was assigned to the tribe of Reuben (Josh. 13:15f.). The men of Gad, co-sharers with Reuben in the land of the Amorites, later fortified Aroer (Nu. 32:34). The census taken by David started in Aroer (2 S. 24:5). In the 9th cent. B.C., Hazael the Syrian occupied Aroer (2 K. 10:33); and according to the Moabite Stone, Mesha king of Moab fortified it against Israelite attack. The last reference to Aroer in the OT ascribes it to the Moabites (Jer. 48:19). The modern city is 'Arâ'ir.

AROUSE.

The most significant use of the term is in Isa. 45:13, where it renders the hiphil of Heb. 'ûr. “Arouse,” “stir up,” “awaken,” and “incite” are all better translations here than the AV “raise up” (cf. NEB “rouse”). In 41:2, 25 the RSV renders “stir up” for the same Hebrew verb form; a further similarity is the use of Heb. šedeq in both 41:2 (RSV “victory”) and 45:13 (RSV “righteousness”). All three passages point to the sovereignty of Yahweh over history as displayed in His use of Cyrus, who came from both the east (41:2) and the north (v. 25), to accomplish His will, i.e., “righteousness,” “justice,” “deliverance” (šedeq).

ARPACHSHAD 亚法撒

音译: är-pak'shad【希伯来语: 'arpaḳšad; 希腊语: Arphaxad】; 亚法撒, är-fak'sad (《新约》、《次经》、《钦定版圣经》、《新英文译本》)。

1、闪的第三个儿子,希伯的祖父(创 10:22-24),希伯来人的祖先(参:创 11:10-13; 代上 1:17-18, 24),人们通常认为这个名字就是楔形文字铭文中的“Arraphu”,或许就是基尔库克(Kirkuk)。《犹滴传》1:1 认为该词源自伊朗语,但是这种说法值得怀疑。

är'pad [Heb. 'arpād—'support']; AV ARPHAD. A city-state in Syria 25 mi. (40 km.) NNW of Aleppo, modern Tell Erfād. In biblical references Arpad is always mentioned with Hamath, and they serve as examples of places destroyed by the Assyrians in the third year of Tiglathpileser III. Rabshakeh mentions the place as one of the cities he conquered (2 K. 18:34; 19:13; Isa. 36:19; 37:13). Isaiah also mentions Arpad in the boast that he puts in the mouth of the Assyrian king (Isa. 10:9). Jeremiah includes the place in an oracle concerning Damascus (Jer. 49:23). A treaty between Matti'lel king of Arpad and Barga'yah king of Katka is included in the Aramaic inscriptions from Sfire. The site has been excavated by Hrozný in 1924 and by the British since 1960.

ARPAD 亚珥拔

音译: är'pad【希伯来语: 'arpād——“支持”】;《钦定版圣经》译作 ARPHAD。位于阿勒波西北偏北方 25 英里(40 公里)的一个叙利亚城邦,现名为俄法特废墟(Tell Erfād)。在《圣经》中亚珥拔总是与哈马一同被提及,亚述王提革拉·毗列色三世在位第三年摧毁了这两座城市。它也是拉伯沙征服的城市之一(王下 18:34; 19:13; 赛 36:19; 37:13)。以赛亚也说过,亚述王因自夸占领了亚珥拔(赛 10:9)。耶利米说在论大马士革的默示中也提到了亚珥拔(耶 49:23)。斯菲尔(Sfire)出土的亚兰铭文中记载了亚珥拔王玛提勒与卡塔卡王巴尔加亚(Barga'yah)签订的条约。赫罗日尼(Hrozný)于 1924 年发掘了该遗址,1960 年后,英国人再一次对该遗址进行了挖掘。

在《出埃及记》40:4, 23 中,希伯来词

setting out of the bread of the Presence in layers on the table in the tabernacle. In Ezk. 42:11, “arrangements” is the RSV rendering of Heb. mišpaṭîm, “rules,” AV “fashions,” NEB “general character.” In 43:11 “arrangement” translates tēkûnâ, AV “fashion,” NEB “fittings.” Both these passages are descriptions of the second temple.

ARRAY

(1) [Heb. lābēš, lābaš—‘put on, clothe’; Gk. peribállō—‘put on, clothe,’ endýo—‘dress, clothe’ (Rev. 19:4), hetoimázō—‘prepare’ (Rev. 9:7)]; AV also PUT ON, CLOTHE, PREPARE (Rev. 9:7); NEB DRESS, “in shining armour,” CLOTHE, ATTIRE, EQUIP, etc. When it translates these terms “array” denotes putting on fine clothing (cf. Gen. 41:42; 2 Ch. 5:12; Est. 6:9-11; Mt. 6:29 par; Lk. 23:11; Rev. 19:14; etc.) or clothing suitable for battle (Rev. 9:7).

(2) [Heb. hādārâ—‘adornment, attire’]. In 1 Ch. 16:29; 2 Ch. 20:21; Ps. 29:2, 96:9 the expression hadraṭ-qōdeš (RSV “holy array”; AV “beauty of holiness”; NEB “splendor of holiness”; NEB mg “holy vestments”) refers to garments worn in worship.

(3) [Heb. ‘āraḵ—‘arrange, put in order,’ ‘āmaḏ—‘take a stand,’ ‘set’ (Jgs. 6:31; Ps. 55:18), hiphil of kûn—‘prepare’ (Nah. 2:3 [MT 4]); Gk. paristēmi (Acts 4:26)];

‘erek 指的是在会幕中的桌子上将饼陈设在耶和华的面前。在《以西结书》42:11中，《修订标准译本》用“arrangements”（“摆设、布局”）一词翻译希伯来词 mišpaṭîm（规则），而《钦定版圣经》将其译作“fashions”（“样式”），《新英文译本》则译为“general character”（一般特征）。《以西结书》43:11中用“arrangements”翻译“tēkûnâ”，而《钦定版圣经》译为“fashion”（“样式”），《新英文译本》则译为“fittings”（“摆设”）。所有这些经文段落描述的都是第二圣殿。

ARRAY 衣服、阵列

(1) 【希伯来语：lābēš, lābaš；希腊语：peribállō 和：endýo——三词意思都是“穿衣”（启 19:4），hetoimázō——“预备”（启 9:7）】；《钦定版圣经》也译作 PUT ON（“穿上”），CLOTHE（“穿衣”），PREPARE（“预备”）（启 9:7）；《新英文译本》则译作 DRESS（“打扮”），“穿着闪亮的盔甲”，CLOTHE（“穿衣”），ATTIRE（“打扮”），EQUIP（“配备”）等。当将上述词语翻译成“array”（衣服）时，指的是穿着华丽的衣服（参：创 41:42；代下 5:12；斯 6:9-11；太 6:29 平行经文；路 23:11；启 19:14 等）或者穿着战服（启 9:7）。

(2) 【希伯来语：hādārâ——“服饰、服装”】。在《历代志上》16:29；《历代志下》20:21；《诗篇》29:2, 96:9 中都出现了“hadraṭ-qōdeš”一词（《修订标准译本》译为“圣洁的服饰”；《钦定版圣经》译为“圣洁的美丽”；《新英文译本》译为“圣洁的光彩”，旁注“圣洁的衣服”），它指的是敬拜耶和华时所穿的服饰。

(3) 【希伯来语：‘āraḵ——“阵列、排列”；‘āmaḏ——“表态”，“放置”（士 6:31；诗 55:18），kûn 的希干——“预备”（鸿 2:3 [《马所拉文本》4]）；希

AV also PREPARATION, STAND (UP), “that could keep rank” (1 Ch. 12:38 [MT 39]); NEB also REFORMED, “TAKE UP POSITION,” MARSHAL, etc. These terms are used in reference to the deployment of military forces prior to battle. The most common OT term is ‘āraḳ, from a root designating “orderly arrangement.” In the quotation of Ps. 2:2 in Acts 4:26, Gk. paristēmi appropriately translates the hithpael of Heb. yāṣab, “take one’s stand.”

希腊语: paristēmi (徒 4:26)]; 《钦定版圣经》也译为 PREPARATION (准备), STAND (UP) (站立, 站起), “能守行伍” (代上 12:38[《马所拉文本》39]); 《新英文译本》也译为 REFORMED (革新的), “行军整齐”, MARSHAL (排队) 等。这些词语指的都是战争前的排兵布阵。《旧约》中最经常使用的是希伯来词 “‘āraḳ”, 这个词的词根的意思是 “排列整齐”。《使徒行传》4:26 引用《诗篇》2:2 中的经文, 希腊语 paristēmi 正好可以恰当地翻译希伯来语 yāṣab 的特干, 即 “表明立场”。

There are many Hebrew and Greek words that express the multifaceted problem of arrogance. This is probably because it is the radical expression of the cardinal biblical evil—pride. “A distinctive feature of biblical religion,” writes Richardson, “is its teaching about pride and its converse, humility; this is unparalleled in other religious and ethical systems. According to the Bible ... pride is the very root and essence of sin” (RTWB, p. 176). Given this biblical perspective, it is only natural that arrogance, whether viewed as a self-existent entity (n., Prov. 8:13), a mode of being (adj., Ps. 101:5), or a mode of action (adv., Ex. 18:11; cf. Ps. 94:4-7), is taken with utmost seriousness. Arrogance and its various modes of expression assume a pretentious and unwarrantable claim to human superiority and control over life which is horrendous, especially when contrasted with the biblical view of the Creator who alone is Lord of history.

When Isaiah speaks of the arrogance of the king of Assyria, he uses Hebrew parallelism, whereby a line of thought is reiterated and clarified by a subsequent one, to indicate that his arrogant pretensions to control history are nothing less than a mad raging against God Himself (2 K. 19:28; par. Isa. 37:29). Such arrogant madness pointedly shows a lack of real knowledge (1 S. 2:3ff.) or a proper understanding of man's true position in the world (cf. Ps. 73:3ff. with vv. 16ff.).

有很多希伯来词和希腊词可以表达傲慢自大的多个层面的含义。这可能是因为它是《圣经》中常见的“罪——傲慢”最根本的表达方式。理查森 (Richardson) 说：“《圣经》宗教的一个显著特征就是它包含了关于骄傲和谦卑 (骄傲的反面) 的教义；这是其他宗教和道德体系无法比拟的。根据《圣经》中的教导……骄傲是罪的根源和本质” (RTWB, 176 页)。根据《圣经》中的观点，不论将狂妄视为独立存在的个体 (名词，箴 8:13)、存在方式 (形容词，诗 101:5) 还是行为方式 (副词，出 18:11；参：诗 94:4-7)，人们都应以最严肃的态度对待它。傲慢和其他表达傲慢的词语都狂妄、不正当地宣称人类的优越性，并认为他们主宰着生活，这种观点是很可怕的，尤其是将这种观点与《圣经》中的观点进行对比时 (《圣经》认为只有造物主可以主宰历史)。

当以赛亚论及亚述王的狂妄时，他用希伯来语中的对应词汇指出，亚述王的狂妄地宣称掌控着历史，他的傲慢简直就是在向耶和华发烈怒 (王下 19:28；平行经文，赛 37:29)，以赛亚反复强调这一观点，并且通过另一个例子阐明了这一观点。这种傲慢的行为证明此人缺乏真正的知识 (撒上 2:3 起) 或者说他没有合理地理解人类在世上真正的地位 (对比诗 73:3 和诗 73:16 起)。

From the Judeo-Christian perspective arrogance and its concomitant boasting is simply an aberrant perception of reality that does not acknowledge or understand the larger picture (Jas. 4:13-15); therefore "all such boasting is evil" (v. 16). It insists that it is capable of controlling reality without recourse to God. This is why Paul insists that a bishop, as leader of a Christian congregation, "must not be arrogant" (Tit. 1:7; the LXX uses the same word in Prov. 21:24), but on the contrary must be "hospitable, a lover of goodness, master of himself, upright, holy, and self-controlled; he must hold firm to the sure word ..." (Tit. 1:8f.).

Just as James sees that arrogant boasting (Gk. alazoneía) indicates a distorted view of the world, so John understands that those who are spellbound by the "glamour of its life" (NEB's translation of alazoneía in 1 Jn. 2:16) are entranced by a false reality, i.e., a world already in process of passing away (v. 17).

犹太教和基督教都认为狂妄以及随之而生的夸口不过是脱离对现实正确认知的行为，他们不知还有更大的主宰者（雅 4:13-15）；因此“凡这样夸口的都是恶的”（雅 4:16）。傲慢之人以为自己不依赖神就可以掌控现实。因此，保罗要求主教——基督教会的管理者“绝不可狂妄”（多 1:7；《七十士译本》在《箴言》21:24 中也采用了同一个词），而要“乐意接待远人，好善，庄重，公平，圣洁，自持，坚守所教真实的道理……”（多 1:8-9）。

正如雅各所说，傲慢的夸口（希腊语：alazoneía）是对世界的扭曲的认知，所以约翰认为傲慢的人被“今生的骄傲”所迷惑（《新英文译本》在《约翰一书》2:16 中对希腊语 alazoneía 的翻译），他们为虚假的现实（即要过去的世界，约壹 2:17）而着迷。

är-sä'sēz, är'sə-sēz [Gk. Arsakēs]; NEB ARSAKES. The common name assumed by all the Parthian kings. The name is mentioned in 1 Macc. 14:1-3 in connection with the history of Demetrius, one of the Greek (Seleucid) kings of Syria, and successor of Antiochus Epiphanes the oppressor of the Jews who caused the Maccabean uprising against the Syrian domination. This particular Arsaces was the sixth of the line of independent Parthian rulers that had been founded in 250 B.C. by Arsaces I, who revolted from Antiochus Theos, killed the Syrian satraps, and with his successor Tiridates I firmly established the independence of the Parthian kingdom. About 243 B.C. Tiridates added Hyrcania to his dominions; but it was not until the reign of Arsaces VI, whose prerogal name was Mithridates, that Parthia, through the conquest of Bactria, Media, Persia, Armenia, Elymais, and Babylonia, threatened the very existence of the kingdom of the Seleucids and became a dangerous competitor of Rome itself. It was this king who ca. 141 B.C. was attacked by Demetrius Nicator, king of Syria.

Arsaces VI is mentioned also in 1 Macc. 15:22 as one of the kings whom the Romans forbade to make war on their Jewish allies.

I. Definition.—Any attempt to define “art” runs into subjective problems. A person who has acquired a skill is an artisan or an artist. The product of that skill is an artifact or art. But when is it art? We speak of “the art of cooking,” but is it the same application of skill as “the art of painting,” or, for that matter, “the art of gardening”? The bricklayer who lays up a solid wall with no variation in pattern is an artisan, but is he an artist if the wall contains an intricate and pleasing design or pattern? The application of some skill in all cases is doubtless present. As for the pleasing effect, to whom must it be pleasing? In art appreciation, as in eating,

ART 艺术

一项技能或能力；更具体地说，就是利用一项技能达到令人愉悦的效果。

- I. 定义
- II. 分类
- III. 材料、形式和内容
- IV. 艺术和科学
- V. 艺术史
- VI. 艺术和《圣经》
- VII. 艺术和末世论

I. 定义。定义“艺术”时总会遇到一些主观问题。掌握一项技能的人被称作工匠或艺术家。这项技能的产品是人工制品或艺术品。但是何时才能称其为艺术呢？我们说“烹饪的艺术”，但是这种对技能的应用与“绘画艺术”或“园艺艺术”是否完全相同呢？将实体墙建造得一模一样的砖瓦匠被称为工匠，但是如果墙体的样式复杂或其设计令人愉悦，那么是否也可以称这位砖瓦匠为艺术家呢？毫无疑问，某些技能可以应用于所有的领域。而令人愉悦的效果，又作用于谁呢？艺术鉴赏就像吃饭一样，人们的品味各有不同，无从争论。

there is no argument concerning taste.

One definition that seeks to be objective distinguishes between the utilitarian and the nonutilitarian. Art is nonutilitarian. But what of architecture, to cite just one example? Some might say that a cathedral is nonutilitarian, but would they say that of a beautiful home or hotel? It seems that the difference is not as clearly objective as we first thought, particularly when we take into consideration that the psychological effects of a “beautiful” office are demonstrably productive of “useful” work.

Another definition distinguishes between the “fine arts” and the “liberal arts.” The fine arts (from the French beaux arts) are those that are related to the beautiful, whereas the liberal arts are such things as grammar, logic, and rhetoric. Most music, we would probably agree, would be in the category of fine arts, whereas mathematics as a kind of logic belongs to liberal arts. But what of music that is composed by a computer using mathematical formulae? Is it art? If so, who is the artist? When we turn to rhetoric we find that many modern grammars include a section on “style.” But style is more a matter of what is pleasing than what is useful, and certainly great oratory and literature belong with the fine arts.

In this article it becomes necessary to make a subjective decision. The term “art” will deal with the “fine arts” as commonly defined, viz., architecture, painting, sculpture, the dance, music, and literature. These subjects can be dealt with only generally and briefly, since separate articles deal with each one in more depth, and the entire article is rather severely restricted to those elements that may be of significance to Bible students.

本文也需要对艺术下一个主观的定义。本文中的“艺术”一词指的就是通常所说的“精美艺术”，即，建筑、绘画、雕塑、舞蹈、音乐和文学。本词条只对这些主题进行笼统简单地描述，因为分词条中将会对每一个主题进行深入的阐述，本词条的内容严格限制为可能对《圣经》学者有意义的元素。

II. Classification.- The arts can be classified as spatial and temporal. Architecture, sculpture, and painting are spatial arts. Music and literature are temporal arts. The dance extends over both categories. Spatial art must be seen as a whole before the parts become meaningful; temporal art, on the other hand, must be seen or heard in the parts before the whole can be comprehended. Greater use of the memory is therefore required in the temporal arts, and the artist must make use of repetition and interpretation to convey his message.

The arts can also be classified as aural and visual. Music and, in spoken form, literature are aural arts. Music must be heard to be comprehended. The dance often involves hearing as well as seeing, as when some rhythmic noise (tapping or clapping) is produced as part of the dance. The other senses are usually not involved in art appreciation.

III. Matter, Form, and Content.- In each of the arts we speak of matter, form, and content. Certain materials are available to the artist to which he can apply his skill. Phidias, we know, could not have created the classical beauty of Athens if the marble resources of Mt. Pentelicus had not recently been made available. There was no great architecture or sculpture in early Babylonia, probably not because there were no artists who could develop the required skills, but because there was no stone in Babylonia. The composer must work with the musical instruments that are available, the painter with both

II. 分类。艺术可以从时间和空间上进行分类。建筑、雕塑和绘画属于空间艺术。音乐和文学属于时间艺术。舞蹈既是时间艺术也是空间艺术。空间艺术只有被视为一个整体才具有意义，各组成部分并没有意义。但欣赏时间艺术时，只有看到或听到各个组成部分才能理解整体的含义。因此，时间艺术需要人们更多地利用他们的记忆力，艺术家们必须不断地重复和解释他们的作品，以此传达他们想要表达的信息。

艺术也可以划分为听觉艺术和视觉艺术。音乐和口述文学属于听觉艺术。若想理解音乐必须用耳朵听。欣赏舞蹈经常需要人们动用听觉和视觉，因为舞蹈中有些带有节奏的旋律（如踢踏声和掌声）需要人们通过听觉来欣赏。艺术欣赏通常不需要动用其他的感官。

III. 材料、形式和内容。在谈到每一门艺术时，我们总会谈到这门艺术的材料、形式和内容。艺术家们将他们的技艺应用到一些可用的材料上进行艺术创作。我们知道，如果当时无法利用彭忒利科斯山上的大理石，那么菲狄亚斯就无法创造出雅典的古典美。巴比伦早期没有出现伟大的建筑或雕塑，这可能并不是因为缺少掌握这项技能的艺术家，而是因为当时巴比伦没有可用的石材。作曲家必须利用乐器进行创作，画家必须利用画笔和画板进行创造。当然，人们还会使用新的材料，这些新材料甚至可能也是艺术创作的一部分，如，用树脂绘画，或用钢筋混凝土和玻 the materials on which to paint and those with which to paint. Of course, new materials may become available, and the artist may even be responsible in part for their creation, such as painting with resins, or building with reinforced concrete or with glass.

Form is the use that the artist makes of his material. Content pertains to what is expressed when he has finished his artistic creation. The artist's skill is demonstrated by his selection and arrangement of materials to create effect.

It is apparent that the artist's purpose must be compatible with matter and form. If an artist, for example, wished to move men's emotions in some area of civil rights, he could hardly do so by electing to use architecture as his art. Nor would a composer be likely to describe the flight of a bumblebee by writing a duet for tuba and tympani.

Each art, therefore, has limitations imposed upon its content. Music is often called "the universal language," but while it is almost universal in conveying emotional concepts, it is limited in the intellectual message it can convey. Sculpture and painting, on the other hand, are probably more limited than music in expressing emotion. Literature is by far the most communicative of the arts—unless, of course, we include theater or drama, which is a combination of literature with one or more of the other arts.

形式指的是艺术家们利用材料的方法。内容与艺术家完成的作品所表达的思想有关。艺术家们通过选择材料和安排材料达到预期的效果，并以这种方式展现他们的技能。

显然，艺术家的创作目的必须与他利用的材料和形式相一致。例如，艺术家们很难通过建筑表达他们对公民权利的一些想法。作曲家也不太可能用大号和定音锤创作一曲关于大黄蜂飞行的二重奏。

因此，每一种艺术的创作内容都有一定的局限性。人们经常称音乐为“通用的语言”，然而，音乐虽然在传递情感思想时几乎是通用的，但它在传达知识信息时却有所限制。但是，与音乐相比，雕塑和绘画可能在表达情感上更具有局限性。文学是最善于表达的艺术——当然我们这里所说的文学包含了戏剧，它是文学和其他一种或多种艺术的结合物。

IV. Art and Science.-According to one view, art and science are both concerned with the pursuit of truth. The scientist breaks things down (analysis); the artist puts things together (synthesis). The scientist tends to become a specialist, the artist a universalist. The scientist strives to isolate the smallest of the component parts; the artist puts the parts together to create a world. The scientist formulates a theory that is temporary, that must be changed when further observations are made. The artist creates something that is permanent; once finished it stands (or at least, it could conceivably stand, barring some destruction) forever.

IV. 艺术和科学。有一种观点认为，艺术和科学都致力于追求真理。科学家们分解事物（分析）；艺术家们将事物整合在一起（综合）。科学家是各个领域的专家，而艺术家是通才。科学家们努力将事物分解成最小的组成部分；而艺术家们将各部分组合在一起构成了一个新的世界。科学家们提出的理论随着深入观察的展开而不断更新。艺术家们的创造是永恒的；一部作品一旦形成，将永远长存（或者至少可以说，除非遭受破坏，否则他们的作品可能会一直存在）。

But is this view entirely correct? The characteristic of art is creativity. Let the scientist become creative and to that degree he is no longer a scientist. His sole responsibility is to observe and report the world as it is. When he alters any portion of it to what he would like it to be, he falsifies and is no longer a pure scientist. But the artist, in contrast, makes his world as he thinks it is or as he wants it to be. The artist may want to paint a landscape, but in his creative imagination, there should be a boy in a red sweater with a Fishing-rod on a bicycle riding along that road in the foreground, and a few cumulus clouds in the sky, with perhaps a glow of early-morning sun. And so he paints it. He has not falsified; he has created.

然而，这种观点是否完全正确呢？艺术的特点就在于创新。科学家若有了创新能力，那么从某种意义上来说，他就不再是一个科学家。科学家的唯一的职责就是观察这个世界，并且按照它的本来面貌呈现这个世界。如果他按照自己的意愿改变了某一部分，那么他就是在进

行篡改，就不再是纯粹的科学。可是，艺术家恰恰与之相反，他按照自己的想法或意愿创造他的世界。艺术家在描绘一片风景时，可能会加入自己的想象，画面的前景应该是一个穿着红色毛衣的小男孩背着钓鱼竿骑车在路上，天空中飘着几朵白云，可能还会看到清晨的一缕阳光。他就这样描绘着这片风景。他不是篡改而是在创作。

Some would rule out the photographer just at this point. The photographer simply records the world as it is, even to the wart on the nose. The artist removes the wart. But again we see how tenuous is the dividing line, for what is the difference between painting out the wart or turning the subject's head so the wart does not show in the photograph? The scientist must be creative if he is to develop theories that lead into new fields of observation. The photographer is a scientist when he records a portion of the world exactly as it is; but when he selects that portion with an eye to composition, distribution, balance, or radiation, and when he uses light and shadow to bring out the message he wishes to convey, is he scientist or artist?

Perhaps we should say that art and science are both concerned with the communication of truth: the scientist with truth as he has found it, and the artist with truth as he imagines it. But again we discover that there are complicating factors that make a simple statement less than satisfactory. The scientist not only conveys truth as he has found it, but also suggests truth as he creates it on the basis of observation, viz., his scientific theory. And the artist likewise sometimes creates a world in his imagination that is so far removed from the world of reality that it becomes fantastic or even schizophrenic.

Even with the problems of imprecision, we can say that communication of feeling is the essence of art. By a combination of sounds, or colors, or lines, or masses, or motions, or words, the artist conveys to me a bit of the world as he thinks it ought

的，雕像由银、金、天青石组成，公山羊的木质身体上镶有白色贝壳。（大英博物馆理事会）

有些人根据这一点将摄影师排除在艺术家行列之外。摄影师只是简单地按照世界的原样记录着世界，甚至连人鼻子上的疣都不加修饰。艺术家就会将这些疣修饰调。但是，我们再次看到这条分界线是多么地模糊，因为涂掉人物的鼻子上的疣或拍摄时让主人公转过头从而不拍人物的这一缺点，这两者之间有什么区别呢？科学家如果想让他提出的理论将人们带入新的观察领域，那么他必须具有创造力。当摄影师如实地记录世界的某一部分时，他是科学家；但是当他采用构图、布局、平衡和辐射的视角进行拍摄时，当他采用强光和暗光拍摄来表达自己的想法时，摄影师是科学家还是艺术家？

或许，我们可以说，艺术和科学都专注于与真理的交流：科学家专注于他发现真理，而艺术家专注于想象中的真理。但是我们会再次发现，许多复杂的因素致使这一简单的陈述不太尽如人意。科学家不但如实地传达了他发现的真理，而且根据他的观察创造了真理，即，科学理论。同样，艺术家按照其想象创造的世界有时远离了现实，变成了一个不切实际甚至是自相矛盾的世界。

to be, or shocks me into seeing it as it appears to him. The ability to produce a pleasing effect is of less importance than the ability to produce the desired emotional effect. If this is so, then the measure of an artist is his ability to communicate through the art he has chosen, and the artist who is able to maintain that communication to generations of men in many nations, in all races and social strata, is therefore a greater artist than one who speaks only to a small segment, perhaps the avant garde, of a single time and place.

V. History of Art.-If it is difficult to define art, it is equally difficult to determine its appearance in history. If art is simply the application of a skill to produce a pleasing effect, then we must admit that the first man who fashioned a stone axe that gave him pleasure when he looked at it was an artist. If art is merely communication, then the first man who scratched a picture on the wall of a cave to say that he had gone hunting was an artist. And what shall we say of the man who painted a corpse with red ochre, or covered the mud floor with lime, or added a pattern when building a wall?

It is generally conceded that art, in the sense of the acquisition and use of an emotive skill, could not develop until man had available the time needed. As long as he was a "food gatherer," i.e., in the Stone Age when men were hunters and fishers, there was little time to develop artistic abilities. It was only with the "Neolithic revolution," when man became a "food producer," when he built a village with some of his fellow men and they produced the food there by the cultivation of cereals and the domestication of animals, that he at last had time for the arts.

V. 艺术史。如果说定义艺术困难，那么确定艺术何时出现在历史中同样困难。如果艺术就是简单地应用技能达到满意的效果，那么我们必须承认第一个从打造石斧中获得乐趣的人，他在欣赏自己的作品时就是一位艺术家。如果艺术仅仅是交流，那么第一个在山洞墙壁上勾画出自己狩猎场景的人也是艺术家。那么要如何定义用红赭石画给尸体涂上颜色的人，用石灰覆盖泥土地面的人或砌墙时拼出图案的人呢？他们是否可以也可以被称作艺术家呢？

人们通常承认，从掌握和运用表达感情的技能的意义来说，只有当人们拥有创作所需的时间时，艺术才会形成。如人类在石器时代只会打猎和捕鱼，他们只能算是“觅食者”，基本没有时间发展艺术才能。人类只有在经历了“新石器革命”之后，才懂得与同伴建造村庄，通过种植谷物和蓄养家畜制造食物，成为了真正的“食物生产者”，这时他们才最终拥有了进行艺术创作的时间。

In the undated past, some Cain built the first city (Gen. 4:17). Whether it was in Jordan, Iran, or Anatolia, we must leave to the archeologists to decide. By 7000 B.C. agriculture was well established in these areas. (Cain's brother, we remember, was a "tiller of the ground," Gen. 4:2.) The development of the arts quickly followed. Some Jubal invented the lyre and the flute (Gen. 4:21), and composers were developing their skill with music. Lyres and flutes can be seen among the archeological discoveries from early mesopotamia and Egypt. Pottery, a kind of "sculpture," was invented, and soon it was decorated with lines scratched in the clay before baking, and then the painter began to paint figures on the pottery. Wall paintings seem to have been produced earlier in Egypt than in Mesopotamia, and the dance, as well as the accompanying musical instruments, are shown in some of the paintings. Sculpture, in low relief (as at el-'Obeid) and in the round (as at Tell Asmar), made its appearance in Mesopotamia and soon after in Egypt. Writing was invented, perhaps simultaneously and independently, in Egypt and Mesopotamia, and while no literary compositions from the earliest period have been found, it is obvious, from the well-established literary forms, that a preliterate literature (epic tales, annals, ritual, etc.) was already in existence in spoken form. Temples had been built (as at Eridu and Tepe Gawra), showing clear evidence of architectural design. The same was true of pyramids (as at Sakkara).

在某一历史时刻，该隐建造了第一座城市（创 4:17）。这座城市是建在约旦、伊朗还是在安纳托利亚，我们必须留给考古学家们决定。到公元前 7000 年，上述地区的农业已经颇具规模。（我们记得，该隐的兄弟是“种地的”，创 4:2。）此后，艺术开始迅速发展。一个名叫犹八的人发明了琴和箫（创 4:21），作曲家们不断发展他们的作曲技法。美索不达米亚和埃及早期的考古发现中可以看到琴和箫。陶器作为一种“雕塑”也被人们发明出来，不久，人们就在陶泥上画上纹路，然后再进行烘烤，然后画家开始在陶器上绘画。埃及的壁画似乎比美索不达米亚的壁画出现得早，在某些绘画作品中出现了舞蹈和伴奏的乐器。美索不达米亚地区发现了浅浮雕（如奥贝伊德中出土的半浮雕）和圆雕（如阿斯马尔地区出土的圆雕雕塑），埃及不久之后也出现了雕塑。埃及和美索不达米亚地区的文字可能同时出现，并独立发展，虽然人们没有发现最早时期的文学作品，显然，完善的文学出现之前，前语言文学已经以口述的形式存在着（如，史诗传说、年鉴、仪式等）。人们建造了神庙（如，埃里都神庙和泰佩高拉神庙），这些神庙展现出清晰的建筑设计痕迹。金字塔也是如此（如，萨卡拉金字塔）。

We can therefore conclude that by the end of the fourth millennium (3000 B.C.) or soon thereafter, all six of the arts were known, some of them before 4000 B.C.

VI. Art and the Bible.-God the Creator is the great Artist. He set the dome of the heavens and fashioned the universe. He created the music of the stars and set the heavenly bodies whirling in a great cosmic dance. He paints the sky of man's earth with clouds and sunsets, and the ground with flowers and streams. He fashioned man out of dust of the earth. He tells the greatest love story of time and eternity, and unfolds it in a drama unlike any that man has ever created. He uses every art and every medium.

He created man in His own image, and man, too, is a creator and an artist. The art of storytelling was developed quite early, when the serpent attempted to achieve an effect by the tale he communicated to Eve, who in turn used the art to achieve her purpose with Adam, who likewise attempted to use the art to achieve his purpose with God (Gen. 3:1-12). The Bible presupposes the existence of preliterate forms of literature by including genealogies, poetry, historical narrative, and other literary genres, from the period before the Flood—literary forms that could only have been preserved by oral transmission until they were written down at a much later time. We shall return to this after we have discussed the appearance and development of other arts in the biblical account.

There can be no doubt that all of the arts were well developed by the time of the appearance of the Israelite nation. Some

因此，可以得出结论，到公元前 4000 年末期（公元前 3000 年）或其后不久，这六种艺术形式已经出现，有些可能在公元前 4000 年以前就已经出现了。

VI. 艺术和《圣经》。造物主上帝是位伟大的艺术家。祂创造了天和宇宙，谱写了群星的乐曲，令这些天体在宇宙中旋转起舞。祂为人类的天空画上了白云和落日，又用花朵和溪流装点大地。祂用地上的尘土创造了人。祂讲述着关于时间和永恒的至爱故事，并以人类无法企及的剧情演绎出来。祂用尽了所有的艺术形式和媒介。

祂按照自己的形象造人，人类也是创造者和艺术家。很早时期，讲故事的艺术就发展了起来，蛇将它编造的谎话给夏娃，从而达成它的目的，而夏娃用同样的方法令亚当信以为真，最后亚当也试图用谎话来欺骗神（创 3:1-12）。《圣经》假定在洪水之前存在前文字的文学形式，这些文学形式包括宗谱、诗歌、史话和其他文学体裁，早期的文学形式只能通过口头传承载保存下来，直到很久以后才以文字形式记录下来。讨论完《圣经》中其他艺术的出现和发展之后，我们会继续讨论这一点。

毋庸置疑，以色列民族出现时，所有的艺术形式都已经发展得较为成熟。某些圣经学者似乎反对任何关于“选民”不

Bible students appear to resent any suggestion that the “chosen people” were inferior in any way to their idolatrous neighbors. This attitude is unrealistic, and refuses to accept not only the facts recovered by the archeologist’s spade but even the clear declarations of the Bible itself. Israel was not chosen because of superior value, whether in number, or intellectual ability, or even moral excellence. The choice of Israel was a sovereign act of God (Dt. 8:11–18; 9:4–6; etc.). The simple fact is that the Israelites developed a severely limited number of artistic skills.

Part of this poverty in artistic ability was doubtless due to the lack of materials and time to develop skills. Where would desert bedouin find the materials or the time to become sculptors? Or the slaves in Egypt the time to become painters? Or farmers and shepherds in the land of Canaan the time to become architects?

Part of the failure to develop certain artistic abilities was no doubt due to the teachings of the religion of Yahweh the God of Israel. Take architecture as an example. In the biblical account, the first builders attempted to build a tower reaching to heaven. God was displeased. He is the God who comes to earth in order to bring men to Himself. He will not tolerate a religion that expresses the humanistic concept that man can by his own efforts get to heaven. So the Israelites did not become builders.

They built the tabernacle in the wilderness, of course, and, to judge by the detailed description, it was a work of art. But while it required certain skills, it was not the type of building that required

如崇拜偶像的领邦的观点。。这种态度法是不现实的，它不仅否认考古学家发现的证据，甚至违背绝《圣经》本身的明示。以色列人并不是因为他们的优越性而被神拣选，神拣选他们不是因为他们人数多，智商高或道德水平高。拣选以色列是神至高无上的行为（申 8:11；9:4-6 等）。最简单的一个事实就是，以色列人的艺术能力非常有限。

缺少材料和发展技能的时间无疑是造成艺术创作能力匮乏的一个因素。身处荒凉之地的贝多因人哪有材料或时间研究雕刻？埃及的奴隶可能有时间成为画家吗？迦南地的农民和牧羊人可能有时间成为建筑师吗？

艺术能力培养上的失败部分应归于以色列的神——耶和华在宗教上对以色列人的教导。以建筑为例，《圣经》中记载，历史上第一批建造者试图建造通天塔，这引起了神的震怒。祂是降到地上将人引向天堂的唯一真神。祂决不能容忍一种宣扬人文主义思想的宗教存在，使人认为通过自身的努力也可以上天堂。因此，以色列人没有成为建筑师。

当然，他们在旷野上建造了会幕，根据具体细节描述，会幕是一件艺术品。但是，虽然建造会幕需要掌握一定的技能，但是建造会幕并不需要建筑师，也培养不出建筑师。数个世纪之后，当所

or developed architects. When Solomon, centuries later, wished to build a house for the Lord, it was necessary for him to import Tyrian (Phoenician) architects to supply the artistic skill. The Israelites were useful only for hauling the cedar logs from Lebanon or for cutting the soft limestone from the strata that underlay Jerusalem. The casting of bronze, the ornamentation, the true “art work” had to be done by the artists furnished by King Hiram of Tyre (1 K. 5–7).

Sculpture and painting, likewise, were not developed arts among the Israelites. No favorable mention of these arts is found in the Bible except for the gem-cutting and wood-carving that was part of the building of the tabernacle (Ex. 35:33; 36:38). Archeologists have commented on the lack of sculpture (whether large figures or small figurines) in Israelite sites. Since the materials were available, and since the non-Israelite peoples in the same region did develop the art of sculpture and some kinds of painting, we must conclude that there was a religious taboo among the Israelites. In Ex. 32:2ff, soon after their departure from Egypt, the Israelites made a “molten calf,” i.e., they cast a figure in the round. It would have been necessary for them to carve such a figure from wood or fashion it in clay, in order to make the mold for the casting. We conclude that the innate artistic ability was present, and needed only the development of the skills.

But this was at once forestalled by the divine commandment, “You shall not make for yourself any graven image, or any likeness of anything that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; you shall not bow down to them or serve them ...” (Ex. 20:4f.). It can be demonstrated exegetically that the purpose of this commandment was not to prohibit painting and sculpture but rather to prohibit the worship of images. Whenever we find any prophetic word on the subject, it is not directed against the art, but against the idolatry (Isa. 30:22; Hos. 13:2; etc.). It can be argued, of course, that the image leads to the sin of idolatry—but a similar argument can be made concerning many amoral things, such as money, intellectual ability, physical strength, sex, etc. The ambivalent nature of certain things does not make them sinful; rather it imposes upon man an obligation to use them sinlessly. Still, the fact remains that the people of the OT showed no inclination to develop sculpture and painting within their religious system. Under the impact of Hellenism, toward the end of the pre-Christian era, we find for the first time any measurable artistic effort in these categories. NT references are almost nonexistent. We might note, in passing, that when Paul saw the magnificent beauty of Athens, he was apparently unimpressed, concerned only with the rampant idolatry. However, he was not above using one of their altars as the opening illustration by which he could go on to preach Jesus and the resurrection (Acts 17:22–29).

以色列人在雕塑和绘画方面的成就也不高。除了建造会幕时提到切割宝石和雕刻木头的技能之外（出 35:33; 36:38），《圣经》并没有对这些艺术进行积极的评价。考古学家评论道，以色列的遗址中少有雕塑品（无论大型雕像还是小型雕像）。既然拥有可用的材料，而且生活在同一区域的以色列以外的民族发展了各自的雕塑艺术和绘画艺术，那么我们不得不将其归因于以色列人的宗教禁忌。根据《出埃及记》32:2 起中的记载，以色列人出埃及后不久就铸造了一只“牛犊”，即，铸造了一个圆雕。他们必须先用木头雕刻出或用黏土捏出牛犊的形象，把它当成铸造用的模子。我们得出的结论是，以色列人有与生俱来的艺术能力，他们所要做的，就是将这种能力发展起来。

但是神在此前就已严厉禁止这一行为，“不可为自己雕刻偶像，也不可作什么形像仿佛上天，下地，和地底下，水中的百物。不可跪拜那些像，也不可侍奉它……”（出 20:4-5）。这段经文应该这样解读，这条诫命不是为了阻止人们创

But if architecture, sculpture, and painting were undeveloped artistic skills among the people of the Bible, the same cannot be said for the remaining arts. Music and to a lesser extent dancing were part of their life and their worship. It would take an extended study of the subject (see MUSIC) to cover all the ways that music was used, the various instruments that are named, and the development of the musical part of worship in the temple. We have recovered no musical scores and virtually no musical instruments in Israelite archeology. But we do have a fairly large and varied vocabulary of musical instruments in the OT, in most cases as incidental parts of the story, and therefore not merely the effort of some writer to mention instruments that he had only heard about. In addition, we have, in the Psalms and elsewhere in the OT and NT, various types of songs, indicative of a rather well-developed hymnody. The literary part of hymnody properly belongs to the study of literature. We mention it here because some kind of musical arrangement or accompaniment is associated with it, whether by the mention of instruments or by the reference to choirs. Music, as an integral part of worship, was taken over by early Christians, partly because it was their heritage as Jews and partly, no doubt, because of the example of their Master, who, with His apostles, closed the Last Supper with the singing of a hymn (Mt. 26:30).

神的仪式中的发展历程。我们在以色列的考古过程中并没有发现音乐乐谱，也几乎没有找到任何乐器。但是《旧约》中确实记载了大量关于乐器的不同词汇，大多数时候，这些词汇是故事中提供的附加信息，因此，它们不仅仅是某些作者对自己听说过的乐器所做的记录。此外，我们在《诗篇》、《旧约》和《新约》的其他章节中也可以发现了各种类型的歌曲，这表明当时的赞美诗已经发展得相当成熟。赞美诗中的文学部分应当属于文学的研究范畴。但我们在这里提到了它，是因为某种编曲或乐器伴奏与之有关，《圣经》经文中有时会提及一些乐器，有时会提到唱诗班。音乐是敬拜神仪式的主要组成部分，早期基督徒接受了这一艺术形式，一方面是因为音乐是犹太人留给他们的遗产，另一方面，无疑是因为他们的主与门徒共进的“最后的晚餐”，是以唱诗结束的（太 26:30）。

To judge from references scattered through the Bible, dancing was also an artistic form of expression, in both the secular and the religious life of the people. Dancing was part of the scene that Moses beheld, along with the golden calf, when he returned to the camp (Ex. 32:19). We assume that it was part of the people's religious expression along with the singing and the idolatrous image. When the Israelites were delivered from the Egyptian armies by the miracle at the Red Sea, Miriam and "all the women" joined in praising the Lord, with timbrels and dancing (15:20). Likewise, "when David returned from slaying the Philistine," the women came out to meet King Saul singing and dancing "with timbrels, with songs of joy, and with instruments of music" (1 S. 18:6). This dancing is usually described as having religious significance, but the biblical account says nothing about any religious motive; it appears to be hero-worship directed toward David, and Saul apparently understood it as such (vv 8f). It is true, however, that when David “danced before the Lord with all his might” (2 S. 6:14) and was rebuked by his wife Michal for such a vulgar display, he replied, “It was before the Lord, ... and I will make merry before the Lord” (6:21). In the NT there is likewise little if any religious significance in the dance, whether it was the dance of Salome the daughter of Herodias (cf. Josephus Ant. xviii.5.4) at Herod’s birthday party (Mt. 14:6; Mk. 6:22), or the dance that was given when the Prodigal Son returned home (Lk. 15:25). Since no representations of the dance have been recorded, such as those in Egyptian wall paintings, we can only conjecture about the form of Israelite dancing.

不论是希律的女儿萨洛米在希律生日筵席上跳的舞蹈（参：Josephus Ant. xviii.5.4），还是浪子归家时的舞蹈都不具有宗教意义（路 15:25）。既然没有一个舞蹈片段被人们记录下来（如，埃及壁画中展现的那样），我们只能推测以色列的舞蹈形式。 scholarship until the 4th century. (W. S. LaSor)

By far the most thoroughly developed art in Israel was literature. Thanks to the extensive archeological discoveries of the past 150 years, we have a vast knowledge of the literature of the peoples of the ancient Near East. We have quantities of religious literature, hymns, epics, and other genres, from the Sumerians, the Babylonians, the Egyptians, the people of Ugarit, the Greeks, and others. It is in no way derogatory to these other peoples to say that we have far more religious literature from the Israelites than from any other single people. There seems to be no doubt that the people of the OT originated some forms earlier than any other people, and that they developed other forms to a greater extent, even if they were not the originators. This is often referred to as “the Semitic genius for religion,” but this is a misnomer, for the Babylonians and the Canaanites (Ugaritians) were also Semites. The phenomenon is uniquely Israelite.

Just as the very limited extent to which Israel developed the spatial arts can be traced at least in part to a religious taboo, so the extensive development of literature can be linked with their religious heritage. Their God, far beyond the gods of the nations, was a God who communicated. To speak of Him merely as “the God who acts” is to miss the genius of the OT faith. He did act (and still does), and the religious significance of history was therefore developed in Israel to an extent not matched anywhere else in religious literature. But this is only part of the story. God not only acted; in addition, to His servants the prophets (using the term broadly to include Abraham, Moses, and others, as well as those more commonly called “prophets”) He revealed the significance of what He was going to do or had done.

This revelation became the basis for the Scriptures. The people told and retold the stories of how their God had revealed Himself. They used many types of literature: historical recitation, poetry, legal proscriptions, lists of names, and others—but always with religious significance. The people of Yahweh developed the art of literature because their God encouraged them to tell the stories to their children and their children’s children, and because He provided the example. Literature is the most perfect form of art for the communication of ideas that are designed to reach the mind, the heart, and the will. God not only communicated to His people, He wanted them to be faithful in communicating His message to all men.

这一启示构成了《圣经》的基础。人们反复讲述着上帝是如何自我揭示的。他们利用多种文学形式：历史详述、诗歌、律法禁令、名单等——但是这些文学形式总是带有一定的宗教意义。耶和華的子民发展了文学艺术，因为他们的神鼓励他们给他们的子孙后裔讲故事，因为祂给出了榜样。文学是交流观点的最完美艺术形式，文学能够沟通思想和心灵，传达人的情感。上帝不仅与祂的子民交流，还要求祂的子民忠实地将祂揭示的道传递给所有的人。

VII. Art and Eschatology.-Little has been written about the place of art in the age to come, but there are some significant points revealed in Scripture.

One of the most striking, perhaps, is the revelation that in the New Jerusalem that is to be let down from heaven, there is no temple (Rev. 21:22). Little is said concerning the architecture of the Holy City, but we are told instead of its river and its trees and their health-giving nature (Rev. 22:1f.). It would seem that problems of ecology, the curse brought about by the building of cities, will be no problem in the Heavenly City.

Nor is anything said about statues and paintings in the New Jerusalem. The walls, the gates, even the very streets of the city are adorned, but their adornment come from nature, from the precious and semiprecious (Rev. 21:17-21); and since it is a city not made with hands, we assume that these are not the artistic creations of men. Paintings, as we know them, in a land of endless day (therefore no sunsets) and a glassy sea (hence no clouds, no waves, no storms), would lack excitement and would fail to convey an emotional message. Besides, if these forms of art are an attempt on the part of the artist to create a world according to his own ideal, why are they needed in an ideal world? How can an artist improve on perfection? How can we move men when nothing is lacking? The glory of the Holy City is the Lamb. What painting or what sculpture can fully convey that message?

VII. 艺术和末世论。《圣经》中很少写到艺术在将来的世界所处的地位, 但是经文中揭示了一些关键点。

经文中也没有提到新耶路撒冷的雕塑和绘画。城墙、城门甚至包括城内的街道都被装饰起来, 但是这些建筑结构是被自然材料、宝石和半宝石装饰的(启 21:17-21); 由于这座城市不是人力建成的, 因此我们认为这些建筑结构也不属于人类的艺术创造。我们知道, 在无尽的白昼(因此没有日落)和平静的海洋(因此天空无云, 海上没有风浪或风暴)的国度里, 绘画将索然无味, 无法传递情感信息。此外, 如果这些艺术形式是艺术家们根据他们的理想创造出的世界, 那么在理想世界中它们还有存在的必要吗? 艺术家如何在完美的程度上更上一层楼呢? 在一个无所欠缺的国度里, 我们如何能够感动人们呢? 圣城的荣耀是羔羊。什么样的绘画或雕塑能够完整地表达这一信息呢?

Silver "Chalice of Antioch" (4th–5th cents A.D.), once thought to be that used at the Last Supper. The metal work includes two representations of Christ, eight apostles, and two evangelists, all subordinate to highly stylized vines. (Metropolitan Museum of Art, Cloisters Collection)

The spatial arts, it would seem, are lacking in the world to come. But how could it be otherwise? Spatial arts must have boundaries. The viewer must be able to see the whole in order to comprehend its message—and how can we see the whole of eternity or infinity?

But there will be music there, and it will be a new song (Rev. 5:9). Music, the art that best conveys emotion even though it falls short in communicating factual expression, is well suited to the age of perfection. The communication of truth is necessary in this age because we know in part, but it becomes unnecessary when knowledge is perfect. On the other hand, the expression of feelings is a basic part of perfected man, even as it is a basic part of the God in whose image man was created. As a temporal art, music does not have to be presented in the whole in order to be understood. It can continue to unfold and to express new feelings through all eternity. The word has become flesh and dwells with man. Literature has been transformed into life. The books have been closed. But the song continues into endless ages.

但是天上会有音乐,人们将会唱新歌(启5:9)。虽然音乐不是实录性的表达方式,但是它是最能表达情感的艺术,音乐非常适合存在于完美的时代。此生我们需要交流真理,因为我们只掌握了部分真理,但是当知识达到完美,就不再需要这种交流了。另一方面,情感表达是完全人具备的一个基本要素,上帝以自己的样式造了人,那么同样,这也是上帝的一个基本要素。音乐作为一种时间艺术,人们不必听完整段音乐就能理解其中的信息。它永远能够展现和表达新的情感。道成了肉身,住在人的中

1. Artaxerxes I Longimanus (464–424 B.C.), son of Xerxes I, who subdued revolts in Egypt between 460 and 445 B.C. He permitted Ezra to visit Jerusalem as Commissioner for Jewish Affairs (Ezr. 7:7–26; Neh. 2:1; etc.) in 458 B.C. He also authorized the mission of Nehemiah twelve years later (Neh. 1:2, etc.).

2. The LXX reads Artaxerxes for Ahasuerus throughout Esther; and some scholars have thought that Artaxerxes II Mnemon (404–359 B.C.) was being envisaged, son of Darius I and grandson of Artaxerxes I, who defeated his brother Cyrus at the battle of Cunaxa in 401 B.C. More probably, however, the reference is to Xerxes I (486–485 B.C.).

är'tə-məs [Gk. Artemas] (Tit. 3:12). An associate of Paul, whom he planned to send (“or Tychicus”) to Crete to replace Titus, so that Titus could join Paul at Nicopolis. Tradition names him as bishop of Lystra, and as one of the seventy disciples.

The name is probably Greek, perhaps a masculine form of Artemis, or, as has been suggested, a short form of Artemidorus, a common name in Asia Minor. (These contracted forms were by no means rare in the Greek world. The Athenian orator Lysias was doubtless named after his grandfather Lysanias, and är'tə-məs [Gk. Artemis (Acts 19:35), Latinized as DIANA (AV)]. The Greek goddess of wild animals, wild nature, chastity, and childbirth, and the Ephesian goddess of fertility, superficially with little but the name in common.

2、《七十士译本》在整个《以斯帖记》中称亚达薛西为亚哈随鲁;有些学者认为亚达薛西二世马尼望(公元前404至公元前359年)是大流士一世的儿子、亚达薛西一世的孙子,他于公元前401年在克纳科萨战役中打败了他的兄弟居鲁士。但是,这个亚达薛西很有可能指的是薛西斯一世(公元前486至公元前485年)。

The Greek goddess Artemis, identified by the Romans as Diana, was the virgin huntress in the Hippolytus of Euripides, but behind that figure apparently was the goddess of wild nature, who was to be found in mountains and forests accompanied by nymphs. Worship of Artemis may be traced to Crete and the Greek mainland. The Cretan Mother Goddess had three roles: goddess of vegetation, mistress of animals, and goddess of the household. Each of these roles is perhaps reflected in the names by which she was known: Demeter, Artemis, and Athene. The problems of etymology of the names, relationships to other deities in other places, and the like, lie beyond our purpose here. It has been suggested that the name Artemis, which has defied all attempts to find an Indo-European or Greek etymology, may be Minoan. However, there are non-Minoan elements in the worship of Artemis as it developed, such as phallic dances and symbols, the concept that she was the sister of Apollo (who was not introduced to Greece until after the early Hellenic settlement), and her healing properties as reflected in the Iliad (v. 311–13), with reference to Aeneas. Since the Mycenaean princes encountered nature rarely except during the hunt, Artemis in Homer is essentially the archer and huntress (Il. vi.428; xvi.183; xx.39, 71; xxiv.606). From her relationship with Apollo developed a further relationship, that she was the daughter of Zeus and Leto. On a limestone tablet from Mycenae, she appears as the shield goddess (if correctly identified, as seems likely), hence the protectress of the citadel. In this capacity she can be compared with Athene. The comparison is further strengthened by the fact that Athene was associated with snake, bird, shield, and tree in the Erechtheon on the Acropolis of Athens, and in the epics of Homer she acts as protectress of her favorite heroes. These various strands yield a rather complex picture of Artemis, one who protected the chastity of her nymphs and was accordingly the goddess of maidens of marriageable age. As the goddess of animals, she on occasion required human sacrifices, yet she was at other times worshipped as the goddess who helped women in childbirth and gave gentle death to women. She was also a moon-goddess. The refining of her complex nature into the virgin huntress can be traced to the influence of poets such as Homer and Euripides.

希腊女神亚底米也就是罗马女神狄安娜, 她是欧里庇得斯的著作《希波吕托斯》中巡猎的处女, 她的原型显然就是狩猎女神, 她和陪伴她的仙女们生活在山林之中。克里特岛和希腊本土都崇拜亚底米女神。克里特人的母神扮演着三重角色: 植物女神、动物的女主人和家庭女神。她的三个不同的名字可能反映出她所扮演的三重角色: 得墨忒耳、亚底米和雅典娜。这些名字的词源、她们与在其他地方的其他神明的关系诸如此类的问题不在我们研究的范围内。有人指出, 印欧语系和希腊语词源说无法解释亚底米这个名字, 所以这个名字可能来自克里特语。但是在亚底米崇拜中也有一些非克里特文明元素, 如这一崇拜衍生出阳性崇拜的舞蹈和象征物; 她是阿波罗的妹妹(直到早期希腊移民定居之后, 阿波罗才被引入希腊); 《伊利亚特》(v. 311–13)中提到她治愈了特洛伊战争中的勇士。既然除了狩猎时, 迈锡尼的王公们很少亲近自然, 荷马作品中的亚底米从本质上讲是一位弓箭手和女猎人(Il. vi.428; xvi.183; xx.39, 71; xxiv.606)。从她是阿波罗的妹妹的说法中衍生出更深一层的关系, 即她是宙斯和勒托生的女儿。根据迈锡尼石灰岩石碑上的文字记载, 她似乎是保护女神(如果对碑文的解读无误, 情况似乎如此), 因此这位保护女神保护着城堡的安全。鉴于这一能力, 人们可以将她与雅典娜进行比较。雅典娜常与雅典卫城厄瑞克提翁神庙中的蛇、鸟、盾牌和

Artemis of Ephesus is often described as having little in common with the Greek goddess Artemis (and the Roman Diana), but study of the early portrayal of Artemis shows how the Ephesian, Greek, and Roman goddess could have been derived from a common prototype. Artemis of Ephesus, perhaps best known from the “many-breasted” statues that have been discovered at Ephesus, is principally the Earth Mother (Demeter; Gk. Dēmēter), the Anatolian Magna Mater (Great Mother) or Cybele the goddess of fertility or fructification. It is possible to trace this concept in the religious ideas and practices of Asia Minor, Syria, Phoenicia, and other areas to the east of Ephesus. Thus, Artemis of Ephesus has sometimes been related to Atargatis, Astarte, Ishtar, and other deities of the ancient Near East. Some of the efforts along this line are rather convincing, while others seem to verge on the fantastic. It is particularly difficult to separate the complex and often confused notions of the common people from the systematized pantheons of the cultic leaders—and at times it seems that even their systems have been superimposed on them by modern scholars. A wiser course, it would seem, is to set down the known characteristics of each god and goddess in each of the religious systems, compare and contrast their similarities and differences, and draw whatever conclusions seem to be well supported by the data.

其他神明联系在一起。根据这一线索进行的一些探索非常具有说服力，而其他的说法似乎有些异想天开。人们很难将普通人的复杂而又常常混淆的神明观念从系统化的膜拜诸神中区分出来——有时他们的宗教体系甚至似乎与现代学者提出的宗教体系存在重叠之处。较为明智的探究方法似乎是将每个的神和女神的已知特征放在各自的宗教系统中进行研究，比较他们的共性和差异，然后得出可以被数据有力证明的结论。

Statue of Artemis Polymastros ("many-breasted") from Ephesus. Goddess of fertility and childbirth, she is represented as a form of the Great Mother. (W. S. LaSor)

Artemis of Ephesus was born, according to tradition, in the woods near Ephesus, or rather, near the mouth of the Cayster River, long before the city of Ephesus was founded by Greek colonists (ca. 1100 B.C.). She was a goddess of fecundity or fertility in man, beast, and nature. She was worshipped in crude shrines, and her worship spread into many cities of Asia Minor, Syria, the Greek mainland, and ultimately to Rome and southern Gaul. At some point she was adopted by the Greek colonists at Ephesus, and a large temple was built for her—indeed, it was one of the seven wonders of the ancient world (see EPHEBUS). It was not her home, however, simply the principal shrine. Pilgrims came in great numbers to worship Artemis at her shrine. The guide will point out the road leading from the ancient harbor to the great theater, and he may even delight the visitor by describing how the pilgrims came along this way singing, "Great is Artemis of Ephesus!" He may forget to mention that this Arkadiane way was named for the emperor who rebuilt it (Arcadius, A.D. 395–408). A large statue of Artemis Polimastros ("many-breasted") was discovered in 1956 and is in the museum at Ephesus today; but this is not the object that was venerated in the temple (Acts 19:35, "the sacred stone that fell from the sky"), which is generally believed to have been a meteorite. The "silver shrines of Artemis" (Acts 19:24) are believed to have been replicas of the earlier shrine that was replaced by the Artemisium (the great temple), which the pilgrims carried back home with them, possibly to serve as local or house-shrines.

The temple of Artemis, according to Pliny, was completed in 120 years and was destroyed and rebuilt seven times; it was to be rebuilt the eighth time in the 2nd cent. B.C. Many historians question or reject Pliny's statements. Contributions came from all Asia Minor. The completed temple was 425 ft. by 225 ft. (130 m. by 69 m.) and had 127 columns each 60 ft. (18 m.) in height and each representing a king. Thirty-six of the columns were decorated with high reliefs, and at least one was the work of Scopas, a renowned sculptor. (Cf. Pliny Nat. hist. xxxvi.21 [95–97].) According to tradition, the great temple was destroyed by fire on the night of the birth of Alexander the Great (356 B.C.); the arsonist was a deranged man named Erostratos who committed the act to achieve immortality in history. When Alexander reached Ephesus on his famous march (334 B.C.), he offered to rebuild the temple on the condition that it bear his name, but the people of Ephesus declined his offer, saying that it would not be appropriate for one god to build a temple to another.

The temple was attended by a very large hierarchy of religious persons, of which the chief were the Megabizes (cf. Pliny Nat. hist. xxxv.40 [132]), eunuchs, and young virgins. There were male and female priests, receptionists, supervisors, drummers, bearers of the scepter, cleaners and chambermaids, acrobats, and flute players. One month every year was entirely devoted to impressive ceremonies in honor of Artemis. No work was done during this month, and there were athletic games at the Stadium, plays at the Theater, and concerts at the Odeon. The people made offerings at the sacred grove that was Artemis' birthplace, gave great banquets, sang to the accompaniment of the flutes, and had a time of carnival. There was also a bank at the temple, and the chief Megabize was the treasurer of the goddess. According to one tradition (Plutarch Moralia 828c-d) the temple was a sanctuary for debtors.

är'vad [Heb. 'arwad; Gk. Arados] (Ezk. 27:8, 11); ARVADITE [Heb. hā 'arwādī] (Gen. 10:18; 1 Ch. 1:16). One of the four major cities of Phoenicia.

Arvad, modern Erwād, is located on an island 2¹/₂ mi. (4 km.) from the coast and about 30 mi. (50 km.) N of Tripoli. This island has a low, flat, rocky surface approximately 800 yds. (730 m.) in length and 500 yds. (460 m.) in width, and has neither water nor natural soil. Consequently, the city was dependent upon the mainland for its supplies and water. Rainwater was stored on the island in tanks and reservoirs. There is a fresh-water spring, it is said, issuing from the ocean floor midway between Arvad and the mainland. In times of emergency water was ingeniously piped from this spring to boats moored at the surface.

Houses several stories high were built close together in the western and southern sectors of the island. Remnants of an ancient wall may be found on three sides of Arvad. In some places the massive stones are still standing, five to six courses high. Since the island lacked a natural harbor, one was constructed on the east toward the mainland by means of three piers 70 to 100 yds. (64 to 90 m.) long, made of immense sandstone blocks. This artificial harbor, protected from winds on the fourth side by the mainland, made possible Arvad's famous and powerful navy. In Ezk. 27:8, 11 it is stated that the men of the city were employed by Tyre as sailors and soldiers.

The inhabitants of Arvad (Arvadites) are correctly identified in Gen. 10:18 as Canaanites.

亚发(现代阿瓦德)是一座距海岸 2.5 英里(4 公里)的海岛城市,位于黎波里以北约 30 英里(50 公里)处。亚发岛地势低平,地表多有岩石,约 800 码(730 米)长、500 码(460 米)宽,岛上既没有淡水也没有自然土壤。因此,城中的物资和淡水要依靠大陆的补给。岛上的人将雨水储存在贮水池和水库中。据说,岛上有一眼淡水泉,泉水从亚发和大陆中间的大洋底部喷涌而出。在用水紧张的时候,岛上的人巧妙地用管道将泉水输送到水面上停泊的船只里。

多层结构的房屋在岛屿的西部和东部地区紧密排列。在亚发城的三面可以找到古城墙的遗迹。某些地方仍然矗立着 5 至 6 层高的巨石。由于这座岛屿缺乏天然港口,人们在朝向大陆的海岛东侧用 3 个 70 至 100 码(64 至 90 米)长的巨大的砂岩石墩建造了一个港口。这一人工港从受陆地保护,四面都防风,从而使亚发得以建立著名的、强大的海军。《以西结书》27:8 和 11 中说,推罗雇佣该岛上的人作水手和士兵。

亚发的居民(亚发人)正是《创世记》10:18 中提到的迦南人。

One of the earliest references to Arvad is its capture, mentioned in the Annals of Thutmose III (ca. 1475 B.C.). The decline of Egyptian power after Ramses II afforded the opportunity for Arvad to assume leadership over a hegemony in northern Phoenicia similar to that of Sidon in the south. The extent of Arvad's influence on the mainland is indicated by Strabo, who lists six cities over which Arvad exercised control. The Amarna Tablets record that Arvad supported the Amorites in their attacks upon Egyptian possessions in Syria (Am. Tab. 101, 149). Arvad was first made tributary to Assyria by Tiglath-pileser I. Mattan Baal king of Arvad is listed among the enemies defeated by Shalmaneser III at the battle of Qarqar (853 B.C.). About fourteen years later Shalmaneser forced the city to surrender and to pay tribute.

The hexagonal prism of Sennacherib (ii.52) lists Abdilihit of Arvad as one of three Phoenician kings from whom he received tribute in 701 B.C. In the Annals of Ashurbanipal (ii. 63–67) it is stated that Yakinlu king of Arvad, in submitting to Assyria, sent his own daughter to Nineveh with a large tribute in the form of a dowry (ca. 664 B.C.). During the years of Persian domination, Arvad, Tyre, and Sidon were permitted to form a federation with a common council in Tripoli. As one of the first cities of Phoenicia to surrender to Alexander the Great, Arvad lent its formidable fleet to the conqueror for his attack upon Tyre. Arvad is also mentioned in a list of cities in 1 Macc. 15:23, in the Greek form ARADUS.

占领亚发是历史中最早一次提及亚发，图特摩斯三世（约公元前 1475 年）的年鉴中提到了这次占领。拉美西斯二世死后埃及开始衰落，客观上为亚发夺取霸权创造了机会，亚发侵占了腓尼基北部，建立起了可与南部西顿匹敌的霸权。斯特拉博指明了亚发对大陆影响程度，并列出了受到亚发控制的 6 座城市。亚玛拿泥版中记载了亚发同亚摩利人一同劫掠了埃及在叙利亚的财产（Am. Tab. 101, 149）。提革拉·毗列色一世执政时期，亚法首先成为亚述的附属国。撒幔以色列三世在卡尔卡战役（公元前 853 年）中打败的敌人就包括亚发王马坦·巴力。大约 14 年后，撒幔以色列迫使亚发城投降并朝贡。

西拿基立的六方柱上列出了公元前 701 年向其进贡的三位腓尼基王的名字，其中一位王就是亚发王（Abdilihit）。亚述巴尼帕的年鉴（ii. 63–67）中指出，约公元前 664 年，亚发王亚金鲁（Yakinlu）投降亚述，并将他的女儿和大量贡物（以嫁妆的形式）送到尼尼微城。波斯控制亚发时期，允许亚发、推罗和西顿组成一个联邦，并在黎波里成立了共同的议会。作为首批投降于亚历山大大帝的腓尼基城市之一，亚发把其强大的海军舰队借给了这位征服者，助其进攻推罗。《马加比一书》15:23 中的城市名单中也提到了亚发，它的希腊语形式是 ARADUS（见 ARADUS[亚发]）。

ASA 亚撒

音译: ā'sə【希伯来语: 'āšā——“医治者”,这个希伯来词可能是'sāyā的缩写形式——“耶和华已医治”;希腊语: Asa (太 1:7-8)】。

1、亚撒是犹大和以色列分离之后的第三位犹大王。他是亚比雅的儿子(其次可能是其弟弟),罗波安的孙子。押沙龙的孙女玛迦据说是他的母亲(王上 15:10),玛迦实际上一直充当着皇太后,但她更可能是亚撒的祖母。不论事实到底怎样,她都是亚比雅的母亲(王上 15:2)。亚撒执政的前10年,犹大国家繁荣太平(代下 14:1)。他推进了一系列的改革,例如“从国中除去顽童,又除掉他列祖所造的一切偶像”,毁掉了外邦神的坛,打碎柱像,砍掉木偶。他甚至罢黜了他祖母玛迦的太后位,因她崇拜偶像并造了可憎的偶像亚舍拉(王

holy places, and breaking down altars, pillars, and Asherim. He even deposed the queen mother because of her idolatrous practices and the image she had made for Asherah (1 K. 15:12ff.; 2 Ch. 14:3). Despite the continued existence of the high places, Asa was held blameless (2 Ch. 15:17).

The first military event of Asa's reign was the repulse of an attack by Zerah "the Ethiopian" (2 Ch. 14:8-15), although the numbers of the troops recorded on both sides seem impossibly high (580,000 in Asa's army; 1,000,000 of the enemy). It is uncertain who this foe was; some have suggested that he was Osorkon I king of Egypt, but it is more probable that he was the military commander at the frontier garrison of Gerar (cf. v. 14). The epithet "Cushite" may mean that he was an Ethiopian or an Arabian. At any rate, Asa routed him completely at Mareshah in the lowlands of Judah (14:6ff.). Directed and encouraged by Azariah the prophet, he carried on an important revival. Having restored the great altar of burnt offering in the temple, he assembled the people for a renewal of their covenant with Yahweh. On this occasion seven hundred oxen and seven thousand sheep were offered in sacrifice.

The hostility between Israel and Judah, which had continued unbroken since the disruption of the monarchy, showed itself again in one incident. The king of Israel, Baasha, encroached and finally fortified Ramah as a frontier fortress. Asa, fainthearted, instead of putting his entire trust in Yahweh, made an alliance with Ben-hadad of Damascus. The Syrian king, in consideration of a large sum of money and much treasure from the temple at Jerusalem, consented to attack the northern portion of Baasha's territory. It was at this favorable moment that Asa captured Ramah; and with the vast building material collected there by Baasha, he built Geba of Benjamin and Mizpah (1 K. 15:16–22). This lack of faith in Yahweh was severely criticized by Hanani the prophet. Asa, instead of listening patiently to this prophet, was greatly offended and enraged, and Hanani was put in prison (2 Ch. 16:1–10). Three years later, Asa was attacked by gout or some disease of the feet (cf. DISEASE III.J). Here again he was accused of lack of faith, for “he did not seek the Lord, but sought help from physicians” (2 Ch. 16:12). Having ruled forty-one years, he died and was buried with great pomp in a tomb erected by himself in the city of David, Jerusalem. On the whole his reign was very successful, but it must be sadly recorded that as the years rolled on he became less and less faithful to Yahweh and His Law.

上 15:12 起; 代下 14:3)。虽然邱坛还没有从以色列中废去, 除了保留邱坛之外, 亚撒的一生无可非议(代下 15:17)。

亚撒在位期间发动的第一次军事行动是抗击“埃塞俄比亚人”谢拉的进攻(代下 14:8-15), 尽管经文记载的两军人数多得并不切实际(亚撒军 580,000 人; 敌军 1,000,000 人)。很难确定到这个敌人到底是谁; 有人认为敌人是埃及王奥索尔科恩一世, 但是似乎更有可能是戍守基拉耳边境的军事长官(参: 代下 14:14)。“古实”这个绰号意味着他可能是埃塞俄比亚人或阿拉伯人。总之, 亚撒在犹大地地玛利沙彻底打败了古实人(代下 14: 6 起)。在先知亚撒利雅的指导和鼓励下, 亚撒进行了重要的革新。他修复了耶和華殿中的大燔祭坛, 又召集众人恢复他们也耶和華所立的约, 并将牛七百只、羊七千只献给耶和華。

自从王国分裂之后, 以色列和犹大之间就一直处于敌对状态, 下面的一个历史事件再一次显示出两者之间的敌意。以色列王巴沙不断地侵略扩张, 最终将拉玛建成了一座边境要塞。胆怯懦弱的亚撒不全心全意信靠耶和華, 而是与大马士革的便哈达结盟。这位叙利亚王覬覦耶路撒冷圣殿中大量的金银财宝, 因此同意进攻巴沙王国的北部地区。值此有利时机, 亚撒攻占了拉玛, 并利用巴沙修筑拉玛时所用的大量建筑材料修筑

Asa reigned ca. 913–873 B.C. It is uncertain when exactly Baasha sought to fortify Ramah, in view of the discrepancy between 1 K. 16:8 and 2 Ch. 16:1. Probably the simplest explanation is that the numeral of the latter verse has suffered in transmission; perhaps “sixteenth” was the original reading.

亚撒执政时间大致处于公元前 913 年至公元前 873 年之间。由于《列王纪上》16:8 与《历代志下》16:1 中的描述不符，人们无法确定巴沙修筑拉玛的准确时间。对此最简单的解释是后一节经文在传播过程中出现了数字上的篡改；或许，原始经文中的数字是“第十六年”。

音译: as'ə-hel 【希伯来语: "śā'ēl——“上帝是行动者”或“上帝已创造”】。

1. The brother of Joab and Abishai and son of Zeruah, one of David's sisters (1 Ch. 2:15f.; 2 S. 2:18; etc.). With his two brothers Asahel was an early adherent of David and later became one of the famous "thirty" (2 S. 23:24; 1 Ch. 11:26).

1、亚撒黑是约押和亚比筛的兄弟, 这三兄弟是洗鲁雅的儿子, 洗鲁雅是大卫的一个姐妹 (代上 2:15-16; 撒下 2:18 等)。亚撒黑和他的两个兄弟是大卫早期的追随者, 后来亚撒黑成为著名的“三十勇士”之一 (撒下 23:24; 代上 11:26)。

Asahel was renowned for his swift running, which was the cause of his downfall. After the battle of Gibeon (which in fact was more of a border skirmish than a battle), in which Abner lost 360 men to Joab's twenty (2 S. 2:30f.), Asahel pursued Abner. Being "swift of foot as a wild gazelle" he overtook him. Abner, confident that he could slay the smaller man, magnanimously tried to persuade him to go after the spoil of a younger man, but without success, whereupon Abner killed him with a backward thrust of his spear. His death had important repercussions, including the delay of David's accession to the throne. Abner later transferred his loyalties; but this made no difference to Joab, who later slew him, both out of revenge for Asahel and out of jealousy (2 S. 3:26f.). Asahel was buried in his father's tomb at Bethlehem.

亚撒黑因跑得快而著名, 这一特长也成为了他的丧命的原因。在基遍战役中, 约押以 20 人歼灭了押尼珥 360 人, 这次战役之后 (实际上, 更像是边境小冲突, 不太像是一场战役), 亚撒黑追赶押尼珥。亚撒黑“脚快如野鹿一般”, 他追赶上了押尼珥。虽然押尼珥自信可以杀死这个小个子的男人, 但他大度地劝说他去拿住一个少年人, 剥去他的战衣, 亚撒黑却不听劝, 因此押尼珥用枪向后刺穿了亚撒黑。亚撒黑的死亡产生了重要的影响, 其中包括推迟了大卫登基的时间。虽然后来押尼珥变节归顺了大卫, 但这对约押来说并没有什么区别, 他出于对押尼珥的嫉妒, 还想为兄弟亚撒黑报仇, 于是他杀死了押尼珥。(撒下 3:26-27)。亚撒黑被送到伯利恒, 葬在了他父亲的坟墓里。

Asahel is also mentioned as the fourth of David's month-by-month captains (1 Ch. 27:7); and although he died rather earlier than this, it may show that the division was of long standing, though in a less developed form. On the other hand, it may be that he is mentioned only honoris causa. The honor of being head over such a division may in some cases have been posthumous, the deceased man being represented by someone else, perhaps his own son. This would explain the addition of the words "and his son Zebadiah after him."

2. A Levite of the commission of captains and Levites and priests that Jehoshaphat, in his third year, sent among the cities of Judah with the book of the law to spread information among the people (2 Ch. 17:7-9).

3. One of the keepers of the storechambers in the temple in the time of Hezekiah (2 Ch. 31:13).

4. The "father" or ancestor of Jonathan, who was one of the two elders who opposed Ezra in his reforming policy of putting away the foreign wives of the Jews after the return from exile (Ezr. 10:15). The phrase translated in the AV of this verse "were employed" has a variety of translations, but the most likely one is that given by the RSV—"opposed."

as-ə-hī'ə (2 K. 22:12, 14, AV). See ASAIAH 1.

2、约沙法作犹大王第三年曾经派遣一些臣仆、利未人和祭司前往犹大各城，这些人带着耶和华的律法书，走遍犹大各城教训百姓，其中一位利未人就叫亚撒黑（代下 17:7-9）。

3、希西家时期有一个负责在耶和华殿里看管仓房的人也叫亚撒黑（代下 31:13）。

4、约拿单的“祖先”，被掳归回之后，以斯拉修改了政策，让众人休掉他们的外邦妻子，而约拿单阻挡这事的两位长老之一（拉 10:15）。《钦定版圣经》将这段经文中的一个短语译为“总办”，这个短语有很多译法，但是绝大多数情况下，人们采纳《标准修订译本》中的译法——“阻挡”。

2. One of David's three chief musicians, along with Heman and Jeduthun (Ethan), and the reputed author of Pss. 50 and 73–82; the son of Berechiah (1 Ch. 6:39). After the ark was taken to Jerusalem (15:16–19), he conducted with cymbals the music performed in the tent of the ark (16:5, 7, 37). Heman and Jeduthun did the same at Gibeon (vv. 41f.). Four of Asaph's sons (fellow guild members?) were among those appointed to conduct under him sections of the great chorus (25:1ff.), and all took part at the dedication of the temple (2 Ch. 5:12). The "sons of Asaph" formed a musical guild and were prominent in temple worship, especially as singers (cf. 1 Ch. 25:1ff.; 1 Esd. 1:15).

Asaph is said to have "prophesied under the direction of the king," through his music (1 Ch. 25:2); and Jeduthun and Heman are called "royal seers" (v. 5; 2 Ch. 35:15); cf. 1 S. 10:5.

I. Biblical Accounts.- A. Matthew, Mark, and John. Since the Ascension is the event that concludes the historical appearances of Jesus, one would assume that all the Gospels would end with an account of it. However, only Luke includes an Ascension scene. In the other Gospels the final scenes of Jesus' earthly life are Resurrection appearances.

I. 《圣经》中的描述。 A. 《马太福音》、《马可福音》和《约翰福音》中的描述。既然耶稣升天是耶稣对其历史活动的总结，人们认为所有的福音书都应以描述耶稣升天结束。然而，只有《路加福音》中描述了耶稣升天时的场景。在其他福音书中，耶稣尘世生活最终场景是耶稣复活后向人们显现。

The longer ending of Mark (16:9-20), which was recognized by the Church for many centuries as part of the canonical text, does contain an explicit reference to the Ascension: "So then the Lord Jesus, after he had spoken to them, was taken up [Gk. anelémphthē] into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God" (16:19). However, in terms of the present understanding of the text of Mark, the original Gospel ended with the announcement that Jesus would appear to His disciples in Galilee. The story of that appearance in Galilee is the final scene in the Gospel of Matthew. This story contains the theme of the Ascension, viz., "all authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me" (Mt. 28:18), but no direct account of the Ascension. In addition, both Matthew and Mark contain Jesus' apocalyptic sayings about the Son of man coming on the clouds of heaven (Mt. 16:27; 24:30; 26:64; Mk. 8:38; 13:26), sayings that imply Jesus' Ascension but do not declare it.

The Gospel of John contains three specific references to the Ascension (Gk. anabainein) but only by way of anticipation. The first is the difficult saying in Jn. 3:13, "No one has ascended into heaven but he who descended from heaven, the Son of man." In Jn. 6:62 Jesus asks His disciples, "What if you were to see the Son of man ascending where he was before?" And in Jn. 20:17 Jesus says to Mary Magdalene, "Do not hold me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brethren and say to them, I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God." This saying of Jesus has been interpreted by W. Michaelis as implying that all subsequent Resurrection appearance are post-Ascension events, i.e., they are all manifestations of Jesus from heaven, and the Ascension story in Acts is then simply the last of these appearances. However, most have not been convinced by this interpretation.

The Gospel of John also contains implicit references to the Ascension both in those sayings in which Jesus speaks about going away or departing to His Father (Gk. poreuesthai: Jn. 14:2, 12, 28; 16:7, 28; hypagein: 7:33; 8:14, 21; 13:33; 14:4; 16:5, 10, 17), and in the significant theme of the glorification (Gk. doxazein) of Jesus. Although Jesus' glorification begins with the cross, it cannot be said to be completed until Jesus' return to His

《约翰福音》中三次提及升天(希腊语: anabainein), 但三次都仅仅是以期盼的形式出现在经文中。《约翰福音》3:13 中第一次提到了升天, 该段经文的表述让人难以理解, “除了从天降下仍旧在天的人子, 没有人升过天”。《约翰福音》6:62 中, 耶稣问祂的门徒: “倘或你们看见人子升到祂原来所在之处, 怎么样呢?” 《约翰福音》20:17 中, 耶稣对抹大拉的马利亚说: “不要摸我。因我还没有升上去见我的父。你往我弟兄那里去, 告诉他们, 我要升上去, 见我的父, 也是你们的父。见我的神, 也是你们的神。”米凯利斯(W. Michaelis)解读了耶稣所说的这段话, 认为这句话暗示出, 所有后续复活显现的事件都发生在耶稣升天之后, 也就是说, 这些事件都是耶稣在天上的显现, 《使徒行传》中的基督升天是祂最后一次在地上向人们显现。但是这种解读尚不能使大多数人信服。

在《约翰福音》中, 当耶稣说祂将离开或往父那里去(希腊语: poreuesthai: 约 14:2, 12, 28; 16:7, 28; hypagein: 约 7:33; 8:14, 21; 13:33; 14:4; 16:5, 10, 17) 或意味深长地提到(希腊语: doxazein) 耶稣的荣耀时, 都含蓄地表达了耶稣将要升天。虽然耶稣从祂在十字架上受难开始得到荣耀, 但是只有当祂回到父那里, 才得了完整的荣耀。(约 7:39; 12:16, 23; 13:31, 32; 17:5)。因此, 在《约翰福音》中展现的耶稣升

Father (Jn. 7:39; 12:16, 23; 13:31, 32; 17:5). Thus, in the Gospel of John the Ascension is presented within the pattern of descent/ascent, i.e., the origin and destiny of Jesus transcend the limits normally applied to human origin and destiny. Jesus comes from God and returns to God, and His person and ministry cannot be understood apart from either His origin or His return to the Father (Jn. 8:14) where He was before (Jn. 17:5). Yet this Gospel contains no specific account of the Ascension.

B. Luke and Acts. For a descriptive account of the Ascension we are dependent solely upon the writings of Luke. Midway in the Gospel of Luke the Ascension is already anticipated: “When the days drew near for him to be received up [Gk. noun análēmpsis]” (Lk. 9:51). The story of the Ascension in Luke has been transmitted in two textual versions. The longer one reads, “While he blessed them, he parted [Gk. diéstē] from them and was carried up [Gk. anephéreto] into heaven,” whereas the shorter version omits “and was carried up into heaven.”

The majority of textual critics have traditionally defended the shorter text as the more authentic. However, many have argued that the shorter version arose either by an accidental scribal oversight, or by a deliberate attempt to harmonize this account with Acts 1 resulting from the fact that Lk. 24 mentions no forty-day interval and seems to describe the Ascension as occurring on Easter Sunday. Since the discovery of a more ancient manuscript (*p*⁷⁵) and the consequent discrediting of the theory on which the arguments for the shorter text were based (Western non-interpolation), the longer text is increasingly favored as the more authentic. However, whether one selects the shorter or the longer text, it is clear from Acts 1:2 that Luke intended to narrate in his Gospel the work of Jesus “until the day when he was taken up [Gk. anēlēmphthē].” Thus Luke himself informs his readers that his first book ends with the Ascension of Jesus.

天包含在降下和升上的关系当中，也就是说，耶稣的起源和命运超越了人类的起源和命运。耶稣从天上降临，又回到天上，如果不考虑耶稣的起源或耶稣回到之前派祂来的父那里（约 8:14；17:15），人们就不能理解耶稣是真正的人，也无法理解祂的教导。但是，这一福音书中并不包含对耶稣升天的具体描述。

*B. 《路加福音》和《使徒行传》中的描述。*我们只有在《路加福音》中才可以看到关于耶稣升天的描述。这一福音书的中间部分就已经预示耶稣将要升天：“耶稣被接上升【希腊语名词：análēmpsis】的日子将到”（路 9:51）。《路加福音》中的升天故事后来演变成两个版本。较长的版本为，“当祂祝福他们，祂离开【希腊语：diéstē】他们，被接到【希腊语：anephéreto】天上去”，而较短的版本省略了“被接到天上去”。

绝大多数经文考证者通常认为较短的经文版本的真实性更强。然而，许多人认为较短的经文版本可能是偶然的抄写疏漏所致，也有可能是为了与《使徒行传》1章中的描述一致故意进行的修改，因为《路加福音》24章中并没有提到耶稣受难40天后显现，而似乎认为耶稣升天发生在复活节当天。自从人们发现了更为古老的经文手稿（伯默蒲草纸 14），后来人们也对较短版本观点援引的理论产生了怀疑（西方未插入的经文），人们渐渐转而认为较长版本的经文更为真实可信。但是，不论人们选择接受较短的经文版本还是较长的经文版本，根据《使徒行传》1:2中描述，

Since Luke wrote both versions of the Ascension story, it would seem best to account for the differences between the Gospel and Acts in terms of Luke’s intention. Calvin, for example, handled the differences very simply by affirming that Luke abbreviated the account in the Gospel because he intended to write a longer narrative. Today scholars attempt to be more specific concerning Luke’s intention.

Luke’s Gospel ends as it begins, on a note of joy. At the Incarnation the angels announced the “good news of great joy” (Lk. 2:10). At the Ascension the departing Lord bestows a priestly blessing, and the disciples respond with worship, praise, and joy. The joy promised by the angels has now been realized in the community of the disciples of Jesus. Thus the Ascension story forms a fitting conclusion to the Gospel of Luke.

Although the only day mentioned in Lk. 24 is Easter Sunday, there is no explicit reference to the day in the latter part of the chapter. Consequently, since at other places also the Gospels do not present a rigid chronological ordering of events, there is no reason to assume that Luke intends to date the Ascension on Easter Sunday and thereby create a conflict with the time of the event in Acts 1.

路加在他的福音书中想要表达，耶稣的工作“直到祂被接到【希腊语：anēlēmphthē】天上去”才最终完成。因此，路加亲自告知了他的读者，他的第一福音书以耶稣升天结束。

既然这两个版本的升天故事都是路加写的，人们最好根据路加的用意对《路加福音》和《使徒行传》的差异作出解释。例如，加尔文简明地解释了这些差异，他认为路加在其福音书中简要地叙述了这个故事，是因为路加想要在后面进行更长的叙述。现代学者试图对路加的用意进行更为详细的解释。

路加以欢乐的基调开始创作他的福音书，又以同样的基调结束了他的创作。在道成肉身时，天使宣布了“大喜的消息”（路 2:10）。在升天时，离去的主赐予了人们祭司的祝福，门徒们也用敬拜、赞美和喜乐回应祂。耶稣的门徒们现在感受到了天使所应允的喜乐。因此，耶稣升天的故事成为了《路加福音》合适的结局。

虽然《路加福音》24章中提到唯一一个日期就是复活节，但是这一章中后面的经文并没有明确提到这一天。因此，由于《路加福音》的其他经文也没有严格按照时间顺序呈现各个事件，所以人们没有理由推断《路加福音》想要表述耶稣是在复活节那天升天的，从而导致这段表述与《使徒行传》1章中描述的升天时间产生了冲突。

The Ascension story of Acts 1 is told with greater detail, but remains a sober account told with great reserve. It does not directly describe Jesus' entrance into heaven, but is rather a farewell scene described from the perspective of the spectators. Jesus is removed from their presence and a cloud takes Him out of their sight. Whether this was a natural cloud hiding a mystery or the cloud of the divine presence is a matter of some debate. In either case the story neither assumes nor depends upon a particular cosmological theory regarding the location of heaven. To approach the story from such a perspective is to miss the point. The Ascension story is a farewell scene in which Jesus visually demonstrates that until His return He will no longer be visibly present with them. The Ascension is a visible sign revealing a new relationship of Jesus to His disciples.

Both Lk. 24 and Acts 1 contain Jesus' words concerning the world mission of His disciples; yet there is a distinctive difference in emphasis. The Ascension story in Lk. 24 focuses on the disciples in an attitude of worship and joy. Acts 1, however, begins with a stress on the necessity of the mission to the nations. The fulness of the promised eschatological joy has not yet come. That fulness of joy is reserved for the future because Jesus will return in the same way that He departed into heaven. Thus the Ascension story of Acts 1 is focused on the Parousia of Jesus. Until Jesus' return the mission to the world must be carried out. Ascension, mission, and Parousia are essentially related. The first vision of the ascended Lord presented in Acts is one in which Jesus appears “standing at the right hand of God” (Acts 7:56). The Ascension into heaven is the beginning of Jesus’ session at the right hand of God. Paul’s visions of the ascended Lord imply the same heavenly reign of Jesus (Acts 9:3–5; 22:6–8; 26:13–15). Hence the mission of the Church to the nations can be carried out—until the Lord returns—with the assurance that all authority belongs to the ascended Lord.

II. Proclamation.—In the NT Epistles, the Ascension of Jesus is more assumed than described. Nowhere do we find a further description of the Ascension. Neither the apostles nor the early Church dwell upon the Ascension as a visible event. Instead, the early Christian confession and proclamation declare the basis for, and the significance of, the Ascension: Jesus has been raised from the dead and exalted to power. “God has made him both Lord and Christ” (Acts 2:36).

Frequently, the confession of the Resurrection includes the Ascension. In 1 Thess. 1:10 the Church is described as waiting “for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, Jesus who delivers us from the wrath to come.” Here the Resurrection is proclaimed as the reason Jesus can and will return from heaven, and it forms the basis for the authority Jesus will exercise in the final judgment. The Ascension is not mentioned, but the Resurrection includes the exaltation of Jesus.

治权柄（徒 9:3-5； 22:6-8； 26:13-15）。因此，教会必须肩负起对万邦的使命，并确保所有的权柄都属于升天后的主耶稣，直到我们的主的复临。

II. 耶稣升天的宣告。《新约》中使徒的书信对耶稣升天这一事件更多的是推测而非描述。我们找不到关于升天的深入描述。使徒们和早期教会都不认为耶稣升天是人们亲眼所见的事件。早期的基督徒的忏悔和宣告中却给出了耶稣升天的依据和意义：耶稣死后复生，被天父卓拔，掌握了权柄。“神已经立他为主为基督了”（徒 2:36）。

复活的表述经常包括耶稣升天。《帖撒罗尼迦前书》1:10 把教会描述为“等候他儿子从天降临，就是他从死里复活的，那位救我们脱离将来忿怒的耶稣”。这里宣告了耶稣的复活，并认为复活是祂能够（将要）回到天堂的原因，也构成了耶稣在最后审判时秉持权柄的依据。虽然此处经文没有提到耶稣升天，但是复活中包含了耶稣被天父卓拔的信息。

Similarly, in Rom. 1:4 Paul proclaims that Jesus was “designated Son of God in power, according to the Spirit of holiness, by his resurrection from the dead.” The proclamation of the Resurrection includes the significance of the Ascension, viz., Jesus is exalted to power. The confession proceeds in Rom. 8:34 from Jesus’ death and resurrection to his session and intercession: “Is it Christ Jesus who died, yes, who was raised from the dead, who is at the right hand of God, who indeed intercedes for us?” The Resurrection is the basis for Jesus' role as heavenly intercessor. (Cf. also Eph. 1:20.) Phil. 2:8f. announces the death on the cross as the reason that God "has highly exalted him and given him the name which is above every name." Both Resurrection and Ascension are assumed under exaltation.

Among the Epistles, 1 Pet. 3:22 contains the most specific reference to the Ascension. Between the confession of the resurrection of Jesus and His session at the right hand of God, the phrase is inserted, "who has gone into heaven." The perspective of Hebrews is primarily from the vantage point of Jesus' activity in heaven (He. 6:19f.; 7:26; 9:11f., 24). Yet the phrase "who has passed through the heavens" (He. 4:14) may include a reference to the Ascension itself though it clearly goes beyond that event. Similarly, the phrase "taken up in glory," from the early hymn quoted in 1 Tim. 3:16, announces both the Ascension and the exaltation that follows.

Thus the NT Epistles are not concerned primarily with the story of the Ascension itself as a separate event in the life of Jesus. Instead, the Epistles focus on the exaltation of Jesus, which begins with the Resurrection, continues in His session at the right hand of God, and will culminate in His return from heaven.

III. Significance.- A. As the Conclusion of Jesus' Earthly Activity. The Ascension, not the Resurrection, brings Jesus' earthly ministry to its conclusion. Although the Resurrection altered the manner of Jesus' association with His disciples, the forty days until the Ascension continue to be an essential part of Jesus' earthly

的原因。复活和升天都要以神提升耶稣为前提。

在使徒书信中,《彼得前书》3:22 对升天的描述最为详细。在基督复活和祂在父右手边替人们祈求之间增加了“耶稣已经进入天堂”这句话。《希伯来书》主要是从耶稣在天堂的有利地位的角度进行的描述(来 6:19-20; 7:26; 9:11-12, 24)。但是“已升入高天”(来 4:14)这一短语提及了升天这个事件,但它包含的内容显然不止于此。同样,《提摩太前书》3:16 中引用了早期赞美诗中“被接在荣耀里”这一短语,以此宣布耶稣升天和祂后来被神升为至高。

因此,《新约》中使徒书信并不单纯认为升天是耶稣生命中的一个孤立事件。相反,使徒书信关注耶稣被父升高的过程,祂首先复活,然后坐在神右手边替人祈求,最后祂从天上复临到世上。

III. 耶稣升天的意义。A. 耶稣升天是耶稣在地上活动的终点。升天(而不是复活)结束了耶稣在身上的传道活动。虽然复活改变了耶稣与祂的门徒交往的方式,但是升天之前的 40 天仍是耶稣在身上的传道生活的基本组成部分,祂在这四十天“讲说 神国的事”(徒 1:3)。根据路加的描述,耶稣在身上的 ministry, during which He proclaims the kingdom of God (Acts 1:3). According to Luke, Jesus' earthly ministry extends "from the baptism of John until the day when he was taken up" (Acts 1:22). This period between baptism and ascension is the decisive period of Jesus' action and teaching (Acts 1:1f.), the time in which the Law and the Prophets are fulfilled (Lk. 4:21). Consequently, association with Jesus during this period of revelation and fulfillment is the essential qualification for admission to the office of apostle (Acts 1:22). Thus the Ascension brings to an end the time of Jesus and begins the time of the Church. The Ascension is the event that, on the one hand, distinguishes the time of Jesus' earthly ministry from the time of the Church, while, on the other hand, it forms the point of continuity between what Jesus "began to do and teach" (Acts 1:1) and what Jesus continues to do and teach through His apostles and the Church.

B. As Exaltation of Jesus. The Ascension reveals Jesus' exaltation to the right hand of God (Acts 2:33). Jesus is exalted because He is the righteous one (Jn. 16:10), and He is entitled to be restored to the glory that He had with the Father before the world was made (Jn. 17:5). Hence the appearances of Jesus after the Ascension are quite different from Resurrection appearances. They are visionary in character and reveal Jesus in His glory. The post-Ascension appearances are clearly manifestations from heaven and not on earth (Acts 7:56; 9:3f.; 18:9; 22:6f.; 22:17f.; 26:13f.; Rev. 1).

The Ascension declares Christ's enthronement as cosmic ruler. Using the 传道生活“就是从约翰施洗起，直到主离开我们被接上升的日子为止”（徒 1:22）。从约翰施洗到升天的这个时期是耶稣行事和传道的关键时期（徒 1:1-2），这一时期，律法和先知的話都应验了（路 4:21）。因此，在启示到应验的这一时期与耶稣的交往就是成为使徒传道的必要条件（徒 1:22）。因此，升天标识着耶稣在地上生命的结束，教会自此诞生。一方面，升天区分了耶稣在世上传道时间和教会的诞生时间，另一方面，这一事件也构成了耶稣“开头一切所行所教训的”（徒 1:1）和祂藉着祂的使徒和教会所行所教训的连接点。

B. 升天意味着耶稣被神高举。升天揭示出耶稣被神高举在祂的右手边（徒 2:33）。耶稣被神高举因为祂是义人（约 16:10），祂有资格恢复祂的荣耀，就是未有世界之前，祂与父所有的荣耀（约 17:5）。因此耶稣升天之后的显现与祂复活时的显现迥然不同。耶稣升天之后的显现都在意料之中，是出现在异象之中的，是在祂的荣耀里揭示了基督（徒 7:56; 9:3-4; 18:9; 22:6-7; 22:17-18; 26:13-14; 启 1）。

language of Psalms 68 and 110, the apostle Paul announces Christ's victory over all the principalities and powers that had been vying for world dominion. Christ is enthroned at their expense (Eph. 1:20-23; 4:8-10). The enthronement is for the sake of the Church of which Christ is the head (Eph. 1:22), and it is the source of abundant blessing because the enthroned king gives gifts to men (Eph. 4:8ff.). These gifts enable the Church to attain to "the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" (Eph. 4:13).

This enthronement motif is found also in Hebrews. Here again the language of the Psalms is employed to describe the event. In addition to Ps. 110, Pss. 2 and 8 are employed. Jesus has been declared to be the Son of God (He. 1:5; 5:5), "has sat down at the right hand of the Majesty on high" (He. 1:3; 8:1; 10:12; 12:2), and all things have been put "in subjection under his feet" (He. 2:8). The Ascension is Christ's accession to power.

The primary message of Hebrews, however, concerns the significance of Jesus' exaltation for atonement. Jesus Christ is the "great high priest who has passed through the heavens" (He. 4:14) and has entered the Holy Place with His own blood to secure an eternal redemption (He. 9:12). Both as high priest and sacrifice, Jesus has appeared "in the presence of God on our behalf" (He. 9:24). He is the "forerunner on our behalf" (He. 6:20) so that we also may now enter the holy place (He. 10:19f.). Thus the Ascension of Jesus secures our salvation. The exalted high priest now lives "to save those who draw near to God through him, since he always lives to make intercession for them” (He. 7:25f.; 4:15f.; 2:18).

布基督战胜了与祂争夺世界领导权的掌权的和有能力的。基督战胜了仇敌登基为王（弗 1:20-23；4:8-10）。祂为了教会作了万有之首，而祂是教会之首（弗 1:22），登基作王是丰富恩赐的源泉，因为这位王将各样的恩赐赏给人（弗 4:8 起）。这些恩赐使教会“满有基督长成的身量”（弗 4:13）。

但是，《希伯来书》关注的重点是被高举的耶稣对于救赎人类的意义。耶稣基督是“一位已经升入高天尊荣的大祭司”（来 4:14），“用自己的血，只一次进入圣所，成了永远赎罪的事”（来 9:12）。作为大祭司和祭物，耶稣“进了天堂，如今为我们显在神面前”（来 9:24）。祂为我们“作先锋”（来 6:20），所以我们现在也可以进入圣所（来 10:19-20）。因此，耶稣升天确保我们可以也得到救赎。这位升入高天尊荣的大祭司现在活在天上，“乃是凡靠着祂进到神面前的人，他都能拯救到底。因为他是长远活着，替他们祈求”（来 7:25-26；4:15-16；2:18）。

C. For the Christian Life. The Ascension of Jesus is not the means by which Jesus escapes from the world. On the contrary, it is an expression of the redemption of the world, for in the Ascension Jesus takes into heaven the humanity that He assumed in the Incarnation. Thereby mankind is restored into fellowship with God, and the creation is on the way to its final liberation (Rom. 8:21).

The Ascension is not only an event in the life of Jesus, but it is an event in the life of believers as well. Because of the corporate relationship to Christ, what has happened to Him happens also to those who are His. This involves not only death and resurrection (Rom. 6:4), but also sitting with Him in the heavenly places (Eph. 2:6) at the right hand of God (Col. 3:1-4). Thus the Ascension contains not only a hope concerning the future, but it also gives transcendent meaning to Christian suffering and joy in the present. The Ascension relates earthly existence to heaven and present existence to the future.

The Holy Spirit is the agent through whom Christian life is related both to heaven and to the future. The Ascension was the essential prerequisite for the outpouring of the Holy Spirit (Jn. 7:39; 16:7; Acts 1). Thus the Ascension inaugurates the coming into being of the new people of God, because the gift of the Spirit fulfills the promises made through the OT prophets. The Holy Spirit creates a people fit for service and mission, and for fellowship with God Himself.

C. 升天对基督徒的生命的意义。耶稣并不是通过升天逃离了这个世界。与之相反，升天是为了救赎这个世界，因为耶稣升天的同时也将祂道成肉身的人性带到了天上。因此，人类恢复了与神的交往，受造之物有望摆脱最终的辖制（罗 8:21）。

升天不仅是耶稣生命中一个事件，同时也是信徒生命中的一个事件。因为基督和基督徒是一个整体，任何发生在基督身上的事同样发生在祂的子民身上。这不仅包括耶稣的受难和复活（罗 6:4），也包括“我们与基督耶稣一同复活，一同坐在天上”（弗 2:6），“坐在父的右手边”（西 3:1-4）。因此，耶稣升天不仅包含了人类对将来的世界的希望，还为基督徒今生的痛苦和喜乐赋予了超越今世的含义。升天将地上和天上的存在联系起来，将今世与将来的世界的存在联系起来。

圣灵代表着神，通过圣灵，基督徒的生命与天堂和将来的世界连在了一起。耶稣升天是神赐予人类圣灵的必要前提（约 7:39; 16:7; 徒 1）。因此，升天创造了神的新人类，因为圣灵的恩赐兑现了《旧约》先知书中神的允诺。圣灵创造了能够侍奉神，肩负起神的使命，并能与神同行的人。

D. For the Future. The Ascension proclaims victory both for Christ and for Christians. However, this victory has not yet been made fully visible. Although the Spirit is the gift of the end time (Joel 3), Christians receive only the “firstfruits of the Spirit” (Rom. 8:23). The redemption accomplished in Christ must still work its way through the history of the nations, and heaven must receive Jesus “until the time for establishing all that God spoke by the mouth of his holy prophets from of old” (Acts 3:20f.).

The Ascension reveals the victory of Jesus only to the eyes of faith, but hides it from the world. Therefore, the Ascension anticipates the return of Christ. In fact, it is a picture of the Parousia: “This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven, will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven” (Acts 1:11). Until then the Christian life is a life of hope, lived with the assurance that the ascended Lord is with His people always, even to the close of the age (Mt. 28:20).

D. 升天对将来的世界的意义。耶稣升天宣告了基督的胜利，也宣告了基督徒的胜利。然而，这一胜利现在仍然不是完全清晰可见。虽然圣灵是末世的恩赐（珥 3），但是基督徒只有“圣灵初结果的”（罗 8:23）。基督里的救赎必须通过作用在万邦的历史中才能最终实现，“天必留他，等到万物复兴的时候，就是神从创世以来，藉着圣先知的口所说的”（徒 3:20-21）。

只有拥有信心的人才能看到耶稣升天所揭示出的胜利，而这个世界却看不到耶稣升天。因此，升天预示着基督的复临。实际上，它描绘的是一幅基督复临的画面：“这离开你们被接升天的耶稣，你们见他怎样往天上去，他还要怎样来”（徒 1:11）。只有到那时，基督徒的生活才能成为有希望的生活，他们在地上生活，并相信这位升天的主常与他们同在，直到世界的末了（太 28:20）。

ASCENT 上升、上坡

【希伯来语: ma^aleh; 希腊语: anábasis】。(1) 在《以西结书》40:31, 34, 37 和《尼希米记》12:37 中, 这个词指的是一段台阶或楼梯。(2) 上坡路或山口的地理学术语, 如上橄榄山的道路(撒下 15:30)、通向耶路撒冷武库的上坡路(尼 3:19)、或通往王室高陵的上坡路(代下 32:33)。因此, 山口被描述为: 伯和仑的上坡路(书 10:10-11); 姑珥的坡上(王下 9:27); 蝎子(亚克拉滨)坡(民 34:4; 书 15:3; 士 1:36); 洗斯坡(代下 20:16); 亚都冥坡(书 15:7; 18:17); 鲁希坡(赛 15:5; 耶 48:5); 希列斯坡(士 8:13)。

ASCENTS, SONG OF 上行之诗、登阶之诗

【希伯来语: šîr hamma^alôṭ】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 SONG OF DEGREES (“上行之诗”); 《新英文译本》省略了这个词。它是《诗篇》120-134 诗前标题。该词的含义仍然不能确定, 但关于这个词的意义存在四种观点: (1) 这是犹太人的注释。根据《米士拿》的描述(《论尺寸》ii.5; 参:《论棚子》51b), 在圣殿中有一段十五级的半圆形台阶, 这段台阶连接着以色列男院和女院。在住棚节第一天傍晚, 利未人在这段台阶的上面弹奏乐器。后期的犹太作家认为十五篇《诗篇》的标题就源自这十五层台阶。 day of Tabernacles. Later Jewish writers say that the fifteen psalms derived their title from the fifteen steps. (2) Gesenius, Delitzsch, and others affirm that these psalms derive their name from the step-like progressive rhythm of their thoughts. They are called Songs of Ascents because they move forward climactically by means of the resumption of the immediately preceding word. But this characteristic is not found in several of the group. (3) Theodoret and other early church fathers explain these fifteen hymns as traveling songs of the returning exiles. In Ezr. 7:9 the return from exile is called “the going up (hanna “lâ) from Babylon.” Several of the group suit this situation quite well, but others presuppose the temple and its stated services. (4) The most probable view is that the hymns were sung by pilgrim bands on their way to the three great festivals of the Jewish year. The journey to Jerusalem was called a “going up,” whether the worshipper came from north or south, east or west. All of the songs are suitable for use on such occasions. Hence the title Pilgrim Psalms is preferred by many scholars.

ASCETICISM

[Gk. askēsis—‘exercise, training’]. The term is not found in the canonical biblical text (the verb askéō occurs in Acts 24:16), but this does not of itself determine whether asceticism is scriptural or not. Among the Greeks considerable development is observable in the use of the word—from physical ability (athletic prowess) to mental discipline, especially in philosophy, then on to the achievement of virtue, and finally to the pursuit of

(2) 格塞纽 (Gesenius) 和德里兹 (Delitzsch) 等人认为这些诗篇的思想逐层递进, 诗篇的名字便是由此产生的。之所以称呼它们为上行之诗, 是因为这些诗篇在结构上采用了“顶真”的修辞方法, 即用上一句的结尾作下一句的开头, 使得每一节经文前后顶接, 蝉联而下。但这组诗篇不是严格按照顶真法来处理的, 某些篇章中并未体现该特征。(3) 狄奥多勒和其他早期教会神父认为这十五篇赞美诗是被掳归回时的旅行诗歌。《以斯拉记》7:9 称被掳归回为“从巴比伦启程 (hanna “lâ)”。其中的部分诗篇非常符合这种情况, 但是另一些则是伴随圣殿和圣殿中的侍奉产生的。(4) 最有可能的一个观点是, 当朝圣者去参加犹太年的三大节日时, 他们在路上唱着这些赞美诗。不论这些朝圣者从东南西北中的哪个方向来, 他们都将前往耶路撒冷的旅程称为“上去”。所有的赞美诗都适合在这样的场合中吟唱。因此, 许多学者更愿意称这些诗篇是朝圣诗篇。

【希腊语: askēsis——“练习、训练”】。在《圣经》正典经文中并没有出现这个词 (《使徒行传》24:16 中出现了这个词的动词形式: askéō), 但这并不能确定禁欲主义是依据《圣经》得出的词汇。人们可以在希腊语中看到大量与这个词相关的派生词——从体质能力 (运动技能) 到智力训练 (尤其是在哲学方面), 后来这个词被应用到道德成就方面, 最后甚至用于虔诚的追求方面。《新约》中有时使用了相似的语言, 如在保

piety. Similar language is used at times in the NT, as in Paul's portrayal of stern self-discipline couched in the language of the athlete (1 Cor. 9:24-27) and in the admonition to Timothy, "Train yourself in godliness" (1 Tim. 4:7), where the verb is gymnázō.

Asceticism is not easily defined because of its diverse manifestations, but in general it involves self-deprivation and is usually pursued out of a desire to glorify God by avoiding what is harmful and by limiting oneself to what is necessary to maintain life. It is unfortunately susceptible to the danger that the pursuit may become subtly diverted to a desire to outstrip one's fellows and to be credited with a holiness of life unattained by ordinary mortals. These spiritually elite, in turn, may seek to dominate other lives. "There is no pride like that which bases on ascetic austerity the claim to direct with authority the life and conduct of others" (James Denney).

Historically, asceticism has often been fostered by a dualistic outlook that pronounces the body (in contrast to the soul) as basically evil and its desires as requiring suppression if one would qualify for the ideal life (E. Rhode, Psyche [Eng.tr. 1925], pp. 302, 343). This was congenial to the Greek point of view but not to the Hebrew. Almost nothing in the OT fits the category of the ascetic. The Day of Atonement called for "afflicting" oneself (Lev. 23:27), which was understood as a requirement to fast. The Rechabites drank no wine and dwelt in tents, adopting a nomadic type of life as a protest against the settled life that Israel had maintained since the conquest of Canaan. Although the Nazirite vow called for abstention from wine and strong drink, it was usually only for a limited period. At a later time the Qumrân group adopted a somewhat rigorous type of communal living, but they did not glorify this as central to the genius of their movement. The typical Hebrew outlook was to regard food and drink, marriage, and material goods as gifts of God to be gratefully enjoyed but not abused.

罗在描述赛跑时的严格自律（林前 9:24-27），在提摩太警告人们“敬虔上操练自己”时（提前 4:7）都用到了相似的词语，在这两处经文中使用的动词是 gymnázō。

Whereas John the Baptist was called to an ascetic type of life (Lk. 1:15, 80; Mk. 1:6; Mt. 11:18), he did not impose this standard on his disciples. Jesus fasted in connection with the temptation, but this was not a continuing feature of his life-style (Mt. 11:19), differentiating him from the Pharisees (Lk. 18:12). On the other hand, he left home and kindred as well as his means of livelihood. Those who would follow him were made to understand that a similar pattern applied to them. But there is no suggestion that in these various forms of self-deprivation lay the key to holiness. "Rigorism has nothing to do with one's own private spiritual holiness; it is not that leaving home and property is in itself a holier thing than retaining both. Rather is it that the man who in principle has given up everything can in practice be called upon to give up anything, when the needs of the kingdom, or of mission, dictate" (J. A. Ziesler, p. 54).

This observation explains the attitude and practice of the apostle Paul (1 Cor. 9:24-27). As far as one can tell, his choice of the single life was dictated by the determination that in his particular calling he was able to serve the will of God more efficiently in this way. An ascetic tendency that was disturbing the Colossian church received his strong rebuke to the effect that the measures advocated were “of no value in checking the indulgence of the flesh” (Col. 2:23). There is a similar rebuke for those who forbid marriage and enjoin abstinence from certain foods (1 Tim. 4:3).

伯来人的典型观点认为，食物、饮品、婚姻和物质材料都是上帝慷慨的恩赐，人们应该享受它们，而不应滥用它们。

虽然主的使者要求施洗约翰过一种禁欲的生活(路 1:15, 80; 可 1:6; 太 11:18)，但是他并没有强制他的信徒也遵守这一生活标准。耶稣在受试探期间禁食，但是禁食并不是祂一直遵行的生活方式(太 11:19)，祂的生活方式也与法利赛人的不同(路 18:12)。换句话说，祂远离了祂的家和亲属，并放下手头的生计。那些遵守耶稣生活方式的人认为这种相似的生活方式同样适用于他们。但是没有任何迹象表明各种不同的自我约束的生活方式是取得圣洁的关键。“严格主义与个体的精神圣洁毫无关联；舍弃家庭和财产的行为并不比守护家庭和财产的行为更圣洁。真正的圣洁是当神的国、使命或指示需要人舍弃一切的时候，这个原则上已放弃一切的人实际上真能抛弃一切。”(J. A. Ziesler, 54 页)。

这一评论说明了使徒保罗的态度和做法(林前 9:24-27)。就目前的证据来判断，个体的生活方式的选择必须服从于这样的决定，在一个人独特的使命中，他能通过节制更加有效为神的旨意效力。一种禁欲主义的倾向扰乱了歌罗西教会的秩序，这一倾向也遭到了强烈的

In the postapostolic period the inclination of some sections of the Church toward asceticism grew, probably influenced by Greek thought and the desire not to be out-done by movements that were not Christian. Renunciation of marriage is prominent in the apocryphal Acts. Willingness to endure social disfavor and persecution for advocating this shows how deep-seated and earnest was the conviction that this form of asceticism represented the Christian ideal. It was not a case of denying that marriage had its place for the rank and file (the human family must not die out), but rather that marriage involved fleshly desire which the truly devoted should be willing to suppress. Eventually the monastic movement combined celibacy with withdrawal from society. Rigid adherence to ascetic theory changes the biblical aphorism, “in the world but not of it,” to “in the world but not part of it.” There is a not inconsiderable difference.

谴责，因为它所提倡的方法“其实在克制肉体的情欲上是毫无功效”（西2:23）。那些禁止婚娶和禁止食用某些食物的主张也遭到类似的谴责（提前4:3）。

后使徒时期，教会中一些人越来越奉行禁欲主义，这可能是受到了希腊思想的影响，他们不想被非基督徒运动超越。摆脱婚姻是伪经《使徒行传》中的一个突出特征。人们愿意忍受因提倡禁欲主义而带来的社会中的不公正待遇和迫害，并认为这代表这人认罪彻底，认罪诚恳，这种禁欲形式也体现了基督徒的理想。婚姻对寻常人来说是十分重要的（人类内部的家庭关系决不能消失），这一事实不可否认，但是婚姻中包含的肉体情欲，是真正忠于神的人当加以抑制的。最终，僧侣运动将独身主义与逃离社会结合在了一起。僵硬地死守禁欲理论也改变了《圣经》中的表述，将“在这个世上却不属这个世界”改为“在这个世上却不是这个世界的一部分”。两者意思相差甚远。

The Masoretic pointing 'ās^enaṯ appears in the LXX as aseneth. ASHAN

ā'shan [Heb. 'āšān]. A city originally cited in the inheritance list of the tribe of Judah (Josh. 15:42). It was granted to Simeon (19:7; 1 Ch. 4:32) when Judah's territory was adjudged too large (Josh. 19:9), and finally given to the sons of Aaron as one of the priests' cities, listed in 1 Ch. 6:59 (MT 44). In Josh. 21:16 Heb. 'ayin is a corruption of 'āšān. Borashan (Heb. bôr- 'āšān, "well of Ashan") in 1 S. 30:30 (the AV has Chorashan, an error resulting from a misprint in an early Heb. ed) is the same as Ashan. The site is to be identified with Khirbet 'Asan, about 5 mi. (8 km.) WNW of Beer-sheba.

In 1 Ch. 7:6 “Jediael” (“known to God”) is substituted for the heathen-sounding “Ashbel” (Ishbaal, “man of Baal”). The Chronicler, in this case, conforms literally to the principle laid down in Hos. 2:17; the title “Baal” (“lord”) was applied in early days (e.g., in the days of Saul) to the national God of Israel, but in later days the prophets objected to it because it was freely applied to heathen gods (see Ish-bosheth). In 1 Ch. 8:1, however, the three names Bela, Ashbel, Aharah (=Ahiram), are taken from Nu. 26:38 without change.

Some of the Anakim were found there in the days of Joshua (Josh. 11:22), and the inhabitants were too strong for the Israelites at that time. It was among the towns assigned to Judah, but was not occupied by them (13:3; 15:46f.). It was still independent in the days of Samuel, when, after the defeat of the Israelites, the ark was taken to the house of Dagon in Ashod (1 S. 5:1f.). we have no definite knowledge that it was ever subdued by Judah before the time of Uzziah (2 Ch. 26:6).

Ashdod, like the other Philistine towns, came under the authority of the Assyrian monarchs and is mentioned in their extant records. It revolted against Sargon in 711 B.C. and deposed the Assyrian governor Ikhmiti, who had been appointed by Sargon in 720. Sargon at once dispatched a force to subdue the rebels, and the city was severely punished. This is referred to by Isaiah (20:1). Amos had prophesied such a calamity some years before (1:8), and Jeremiah refers to “the remnant of Ashdod” as though it had continued weak until his day (25:20). Zephaniah (2:4) refers to the desolation of Ashdod, and Zechariah (9:6) to its degraded condition. It continued to be inhabited, however, for Jews intermarried with women of Ashdod after the return from Babylon (Neh. 13:23f.).

In the Maccabean period Judas and Jonathan both took it and purified it of idolatry (1 Macc. 5:68; 10:84). In these passages it is called Azotus, as it is also in the NT (Acts 8:40). In the 4th cent. A.D. it became the seat of a bishopric. It had been restored in the time of Herod by the Roman general Gabinius, and was presented to Salome the sister of Herod by the emperor Augustus.

时期之前，犹大支派是否曾经占领亚实突（代下 26:6）。

同非利士很多城邑的命运一样，亚实突也曾被亚述王统治过，我们在亚述现存的记录中可以看到相关的记载。公元前 720 年撒珥根任命亚述人阿克西米提（Akhimiti）为亚实突总督，而亚实突人于公元前 711 年发动起义反对撒珥，罢黜了这位总督。撒珥根立即派遣军队镇压起义，这座城市也被严重毁坏。《以赛亚书》曾提及了这件事（赛 20:1）。先知阿摩司多年前就曾经预言了这场灾难（摩 1:8）。《耶利米书》曾提到过“亚实突剩下的人”，似乎在耶利米时期亚实突人依然很弱小（耶 25:20）。《西番雅书》曾提到过荒凉的亚实突（番 2:4），《撒加利亚书》也提到了它日渐衰落的情形（亚 9:6）。亚实突一直被占领，但是我们发现在犹太人从巴比伦归回之后，他们娶过亚实突的女子（尼 13:23-24）。

在马加比时期，犹大和约拿单都曾占领过这里，并且废除了这里的偶像崇拜（马一 5:68; 10:84）。《马加比一书》和《新约》的经文中都称这座城市为亚锁都（徒 8:40）。这里在公元 4 世纪成了主教辖区。在希律王时期，罗马元帅伽比尼乌斯重建了这座城市，罗马皇帝奥古斯都把它献给了希律王的妹妹萨洛米。 knowledge of that prominent city on the coastal plain of southwest Palestine. By combining pertinent data from literary sources (including chiefly the Bible, classical writers, and ancient historical inscriptions and business documents) with the results of several seasons of archeological work, we can now trace the major cultural phases of Ashdod's history, link the city effectively with political and social movements of ancient times, and fill out the general picture with numerous details. Five major seasons of excavations were carried out at Ashdod between 1962 and 1969 under the field direction of Moshe Dothan, representing the Israel Department of Antiquities and Museums, with additional smaller operations to deal with special problems.

stratum 20. They represent a settlement of insignificant proportions. The first fortified city originated in the MB II period, about the 17th cent. B.C. In this respect Ashdod is like a number of other prominent cities in Palestine, including Shechem, Tell Beit Mirsim, Gezer, Tell el-‘Ajjûl, and Tell Jemmeh. Its cultural history in this period was roughly parallel to that of Ashkelon, Ashdod’s neighbor to the south.

Late Bronze Age. In the Late Bronze Age Ashdod was a prominent commercial center. The archeological evidence is supported by epigraphic data. The city is mentioned in a number of Ugaritic business documents, including a list of Ashdodite merchants with both Hurrian and Semitic personal names who apparently were resident in the north Syrian metropolis. Several levels of Canaanite occupation can be identified during the 15th and following centuries. The last of these cities came to a violent end in the latter part of the 13th cent. B.C. Recent evidence from the excavations has shown that after this destruction there was a brief occupation characterized by distinctive pieces of Mycenaean ware, reflecting the presence of the sea-peoples. It is reasonable to suppose that they were responsible for the attack on the city. The first Philistine settlement of the 12th cent. is a separate phase following the occupation by the sea-peoples.

The Philistine City. The first Philistine city was modelled on the earlier Canaanite city, and like its predecessor apparently did not extend beyond the upper mound (about 17 acres [7 hectares] in extent). The Iron I strata yielded large quantities of distinctive Philistine pottery.

早期的一些陶片。这些碎片表明在此地定居的人口极其稀少。这座防御性城市初建于青铜器时代中期（约公元前 17 世纪）。亚实突的防御功能与巴勒斯坦的其他一些著名的城市一样（包括示剑、贝特米西姆、基色、阿朱勒和帖尔耶米）。亚实突这一时期的文明史与在南面与之毗邻的亚实基伦的文明史大致相当。

青铜器时代末期。亚实突在青铜器时代末期是著名的商业中心。碑文上的资料证明了考古证据。大量的乌加里特语商业文件中提到了这座城市，另外还提及到了一些亚实突商人的名字，这些人兼有胡里安语和闪米特语姓名，他们显然住在这座叙利亚北部的大都市中。我们已经可以确定在公元前 15 世纪和之后的数个世纪间，迦南人曾有几段时期定居在此。公元前 13 世纪末期，这些城市中的最后一个城市也被暴力摧毁。近期的考古发掘证据表明，这次毁灭之后，这一遗址上出现了一些典型的迈锡尼陶片，这表明海上民族曾暂居于此地。人们有理由认为这些海上民族摧毁了这座城市。公元前 12 世纪第一批非利士人定居这里，这一不同的历史时期之后，海上民族就占领了这里。

非利士城市。非利士人模仿早期迦南人的城市，建造了第一座非利士人城市，和上一任占领者一样，他们建造的城市显然也没有超出土丘的上层（面积约 17 英亩[7 公顷]）。铁器时代 I 期的考古层中出土了大量具有非利士人特色的陶器。人们还发掘出大量以堡垒结构为主

Massive public buildings dominated by a fortress-like structure have been uncovered, reflecting the preeminence of Ashdod in the Philistine pentapolis (cf. 1 S. 5). city. This period of Ashdod's growth and prosperity, during which the transition from an Aegean to a Semitic culture was completed, matches the general decline in the fortunes of its neighbors, Judah and Israel, following the death of Solomon and the division of the kingdom. There were four major destructions of Ashdod during the Iron II period—all of them marked by thick ash layers in the area of the lower city. They should be attributed to Uzziah of Judah (stratum 4); Sargon II of Assyria (stratum 3b); Psamtik of Egypt (stratum 3a); and Nebuchadnezzar of Babylonia (stratum 2). The capture of Ashdod by Sargon II in 712/11 B.C. is described at length in the annals of that monarch, and is mentioned in Isa. 20:1. Fragments of a monumental cuneiform inscription found at Ashdod in 1963 reflect the same event.

Of unusual significance for interpreting the religious practices of the inhabitants are the many cultic objects found in the vicinity of a small temple in the lower city. There are several kinds of ceramic figurines including a unique group of strange-looking male (human) heads, some of which were originally attached to small offering tables or couches, as well as the familiar Astarte plaques found all over Palestine. Fragments of kernoi, or hollow-ringed vessels to which animal heads were attached, have turned up in large numbers, indicating that these served an important function in worship. It is of interest that the nearest affinities of the reclining figures and kernoi are with the centers of Indo-European culture in the eastern Mediterranean and Asia Minor, i.e., the areas in which the Philistines were resident or through which they passed. Inscribed materials of this period, including a potsherd with the word phr (perhaps “potter”) and a weight with the word nsp, indicate that Philistia was in close contact with Judah.

人们在废丘下层的城市周围发现了一座小型神庙，其中有许多用于宗教仪式的物品，它们对于解释该地居民的宗教习俗具有不同寻常的意义。该废丘还出土了一些陶器雕像，包括一组相貌独特的男子（人类）头像（其中一些头像起初黏在小香案上）和整个巴勒斯坦地区很常见的阿施塔特瓷片。人们还发现了大量祭皿碎片或者悬挂祭祀动物头的环状容器的碎片，这表明这些器皿在敬拜神的活动中发挥着重要的作用。有趣的是，这些侧卧像和祭皿与东地中海和小亚细亚的印欧文明中心（即，非利士人定居地或途径地区）关系最为紧密。这一时期的雕刻物（包括一个陶器碎片上刻有 phr [意思可能是“陶工”] 的字样，一个砧码上刻有 nsp 字样）表明非利士王国与犹大王国保持着密切的联系。

Persian Period. Not much is known of Ashdod during the Persian period, though its existence and importance as a provincial capital are attested in the extant sources. Excavations have revealed a substantial public building of the Persian period and an ostrakon bearing an Aramaic inscription datable to the 5th cent. B.C. The latter contains the name Zebadiah, which also occurs in biblical writings of the same period, i.e., the Chronicler’s work. A remarkable gold earring in the form of an ibex head also comes from the Persian era.

Greco-Roman Times. The archeological evidence, including major structural remains and a rich assortment of artifacts, supports the impression of a large and flourishing community in Greco-Roman times. The historical sources, including especially the Apocrypha, the NT, and Josephus, provide important information about the vicissitudes of Ashdod during these troubled times. Its changing fortunes are dramatically attested by successive occupation and destruction levels. A coin of Antiochus VIII discovered in Area A provides a post quem date for the conquest of Ashdod by John Hyrcanus. This date, 114 B.C., contributes to the discussion of this problem, and means that earlier proposals must be reduced by several years. In later Roman times the inland city Azotus mesogeius was surpassed by its seaport Azotus paralius; the former gradually declined in size and importance until the major part of the ancient site of the city ash'doth piz'ga [Heb. 'āšdôṭ happisgâ—‘slopes of Pisgah’]. The AV for RSV “slopes of Pisgah”; NEB “watershed of Pisgah” (Dt. 3:17; Josh. 12:3; 13:20), though in Josh. 10:40; 12:8 the AV translates “springs.” The reference is to the spurs and ravines of Pisgah. The Heb. 'ašēdâ means “a pouring out,” and “šēdôṭ are the slopes of a mountain from which springs gush forth.

ASHER 亚设

音译: ash'ər【希伯来语: 'āšēr——这

from the West Semitic goddess Asherah; Gk. Asēr]; AV NT ASER.

1. The second son of Zilpah, Leah's maid, and the eighth son of Jacob born at Paddan-aram (Gen. 30:12f.); and the tribe named for him.

According to the genealogical list in Numbers, the tribe of Asher consisted of six families, viz., three sons, one daughter, and two grandsons (Nu. 26:44). A similar list is found in 1 Ch. 7:30; in this list four sons and one daughter are mentioned (i.e., one son has been added and to one of the grandsons, Heber, more descendants are attributed). In the list in 1 Chronicles there are at least six names that can be identified with geographical place names. Strangely, some of them are situated not within the historical territory of Asher (see below) but within that of Rachel's descendants: Ephraim, Manasseh, and Benjamin.

When settling in Canaan the tribe of Asher took possession of the western slopes of Galilee, part of the plain of Esdraelon (Josh. 17:2), and the main part of the plain of Acre (Josh. 19:22-31). The boundaries of Asher as given in the last-mentioned passage are not sufficiently clear, and the possibility exists that two separate lists, one describing the boundaries and one naming the cities within the territory, were combined. In addition, a third list giving the names of the Canaanite settlements that the Israelites were unable to subdue can also be traced (Jgs. 1:31). Not all place names mentioned in Joshua have yet been identified, nor is there agreement regarding those which have

1、亚设是利亚的使女悉帕为雅各所生的第二个儿子，也是雅各的第八个儿子，出生在巴旦亚兰（创 30:12-13）；亚设支派以他的名字来命名。

根据《民数记》中的族谱，亚设支派由 6 个家族组成，分别是，他的三个儿子，一个女儿和两个孙子的家族（民 26:44）。《历代志上》7:30 中也出现了类似的族谱；这份族谱中提到了亚设的四个儿子和一个女儿（即，增加了一个儿子，并将亚设支派的更多后裔归于亚设的孙子希别）。《历代志上》的族谱中至少有 6 个名字既是人名也是地名。奇怪的是，有些地名在历史上并不在亚设支派地业的范围内（见下文）而是在拉结后裔生活的边境范围内：以法莲、玛拿西和便雅悯。

The name Shihor-libnath (Josh. 19:26) has given rise to discussions in connection with the southern border of Asher. Alt held that it was the Nahr ez-Zerga S of Mt. Carmel, (so GAB) and was convinced that this was the southern boundary of Asher; but its identification with the lower or southern part of the Kishon, suggested by Mazar, is more likely and fits better the description in the Bible. Asher's southern border then continues to the west along the northern slopes of Mt. Carmel. Mazar also identified other cities in this list: the city of Achsaph with Tell el-Harbaj, Mishal with Tell en-Nahl, and Aphek with Tell Kurdâneh, all of them in the plain of Acre.

The eastern and northern borders are more difficult to trace but it is possible that its eastern end was the Valley of Netophah (identified with the Valley of Iphtah-el), which was the western boundary of Zebulun. From there it ran to the area of Cabul, situated on the western slopes of lower Galilee, and then N to the city-state of Sidon (Josh. 19:28), a name that is thought to be a later addition to the biblical account, since Sidon was not the actual border but a desirable one. In any case, the names of settlements in this area have not been identified. The western boundaries of Asher reached the sea near Tyre and again from S of Achzib to the northern slopes of Mt. Carmel. The stretch of the coast between the two points last mentioned was in the hands of the Phoenicians.

To summarize, the territory of Asher consisted of the hinterland of the city-states of Tyre and Sidon, the whole plain of Acre from the neighborhood of the Ladder of Tyre to Mt. Carmel, and the western slopes of upper and lower Galilee.

希曷立纳（书 19:26）这个名字引起了人们对于亚设南部边界的讨论。奥特（Alt）认为迦密山以南的雅博河（Nahr ez-Zerga）构成了亚设的南部境界（GAB 也持相同观点）；马萨尔（Mazar）则认为基顺河下游或南部是亚设的南部境界，这种说法似乎更有可能成立，也更符合圣经中的描述。亚设支派的南界向西一直延伸到迦密山的北坡。马萨尔也确定了这份名单中的其他城邑：押煞就是艾拉巴废丘（Tell el-Harbaj），米沙勒就是纳珥废丘（Tell en-Nahl），亚弗就是库达奈（Tell Kurdâneh），这些城邑都在阿卡平原上。

亚设的东部境界和北部境界更难确定，但它的东端可能位于尼陀法河谷（也就是伊弗他勒谷），这一河谷也构成了西布伦支派的西部边界。这一河谷一直延伸到下加利利西坡上的迦步勒，然后向北直到西顿大城（书 19:28），据说这一名字是后来添加到《圣经》中的，因为西顿并不是实际的边界，而是理想边界。总之，人们无法确定这一地区的定居点的名称。亚设的西部边界延伸到了推罗附近的海域，从亚革悉南面一直延伸到迦密山的北坡。最后一次提及这两点之间的海岸地带时，这里已经被腓尼基人掌控。

The settlement of Asher in its territory is reflected in the Bible and in additional historical documents. In the Amarna Letters (14th cent. B.C.) Abi-milki king of Tyre complains that the king of Sidon had attacked Tyre with the help of the SA.GAZ (sometimes identified with the Hebrew tribes) and had conquered part of its territory. Farther east the same complaints were voiced by the king of Megiddo. This would mean that at the beginning of the 14th cent. a wave of Hebrew tribes came from the east and after having crossed the Valley of Esdraelon continued to the plain of Acre. The larger cities withstood the attacks, whereas the smaller settlements were conquered. Possibly among the SA.GAZ were the tribes of Asher and Issachar, who later settled in this area. When at the end of the 18th Dynasty Egypt's hold on Palestine weakened, the kings of the large Canaanite cities Hazor and Acre conquered both plains and pushed the newcomers back into the hill region. Issachar was subdued (Gen. 49:15), and Asher was confined to Galilee on one side and the hills of Ephraim on the other. At this time the tribe of Asher began to intermarry with Ephraim, Manasseh, and Benjamin.

The tribe of Asher appears in the lists of the pharaohs of the 19th Dynasty recording their reconquest of Palestine: Seti I mentions the tribe once, Ramses II twice. Asher is also mentioned in Papyrus Anastasi I, which was written at the same time. Another mention of the name of Asher is quoted by Gauthier from an unpublished papyrus.

阶的附近地区直到迦密山)以及上加利利和下加利利的西坡。

记载埃及第十九王朝的法老们再次征服的巴勒斯坦的支派史料中提及了亚设支派的名字:塞提一世的相关资料提到过它一次,拉美西斯二世的相关史料中提到过它两次。同时期的阿纳斯塔西第一蒲草纸中也提到了亚设。高塞尔

When the tribes of Rachel conquered the hills of Ephraim at the end of the 14th cent., some Asherite families were swallowed up by the newcomers, whereas the rest were pushed north toward western Galilee and the plain of Acre. A similar fate befell the Asherite families in the Valley of Esdraelon, who were replaced by families from the tribe of Zebulun (Gen. 49:13; Dt. 33:19), so that the territory of Asher was confined to western Galilee and the plain of Acre.

Besides the tribes of Reuben and Simeon, who were destroyed in fighting their neighbors, Asher was the only tribe that did not have a judge of its own. In the Song of Deborah, Asher is reproached for lack of patriotism while Zebulun and Naphtali engage in the struggle against Sisera. The Asherites did, however, assist Gideon against the Midianites (Jgs. 6:35; 7:23).

During the reign of David the territories of Asher were administered by the central government, as is shown by the administrative division that found its expression in the list of cities granted to the Levites; four of these cities had previously belonged to Asher (Josh. 19:30f.). Among the administrative districts of Solomon, Asher was the ninth (1 K. 4:16). Solomon gave part of the territory of Asher, the Cabul territory, to the king of Tyre (1 K. 9:11-13); as compensation he gave Asher an area in Galilee (1 K. 4:16).

After the fall of the northern kingdom

(Gauthier) 引用的一份未公开的蒲草纸文献中也提到亚设这个名字。

公元前 14 世纪末期，拉结支派攻取了以法莲的山区，其中一些亚设家族遭侵略者屠杀，剩余的亚设家族向北撤退，来到了加利利西部和阿卡平原。埃斯德赖隆河谷的亚设家族也经历了相似的命运，他们被来自于西布伦支派的家族所取代（创 49:13；申 33:19），因此亚设的领地限于加利利西部和阿卡平原之间。

流便支派和西缅支派在与邻邦的争战中遭到毁灭，除了这两个支派，亚设是所有支派中唯一一个没有士师的支派。在底波拉之歌中，底波拉谴责亚设缺乏爱国精神，而西布伦支派和拿弗他利支派都投入到对抗西西拉的斗争中。但亚设人却帮助基甸对抗米甸人（士 6:35；7:23）。

大卫统治时期，亚设的领地接受中央政府的管辖，分给利未人的城市名单中可以找到这一行政区域。其中的四座城市之前属于亚设支派（书 19:30-31）。在所罗门的行政区域中，亚设位列第九（王上 4:16）。作为补偿所罗门将亚设的部分领地和迦步勒的领地给了推罗王（王上 9:11-13），所罗门将加利利地区给了亚设（王上 4:16）。

北部王国瓦解之后，亚设被并入了亚述

Asher was included in the Assyrian province of Megiddo, but the king of Judah tried to seize its territory (2 Ch. 30:10–12). This, however, happened only during the reign of Josiah (2 Ch. 34:6).

The Hasmoneans were unable to conquer Asher, i.e., the city of Acre and the coast stretching north. According to the rabbinical Halakah this coast did not belong to Israel. According to the NT, Anna the prophetess came from the tribe of Asher (Lk. 2:36).

哈斯摩尼王朝无法攻取亚设，也就是阿卡平原的城市和延伸到北部的海岸地带。根据犹太法典，这片海岸并不属于以色列。根据《新约》中的描述，女先知亚拿就来自于亚设支派（路 23:6）。

2、玛拿西南部边界上的一座小城镇（书 17:7）。该城位置不详。

3. NEB HAZOR. A place mentioned in Tob. 1:2, identified with Hazor in Naphtali.

ə-shē'rə [Heb. ^ašērā]; pl. ASHERIM, also ASHERAHS (2 Ch. 19:3; 33:3), ASHEROTH (Jgs. 3:7); AV GROVE (following LXX and Vulgate); NEB SACRED POLE. The name of a goddess whose worship was widely spread throughout Syria and Canaan; and the objects of worship erected to her.

Her “image” is mentioned in the OT (1 K. 15:13; 2 K. 21:7; 2 Ch. 15:16) as well as her prophets (1 K. 18:19) and the vessels used in her service (2 K. 23:4). In Assyria the name appears under the two forms Asratu and Asirtu; it was to Asratu that a monument found near Diarbekir was dedicated on behalf of Hammurabi, “king of the Amorites”; the Amorite king in the Amarna Tablets bears the name Ebed-Asrati or Ebed-Asirti.

Like so much else in Canaanite religion, the name and worship of Asherah were borrowed from Assyria. She was the wife of the war god Asir, whose name was identified with that of the city of Ashur, and thus became the national god of Assyria. Since Asirtu was merely the feminine form of Asir, “superintendent” or “leader,” it is probable that it was originally an epithet of Ishtar (Ashtoreth) of Nineveh. In the West, however, Asherah and Ashtoreth came to be distinguished from one another, Asherah being exclusively the goddess of fertility, whereas Ashtoreth passed into a moon-goddess.

3、《新英文译本》译作 HAZOR (“夏琐”)。《多比传》1:2 中提到了这个地方，它就是拿弗他利的夏琐。

ASHERAH 亚舍拉

音译: ə-shē'rə【希伯来语: ^ašērā】; 复数形式是 ASHERIM、ASHERAHS(代下 19:3; 33:3)或 ASHEROTH(士 3:7), 汉译同为亚舍拉;《钦定版圣经》采纳了《七十士译本》和《武加大译本》中的翻译,将之译为 GROVE(“小树林”);《新英文译本》则译为 SACRED POLE(“圣杆”)。在亚述和迦南地区,很多人崇拜这位女神,树立了许多她的像。

《旧约》中提到过这位女神的“形象”(王下 15:13; 王下 21:7; 代下 15:16),也提到了她的“先知”(王上 18:19),以及侍奉这位女神的器皿(王下 23:4)。在亚述,亚舍拉也被称为“阿斯拉图”(Asratu)或“阿西尔图”(Asirtu),“亚摩利人的王”汉莫拉比在迪亚巴克尔附近为这位女神建造一座纪念碑,亚玛拿泥版中经常提到这位亚摩利王,但是在这泥版中他的名字是“以别·阿斯拉提”(Ebed-Asrati)或“以别·阿西尔提”(Ebed-Asirti)。

像迦南宗教中的其他元素一样,他们供奉亚舍拉也是受到亚述人的影响,亚舍拉这个名字也来自亚述。她是战神阿西尔的妻子(亚述有座城邑也叫阿西尔),因此,她也是整个亚述民族的神。因为“阿斯拉图”只不过是“阿西尔”的阴性形式,意思是“领导者”或“首领”,所以亚舍拉最初可能是尼尼微城的女神伊师塔(亚斯她录)的一个绰号。然而,在西方,亚舍拉和亚斯她录是两个不同的名字,亚舍拉专指生育女神,而亚斯她录逐渐演变成月亮女神。

The Assyrian asirtu, which appears also under the forms asrātu, esrēti (pl.), and asru, had the further meaning of “sanctuary”. Originally the wife of Asir, and asirtu, “sanctuary,” seem to have had no connection with one another, but the identity in the pronunciation of the two words caused them to be identified in meaning. As the tree trunk or cone of stone that symbolized Asherah was regarded as a (Heb) bēt-’ēl, “house of a deity,” wherein the goddess was immanent, the word Asirtu, Asherah, came to denote the symbol of the goddess. The trunk of the tree was often provided with branches, and assumed the form of the tree of life. It was as a trunk, however, that it was forbidden to be erected by the side of the “altar of the Lord” (Dt. 16:21; Jgs. 6:25, 28, 30; 2 K. 23:6). Accordingly, Asa “cut down” the symbol made for Asherah by his mother (1 K. 15:13). Asherim or symbols of the goddess were put on the high places under the shade of a green tree (Jer. 17:2; 2 K. 17:10). Manasseh introduced one into the temple at Jerusalem (2 K. 21:3, 7).

In the Râs Shamrah texts Asherah is the consort of El, the supreme god. She is mentioned as “creatress of the gods” and as “Lady Asherah of the sea,” titles that are given to the most important goddess of the pantheon. In the Ugaritic Keret text Asherah is said to have a shrine in Tyre, which would indicate her supremacy there also. She is the adversary of Baal. When Baal, the fertility god of the Canaanites, is defeated by Mot, god of death and aridity, and sent to the nether regions, Asherah is quick to appoint her son Attar to the throne as substitute king

亚兰语中的阿斯拉图(本词还以 asrātu、esrēti (复数) 和 asru 形式出现), 这个词的深层含义是“至圣所”。最初, 阿西尔的妻子与 asirtu (“至圣所”) 之间似乎没有任何联系, 但是人们因为它们发音相同混淆了这两个词的意思。树干或石柱是女神亚舍拉的象征之物, 所以人们认为它们就是“神的住所”(希伯来语: bēt-’ēl), 女神存在于树干里, 所以阿斯拉图和亚舍拉也成了女神的象征。树干上两侧长满树枝, 人们认为生命之树亦是如此。但是在耶和华的坛旁却不可栽种树木作为木偶(申 16:21; 士 6:25, 28, 30; 王下 23:6)。因此, 亚撒“砍下”他祖母造的亚舍拉偶像(王上 15:13)。经文中说:“他们的儿女纪念他们高冈上、青翠树旁的坛和木偶”(耶 17:2; 王下 17:10)。玛拿西曾在耶路撒冷的耶和华殿内雕刻亚舍拉像(王下 21:3, 7)。

in place of Baal.

As the role of Baal grows in importance and overshadows that of El, Asherah's interest seems to shift more toward Baal. When a house is to be built for Baal, he and Anat, his sister-consort, bribe Asherah with gold and silver in order to persuade her to intervene for them before El, a mission she gladly undertakes. Again, in a myth stemming from the Late Bronze Age (W. F. Albright, Yahweh and the Gods of Canaan [1968], p. 107), Asherah attempts to seduce Baal. Asherah's interest in Baal stimulates considerable competition between her and Anat.

Asherah, the goddess of fertility, represented the Babylonian Ishtar in her love-goddess aspect. In one of the cuneiform tablets found at Taanach by Sellin, written by one Canaanite sheikh to another shortly before the Israelite invasion of Palestine, reference is made to "the finger of Asherah" from which oracles were derived. The "finger" seems to signify the symbol of the goddess; at any rate it revealed the future by means of a "sign and oracle." The practice is probably alluded to in Hos. 4:12. The existence of numerous symbols, in each of which the goddess was believed to be immanent, led to the creation of numerous forms of the goddess herself, which, after the analogy of the Ashtaroth (Jgs. 2:13), were described collectively as the Asherim.

随着巴力重要性逐渐提高，逐渐超越神厄力的地位，亚舍拉的注意力似乎越来越多地向巴力的身上转移。当巴力想要为自己建造神庙时，他和他的姐妹兼妻子阿娜特用金银贿赂亚舍拉，希望她在厄力神面前调停，而亚舍拉欣然接受。此外，根据青铜器时代晚期的一个神话传说（W. F. Albright, Yahweh and the Gods of Canaan [1968], 107 页），亚舍拉曾试图引诱巴力。亚舍拉对巴力的爱慕引起了她和阿娜特之间的激烈竞争。

亚舍拉是生育女神，她同巴比伦女神伊师塔一样，司掌爱情。塞林（Sellin）在他纳发现了很多楔形文字碑文，其中一座石碑上是一位迦南族长在以色列进攻巴勒斯坦不久之前写给另一位族长的书信，信中就提到了“亚舍拉的手指”，所有的预言都源自她的手指。“手指”似乎是女神亚舍拉的象征之物；至少它以“迹象和预言”向人们揭示了未来。《何西阿书》4:12 中似乎也暗示了这一宗教习俗。亚舍拉的象征之物非常多，人们认为亚舍拉女神就在这些象征物内，大量亚舍拉女神的形象，在与亚斯她录类比之后（士 2:13），人们将这些女神统称为亚舍拉。

ASHES

[Heb. ^עper, ^דešen, vb. ^דāšēn (“take away ashes,” Ex. 27:3; Nu. 4:13), ^אpār, ^פpī (a)h (Ex. 9:8, 10); Gk. ^σpodós, vb. ^τephróō (“turn to ashes,” 2 Pet. 2:6)]. Ashes are mentioned frequently in connection with sacrifice (Nu. 19:9–17), mourning, and fasting (Isa. 58:5; Jonah 3:6). Among the ancient Orientals, to sit in or be covered with ashes was a sign of grief, mourning, humiliation, or penitence. Grief for the dead was expressed by placing ashes on the head (2 S. 13:19), as was national humiliation (Neh. 9:1; Jonah 3:5f.; cf. 1 Macc. 3:47). Like other afflicted persons, Job sat in ashes (Job 2:8; cf. 42:6), as wilful Israel was advised to do (Jer. 6:26). The distraught mariners of Tyre were depicted as placing ashes on their heads to indicate their distress (Ezk. 27:30f.). NT mourning and purification rites employed ashes (Mt. 11:21; Lk. 10:13; He. 9:13). The word “ashes” also designated worthlessness or insignificance (Gen. 18:27; Job 30:19).

ash'ər [Heb. ^אšhūr]; AV ASHUR. The father (or founder) of Tekoa (1 Ch. 2:24; 4:5). The LXX and Vulg. (cf. RSV, NEB) understood him to be the son of Caleb and Ephrathah (the Ephrath of 2:19). In 2:19 Hur would probably be an abbreviation of Ashhur.

ASHES 炉灰、灰尘

【希伯来语: ^עper, ^דešen, 动词: ^דāšēn (“收去灰烬”出 27:3; 民 4:13), ^אpār, ^פpī (a)h (出 9:8, 10); 希腊语: ^σpodós, 动词: ^τephróō (“焚烧成灰”, 彼后 2:6)】。在献祭(民 19:9–17)、哀悼和禁食(赛 58:5; 拿 3:6)仪式中经常提到灰烬。古东方人常以身上撒灰或者坐在灰中表达自己的悲伤、哀痛、耻辱或者忏悔之情。“头蒙灰尘”表达了对死者的哀悼(撒下 13:19), 也可表达因国耻而悲痛(尼 9:1; 拿 3:5-6; 参: 马一 3:47)。约伯像其他遭受病痛折磨的人一样, 坐在灰中(伯 2:8; 参: 伯 42:6), 而耶利米忠告固执的以色列人应当“滚在灰中”(耶 6:26)。《以西结书》中说, 推罗悲痛欲绝的水手“把尘土撒在头上”, 以此表达他们的不幸遭遇(结 27:30-31)。《新约》中的哀悼和斋戒仪式中经常用到灰尘(太 11:21; 路 10:13; 来 9:13)。“灰尘”一词也用来指代毫无价值或微不足道的事物(创 18:27; 伯 30:19)。

见《列王纪上》20:38, 41 中的 BANDAGE (头巾)。

ASHHUR 亚施户

音译: ash'ər 【希伯来语: ^אšhūr】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 ASHUR (“亚施户”)。亚施户是提哥亚的父亲, 也是提哥亚城的建造者(代上 2:24; 代上 4:5)。《七十士译本》和《武加大译本》(参: 《修订标准译本》和《新英文修订本》)认为亚施户是迦勒和以法他(代上 2:19)

中的以法他)的儿子。《历代志上》2:19 中的户珥有可能是亚施户的缩写。

ə-shīmə [Heb. ^ašīmā]; RSV and NEB also ASHIMAH (Am. 8:14). A deity worshiped by the residents of Hamath who were resettled in Samaria by the Assyrians after the fall of Israel (2 K. 17:30). It has been suggested that “Ashimah of Samaria” (RSV; NEB “Ashimah, goddess of Samaria”) should be read for “sin of Samaria” (AV) in Am. 8:14. While this would require only a change of vocalization (^ašma to ^ašīmā), it is unnecessary since the guilt of Samaria, like the guilt of Judah, was its idolatry (2 Ch. 24:18).

Neither the identification of Ashima with the Elephantine colony of Ashema-bethel, nor the suggestion that Ashima is a deliberate corruption of Asherah the Canaanite mother-goddess, is without difficulty. The extent of our present knowledge does not permit a positive identification of this deity.

ASHIMA 亚示玛

音译: ə-shīmə【希伯来语: ^ašīmā】;《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》也译为 ASHIMAH (“亚示玛”) (摩 8:14)。以色列分裂之后,亚述把哈马人重新安置在了撒玛利亚,亚示玛是这些哈马人崇拜的神(王下 17:30)。有人提出应将《阿摩司书》8:14 中的“撒玛利亚亚示玛”(《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》译为“撒玛利亚亚示玛女神”)理解为“撒玛利亚的罪”(《钦定版圣经》)。虽然这只需要在发音上做出一个改变(^ašma 变成 ^ašīmā),但是没有必要这样理解,因为撒玛利亚的罪和犹太的罪一样,它们都是因为偶像崇拜而犯罪(代下 24:18)。

人们很难确定亚示玛就是亚示玛伯特利的大殖民地,也很难确定亚示玛是人们对迦南的母神亚舍拉名字的篡改。我们现在掌握的证据不能有力地证明这份女神的身份。

ASHKELON 亚实基伦

Ashqelon. It was one of the five chief cities of the Philistines.

Excavations of the site show that it was occupied by the Middle Bronze period or earlier. It is first mentioned in the Execration Texts of Egypt (1850 B.C.) and in the Amarna Tablets (1400 B.C.). In response to a revolt in 1280 B.C., Ramses II sacked the city and inscribed a record of the battle on the wall of the great temple at Karnak in Upper Egypt.

Israel failed to take Ashkelon during the conquest by Joshua (Josh. 13:3). In the period of the judges it was temporarily occupied by the tribe of Judah (Jgs. 1:18), but it had reverted to the Philistines before the days of Samson (Jgs. 14:19). Ashkelon contributed one of the golden tumors (AV “emerods”) sent to Israel when the Philistines returned the ark, which had been taken in battle (1 S. 6:17). David couples Ashkelon with Gath in his lament over Saul and Jonathan (2 S. 1:20). It is joined with Gaza, Ashdod, and Ekron in the denunciations of Amos (Am. 1:7f.), and is referred to in a similar way by Jeremiah (Jer. 25:20; 47:5-7). Zephaniah (2:4-7) speaks of the impending desolation of Ashkelon and then prophesies that “the seacoast shall become the possession of the remnant of the house of Judah, on which they shall pasture, and in the houses of Ashkelon they shall lie down at evening. For the Lord their God will be mindful of them and restore their fortunes.” (The new city established in 1953 is dedicated to Zephaniah the prophet.) Zechariah also speaks out against Ashkelon (Zec. 9:5).

实突以南 10 英里 (16 公里) 处。《新约》中这座城镇多次被译为 Ascalon (“亚实基伦”)；这座城邑现名为阿什凯隆。它是非利士人的五个主要城邑之一。

该遗址的考古发掘结果显示这座城邑在青铜器时代中期或稍早时期有人类定居的。埃及的诅咒祷文 (公元前 1850 年) 和亚玛拿泥版 (公元前 1400 年) 中首次提到了这座城邑。公元前 1280 年, 拉美西斯二世镇压了当地的起义, 并劫掠了这座城邑, 他还在上埃及卡纳克神庙的墙壁上铭刻了这次战争的记录。

约书亚征服时期, 以色列未能攻取亚实基伦 (书 13:3)。士师时期, 亚实基伦曾被犹大支派短暂占领 (士 1:18), 但是到参孙时期之前, 这座城邑又回到了非利士人的手中 (士 14:19)。当非利士人将约柜送还到以色列时 (以色列人将约柜抬到了战场), 亚实基伦献出了一个金痔疮像 (《钦定版圣经》译为 “emerods” [痔疮]) 作为赔罪 (撒上 6:17)。在大卫为扫罗和约拿单作的哀歌中, 他把迦特和亚实基伦结合在一起进行了描述 (撒下 1:20)。阿摩司将亚实基伦与迦萨、亚实突和以革伦放在一起进行了谴责 (摩 1:7-8), 耶利米也用同样的方式提及了亚实基伦 (耶 25:20; 47:5-7), 《西番雅书》中说, 亚实基伦即将荒芜 (番 2:4, 番 2:7), 然后预言道, “沿海之地要变为草场, 这地必为犹太家剩下的人所得。他们必在那里牧放群羊。晚上必躺卧在亚实基伦的房屋中。因为耶和华他们的 神, 必眷顾他们, 使他们被掳的人归回。” (1953 年, 新城建成, 人们将它献给了先知西番雅) 《撒加利亚书》中明确提到了亚实基伦将面临审判 (亚 9:5)。

Tiglath-pileser III named Ashkelon among his tributaries; and its disloyal king Mitinti is said to have become insane when he heard of the fall of Damascus in 732 B.C. Ashkelon revolted again in the reign of Sennacherib and was punished. It remained tributary to Assyria until the decay of that power.

After the conquest by Alexander the Great, Ashkelon embraced Hellenism and became a wealthy Greek city and a center of literature and scholarship. In Maccabean times it was captured by Jonathan (1 Macc. 10:86; 11:60). In 104 B.C. it was declared a “free city.” Tradition says that Herod the Great was born there (Eusebius HE i.6.2; Justin Martyr Dial 52.3). Herod lavished baths, costly fountains, colonnaded courts, and other splendid buildings upon the city (Josephus BJ i.21.11). After Herod’s death, the royal palace of Ashkelon was bestowed upon his sister Salome (BJ ii.6.3).

By the 4th cent. A.D. the city had become a Christian community and the seat of a bishopric. In the 7th cent. the conquering Moslems claimed it. During the Crusades, a series of memorable sieges involving Saladin and Richard Coeur de Lion took place at Ashkelon. The famous walls built by Richard are still visible in places. It was an important fortress because of its vicinity to the trade route between Syria and Egypt. But from the end of the Crusader period until modern times, the site was uninhabited ruins.

The first excavations were carried out in 1815 by Lady Hester Stanhope, an English noblewoman, who was in search of gold and silver reputedly buried at

提革拉·毗列色三世时期，亚实基伦是亚述的附属国。据说公元前 732 年，当不忠国王米汀在提听到大马士革陷落消息时发了疯。在西拿基立统治时期，亚实基伦人再次起义，也因此遭受了惩罚。亚实基伦在亚述帝国灭亡之前始终是其附庸国。

亚历山大大帝征服这里之后，亚实基伦接受了希腊文化，变成了一座富庶的希腊城市，也成为了文学和学术的中心。在马加比家族时期，约拿单攻占了这座城市（马一 10:86；11:60）。公元前 104 年，亚实基伦被称为一座“自由之城”。传说希律大帝就出生在这座城市（Eusebius HE i.6.2；Justin Martyr Dial 52.3）。希律大帝在城中建造了奢华的浴场、喷泉、廊柱宫殿和其他辉煌的建筑（Josephus BJ i.21.11）。希律去世后，将亚实基伦的皇宫留给了他的妹妹撒罗米（BJ ii.6.3）。

公元 4 世纪时，亚实基伦成为了基督教社区和主教辖区所在地。公元 7 世纪，穆斯林人占领了亚实基伦。十字军远征期间，萨拉丁和狮心王查理多次围攻这座城市。查理建造的城墙现在依然存在。亚实基伦是一个战略要塞，因为它靠近叙利亚和埃及之间的商路。但是从十字军远征结束到近代，这里一直是荒无人烟的废墟。

1815 年，英国贵族斯坦诺普女士（Lady Hester Stanhope）首次对该遗址进行了发掘，她想要寻找传说中埋在亚实基伦的金银财宝。1920 年至 1922 年期间，

Ashkelon. During 1920–1922 John Garstang, working for the Palestine Exploration Fund, carried out a serious archeological excavation, which brought to light extensive finds from the Hellenistic and Roman periods and allowed the history of the city to be traced as far back as the Middle Bronze Age. The state of Israel has converted the site into a park and an open-air museum.

巴勒斯坦探索基金会的加斯唐（John Garstang）在该地开展了仔细的考古发掘，他挖掘出了大量希腊和罗马时期的遗迹，从而将该城市的历史追溯到青铜器时代中期。以色列政府将该遗址变成了一个公园兼露天博物馆。

ASHTAROTH 亚斯他录

音译: ash'tə-roth【希伯来语: 'aštārôṭ】，《钦定版圣经》译为 ASTAROTH (“亚斯她录”)，音译: as'te-roth 是 ASHTORETH (亚斯她录, 迦南的生育女神) 一词的复数形式, 也是外约旦巴珊的一个地名, 可能就是亚特律加宁 (创 14:5), 虽然最好将亚特律加宁分开视作相邻的两个城市 (ASHTEROTH 和 KARNAIM) (LBHG, 50 页), 但它显然就是《约书亚记》21:27 中的比施提拉 (《新英文译本》译为 Be-ashtaroth [汉译名仍为比施提拉]); 这个词也指偶像亚斯她录 (士 2:13; 10:6; 撒上 7:3-4; 12:10)。

Ashteroth-karnaim, possibly referring to the region around these cities, was the scene of the defeat of the Rephaim by Chedorlaomer (Gen. 14:5). Ashtaroth was the capital city of Og king of Bashan (Dt. 1:4, etc.). Located in the territory of Manasseh E of the Jordan, it was one of the Levitical cities (Josh. 21:27; 1 Ch. 6:71). Carnion or Carnaim of 1 and 2 Maccabees may be identified either with Ashteroth-karnaim or with Karnaim as a separate city.

Ashtaroth was located on the important King's Highway, thus comes into history at various points. The name is read by some scholars on figurines of princes among the Execration Texts from the 19th cent. B.C. (LBHG, p. 133). It is twenty-eighth in the roster of cities of Thutmose III, being spelled '-s-t-r-t and '-š-t-r-t. In the Amarna Letters the name occurs as ^{al}aš-tar-te (197:10) and ^{al}aš-tar-ti (256:21); the latter reference occurs in the only Amarna text containing the name Jashuia, sometimes identified as the biblical Joshua—though this is impossible in the total context of the letter. In 732 Tiglath-pileser III exiled the people of Ashtaroth. A bas-relief discovered at Nimrod, which portrays a walled city with the name as-tar-tu (ANEP, no 336), may refer to the same event.

In Eusebius (Onom.) two forts bearing the name Ashteroth-karnaim are mentioned, 9 mi. (14.5 km.) apart, as well as a Carnaim Ashtaroth; but the identifications seem to be badly confused, and the account must be rejected. Ashtaroth is probably to be identified with Tell 'Ashtarah, about 3 mi. (5 km.) S

亚特律加宁可能指的是这些城市周围的地区,也是基大老玛战胜利乏音人的战场(创 14:5)。亚斯他录是巴珊王噩的都城(申 1:4 等)。这座城市位于约旦以东的玛拿西支派境内,它是利未支派的城邑之一(书 21:27; 代上 6:71)。《马加比一书》和《马加比二书》认为迦宁(Carnion 或 Carnaim)是一个单独的城市,它可能是亚特律加宁,或者是加宁。

尤西比乌斯的作品中(Onom.)提到了两座名为亚特律加宁的要塞,两者相隔 9 英里(14.5 公里),其中还提到了加宁亚斯他录这个名字;但是这两个名字似乎极易混淆,因此对这两座要塞的记录也不予考虑。亚斯他录可能就是亚斯他录废丘(Tell 'Ashtarah),该废丘约位于谢赫萨德(Sheikh Sa'd, 可能是加宁) of Sheikh Sa'd (supposedly the site of Karnaim), about 20 mi. (32 km.) E of the sea of Galilee, and about 12 mi. (19 km.) NW of Der'ā (Edrei). Traces can be seen of an ancient wall, and evidence of occupation during all the Bronze Age and Iron I.

ASHTERATHITE

ash'tə-ra-thīt [Heb. hā'āšṭērāṭī]. A native of Astaroth, viz., Uzzia, one of David's heroes (1 Ch. 11:44).

ASHTEROTH-KARNAIM

ash'tə-roth kār-nā'əm [Heb. 'āšṭērōṭ qaranayim—'Ashteroth of two horns']. A city of the Rephidim "subdued" by Chedorlaomer (Gen. 14:5). Modern scholars understand the name to mean either "Ashtaroth near Karnaim" or a location near ASHTAROTH with the name Ashteroth-karnaim. In either event, it is identified with Ashtaroth in Gilead.

The name Karnaim occurs in Am. 6:13, possibly a pun on the name of the town, and in 1 Macc. 5:26 and 2 Macc. 12:21, 26, as Carnaim or Carnion. The latter passages refer to a postexilic city of Jews and Greeks which was captured and destroyed by Judas Maccabeus.

ASHTERATHITE 亚施他拉人

音译: ash'tə-ra-thīt 【希伯来语: hā'āšṭērāṭī】。亚施他拉乌西亚是大卫军中的勇士 (代上 11:44)。

ASHTEROTH-KARNAIM 亚特律加宁

音译: ash'tə-roth kār-nā'əm 【希伯来语: 'āšṭērōṭ qaranayim——“两角的亚特律”】。基大老玛“攻克”的一座利乏音城市 (创 14:5)。现代学者认为这个名字指的是“加宁附近的亚斯他录”或亚斯他录附近一个名叫亚特律加宁的地方。无论哪一种说法成立, 它指的都是基列的亚斯他录。

角 (“Karnaim”) 这个词出现在《阿摩司书》6:13, 它可能是一个双关语, 也可以用来指城邑加宁。《马加比一书》5:26 和《马加比二书》12:21, 26 中也提到了这个词, 其中译为 Carnaim 或 Carnion (汉译均为“迦宁”)。后一经文章中所说迦宁是被掳归回后犹太人和希腊人建立的一座城市, 后被犹太马加比摧毁。

ASHTORETH 亚斯她录

音译: ash'tə-reth 【希伯来语: 'āšṭōreṭ, 复数形式为 'āšṭārōṭ; 希腊语: Astartē】。这位迦南和腓尼基女神的名字来自于

derived from Babylonia, where Ishtar represented the evening and morning stars and was accordingly androgynous in origin. Under Semitic influence, however, she became solely female, although retaining a trace of her original character by standing on equal footing with the male divinities. From Babylonia the worship of the goddess was carried to the Semites of the West, and in most instances the feminine suffix was attached to her name; where this was not the case the deity was regarded as a male. On the Moabite Stone, for example, 'Ashtar is identified with Chemosh, and in the inscriptions of southern Arabia 'Athtar is a god. On the other hand, in the name Atargatis (2 Macc. 12:26), 'Atar, without the feminine suffix, is identified with the goddess 'Athah or 'Athi (Gk. Gatis). The cult of the Greek Aphrodite in Cyprus was borrowed from that of Ashtoreth; that the Greek name also is a modification of Ashtoreth is doubtful. It is maintained, however, that the vowels of Heb. 'aštōreṯ were borrowed from bōšeṯ ("shame") in order to indicate the abhorrence the Hebrew scribes felt toward paganism and idolatry.

In Babylonia and Assyria Ishtar was the goddess of love and war. An old Babylonian legend relates how the descent of Ishtar into Hades in search of her dead husband Tammuz was followed by the cessation of marriage and birth in both earth and heaven; and the temples of the goddess at Nineveh and Arbela, around which the two cities afterward grew, were dedicated to her as the goddess of war. As such she appeared to one of Ashurbanipal's seers and encouraged the Assyrian king to march against Elam. The other goddesses of

在巴比伦人和亚述人的心目中, 伊师塔是爱神和战争女神。在古老的巴比伦传说中, 伊师塔独闯冥界寻找她的丈夫坦姆斯的尸体, 此时地上和天堂中没有了婚姻和生育, 人们在尼尼微和阿尔贝拉为伊师塔建造神庙, 奉她为战争之神, 后来这两座城市以神庙为中心不断向外扩展。她似乎曾向一个亚述巴尼帕的先知显现, 鼓励亚述王向以拦进发。巴比伦的其他女神更像是一位神的不同化身, 最终逐渐与伊师塔融为一体, 而伊师塔作为众女神的化身, 成为了自然生育的象征, 尤其是人类的创造者和母神。

Babylonia, who were little more than reflections of a god, tended to merge into Ishtar, who thus became a type of the female divinity, a personification of the productive principle in nature, and more especially the mother and creatress of mankind.

In Babylonia Ishtar was identified with Venus. Like Venus, Ishtar was the goddess of erotic love and fertility. Her chief seat of worship was Uruk (Erech), where prostitution was practiced in her name and she was served with immoral rites by bands of men and women. In Assyria, where the warlike side of the goddess was predominant, no such rites seem to have been practiced, and instead prophetesses to whom she delivered oracles were attached to her temples.

From various Egyptian sources it appears that Astarte or Ashtoreth was highly regarded in the Late Bronze Age. As goddess of war she is seen unclothed, weapons in hand, on a galloping stallion, charging into war. Other figures depicting the nude goddess have been unearthed in Syria and Palestine. In 1935 excavations were begun in ancient Mizpah, or Tell en-Naşbeh, that unearthed a temple dedicated to Ashtoreth.

Strangely, Ashtoreth is seldom mentioned in the Râs Shamrah texts, which fact has led several scholars to assume that Ashtoreth and Asherah were two names for the same goddess. The evidence to warrant such a conclusion, however, is at most meagre. In the Râs Shamrah texts Ashtoreth is mentioned in connection with Baal in his conflict with the sea, but from the fragmentary text it is not possible to determine the exact role of the goddess.

在巴比伦神话中，伊师塔就相当于维纳斯。伊师塔和维纳斯一样，是司掌情爱和生育的女神。乌胡克（以力）是崇拜这位女神的主要城市，当地人以她为借口行淫乱之事，男女们向她献不道德的祭仪。在亚述，人们更多地将她作为战争女神来崇拜，也不像乌鲁克人那样向她献祭，但是女先知在她的神庙中侍奉，她们在那里聆听她的神谕。

根据埃及的诸多传说，阿施塔特或亚斯她录在青铜器时代后期享有极高的威望。作为战争女神，她赤膊上阵，手拿武器，跨上良驹冲锋陷阵。人们在叙利亚和巴勒斯坦发掘出其他描述这位赤身女神的雕像。1935年，人们开始对古代米斯巴（或纳斯贝丘）进行考古发掘，从该遗址中发掘出了一座供奉亚斯她录的神庙。

奇怪的是，拉斯姆拉文献中很少提及亚斯她录这位女神，一些学者据此认为亚斯她录和亚舍拉是同一位女神的两个不同的名字。但他们得出这一结论的证据却很匮乏。拉斯姆拉文献中提到亚斯她录与巴力一同与海争战，但是根据这一残本，人们无法确定这位女神的准确角色。

It is quite possible that Ashtoreth, in distinction to the male god 'Ashtar, dropped her warlike attributes in Canaanite mythology and became, on the one hand, the colorless consort of Baal, and on the other hand, an astral deity. In the Râs Shamrah texts the most prominent goddess is not Ashtoreth, but Anat, the sister-consort of Baal. Ashtoreth plays a very inconspicuous role in the Baal passages. That Ashtoreth the goddess of the Sidonians belonged to the astral cult is supported by the fact that she is mentioned in connection with Chemosh the god of Moab and Milcom the god of the Ammonites, both of whom were probably astral deities. Solomon, having forsaken Yahweh, worshiped Ashtoreth, Chemosh, and Milcom (1 K. 11:5, 33; cf. 2 K. 23:13).

在迦南神话中，亚斯她录与神灵阿赫塔（'Ashtar）有所区别，她极有可能不再是战争女神，而是巴力的平凡妻子，又是星神。在拉斯姆拉文献中，地位最突出的女神不是亚斯她录，而是阿娜特，巴力的妻子兼姐妹。在描述巴力的段落中，亚斯她录扮演的角色毫不起眼。《圣经》中一同提及了摩押人的神基抹、亚扪人的神米勒公（他们可能也是星神）和西顿人的神亚斯她录，这证明女神亚斯她录是西顿人供奉的星神。所罗门背叛耶和华，崇拜亚斯她录、基抹和米勒公（王上 11:5, 33；参：王下 23:13）。

Ashtoreth wearing diaphanous robe and composite crown with sheep horns. The stele is from the temple of Amenhotep III at Beth-shan, where her cult was prominent in the 15th–13th cents (cf. 1 S. 31:10). (University Museum, University of Pennsylvania)

Hence there were as many “Ashtoreths” or Ashtaroth as Baals. They represented the various forms under which the goddess was worshiped in different localities (Jgs. 10:6; 1 S. 7:4; 12:10; etc.). Sometimes she was addressed as Naamah, “the delightful one,” Gk. Astro-noē, the mother of Eshmun and the Cabeiri. The Philistines seem to have adopted her under her warlike form (1 S. 31:10, AV, NEB, LXX). Generally, however, she was worshiped locally as the consort of Baal, depicted in the nude with horns on her head, and was thus a member of the fertility cult. At Ashkelon, where Herodotus (i. 105) places her most ancient temple, she was worshiped under the name Atargatis, as a woman with the tail of a fish, and fish were accordingly sacred to her. The immoral rites with which the worship of Ishtar in Babylonia was accompanied were transferred to Canaan (Dt. 23:18) and formed part of the idolatrous practices that the Israelites were called upon to extirpate.

亚斯她录穿着透明的长袍，戴着饰有羊角的复合头冠。人们在伯珊的阿蒙霍特普三世的神庙中发现了这块石碑，公元前15世纪至13世纪期间，亚斯她录是伯珊地区供奉的主要神明（参撒上31:10）。（宾夕法尼亚大学，大学博物馆）

因此，在神话中有多个亚斯她录，就像有多个巴力一样。不同的地方的人崇拜亚斯她录的形式（士10:6；撒上7:4；12:10等）。有时候人们称呼她为拿玛，意思是“高兴的人”，希腊语是 Astro-noē，她是爱希慕恩和卡比里的母亲。非利士人奉她为战争女神（撒上31:10，《钦定版圣经》、《新英文译本》和《七十士译本》），但是当地人通常认为她是巴力的配偶，并将其描述为头长犄角、赤裸身体的女神，因此人们也奉她为生育女神。希罗多德 (i.105) 认

ash-ər-ban'i-pal [Assyr. aššur-bāni-apli—‘Ashur (is) creating an heir’]. The last great king of Assyria, 668–626 (?) B.C., son of ESARHADDON.

ASHURBANIPAL 亚述巴尼帕

音译：ash-ər-ban'i-pal 【亚述语：aššur-bāni-apli——“亚施户的后裔”】。亚述帝国最后一位伟大的君王，生卒年为公元前 668 至 626（不确定）年，以

撒哈顿的儿子（见 ESARHADDON[以撒哈顿]）。

Before Esarhaddon set out on his last campaign against Egypt, he named Ashurbanipal as crown prince of Assyria, and Šamaš-šum-ukīn, another son, as crown prince of Babylonia (ARAB, II, § 766). Esarhaddon died on the way to Egypt, and Ashurbanipal claimed the supreme title, permitting his brother to be called only viceroy of Babylon. Ashurbanipal began his reign by continuing the policies of his father, waging war against Egypt. In 663 he even succeeded in advancing as far south as Thebes (Karnak), which he destroyed (ARAB, II, §§ 771, 778). It is probably this destruction of Thebes to which Nah. 3:8 refers, for No-Amon, “the city of Amon,” is generally identified as Thebes.

The western frontier of Assyria at that time was Lydia in Asia Minor, whose king Gyges was under pressure from the Cimmerians, and sought Ashurbanipal’s aid (ARAB, II, §§ 784, 849). The northern frontier, which was some distance south of Lakes Van and Urmia, was inhabited by the kingdom of Urartu, the Mannaeans, and other smaller groups of people. They were an almost constant source of trouble (cf. ARAB, II, § 786, etc.). In the east, the Elamites were continually in revolt until Ashurbanipal finally ravaged the land and destroyed the capital Susa (ARAB, II, §§ 805–832). In the south, Šamaš-šum-ukīn apparently brooded over the situation whereby his brother had taken over the entire empire of their father. In 652, Šamaš-šum-ukīn rebelled (ARAB, II, § 789). Possibly he thought the other nations on Assyria’s borders would join the revolt, as they were to do forty years later when Babylon overthrew Assyria. But the time was not yet ripe; Babylonia was surrounded by well-disciplined Assyrian garrisons, and the Elamites were too weak to be effectual. Ashurbanipal crushed the revolt, after a two-year siege of Babylon (650–648), and went on to punish Elam and the Arab tribes who had attempted to support Babylonia (ARAB, II, § 817ff.). The annals of Ashurbanipal leave much to be desired from the point of view of chronology, possibly because they were written down quite a few years later, and we are unable to put all of the details of Ashurbanipal's many campaigns in order with certainty.

亚述王以撒哈顿最后一次远征埃及之前，他任命亚述巴尼帕作亚述的储君，另一个儿子沙马舒姆金作巴比伦的储君 (ARAB, II, 766 段)。以撒哈顿死在去埃及的路上，亚述巴尼帕宣布继承王位，仅允许他的兄弟沙马舒姆金为巴比伦的总督。亚述巴尼帕登基后延续了他父亲的对外政策，继续与埃及争战。公元前 663 年，他一路率军南下，甚至打到了底比斯（卡纳克），并摧毁了这座城市 (ARAB, II, 771, 778 段)。《那鸿书》3:8 中所描述的毁灭可能指的就是这一历史事件，人们通常认为经文中的挪亚们（“亚扪的城市”）就是底比斯。

这一时期，亚述的西部边界是小亚细亚的吕底亚，吕底亚国王盖吉斯（Gyges）面临着辛梅里安人的威胁，他向亚述巴尼帕寻求援助 (ARAB, II, 784, 849 段)。亚述的北部边界位于凡湖和乌尔米耶湖的南面，乌拉尔人、玛尼安人（Mannaeans）和其他小型族群就定居在亚述的北部边境上。他们时常侵扰亚述帝国（参：ARAB, II, 786 段等）。东面的埃以拦人不断起义反对亚述帝国，直到亚述巴尼帕最终扫平了这片土地，并摧毁了他们的都城书珊 (ARAB, II, 805–832 段)。南面的沙马舒姆金显然对其兄弟亚述巴尼帕霸占整个亚述帝国的行为忿恨不满。公元前 652，他发动了起义战争 (ARAB, II, 789 段)。他也许以为亚述边境上的其他民族会参加这次起义，实际上直到四十年之后，当巴比伦推翻亚述帝国时，这些民族才爆发起义。沙马舒姆金选择的时机不太成熟；巴比伦被训练有素的亚述驻军包围着，而弱小的以拦也难以发挥它的作

“The great and noble Osnapper” of Ezr. 4:10 (AV Asnapper) is generally identified as Ashurbanipal, although it is uncertain whether the biblical name is derived from the Assyrian form known to us. The description of Osnapper's deportation and resettlement of the peoples he conquered is in accord with what we know of Ashurbanipal's policies—and with the Assyrian kings in general from Tiglath-pileser III on. According to 2 Ch. 33:11, “commanders of the army of the king of Assyria” took Manasseh king of Judah (co-regent from 696, reigned 687–642) “with hooks and bound with fetters of bronze” to Babylon. This probably took place under Esarhaddon (ANET, p. 291). Manasseh was released, however, and permitted to return to Jerusalem and to resume his reign. In the course of his first campaign against Egypt, Ashurbanipal lists twenty-two kings from whom he received tribute, including Manasseh of Judah (ARAB, II, § 876; ANET, p. 294); hence we assume that Manasseh regained his throne by becoming a tributary of

虽然无法确定《圣经》中亚斯那巴（Osnapper）源自我们所熟知的亚述语名字亚述巴尼帕，但是人们普遍认为《以斯拉记》4:10 中的“尊大的亚斯那巴”就是亚述巴尼帕（《钦定版圣经》译为 Asnapper[亚斯那巴]）。经文中说，亚斯那巴每征服一个地方就会迁徙和重新安置一批人，这一描述与我们了解的亚述巴尼帕推行的政策一致，提革拉·毗列色三世之后的所有亚述王都奉行这样的政策。根据《历代志下》33:11 中描述，“亚述王的将帅用镣钩钩住”犹太王玛拿西（公元前 696 年开始联合执政，公元前 687 年至 642 年单独执政），“用铜链锁住他，带到巴比伦去”。这一事件可能发生在以撒哈顿执政时期（ANET, 291 页）。但是，后来，亚述王释放了玛拿西，允许他回归耶路撒冷，并恢复了他的统治权力。亚述巴尼帕第一次远征埃及期间，他列出了 22 个向他朝贡的藩国国王，其中就包括犹太的玛拿西（ARAB, II, 876 段；ANET, 294 页）；因此，我们认为玛拿西以犹太作亚述附庸国的代价换回了自己的王位。值得注意的是，亚述巴尼帕的年鉴中记载道，他用锁链锁住埃及的叛军将领，带到了尼尼微（ARAB, II, 771–74

Assyria. It is interesting to note in this connection that Ashurbanipal records that he carried the leaders of the Egyptian insurrection to Nineveh in chains (ARAB, II, §§ 771–74). Among these was Neco (AV Necho), who had entered into coalition with Tirhakah. Later, Neco was released and permitted to take up his rule at Sais (ANET, p. 295). This is similar to the biblical account of Manasseh's capture and subsequent restoration.

We have no records from Ashurbanipal after the year 639, even though he reigned until at least 633, possibly to 626. Internal affairs were apparently chaotic, and it is obvious that the Assyrian empire fell apart during the reign of Sin-šar-iškun (?-612). There is much evidence that Ashurbanipal devoted himself to the arts, particularly to architecture, sculpture, and the formation of his library; this shift from militarism to the more peaceful arts took place in the second half of his reign. Psamtik the son of Neco (who had remained faithful to Assyria after his restoration) declared Egypt's independence, and Assyria did not contest it. The tribes on the west and north became increasingly inclined to revolt, and quickly joined Babylon in 612. It is not unlikely that Sin-šar-iškun's failure to hold the empire together was directly related to Ashurbanipal's de-emphasizing the military might of the nation.

Ashurbanipal built a palace in Nineveh that was embellished by rich ornamentation and many fine sculptures, some of which are displayed at the British Museum. In other cities he restored, enlarged, or refurbished many temples and shrines (cf. ARAB, II, §§

段)。尼哥(《钦定版圣经》译为 Necho[尼哥])就在这些人之中,他之前曾与与特哈加结成了同盟。后来,尼哥被释放,也恢复了在塞斯的统治权(ANET, 295 页)。这与《圣经》中描述的玛拿西被捕和后来被恢复王位的情节很相似。

亚述巴尼帕在尼尼微城建造了装饰奢华的宫殿,宫殿内有许多精美的雕塑,其中一些雕塑现在陈列在大英博物馆中。他还在其他城市修复、扩大或翻新了许多神庙和神龛(参: ARAB, II, 951–1000 段等)。这一时期的雕塑艺术达到了亚述艺术成就的顶峰。但是,最为重

951–1000, etc.). The sculptures from this period represent the zenith of that form of Assyrian art. But above all, Ashurbanipal's great interest in literature, the training of scribes to read the ancient Sumerian literary remains, which resulted in bilingual and trilingual word-lists and sign-lists (which, in turn, have made possible the great achievements in modern study of Assyrian and Sumerian), not to speak of the preservation of great quantities of the ancient literature of Sumer and Akkad, is, beyond cavil, Ashurbanipal's greatest monument. To say that Ashurbanipal, who boasted of his ability to read and write (ARAB, II, §§ 767, 843), "is perhaps to be considered the greatest known patron of literature in the pre-Christian centuries" (A. T. Clay, ISBE, 1st ed.), is to qualify the statement unnecessarily.

ash'ar-īts [Heb. hā-ʿšûrî]; NEB ASHERITES. According to the MT of 2 S. 2:9, a tribe located between Gilead and Jezreel, which was included in the short-lived kingdom of Saul's son Ishbosheth. There is some question as to the accuracy of the text here, with the Targum reading "Asherites" and the Vulg. and Syr. preferring "Geshurites." The latter, however, seems precluded because Geshur was independent at this time (2 S. 3:3; 13:37).

要的是，亚述巴尼帕极为注重文学，他培养的文士能够读懂古苏美尔语文献残本，因此他们制定了双语或三语言的文字表和符号表（这些列表反过来也使现代亚述语和苏美尔语研究取得了巨大的成就），他还保留了大量苏美尔和阿卡德的古文献，这毫无疑问是他最大的功绩。亚述巴尼帕“可能是基督以前世纪中最有名的文献赞助者”（A. T. Clay, ISBE, 第 1 版），这一说法完全是一种赘述，亚述巴尼帕自己也曾夸耀自己的阅读和写作能力（ARAB, II, 767, 843 页）。

ASHURITES 亚书利人

音译: ash'ar-īts 【希伯来语: hā-ʿšûrî】; 《新英文译本》译作 ASHERITES (“亚设人”)。根据《马所拉文本》《撒母耳记下》2:9 的记载，亚书利人是扫罗的儿子伊施波设的短暂王国中的一支宗族，该宗族位于基列与耶斯列之间。人们对这一文本的准确性存有一些疑问，《他尔根》中将之译为“亚设人”，而《武加大译本》和《叙利亚语译本》译为“基述人”。但是根据圣经中的描述（撒下 3:3; 13:37），基述这时已是独立的王国，所以似乎也应当排除后一种理解。

ash'vath [Heb. 'ašwāt]. A man of Asher, of the house of Japhlet (1 Ch. 7:33).

ASIA

[Gk. Asia]. A Roman province including in the first three centuries A.D. nearly the whole of the western part of Asia Minor and some of the coastal islands such as Samos and Patmos. Most of the area comprising the provinces of Mysia, Lydia, Caria, and Phrygia had been bequeathed to the Romans by King Attalus III in 133 B.C. It was governed by a proconsul who had his headquarters at Ephesus, but the title “First of Asia” (Gk. prōtē tēs Asias) was also claimed by Pergamum and Smyrna.

In the 1st cent. B.C. there was a large Jewish population whose relations with the Greek provincials were bad. Dolabella, governor of Asia in 43 B.C., and others took steps to prevent the Greek city oligarchies from discriminating against the Jews in their midst (see Josephus Ant. xiv.10). Paul intended to preach in the cities of Asia on his second missionary journey but was prevented (Acts 16:6); on his third he took up residence in Ephesus, where he stayed over two years, so that “the entire population of Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks” (Acts 19:10).

【希腊语: Asia】。罗马的一个行省, 公元 1-3 世纪时, 这一罗马行省几乎覆盖了小亚细亚西部的全部地区和撒摩、拔摩岛等沿海海岛屿的部分地区。公元前 133 年阿塔罗斯三世国王将包括每西亚、吕底亚、卡里亚和弗吕家在内的大部分省份遗赠给了罗马人。这些地区归罗马总督管辖, 总督府设在以弗所, 但是别迦摩和士每拿被称为“亚西亚的首府”(希腊语: prōtē tēs Asias)。

公元前 1 世纪, 亚西亚省的众多犹太人与当地的希腊人不和。公元前 43 年, 亚西亚总督多拉贝拉等人联合反对希腊城市的寡头政治集团歧视他们中间的犹太人(见 Josephus Ant. xiv.10)。保罗在第二次传道之旅时打算在亚西亚各城讲道, 却遭到禁止(徒 16:6); 在第三次传道之旅时, 他住在了以弗所, 他在此传道两年, 所以“一切住在亚西亚的, 无论是犹太人, 是希腊人, 都听见主的道”(徒 19:10)。

By the end of the 1st cent. A.D., Christianity was strongly represented in the provincial cities, and had aroused the enmity of the Jewish and Greek population, as revealed in the book of Revelation. The “seven churches” that are in Asia (Rev. 1:11) contained relatively large Christian communities and may have been missionary centers (W. M. Ramsay’s theory: LSC).

In the early 2nd cent., anti-Christian outbreaks by the population were checked by Hadrian’s rescript to the proconsul Minucius Fundanus in 124/25, ordering that procedure against Christians must be kept within the framework of the law and protecting Christians against vexatious attacks by informers. Justin Martyr was converted and held his celebrated debate with the Jew Trypho at Ephesus ca. 137. Later under Antoninus Pius and especially Marcus Aurelius there were severe local persecutions directed against the Christians, the most prominent victim being Polycarp at Smyrna (in either 156 or 166/67) (Eusebius HE iv.15). In the Decian persecution (250/51) the Christians in the cities of Asia were again affected (martyrdom of Pionius).

In the reign of Diocletian (284–305) the province of Asia was greatly reduced in size, and Ephesus lost some of its preeminence among the Christian churches in Asia Minor, though it continued to assert a right to patriarchal status, based on a claim to apostolic foundation through the apostle John. In the 5th cent., partly out of resentment at the predominance of Constantinople, Ephesus and the province of Asia generally tended toward support of

公元2世纪初期，民间爆发了多次反对基督教的活动，罗马皇帝哈德良在公元124年或125年向米纽修斯·丰达努斯总督下达的命令证明了这一点，他命令反对基督徒的活动不得违法，必须保护基督徒，使他们免受告密者的无理伤害。殉道者游斯丁归信主，约在公元137年，他与犹太人特里弗进行了著名的辩论。后来，在安东尼·庇护执政期间，尤其是马可·奥勒留执政期间，当地人残酷地迫害基督徒，最著名的殉道者就是士每拿的坡旅甲（殉道时间在公元156年或166/67年）(Eusebius HE iv.15)。在德修逼迫中（公元250/51年），亚西亚的基督徒再次遭受了迫害（庇沃纽殉道）。

戴克里先皇帝执政期间（公元284–305年），亚西亚行省的面积明显缩小，虽然以弗所仍然宣称自己是主教城市（根据使徒约翰的建立的基础），但是它在小亚细亚基督教会中的重要性有所丧失。公元5世纪，以弗所和亚西亚省普遍趋于基督神人二性论神学和基督一性论，其中一部分原因是它们对君士坦丁堡优越地位产生了憎恨。以弗所是公元431年聂斯脱里被定位异端之地，也是公元449年狄奥斯库若推动的“强盗会议”取得短暂胜利的地方。公元475

Cyrrilline theology and Monophysitism. Ephesus was the scene of Nestorius' condemnation in 431 and of Dioscorus' short-lived triumph at the "Robber Council" in 449. In 475 at Ephesus yet another Monophysite Council was held which conferred on the city the patriarchal status it had never renounced. It failed to gain acceptance for this and remained simply a see of metropolitan rank. Considerable areas of paganism remained in the province until the long and successful mission of John of Amida, acting on the orders of the emperor Justinian. John was elected Monophysite bishop of Ephesus in 558 and is known to history as John of Ephesus.

年，在以弗所又召开了一次一性论会议，会议授予了以弗所主教城市的地位，而这一地位它从未放弃过。但未能如愿，它仍然仅仅保留着主教教区的地位。阿米达的约翰遵从东罗马皇帝查士丁尼命令，在该行省长期传道，并取得了成功，在这之前，亚西亚行省存在着大量的异教区。公元 558 年，约翰被选为以弗所的一性论主教，史称以弗所书的约翰。

I. The Country.-A. Name. The term “Asia Minor” does not occur in the Bible, nor is it known from Bible times. As a Latin phrase in its modern sense it is first extant in Orosius (5th cent. A.D.), though a Greek counterpart goes back to Ptolemy in the 2nd century. The land to which this name has been applied, however, plays an important part in some periods of Bible history, and a central part in the history of the earliest Christian mission. The term is now commonly used of the peninsula that forms the western half of modern Asiatic Turkey, approximately W of a line from Amisus (modern Samsun) on the Black Sea southward to the Gulf of Issus at the northeast corner of the Mediterranean. This includes all the country W of about longitude 36°E; it excludes such places in eastern Turkey as Mt. Ararat and northern Mesopotamia.

The only early name for this peninsula was the ambiguous “Asia” (later also Gk. Anatolē, the “east land,” whence the Byzantine and modern “Anatolia”). The term “Asia” in different times and contexts could variously denote the continent, the whole peninsula, or a much smaller area on its western seaboard. The qualification “Asia Minor” distinguished the peninsula from the continent, but this name must be very carefully distinguished in turn from the “Asia” of the NT, which is normally to be equated with the Roman administrative province often known as “proconsular Asia” in the West.

I. 地区。A. 名字。“小亚细亚”一词并未出现在《圣经》中，也不是《圣经》时代的词汇。它是一个拉丁短语，其现代含义首次出现在奥罗修斯的作品中（公元5世纪），但早在2世纪，多利买就曾使用过该词的希腊语同义词。但是这个词所指的地区在《圣经》历史的某些时期中扮演者重要的角色，在早期基督教传道史中，小亚细亚是传道的中心地区。人们通常所说的小亚细亚指的是现代亚洲国家土耳其的西半部分构成的半岛，大约位于黑海阿米苏斯（现代萨姆松）南至地中海东北角的伊苏斯海湾一线的西侧。它包括了约东经36°以西的所有地区，但不包括土耳其东部的亚拉腊山和美索不达米亚的北部地区。

这一半岛早期的唯一名字是“亚细亚”，它的含义模糊不清（后来希腊语中称它为 Anatolē，意思是“东方的土地”，拜占庭人和现代人由此称它为“安纳托利亚”）。“亚细亚”在不同时期和不同背景下所指代的地区也有所差异，可能指整个大陆、整个半岛或半岛西海岸的较小区域。“小亚细亚”这一称谓区分了半岛和大陆地区，但是，人们又必须极为谨慎地对《新约》中“亚西亚”与小亚细亚加以区分，亚西亚通常指的罗马的一个行省，西方人通常称之为“亚西亚行省”。

B. General Description. The country forms an elevated land-bridge between central Asia and southeastern Europe, shaped and structured rather like a human hand stretching west. The central plateau, like the hollow of the palm, is bordered by a rim of coastal mountains along the Black Sea (Pontus Euxinus) to the north and another along the Mediterranean to the south. Eastward, too, the ranges converge into the highland block of Armenia. West of the central plateau longitudinal mountain ridges extend W like fingers, divided by fertile E-W river valleys and terminating in a raggedly indented western coastline. At the northwest corner the peninsula is separated from Europe by the Bosphorus, the Sea of Marmora (Propontis), and the Dardanelles (Hellespont).

B. 概述。这一地区为中亚和欧洲东南部架起了一座大陆桥，它的形状和构造很像是一个向西伸展开的手掌。中部的高原像掌心，黑海（拉丁语：Pontus Euxinus）以北和地中海以南的海岸山脉环绕着这一高原。连绵的山脉也向东延伸，最终汇成了亚美尼亚高原。中部高原西侧的纵向山脉向手指一样向西延

The high central tableland lies at an altitude of 3000 to 4000 ft. (900 to 1200 m.), stretching across large parts of Galatia, Lycaonia, and Cappadocia. There is much internal drainage into seasonal swamps and ultimately into the great central depression of the salty Lake Tatta (Tuz Gölü). The more important rivers cut their way outward through gaps in the mountain rim. They flow mostly to the north and west: the plateau is tilted down to these sides, and the mountains there are not so high as the Taurus on the south and southeast. The Taurus closely follows the contour of the south coast for most of its length, receding only where the fertile coastal plains of Cilicia and Pamphylia interpose. It reaches an average height of 7000 to 10,000 ft. (2100 to 3000 m.), but rises to 12,000 ft. (3600 m.) in the hinterland of Cilicia. There are no sizable plains below the mountains of Pontus in the north, and Sinope offers the only sheltered anchorage of that inhospitable coast. Only on the west is the ascent from the littoral to the plateau more gradual. Here the river valleys of the Caicus, Hermus, Cayster, and Maeander with their tributaries provide easy access through the Phrygian mountains to the western edge of the plateau. These western coastlands resemble Greece and its islands. In fact the chain of islands across the Aegean Sea encouraged very early navigation between East and West. Greece and Asia Minor had close relations from the earliest times.

Other major geographical features of the country are less immediately important for the understanding of its history. Its highest mountain is actually Mt. Argaeus (Erciyas Dağ), rising almost in isolation to 12,548 ft. (3823 m.) near Caesarea in Cappadocia (Kayseri). The longest river is the Halys (Kizil Irmak), which describes a huge bend before escaping NE from the plateau through narrow gorges to the Black Sea. Its valley offers no important routes. There are also notable lakes, both of fresh and salt water, especially to the southwest, near the northern edge of the Pisidian Taurus. These include the Limnae (Eğridir Gölü) and Lake Caralis (Beyşehir Gölü).

This brief description will give some idea of the diversity of the land, which has remarkably varied climate and scenery. It also highlights the fact that Asia Minor has rarely functioned as a political or cultural unit. The western coast belongs to the Aegean world and enjoys a typically Mediterranean climate. The plateau is largely dry and empty, with extremes of temperature, locally diversified with ranges of bare hills. Ancient irrigation doubtless improved this land, but it remained largely a rural and static area, relatively slow to accept western influences. The northern and southern coasts had largely independent histories, both being almost isolated by their mountainous hinterlands. Communication was by sea. The grain and metals of the southeastern shores of the Black Sea attracted Greek commerce and colonization despite the perils of the Straits and the treacherous storms of this exposed coast. In the warm Mediterranean South, Pamphylia and Cilicia prospered, but the latter had closer contact with the Semitic lands to the southeast. While eastern Pontus had a mild and very wet climate with prolific harvests, the highlands of the interior suffered long winters of extreme severity.

C. Routes. The predominantly E-W grain of the country has determined the course of its principal roads and profoundly influenced the whole pattern of its history. The easiest route from the Euphrates went by Caesarea and Laodicea Combusta (Lâdik) to Apamea (Dinar), and then down the gentle gradient of the Lycus (Çoruk Su) to the more famous Laodicea (Col. 4:13f.; Rev. 3:14-22). Thence the broad valley of the Maeander (Büyük Menderes) led to the western ports of Miletus and Ephesus. An important branch of the road ran from the Lycus-Maeander confluence to the old western metropolis of Sardis, and thence down the Hermus (Gediz Nehri) to Smyrna. A further branch led to Pergamum at the time when that city achieved its political ascendancy.

Though this route and its ramifications marked the natural path of trade, political considerations dictated the use of a more northerly route over rougher gradients in early times to link the Hittite capital of Hattusas (Bogözköy) with Sardis and the Aegean ports. This was the course of the later Persian "Royal Road," which thus reflected the political realities of a much earlier time.

与东南部闪米特人的交往更为密切。虽然本都东部气候湿润多雨，农作物多产，但是内陆高原地区冬日漫长，而且气候严寒。

C. 路线。 该地显著的东西向的地势决定了当地主要道路的走向，也深刻地影响了当地历史的整体模式。最便捷的路线是，从幼发拉底河出发，途径凯撒利亚和老底嘉康布斯达（Laodicea Combusta 或 Lâdik）至阿帕米亚（Dinar），然后穿过坡度平缓的吕库斯（Çoruk Su）直至更为著名的老底嘉城（西 4:13-14；启 3:14-22）。因此，宽阔的门德雷斯河谷（Büyük Menderes）直通米利都和以弗所的西部港口。这条道路的一个重要分支从吕库斯河和门德雷斯河交汇处出发，到达撒狄这座古老的西方大都市，再由此途径赫穆斯河（Gediz Nehri）直到示每拿。另一条较远的分支通往别迦摩，当时这座城市已经获得了政治上的支配地位。

虽然这一路线和其分支标出了自然的贸易路径，但是基于政治的考量，当时的人采取了一条更北面的贸易路线，在历史早期，这一路线的坡度相对陡峭，它将赫人的都城哈图萨斯（博阿兹柯伊）与撒狄和爱琴海的港口连接起来。这就是后来波斯人的“皇家大道”，因此它反映出了更早时期的政治状况。

The few passes through the Taurus were of special importance. The famous road through the Cilician Gates linked Tarsus and Syria with the interior of Asia Minor and joined the great trade route westward. A corresponding outlet to the Black Sea ran through Amasia (Amasya) to Amisus.

The Roman peace led to a great development of the road system. An important branch of the central route ran through Iconium and Pisidian Antioch to Apamea, but was vulnerable to attack by the Pisidian brigands. Augustus based on Antioch a chain of new military "colonies," including Lystra, linked by a military road (6 B.C.). Many of these routes mentioned were used by the earliest Christian mission. Later the roads NW from Ancyra (Ankara) and Dorylaeum (Eskişehir) became more important when the political focus moved to Byzantium.

The Roman peace also opened the seas. The pirates were cleared from the rugged western section of Cilicia. The ports of Asia Minor began to play an important part in the new systems of integrated communication which focused on Rome. Navigation was always essentially seasonal, and depended on the regularity of the north and northwest winds of the Eastern Mediterranean summer. The Aegean crossing, the coasting traffic, and the region of the Straits all assumed a new importance. The artificial harbor at Troas gave needed shelter near the mouth of the Hellespont, and the crossing to Neapolis (Kavalla) in Macedonia linked with the Egnatian Way, the principal route from Rome to the East. And in Paul's time Claudius (A.D. 41-54)

为数不多的几条穿过托罗斯的道路却具有特别重要的意义。穿越基利家的一条著名的道路将托罗斯、叙利亚与小亚细亚的内陆地区连接在一起，并与这条向西的贸易路线汇合。黑海的一个相应的出口途径阿马西亚 (Amasya) 直达阿米苏斯。

罗马和平的环境使得道路网得到了极大的发展。中心路线的一个重要分岔路穿过以哥念和彼西底的安提阿来到阿帕米亚，但是这一道路容易受到彼底亚强盗的攻击。奥古斯都以安提阿为据点，建立了一系列的“殖民地”（包括路司得），并用军用道路将这些殖民地连接起来（公元前 6 年）。最早期基督徒的传教之旅经过了其中许多路线。后来，当政治的焦点转移到拜占庭时，安卡拉 (Ankara) 和多利留姆 (Eskişehir) 西北的道路变得越来越重要。

罗马和平的环境也促进了海路的发展。躲藏在地势崎岖的基利家西部的海盗已被赶走。小亚细亚的港口开始在以罗马为中心的新的综合交通中起重要作用。从本质上讲，这时的航海始终是季节性活动，依赖东地中海夏季的北季风和西北季风。爱琴海的渡口、海岸交通和海峡地区都有了新的重要性。特罗亚的人工港为达达尼尔海峡口附近的船只提供了航行所需的庇护，马其顿尼亚波利（卡瓦拉）的渡口连接了“伊格尼修大道”这一罗马与东方来往的主要路线。在保罗生活的年代，革老丢皇帝（公元 41 至 54 年）安排亚历山大港（《圣经》中亚历山太）的装载谷物船只只罗马供给粮食。这些船只从埃及出发，因为被风拦阻，停留在小亚细亚的南部海岸上的帕大喇或每拉避风（参：徒 27:5-6）。这些航行的描述进一步展示出 organized the Alexandrian grain fleet to supply Rome. Its ships beat against the wind from Egypt to gain the shelter of Patara or Myra on the southern coast of Asia Minor (cf. Acts 27:5f.). These aspects of travel illustrate further the setting of the NT journeys.

II. History.-A. Early Times. Asia Minor has always been a bridge between peoples, a land subject to new invaders and influences, which have repeatedly left a lasting mark. It has rarely been the seat of a homogeneous political unit.

Its history begins with one of the oldest town sites in the world, recently excavated at Çatal Hüyük near Konya. The excavation revealed remarkable Neolithic wall paintings of the 7th millennium B.C. In the 3rd millennium notable Bronze Age cultures appeared at Troy in the west and at Alaca Hüyük, over 100 mi. (160 km.) ENE of Ankara, where the people properly called Hatti flourished ca. 2500–2000. The Hittites who succeeded them at nearby Hattusas were evidently a mixed nation who appropriated the older name but incorporated an Indo-European immigrant element. Their empire reached its height ca. 1600–1200 B.C. Winckler's discovery of the royal archives at Hattusas in 1906 opened a new chapter of history. The Hittites emerged as one of the great empires of the day, with a complex history of foreign relations with Egypt and the Mesopotamian kingdoms. The great Assyrian trading colony at Kültepe (Kanesh) near Kayseri had flourished even earlier (ca. 1900 B.C.). Its cuneiform tablets are the earliest samples of writing yet known from Anatolia.

II. 历史。A. 早期历史。小亚细亚始终是连接各民族的桥梁，这片土地臣服于新的入侵者，受到他们的影响，在历史中反复留下永久的记号。它很少成为同类政治势力的统治中心。

人们最近在加泰土丘遗址（科尼亚附近）中发掘到了小亚细亚历史初期的城邑，它也是世界上最古老的城邑之一。人们发掘出了一些新石器时期的非凡壁画（公元前 7000 年）。公元前 3000 年，著名的青铜器时代文明在西方的特洛伊和阿拉贾许于克出现，阿拉贾许于克约位于安卡拉东北偏东 100 英里（160 公里）处，当地人可能称该地为哈提（Hatti），在约公元前 2500 年至公元前 2000 年曾繁荣一时。随后，赫人在哈图萨斯附近建立政权，显然这是一个混合的民族，他们借用了—个更为古老民族的名字，但同时融合了印欧移民的元素。赫人帝国约在公元前 1600 年至 1200 年进入鼎盛时期。温克勒（Winckler）1906 年在哈图萨斯发现了一座皇家图书馆，这一发现展开新的一页历史。赫人帝国是当时历史上最伟大的帝国之一，它与埃及和美索不达米亚的众王国的关系比较复杂。位于库尔提普（Kanesh，开塞利附近）的主要亚述贸易殖民地在更早时期也曾兴盛一时（约公元前 1900 年）。该地的楔形文字石碑是目前人们知道的安纳托利亚地区最早的文字样本。

The latest phase of Hittite civilization shifts its focus to the southeast and to Syria, where it continued into the 1st millennium. This phase preserved the language known as “hieroglyphic Hittite,” distinct from but resembling the Indo-European “cuneiform Hittite” (properly Nesian), which had been the principal language of the older empire. An important bilingual inscription of the 8th cent., in hieroglyphic and Phoenician, has been found at Karatepe in eastern Cilicia. The study of the several early Anatolian languages now known from the Hittite sites is a valuable and expanding source of knowledge of the ancient Near East. See HITTITES.

B. Phrygians, Lydians, Persians, and Greeks. The end of the 2nd millennium was a time of confusion and migration. Troy was destroyed. Phrygian and Bithynian immigrants arrived from southeastern Europe. Greek colonial settlement began on the west coast at places like Miletus and Ephesus, and subsequently spread from them to the Straits and the Black Sea.

The kingdom of Phrygia was finally established in the 8th cent. in an extensive area around the west side of the central plateau, and the name and language long persisted there. The political ascendancy of Phrygia, centered on its capital at Gordium, was relatively short-lived, but it made a deep impression on the early Greeks, and its king Midas loomed large in Greek tradition.

About 700 Lydia, centered upon Sardis in the west, replaced Phrygia as the leading power. Gyges, the traditional founder of its dynasty, became a proverb for

B. 弗吕家人、吕底亚人、波斯人和希腊人。公元前2千年末期是一个民族融合和迁徙的时期。特洛伊城被毁。弗吕家人和比提尼亚移民从东南欧来到了这里。希腊聚落开始在西海岸的米利都和以弗所等地建立，后来扩展到海峡和黑海地区。

弗吕家王国在8世纪最终建立，该王国的国土覆盖中部高原的西边的广大地区。弗吕家这个名字和其语言曾在此地长久流传。弗吕家在哥迪姆建立都城，虽然它的政治优势持续时间相对短暂，但是却给早期的希腊人留下了深刻的印象，弗吕家王弥达斯（Midas）在希腊的传说中占据着重要的地位。

约公元前700年，吕底亚将都城建立在西部的撒狄，取代了弗吕家的统治地位。该王朝的传统建立者盖吉斯成为侵略的代名词，人们认为他是《以西结书》 aggression and has been considered the prototype of Ezekiel's Gog (Ezk. 38–39; cf. Rev. 20:8). The last and most famous of the Lydian kings was Croesus (ca. 560–546), whose name is still proverbial for wealth. He conquered the Greek cities of the west coast, but then treated them generously, inaugurating a new temple of Artemis at Ephesus. (Smyrna had earlier been destroyed by his father Alyattes.) Yet the formidable citadel of Sardis itself fell unexpectedly to Cyrus of Persia in 546. It became a classic example of pride before a fall: Croesus had neglected to watch (Herodotus i.84; cf. Rev. 3:3). See SARDIS.

中歌革的原型(结 38–39; 参: 启 20:8)。吕底亚最后一位国王也是最著名的一位国王克里萨斯(约公元前 560–546)他的富有闻名至今。他征服了西海岸上的希腊城市,但是他在征服这些地方之后,采取了较为宽容的政策,在以弗所建造了一座亚底米神庙。(他的父亲阿利亚特之前曾摧毁了士每拿。)公元前 546 年,撒敌的坚固的城堡却出乎意料地落入了波斯王居鲁士的手里。这成为骄兵必败的典型案列:克里萨斯王却沉迷在金钱与权力中没有惊醒(Herodotus i.84; 参: 启 3:3)。见 SARDIS (撒狄)。

The fall of Sardis brought Persia to the Aegean. The city now became the western metropolis of the new empire, and evidently an early and principal seat of the Jewish Dispersion; it was probably the “Sepharad” of Obad. 20. The land was now assigned to satraps (provincial governors) or to native princes or Greek dynasts who recognized the suzerainty of Persia. The repulse of the Persian attack on Greece under Xerxes in 480/479 gave freedom to the Greek cities of Asia Minor during the time of Athenian greatness, but Sparta yielded them back to Persia in 386.

撒狄衰落之后,波斯人来到了爱琴海。这座城市现在成为了这一崭新帝国的西都,它显然也是早期的离散犹太人的

C. From Alexander to the Romans. Alexander the Great crossed the Hellespont in 334, winning all Asia Minor from the weakened control of Persia after decisive battles at the Granicus in the far northwest in 334 and at Issus in 333. He briefly united the whole country under Greek rule and began the eastward spread of Greek language and civilization. But his premature death in 323 brought new power struggles between his generals, the Successors (Diadochi). Most of Asia Minor fell initially to Antigonos, but he was defeated and killed by his rivals at Ipsus in Phrygia in 301. The country then became divided between Lysimachus of Thrace and Seleucus, who held the remnants of Alexander’s conquests in the East. Lysimachus was active in the West, resiting Ephesus and refounding Smyrna, and fortifying Antigonos’ seaport foundation of Alexandria (Troas). In 281 Seleucus defeated and killed Lysimachus at Corupedium in Lydia, but his successors, the Seleucid kings of Syria, lost something of the ascendancy he had won in Asia Minor. New dynasties arose, first in Bithynia in the northwest, then at Pergamum, where Philetaerus, the custodian of Lysimachus’ war treasure,

C. 从亚历山大时期到罗马时期的历史。 公元前 334 年亚历山大大帝穿越了达达尼尔海峡，公元前 334 年和 333 年，他分别在西北远郊的格拉尼卡斯和伊苏斯打败了波斯人，这两场决定性的战役之后，他从衰落的波斯帝国手中夺取了整个小亚细亚的统治权。他将这一地区暂时交由希腊人统治，而他开始向东传播希腊的语言和文明。但是，公元前 323 年亚历山大大帝英年早逝，他的将帅和继承者（继业者）之间展开了权力斗争。最初，安提柯获得了小亚细亚的绝大部分地区，但是，公元前 301 年他在弗吕家的伊普苏斯战败并被其对手杀死。之后，色雷斯的雷西马克和西流基分治这一地区，塞琉古得到了亚历山大征服的东部地区的剩余部分。雷西马克的势力在西部，他驻扎在以弗所，重建了士每拿，并且加固了安提柯在亚历山大港（特罗亚）建造的海港。公元前 281 年，塞琉古在吕底亚的柯罗派迪温打败了并杀死了雷西马克，但是他的继任者，叙利亚塞琉古的国王们未能保持他在小亚细亚获得的部分统治权。新的王朝首先在西北部的底推尼建立，后来在别迦摩也建立起了新的王朝，雷西马克的战争财富的守护人菲莱泰罗斯于公元前 282 年在别迦摩发动叛乱，并接受塞琉古帝国的保护。

Port of Antalya (biblical Attalia), from which Paul and Barnabas set sail for Antioch. The walled city was founded in the 2nd cent. b.c. by Attalos II king of Pergamum, whose heirs bequeathed it to the Romans. (B. K. Condit)

In 278 Nicomedes I of Bithynia brought a Celtic army across the Bosphorus as allies, but they escaped his control and terrorized large tracts of Asia Minor for many years until finally restricted to a territory on the north-east side of Phrygia, around Ancyra and the bend of the Halys. This land of the Gaulish Celts was named "Galatia" (the Greek for "Gaul"). Gaulish speech persisted there in the time of Jerome (4th cent. A.D.).

The initially insignificant principality of Pergamum came to play a focal part. Attalus I (241–197) defeated the Gauls and assumed the titles King and Soter (“savior”), giving his name to the Attalid dynasty. He and his successors Eumenes II (197–159) and Attalus II Philadelphus (159–138) raised Pergamum almost to a great power, but at the cost of bringing Rome to Asia and finally becoming subservient to her. Only Rome could curb the ambition of the Seleucid Antiochus III the Great (223–187). When his power was broken at Magnesia (Manisa) in 190, the Romans gave the government of a vast tract of country to their ally Eumenes. In 133 Attalus III, the last king of Pergamum, bequeathed his kingdom to Rome. The Romans organized their wealthy province of Asia from its territory.

别迦摩地区最初不重要的诸侯国这时起到了关键性作用。阿塔罗斯一世（公元前 241–197 年）打败了高卢人，自立

The policies and achievements of the Seleucids and Attalids had a great bearing on the political, religious, and social conditions of the land in NT times. Both dynasties were great founders of cities. The Seleucids peopled the area with cities called Antioch, Seleucia, Laodicea, or Apamea from their recurring dynastic names. They gave special privileges to the Jews, both in the cities that they founded and in existing towns like Tarsus and Ephesus, to which they granted new constitutions. Antiochus III, according to Josephus (Ant. xii.3.4), settled two thousand Jewish families from Mesopotamia in Lydia and Phrygia.

Thyatira and Philadelphia were Attalid frontier cities at successive stages of the expansion of Pergamum. The Attalids developed centrally the resources of their kingdom: they had the timber and metals of the Troad and the command of the Hellespont. They also made state religion an instrument of policy, exploiting more deliberately than some of the other Hellenistic monarchs the oriental tendency to ascribe divinity to rulers. They made of Pergamum a brilliant focus of religious architecture, culture, and art. Later a strategic road extension SE from Laodicea on the Lycus gave them a south coast port at Attalia in Pamphylia (modern Antalya).

塞琉古王朝和阿塔罗斯王朝的政策和成就极大地影响了《新约》时期这片土地上的政治、宗教和社会状况。一些城市就是在这两大王朝统治时期建立的。塞琉古王朝用反复出现的王室姓名将他们居住的城市命名为安提阿、西流基、老底嘉或阿帕米亚。他们赐予犹太人一些特权，在他们建立的城市中和现存城邑中，如大数和以弗所，他们设立了一些新的机构。根据约瑟夫斯的描述（Ant. xii.3.4），安提阿古三世将来自美索不达米亚的两千犹太家庭安置在吕底亚和弗吕家。

在别迦摩连续的扩张时期，推雅推喇和非拉铁非是阿塔罗斯王朝的边境城市。阿塔罗斯王朝集中开发其王国内的资源：他们拥有特洛阿德的木材和金属，掌控着达达尼尔海峡。他们还将国教作为一种统治工具，与其他希腊君主相比，他们更有意接受君权神授的东方神学思想。在这两个王朝统治时期，别迦

After 133 the rich new province of Asia was ruthlessly plundered by Roman officials. About 102 the province of Cilicia was organized in southern Asia Minor to safeguard the way to the East, though its sphere at first did not even include the land of Cilicia proper. Mithridates VI the Great of Pontus (115–63) emerged as Rome's most formidable and persistent antagonist: in 88 he briefly overran most of Asia Minor, and was welcomed widely as a liberator. Nicomedes IV of Bithynia bequeathed his kingdom to Rome in 74, and it became another province. Pompey finally overthrew Mithridates and established Rome's position in the East. He added much of Pontus to the province of Bithynia.

Augustus brought the benefits of peace to Asia Minor and won spontaneous acclaim there. He continued the policy of exercising influence through native dynasties until the time was ripe for direct Roman rule of a territory. When the client-king Amyntas of Galatia was killed fighting the Homonades, a tribe on his southern border, in 25 B.C., Augustus made a province of his kingdom, an area which then extended far S of the Celtic homeland. Cappadocia was annexed in A.D. 17. There were many subsequent major or minor alterations of the

公元前 133 年之后，富有的新亚西亚行省被罗马官员无情地洗劫。约公元前 102 年，基利家行省在小亚细亚南部成立，建立这一行省是为了保障通往东方道路的安全，虽然最初这条道路并不经过基利家的土地。本都国王米特里达梯六世（公元前 115–63 年）成为了罗马最强劲、最长期的竞争对手：公元前 88 年，他短暂地占领了小亚细亚的大部分地区，并被当地人视为解放者，受到普遍的欢迎。公元前 74 年，庇推尼国王尼克美狄斯四世将其王国遗赠给了罗马，这一王国成为了罗马帝国的另一个行省。庞培最终推翻了米特里达梯的统治，确立了罗马在东方的统治地位。他将本都的大部分地区划入庇推尼行省。

奥古斯都为小亚细亚带来了和平，因此当地人由衷地称赞他。他继续推行通过当地王朝控制小亚细亚的政策，到时机成熟，罗马帝国开始直接统治这一地区。公元前 25 年，加拉太藩属王阿闵塔斯在与其南部边境的一个宗族赫莫纳德人（Homonades）争战时被杀，奥古斯都将该王国变成了罗马的一个行省，这个行省统治的区域后来向南扩展到了凯尔特人的领地。公元 17 年，加帕多家被兼并过来。后来这一行省的边界发生了数次不同程度的变动。最重要的边界变动是由维斯帕先调整的，公元 72 年之后，他将加拉太和加帕多家合并

III. Asia Minor in the OT.-Though this land lay within the perspective of the early biblical nations it played only a peripheral part in the OT. There are scattered references to places and peoples which may with more or less confidence be identified here.

The most important and obvious link is with the Hittites, a people first known from the OT. But the OT refers explicitly only to the Hittites of Syria and Palestine, who persisted later than the Hittites of the empire in Anatolia. Yet indications of their wider importance are not lacking. The “sons of Heth” appear in Gen. 10:15. Their early greatness emerges in Josh. 1:4. “Tidal king of Goim” (“nations,” Gen. 14:1) seems to bear a Hittite name, Tudhalias. See HITTITES.

The repeatedly associated Meshech and Tubal (Gen. 10:2; etc.) evidently denote nations of Asia Minor, and are referred to the Moschi and Tibareni of Herodotus. Javan suggests the Ionians (Greeks) of the distant coastlands (Gen. 10:2, 4; Isa. 66:19), Lud perhaps the Lydians. Tarshish is much disputed; it is possible that in at least some places it denotes Tarsus. These are all thought to have been ancient indigenous names. We have already noted possible later references in Gog and Sepharad.

The migrations of the disturbed period at the end of the 2nd millennium have probably left their indirect mark on the

III. 《旧约》中的小亚细亚。虽然这片土地处于早期《圣经》国家的范围内，但是它在《旧约》中居于次要地位。一些分散在《旧约》中的地区和民族或许属于这一地区。

小亚细亚与赫人的联系最为重要，也最为明显，人们是从《旧约》中首先解到这一民族的。然而，《旧约》中只明确提到过叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的赫人，他们的生活时期要晚于在安纳托利亚建立帝国的赫人。然而《旧约》中不乏对赫人的广泛重要性的体现。《创世记》10:15 提到了“赫的子孙”。《约书亚记》1:4 中提到了赫人早期占据的广阔地业。“戈印王提达”（“民族”，创 14:1）似乎拥有一个赫人名字（Tudhalias，汉译同为“提达”）。见 HITTITES（赫人）。

《旧约》中反复提到的玛各和土巴（创 10:2 等）显然是小亚细亚的民族，希罗多德称它们为莫司科伊人和提巴列诺伊人。雅完（创 10:2, 4；赛 66:19）可能就是在远方海岛居住的爱奥尼亚人（希腊人），路德可能是吕底亚人。人们对他施一直存有争议；但至少在某些地方，它可能指的是大数。人们认为这些名字是古代的土著名称。后来在歌革和西法拉中再次提到了这部分人。

公元前 2000 年末期是一个动荡的历史时期，这一时期的人口迁移可能在《旧约》的民族志中留下了间接的印记。“海

ethnography of the OT. The “sea-peoples,” who included the Philistines, evidently came from or through the Aegean or Anatolian coastlands.

IV. Asia Minor in NT Times.- A. General. The country was now a political and ethnic complex with little intrinsic unity. There were old indigenous nations, whose lands were designated by traditional names still in current use: Lydia, Mysia, Phrygia, Pisidia, Lycaonia, etc. There were also Roman political divisions, which sometimes cut very arbitrarily across the natural ethnic boundaries. Some terms, notably “Galatia,” present special difficulty, often because they had two or more senses.

The predominant language at this time was Greek, and almost all the literate remains are in Greek or Latin. The western and coastal areas were thoroughly hellenized, but Greek had not ousted native languages from the remoter parts. Lycaonian was still the popular speech of Lystra (Acts 14:11), and Phrygian and Celtic were spoken even later. In this hinterland Hellenism was only superficial.

Roman rule continued to favor Jewish settlement, despite anti-Semitic outbreaks at Ephesus and elsewhere. The presence of flourishing synagogue communities in many cities attracted Gentiles who sought a purer monotheism, and opened the way for the Christian mission. A very rich and important synagogue of the 3rd cent. A.D. has been excavated in Sardis.

B. Life and Religion. Greek city life in Asia Minor was superimposed on a very 上民族”（包括非利士人）显然来自爱琴海或安纳托利亚的沿海地区，或者经过这些地区来到了小亚细亚。

IV. 《新约》时期的小亚细亚。A. 综述。 当时这一地区现是一个政治和民族融合之地，该地很少保留其固有的统一性。有些古老土著民族的一些传统地名目前仍在使用，如吕底亚、每西亚、弗吕家、彼西底、吕高尼等。罗马划分的行省边界现在也仍然存在，其中一些行省界线悍然分割了自然形成的民族边界。某些术语（尤其是“加拉太”）让人很难理解，因为它们通常包含至少两种含义。

这一时期的主要语言是希腊语，几乎所有的文献遗著都是用希腊语或拉丁语写成的。西部地区 and 海岸地带已经完全希腊化，但是在偏远的地区，希腊语尚未取代本土语言。吕高尼语仍然是路司得的通用语言（徒 14:11），弗吕家语和凯尔特语是晚些时期才使用的语言。在内陆地区，希腊化仅停留在表面。

尽管在以弗所和其他地区爆发了反犹太人的运动，但是罗马统治者依然支持犹太人在此地定居。犹太会堂社区在许多城市大量出现，吸引着那些寻找更为纯正一神论的外邦人来到这里，也为基督教传教开辟了道路。人们在撒狄挖掘出一个在公元 3 世纪非常富有和重要的犹太会堂。

B. 生活和宗教。 小亚细亚的希腊城市生活建立在安纳托利亚人迥异的生活

different Anatolian substratum. The ancient village system had been theocratic and matriarchal, centered on the temple, where the god, through his priests, exercised a close supervision over his people. The ancient gods and goddesses in whom the power and fertility of nature were embodied and localized became fused with Olympian Greek deities, but their alien character persisted. The goddess of Ephesus or of Sardis was represented by a grotesque image very different from the virgin huntress Artemis (Diana) by whose name she was called.

The unit of Greek life was the city. Thousands of surviving inscriptions and the coins of scores of cities testify to the activities of civic life. The city was an intricately organized entity in which citizenship, business, social life, and religion were interwoven. The trade guilds, for instance, often sponsored religious festivals or public benefactions, whose pagan basis posed problems for the Christian whose livelihood might depend on membership.

The vaunted privileges of the cities depended on the goodwill of Rome (cf. Acts 19:40). There was spontaneous gratitude for the peace and the facility of travel and trade that the Augustan empire had brought. Emperor worship was the natural result, at first sanctioned only reluctantly. Temples of Rome and Augustus were first established at Pergamum and at Nicomedia in Bithynia (29 B.C.). Only later, particularly under Domitian (A.D. 81–96), did the enforcement of this cult become a matter of Roman policy.

希腊生活以城市为单位。许多城市中留存下来的数以千计的铭文和硬币表明了市民的日常活动。城市的构成十分复杂，公民的权利和义务、商业活动、社会生活和宗教信仰在城市中相互交织。例如，贸易公会经常资助宗教节日或公众捐款，公会的异教基础与基督徒相互对立，但是基督徒可能依靠他们维持生计。

这些城市引以为傲的特权取决于罗马人的善意举动（参：徒 19:40）。人们由衷地感激奥古斯都帝国带来的和平，以及该帝国建造的旅行设施和贸易设施。帝王崇拜是自然形成的，起初人们是不太情愿地接受了这种崇拜。别迦摩和庇推尼的尼科米底亚首先建起了罗马神庙和奥古斯都神庙（公元前 29 年）。不过，后来，尤其是在图密善执政时期（公元 81–96 年），帝王崇拜成为了罗马帝国推行的一项政策。

V. Asia Minor in the NT.-A. Paul. Paul was born in Tarsus, a great cosmopolitan university and commercial city, the capital of Cilicia. Though his education may have owed more to Jerusalem than to Tarsus, he returned there some time after his conversion (Acts 9:30), and his subsequent travels were largely directed to the evangelization of Asia Minor. The country thus became a principal center of the earliest Christianity, especially when it was displaced from Jerusalem and not yet established in Rome. A high proportion of the NT Epistles was written to or from localities in this land.

Paul's first journey took him and Barnabas over the dangerous Pisidian Taurus mountains from Perga in Pamphylia to Pisidian Antioch (Yalvaç), and thence through Iconium (Konya) to Lystra and Derbe, in Lycaonia. Lystra is beside Hatunsaray; the location of Derbe was identified in 1956 at Kerti Hüyük, N of Karaman. This visit marks Paul's first coming to provincial Galatia (cf. Gal. 4:13). He usually found an opening through the synagogue, but at his unintended visit to Lystra he encountered the native religious system.

The second journey went overland, doubtless by the Cilician Gates, to revisit the same district. The route entailed crossing a section of the land still held by the client-king Antiochus IV of Commagene. The subsequent itinerary has been the subject of controversy. "The Phrygian and Galatian country" (Acts 16:6), if so rendered, probably refers to the Phrygian district which overlapped the provincial boundary of Galatia and included Iconium and Pisidian Antioch. This concurs with the belief that Paul's

V. 《新约》中的小亚细亚。A. 保罗。 保罗出生在大数，这是一座世界性的大都市、商业中心，也是基利家的都城。虽然保罗在耶路撒冷接受的教育比他在大数接受的教育多，但是他在归信后曾回到了大数（徒 9:30），他后来的传道之旅主要是为了在小亚细亚传播福音。因此，这一地区成为了最早期基督教的主要活动中心，尤其当这一中心从耶路撒冷转移，而罗马的传教中心又尚未形成时。《新约》中的大部分使徒书信都是写给这里的，或者是从这里发出去的。

在第一次传道之旅时，保罗和巴拿巴翻越了危险的彼西底托罗斯山，从旁非利亚的别加来到了彼西底的安提阿（亚尔瓦奇），然后他们从那里途径以哥念（科尼亚）到达了吕高尼的路司得和特庇。路司得位于哈图恩撒雷附近；1956年，人们在卡拉曼北侧的科提土丘发现了特庇的遗址。保罗在这行程中第一次来到了加拉太行省（参：加 4:13）。他通常先从犹太会堂传播福音，但是，当他无意间路过路司得时，遭到当地异教徒的攻击。

第二次传道之旅时，保罗由陆路（无疑经过了基利家门）重访了同一地区。这一路线必然途径科马根藩属王安提阿古四世控制的区域。人们对保罗此后的行程一直存在争议。如果将这段行程译为“弗吕家、加拉太一带地方”（徒 16:6），那么这一地区指的可能是弗吕家与加拉太行省边界重叠的地区，其中包括了以哥念和彼西底安提阿。与之相吻合的一个观点是，保罗所说的“加拉太”应当是“南加拉太”地区。这一观点证明这封使徒书信的写作时间可能更早（约公元 48 或 49 年），将《加拉太书》

dealings with “Galatia” were wholly with the southern part of the extended province. This view permits an early dating of the Epistle (ca. 48/49) and a natural integration of the biographical evidence of Gal. 1–2 with the sequence of Acts: it immediately preceded the Council in Jerusalem. See GALATIA.

“Asia” in Acts 16:6 was also in current usage the Roman province (contra E. Haenchen, Acts of the Apostles [Eng. tr. 1970]). Paul must have seen it as a strategic target, one of the most prosperous and sophisticated parts of the Roman world, a focus of Greek culture, whose greatest cities had hundreds of thousands of people. Mysia and Troas lay within Asia; the ban on preaching there did not preclude crossing the territory. From perhaps Dorylaeum, near the border of forbidden Bithynia, he travelled W to Troas. This was a strategic point (cf. 2 Cor. 2:12; etc.), for it was from here that Paul started for Europe, though this is not stressed in Acts. On his return to Jerusalem, he stopped only briefly at Ephesus (Acts 18:19–21).

Paul subsequently resided more than two years in Ephesus (ca. 52–55), and all Asia heard the word of the Lord (Acts 19:10). He reached the city “through the upper country” (19:1), possibly by a direct hill-road that bypassed the great crossroads of Laodicea. This accords with the probable implication of Col. 2:1 that he had not at that date visited the Lycus cities. The Ephesian residence and its aftermath were the occasion of the Corinthian correspondence, and ended after a time of special danger (cf. 1 Cor. 15:32; 2 Cor. 1:8, 10) in a journey N to Troas en route again for Macedonia (2

1 至 2 章中的传记证据与《使徒行传》中时间发生的先后顺序自然地整合在了一起可以总结出这一事件就发生在耶路撒冷会议之前不久。见 GALATIA(加拉太)。

《使徒行传》16:6 中的“亚西亚”通常指的是罗马的一个行省（对比，E. Haenchen, Acts of the Apostles [1970 年英译本]）。保罗一定将亚西亚行省作为一个重要的传道目的地，该省是罗马世界最富有，最复杂的省份之一，也是一个希腊文化中心，亚西亚行省的最大城市中拥有数十万人口。每西亚和特罗亚也在亚西亚行省境内；虽然该行省禁止传道，但它并不禁止传道者从这片土地上经过。耶稣的灵不许保罗往庇推尼去，保罗就从庇推尼边界附近的多利留姆向西前行，来到了特罗亚。虽然《使徒行传》中没有强调这个地方，但是这是一个重要的传道之地（参：林后 2:12 等），因为保罗正是从这里出发前往欧洲的。在返回耶路撒冷的途中，他只在以弗所短暂逗留（徒 18:19-21）。

后来保罗在以弗所停留了两年多（约公元 52 至 55 年），一切住在亚西亚的人都听见了主的道（徒 19:10）。他“经过了上边一带的地方”来到了以弗所（徒 19:1），他可能途径了一个直通以弗所的山道，该山道绕过了老底嘉的大十字路口。这种说法与《歌罗西书》2:1 中可能暗含的信息一致，即此时保罗还没有来到过吕库斯的城市。《哥林多书》中也提到了保罗在以弗所居住并遭受当地人攻击的事情，面对特殊的险境（参：林前 15:32；林后 1:8, 10），保罗离开了那里，向北前行至特罗亚，再次起程去马其顿（林后 2:12-13；参：徒 20:1）。见 EPHEBUS（以弗所）。保罗匆忙地上了

Cor. 2:12f.; cf. Acts 20:1). See EPHESUS. Paul returned by a coasting ship in haste to be at Jerusalem for Pentecost. He gave Troas the longest time possible, but then went past Ephesus, perhaps because of prospective delays in negotiating the silting port, and called the Ephesian elders to Miletus.

Paul's last recorded visit to Asia Minor was on his voyage as a prisoner to Rome. The ship clung to the shores of Cilicia and Pamphylia, where a westward coastal current offsets the northwest winds. At Myra in Lycia the party transferred to a ship of the Alexandrian grain fleet (Acts 27:5).

The Epistles provide evidence for Paul's later dealings with the churches of this land. Philem. 22 shows that Paul had some hope of visiting Colossae after release from imprisonment. In my opinion, Paul wrote Philemon from Rome. On the hypothesis that he was in fact released after two years, the references to Ephesus and to Troas and Miletus in the Pastorals suggest that he had then revisited them all.

The geographical perspective helps in resolving the vexed questions surrounding the relation of Acts with the Epistles and the reliability of Acts itself. The classic case is the question of the usage of the term "Galatian": the "South Galatian" view adopted here interlocks fruitfully with Acts. Ephesians, Colossians, and Philemon are ostensibly linked. Ephesians may have been an encyclical to the churches of Asia, delivered first in Ephesus and ending its course as the "letter from Laodicea" that Paul commended to nearby Colossae

保罗被囚禁送往罗马的路上途径了小亚细亚，这是《新约》中记载的保罗最后一次来到这里。船只靠近基利家和旁非利亚的海岸，那里向西的洋流抵消了西北风。这些人在吕家的每拉换乘亚历山大港运粮的船只（徒 27:5）。

使徒书信证明保罗后来与这片土地上的教会仍有来往。《腓利门书》1:22 中的表述说明保罗希望被释放后可以拜访歌罗西。在我看来，保罗是从罗马给腓利门写的信。假设两年后保罗真的被释放，那么在教牧书信中提到以弗所、特罗亚和米利都时，保罗重游了这几个地方。

《使徒行传》与使徒书信之间的关系，以及《使徒行传》本身的可靠性，这些难题可以借助地理学知识得以解决。一个典型的例子是书信中使用了“加拉太人”这一词语：此处所说的“南加拉太人”与《使徒行传》中的众多相关表述紧密相连。从表面上看，《以弗所书》、《歌罗西书》和《腓利门书》是连接在一起的。《以弗所书》可能是写给亚西亚教会的一份公函，它首先在以弗所传念，当保罗给附近的歌罗西推荐“老底嘉来的信”时（西 4:16），这一公函的传递过程最终结束。老底嘉当时是该地区的一座主要城市，它的地位超过与其

(Col. 4:16). Laodicea was then the principal city of the district and overshadowed its close neighbors Hierapolis and Colossae (cf. Col. 4:13). All three were important in the early Church, but Colossae (near Honaz), now deserted and unexcavated, was the destination of two Epistles (Colossians and Philemon). According to 1 Tim. 1:3 Paul left Timothy, himself probably a native of Lystra (Acts 16:1), at Ephesus, and at least the first letter was ostensibly sent there to him. Some or all of the Captivity Epistles have often been ascribed to a hypothetical imprisonment in Ephesus, but this is questionable.

B. Peter and the General Epistles. 1 Peter is addressed to the “Dispersion” in Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia (1 Pet. 1:1). These names are all to be taken in their provincial sense. Bithynia, though forbidden to Paul, must have received the gospel early. The Roman governor Pliny found Christianity in great strength in Pontus (rather than Bithynia proper) ca. A.D. 110 (Pliny Ep. x.96). F. J. A. Hort argued long ago that the list in 1 Peter represents the sequence of Silvanus’ projected route. The present writer has suggested that this probably involved using the important road from Amisus on the Pontic coast through Amasia in Pontus Galaticus, in the eastern part of what was then the province of Galatia. This suits the provincial terminology used before Vespasian’s reorganization. It also suggests that the Celtic territory of North Galatia was not in view here any more than elsewhere in the NT, for the continuation of Silvanus’ route to Asia presumably crossed the Pauline districts of the south.

毗邻的城市希拉波立和歌罗西（参：4:13）。这三座城市在早期教会中占有重要地位，但是歌罗西（霍纳兹附近）现已无人居住，也尚未被人们发掘，但是它是两封使徒书信（《歌罗西书》和《腓利门书》）的最终目的地。根据《提摩太前书》1:3 中的描述，保罗在以弗所与提摩太告别，而提摩太可能就是路司得人（徒 16:1），从表面上看，至少第一封书信是保罗从以弗所写给提摩太的。人们假设部分或全部狱涵是保罗被囚在以弗所时写的，但是这一假设还是值得怀疑。

B. 彼得和大公书信。《彼得前书》是写给那些“分散”在本都、加拉太、加帕多加、亚西亚和庇推尼寄居的人（彼前 1:1）。这些名字都是被理解为行省。虽然庇推尼禁止保罗传道，但是这里的人必然很早就听到了福音。约公元 110 年，罗马总督蒲林尼发现本都（而不是庇推尼）基督教的势力非常大（Pliny Ep. x.96）。霍特（F. J. A. Hort）长久以来一直赞成，《彼得前书》中列举的行省也是西拉先后经过的地方。当代作家认为这次行程可能途径了一条重要的路线，即从黑海岸边的阿米苏斯出发穿过本都加拉提科斯（Pontus Galaticus）的阿马西亚，本都加拉提科斯的东部就是当时加拉太行省。这与维斯帕先皇帝重组之前的罗马行省相符。还有人说，《新约》的其他经文中再没有提及北加拉太的凯尔特人的领土，因为后来西拉所走的路线可能经过了保罗路线的南段地区。

Roman bridge at Assos, a Greek city of the Troad and the only good harbor on the north shore of the Adramyttian Gulf. There Paul rejoined his companions to return via Macedonia to Jerusalem. (B. K. Condit)

On any view of 2 Peter it seems that 2 Pet. 3:1 is intended to refer to 1 Peter and to imply a destination among the same recipients in Asia Minor. This cannot, however, be used to shed light on the destination of Jude.

C. The Johannine Literature. This literature poses complex problems, but strong traditions link both the Fourth Gospel and the Epistles with Ephesus. Irenaeus is explicit in locating the Gospel there (Adv. haer. iii.1.2). The First Epistle combats a form of Docetism which is often referred to John's traditional opponent Cerinthus at Ephesus. It is hazardous to argue an Asian setting from such other supposed parallels as Nicolaitanism or the teaching opposed by Paul at Colossae.

D. The Revelation. The book is addressed to "the seven churches of Asia" (Rev. 1:11; 2-3). These were certainly not the only churches of the province. Geographical considerations confirm Ramsay's suggestion that these seven were chosen as the best postal stages for 罗马在亚朔建造的桥梁，亚朔是特洛阿德的一座希腊城市，也是阿德拉米蒂湾北岸唯一的良港。保罗在此处与他的同伴汇合，他们途经马其顿返回到耶路撒冷。(B. K. Condit)

不论从哪一方面讲，《彼得后书》3:1似乎都在参考《彼得前书》中内容，并暗示出它是写给小亚细亚的同一地方的书信。但是并不能由此推测出《犹大书》的寄信目的地。

C. 使徒约翰著作。这众文献引发了一些复杂的问题，但是人们习惯于将《第四福音书》和使徒书信与以弗所联系在一起。爱任纽明确表示这卷福音书是在以弗所写成的 (Adv. haer. iii.1.2)。《约翰一书》反对某种幻影说，人们通常认为这一学说是由约翰的宿敌，以弗所的西林多提出的。尼哥拉主义或保罗在歌罗西所反对的教义等异端学说也产生于小亚细亚，但如果因此就认定使徒约翰著作地点为小亚细亚，则是有害无益的。

D. 《启示录》。这本书是写给“亚西亚的七个教会”的 (启 1:11; 2-3)。当然，除了这七个教会，亚西亚行省还有其他的教会。地理位置证实了拉姆塞的观点，之所以选择这些教会，是因为它们是亚西亚所有教会中最佳的收信地，信使约翰依次途径这些地方。他从拔摩海

the whole Church in Asia, placed in sequence along the messenger's route. On landing from Patmos at Ephesus he went N to Smyrna (İzmir) and Pergamum (Bergama), and then turned SE along the great road through Thyatira (Akhisar) and Sardis (Sart, near Salihli) to Philadelphia (Alaşehir) and Laodicea (near Denizli). It is possible that this route had already long been in use for the distribution of Christian letters. The same concern with communication is relevant to 1 Pet. 1:1 and perhaps to Ephesians, if that was in fact an encyclical.

The words of Christ in the seven letters are full of OT language applied to the particular needs of the named churches. They show an intimate knowledge of the cities of Asia and are rich in local allusion, reflecting what was probably a situation of impending persecution under Domitian. The Sardis letter, for instance, recalls the proverbial unpreparedness of Croesus (Rev. 3:2f.), and the Laodicean letter alludes to the tepid and emetic water of the city's aqueduct, in contrast to the scenic hot cascades of Hierapolis (Pamukkale) and the cold water of Colossae (Rev. 3:15f.). More important are the allusions that may shed light on the larger historical situation of the Church in Asia: pressures from the new enforcement of the emperor cult and from both Jewish and antinomian opponents. The Revelation is a classic document of an obscure phase of church history, and the study of contemporary Asia is a focal point of approach to it.

E. After the NT. It is beyond the scope of this article to relate in detail the later history of the Church in Asia Minor. Yet this land was so important that extrabiblical personalities and writings obtrude here on biblical debates. Ignatius of Antioch (ca. 115) was escorted through Asia Minor for martyrdom in Rome, and wrote epistles from Smyrna to the churches in Ephesus, Magnesia, and Tralles, and later from Troas to Smyrna and Philadelphia. These letters have an obvious bearing on three of the churches of the Revelation. W. Bauer has built a precarious argument from silence here into his view of orthodoxy and heresy in the early Church. Polycarp, to whom Ignatius addressed another letter, spans the history of the church in Smyrna from the days of John to his martyrdom there in extreme old age about A.D. 155. Philip (probably the apostle) is said to have died at Hierapolis, where also lived Papias, who transmitted through Eusebius traditions about the apostolic writings.

岛登陆, 到达以弗所, 继续向北来到士每拿(伊兹密尔)和别迦摩(贝加蒙), 然后沿着大道向东南走, 穿过推雅推喇(阿克希萨)和撒狄(萨特, 萨利赫利附近)到达非拉铁非(阿拉谢希尔)和老底嘉(代尼兹利附近)。基督徒可能长久以来就利用这条道路发送基督徒的信件。如果这真的是一封公函, 那么相同的通信考量与《彼得前书》1:1 相关, 或许与《以弗所书》也有关联。

为了让这七个指定的教会读懂基督的话语, 这七封信还特意使用了《旧约》中的语言。这七封信中的内容显示出约翰对亚西亚的城市非常了解, 其中含有大量的当地的典故, 这可能反映出基督徒即将遭受图密善的迫害。例如, 写给撒狄教会的信用格言般的话语回忆了克里萨斯王遭受的突如其来的灾难(启 3:2-3), 写给老底嘉教会的信中提到了城市沟渠中吐出的温水, 这与风景优美的希拉波立(棉花堡)瀑布中的热水和歌罗西的冷水形成了鲜明的对比(启 3:15-16)。更为重要的是, 这些典故可能揭示出亚西亚教会更广泛的历史背景: 它们面临着执行皇帝崇拜新政的压力, 和犹太人和唯信仰论反对者施加的压力。《启示录》是一本记录教会历史昏暗时期的经典作品, 要想了解这一时期, 人们就必须将注意力集中在同时代的亚西亚研究上。

E. 新约之后。 本文的目的不在于详细探讨小亚细亚后期的教会史。但是这片土地如此重要, 以至于《圣经》之外的人物和作品都引发了《圣经》之内的辩

论。安提阿的爱任纽（约公元 115 年）被护送罗马殉道时曾途径了小亚细亚，他在士每拿给以弗所、马格尼西亚和他拉勒的教会写了书信，后来又在特罗亚给士每拿和非拉铁非的教会写信。这些书信显然与《启示录》中提到的三个教会有关。对此鲍尔（W. Bauer）建立了一个危险的默证，集中体现在他对早期教会正统与异端的观点上。坡旅甲（爱任纽曾寄给他另一封信）经历了约翰的日子，直到公元 155 年他以极高的年纪殉道之时，一直生活在士每拿，因此他见证了士每拿教会的这段历史。据说，腓力（可能指的是使徒腓力）死于希拉波利斯，帕皮亚也曾住在希拉波利斯，并通过尤西比乌斯的作品将使徒时代的著作流传了下来。

ā'zhi-ärk [Gk. Asiarchēs] (Acts 19:31); AV "chief of Asia"; NEB "dignitaries of the province." The title given to certain men of high honorary rank in the Roman province of Asia. What their exact functions were is not altogether clear. They derived their appellation from the name of the province over which they presided (cf. Bithyniarch, Cariarch, Syriarch). Brandis has shown that they were not "high priests of Asia," as some have thought, but delegates of individual cities to the provincial council (Commune Asiae) which regulated the worship of

ASIARCH 亚西亚首领

音译：ā'zhi-ärk【希腊语：Asiarchēs】(徒 19:31)；《钦定版圣经》译为 "chief of Asia" ("亚西亚的首领")；《新英文译本》译为 "dignitaries of the province" ("亚西亚的首长")。它是罗马亚西亚行省的某些地位显赫的高官的头衔。他们的具体职责现已不太清楚。这一称谓源自他们管理的行省的名字(参：庇推尼首领、卡里亚首领和亚兰首领)。布兰迪斯 (Brandis) 解释说，他们不是有些人认为的 "亚西亚的大祭司"，而是亚西亚议会在各个城市中的代表 (Commune Asiae)，他们管理各自城市中人们，使他们崇拜罗马和罗马的皇帝。他们可能

Rome and of the emperor. They were probably assembled at Ephesus, among other places, to preside over the public games and the religious rites at the festival, in honor of the gods and the emperor, when they sent word to Paul and gave him a bit of friendly advice, not to present himself at the theater (Acts 19:31).

The title could be held along with any civil office and with the high-priesthood of a particular city. An Asiarch served for one year, but reelection was possible (the tenure of office, according to Ramsay, was four years). The municipalities must have shown the Asiarchs high honor, as we find the names of many perpetuated on coins and inscriptions. The office could be held only by men of wealth, as the expenses of the provincial games were for the greater part defrayed by the Asiarchs.

1. Grandfather of Jehu, one of the Simeonite “princes” mentioned in 1 Ch. 4:35 as sharing Judah’s inheritance (see Josh. 19:9).

会在以弗所或其他地方集会，并负责组织公共竞技比赛，在节日里主持宗教仪式，向神明和皇帝致敬，他们曾经打发人来劝保罗，让他不要冒险到戏园前（徒 19:31）。

某个城市的地方长官或大祭司可能同时兼任这一官职。亚西亚首领的任期是一年，但是可以再次竞选这一职位（拉姆塞认为这一官职的任期是四年）。市民必须对亚西亚首领怀有崇高的敬意，因为我们发现很多首领的名字长存于硬币和铭文之中。这一官职必须由富有之人担任，因为亚西亚首领需支付举办行省竞技比赛的大部分资金。

ASK

[esp. Heb. šā'al; Gk. aitéo, erōtáō, eperōtáō, pynthánomai].

A distinction can probably be made between Heb. šā'al/Gk. (ep)erōtáō, which imply the request of an equal, and aitéo, the word commonly used with reference to prayer, where the petition is by an inferior asking from a superior (Mt. 6:8; 7:7f.; Mk. 10:35; Jn. 14:13; etc.). It is not, however, asking in the sense of begging, but rather as a child making request of its father. The petitioner asks both because of his need and out of the assurance that he is welcome. He is assured before he asks that the petition will be granted, if he asks in accordance with God's will (1 Jn. 3:22; 5:15). See also PRAYER.

The normal sense of pynthánomai is "request information or explanation" (e.g., Lk. 15:26; Acts 4:7; 10:18, 29; 23:19).

In Dnl. 2:10, AV "ask at" is archaic for "ask of."

ASK 问、祈求

【希伯来语：šā'a；希腊语：aitéo, erōtáō, eperōtáō, pynthánomai】。

希伯来语 šā'al 或希腊语 (ep)erōtáō 的含义是平等的请求，而希腊语 aitéo 通常含义是祷告，指的是下级对上级的祈求（太 6:8; 7:7-8; 可 10:35; 约 14:13 等），人们可以看出这几个词语之间的差别。然而 aitéo 这个词并没有乞求的含义，而是一个孩子对父亲的请求。请求者发出诉求，既因为他有所需求，也是确信自己的求告比得到应允。在发出请求之前，他知道，如果他遵守神的命令，那么他的祈求定可以得到满足（约壹 3:22; 5:15）。另见 PRAYER（祷告）。

Pynthánomai 一词的通常含义是“询问信息或解释说明”（如，路 15:26; 徒 4:7; 10:18, 29; 23:19）。

在《但以理书》2:10 中，《钦定版圣经》中的“ask at”是“ask of”（“询问”）的古语表达方式。

The name is probably derived from Heb. šāmad, “destroy”; and it may be related as well to the Persian Aesma Daeva, or spirit of lust, of Zoroastrianism. In Jewish tradition Asmodeus was thought equivalent to Abaddon (Job 31:12) and Apollyon (Rev. 9:11). In Tobit the spirit was enamoured of Sarah to the point of killing her seven successive husbands on their wedding nights. Asmodeus was ultimately dispelled by a magical potion (Tob. 6:15; 8:3).

音译: as-fār'ə-səs (《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》, 拉一 5:8)。见 MISPAN (米斯拔)。

ASRIEL 亚斯列

音译: as'rē-əl【希伯来语: 'asri'ēl】;《钦定版圣经》也译为 ASHRIEL (“亚斯列”, 代上 7:14;《新英文译本》中省略了这个名字)。玛拿西支派的人 (民 26:31; 书 17:2)。根据《历代志上》7:14 中的记载, 亚斯列是玛拿西的妾亚兰人所生的。

ASRIELITES 亚斯烈人

音译: as'rē-ə-lits【希伯来语: hā'asri'ēli】。亚斯烈家族的名字 (民 26:31)。

ASS 驴

【希伯来语: h^amôr, 'atôn, 'ayir; 阿卡德语: atânu; 希腊语: ónos, hypozygion (太 21:5; 彼后 2:16)】;《钦定版圣经》也译作 ASS COLT ('ayir, 士 10:4; 12:14) 和 YOUNG ASS (('ayir, 赛 30:6, 24), 这两词汉译同为“驴驹”。《新英文译本》也译为 DONKEY (“驴”)、BEAST OF BURDEN (“小驴”) (太 21:5)、BEAST (“驴”) (彼后 2:16) 或 HE-ASS (“公驴”)【希伯来语: h^amôr (创 12:16), 'ayir (创 32:15)】;《钦定版圣经》也译为 FOAL (“驴驹”) (创 32:15); SHE-ASS (“母驴”)【atôn】; SWIFT ASS (“快驴”)【'arôd】(伯 39:5b);《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》中译作 WILD ASS (“野驴”)、WILD ASS (“野驴”)【pere', 'ārôd] (耶 48:6, 根据《马所拉文本》中的 ^arô'ēr 进行的修订,《七十士译本》《亚历山大抄本》译为 ónos ágrios; 但参: 耶 17:6); 亚兰语: ^arād (但 5:21)】;《钦定版圣经》另译为 “heath” (“杜松” 耶

Asses at the harvest. Painted wall sculpture in limestone, probably from the tomb of Metjetjy at Saqqârah (late 5th-early 6th Dynasty Egypt, ca. 2400 B.C.) (Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto)

The Torah prohibited the use of an ass and an ox yoked together for plowing (Dt. 22:10). While ass meat was eaten in emergencies (cf. 2 K. 6:25), the dietary laws regarded it as unclean (Lev. 11:1-8; Dt. 14:3-8). As one of the most common domestic animals the ass was virtually indispensable to sedentary life, and was thus one indication of wealth (cf. Gen. 12:16; Job 1:3; Ezz. 2:66f.; etc.). The animal symbolized wildness (Gen. 16:12; Hos. 8:9), strength (Gen. 49:14),

石灰岩壁画中描述的是收获中的驴，该壁画可能是在麦特耶提（Metjetjy）墓（位于塞加拉）中发现的。（埃及的第五王朝末期，第六王朝早期，约公元前 2400 年）（多伦多，皇家安大略博物馆）

《摩西五经》禁止人们并用牛和驴耕地（申 22:10）。人们只有在紧急的情况下才能食用驴肉（参：王下 6:25），饮食律法认为驴肉是不洁净的食物（利 11:1-8；申 14:3-8）。作为最常见的驯养家畜，驴实际上是人们定居生活中不可或缺的动物，因此它也是财富的象征（参：创 12:16；伯 1:3；拉 2:66-67 等）。这种动物也是野性（创 16:12；何 8:9）、力量（创 49:14）、轻蔑（结 23:20）和尸体蒙羞（耶 22:19）的象征。 contempt (Ezk. 23:20), and the dishonoring of a corpse (Jer. 22:19).

Like the ox, the ass participated in sabbath rest (Dt. 5:14); it also received proper care on that day (cf. Lk. 13:15; 14:5). The ass was once employed miraculously to give fresh direction to Balaam's prophetic abilities (Nu. 22-24).

R. K. H.

驴和牛都享受安息（申 5:14）；人们在安息日必须给予它适当的照料（参：路 13:15；14:5）。神曾借助驴指示巴兰如何行预言之能（民 22-24）。

ASSAILANTS.

In Ps. 18:39; 92:11; Lam. 3:62; etc., derivatives of Heb. qûm, "arise," are used to describe those who rose in opposition to the aspirations or the behavior of the godly. They sometimes employed physical force (cf. Ps. 18:39), but their downfall was always confidently expected by the righteous (cf. 92:11; 109:28). The AV translates "those that rise up against (me)"; the NEB has "foes," "adversaries," "opponents," "enemies."

ASSAILANTS 攻击者、仇敌

《诗篇》18:39、92:11 和《耶利米哀歌》3:62 等经文采用希伯来词 qûm（“出现”）的派生词形容那些与圣洁之人的心意或行为相对抗的人。他们有时动用武力（参：诗 18:39），但是义人一直相信他们最终会遭到报应和惩罚（参：诗 92:11；109:28）。《钦定版圣经》将之翻译成“those that rise up against (me)”（“攻击我的人”）；《新英文译本》则译为“foes”、“adversaries”、“opponents”、“enemies”（汉译均为“仇敌”）。

ASSALIMOTH 示罗密

音译：ə-sal'i-mōth（《钦定版圣经》，《新英文译本》，拉一 8:36）。见 SHELOMITH（示罗密）。

ASSANIAS 哈沙比雅

音译：a-sə-nī'əs（《钦定版圣经》，拉一 8:54）。见 HASHABIAH 8（哈沙比雅 8）。

ASSASSINS 凶徒

【希腊语：sikarioi】（徒 21:38）；《钦定版圣经》译为 MURDERERS；《新英文译本》译为 TERRORISTS（汉译均为“凶徒”）。约瑟夫斯描述过匕首党歹徒，《使徒行传》中也提到了他们，因为吕西亚将保罗误认为是匕首党的埃及首领。

约瑟夫斯描述道：“在耶路撒冷兴起了

“there sprang up in Jerusalem a class of robbers called Sicarii, who slew men in the daytime, and in the midst of the city. This they did chiefly when they mingled with the populace at the festivals, and, hiding short daggers in their garments, stabbed with them those that were their enemies. The first to be assassinated by them was Jonathan the high priest, and after him many were slain daily” (see also Ant. xx.8.6; xx.9). The name is derived from Lat. sica, “a dagger.” The Sicarii were implacable in their hatred to Rome and to those Jews who were suspected of leaning toward Rome. They took a leading part in the Jewish rebellion and in the disturbance previous to it and also in the faction quarrels during the war. After the war they continued their nefarious practices in Egypt and Cyrene, to which they had fled.

ASSAY.

Archaic in the AV for “attempt,” “venture.” In the RSV and NEB of Jer. 6:27 it renders Heb. bāhan, “test,” “prove” (AV “try”), with reference to the role of Jeremiah as “assayer and tester” (bāhôn, mibšār; AV “a tower and a fortress”) of Israel.

ASSEMBLY

[Heb. qāhāl, also q^hillā, miqrā’, mô‘ēd, ‘ēdā, mōšāb; Gk. ekklēsia, plēthos, 一伙盗贼，他们被称为匕首党，他们白天在城中杀人。他们将匕首藏在衣服里，混在庆祝节日的人群中，用匕首刺杀他们的敌人。第一个被他们刺杀的人是大祭司约拿单，约拿单被刺杀后，每天都有许多人被杀。” (BJ ii.13.3; cf. ii.17, 另见 Ant. xx.8.6; xx.9)。匕首党这个词源自拉丁语中的 sica (意思是“一把匕首”)。匕首党与罗马之间的仇恨，以及与那些他们怀疑倾向于罗马的犹太人之间的仇恨不可调和。他们带头谋划了犹太人的反叛、之前的动荡局面，以及战时的内讧。战后，他们逃往埃及和古利奈，并继续在那里作恶。

ASSAY 试验

《钦定版圣经》中“试探”和“试验”的旧时表达法。《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》的《耶利米书》6:27用这个词翻译希伯来词 bāhan (意思是“试验”或“检验”，《钦定版圣经》译为“try” [“试探”])，这段经文中的耶利米扮演着以色列的“试验者和检验者”的角色 (bāhôn, mibšār; 《钦定版圣经》译作“一座高台和保障”)。

ASSEMBLY 会堂、集会

【希伯来语：qāhāl 或 q^hillā, miqrā’, mô‘ēd, ‘ēdā, mōšāb; 希腊语：ekklēsia, synagōgē (Jas. 2:2, and LXX)]; AV also CONGREGATION, CONVOCATION, MULTITUDE; NEB also COMMUNITY, COMPANY, “place of worship” (Jas. 2:2). The Heb. qāhāl and Gk. ekklēsia, both with the root idea “call,” mean in strictest usage a meeting called together by a crier, and can refer to any gathering of people called for any purpose (Nu. 10:7; 2 Ch. 30:13; Neh. 7:66; Acts 19:32, 39, 41). But in the OT especially (where the LXX often uses ekklēsia to render qāhāl), the “assembly” is most often the people of God gathered for worship and sacrifice. (On ekklēsia, see also CHURCH.)

The root of Heb. miqrā' also means “call,” and the usual rendering is “convocation” (e.g., Ex. 12:16, AV; Lev. 23:2ff.; but “assembly” in Isa. 1:13; 4:5). It usually occurs with qōdeš (“holy assembly,” Ex. 12:16; cf. Lev. 23; Nu. 28f.; NEB “sacred assembly”) and indicates a day set aside for religious observance, when no work may be done. See CONVOCATION. The RSV “assembly” in Mic. 6:9 (AV “he who hath appointed”) is based on a textual emendation, following the Greek.

In the NT, Gk. plēthos, normally “multitude,” refers also to the Council of Jerusalem (Acts 15:12) and once to the Sanhedrin (23:7). The Gk. synagōgē, which often translates Heb. qāhāl in the LXX, is used in Jas. 2:2 for the regular assembly places of Jewish Christians. On He. 12:22f. panēgyris, see FESTAL GATHERING.

plēthos, synagōgē (雅 2:2 和《七十士译本》)】；《钦定版圣经》也译为 CONGREGATION, CONVOCATION, MULTITUDE (汉译均为“会堂”)；《新英文译本》译为 COMMUNITY, COMPANY, “place of worship” (汉译均为“会堂”) (雅 2:2)。希伯来词 qāhāl 和希腊词 ekklēsia 的词根都有“召集”的含义，这两个词的最严格的含义是，一次由传唤者召集的会议，它们也可以用来表示为任何目的而召集众人 (民 10:7; 代下 30:13; 尼 7:66; 徒 19:32, 39, 41)。但尤其是在《旧约》中 (《七十士译本》经常用 ekklēsia 一词翻译 qāhāl)，“assembly”一词经常用来表示，神的子民为了敬拜神和向神献祭而聚集在一起。(关于 ekklēsia 一词，另见 CHURCH[教会]。)

希伯来词 miqrā' 的词根也有“召唤”的含义，通常翻译为“convocation” (“召集”) (如，出 12:16, 《钦定版圣经》; 利 23:2 起; 但是赛 1:13 和赛 4:5 用 “assembly” [“集会”] 一词来翻译这个词)。miqrā' 经常与 qōdeš 一同出现 (“圣会”，出 12:16; 参：利 23; 民 28-29; 《新英文译本》译作 “sacred assembly” [“圣会”])，表明人们可能在这一天不劳作，专门举行宗教仪式。见 CONVOCATION (集会)。《修订标准译本》的《弥迦书》6:9 中 (《钦定版圣经》译为 “他派定的”) 的 “assembly” 一词是根据修订经文得出的翻译，遵循了希腊语《圣经》。

在《新约》中，希腊语 plēthos 通常译为 “multitude” (“众人”)，它可以指耶路撒冷会议 (徒 15:12)，有一次指的是犹太公会 (徒 23:7)。《七十士译本》经常用希腊语 synagōgē 一词翻译希伯来词 qāhāl，在《雅各书》2:2 中，synagōgē 指犹太基督徒定期集会的地方。《希伯来书》12:22-23 中采用了 panēgyris 一词，见 FESTAL GATHERING (节日聚会)。

ASSEMBLY, MOUNT OF

[Heb. har-mô'ēd] (Isa. 14:13); AV MOUNT OF THE CONGREGATION; NEB "mountain where the gods meet." What is evidently meant is the fancied Olympus of the gods on some lofty northern height. ASSHUR ash'ər [Heb. 'aššûr]. The name for the people or nation of Assyria, or the city that was sometimes the capital. It is also the name of the national god (spelled Ashur in this encyclopedia), forms of which appear in the names of rulers, e.g., ESARHADDON and ASHURBANIPAL (possibly the Osnappar of Ezr. 4:10). On the city, see ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA III.A.

ASSHUR 亚述、阿舒尔

ash'ər【希伯来语: 'aššûr】。亚述人或亚述国的名字, 或指亚述某一时期的都城。它也是亚述敬拜的一位神明的名字 (本百科全书将之拼写为 Ashur[“阿舒尔”]), 这个词出现在一些统治者的名字中, 如, ESARHADDON (见 ESARHADDON, 以撒哈顿) 和 ASHURBANIPAL (见 ASHURBANIPAL, 亚述巴尼帕) (可能是《以斯拉记》4:10 中的亚斯那巴)。关于这座城市, 见 ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA III.A (美

ASSIGN

[Heb. nāṭan, pāqad, also 'āmar (1 K. 11:18), mānā (Dnl. 1:5), sāpar (2 Ch. 2:2), 'āšā (2 Ch. 2:18), śîm (Prov. 8:29); Gk. dídōmi (1 Cor. 3:5), merízō (Rom. 12:3; 1 Cor. 7:17)]; AV also GIVE, APPOINT, RECKON, PUT TO (2 Ch. 2:14), SET TO BE (2 Ch. 2:18), DEAL (Rom. 12:3), DISTRIBUTE (1 Cor. 7:17); NEB also GIVE, ALLOT, STATION, ENGAGE (2 Ch. 2:2), SUBMIT TO (2 Ch. 2:14), PRESCRIBE (Prov. 8:29), DEAL (Rom. 12:3), GRANT (1 Cor. 7:17), ARRANGE (Nu. 8:26).

ASSIGN 派定、挑选

【希伯来语: nāṭan, pāqad, 或 'āmar (王上 11:18), mānā (但 1:5), sāpar (代下 2:2), 'āšā (代下 2:18), śîm (箴 8:29); 希腊语: dídōmi (林前 3:5), merízō (罗 12:3; 林前 7:17)】;《钦定版圣经》也译为 GIVE, APPOINT, RECKON, PUT TO (代下 2:14), SET TO BE (代下 2:18), DEAL (罗 12:3), DISTRIBUTE (林前 7:17);《新英文译本》也译作 GIVE, ALLOT, STATION, ENGAGE (代下 2:2), SUBMIT TO (代下 2:14), PRESCRIBE (箴 8:29), DEAL (罗 12:3), GRANT (林前 7:17), ARRANGE (民 8:26)。以上词语汉译均为“派定、挑选”。

The verb “assign” is frequently used of the delegation of certain duties, tasks, or obligations. Often the notion of authority is present, as when Joab assigned Uriah a place in battle where he surely would be killed (2 S. 11:16), or when Solomon assigned men their tasks in the building of the temple (2 Ch. 2:2, 14, 18). In Prov. 8:29 God, with Wisdom, creates the boundaries of the seas beyond which they cannot pass.

在表示在委托某人肩负某些职责、任务或责任时,经常用到动词“派定、挑选”。这种“分派”中通常蕴含了一种权威性,比如当约押派乌利亚前往战场赴死时(撒下 11:16),或者当所罗门分派人们建造圣殿的任务时(代下 2:2, 14, 18)。在《箴言》8:29中,上帝用祂的大智慧为人们定出了无法逾越的沧海的界限。

Likewise in Rom. 12:3 it is God who does the assigning. He measures out to each person his portion of faith. In 1 Cor.

同样,在《罗马书》12:3中记载道,神分给了各人信心的大小,看得合乎中道。《哥林多前书》3:5和7:17中,神分

3:5 and 7:17 it is God who gives to each man his particular calling and position in life. It is interesting to note the individualistic reference in each of these three NT uses of “assign.” In each case it is to the individual (Gk. hekástō) that the faith and vocation is assigned, and it is always assigned by God Himself.

B. L. BANDSTRA

给每个人不同的职分和位置。有趣的是，《新约》中的这三处经文在提到神对每个人的分派时，都用到了“assign”（派定）一词。在上面的每个例子中，信心和职分是分给每个人的（希腊语：hekástō），而且通常是神做出了这种分派。

as'ər [Heb. 'assîr—‘captive’].

1. A Levite of the family of Korah (Ex. 6:24; 1 Ch. 6:22).

2. A son of Ebiasaph and grandson of Assir. Samuel was descended from him (1 Ch. 6:23, 37).

3. According to 1 Ch. 3:17, AV, a son of Jeconiah. The RSV, however, takes the word not as a name but as a common noun, “captive,” as also the NEB, “prisoner.”

ASSOCIATES

[Aram k^lnat; Akk. kinātu]; AV COMPANIONS; NEB COLLEAGUES. An Aramaic term occurring in Ezr. 4:7–6:13 to describe a “colleague” in some particular enterprise.

ASSOS

as'os [Gk. Assos]. An ancient city of Mysia in the Roman province of Asia at which Paul and Luke rested while on their way from Troas to Mitylene (Acts 20:13).

ASSIR 亚惜

音译：as'ər 【希伯来语：'assîr——“俘虏”】。

1、利未人，可拉家族中的一员（出 6:24；代上 6:22）。

2、以比雅撒的儿子，亚惜的子孙。撒母耳是他的后裔（代上 6:23, 37）。

3、根据《钦定版圣经》《历代志上》3:17 中的描述，亚惜是耶哥尼雅的儿子。而《修订标准译本》认为“亚惜”不是一个名字而是个普通名词，意思是“俘虏”，《新英文译本》也将这个词译为“prisoner”（“俘虏”）。

ASSOCIATES 同党

【亚兰语：k^lnat；阿卡德语：kinātu】；《钦定版圣经》译为 COMPANIONS（“同伴”）；《新英文译本》译为 COLLEAGUES（“同党”）。《以斯拉记》4:7 至 6:13 用一个亚兰词语描述从事某些特殊事业的“同党”。

ASSOS 亚朔

音译：as'os 【希腊语：Assos】。每西亚的一座古城，位于罗马亚西亚行省境内，保罗和路加从特罗亚前往米推利尼传道时曾在亚朔停歇（徒 20:13）。

Assos, or Assus, as it is also spelled, stood on a volcanic hill some 700 ft. (215 m.) in altitude. Since it was located on the Gulf of Adramyttium and faced south toward Lesbos, it is not at all surprising that it was founded by Aeolians of Lesbos (Mitylene), ca. 900 B.C. This virtually impregnable site rose in steep cliffs sheer from the sea. Its sides were covered with both natural and artificial terraces.

Assos was successively a part of the Lydian kingdom, the Persian empire, Alexander's empire, the kingdom of Pergamum, and the Roman empire. Aristotle taught there for three years (348–345 B.C.), and Cleanthes the Stoic philosopher was born there.

An American Archaeological Institute team explored and excavated at Assos 1881–83. Upon the terraces of the hill they found such public buildings as the gymnasium, treasury, baths, marketplace, and theater. The marketplace (agora) was nearly rectangular in shape, and along its north and south sides were long stoas of typically Pergamene form. Around the base of the hill stood a Hellenistic wall about 2 mi. (3 km.) in length and 30 ft. (9 m.) high. A second wall at the site dated to the Byzantine period. On the summit of the acropolis stood a Doric temple which the excavators assigned to the 5th cent. B.C. but which many others date a century earlier. The harbor from which Paul sailed to Mitylene has since silted up and is covered with gardens. Modern inhabitants of the town (called Behramköy, a Turkish corruption of the Byzantine name) have constructed an artificial harbor at its side. See Plate 18.

亚朔曾先后是吕底亚王国、波斯帝国、亚历山大帝国、别迦摩王国和罗马帝国领土的一部分。亚里士多德曾在此教学三年（公元前 348 至 345 年），这里也是斯多葛派哲人克里安西斯的出生地。

美国考古研究所的一个团队于 1881 至 1883 年探索并挖掘了亚朔遗址。他们在山上的梯田出挖掘出了一些公共建筑，如体育馆、宝库、浴场、市场和剧院。市场（集市）差不多是一个长方形，集市的北侧和南侧是典型的别迦摩式的长廊。在山底周围矗立着一面希腊风格的城墙，城墙长 2 英里（3 公里），高 30 英尺（9 米）。该遗址中的另一面城墙可以追溯到拜占庭时期。卫城的最高处矗立着一座多利安式的神庙，挖掘者认为这是一座公元前 5 世纪的神庙，但是还有许多人认为它的建造时间要比这一日期还早一个世纪。保罗从亚朔海港乘船去米推利尼，这一海港后来被淤泥堵塞，现在被一座花园所覆盖。这座城镇（现被称为贝赫拉姆卡莱，这个土耳其城镇名来自于它的拜占庭原名）的现代居民在这一海港的旁边建造了一个人工港。见彩图 18。

These words are exceptionally rich in spiritual meaning, signifying the joyous unwavering confidence of an intelligent faith, the security of a fearless trust. They have to do with the heart of vital religion.

In the OT Heb. 'āman means “support,” hence “confide in, trust.” Jesus repeatedly used this word “amen” to express the trustworthiness and abiding certainty of His sayings. Heb. ˁmet is the most important OT word for “truth.” In Jer. 14:13 it occurs with šālôm, “assured peace,” NEB “lasting prosperity”—but

ASSUAGE 消解、医治

“消解”一词是对《约伯记》16:5-6 中的希伯来语 ḥāšak (《钦定版圣经》译为 “assuage” [“消解”]) 和《那鸿书》3:19 中的 kēhā 的翻译。《钦定版圣经》《创世记》8:1 中用这个词翻译 šakak, 表示“水势渐落”。

ASSURANCE 信心、实底

【希伯来语：'āman (申 28:66)；希腊语：pístis, plērophoría, hypóstasis (来 11:1)】；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》还译作 SUBSTANCE，汉译为“实底” (来 11:1)；《新英文译本》还译为 SECURITY (“保证”)；ASSURED (“赐予”)，【希伯来语：ˁmet (耶 Jer. 14:13)；希腊语：plērophoría (西 2:2), plērōō (西 4:12)】；《钦定版圣经》还译作 COMPLETE (“完全的”) (西 4:12)；《新英文译本》还译为 LASTING (“永恒的”)，CONVICTION (“确据”)。这些词语包含着极为丰富的属灵含义，象征着拥有智慧信仰之人怀有的坚定不移的、喜乐的信心和对神依赖之稳固。它们关乎有活力的敬虔。

在《旧约》中，希伯来语 'āman 的意思是“支持”，因此有“信任、相信”的含义。耶稣多次使用“amen”一词表达祂的话语的可信性和持久不变的确定性。希伯来词 ˁmet 是《旧约》中表达“真理”这一含义的最为重要的词汇。在《耶利米书》14:13 中，这个希伯来词语与 šālôm 一同出现，意思是“长久的平安”，

this is the lie of false prophets.

《新英文译本》译为“lasting prosperity”（“长久的平安”）——但是这是假先知的谎言。

The NT terms are Gk. pístis, “faith,” plērōō, “fill,” plērophoría, “bearing fullness,” and hypóstasis, “firm conviction” or else “essential reality.” This last word is difficult, because of the possible philosophical connotations. Perhaps the best suggestion is the RV mg., “the giving substance to.” Faith makes the things hoped for real to the soul. Cf. He. 1:3.

希腊语 pístis (“信心”)、plērōō (“充满”)、plērophoría (“充实”)、hypóstasis (“笃信”或“本质的真实性”)都是《新约》中的词汇。最后一个希腊词汇很难理解，因为其中可能包含了一些哲学内涵。《修订译本》的旁注中或许给出了最佳的解释，“赐予……实质”。信就是所望之事的“实底”。参：来 1:3。

The confidence of faith is based not on “works of righteousness which we have done” (cf. Tit. 3:4f., AV) but on the high-priesthood and atoning sacrifice of Christ (He. 10:21f.; cf. v. 19, “boldness to enter ... by the blood of Jesus,” AV). Assurance is the soul’s apprehension of its complete emancipation from the power of evil and from consequent judgment, through the atoning grace of Christ. It is the exact opposite of self-confidence, being a joyous appropriation and experience of the fullness of Christ—a glad sense of security, freedom, and eternal life in Him.

信心并不建立在“我们所行的义”（参：多：3:4-5，《钦定版圣经》）的基础上，而是要依靠基督的大祭司的职分和以血换来的救赎（来 10:21-22；参：来 10:19，“因耶稣的血，得以坦然进入……”，《钦定版圣经》）。实底就是人们心里知道，通过基督的救赎的恩惠，他们将从恶的掌控中完全解放出来，并免受后来的审判。信心恰是自信的反面，它是喜乐地为神所用，经历基督的充实，在基督里高兴地感受到安全、自由和永生。

This doctrine is of immeasurable importance to the life of the Church and of the individual believer, as a life of spiritual doubt and uncertainty contradicts the ideal of liberty in Christ Jesus which is the natural and necessary fruit of “the washing of regeneration and renewing of the Holy Spirit ... shed on us abundantly, through Jesus Christ our Savior.” Paul unhesitatingly said, “I know” (2 Tim. 1:12)—a word which, oft-repeated in 1 John, furnishes the groundwork of glad assurance that runs

这一教义对于教会的生活和每个信徒的生活都至关重要，因为一个内心充满忧虑和不确定的生活与基督耶稣的自由理想相矛盾，这自由的理想是“重生的洗和圣灵的更新……藉着耶稣基督我们救主厚厚浇灌在我们身上”的自然和必然的结果。保罗毫不犹豫地说：“我知道”（提后 1:12）——这句话在《约翰一书》中也反复出现，构成了所有使徒书信中喜乐信心的基石。关于“充足”的经典经文，见西 2:1-10。

I. Geography.-The fertile heartland of Assyria lay between the Syrian desert, Anatolia, and the Kurdish hills, and was separated from its southern neighbor Babylonia by the Hamrin hills. It was well watered by the swiftflowing river Tigris (Heb. hiddeqel, Gen. 2:14), which flowed E of the first capital Asshur and past the other capitals of NINEVEH and CALAH (Gen. 10:11f.), which is situated near its confluence with the upper Zab.

II. People.-Assyria's mixed population was predominantly Semitic. They had many of the strong characteristics of the hill people who surrounded them. Their language, a dialect related to Babylonian, was written in the cuneiform script following the first use of that script at Uruk (modern Warka; see ERECH) by the Babylonians, who thereafter influenced them culturally.

III. History.-A. Sources. In addition to archeological evidence, the history can be reconstructed from king lists, royal annals, building inscriptions, and many references in correspondence and other texts. The Assyrians dated by eponym of an official (limmu), using his name to mark a year, and by regnal years.

B. Early History. The land seems to have been inhabited from early prehistoric times. Middle Paleolithic finds from Barda-Balka (about 120,000 years ago), the Mousterian culture in the Shanidar

I. 地理环境。土壤肥沃的亚述中心地带介于叙利亚沙漠、安纳托利亚和库尔德山脉之间，南面的哈姆林山（Hamrin hills）将亚述与邻邦巴比伦分隔开来。水流湍急的底格里斯河（希伯来语：hiddeqel，创 2:14）为这片地区提供了充足的水源，底格里斯河从第一都城亚述向东流，途径亚述的另两个都城尼尼微（见 NINEVEH[尼尼微]）和迦拉（见 CALAH[迦拉]），尼尼微和迦拉坐落于底格里斯河与扎卜河上游的交汇处。

II. 居民。混居在亚述的居民主要是闪米特人。他们受到周边山区居民的影响，身上也有很浓的山民特征。他们所讲的语言是一种与巴比伦语有关联的方言，这种语言采用楔形文字的书写形式，巴比伦人第一次在乌胡克地区使用这种文字（今瓦尔卡；见 ERECH[以力]），当地人从巴比伦人那里学会了这种文字，随后巴比伦文明影响到了这一地区。

III. 历史。A. 起源。除了参考考古证据，人们还可以根据列王继位的年次、皇室的年鉴、建筑碑文、往来信件和其他文献资料还原当时的历史。亚述人采用一种以官员名称命名的纪年法（里木纪年法），用里木的名字记载年代和列王继位的时间。

B. 早期历史。似乎在史前时期就有人在这片土地上生活。人们在巴尔达巴尔卡发现了旧石器时代中期的遗迹（约 12 万年以前），在沙尼达尔山洞中发现了莫斯特文化遗址，在巴罗多斯特山洞

Cave, and evidence of the early Neolithic and Chalcolithic from the Barodost caves overlooking the upper Zab continue the history. The Neolithic revolution ca. 7000 B.C. can be seen in the agricultural village life of ancient Jarmo. The subsequent prehistoric periods Hassuna-Samarra, Halâf (first known from Assyria), the later Ubaid, Uruk, and Proto-literate (or Early Dynastic but not Jemdet Nasr) similar to those known from the south have been traced at Nineveh, Arpachiyah, Tepe Gawra and the Jebel Sinjar and Kirkûk areas.

The king-list tradition is of early nomads under Ušpia who founded a settlement at Asshur ca. 2800 B.C. in the Early Dynastic period. Sargon of Agade (Akkad) (ca. 2350 B.C.) built at Nineveh, and his son Maništusu at Asshur. A successor Naram-Sin continued to control the region for the Babylonians. Gen. 10:11f. records the foundation of Asshur, Nineveh, and Calah (modern Nimrûd) by immigrants from Babylonia (see NIMROD; attested by archeological discoveries at Nimrûd). Amar-Sin of Ur and his dynasty mastered Assyria until their own city fell and Assyria won its independence during the Puzur-Ashur dynasty.

乌斯皮亚(Ušpia)统治时期的早期游牧民族采用列王继位年次的纪年方法,乌斯皮亚在早王朝时期(约在公元前 2800 年)在亚述建立了一个聚落。阿卡德国王撒珥根(约公元前 2350)定都尼尼微,而他的儿子玛尼什图苏定都亚述。继任者纳拉姆辛仍然帮巴比伦人控制这一地区。《创世记》10:11-12 记载,巴比伦的移民建造了亚述、尼尼微和迦拉(今尼姆鲁德)(见 NIMROD[宁录];考古发现证明宁录遗址就位于尼姆鲁德)。吾珥王阿玛珥辛和他的王朝统治着亚述,直到后来他们自己的城市遭受毁灭,亚述在普祖尔亚述统治时期取得了独立。

C. Old Assyrian Period. By 1900 B.C. the individual cities had established caravan links with Cappadocia (Kanish), trading copper for tin. They were also closely associated with the tribes of the west desert. Following a brief domination by Eshnunna (Diyala region), a strong family under its energetic head Šamši-Adad I (ca. 1814–1782) controlled even distant Mari through his son Yasmah-Adad. On the latter's death Zimri-Lim of Mari reasserted his authority with the help of the peoples of

*C. 古亚述时期。*到公元前 1900 年，亚述的每个城市都与加帕多家（迦膩色）进行着大篷车贸易，用铜换取锡。他们也与西部沙漠中的部落建立了紧密的联系。艾什努那（迪亚拉地区）曾短暂地控制过这里，后来一个强大的家族，在其杰出首领沙马什·阿达德一世（约公元前 1814–1782）甚至通过他的儿子亚斯马·阿达德控制了遥远的马里。亚斯马·阿达德去世后，马里的基姆利里姆在亚姆哈德（阿勒波）、艾什努那和巴比伦民众的帮助下重新获得了统治权力。在攻取马里之前，巴比伦国王汉

Yamḥad (Aleppo), Eshnunna, and Babylon. Hammurabi of Babylon warred with Assyria until Mari was taken. Assyria broke up into small city-states under the Hurrians (see HORITES), though its agricultural prosperity continued, as attested by the documents from NUZI (Yorgan Tepe, near Kirkûk).

D. Middle Assyrian Period (1300–900 B.C.). Aššurballiṭ (1365–1330) reunited Assyria under a strong central control. He corresponded with Amenhotep IV of Egypt, much to the objection of Burnaburiaš II of Babylon, who reckoned him a vassal (so Am. Tab.). With the recession of Mitannian power, trade routes to the west were reopened and Arik-dēn-īli (1319–1308) and Adadnirari I (1307–1275) regained land westward to Carchemish which had been lost since the days of Šamši-Adad. Further rapid expansions followed, and Assyria became one of the most powerful states in the ancient Near East.

Shalmaneser I (1274–1245) had to battle to keep his northern and eastern frontiers against recurrent Hurrian attacks. These he thwarted by conquering Ḫanigalbat. A new capital was established at Calah (Nimrûd). His son Tukulti-Ninurta I (1244–1208) was primarily engaged against Babylon, which he overcame; so it was left to Tiglath-pileser I (1115–1077) to settle the dynastic disputes that had meanwhile weakened Assyria. He struck first against the Muški (see MESHECH) and Subarian tribes. With these nearer frontiers secure, he was the first Assyrian king to march to the Mediterranean. He received tribute from Byblos (Gebal), Sidon, and Arvad and imposed taxes on the king of Ḫatti (north

D. 中亚述时期（公元前 1300–900 年）。亚述鲁巴利特（Aššurballiṭ，公元前 1365–1330）以强大的中央控制力再次统一了亚述。他给埃及法老阿蒙霍特普四世写信，强烈反对巴比伦王布尔那布里亚二世的压迫，这位巴比伦王认为他是巴比伦的诸侯王（亚玛拿泥版中也有相关描述）。随着米坦尼人的势力逐渐减弱，亚述与西方的贸易路线重新开放，阿里克·登·伊利（公元前 1319–1308 年）和亚达尼拉利一世（公元前 1307–1275 年）重新获得了西面的迦基米施，自沙马什·阿达德时期，亚述就丧失了这座城邑。随后亚述迅速向外扩张，它成为古代近东最强大的国家之一。

撒幔以色列一世为保卫其北部和东部边境的安定（约公元前 1274–1245 年）不得不与胡里安人争战来抵抗他们的频繁侵扰。他战胜哈尼加尔巴特后，挫败了胡里安人。他在迦拉（尼姆鲁德）建立了新的都城。他的儿子图库尔特·尼努尔塔一世（公元前 1244–1208 年）发动的主要军事行动就是发动对巴比伦的战争，并最终战胜了巴比伦。因此，解决王朝纷争就留给了提革拉·毗列色一世（公元前 1115–1077 年），这些纷争同时削弱了亚述的实力。他首先向穆士奇部落（Muški，见 MESHECH[米设]）和斯巴鲁（Subarian）部落发起了进攻。这些较近的边境获得稳定后，他成为第一个向地中海地区进发的亚述王。比布鲁斯（迦巴勒）、西顿和亚发都向他称臣，他还向哈提（北叙利亚）国王征税。

Syria). He reached Tadmor (Palmyra) in his many campaigns against the emergent Aramean (Aḥlamu) tribes. These Assyrian preoccupations left David and Solomon free to extend their own territory into south Syria. The intruders from the Syrian desert impoverished Assyria under the aged Ashurnasirpal I, the uncle of Tiglath-pileser.

E. Neo-Assyrian Period (900–612 B.C.).

1. Ashurnasirpal II (885–860 B.C.) followed his father, Tukulti-Ninurta II, in taking strong military action that led to the reestablishment of the empire. His first move was to attack the Arameans in the upper and middle Euphrates Valley. In seven years he stopped their incursions by imposing tribute and taxes on the rulers of Laqe and Ḥindanu, while further north he struck at the people of Na'iri who had been attacking the Assyrian garrison town of Damdusa from their strong base at Kinabu. The whole region of the Kashiari hills (Tušḥan) was incorporated as an Assyrian province. Tribute was taken from Amme-Ba'al, who was, however, soon assassinated by local rebels; so the Assyrian army was dispatched to take revenge (879). Assyrian arms were carried as far as the land of Kummuh in the upper Tigris, where tribute was taken from the Muški.

In the east Zamua (modern Sulaimania) was taken over, and the rebels holding the Babite Pass, a key eastern trade route, were ousted. His ability to control the hill peoples enabled Ashurnasirpal to march beyond the rivers Habor (Ḥābūr) and Balikh to the Euphrates, invade Bīt-Adini (the Beth-Eden of Am. 1:5; 2 K. 19:12; Isa. 37:12; Ezk. 27:23), and take tribute from the defeated ruler Aḥuni. This

E. 新亚述时期 (公元前 900–612 年)。

1、亚述纳西尔帕二世 (公元前 885–860 年) 继续推行其父图库尔提·尼努尔塔采取的强硬军事行动，并重建亚述帝国。他所采取的第一个军事行动就是进攻幼发拉底河谷上游和中游的亚兰人。通过向拉奇 (Laqe) 和因达努统治者征收贡品和赋税，他在七年的时间里阻止了亚兰人的入侵，他继续向北进攻纳伊里人 (Na'iri)，他们当时正以基纳巴卢为坚固据点，攻击亚述的驻防城邑达姆杜沙 (Damdusa)。整个卡什阿里山 (图珊) 地区并入了亚述的一个行省中。阿梅·巴力 (Amme-Ba'al) 也向亚述纳贡，不过他不久之后便被地方的叛乱者刺杀了；亚述出兵为其报仇 (公元前 879 年)，一直打到了底格里斯河上游的库马哈 (Kummuh) 地区，那里的穆士奇 (Muški) 部落也向亚述纳贡。

亚述接管了东部的扎姆阿 (Zamua，今苏莱曼尼亚)，并赶走了控制巴比特山口 (关键的东部商路) 的叛军。亚述纳西尔帕二世控制住了山区居民，从而使他可以率领亚述军穿过了哈博河 (Ḥābūr) 和拜利赫河抵达幼发拉底河，进而入侵比特阿迪尼 (《圣经》译为“伯伊甸”，摩 1:5；王下 19:12；赛 37:12；结 27:23)，被他打败的阿胡尼 (Aḥuni) 也向亚述称臣。这为公元前 877 年亚述 prepared the way for a major expedition to Syria in 877 to receive tribute from Tyre, Sidon, and Byblos and then march home via the Amanus Mountains, leaving reinforcements with his garrisons on the middle Euphrates and at Tušhan (upper Tigris).

Much of the booty from these campaigns, as well as prisoner labor force, was devoted to the rebuilding of the capital at Calah about 875 B.C. Here a temple to Ninurta, a royal palace decorated with sculptured reliefs, irrigation works, and botanical and zoological gardens, was constructed. The new population (50,000) and 19,574 guests were entertained for ten days (cf. 1 K. 8:65f.). A statue of this king stands in the British Museum.

2. Shalmaneser III continued his father's policy during a long and active reign (859–824 B.C.). Thirty-one years were spent in campaigning to extend Assyrian rule to Cilicia, Palestine, and the Persian Gulf. His first three campaigns were directed to the capture of Carchemish (857) and the incorporation of Bīt-Adini, whose capital Til-Barsip (Tell el-Aḥmar) was captured in 856 and renamed Kār-Šulmanašaridu (“Shalmaneserburg”). The alarmed Syrian states were ready to oppose his return in force in 853. Irḫuleni of Hamath and Adad-'idri (Hadadezer, possibly the Ben-hadad II of 1 K. 20) massed a coalition of “twelve kings of the sea-coast” with 62,900 infantry, 1,900 cavalry, 3,900 chariots, and 1,000 Arabian fighting camels at Karkara (Qarqar). “Ahab the Israelite” (Akk. A-ḥa-ab-bu ^{māt}Sir-'i-la-a-a) supplied 10,000 men and 2,000 chariots according to the first reference to Israel in Assyrian annals (See ANET, pp. 278f.). The clash was so fierce that the Assyrians did not return for three years (1 K. 16:29; 20:20; 22:1). Neither Hamath nor Damascus was taken, and it was a few years before the Assyrian attacks were resumed; and even then Hadadezer held firm.

这些军事行动为亚述夺得了大量战利品，并虏获了大批囚犯充当劳力，这些军事战利品被用于重建都城迦拉（约公元前 875 年）。人们在迦拉建造了一座尼努尔塔神庙、一座拥有浮雕装饰的皇家宫殿，兴建了灌溉工程，并修建了植物园和动物园。在 10 天的时间里，这里接待了 5 万本地新增人口和 19,574 名来客（参：王上 8:65-66）。亚述纳西尔帕的雕像现位于大英博物馆内。

2、撒幔以色列三世统治时间（公元前 859 - 824 年）很长，而且励精图治，在此期间他一直奉行其父的政策。他发动了 31 年的扩张战争，将亚述的统治区域扩张到基利家、巴勒斯坦和波斯湾地区。他的前三次军事行动旨在攻占迦基米施（公元前 857 年）和吞并比特阿迪尼，公元前 856 年亚述攻占了比特阿迪尼的都城提尔巴尔西普（艾哈马尔废墟），并将其改名为沙尔马那塞尔要塞（“卡尔沙尔马那塞尔”）。公元前 853 年，叙利亚人已经有所准备，他们集结了大批军队抵抗撒幔以色列三世再次侵略。哈马的伊户连尼（Irḫuleni）和哈大底谢（Adad-'idri，可能是《列王纪上》20 章中的便哈达）与“十二个海岸王”组成了联军，他们率领 62900 名步兵、1900 名骑兵、1900 辆战车和 1000 头卡尔卡的阿拉伯战斗骆驼。根据亚述年鉴中对以色列的首次描述，“以色列人亚哈”（阿卡德语：A-ḥa-ab-bu ^{māt}Sir-'i-la-a-a）提供了 10,000 名士兵，2,000 辆战车（见 ANET，278-279 页）。这次战役格外激烈，致使亚述人三年无

When Hadadezer was assassinated (842), Shalmaneser took the opportunity to march against his successor Hazael, “the son of a nobody” (i.e., a usurper), whose army was routed at Mt. Senir (Hermon). While claiming the defeat of Hazael, the Assyrians failed to capture either him or Damascus, where he had taken refuge. They ravaged the surrounding countryside, plundered the rich Hauran plain, and marched to the Mediterranean coast at Carmel (Ba‘li-ra‘si), where tribute was received from Tyre, Sidon, and “Jehu son of Omri” (Yaua mār Ĥumri); the event is not recorded in the OT but was perhaps induced by Israel’s need of support against Hazael’s raids into their territory (2 K. 10:32). If this was Jehu’s plan, it was unsuccessful. The submission of the Israelite is depicted on the Black Obelisk (British Museum). JEHU, or his ambassador, is portrayed kneeling before Shalmaneser while porters bring “silver, gold, golden bowls, vases, cups, buckets” and other objects as tribute. After a further attempt to take Damascus in 838 Shalmaneser undertook no further campaign in the west, a sure witness to the growing power of the Syrian city-states.

To the north Shalmaneser had to continue pressure on the Urartian kingdom of Van. He had reached Tarsus in Cilicia in 858 and captured the silver and salt mines of Tabal (Tubal). In the east he held Zamua. In Babylonia his contemporary

力再反攻（王上 16:29； 20:20； 22:1）。亚述既没有攻占哈马也没有攻占大马士革，几年之后词再次发起对这两地的攻击，但哈大底谢的防御依然十分坚固。

撒幔以色列不得不对北面的乌拉图王国的凡城施加压力。公元前 858 年他率军抵达了基利家的大数，并攻占了塔巴尔（图巴尔）的银矿和盐矿。他攻占了亚述东部的扎姆阿。与撒幔以色列同时期的巴比伦国王那普·阿普拉·伊地那（公

Nabû-apla-iddina (885–852) had repaired the damage caused by Aramean invaders, but dissension following his death led one Marduk-zākir-šumi to call for Assyrian aid. Shalmaneser defeated the rebels, entered Babylon, and made a parity treaty with Marduk-zākir-šumi (shown on the Nimrūd throne bas-relief by their shaking hands), who was now confirmed on the throne.

Shalmaneser moved against the Chaldeans (Kaldu) and took tribute from two of their tribal chiefs (Mušallim-Marduk and Adini), but this was merely a police operation combined with a show of force as far as the Persian Gulf. The end of his reign was saddened by domestic revolution. One son, Aššur-danin-apli, stirred up Asshur, Nineveh, Arbela (Erbil), and Arrapha (Kirkūk) so that the aged king was confined to Calah, where he had built a palace and arsenal. For four years another son Šamši-Adad V fought the rebels and then succeeded his father (824/3–811 B.C.).

3. Adadnirari III (810–783 B.C.) took five years to quell the widespread revolt led by nobles, high officials, and some provincial governors who, like Dayan-Aššur, the army commander of Shalmaneser, had accumulated much local power. He had to reassert Assyrian authority also over tribes to the north and east who had meanwhile withheld their taxes. This was the beginning of the internal resistance to the central authority of the king which was to recur and ultimately lead to Assyrian weakness in the following century.

When Šamši-Adad died, his queen

元前 885–852 年) 修复了亚兰人入侵巴比伦时造成的破坏, 但是他死后, 巴比伦出现了内部纷争, 马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米请求亚述人的援助。撒幔以色列击败了巴比伦的叛军之后, 进入巴比伦, 与马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米签定了对等条约(尼姆鲁德王座上的半浮雕证明了这一事件, 画中两位王握着手), 至此后者确定了他在巴比伦的王位。

撒幔以色列对迦勒底人(Kaldu) 采取了军事行动, 并接受迦勒底的两个部落(穆撒里姆马尔杜克和阿迪尼部落) 首领的进贡, 但是这次军事行动仅是治安行动, 同时为了向远至波斯湾的地区炫耀亚述的武力。撒幔以色列执政后期, 亚述的实力被国内革命削弱。他的一个儿子亚述·达宁·阿普利(Aššur-danin-apli) 煽动亚述、尼尼微、阿尔贝拉(埃尔比勒) 和亚拉法(基尔库克) 起义, 所以这位年迈的国王被限制在迦拉这个他曾建造了宫殿和武库的地方。他的另一个儿子沙马什·阿达德五世历时四年平息了叛乱, 之后他继承其父的王位(公元前824/3–811 年)。

3、亚达尼拉利三世(公元前 810–783 年) 用五年的时间平息了由贵族、忠臣和像达焉亚述这样手握地方重权的行省长官的大规模叛乱。他也不得不重申亚述对北部和东部部落的统治权力, 这些部落在叛乱期间拒绝缴纳赋税。这拉开了地方反对帝王集权的序幕, 地方叛乱不断, 最终导致亚述在后一个世纪走向衰落。

沙马什·阿达德死后, 他的王后萨穆·拉

Sammu-ramat (in part the legendary Semiramis) took over command as co-regent for five years during the minority of her son Adadnirari. In 806 B.C. the young king undertook an expedition to north Syria, reaching the Mediterranean (Arpad), and another the following year, when he took Hazazu and broke up the powerful coalition developing between Damascus and states as far afield as Malatya. In 804 he struck further southwest to Tyre and Sidon. Joash of Israel, anxious to annul the burdensome treaty imposed on him by Hazael, seems to have taken this opportunity, as had Jehu before him, to obtain Assyrian help. The evidence for this is a royal stele (from Tell ar Rimah, Iraq) in which Adadnirari lists tribute from “Joash of Samaria” (Yu’ asu māt Samerinā) before that of Tyre and Sidon. When the Assyrian entered Damascus and took spoil from Ben-hadad it is likely that Israel was allowed to strengthen trade relations with that city and recover some lost territory (2 K. 13:25).

Adadnirari received the submission of all the Chaldean chiefs; but his early death led to disturbed conditions, since his eldest son Shalmaneser IV (782–772) seems to have had limited authority, his general Šamši-ilu claiming credit for successes against the Urartians. A second son (Aššur-dân III, 771–754) campaigned unsuccessfully in Syria, the event being marked by the ominous sign of a solar eclipse on June 15, 763 B.C. (which serves as a check on Assyrian chronology). At home there was a plague and revolt in the cities of Asshur, Gozan, and Arrapha. The third son, Aššur-nirari V (753–746), was probably killed in a palace revolution, and years of ineffectual rule ended when his younger brother Tiglath-pileser mounted the throne.

所有的迦勒底首领都臣服于亚达尼拉利；但他英年早逝，致使亚述陷入混乱局面，由于他的长子撒幔以色列四世（公元前 782–772 年）似乎权力有限，亚达尼拉利的将领沙马什·伊卢（Šamši-ilu）便宣布是他战胜了乌拉图人。亚达尼拉利的次子（亚述·但，公元前 771–754 年）征服叙利亚的战争未能取得胜利，人们认为发生在公元前 763 年 6 月 15 日的日食就是战争失利的不祥征兆（这一天成为亚述纪年的一个参照时间）。国内的亚述、歌散和亚拉法爆发了瘟疫和叛乱。亚达尼拉利的三儿子，亚述·尼拉瑞（Aššur-nirari）五世（公元前 753–746 年）可能死于一场宫廷政变，直到他的弟弟提革拉·毗列色登上王位，亚

4. Tiglath-pileser III (745–727 B.C.) took immediate and vigorous action to strengthen the central royal authority by subdividing provinces, thereby giving them the same direct allegiance as the home districts had to the king in person. By reestablishing control over outlying regions he aimed at bringing conquered territories into a close-knit empire. He first marched to the Karûn River, reminding Nabû-naşir (Nabonassar) of Babylon and the Chaldean chiefs of his superior military power. Sacrifices were offered in their principal shrines. However, the growing might of a new Syro-Urartian coalition under Mati'-ilu of Arpad demanded his attention. Sardur III of Urartu was defeated at Samosata (Samsat) on the Euphrates, and Arpad was besieged for three years until it was finally incorporated as an Assyrian provincial capital in 741. Tiglath-pileser next campaigned against a south Syrian group whose revolt had been instigated by Azriyau of Yaudi, more likely to be identified with Azariah of Judah than with a king of the same name ruling at Ya'diya (Sam'al, modern Zenjirli). If so, it shows that Judah was strong before Azariah's death (2 K. 15:7). Judeans are named among prisoners settled at Ullabu (near Bitlis). This victory opened the way for Assyrian arms to reach Phoenicia and for north Syria to be counted as the Assyrian province of Unqi and Hatarikka (738). During the siege of Arpad, Raşunu (or Raḥianni, biblical Rezin) of Damascus and Menihimme (Menahem) of Samaria brought tribute. The 1,000 Israelite talents were calculated on the number of males of military age at the current Assyrian value of a slave (50 shekels.) This action was sufficient for Tiglath-pileser to confirm Menahem in power (2 K. 15:19f.).

4、提革拉·毗列色三世（公元前 745–727 年）立即采取有力的措施加强中央的集权，他细分了亚述的行省，因此这些行省向国内地区一样直接效忠于国王本人。他重新确立对边远地区的控制，意在让被征服的领土与亚述帝国建立紧密的联系。他首先进军至卡伦河，向巴比伦的那布·那西尔和迦勒底的首领展示他强大的军事实力。他们在主要的神龛中向这位王献上祭品。然而亚珥拔马提·伊卢（Mati'-ilu）率领的新的叙利亚和乌拉图联军势力逐渐增长，这引起了提革拉·毗列色三世的注意，乌拉图国王萨尔杜（Sardur）三世在幼发拉底河的摩撒他（萨姆萨特）被打败，亚珥拔被包围了三年，并最终于公元前 741 年归入亚述并成为行省的都城。提革拉·毗列色接着进攻叙利亚南部，犹太的阿兹里犹（Azriyau of Yaudi，有人认为很有可能是统治亚迪亚[Ya'diya，撒玛，今辛基尔里]的同名国王阿兹里犹，但更有可能是犹太的亚撒利雅）煽动当地人发动叛乱。如果真是亚撒利雅，那么也就证明犹太在亚撒利雅去世之前很强大（王下 15:7）。犹太人沦为囚犯被安置在乌拉布（Ullabu，位于比特利斯附近）。这次战争的胜利为亚述军队向腓尼基进发打通了道路，也为北叙利亚归入亚述安奇（Unqi）和哈塔瑞卡（Hatarikka）行省揭开了序幕（公元前 738 年）。在亚述围攻亚珥拔期间，大马士革的拉苏纳（Rasunu 或 Raḥianni，《圣经》中的利汛）和撒玛利亚的米拿现（Menihimme 或 Menahem）都向亚述纳贡。以色列给亚述一千他连得的银子，并以亚述一个奴隶的价值（五十客舍勒）换取一定数量的适于服役的壮丁。这一行为足以使提革拉·毗列色帮助米拿现坚定国位（王下 15:19-20）。

The Assyrian was now free to turn to the east, where a series of expeditions led to the subjugation of the Zamua (Zagros) region as a new province. Some detachments sent against the Medes penetrated as far as the desert of Teheran. An unsuccessful siege of Tušpa, Sardur's capital on Lake Van, implies further intrigues in the north.

In 734 Tiglath-pileser intervened again in Palestine, where Hiram of Tyre was allied with Rezin of Damascus. Tyre, Sidon, and neighboring Maḥalib (Ahlab of Jgs. 1:31) were laid under tribute. The latter, with Kashpuna, was included in a new province of Šimirra, and the whole area W of Damascus (Bīt-Ḥazael) to Samaria (Bīt-Humria) including Gilead was overrun. Ḥanunu (Ḥanno) of Gaza fled to Egypt as the Assyrian advanced to Naḥal-muṣur ("Wadi of Egypt"; RSV "Brook of Egypt") and set up a golden image of the king there and in Gaza itself. Idi-bi'li was made local governor to watch the Egyptian frontier. When the king of Ashkelon was killed, his successor with Sanipu of Amman, Quaš (Chemosh)-Malaku of Edom, Salamanu of Moab, and Jehoahaz of Judah (Yauḥaszi^{māt} Yaudaya) sent tribute. It may have been on this basis that Ahaz appealed for Assyrian aid against Rezin and Pekah of Israel. Despite his acceptance of vassal status (2 K. 16:7), Ahaz received little help and Judah was invaded, Jerusalem itself being besieged (2 K. 16:5f.; 2 Ch. 28:17). Two years later

一系列的远征行动最终使扎姆阿（扎格罗斯）地区成为了亚述的一个新行省，现在亚述人可以自由的从东方出入。亚述派遣的对抗玛代王国的部分军队一直攻打到德黑兰沙漠。亚述包围图斯帕（Tušpa，萨杜尔建在凡湖上的都城）的战役未获得成功，这表明北部的形势更为复杂。

公元前 734 年，提革拉·毗列色再次进攻巴勒斯坦，推罗王希兰与大马士革王利汛组成了抵抗联军。推罗、西顿和其邻邦马哈利伯（Maḥalib，《士师记》1:31 中的亚黑拉）都臣服于亚述。马哈利伯和喀什普那（Kashpuna）都被并入亚述的新行省洗米拉，大马士革西部的全部地区（Bīt-Ḥazael）和撒玛利亚（Bīt-Humria）包括基列都遭到了亚述的蹂躏。当亚述军队远征到埃及小河地区时（“埃及小河”；《修订标准译本》译作“Brook of Egypt”[“埃及小河”]），迦萨的哈努努（Ḥanunu 或 Ḥanno）逃往埃及，并在那里矗立了一座提革拉·毗列色的金像，在迦萨也有这样的金像。亚述王任命伊迪·比·利（Idi-bi'li）为地方总督，负责看守埃及的边境。当亚实基伦的国王被杀，继任亚实基伦王和安曼王的撒尼希、以东王卡斯（基抹）·马拉库、摩押王萨拉马努（Salamanu）和犹大王约哈斯（Yauḥaszi^{māt} Yaudaya）都向亚述纳贡。可能正是在这样的背景下，亚哈斯恳请亚述王帮助他对抗利汛和以色列的比加。虽然亚哈斯承认自己是亚述的仆人（王下 16:7），但是亚述对他的帮助却很小，犹大王国遭受入侵，耶路撒冷被围困（王下 16:5-6；代下 28:17）。两年之后，提

Tiglath-pileser captured Damascus (732), annexed part of Israel (2 K. 15:29), and, according to his annals, set up Hoshea (Ausi) as king there after the removal of Pekah (Paqaha) by assassination (2 K. 15:30).

Meanwhile in Babylonia disturbances followed the death of Nabû-našir (Nabonassar) in 734. An Aramean chief claimed the throne, and the Assyrian tried hard to persuade the Babylonians to rise against him, with promises of tax exemption. When this failed, Tiglath-pileser himself marched to defeat the usurper and lay the tribal lands waste. He took over personal rule in Babylon in 729, participating in the New Year Festival under his native name of Pul (u) (so 2 K. 15:19; 1 Ch. 5:26).

5. Shalmaneser V (727–722). The reign of Tiglath-pileser's son is obscure, since no annals survive. His actions have to be reconstructed from a broken Assyrian eponym list and references in the Babylonian Chronicle. The former states that he besieged Samaria for three years (see also 2 K. 18:9) in reprisal for Hoshea's failure to pay tribute (also 2 K. 17:3–6). The Babylonian Chronicle tells how Shalmaneser “broke [the resistance of] the city of Šamara'in [Samaria].” 2 K. 17:6 does not name the king of Assyria to whom Samaria fell; and though this might be Shalmaneser, it could equally well apply to his successor Sargon, who claimed to be the conqueror of Samaria in his accession year. He may have taken over the army on the premature death of his father, or there may have been joint participation in the siege (so the plural “they took it,” 2 K. 18:10). The matter must remain in debate, since Sargon makes no claim to be the conqueror of Samaria in his earlier annals from Asshur, Nineveh, and Calah. It is certain that when the citizens of Samaria refused to pay their tribute, encouraged by Yau-bi'di (Ilu-bi'di) of Hamath, Sargon marched against the city in 722/1 B.C. and claimed 27,270 (or 27,290) prisoners.

革拉·毗列色攻占了大马士革（公元前 732 年），并吞并了以色列的部分领土（王下 15:29），根据提革拉·毗列色年鉴中的描述，他暗杀了比加（Paqaha，王下 15:20），并立何细亚（Ausi）为以色列王。

与此同时，公元前 734 年，巴比伦王那布·那西尔死后，巴比伦陷入动荡局面。一位亚兰首领自立为王，亚述人竭力劝说巴比伦人起来反对他，并保证如果他们这样做，将会免除他们的赋税。但提革拉毗列色未能如愿，因此他便亲自率军打败了篡位者，使其土地沦为荒地。公元前 729 年，提革拉毗列色直接统治巴比伦，他以自己的本名普勒参加了新年的庆祝活动（见王下 15:19；代上 5:26）。

5、撒幔以色列五世（公元前 727–722 年）。提革拉·毗列色的儿子的执政情况不详，因为他的年鉴未能保留下来。人们不得不通过不完整的亚述同名者名单和巴比伦的编年史中提及的信息来还原他的历史活动。前文提到过，为报复何细阿不向亚述纳贡（另见王下 17:3–6），撒幔以色列包围了撒玛利亚三年之久（另见王下 18:9）。巴比伦的编年史中讲述了撒幔以色列如何“攻克了撒玛利亚城的抵抗行动”。《列王纪下》17:6 在描述撒玛利亚陷落时，并没有提及亚述王的名字；虽然这时的亚述王可能是撒幔以色列，但也有可能是其继任者撒珥根，因为他曾宣称自己在登基之年就攻克了撒玛利亚。他可能在其父亲早逝时接管了亚述的军队，或者他们一同包围了撒玛利亚（所以主语采用了复数形式，“他们攻取了撒玛利亚”，王下 18:10）。这一问题必然会一直存在争议，因为从亚述、尼尼微和迦拉的撒珥根早期的年鉴来看，他并没有在其中声称自己征服了撒玛利亚。毋庸置疑，当撒玛利亚人

6. Sargon II (722–705 B.C.). Sargon had to counter the increasing interference of Egypt in Palestinian affairs and of Elam in Babylonia. Both were the result of Assyrian expansion that had cut them off from trade with their neighbors. Whenever there were dissidents among these peoples they could now turn to these outside powers for help. But first Sargon had to settle disturbances among his own citizens, who had reacted against his father's heavy demands for men and taxes for military service.

In Babylonia Marduk-apla-iddina (see MERODACH-BALADAN) took the opportunity of these changes in Assyria to mount the throne in Babylon with the help of Humbanigaš I of Elam. In 720 Sargon's forces clashed with the rebels at Dēr and claimed a victory, though the Babylonian Chronicle marks it as an Elamite and Chaldean success. Marduk-apla-iddina certainly remained in control of the main Babylonian cities for the next ten years.

About this time Yau-bi'di (Ilu-bi'di) of Hamath, the sole remaining independent Syrian prince, attempted to meet the Assyrian in another battle at Qarqar. Despite Egyptian help sponsored by the exile Ḥanunu of Gaza, he was unsuccessful and Hamath was reduced to provincial status. Isaiah saw the lesson to

在哈马王伊犹比迪 (Yau-bi'di 或 Ilu-bi'di) 的怂恿下, 拒绝向亚述纳贡时, 亚述王撒珥根在公元前 722 或 721 年进军哈马, 并擒获了 27,270 (或 27,290) 名囚犯。

6、撒珥根二世 (公元前 722–705 年)。埃及越来越多地干预巴勒斯坦的事务, 以拦也不断地增加对巴比伦事务的干预, 撒珥根不得不应对这两种局面。这两种局面出现的原因是, 亚述的侵略扩张切断了上述两国与邻邦的贸易往来。每当这些民族出现反叛者时, 他们就会向外部势力寻求帮助。但是撒珥根必须首先解决国内的动乱局面, 国内民众对撒珥根的父亲施加的沉重压迫和兵役赋税表示不满。

巴比伦的玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳 (见 MERODACH-BALADAN [比罗达·巴拉但]) 抓住亚述局势变化的机会, 在以拦王汉巴尼革斯 (Humbanigaš) 一世的帮助下, 登上了巴比伦的王位。公元前 720 年, 撒珥根的军队与这支叛军在德珥 (Dēr) 争战, 并战胜了叛军, 虽然根据巴比伦编年史中的记载, 是以拦人和迦勒底人取得了战争的胜利。在接下来的 10 年间, 无疑玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳一直控制着巴比伦的主要城市。

约在这个时候, 叙利亚仅存独立君王, 哈马的伊犹比迪试图在卡尔卡的另一次战争中与亚述交战。虽然在流亡的迦萨王哈努努推动下, 埃及人对哈马给予了帮助, 但是伊犹·比·迪仍未获得战争胜利, 哈马也降低了地位, 成为了亚述的一个省。以赛亚指出了这次战争中得到的教训 (赛 10:5-6)。迦萨得到了 be drawn from this (Isa. 10:5f.). Gaza, aided by an Egyptian, So (perhaps Sib'e, a general, 2 K. 17:4), was involved in this rising. In a battle near Raphia (Rapihu) on the Egyptian border they were defeated, Hanunu was captured with 9,053 prisoners, and the Egyptian fled. Eight years later the Egyptian pharaoh (pi'ru)—probably Bocchoris—stirred up Ashdod. Once again the Assyrian won and “the rulers of Palestine, Judah, Edom, and Moab brought tribute and gifts for the god Ashur.” Though Judah (Yaudi) is named, this does not necessarily imply that Sargon entered their territory. Isaiah again interpreted the defeat of Ashdod by the Assyrian (Isa. 20:1–6). Even the Egyptian king (Šilhanni)—either Osorkon III or IV—sent tribute. It was certainly vain for Judah to look to Egypt for help, for that king simply handed over Yamani of Ashdod, who had fled to him for refuge to the Assyrians.

It was probably the Elamites who stirred up the Zagros hill-peoples. In 713 Sargon raided the region of Hamadân and Kermanshah and took booty from the Medes. Further north a revival of Urartian intrigue was reported to Sargon by his ever watchful local officials. Ursâ (Rusas I) continually harassed the Assyrian garrisons until in 714 Sargon directed his eighth campaign as a major offensive to capture Muşasir (where Ursâ committed suicide) and defeat the Manneans (the Minni of Jer. 51:27). The expedition is reported in detail both in the Annals and in a letter to the god, which was perhaps read at a victory parade at Asshur. In 717–712 Sargon kept the pressure on Carchemish (now another Assyrian province), Cilicia, and all the neo-Hittite states in the Taurus (Melid, Kummuh, and Tabal) which had been influenced by Ursâ and Mida (Midas) of Phrygia but now turned to him for help against the westward thrust of the Cimmerians (Assyr Gimirraya; Gomer of Ezk. 38:6).

可能是以拦人煽动了扎格罗斯山民的叛乱。公元前 713 年，撒珥根袭击了哈马丹和科曼莎地区，并从玛代虏获了战利品。警惕的地方长官向撒珥根报告，亚述更北面的乌拉尔人图谋造反。乌尔萨 (Ursâ, 鲁萨一世) 不断地袭扰亚述的要塞，直到公元前 714 年，撒珥根大举进攻，发动了第八次进攻战役，占领了穆萨西尔 (乌尔萨在该地自杀)，并打败了玛尼安人 (《耶利米书》51:27 中的“米尼”)。亚述年鉴和一封写给神明的信件都详述了这场战争，人们可能在亚述的一场胜利游行中宣读了这封信。公元前 717 年至 712 年，撒珥根持续向迦基米施 (现为亚述的一个行省)、基利家和托罗斯山上所有新赫人城邦 (米立德 [Melid]、库穆赫和塔巴尔) 施加压力，新赫人曾受到乌尔萨和弗吕家米达 (米达斯) 的影响，但现在他们希望撒珥根帮助他们阻止辛梅里安人 (亚述

It was now time for Sargon to try to bring Babylonia under his sway. He marched down the eastern bank of the Tigris, forcing the Chaldean tribes to retreat southward. In their wake the cities, tired of ten years of rule under tribesmen, opened their gates and welcomed the deliverers. Sargon, as “vice-regent of Babylon,” celebrated the New Year Festival, showing that this act of itself was no mark of kingship. Marduk-apla-iddina’s land of Bīt-Yakin was overrun after two years of hard struggle, but on Sargon’s withdrawal he was left in charge. Upēri of Dilmun (modern Bahrain) sent Sargon gifts.

Sargon himself lived at Calah until ca. 706, when he moved to a new capital Dūr-Šarrukin (Khorsabad) 15 mi. (25 km.) NE of Nineveh, on which he had spent eleven years labor. He did not enjoy it long, for in the next year he was killed at war in Tabal (see also SARGON).

7. Sennacherib (705–681 B.C.). While crown-prince, Sennacherib had served his father as a military advisor on the northern frontier. This knowledge served him well, for he was to enjoy calm there and to the east. This enabled him to concentrate on other fields, except for brief displays of strength in Zagros, Cilicia, and Tabal. His work on the restoration of Nineveh was soon interrupted by the need to go to Babylonia, where Marduk-apla-iddina, 语: Gimirraya, 《以西结书》38:6 中的“歌篋”)向西的扩张。

撒珥根此时试图让巴比伦归顺他的统治。他率军行至底格里斯河东岸,迫使迦勒底的部落向南撤退。撒珥根所经之处的城邑经历了这些部落长达十年的统治,城中的百姓早就倍感厌烦,于是他们打开城门欢迎拯救者的到来。撒珥根以“巴比伦副摄政”的身份参加了新年的庆祝活动,这表明此时他还不是巴比伦的君王。玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳的比特雅金领地在两年艰苦斗争后,还是遭到侵略,但是当撒珥根撤军时,他让玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳依旧管辖该地。狄勒蒙(今巴林)的尤普瑞(Upēri)为撒珥根送来了礼物。

撒珥根一直住在迦拉,直到约公元前706年,他搬到尼尼微东北15英里(25公里)处的新都杜尔舍鲁金(霍尔萨巴德),他历时11年建造了这座新都城。但他在这里的生活时间不长,因为次年他就在塔巴尔战役中战死(另见SARGON[撒珥根])。

7、西拿基立(公元前705–681年)。西拿基立作王储时在北部边境担任其父的军事参谋。他对该地区的了解使他受益匪浅,他继承王位后,北部边境到东部边境都相对太平。这不但保证了他可以在扎格罗斯、基利家和塔巴尔短暂地展示亚述的军事实力,还使他有精力专注于其他领域。他修复了尼尼微城,但是这项工作很快被迫中断,因为他需要赶往巴比伦,巴比伦的玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳自公元前710年开始一直忠实于撒珥根,但此时却再次自立为王。

faithful to Sargon since 710, now made another bid for the kingship. He had the support of the Arameans, Elamites, and Arabs, and had made overtures for support to Hezekiah (Isa. 39; 2 K. 20:12–19). Marduk-apla-iddina, following the disappearance of a little-known Marduk-zākir-šumi II, held the throne with the title “King of Babylon” until defeated with his allies by Sennacherib near Kish in 703 B.C. (J. A. Brinkman, in Studies Presented to A. L. Oppenheim [1964], p. 24). Sennacherib plundered Babylon, deported 208,000 prisoners to Nineveh, and set up a young friend Bēl-ibni as ruler. He had to move into the southern marshes to follow up Marduk-apla-iddina, who had reappeared in Bīt-Yakin. The latter was this time driven to flee to Elam. An expedition was mounted with ships built at Nineveh, carried overland from Opis on the Tigris, and manned by Phoenicians. It embarked with troops at Bab-Salimeti; but it was too late, for by then the wily old Chaldean had died in exile (694). The Elamites invaded Babylonia, captured Sippar, and removed the pro-Assyrian Aššur-nadin-šumi from the throne in Babylon. For seven years the struggle continued until the Babylonians, again with Elamite auxiliaries, met the Assyrian army at Ḫalule. Though the Arameans and their allies were defeated, Assyrian casualties were heavy. Angered, Sennacherib laid siege to the Chaldeans within the sacred city of Babylon for nine months before he sacked it. The statue of the god Marduk was carried off to Assyria. Sennacherib took the ancient title “King of Sumer and Akkad” and resistance ceased.

他得到了亚兰人、以拦人和阿拉伯人的帮助，并向希西家寻求帮助（赛 39；王下 20:12–19）。一个名为马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米二世的鲜为人知的巴比伦王失踪之后，玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳得到了王位，自封为“巴比伦王”，直到公元前 703 年，西拿基立在基什附近打败了他的同盟军（J. A. Brinkman, in Studies Presented to A. L. Oppenheim [1964], 24 页）。西拿基立洗劫了巴比伦，将 208,000 名囚犯放逐到尼尼微，并让他的一位年轻的朋友贝尔·伊比尼（Bēl-ibni）担任巴比伦的统治者。西拿基立继续向南部的沼泽地进发，追赶再次出现在比特雅金的马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米。马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米此时被迫逃往以拦。这支配有尼尼微建造的船只和腓尼基士兵的远征军由欧皮斯长途跋涉至底格里斯河沿岸。在巴伯撒利莫提（Bab-Salimeti）登上战船；但这为时已晚，因为此时这位狡猾的迦勒底老人已经在流亡中死去（公元前 694 年）。以拦人入侵巴比伦，占领了西巴尔，并罢黜了支持亚述人的巴比伦王亚述·纳丁·舒米（Aššur-nadin-šumi）。这次争战持续了七年，直到后来巴比伦人和以拦的雇佣军在哈路勒与亚述决战。虽然亚兰人和他们的同盟军被打败，但是亚述也遭受了重创。恼怒的西拿基立包围了迦勒底人，将他们围困在巴比伦的圣城内九个月，之后洗劫了这座城市。巴比伦的马杜克神像被运往亚述。西拿基立沿用了古代的头衔，称自己为“苏美尔和阿卡德国王”，反抗斗争停止了。 out. Sennacherib marched in 701 to the Phoenician coast and reimposed control and taxation on Little Sidon, Šariptu (Zarephath), Maḥalib (Mahalab, Ahlab), Ušk, and Akku (Acco). Luli of Sidon fled and was replaced by Tuba'lu (Ethba'al, 1 K. 16:31). Tyre was bypassed but the rulers of Arvad, Byblos, Beth-Ammon, Moab, and Edom submitted. Since Ashkelon and the neighboring towns of Beth-Dagon and Joppa resisted, they were sacked. The Assyrian claimed the defeat of the Egyptian army at Eltekeh and the slaughter of the elders of Ekron. At this time they ravaged Judah, taking forty-six towns and villages with 200,150 captives and thus isolating Hezekiah in Jerusalem. The Judean capital may well have been left under blockade while the Assyrians protected their flank against a possible Egyptian capture of Lachish. From there Sennacherib sent to Hezekiah demanding the release of Padi, the pro-Assyrian ruler of Ekron. Hezekiah appears to have paid some tribute (2 K. 18:13–16; Isa. 36:1; 2 Ch. 32:9; Assyrian Taylor prism dated 691 B.C.). Padi was freed and Hezekiah “besieged in his capital city of Jerusalem like a bird in a cage” (Sennacherib prism), though the Assyrians soon raised the siege (cf. 2 K. 19:32–34). The reason given for this is “the angel of the Lord” (v. 35) or, by Herodotus (ii. 141), a plague of mice devouring the Assyrian bow-strings and shield-straps, interpreted usually as descriptive of a plague. The Assyrian annals are noticeably silent as to the cause for their withdrawal, which might also have been precipitated by the troubles in Babylonia.

西拿基立率军抵达了腓尼基海岸，亚述再次控制了小西顿、撒瑞普图 (Šariptu, 《圣经》中译为 Zarephath, “撒勒法”)、马哈利伯 (《圣经》中译为 Mahalab, “亚黑拉”)、乌斯克 (Ušk) 和亚柯 (《圣经》中译为 Acco, “亚革悉”)，并对上述地区重新征收赋税。西顿王卢利 (Luli) 逃跑，图巴鲁 (Tuba'lu, “谒巴力”，王上 16:31) 取代他作了西顿王。亚述军队未经过推罗，但是亚发、比布鲁斯、伯亚扪、摩押和以东的统治者纷纷臣服于西拿基立。因为亚实基伦及其附近的伯大衮和约帕均抵抗亚述军，所以这些城市遭到了亚述的洗劫。亚述人宣称他们在伊利提基打败了埃及军队，杀死了以革伦的长老。就在这一时期，亚述人劫掠了犹太，占领 46 座城邑和村庄，俘获了 200,150 人，因而孤立了耶路撒冷的希西家。这座犹太人的都城很可能依然被封锁，然而亚述人防守着他们的侧翼，阻止埃及人占领拉吉。西拿基立在该地给希西家写信，要求他释放亚述支持者以革伦王帕蒂 (Padi)。希西家似乎向亚述了交纳了一些贡品 (王下 18:13–16; 赛 36:1; 代下 32:9; 亚述泰勒棱柱上所标注的日期是公元前 691 年)。帕蒂被释放，希西家“被困在他的都城耶路撒冷，就像笼中之鸟一样” (西拿基立六棱柱上的文字)，但亚述很快停止围攻耶路撒冷 (参：王下 19:32–34)。亚述之所以停止对耶路撒冷的包围，可能是因为“耶和华使者”的作为 (王下 19:35)，或者如希罗多德所说 (ii. 141)，一支支密密麻麻的田鼠大军，涌向亚述人的军营。敌人的箭袋和弓被咬得稀烂，盾牌的把手也被嚼得粉碎，这通常被描述为是一场鼠疫。亚述的年鉴显然选择不去记述亚述撤军的原因，这次撤军也有可能是因为巴比伦的动乱。

许多学者认为关于“埃塞俄比亚国王特哈加 (阿卡德语: Tarḫû)” (王下 19:9;

Tarqû] King of Ethiopia” (2 K. 19:9; Isa. 37:9) is considered by many scholars to be an anachronism, since his regnal dates were taken to be ca. 690–664 B.C. They thus postulate a second Assyrian campaign in Palestine ca. 688 B.C. This is not attested by any extant source and it is preferable to envisage a single campaign in 701. Some Egyptologists assume an earlier co-regency for Tirhakah since there is no certain evidence for his precise regnal years in Cush. The two-campaign theory is sometimes supported by the presumption that Sennacherib’s death followed immediately, or soon, after his return from Palestine (2 K. 19:36; Isa. 27:13). The time between the events recorded in 2 K. 19:36 and v. 37 is of unspecified duration.

赛 37:9) 派遣埃及军队与亚述军争战的描述存在年代错误, 因为特哈加的在位时间约在公元前 690 年至 664 年之间。因此, 他们假定亚述第二次征服巴勒斯坦大约发生在公元前 688 年。任何现存的证据都不能证明这一点, 更为合理的解释是, 亚述只在公元前 701 年进攻过巴勒斯坦一次。一些埃及学者认为特哈加执政早期为联合执政, 因为没有任何确凿的证据能证明古实王特哈加的准确执政时间。据推测, 西拿基立从巴勒斯坦回来后, 或回来后不久便死去了 (王下 19:36; 赛 27:13), 人们有时认为这种推测证明了西拿基立两次争战巴勒斯坦的说法。《列王纪下》19:36-37 中没有详细给出西拿基立拔营至其被杀之间的时间间隔。

sons in the temple of Nisroch (Ninurta'). He died on 20th Tebītu (January, 681 B.C.) and was succeeded by his youngest son Esarhaddon.

8. Esarhaddon (681–669 B.C.). Sennacherib's death plunged Assyria into a dynastic crisis. Esarhaddon had earlier taken refuge in Cilicia or Tabal to escape his brothers while they fought for the throne. His supporters called for his return to Nineveh, where he was crowned in 681. He immediately restored Babylon, which his gods had earlier decreed should lie in ruins for 70 years. This involved a reversal of destiny (whereby the Babylonian numeral for 60 + 10 became 10 + 1 years). The work, which was not completed till 669, won over the Babylonians. They repulsed an Elamite attack in 675 and helped Assyria against the son of Marduk-apla-iddina, who attempted to recapture Ur, and against the Bīt-Dak-kuri tribe, which siezed land near Babylon. Their chief was replaced by a pro-Assyrian.

The major pressures against Assyria proper came from the nomadic Scythians (Assyr. Iškuzai), who drove through Tabal and Cilicia towards Šupria. At first Esarhaddon warred successfully against Teušpa and his hordes, diverting them against the Phrygians. An Assyrian princess may have been given in marriage to the Scythian Bartatua, but by the end of the reign Assyria had lost Ҳilakku (Cilicia) and Tabal and had made little headway in the east, where the Mannaeans were largely independent despite many punitive raids. Some Median chiefs were made vassals and the central Zagros and Gambulū tribes quieted to form a buffer between Assyria and Elam, where on the death of Humba-Ḫaldaš II a pro-Assyrian, Urtaki, ascended the throne (675).

8、以撒哈顿 (公元前 681–669 年)。西拿基立的死亡使亚述陷入了王朝危机之中。当以撒哈顿的哥哥们争夺王位时, 他曾逃到基利家和塔巴尔, 躲避他们的追杀。以撒哈顿的支持者要求他回到尼尼微, 他于公元前 681 年在尼尼微登基为王。他登基后立即修复了巴比伦, 而根据他所信奉的神明命定的, 巴比伦要荒废 70 年。70 中包含着命运的逆转 (因为在巴比伦数字中, 60 + 10 就所对应的数字构成颠倒过来变成了 10 + 1 年)。这项修复工程直到公元前 669 年才最终完成, 以撒哈顿借此赢得了巴比伦人的支持。公元前 675 年, 巴比伦人击退了以拦人的入侵, 并帮助亚述反对玛尔杜克·阿仆拉·依狄纳的儿子, 因他曾试图再次占领吾珥。他们还对抗占领巴比伦附近土地的比特达库里 [Bīt-Dak-kuri] 部落)。该部落巴比伦的首领被支持亚述的人取代。

Phoenicia was quelled by strong reprisal action against rebels in Sidon. The king Abdi-Milkuti was executed (677), the city sacked, and its land given to Tyre. The border garrison near Egypt at Arzani had been reinforced in 679, and three years later Esarhaddon quelled the Arabs in a series of raids.

In public ceremonies in May, 672, Esarhaddon, mindful of the trouble at his own accession, appointed Aššur-bāni-apli (Ashurbanipal) as crown-prince of Assyria and Šamaš-šum-ukīn, his twin or a brother of equal status by a different mother, as crown-prince of Babylonia. The vassal-rulers present were given an oral and written confirmatory treaty listing the conditions they had to fulfil to maintain this arrangement, on pain of curse for default. As well as the eastern vassals, rulers of Syria and the west whom Esarhaddon names in his annals must have been present. These included Manasseh (Menasī) of Judah (cf. 2 Ch. 36:11), Ba'lu of Tyre, Quaš-gabri of Edom, Musuri of Moab, Šilli-Bēl of Gaza, Metinti of Ashkelon, Ikausu of Ekron, Pudu-il of Beth-Ammon, Aḫimilki of Ashdod, and the rulers of Cyprus and the Greek islands. A list of payments from Palestine about this time tells of gold sent from Beth-Ammon and Moab, silver from Edom, and “ten minas of silver from the people of Judah.”

The way was thus open by the spring of 671 for Esarhaddon's ambitious project: the subjugation of Egypt. Avoiding

死后，乌尔塔克 (Urtaki) 于公元前 675 年在该地接续了王位。

亚述人采取军事行动狠狠地打击了西顿的反叛者，使得腓尼基的叛乱得到平息。腓尼基国王阿伯迪·米库提 (Abdi-Milkuti) 于公元前 677 年被处死，这座城市也遭洗劫，西顿的土地被分给了推罗。以撒哈顿于公元前 679 年向埃及附近 (阿扎尼) 的边境驻军增派兵力，三年之后，他通过一系列的袭击行动镇压了阿拉伯人。

以撒哈顿意识到自己登基后的动乱局面，于是在公元前 672 年 5 月，他在一个公众仪式上指定亚述巴尼帕作亚述的王储，而亚述巴尼帕的双胞胎兄弟或者者同父异母的兄弟沙马舒姆金为巴比伦的王储。以撒哈顿以口头和书面的形式与当时的诸侯王达成了协定，明确了双方为遵守该协定所应履行的职责，并规定了违约的一方将受到残酷的诅咒。出席该仪式的人除了东部的诸侯以外，必然还包括以撒哈顿的年鉴中提到的叙利亚的统治者和西方的诸侯王。这些诸侯王包括犹太的玛拿西 (Menasī, 参：代下 36:11)、推罗的巴鲁 (Ba'lu)、以东的卡斯加布里 (Quaš-gabri)、摩押伦的穆苏里 (Musuri)、迦萨的西里贝勒 (Šilli-Bēl)、亚实基伦的莫丁尼 (Metinti)、以革伦的伊考苏 (Ikausu)、伯亚扪的普杜伊勒 (Pudu-il)、亚实突的阿赫米克 (Aḫimilki)，以及基提和希腊岛屿上的统治者。对这一时期巴勒斯坦地区进贡情况的记载列举了伯亚扪和摩押送来的金子、以东送来的银子和“犹太子民送来的 10 迈纳的银子”。

这也就为公元前 671 年春天，以撒哈顿实施他征服埃及的宏伟计划开辟了道路。亚述军队避开了正在发生叛乱的推

rebellious Tyre, which was contained by a siege force, the Assyrian army marched via Raphia (S of Gaza) across the Sinai desert to Memphis. Despite the defense by Tarqū (Taharqa), Memphis fell and the Ethiopians were deported, leaving local native princes (among them Neco of Sais) to be appointed as governors, officers, harbor overseers, and other officials under the surveillance of Assyrians.

Tribute and taxes were imposed and some statuary and other Egyptian treasures removed before the army withdrew to Nineveh. Soon Taharqa reappeared, stirred the native princes to declare their independence of Assyria, and retook Memphis. Esarhaddon was on his way to remedy this when he died at Harran in December, 669 B.C., and was succeeded by his sons as planned.

9. Ashurbanipal (669-ca. 627 B.C.) had already held responsibility at court and in state building projects as well as in the appointment of governors and prefects. His assumption of the royal powers was vigorous and complete. Before he could take over the punitive expedition against the Egyptian rebels he settled the Tyrian confrontation with a treaty whereby the king became his vassal again, led an expedition into the eastern hills, and installed his brother on the Babylonian throne. In 667 B.C., backed by contingents from the twenty-two vassals in Syria, Phoenicia, Palestine, and Cyprus, the Assyrian marched into Egypt and defeated Taharqa, who again withdrew from Memphis. Egypt was again in Assyrian hands. The twenty native kings, governors, and regents who had left their office under Taharqa's threats were now reinstated. Those who connived with Taharqa in his exile were removed to Nineveh. Yet Ashurbanipal followed his father's policy, choosing among others Neco I of Sais as an important local ruler. Taharqa's successor and son-in-law Ta-net-Amon (Tandamane) made a further bid to retake the Delta in 664. Memphis was retaken by the Assyrians and Thebes was sacked (Nah. 3:8). Psamtik I was appointed to succeed Neco who died in 663. A few years later, with the backing of Greek mercenaries and troops from Lydia, he forced the Assyrian garrisons to withdraw to Ashdod.

埃及向亚述纳贡，并缴纳了赋税，许多埃及的雕塑和其他的珍宝在亚述撤军时也一同被运到了尼尼微。不久之后，法老塔哈卡重新现身，他煽动埃及的国内的诸侯摆脱亚述的统治，并且重新夺回了孟斐斯。以撒哈顿赶赴埃及欲扭转局势，但公元前 669 年 12 月他在行军途中死在了哈尔兰，按照他事先的安排，他的儿子继承了王位。

9、亚述巴尼帕（公元前 669 至约公元前 627 年）早已开始管理朝中事务，他在国内进行工程建设，并负责任命总督和地方长官。他完全掌握了王权，而且励精图治。亚述巴尼帕在率军远征埃及和惩治叛军之前，他与推罗人签订了和约，结束了双方对峙的局面，推罗王再次成为了亚述的诸侯王，他还率军抵达东部山区，扶持他的兄弟登上巴比伦王位。公元前 667 年，亚述人在叙利亚、腓尼基、巴勒斯坦、基提等 22 个诸侯分遣队的协助下，向埃及发起了进攻，并打败了法老塔哈卡，塔哈卡再次从孟斐斯撤军。亚述再次征服了埃及。20 个迫于塔哈卡威胁而放弃职权的藩王、总督和摄政王此时都恢复了职位。在塔哈卡逃亡途中与其共同谋反的人都被押解到了尼尼微。但是，亚述巴尼帕依然奉行其父的政策，在众人之中选择委任塞斯的尼哥一世为重要的地方统治者。塔哈卡的继任者和女婿塔奈特亚扪（Ta-net-Amon 或 Tandamane）再次发

These upheavals in Egypt encouraged Ba'lu of Tyre and Yakinlu of Arvad to make bids for independence, but these failed after sieges (665). A campaign against the Manneans and an alliance with Madyes the Scythian helped to relieve the pressure of the Cimmerians on the Assyrian border tribes. Nonetheless, when Gyges of Lydia asked for assistance against these Cimmerians he was refused because of his support for Egypt.

In the south Ashurbanipal fought against Urtaki of Elam, who had invaded Babylonia. Assyria had long had some direct control in that area (e.g., Nippur) and had worked in harmony with Urtaki's brother for sixteen years before the Elamites fomented trouble. Tept-Humban, the Elamite usurper of Urtaki, was killed, and Ashurbanipal supported the claims of Humbanigaš II and Tammaritu, sons of Urtaki who had earlier taken refuge in Nineveh. They were given separate regions to govern within the reconquered Elamite borderlands. Ashurbanipal may have directed this action in part to assist his own brother in Babylon. The citizens of Babylonia sent a deputation professing loyalty, while the Gambulū tribe E of the Tigris was punished for its part in the Elamite troubles.

起反击，于公元前 664 年夺回了尼罗河三角洲。亚述人重新夺回了孟斐斯，并洗劫了底比斯（鸿 3:8）。尼哥于公元前 663 年去世，普萨姆提克一世接续了他的职位。数年之后，在希腊雇佣兵和吕底亚军队的支援下，塔奈特亚迫使亚述卫戍部队撤退到亚实突。

亚述巴尼帕在南面与曾入侵巴比伦的以拦王乌尔塔克（Urtaki）争战。长期以来，亚述一直直接控制着巴比伦的部分地区（如，尼普尔），在以拦人煽动动乱之前，亚述人与乌尔塔克的兄弟和平相处了 16 年。泰普特·汉班（Tept-Humban）篡夺了以拦王乌尔塔克的王位，而他也被亚述王杀死，亚述巴尼帕支持乌尔塔克的两个儿子汉巴尼革斯（Humbanigaš）二世和塔马瑞图（Tammaritu）在以拦掌权，这两人之前曾在尼尼微避难。亚述巴尼帕重新夺回以拦的边境地区，他将其中的地区分封给二人管理。亚述巴尼帕采取这一行动的部分原因是支援他在巴比伦的兄弟。巴比伦的市民派遣了一支代表团，

Šamaš-šum-ukīn seems to have succumbed to the local spirit of nationalism and independence, perhaps interpreting Ashurbanipal's action as weakness. He seems to have plotted with Elam, Egypt, Phoenicia, and Judah, as well as with the local Arab and Chaldaean tribes to move against Assyria. Ashurbanipal appealed for loyalty and only when this was refused began war with Babylonia, a war that was to continue for three years. Elam, divided in its internal politics, was of no assistance, and famine led the Arabs within Babylonia to desert. Seeing the hopelessness of further resistance, Šamaš-šum-ukīn committed suicide in the conflagration which swept his palace (648). A Chaldean, Kandalanu, was appointed as vice-regent of Babylonia.

Ashurbanipal followed up the fall of Babylonia with action against the Arabs, especially the Qedar (Kedar) and Nabatean tribes. The booty taken was so plentiful that the current market price for a camel fell to one silver shekel in Nineveh. War against Elam dragged on until Susa was sacked in 639 B.C., the year in which Ashurbanipal celebrated a triumph in Nineveh. The last years of his life are obscure, due to a lack of direct historical sources after 639 B.C. He may have associated his sons Aššur-etil-ilāni and Sin-šar-iškun as governors and later as co-regents. Under these rulers Assyria lost territory. According to Herodotus, Phraortes the Mede made an attack on the

沙马舒姆金似乎不再满足于各属地的民族自治和独立，大概许认为亚述巴尼帕的治理方式是软弱的表现。于是他与以拦、埃及、腓尼基、犹太，以及巴比伦的阿拉伯人和迦勒底部落共谋反对亚述。亚述巴尼帕要求沙马舒姆金对亚述忠诚，但当这一要求被拒绝后，他宣布与巴比伦开争，这场战争持续了三年。以拦因国内政治分裂，无法向巴比伦提供援助，巴比伦境内的阿拉伯人也因饥荒从战场中逃跑。沙马舒姆金意识到自己无望继续抵抗，自焚而死，这场大火也烧毁了她的宫殿（公元前 648 年）。迦勒底人坎达拉努被任命为巴比伦的副摄政。

亚述巴尼帕攻陷巴比伦之后，继续进攻阿拉伯人，尤其是基达(Qedar 或 Kedar)和纳巴泰部落。他带回了大量的战利品，以致当时在尼尼微一头骆驼的市价降到了 1 舍客勒银子。亚述与以拦的战争持续了多年，直到公元前 639 年亚述人劫掠了书珊时才结束，同年，亚述巴尼帕在尼尼微举行了庆祝活动。人们对亚述巴尼帕最后几年的生活不太清楚，因为人们缺乏公元前 639 年之后与这位亚述王直接相关的历史资料。他可能曾任命他的儿子亚述·埃提尔·伊兰尼和辛·沙里·施昆为总督，后来让他们共同摄政。但在他们统治亚述期间，亚述丧失了领土。根据希罗多德的记载，玛代王弗拉欧尔特斯曾进攻亚述。显然，到公元前 626 年，迦勒底人那波帕拉萨

Assyrians. Certainly by 626 B.C. the Chaldean Nabū-apla-usur (Nabopolassar) had won independence for Babylon and was recognised as king there; by 617 the Assyrian garrison had withdrawn. Assyrian affairs in the south seem to have been the responsibility of Sin-šar-iškun, who commanded the army against Babylon. Aššur-etil-ilāni (627–623 B.C.) may have been coregent in Assyria proper, succeeded briefly by Sin-šum-lišir before the last king of Assyria ruling at Ninveh, Sin-šar-iškun, held sole sway (627–612).

F. The Fall of Nineveh. In 616 Assyria began to lose further territory to Nabopolassar, who defeated them at Qablinu and took over the middle Euphrates and raided the Balikh. A Babylonian raid against Madanu (near Kirkūk) was repulsed. In 615 Asshur was raided and the Medes overran the Arrapha province; in the following year they moved against Tarbišu in alliance with the Babylonians and against Nineveh. The siege may have been raised by some sort of Scythian intervention. Nabopolassar suppressed a rebellion in the middle Euphrates by the Suḥu tribe but withdrew from ‘Anah when the Assyrian army approached. In 614 Asshur fell, and by 612 the Medes and Babylonians marched up the Tigris to Nineveh. They laid siege to the city for the months Simānu-Abu (ca. June–Aug., 612), making only slight progress. The final breach seems to have been the result of flooding (Nah. 1:8; Xenophon Anabasis iii.4.7–12; Diodorus ii.27.1). Sin-šar-iškun (classical Sardanapalus) threw himself into the flames. Some escaping Assyrians were followed as far as Nisibin by the Babylonians, while

F. 尼尼微陷落。公元前 616 年，亚述开始在与那波帕拉萨尔的争战中丧失更多的领土，那波帕拉萨尔在卡布里努（Qablinu）击败了亚述军，占领幼发拉底河中游，突袭了拜利赫。巴比伦人对马达努（Madanu，基尔库克附近）的突袭被亚述人击退。公元前 615 年亚述城被袭，玛代人践踏了亚拉法行省；次年，他们与巴比伦结盟，联合攻打塔比苏（Tarbišu）和尼尼微。一些西塞亚人加入同盟后，他们发起了围攻。那波帕拉萨尔镇压了苏胡（Suḥu）部落在幼发拉底河中游发动的叛乱，但是当亚述军将要抵达亚那（‘Anah）时，他撤出了那里。公元前 614 年，都城亚述陷落，至公元前 612 年，玛代人和巴比伦人已经越过了底格里斯河，抵达了尼尼微。从西马努月至阿布月（约从六月至八月，公元前 612 年）他们一直包围着尼尼微城，但是收获甚微，最终洪水打开了城的缺口（鸿 1:8；Xenophon Anabasis iii.4.7–12；Diodorus ii.27.1）。辛·沙里·施昆（古希腊语中：Sardanapalus）自焚。巴比伦人追赶部分逃跑的亚述人，一直追到了尼斯宾（Nisibin），而基亚克萨雷斯（弗拉欧尔特斯之子）和玛代人带着他们的战利品撤军了。

Cyaxares (son of Phraortes) and the Medes withdrew with their loot.

The Assyrian supporters under Aššur-uballiṭ II raised the banners of an independent Assyria at Ḥarran. In 609 B.C. the Babylonians and the Umman-manda peoples forced him and his Egyptian allies to withdraw W of the Euphrates. The Egyptian army under Neco II which marched to support these Assyrian remnants was too late. Josiah's fatal intervention at Megiddo marked his own siding with the enemies of Assyria (2 K. 23:29f.). Assyria as a political unit now ceased to exist. From this point on it formed part of the Persian, Seleucid, and Parthian empires. But the name (Pers. Athura) continued as a designation of Assyria's former homelands (Ezk. 16:28; 23:5-23).

IV. Exploration and Excavation.-Early travelers reported the site of biblical Nineveh opposite Mosul. C. J. Rich was the first to examine its ruins (Kuyunjik and Nebi Yûnus) in 1820. The Frenchman P. E. Botta excavated there briefly (1842) before working at Dūr-Šarrukin (Khorsabad) 15 mi. (25 km.) NE, thinking the latter to be Nineveh. A. H. Layard worked at both Nineveh and Nimrûd (Calah) 22 mi. (35 km.) S in 1845-1851. His work was continued by H. Rassam (1851-1854), W. K. Loftus (1854/55), British Museum expeditions (1927-1931), and recently the Iraqi Department of Antiquities (1957, 1967-). The British School of Archaeology continued work at Nimrûd (1949-1963), finding a remarkable series of ivories and tablets in the palaces and arsenal. Further work has been done there by the Iraqis and Poles (1967-).

IV. 探究和发掘。早期的旅行者称圣经城市尼尼微与摩苏尔隔河相望。里奇（C. J. Rich）于 1820 年首先探究了这些废墟（库云吉克废丘和先知约拿墓地）。法国人博塔在尼尼微开展了短暂的挖掘工作，随后又挖掘了位于其东北方向 15 英里（25 公里）处的杜尔舍鲁金（霍尔萨巴德）遗址，并将该遗址误以为尼尼微遗址。莱亚德于 1845 年至 1851 年对尼尼微和其南面 22 英里（35 公里）的尼姆鲁德（迦拉）遗址进行了发掘。拉森（1851-1854）、洛夫特斯（1854/55）、大英博物馆的科考队（1927-1931）和伊拉克文物部近期的考古发掘（1957， 1967-）接续了莱亚德的考古发掘工作。英国考古协会继续对尼姆鲁德进行了考古发掘（1949-1963），并在宫殿和武库中发现了大量的象牙和石碑。伊拉克人和波兰人在该地进行深入的考古探究（1967-）。从该地清理出的史前遗址包括亚帕其亚城遗址、哈苏纳遗址和萨塔特（Thalthat）

Prehistoric sites cleared include Arpachiyah, Hassuna, and Thalthat. The Deutsche Orientgesellschaft excavated Asshur (Qal'ât Sherqât) in 1903–1904. Other sites dug include Imgur-Bêl (Balawat, 1956–1957); Shibaniba (Tell Billa, 1846, 1930–1931), Karanā (Tell ar Rimah, 1964–1971), and Tell Taya (1968–). (See also ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA.)

V. Texts.-A. Libraries. Babylonian literature was much used and influential in Assyria. Because of the importance of tradition, kings used to accumulate collections of texts in their palace libraries for use by specialists. In this way Tiglath-pileser I and his successors at Asshur and Sargon II and his family at Calah amassed libraries, part of which were transferred to Nineveh by Ashurbanipal. The latter also sent scribes to Babylon to copy texts not already in his hands. Of the approximately eighteen thousand tablets and fragments (perhaps representing more than five thousand individual works), the majority are reference works used by scribes in divination and related “sciences.” Catalogues (especially of myths, epics, tables, and incantations) were kept, and some texts have labels or the royal library colophon added or bear library notes in Aramaic. The whole range of classical Babylonian literature is represented, as well as some texts only known from Assyrian copies (“The Poor Man of Nippur”) or versions. The extant texts probably represent only a part of the original collection of tablets, papyri, writing-boards, and other documents.

B. Rituals. Some cultic rituals known only from Assyrian relate to operations

遗址。德国东方协会于 1903 至 1904 年间对亚述城（谢夸特堡）展开了挖掘。挖掘的其他遗址包括伊姆古尔-贝尔（巴拉瓦特，1956–1957）、希巴尼巴遗址（特尔比拉，1846，1930–1931）、卡拉那（阿勒利马，1964–1971）和提尔塔亚（1968–）。（另见 ARCHEOLOGY OF MESOPOTAMIA[美索不达米亚考古]）。

V. 文献。A. 图书馆。在亚述，巴比伦文献运用广泛且影响巨大。因为亚述人非常重视传统，亚述王过去经常在他们的宫殿图书馆中储藏大量供专家们使用的文献。这样一来，提革拉毗列色一世和他的王位继承人在亚述城，撒珥根二世和其家族在迦拉积累了大量的图书，其中的一部分图书后来被亚述巴尼帕送至尼尼微。亚述巴尼帕还派遣书记官前往巴比伦，命他们誊写他手头上没有的文献。遗留下来的约 18,000 份碑文和残本（可能代表了 5000 多部作品），其中的绝大多数文献是书记官占卜或“科学”应用的参考资料。亚述人还编纂了文献目录（尤其是为神话、史诗、铜表和咒语编写了目录），他们还在一些文献上贴上了标签，或在皇家图书馆的书籍中插入了末页，亦或用亚兰语为这些图书做了注释。所有的巴比伦古典文学都被呈现出来，有些文献只能看到它们的亚述语抄本（如作品“The Poor Man of Nippur”）或亚述语译本。现存的文献可能只是所有碑文、莎草纸文献、书写板文献和其他文献原版中的一部分。 requiring the royal person and his purification in a ritual bath (bīt rimki) and cleansing (bīt mesēri) or sprinkling with water (sola' me). The appropriate actions, prayers, and incantations to be recited in each room of the palace are given. The rites for the manufacture, consecration, and induction of divine statues, whose mouths were “opened” to give them existence, are followed by rules for their feeding (tākultu) and service. Details of the cult at Asshur imply that the main New Year Festival (akītu) differed in time and style from that at Babylon.

B. 宗教仪式。某些宗教仪式仅在亚述人中流传，如，需要皇室成员参加的宗

C. Letters. Apart from the libraries' literary texts, a large number of letters have survived both from the early Assyrian period of Šamši-Adad I and from the last ruling Sargonid dynasty. Some are royal correspondence or palace edicts, but most are administrative documents which give valuable insights into personal histories. More than three hundred reports from the astrologers advise the king of the implications of astronomical or other omens thought to affect affairs of state. Among these are warnings (e.g., of a solar eclipse) that the royal person was endangered. In this event a substitute king (šar pūhi) was appointed for a hundred days while the king remained in his palace. It is assumed, but by no means certain, that the substitute was then killed.

D. Laws. Surviving fragments of middle Assyrian laws from the 14th-13th cents are drafted in a form similar to those from Babylon itself (see BABYLONIA VII). This may indicate an independent collection of local cases rather than any mere supplementation of general precedents compiled by earlier kings (see HAMMURABI). Most legal clauses relate to the rights and duties of women, marriage (including a type of erēbu-marriage by which the wife visits her husband's family), levirate marriage (less restricted than the Hebrew), veiling, and widows. Some fragments deal with theft, assault, murder, sexual offenses, slander, trial by ordeal, and witchcraft; others with pledges for debt, the control of corporal and other punishments, and the classification and inheritance of land. A few of the latter correspond directly to certain royal decrees and grants, the legal procedure by which they were effected.

C. 信件。除了图书馆中的文献, 亚述王国早期 (沙马什·阿达德一世时期) 至亚述王国末期 (撒珥根王朝时期) 的大量信件都保存了下来。其中包括皇室的信件或诏书, 但是大多数信件属于行政公文, 这些公文为后人了解当时社会个人的生活历程提供了宝贵启示。占星家给国王写了 300 多封信, 他们在信中向皇帝解释天文现象, 并解释了其他被认为有可能影响国运的征兆所蕴含的寓意。这些寓意中包含了皇室将面临危险的警告 (如, 日食的警告)。为防止这样事情的发生, 国王会让代理国王为其掌权 100 天, 而他本人则呆在自己的宫中。据说代理国王之后会被杀死, 但是人们尚不能确定这种说法。

D. 法律。亚述中期 (公元前 14 世纪至 13 世纪) 的法律残篇与巴比伦的法律形式相似 (见 BABYLONIA VII [巴比伦 VII])。这表明亚述的法律是对地方案件的独立整合, 而不是仅仅对早期国王所记录的一般先例的补充 (见 HAMMURABI [汉谟拉比])。大多数法律条

Assyria maintained interstate relations with her neighbors by means of treaties or covenants made with equals (parity) or subordinates (vassal). Part of a parity agreement between Šamši-Adad V (824–815) and Marduk-zākir-šumi I of Babylon survives (cf. that made by his predecessor Shalmaneser; see III.E.2 above). Vassal treaties between Aššur-nirari VI (753–746) and a ruler in north Syria (Mati'-ilu) and between Esarhaddon and Ba'lu king of Tyre can be compared with additional stipulations imposed by Esarhaddon on his existing vassals when he made his son Ashurbanipal crown prince in 672. Manasseh of Judah would have been among those present to reaffirm their trust in Assyria and her gods, declare their loyalty, and promise support under oath and supernatural sanction (including the threat of invasion). Many curses are recorded in these texts, inviting self-judgment in case of rejection of Assyrian physical and spiritual overlordship.

VI. Institutions.-A. King. The Assyrian

款与女人的权力和职责、婚姻（包括一种拜访式的婚姻，这种婚姻要求妻子探望丈夫的家人）、收继婚（不像希伯来的收继婚那样限制重重）、戴面纱和寡妇的行为准则有关。有些法律残篇涉及到偷盗、伤人、谋杀、性侵犯、诽谤、神断法和巫术。还有些法律残篇涉及到借款抵押、关押犯人和其他刑法，以及土地等级和土地继承。后一种法律与某些皇家法令和授权直接对应，而且皇家法令和授权只有经过法律程序才能生效。

亚述通过与他的对手（对等国）或附属国（诸侯）签订条约或契约来维系它与邻邦之间亚的关系。沙马什·阿达德五世（公元前 824 至公元前 815 年）与巴比伦王马尔杜克·扎基尔·舒米一世签订的平等条约的部分内容保留了下来（参：其前任王撒幔以色列与巴比伦签订的条约；见上文 III.E.2）。亚述·尼拉瑞五世（公元前 753 至公元前 746 年）与北叙利亚统治者（马提·伊卢）签订的诸侯条约，以及以撒哈顿与推罗王巴鲁签订的诸侯条约可以与以撒哈顿与当时亚述诸侯签订的附加契约进行比较，他在这份附加契约中规定，他于公元前 672 年册立他的儿子亚述巴尼帕为亚述的储君。犹太的玛拿西与各位在场的诸侯重申他们信靠亚述和亚述的神明，表达了他们对亚述的忠诚，并发誓一直支持亚述，如若违约将遭到上天的惩罚（包括侵略威胁）。这些法约中包含了許多诅咒的话语，如果他们在行为上和精神上背叛了亚述的君王，他们将遭受自裁。

VI. 机构。A. 国王。 亚述王（和巴比伦

king, like his Babylonian counterpart, acted as representative of man to the gods and was also responsible to the god, as his steward, for the welfare of the land and people. Accordingly he made reports to the national god of the way he had exercised wisdom, ruled, and extended the god's fame (e.g., Sargon II's report to Aššur on his eighth campaign). This was one basis of Assyrian historiography; these reports were often incorporated in inscriptions. In the cult of Aššur the king played a leading role, though probably different from that of the Babylonian king, especially in the New Year Festival. Though not high priest, he was a prime participant in rituals that may have included the royal hunt.

B. Government. The king was served by his palace household under a vizier, majordomo, and chief secretary, supported by specialists in foreign affairs (and languages) and many nobles and courtiers. The army commander (turtānu, the Tartan of 2 K. 18:18; Isa. 20:1), chief butler (see RABSHAKEH), and other high officials were responsible to the king. Like the city and district governors, among whom they were included, they were required to make an oath of loyalty and report any subversive activities directly to the king. He was usually careful not to alienate these dignitaries upon whom his throne depended. There are relatively few instances of rebellion against the highly developed Assyrian administration.

The royal harem was controlled by the queen ("she of the palace") who, like the queen-mother Sammu-ramat (Semiramis) and Adad-guppi', mother of Nabonidus, was sometimes influential in state affairs.

国王一样)在神前是人的代表,他们也要为神尽责,作为神的管家,他须对地上的安宁和人们的平安负责。因此,当他运用智慧,实行统治时,须向民族的神明报告,他要彰显神的名望(如,当撒珥根二世第八次远征时,曾向神明阿舒尔报告)。这是亚述史料编纂的一个根据;这种向神的报告经常被镌刻在碑文中。在亚述的宗教崇拜中国王起着主导作用,尽管与巴比伦国王在宗教崇拜当中的作用有所不同,尤其是在新年的庆祝活动中。虽然他不是大祭司,但是他是宗教仪式的主要参与者,仪式中可能包括皇家狩猎。

B. 政府。维齐尔、管家和布政司辅佐国王处理王室事务,专员们辅佐国王处理国外事务(和语言),许多贵族成员和朝臣也为国王效力。军队将领(turtānu,《列王纪下》18:18和《以赛亚书》20:1中的他珥探)、贴身总管(见RABSHAKEH[拉伯沙基])和其他高官也对王负责。他们与其他城市和地方的管辖者一样,也要宣誓对王忠诚,若有任何颠覆政权的活动他们都必须向国王汇报。国王通常要小心地处理他与这些高官的关系,不能疏远他们,因为国王的统治地位依赖于这些人。在亚述的高度发达的统治之下,叛乱活动相对来说很少发生。

皇室的嫔妃归王后(“后宫之主”)管理,王后与太后萨穆·拉玛特(塞米勒米斯)和那波尼德的母亲阿达德·古比一样,有时在国家事务中很有影响力。嫔妃们要遵守严格的礼仪,并受到太监的保

It was governed by strict protocol and guarded by eunuchs. 护。

Assyria annexed territories adjacent to her homeland when this was necessary for defense, security, or safeguarding trade routes. The gradual assimilation of these areas under provincial governors was the basis of the Assyrian empire. Such governors gave their names to the years by turn as eponyms (limmi). To prevent power from falling into the hands of any of the twenty-eight provinces formed by Ashurnasirpal II, Tiglath-pileser III subdivided them into smaller areas. Each governor had to collect local taxes and to store supplies for military operations. Syria was so subdivided in 738–734 B.C., and this prepared the way for expansion toward Israel and Egypt.

Beginning with Shalmaneser I (1264–1245 B.C.), Assyrian rulers often deported conquered peoples and resettled their lands with their own or other conquered peoples, a tactic apparently adopted from the 3rd Dynasty of Ur. Such “colonization” was employed most extensively by Tiglath-pileser III, who carried away portions of the Israelite population of Galilee and the Transjordan ca. 733 B.C. After the fall of Samaria, Sargon II claims to have deported the inhabitants, and it was he who repopulated the area with the captives of other campaigns.

C. Military. Some kings prided themselves in leading their armies personally, while others left the hard campaigning to their field marshals (turtānu). By the time of Sargon II the earlier system of call-up for military or corvée service was replaced by a royal bodyguard and standing army divided into named units. These army groups (twenty thousand) were composed of armies (ten thousand) arranged in units of a hundred, fifty, and ten, with the bulk supplied by the district governors. Chariots, cavalry, pioneers, and sappers were supporting arms (see WAR). The Assyrian development of mobile warfare, siege, and psychological warfare (Isa. 36) accounts for their success. It was regularly backed up by a display of arms and organization which helped to maintain control of even the most distant province or source of supplies.

当需要军事防御、安全防卫或保卫贸易路线时，亚述就会吞并其国土周边的领土。这些地区在行省总督的管理下，逐渐被亚述同化，这种同化构成了亚述帝国的根基。总督们依次用他们的名字记录年份（如，里木纪年）。亚述纳西尔帕二世确立了 28 个亚述行省，为了防止权力落入任何一个行省手中，提革拉毗列色三世将这些行省分割成了更小的地区。每个地方总督必须负责征收地方的赋税，并为军事行动储备物资。公元前 738 年至 734 年，叙利亚被这样分割成了多个区域，这为亚述向以色列和埃及扩张做了准备。

从撒幔以色列一世时期开始（公元前 1264 年至 1245 年），亚述君王经常放逐被征服的民族，并在他们的土地上重新安置原有的民族或其他民族，这一策略显然是借鉴了吾珥第三王朝。提革拉毗列色三世大举实施这种“殖民化”政策，约公元前 733 年，他将一部分以色列人迁出了加利利和外约旦。撒玛利亚陷落之后，撒珥根二世宣称他将当地居民驱逐出境，他将其他战争中擒获的俘虏安置在了撒玛利亚。

C. 军事。有些国王因亲自率军争战而引以为荣，而其他的国王则将艰苦的征战留给陆军元帅 (turtānu)。至撒珥根二世统治时期，亚述早期的征兵制度或强制服役制度已经被皇家卫队和各地方的常备军所取代。这些军团 (20,000)

VII. Economy.-The economy was basically agricultural, supplemented by imports of raw materials (iron, copper, silver) along routes dominated by military forces. Local taxes on grain, straw, and herds were imposed, as were other dues; exemption was given rarely by charter. By Neo-Assyrian times such exemptions, as for the city of Asshur, were highly prized. Taxes were supplemented by various dues and tribute (biltu u mandattu) imposed on the conquered territories. After an initial heavy exaction (as in 2 K. 18:14-16), annual dues were set which were usually payable in local produce or currency. Other payments included war indemnity (as tax instead of slave service; e.g., 2 K. 15:20) and gifts on appearing before a suzerain. Such income played a large part in the economy of the first millennium B.C.

Slaves played only a small part in the economy, being mainly in private hands and able to work for their release. Prisoners of war were employed on

由数支(10,000)军队组成,每个军队再细分为百人队、五十人队和十人队,地方总督向各个分支提供军需。战车、骑兵、先锋队和工兵属于支援武装力量(见 WAR[战争])。亚述人发展了运动战、包围战和心理战(赛 36),从而使他们获得了战争的胜利。他们定期展示强大的武装力量和军事制度,从而维持了对行省和货源地的控制,即使最为偏远的地区也不例外。

VII. 经济。亚述经济以农业为主,并通过军队把控的路线进口所需的其他原材料(铁、铜和银)为辅。各地方都征收粮食税、稻草税和牲畜税,同时还有其他的税捐;当时很少有免赋税的情况。新亚述时期就有这样的特例,当时的亚述城无需缴纳赋税,人们极为推崇这项政策。。亚述向被征服的领土征收各种税捐和贡品(biltu u mandattu),从而补充了赋税。亚述最初的苛捐杂税非常沉重(如《列王纪下》18:14-16中的描述),在这之后,亚述设定了每年税捐的额度,而地方的产出和货币量通常能够承担得起这些税捐。其他财政收入来源于战争赔偿(以赋税形式而不是以奴役形式进行赔偿;如王下 15:20)和其他地区称为宗主国之前进献的礼物。这些收入在公元前 1000 年对亚述经济起到了重要的作用。 large-scale public works such as the construction of Calah (about fifty thousand were employed there in 879–865 B.C.). With the declining power of the central authority after 632 B.C., and rebellions in the outer empire which could not be controlled, most external sources of income dried up and the Assyrian economy failed quickly.

奴隶在经济中起到的作用很小,他们大都被掌握在私人领主的手中,以为领主工作来换取释放。大型公共工程经常雇用战争俘,如公元前 879 年至 865 年,

VIII. Architecture and Art.-Most attention was paid to the embellishment of the capital cities of Asshur, Nineveh, and Calah, where successive kings repaired and rebuilt the citadels in which were located the royal palaces, administrative buildings, public squares, and principal temples. The massive defense walls of the citadel were extended to include the town proper and an “arsenal,” or military barrack and store area (ekal māšarti). Some new foundations were attempted at Kār-Tukulti-Ninurta and Dūr-Šarrukin (Khorsabad, by Sargon II), but these did not outlive their founders. The basic forms were similar to the Babylonian, but the proximity of abundant stone and wood led to increasing use of these materials, and some innovations. The royal palaces, some temples, and facades were lined with stone orthostats or panels, which formed an integral part of the architectural design and construction. These stone slabs were carved in bas-relief depicting war and victory, the royal hunt, religious acts by priests or demons, or symbolic “sacred trees” or griffins. The style changed from the early open drawings to crowded attempts at perspective and detail (e.g., Sennacherib at Lachish). The doorways were built around large protective colossi or figures either in the round or in semi-relief.

迦拉城建设雇用了 50,000 战俘。公元前 632 年之后，随着亚述中央集权的逐渐衰弱，亚述再也无法控制帝国之外的叛乱，亚述的大部分外来收入枯竭，经济也迅速崩溃。

VIII. 建筑和艺术。亚述的首都亚述城、尼尼微和迦拉的装饰最为引入注意，历任国王对这三座城市的城堡进行了修复和重建，王室宫殿、行政建筑、公共广场和主要的神庙都位于这些城堡内。城堡的巨大防御城墙一直延伸，将环绕着城镇邑本身、“武库”（或军营）和储藏区（ekal māšarti）都保护在内。。亚述人也尝试在卡尔图库尔提尼努尔塔（Kār-Tukulti-Ninurta）和杜尔舍鲁金（霍尔萨巴德，由撒珥根二世所建）建造一些建筑，但是这些新建筑的寿命还未能超过其建筑者。亚述的基本建筑形式与巴比伦的建筑形式很相似，然而亚述周边拥有丰富石材和木材，所以他们大量使用了这些建筑材料，并进行了一些创新。王室宫殿、一些神庙和建筑的外墙由巨石板或镶嵌石板垒建而成，这两种材料是建筑设计和建筑物中不可或缺的一部分。人们将石板刻成半浮雕，描绘战争和战争胜利的场景、皇家狩猎的场景、祭司或魔鬼的宗教行为，或者具有象征意义的“圣树”或狮身鹰首兽。浮雕的风格也发生了变化，早期人们采取开放式构图，而后期的图画更为注重远景和细节（如，描绘西拿基立攻打拉吉的浮雕）。人们在立体式或半浮雕式的保护巨像或大型雕像的周围建造了门廊。在公共广场或和神庙中矗立着雕刻的石碑、方尖碑和石柱，另外还有用装饰金属、石头或木材制成的神像和国王像。

Sculptured stelae, obelisks, and columns were set up in public places and temples, where also stood statues of gods and kings made of decorated metal, stone, or wood.

Though the temples were made of mud brick, they were often elaborately furnished. At Asshur the ziggurat (temple tower) was a twin construction; here and elsewhere access was directly from the court, from a roof, or by ramps. Some early temples (Rimah) had facades of mud brick shaped like palm trunks or other patterns. Roofs, domes, or vaulting made of large tree trunks were often gilded or painted. Some buildings were of the open portico style (būt hilāni) adopted from Syria. Glazed panels or orthostats are also found, some of which were used as decorated walls or friezes above the stone sculptures, or as roof tiles.

In the applied arts the best furniture was of elaborate ivory or wood with gold overlaid, or of wood with bronze fittings. Thrones, couches, stools, screens, and smaller objects have been found in abundance. Doors were overlaid similarly or with sculptured bronze (Balawat). As depicted in the reliefs and paintings, doorsills were sometimes carved with intricate patterns similar to those used on carpets and embroidered garments.

在应用艺术方面，最好的家具是由镀金的象牙或木材制成的，或是由带有铜饰品的木头制成的。当地还出土了大量的宝座、睡椅、凳子、屏风和更小的物件。门的表面也同样被覆盖做了类似的镶嵌，或者装饰着铜质的雕刻（巴拉瓦特）。正如浮雕和图画中所描绘的那样，

As in Babylonia, stone or frit cylinder seals were carved with scenes in a local style reminiscent of the larger art forms. Sometimes they used the flowing style of outline figures made with a few carving strokes or the marks of a drill.

IX. Technology.-Assyria paralleled Babylonia in its development and applications of the wheel, glass-making, dyeing, refining, and other tools and crafts. Mathematics, medicine, tanning, and chemical technology played a large part in daily life. Military necessity led to experimentation in the development of weaponry, chariotry, siege engines, road-building, and other arts. Royal botanical and zoological gardens constructed at the capital cities housed plants and animals collected during campaigns. These gardens and the cities they served were watered by elaborate irrigation systems. Sennacherib constructed barrage and dam control of the rivers (Bavian, Jerwan, and Ageila) and an underground system (qana'at), as well as waterhoists (šaduf), for these purposes. He introduced cotton plants ("wool-bearing trees") and new techniques of casting bronze. Earlier irrigation systems had brought water to Calah from the river Zab by tunnel and open canal (Negub).

亚述的石质印章或熔料滚筒印章上刻着带有地方特色的场景，会使人联想到更大的艺术样式，这与巴比伦的印章很相似。有些印章的外部轮廓流畅，在上面可以看到雕刻的文字或图案。

IX. 科技。亚述与巴比伦在同一时期开始研发和应用车轮、玻璃制造、染色、冶炼和其他工具和工艺。数学、医学、制革、化学科技在日常生活中发挥着重要的作用。军事需求促使人们开展兵器、战车、攻城车、筑路和其他技艺的研发实验。都城内的皇家园林和动物园中为亚述人远征期间带回来的植物和动物提供了生长地和栖息地。精心设计的植物园灌溉系统，并为城市提供了水源。为了灌溉和用水，西拿基立筑造拦河坝和水坝来控制河流（巴菲安、杰万、阿吉亚），他还建造了地下沟渠（qana'at）和引水系统（šaduf）。他引入了棉花种植（“产毛树”）和新的铸铜技术。早期的灌溉系统通过隧道和地上管道（Negub 管道）将扎卜河的河水引入迦拉。

Of the three Hebrew roots in question here, tāmah is the nearest equivalent to our Eng. “astonish, astound” (its Aramaic cognate, ℓʿwah, connotes more precisely “startle, alarm”); šāmēm has about it the aura of “horror, desolation,” while pālā' means basically “be extraordinary, miraculous.” Of the Greek words noted, the exístamai/ékstasis complex is perhaps the most intriguing, having as its basic meaning “change of place, displacement,” from which derives the idea of “being driven out of one’s senses, being beside oneself” (cf. “ecstasy”), and finally “astonishment” of the sort that “boggles the mind.”

在我们此处提到的三个希伯来语词根中, 其 tāmah 与英语 “astonish, astound” (“惊骇、诧异”) 的含义最接近 (这个词的亚兰语同根词是 ℓʿwah, 它的明确含义是 “惊恐、惊慌”); šāmēm 有 “恐惧、忧伤” 的含义, 而 pālā' 的基本含义是 “极为不可思议”。这些希腊词中, exístamai/ékstasis 可能是最为有趣的合成词, 它的基本含义是 “改变位置, 移

Where the concept of “astonishment” is found in the OT, the nuance of “dread” is usually not far away; and when God is its object, one finds himself in the presence of the mysterium tremendum as it is called by Rudolf Otto in The Idea of the Holy (2nd ed. 1958). While the same emphasis is continued in the NT, a more positive element becomes prominent as well; one is not so much “struck by awe” as he is, in the words of C. S. Lewis, “surprised by joy.” For the believer in Christ, the ultimate astonishment of all will be experienced when he casts his crown before Him and finds himself “lost in wonder, love and praise” (Charles Wesley).

《旧约》中有“诧异”的概念，通常来说，这个词与“恐惧”的差别不大；当上帝作为这个词的客体时，人们在上帝面前会感到敬畏，奥托（Rudolf Otto）在他的作品中（The Idea of the Holy [1958年再版]）中称之为 mysterium tremendum（令人畏惧的奥秘）。《新约》中也强调这一概念，其中包含的积极元素更为明显；人们不太可能心生“敬畏”，正如路易斯（C. S. Lewis）所说，人们“因高兴而感到惊奇”。对于基督徒来说，当他在基督的面前抛开自己的冠冕，沉浸在“奇异的恩典、爱和赞美之中”时，他就会感到无限的奇妙（Charles Wesley）。

ASTROLOGY 占星术

I. 简介。天文学与占星术都与天体有关。天文学的研究目的在于总结天体的

heavenly bodies. Astronomy classifies the laws (Gk. nómos) of their movement and nature, while astrology looks for intelligible meaning in their relationship to people and things on earth.

Of the many methods of attempting to discover the future by technical methods, astrology has been the most persistent among civilized peoples, although it is matched by the consultation of clairvoyants and mediums who claim to be able to foresee the future. See DIVINATION; MAGIC.

Modern astrology is based on exact mathematics. If a person supplied the precise data of the time and place of his birth to any number of trained astrologers, each would produce a basically identical horoscope, showing the position of the sun, moon, and planets in relation to the birth of the person in question. The astrologer does not observe the heavens himself, but uses detailed technical tables, which he adjusts according to the latitude and longitude of the place of birth. Indeed, actual observation would be misleading, since the signs of the zodiac (which is divided into twelve equal segments for the placing of the sun, moon, and planets) have gradually changed their position down through the ages.

Although each astrologer would produce the same basic horoscope, the interpretations might differ. The astrologer holds that the position of the planets in the zodiac, and their angles to each other, both at the moment of birth and from day to day, indicate the helpful or hampering influences in the individual's life. Here there is obviously

运动规律（希腊语：nómos）和特征，而占星术旨在寻找天体运动与地球上人和事物之间的关系。

人们利用许多科技手段试图探索未来，而其中的占星术是与文明的民族联系最为紧密的，虽然洞察之人的咨询和各种声称可以预见未来的方法可以与占星术相媲美。见 DIVINATION（占卜）；MAGIC（邪术）。

现代占星术建立在精确的数学计算的基础之上。如果一个人将他出生的准确时间和地点告诉任意几位熟练的占星家，那么这几位占星家会推算出基本一致的星象，展现出日月星辰的位置与这个人诞生的关系。占星家并不是亲自用肉眼观测天空，而是采用科学的表格，并根据这个人的出生地的纬度和经度调整这个表格。实际上，肉眼观测可能将人们引入歧途，因为黄道十二宫（将日月星辰的运动轨迹平均分成十二份）随着时间的推移也在逐渐改变它的位置。

虽然每个占星家得出的星座相位基本相同，但是他们对相位的解读可能会存在差异。占星家认为人出生当天和出生那一时刻天体在十二宫图中的位置和天体间的角度都会对人的一生产生积极或消极的影响。这显然为各种不同的占星解读提供了空间。天体运行确实对人存在着某种影响，还是仅仅能够解释不同性格的特征，占星家对此仍存在争 room for a variety of interpretations. Astrologers are divided over whether the planets actually exert an influence or whether they are merely indicators of how a person of a particular temperament is likely to fare.

II. Origins.-It is difficult to draw a line between primitive observation of the heavens and early theories of a connection between the heavenly bodies and earthly events. A people soon learns to associate the apparent movement of the sun, the phases of the moon, and the position of certain stars, with a simple calendar system for the agricultural year. Thus, not long after 3000 B.C. the Egyptians noted the rising at dawn of the bright star Sothis, or Sirius, and regarded this as the beginning of their year.

Unexpected events, such as eclipses, comets, and meteors, would be dreaded as portents, and some contemporary event could easily be connected with their appearance. The other exceptions to the ordinary movement of the stars are the planets, which change their relative positions in the sky, and must have caused much speculation among the early observers. We have Babylonian records of the rising and setting of the bright planet Venus from the 17th cent. B.C. Names were naturally given to individual stars and groups of stars, and particular attention was paid to those that were associated with the changing position of the sun during the year; these make up the zodiac.

III. Development.- At some time before the 7th cent. B.C. the wise men in Mesopotamia thought they had found correspondence between things in heaven

II. 起源。人们很难将原始的苍穹观测与天体和地上事件的关系的早期理论区别开来。人们很快学会了将太阳的视觉移动、月亮的轨迹和某些星星的位置与简单的农业历法体系结合起来。因此，公元前 3000 之后不久，埃及人就注意到明亮的天狼星在拂晓时分与太阳一同升起，并将这个时间定为他们一年的开始。

人们担心日食、彗星和流星等不可预期的自然现象会是一种可怕的征兆，因此他们很容易把一些同时期历史事件跟上述天文现象联系在一起。其他的例外情况，如恒星摆脱其常规的运行轨迹，相对改变其在天空中的位置，这一定会使早期星象观测者产生许多推测。我们知道，巴比伦人从公元前 17 世纪开始就记录明亮的行星金星的升起和降落的时间。人们自然而然地开始为个别星星和星群命名，并且特别关注众星与一年中太阳的位置变化的关系；这些研究的结果构成了十二宫图。

III. 发展。在公元前 7 世纪之前的某个时代，美索不达米亚的智者们认为他们找到了天上星象与地上事件之间的关联。人们发现了亚述王亚述巴尼帕时期 and things on earth. Astrological documents are found in the time of Ashurbanipal king of Assyria (668–633 B.C.). Thus a priest writes to him: “The planet Venus is approaching the constellation Virgo. The appearance of the planet Mercury is near. Great wrath will come” (MacNeice, p. 110). Egyptian astrology does not appear until after this date.

Astrological predictions at this time were concerned with the destiny of the nation, or of the king as head of the nation. The heavens, as well as sacrificial omens, pointed to lucky and unlucky times for undertaking projects. After the fall of Babylon the art of astrology was spread by traveling Chaldeans, and ca. 280 B.C. Berossus, a Babylonian priest, is said to have set up a school for astrologers on the island of Cos. Greeks and Romans adopted astrology almost as a substitute religion, and from this time onward astrologers offered horoscopes for individuals. Cicero attacked it in De divinatione (ca. 43 B.C.), but he was fighting a losing battle. It became rife in Egypt, and in the 2nd cent. A.D. Ptolemy of Alexandria wrote the fullest book yet produced on the subject.

The early Church opposed astrology, although occasional writings, such as the Clementine Recognitions (early 3rd cent.), supported it. Augustine, who had formerly believed in it, attacked it repeatedly in The City of God. In the 2nd cent. B.C. the Jewish work known as the Sibylline Oracles (3:227) praised the Jewish nation because it did not “study the predictions of Chaldaean astrology”; yet after the time of Christ and in the Middle Ages many Jews became

(公元前 668 至 633 年)的占星学文献。一位祭司在给这位王的信中说：“金星正在靠近处女座星群。水星马上就要出现了。震怒就要降临” (MacNeice, 110 页)。埃及的占星术在这一日期之后才出现。

这一时期的占星术关注的是民族或国王的命运。星象和献祭时征兆预示着实施计划时间的吉凶。巴比伦陷落之后，占星术经由流亡的迦勒底人向外传播，据说大约在公元前 280 年，巴比伦祭司比罗修斯在科斯岛建立了一座培养占星家的学校。而希腊人和罗马人几乎将占星术作为一种替代性的宗教，自此以后，占星家为个人提供占星预言。约公元前 43 年，西塞罗在其作品 (De divinatione) 中对占星术进行了抨击，但是他打了一场注定失败的战争。占星术在埃及盛行起来，到了公元 2 世纪，亚历山大港的多利买创作了一本关于占星术的最完整的著作。

虽然个别作品 (例如 Clementine Recognitions, 3 世纪早期) 支持占星术，但是早期的教会反对占星术。奥古斯丁曾对占星术深信不疑，但后来他却在自己的作品中对占星术进行了反复的抨击 (The City of God)。在公元前 2 世纪，犹太作品《西卜神谕篇》(3:227) 赞美犹太民族，因为他们不“研究迦勒底占星术中的预言”；但是主后时期和中世纪时期，许多犹太人成为了占星术的坚决拥护者，他们认为天使和魔鬼是行星的主人，掌控着人类的命运，并将占星

术与这一信仰结合起来。

IV. In the OT.-One must distinguish between references to stars and constellations (see ASTRONOMY) and references to astrology. Thus, it is possible to see a link between the blessings of Jacob's sons in Gen. 49 and certain stars and constellations; but this would have been for purposes of memory, since there is no hint here of the influence of the stars.

IV. 在《旧约》中。人们必须将《旧约》中所说的众星和星座（见 ASTRONOMY[天文学]）与占星术区别开来。因此，《创世记》49 章中对雅各子孙的祝福可能与某些星体和星座有关；但这只是为了帮助人们记忆，因为经文中并未暗示出众星对他们的影响。

The following references should be noted:

人们应该注意下面的引文：

In Gen. 1:14 the purpose of the heavenly bodies as signs is indicated by the context as referring to the calendar of the year. Comparisons are naturally made between this verse and the lines in the Babylonian

《创世记》1:14 中提到天体作“记号”，根据上下文可知这里指的是一年的日历。人们自然会拿这段经文与巴比伦的《创世史诗》(Enuma Elish) 进行比较。人们对于巴比伦主神马杜克创造众星

Creation Epic (Enuma Elish). There are variant translations of words and phrases in Marduk's creation of the stars and planets, and it cannot be proved that the lines are astrological rather than astronomical, in the sense that Marduk appoints the stars to be a reliable guide for the farmer and calendar-fixer. E. A. Speiser in ANET translates: "He constructed stations for the great gods, fixing their astral likenesses as constellations. He determined the year by designating the zones: He set up three constellations for each of the twelve months. After defining the days of the year by means of (heavenly) figures, He founded the station of Nebiru (probably Jupiter) to determine their (heavenly) bands, that none might transgress or fall short." The date of extant copies of this epic is after 1000 B.C., but scholars date the original early in the 2nd millennium; however, astrological references, if the above lines are astrological, could conceivably have been worked in later.

In Dt. 4:19 Israel is forbidden to worship the heavenly bodies, which God created for the benefit of all nations; but such worship is not at this stage astrology. Astrologers are not specifically included among the diviners and the like who are denounced in the law (e.g., Dt. 18:9-14).

The stars in their courses are said by Deborah (Jgs. 5:20) to have fought against Sisera. In the context the reference is to the flooded river, and the stars are in their springtime position associated with the melting of the snows or with sudden heavy storms; thus poetically they are responsible for incapacitating the Canaanite chariots.

在《申命记》4:19 中，律法禁止以色列崇拜天上的万象，它们是神为万民的恩惠所摆设的；但是在当时，崇拜天上的万象并不是占星术。占卜者和律法中谴责的类似的职业并不一定包括占星家（如，申 18:9-14）。

底波拉说，“星宿从天上争战，从其轨道攻击西西拉”（士 5:20）。结合语境可知，这里指的是洪水，“众星”在春季时的位置，与融雪或突如其来的暴风雨有关；因此，经文以诗意的语言解释了洪水使迦南的战车毫无用武之地。

Amos (5:26) refers to the northern kingdom's worship of Sakkuth and Kaiwan, which are generally regarded as Assyrian names for the planet Saturn. Similarly, Jeremiah has several references to the worship of the QUEEN OF HEAVEN, who is Ishtar, the planet Venus (e.g., 7:18; 44:17–19), and to the worship of the heavenly bodies (8:2; 19:13). By this time also, as we have seen, astrologers in Mesopotamia found portents in the sky; and Jer. 10:2 tells the Jews not to be dismayed, as the nations are, at the signs of the heavens.

Jeremiah 31:35, like Isa. 40:26, speaks of God as the Creator and Ruler of the sun, moon, and stars, thus indicating that the people of God must neither worship nor fear them.

Isaiah 47:13 is the first passage to refer specifically to astrologers as those who divide out the heavens into what later became known as houses, who observe the movements of the stars, and who at each new moon make predictions for the fortunes of Babylon. Isaiah declares that they have no power even to save themselves.

The book of Daniel contains several likely references to astrologers along with enchanters and magicians (e.g., 2:27; 4:7; 5:7, 11). The RSV is probably correct in translating Aram gāz^erîn (lit “dividers, determiners”) as “astrologers.” In these passages and elsewhere in Daniel the technical use of the name “Chaldeans” occurs. From the 10th cent. B.C. the area around Babylon appears in inscriptions as the land of Kaldu, though the Hebrew equivalent of Chaldeans is always kaśdîm, with the Aram kaśdāy'ē. After

阿摩司（摩 5:26）中提到了北部王国的撒固崇拜和迦温崇拜，这里的撒固和迦温通常被理解为土星的亚述语名称。耶利米同样多次提到了天后崇拜（见 QUEEN OF HEAVEN[天后]），她就是伊师塔，也就是金星（如，耶 7:18；44:17–19），并且提到了人们对天上万象的崇拜（耶 8:2；19:13）。正如我们看到的，此时美索不达米亚的占星家也发现了天上了征兆；《耶利米书》10:2 告诉犹太人“不要为天象惊惶，因列国为此事惊惶”。

《耶利米书》31:35 和《以赛亚书》40:26 中都提到了耶和华神是日月星辰的创造者和统治者，从而表明神的子民不应当崇拜或惧怕它们。

《以赛亚书》47:13 首次明确提出，是占星家将天分为后来人们所熟知的“天府”，他们观测众星的运动，并且每当新月时他们都会预言巴比伦的命运。以赛亚说他们甚至都不能拯救自己。

《但以理书》中有几个相似的段落中也提到了占星家、巫师和术士（如，但 2:27；4:7；5:7，11）。《修订标准译本》将亚兰语 gāz^erîn（字面含义“分割者、[命运]决定者”）译为“占星家”（astrologers），这可能是正确的。但是《但以理书》的这些段落和其他段落采用了“迦勒底人”这样的一个专门称谓。从公元前 10 世纪开始，铭文中就称巴比伦周围的地区为迦勒底人的土地，虽然迦勒底人这个词对应的希伯来语通常是 kaśdîm，亚兰词语 kaśdāy'ē。巴比伦帝国瓦解后，这个词逐渐用来指巴比

the collapse of the Babylonian empire the term gradually came to mean wise men of Babylonian descent who practiced astrology. In Daniel's day it would still have had the racial sense, and would have included all Babylonians, as indeed it does in Dnl. 1:4; 5:30; 9:1. Thus some scholars regard the technical use in Daniel as a mark of the late date of the book. However, Daniel himself may originally have written galdu, which on Babylonian inscriptions appears to mean "astrologers." A later copyist, not knowing the word galdu, associated it with kaldu, and rendered it by the word for Chaldean, which in his day had come to mean "astrologer." The alteration may have occurred when 2:4b-7:28 was translated into Aramaic (see DANIEL, BOOK OF), since the technical occurrences are in the Aramaic section (apart from 2:2, 4, which would then naturally have been changed to match the Aramaic).

It might be argued that Daniel's appointment as head of the wise men (2:48; 5:11) suggests compromise with astrology, but this would not be a fair interpretation in the light of the failure of astrology and other forms of magical wisdom to interpret the king's dream in Dnl. 2. Daniel declares publicly that God alone is the source of true revelation and interpretation (2:27f.; 5:14-16).

The term "host(s) of heaven" is used both of the heavenly bodies (e.g., Dt. 4:19; Isa. 40:26; Jer. 8:2) and of the angels (1 K. 22:19; Ps. 103:21). The angels are given the title "morning stars" in Job 38:7, as the parallelism shows; and the king of Babylon is compared in Isa. 14:12 to a "Day Star, son of Dawn," who fell from heaven; this Star is commonly identified with Satan, the fallen angel. The probability is that, just as “heaven” is used both of the natural sky and of the sphere where God rules absolutely, so the term “hosts of heaven” is used both of the multitude of stars in the natural sky and of the multitude of bright angels round the throne of God. But Jewish astrologers took the further step, which the Bible does not take, and identified individual stars and planets with individual angels, fallen or unfallen, or with their spheres of influence.

伦后裔中从事占星术的智者。正如《但以理书》1:4, 5:30 和 9:1 所示, 在但以理生活的时代, 这个词仍然含有种族的含义, 包括了所有的巴比伦人。因此, 许多学者认为这个词在《但以理书》中的专门称谓证明该书的成书时间较晚。但是, 但以理本人在最初可能写的是 galdu, 在巴比伦的铭文中, 这个词的含义是“占星家”。后来的抄写员不知道 galdu 的含义, 联想到了 kaldu 一词, 于是把这个词语翻译成了迦勒底人, 所以从抄写员生活的年代开始, “迦勒底人”就有了“占星家”的含义。当《但以理书》2:4b-7:28 被译成了亚兰语 (见 DANIEL, BOOK OF 《但以理书》) 时用词可能发生了变化, 这种特殊称谓是在这部分亚兰语经文中出现的 (《但以理书》2:2, 4 除外, 因此其中的用词自然要经过调整, 从而与亚兰语中的用词相匹配)。

人们可能争论说, 但以理被立为智者的领袖 (但 2:48; 5:11) 表明他对占星术的妥协, 但是这种解读是不公平的, 因为在《但以理书》2 章中表明占星术和其他术士的智慧无法为国王解梦。但以理公开宣布, 只有上帝才是真正启示和解梦的来源 (但 2:27-28; 5:14-16)。

“天上的万象”一词既包括日月星辰 (如, 申 4:19; 赛 40:26; 耶 8:2), 也包括天使 (王上 22:19; 诗 103:21)。正如平行经文所示, 《约伯记》38:7 中称天使为“晨星”; 巴比伦王在《以赛亚书》14:12 中被比喻成从天坠落的“明亮之星, 早晨之子”; 人们通常认为这颗星就是堕落天使撒但。正如“天上”既可以指自然的天空, 也可以指完全受

Wisdom 13:1–4 makes reference to foolish men who regard fire, wind, air, the circle of the stars, the violent water, or the lights of heaven, as the gods that govern the world. The whole passage resembles the argument of Rom. 1:19–23.

V. In the NT.- A. In General. Possible general references to astrology in the NT are capable of several interpretations, but none is favorable to it.

The books of magic that Christian converts burned at Ephesus may have included astrological writings (Acts 19:19). Gal. 4:3 and Col. 2:20 speak of Christian deliverance from tá stoicheía tou kósmou, variously translated as “the rudiments of the world,” or “the elemental spirits of the universe.” These could be the influences of the planets with their governing principalities and powers (Col. 2:15). See ELEMENT. One may accept the fact of fallen angelic principalities and powers, as in Eph. 6:12, without linking them with the planets or stars.

Some commentators regard the words “height” (Gk. hýpsōma) and “depth”

神统治的领域，所以“天上的万象”可能既用来指自然天空中的众星，也用来指神的宝座周围的众多光明天使。但是犹太的占星家提出了更深入的解读，他们认为每个恒星和行星都代表着一个堕落或未堕落的天使，或者认为这些恒星和行星是天使的势力范围，而《圣经》不接受他们的这种解读。

《所罗门智训》13:1–4 提到，愚蠢的人认为火、风、空气、众星、激流或天堂之光是统治这些世界的神明。整个这个段落与《罗马书》1:19–23 中的论点很相似。

V. 在《新约》中。A. 综述。《新约》中可能多次泛指了占星术，人们对此拥有多种解读，但是任何一种解读都表明《新约》反对占星术。

基督徒归信时在以弗所焚烧了大量的邪术书籍，其中可能就包括占星术的著作（徒 19:19）。《加拉太书》4:3 和《歌罗西书》2:20 中说，基督徒脱离 “tá stoicheía tou kósmou”，这段话语有多种不同的译法，有的译为“世俗小学”，有的译为“世俗的言论”。这可能就是这些执政的和掌权的权柄（西 2:15）。见 ELEMENT（言论）。人们可能相信堕落的天使能够执政和掌权，但不会像《以弗所书》6:12 中所说的那样将他们与星辰联系在一起。

有些学者认为《罗马书》8:39 中的“高处”（希腊语：hýpsōma）和“低处”（希

(báthos) in Rom. 8:39 as astrological. They are more likely to be astronomical, denoting the expanse of the sky above and the sphere below the horizon from which the heavenly bodies rise. If Paul had intended “height” to denote the sign in which a planet is said to be exalted, which is the astrological use of the Greek word, he would almost certainly have matched it with the usual astrological opposite, Gk. tapeínōma (lit. “abasement”), although admittedly there is a single use quoted of báthos in this sense in a second-century astronomical writer (Vettius Valens 241.26).

B. The Star in the East. Matthew relates that after the birth of Jesus wise men came from the East to find Him, since they had seen His star (2:1f.). The Greek term for the men is mágoi, or “Magi,” from which our word “magic” comes. The verb and noun are used of magicians in Acts 8:9; 13:6, 8. Herodotus says that the Magi were priests of the race of the Medes. It is likely that they were astrologers. It may seem strange that these Medians should have known of the Jewish Messiah, but the Jews had spread through the former Persian empire and many would have spoken of the promise found throughout the OT. Daniel the Jew had also gained a reputation as a wise man under the Babylonian and Persian empires. Thus wise men of the East would have been aware of the belief that a great Ruler was to be born among the Jews.

As to the nature of the star, some have supposed that a special constellation was regarded as the sign of Judah, and that some phenomenon appeared there. All the Magi say is that they had seen the 希腊语: báthos) 指的是占星术。这两个词语更有可能是天文学中的词语,指的是广袤的天空和地平线以下的范围(星臣从这里升起)。如果保罗所说的“高处”指的是行星升高的标志(这时采用了这个希腊词中的占星术的含义),那么他几乎必然会用到另一个常用的与之反义的占星学词汇,即希腊词语 tapeínōma (字面意思“降低”),虽然不可否认,2世纪的天文学作者只引用过一次 báthos 的这层含义 (Vettius Valens 241.26)。

B. 东方的众星。《马太福音》提到,在耶稣出生之后,有几个从东方的博士来寻找祂,因为他们在东方看见了祂的星(太 2:1-2)。博士的希腊语是 mágoi 或 “Magi”, “magic” (“邪术”) 一词就源于这个希腊词。《使徒行传》中用到了该词的动词和名词形式表示“行法术的”(徒 8:9; 13:6, 8)。希罗多德说,博士是玛代族的祭司。他们可能是占星家。这些玛代人竟然知道犹太人的弥赛亚,这似乎很奇怪,但是犹太人曾广泛地分布在前波斯帝国中,许多犹太人应该都会谈论过《旧约》中耶和华的应许。犹太人但以理在巴比伦王国和波斯帝国中也被尊称为博士。因此东方的博士可能知道犹太人认为他们中间会降生一位伟大的君王。

至于这颗星的本质,有些人认为一个特殊的星座象征着犹太,并且人们在那里看到了一些预兆。所有的博士都说,他们“在东方”看到了弥赛亚的星。如果这种翻译正确的话,那么就意味着当他

Messiah's star "in the East." If this is the correct translation, it means that while they were still east of Palestine they had seen the star. But many translate, "We have seen his star in its rising." This would mean that they noticed this star as it rose one night and were attracted by it, either because of its position in a certain constellation or because of its own appearance.

It may have been a comet. Halley's comet appeared in 11 B.C., which is rather too early; and there are records of another comet ca. 4 B.C. This need not be too late if, as is commonly believed nowadays, Jesus was born ca. 6 B.C., since Jesus may have been up to two years old when the Magi came (Mt. 2:16), and the Magi could have observed the comet at its earliest appearance. Or there may have been yet another comet of which we have no record. The star may have been a nova, which is an explosive flare-up of a star, lasting for several weeks or months before dying away.

It has also been suggested that the Magi observed a conjunction of Jupiter, Mars, and Saturn in Pisces, which has been calculated as taking place in 7 B.C. and recurring in 6 B.C. The difficulty here is that the Magi refer to a single star, although one of these planets by itself could have been associated with Judah or the Messiah, so that the Magi were impressed by its proximity to the other two.

No difficulty need be felt about the statement that the star went before the Magi and came to rest over the house where Jesus was (Mt. 2:9). As they traveled from Jerusalem to Bethlehem the

们还在巴勒斯坦东部的時候，他们就看到了这颗星。但是，许多人将这句话翻译为“我们看到祂的星升起”。这可能意味着，他们在某个夜晚看到了这颗升起的星，并被其吸引，这或许是因为这颗星处于某一星座中，或因为仅仅因为它出现在夜空中。

它可能是一颗彗星。哈雷彗星在公元前11年出现，这颗彗星出现的时间太早了；有记载称，约公元前4年，另一颗彗星出现。如果根据今天人们的普遍的观点，耶稣约出生在公元前6年，所以这颗彗星出现的时间不一定太迟，因为当博士来到耶路撒冷的时候，耶稣可能已经快两岁了（太 2:16），博士可能在这颗彗星最早出现的时候就看到了它。或许还有一颗彗星出现过，只是我们没有历史记录。这颗星可能是一颗新星，这是一颗恒星走向衰亡时释放能量的过程，这个过程可能会持续数周或数月。

还有人认为，博士看到的是木星、火星和双鱼座中的土星同时出现，据估算，这在公元前7年曾出现过一次，在公元前6年又出现了一次。但是问题在于博士指的仅仅是一颗星，虽然三颗星当中只有一颗星可能与犹太或弥撒亚有关，但三星会合，特别明亮，引起了博士们的注意。

《马太福音》中描述道，这颗星在博士的前头行，直行到耶稣的地方，就在上头停住了（太 2:9），人们不难理解这一描述。当他们从耶路撒冷前往伯利恒时，这颗星始终在他们头顶的南面。当

star was ahead of them to the south. As they came near to Bethlehem the star was low enough in the sky to appear to touch down over the roof of the house they were seeking. Wordsworth uses similar language in one of his Lucy poems, when he rides toward Lucy's house and watches the moon descending toward it and finally dropping behind its roof.

Although the Magi were astrologers, the story does not encourage astrology in general, any more than the appearances of Moses at the Transfiguration supports the practice of spiritualism. There will be signs in the heavens before the Second Coming (Lk. 21:25); the sun was darkened before Christ died on the cross; and Josephus says that a comet was seen for a whole year before the destruction of Jerusalem (BJ vi.5.3). Thus we need not be surprised if some phenomenon such as a comet appeared at the time of Christ's birth. (See also CHRONOLOGY OF THE NT I.A.3.)

他们快到伯利恒的时候，这颗星低垂在天空中，似乎就要触碰到他们寻找的房屋的屋顶。华兹华斯在他的《露西组诗》中也使用了相似的语言，当他骑马赶往露西茅舍的时候，他看到月亮向露西的方向落下，最终落到屋顶后面。

尽管博士是占星家，但是从整体上讲，这个故事并不支持占星术，正如耶稣登山变像时摩西显现并不能证明这段经文支持唯灵论一样。基督复临时天上必有异兆（路 21:25）；耶稣死在十字架上时，太阳变暗了；约瑟夫斯说，耶路撒冷城被毁之前，人们在一整年中始终可以看到一颗彗星在天空中出现（BJ vi.5.3）。因此，当基督降生时，我们看到彗星出现等现象时，不应感到惊奇。（另见 CHRONOLOGY OF THE NT I.A.3[新约年代学 I.A.3]。）

I. Historical Background.-A. Development of Astronomy. Astronomy, the oldest of all the sciences, has existed since the beginning of recorded civilization. Its development can be divided into three major periods: (1) the astronomy of the ancients, until the time of Ptolemy of Alexandria, 2nd cent. A.D.; (2) medieval astronomy; (3) modern astronomy, from the time of Copernicus (1473–1543). In this article we are concerned only with the first period.

Western astronomy began with the peoples of the Fertile Crescent, particularly with the peoples in Babylonia. These early astronomers were acute observers and were aware of many celestial phenomena. Their interest in the heavenly bodies arose alongside the concept that the sun, moon, and stars were deities, and they developed the belief that the movements of the astral bodies could reveal the intentions of the deities. At an unknown date the ancients learned that the heavenly bodies were useful as guides to travelers, first in crossing deserts with few landmarks, and later in navigating the seas.

I. 历史背景。 A. 天文学的发展。天文学这一最古老的科学从有记载的文明开始就已经存在。其发展主要分为三个阶段：(1) 亚历山大港的多利买时代(公元2世纪)之前的古天文学；(2) 中世纪天文学；(3) 从哥白尼时代开始的现代天文学(1473–1543)。在本篇中，我们只关注第一阶段。

西方的天文学从肥沃月湾民族，尤其是巴比伦民族的天文学开始发端。这些早期的天文学家是敏锐的观测者，他们注意到了许多天文现象。他们在将日月星辰视为神明的同时，对天体也产生了兴趣，他们相信星体的移动可以揭示神明的旨意。在历史上的某一天，古人认识到天体可以帮助旅行者指引道路，在他们穿越地标很少的沙漠时首先利用了这种指引，后来又将其应用到了航海中。

The ancients also came to use celestial bodies, especially the sun and moon, for calendration. The phases of the moon led to the development of the “month,” while the cycle of seasons led to the concept of the “year.” The period between new moons is $29\frac{1}{2}$ days; hence the months were alternately 29 and 30 days in early Babylonian calendration. Twelve lunar months add up to only 354 days, which was a “lunar year.” This was satisfactory for nomads, who had no reason to prepare the ground for planting, but it was not sufficiently accurate for agricultural purposes. Hence, intercalation was necessary. Seven times in nineteen years an extra month was added to bring the lunar year into phase with the seasons. In ancient Babylonia this was done by royal or priestly decrees every second or third year as necessary. The ancient Egyptian calendar consisted of 12 months of 30 days, plus 5 extra year-end days. It therefore fell one-fourth day short of a true solar year; hence, like the lunar calendar it moved out of phase with the seasons, but at a much slower pace.

As the earth rotates upon its axis, it also revolves about the sun. A “day,” by definition, is the period between the moment when the sun is directly overhead and the next moment when that occurs. (In practice, we may mark the day from sunset to sunset or from midnight to midnight, but the period is the same.) But, because of its revolution about the sun, the earth actually rotates on its axis one extra time each year. In other words, it rotates about 361° in 24 hours. The position of the stars, however, is independent of the relationship between our planet and our sun. The period of time between the moment when a certain star—let us say Sirius—is overhead and the next moment it is directly overhead, is 3 minutes and 56.55 seconds less than our twenty-four-hour day. The stars that are overhead at midnight on the spring equinox will have advanced 90° by the summer solstice, and will be setting at midnight.

古人同时利用天体（尤其是太阳和月亮）制定历法。月相帮助他们划分了“月份”，而四季的轮转产生了“年”的概念。新月的周期是 29.5 天；因此，在巴比伦的早期历法中，月份天数是按照 29 天和 30 天交替制定的。十二个农历月加在一起只有 354 天，也就构成了一个“农历年”。这种历法足以满足游牧民族的需要，因为他们无需为农事作准备，但是对于农业种植来说，这一历法就不够准确。所以需要人们在当时的历法中置闰。他们采取十九年七置闰法，这样农历年就与季节吻合了。在古巴比伦，王室或祭司根据需要每两年或三年颁布一次置闰的法令。古埃及的日历中，一年包含 12 个月，每个月包含 30 天，另外在岁尾再加上 5 天。因此，它比一个真正的太阳年少了四分之一天；所以埃及的历法也同农历年一样，偏离了四季的周期，但是它偏离速度比农历年慢。

Early in the history of astronomy, men observed that the stars remained in relatively fixed positions and that the sun, moon, and planets moved with respect to the stars. They called the path that these “moving stars” took the “ecliptic” or “zodiac,” and they were aware that the sun followed this path as the year progressed. Precession of the vernal equinox was also observed by the ancients.

在天文学历史早期，人们观察到有些星星所处的位置相对固定，并参照众星的位置观察太阳、月亮和行星的移动。他们把这些“移动的星体”所途经的路径命名为“黄道带”，他们注意到太阳每年都在这个轨道中运行。古人同时注意到了春分时的岁差。

Early astronomical records have proved helpful in establishing the chronologies of ancient civilizations. Babylonian records of solar eclipses are important in establishing fixed points in Babylonian chronology. Similarly, Egyptian records that reconcile the Sothic cycle with the civil (or solar) year are significant in establishing Egyptian chronology. If the star Sothis (Sirius) is just rising as the sun rises, it will be invisible, since it is beyond the sun. But since it rises approximately 4 minutes earlier each day, after about 11 days it will be just faintly visible about 42 minutes before sunrise. This is the “heliacal rising.” The ancient Egyptian astronomers marked “the going up of Sothis,” for it foretold the flooding of the Nile, and the farmers knew when to prepare the fields for the inundation. Because the Egyptian civil calendar lost one-fourth day each year, there were 1460 years between the times when the civil year coincided with the going up of Sothis. This period came to be known as a “Sothic cycle.” Egyptian kings sometimes marked the number of days and months that the civil calendar deviated from the Sothic calendar, which gives us a basis for Egyptian chronology. The Sothic cycle, however, because of irregularities in the earth’s movements, is not so mathematically precise that we can make exact synchronizations. Moreover, the observation of the heliacal rising may be obscured by haze—and a difference of a day in observation amounts to a difference of four years in chronology.

实践证明早期的天文学记录可以帮助人们确定古代文明的年代。巴比伦人对日食的记载是人们确定巴比伦年代中固定时间点的重要参考。同样，埃及的天狼周期与日历年（太阳年）一致的记载对于确立埃及的年代具有重要的意义。如果天狼星恰好与太阳一同升起，那么人们就看不到它，因为它位于太阳的背面。但是因为天狼星每天升起的时间会提前4分钟，那么大约在11天后，人们可以在太阳升起前的42分钟前后隐约地看见这颗星。这就是“偕日升”。古埃及人记录了“天狼星偕日升”的时间，因为他们认为它预示着尼罗河的洪水将要到来，农民们也知道何时为洪水泛滥做准备。因为埃及的民用历每年都缺少四分之一天，那么当民用历恰好与天狼星偕日升吻合时，就经过了1460年。这段时间被称为“天狗周期”。埃及的君王有时会记录埃及的民用历偏离天狼星历的天数和月数，这也就构成了埃及年代学的基础。不过，由于地球运转的不规则性，天狗周期并没有精确到可以帮助我们准确地进行年代同步。此外，人们可能会受到雾霭遮掩，无法观测到天狼星偕日升——观测偕日升的时间相差一天，年代上就会相差4年。

assumed a geocentric universe. Certain Greek scientists, prior to the time when inductive observation was subjugated to the systems of the philosophers, seem to have come to the conclusion that the earth moved about the sun (e.g., Aristarchus of Samos, 3rd cent. B.C.). Strabo records that scholars had observed that, on the summer solstice, a man's shadow was exactly under him at noon in Syene (Aswan, Egypt), which is located on the Tropic of Cancer. Eratosthenes (ca. 276–ca. 194 B.C.) had even calculated the circumference of the earth to be 252,000 stadia (Strabo Geog. ii.5.7), which, according to one estimate of the stadium, comes within 50 mi. (80 km.) of the present estimate of the earth's size. In the 2nd cent. A.D. Ptolemy, using ancient observations, devised a mathematical explanation of celestial movements, published in his Almagest. In his system the earth was the center of the universe, and the sun, moon, stars, and planets revolved around it. Because this theory predicted the motions of the sun, moon, and planets with reasonable accuracy, it was used throughout the Middle Ages.

Few advances were made during the medieval period of astronomy. Medieval science was unlike modern science, and was heavily influenced by religious and philosophical considerations. Ptolemy's theory was studied and revised, and by the late Middle Ages was discovered to be woefully inadequate in predicting the actual positions of the celestial bodies.

The modern period of astronomy began in 1543 with the theory of Copernicus, who suggested that many of the inadequacies of Ptolemy's theory would be solved by placing the sun, rather than the earth, at the center of the universe. This theory, which at first came under much attack, was supported by the careful naked-eye observations of Tycho Brahe and the telescopic observations of Galileo. In 1609 and 1619, using the observations of Tycho Brahe, Johannes Kepler published his three laws of planetary motions. After this, the heliocentric system, although still the object of official disapproval, was gradually accepted as scientifically sound. In the late 17th cent. Isaac Newton refined and generalized Kepler's laws and produced his famous laws of motion. These laws still provide the basis of modern celestial mechanics. In the 20th cent. the theory of relativity and new, specialized branches of astronomy have affected the character of astronomy. Now it is often concerned with the origin, evolution, and composition of celestial bodies as well as their motions.

之前, 某些希腊的科学家似乎曾总结道, 地球围绕着太阳转(如, 萨摩斯的阿利斯塔克提出的日心说, 公元前3世纪)。斯特拉博记录说, 学者们已经观测到, 在夏至正午时分的赛伊尼城(埃及阿斯旺, 位于北回归线上), 人的影子恰好位于他的脚下。厄拉多塞(约公元前276年至约公元前194年)甚至计算出地球的周长为252,000视距(Strabo Geog. ii.5.7), 根据人们对1视距的估算, 他估算的地球周长与现在人们估算的地球周长相差不超过50英里(80公里)。公元2世纪, 多利买利用古代的观测结果, 设计出一套解释天体运动的数学方法, 并在其《天文学大成》中发表了这一方法。在他的体系中, 地球是宇宙的中心, 太阳、月亮、恒星和行星都围绕着地球旋转。因为这一学说用合理准确的数据预测了太阳、月亮和行星的运动, 人们在整个中世纪始终坚持他的地心说。

天文学在中世纪几乎没有取得任何的进步。中世纪的科学与现代科学不同, 当时的科学受到宗教思想和哲学思想的极大影响。人们研究并修正了多利买的学说, 到中世纪末期, 人们发现他的学说对天体实际位置的预测非常地不准确。

1543年, 哥白尼的日心说标志着天文学开始进入现代时期, 他提出, 如果将太阳而不是地球作为宇宙的中心, 那么多利买学说中诸多缺陷都可以得到解决。这一学说最初受到大量的攻击, 第

B. Astronomy in the Ancient Near East.

The period in the history of astronomy most relevant to study of the Bible is the period from ca. 2000 B.C. to A.D. 150. In the ancient Near East, where western astronomy began, the two major centers of civilization were Egypt and Mesopotamia. Hebrew astronomy was almost certainly influenced by the astronomical observations of these areas.

Egyptian astronomy was crude; this was partially because of the deficient nature of Egyptian arithmetic. The Egyptians did, however, make some notable contributions to astronomy. The first of these was their calendar. It is often thought that their calendar was agricultural, rather than astronomical, in origin. But since the Egyptians never attempted to bring their 365-day calendar into phase with the solar year, it is now considered unlikely that the origin was agricultural.

B. 古近东的天文学。约从公元前 2000 年至公元 150 年期间的天文学历史与圣经研究的关系最为密切。西方的天文学起源于古近东,这里的两大文明中心分别是埃及和美索不达米亚。希伯来天文学几乎必然会受到这些地区的天文观测的影响。

The Egyptians also devised the idea of dividing the day and night into 24 hours (the Sumerians had used a system of “double-hours”), with 12 hours of daylight varying in length according to the season of the year. In Hellenistic times, hours of equal length, divided into 60 minutes, were introduced. The Egyptians also developed a “starlock” in which the rising of a certain star marked the last hour of the night. There were thirty-six of these stars or “decans,” and every 10 days a different decan marked the last hour of the night. Astrological texts, the idea of the zodiac, and numerical predictions of astronomical phenomena appeared only under Ptolemy. Until the Hellenistic period, the achievements of Egyptian astronomy were few and had little influence on the rest of the ancient world.

Mesopotamian astronomy, on the other hand, was the most sophisticated of the ancient astronomies and greatly influenced surrounding civilizations. It has been commonly believed that Babylonian astronomy was guided by mysticism and magic, and not by scientific considerations. The worship of the sun, moon, stars, Venus, and Saturn was part of the religion of Babylon, and provided much motivation for the study of astronomy; but this astrological religion should not be allowed to obscure the achievements of Babylonian astronomy.

Astronomical references first occur

立的。埃及人也提出了 24 小时为一个昼夜的观点（苏美尔人采用一套“两个小时为一个计时单位”的历法体系），白昼为 12 小时，白昼的时长随着季节的变化而变化。在希腊文化时期，人们引入了等长时刻，每小时包含 60 分钟。埃及人也发明了“星钟”，他们规定某一恒星升起的时间为夜晚的最后时刻。他们使用了 36 颗恒星或“旬星”，每隔 10 天就换一颗旬星来标记夜晚的最后时刻。只有在多利买时期才出现了天文学文献、黄道十二宫的概念和天文现象的数值预测。一直到希腊文化时期，埃及的天文学取得的成就很少，对古代世界的其他国家的影响也很小。

然而，美索不达米亚天文学是古代天文学中最精密的，也极大地影响了周边的文明。人们普遍认为巴比伦的天文学是受神秘主义和邪术的指引，而不是受到科学思维的指导。对太阳、月亮、各种恒星、金星和土星崇拜是巴比伦宗教信仰的一部分，这种崇拜也极大地推动了天文学的研究；但是，这些占星学的宗教信仰并不能掩盖巴比伦天文学的成就。

during the Kassite period (ca. 1650–1175 B.C.), and tablets recording observations of Venus have been important in determining the chronology of the period of Hammurabi. Tablets have been found that indicate that by 700 B.C. the Babylonians had acquired a fair amount of astronomical knowledge. These texts are descriptive, and deal with observations of celestial phenomena and with solar and lunar eclipses. About this time omens and reports to the Assyrian court were also important. Some time after 500 B.C. mathematical astronomy arose, and by 400 B.C. the Babylonians had made considerable advances, including the following developments: a zodiac as a reference for solar and planetary motion, a fixed luni-solar calendar, basic period relationships for the moon and planets, a knowledge of the variation in the length of day and night, and a numerical method that could be used in astronomical calculations.

Mesopotamian astronomy reached its greatest maturity during the Seleucid period. Texts from this period fall into two categories, the procedure texts and the ephemerides. The ephemerides were tables of celestial phenomena; the procedure texts told how to compute the ephemerides. These texts show that the Babylonians had developed a highly complex lunar theory and were able to predict lunar eclipses. They did not, however, have the data needed to predict solar eclipses. Greek astronomy before A.D. 150 was heavily influenced by the Babylonians. The Greeks used the empirical data of the ephemerides to develop many of their astronomical theories, and combined Babylonian arithmetical methods with their own geometrical methods to produce the beginnings of a highly mathematical astronomy.

1650–1175 年) 首次提到了天文学, 石碑中记载的金星观测数据是确定汉莫拉比时期的编年史的重要参考数据。有碑文表明, 到公元前 700 年, 巴比伦人已经掌握了相当多的天文学知识。这些碑文都是描述性的, 记录了天文现象的观测结果, 也记录日食和月食。这一时期发现的异兆和报告给亚述宫廷的天文现象也很重要。公元前 500 年之后的某一时间, 数学天文学开始兴起, 到公元前 400 年, 巴比伦人已经在这方面取得了相当大的进步, 包括以下发展: 提出了参考太阳和行星运动的黄道带, 制定了固定的阴阳历, 知晓了月亮和行星的基本周期关系, 掌握了白昼和夜晚时长变化的知识, 并将数值计算法应用于天文的计算中。

In all probability the ancient Hebrews gained most of their astronomical knowledge from the Babylonians. They may have adopted the idea of the Egyptian starclock. But in general, Egyptian astronomy had little to offer a nomadic, largely nonagricultural people like the early Israelites. The Hebrews could have gained little astronomical knowledge from the Greeks, because even during intertestamental and NT times Greek astronomy was only in its fledgling stage. Also, since Israel was culturally and politically involved with other Mesopotamian nations and had a lunar calendar similar to that of the Babylonians, it is not unreasonable to suppose that she obtained most of her astronomical knowledge from Babylonia. One major question is: To what extent did Israel absorb the astrological and religious interpretations along with the scientific data? Obviously, worship of the celestial bodies was unthinkable to the devout Hebrew and was not officially welcome in Israel. In the OT, however, there are indications that such idolatry was practiced in Israel (Am. 5:26f.), and that the Israelites learned astrological practices as well as astronomical science from the Babylonians.

II. Astronomical Elements in the Bible.-

A. Biblical Attitude toward Astronomy.

There is no scientific astronomy, in the modern sense, in the Bible. The ancient Hebrews were, however, familiar with the motions of the heavenly bodies. Observing the positions of the sun, moon, and stars was a practical necessity to 古希伯来人很有可能是从巴比伦人那里获得的大部分的天文学知识。他们可能接受了埃及人的星钟的观点。但是，一般而言，对于大部分人口都是非农业人口的游牧民族（如，早期的以色列人）来说，埃及的天文学对他们的帮助很小。希伯来人可能没从希腊人那里学到多少天文知识，因为即使在两约期间和新约时期，希腊的天文学仅仅处于起步阶段。另外，因为以色列民族与其他美索不达米亚的民族有文化上和政治上的交往，而且他们的阴历与巴比伦的历法很相似，所以人们有理由认为以色列从巴比伦人那里学习到了大部分天文学知识。还有一个重要的疑问有待解决：以色列在多大的程度上接受了这些占星术解读和宗教解释以及其中包含的科学数据？显然，对于虔诚的希伯来人而言，崇拜天体简直不可思议，以色列的统治阶层也不会接受这种崇拜。然而，《旧约》中经文表明以色列也存在这种盲目崇拜的现象（摩 5:26-27），以色列人不但从巴比伦人那里学会了占星术也学到了天文科学知识。

II. 《圣经》中的天文学元素。

A. 圣经对天文学的态度。

从现代意义上讲，《圣经》中没有科学的天文学。不过，古希伯来人通晓天体的运动。古人有观测日月星辰位置的实际需要，他们依据天体数据来确定一天和一年的时间。从这个意义上说，《圣经》中的人比大多数现代人距离天空更近，他们也比大多数现

ancient man, who depended on celestial data in order to determine the time of day and the time of year. In this sense the people of the Bible were much closer to the heavens and knew them much more intimately than most moderns. This familiarity with the heavens is evidenced by the abundance of astronomical similes and metaphors in Hebrew literature. Astronomy had a great effect on the philosophical attitudes of the peoples in the ancient Near East, and the Hebrews were no exception.

Our source book for the study of Hebrew astronomy is the Bible, and none of the books of the OT or NT gives any record of systematic astronomy. Astronomical data are incidental and few in number. This is to be expected, for the Bible's main purpose is to reveal God to man, and astronomical phenomena are recorded only when they assist in that revelation. The God of the Bible is the God who created the heavens "for signs and for seasons and for days and years, and ... [to] be lights in the firmament of the heavens to give light upon the earth" (Gen. 1:14f.). All heavenly bodies have their origin with God, and God created them for specific purposes. To the biblical writers these celestial objects are also a sign of God's otherness in relation to men. They are the created works of God and are insignificant in comparison with Him. They remind the psalmist of God's majesty and His grace in caring for men: "When I look at thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou hast established; what is man that thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that thou dost care for him?" (Ps. 8:3f.). Astronomical references occur most frequently in passages dealing with the beginning and end of the world and with the intervention of God in history, for events in heaven foreshadow the mighty working of God. Above all else, the heavens bear witness to God. The beginning of Ps. 19 is an apt summary of the biblical view of celestial bodies: “The heavens are telling the glory of God; and the firmament proclaims his handiwork. Day to day pours forth speech, and night to night declares knowledge. There is no speech, nor are there words; their voice is not heard; yet their voice goes out through all the earth and their words to the end of the world.”

我们研究希伯来天文学的原始资料是《圣经》，新约各书和旧约各书没有任何关于系统的天文学的记载。天文学数据是经文中附带的信息，而且这些数据的数量也很少。这都是预料之中的事，因为圣经主要目的就是向人类揭示上帝的道，只有当天文现象有助于这种启示时，才会被记录在《圣经》中。《圣经》中的上帝创造了天空“作记号，定节令、日子、年岁，并要发光在天空，普照在地上”（创 1:14-15）。上帝是所有天体的创造者，祂为了特定的目的创造了它们。对于圣经作者来说，这些天体也是上帝与人类差异性的记号。它们是造物主的受造物，与上帝相比，它们无足轻重。它们使《诗篇》作者想到了神的威严和神眷顾人类的恩惠：“我观看你指头所造的天，并你所陈设的月亮星宿，便说，人算什么，你竟顾念他？世人算什么，你竟眷顾他？”（诗 8:3-4）。描述创世和世界末日的段落以及上帝干预历史进程的段落最频繁地提及天文现象，因为天象预示着上帝将运用祂的大能。天空最能见证上帝的存在。《诗篇》第 19 篇开篇就恰当地总结了《圣经》中的天体观：“天空述说 神的荣耀，穹苍传扬祂的手段。这日到那日发出言语。这夜到那夜传出知识。无言无语，也无声音可听。它的量带通遍天下，它的言语传到地极。”

The theological attitude of the Hebrews toward the heavens differed in one very significant respect from the attitude of other peoples in the ancient Near East—they did not sanction worship of the heavenly bodies as deities nor the practice of astrology. The celestial bodies were the creations of God and certainly not deities in their own right. God had ordained that men should use the heavenly bodies to determine calendars and festivals, and as guides for nighttime travel; but they were not to be used as guides for predicting terrestrial happenings. A certain disdain toward those who practice astrology, instead of worshipping the true God, is shown throughout the Bible: “Learn not the way of the nations, nor be dismayed at the signs of the heavens because the nations are dismayed at them ... Thus shall you say to them: ‘The gods who did not make the heavens and the earth shall perish from the earth and from under the heavens’” (Jer. 10:2, 11).

B. Sun, Moon, and Planets. In the Bible, references to the sun and the moon are both astronomical and symbolic. As stated in Gen. 1, the sun and moon were placed in the heavens not only “for days and for years” but also “for signs.” References to the signs of the sun and moon occur most frequently in passages dealing with the end of the world or great, catastrophic events. All four Gospels assert that the sun was darkened when Jesus Christ was crucified. The sun and moon will also be darkened at the time of the End, although at God’s triumph they will shine again even more brightly (Isa. 13:10; 30:26). The most terrible and impressive signs of the sun and the moon are solar and lunar eclipses. These phenomena are briefly but unmistakably described in several passages, e.g., Joel 2:31. To God’s people eclipses were signs of the power and authority of God, who forbade them to be alarmed at portents that distressed the heathen.

希伯来人对于天体的神学态度在一个很重要的方面与古近东的其他民族有所不同——他们不视天体为神明，不接受对天体的崇拜也不接受占星术。天体是上帝的受造物，它们当然不是神明。上帝吩咐道，人们应该利用天体制定历法和节日，并让天体指引他们夜行的方向；但是它们不能成为预测地上事件的准则。《圣经》全文对于那些行占星术，不敬真神的人表示出了某种鄙视：“你们不要效法列国的行为，也不要为天象惊惶，因列国为此事惊惶……你们要对他们如此说：‘不是那创造天地的神，必从地上从天下被除灭！’”（耶 10:2, 11）。

B. 太阳、月亮和行星。《圣经》中所提到的太阳和月亮既是天文现象也是象

The word used most frequently in the OT for “sun” is Heb. šemeš, a word common to all Semitic languages. Less common OT terms for the sun are: ’ôr, meaning “light” (Job 31:26); ḥammâ, meaning “heat” and usually used with l’bānâ for the moon (Isa. 24:23); heres, meaning “blister” (Jgs. 8:13). The NT word is Gk. hēlios. The sun is often used in Hebrew poetry as a symbol of permanence: “May his name endure for ever, his fame continue as long as the sun” (Ps. 72:17). In Ecclesiastes the expression “under the sun” denotes man’s earthly existence. In Gen. 1 the sun is referred to as “the greater light.” The metaphor “wings of the morning” (Ps. 139:9) probably refers to the long streamers seen when the sun rises behind the bank of clouds. In prophecy the messenger of the Lord is called “the sun of righteousness” (Mal. 4:2). The NT writers take over this sun imagery and refer to Jesus Christ as “the light of men” (Jn. 1:4).

征符号。正如《创世记》1章所述，太阳和月亮摆列在天空中，不仅“作日子和年岁”也“作记号”。描述世界末日或重大灾难事件的段落最常提及太阳和月亮的预兆。四篇福音书都宣称，当耶稣基督被钉十字架时，太阳变暗了。末日来临时，太阳也将变暗，月亮也将不发光，但是在神获胜时，它们将再次放出加倍的光彩（赛 13:10, 30:26）。太阳和月亮最可怕和令人印象最深刻的征兆是日食和月食。多个段落中简洁而又明确地描述了这些天文现象（如，珥 2:31）。对神的子民来说，日食和月食是神的大能和权柄的象征，神禁止祂的子民像外邦人一样为这些天象惊慌。

《旧约》中最常用到的表示“太阳”的希伯来词语是 šemeš，所有的闪米特语言都有这个词语。《旧约》中不太常见的表示太阳的词汇包括：’ôr（意思是“光”，伯 31:26），ḥammâ（意思是“热”，通常与 l’bānâ 连用，表示月亮[赛 24:23]），heres（意思是“希列斯坡”，士 8:13）。《新约》中太阳用希腊词 hēlios 表示。在希伯来诗歌中，太阳通常作为恒久的象征：“他的名要存到永远，要留传如日之久”（诗 72:17）。在《传道书》中，短语“太阳下”指的是人活在尘世中。《创世记》1章称太阳为“大的光”。“清晨的翅膀”（诗 139:9）的比喻可能指的是太阳藏到云层中时透出的狭长的光束。在预言中，耶和華的信使被称为“公义的日头”（玛 4:2）。新约作者也采用关于太阳的比喻，称耶稣基督为“人的光”（约 1:4）。

The most common Hebrew word for “moon” is yārē (a)h, a word common to all Semitic languages. Other terms used for the moon include l̥bānā, meaning “white” and usually used in conjunction with ḥamma for the sun (Isa. 24:23); ḥōdeš, meaning “new moon” or “month” (Gen. 7:11); kissē, meaning “full moon” (Job 26:9); and yeraḥ, which is usually translated “month” (Dt. 33:14). In the NT, Gk. selēnē is used. It is interesting that there is no direct mention of the phases of the moon in the Bible. The Israelites could hardly have failed to notice this phenomenon, and that it is not directly mentioned strongly suggests that the Hebrews were aware of more astronomical phenomena than are actually recorded in the Bible. The Hebrews used a lunar calendar based on the actual observation of the young crescent moon. To ancient peoples moonlight was very important for travel and nighttime activity, and the return of the moonlit portion of the month was a cause for rejoicing. The moon was also used to determine religious festivals. The moon, like the sun, was used in Hebrew poetry as a symbol of permanence: “as long as the moon [endures], throughout all generations” (Ps. 72:5). In Gen. 1 it is called “the lesser light.”

The planets seem to have played a very small role in Hebrew astronomy, for there are only two possible references to planets in the Bible. The first is found in Am. 5:26. Here the Hebrew name kīyūn probably refers to Saturn, one of the major planets in the Babylonian astrology-religion. The Gk. rhaiphán in Acts 7:43 may be another name for the planet Saturn. See also KAIWAN.

行星在希伯来人的天文学中所起的作用似乎很小, 因为《圣经》中可能只提到过两次行星。第一次是在《阿摩司书》5:26 中。该段经文中的希伯来词 kīyūn 可能指的是土星, 它是巴比伦占星宗教中一个主要的行星。《使徒行传》7:43

C. Stars and Constellations. In the OT the stars are usually called Heb. kôkâbîm. As with the sun and the moon, the stars were created by God for giving light and measuring time. The other expression used for the stars, šebā' haššāmayim, means “host of heaven” (Gen. 2:1). This term usually means stars in general, but may also refer to the stars and planets worshiped by the Babylonians and by some Hebrews at the time of the last kings of Israel. The Hebrews were especially aware of three characteristics of the stars: their number, their distance or height, and their brightness. The great number of the stars made them a symbol of God’s prodigality and of any limitless number: “Look toward heaven, and number the stars, if you are able to number them.... So shall your descendants be” (Gen. 15:5). The distance of the stars was seen as a symbolic measure of God’s mercy and faithfulness: “Can you find out the limit of the Almighty? It is higher than heaven” (Job 11:7f.). Their brightness and infinitude often led the Hebrews to consider them as a type of the other celestial host, the holy angels: “The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches” (Rev. 1:20). The word star is also used to imply dignity: “And those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament; and those who turn many to righteousness like the stars for ever and ever” (Dnl. 12:3). The expression “day star” or “light-bringer” is used in a metaphoric reference to Christ as the one who causes God’s truth to

C. 众星和星座。《旧约》通常用希伯来词 kôkâbîm 表示众星。星星同太阳和月亮一样，也是神的受造物，它们为人们带来光明，帮助人们测定时间。另一个表示众星的词语是 šebā' haššāmayim，意思是“天象”（创 2:1）。这个词的通常含义是星星，但是也可以用来指巴比伦人和以色列最后一位国王统治时期一些希伯来人所崇拜的恒星和行星。希伯来人尤其注意星星的三个特点：星星的数量、众星的距离或高度和星星的亮度。众星象征着上帝的慷慨和无限的数量：“你向天观看，数算众星，能数得过来吗？……你的后裔将要如此”（创 15:5）。希伯来人认为众星之间的距离象征着神无尽的怜悯和信实：“你岂能尽情测透全能者吗？祂的智慧高于天”（伯 11:7-8）希伯来人经常认为星星的亮度和无限性代表着另一种天象，也就是圣洁的天使：“那七星就是七个教会的使者”（启 1:20）。星星一词也经常隐含着尊贵的含义：“智慧人必发光如同天上的光。那使多人归义的，必发光如星，直到永永远远”（但 12:3）。人们使用“晨星”或“光明的使者”来比喻基督，认为祂是用上帝的真理启人心智的那一位（彼后 1:19）。 illumine men's hearts (2 Pet. 1:19).

One of the first astronomical accomplishments of any people is the grouping of stars into constellations. There are three present-day constellations that are readily grouped and were known to nearly all ancient peoples: Ursa Major, Orion, and the Pleiades. The Hebrews certainly knew these and other constellations; but whether they are mentioned in the Bible is a matter of debate. Names that seem to refer to stars or constellations appear in the Bible. These names are so ancient that even the translators of the LXX had difficulty, and there is little agreement about which constellations some of these designate. Job 9:9 mentions Heb. 'āš (= 'ayiš in 38:32), k^esīl (cf. k^esīlīm, Isa. 13:10), kīmā, and hadrê tēmān. Other terms are m^ezārīm (Job 37:9) and mazzarôt (38:32) or mazzalôt (2 K. 23:5). The AV translation “Arcturus” for 'āš/'ayiš is almost certainly incorrect, for the word is generally considered a reference to Ursa Major and Ursa Minor (cf. RSV “the Bear”). Cases have also been made for its identification with Capella, the Hyades (cf. NEB), and the Pleiades. Most scholars think that m^ezārīm (RSV “scattering winds”) also refers to Ursa Major and Ursa Minor. K^esīl means “foolish,” probably a name for Orion, which could have been seen as the figure of a foolish man. The plural k^esīlīm is a way of referring to all the constellations of the heavens. Kīmā is almost certainly to be identified with the Pleiades. Hadrê tēmān, translated “chambers of the south,” could refer to the very bright section of the sky from Argus to Centauri that would have been visible on the southern horizon in Israel. It could also refer to the zodiac, or perhaps only the southern portion of the zodiac. The term mazzarôṭ (untranslated in Job 38:32, RSV) or mazzalôṭ (RSV “constellations”) is the most difficult to identify. It is similar to the Babylonian word for “planet” and the word for “section,” and is most often considered to be a term for the zodiac. It has also been regarded as the word for the morning and evening appearances of Venus, the five larger planets, or the stars that kept the hours of the night.

Other stellar phenomena besides constellations are mentioned in the Bible. The Hebrews, like the Egyptians, might have marked the passing of the year by noting which stars were the last to rise before the sun. They were aware that the stars had paths, or “courses,” as they moved through the night sky (Jgs. 5:20) and thus could be used to measure time. These timekeeping stars are probably what are indicated by “morning stars” (Job 38:7). There is some debate as to whether comets or meteorites are mentioned in the Bible. Astronomical phenomena are often used in descriptions of the End (cf. Mk. 13:25). It seems that the star Wormwood (Rev. 8:11) is a meteorite, and that a meteor shower is one of the apocalyptic phenomena (6:13). The Greek expression astéres planétai (“wandering stars”) in Jude 13 appears to be a reference not to the planets but to comets, as a metaphor for apostate teachers.

D. Astronomical Miracles in the Bible. In the Bible at least three astronomical miracles are recorded: Joshua ordering the sun to “be still” (Josh. 10:12–14), the shadow going back on the DIAL OF AHAZ

和“部分”的词很相似，人们通常认为这两个词指的是黄道带。有时也认为这两个词可以指早晚出现的金星、五大行星或标志夜晚时间的恒星。

除了星座，《圣经》中还提到了其他的星象。同埃及人一样，希伯来人可能也是通过观察日出前的最后一颗星来标记岁终。他们知道当星星穿过夜空时，它们都按照各自的轨道移动（士 5:20），所以他们利用星星计算时间。这些记录时间的星星可能就是经文中所提到的“晨星”（伯 38:7）。《圣经》中是否提到过彗星或流星，人们对此存在一些争议。《圣经》经常用天文现象描述末世景象（参：可 13:25）。茵陈星（启 8:11）似乎就是一颗流星，流星雨似乎是一种启示现象（启 6:13）。《犹太书》中的希腊词组“astéres planétai”（“游荡的星”）似乎指的不是行星而是彗星，它比喻的是叛教的师傅。

D. 《圣经》中的天文奇观。《圣经》中至少记载了三次天文奇观：约书亚叫日头停住（书 10:12–14），耶和华使亚哈斯的日晷（见 Dial of Ahaz[亚哈斯的日晷]）本该向前进的日影后退（王下

(2 K. 20:8–11), and the star of Bethlehem (Mt. 2:1–11). There are three common ways of attempting to understand miracles in the biblical narratives. The first is to try to find a natural explanation for an apparently supernatural phenomenon. Another way of interpreting the record is to understand it as poetical hyperbole. The third way is to regard the biblical narrative as an essentially accurate account of a truly supernatural event. The Bible itself suggests that these miracles are the mighty work of God and not astronomical flukes. The God of the Bible is the creator of all celestial objects and they bear witness to Him. He can certainly intervene and change their natural course.

Many explanations have been offered for the narrative of Joshua. Some have suggested that refraction was responsible for an optical illusion. Others have thought that the verb translated “stand still” should really be translated “be silent,” and that Joshua was commanding a cloud to cover the sun and shield his army from the heat. E. W. Maunder suggests that saying the sun “did not hasten to go down” is a way of saying that the Hebrew army did more than was usually possible in one afternoon. Whatever the explanation, it is certain that God intervened in some way and saved the Israelite nation. (See BETH-HORON, THE BATTLE OF.)

The narrative of the dial of Ahaz contains few details, so it has been difficult for anyone to form a convincing explanation. It is probably wisest to say that one cannot know what really happened, but that it is clear that the Lord did act and did save Hezekiah’s life.

20:8–11) 以及伯利恒上空的星 (太 2:1–11)。对于《圣经》中叙述的故事普遍存在三种解读。人们试着找到一种对显然的超自然现象的自然解释,这是第一种解读。第二种解读为,这是《圣经》作者诗意的夸张。第三种解读是,从本质上讲,《圣经》准确地记录了真实的超自然事件。《圣经》作者认为这些奇观是神所行的神迹,而不是天文学上的意外事件。《圣经》中的上帝是所有天体的创造者,它们也见证了上帝的存在。祂当然可以干预和改变它们运行的自然轨道。

关于亚哈斯的日晷的叙述并不详细,所以人们很难做出令人信服的解释。最明智的说法可能是,人们不知道到底发生了什么,但是显然主耶和华在其中做了功,挽救了希西家的生命。

One of the questions most commonly asked of astronomers and planetariums is: "What was the star of Bethlehem?" Various explanations have been offered. It could have been a comet, a new star, a variable star, Venus, a supernova, or a conjunction of Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn. All of these explanations fail in important ways. Another explanation is that it might have been a ball of fire especially created by God, similar to the pillar of fire that guided the Hebrews in the Sinai wilderness. One must realize that the narrative does not give a detailed description because the star itself was not important. It was mentioned only because it was a guide to the Christ child and a sign of His birth.

ASTYAGES

as-tī'ə-jēz [Gk. Astyagēs] (Bel 1). The last king of Media (585–550 B.C.), the son of Cyaxares I and predecessor of Cyrus. His name is also spelled Istuvigu. His wife was the daughter of Alyattes king of Lydia.

The daughter of Astyages (Mandane) married a Persian, Cambyses; and a son

人们最常向天文学家和行星仪提出的一个问题是：“伯利恒的星是什么？”人们对这一问题的解释各种各样。这颗星可能是彗星、新星、变星、金星、超新星、或火星、木星和土星同时出现。所有上述解释都忽视了某些重要的方面。还有一种解释认为这颗星是由上帝专门创造的一个火球，它与在西奈旷野中为希伯来人指引方向的火把很相似。人们必须意识到，经文中并没有给出关于这颗星的详细描述，这是因为这颗星本身并不重要。之所以提到这颗星，仅仅是因为它引导人们找到婴孩基督，是耶稣降生的异兆。

ASTYAGES 阿斯提阿格斯

音译: as-tī'ə-jēz【希腊语: Astyagēs】(龙 1)。玛代的最后一位国王(公元前 585–550)，基亚克萨雷斯一世的儿子，居鲁士的前任国王。他的名字也拼写为 Istuvigu。他的妻子是吕底亚国王的女儿阿利亚特。

阿斯提阿格斯的女儿(曼丹尼)嫁给了波斯人冈比西斯；他们生了一个儿子， was born to them who later became Cyrus the Great. Astyages had given orders to expose the baby, but a shepherd reared it to adolescence (Herodotus i.108–116). Cyrus II later revolted against his grandfather Astyages, who was defeated when his own vassals deserted him. Cyrus, the founder of the Persian empire, treated the dethroned monarch kindly.

ə-tär'gə-tis [Gk. Atargatis (2 Macc. 12:26), transliterating Heb. tr'th; the shortened form tr'th yields Gk. Derketō, "Derceto"]. The great goddess of the Arameans, consort of Hadad, called the "Syrian goddess" by the Greeks and Romans. Knowledge of her cult is obtained in part from Lucian De dea Syria (On the Syrian Goddess) and Apuleius Metamorphoses 8f. Her name is compounded from 'atar (the Aramaic reflex; Bab Ishtar, Sabeian and Ugar. 'ttr, Heb. Ashtoreth, Gk. Astarte) and 'attah (possibly Ate, a Greek goddess, or Attis, a Phrygian god, but this is quite uncertain; the Greek form with gamma suggests an original gáyin [cf. Gaza, Gomorrah, etc.]).

The principal cult center of Atargatis was at Hierapolis (Bambyce, modern Membidj) in Syria, NE of Aleppo. As a fertility-goddess, however, she was named Baalat (Lady, mistress) of numerous cities, just as we find city names compounded with "Baal." Her temple at Karnaim (Carnaim) in Gilead is mentioned in 2 Macc. 12:26, where Judas Maccabeus slaughtered those who had fled there for refuge.

Atargatis had attributes that can be compared with those of the Phoenician Astarte, to which have been added elements of the Babylonian Ishtar and the Anatolian mother-goddess Cybele. She is commonly portrayed wearing the mural crown, holding a sheaf of grain, and

ATARGATIS 阿塔迦

音译: ə-tär'gə-tis【希腊语: Atargatis (马二 12:26), 直译希伯来词 tr'th; 这个词的缩写形式 tr'th 源自希腊词 Derket, “德芝多”】。亚兰人的伟大女神, 哈达的配偶, 希腊人和罗马人称她为“叙利亚女神”。人们从琉善的作品 (De dea Syria, “论叙利亚女神”) 和阿普列乌斯的作品 (Metamorphoses 8-9) 中获得了关于崇拜这位女神的部分信息。她的名字是由 'atar (亚兰语人名, 巴比伦语中的伊师塔, 塞巴语和乌加里特语中的 'ttr, 希伯来语中的亚斯她录, 希腊语中的阿施塔特) 和 'attah (可能是希腊女神阿特或弗吕家女神阿提斯; 但是这一推测很不确定; 希腊语形式 gamma 源自 gáyin[参: 迦萨、蛾摩拉等]) 组成的)。

敬拜阿塔迦的主要中心位于叙利亚的希拉波立 (便彼斯, 今孟比得 [Membidj]), 该城位于阿勒波东北。但是, 当奉她为丰饶女神时, 许多城市却称她为巴拉特 (女士, 夫人), 正如我们看到的, 很多城市的名字中都包含了“巴力”一词。《马加比二书》12:26 中提到了位于基列加宁的阿塔迦神庙, 犹大·马加比屠杀了在该神庙中避难的人。

阿塔迦的特征可以与腓尼基女神阿施塔特的特征进行比较, 其中融合了巴比伦女神伊师塔和安纳托利亚母神西布莉的特点。通常情况下, 她头戴着金城冠, 手持一束谷物, 坐在一群狮子驮着的王座上。据说, 尼禄崇拜这位女神, 罗马士兵甚至将这位叙利亚女神的雕

at'ə-roth [Heb. ^atārôṯ—'crowns, wreaths'].

1. A town E of the Jordan, in Reubenite territory, fortified and occupied by Gadites (Nu. 32:3, 34). Represented by modern Khirbet 'Atṭārûs, it stands 4 mi. (6.5 km.) W of Jebel 'Atṭārûs in fertile grazing country. It was later taken by the Moabites (see MOABITE STONE IV).

2. A place on the border between Ephraim and Benjamin, toward the west (Josh. 16:2); probably the same as Ataroth-addar of 16:5 and 18:13. Smith (HGHL) identified this place with the present Atara on the high road from Jerusalem to Bethel, 3.5 mi. (5.5 km.) S of Bethel and 6 mi. (10 km.) E of upper Beth-horon.

3. A place in northeast Ephraim (Josh. 16:7), not far from Jericho; possibly modern Tell Sheikh edh-Dhiab.

ATAROTH 亚大录、亚他绿

音译: at'ə-roth 【希伯来语: ^atārôṯ——“花环”】。

1、约旦河以东的一座城邑，迦得人加固并占据了这座流便领地内的城邑（民 32:3, 34）。该地现名为阿塔鲁斯废墟（Khirbet 'Atṭārûs），位于土壤肥沃的牧区阿塔鲁斯丘陵（Jebel 'Atṭārûs）以西 4 英里（6.5 公里）处。后被摩押人占领（见 MOABITE STONE IV[摩押石碑 IV]）。

2、以法莲和便雅悯境界上的一个地名，靠近便雅悯的西界（书 16:2），这个地名可能就是《约书亚记》16:5 和 18:13 中的亚他绿亚达。史密斯（HGHL）认为该地在耶路撒冷和伯特利公路上，现名阿塔拉，位于伯特利以南 3.5 英里（5.5 公里）处，上伯和伦以东 6 英里（10 公里）处。

3、以法莲东北部的一个地名（书 16:7），距离耶利哥不远；可能就是今天的艾德狄阿布酋长遗址。

4、《历代志上》2:54（《修订标准译本》译为 ATROTH-BETH-JOAB[亚他绿伯约押]）可能理解为“约押人的王冠[首领]”，指的是伯利恒和尼陀法。《新英文译本》中将该词译为两个地名，亚他绿和伯约押；《钦定版圣经》译为亚他绿

Judah communities (1 S. 30:14, 16).

Many scholars are convinced, on the basis of Josh. 15:42; 19:7, that the text should read “Ether.” The LXX of 1 S. 30:30 is indefinite, with readings of Noo, Athach, Athag, Nageb, etc., for “Athach.” Likewise the text of Josh. 15:42 has Ithak in the B-text and Ather in A, where the MT has Heb. ‘eter. On the other hand, a comparison of the place names in Josh. 15:42; 19:7; 1 Ch. 4:32 with those listed in 1 S. 30:27–31 really gives no firm basis for considering the lists as parallel. The B reading of Josh. 15:42 is not convincing, for in Josh. 19:7 (A and B) the place is called Ether. The identification therefore remains uncertain.

ATHAIAH

ə-thā'yə [Heb. ^a*tāyā*—‘Yahweh is helper’] (Neh. 11:4). A descendant of Judah and the son of Uzziah. After the return from Babylon, he dwelt in Jerusalem. He is perhaps the same as Uthai in the parallel list at 1 Ch. 9:4.

ATHALIAH

ath-ə-lī'ə [Heb. ^a*talyā*, ^a*talyāhū*—‘Yahweh is exalted’; Gk. Gotholia].

那里掳来的（撒上 30:14, 16）。

根据《约书亚记》15:42 和 19:7 中的记载，许多学者认为这一地名应该是“以帖”。《七十士译本》中《撒母耳记上》30:30 中的表述非常模糊，将 Noo, Athach, Athag, Nageb 等词理解为“亚拈”。《梵蒂冈抄本》中《约书亚记》15:42 将亚拈译为 Ithak，而《亚历山太抄本》却将之译为 Ather，《马所拉文本》中希伯来词是 ‘eter。另外，如果将《约书亚记》15:42; 19:7; 《历代志上》4:32 中的地名与《撒母耳记上》30:27–31 中地名进行对比，人们就会发现，没有任何确凿的证据能证明它们指的是同一座城市。《约书亚记》15:42 的《梵蒂冈抄本》中的这个地名不能使人信服，因为《约书亚记》19:7（《亚历山太抄本》和《梵蒂冈抄本》）称这个地方为以帖。因此人们仍无法确定亚拈这个地方。

音译：ath-ə-lī'ə 【希伯来语：^a*talyā*, ^a*talyāhū*——“耶和华被高举”；希腊语：Gotholia】。

1、国王亚哈的女儿（王下 8:26; 11:1 起；代下 22:2 起）。经文中没有提到她的母亲；《圣经》中只提到了亚哈的一个妻子，也就是臭名昭著的耶洗别，但是亚哈显然还有其他妻子（参：王下 10:1）。人们很难根据年代证据推测亚她

chronological grounds to make Athaliah Jezebel's daughter, but Jezebel certainly exercised a strong influence over Athaliah, as the sequel shows.

During the childhood of Athaliah, the political relations of the kingdoms of Judah and Israel had, after many years of strife, become friendly; and she was married to Jehoram, eldest son of King Jehoshaphat of Judah (2 K. 8:18). The marriage was one of political expediency, and is a blot on the memory of Jehoshaphat.

When Jehoram was thirty-two years of age he succeeded to the throne, and Athaliah became queen of Judah. Like Jezebel, she exhibited a fanatical devotion to the cultus of the Tyrian Baal Melqart. Elijah's blow against the worship of Baal in Samaria shortly before her accession to power did nothing to mitigate her zeal; it probably intensified it. The first recorded act of Jehoram's reign is the murder of his six younger brothers. Some princes of the realm, who were known to favor the ancient faith of the nation, were also destroyed (2 Ch. 21:4). There can be little doubt that these deeds of blood were supported, and perhaps instigated, by Athaliah, who was a much stronger character than her husband.

After eight years of royal life, Athaliah became a widow, and her son Ahaziah, then twenty-two years old (2 K. 8:26; not 42 as in 2 Ch. 22:2), ascended his father's throne. As queen mother Athaliah was now supreme in the councils of the nation, as well as in the royal palace. Within a single year the young king fell (see JEHU), and the only persons who

利雅就是耶洗别的女儿，但是后文显示，耶洗别肯定对亚她利雅产生了很大的影响。

在亚她利雅幼年时代，犹大王国和以色列王国经过多年的冲突后终于和平相处；她嫁给了犹大国王约沙的大儿子约兰（王下 8:18）。这是一桩政治婚姻，也是约沙法记忆中的一个污点。

约兰三十二岁登基作犹大王，亚她利雅也就成为了犹大的王后。她和耶洗别一样，狂热地崇拜推罗人的神巴力。亚她利雅被封为王后之前不久以利亚就在撒玛利亚打击对巴力的崇拜，可是她的狂热不但没有减轻，反而变本加厉。经文中记载的约兰登基之后做的第一件事就是杀害了他的六个弟弟。犹大王国中几个崇尚民族古老信仰的首领也遭到了他的杀害（代下 21:4）。这些血腥的行为几乎无疑都出于亚她利雅的支持或教唆，在当时她是比她丈夫约兰还强悍的人物。

经过八年的王室生活后，亚她利雅成了一名寡妇，她的 22 岁的儿子亚哈谢（王下 8:26；不是代下 22:2 中所说的 42 岁）继承他父亲的王位。这时，亚她利雅作为太后，在犹大朝中和王宫中享有最高的地位。仅仅一年之后这位年轻的王就被杀害了（见 JEHU[耶户]），阻挡亚她利雅获得王位的人就只剩下她的孙子们。狂热的巴力崇拜助长了她的野心， stood between Athaliah and the throne were her grandchildren. Ambition, fired by fanaticism, saw its opportunity; and the massacre of the royal seed was planned and carried out. One of them, however, the baby Jehoash, escaped by the intervention of his aunt Jehosheba (2 K. 11:2; 2 Ch. 22:11).

With the palace cleared of its royal occupants, Athaliah had herself proclaimed sovereign. No other woman, before or since, sat upon the throne of David; and it is a proof of her energy and ability that, in spite of her sex, she was able to keep the throne for six years.

From 2 Ch. 24:7, where she is called “that wicked woman,” we gather that a portion of the temple of Yahweh was pulled down and the material used in the structure of a temple to Baal.

The high priest at this time was Jehoiada, who had married Jehosheba the daughter of Jehoram (2 Ch. 22:11). He proved staunchly, if secretly, true to the religion of Yahweh. For six years he and his wife concealed in their apartments, near the temple, the young child of Ahaziah. In the seventh year a counterrevolution was planned. The details are given with unusual fulness in Kings and Chronicles, the writings of which supplement one another, even if it is difficult to reconcile all the details of the two accounts. At the time of her deposition, Athaliah was resident in the royal palace. When roused to a sense of danger by the acclamations that greeted the coronation ceremony, she made an attempt to stay the revolt by rushing alone into the temple court; her guards, according to Josephus, had been prevented from following her (Ant.

她抓住了这次篡夺王位的机会；她预谋并屠杀了皇室后裔。然而，当时还是婴儿的约阿施，在其姑姑约示巴的庇护下，得以幸存（王下 11:2；代下 22:11）。

王宫内的反对势力都已被亚她利雅扫清，她宣布自己成为最高统治者。历史上掌控大卫王朝王位的女性只此一人；亚她利雅虽然身为女性，但是她掌权 6 年之久，这也证明了她的治国精力和能力。

《历代志下》24:7 中称她为“恶妇”，我们从这段经文可知，耶和華神殿部分被拆毀，拆下的建筑材料用在了建造巴力神庙上。

此时的大祭司是耶何耶大，他的妻子是约兰的女儿约示巴（代下 22:11）。他秘密信奉耶和華，但他的信仰忠诚而坚定。他和他的妻子将幼儿亚哈谢藏在神殿附近的家中，长达六年之久。在第七年，人们筹划了推翻亚她利雅的革命运动。《列王纪》和《历代志》中极为罕见地完整介绍了这次革命运动的细节，两部作品的内容虽不完全一致，但能够相互补充。当时亚她利雅还住在王宫内，她听到民众为新王加冕时的欢呼声，意识到了危险，她独自冲进了圣殿内想看个究竟；根据约瑟夫斯的记载，她的护卫队受到了阻拦（Ant. ix.7.3）。她瞥见王子站在圣殿前的高台上，手里拿着律法书，头戴着王冠。她撕裂衣服，喊叫说：“反了！反了！”她想逃跑，但管辖军兵的百夫长受命处死她，但不可在耶和華的殿里杀她，因为圣殿不能溅上这个邪恶的外邦人的血。因此，守卫把她带了出去，在王宫的入口处杀死

ix.7.3). With a quick glance she saw the lad standing on a raised platform before the temple, holding the Book of the Law in his hand and wearing the crown. Rending her robe and shouting “Treason! Treason!” she fled. Some were for cutting her down as she did so, but this was objected to as defiling the temple with human blood. She was therefore taken out, and killed at the palace entrance. It is clear from the two accounts (2 K. 11:4–20; 2 Ch. 23) that the counterrevolution was instigated by the priesthood, naturally enough in view of Athaliah’s predilection for Baal worship, and also that it had full popular support. The only allies Athaliah had were her personal troops, and presumably it was only their influence that kept her in power so long. Jehoiada’s first action was of necessity to win over their allegiance to Jehoash.

The Tyrian Baal cult perished from Judah with the death of Athaliah (2 K. 11:3; 2 Ch. 22:12). Her first year synchronizes with the first of Jehu of Israel, and may be dated 842 or 841 B.C.

她。从两处经文中的描述（王下 11:4–20；代下 23 章）可以清晰地看出，大祭司煽动了民众的革命运动，这自然是因为亚她利雅崇拜巴力崇拜所导致的，而这种崇拜也得到了广泛的支持。亚她利雅唯一的同盟就是她自己的军队，可能正是靠这些军队的影响力她才掌权如此之久。耶何耶大的首要行动必然是为约阿施赢得这些军队的效忠。

亚她利雅死后，推罗神巴力崇拜就从犹大中除尽了（王下 11:3；代下 22:12）。她的登记时间与以色列王耶户的登基作王时间相同，可能是公元前 842 年或公元前 841 年。

ath'ə-rim [Heb. ^atarîm]. AV SPIES. The route being followed by Moses and the Israelites when they were attacked by the king of Arad (Nu. 21:1). The location remains unidentified.

ATHBASH

ath'bash. An artificially contrived term designating a Semitic cipher. In this word (for Heb. 'tbs̄) the first alphabetic consonant is followed by the last, and the second by the next to the last. To form a cipher, the consonants from the beginning of the alphabet are substituted for those at the end of the alphabet in corresponding order, and vice versa. Thus the letters lbqmy of Jer. 51:1 become kśdym (kaśdîm), i.e., the Chaldeans. The clue for this was provided by the LXX of 28:1, which reads Chaldaious. In 51:41, ššk (AV Sheshach) is athbash for bbl, i.e., Babylon (cf. LXX 28:41). Why the cipher was used when elsewhere the nations are condemned so explicitly is unknown.

音译: ath'ə-rim 【希伯来语: ^atarîm】。《钦定版圣经》译为 SPIES (“探子”)。亚拉得王进攻时, 摩西和以色列人正沿着亚他林路行进 (民 21:1)。该地名位置不详。

ATHBASH 亚巴殊

音译: ath'bash。这是一个人为创造的虚拟词, 指的是一种闪米特人的加密法。这种加密法被称为 Athbash——一个由希伯来文第一个字母 (a)、最后一个字母 (th)、第二个字母 (b) 和倒数第二个字母 (sh) 组成的单词。在构成密码时, 以希伯来字母表中的最后一个字母代替第一个字母, 倒数第二个字母代替第二个字母, 依此类推, 反之亦然。因此, 《耶利米书》51:1 中的字母 lbqmy 经加密后就变成了 kśdym (kaśdîm), 也就是“迦勒底人”的意思。《七十士译本》《耶利米书》28:1 中提供了关于加密方法的线索, 这段经文中含有 Chaldaious 一词。在《耶利米书》51:41 中, ššk (《钦定版圣经》中的“示沙克”) 经过亚巴殊加密后, 变成了 bbl, 也就是“巴比伦”(参:《七十士译本》28:41)。人们不清楚为什么当其他的民族遭受谴责时也使用这种加密法。

ATHEISM 无神论

【衍生自希腊语: theos——“没有神”(弗 2:12)】。通常来说, 这个词的含义是否定神的存在、不信神或有神论的对立面。但是, 为了弄清这个词的不同含义, 我们必须从四个方面考虑这个词的含义。

meanings in which it has been used.

(1) Classical atheism does not mean a denial of the existence of a divine being, but the denial of the existence or reality of the god of a particular nation. Thus the early Christians were repeatedly charged with atheism, because of their disbelief in the gods of heathenism. Socrates' teaching cast a shadow on the reality of the existence of the gods, and this charge was brought against him by his contemporaries. Cicero also uses the word in this sense in his charge against Diagoras of Athens. Indeed, such use of it is common in all classical literature.

(2) Philosophic atheism does not necessarily imply lack of any belief in a divine being; but it is in contrast to the theism that affirms that God is a person, a self-conscious being, not merely a first cause or force. To deny this fundamental affirmation of theism is to make the teaching atheistic, a denial of that which is essential to theism (He. 11:3).

(3) Dogmatic atheism is the absolute denial of the existence of God. It has often been held that this kind of atheism is, in fact, impossible. It is true, however, that in all ages there have been persons who declared themselves absolute atheists. Especially is this true of the 18th cent., a period of widespread skepticism when many, particularly in France, professed themselves atheists. In many cases, however, it resulted from a careless use of the word, loose definition, and sometimes from the spirit of boastfulness.

(4) Practical atheism is to live as though there were no God. It takes the form of complete indifference to the claims of the

(1) 古典无神论并不否定神的存在，而是否定特定民族神明的存在或真实性。因此早期的基督徒经常遭到无神论的指控，因为他们不信异教神明。苏格拉底的教导体现出他不相信神明存在的真实性，他也因此遭到同时代的人的指控。当西塞罗谴责雅典的狄雅戈拉斯不相信神明存在时，也曾用到这个词的这层含义。实际上，在所有古典文献中，人们常见到这个词的这种用法。

(2) 哲学无神论并不一定意味着缺乏对神的信仰；它与宣扬神是一个人、一个有自我意识的主体，而不只是第一必然因或第一力量的有神论相对。否定有神论的这一根本主张也就提出了无神论的教义，否定了有神论的本质（来 11:3）。

(3) 教条主义无神论完全否定神的存在。实际上，人们通常认为这种无神论是不可能的。不过，从古至今确实有一些人宣称自己是绝对的无神论者。尤其是在 18 世纪，当时许多人怀疑神的存在，许多人（尤其是法国人）宣称自己是无神论者。但是，这就在很多情况下导致了人们滥用这个词，不严格地定义这个词的含义，有时还以此自吹自擂。

(4) 实用无神论就是人们好像在一个没有神的世界里生活。他们完全无视神的要求，直言不讳地否定神，邪恶地蔑

divine being, or of outspoken and defiant wickedness (Ps. 14:1). That this form of atheism is widely prevalent is well known. It is accompanied in many cases with some form of unbelief or prejudice or false opinion of the Church or Christianity. Dogmatic atheism is no longer a menace or even a hindrance to the progress of Christianity, but practical atheism is widespread in its influence and a dangerous element in our modern life (cf. Isa. 31:1; Jer. 2:13, 17f.; 18:13-15).

Whatever the form, whether it be that of religious agnosticism, denying that we can know that God exists; or critical atheism, denying that the evidence to prove His existence is sufficient; or dogmatic, or practical atheism, it is always a system of negation and as such tears down and destroys. It destroys the faith upon which all human relations are built. If there is no God there is no right nor wrong, and human action is neither good nor bad, but convenient or inconvenient. It leaves human society without a basis for order and human government without foundation (Rom. 1:18-32). All is hopeless, all is wretchedness, all is tending to the grave and the grave ends all.

Arguments against atheism may be summarized as follows: (1) It is contrary to reason. History has shown again and again how impossible it is to bring the mind to rest in this doctrine. Although Buddhism is atheistic in its teaching, idolatry is widespread in the lands where it prevails. While the Positive Philosophy of Auguste Comte was based on a denial of the existence of God, his attempt to found the new religion of humanity with rites and ceremonies of worship reveals how the longing for worship cannot be suppressed. It is a revelation of the fact so often seen in the history of human thought, that the mind cannot rest in the tenets of atheism.

视神 (诗 14:1)。众所周知, 这种无神论非常盛行。这种无神论有时还会对教会或基督教存有猜疑、偏见或者错误的观点。教条无神论已不再是一种威胁或阻碍基督教的发展, 但是实用无神论的影响范围却很广, 它是我们现代生活中面临的一大危险因素 (参: 赛 31:1; 耶 2:13, 17-18; 18:13-15)。

不论是哪一种无神论, 也不论它是否属于宗教不可知论, 它们都否定我们对神存在的认识; 或者批判无神论, 认为证明神存在的证据并不充足; 亦或属于教条主义无神论或实用无神论, 它终归是一种否定系统, 本身具有颠覆和破坏作用。它破坏了建立所有人类关系所依赖的信心。如果没有神, 也就没有了是与非, 人的行为没有了好坏之分, 只有方便与不便之分。它使人类社会失去了维护秩序的根本, 也使人类失去了治理的根据 (罗 1:18-32)。一切都变得无望, 一切都变得悲惨, 一切都走向灭亡, 而灭亡结束所有的一切。

反对无神论的论点可以概括如下: (1) 它有违理性。历史一再向人们证明无神论无法为心灵带来平静。虽然佛教奉行无神论, 但是在宣扬佛教的土地上却随处可见人们崇拜的佛像。虽然奥古斯特·孔德的实证哲学建立在否定神存在的基础之上, 但是他试图建立新的人类宗教, 这种宗教要有其敬拜仪式和礼节, 这反映出敬拜的渴望不可能被压制。人类思想史经常揭示的一个事实就是, 无神论的信条无法为人类的心灵带来平安。

(2) It is contrary to human experience. All history testifies that there are deep religious instincts within the human breast. To regard these as deceptive and unreasonable would itself be utterly unreasonable and unscientific. But the fact of such spiritual longing implies also that there is a Being who is responsive to and can satisfy the cry of the heart (He. 11:6).

(3) It fails to account for the evidence of design in the universe.

(4) It fails to account for the existence of man and the world in general. Here is the universe: how did it come to be? Here is man: how is he to be accounted for? To these and like questions, atheism and atheistic philosophy have no adequate answer.

(2) 它有违人类的经验。所有的历史都证明宗教本能深植于人类的心中。如果人们认为这些宗教本身带有欺骗性或不切实际,那么这种说法本身就是完全不切实际的,也是不科学的。但是,这种精神上的渴望也暗示出,有一种存在回应并满足了人类心里的诉求(来 11:6)。

(3) 无神论无法解释宇宙创造的证据。

(4) 它无法从整体上对人类和世界的存在作出解释。其中一个问题就是关于宇宙的存在:它是怎样产生的呢?还有人类:他们是如何产生的呢?对于这些问题和类似的问题,无神论和无神论哲学无法给出充分的解答。

ath'enz [Gk. Athēnai]. The most important city of Attica in antiquity, the capital of the same district in NT times, and the capital of the Republic of Greece in the modern era. The name has been derived, so it would seem, from that of the patron goddess Athena.

The city of Athens is important to biblical studies as the scene of Paul's famous Areopagus address (Acts 17:15–34). Having been driven from Beroea by the antagonism of the Jews, Paul waited in Athens for the arrival of his companions, who had remained in Beroea for a short time. It is not known whether Athens was included in Paul's program of evangelization or whether the opportunity and stimulus for his preaching in that city were provided by the circumstances he encountered.

The account in Acts does not make clear whether Paul approached Athens by land or by sea. If he came by sea he would have landed at Piraeus, which was the seaport of Athens and the base for her navy. Located 5 mi. (8 km.) from Athens, Piraeus was joined to the city by a corridor about 250 ft. (75 m.) wide protected by walls about 50 ft. (15 m.) high. Most likely Paul would have traveled outside these walls in a

ATHENS 雅典

音译：ath'enz【希腊语：Athēnai】。古阿提卡最重要的城市之一，新约时期阿提卡的首都，现代希腊共和国的首都。雅典这个名字似乎来自于该城市的守护女神雅典娜。

雅典城对于圣经研究很重要，因为保罗曾在雅典的亚略巴古发表了著名的演讲（徒 17:15–34）。保罗在庇哩亚呆了没多久，就被那里反对宣道的犹太人赶了出来，于是他来到雅典等候他的同伴。人们无法确定，保罗是否本来就打算在雅典传福音，或者当时他所遇到的情况使他受到了鼓舞，也为他在雅典传道提供了机会。

《使徒行传》并未清楚地描述保罗是通过陆路还是通过海路来到了雅典。如果他走的是海路，那么他应该在雅典的海港，也是雅典的海军基地比雷埃夫斯登陆。比雷埃夫斯距离雅典 5 英里（8 公里），一条宽约 250 英尺（75 米）的走廊将这座港口与雅典城连接在了一起，人们建了约 50 英尺（15 米）高的护墙来保护这条走廊。保罗很有可能沿着这些城墙的外围向东北走，最终来到了雅典。鲍桑尼亚说，他在这条道路上看到

northeasterly direction, on the road leading to Athens. On this road Pausanias claims to have observed “altars to gods called unknown.” The existence of inscriptions worded in the singular in accordance with the statement of Paul (Acts 17:23) has been questioned. McDonald, however, asserts knowledge of two late literary passages that refer to an unknown god (BA, 4 [1941], 1). Coming by this way, Paul would have entered the city from the west through the “dipylon” (double gate), from which a road continuing to the southeast led directly to the agora.

The agora in an ancient city was the focal point of political, commercial, and social life. Here, as well as in the synagogue, Paul engaged in discussion with the people, conspicuous among whom were the Stoics and Epicureans. The agora was a large open space enclosed by civic and religious buildings. Modern excavators have discovered the foundations of buildings that correspond substantially with the description of the agora given by the historian Pausanias. Among these were the Odeion, or music hall, the stoa of Attalos on the east, and two long parallel stoas on the south. A stoa was a long narrow pavilion with a colonnade on one side and a wall on the other. The stoas were the scene of public lectures and discussions. The circular Tholos on the west was the meeting place of the executive sections of the Athenian Council of five hundred. Also on the west were: the Bouleuterion, where the Council met; the Metroön, the sanctuary of the Mother of the Gods; the temple of Apollo Patroös; and the stoa of Zeus Eleutherios. The temple of Ares was toward the center of the open area of the

古雅典的市集是当地人的政治、商业和社会生活的中心。保罗在市集上和犹太会堂中与那里的人们争论，这些人当中就包括著名的斯多亚学派和伊壁鸠鲁的学派。雅典市集是一片宽敞的空地，四周是一些民用建筑和宗教建筑。现代的发掘者发现了这些建筑的地基，它们与历史学家鲍桑尼亚所描述的市集大体一致。这些建筑包括东面的小剧院或音乐厅和阿塔罗斯柱廊，以及南面的两个细长的平行柱廊。柱廊是一座细长狭窄的亭子，一面是一排柱子，另一面是一堵墙。柱廊也是公开演讲和讨论的地方。西面的圆形建筑（Tholos）是雅典的行政组织，五百人会议开会的地方。西面的建筑还有议会开会的议事厅；自然女神庙、母神庙、阿波罗神庙和宙斯柱廊。阿瑞斯神庙正对着市场开阔地的中心。

The AREOPAGUS was directly S of the agora, and the Acropolis was to the southeast. The Acropolis, a commanding hill 512 ft. (156 m.) high was customarily approached from the west, through an ornamental gateway known as the Propylaea. Here on the south stood the small temple of Wingless Victory. The top of the hill was dominated by the Parthenon, which contained a gold and ivory statue of Athena made by Phidias, Pericles' sculptor. The Erechtheion stood on the north. This was a temple erected in honor of Erechtheus, the semidivine hero who is reputed to have been the first king of Athens, though we cannot be sure that he was more than a legendary character. The Prytaneion, or town hall, where the sacred fire of the city was always kept aflame, was on the north slope of the Acropolis, E of the Agora. North of the Prytaneion the Roman Forum was built through the generosity of the Caesars, Julius and Augustus. When Paul visited Athens, the temple of Olympian Zeus stood unfinished, SE of the Acropolis. When it was completed, this structure, known as the Olympeion, was the largest temple in all Greece. The Odeion, or music hall of Pericles, and the theater of Dionysos stood S and SW of the Acropolis, respectively. The temple of Hephaistos was located W of the agora on a small hill known as the Kolonos Agoraios. In the past this temple has been identified wrongly, at times, as the temple of Theseus. That it is indeed the Hephaisteion, the temple of the god of fire and metallurgy, has been confirmed by the discovery of numerous metalworking shops on the slopes of the hill on which it stands. The Acropolis,

After more than four hundred years in which Athens was ruled by archons, Solon (ca. 594 B.C.), himself an archon, with the approval of the aristocracy changed the whole organization of the state, encouraging agriculture and commerce. The period 560–510 B.C. was one of despotism, and one of prosperity as well. Cleisthenes founded the democracy in the years following 509 B.C. He succeeded in removing class distinctions, forming a

Although Athens defeated the Persians at Marathon in 490 B.C., the city was threatened by Persian invasion again in 480. At this time, under the leadership of Themistocles, the fleet was enlarged and victory was gained. The golden years of Athens were those between 443 and 429 B.C. when with the leadership of Pericles the democracy was developed fully. More spectacular than the political progress, however, were the cultural attainments—the erection of temples and public buildings, the creation of works of art, and the development of drama, ethics, rhetoric, logic, and history.

The English word “atonement” traces its origin to the 16th century. The New Oxford Dictionary indicates that in the first instance it appeared as two separate words “at onement” (cf. Acts 7:26, AV; Gk. eis eirēnēn), but it soon became a quasi-technical theological term. Sir Thomas More employed it in 1513, and in 1526 William Tyndale used it to translate Gk. katallagē in 2 Cor. 5:18. In the Bible the idea of atonement occurs much more widely than the actual use of either kāpar or katallagē would seem to indicate.

英语单词 “atonement” (“赎罪”) 的使用可以追溯到公元 16 世纪。在《新牛津词典》中, “atonement” 的第一个例子似乎将这个分成了两个词 “at onement” (参: 徒 7:26, 《钦定版圣经》; 希腊语: eis eirēnēn), 但这个词很快就成为了一个半专业的神学词汇。托马斯·莫尔爵士于 1513 年使用了这个词, 1526 年, 威廉·廷代尔用这个词翻译《哥林多后书》5:18 中的希腊词 katallagē。赎罪的观点普遍的存在于《圣经》之中, 实际使用 kāpar 或 katallagē 表达赎罪含义远没有这一观点出现得范围广。

I. Atonement in the Bible.-The doctrine of the atonement holds a central place in biblical doctrine. Both the OT and NT continually deal with the subject, for the concept of “the covenants” or “testaments” is fundamentally bound up with the idea of atonement for sin (Lk. 22:19f.; He. 9). Moreover, the origin of atonement is always referred back in the Bible to the eternal plan, purpose, and grace of God (2 Tim. 1:9f.; Eph. 1:4; Jn. 17:6ff.). Thus it appears as a basic and altogether indispensable theme of Christianity.

I. 《圣经》中的赎罪。赎罪的教义在圣经教义中处于中心位置。《旧约》和《新约》都频繁地阐述了这一主题, 因为从根本上说, “约” 或 “圣约” 的观念与

As a presupposition to the doctrine of atonement, however, one must consider the doctrine of the fall of man. Gen. 1f. teaches that God created all things perfect and according to His own sovereign plan and purpose. At the summit of this creation He placed man, who possessed a free will. At the same time God subjected man to a test, so that he could attain to a knowledge of good and evil by facing temptation, which he might overcome or to which he might succumb, by the use of his will. Man failed this test, falling into sin by his denial of the sovereignty of God and his assertion of independence from the Creator (Gen. 3:4ff.). This disobedience immediately brought man under the condemnation of God, who punished him with both physical and spiritual death. This punishment applied not merely to the original offenders, but, by virtue of the solidarity of the human race, to all those physically descending from Adam (Rom. 5:12ff.).

No sooner had God revealed to man this judgment than He also set before him the promise of redemption. Gen. 3:15 contains the promise (often known as the protevangel) in which God says that the “seed of the woman” will crush the head of the tempter. Here one finds a revelation of ultimate salvation. In the meantime, however, ritual sacrifice came into the picture, for Cain and Abel offered sacrifices to God, apparently for the expiation of sin (Gen. 4:3–7). Cain offered of the fruit of the ground, while Abel offered animal sacrifice. Whether the differences in the sacrifices had any importance is not explained, but in He. 11:4 the writer states that the reason Abel's offering achieved acceptance while Cain's did not was that Abel offered his sacrifice in faith. Thus from the beginning of redemption-history, sacrifices offered in faith assumed a central place in the matter of atonement.

但是，人类堕落的教义是赎罪教义的前提，所以人们还必须考虑到这一教义。《创世记》1-2 章教导人们，上帝根据祂最高的计划和祂的旨意完美地完成了对万物的创造。祂上帝将拥有自由意志的人类置于祂所有的受造物之上。祂同时让人类经受试炼，好让他在面对试炼时能够知道何为善，何为恶，他也能够凭借自己的意志判断哪些他可以战胜，哪些东西他必须屈服。人类未能通过上帝的试炼，因为他们否定祂的最高主权，并宣布摆脱造物主的统治（创 3:4 起），所以人犯了罪。上帝立即为不顺从祂的人定了罪，那人要受到肉体和精神死亡的双重惩罚。不仅最初冒犯祂的人要受到惩罚，而且所有亚当的子孙都要受到惩罚，因为他们同属于人类家族（罗 5:12 起）。

上帝刚向人类揭示了祂的审判，就允诺祂会救赎人类。《创世记》3:15 中包含了上帝的允诺（人们通常称之为预表福音），上帝说，“女人的后裔”要伤撒但的头。人们在这里看到了上帝所揭示的最后的救赎。但与此同时，宗教献祭也开始出现，因为该隐和亚伯向耶和華献上供物显然是为了赎罪（创 4:3-7）。该

During the patriarchal period sacrifice held a similar position in the lives of God's people. One of the first actions taken by Noah after he came out of the ark was to build an altar and offer sacrifices to God, who because of the sacrifice promised never again to destroy man from the earth (Gen. 8:20ff.). Abraham and his descendants likewise sacrificed to God, apparently looking forward to the time when one would come who would make full atonement for their sins (Gen. 13:18; 26:25; 33:20; 35:6; cf. Jn. 8:56ff.; Rom. 4:3ff.). How clearly the patriarchs understood the meaning of their sacrifices one cannot say, but that they had a concept of vicarious atonement seems quite clear (cf. Job 1:5).

The Exodus of Israel from Egypt brings forth a much clearer revelation of atonement. Israel had no doubt identified herself with her masters to such an extent that she had lost much of her knowledge of the divine revelation to the patriarchs. When God in accordance with His covenant called His people forth from

隐拿地里的出产为供物献给耶和華，而亞伯獻燔祭。兩種供物之間是存在差異的，但是經文並沒有解釋這種差異的重要性，但是在《希伯來書》11:4中，該章經文作者說，神看中了亞伯的祭物，該隱的祭物不受悅納，是因為“亞伯因着信，獻祭與神”。因此，從救贖史開始，因信獻祭就被認為是獲得救贖的關鍵。

在族長時期，獻祭在上帝子民的生命中占有相似的地位。挪亞進入方舟之後首先要做的事就包括建造祭壇和向上帝獻祭，因為挪亞向神獻祭，所以上帝允諾挪亞不再從地上將人類除滅（創 8:20 起）。亞伯拉罕和他的子孫也向上帝獻祭，顯然盼望那位完全贖去他們身上罪的人的到來（創 13:18; 26:25; 33:20; 35:6; 參：約 8:56 起；羅 4:3 起）。雖然人們無法確定這些族長是否清晰地了解他們所獻祭物的含義，但是他們似乎非常明白替人贖罪的概念（參：伯 1:5）。

以色列人出埃及更清晰地表明了贖罪的含義。毫無疑問，以色列人非常了解他們與主的关系，他們已無法知曉上帝向他們的列祖所揭示的許多知識。上帝曾依照所立之約從埃及召喚祂的子民，祂以基督代贖再次召喚他們。因為埃及違抗神的旨意，他們中頭生的都被殺了；只有那些受到逾越節的羊羔的血保

Egypt, He did so by vicarious sacrifice, which stood for atonement. For Egypt's rebellion against His commands the eldest sons died; only those protected by the blood of the Passover lamb escaped (Ex. 12:27; cf. 1 Jn. 2:29). Thus at the heart of the Passover stands the idea of atonement through believing sacrifice. Release from Egypt was its fruit.

The Mosaic law contains even fuller reference to the concept of atonement by sacrifice. Lev. 1-7 shows clearly what emphasis the ritual of the tabernacle laid upon this theme. The covenant between God and Israel as represented by the services of the sanctuary had its roots firmly embedded in this teaching, the ultimate manifestation coming upon the Day of Atonement (see ATONEMENT, DAY OF). At that time the priest both offered a sacrifice and sent forth the scapegoat as atonements for the people (Lev. 16:1-34; 23:27-32; cf. He. 9:7-12). In all the teaching involved in the Mosaic law, God made it very clear that atonement, the covering of sin, could result only from some innocent individual's taking upon himself the penalty due, although not the guilt of, the sinner. Such atonement now lost the purely individual or family character it had had during patriarchal times, and, mediated by the Aaronic priesthood, took on a national character by virtue of the covenant relation between God and Israel.

Following the conquest of Palestine, Israel's adherence to the Mosaic law and to the requirements of the covenant rose and fell frequently. Under the judges the people set up high places for sacrifice in various parts of the country; but under the unifying influence of the monarchy,

护的人逃过一劫（出 12:27；参：约壹 2:29）。因此，逾越节中就蕴含了因着信献祭可以赎罪的观点。摆脱埃及的压迫就是赎罪的结果。

摩西律法中更加全面地阐述了关于献祭赎罪的概念。《利未记》1-7 章清晰地展示出会幕仪式对于这一主题的重视程度。圣殿中侍奉所体现出的耶和华神与以色列所立的约深深植根于最终的救赎将在赎罪日到来的教义（见 ATONEMENT, DAY OF[赎罪日]）。在那时，祭司不仅献上祭物，还带来一只公山羊作为赎罪祭（利 16:1-34；23:27-32；参：来 9:7-12）。所在摩西律法所包含的教导中，上帝非常清晰楚地告知人们关于赎罪的教导，只有某些无罪的祭物才能代人受罚，遮盖罪人的罪，无论人的罪是否是故意所犯。此时的赎罪与族长时期赎罪不同，不再仅仅是为某个人或某个家族赎罪，这种赎罪受到了亚伦祭司职分的调解，因为耶和华神与以色列所立的约，这种赎罪带有民族性。 particularly during the reigns of David and Solomon, the sacrifices became, as they had been intended to be, the prerogative of the priesthood serving the tabernacle and later the temple in Jerusalem. God required that one could find atonement for sin only through the sacrifice offered by the appointed priest, or, in certain extraordinary cases, a prophet (1 S. 13:8; 1 K. 18:21ff.). Furthermore, the sacrifices had to originate in the sinner's repentance and faith. Thus, while Israelites might perform the ceremonies, unless these two subjective elements indwelt the sinners, no covering of sin availed (Isa. 1:10ff.; Jer. 7:21). After the division of the kingdom and the steady spiritual decline first of Israel and then of Judah, the prophets continually stressed the need for atoning sacrifice whereby repentant believers might find redemption and reconciliation. At the same time they suggested more and more that this would ultimately find fulfillment in one who was to come (Isa. 53; 63:9; Jer. 23:6f.; 33:15).

以色列人在征服巴勒斯坦之后，仍遵守摩西律法和圣约中的要求，但也经常做出有违律法和圣约的事。士师时期，人们在国内各地建立起了祭坛；但是受到统一的君主政治的影响，尤其是在大卫和所罗门统治时期，献祭成为祭司在会幕、后来在耶路撒冷的圣殿中奉行的特

The captivity of Israel and Judah in Assyria and Babylonia did much to turn Israel's mind toward the importance of sacrifice, while at the same time it had certain unfortunate results. Although the believing remnant continued to trust in God's ordained means of atonement even though sacrifice at Jerusalem had ceased, many of the people prided themselves increasingly on their covenant relationships and on fulfillment of the law as their means of forgiveness (2 Ch. 36:14ff.). Yet the postcaptivity prophets continually taught that forgiveness and acceptance by God could come to man only through atoning sacrifice accepted by faith. Based upon all the earlier teaching, the prophets pointed forward to the coming of one whom Zechariah called “the branch” (6:12), and Malachi “the messenger” (3:1) and “the sun of righteousness” (4:2), who would redeem and save His people.

权，而献祭本来就是祭司的职分。上帝命令道，只有指定的祭司可以为人们献赎罪祭，或在某些特殊场合先知也可以这样做（撒上 13:8；王上 18:21 起）。此外，只有当罪人悔改并怀有信心时，祭物才能被神悦纳。因此除非有罪的以色列人既悔改了，又有信心，否则即使他们举行献祭仪式，也无法赎罪（赛 1:10 起；耶 7:21）。王国分裂之后，以色列和犹大的灵首先开始逐渐堕落，后来犹大也开始堕落，先知们一再强调人们需要献上赎罪祭，只有藉着赎罪，悔改的信徒才可能得到救赎，才能与神和好。他们同时多次暗示人们，只有那将要到来之人才能实现最终的救赎（赛 53；63:9；耶 23:6-7；33:15）。

By the close of OT times, therefore, the Jews had a well-developed concept of atonement. In the minds of most of them, no doubt, it had a largely mechanical character, repentance and faith being for the most forgotten while they laid great stress upon ceremonial and legal exactitude. Nevertheless, for the believing remnant their hope had its focus on Him who would come with healing in His wings to atone for sin. To announce this promised One, John the Baptist came preaching repentance. The OT economy had fulfilled its function of preparing the way for the Redeemer (Gal. 3:19ff.).

The Synoptic Gospels, Matthew, Mark, and Luke, set forth very clearly that the Lord Jesus Christ was the fulfillment of the OT types and prophecies concerning a Redeemer and that He fulfilled His office by substitutionary atonement. In both accounts of the Annunciation, it is stressed that the promised child would save His people from their sins (Mt. 1:21; Lk. 1:31ff.). During the early part of His ministry as reported by the Synoptics, Christ seems to have laid great emphasis upon a demand for repentance and for righteousness that exceeded that of the Pharisees. Nevertheless, underlying all the accounts one finds a constant reference to His saving power, which Matthew links directly to Isa. 53 and the concept of substitution (Mt. 8:17). From the time of Peter’s confession of His deity, Christ continually reiterated that He had come to die for men, although the disciples did not understand His statements (Mt. 16:20ff.; Lk. 9:18ff.). Not until the eve of the crucifixion did it become clear that He must die, shedding His blood and giving His body for the remission of sins (Mt. 26:26ff.; Mk. 14:22ff.; Lk. 22:19ff.). Even after His resurrection the Synoptists show that the disciples did not yet fully understand His work (Lk. 24:13ff.).

因此，至旧约时代末期，犹太人已经形成了一套成熟的赎罪观念。毋庸置疑，在大多数犹太人的思想中，赎罪是一种非常呆板而机械的行为，他们将悔改和信心抛之脑后，反倒特别强调仪式和律法。然而，信靠神的剩民仍寄希望于神，相信祂的翅膀有医治之能，可以为他们赎罪。为了宣布拯救者的到来，施洗约翰宣讲悔改的福音。旧约完成了为救世主到来作准备的使命（加 3:19 起）。

With the coming of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost, the apostles gained a clearer understanding of the atoning character of Christ's work on Calvary. Through the leading, revelation, and inspiration of the Holy Spirit, Peter, Paul, and others set forth in their preaching and their letters with increasing clarity what Christ had achieved by His death and resurrection. Romans, Galatians, and Colossians expound His atoning work most clearly, but none more than Hebrews or the writings of Peter. To the NT Church, Christ had fulfilled all the prophecies and types of the OT by making final and full atonement for sin.

One must see the writings of John in the light of this NT development, for in his work one obtains some of the clearest statements of the doctrine of atonement. In his accounts of Christ's various sermons (Jn. 3, 6, 8, 10) he brings out points that the other Evangelists do not stress. Here, as in his Epistles, the concept of vicarious atonement accepted in repentance and faith becomes crystal clear (1 Jn. 2:2; 3:5; Rev. 5:9). Thus by the close of the canon of the NT a doctrine of atonement had come to full expression, although even to this day the

22:19 起)。对观福音描述说，甚至在耶稣复活后，门徒都没有完全理解祂所作的事（路 24:13 起）。

圣灵在五旬节降临时，信徒们更加清晰地知晓了基督在骷髅地所完成的救赎。藉着圣灵的指引、启示和感动，彼得、保罗等人逐渐开始在讲道和书信中清晰地描述基督受难和复活所取得的成就。《罗马书》、《加拉太书》和《歌罗西书》非常清晰地阐述了基督的赎罪工作，但其表述清楚度都不比不上《希伯来书》或彼得作品中的描述。对于新约时期的教会来说，基督通过最后为世人赎罪，应验了《旧约》中的预言和预示。

人们必须根据《新约》中的这种发展脉络来阅读约翰的作品，因为人们可以在他的作品中看到一些关于赎罪教义的最为清晰的阐述。在他描述基督的各种传道时（约 3, 6, 8, 10），他提出了其他福音书作者都不曾强调的观点。约翰在此处和他的使徒书信中极为清晰地阐述了因人悔改和信心基督才替人赎罪的概念（约壹 2:2; 3:5; 启 5:9）。因此，《新约》正典最终清晰地阐述了赎罪的教义，虽然直到今天教会也没有对此进行系统完整地阐述（见下文 III）。

Church has not brought forth a complete systematic statement of the doctrine (see III below).

II. Interpreting the Atonement.-The Scriptures lay down certain basic statements and principles that seem to point quite clearly to the proper interpretation of the atonement.

(1) The need for atonement. The Bible plainly sets forth the doctrine that man as a sinner is guilty of breaking the law of God, of contravening His righteousness. God has, therefore, judicially delivered man over to his own will so that corruption has entered in, whereby he has lost all desire to serve God (Rom. 1:17ff.; 5:12ff.). This means that man has no ability to save himself, for he does not realize his need nor has he the righteousness to provide atonement for his sin.

(2) God's love. Although God has given man over to his own sinful waywardness, He has not ceased to love man. Man has not ceased by his sin to be God's creature and a man. Therefore, despite his sinfulness God desires fellowship with him, and this can be restored only by divine forgiveness (Jn. 3:16; Acts 4:4).

(3) God's justice. God is love; He is also righteousness and truth. Consequently in His righteousness and truth He cannot accept sinful man as though he were perfect. Man's rebellion and sin merit, even demand, just punishment, for he has denied God, worshiping the creature rather than the Creator (Rom. 1:17ff.). The divinely ordained penalty for sin, which is in reality the denial of God, is God's denial of man, bringing death (Jer.

II. 解释赎罪。《圣经》提供的一些基本描述和一些基本原则似乎为人们恰当地解释赎罪指明了方向。

(1) 赎罪的需要。《圣经》直白地提出了如下的教义，人类如果违背神的律法和公义就是犯罪。因此，神任凭他们堕落，由此他们失去了侍奉神的欲望（罗 1:17 起；5:12 起）。这意味着人类没有能力拯救自己，因为他们没有意识到赎罪的需要，也没有意识到公义是赎罪的需要。

(2) 神的爱。虽然神任凭世人犯罪，但是祂一直爱着他们。世人虽然犯了罪，但他们仍是神的创造之物，仍是人类的一员。因此，尽管世人有罪，神依然与他们同在，只有得到神宽恕的人才能赎掉身上的罪（约 3:16；徒 4:4）。

(3) 神的公义。神就是爱、公义和真理。因此，秉持公义和真理的神不能将罪人看成是完全的人。人类叛逆有罪，他们不认主，不侍奉神，反倒敬拜受造之物，因此理应、甚至需要受到公义的惩罚（罗 1:17 起）。世人因在现实中犯了不认神的罪而受到祂的惩罚，他们因罪死亡（耶 31:30；罗 6:23）。因此，面对神的公义，世人必须在神悦纳他们、宽恕他们之前受到惩罚。

31:30; Rom. 6:23). Thus, in the face of God's justice man must pay the penalty before God will accept and forgive him.

(4) God's eternal covenant. To fulfil both God's love and His justice, only God could take the initiative. This He did in eternity by His covenant of grace. Within the triune Godhead a covenant was established whereby the second person of the trinity, the Son, took upon Himself the representation of God's elect, for whom He would obtain salvation; and to Him it was covenanted that in His mediatorial work as God incarnate He would receive the fulness of the Holy Spirit that He might accomplish the work of atonement (Jn. 6:37f.; 17:6; Gal. 3:17; Eph. 1:4ff.; He. 2:11ff.).

(5) Accomplishment of atonement. As the God-man, the Lord Jesus Christ became man and obeyed the law of God perfectly on man's behalf, fulfilling all righteousness. Then He suffered and died on Calvary's cross, bearing the penalty of man's rebellion. He could not take unto Himself man's guilt since He had not sinned, but He could and did assume the penalty of sin: eternal death. Thus He made atonement for sin, voluntarily submitting Himself to the law in both its positive and negative aspects, manifesting both active and passive obedience, that man might be saved from the just wrath of God (Isa. 53; Jn. 10:11ff.; Rom. 3:24ff.; Gal. 3:13; 4:5; He. 8).

(6) The scope of atonement. The question then arises as to the identity of those for whom Christ made atonement. Did He atone for all sin? That He could, no Christian would deny. Some declare that

(4) 神的永约。只有神爱世人和秉持公义时，世人才能感受到神的爱和公义。祂藉着永恒的恩典之约展现了祂的爱和公义。这约是与三一真神所立的，由此，三位真神的第二个位格——圣子，代神的选民赎罪；世人与祂下了约，道成肉身的耶稣要在神面前为世人代求，祂也将被圣灵充满，完成赎罪的工作（约 6:37-38； 17:6； 加 3:17； 弗 1:4 起； 来 2:11 起）。

(5) 赎罪的完成。神人合一的主耶稣基督成为了完全的人，作为世人的代表祂谨遵神的律法，成就了所有的公义。然后，耶稣受难，被钉在骷髅地的十字架上，为世人的叛逆受罚。祂本不用承担世人的罪行，因为祂并没有犯罪，但是祂可以也确实承担了罪的惩罚，也就是永恒的死亡。因此，祂替人赎罪，自愿服从律法的奖惩，选择主动和被动的顺从，从而将世人从神的忿怒中拯救出来（赛 53； 约 10:11 起； 罗 3:24 起； 加 3:13； 4:5； 来 8）。

(6) 赎罪的范围。于是问题出现了，耶稣到底为谁赎罪？祂为所有的罪人赎罪吗？所有的基督徒都不会否认祂可以这么做。有些人说祂确实是为所有人赎罪，所以祂最终会拯救所有人。还

He did atone for all, so that eventually He will save all men. Others hold that He atoned “hypothetically” for all, but in actuality only for those who believe on Him. Others teach that He atoned sufficiently for all but effectively only for His elect people. This is usually known as the doctrine of the “limited” or “definite” atonement. What it affirms is that although God loves the world and would that all men should repent, He has sovereignly willed that Christ should make atonement only for those chosen in Him before the foundation of the world (Eph. 1:4; Jn. 6:39; 10:15; 17:6, 9, 12, 19f.). Thus Christ effectively atoned for the sins of His people and for them alone.

(7) The application of the atonement. Sinful man participates in the benefits of Christ’s atoning work only by faith. Such faith, however, comes not out of man’s own will or heart but by the work of God, for faith is the gift of God’s Spirit as a result of the Covenant of Grace. By the Spirit Christ applies the atonement to those for whom He has made atonement. The application is as wide as its scope (Jn. 6:57; 14:16ff.; Rom. 8:15, 28ff.; 1 Cor. 1:26ff.; Eph. 2:5ff.; Col. 2:13ff.).

(8) The atonement and the world. In the mystery of God’s action He offers the atonement to the world sincerely and freely. But in so offering it He also judges the world, for it refuses the benefits of the atoning death of Christ, counting it an unholy thing and preferring to assert either its own independence and self-righteousness or its indifference. Yet the world cannot escape the effects of the atonement, for God by His common grace restrains sin and the chaos it would bring, for the sake of the elect, that they may be brought to faith in the atoning work of Christ.

有人说耶稣为所有人赎罪只是一个假设，实际上祂只为祂的信徒赎罪。也有人说祂足可以为所有人赎罪，但是实际上只有神的选民获得了救赎。这通常被人们称为“限定救赎”或“确定救赎”的教义。可以肯定的是，虽然神爱世人，也愿万人悔改，但是祂以最高主权命令基督只为创世之前在基督里拣选的人赎罪（弗 1:4；约 6:39；10:15；17:6, 9, 12, 19-20）。因此，基督实际上只救赎了祂的选民。

（7）赎罪的应用。有罪的人只有藉着信心才能得到基督赎罪工作的益处。然而，信心不是来自于人的意志或心意，而是来自于神的工作，因为信心是神的灵通过恩典之约赏赐给世人的礼物。基督藉着神的灵为祂要救赎的人赎罪。赎罪必须在其范围内应用（约 6:57；14:16起；罗 8:15, 28起；林前 1:26起；弗 2:5；西 2:13起）。

（8）赎罪和世人。神的行为是神秘的，祂真诚而又自由地为世人赎罪。但祂既为世人赎罪，也审判世人，因为他拒绝基督以死赎罪所带来的益处，并认为那是不洁净的事物，他们还宁愿选择自主和伪善或选择漠不关心。但是世人无法逃脱赎罪的影响，因为神为了祂的选民，以普世的恩典抑制了罪恶和罪恶带来的混乱，所以他们可以因基督赎罪而信靠基督。

(9) The consummation of the atonement. The atonement will reach its consummation when Christ as the glorified redeemer returns to take His people unto Himself. Then shall His work have full manifestation in that all those for whom He made atonement will be revealed in eternal glory (Mt. 24:34ff.; Rom. 8:19ff.; 1 Thess. 4:13ff.).

Thus in summary one may say that the doctrine of the atonement as revealed in the Scriptures is centered on the work of Christ and forms the core of the Christian faith, the heart of the Christian interpretation of history.

III. History of the Doctrine.—Since the atonement is a work of inexhaustible significance, and the NT presentation is itself so rich and varied, one need not be surprised that from early times different understandings have competed with or complemented one another. Thus already in the Apostolic Fathers and Apologists,

(9) 赎罪的圆满完成。当荣耀的救世主基督带领祂的选民归向祂时，赎罪就圆满完成了。那时祂的所有工作将完全显现出来，所有得到基督救赎的人将看到祂所揭示的永恒的荣耀(太 24:34 起；罗 8:19 起；帖前 4:13 前)。

总之，人们可以说《圣经》中揭示的赎罪教义集中体现在基督的工作上，这一教义也构成了基督教信仰的核心，也成为基督徒阐述历史的一个要素。

III. 赎罪教义的历史。因为赎罪是一项具有永恒意义的工作，《新约》中展现的赎罪的方式多种多样，所以当看到早期的人们就赎罪观点相互争论、相互补充时，无需感到惊奇。因此，虽然人们在使徒教父和护教士的作品中未能看到关于赎罪的具体或完整的表述，但是他们确实在作品中提到并强调了神人

though one finds no specific or comprehensive statements, several aspects of God's reconciling work receive mention and emphasis.

A. Fathers. In Ignatius, for example, the death of Christ is part of the reality of His incarnation (Smyrn. 2). The same point is made by Justin in Dial. 99. Justin also sees in the atonement a supreme fulfillment of prophecy, so that there is a divine ineluctability about it (ch. 89). If atonement is linked to the Incarnation on the one side, it is also a step to the Resurrection on the other (Barn. 5:6f.). Christ's work expresses the divine sympathy with us (Justin Apol. ii.12f.). It serves as an example of obedience (Ign. Rom. 2:2). It is also a moving demonstration of love (1Clem. 7:4). If all Christ's life is the ground of reconciliation, forgiveness is specifically through faith and hope in the blood of Christ (12:7). As regards response, love and works also play some part (e.g., Dial. 45, 123). But this is possible only because the devil has been defeated by God in Christ (ch. 30). If in these works there is little thought of Christ's death as a penalty or sacrifice, the Epistle to Diognetus finely expresses the element of substitution ("O sweet exchange"). In this connection it quotes the ransom saying from the Gospels and also 1 Pet. 3:18 (cf. Diogn. 9).

The same variety remains as one passes into the fuller patristic era. Yet now two new tendencies emerge. The first is that one of the forms of presentation—the redemption-liberation understanding—begins to attain a dominant position. The other is that there is a certain bifurcation between the more objective

和好工作的某些方面。

A. 教父。例如，爱任纽在他的作品中将基督受难解释为道成肉身现实的一部分 (Smyrn. 2)。游斯丁也在他的作品 (Dial. 99) 中提出了相同的观点。游斯丁也在赎罪中看到了预言的最终实现，所以神的预言必将应验 (89 章)。如果赎罪一方面与道成肉身有关，那么另一方面，赎罪也标志着基督向复活迈出了一步 (Barn.5:6-7)。基督的工作体现了神对我们的怜悯 (Justin Apol. ii.12-13)，是人顺服神的典范 (Ign. Rom. 2:2)，也是一种令人感动的爱的展示 (1Clem. 7:4)。如果基督的全部生命是人与神和好的基础，那么只有藉着信心和耶稣献祭的希望才能换来宽恕 (1Clem.12:7)。爱和基督的工作也是对神的一种回应 (如，Dial. 45, 123)。基督之所以能够为世人赎罪，仅仅是因为神在基督里打败了魔鬼 (Dial. 30)。如果说这些作品中没有多少关于基督以死为世人受罚或为世人献祭的思考，那么《致丢格那妥书》这部作品恰当地表达了代人赎罪的观点 (“噢！仁慈的交换”)。这部作品还引用了《福音书》和《彼得前书》3:18 中关于“赎价”的说法 (参：Diogn. 9)。

到教父时代的鼎盛时期，这种多样性同样存在。但此时出现了两种新的趋势。第一种趋势是一种赎罪的表现形式——因救赎得自由的观点开始占据主导地位。第二种趋势是，较为客观的西方学派与较为主观的学派或亚历山太神学之间出现了某种意见分歧，但是人们必须相当谨慎地区分这种分歧。

western school and the more subjective or Alexandrian theology, although this is a point to be made with considerable caution.

Here as always, Irenaeus of South Gaul is an important figure. On the basis of parallels between the fall and the work of salvation, i.e., the tree, the new Adam, and the new Eve (Adv. haer. v. 19.1), he sees in the atonement a recapitulation or restoration (iii.19.6). Man, who fell in Adam, is now represented by the new Adam, Christ. As man was slain by the first man, so sin is now slain by the second or new man. The victory had to be won by man to be just, but to be secure it had to be won by God; this is why the second man had to be the incarnate Son of God (loc. cit.). The representing of man by Christ involved an exchange: “He was made what we are that we might become what he is” (bk. v. pref.). It also involved substitution, his flesh instead of ours. Yet the victory is viewed primarily as an act of liberation. A ransom was paid. In slaying Christ, however, the devil exacted more than his due and thus lost all claim to us (v.1.1; cf. iii.32.2). Appropriation is by faith, though this faith is accompanied by love (ii.44.1).

Tertullian, too, speaks of a rescue from the devil’s sway (De carne Christi 17). But he also has the idea of substitutionary merit, satisfaction, or compensation for the debt of fallen man (Adv. Marc. iv.21). The Incarnation as a whole saves (ii.27), but especially the death, which is a reversal of the fall (v. 14) and the fulfillment of prophecy (Adv. Judaeos 10). Entrance into the atonement is by faith and baptism (De anima 41), or by martyrdom (Scorpiace 6).

南高卢人爱任纽是一位重要的人物。根据堕落与救赎工作之间的相似特征，即树、新的亚当和新的夏娃 (Adv. haer. v. 19.1), 爱任纽在赎罪中看到了重现或复原的历史 (iii.19.6)。人类因亚当犯罪而堕落，而现在新的亚当——基督代表着人类。正如第一个人杀死了人类，而第二个人或新人杀死了罪。只有公义的人才能取得胜利，但只有神才能保住胜利的果实；这也就是为什么第二个人必须是那道成肉身的圣子（见上文引文）。基督代表着世人，这包含着一种交换：“祂成了我们的样子，好使我们成为祂的样子”（卷五序言）。这也涉及一种代替，祂的肉体代替我们的肉体。但胜利首先被视为一种解放的行为。人类付出了赎价。然而，基督受难后，魔鬼的索求超过了他的应得之物，因此他对我们不再有要求 (v.1.1; 参: iii.32.2)。虽然信心中伴随着爱心，但世人因信付了赎价 (ii.44.1)。

特土良也谈到了将人类从魔鬼的掌控中拯救出来 (De carne Christi 17)。但他同时谈到了代替堕落之人偿还罪债的价值，还谈到了赎罪或赎价 (Adv. Marc. iv.21)。总的来说，道成肉身拯救了人类 (ii.27)，但基督受难尤其有救赎的作用，这抵消了人类的堕落 (v. 14)，应验了预言 (Adv. Judaeos 10)。世人藉着信心、施洗 (De anima 41) 或殉道得以赎罪 (Scorpiace 6)。

On the Alexandrian side Clement points out that the life of Christ equals the world in value (Quis dives salvetur ? 37). Its main force, however, seems to be as an example. When there is reference to the slaying of the serpent, this is highly figurative (Protrepticus 11.111). Salvation is through the incarnate Logos who brings knowledge of God (Paed. 1.3.7). Sin is ignorance, Christ is the teacher, knowledge brings repentance (i.6.32), and baptism signifies illumination (i.6.28). The concept of punishment occurs, but it is presented as educative rather than penal (i.8.70). To be noted is Clement's variation on the principle of Irenaeus: "The Word of God became man that you also may learn from a man how a man becomes God" (Protrepticus 1.8).

Origen, Clement's successor in the catechetical school at Alexandria, helped to introduce an influential idea into the ransom concept, namely, that of defeating the devil by a stratagem, i.e., the humanity of Christ, in order to secure our liberation from the devil's sway (comm. in Mt. 16:8). In most of his references to the atonement Origen repeats early patristic phrases or ideas, including propitiation (comm. in Rom. 3:8) and punishment (comm. in Joannem 28.19). Christ's death also has value as an example (Contra Celsum iii.2.8), and it is as exemplary rather than imputed that the righteousness of Christ saves. The subjective trend in Origen is very clear in his interpretation of the saying of Paul: "So you also must consider yourselves dead to sin," for he takes this to mean that we are to be dead, not in fact, but in thought (comm. in Rom. 5:10). The power of Christ's death to evoke a response of love also occurs (4:10). In addition to the death of Christ and faith, works are necessary to salvation (4:11). Freedom of the will and a speculative transmigration and universalism complete the picture.

亚历山太的革利免指出，基督生命的价值等同于这个世界的价值 (Quis dives salvetur ? 37)。但基督生命的主要力量，似乎是祂为人类做了榜样。革利免提到了杀死那蛇，这是一种形象的比喻 (Protrepticus 11.111)。道成肉身的基督带来神的知识，实现了对人的救赎 (Paed. 1.3.7)。罪是无知，基督是导师，知识使人悔改 (i.6.32)，施洗代表着启蒙 (i.6.28)。惩罚的观念出现了，但惩罚主要是为了教导，而不使为了使人受罚 (i.8.70)。值得注意的是，革利免的所阐述的教义与爱任纽的教义不同：“道成了肉身，你也应该从那人中看到人如何成了神” (Protrepticus 1.8)。

The Nicene age produced important thinking on the atonement in both East and West. In the East Athanasius saw how essential was Christ's deity as well as his humanity for full and true atonement. If a man must die for sin, since man is the sinner, only God can so do with saving validity and power (De incarnatione Verbi 6). Hence, the Son of God became man for us men and our salvation. Naturally the Incarnation alone did not save; the incarnate Son of God, very God and very man, died on our behalf. His death was a ransom for us. By His life, death, and resurrection He overcame both sin and death. Bearing our corruption even to Golgotha, He also clothed us in His own incorruptibility by His resurrection (9.1). His death was representative; all died in Him. Its aim was to exalt us to divine sonship with Himself; He became man that we might be made gods (54.3). Yet this was a renewal rather than a completely new work; by it the purpose of God in creation, temporarily arrested by sin, came to fulfillment (6.4). Reconciliation in Christ was also accompanied by revelation as its complement, or as another aspect of God's saving work. Through Christ, very God and very man, ignorant man was again enlightened to know God.

Among other Eastern fathers, Eusebius of Caesarea stressed the vicarious aspect. Christ bore the punishment, retribution, 在尼西亚时代,东西方都出现了关于赎罪的重要思考,东方的亚他那修认为基督的神性和人性对于完全和真正的赎罪至关重要。如果世人向罪而死,因为世人都是罪人,那么只有上帝掌握着拯救世人的权柄 (De incarnatione Verbi 6)。因此,圣子为了我们和我们的救赎变成了人。只有道成肉身自然无法拯救世人;道成肉身的圣子,这位完全的神和完全的人还要为我们而死,这样才能换来救赎。圣子受难成为了我们的赎价。祂藉着降生、受难和复活战胜了罪和死亡。祂甚至将我们的堕落带到了祂的受难地,祂通过复活赐予我们祂的圣洁 (9.1)。基督受难是具有代表性的;所有人在基督里死去。祂要卓拔我们,让我们同祂一起得到儿子的名份。祂道成肉身是为了让我们成为神家的一员 (54.3)。这是一项更新的工作,而不是一项崭新的工作;神创世的旨意由于世人犯罪而暂时搁置,但是藉着基督,这一旨意最终达成 (6.4)。世人在基督里与神和好,神人和好是启示的一部分,或是神救赎工作的另一个方面。藉着基督,这位完全的神和完全的人,无知的人类再次得到启示,进而认识神。

其他的东方教父,如凯撒利亚的尤西比乌斯强调代赎的教义。基督代替我们遭受惩罚或诅咒 (Demonstratio evangelica

or curse in our stead (Demonstratio evangelica 10.1). Eusebius also depicted Christ's work as a conquest of demons and as a sacrifice (Praep. Ev.). This work avails for us by identification. A new note is sounded when the ransom theory comes in for criticism by pseudo-Origen, who asks: "Who is the seller [of Christ]?... the devil then holds the blood of Christ as the price of man, What immense and blasphemous folly!" But even so eminent a theologian as Gregory of Nyssa could restate the view with an even more dramatic feature. For him the deity of Christ is the fish-hook that catches the devil when he greedily gulps down "the bait of flesh" (Oratio catechetica magna 22, 23). Gregory suggests that since the devil is himself a deceiver, he is justly repaid in his own coin. The ransom itself is an exchange, and it is possible only by God's identification with us in Christ (ch. 26). The Resurrection, as in Athanasius, secures our incorruptibility (ch. 25). Appropriation is sacramental (chs. 33, 37), though conversion is seen to be essential (ch. 40). Gregory of Nazianzus attempts a new version of the ransom understanding in which the ransom is paid to the Father rather than the devil, but he does not seem to see how this can be carried through with consistency (Oratio 45.22). He can still speak of a trick played on the devil through Christ's divine humanity (39.13). When discussing Christ's being made a curse for us, he argues that this is not to be taken literally; Christ was not in fact made a curse but was called a curse. Basil of Caesarea repeats the same thought in Epistula 261.2, though he can describe Christ quite definitely as an equivalent for us all (In Ps. 68.6). Cyril of Jerusalem

10.1)。尤西比乌斯将基督的工作描述为战胜魔鬼和献赎罪祭的工作 (Praep. Ev.)。因为基督是我们中的一员，所以祂的救赎可以为我们带来益处。当伪俄利根批判赎价理论时，他们提出了一个新的辩解之词，他问道：“谁是（基督的）卖主？……魔鬼以基督的血作为世人的赎价，这种说法是多么地愚蠢和亵渎神啊！”然而，甚至著名的神学家尼撒的贵格利也以更为戏剧化语言重申了上述观点。在他看来，基督的神性是捕获魔鬼的钓钩，魔鬼贪婪地咬噬着这个“肉饵” (Oratio catechetica magna 22, 23)。贵格利认为既然魔鬼本身就是个欺骗者，那么他是在自作自受。赎价本身就是一种交换，只有当神在基督里认我们时，赎价才能为世人赎罪 (26 章)。正如亚他那修所说，复活保证了我们的圣洁 (25 章)。虽然悔改似乎是得救赎的关键 (40 章)，但是代赎是神圣的 (33, 37 章)。那先斯的贵格利提出了一种新的赎价观点，他认为赎价是付给天父的，而不是付给魔鬼的，但他似乎不知道怎样使这一理解实现前后一致 (Oratio 45.22)。他也提及耶稣怎样通过祂的圣洁人性战胜所有魔鬼的伎俩 (39.13)。当谈到基督因我们而被诅咒时，他说，不要照字面意思去理解这句话；实际上基督并没有遭受诅咒，而是祂被称为一个诅咒。凯撒利亚的巴西流也在他的作品中 (Epistula 261.2) 重述了这一观点，但他十分明确地描述说，基督对于每个人来说是等价的 (In Ps. 68.6)。耶路撒冷的济利禄也提到魔鬼的伎俩，但他提出了一个更为有趣的观点，即基督的义足以抵消世人的罪：“我们并没有罪恶滔天，以至那人要为我们放弃自己的生命，并为我们称义” (Catechesis 13.33)。 again alludes to the trick on the devil, but a more interesting concept is that the righteousness of Christ is more than adequate to counterbalance the sin of man: “We did not sin so much as he who laid down his life for us did righteously” (Catechesis 13.33).

Chrysostom in a much fuller analysis presents the same idea: “Christ hath paid down more than we owe” (Homiliae in Rom. 10.3). He emphasizes the universal character of Christ’s death; it is equal “to the death of us all” (Hom. in Hebr. 17.2). He tries to find illustrations for the transfer of liability, e.g., a king giving his son for a bandit (Hom. in 2 Cor. 11.4). The injustice of Christ’s death counterbalances the justice of our own condemnation, so that freedom is secured for the guilty (Hom. in Ioann. 62.2f.). Cyril of Alexandria strongly holds that in Christ’s flesh an equivalent is paid “for the flesh of us all” (De recta fide 21). He describes this payment as a punishment (De incarnatione 27). In answer to the possible objection that only the man Jesus died, he replies that by virtue of the enhypostasis the one person of Jesus Christ died, so that His death has the scope and efficacy of that of the eternal Son (ch. 16). It is interesting that Cyril’s great rival, Nestorius of Constantinople, also spoke of Christ paying our penalty “by substitution for our death.” In the final stages of Greek patristic theology John of Damascus referred to a sacrifice for us all (Expos Orth. iv.4f.). While rejecting any payment to the devil, John was still attracted to the metaphor of the deity as a hook on which to catch the devil (iii.27). The relationship to Christ by which the benefits of his reconciling work are secured is primarily sacramental

克里梭斯顿以更为全面的分析呈现了同一个观点：“基督为我们所付的赎价超过了我们所欠的债” (Homiliae in Rom. 10.3)。他强调基督受难的普遍特征；基督受难相当于“所有人都死去了” (Hom. in Hebr. 17.2)。他试图以实例证明这种债务的转移，如一位国王把自己的儿子送给了强盗 (Hom. in 2 Cor. 11.4)。基督无辜受难抵消了神对我们的定罪审判，从而确保有罪的人可以得到自由 (Hom. in Ioann. 62.2-62.3)。亚历山大港的济利禄坚信，基督的肉身正好可以为“我们所有人的肉体”赎罪 (De recta fide 21)。他将这种赎价描述为一种惩罚 (De incarnatione 27)。为了回应人们可能提出的只有耶稣一人受难的反对意见，他回答道，由于人性的体位在神性之中，所以基督受难与永恒的圣子的死产生的影响和效力是一样的 (16 章)。有趣的是，济利禄的劲敌君士坦丁堡的涅斯多留也提到基督通过“代我们受难”作了我们的赎价。在希腊教父神学的末期，大马士革的约翰提到基督为我们所有人献了赎罪祭 (Expos Orth. iv.4-5)。虽然约翰拒绝这是付给魔鬼的赎价的说法，但他仍然倾向于将神性比喻成捕获魔鬼的吊钩 (iii.27)。世人因为与基督的关系可以得到祂和好工作的益处，世人与基督的关系从根本上讲是一种圣洁的关系 (iv.9, 13)，但是世人仍需怀有信心，可能首先应将信心视为正统的信仰。约翰在最后描述了，世人会在基督里获得可以战胜一切的生命。“毁灭在生命之初就被除去了，当破坏者遭受毁灭时，所有人就获得了生命” (iii.27)。

(iv.9, 13), though faith, primarily perhaps as orthodox belief, is also required. John's Final picture is of all-conquering life in Christ. "Destruction is driven away at the onset of life, and life comes to all, while destruction comes to the destroyer" (iii.27).

In the West, Augustine, as always, exerted a powerful influence, but some development had taken place already in earlier fathers. Cyprian construed Christ's work mainly as a sacrifice which is a fount of sacramental efficacy (Epistula 76.2). He also introduced the thought of placation through good works and the merits of martyrs, though this was secondary to the basic work and merit of Christ (cf. De lapsis, passim). In Hilary the penal aspect received attention (in Ps. 53:6). Arnobius, like many others, quoted Isa. 53, but with an emphasis on the exemplary side (Inst. Divin. 4.24f.). Ambrose stood by the ransom idea and offered an elaborate comparison in which sin is a burdened estate on which Christ wipes out the arrears of interest and becomes the new and good creditor (in Ps. 36:12). A dangerous idea in the light of future Mariology was the inclusion of Mary's virginity as part of the stratagem by which the devil was defeated. Ambrosiaster also espoused the ransom view, the main point being that the unjust treatment of Christ is to be set over against our just bondage, so that the devil forfeits all claim and has to let us go (in Col. 2:15).

Turning to Augustine, we find that he shares the common understanding. Christ's death is a payment that frees us from just enslavement in Satan (De trin. xiii.12ff.). In this whole dealing with the devil, Christ's humanity plays the same part as the bait in a mousetrap (Sermo 263.1). Yet Augustine digs deeper than this. He sees not merely the payment of a debt whereby the release of justly held debtors is secured, but also the vicarious suffering of a penalty. Emphasis is laid by Augustine on (a) the innocence of Christ (De trin. xiii.14) and (b) the efficacy of the work as a work done by God as well as man (ch. 16). While he does not claim that this is the only possible way of atonement, which would seem to imply limitation for God, he likes to point out the congruity of what was in fact done: the priest is the victim; the flesh which sinned also saves; the pure-born body has power to purify (iv.14). With his strong doctrine of predestination Augustine ascribes a crucial role to grace in the application of the work done by Christ. Faith is needed (primarily as belief), but grace works through the sacraments divinely appointed to this end. It should also be noted that since justification tends to be predominantly a making righteous, faith naturally includes good works, especially asceticism.

After Augustine we find little new. Leo combines restoration by Christ's incarnation with the concept of his righteousness counterbalancing our sin (Sermo 22.4). Gregory the Great uses the category of penalty: Christ suffers without guilt the penalty of our sins (Moral. xiii.30, 34). He displays a tendency to set the Father's justice in some kind of antithesis to the Son's pity (ix.38.61). John Scotus Erigena follows Leo in linking salvation by incarnation to the traditional ransom idea. He seems to suggest that a general resurrection implies universal salvation (De div. nat.

Sermo 263.1)。但奥古斯丁进行了更深入的研究。他不仅看到基督付了赎价，那被公正定罪的人因此获得了解放，还看到基督代人受罚。奥古斯丁强调如下两点 (a) 基督是无罪的 (De trin. xiii.14); (b) 神和人所做工作的效力 (16 章)。虽然他并没有说这是赎罪的唯一方式，这似乎暗示出神也有自身的局限性，但他想要指明实际工作的一致性：这位祭司成了祭物；犯罪的肉身也得到了救赎；圣洁的身体拥有净化罪恶的大能 (iv.14)。奥古斯丁极为推崇预定论的教义，他认为神的恩典在基督的赎罪工作中起到了关键的作用。世人必须拥有信心（主要是信靠基督），但神以祂的恩典工作通过圣礼最终完成了救赎。同样应该注意的是，由于世人主要通过称义得到救赎，所以信心中自然包含了善举，尤其包含了禁欲。 v.29).

B. Schoolmen. The preparatory scholastic age saw two great but conflicting reinterpretations of the atonement. The first was that of Anselm, who, following his principle of faith seeking understanding, tried to work out a rationale of the biblical teaching in his great work Cur deus homo? In so doing Anselm tactfully but firmly resisted the ideas (a) that the devil has rights and (b) that payment is thus in any sense made to him. In place of the devil he sets the divine justice. This demands that sinners be punished by death, so that, if they are to be saved as God's love requires, there must be an equivalent satisfaction which, as death, meets the just demand (i.13). Since sin is an affront to the divine honor, the satisfaction must also make good the affront (i.11). Since sin, as sin against the infinite God, is infinite, the satisfaction must be infinite too (i.21). Man offered the affront and therefore it is incumbent that man also offer the satisfaction, but in fact only God can do this. This leads to the answer to the question in the title. Why the God-man? Because only He who is both God and man can on man's behalf make the satisfaction that will both meet the justice of God and also fulfil the merciful love of God. In detail Anselm works this out clearly and coherently. A virgin birth breaks sin's entail, a life of obedience means that the death is that of the innocent (ii.6-10), and the infinite merit acquired thereby offsets and indeed exceeds the infinite debt (ii.11, 14). The reward for this merit is not needed by Christ, who as God already has all things; and so He passes it on to sinners as forgiveness and renewal with a surplus of merit still to spare (ii.19f.). By means of

B. 学者。经院哲学的时代的最初阶段出现了两种相互矛盾的赎罪解读。安瑟伦 (Anselm) 提出了第一种解读, 他遵循因信心得神宽恕的原则, 并试图在他的巨著 (Cur deus homo? 即“上帝何故化身为人”) 中为圣经教义提供理论依据。安瑟伦以此巧妙而又坚定地驳斥了如下观点 (a) 魔鬼掌握着权柄; (b) 因此, 不论如何, 赎价付给了魔鬼。安瑟伦用神的公正取代了魔鬼。这就要求罪人被判死刑, 所以如果按照神的爱心要求, 罪人将会得到救赎, 那么就需要有人代罪人赎罪, 从而实现神公正的审判 (i.13)。因为罪有辱神的荣耀, 所以赎罪之人也必须为这种侮辱付出代价 (i.11)。罪是无限的, 因为它违背了无限的神, 所以赎罪也必然是无限的 (i.21)。世人冒犯了神, 所以他们必须赎罪, 但实际上, 只有神才能为世人赎罪。这也就回答了安瑟伦的书名中的问题。上帝何故化身为人? 因为只有既是神也是人的上帝才能代人赎罪, 这既体现了上帝的公正也体现了祂对世人的怜悯。安瑟伦详细、清楚连贯地表达了他对救赎的观点。童贞女生子打破了罪的继承, 顺从的生命意味着耶稣是无辜受难 (ii.6-10), 因此赎罪具有无限的价值, 甚至超额偿还了世人无限的罪债 (ii.11, 14)。基督不需要为此获得奖赏, 因为作为神祂已拥有一切; 祂把这些奖赏赐给了罪人, 宽恕和更新罪人, 即使这样, 价值仍有剩余 (ii.19-20)。耶稣借此并靠着祂的榜样力量, 在受洗之后继续祂的调解工作。

this, and by His example, Christ continues His mediatorial work in the postbaptismal life.

Abelard, too, rejected the ransom view, but apart from some conventional references to satisfaction, he followed a very different line. The main point for him was the teaching of Christ and the response it evoked. Christ became man in order that He might enlighten the world by His wisdom and excite it to love for Himself (Ep. ad Rom., Opera [ed. Cousin], II, 207). His death was both a lesson and also an example. Its intended effect was the kindling of a responsive gratitude and love which “should not be afraid to endure anything for his sake” (pp. 766f.). When the sinner was stimulated to amendment of life in this way, God could remit eternal punishment in virtue of the conversion rather than any objective or external equivalent (p. 628). The work of Christ was thus a demonstration of divine love which removed the obstacle between God and man, not by a work for man, but by the effect in him.

In Scholasticism proper neither Anselm nor Abelard found any direct following. The tendency of the movement was toward comprehensive rather than exclusive presentation. Appeal might be made to a thinker like the English theologian Robert Pullan, who rejected the ransom view and in good Abelardian fashion stressed the noetic aspect that Christ “by the greatness of the price” made known to us “the greatness of his love and of our sin” (Sent. viii.4.13). But a more representative treatment is that of Lombard, who combines several aspects. Thus a ransom is paid and the devil is caught as in a mousetrap (Sermo i.30.2). Yet Christ's death is also seen from the standpoint of satisfaction or merit (Sent. iii.18.2). It exerts a moral influence too, for by it we "are moved and kindled to love God who did such great things for us" (19.1).

阿伯拉德也否认赎价的观点，但是除了传统的赎罪观点，他表达了一种截然不同的观点。他的主要观点是基督教导世人，世人对回应基督的教导。基督变成人是为了用祂的智慧启迪世人，鼓励他们爱神 (Ep. ad Rom., Opera [Cousin 编], II, 207)。基督受难既是一种教训也是一个榜样。基督受难实际上致使世人爱祂感激祂，“为了祂，他们不会敢于忍受所有的不幸” (766-767 页)。当受到鼓舞的罪人按照基督的教导改过自新时，神就会因他们悔改而除去对他们的永久惩罚，祂并不是因为任何其他原因或外部原因才这样做 (628 页)。因此，基督的工作展现了神的慈爱，消除了神和人之间的障碍，但这不是通过祂为人类所做的工作，而是通过祂对人类的影响实现的。

Thomas Aquinas is even more comprehensive, for when he comes to speak of Christ's reconciling work he lists seven important aspects. (1) Christ's merit outweighs our demerit (Summa Theol. iii.48.1). (2) It applies to us by means of union with the head (art. 2). (3) It is a ransom, though the idea of tricking the devil is omitted (art. 4). (4) It moves us to responsive love (49.1). (5) It is a placating sacrifice (art. 4). (6) It represents a vicarious satisfaction or punishment (50.1). (7) It brings remission by way of efficiency, i.e., as the source of grace, prevenient, cooperating, congruous, and condign (art. 6). As in Augustine, this grace is mediated through the sacraments.

Among the later schoolmen the main interest is the new twist that was given to the doctrine by the emphasis on the divine freedom or transcendence. Thus Scotus did not see that Christ's death was a punishment or that God's justice necessarily demanded it. He could regard it as in fact a (nonsubstitutionary) satisfaction, but only because God in love freely willed to accept it as such (a doctrine known as acceptilation). Nor did it have to be infinite in scope but merely sufficient to merit initial grace for man, for which implicit faith was enough on man's part. Occam, too, laid the main stress on the divine good-pleasure. Christ's work did not have to be an exact equivalent. So long as God willed to view it thus, no more was needed. Similarly, God needed only to will that faith, works, and the sacraments be the means by which sinners enter into the accepted merits of Christ. This no doubt spares theologians the difficult task of showing how or why the death of Christ serves as an atonement for sin, but it seems to introduce an element of arbitrariness and even irrationality into God. If God's will is abstractly exalted in this way, He might just as well have called sinners righteous quite apart from Christ. While the fact of atonement through Christ is accepted, its inner logic is ignored and even, in principle, denied.

爱神的热情，因为祂为我们做了如此伟大的事情” (19.1)。

托马斯·阿奎纳的评论更为详尽，因为当他谈到基督的复和工作时，他罗列了7个方面。(1) 基督的功绩胜过我们的罪(Summa Theol. iii.48.1)。(2) 通过“头”与“身体”的结合，基督为我们赎罪(art. 2)。(3) 基督是赎价，但省略了通过引诱捕获魔鬼的说法(art. 4)。(4) 基督感化了我们，进而我们用爱回应祂(49.1)。(5) 基督献上的是和解的祭物(art. 4)。(6) 基督代人赎罪或代人受罚(50.1)。(7) 通过赎罪的效力，世人获得了神的宽恕，这效力是恩典的源泉，是预定的、配合的、一致的和应得的(art. 6)。奥古斯丁认为神通过圣礼赐予世人恩典。

后来学者的关注点发生了新的转移，他们强调这一教义中的神圣自由或超然存在。因此司各脱不认为基督受难是一种惩罚，也不认为神的公正审判需要基督受难。他认为基督受难实际上是一种(非替代性)赎罪，但仅因为慈爱的上帝按照祂的自由旨意接受这种赎罪(这就是上帝悦纳的教义)。这种赎罪不必是无限的，而只不过足以满足神最初应许赐予世人的恩典，因此世人只须怀有绝对的信心。奥克姆(Occam)也强调神的美意。基督的工作不必恰好满足赎罪的需要。只要神认为祂的工作足以为世人赎罪，那么基督就不必继续为世人赎罪。同样，上帝只是希望信心、工作、圣礼都可以成为罪人蒙基督悦纳的方式。这无疑留给神学家一个沉重的任

C. Reformers. Although at some points the Reformers are heirs of the later Nominalism represented by Occam, it would obviously be a mistake to try to understand their theology exclusively from this standpoint. Thus one might argue that if justification means declaring righteous, then in fact believers are justified only because God freely wills and declares them to be so. But this would miss the all-important point that justification by faith is possible only because it is justification in Christ. Behind the declaring just, there lies the atoning work of Christ in virtue of which the declaration is made. Nor is the work of Christ merely accepted by God as a reconciling equivalent even though it is not so in fact. We may be justified by faith through or in Christ because Christ did in fact do a full work of reconciliation in our stead and on our behalf.

Luther, indeed, can even go back to the ransom theory, though perhaps with a greater emphasis on the victorious

务，他们需要弄清基督受难如何或为什么可以为人赎罪，但这似乎认为神有点专断，甚至认为祂不理性。如果神的旨意被抽象地高举到了这一高度，那么祂完全可以直接让罪人称义，无需让基督代赎。虽然接受了基督代赎的事实，却忽略了赎罪内在的逻辑性，甚至原则上否定了内在的逻辑性。

C. 改教者。 尽管从某种意义上讲，改教者继承了唯名论后期的观点（代表人物奥克姆），但是如果人们试图单从这一角度理解改教者的神学，那么显然也犯了错误。因此，有人可能争论说，如果称义意味着宣布为义，那么，信徒实际上只因神的自由旨意或宣布他们为义，就可以称义。但这种说法可能忽略了非常重要的一点，那就是只有在基督里称义才能因信称义。在宣布为义的背后隐藏着基督的赎罪工作，只有藉着祂的赎罪工作，世人才能宣布自己为义。基督的工作不仅仅是为了实现神与人复和，现实也并非如此。我们可以藉着基督或在基督里因信称义，因为基督实际上代替我们也代表我们做了所有的复和工作。

路德的理论其实也可以归结为赎价理论，只不过他可能更强调胜利的解放而不是强调赎价。对于路德来说，赎罪也

liberation than on the payment. For him satisfaction is also an important concept (WA, x1/1, 503f.). But what really counts in Luther is the vicarious action of Christ, and he makes this point with a vigor that many find distasteful. Christ assumed our sins (pp. 433ff.). He made them His own so that the Father could say to Him: "Thou art that Peter the denier, that Paul the violent persecutor and blasphemer, that David the adulterer, ... the person of all men who committed the sins of all men" (p. 437, 23). Christ was ready to be the chief murderer, adulterer, thief, blasphemer (p. 433, 26). He was ordained to "eternal punishment on our behalf ... as if he were a man to be eternally condemned to hell" (Romans [ed. Ficker], II, 218). Luther can even speak of the Father being placated by the Son, although it is everywhere evident that it was the Father who in love sent the Son to bear our sins. To Luther the vicarious fulfillment of the law was important as well as the vicarious death. "The law has been fulfilled, that is, by Christ, so that it is not necessary for us to fulfil it" (WA, x1/1, 105). Naturally, Luther has justification in view here, for in Christian life believers are, of course, "to be conformed to him who fulfils it." The victorious Christ and the vicarious Christ correspond to the kingly and the priestly offices of Christ in His atoning work.

Calvin developed the doctrine of the atonement much more systematically than Luther did, but the basic elements are much the same. For Calvin the necessity of the atonement is grounded in the divine decree of predestination (Inst. ii.12.1). This in turn finds its root or cause in the triune love of God expressed in grace to the elect. Ultimately, then, the atonement is the work of the whole trinity, and this must be remembered when there appears to be an antithesis between the love of Christ and the wrath of God (the Father). Christ executed the work by His substitutionary ministry in which He experienced “all the signs of an angry and punishing God” (Inst. [1553] 7.29). He paid the penalty of our sin (Inst. ii.16.2). He came as the mediator “to satisfy God by the effusion of his blood” (iv.14.21). The focus is on Christ’s death, but Calvin has a much broader view than is sometimes allowed. The self-offering or death of Christ is part of His ministry as priest. This ministry includes the total obedience by which He abolished the disobedience of man and also, of course, the heavenly intercession. Furthermore, the office of Christ is threefold. While He is priest to offer satisfaction for us, He is also prophet to declare the truth of God and king to establish and govern the kingdom of grace.

与路德相比较, 加尔文更系统地发展了赎罪的教义, 但是基本的元素始终未变。加尔文认为赎罪的必要性以上帝预定的命令为基础 (Inst. ii.12.1)。而赎罪的根源或原因在于三位一体的神爱祂的选民, 祂愿意赐予他们恩典。于是, 从根本上说, 赎罪是三位一体真神的工作, 人们一定要牢记这一点, 因为基督的爱似乎与上帝 (天父) 的忿怒相互对

This threefold work of mediation is developed with great thoroughness by the theologians of the 17th century. (For details of the seventeenth-century theologians, see H. Heppé, Reformed Dogmatics [1950].) Here again the heart of it is that “by his blood Christ hath intervened,” so that “from a condemning judge God has become a judge who pardons” (Heidegger Corp. Theol. XIX, 22). This is done by merit and efficacy (cf. Polanus Synth. Theol. Christ. VI, 27). Yet more than the death is involved, for “he opposed a triple cure to sweep away this triple misery,” i.e., a prophetic work for ignorance, a priestly for alienation, and a kingly for impotence (Heidegger XIX, 26).

立。基督通过代赎完成了这项工作，祂遭受了“忿怒而又严厉的父的所有惩罚” (Inst. [1553] 7.29)。祂为我们的罪遭受了惩罚 (Inst. ii.16.2)。祂是世人的中保，并“用祂的血抚慰了上帝” (iv.14.21)。加尔文关注基督受难，但他的视角比通常的视角更开阔。基督亲自献祭或受难是基督祭司职分的一部分。这一职分包括了完全的顺服，祂以此废除了世人所有的不顺服，当然还包括天上代人祈求。此外，基督的工作分为三部分。祂是为我们赎罪的祭司，是宣布上帝真理的先知，也是建立和统治恩典王国的君王。

17 世纪的神学家非常完整地表达了基督作为中保的三重工作。(关于 17 世纪神学家的具体观点，见 H. Heppé, Reformed Dogmatics [1950].) 这一问题的核心在于“基督以血换来了神人复和”，所以“上帝这位为世人定罪的审判者变成了一位宽恕世人的审判者” (Heidegger Corp. Theol. XIX, 22)。这都是通过基督的优点和工作实现的 (参: Polanus Synth. Theol. Christ. VI, 27)。但这里谈论的内容超出了死亡本身，因为“祂抵制了三重诅咒，从而除了三倍的苦楚”，即以先知身份战胜无知，以祭司身份战胜了疏远神，以君王身份战胜了软弱无能 (HEIDEGGER XIX, 26)。

The prophetic work comprises “the external promulgation of divine truth” and “the internal illumination of hearts by the Holy Spirit” (Polanus VI, 29). It is both legal and evangelical, being done by Christ yet to be incarnate as well as by Christ incarnate (loc. cit.). It includes not only teaching but also signs, miracles, and even prayer (Alstedtius Theol. Scol. 574). It can be indirect (through the disciples) as well as direct (Leiden Syn. XXVI, 41).

The priestly work received greater elaboration. It is “a propitiatory offering along with intercession” (Olevianus De subst. foed. I, 3). The offering or satisfaction, in the form of obedience, is both active and passive. The active obedience is that of the life of Christ, especially as a federal obedience for us (Wollebius Christ. Theol. Compend. 81). The passive obedience comprises the whole passion before death, in death, and after death, in which Christ bore the weight of sin and wrath (Keckermann Syst. Sacros Theol. 346). Christ suffered thus after the human nature, so that the man died, but “divine weight is added” (Wendel in Collat. doctrin. 211). The active and passive obedience must “not be torn apart”; “from the joining of the two full satisfaction arises” (Burmans Synop. Theol. IV, 19, 3). This satisfaction is vicarious (Leiden Syn. XXIV, 4), necessary (Cocceius Summa Theol. LXI, 5–10), and full (not just by acceptance [Turretini Compend. Theol. XIV, 10, 14]). In spite of some of the expressions used it involves no change in God: “Not that he transformed God ... from one who hated us to one who loved us” (Maresius Colleg. Theol. X, 41). It is universal in sufficiency but limited to the elect in efficacy: “For all sufficiently ... efficaciously only for the elect” (Olevianus, 67f.). Intercession is also part of the priestly work. This is twofold, the intercession in the days of humility and the intercession in glory (a Diest Theol. Bibl. 207). It consists “rather in things than in words” (Turretini XIV, 15, 13). This ministry is restricted to the elect (Heidegger XIX, 95).

先知工作包含了“神之真理的外部宣传”和“圣灵内在的启蒙”(Polanus VI, 29)。这一工作既是律法工作也是福音传播工作,由尚未道成肉身的基督和已经道成肉身的基督完成(见上述引文)。它不仅包括教义也包括异象和神迹,甚至包括祷告(Alstedtius Theol. Scol. 574)。它既可以(由门徒)间接完成也可以由基督直接完成(Leiden Syn. XXVI, 41)。

祭司工作更需要进行详细的阐述。这项工作“和解的祭物和代求”(Olevianus De subst. foed. I, 3)。基督顺服神,献祭或赎罪既是主动的又是被动的。主动的顺从是指基督的生命的顺从,尤其是祂作为我们中的一员主动地顺服神(Wollebius Christ. Theol. Compend. 81)。被动的顺从包含了基督受难前、受难中和受难后所经历的所有苦难,基督通过经历这些苦难,承担了人类的罪,并忍受了神的忿怒(Keckermann Syst. Sacros Theol. 346)。因此,基督以人的身份受难,所以人子死了,却“增加了神性的分量”(Wendel in Collat. doctrin. 211)。主动和被动的顺从不应“分裂来看”;“完全的赎罪来自于两者的结合”(Burmans Synop. Theol. IV, 19, 3)。赎罪是替代性的(Leiden Syn. XXIV, 4)、必要的(Cocceius Summa Theol. LXI, 5–10)也是完全的(不仅仅是通过免债的方式实现的 [Turretini Compend. Theol. XIV, 10, 14])。尽管使用了不同的表述,但上帝未曾改变:“祂没有将上帝从一个恨我们的神变成一个爱我们的神”(Maresius Colleg. Theol. X, 41)。这种普世的救赎足以拯救所有人,但实际上只有神的选民获得了救赎:“足以救赎所有人……但只有选民得救”(Olevianus, 67-68)。代求也是基督祭司工作的一部分。这一工作分为两部

The kingly work is specifically related to the exaltation of Christ which follows the central priestly work of his exinanition (self-humiliation). In its special sense (donative, economic, and dispensative) “the kingly office is to govern and preserve the church” (Wollebius, 79). It covers (a) vocation (both general and effectual) and (b) government. It is exercised by Christ as both God and man and is for ever (Heidegger XIX, 103, 112). It is now indirect (through rulers, pastors, etc.), but in heaven it will be direct (Leiden, Syn. XXVI, 52). It will not finally merge into the essential government of Christ as the eternal Logos but will change in form (Riissen), so that Wollebius can say: “The economic kingship he will exercise for ever” (VIII, 80).

D. Liberal Thinkers. As compared with the teaching of the Reformation churches, and indeed with the Roman Catholic restatement of Anselm or Thomas Aquinas, the humanist or liberal doctrines of the atonement purchase simplicity at the cost of fulness and profundity. Already at the end of the 16th cent. and the beginning of the 17th, various schools were foreshadowing things to come with their reductions. Grotius, for instance, abandoned true satisfaction for a new and juridical form of Scotus' "acceptilation." Since law and punishment are enactments, Grotius argued, God is not tied to them (Defensio fidei [1614], III, 60, 110). Salvation is by relaxation of the law, not satisfaction (311). This is not abrogation, for the interests of moral government must not be harmed (V). Instead, God accepts Christ's death as a nominal equivalent, a quid pro quo (VI). This is pure mercy, but God gives and accepts a ransom in which the deliverer bears something similar to the penalty, and the evil consequences of relaxation are thus averted (VI, VIII, IX). Although Grotius denies that this is formally acceptilation, and there are obvious differences, it amounts in fact to very much the same thing.

分,即在谦卑的日子中代求和在荣耀里代求 (a Diest Theol. Bibl. 207)。代求存在于“行动中而不是话语中”(Turretini XIV, 15, 13)。耶稣只为选民履行祭司的职分 (Heidegger XIX, 95)。

*D. 自由主义思想者。*无论是与改革后的教会的教义相比较,还是与罗马天主教徒安瑟伦或托马斯·阿奎纳所重申的观点相比较,人文主义者或自由主义者关于赎罪的教义的表达更为简洁朴素,但却不够充实深刻。各学派早在16世纪末期和17世纪早期就在他们的总结中预示了将要发生的事。例如,格劳秀斯(Grotius)放弃真实的赎罪教义却赞成司各脱新提出的“免债”教义。格劳秀斯认为,既然律法和惩罚都是上帝的命令,那么上帝不受两者的束缚

Some Arminians viewed the atonement along similar lines. They espoused substitution, but a substitute for the penalty rather than penal substitution. The term "offering" was thus preferred to "satisfaction." The offering might be called satisfaction in the sense of being pleasing, or satisfactory, to God's benevolence. Even the offering, however, was more a precondition of forgiveness than its basis, since, it was argued, God's justice could have required nothing more had this offering been the basis of forgiveness. As it is, however, forgiveness comes through faith and obedience; but it would not do so if Christ had not made His self-offering. In other words, once the condition of this offering has been met, God may now require faith and obedience, and those who believe and obey are forgiven.

Socinianism went even further, opening the door to the fully developed subjective understanding that has dominated liberal Protestantism. Like Grotius, Socinus argued that justice is not essential. It depends, as mercy also does, on God's will (Praelectiones theologicae [1609], XVI). A doctrine of satisfaction makes the mistake of upholding justice at the expense of mercy (XVIII). In any case, substitution is impossible for Socinus, since punishment is personal. At the most, only a substitute for the penalty might be offered (XVIII). It is to be argued against penal satisfaction (a) that Christ's death was not eternal (loc. cit.), (b) that Christ's obedience cannot be vicarious, since he also owed obedience (loc. cit.), (c) that imputation by faith is self-contradictory (De Christo Salvatore [1594], IV, 3), and (d) that satisfaction destroys sanctification (loc. cit.). Atonement is secured instead by penitence and a will to obey. The role of Christ's death is that of an example of obedience.

(Defensio fidei [1614], III, 60, 110). 救赎源自律法的松弛, 而不是源自赎罪 (311)。这不是废除, 因为上帝不允许损害德治的利益 (V)。但是, 上帝承认基督受难是名义上的赎罪等价物 (拉丁语 "a quid pro quo", VI)。这是完全的怜悯, 但祂赐予并悦纳了赎价, 从而使救世主承受了类似于惩罚的苦难, 因此免于承受放纵的恶果 (VI, VIII, IX)。虽然格劳秀斯否认, 这是正式的免债, 两者之间显然存在差异, 但实际上, 它们是完全是一回事。

一些阿米尼乌斯派教徒在看待赎罪时也遵循类似的原则。他们赞成代赎, 但认为基督代替了惩罚而不是代为受罚。因此, 他们更愿意将“祭物”理解为“赎罪”。从蒙神悦纳和令神满意的意义上说, 祭物可以被称为赎罪。不过, 祭物是获得上帝宽恕的前提而不是获得宽恕的根据, 因为人们争论说, 如果祭物是蒙神宽恕的根据, 那么公义的上帝不该有更多的要求。但实际上, 赦罪来自于信心和顺从; 然而, 如果基督不献上自己作为祭物, 上帝就不会赦免世人的罪。换句话说, 当这祭物献给上帝时, 上帝就会要求世人怀有信心, 并顺从祂, 只有信靠和顺从上帝的人才能被神宽恕。

The subjective view naturally found support and expression in the various anthropocentric theologies of the age that followed. Thus the German Neology taught that the force of Christ's death is to be found in its example and inspiration. Kant in his clumsy jargon specifically attacked and rejected an objective atonement; according to his moral subjectivism man must first earn forgiveness by doing his duty, and then God will grant it to him (Religion Within the Limits of Reason Alone [1793]). Schleiermacher was more profound. Christianity is the basic and true religion because it perceives the antithesis between God and man, and synthesis or reconciliation is achieved in Christ the God-man. As always in Schleiermacher,

影响了自由的新教徒。苏西尼(Socinus)和格劳秀斯都认为公义不是必要的。公义和怜悯都依赖于上帝的自由意志(Praelectiones theologicae [1609], XVI)。赎罪的教义错误地认为秉公行义以牺牲怜悯为代价(XVIII)。总之,苏西尼认为代赎是不可能的,因为世人必须亲自受罚。至多可以献上代替惩罚的祭物(XVIII)。驳斥代为受罚的观点如下,(a)基督受难并不是永久的(见上述引文),(b)基督的顺从是不能替代的,因为祂也必须顺从上帝(见上述引文),(c)因信归罪是自相矛盾的(De Christo Salvatore [1594], IV, 3), (d)赎罪玷污了基督的圣洁(见上文引文)。世人因悔罪和顺从上帝的意志得以赎罪。基督受难是顺从的典范。

however, the doctrine is finally no more than a description of the inner state (Speeches V). F. D. Maurice, who in any case objected to eternal punishment, could find little place for an objective work for us. Ritschl, with his value judgments, presented what is in many ways a new version of acceptilation. The historical death of Jesus has the value of an act of reconciliation. In this case, however, the value is for us rather than for God, so that the essence and effect are inward. The new historicism thus turns out to be an old subjectivism. Bushnell emerged as another prominent proponent for understanding the atonement in terms of moral influence. Rashdall in the 20th cent., in his learned but biased Bampton Lectures entitled The Idea of the Atonement in Christian Theology (1920), castigated the immoralities and irrationalities of all objective understandings and came out strongly for atonement by the combined example and effect of the obedience of Jesus, which carried Him to the cross. Ironically the ink was hardly dry on Rashdall's rational subjectivism before a far-from-rational existentialism was beginning to find the atonement in the transition from death to life, or darkness to light, of which Christ's historical death and (less than historical) resurrection are little more than symbols or ciphers, even if it is the preaching of these that produces the result (Bultmann). Perhaps the logical end of subjectivism is the complete absorption of God in Death-of-God theology, in which God achieves total immanence by the crucifixion, and there is thus a universal or even cosmic atonement by identification of God and man or God and creation. But this is after all only a variation of the triadic theme of

(Ritschl) 通过自己的价值判断, 以各种不同的方式提出了一种新的免罪观点。历史上基督受难实现了神人复和。但是, 在这种情况下, 基督受难对我们而不是对神有价值, 所以这种实质和影响是向内的。因此, 新历史主义变成了陈旧的主观主义。布什内尔 (Bushnell) 也坚决拥护根据道德影响理解赎罪。生活于 20 世纪的拉希达尔 (Rashdall) 在带有偏见的班普顿学术讲座 (名为 The Idea of the Atonement in Christian Theology (1920)) 中严厉批评道, 所有关于赎罪的客观观点都是不道德的, 不理性的, 他坚决拥护耶稣顺从神的榜样和顺从的影响共同实现了赎罪, 而耶稣却因此被钉了十字架。讽刺的是, 拉希达尔的理性主观主义刚提出不久, 一种完全不理性的存在主义就开始在由死到生或由黑暗到光明的过渡中寻找赎罪的教义, 并认为历史中基督的受难和复活 (复活可能是不太真实的历史) 仅仅是一种异兆或密码, 虽然关于基督受难和复活的传道产生了这种效果 (Bultmann)。或许主观主义的逻辑终点是将上帝完全融入上帝受难的神学理论中, 根据这一理论, 上帝以钉十字架实现了无所不在, 因此藉着鉴别上帝和人或上帝和创造, 普世的救赎甚至是万有的救赎得以最终实现。但这毕竟与施莱尔马赫以及同时代的谢林 (Schelling) 和黑格尔所提出的三位一体概念大同小异。

E. Conservative Theologians. A survey of the liberal and predominantly subjective presentations might suggest that the older emphases have been completely ousted. In reality, however, this is not the case. Throughout the last two centuries the objective view has found vigorous champions both in traditional forms and also in attempted reformulations. Furthermore, the basic NT evidence has received a new and better attention than in a sketch like Rashdall's. Both studies of individual words, as in TDNT, and also more general accounts, such as Leon Morris' Apostolic Preaching of the Cross (3rd ed. 1965), have confirmed that an objective and even a substitutionary doctrine is not a later invention of theology, nor even a Pauline peculiarity, but an inherent part of the total event, record, and interpretation of Christ's saving work.

Among proponents of a penal understanding one might refer first to J. K. Mozley, who concludes his competent and comprehensive survey by stating: "I do not therefore think that we need shrink from the fact that Christ bore penal suffering for us and in our stead" (Doctrine of Atonement [1915, 1947], p. 216). Denney, too, has an able and forthright presentation of the objective work for us: "I do not know of any word which conveys the truth of this [Paul's teaching] if 'vicarious' or 'substitutionary' does not" (Death of Christ, p. 126). In his well-known work, Theory of the Atonement, Dale contends that Christ's death is "the objective ground on which the sins of men are remitted” as “an act of submission to the righteous authority of the Law by which the human race was condemned.” This act atones in virtue of Him who did it, our relation to Him, His making our sufferings His own, and its imposing of a similar obligation of submission on all who believe in Him. Being performed in our stead, it is really ours. Furthermore, Christ’s death is also the objective ground of remission, because it makes possible the restoration of the original relation to God that sin had dissolved and the loss of which was the supreme penalty of transgression. Again, it is the objective ground in that “it involved the actual destruction of sin.” Finally, it is the objective ground because God’s righteousness was revealed in such sort that God “endured the penalty instead of inflicting it” (pp. 430ff.). Along rather different lines R. L. Ottley, while defending the thought of Christ as substitute, emphasizes the enclosing or including of all men in Him by reason of the Incarnation (Doctrine of the Incarnation, II [1896], 315). W. Temple, in his essay in Foundations (1912), pp. 252–58, follows a similar line of thought. Christ is not just one man but man generically, so that what He does, all do in Him. Even the ancient redemption or liberation view has been revived in Christus Victor (1935), a fine book by G. Aulen, who points out that for all the curious distortions it suffered, this understanding expresses the sound and biblical concept of the active and triumphant Christ.

E. 守旧神学家。人们对自由主义观点和占主导地位的主观观点的调查可能表明守旧观点已经被完全取代。但现实情况并非如此。在过去的两个世纪，传统形式的客观观点大获全胜，也曾试图再度兴起。而且基本的新约证据开始得到了更多的关注，而不是像拉希达尔那样一笔带过。有的作品研究单个词语（如 TDNT），有的则注重整体描述（如 Leon Morris' Apostolic Preaching of the Cross [1965 年第 3 版]），这两种研究都证明客观赎罪乃至代赎的教义并不是后来出现的学说，也不是使徒保罗偏爱的教义，而是整个事件的固有成分，也是对基督救赎工作的记录和解读。

第一个支持代为受罚观点的人可能是莫兹利 (J. K. Mozley)，他总结了她的充分完整的调查，说道：“因此，我认为我们不应该回避基督为我们且代替我们受罚的事实”（Doctrine of Atonement [1915, 1947]，216 页）。丹尼 (Denney) 也曾直截了当地提到了基督代我们赎罪的工作：“我认为，如果‘代赎’或‘替人赎罪’都不能表达这一真理[保罗的教导]，那么其他任何词也都无法做到”（Death of Christ，126 页）。戴尔 (Dale) 在他的著名作品（Theory of the Atonement）中争论道，基督受难是“人类的罪被赦免的客观依据”，也表明“人类服从那为谴责人类的公义律法的权柄”。由于祂为我们赎罪以及我们与祂的关系，由于祂使我们的苦难成为祂的苦难，也由于所有信靠

Already in Aulen’s book we are perhaps more in the realm of restatement rather than reiteration of the traditional objective teaching. In this area the 20th cent. has perhaps been a more fruitful period than its predecessor. At the beginning, R. C. Moberly in his Atonement and Personality (1901) made an important if not entirely successful attempt to present Christ's work more in terms of vicarious penitence than vicarious punishment. This preserves the equation of Christ and mankind, and undoubtedly has the twofold merit (1) of doing greater justice to the life as well as the death of Christ, and (2) of making a firmer link with the repentance required and evoked in us. More traditionally but with great freshness and force, P. T. Forsyth (e.g., Cruciality of the Cross [1909, 1965]) contends that the work of Christ, if not precisely penal, is a substitutionary cost-bearing. His thought would seem to be that sin, like crime, involves cost. Hence, even though forgiveness is freely bestowed in love, the cost has to be paid by the one who forgives. God carries the cost for us in the expiatory work of Christ. At many points this obviously merges into a penal understanding. The cost of sin, which is death, has the characteristics, not of a blow to God, but of a penalty or consequence for sinners themselves. Yet God Himself absorbs it.

A new and powerful voice rang out across the theological world with the publication of Emil Brunner's The Mediator. Here Brunner sees and discusses two great lines of understanding in Scripture, the legal one with Christ's death as penalty and the cultic one with Christ as sacrifice. Brunner himself develops the doctrine along both lines. If he maintains a certain caution—these are interpretations rather than the fact itself—he stands firmly by the objective reality of the fact. Christ did something for us in accomplishment of our reconciliation with God. This is presented in legal and cultic analogues in Scripture, and it is along such lines that we can best understand it.

An even more comprehensive and searching restatement, with a bolder emphasis on vicariousness, is to be found in Barth's volume on reconciliation in CD (IV/1–3). Barth combines many themes here: the execution of election; the fulfillment of the covenant; the Incarnation and Christ's role as very God, very man, and God-man; justification, sanctification, and vocation; the gathering, upbuilding, and sending of the Church; the faith, love, and hope of the individual Christ. His basic scheme is the traditional Reformed one of the triple office of Christ, but he rearranges the order. Christ does His priestly work as the Son of God, the Lord who has become a servant; He does His kingly work as the Son of man, the servant who is exalted to be Lord; and He does His prophetic work as the victorious God-man, the true witness and guarantor. All these are essential parts or aspects of the one work of reconciliation. So far as the death of Christ is concerned, Barth allows with Brunner that one might follow a cultic or indeed a military or financial model, but even though this is Christ's priestly work, Barth himself prefers the judicial model. Christ is the judge, judged in our place and establishing judgment and justice. Quite naturally, this presentation is strongly penal, but the real heart of it—and this would apply in the other categories too—is the representative, vicarious, and substitutionary work of Christ as very God made man, living the obedient life we ought to live and also dying the penal death we ought to die in order that these may be ours in Him. The same vicariousness applies to the kingly work of Christ as Son of man, both in the life of royal obedience that He lived in order that our life may be sanctified in Him, and also in His raising up to eternal life which may equally be ours in Him. Objectively, Barth's stress on Christ for us leads him to stress also the universal reality of the atonement, although he leaves as an open question, subject to the sovereignty of the Spirit, whether or not all men enjoy its benefits.

巴特 (Barth) 创作的关于神人复和的作品 (CD[IV/1–3]) 中给出了更为全面和透彻的阐述, 他的作品更为强调代赎的概念。巴特在他的作品中整合了许多主题: 拣选的完成; 圣约的应验; 道成肉身和基督作为真正的神、真正的人和神人合一者的角色; 称义、成圣和恩召; 教会成员的聚集、教会的建立和门徒的派遣; 信心、爱心和基督的盼望。他仍以传统改革宗所提出的基督的三重职分为基本框架, 只是重新安排了这三重职分的顺序。基督以圣子的身份完成祭司的工作, 我们的主变成了仆人; 祂以人子的身份完成君王的工作, 父将祂从仆人高举成我们的主; 祂以得胜的神人合一者的身份完成先知的工作, 祂变成了真实的见证者和保证者。这些工作是神人复和工作的重要组成部分或必要方面。至于基督受难, 巴特赞同布伦纳的说法, 认为人们可以遵照这个祭礼上的典范, 或者说实际是军事或财政上的典范, 然而, 尽管这是基督的祭司工作, 但巴特却更倾向于认为这是一个审判上的典范。基督是审判者, 却代替我们受审, 从而成就了审判和公义。这种描述自然包含重罚的含义, 但是真正的要点在于道成肉身的基督是世人的代表, 祂代世人受罚和赎罪, 过着我们本该过的顺从生活, 也因我们本该遭受的死刑而受难, 这就相当于我们在基督里也做了同样的事, 这个要点也适用于其他范畴。替代的概念同样可以应用到基督作为人子所完成的君王工作上, 祂身为君王却过着顺从的生活, 所以我们也因此在基督里过着圣洁的生活; 祂从死里复活获得永生, 所以我们也因此在基督里获得了永生。虽然巴特留下了一个

On balance one may say that while the temper of much Protestant theology has been that of anthropocentric subjectivity, the objective presentation has not only held its own but has in fact displayed far greater force, freshness, and versatility. Apart from the existentialist variations, more recent subjective statements have been little more than stale and platitudinous repetitions that answer to the biblical data only by discarding the biblical norm. The main reaction either to solid biblical expositions or to vast and penetrating reinterpretations, such as that of Barth, is to ignore them. Of course, an objective understanding does not itself see a rival but rather a friend and complement in the subjective understanding. The work for us can and must and does push on to the work in us. Only when the work in us tries to stand on its own feet, to renounce the prior and underlying work for us, does the dispute arise, whose only consequence is a necessary qualifying of the work in us. Yet even though this seems plain enough, it is unlikely that the plea for an independent work in us will be abandoned unless theologians recover from the “pre-Copernican” illusion that God revolves around man instead of man around God. An anthropocentric theology has no proper place for God, and therefore for the work of God for us. A theocentric theology assures to man, and therefore to the work of God in man, a true and proper place.

总而言之,人们可以说,虽然很多新教神学具有人类中心论的主观性特点,但是客观的陈述不仅能够表达自己的观点,而且实际上展现出了更强的力量、更多的新鲜感和用途。除了存在主义者的不同论述,更新的主观陈述仅是在通过背弃圣经标准对圣经资料进行陈词滥调式的重述。无论是坚实的圣经阐述,还是大量透彻的重新解释(如巴特的解释),人们的主要反映应该是忽视它们。当然,客观理解不会与主观理解对立,而会将其作为一种支持和补充。上帝为我们所做的工作可以而且必然推动上帝在我们里所做的工作。只有当在我们里所做的工作试图独立存在,并抛弃先前为我们所做的根据工作时,才会出现争论,而争论的唯一结果是在我们里所做的工作必然得到认可。尽管这已经表述地足够直白,但是只有当神学家放弃“前哥白尼学说”的错误观念,不再认为上帝以人类为中心,而是认为人类以上帝为中心时,才会抛弃在我们里独立工作的要求。人类中心论没有摆正上帝在这一理论中的位置,因此无法合理解释上帝为我们所做的工作。以神为中心的理论真实摆正了人的位置,因此真正摆正了上帝在世人里所做的工作。

ATONEMENT, DAY OF

[Heb. yôm hakkippurîm—lit. ‘day of the covering over,’ i.e., ‘day of appeasement’]. The fourth of the five annual feasts of preexilic Israel.

The name yôm hakkippurîm (more familiarly Yom Kippur) is derived from the Heb. noun kôper, “ransom” or “hush money” (Ex. 30:12; 1 S. 12:3; KoB, p. 453; R. Laird Harris, Bulletin of the Evangelical Theological Society, 4 [Apr. 1961], 3). KoB comment that “the aim of [kipper] ... always is to avert evil, especially punishment” (p. 452). Yom Kippur was the day above all others on which Israel, as a nation, sought the propitiation of the God against whom they had sinned, together with the consequent blessing of His forgiveness and of reconciliation to Him.

ATONEMENT, DAY OF 赎罪日

【希伯来语: yôm hakkippurîm——字面意思是“遮盖日”, 即“赎罪日”】。被掳前以色列五大节期中的第四个节日。

yôm hakkippurîm (更为常见的形式是 Yom Kippur) 一词源自希伯来名词 kôper, 意思是“赎价”或“封口费”(出 30:12; 撒上 12:3; KoB, 453 页; R. Laird Harris, Bulletin of the Evangelical Theological Society, 4 [1961 年四月], 3)。KoB 评论说, “赎罪 [kipper] 的目的……始终是为了消除罪恶, 尤其是为了躲避惩罚”(452 页)。赎罪日 (Yom Kippur) 是以色列民族最重要的节日, 以色列人曾因犯罪违背神, 他们想要平息神的忿怒, 希望能够蒙恩得神的宽恕, 与神和好。

The Day of Atonement fell on the tenth day of the seventh month (Tishri = Sept./Oct.), nine days after the Feast of Trumpets and five days before the coming of Tabernacles, or Ingathering. This last feast had been revealed to Israel at the time of its arrival at Sinai (Ex. 23:16; cf. 19:1), late in the spring of 1446 B.C. according to one system of biblical chronology. Soon thereafter, according to Ex. 30:10 (directions for the construction of the altar of incense), Aaron was instructed to make an atonement once a year on the horns of the altar with the blood of “the sin-offering of atonement.” But not until the following year, after the completion of the tabernacle (Ex. 40:17; Nu. 10:11), was full divine revelation granted to Moses concerning the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16).

赎罪日在七月（提斯利月，即九月或十月）的第十天，吹角节前九天，住棚节或收获节前五天。根据一个圣经编年史中的记载，赎罪日是公元前 1446 年春末以色列人到达西奈山时，神向他们揭示的最后一个节日（出 23:16；参：出 19:1）。根据《出埃及记》30:10 中的记载（建造香坛的命令），此后不久，神指示亚伦每年要用“赎罪祭牲”的血在坛的角上行一次赎罪之礼。但直到第二年会幕建成之后（出 40:17；民 10:11），关于赎罪日的启示才完全揭示给摩西（利 16）。

I. Institution.-A. Position in Leviticus. Chapter 16 occupies a well-established place in Leviticus. This “book of life” has as its purpose the presentation of God’s “judgments: which if a man do, he shall live in them” (18:5). Thus, even as the salvation of men involves both God’s acts of redemption and man's own response of appropriation through sincere commitment to Him, so Leviticus contains two parts: On the way of access to God (chs. 1-16) and on the way of living for God (chs. 17-27, holiness according to ceremonial, moral, and devotional standards). The former, which describes the propitiation of God's wrath through sacrifice (chs. 1-7), intercession by a priestly ministry (chs. 8-10), and the purification of God's people (chs. 11-15), is climaxed by a visible enactment of reconciliation: the Day of Atonement service (ch. 16). Lev. 16:1 refers back to the events of ch. 10. (This, however, does not mean that ch. 16 has been displaced by an interpolation, chs. 11-15. It implies merely that both sections, chs. 11-15 and ch. 16, were revealed shortly after ch. 10. Even critical scholars recognize that the position occupied by chs. 11-15 "is a thoroughly appropriate one" [S. R. Driver, intro to the Literature of the OT (9th ed. 1913), p. 46].) A clear transition, moreover, to the thoughts of Lev. 16 appears in 15:31 with its mention of the uncleanness of the Israelites, which contaminates the dwelling place of Yahweh that is in their midst (cf. 16:16-20).

I. 赎罪日的确立。 A. 赎罪日在《利未记》中的位置。《利未记》第 16 章在《利未记》中占有重要地位。这本“生命之书”旨在让人们守神的“典章：人若遵行，就必因此活着”（利 18:5）。因此，世人的救赎包括神救赎的行为和世人通过忠实于神对救赎的回应，所以《利

B. Legal Enactment, Lev. 16. Lev. 16:1-28 contains instructions given by Yahweh to Moses for his brother Aaron (vv. 1f.). (1) Verses 1-10 contain presuppositions, preparations, and summary statements of the ceremonies on the Day of Atonement. According to vv. 1f. Aaron is not allowed to enter the holy place at any time whatever, lest he die as did his sons with their unholy fire offering (cf. Lev. 10:1ff.); vv. 3-5 tell what is necessary for the ceremony: for Aaron four things—a

未记》也包含了两部分内容：走近神（利 1-16）和为神而活（利 17-27，仪式标准、道德标准和敬虔标准中的圣洁）。走近神描述的是藉献祭平息神的忿怒（利 1-7）、藉祭司职分代求（利 8-10）和神的子民洁净自身（利 11-15）的过程，人们通过遵守看得见的和好的律法最终走近神，也就是在赎罪日侍奉（利 16）。《利未记》16:1 重新提及了《利未记》10 章中的事件。（但这并不意味着第 16 章可以被第 11 至 15 章中插入的内容取代，仅仅意味着第 11 章至 15 章和第 16 章这两部分内容都是在第 10 章之后不久被揭示出来的。甚至连评判学者都认为第 11 至 15 章所处的位置是“完全恰当的”[S. R. Driver, intro to the Literature of the OT (1913 年第 9 版), 46 页]。）此外，《利未记》15:31 中提到了以色列人的污秽，在他们中间的耶和华的居所也因此被玷污，这节经文显然过渡到《利未记》第 16 章的思想（参：利 16:16-20）。

B. 《利未记》16 章中关于赎罪日的律法。《利未记》16:1-28 中包含了耶和华让摩西转告给他哥哥亚伦的命令（利 16:1-2）。(1) 《利未记》16:1-10 包含了赎罪日祭礼的前提、准备和总结性描述。根据《利未记》16:1-2 中的描述，亚伦不可随时进至圣所，以免他像他的儿子们那样因献上不圣洁的燔祭而死亡（参：利 10:1 起）；《利未记》16:3-5 中提到了祭礼的必需品：要求亚伦带来四件东西——一只公牛犊为赎罪祭（参：利 16:6, 11:14-15, 27）、一只公 young bullock as a sin offering (cf. vv. 6, 11, 14f., 27), a ram for burnt offering (cf. v. 24), sacred garments (cf. vv. 23, 32), a bath; for the congregation—two goats, one for a sin offering and the other for a scapegoat (cf. vv. 7–10, 15–22, 25, 27f., 32f.) and a ram as a burnt offering (cf. v. 24). The passages in parentheses show how closely the succeeding parts of this account are connected with this introductory part.

In other parts of Leviticus also it is often found that the materials used for the sacrifices are mentioned first, before anything is said in detail of what is to be done with this material. Cf. 8:1f. with vv. 6–26 and 9:24 with vv. 7–18. In v. 6 Aaron's sin-offering bullock is to be used as an atonement for himself; vv. 7–10 refer to the two goats: they are to be placed at the door of the tent of meeting (v. 7); lots are to be cast upon them for Yahweh and Azazel (v. 8); the first is to be prepared as a sin offering (v. 9); the second, while not an offering, is yet to be used for atonement by being sent into the desert (v. 10).

(2) Verses 11–24 describe the ceremony itself and give fuller directions as to how the different sacrificial materials mentioned under (1) are to be used by Aaron. Verses 11–14 speak of the atonement for Aaron and his house—v. 11 of his sin-offering bullock to be killed; v. 12 of burning coals from the altar and incense to be placed behind the veil; v. 13 of the cloud of incense to be made in the holy of holies over the mercy seat so that Aaron is protected from the danger of death; v. 14 of Aaron's second passing within the veil, with some of the bullock's blood to be sprinkled on and in front of the mercy-seat. Verses 15–19 prescribe the ceremony with the first, the sin-offering goat, for the congregation—vv. 15, 16a, Aaron enters a third time within the veil, and the ceremony described in v. 14 is directed also to be carried out with the goat, as an atonement for the inner sanctuary, cleansing it from blemishes; v. 16b, the same thing is directed to be done in regard to the holy place; v. 17, no one is permitted to be present even in the holy place when these ceremonies transpire; vv. 18f., the altar too is directed to be cleansed by an atonement with some of the blood of both sin-offering animals. Verses 20–22 prescribe the ceremony with the second, the scapegoat, for the congregation—v. 20 directs it to be brought in; v. 21, the transfer of guilt takes place as Aaron confesses all Israel’s sins over its head; v. 22, the goat is sent away, an “escape goat,” carrying the nations’s guilt into the uninhabited desert. Verses 23f. mark the concluding act as Aaron takes off his linen garments, bathes in the holy place, resumes his usual priestly garments, and presents the burnt-offering rams for himself and his people.

绵羊为燔祭（参：利 16:24）、一件圣服（参：利 16:23, 32）和一次圣水洗身；要求百姓带来两只羊，一只为赎罪祭，另一只为阿撒泻勒的羊（参：利 16:7-10, 15-22, 25, 27-28, 32-33），并献上一只公绵羊为燔祭（参：利 16:24）。插入的段落表明后面的描述与介绍部分有密切的联系。

人们经常可以在《利未记》的其他部分中看到，经文中首先提出一些可以用来献祭的牲畜，然后才详细阐述怎样使用这些祭物。人们可以将《利未记》8:1-2 与《利未记》16:6-26 进行比较，并将 9:24 和 16:7-18 进行比较。在《利未记》16:6 中，亚伦献上了公牛作为赎罪祭；《利未记》16:7-10 中提到了两只公羊：他们被安置在会幕的门口（利 16:7）；为这两只羊拈阄，一阄归与耶和华，一阄归与阿撒泻勒（利 16:8）；第一只献为赎罪祭（利 16:9）；第二只不是为了献祭，而是用来赎罪，要打发人送到旷野去（利 16:10）。

(2) 《利未记》16:11-24 描述了祭礼，并为亚伦怎样使用（1）中的不同祭物提供了更为完整的指示。《利未记》16:11-14 中的经文提及亚伦为他和本家赎罪——《利未记》16:11 中提到，他献上了公牛作为赎罪祭；《利未记》16:12 中提到，他从坛上盛满火炭，又拿香料，都带入幔子内；《利未记》16:13 中提到，使香的烟云遮掩法柜上的施恩座，免得亚伦死亡；《利未记》16:14 中提到，亚伦再一次进入幔子内，取些公牛的血，用指头弹在施恩座的东面和前面。《利未记》16:15-19 提到了为会众赎罪的第一只公山羊，《利未记》16:15, 16 a 中提到亚伦第三次进入幔子内，《利

(3) Verses 25–28 are explanatory, with four additional directions—v. 25, the fat of the sin offering is directed to be consumed on the altar; v. 26, he who has taken away the second goat must wash his clothes and bathe himself, and only then is he permitted to enter the camp; v. 27, the flesh and stomach contents of the sin-offering animals are to be burned outside the camp; v. 28, the one who burns them must wash, as in v. 26.

(4) Verses 29–34. Over against sections

未记》16:14 中描述的祭礼也需要宰公山羊在至圣所内赎罪，“因会幕在他们污秽之中，也要照样而行”；《利未记》16:16 b 中提到，亚伦同样需要在至圣所行赎罪之礼；《利未记》16:17 中提到，当他进至圣所赎罪的时候，任何人不准进入那里；《利未记》16:18-19 中提到，要取赎罪动物的血，洁净了坛，从而为人赎罪。《利未记》16:20-22 中规定了为会众献上第二只阿撒泻勒羊，《利未记》16:20 要求献上公山羊为会众赎罪；《利未记》16:21 中描述说，当亚伦承认以色列的罪孽，并把这罪归在羊头上时，罪就转移了；《利未记》16:22 中说，这羊被放在了旷野，成为了“替罪羊”，这羊担着以色列的罪孽，被带到了无人之地。《利未记》16:23-24 中描述了亚伦祭礼最后的行为，他把进至圣所时穿的衣服脱下，在圣处用水洗身，穿上他祭司的衣服，把自己和燔祭和百姓的燔祭献上，为自己和百姓赎罪。

(3) 《利未记》16:25-28 是一段解释性经文，另外给出了 4 条命令——《利未记》16:25 中描述说，赎罪祭牲的脂油要在坛上焚烧；《利未记》16:26 中描述说，那放第二只羊的人要洗衣服，用水洗身，然后可以进营；《利未记》16:27 中描述说，赎罪祭牲的皮、肉和粪要在营外用火焚烧；《利未记》16:28 和 16:26 中的描述相同，焚烧的人要用水洗衣服，用水洗身。

(4) 《利未记》16:29-34。这部分经文

(1)–(3) (vv. 1–28), a fourth (vv. 29–34), phrased in the 2nd person plural, is addressed to the congregation. In vv. 29–31, the demand is made that Israel “afflict their souls,” a general expression for self-humiliation (cf. Dt. 8:2f., 16; Nu. 30:13), signifying sincere repentance. It might include such elements as bowed heads, prayer, fasting, or the use of sackcloth and ashes (Ps. 35:13; Isa. 58:3–6); cf. Ezr. 8:21, “a fast, that we might humble ourselves” (RV). The OT, however, never specifically legislates a regular fast (see FAST, FASTING). The congregation was also to observe “a sabbath of solemn rest,” by abstaining from all work on the tenth day of the seventh month. In vv. 32–34, a number of directions are given, summarizing the previous statements; and in v. 34 the service is declared to be an everlasting statute, an annual Day of Atonement for all sins.

C. Unity of the Chapter. An attempt is made by almost all modern critics to destroy the above-demonstrated unity of Lev. 16. The general critical approach is to distinguish three rituals: a purification ceremony, making possible the high priest’s entry into the most holy place (vv. 1–6, 34b; R. H. Pfeiffer includes vv. 1–4; 6 [11], 12–13, 23–24a, 34b, under “P” [Priestly Code, secondary], p. 251); a scapegoat ritual of magic, dating back to immemorial antiquity and tolerated in more enlightened times only as “a concession to popular demands” (vv. 7–10; cf. IB, II, 77f.); and an annual atonement service (vv. 29–34a, a secondary version, according to Pfeiffer, of Lev. 23:26–32, “P” [p. 266]). These would then have been combined in postexilic days and elaborated according to vv. 11–28 (cf. W. Eichrodt, Theology of the OT [Eng. tr. 1961], I, 130). As S. R. Driver long ago cautioned, however, “it may be doubted whether the successive stages in the amalgamation and development ... can be distinguished by means of a literary analysis” (HDB, I, 201). The phrase “not at all times” in Lev. 16:2 suggests a specific occasion of the high priest’s entry, viz., the Day of Atonement (vv. 29f.); and the atonement-making of v. 30 (cf. 23:28) presupposes certain already articulated regulations, viz., the ceremonies of vv. 3–28. Scripture itself pronounces the whole chapter to be one unified message of Yahweh.

与前面提到的(1)至(3)中的内容形成了对照,这里第四次用第二人称复数形式(利 16:29-34),这是一段对会众说的话。在《利未记》16:29-31中,神要求以色列人“刻苦己心”,这是自尊的常见表达(参:申 8:2-3, 16; 民 30:13),代表着虔诚的悔改之心。刻苦己心可能包含着如下方面:低头、祷告、禁食或穿麻衣和披灰(诗 35:13; 赛 58:3-6);参:拉 8:21,“禁食,为要在我们神面前刻苦己心”(《修订译本》)。但是,《旧约》中并没有关于定期禁食的具体规定(见 FAST, FASTING[禁食])。而且会众还每逢七月初十要放下手中的工作,守“圣安息日”。《利未记》16:32-34中也给出了一些指示,并总结了前文中的陈述;《利未记》16:34中称这仪式要作为永远的定例,所有有罪的人每年都要守赎罪日。

*C. 《利未记》16章中表述的一致性。*几乎所有的现代批评家都曾试图破坏《利未记》16章中(上文)表述的一致性。常见的批评方法是区分出3个仪式:洁净的仪式,它使大祭司可以进入至圣所(利 16:1-6, 34b; R. H. Pfeiffer 将《利未记》16:1-4, 6[11], 12-13, 23-24a 和 34b 包含在“P”[第二祭典]中, 251 页);替罪羊的神秘仪式,这一仪式可以追溯到远古时期,在更文明时期,人们认为它只是“一种对大众需求的妥协”(利 16:7-10; 参: IB, II, 77-78);每年一次的赎罪仪式(利 16:29-34a, Pfeiffer 认为这部分从属于《利未记》23:26-32, “P” [266 页])。这些仪式在被掳归回之后结合在了一起,并根据《利未记》16:11-28 详尽地阐述出来(参: W. Eichrodt, Theology of the OT [1961 年英译本], I, 130)。但正如德赖弗(S. R. Driver)曾经警示的,“是否可以通过书

II. Significance.-A. Contemporary Symbolism. In accordance with its name, Yom Kippur was designed to effect atonement. The blood of sacrifices, suffering death in the place of sinful men, symbolized the propitiation of God’s wrath first of all against Aaron and his priestly family (Lev. 16:6, 11); for even the high priest stood before God as a death-guilty sinner (v. 13). On this day, with the exception of the miter, he does not wear the insignia of his high-priestly office but dons white garments, which in their simplicity represent the earnestness of the situation. The repetition of the bath, both in his case and in that of the other persons engaged in the ceremony (vv. 4, 24, 26, 28), was necessary, because the mere washing of the hands and feet (Ex. 30:19f.) would not suffice on this occasion (cf. Nu. 19:7ff., 19, 21). Correspondingly, the flesh of the sin-offering animals was not permitted to be eaten but had to be burned (v. 27) because it was sacrificed also for Aaron’s sin (compare Lev. 16:27 with 6:23;

面分析识别出这些仪式在融合和发展中的各个阶段，这是值得怀疑的” (HDB, I, 201)。《利未记》16:2 中的“不可随时”这一短语表明，祭司只有在特定的时候，也就是赎罪日才能进入至圣所 (利 16:29-30); 《利未记》16:30 中的“为你们赎罪” (参: 利 23:28) 是以某些明确的规定为前提的，也就是以《利未记》16:3-28 中的仪式为前提。《圣经》本身告诉人们，整个《利未记》16 章都在讲耶和華的统一的启示。

II. 赎罪日的重要性。 A. 同时代中赎罪日的象征物。设立赎罪日 (Yom Kippur) 是为了赎罪，这也与这个词的名字一致。祭物代替所有的罪人受死，祭物的血象征着耶和華对亚伦和他的本家的愤怒平息了 (利 16:6, 11); 因为即使站在神面前的大祭司也是本应受死罪的人 (利 16:13)。在赎罪日当天，大祭司除了要带细麻布冠冕，不准佩戴任何显示大祭司职位的标志，这种朴素的服饰可以显示出他的虔诚。大祭司和其他参加祭礼的人都要多次用水洗身 (利 16:4, 24, 26, 28)，因为仅仅洗手和脚 (出 30:19-20) 的人不配参加祭礼 (参: 民 19:7 起, 19, 21)。同样，人们不可吃赎罪祭牲的肉，要将其焚烧 (利 16:27)，因为人们要把它献给神为亚伦赎罪 (比较《利未记》16:27 和 6:23; 利 4:11-12, 21; 出 29:14; 利 8:17; 9:11; 10:19)。至圣所也需要赎罪，因为以色列的百姓玷污了它 (出 30:10; 利 16:16-20, 33; 另参: 结 45:18-20)。经文中特别提到了至圣所 (利 16:33)，然后提到了圣所 (利 16:16b, 20, 33)，再然后提到了坛 (利 16:18, 20, 33)。因此，一切准备就绪之后，会众百姓赎

4:11f., 21; Ex. 29:14; Lev. 8:17; 9:11; 10:19). Atonement is further wrought for the sanctuary, which has been defiled by the contamination of Israel (Ex. 30:10; Lev. 16:16–20, 33; cf. also Ezk. 45:18–20). In particular, the holy of holies is mentioned (Lev. 16:33), then the holy place (vv. 16b, 20, 33), and then the altar (vv. 18, 20, 33). With the way thus prepared, a climactic atonement takes place for all the transgressions of the congregation since the last Day of Atonement (cf. vv. 21f., 30, 34). Particularly significant is the departure of the sin-laden scapegoat (vv. 8, 10, 20–22; cf. Lev. 14:7, 53; Zec. 5:5–11; and numerous parallels in other religions), not as a sin offering (for God’s people are not to sacrifice to demons, Dt. 32:17), but symbolizing the sending back to its satanic source the guilt of Israel (see AZAZEL). Thus Delitzsch correctly called the Day of Atonement “the Good Friday of the Old Testament.” Furthermore, even as salvation requires both God’s redemptive activity and man’s response of faith, so also the ritual of atonement remained ineffective unless accompanied by sincere repentance (cf. Nu. 15:30). As the Talmud later cautioned, there could be no forgiveness for a man who sinned, counting on Yom Kippur for atonement (Yoma viii–ix). In comparison, however, with the consciousness of sin that had been aroused, how great must God’s grace have appeared when once in each year a general remission of sins was vouchsafed!

B. Typology. But just as with the tabernacle and the sacrificial system, so too the Day of Atonement contained only the shadow of future good things, but not these things themselves (He. 10:1). Its intrinsic limitations are manifest, both in the repetitiveness of its numerous atoning acts and by its recurrence year after year (He. 7:27). Yom Kippur was an acted prophecy or type of Christ, who has entered into the holy place not made with hands, viz., into heaven itself, and has now appeared before God, by once for all giving Himself as a sacrifice for the removal of sin (9:23ff.). Like the first goat, burned outside the camp, He died outside the walls of Jerusalem for us (13:12); and like the second, the scapegoat, He suffered substitutionary condemnation, sending sin back to its demonic author and abrogating Satan's claims over the fulness of Israel (2:14f.; 1 Jn. 3:8). By this act, the purpose of OT sacrificial worship in its highest development (viz., the Day of Atonement) has been fulfilled. Accordingly our hope too, like an anchor (He. 6:19), penetrates to the inner part of the veil in the higher sense of the term, i.e., to heaven.

回了自上个赎罪日起犯下的罪（参：利 16:21-22, 30, 34）。意义尤为重大的是把负罪的羊放在旷野（利 16: 8, 10, 20-22；参：利 14:7, 53；亚 5:5-11 和其他宗教中的众多类似的风俗），这不是一种赎罪祭（因为，神的子民不会为鬼魔献祭，申 32:17），而是象征着将以色列的罪送回到它的邪恶原处（见 AZAZEL[阿撒泻勒]）。因此，德利奇（Delitzsch）将赎罪日准确地称为“旧约的耶稣受难日”。此外，虽然救赎需要上帝的赎罪行动和世人以信心作回应，正如，如果罪人不真心悔改，赎罪仪式也无法为他们带来救赎（参：民 15:30）。《他勒目》后来警告人们，想要依靠赎罪日得救赎的罪人无法得到神的宽恕（Yoma viii–ix）。但相比较人们悔罪意识的觉醒，上帝的恩典是多么伟大，因为祂每年都赐予所有人一次赎罪的机会。

III. History.-A. Relative Silence of the OT History. Shortly after its primary revelation in Lev. 16, Moses again mentions the Day of Atonement in 23:26-32, in the list of Israel's annual festivals. It is ordered that for this day there shall be a holy convocation at the sanctuary, a humbling of the heart, and sabbath rest from labor, under threat of divine destruction (cf. Nu. 29:7). Then according to Lev. 25:9 the Year of Jubilee begins with the Day of Atonement. Lev. 16 closes, however, with the statement that Aaron (cf. v. 2) did as Yahweh commanded Moses. The first full observance of Yom Kippur must therefore have taken place in the fall of that year, possibly 1445 B.C. Nu. 18:7 subsequently states that Aaron and his sons, in contrast to the ordinary Levites, are to perform the duties of the priesthood “within the veil,” by which reference is again made to the ceremony of the Day of Atonement. Thirty-eight years later Nu. 29:7–11 once more validates the observance when it speaks of offerings on this day additional to those which are brought for the purposes of atonement for sin. But the OT makes no further explicit mention of the Day of Atonement. Jeremiah’s “fast day” (36:6) was a special observance in the ninth month (v. 9). Similarly Ezekiel, in his vision of the new temple (chs. 40–46), gives a series of enactments for the festivals that includes an atonement service in the first month (45:18–25). But while vv. 18–20 appear to present an analogy to Lev. 16, they cannot be put on the same level as the Mosaic enactments. They are to be regarded as an ideal scheme, the realization of which was conditioned on a degree of popular obedience that failed to materialize among those Jews who returned from Babylon (cf. 43:10f.). Neh. 9:1 records a gathering in Jerusalem in the seventh month of 444 B.C. for the purpose of confession, with fasting and sackcloth. This appears to represent Ezra’s reestablishment on the Day of Atonement. The time of its observance, however, was postponed two weeks that year, until the twenty-fourth day of the month, presumably to allow for the Feast of Tabernacles from the fifteenth to the twenty-second, which seems to have suffered similar postexilic neglect, and had even been completely forgotten until that very time (cf. 8:14).

7:27)。赎罪日是应验的预言或是基督的预表，基督进入非双手所建的至圣所，也就是天堂，出现在神的面前，祂只一次将自己献上，就成全了赎罪的事（来 9:23 起）。基督就像第一只在营外被焚烧的公羊，祂在耶路撒冷城墙外为我们受难（来 13:12）；祂也像第二只阿撒泻勒的羊一样替世人赎罪，将罪返还给魔鬼，并废除了撒但对充实的以色列人的索取（来 2:14-15；约壹 3:8）。藉着祂的行为，《旧约》中献祭敬奉的目的以其最高形式（也就是赎罪日）得以达成。于是，我们的指望如同灵魂的锚般（来 6:19），进入更高层次的幔子内，即天堂中。

III. 赎罪日的历史。A. 赎罪日在旧约历史中的相对沉默。《利未记》16 章对赎罪日进行了最重要的揭示，在这之后不久，摩西再次在《利未记》23:26-32 中提到了赎罪日，赎罪日是以色列人每年都要守的节日之一。以色列人在这日要守为圣会，并要刻苦己心，什么工都不可做，违背的人将从民中除灭（参：民 29:7）。此外，根据《利未记》25:9 中的描述，禧年从赎罪日开始。然而，《利未记》16 章以如下的陈述结尾，亚伦（参：利 16:2）照耶和華所吩咐摩西的行了。因此，人们第一次严格守赎罪日应该是从那年（可能是公元前 1445 年）的秋天开始。《民数记》18:7 随后描述道，亚伦和他的儿子们的职责与普通利未人的职责形成了对比，他们要为“幔子内的事”，一同守祭司的职分，这里

B. Historicity. Many critical OT scholars have assumed that the elaborate rituals of the Day of Atonement could have arisen only at a late postexilic date in the history of Israel (see LEVITICUS). They have relegated all the above-listed references to the so-called Priestly Code, claiming that the day originated in the days of atonement mentioned in Ezk. 45:18–20, in the four national fast days of Zec. 7:5 and 8:19, and in the day of penance of 444 B.C., just mentioned, on the twenty-fourth day of the seventh month. It is thought that in this way Lev. 16:29ff. came into being, and that at a later time the complicated blood ritual was added (see I.C. above). But it is to be observed that in still later times there is found no more frequent mention of the Day of Atonement than in the earlier. Sir. 50:5ff. refers to the high priest Simon on Yom Kippur, although no further mention is made at this place of the ceremony as such. Except for a similar allusion in 3 Macc. 1:11, there is then a further silence on the subject down to Philo (De specialibus legibus ii. 193–223 [ch. 32]), Josephus (Ant. xiv.4.3), and the NT (Acts 27:9; He. 6:19; 9:7, 13ff.; 10:1ff.), which shows how carefully we must handle the argument from silence if we do not want to arrive at uncomfortable results.

所指的应该也是赎罪日的祭礼。《民数记》29:7-11 中的描述说，以色列人在赎罪日除了献上了赎罪的祭牲，还献上了其他的祭物，这再次证明 38 年之后以色列人依然守赎罪日。但是《旧约》没有进一步详述赎罪日。耶利米所说的“禁食日”（耶 36:6）是九月的一个特殊仪式（耶 36:9）。同样，以西结在他所看见的新圣殿的异象中给出了一系列关于圣日规定，其中就包括正月的赎罪仪式（结 45:18-25）。虽然《以西结书》45:18-20 中的仪式规定与《利未记》16 章中的描述相似，但是它们却不能和摩西律法中的规定相提并论。它们被认为是一种理想的方案，只有所有人都顺从神才能实现，而从巴比伦归回的犹太人未能实现这一理想方案（参：结 43:10-11）。《尼希米记》9:1 中记载道，公元前 444 年七月，以色列人为了表达他们的忏悔之心，身穿麻衣，聚集禁食。这似乎表明以斯拉恢复了赎罪日。然而，那年守赎罪日的时间向后推迟了两周，到当月的第二十四天才开始，这可能是由于以色列人要从当月第 15 天至第 22 天守住棚节，在被掳归回后，以色列人完全忽略了这个节日，直到这时，他们才想起来守住棚节（参：尼 8:14）。

*B. 赎罪日的史实性。*许多评判《旧约》的学者认为，直到被掳归回之后很久，

Actually, the Day of Atonement is stated to have been instituted in the times of Moses (Lev. 16:1); the ceremony takes place in the Mosaic tabernacle; the people are pre-supposed to be in the camp (vv. 26ff.); Aaron is still the high priest; and even the most extreme critics admit that the references to the ark must be “in some sense pre-exilic” (IB, II, 81). Indeed, it is impossible to separate Lev. 16 from the other priestly ordinances, because the name of the lid of the ark of the covenant (Heb. kappōret, Ex. 25:17ff.; 26:34)

赎罪日的复杂仪式才开始在以色列的历史中出现（见 LEVITICUS 《利未记》）。他们将上文所提到的赎罪日都归入所谓的祭典中，认为赎罪日源自《以西结书》45:18-20 中的众多的赎罪节日、《撒迦利亚书》7:5 和 8:19 中的四个民族禁食日和公元前 444 年的忏悔日（上文刚刚提到过），并认为在每年七月的第二十四天守赎罪日。他们以为《利未记》16:29 起中关于赎罪日的描述就是这样产生的，后来人们又添加上了复杂的鲜血献祭（见上文 I.C.）。但值得注意的是，后来人们不再像早期那样频繁地提及赎罪日。《便西拉智训》50:5 起中提到了赎罪日的大祭司西门，虽然此处经文没有进一步提及赎罪日的仪式。《马加比三书》1:11 中也有一段类似的记述，但除此之外，人们对这一主题长期保持沉默，直到后来斐罗的作品（Philo, De specialibus legibus ii. 193–223 [32 章]）、约瑟夫斯的作品（Ant. xiv.4.3）和《新约》（徒 27:9；来 6:19；9:7, 13 起；10:1 起）中再次提及赎罪日，这说明，如果我们想要得到满意的答案，就必须谨慎对待这段沉默时期。 stands in the clearest relation to the ceremony that takes place on the Day of Atonement. If the ark was no longer in existence after the Exile, and if, as according to Jer. 3:16, the Israelites no longer expected its restoration, then it would have been impossible to connect the most important ceremony of the Yom Kippur ritual with the ark and to base the atonement on this. Finally, the Passover festival is mentioned in prophetic literature, in addition to the mere reference in Isa. 30:29, only in Ezk. 45:21; the ark of the covenant only in Jer. 3:16; the Feast of Tabernacles only in Hos. 12:9; Ezk. 45:25; Zec. 14:16-19; and the Feast of Weeks is mentioned incidentally only in 2 Ch. 8:13, and possibly in 1 K. 9:25, and is not found at all in Ezekiel (cf. 45:18ff.).

C. Further Development. The Day of Atonement came more and more into the foreground in later times and was called "the great fast" (cf. Acts 27:9), "the great day," or merely "the day." Its ritual was further enlarged and the special parts mentioned in the law were fully explained, fixed, and specialized (cf. esp. Mish. Yoma). Modern Jews, no matter how indifferent they may otherwise be to old customs and festivals, generally observe "Yom Kippur." Since the destruction of the Jerusalem temple in A.D. 70 the blood offerings have necessarily ceased. Judaism, paradoxically, explains its loss of objective atonement as a punishment for its sins. Indeed, no man may come unto the Father but by Jesus, the Lamb slain to take away the sin of the world (Jn. 1:29; 14:6).

Bibliography.—H. Cohen, Judaism, 17 (1968),

想着重造约柜，那么人们就无法将赎罪日的最重要的祭礼与约柜联系在一起，也无法因赎罪日献祭得神宽恕。最后，先知书中除了《以赛亚书》30:29，只有《以西结书》45:21 提到了逾越节；只有《耶利米书》3:16 提到了约柜；只有《何西阿书》12:9、《以西结书》45:25 和《撒迦利亚书》14:16-19 中提到了住棚节；只有《历代志下》8:13 或许还有《列王纪上》9:25 中顺便提及了七七节，《以西结书》中根本没有提到这个节日（参：结 45:18 起）。

*C. 赎罪日的后来发展。*赎罪日在后来的时代中所处的地位越来越突出，人们称它为“禁食节”（参：徒 27:9）、“伟大的日子”或仅称之为“那天”。这个宗教仪式不断扩大，律法中提到的特殊祭礼也得到全面的解释，并被固定下来，成为了专门的礼仪（尤其参：Mish. Yoma）。现代犹太人不论对其他的古老风俗和节日多么地漠不关心，他们一般都会守“赎罪日”。自从公元 70 年耶路撒冷圣殿被摧毁之后，人们不再献血祭。犹太教徒自相矛盾地解释说，血祭不能再作为代罪受罚的客观赎罪。实际上，如果没有基督，没有人能来到天父的面前，因为祂是被杀的羔羊，带走了世上所有的罪（约 1:29；14:6）。

ATROTH-BETH-JOAB 亚他绿伯约押

音译: atæroth-beth-jōæab 【希伯来语: ‘atrôt bêt yô’āb——“约押人的王冠” (代上 2:54); 《钦定版圣经》译为“Ataroth, the house of Joab”(“亚他绿, 约押人”); 《新英文译本》译为“Ataroth, Bethjoab”(“亚他绿, 伯约押”)。见 ATAROTH 4 (亚他绿 4)。

at’roth-shō’fan [Heb. ‘atrôt šōpān; Gk. gén sōpár]. A town built or fortified by the tribe of Gad in Transjordan (Nu. 32:35). The AV reads “Atroth, Shopan” as two places, but this is contrary to the LXX reading. Likewise, attempts to identify the site with Khirbet ‘Aṭṭārūs or Rujm ‘Atarus fail to account for the LXX reading of the second element (Shopan/Sophar) as the place name.

ATROTH-SHOPHAN 亚他录朔反

音译: at’roth-shō’fan 【希伯来语: ‘atrôt šōpān; 希腊语: gén sōpár】迦得支派在外约旦建造或加固的一座城邑 (民 32:35)。《钦定版圣经》译为两个地名, “Atroth, Shopan”(“亚他录, 朔反”), 但这与《七十士译本》中的翻译不同。同样, 认为该遗址为阿塔鲁斯废墟 (Khirbet ‘Aṭṭārūs 或 Rujm ‘Atarus) 的说法也无法解释《七十士译本》中为何将第二个词“朔反”(Shopan 或 Sophar) 理解为一个地名。

atī [Heb. ‘attay—‘timely’ (?)].

1. A son of Jarha the Egyptian, by a daughter of Sheshan (1 Ch. 2:35f).

2. A Gadite soldier who joined David’s army at Ziklag (1 Ch. 12:11).

3. A son of Rehoboam and grandson of Solomon (2 Ch. 11:20).

ATTAIN.

Archaic, difficult, or otherwise important occurrences include the following: In 2 S. 23:19, 23 (par. 1 Ch. 11:21, 25) the meaning of Heb. Bô’ is clearest in the NEB, “he did not rival the three.” In Prov. 1:5, qānā (“buy”) is best translated as in the RSV and NEB, “acquire.”

In the NT, Gk. katantáō is used both of a ship “reaching” a harbor (Acts 27:12) and of “attaining” the resurrection (Phil. 3:11; NEB “arrive at”). In Phil. 3:12 the word is lambánō (RSV “obtained”; NEB “achieved”; cf. Rom. 9:30, katalambánō), and in 3:16 phthánō is used: “let us hold true to what we have attained.” The idea of “attaining to the resurrection” is found in the words of Jesus in Lk. 20:35, where the Greek word is tynchánō (AV “obtain”; cf. 2 Tim. 2:10; He. 11:35).

ATTAI 亚太

音译: atī 【希伯来语: ‘attay——“及时的” (不确定)】。

1、示珊的女儿和埃及人耶哈所生的儿子 (代上 2:35-36)。

2、在洗革拉投奔大卫军的一名迦得士兵 (代上 12:11)。

3、罗波安的儿子, 所罗门的孙子 (代下 11:20)。

ATTAIN 得着、抵达

一种古语表达, 在以下经文中出现的一种晦涩难懂却很重要的词汇: 在《撒母耳记下》23:19, 23 中 (平行经文, 代上 11:21, 25), 希伯来语 Bô’ 的含义与《新英文译本》“he did not rival the three” (“只是不及前三个勇士”) 中的 “rival” (“比得上”) 的含义最为接近。在《箴言》1:5 中, 最好像《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》那样, 将 qānā (“买”) 一词译为 “acquire” (“得着”)。

在《新约》中, 希腊语 katantáō 既可以用来表示船只 “抵达” 港口 (徒 27:12), 也可以用来表示 “得着” 复活 (腓 3:11; 《新英文译本》译为 “arrive at” [“得着”])。《腓立比书》3:12 中的 lambánō 就是 “得着” 的含义 (《修订标准译本》译为 “obtained” [“得着”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “achieved” [“得到”]; 参: 罗 9:30, katalambánō), 《腓立比书》3:16 中使用了 phthánō 一词: “我们到了什么地步, 就当照着什么地步行”。在《路加福音》20:35 中, 耶稣的话语中出现了 “得着复活” 的概念, 该处使用的希腊词语是 tynchánō (《钦定版圣经》译为 “obtain” [“得着”]; 参: 提后 2:10; 来 11:35)。

In Rom. 9:31 the AV has “attained to the law of righteousness” (phthánō), which the RSV interprets as “succeed in fulfilling.” “Attained” in 1 Tim. 4:6, AV (parakolouthēō), is better rendered “followed,” as in the other versions.

在《罗马书》9:31 中，《新英文译本》将“得着律法的义”译为“attained to the law of righteousness” (phthánō)，而《修订标准译本》译为“succeed in fulfilling”。《钦定版圣经》《提摩太后书》4:6 中将“得了” (parakolouthēō) 一词译为“followed”，其他译本中也使用了这种较好的翻译。 at-ə-lī'ə [Gk. Attalia]. A harbor city on the southwest coast of Asia Minor in the region of Pamphylia; modern Adalia.

Attalia stood on a flat terrace of limestone about 120 ft. (37 m.) above the Catarrhactes River, which flowed directly into the sea. The river has now all but disappeared, its waters having been diverted for irrigation purposes. The port served the rich district of southwest Phrygia, and an important trade route passed through it en route to the Lycus and Meander valleys, and so to Ephesus and Smyrna. It was in turn the preferred route to Syria and Egypt. It was accordingly overrun by the successive Persian, Macedonian, Seleucid, Attalid, and Roman invaders. Paul and Silas passed through it as they returned to Antioch from their first missionary journey (Acts 14:25). Although it originally served as the port for Perga, some 8 mi. (13 km.) inland, by early Christian times it had become the area metropolis.

ATTALIA 亚大利

音译: at-ə-lī'ə【希腊语: Attalia】。旁非利亚地区小亚细亚西南海岸上的一座港口城市；现名为阿达利亚 (Adalia)。

亚大利位于平坦的石灰岩阶地上，坐落于卡塔拉斯河河口 120 英尺 (37 米) 处，该河流直接流入海洋，但现已消失，人们曾为了灌溉农田使该河流改道。该港口服务于弗吕家西南的富裕地区，一条重要的贸易路线穿过该港口，并途经吕库斯和敏德河谷，到达以弗所和士每拿。人们更愿意通过这条路线前往叙利亚和埃及。因此，波斯、马其顿、塞琉西王朝、阿塔罗斯王朝和罗马入侵者相继侵占了这座城市。保罗和西拉在第一次传道之旅时，途经该港口回到了安提阿 (徒 14:25)。虽然亚大利本是附近离海岸约 8 英里 (13 公里) 的内陆城市别加的港口，但在基督教早期，该港口已经成为了一座大都市。 archeological interest. There are extensive remains of the ancient wall, which, with its towers, protected the outer harbor. The entrance to the harbor was closed by means of a chain; the inner harbor was just a recess in the cliff. The city itself was surrounded by two walls, with a moat protecting the outer wall. The inscribed and arched triple gateway of Hadrian and the ancient aqueduct are the chief monuments to antiquity.

ATTALUS

at'ə-ləs [Gk. Attalos]. King of Pergamum, mentioned in 1 Macc. 15:22 among the kings to whom was sent an edict from Rome forbidding the persecution of the Jews (Josephus Ant. xiv.8.5).

ATTEND; ATTENDANCE.

In 1 Tim. 4:13, AV, “give attendance to” (Gk. proséchō) means “devote your attention to” (NEB); cf. Acts 16:14; He. 7:13. The AV “attend upon the Lord” in 1 Cor. 7:35 follows the TR euprósedros, “constant”; the correct reading is eupáredros, with the same meaning: “devoted” to the Lord.

ATTENDANT.

The term occurs in Jgs. 3:19 for Heb. Hā'ōmēdīm (AV “[all] that stood by him”); in Dnl. 11:6 for mēbī'ay, “followers” (AV “they that brought her”;

ATTALUS 阿塔罗斯

音译：at'ə-ləs 【希腊语：Attalos】。《马加比一书》15:22 中提到的别迦摩国王，罗马人曾给他和其他的国王写信，敦促他们不要伤害犹太人（Josephus Ant. xiv.8.5）。

ATTEND; ATTENDANCE 留心；服侍、照料

在《提摩太前书》4:13 中，《钦定版圣经》中的“give attendance to”（希腊语：proséchō）意思是“以……为念”（《新英文译本》译为“devote your attention to”[汉译相同]）；参：徒 16:14；来 7:13。《公认文本》中译为 euprósedros，“忠实的”，《钦定版圣经》遵照《公认文本》，将《哥林多前书》7:35 中一段经文译为“attend upon the Lord”（“殷勤服侍主”）。正确的希腊词应该是 eupáredros，意思与上面的词相同：“忠于”神。

ATTENDANT. 侍从、随从、执事

《士师记》3:19 中用这个词语翻译希伯来语 Hā'ōmēdīm（《钦定版圣经》中译为“[all] that stood by him”[“左右侍立的人”]）；《但以理书》11:6 中用这个词翻

NEB “escort”); in Mt. 22:13 for Gk. diákonoi, “servants” (so AV); and in Lk. 4:20 for hypēretēs, “synagogue official” (AV “minister”).

ATTENT; ATTENTIVE.

In 2 Ch. 6:40; 7:15 the AV uses “attent” archaically for “attentive” (Heb. qaššub), “Very attentive” in Lk. 19:48, AV, translates Gk. ekkrémamai, “hang upon”: “the people hung upon his words” (RSV, NEB).

ATTHARATES

ə-thär'ə-tēz [Gk. Attaratēs] (1 Esd. 9:49); NEB “the governor.” A Greek rendering of the Persian title Tirshatha, “governor,” which in Neh. 8:9 is applied to Nehemiah, probably by a later editor (Heb. hatiršātā).

ATTHARIAS

a-thə-rī'əz [Gk. Attharias] (1 Esd. 5:40); AV ATHARIAS; NEB “the governor.” An official under Nehemiah who had supervision of the priests during the return from exile; or a title of Nehemiah himself. Cf. Ezr. 2:63, RSV and NEB “the governor”; AV “the Tirshatha.” See ATTHARATES.

ATTIRE.

译的 m^ebi'ay, “随从” (《钦定版圣经》译为 “they that brought her” [“所倚靠之力”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “escort” [“侍从”]) 《马太福音》22:13 中用这个词翻译希腊词语 diákonoi, 意思是“仆人” (《钦定版圣经》也采用了这种译法); 《路加福音》4:20 中用这个词翻译 hypēretēs, 意思是“犹太会堂的神职人员” (《钦定版圣经》中译为 “minister” [“执事”])。

ATTENT; ATTENTIVE 注意; 专注的

在《历代志下》6:40 和 7:15 中,《钦定版圣经》中用 “attent” (“注意”) 这一古语来表示 “attentive” (“专注的”) 的含义, 而《钦定版圣经》在《路加福音》19:48 中用 “Very attentive” (“非常专注的”) 来翻译希腊词语 ekkrémamai (“侧耳听”): “百姓都侧耳听他” (《修订标准译本》,《新英文译本》)。

ATTHARATES 亚特哈拉茨、总督、省长

音译: ə-thär'ə-tēz 【希腊语: Attaratēs】 (拉一 9:49);《新英文译本》中译为 “the governor” (“省长”)。该词是波斯 “省长” (Tirshatha) 官衔的希腊语形式, 在《尼希米记》8:9 中, 尼希米担任省长一职, 这个职称可能是后来编纂者添加的内容 (希伯来语: hatiršātā)。

ATTHARIAS 亚特哈利里、总督、省长

音译: a-thə-rī'əz 【希腊语: Attharias】 (拉一 5:40);《钦定版圣经》中译为 ATHARIAS (“省长”);《新英文译本》中译为 “the governor” (“省长”)。从巴比伦归回时期, 尼希米的领导下一位负责监督祭司的长官; 或是尼希米的官衔。参: 拉 2:63,《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》中译为 “the governor” (“省长”);《钦定版圣经》中译为 “the Tirshatha” (“省长”)。见 ATTHARATES (亚特哈拉茨、总督、省长)。

AUDIENCE.

In the OT the AV has “audience” for Heb. 'ōzen, “ear,” where the RSV and NEB usually have “hearing” (e.g., Gen. 23:10; Ex. 24:7; 1 Ch. 28:8; Neh. 13:1).

AUDIENCE 听众

《钦定版圣经》在《旧约》中用 “audience” (听众) 一词翻译希伯来语 'ōzen, 意思是 “耳朵”, 而《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》通常译为 “hearing” (“听见”) (如创 23:10; 出 24:7; 代上 28:8; 尼 13:1)。

In the NT the expression “give audience” (Acts 13:16; 15:12; 22:22) translates Gk. akouō, “hear,” and means “listen,” “pay attention.” Cf. Lk. 7:1; 20:45, where the usage is similar to that of the OT.

《新约》中用 “give audience” (“听”) (徒 13:16; 15:12; 22:22) 翻译希腊词语 akouō (“听见”), 意思是 “听”、“注意”。参:《路加福音》7:1 和 20:45, 这两段经文中该希腊词的用法与它在《旧约》中用法相似。

The only RSV occurrence is Acts 25:23, where Gk. akroatērion, AV “place of hearing,” is rendered “audience hall” (NEB “audience-chamber”). The word is an equivalent of Lat. and Eng. “auditorium,” and refers here to a room, probably in Agrippa’s praetorium, used for hearing criminal case.

《修订标准译本》只有在《使徒行传》25:23 中使用了 “audience” 一词,《钦定版圣经》将希腊词语 akroatērion 译为 “place of hearing” (“公厅”), 而《修订标准译本》译为 “audience hall” (“公厅”) (《新英文译本》译为 “audience-chamber” [“公厅”])。这个词就相当于拉丁语和英语中的 “auditorium” (“会堂”), 这里有可能指的是亚基帕的宫殿内一个用于审判罪犯的房间。

ô-gus'təs [Gk. (Kaisar) Augoustos].

1. The first Roman emperor, noteworthy in Bible history as the emperor in whose reign the Incarnation took place (Lk. 2:1). His original name was Gaius Octavius, and he was born in 63 B.C., the year of Cicero's consulship. He was the grandnephew of Julius Caesar, his mother Atia having been the daughter of Julia, Caesar's younger sister. He was only nineteen when Caesar was murdered in the Senate house (44 B.C.); but with a true instinct of statesmanship he steered his course through the intrigues and dangers of the closing years of the republic, and after the battle of Actium was left without a rival.

Some difficulty was experienced in finding a name that would define exactly the position of the new ruler of the state. He himself declined the names of rex and dictator, and in 27 B.C. he was by the decree of the senate styled Augustus. The Greeks rendered the word by Sebastós, "reverend" (cf. Acts 25:21, 25; 27:1). The name was connected by the Romans with Lat. augur—"one consecrated by religion"—and also with the verb augere. In this way it came to form one of the German imperial titles "Mehrer des

AUGUSTUS 奥古斯都、亚古士督

音译：ô-gus'təs【希腊语：(Kaisar) Augoustos】。

1、罗马帝国的第一位皇帝，也是圣经历史中一位重要的皇帝，因为在他统治时期主耶稣实现了道成肉身(路 2:1)。他的原名是盖乌斯·奥大维，生于公元前 63 年，此时正值西塞罗执政时期。他是恺撒的甥孙，他的母亲阿蒂亚(Atia)是凯撒的妹妹朱莉亚(Julia)的女儿。凯撒在元老院被杀时(公元前 44 年)他只有 19 岁；但他与生俱来的政治天赋使他安全渡过了罗马共和国末期的阴谋和危险，亚克兴角战役之后，他再无敌手。

人们经历了很多困难才为这位新统治者找到了准确的头衔。他本人不接受君主和独裁者的称谓，公元前 27 年，元老院颁布法令，赐封他为“奥古斯都”。这个词的希腊语翻译是 Sebastós，意思是“可尊敬的”(参：徒 25:21, 25; 27:1)。罗马人把这个词与拉丁词语 augur (“宗教中的圣人”)和动词 augere 结合起来。这样就形成了一个德语皇帝尊号 “Mehrer des Reichs” (“帝国扩张者”)。奥古斯都的在位时间超过 44 年——从亚克兴角战役(公元前 31 年)至他去世(公元 14 年)，毋庸置疑，他结束了

Reichs” (extender of the empire). The length of the reign of Augustus, extending as it did over forty-four years from the Battle of Actium (31 B.C.) to his death (A.D. 14), doubtless contributed much to the settlement and consolidation of the new regime after the troublous times of the civil wars.

It is chiefly through the connection of Judea and Palestine with the Roman empire that Augustus comes in contact with early Christianity, or rather with the political and religious life of the Jewish people at the time of the birth of Christ: “In those days a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled” (Lk. 2:1). During the reign of Herod the Great the government of Palestine was conducted practically without interference from Rome except, of course, as regarded the exaction of the tribute; but on the death of that astute and capable ruler (4 B.C.) none of his three sons among whom his kingdom was divided showed the capacity of their father.

In A.D. 6 the intervention of Augustus was invited by the Jews themselves to provide a remedy for the incapacity of their ruler Archelaus, who was deposed by the emperor from the rule of Judea; at the same time, while Caesarea was still the center of the Roman administration, a small Roman garrison was stationed permanently in Jerusalem. The city, however, was left to the control of the Jewish Sanhedrin with complete judicial and executive authority, except that the death sentence required confirmation by the Roman procurator.

There is no reason to believe that

罗马的内战动荡时期，为新政权建立和巩固做出了贡献。

奥古斯都主要通过罗马帝国与犹太和巴勒斯坦的交往接触到了早期的基督教，或者说通过基督降生时犹太人的政治和宗教生活接触了早期的基督教：“当那些日子，凯撒奥古斯督有旨意下来，叫天下人民都报名上册”（路 2:1）。希律大帝在位时期，罗马实际上不干预巴勒斯坦政府的事务，当然，罗马还是会向他们索取贡物；这位机敏能干的统治者死后（公元前 4 年），他的三个儿子并不具备他们父亲的统治才能，因此希律的王国走向分裂。

公元 6 年，无能的犹太国王亚基老被罢黜，犹太人主动向奥古斯都求援，希望他干预犹太事务；与此同时，虽然凯撒利亚仍是罗马的统治中心，但是小股罗马卫队永久驻扎在耶路撒冷。然而，该城在犹太公会的管控之下，享有完全的审判权和行政权，只是死刑判决必须得到罗马检察官的确认。

人们没有理由认为奥古斯都偏爱犹太

Augustus entertained any specially favorable appreciation of Judaism, but from policy he showed himself favorable to the Jews in Palestine and did everything to keep them from feeling the pressure of the Roman yoke. To the Jews of the eastern Diaspora he allowed great privileges. It has even been held that his aim was to render them pro-Roman as a counterpoise in some degree to the pronounced Hellenism of the East; but in the West autonomous bodies of Jews were never allowed (see T. Mommsen, Provinces of the Roman Empire [Eng. tr. 1886, repr. 1909], ch.11).

教,但从他奉行的政策中可以看出,他本人很支持犹太人,愿意不惜一切代价不让犹太人感到罗马统治的压力。他赐予东方离散的犹太人大量的特权。人们认为,他实际上希望赢得犹太人对罗马的支持,从而在一定的程度上抵消东方希腊文化对犹太人的影响;但他并未把这些特权赐予犹太人的西方自治团体(见 T. Mommsen, Provinces of the Roman Empire [1886 年英译本, 1909 年再版], 11 章)。

I. 表示权柄的词语。A. 希腊语对应词。在圣经用法和基督教用法中， predominantly the equivalent of the Greek exousía, which derives from éxestin. “Power” in one of its senses can also be a rendering of the same Greek noun, although it more commonly represents the distinct, if materially related, dýnamis. Other words that underlie the Eng. “authority” are epitagé, “command” (Tit. 2:15), hyperoché (1 Tim. 2:2), dynástēs (Acts 8:27), and authentéō (1 Tim. 2:12).

B. Meanings. Primarily the verb éxestin has two inter-connected senses: (1) “be free, unimpeded,” and (2) “have the right or permission,” which may include moral as well as legal right. What is suggested is a possibility of doing (or not doing) something because (1) there are no impediments and (2) there is, positively, the necessary permission or authorization.

The noun expresses the same concepts as the verb. Hence the first meaning is of exousía is that of power to do something because nothing stands in the way. The difference from dýnamis is that this is power based on extrinsic considerations, whereas dýnamis is intrinsic ability. Nevertheless, the two terms obviously overlap in the power or capability itself.

The second meaning is naturally that of authorization. In this case the power has been conferred by a superior power, court, or norm, whether this be political (the king or ruler), judicial (the law), or something more general (e.g., custom). Authorized power, which may be conferred corporately as well as individually, constitutes a right. Within the political and social structure, for instance, this may be the right of officials,

“authority” (“权柄、权威”) 一词的主要希腊语对应词是 exousía, 该希腊词衍生自 éxestin。“Power” 的一个含义也可以翻译这个希腊词语的名词形式, 但是从实质上讲, “Power” 更经常用来表示 dýnamis 的含义。英语单词 “authority” 的其他对应词包括 epitagé, “command” (“权柄”) (多 2:15), hyperoché (提前 2:2), dynástēs (徒 8:27) 和 authentéō (提前 2:12)。

B. 含义。 动词 éxestin 主要有两个互相关联的含义: (1) “不受约束的、畅通无阻的”, (2) “有权、准许”, 其中包含了道德权利和法律权利。这暗示出, 人们可以做 (或不) 某事, 因为 (1) 不存在任何困难或障碍, (2) 拥有必需的、肯定的许可或授权。

该词的名词和动词表达相同的含义。因此, exousía 的第一层含义是, 因为不存在障碍, 所以可以做某件事。它与 dýnamis 区别在于, exousía 是一种基于外在的能力, 而 dýnamis 是一种固有的能力。但是, 在表达能力或才能时, 这两个词显然存在一些语义重叠。

第二层意思就是授权的含义。在这种情况下, 权力是由掌握更高权力者、法院或标准授予的, 无论这是一种政治权力 (国王或统治者), 审判权力 (法律), 还是更普通的权力 (如, 风俗)。被授予的权力可能是被共同授予的也可能是被单独授予的, 构成一项权利。例如, 政治和社会结构中的授权指的可能是官员、家长、有产者或统治者的权利, 而文化领域的授权指的是按照风俗毫无异议地行使的权利。 parents, property-owners, or rulers, while in the cultural sphere it may be the right to act without question as custom allows.

Yet the right expressed by exousía is not abstract. It carries with it real power, even though this be extrinsically rather than intrinsically derived. The third nuance, then, brings once again a very close kinship to dýnamis. In practice the real power based on authorization, or lack of obstacles, cannot easily be differentiated from the power that is innate. Negatively, potential obstacles might vary, but positively, the ability amounts to the same thing. Sometimes, of course, the source of power matters a great deal, as in a question whether the power of a ruler is innate or derived. In many practical instances, however, the source is of no account whatever. For this reason “power” can often be a better rendering of exousía than “authority” or “right,” even though the latter might still be implied.

By a strange if not illogical development, exousía can come to stand in antithesis to law rather than dependence on it. This gives us the fourth sense, “freedom.” At this point a tension between the first and second senses is resolved in favor of the first. What can authorize (e.g., custom), can also restrain or impede. Ability in the sense of freedom from external obstacle can thus mean freedom from external power, even though in another setting it might mean authorization by it.

A final important usage, however, rests on the second sense. This is the employment of exousía for “office,” “office-bearer,” “ruler,” or, in the plural, “authorities.” The main concept here is that of wielding a power conferred. The authorities are the offices—or, more properly, the officers to whom power has been officially entrusted. It is perhaps worth noting that the term does not seem to be used for government as such.

Exousía 的含义经历了非常奇怪但符合逻辑的发展, 它可以与法律对立, 而不是依靠法律。我们从中看到了它的第四个含义, “自由”。从这个角度讲, 第一个含义和第二个含义之间的矛盾解决了, 第一个含义得到了支持。能够被授予的权力 (如, 风俗) 也能够被遏制或阻止。因此, 摆脱外部束缚的能力也可能意味着这种能力摆脱了外部的力量, 虽然在另一种背景下, 它可能意味着这是一种外部授权。

然而, 最后一个重要的用法依赖于第二个含义。即, exousía 可以用来表示 “职位”、“官员”、“统治者” 或其复数形式 “当局”。这里所表达的主要概念是, 他们运用的是一种被授予的权力。当局

II. Biblical Material.-A. OT. Two Hebrew words are translated “authority” in the OT but the examples are extraordinarily sparse and contribute little to the development of the concept. The first word, rēbōt, occurs in Prov. 29:2. The usual rendering is to the effect that the people rejoice when the righteous are “in authority” (part. of rābā, “be great,” “increase”). The second term, tōqep, is found in Est. 9:29. Here “full written authority” is given by Esther and Mordecai in confirmation of the second letter about Purim. A parallel statement in v. 32 says that the command of Queen Esther fixed these practices of Purim.

B. LXX. In the sphere of biblical and Judaic literature we find the normal uses of exousia. However, the LXX also made a distinctive application of the term, which from the standpoint of biblical and theological development was of almost incalculable significance. It found in exousia the most suitable term to express the sovereignty of God (His complete freedom from all restraints) as distinct from His might or power. The Greek word thus acquired a new sense in which it came to stand not for authorization but for the absolute divine freedom that is also the source of all authorization. Even the regular meanings, then, were brought in the last analysis into a new theological relation.

In this regard the Greek word came to

是一个政府机关——或者，更准确地说，它是由被正式授予权力的官员组成。或许值得一提的是，这个词语本身似乎不能用来表示政府。

II. 圣经的材料。A. 《旧约》中的材料。在《旧约》中，有两个希伯来词被翻译成“authority”（“权威、权柄”），但这样的例子太少了，对这一概念的发展没产生多少影响。第一个词是出现在《箴言》29:2 中的 rēbōt。人们通常译为“义人增多，民就喜乐”（rābā 的分词，意思是“大量的”，“增多”）。第二个词是出现在《以斯帖记》9:29 的 tōqep。在此处经文中，以斯帖和末底改以“全权”写第二封关于普珥日的信。《以斯帖记》9:32 中有一个类似的表述，王后以斯帖命定守普珥日。

B. 《七十士译本》中的资料。我们在《圣经》和犹太人文献中找到了 exousia 的常规用法。但《七十士译本》中也很有特色地应用了这个词，从圣经和神学发展的角度讲，这种用法具有几乎不可估量的意义。Exousia 最适合表达上帝主权不同于祂的大能或权柄（祂完全摆脱了一切的束缚）。因此，这个希腊词语又增加了一个含义，不再代表授权，而是表示绝对的神圣自由，这种自由也是所有授权的来源。于是，在最后的分析中，甚至连这个词的普通含义也具有了新的神学意义。 borrow in part from the Hebrew, which also seems to have shaped the LXX use of exousía for “sphere of power.” Furthermore, exousía became virtually coextensive with the rabbinic r^ešúť, which may well have made some contribution to the distinctive nuances of NT usage.

C. NT-1. God. The most significant NT usage is the application of exousía to God as in the LXX. God has authority both in the sense that He has absolute possibility or freedom of action, being under neither necessity nor restraint, and also in the sense that He is the only ultimate source of all other authorization and power (cf. Lk. 12:5; Acts 1:5; Jude 25). So complete is the authority of God that it may be compared with the power of the potter over the clay (Rom. 9:21). In relation to the universe the authority of God is indeed that of creator as well as ruler. It is worked out in both nature and history. Thus God controls the natural and historical forces that fulfil His purposes (Rev. 6:8; 9:3, 10, 19).

2. Powers and Rulers. Thus far the NT does not differ substantially from the LXX in its use of exousía, or from rabbinic theology in its use of r^ešúť. The same might be said when the term is specifically applied to subordinate powers or authorities as in 1 Cor. 15:24; 1 Pet. 3:22; Eph. 1:21, or to the civil authority exercised by kings, magistrates, priests, or stewards, as in Lk. 7:8; Mk. 13:34; Acts 9:14; Rom. 13:1–3; Tit. 3:1. Indeed, the same is still true when exousía is rather oddly used of Satan. In this connection “sphere of power” obviously comes into the picture, and yet also the sense of “authorization” or at least “permission,” since neither the

C. 《新约》中的资料。1、上帝的权柄。《新约》中最值得注意的用法是，用 exousía 表示上帝的主权，这种用法和《七十士译本》中的用法相同。上帝的权柄体现在祂拥有绝对的行动自由，祂没有不得已的事，也不受任何的约束，也体现在祂是所有其他授权和权柄的唯一的、最终的来源（参：路 12:5；徒 1:5；犹 25）。上帝的权柄是完整的，所以可与窑匠拿泥的权柄相媲美（罗 9:21）。上帝确实是万有的创造者和统治者。祂同时在自然界和历史中做工。因此，上帝控制自然力量和历史力量，以此来实现祂的旨意（启 6:8；9:3, 10, 19）。

2、有能力的和统治者的权柄。迄今为止，《新约》中 exousía 的用法与《七十士译本》中该词的用法或《新约》中 r^ešúť 用法与拉比神学中该词的用法没有实质区别。无论是在《哥林多前书》15:24；《彼得前书》3:22 和《以弗所书》1:21 中，用该词专指那些附属有能的或掌权的，还是在《路加福音》7:8；《马可福音》13:34；《使徒行传》9:14；《罗马书》13:1–3；《提多书》3:1 中，用这个词专指国王、地方法官、祭司或执事所拥有的民间权柄，亦或是奇怪地用 exousía 形容撒但的权柄，这些用法都没有多大的差异。就此而论，“权力的范围”、“授权”的观念或至少“准许”的概念显然都属于这种用法，因为魔鬼和政界所拥有的权柄与上帝的权柄不同，而且只有

demonic not the political world has the same kind of authority as God but can function only within or under the divine sovereignty. If in relation to evil or evil forces this creates a problem, it is plain that dualism would create a more serious problem. Hence the Bible makes it clear beyond question that all subsidiary forces, including Satan and his world, can have power only inasmuch as this is conferred by God. Even if antichrist seems to derive his authority from Satan (Rev. 13:2), the final authority of God is always presupposed (cf. Lk. 22:53).

3. Christ. If there is little new in all this, the situation changes radically when we come to the authority of Christ. To be sure, the power that Christ exercises within His earthly commission, e.g., that of forgiving sins (Mk. 2:10), or exorcism (3:15), or teaching (Mt. 7:29), or judgment (Jn. 5:27), is a power granted by the Father. The great truth brought to light in the NT, however, is that Christ is more than a man who is commissioned by God. He is Himself God. This means that His authority, as divine authority, is also self-grounded.

The power He enjoys is thus the power of His own sovereignty in concert with that of the Father (Jn. 10:18; Rev. 12:10ff.). It is an absolute power free from all limitations (Mt. 28:18). It is also a power that underlies all other authority, as in the charges of Christ to His disciples (Mk. 6:7ff.) and to the apostles (Jn. 20:22f.). The particular sphere of this power is the world of men (Jn. 17:2), and it includes the right of final judgment (5:27). Recurrent references to the giving of this authority by the Father make it plain that no rivalry with God's power is intended.

在上帝的主权之下他们才能行使各自的权柄。如果与魔鬼或邪恶力量的权柄进行比较，就产生了一个问题，而二元论显然会造成更严重的问题。所以，《圣经》中无疑给出了明确的描述，即所有的附属力量（包括撒但和他的世界）的权柄都是上帝赐予的。虽然敌基督者的权柄似乎源自于撒但（启 13:2），但是上帝的最终权柄始终是所有权柄的来源（参：路 22:53）。

3、基督的权柄。以上所述都是老生常谈，但当我们谈到基督的权柄时，情况就发生了根本的转变。可以肯定地说，基督在地上传道时所行使的权柄，如赦罪的权柄（可 2:10）、赶鬼的权柄（可 3:15）、教训的权柄（太 7:29）、审判的权柄（约 5:27）都是天父赐予的。然而，《新约》中揭示的一大真理就是，基督不仅是上帝派到地上的人，祂也是神。这意味着，祂的权柄就是神的权柄，这权柄源于祂自身。

因此，祂的权柄，是与圣父的主权一致的至高统治权（约 10:18；启 12:10 起）。这是一种无限的绝对权柄（太 28:18）。它也是所有其他权柄的基础，因此基督赐予祂的门徒（可 6:7 起）和使徒（约 20:22-23）以权柄。祂特有的权柄在于管理“凡有血气的”（约 17:2），其中包括行最终的审判的权柄（约 5:27）。经文中一再提及基督的权柄是父赐予的，表明上帝的权柄是无可匹敌的。这种绝对的权柄属于基督也属于圣灵，因为这两种权柄实际上是一种，而且与父的权柄的是等同的；也就是说这是三位一体的神的权柄。

Absolute authority pertains to Christ, and indeed to the Holy Spirit too, because this authority is seen in fact to be one and the same as the authority of the Father; i.e., it is the authority of the triune God.

4. The Apostles. Christ, however, is not alone. He is accompanied by the apostles whom He Himself chose, associated with Himself, and sent out with His own authorization. It is natural, then, that there should be an authority of the apostolate. This is supported by the practice of the apostles. It is also formulated expressly, not only in the charge of Mk. 6:7, but also in the saying of Paul in 2 Cor. 10:8; cf. also Mt. 10:1; Mk. 3:15; 2 Thess. 3:9. (See also BIND; KEY.)

This is not, of course, an absolute or inherent authority. It is an authority of commissioning by the Lord. Hence the elements of derivativeness and responsibility are prominent. The apostle is put in charge by His Lord, and it is essential that he make a proper use of his authority (cf. Mk. 13:34). Nevertheless, the authority also carries with it certain rights, e.g., that of support by the churches (1 Cor. 9:4ff.). More broadly, the teaching and guiding authority of the apostle is a mediation of the authority of Christ. His ministry is backed by Christ Himself. This is what makes it possible. This is also what gives it incontestable validity in the Church.

5. The Church. If Christ is accompanied by the apostles, He is also accompanied by believers in general. It is not surprising, then, that the NT can also speak of the exousia of the Church and of individual Christians. What is surprising, however, is what is said about that

4、使徒的权柄。然而，基督并不是孤独的。祂拣选使徒追随自己，与自己交往，赐他们权柄并派遣他们去传道。于是，自然应该存在使徒的权柄。使徒所行的事证明了他们的权柄。对于这一点，不仅《马可福音》6:7中有清楚的表述，《哥林多后书》10:8中保罗的话语中也有所提及。另参：太10:1；可3:15；帖后3:9。（另见 BIND[捆绑]；KEY[钥匙]）。

这当然不是一种绝对的、固有的权柄，而是主耶稣赐予的权柄。因此，使徒的权柄的突出特点是派生性和责任性。使徒是由主拣选来传播福音的，所以他们必须正确使用手中的权柄（参：可13:34）。不过，这种权柄中也包含了一定的权利，如受教会支持的权利（林前9:4起）。更宽泛地说，使徒在行使他们教导和指导的权柄时，就是基督在行使祂中保的权柄。使徒的事工直接受到基督的支持。这也是传道可以在地上展开的原因。这也赋予了传道在教会中无可置疑的有效性。

5、教会的权柄。如果使徒们追随着基督，那么广大信徒也同样追随着基督。此外，当《新约》中谈到教会和每个基督徒的权柄时，也采用了 exousia（“权柄”）一词，这不足为奇。然而，人们应感到奇怪的是，《新约》怎样描述这种权柄。因为（1）基督徒拥有作神的 authority. For (1) Christians have the authority to become the children of God (Jn. 1:12). The two primary senses of the word may both be seen here. On the one hand they are given a new possibility that they could not have in themselves. On the other hand, they are granted a right or title. Inasmuch as they receive the one Son of God, they themselves have a legitimate sonship conferred upon them.

Then (2) Christians are also granted freedom in the sense of the right to do certain things (1 Cor. 6:12). Now it is true that in the passages in 1 Corinthians Paul is more concerned about a right or wrong use of this “authority.” We are to do what is appropriate and what is of service to edification. Nevertheless, even when faced by possible misuse, the apostle does not deny the authority as such. All things are indeed lawful even if all are not expedient and all do not edify. For this is a freedom, an authorization, a permission which Christ Himself has conferred and which is received in faith: the freedom of the children of God. The true answer to misuse is not surrender but true and proper use. Although enigmatic, exousia in 1 Cor. 7:37 might well be grouped in the same category.

III. Historical Survey.-A. Early Church.

1. Basis. The chief lesson of the NT—viz., that authority finally rests in God and that this authority is embodied in Jesus Christ—was well learned in the early Church. The Church grounded itself upon the fact that God in Jesus Christ stands behind both the faith that is believed and also the faith that believes it. God in Jesus Christ is the authority that establishes the Christian life with its new possibilities; and God in Jesus Christ is

儿女的权柄 (约 1:12)。人们可以在这里看到这个词的两个主要含义。一方面，他们拥有了他们靠自己本无法获得的新希望。另一方面，他们被赐予了一种权柄或权利。因为他们接待了圣子，他们也因此被赐予了神之儿女的合法身份。

(2) 另外，基督徒也被赐予了自由做一些事情的权柄 (林前 6:12)。在《哥林多前书》中，保罗确实更关注信徒是否正确地使用了这种“权柄”。凡是合适的，有利于侍奉神的事，人们都可行。不过，即使人们可能滥用这种权柄，保罗也没有否定这种权柄。即使并非所有的事都是有益处的、可以教诲人的，但是它们确实都是合乎律法的。因为这是基督赐予人类的一种自由、授权和准许，人们因信得着它，这是神的儿女的自由。真正应对滥用的方法不是放弃这种权柄，而是真正合理地使用这种权柄。尽管其中的道理高深莫测，但是《哥林多前书》7:37 中使用的 exousia 一词或许也可以归入同一类用法中。

III. 历史调查。A. 早期教会。1、基本

原则。《新约》中的主要教导就是，权柄最终依赖于神，并通过基督体现出来，早期的教会很好地领会了这一教导。上帝在耶稣基督里支持着世人对他信心，也支持着世人对教会的信心，这是教会建立的基础。上帝在耶稣基督里掌握着建立起信徒满怀新希望的生命权柄；在耶稣基督里的上帝也是教会的主，祂通过圣灵统治着教会，所以教会所有的决定和行动，无论是教义性还是实用性的决定和行动都源于上帝，

also Lord of the Church, exercising this lordship by the Holy Spirit, so that all decisions and actions, whether doctrinal or practical, must derive from Him and take their validity from Him. Whatever difficulties or ambiguities there might have been both in the first centuries and later, the authority of God was accepted and advocated as the fundamental principle.

A further lesson was also learned: that this authority is exercised through the apostles and the community. Even though serious divergence later arose, this common pre-supposition was always held. As God the Father sent Christ, so Christ commissioned, equipped, and sent the apostles. He gave them divine authority to preach the gospel, to instruct in Christian knowledge, and to exercise control over the churches. Apostolic right and privilege, of course, were not inherent power. The apostles had authority because they were authorized by God Himself. Put another way, Christ exercised His own rule and authority through them.

2. Scripture and Church. Nevertheless, the death of the apostles posed a new question, one that received different answers, or at least an ambivalent answer, in the age of the fathers. The question was an obvious one: What is the locus of apostolic authority after the passing of the apostles themselves? How does God—Father, Son, and Spirit—exercise His own absolute authority in the postapostolic Church? On whom or what does authorization come in succession to the apostles?

A single and straightforward answer to 其有效性也源于上帝。不论在前几个世纪和后期存在多少困难或分歧，早期的教会始终承认并拥护上帝的权柄，并将此作为根本原则。

教会得到的另一个教导是，上帝藉着使徒和基督徒行使这种权柄。虽然教会中后来出现了严重的分歧，但是他们始终坚持这一共同前提。正如天父上帝派下了基督，同样基督也委任、武装和派遣使徒。祂赐予他们传福音、传授基督教知识和管理教会的神圣权柄。当然，使徒的权柄和特权也不是他们固有的权力。使徒拥有权柄，因为上帝亲自赐予了他们权柄。换句话说，基督通过使徒实行统治和行使权柄。

2、圣经和教会。然而，在教父时期，使徒的死亡引发了一个新的问题，人们对这个问题作出了不同的回答，或者说，至少作出了相互矛盾的回答。这个问题十分明显：使徒们死后，他们的权柄到哪里去了？三位一体的神（圣父、圣子、圣灵）如何在使徒后期的教会中行使祂绝对的权柄？谁或什么东西继承了神授予使徒的权柄？

this question was difficult. For one thing, there seemed at the very outset to be two alternatives: (1) the apostolic writings, added to the existing and accepted canon of OT Scripture, and (2) the ongoing authority of the Church, including the special authority vested in those who are set up apostolically as its pastors and teachers. Even if Scripture is adopted as the supreme and normative source, however, there are in the NT itself different forms and areas and levels of authority, and many issues—especially those of minor importance—will still have to be decided according to other criteria. On the other hand, if a greater function is ascribed to the Church a variety of further alternatives opens up when the center of ecclesiastical authority is sought. Is it to be found in the community as such, in its bishops or ministers, in synods (local, provincial, or ecumenical), in creeds, in traditions, in the fathers, in a combination of these, or in one or the other according to the subject at issue?

As regards the fundamental choice between Scripture and the Church, it might seem that Scripture is a new factor that does not arise at all in what the NT itself has to say about exousía. In fact, however, the NT does recognize Scripture as the voice of God. As the OT writers introduced their messages with the daring “Thus saith the Lord,” so our Lord Himself and the NT authors quote OT statements as authoritative: “As Scripture says....” It is natural and inevitable, then, that the immediate postapostolic Christians should inherit the same approach to the OT; and it is no less natural and inevitable that they should extend this approach to the works of the divinely commissioned and authorized apostles (works that later became the NT Canon), finally introducing their copious quotations (as in 2Clem 2:4) with the time-honored formulas. In other words, all the holy writings came to be seen and accepted as an established form in which the authority of God, mediated through the biblical authors, should be permanently exercised in the Church.

的回答。首先，在最开始似乎就存在两种可能的回答：(1) 使徒的作品，它们被添加到了现在人们普遍认可的《旧约》正典中，(2) 仍然行使着权柄的教会，包括根据使徒传统而任命的牧师和师傅所拥有的特殊权柄。虽然《圣经》是人们理解权柄的最重要和标准的资料，但是《新约》中就记录了不同形式、不同领域和不同层级的权柄，有许多问题，尤其是次要问题仍有待人们用其他标准来解决。另外，如果人们认为教会拥有更大的功能，那么当人们寻找教会权柄的核心时，就会作出更多种的回答。根据人们的争论话题，基督徒、主教或牧师、宗教会议（地方、省或世界性的宗教会议）、信条、圣传、教父是否拥有权柄呢？还是说他们共同拥有着权柄或者说其中只有一者掌握着权柄？

关于这个问题的基本回答究竟是《圣经》还是教会，《圣经》似乎是一个新要素，它并不是随着《新约》中 exousía 的用法出现的。但是，实际上，《新约》作者确实认为圣经是上帝的话语。因为旧约作者大胆地用“耶和華这样说”表述他们的信息，所以我们的主和《新约》作者视《旧约》为权威之作，在引述旧约经文时说：“经上所说……”于是，随后的使徒后期的基督徒自然也必然应该沿用《旧约》中的表达他们赋予这些神委任并授予权柄的使徒（这些作品后来成为《新约》正典）以权威性，这也同样是自然而必然的，并因此最终衍生出众多久享盛名的引述作品（如在 2Clem 2:4 中）。换言之，人们认为神藉着圣经作者的中保，以我们现在所能看

In fact, the fathers are virtually unanimous in ascribing a normative role to Scripture as a primary source of revelation. In addition to the continuous appeal to Scripture in patristic writings, the care for a proper recognition of the NT canon, and the labor expended on exposition of the biblical books, one might quote the rejection of purely oral tradition in Irenaeus Adv. haer iii.2.1. Athanasius also makes a distinction between the “holy and inspired writings,” which are self-sufficient, and other works that are a commentary on them (Contra Gentes 1). Origen states firmly: “We must needs call the holy scripture to witness; for our judgments and expositions without these witnesses are worthy no credit” (In Jer. Hom. 1). Basil asks that convincing and convicting words and deeds “be confirmed by the testimony of God’s scriptures” (Moralia xxvi.1). Augustine, referring to Cyprian’s works, says that he “weighs them by the canonical writings” (Contra Cresconium grammaticum Donatistam ii.32). John of Damascus, pointing to his basic authority, says: “All that was ever delivered by the law, the prophets, the apostles, and the evangelists, we receive, acknowledge, and give reverence unto them, searching nothing besides them” (De Fide Orthodoxa 1).

实际上，教父们几乎一致认为《圣经》就是标准，并认为它是上帝启示的第一来源。除了《圣经》对教父作品的持续吸引力，他们对于新约正典合理认知的关注，以及对圣经作品的费力阐述，人们还可以在爱任纽的作品（Adv. haer iii.2.1）中看到对纯粹口头作品的否定。亚他那修也对“受圣灵感动的圣作”和其他注释类作品进行了区分（Contra Gentes 1），“受圣灵感动的圣作”是独立的作品。俄利根坚定地说：“我们必须以《圣经》作为见证，因为如果没有它的见证，我们的判断和注释将一文不值”（见 Jer. Hom. 1）。巴西流要求道，有说服力和证明性的话语和行为应当经过“上帝圣经的证明”（Moralia xxvi.1）。奥古斯丁在提及居普良的作品时说，他“用正典之作权衡自己的作品”（Contra Cresconium grammaticum Donatistam ii.32）。大马士革的约翰为证明他的基本权威性说道：“所有作品都是通过律法、先知、使徒和福音传道者创作出来的，我们接受、认可并尊敬他们，除此之外，我们不会寻求任何其他资料”（De Fide Orthodoxa 1）。

On the other hand, the fathers had a strong sense that authority resided also in the ongoing apostolic tradition as represented especially in the orderly ministry and the rule of faith. Irenaeus and Tertullian both found the appeal to this authority especially valuable in refutation of Gnosticism, for it provided (a) an answer to Gnostics who would not accept Scripture but spoke of a secret tradition, (b) a historico-geographical basis for the authenticity of orthodox teaching, and (c) a useful hermeneutical principle in meeting Gnostic interpretations of Scripture. Tertullian can even complain that Scripture without tradition is ambiguous (De praescr. Haer. 19), although both he and Irenaeus seem to view Scripture and tradition, or the rule of faith, as substantially one and the same thing, or at least as two different and complementary forms of the same thing.

The situation had changed, however, by the 4th century. If Basil of Caesarea demanded Scriptural confirmation, he also argued that the tradition preserved in Scripture is incomplete (De Spiritu sancto 27 [66]; cf. Epiphanius Haer. 61.6). Jerome too, although he can speak strongly of the need for the authority and testimony of Scripture (Comm. on Haggai i), can refer at the same time to many things that are accepted on the basis of tradition alone (Dialogus contra Luciferianos 8). Chrysostom even appeals to the Scriptures themselves (2 Thess. 2:15) in support of the view that the apostles transmitted many things not put in writing (Hom. 4 in 2 Thess.). Along different lines, Vincent of Lérins (d. before 450) finally subjects Scripture to the Church with his principle that, while 另一方面，教父坚决拥护权柄也存在于延续下来的使徒传统的说法，并认为有序的传道和信心的统治尤其体现出了权柄。爱任纽和特土良都发现，诉诸于这种权柄对于驳斥诺斯替主义尤其具有价值，因为它（a）回击了诺斯替派不认《圣经》却谈论神秘传统的行为，（b）为正统教义的真实性提供了历史和地理依据，（c）提供了一种有用的解经原则，驳斥了诺斯底派对《圣经》的解读。特土良甚至抱怨说，没有圣传的《圣经》，其表述将是模糊不清的（De praescr. Haer. 19），虽然他和爱任纽似乎都认为《圣经》、圣传和信心的统治实质上是同一事物，或至少认为是同一事物的两种不同的互补形式。

然而，到公元4世纪，情况发生了变化。凯撒利亚的巴西流要求圣经的证实，并争论说，《圣经》中的圣传是不完整的（De Spiritu sancto 27 [66]；参：Epiphanius Haer. 61.6）。虽然耶柔米也极力强调人们需要圣经中权柄和见证（在 Haggai i 注释中），但是他也同时提到了很多单独以口传圣传为基础的事物（Dialogus contra Luciferianos 8）。克里梭斯顿以《圣经》中教训（帖后 2:15）证明使徒的很多教导不是以书面形式传达的（Hom. 4 对《帖撒罗尼迦后书》的注释）。列仁的万桑（Vincent of Lérins，卒于公元450年前）采用了不同的表述，并基于以下原则最终使教会接受了《圣经》，即虽然《圣经》本质上已很充实，但是它还是需要规定性的注释，这种注释不单是由圣传提供的，而是由“放之四海而皆准”的三重标准提供的。正如巴特所注意到的（CD, I/2,

Scripture is intrinsically adequate, a regulative interpretation is needed, this being supplied not by tradition alone but by the threefold criterion of what is held “everywhere, always, by all.” As Barth observes (CD, I/2, pp. 550f.), the addition “by all” means in effect the enforcement of an official understanding, and this is the more dangerous in that Vincent’s opposition to change does not rule out a progress controlled by the teaching office in its consensus. The significant point in all this is that not only has tradition emerged as supplementary to Scripture, but Scripture itself has been deprived of any effective authority through its hermeneutical subjection to the Church—or rather, in practice, to the Church’s hierarchy.

B. Medieval West. 1. Developments. The pattern set by Vincent of Lérins tended to dominate the understanding of authority throughout the Middle Ages. In the West it resulted in a tilting of the scales in favor of the authority of the Church. This may be seen at four points. First, a more-or-less general acceptance of the fourfold scheme of exegesis helped to shackle the Bible by making its exposition extremely complicated. Second, dogmatic definitions such as that of transubstantiation promoted development under alien norms beyond the limits of legitimate interpretation. Third, canon law codified ecclesiastical authority in an effective, practical form that enhanced the power of the hierarchy. Finally, the papacy, while challenged from time to time as in the Conciliar Movement of the 14th cent., focused ultimate authority on the bishop of Rome both as heir to the supreme apostolic authority of Peter and also, on this basis,

B. 中世纪时期的西方。1、发展。万桑提出的关于权柄的理解模式在整个中世纪常常占据着主导地位。在西方这种理解导致人们倾向于接受教会的权柄标准。这从以下四点可以看出。第一, 人们几乎普遍接受了四重注释体制, 这种体制使得《圣经》阐述变得极其复杂, 从而束缚了《圣经》。第二, 教条的定义, 如圣餐变体论的定义, 超出了合理解经的范围, 促使解经向着异化方向发展。第三、教会法规成为了教会有效、实用的权力, 进而稳固了教会中的等级势力。最后, 虽然教皇的权力在公元 14 世纪的议会运动中不时受到挑战, 但教皇拥有罗马主教的最高权威, 他既是彼得至高使徒权柄的继承人, 也因此成为了耶稣基督的代理人, 享有和行使着本该属于主耶稣的大量权柄。这种发展趋势自然遭到了人们的反对。东派教会通过强调大公议会的权力制约教皇的权力。人们频繁地意识到寓意解经的局限性。人们以政治、教会和教义为理由一再向教皇的权力发起挑战。然而, 遗憾的是, 多年来这些力量还不足以有效制 as vicar of Christ Himself, enjoying and exercising the plenitude of power that properly belongs to the Lord. Naturally, these developments met with opposition. The Eastern Churches provided some counterbalance with their stress on the authority of the ecumenical synods. The limits of allegorical exegesis were frequently recognized. On political as well as ecclesiastical and doctrinal grounds, challenges were issued again and again against the papal claims. The unfortunate thing, however, is that for many years these forces were not sufficient to put up effective resistance against the Church's exploitation of its own authority in all branches of ecclesiastical life in the West.

2. Problems. Thus, the development of doctrine ineluctably led to changes, and even innovations, which Vincent of Lérins had neither anticipated nor desired. Medieval practice, while authorized and commanded by canon law, seemed in the event to produce a monstrous caricature of NT Christianity. The Church's authoritative exposition of Scripture turned out to be far from infallible when brought under the scrutiny of Renaissance scholarship, which also served to spotlight the vast difference between medieval practice and thinking on the one side, and that of the apostolic Church on the other.

C. Reformation. 1. Scripture Principle. Once the issues began to come out into the open with Luther's theses of 1517 and the ensuing controversy, it quickly became apparent that the protest involved a drastic rethinking of the way in which Christ's authority is exercised, and particularly of the relationship between

约教会的权力，它仍然在西方的所有教会生活的分支中行使着自身的权力。

2、问题。因此这一教义的发展必然会带来一些变化甚至创新，这是万桑不曾预料到的，也是他不想看到的。中世纪的风俗虽然都基于正典律法的授权和诫命，但它的结果似乎是对新约时期基督教的巨大讽刺。。当文艺复兴时期的学者仔细研究教会对《圣经》的权威阐述时，发现这种阐述完全不可靠，而且还促使人们关注中世纪时期和使徒教会时期的风俗和思想之间的巨大差异。

C. 宗教改革。1、圣经原则。这些问题于 1517 年公开出现在路德的论文中和随后出现的争论中，人们很快明白了，反对者们强烈要求人们重新思考如何行使基督的权柄，尤其要思考在使徒权柄对使徒后期会众影响和作用下《圣经》与教会之间的关系。宗教改革者当然不能否认教会和教会的各种表述中

Scripture and Church in the mediation of apostolic authority to and through the postapostolic community. The reformers cannot deny, of course, that the Church and its various expressions (e.g., ministry, confessions, synods, and fathers) do have a lawful measure of authority. Their contention is, however, that it is in and through the prophetic and apostolic writings of Holy Scripture that God exercises supreme and ultimate authority in the Church, whether in doctrine or practice. Other authorities are subsidiary and derivative.

2. Confessions. The Reformation confessions make this point and bring out its ramifications with a happy blend of force, comprehensiveness, and conciseness. Thus the French Confession (1559) states that “the Word contained in these books receives its authority from God alone” and that “all things should be examined, regulated, and reformed according to these books.” The Belgic Confession (1561) approves the Scriptures “because the Holy Ghost witnesseth in our hearts that they are from God”; with them nothing can be compared, and “whatsoever doth not agree with this infallible rule” is to be rejected. The Westminster Confession (1647) concludes its more extended discussion with the notable statement (I,10) that the supreme judge in controversies and in the examinations of Church Decisions “can be no other but the Holy Ghost speaking in the scripture.” This accords with the earlier teaching of Heinrich Bullinger in the Second Helvetic Confession (1566) that in matters of faith “we cannot admit any other judge than God himself, pronouncing by the holy scripture what is true....” The Epitome of the Lutheran Formula of Concord (1576) advances a similar understanding: “We believe, confess, and teach that the only rule and norm according to which all dogmas and all doctors ought to be esteemed and judged is no other whatever than the prophetic and apostolic writings of both the Old and the New Testament... Holy scripture alone is acknowledged as the judge, norm, and rule according to which, as by the (only) touchstone, all doctrines are to be examined and judged.” As Quenstedt puts it, holy scripture is judge as the voice of the supreme and infallible Judge, the Holy Spirit.

(如，传道、信条、宗教会议和教父) 拥有合乎律法权柄的标准。然而，他们的论点是上帝在先知和使徒创作的圣经作品中，并藉着这些作品在教会中行使着祂的最高权柄，这一最高权柄存在于教义中也存在于惯例中。其他的权柄都从属于这一权柄，并源自这一权柄。

2、信条。改革宗信条中阐述了这一点，并以既全面又简明，既有力又巧妙的表述给出了它的衍生结果。因此，《法国信条》(1559) 中描述道“这些作品中神之道的权柄唯独源自于上帝”，“人们必须根据这些作品检验、规定和改革所有的事物。”《比利时信条》(1561) 也支持圣经的权柄，“而在于圣灵在我们心里证明它们是来自于上帝的”；任何事物都无法与圣灵匹敌，“任何不接受这种绝对可靠统治的人和事”都应遭受否定。《威斯敏斯特信条》(1647) 以争论中和教会决议审查中的最高审判“就是《圣经》中圣灵的话语”这一著名陈述 (I, 10) 结束了更广泛的讨论。这与《第二瑞士信条》(1566) 中海因里希·布林格 (Heinrich Bullinger) 关于信心问题的早期教导一致，他说：“我们不能承认上帝以外的其他审判，上帝在《圣经》中揭示着真理……”路德教会的《协和信纲》(1576) 中提供了相似的理解：“我们相信、宣认，并教训人，那品评判断一切的教理和博士的唯一规法和标准，不外乎新旧约中先知和使徒的著作……只有圣经才是‘唯一的’裁判，准则和法规。圣经有如‘唯一的’试金石考验并判断一切教理，。”正如，奎恩施特 (Quenstedt) 所说，《圣经》是绝对可靠的最高审判者——圣灵

As noted, a proper place can be found for secondary authorities. Both the Scots Confession (1560) and the Anglican Articles (1571) may be quoted in favor of the common view that the Church has authority to institute and reform traditions, “so that nothing be ordained against God’s word.” The Second Helvetic Confession, too, concedes that in the interpretation of Scripture the fathers and councils should be taken into account, so long as the duty of modest dissent is recognized when they set down things not in agreement with the Scriptures.

To summarize, three points are made here. First, absolute authority lies with God himself, exercised through Christ and the Holy Spirit. Second, the voice of God is heard primarily in Holy Scripture, not merely because this is historically the first and authentic deposit of the prophetic and apostolic record, but because God Himself has raised it up to fulfil this purpose. Third, subsidiary authorities have a valid function, but

如前所述，人们可以为次要权柄找到合适的位置。《苏格兰信条》(1560)和《英国国教信条》(1571)都赞成如下共识，即教会拥有制定和改革传统的权柄，“从而使任何规定都不违背上帝的话语”。但《第二瑞士信条》中还是做出了让步，容许人们在解读圣经时顾忌教父观点和宗教会议中的精神，只要教会做出的决定有违《圣经》，人们就可以适当地表达出不同意见。

总之，这里提到了三点。第一，只有上帝掌握着绝对权柄，并藉着基督和圣灵行使祂的权柄。第二，人们主要从《圣经》中听到上帝的话语，这不只是因为《圣经》从历史角度首先真实地记录了先知和使徒的事迹，而是因为上帝亲自高举《圣经》，从而达成祂的旨意。第三，附属权柄的功能是有效的，但只有在顺从主要在《圣经》中和藉着《圣经》揭示的神圣权柄时，这一功能才能发挥其作用。 discharge it properly only in submission to the divine authority expressed primarily in and through Scripture.

3. Roman Reply. Unfortunately, Roman Catholicism did not accept—nor even perhaps understand—this position. It naturally did not dispute the supreme authority of Christ. It also gave to Scripture an eminent place. Yet even in the Reformation age it defended its doctrines and practices by invoking the complementary authorities of fathers and tradition. Thus, in the Leipzig Disputation (1519) Eck hurled not only texts but also the interpretations of the fathers against Luther and accused him of arrogance when, faced by the latter, “he contradicted them all without a blush, and said that he would stand alone against a thousand.” As regards tradition, Trent took the decisive step in Session IV (1546) when it made the pronouncement: “This synod receives and venerates, with equal pious affection, all the books both of the New and the Old Testaments, since one God is the author of both, together with the said traditions, as well those pertaining to faith as those pertaining to morals...” According to this dogma, traditions found in apostolic sees such as Rome can also claim to be of apostolic or even dominical origin, even though not preserved in the apostolic writings; and they may thus be accorded a status equal to that of written Scriptures.

4. Papal Infallibility. In the post-Reformation era, however, the Roman understanding of authority has taken a different turn. Greater stress has been laid on the authority of the Church rather than tradition. Already in Reformation days it was argued that

3、罗马人对权柄的回答。遗憾的是，罗马天主教不接受，或许也不理解这一地位。罗马天主教当然对基督的至高权柄不存在争议。它也将《圣经》摆在显著的位置。但即使在宗教改革时期，罗马天主教还援引教父和圣传的补充性权柄为自己的教义和惯例辩护。因此，在“来比锡之辩”(1519)中，艾克(Eck)不仅援引经文，还引述教父的解释反对路德的观点，并指责路德傲慢自大，他面对路德时说，“他毫不知羞耻地驳斥他们，并说他将以一人敌过千人”。至于圣传，特伦特(Trent)在第四次会议上迈出了决定性的一步，他宣布：“本次会议以同样的虔诚之心接受和尊敬所有《旧约》和《新约》作品，因为上帝是《新约》和《旧约》作品、所谓的圣传及所有关乎信心和道德作品的唯一作者……”根据这一教义，人们在罗马等使徒时代主教区，发现的圣传也可能是由使徒或主基督所创作的，虽然这些作品没有收录在使徒作品中；因此，它们可能获得了与《圣经》相同的地位。

4、教皇无谬论。然而，在后改教时代，罗马人对权柄的理解发生了转变。他们更为强调教会的权柄而不是圣传的权柄。早在宗教改革时期，人们就争论道，基督徒之所以接受《圣经》主要是因为它得到了教会的授权和认可。实际上，在一段时间内，某些圈子内就盛行着一

Christians accept Scripture basically because it has been authored and authorized by the Church. For a time, indeed, the curious and self-destructive thesis was advanced in some circles, that by reason of its obvious fallibility Scripture would not be credited without the Church's backing. Later, attention shifted back again to the interpretative role of the Church, or of the Church's teaching office, and finally of the pope. The argument here is simple. Scripture is indeed the ultimate norm. Nevertheless the Church, enlightened by the Holy Spirit, has the task of correctly expounding and applying Scripture. In this task it is guided and governed by its head. Its ultimate Head, of course, is Christ Himself, but in terms of Christ's earthly representation the head is Peter's successor, the bishop of Rome. The infallibility decree of 1870 brings this understanding to its logical conclusion and climax: "The Roman Pontiff, when he speaks ex cathedra [i.e., when in fulfilling the office of Pastor and Teacher of all Christians on his supreme apostolic authority, he defines a doctrine concerning faith or morals to be held by the Universal Church], through the divine assistance promised him in blessed Peter, is endowed with that infallibility, with which the divine Redeemer has willed that His Church—in defining doctrine concerning faith or morals—should be equipped: And therefore, such definitions of the Roman Pontiff of themselves—and not by virtue of the consent of the Church—are irreformable." What is biblical is held to be authoritative. In the last resort, however, the Pope expounds and declares what is biblical. Effective authority thus comes to be vested not in Scripture but in its hermeneutical master, whose decisions are final and irrevocable.

D. Liberal Protestantism. 1. Reason. The modern age has brought different but no less radical challenges through the Liberal Protestantism that began to flourish in the latter part of the 17th century. In an early form this involved the exaltation of human reason to a highly authoritative role in doctrinal and moral teaching. On this view “reason is not less from God than revelation; ’t is the candle, the guide, the judge he has lodged within every man that cometh into the world” (Toland, Christianity not Mysterious [1696]). To the dictates of reason, then, revelation itself must submit (M. Tindal, Christianity as Old as the Creation [1730]). God Himself maintains ultimate authority. Here, however, He exercises it in a completely different way, choosing reason rather than Church or Scripture as His primary instrument. A problem, of course, is that reason can just as easily exalt itself against God so that He Himself comes under its dictates. This is precisely what happened in many circles in the rational subjectivism of the 18th cent., which made man himself the ultimate arbiter of all truth.

2. Religious a Priori. As it turned out, the older rationalism proved much less than adequate when it came under the scrutiny of Hume’s scepticism and the withering epistemological analysis of Kant. Other expressions of human domination thus arose to replace it in the form of the so-called religious a priori in man. Kant’s moral imperative, Schleiermacher’s sense of absolute dependence, and the consciousness of Hegel’s religious philosophy all play this role. Common to

D. 自由主义新教。1、理性。现代的自由主义新教提出了另一种同样激进的挑衅，这种观点在 17 世纪后期开始盛行起来。在早期，他们在教义和道德教导中赋予人类理性极高的权威。根据这一观点“上帝揭示的理性并不比启示少；上帝把理性赐予每个人，它是每个人心中的烛光、向导和法官”（Toland, Christianity not Mysterious [1696]）。于是，启示必须服从于理性的命令（M. Tindal, Christianity as Old as the Creation [1730]）。上帝独自掌握着最高的权柄。但祂以全然不同的方式行使着祂的权柄，祂选择理性而不是教会或圣经作为祂的主要工具。当然，问题在于是否可以轻易地将理性高举到与上帝对立的位置，所以连上帝都要服从于理性的命令。这恰恰是 18 世纪的理性主观主义中很多领域内盛行的观点，它使人类自己成为了所有真理的最终决定者。 all these self-contradictory reconstructions is the refusal to let God Himself be the true authority even in the things of God and the committal of this authority to man himself, whether corporately or in the highly individualistic form in which each man fashions and chooses his own God—or even proclaims the total absence of God in the form of the secularization or humanization of the gospel.

2、宗教的先验。后来人们发现，当过时的理性主义接受休姆（Hume）的怀疑主义和康德的尖刻认识论分析法的仔细检验时，显得极为证据不充分。因此，其他关于人类主宰权的表述开始以所谓的在人里的宗教先验的形式出现并代替了理性主义。康德的道德律、施莱尔马赫的绝对依赖感、黑格尔的宗教哲学意识都属于宗教的先验。这些自相矛盾的重构的一个共同特点是，拒绝让上帝成为上帝之事的真正权威，不承认上帝是人类权柄的赐予者，每个人都共

E. New Alternatives. 1. Catholic Consensus. Between the extremes of Roman ecclesiasticism and Liberal subjectivism some fresh alternatives to the Reformation view have been attempted. Building on one aspect of the Reformation appeal, some movements have proposed the authority of an early Catholic consensus somewhat along the lines of Eastern Orthodoxy. Anglican groups have been leaders in this field. With their fears of the evils of private judgment, the Mercersburg theologians, especially Nevin, worked along not dissimilar lines although with a stronger emphasis on the authority of Holy Scripture. The difficulty, of course, is that consensus among the fathers is hard to come by, and even if it is attained there is no reason to suppose that the early Church was any less fallible than the medieval or modern Church. On many occasions, even in early days, the minority has been right and the majority tragically wrong. Such attempts to achieve consensus might even result in the absurdity that the expert in church history becomes the new pope.

2. Experience. Pietism, on the other hand, has tended at some points to seek authority in evangelical experience. This

同或以高度个人主义的形式创造出或选择自己的神，甚至以福音世俗化或人类化的形式宣布上帝根本就不存在。

E. 新的替代选择。1、天主教的共识。人们试图在罗马教会中心主义和自由主观主义之间找到一些关于改教观点的新的替代选择。一些宗教运动以改教诉求的一个方面为基础，提出了早期天主教共识的权柄，这多少有点仿效东正教的立场。英国国教徒是这一领域的领袖。摩尔西斯堡神学家们，尤其是内文（Nevin）惧怕私下审判的罪恶，采取了相似的立场，虽然他们更为强调圣经的权柄。当然，问题在于教父们很难达成共识，而且即使他们达成了共识，人们也无法证明早期的教会比中世纪或现代的教会更容易避免犯错。在很多时候，即使在历史早期，真理掌握在少数人手中，而多数人却可悲地犯了错。这种达成共识的尝试甚至可能导致一种谬论，即熟悉教会历史的专家成为了新的教皇。

2、经历。另一方面，虔信派在某些情况下倾向于在福音派信徒的经历中寻找权柄。这一标准可以应用到辩解

canon might be applied apologetically: Christianity is true because I have found it so in my own life. It might also be applied in relation to aspects of Christian practice: this form of worship is the right one because it is the most meaningful to me. The ministry can be conducted along the same line: we ought to follow this or that course of action because it works out best in the actual experience of the individual or Church. Even biblical interpretation can be subjected to the same canon: the right meaning of a verse or passage is that from which I derive doctrinal, devotional, or practical benefit. Fortunately, experience has seldom if ever been set up as a final or sole authority, for it obviously gives rise to rampant individualism and anthropocentricity with its assertion that God exercises His authority specifically through me and Scripture is an infallible rule of faith and practice according to my particular interpretation. At the same time the chaos of conflicting experiences produces an inevitable crisis of authority when God is apparently saying different things to different individuals, and thousands of popes are claiming infallible discharge of the teaching office.

3. Roman Catholic Trends. Roman Catholicism, under the pressure of its new stress on biblical study, has been forced to do some rethinking on the matter of authority. The interrelation of oral and written tradition has come under new discussion, especially in relation to early patristic thinking. Sharp differences have arisen on the sources of revelation, and the view has even been advanced (e.g., by Hans Küng) that Scripture has always been the primary source according to true Catholic theology. The infallibility of the pope has also been called in question, either in itself, or in its exercise apart from the official participation of other bishops, priests, or even the Church as a whole. If few positive results have thus far been achieved in this process, the rigidity of the Tridentine statement and the Infallibility Definition has been broken and important modifications are by no means out of the question.

3、权柄在罗马天主教中的发展趋势。罗马天主教迫于新的圣经研究压力，不得不重新思考权柄问题。人们开始重新讨论口头圣传与书面圣传之间的相互关系，尤其是它们关于早期教父思想的关系。人们对于启示的来源问题存在着明显的分歧，有人（如，孔汉斯[Hans Küng]）提出了如下的观点：根据真正的天主教神学，《圣经》永远是启示的主要的来源。人们也开始质疑教皇的绝对无谬性，既质疑教皇本身的绝对无谬性，也质疑在没有其他主教、祭司或全体教会成员的正式参与的情况下，教皇

4. Barth's Discussion. Possibly the most constructive of recent dogmatic contributions to the theme of authority is to be found in the section that Karl Barth devotes to it in CD, I/2. This section falls within the chapter on Holy Scripture as the second of the three forms of the Word of God (the Word revealed, written, and preached). Authority is thus considered specifically in relation to the Word—first as the authority of the Word and secondly as authority under the Word. (The parallel section on the freedom of the Word and freedom under the Word offers some important complementary insights.)

As regards the authority of the Word, Barth first deals with the question whether Scripture can claim precedence of authority simply by virtue of its historical position as the apostolic deposit. He concludes that at best this argument can yield only an indirect, formal, and relative authority, which can make Scripture only the first among equal competitors. Final authority resides with the revelation event itself, the first form of the Word of God. Nevertheless, this revelation stands in a unique relation to the prophets and apostles and therefore to their writings too, since both the men and their works were raised up by God specifically to be witness to revelation,

是否可以绝对无缪地行使权柄。虽然迄今为止这一过程取得的积极成果很少，但特伦托宗教会议中刻板的声明和绝对无误的僵化定义已经被人们否定，重要的修订决不再是毫无可能。

4、巴特的论述。卡尔·巴斯(Karl Barth)在他的作品中(CD, I/2)对权柄的论述可能是这一主题在近期所获得的最具建设性的教义贡献。这部分内容属于《圣经》这一章，《圣经》是神之道三种形式(启示的道、成文的道、宣讲的道)当中的第二种形式。因此，人们认为权柄与道之间存在着特殊的联系——首先权柄是神之道中的权柄，其次权柄是道之下的权柄。(关于道中的自由和道之下的自由的部分给出了重要的补充见解。)

关于道中的权柄，巴特首先解决了的问题是，是否《圣经》仅凭包含使徒作品这一历史地位就能获得至高的权柄。他总结道，这一论证的结论至多可以赋予《圣经》间接的、正式的和相对的权柄，使其在同类作品中居于首位。最终的权柄存在于启示事件中，即神之道的第一种形式中。然而，这种启示与先知和使徒存在着特殊的关系，因此也和他们的作品存在特殊的关系，因为上帝的高举世人和他们的作品以此见证祂的启示，也因此见证了上帝成文的道。由于事件与见证者之间存在这种无与伦比的关系，所以《圣经》拥有了直接的、实质性的和绝对的权柄，令所有同类作品无法与之匹敌。从这一点上讲，甚至连神之道的第三种形式传道都不能与之匹 and hence to be God's written Word. In virtue of this unparalleled relationship between event and witness, Scripture has then a direct, material, and absolute authority that marks it off from all its competitors. Even preaching, as the third form of God's Word, cannot be its rival in this regard, since the preached Word is known only from the written Word. Thus the written Word has a normative function in relation to the preached Word.

As regards authority under the Word, Barth's main point is that subsidiary authorities cannot be in competition with the authority of the written Word but are in fact established by it. This applies primarily and prototypically to the Church, which undeniably has authority but which derives this authority wholly from the Word, i.e., by authorization. This authority then comes to focus in the Church's confession, which is not a rival authority, nor a hermeneutical norm, nor indeed a sum of biblical teaching, but the Church's hearing of the Word. Finally, it takes historical form in the canon, in fathers old and new, and in the historical confessions. All these are relative, indirect, and formal authorities. All stand under, and must be tested by, the supreme authority of the Word. All are thus reformable in principle, as the written Word, in virtue of its unique relation to revelation, is not.

IV. Civil Authority.-A. In the NT. Concentration on the problems of ecclesiastical authority should not cause us to overlook the fact that civil authority has also constituted a difficulty throughout Christian history. The NT, e.g., in Rom. 13, gave recognition to the divinely given authority of civil

敌，因为宣讲的道只有通过成文的道才能被人们知晓。因此，成文的道是宣讲之道的标准。

关于道之下的权柄，巴特的主要观点是，从属的权柄不能与成文的道的权柄相提并论，因为前者是基于后者确立的。这主要是指教会的权柄，教会无疑拥有权柄，但它的权柄完全源自于道，也就是源自于授权。而这种权柄的焦点在于教会的认信，这不是一种竞争性的权柄、也不是解经的标准，甚至不是《圣经》中教义的汇总，而是教会领受的道。最后，它在历史中逐渐演化为教规、历代教父的作品和历史信条。所有这些权柄都是相对的、间接的、形式上的权柄。它们都位于道的至高权柄之下，并要接受道的检验。因此，从原则上讲它们都是可修正的，而成文的道因为与启示之间存在着独特的关系，所以是不可修正的。

IV. 世俗权柄。A. 《新约》中的世俗权柄。我们不应因关注教会权柄的问题就忽略世俗权柄也曾是在基督教历史上一个难题这一事实。在《新约》中，如《罗马书》第13章中，经文作者世俗的权柄是神授予的。然而，不久之后，教会权威和国家权威之间就发生了冲突——尤其是从君士坦丁时代开始，随 office-bearers. However, it was not long before conflicts arose between the authority of church and state—especially with the rise of professedly Christian rulers from the time of Constantine, and consequent approximations to the OT model—and a demarcation of authority was demanded.

B. In the Middle Ages. In the Middle Ages the divine authorization of rulers found expression in the idea of the Holy Roman Empire and in the impressive coronation rituals. At the same time, however, the popes resisted the attempt of temporal rulers to interfere in ecclesiastical matters, since such interferences usually made the Church subservient to political and material interests. This was the reason for the drastic medieval principle of a separation of church and state, which went to the length of excluding the clergy from secular justice and taxation as well as ensuring that churches and monasteries would not come under military attack. Rulers, of course, opposed this obvious threat to their own supremacy, finding in the pretensions of the clergy an infringement on their rightful temporal and spiritual authority and responsibility; and they constantly played a part in church matters wherever these had obvious civil implications.

The more powerful popes tried to solve the problem by arguing that while the powers are separate, the ecclesiastical power is superior. Gregory VII (1073–1085) was already claiming the right, as the vicar of Christ, to depose or set up rulers. Innocent III (1198–1216), who imposed this right more successfully, compared church and state to the two lights of Gen. 1, the church being the greater light, the sun, and the state the lesser light, the moon, which draws its radiance from the sun. Boniface VIII (1294 - 1303) put the matter even more forcefully in his bull Unam Sanctam (1302), when he stated that the two swords—the temporal and the spiritual—are both in the hands of Peter, the one to be used by the church and the other for it. He failed dismally, however, in his attempt to bring England and France under this rule.

着自称基督徒的统治者的出现，与《旧约》形式相近的作品也随即产生，权柄划分必要性就显露了出来。

B. 中世纪时期的世俗权柄。在中世纪时期，神圣罗马帝国的观念和令人印象深刻的加冕礼体现了君权神授的思想。但与此同时，教皇禁止这些世俗的统治者干预教会的事务，因为这种干预常使教会屈从于政治和物质利益。这就是中世纪时期严守政教分离原则的原因，在这种原则下神职人员甚至免受世俗审判，免交赋税，而且教会和修道院还免受军事袭击。当然，统治者一旦发现神职人员道貌岸然，违反其今世的属灵权威和职责，他们就会与威胁其至高权利的教会力量相对抗，一旦教会的事务明显涉及到世俗的事宜，他们就会不断地进行干预。

更强势的教皇争辩道，虽然权力是分离的，但是教会的权力更高，他试图以这种说辞解决这个问题。贵格利七世（1073–1085）自称是基督的代理人，并一直宣称他有权任免统治者。英诺森三世（1198–1216）更为成功地印证了这种权利，他将教会和国家比作《创世记》第1章中的两种光，教会是“大的光”，即太阳，而政府是“小的光”，即

C. Reformation Views. A sharp reversal of this position came with the Reformation period when the reformers, often finding civil rulers more ready to instigate reforms than the clergy, recalled the godly princes of the OT and saw it as within the authority of Christian magistrates, and indeed as their duty, to take action for the spiritual welfare of their subjects. Thus Luther leaned on the electors of Saxony; Zwingli brought about reformation through the city council of Zurich; and Henry VIII set a pattern in England that led ultimately to the authorization of the prayer book and articles by crown and parliament as well as by convocation.

Nevertheless, the reformers were not unaware of the dangers of this course. Rulers might be ill-disposed to the gospel, or to some aspects of it, as Calvin found in his dealings both with the Geneva councils and also with the French crown. They might also use reformation to their own selfish ends, as Cranmer and Ridley learned to their own cost when Northumberland would not permit the proper redeployment of ecclesiastical endowments. Furthermore, even in their exercise of civil authority they might indulge in wicked or despotic actions. An attempt was thus made to set the limits of temporal power by subjecting it plainly to God, from whom it derives, and to the Word of God, which is its norm. Heinrich Bullinger of Zurich states the position forcefully and clearly in Decades ii. He argues that distinctions should be made between “the office, which is the good ordination of God, and the evil person.” Tyranny should not be tolerated on the ground that “it is of God.” As every magistrate “is ordained of God, and is God’s minister, so he must be ruled by God, and be obedient to God’s holy word and commandment.”

月亮，月亮要从太阳那里得着光芒。庞尼菲斯八世（1294 - 1303）以更有说服力的“一圣通谕”（1302）解决了这个问题，他说，彼得手中有两把剑——世俗的剑和属灵的剑，一把剑供教会使用，另一把则为教会所用。然而，他在试图统治英格兰和法国时却遭到了惨败。

C. 改教观点中的世俗权柄。在宗教改革时期这一地位急剧逆转，改革派常常发现世俗统治者比神职人员更愿意鼓动变革，他们想到了《旧约》中圣洁的君王，并认为基督教的地方官们有权也确实有义务为他们子民谋取属灵的财富。因此，路德依赖于萨克森的选民；茨温利（Zwingli）通过苏黎世的市议会发动了变革；亨利八世在英格兰进行了宗教改革，并最终导致英国颁布了“祷告书”，并由国王、议会和教士会议制定了的法令。

然而，改教者不是没有意识到这一过程中的危险。统治者可能反感福音，这与加尔文同日内瓦议会和法国国王打交道时发现的情况一样。他们还可能借改革而达成私欲，正如当诺森伯兰（Northumberland）禁止教会捐款的合理挪用，克兰默（Cranmer）和里德利（Ridley）为此付出了代价。此外，甚至统治者在行使他们的世俗权柄时，他们的行为有可能是邪恶和强横的。因此，教会明确规定世俗的权力从属于神的权柄，源自神的权柄而且位于神之道

In the last resort this means that an evil power may be resisted or, finally, overthrown, so long as this is done responsibly. Unlike the Lutherans and Anglicans, the Reformed were thus prepared for the extreme action of civil revolt as this found historical expression in the overthrow of Mary Guise in Scotland, the war of independence in Holland, and the unfortunate civil wars in France. It was emphasized, however, that resistance to the powers is justified only when the gospel is threatened or excessive tyranny is enforced. Patient submission to authority, or at the most passive resistance in religious matters, was seen to be the biblical rule.

The Reformed understanding as Bullinger succinctly states it tries to avoid the clash of ecclesiastical and civil power by relativizing both in the same way. As the church derives its authority from God, so does the state. Neither has inherent power. Neither, indeed, has power that can ever become independent of the God who gives it. The freedom of God is not restricted by the authorization that He grants. The human institution thus authorized is no autonomous competitor. If it draws its right and power from God, it does so only in subjection to the rule which God still exercises by His Word.

最后，这意味着只要人们依靠神完成这事，就可能抵抗或推翻邪恶的权力。只要人们依靠神完成这事。改革派与路德教派和圣公会信徒不同，因此他们在民间策划极端的反抗行动，正如人们在历史中看到的那样，如推翻吉斯玛丽在苏格兰的统治的起义，荷兰的独立战争、不成功的法国内战。然而，必须强调的是，只有当福音传播受到威胁或者统治者实行极端的暴政时，人们推翻权力的理由才是正当的。根据圣经的原则，人们应该耐心地服从权柄的统治，或至多可以在宗教事务上进行消极的抵抗。

正如布林格所简洁描述的，改革派以相同的方式把教会权柄和世俗权柄相对起来考虑，从而试图避免两者之间的冲突。教会的权柄源自于神，国家的权柄同样源于神。它们都不是自身固有的权柄。这两个权柄也确实不能脱离神而独立存在，因为神是这些权柄的赐予者。上帝的自由不受祂的授权的限制。因

The so-called radical reformers, of course, approached the matter very differently. Certain violent leaders attempted a fusion of religious and civil authority in Münster, the “new Jerusalem,” the kingdom of the saints; but when this proved to be illusory, the dominant motif became the strict separation advocated and practiced by the Swiss and South German Anabaptists. On this view the secular authorities are ordained by God, but their function of restraint and force is incompatible with true Christianity. They are to be honored and obeyed in virtue of their divine ordination, but Christians can have no part in their work and must not become entangled in the evils of temporal office. If a conflict arises between civil authority and true Christianity, no resistance is to be offered; but the authority of God must also take precedence, so that patient endurance of persecution is the only legitimate course. In no circumstances are the children of the light to make use of the weapons of the present world, since their victory will come in and through affliction and by the weapons of spiritual warfare. With the emergence of the modern secularist state and pluralist society the thinking of the radical reformers has taken on new relevance today, although whether or not there should be abstraction from all temporal exercise of power is a question to which very different answers will obviously be

当然，所谓的激进改教者处理这个问题的方式非常不同。所谓的圣徒国度“新耶路撒冷”——明斯特的一些暴力领袖试图将宗教权柄和世俗权柄合二为一，但当这种尝试最终变成幻影时，瑞士和德国南部的再洗礼派提出并践行着严格区分两种权柄这一占主导地位的主张。根据这一观点，世俗的权柄是上帝授予的，但是这些权柄的约束功能和效力是与真正的基督教格格不入的。因为它们是神授予的权柄，所以所有世俗之人都尊敬并遵守它们，但是基督徒没有必要遵守它们，也不该被世俗职分的邪恶羁绊。如果世俗权柄与真正的基督教之间发生了冲突，任何形式的反抗都是不对的；但是上帝的权柄必须处于优先位置，所以耐心地忍受迫害是唯一合理的道路。光明的孩子绝不可以利用现世的武器，因为他们将在苦楚里并藉着苦楚和属灵争战的武器获得胜利。随着主张现代世俗论的国家和支持多元论的社会的出现，现代激进改教者的思考呈现出新的现实意义，虽然是否应远离所有的世俗权柄仍然是一个问题，而且对此人们显然可以给出大相径庭的回答。

V. Conclusion.-A. God and the Word. It might be accepted as a basic principle that God exercises authority through the Word. In the ultimate sense, since Christ is the Word, the Word is God Himself. God exercises His own authority. Nevertheless, the Word takes form not only in the Incarnation but also in the words spoken and written by the prophets and apostles, i.e., in the Scriptures of the OT and NT. These words or Scriptures, having divine authorization, carry the authority of God Himself. Similarly, being God's Word, they have the freedom of God, not innately or inherently, but in virtue of their divine authorship or authorization.

B. God and the Church. God also exercises His authority through the Church and its confessions, rulings, and teachings. Here again one might say that since the Church is Christ's body, Christ Himself is the Church. In the Church, therefore, Christ exercises His own authority. At the same time, in terms of its human members and structures, the Church does not have the same immediate authorization as the apostles and prophets. It has indirect authorization by the Word of God that gives it birth and that comes through the prophetic and apostolic words. Hence the freedom it enjoys is, as Barth observes, freedom under the Word, not freedom from or over the Word. The Church achieves its true authority not when it makes a direct claim to declare the voice of God, but when it seeks to speak God's Word in accordance with the Word already spoken and written, so that the authority with which it is invested is authentically that of the Word.

V. 总结。A. 神和道。神通过祂的道行使着祂的权柄，这可能是人们接受的一个基本原则。从终极意义上讲，因为基督就是道，所以道就是神本身。神行使着祂自身的权柄。然而，道不仅仅通过道成肉身显现出来，也通过先知和使徒的话语和作品揭示出来，即在《旧约》和《新约》的经文中。这些话语和经文得到了神的授权，所以拥有神的权柄。同样，作为神的道，这些权柄享有神的自由，但这种自由不是与生俱来的或固有的，而是因为神授予的，或者说神是这些权柄的创作者。

B. 神和教会。神也通过教会、教会信条、教会统治和教会教义行使祂的权柄。关于这一点，人们可能会说，因为教会是基督的身体，所以基督就是教会。因此，基督在教会中行使着祂的权柄。然而，教会属于人类成员和人类机构，它并不像使徒和先知一样拥有神的直接授权。它的权柄是神之道赐予的间接权柄，而神之道藉着使徒和先知的话语揭示出来。因此，正如巴特所评论的，它所享有的自由是道统治下的自由，而不是源自于或超越道的自由。教会在直接宣布神的话语时并没有得着真正的权柄，但当教会试图按照之前人们宣讲的道和成文的道宣扬神之道时，它就真正获得了权柄，所以神的道所授予的权柄就是道的权柄。

C. God and Civil Authority. In another sense and sphere, civil authorities are also means by which God exercises His authority. Outside the sphere of revelation rulers have only an indistinct and perverted apprehension of this truth. They thus tend to think in terms of absolute or inherent power or to confuse divine authorization with a transferred right to do all things at will. This can raise acute problems for the Church and can produce the clash of authority that brings tension, persecution, or compromise. Even where rulers are Christians and know clearly the source of their authority, they may still fail to see that this authority can be properly exercised only according to the Word of God and within the sovereign authority that God always reserves to Himself. This is equally true no matter what the human form of authority might be.

God grants authorization, but in so doing He does not reduce or transfer His own divine authority. Neither church nor state, then, has any mandate for tyranny. Neither church nor state can issue any edict it pleases and demand absolute submission on the basis of divine authorization. Indeed, even Holy Scripture, for all the uniqueness of its origin and role, is not to be treated as though it had autonomous authority apart from God Himself, who is its ontic, noetic, and dynamic basis. God indeed rules through Scripture. The ultimate stress, however, lies not on Scripture but on the God who rules. “To the only God our Savior, through Jesus Christ our Lord, be glory, majesty, dominion, and authority, before all time and now and for ever. Amen” (Jude 25).

C. 神和世俗权柄。从另一种意义和范围讲，世俗权柄也是神行使权柄的方式。在启示范围之外，统治者对这一真理的理解只能是模糊和歪曲的。因此，他们倾向于认为他们的权柄是一种绝对的权柄或固有的权柄，或者认为因为他们得到了神的授权，所以他们可以随意地行使这种权柄。这会引发教会中的尖锐的问题，也会产生权柄冲突，从而带来压力、迫害或妥协。甚至当统治者是基督徒，且清楚地知道他们权柄的来源时，他们仍然可能不知道，只有根据神之道，并且在神永远独有的至高权柄里，他们才能合理地行使这种权柄。这个事实不因人类权柄形式的变化而变化。

I. Terms.—The Hebrew words most frequently translated by “avenge” are the verb nāqam and the noun nēqāmā (often the object of nātan, “take vengeance,” or nāqam, “avenge”). In 2 Ch. 24:22 and Ps. 9:12 the RSV renders dāraš as “avenge.” Here dāraš has the sense of “require [vengeance].” 1 K. 2:5 has sīm, lit. “place, put,” here “put blood,” i.e., “avenge.” 1 S. 25:33 has yāšā‘ in the hiphil, lit. “help, save,” here “save myself by my hand,” i.e., “avenge myself.” The term in 1 S. 25:39 is rīb, usually “contend,” here “contend” in the sense of righting a wrong, i.e., “avenge.” The NT and LXX have either the verb ekdikéō, “avenge,” “punish,” or the noun ekdikēsis “revenge,” “punishment,” “retribution.” Both the notion of “avenging” and “punishing” (in a forensic sense) are found.

II. In the Ancient Near East.—To avenge

(王上 2:5); 希腊语: ekdikéō, poiéō ekdikēsīn (徒 7:24)]; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 REQUIRE (“伸冤”) (代下 24:22), “cleanse” (“清楚”) (珥 3:21; 《修订标准译本》将 nāqā 修订为 nāqam), TAKE VENGEANCE (“报仇”) (士 11:36), “plead the cause” (“伸冤”) (撒 上 25:39), RETURN (“归罪”) (撒 下 16:8), MAKE INQUISITION (“追讨流人血之罪”) (诗 9:12), SHED (BLOOD) (“流血”) (王上 2:5) 等; 《新英文译本》还译为 (TAKE or EXACT) VENGEANCE (复仇、报仇), “exact the penalty” (“伸冤”) (代下 24:22), (SEEK) REVENGE (“伸冤”), PUNISH (“伸冤”) (撒 上 25:39), “giving way [to anger]” (“报仇”) (撒 上 25:33), “breaking [the peace]” (“在战争时”) (王上 2:5), SPILL (BLOOD) (“报复[流血的罪]”) (珥 3:21) 等。

I. 用词。最常被翻译成“报仇”的希伯来词语是动词 nāqam 和名词 nēqāmā (通常是 nātan 的宾语, “复仇”, 或 nāqam, “报仇”)。在《历代志下》24:22 和《诗篇》9:12 中, 《修订标准译本》将 dāraš 译为“伸冤”。Dāraš 在这里有“报仇”的含义。《列王纪上》2:5 中出现了 sīm 一词, 字面含义是“放置、安置”, 这里的含义是“流血”, 也就是“报仇”。《撒母耳记上》25:33 中出现了 yāšā‘ 的希干, 字面含义是“帮助、拯救”, 这里含义是“靠自己的双手拯救自己”, 即“亲手报仇”。《撒母耳记上》25:39 中使用了 rīb 一词, 通常含义是“斗争”, 这里的“斗争”有“洗雪冤枉”的含义, 即“伸冤”。《新约》和《七十士译本》或使用动词 ekdikéō (意思是“复仇”、“惩罚”) 或使用名词 ekdikēsis (意思是“报仇”、“惩罚”、“报复”)。这里面包含了“报仇”和“惩罚”(审判惩罚) 两层含义。

II. 古近东地区的报仇观念。在古近东

a wrong seems to have been a legal custom in the ancient Near East. In tribal society, the “avenger of blood” (Heb. gô’el haddām, Nu. 35:9–34; cf. Gen. 9:5f.; see AVENGER) was the kinsman obligated to exact retribution for the death of a family member.

III. In the OT.—The OT mentions several provocations of human “vengeance.” Samson avenges murder (Jgs. 15:7), Saul seeks vengeance on his military foes (1 S. 14:24; 18:25), as does Israel on the Midianites (Nu. 31:2). Samson avenges himself on the Philistines for the loss of his eye (Jgs. 16:28). In Est. 8:13 the Jews avenge themselves on those who planned to murder them. Joab avenges the death of his brother in battle (1 K. 2:5; here it is not in his avenging that Joab is blameworthy, but in his doing it in a period of truce).

Other passages mention acts that need not or should not be avenged—at least not by killing, or not by men. Had David avenged an insult (1 S. 25:33), this would have caused “blood-guilt,” probably because the provocation was not sufficient to warrant killing. However, the tradition maintains that Yahweh avenged this insult (v. 39). A vengeance “overkill” is also found in the Song of Lamech, Gen. 4:23, in which Lamech says that he slew a man who struck him. That this response is out of proportion to the provocation is clear in v. 24, “If Cain is avenged seven-fold, truly Lamech seventy-sevenfold.” (On Lamech’s boasting song, see C. Westermann, Genesis [BKAT, I/6, 1970], pp. 453f.)

God acts to avenge in several situations. He may avenge individuals (Jgs. 11:36; 1

地区，复仇似乎是一种合法的习俗。在部落社会中，“报血仇”（希伯来语：gô’el haddām，民 35:9–34；参：创 9:5–6；见 AVENGER[报仇人]）是指同族者有义务为家族成员的死报仇。

III. 《旧约》中的报仇。《旧约》中提到过几次人类的“复仇”行为。参孙通过击杀报仇（士 15:7），扫罗报复他的军事敌人（撒上 14:24；18:25），以色列人在米甸人身上报仇（民 31:2）。参孙在非利士人身上报剜双眼的仇（士 16:28）。在《以斯帖记》8:13 中，犹太人在仇敌身上报仇。约押在战场上为兄弟报仇（王上 2:15；约押并不是因为报仇而受到谴责，而是因为他在休战时期实施报仇行动）。

其他的段落中提到了不需要也不应该报仇的行为——至少不应通过杀害或由人类报仇。倘若大卫报了羞辱的仇（撒上 25:33），他就犯了“流人血的罪”，这或许是因为挑衅不足以成为他杀人的理由。然而，《圣经》中描述道，耶和華伸了大卫遭羞辱的冤（撒上 25:39）。人们也可以在《创世记》4:23 “拉麦之歌”中看到“过度击杀”的复仇行为，拉麦在歌中说，有人伤他，他便将这入杀了。《创世记》4:24 中显然表明复仇与遭报是不成比例的，“若杀该隐，遭报七倍。杀拉麦，必遭报七十七倍。”（关于拉麦的夸口之歌，见 C. Westermann, Genesis [BKAT, I/6, 1970], 453–454 页）。

上帝在几种情况下为世人报仇。祂可以为个人报仇（士 11:36；撒上 24:12；

S. 24:12; 25:39; 2 S. 4:8; 16:8), or Israel—on her enemies or His (Joel 3:21; Nah. 1:2; Isa. 1:24; Jer 46:10 [Day of Yahweh]). He avenges the “blood of his prophets” (2 K. 9:7), or the “blood of his servants” (Dt. 32:43; Ps. 9:12). In Ps. 79:10, the tradition that Yahweh avenges is presupposed by the petitioner, who invokes Yahweh’s vengeance. In addition, Yahweh avenges Himself upon Israel (Jer. 5:9, 29; 9:9). The use of the term in the OT suggests that the shedding of blood or the plotting thereof was the only legitimate provocation for “avenging.”

IV. In the Apocrypha.—“Avenge/take vengeance” in the Apocrypha follows OT usage. Gentiles seek to revenge themselves against Israel (1 Macc. 3:15; Jth 1:12; 2:1; cf. 1 Macc. 6:22, where “ungodly” Israelites ask the Seleucid king to “avenge our brethren”). The Maccabean revolution was seen as Israel’s avenging itself against the gentile enemies (1 Macc. 2:67, death-bed speech of Mattathias); cf. also 13:6 (Simon), and Jonathan and Simon’s avenging “the blood of their brother” (1 Macc. 9:42). The prayer of the priests that God avenge Himself on Nicanor, who threatened to destroy the temple (1 Macc. 7:38), is reminiscent of Ps. 79:10. The promise of God in 2 Esd. 15:9, that He will avenge the “souls of the righteous,” expresses an idea similar to those in Dt. 32:43; 2 K. 9:7; Ps. 9:12. Sir. 30:6 cites as a boon of having children, that after one’s death his son remains as an avenger against his enemies.

V. At Qumrân.—At Qumrân the concept of vengeance is similar to that in the NT: avenging is God’s prerogative. In the Damascus Document this is treated twice.

25:39; 撒下 4:8; 16:8), 也可以为以色列向其仇人和神自己的仇人施报 (珥 3:21; 鸿 1:2; 赛 1:24; 耶 46:10[耶和華報仇的日子])。祂為先知 (王下 9:7) 或祂的僕人 (申 32:43; 詩 9:12) “洗流血的冤”。在《詩篇》79:10, 祈求者預先假定歷史長存在耶和華為人伸冤的傳統, 並祈求耶和華為他報仇。此外, 耶和華也報復以色列人 (耶 5:9, 29, 9:9)。《舊約》中使用的“報仇”一詞表明, 流血或其中的密謀是唯一正當的“報仇”挑畔行為。

IV. 《次經》中報仇。《次經》中的“報仇或報復”的用法遵循了《舊約》中的該詞的用法。外邦人試圖報復以色列人 (馬一 3:15; 滴 1:12; 2:1; 參: 馬一 6:22, 在這段經文中“不敬畏神”的以色列人讓塞琉西國王“為我們的同胞報仇雪恨”)。人們認為馬加比家族的革命是以色列人在向外邦仇敵討還血債 (馬一 2:67, 瑪他提亞的臨終遺言); 另參: 馬一 13:6 (西門), 也是約拿單和西門在“為兄弟之死報仇” (馬一 9:42)。尼迦挪威說要摧毀聖殿, 於是祭祀求告神在尼迦挪身上復仇 (1 Macc. 7:38), 這會让人们回忆起《詩篇》79:10 中的內容。在《以斯得拉二書》15:9 中, 神允諾祂將為“被害的無辜者”報仇, 這種表述與《申命記》32:43; 《列王紀下》9:7; 《詩篇》9:12 中的表述類似。《便西拉智訓》30:6 中引述了有孩子的恩惠, 即孩子的父親死后, 他的兒子將會為他報仇雪恨。

V. 昆蘭文學中的報仇。昆蘭文學中的報仇觀念與《新約》中的報仇觀念類似: 報仇是上帝的特權。在《大馬色文獻》中, 報仇的觀念出現過兩次。第一次出

First, in a commentary on Lev. 19:18 (“You shall not take vengeance [Heb. lô tiqôm] on the children, nor bear any rancor against them”): “If any member of the covenant accuses his companion without first rebuking him before witnesses; if he denounces him in the heat of his anger or reports him to his elders to make him look contemptible, he is one that takes vengeance and bears rancor” (CD 9:2–5; Vermes, p. 110). Here Heb. nāqam has a new meaning. Not only is avenging in the usual OT meaning forbidden; here several ways of rebuking one’s companions are equated with “avenging.” (Note also the parallel term “bear rancor” [Heb. nāṭar], also in Lev. 19:18.)

A second occurrence of this concept is in the description of the “Princes of Judah,” who “have not turned from the way of traitors but have wallowed in the ways of whoredom and wicked wealth. They have taken revenge or borne malice, every man against his brother, and every man has hated his fellow, and every man has sinned against his near kin, and has approached for unchastity, and has acted arrogantly for the sake of riches and gain” (CD 8:4–5; Vermes, p. 105). Note also that when the Kittim “took vengeance” on the “Priest who rebelled” (1QpHab 9:2), this was his punishment (Vermes, p. 240).

The Qumrân texts speak of God’s being avenged in the final war. In the War Scroll, note the “names” on the trumpets: “Formations of the Divisions of God for the Vengeance of His Wrath on the Sons of Darkness,” and “Reminder of Vengeance in God’s Appointed Time” (1QM 3:6f.; Vermes, p. 127); note also the inscription on a battle standard: “Vengeance of God” (1QM 4:12; Vermes, p. 129). That the final war was regarded in terms of divine vengeance is shown by the hymn at the end of the Manual of Discipline: “I will not grapple with the men of perdition until the Day of Revenge [Heb. ywm nqm]” (1QS 10:19; Vermes, p. 91). Also in 1QS, the Levites are to curse the “men of the lot of Belial”: “May he deliver you up for torture at the hands of the vengeful Avengers [Heb. nwqmy nqm].... May He raise his angry face toward you for vengeance [Heb. nqmtkh]” (1QS 2:6, 9; Vermes, p. 73). Here the “vengeful Avengers” may be angels. Thus, the Qumrân texts use “avenge” in the OT sense, but maintain that avenging is God’s.

现在对《利未记》19:18 的注释中 (“不可报仇[希伯来语: lô tiqôm], 也不可埋怨你本国的子民”): “凡已经入约的人, 若没有证人佐证或只凭一时感情就控告邻舍, 或向上司控告仅仅为了让邻舍被人看不起等情况都算是报仇或有所埋怨。”(《大马色文献》9:2–5; Vermes, 110 页)。这里希伯来语 nāqam 有了一个新含义。《旧约》中常见的“报仇”一词不只是有“被禁止的”这一个含义; 这里的谴责同伴的几种方式也等同于“报仇”。(另见类似的词语“埋怨”[希伯来语: nāṭar], 另见《利未记》19:18。)

第二次出现报仇的观念是在描述“犹大的君王”时, 他们“他们不但不离开叛逆的道路, 反倒放肆淫荡, 谋财邪恶, 怨恨同伴, 憎恶邻舍, 以种种罪行继续玷污自己。他们欺骗亲属、接触邪淫、唯利是图、贪得无厌”(《大马色文献》8:4–5; Vermes, 105 页)。人们也会注意到, 当基提“报复反叛祭司”时(《哈巴谷书注释》9:2), 这就是他的惩罚 (Vermes, 240 页)。

昆兰文献中提到上帝将会在最后的战争中复仇。《战卷》中给出了号角的“名称: 上帝所排列的队伍能以向黑暗之子施行愤怒的报复, 纪念上帝指定要施行报仇的日子”(《战卷》3:6–7; Vermes, 127 页); 同时也指出了战旗上的文字: “上帝的复仇”(《战卷》4:12; Vermes, 129 页)。《会规手册》在最后的赞美诗

VI. In the NT.—Although Stephen recounts Moses’ avenging an oppressed Israelite by striking an Egyptian (Acts 7:24), the notion that avenging belongs to God is found in the NT also in Paul’s quotation of OT tradition (Rom. 12:19). The context of the OT passage (Dt. 32:35) indicates that God stands ready to vindicate His people when their enemies mistreat them. Vengeance, like judgment (Mt. 7:1), should be left in His hands. In Rev. 6:10, martyrs cry out to God that He avenge their blood, and in 19:2 we find a reference to God’s avenging the blood of “his servants” (on the “great harlot”), in terms reminiscent of Dt. 32:43; Ps. 9:12; 79:10; 2 Esd. 15:9.

See also AVENGER; VENGEANCE.

Bibliography.—TDNT, II, s.v. ἐχδιχέω (Shrenk); G. Vermes, Dead Sea Scrolls in English (repr. 1970).

中指出,最后的战争可以看作是神的复仇之战:“在复仇之日[希伯来语: ywm nqm]来临前,我不会与毁灭之人争战”(《会规手册》10:19; Vermes, 91页)。同时在《会规手册》中,利未人要诅咒“各城中的居民”:“愿祂使你们在复仇者[希伯来语: nwqmy nqm]手中遭受酷刑……愿主向你们仰起愤怒的面容,向你们施行报复![希伯来语: nqmtkh]”(《会规手册》2:6, 9; Vermes, 73页)。这里所说的“复仇者”可能是“天使”。因此,昆兰文献采用了《旧约》中的“复仇”观念,但坚持认为复仇者是上帝。

VI. 《新约》中的报仇。司提反描述说,摩西为一个受欺压的以色列人报仇,打死了那埃及人(徒 7:24),保罗在《新约》中引述的旧约传统也表明报仇是上帝的行为(罗 12:19)。《旧约》段落的语境(申 32:35)表明,当神的子民遭到仇敌的虐待时,神会迅速为他们伸冤。复仇,同审判一样(太 7:1),掌握在神的手中。在《启示录》6:10中,殉道者大声祈求神给他们伸流血的冤,《启示录》19:2中提到,神向“淫妇”讨流仆人血的罪,给他们伸冤,这里的用词让我们想到了《申命记》32:43;《诗篇》9:12; 79:10;《以斯得拉二书》15:9中表述。

AVENGER.

The RSV translation of the Hebrew participial forms of gā'al and nāqam, and the Greek substantive ékdikos.

Gō'el is rendered by “avenger” only in the expression gō'el haddām, “the avenger of blood.” In Nu. 35:12 “blood” is omitted in the MT but found in the LXX and other versions.

The gō'el was the protector or defender of his family's interests. As the nearest male relative he was responsible for protecting the property (Lev. 25:25–34), liberty (vv. 35–54), and posterity (Ruth 4:5, 10; Dt. 25:5–10) of his next of kin, in addition to protecting their lives through the avenging of blood (Nu. 35:9–28; Dt. 19:4–10; Josh. 20:1–9; 2 S. 4:7, 11).

The legislation giving the gō'el both the right and responsibility to avenge his kinsman's blood distinguished two types of criminal bloodshed, “murder” and “manslaughter,” both expressed by the same Hebrew word rāṣah, found in the sixth commandment (cf. Ex. 20:13). Whereas in the case of “murder” the gō'el killed the offender (Nu. 35:19, 21; Dt. 19:12), in the case of “manslaughter” he could do so only if the offender left the assigned city of refuge prior to the death of the high priest (Nu. 35:12, 24f., 27; Dt. 19:6; Josh. 20:3, 5, 9). The human avenger of blood is used as a figure of Yahweh's role as gō'el for His people in passages such as Isa. 49:26.

The custom of avenging blood has not been limited to the ancient Hebrews. In

AVENGER 报仇人

《修订标准译本》将希伯来词 gā'al 和 nāqam 的分词形式，以及希腊语中的名词性实词 ékdikos 译为“报仇人”。

Gō'el 只有在 gō'el haddām (“报血仇人”) 这一表达中才被译为“报仇人”。《马索拉文本》在《民数记》35:12 中省略了“blood” (“血”) 一词，但是《七十士译本》和其他译本中有这个词。

gō'el 是一个家族利益的保护者和捍卫者。最直系男性亲属要通过伸流血的血保护他们的近亲的生命 (民 35:9 – 28; 申 19:4 – 10; 书 20:1 – 9; 撒下 4:7, 11), 除此之外, 还要保护他们的财产 (利 25:25 – 34)、自由 (利 25: 35 – 54) 和子孙 (得 4:5, 10; 申 25:5 – 10)。

律法赋予了报仇人 (gō'el) 为亲属报仇的权利和职责, 他可以为两种重要的犯罪流血, 即“谋杀”和“误杀”报仇, 这两种杀戮对应同一个希伯来词 rāṣah, 人们可以在摩西律法的第六诫中看到这个词 (参: 出 20:13)。然而, 在“谋杀”案中, 报仇人可以杀死罪犯 (民 35:19, 21; 申 19:12), 而在“误杀”案中, 只有当罪犯在大祭司去世前离开指定的逃城时, 报仇人才可以杀死他 (民 35:12, 24-25, 27; 申 19:6; 书 20:3, 5, 9)。在一些段落中, 如《以赛亚书》49:26 中, 经文作者用“报血仇者”比喻耶和华在祂的子民中扮演的“救赎主” (gō'el) 的角色。

不是只有古希伯来人才有报仇的习俗。古代的其他民族和希腊人也都有报仇

ancient times it was practiced by, among other nations, the Greeks; and in present times has been attested among the Arabians, Persians, and other Oriental peoples.

In contrast to gā'al, nāqam is the Hebrew equivalent of the Eng. “avenge” in the sense of “exact satisfaction for a wrong by punishing the wrongdoer.” It occurs twice in the Psalms (Ps. 8:2 [MT 3] and 44:16 [MT 17]) in connection with Israel’s enemies as a hithpael (intensive, reflexive) participle meaning “they that avenge themselves.” Perhaps the poet is implying a contrast to Israel, who has Yahweh as his avenger. In Ps. 99:8 the qal participial form is used to denote Yahweh’s vengeance against the misdeeds of His servants.

The Gk. ékdikos, describing the Lord (1 Thess. 4:6), means “one who satisfies justice,” i.e., by punishing the evildoer (cf. Rom. 13:4).

的习俗；在现代，阿拉伯人、波斯人和其他东方民族仍保留者这种习俗。

与 gā'al 相比较，希伯来语 nāqam 与英语中的 “avenge” (“报复、报仇”) 意义相同，这个词的意思是 “通过惩罚过错方的错误行为获得满足”。这个词的特干 (表强调或反身意义) 分词在《诗篇》中出现过两次 (诗 8:2 [《马所拉文本》 3] 以及诗 44:16 [《马所拉文本》 17])，意思是 “报仇的”，这两处经文都与以色列的仇敌有关联。《诗篇》作者可能是在同以色列人作对比，而耶和华是以色列人的报仇人。《诗篇》99:8 采用 qal 的分词形式表示，耶和华按祂的仆人所行的报应他们。

希腊词语 ékdikos 在描述主 (帖前 4:6) 时的含义是 “伸张正义者”，即通过刑罚作恶的来伸冤 (参：罗 13:4)。

1. The Avvites were early inhabitants of Canaan in the region later known as the Philistine plain, “as far as Gaza.” They were destroyed by the invading Caphtorim (see CAPHTOR) (Dt. 2:23; cf. Josh. 13:3; 2 K. 17:31).

1、亚卫人是迦南地的早期居民，他们所居住的地方就是后来人们所说的非利士平原，地域范围“直到迦萨”。入侵者迦斐托人（见 CAPHTOR[迦斐托]）将他们除灭（申 2:23；参：书 13:3；王下 17:31）。

2. Avvim was one of the cities of the tribe of Benjamin (Josh. 18:23), probably near Bethel. However, since the form is gentilic and occurs with the definite article, it is tempting to read “Bethel and (the village of) the Avvim”—although one hesitates to suggest that they were the people of Ai.

2、亚文是便雅悯支派的一座城邑（书 18:23），该城邑可能临近伯特利。但因为它是一个种族名，并且常与定冠词连用，所以人们更倾向于将之译为“伯特利和亚卫人（的村庄）”——虽然人们不太愿意认为他们是艾的居民。

AWAKE. 兴起、醒起、醒着

学者们通常用这个词来翻译希伯来词语 'ûr, qîṣ 或 yāqaṣ, 或用来翻译希腊

Heb. šāqad (“be awake, watchful,” Ps. 102:7; 127:1) and qādam (“be early,” Ps. 119:148), and Gk. diagrēgoréō (“keep awake,” Lk. 9:32), exypnizō (“arouse,” Jn. 11:11), and egeirō (“rise, get up!” Eph. 5:14). Heb. qîš is used only in the hiphil in the sense of awaking someone else. ‘Ūr occurs in both the qal and the hiphil, meaning either to arouse oneself or to stir up or incite someone else. Gk. grēgoréō generally means to be alert or vigilant.

In addition to the ordinary usage for awaking from sleep, “awake” is used in several figurative senses: (1) waking from moral, spiritual, or emotional sleep (Jgs. 5:12; Cant. 2:7; Isa. 52:1); (2) waking from death, either physical or spiritual (Isa. 26:19; Dnl. 12:2; Eph. 5:14); (3) waking from drunkenness (Joel 1:5); (4) in apostrophe to address musical instruments (Ps. 57:8; 108:2), the north wind (Cant. 4:16), a sword (Zec. 13:7); (5) in addressing God, as a plea that He respond to prayer (Ps. 7:6; 35:23; 44:23; Isa. 51:9).

DREADFUL, FEAR, FEARED, FEARFUL, GODLY FEAR; NEB also AFRAID, AWESTRUCK, “be on your guard,” DREADED, FEARED, FEARSOME, TERROR, THRILLS. A heightened emotional state characterized by a commingling of fear, astonishment, and terror with wonder, veneration, and reverence.

When evoked by men, awe is directed toward the unique and charismatic qualities of the human personality. Thus, Israel held Joshua in highest esteem: “they stood in awe of him, as they had stood in awe of Moses” (Josh. 4:14). The nation similarly “stood in awe of the king [Solomon], because they perceived that the wisdom of God was in him” (1 K. 3:28). Awe can also denote simple fear or dread, such as Saul had of David (cf. 1 S. 18:12, 15). One can also be in awe of a place in which some dramatic and inspirational event has happened; hence, Jacob says of Bethel, “How awesome is this place!” (Gen. 28:17).

But awe is most typically directed to the Deity or His actions. When so directed, awe is that state of mind which contemplates “the ‘wholly other’ ... that which is quite beyond the sphere of the usual, the intelligible, and the familiar, which therefore falls outside the limits of the ‘canny’, and is contrasted with it, filling the mind with blank wonder and astonishment” (Otto, p. 26). Yahweh “is to be held in awe above all gods. For all the gods of the peoples are idols; but the Lord made the heavens” (1 Ch. 16:25f).

还译为 AFRAID (“害怕的”), DREADFUL (“可畏的”), FEAR (“惧怕”), FEARED (“怕”), FEARFUL (“可畏的”), GODLY FEAR (“虔诚敬畏的心”); 《新英文译本》还译为 AFRAID (“害怕的”), AWESTRUCK (“惧怕”), “be on your guard” (“谨慎”), DREADED (“惧怕”), FEARED (“敬畏”), FEARSOME (“可畏”), TERROR (“惧怕”), THRILLS (“害怕”)。这种高涨的情绪状态的特点表现在它把害怕、惊奇、恐惧与惊异、崇拜和敬畏结合在了一起。

敬畏是一个人被他人的独特魅力和超凡能力所触动时激发出的强烈情感。因此, 以色列人最尊敬约书亚: “百姓敬畏他, 像从前敬畏摩西一样”(书 4:14)。以色列人同样 “敬畏 [所罗门] 王。因为见他心里有 神的智慧”(王上 3:28)。敬畏还可以仅仅意味着害怕或恐惧, 如扫罗惧怕大卫(参: 撒上 18:12, 15)。人们也可能对那些发生过戏剧性或鼓舞人心的事件的地方怀有敬畏之情; 因此, 雅各在谈到伯特利时说, “这地方何等可畏!”(创 28:17)。

但敬畏的最典型的用法是, 人们对神或祂的行为心生敬畏。怀有敬畏之心就是人们在心里思忖 “‘完全的他者’ 它完全超出了日常的、可理解的和熟悉的领域, 并因此完全落在 ‘审慎’ 的界限之外与之相对立, 使心灵充满了迷茫的惊奇与惊愕”(Otto, 26 页)。耶和華 “在万神之上, 当受敬畏! 外邦的神都属虚无, 惟独耶和華创造诸天”(代上 16:25-26)。祂是自然和历史的创造者, 因此《诗篇》的作者写道, “愿世上的居民, 都惧怕祂”(诗 33:8)。祂的名是可畏的(申 28:58, 玛 2:5), 祂的言话

Because He is the Creator of nature and history, writes the psalmist, “let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him!” (Ps. 33:8). His name is awful (Dt. 28:58; Mal. 2:5) and His words also are held in awe (Ps. 119:161). Therefore, reverential awe is one of the constituents of acceptable worship (Ps. 22:23 [MT 24]; He. 12:28). Paul speaks of godly awe as the opposite of human pride (Rom. 11:20); it is the realization that one’s life and destiny are in the hands of the “wholly other.”

The Gospels observe that the disciples and others were frequently astonished at events surrounding the life of Jesus. When Jesus healed and forgave the paralytic, a whole crowd was “filled with awe, saying, ‘We have seen strange things today’ ” (Lk. 5:26). When He spoke a calming word to nature, the disciples “were filled with awe” (Mk. 4:41). Again, the disciples “fell on their faces, and were filled with awe” at the transfiguration (Mt. 17:6). And finally, even a Roman centurion and his soldiers were struck with awe during the last hours of Jesus’ life and concluded, “Truly this was the Son of God” (Mt. 27:54).

福音书中说，门徒和其他人经常为发生在耶稣生命中的事件感到惊奇。当耶稣治愈一个瘫子，并为他赦罪时，众人“都满心惧怕，说：‘我们今日看见非常的事了’”（路 5:26）。当祂用平静的话语平息了风浪时，门徒们“都大大地畏惧”（可 4:41）。此外，当祂登山变像时，门徒们“就俯伏在地，极其害怕”（太 17:6）。最后，甚至连罗马的百夫长和兵丁在耶稣生命的最后时刻都极其害怕，总结说，“这真是神的儿子啊！”（太 27:54）。

ə-zā'zel [Heb. "zā'zēl] (Lev. 16:8, 10, 26); AV SCAPEGOAT; NEB PRECIPICE. The goat banished into the wilderness during the Day of Atonement ceremonies. It had received the "lot for Azazel," and therefore was not to be sacrificed to God but made symbolic of atonement for Israel through its release in the desert. The term Azazel has been interpreted as follows:

(1) By the LXX of Lev. 16:8, 10 as "escape goat" (trágos apompaios) and of v. 26 as trágos diestálmēnos eis áphesin, where the idea of remission is evident. (Cf. AV.)

(2) By rabbinic authorities as the place where the goat was sent. This is likely only if the Israelite camp remained in one place for most of the wilderness wanderings. (Cf. NEB.)

(3) As the name of a demon living in the desert (cf. Ps. 106:37; Dt. 32:17; Isa. 13:21; Mt. 12:43ff.; etc.), perhaps the Azael (Azazel) of 1 En. 6:7; 8:1; 9:6; 10:4; etc. However, the very concept of setting up a deity of this kind in contrast to God is entirely foreign to OT thought. Furthermore, no ancient Near Eastern culture offered scapegoats to demons in this way.

The goat appears to symbolize the transfer of guilt from the nation, and its complete removal from their midst, never

AZAZ 亚撒

音译: ā'zaz 【希伯来语: 'āzāz——“强大有力的”】。流便的子孙（代上 5:8）。

AZAZEL 阿撒泻勒

音译: ə-zā'zel 【希伯来语: "zā'zēl】（利 16:8, 10, 26）；《钦定版圣经》译为 SCAPEGOAT（“阿撒泻勒”）；《新英文译本》译为 PRECIPICE（“阿撒泻勒”）。人们在赎罪日举行祭礼时把这只羊放在旷野。“一阉归与阿撒泻勒”，因此，人们不是把这只羊献给神，而是通过把它放在旷野作为替以色列赎罪的象征。“阿撒泻勒”这个词有如下几种解读：

(1) 《七十士译本》的《利未记》16:8, 10 将这个词译为“替罪羊”（trágos apompaios），而《利未记》16:26 则译为 trágos diestálmēnos eis áphesin，这里显然含有赦罪的含义（参：《钦定版圣经》）。

(2) 拉比犹太教的权威人士将这个词理解为这只羊被送往的目的地。只有当以色列在旷野行军的大部分时间里把营安在同一个地方，这种说法才有可能成立。（参：《新英文译本》）。

(3) 可能是一个住在旷野中魔鬼的名字（参：诗 106:37；申 32:17；赛 13:21；太 12:43 起等），可能是《以诺一书》6:7；8:1；9:6；10:4 等经文中的亚撒尔。然而，塑造这类神明并使之与上帝形成对比，这种概念完全不符合《旧约》的思想。此外，在古近东的文化中，人们也从来不以这种方式把替罪羊献给魔鬼。

这只羊似乎象征着罪从这个民族的身上被转移走，完全从他们当中被除灭，并且永不会再返回。

AZEKAH 亚西加

音译: ə-zē'kə 【希伯来语: “zēqâ——‘锄地, 裸露的地面’】。犹太高原上的一座孤立的堡垒城市(书 15:35), 位于埃勒夫特罗波利斯(拜特贾夫林 [Beit Jibrîn]) 以北 9 英里 (15 公里) 处, 希伯伦西北 15 英里 (24 公里) 处, 该城市扼守着山谷的入口。该高原的最高处长约 350 码 (320 米), 宽约 150 码 (135

by 135m.). A well-fortified enclosed citadel sat atop the highest point. Today the site is called Tell ez-Zakarīyah, and evidences of ruined towers and an ancient wall atop the mound may still be seen.

After coming to the aid of besieged Gibeon, Joshua and his men chased the remnant of the Canaanite coalition, led by Adonizedek of Jerusalem, to Azekah and beyond to Makkedah (Josh. 10:10f.). A sudden downpour of rain and hailstones aided Joshua's men in achieving the victory.

In 1 S. 17:1ff. it is stated that Goliath and the Philistine army were encamped between Azekah and Socoh in Ephes-dammim. Saul and the Israelite hosts were encamped on the opposite hillside. David's conquest of the Philistine giant opened the way for an eventual Israelite victory.

Following the revolt of the northern kingdom, Rehoboam (ca. 922–915 B.C.) strengthened many Judean cities, including the fortifications of Azekah (2 Ch. 11:9). This involved fortifying the enclosed citadel on the highest point of the hill on which Azekah was built. He also stationed a garrison there and supplied it with food, oil, wine, and weapons.

Azekah was one of the last Judean cities to capitulate to the forces of Nebuchadrezzar (ca. 588 B.C., Jer. 34:7). On one of the clay documents found by excavators in the debris of a Lachish building, Hoshaiah, the commanding officer of the army N of Lachish, tells his commanding officer Yoash, whose headquarters were in Lachish, that he can

约书亚和他的勇士前来援助被围的基遍后, 继续追赶由耶路撒冷王亚多尼洗率领的迦南联军的余部, 一直追到亚西加和玛基大(书 10:10-11)。天空突降下大雨和冰雹, 帮助约书亚取得了战斗的胜利。

《撒母耳记上》17:1 起的经文描述道, 歌利亚和非利士的军旅在亚西加和梭歌中间的以弗大悯安营。扫罗和以色列军队驻扎在山坡对面。大卫打败了非利士巨人, 为以色列军队最终赢得战争胜利扫清了障碍。

随着北部王国发动的叛乱, 罗波安(约公元前 922-915 年)加固了许多犹太的城邑, 包括亚西加的堡垒(代下 11:9)。这包括加固山坡至高点上的孤立堡垒, 亚西加就建立在这个山顶上。他还派兵驻守那里, 并储备了食物、油、酒和武器。

亚西加是最后一批向尼布甲尼撒军队投降的犹太城市之一(约公元前 588 年, 耶 34:7)。一个发掘者在拉吉建筑废墟中发现了块泥版, 其上记载道, 驻扎在拉吉北部的军队主帅何沙雅告诉他的将领约许(约许的指挥部就在拉吉), 他看不到从亚西加发出的烟雾(火)信号, 这表明这座城市已经落入了巴比伦敌军的手中。

After the Exile, Jews who returned from Babylon re-occupied Azekah (Neh. 11:30).

BAAL

bā'əl [Heb. ba'al < Bab. Belu. or Bel—'lord'; Gk. Baal]. The supreme fertility-god of the Canaanites.

- I. Name
- II. Character
- III. Worship
- IV. Various Forms of Baal

I. Name.—In the Râs Shamrah texts, the first of which were discovered in 1929, the designation “Baal” is found about 240 times either alone or in a compound. The combination aliyn b'l, referring to the same god, is specified about seventy times and mainly in those passages where sacrifices are offered to Baal. The name is most widely employed alone as a title; as such it occurs about 150 times. About twenty times Baal is called Hadad or is used in a compound form of Hadad, the Semitic storm-god of the ancient Near East who was perhaps universally known in the ancient world. Though Hadad (Addu of the Amarna Letters) and Baal were two separate gods, the Râs Shamrah tablets indicate no differentiation. The two names are employed as though they belonged to the same god, giving a strong indication that the characteristics of Baal were similar to those of Hadad. Hadad's mission, as well as his symbol (the bull, a symbol of fertility), was assumed by the Canaanite Baal. Baal is further mentioned as bn dgn, i.e., “son of Dagan,” the fertility-god who was also worshiped by the Philistines (Jgs. 16:23; 1 S. 5:2). His close relationship to Hadad and Dagan leaves no doubt that Baal was considered the fertility-god of the Ugaritic religion.

BAAL 巴力

音译: bā'əl【希伯来语: ba'al, 衍生自巴比伦语: Belu.或 Bel——“主”; 希腊语: Baal】。迦南人崇拜的至高生育神。

- I. 名称
- II. 角色
- III. 崇拜
- IV. 巴力的多种形式

I. 名称。在拉斯珊拉文献（第一块泥版于1929年发现）中，“巴力”一词单独或在复合词中出现共计约240次。词组 aliyn b'l，也表示巴力，一共出现了约70次，主要出现在那些提到向巴力献祭的段落中。“巴力”多作为名称单独出现；这种情况约有150次。巴力约有20次被称为或哈达或表示哈达的复合词，哈达是古近东司掌暴风雨的闪族神，整个古代世界可能都知道这位神。虽然哈达（亚玛拿泥版中称他为阿杜 [Addu]）和巴力是两个不同的神，但拉斯珊拉泥版并未指出二者的区别。这两个名字似乎被用于指同一个神，这显然表明巴力和哈达的特征十分相似。迦南神话中巴力的使命和象征之物（公牛，象征着生育）与哈达相同。巴力还被称为 bn dgn，即“大衰之子”，大衰是非利士人崇拜的生育神（士16:23；撒上5:2）。巴力与哈达和大衰的紧密联系表明巴力在乌加里特宗教中被视为生育之神。 indication that Baal was in any sense a local god. As the word in Hebrew also means “possessor,” however, it is quite possible that when used in a religious sense the name signified the god of a particular area of land or soil. Thus the forms under which Baal was worshiped were necessarily as numerous as the communities that worshiped him. Each locality had its own Baal or divine lord who frequently took his name from the city or place to which he belonged. Hence there were Baal-meon (“Baal of Meon,” Nu. 32:38), Baal-hermon (“Baal of Hermon,” Jgs. 3:3), Baal-hazor (“Baal of Hazor,” 2 S. 13:23), Baal-peor (“Baal of Peor,” Nu. 25:3). At other times the title was affixed to the names of an individual god; thus there were Bel-Marduk (“the lord Marduk”) at Babylon, Baal-Melqart at Tyre, and Baal-gad (Josh. 11:17) in the north of Palestine. Occasionally the second element was a noun, as in Baal-berith (“lord of the covenant,” Jgs. 9:4), Baal-zebub (“lord of flies,” 2 K. 1:2), and Baal-hamon (“lord of abundance or wealth,” Cant. 8:11). All these various forms of the fertility-god were collectively known as the Baalim (b^e ‘ālîm, Heb. Pl. of Baal).

The Râs Shamrah tablets give no 拉斯珊拉泥版并未表明巴力是一位当

地的神。但是，正如在希伯来语中这个词也指“拥有者”，该词在宗教中指的可能是某片特定土地或地区的神。因此崇拜巴力的形式应当和崇拜他的部落一样众多。每个地方都有自己的巴力或神圣的主，他们的名字来源于所属的城邑或地区。因此存在着巴力免（“免的巴力”，民 32:38），巴力黑们（“黑们的巴力”，士 3:3），巴力夏琐（“夏琐的巴力”，撒下 13:23），巴力毗珥（“毗珥的巴力”，民 25:3）。在其他情况下，这个名称与某位神的名字连用；因此有巴比伦的巴力马杜克（“主马杜克”），推罗的巴力麦勒卡特和巴勒斯坦北部的巴力迦得（书 11:17）。有时，复合词中的第二个语素是名词，如巴力比利土（“盟约之主”，士 9:4），巴力西卜（“苍蝇之主”，王下 1:2）和巴力哈们（“富足之主或财富之主”，歌 8:11）。这位生育之神的这些不同称谓被统称为诸巴力（b^e ‘ālîm，希伯来语中巴力的复数）。

II. Character.-The Râs Shamrah tablets, as well as the statuettes and stelae found there, have produced an abundance of information relating to the character of Baal. His character as the storm-god is expressed on a sculptured stele. In his left hand he is seen grasping a thunderbolt, the extension of which converts into a spearhead, and in his right hand he is swinging a club overhead. He dons a helmet adorned with the horns of a bull, which emphasizes his role as the supreme fertility-god of the Ugaritic religion.

II. 角色。拉斯珊拉泥版和当地出土的小雕像与石碑提供了大量关于巴力角色的信息。一块雕刻石碑体现了巴力是司暴风雨的神。他左手紧握雷电，闪电延伸至尖端时变为矛头，右手在头顶上挥舞着一根棍棒。他头戴饰有牛角的钢盔，这强调了他作为乌加里特宗教中至高的生育神这一角色。

The Râs Shamrah texts praise Baal as the god who has power over rain, wind, clouds, and therefore over fertility. His control over nature, however, fluctuates in accord with his victories or defeats in his encounters with Mot, god of death, sterility, and aridity. In emphasizing the cycle of the seasons the Râs Shamrah texts tell of Baal's repeated defeats by Mot, who brings forth scorched and barren fields. During these periods of aridity Baal's power is eclipsed, but only temporarily. Baal will be victorious again; he will defeat Mot and return to grant rich, fertile fields to his people.

拉斯珊拉文献将巴力称颂为司掌雨、风和云的神，因此他也司掌着繁殖生育。但是，他对自然的掌控力受他与摩特战争的胜败的影响，摩特是司掌死亡、贫瘠和干旱的神。拉斯珊拉文献在强调四季的交替时，提及巴力屡次被摩特打败，于是摩特带来了干旱贫瘠的土地。干旱期间，巴力的能力被超越了，但这

After one such struggle in which Baal is defeated, he is commanded by Mot to descend to the underworld. Before he does, however, he copulates with his sister-consort, the goddess Anat, to produce an heir in order to guarantee the continued fertility of the land. Here Baal appears as a bull and Anat as a heifer. The goddess Anat laments over the death of Baal and searches for him. She finds him and returns him to the heights of Sapan, buries him there, and sacrifices seventy wild oxen, seventy bulls, seventy sheep, seventy deer, seventy wild goats, and seventy asses. Anat pleads with Mot to raise Baal from death, but he refuses. During this time, of course, the rains cease falling, the sun scorches the earth, the vegetation is burned, the fields are unproductive, and the drought continues.

Finally the time arrives for Anat to bring vengeance against the evil Mot. She attacks him, cleaves him with a sword, burns him with fire, grinds him with millstones, and sows him in the fields, so that the birds will eat his remains. The aftermath of Anat's victory over Mot is the reappearance of Baal. But, even as the Babylonian Marduk had to defeat Tiâmat before regaining his supremacy over the gods, so Baal must recapture his rightful throne on Sapan, the mountain of the gods. Consequently, Baal drives Attar, the son of Asherah, from the throne and in a short but fierce battle again defeats Mot.

只是暂时的。巴力会再次获胜；他会打败摩特，将富足丰饶的土地重新赐予他的子民。

摩特在一次争战中打败巴力之后，把他贬到了冥府。巴力前往冥府前，和他的妹妹及配偶——女神阿娜特结合，生下了继承者，以保证土地永久丰饶。此时巴力化身公牛，而阿娜特化身小母牛。女神阿娜特为巴力之死感到悲痛，到处搜寻他的尸体，找到后，将尸体带到萨潘（Sapan）山顶安葬，献上了七十头野牛、七十头公牛、七十头绵羊、七十头鹿、七十头野山羊和七十头驴作为祭物。阿娜特祈求摩特将巴力复活，却遭到了摩特的拒绝。当然，这段期间没有降雨，太阳炙烤着大地，植物都被烧死了，土地颗粒无收，干旱一直在延续。

最终，阿娜特向邪恶的摩特复仇。她攻击摩特，用剑劈开他，用火烧他，用磨盘磨碎他，最后将他洒在土地上，让鸟来啄食他的遗骸。阿娜特战胜摩特之后，巴力复活了。但是，正如巴比伦的主神马杜克在重新掌控众神之前，需要打败提玛特（Tiâmat），巴力也必须重新获得他在诸神之山——萨潘的正当王位。所以，巴力将亚舍拉之子阿塔尔（Attar）赶下王座，并再次与摩特进行了短暂而激烈的争战，这次他打败了摩特。此时，土地再次变得丰饶多产。

Now the fields can once again be fertile and productive.

III. Worship.-The Canaanite religion had a strong influence on the Hebrews. During the time of Balaam and Balak, Baal was worshiped in Moab (Nu. 22:41). Saul, Jonathan, and David had sons who were named Esh-baal (1 Ch. 8:33), Merib-baal (8:34), and Beeliada (14:7). During Ahab's reign, however, the name became associated with the worship and rites of the Tyrian deity introduced into Samaria by Jezebel, and its idolatrous associations accordingly caused it to fall into disrepute. Hosea (2:16) declares that henceforth the God of Israel should no longer be called BAALI, "my Baal," and that the "names of the Baals ... shall be mentioned by name no more" (2:17).

Temples of Baal at Samaria and Jerusalem are mentioned in 1 K. 16:32 and 2 K. 11:18. They had been erected at the time when the Ahab dynasty endeavored to fuse the Yahweh worshipers and the Baal worshipers into a single people under the same national Tyrian god. Altars on which incense was burned to Baal were erected in the streets of Jerusalem (Jer. 11:13), apparently on the flat roofs of the houses (32:29). The temple of Baal contained an image of the god in the shape of a pillar (2 K. 10:26f.). In the reign of Ahab, Baal was served by 450 priests (1 K. 18:19), as well as by prophets (2 K. 10:19). Baal worshipers wore special vestments when the ritual was performed (2 K. 10:22). The ordinary offering made to the god consisted of incense (Jer. 7:9). On extraordinary occasions the sacrifice was a human being (Jer. 19:5). At times the priests worked themselves into a state of ecstasy and slashed themselves with

III. 崇拜。迦南宗教对希伯来人产生了巨大的影响。巴兰和巴勒统治时期，摩押人崇拜巴力（民 22:41）。扫罗、约拿单和大卫分别给儿子起名伊施巴力（代上 8:33）、米力巴力（代上 8:34）和比利雅大（代上 14:7）。但是，到亚哈统治时期，巴力这个名字开始与耶洗别引入撒玛利亚的推罗神崇拜和宗教仪式联系在一起，这种崇拜因与偶像有关而变得声名狼藉。何西阿（何 2:16）称，以后不应再称以色列的神为巴力（意思是“我主”），他还称，“巴力的名号……不再提起”（何 2:17）。

《列王纪上》16:32 和《列王纪下》11:18 提到了撒玛利亚和耶路撒冷的巴力庙。亚哈王朝为了将崇拜巴力和耶和華的人融为一个民族，并使他们崇拜同一个推罗神，于是建立起了这两座神庙。耶路撒冷的街道上建起了给巴力烧馨香的祭坛（耶 11:13），这显然是建在房顶的平台上（耶 32:29）。巴力庙中有巴力柱像（王下 10:26-27）。亚哈统治时期，有 450 个祭司（王上 18:19）和先知（王下 10:19）侍奉巴力。崇拜巴力的人在举行仪式穿着特殊的礼服（王下 10:22）。供奉给巴力的普通祭品是香（耶 7:9）。特殊情况下，用人当祭品（耶 19:5）。有时，祭司们令自己陷入出神的状态，并在跳舞时用刀自割（王上 18:26, 28）。

knives as they danced (1 K. 18:26, 28).

Being fully aware of the religious danger of the Baal cult to Israel, the prophet Elijah challenged Ahab, his pagan wife Jezebel, the prophets of Baal, and Baal himself (1 K. 18:20–29). The blood purge against the Baal worshipers continued under the leadership of Jehu and finally concluded after King Jehoram was killed. Jezebel was thrown out of a window to be trampled by the soldiers' horses, and the remaining Baal worshipers were slaughtered in the temple (2 K. 9f.). The cult was revived in Judah by Athaliah, Jezebel's daughter (2 Ch. 17:3; 21:6; 22:2). After Athaliah was killed the temple of Baal was razed and the chief priest, Mattan, was slain before the altar (2 K. 11:18). Ahaz made molten images for the Baalim (2 Ch. 28:2); and despite Hezekiah's reformation his son Manasseh erected altars to Baal (2 K. 21:3). During Josiah's reform Hilkiah the chief priest was commanded to remove the vessels of Baal from the temple and destroy them, as well as to depose all the idolatrous priests. Obviously, Baalism was and continued to be a pronounced threat to the Hebrews throughout their history, perhaps more in Israel than in Judah.

IV. Various Forms of Baal.-Baal-berith (Heb. ba'al b'erit; Gk. Baalberith), "covenant Baal," was worshiped at Shechem after the death of Gideon (Jgs. 8:33; 9:4). In Jgs. 9:46 "El" is substituted for "Baal," and the temple is referred to as that of El-berith, "covenant god." Whether the covenant referred to was one made between Baal and his worshipers or between the Hebrews and the Canaanites is a matter of speculation. See BAAL-BERITH.

先知以利亚充分意识到巴力崇拜对以色列的宗教危害，于是他挑战亚哈王、他的异教王妃耶洗别、侍奉巴力的先知以及巴力本身（王上 18:20-29）。耶户领导下的针对巴力崇拜者的血腥清洗一直持续，直到约兰王被杀后才终止。耶洗别被丢出窗外，被战马践踏而死，余下的巴力崇拜者被屠杀在巴力庙中（王下 9-10）。耶洗别之女亚她利雅在犹大恢复了巴力崇拜（代下 17:3; 21:6; 22:2）。亚她利雅被杀后，巴力庙被夷平，大祭司玛坦在坛前被杀（王下 11:18）。后来亚哈斯铸造了巴力的像（代下 28:2）；虽然希西家进行了改革，但是他的儿子玛拿西却为巴力筑坛（王下 21:3）。在约西亚改革时期，大祭司希勒家受命搬出神庙中的巴力容器并将其烧毁，同时还罢免了所有崇拜偶像的祭司。在整个希伯来历史中，巴力崇拜一直是希伯来人面临的显著威胁，它对以色列的威胁可能更甚于对犹大的威胁。

IV. 巴力的多种形式。巴力比利土（希伯来语：ba'al b'erit；希腊语：Baalberith），意思是“盟约之主”，基甸死后，示剑人开始崇拜巴力比利土（士 8:33; 9:4）。在《士师记》9:46 中，“埃尔”代替了“巴力”，神庙被称为埃尔比利土的庙，意思是“盟约之神”。此处的盟约究竟指的是巴力和其崇拜者立的约，还是希伯来人和迦南人立的约，这个问题仍有待研究。见 BAAL-BERITH（巴力比利土）。

Baal-gad (Heb. ba'al gād; Gk. Balagada), “Baal of good fortune,” was probably the god of a town called after his name. The place may have been located in the valley of Lebanon below Mt. Hermon (Josh. 11:17) on the northern border of the land captured by Joshua (12:7; 13:5). The god is termed simply “Gad” in Isa. 65:11, where it has been translated “Fortune” and “Destiny” by the RSV and “god of Fate” and “Fortune” by the NEB. The exact location of the town is unknown, but it may be the modern Hasbeiyah. See BAAL-GAD.

Baal-hamon (Heb. ba'al hāmōn; Gk. Beelamōn), “lord of abundance or wealth,” is mentioned only as a place where Solomon had an extremely fertile vineyard (Cant. 8:11). The site of this place is unknown.

Baal-hermon (Heb. ba'al ḥermōn; Gk. Balaermōn), “Baal of Hermon,” was perhaps a place on the northern border of Israel near or on Mt. Hermon. Apparently it was not involved in war during the conquest of Israel (Jgs. 3:3; 1 Ch. 5:23). The exact site is unknown, but some scholars believe it to be another name for Baal-gad. See BAAL-HERMON.

Baal-peor (Heb. ba'al p'ôr; Gk. Beelphegor), “Baal of Peor,” was the god of the Moabite mountains who took his name from Peor. When the Israelites dwelt in Shittim they “played the harlot with the daughters of Moab,” i.e., took part in the rituals of the pagan cult and linked themselves to Baal-peor. Because of this defection 24,000 Israelites were struck and slain by a plague (Nu. 25:1-9; Dt. 4:3; Ps. 106:28; Hos. 9:10).

巴力迦得（希伯来语：ba'al gād；希腊语：Balagada），意思是“好运之主”，可能是一座以他命名的城镇所信奉的神。该地可能位于黑门山下的黎巴嫩谷中（书 11:17），是约书亚所占之地的北部边境（书 12:7；13:5）。《以赛亚书》65:11 中将这位神简称为“Gad”（“迦得”），《修订标准译本》将该词译为“Fortune”（“运气”）和“Destiny”（“命运”）；《新英文译本》将该词译为“god of Fate”（“命运之神”）和“Fortune”（“运气”）。该城的确切位置不明，但可能是现代的哈斯拜亚（Hasbeiyah）。见 BAAL-GAD（巴力迦得）。

巴力哈们（希伯来语：ba'al hāmōn；希腊语：Beelamōn），意思是“富足或财富之主”，《圣经》中只提到这是一个地名，所罗门在该地拥有一片极为丰产的葡萄园（歌 8:11）。该地的位置不明。

巴力黑们（希伯来语：ba'al ḥermōn；希腊语：Balaermōn），意思是“黑们的巴力”，可能指的是黑门山附近（或黑门山上）以色列北部边境的一处地方。以色列占领期间，该地显然未被卷入战争（士 3:3；代上 5:23）。该地的准确位置不明，但一些学者认为它是巴力迦得的别名。见 BAAL-HERMON（巴力黑们）。

巴力毗珥（希伯来语：ba'al p'ôr；希腊语：Beelphegor），意思是“毗珥的巴力”，它是摩押山脉的神，名字取自毗珥。以色列人居住在什亭时，他们“与摩押女子行起淫乱”，即，他们参加了异教的仪式并崇拜巴力毗珥。由于他们的背道行为，两万四千名以色列人死于瘟疫（民 25:1-9；申 4:3；诗 106:28；何 9:10）。

Baal-zebub (Heb. ba'al z'êbûb; Gk. Baalmyia Theos) is generally interpreted to mean "Baal the fly god." BAAL-ZEBUB was the Philistine god at Ekron. King Ahaziah, having fallen through the lattice of his upper chamber and desiring to know whether or not he would die from his fall, sent messengers to Baal-zebub. By this act he kindled the wrath of God, and as a result he had to die (2 K. 1:1-17). Some have held that Baal-zebub was the god who could drive pesky flies away; others hold that he was able to give oracles by the buzzing of a fly.

巴力西卜（希伯来语：ba'al z'êbûb；希腊语：Baalmyia Theos）通常被译为“苍蝇神巴力”。巴力西卜（见 BAAL-ZEBUB [巴力西卜]）是以革伦的非利士人所崇拜的神。亚哈谢王从楼上的栏杆里掉下来后，想知道自己是否会因此而死，于是差使者去问巴力西卜。他的行为激起了上帝的忿怒，因此他必定要死（王下 1:1-17）。有些人认为巴力西卜是可以赶走恼人的苍蝇的神，其他人则认为他可以通过苍蝇发出的嗡嗡声做出预言。

bā'əl [Heb. ba'al—'lord, master, possessor'].

1. A descendant of Reuben, Jacob's firstborn son, and the father of Beerah, prince of the Reubenites (1 Ch. 5:5).

2. The fourth of ten sons of Jeiel, father and founder of Gibeon. His mother was Maacah, his brother Kish the father of Saul (1 Ch. 8:29f.; 9:35f., 39; cf. 1 S. 14:50f.).

BAAL 巴力、巴勒

音译：bā'əl【希伯来语：ba'al——“主、主人、拥有者”】。

1、巴力：流便的后裔，雅各的长子，流便支派的首领备拉的父亲（代上 5:5）。

2、巴力：耶利十个儿子中的第四子，耶利是基遍的父亲，也是基遍城的建造者。巴力的母亲名叫玛迦，他的兄弟基士是扫罗的父亲（代上 8:29-30；9:35-36，39；参：撒上 14:50-51）。

3. In composition, often the name of a man and not of the heathen god, e.g., Baal-hanan, a king of Edom (Gen. 36:38; 1 Ch. 1:49); also a royal prefect of the same name (1 Ch. 27:28).

4. A city of the tribe of Simeon (1 Ch. 4:33). See BAALATH-BEER.

3、巴勒：在合成词中，通常指人的名字，不指异教的神，如以东王巴勒哈南（创 36:38；代上 1:49）；有一个王室的管理人也叫巴勒哈南（代上 27:28）。

4、巴力：西缅支派分得的一座城（代上 4:33）。见 BAALATH-BEER（巴拉比珥）。

BAALAH

bā'ə-lə [Heb. ba^a*lā*—'mistress'].

1. The same as KIRIATH-JEARIM (Josh. 15:9f.; 1 Ch. 13:6).

2. Also (probably) BALAH [Heb. bālā] (Josh. 19:3); BILHAH [Heb. bilhā] (1 Ch. 4:29). A city in the Negeb of Judah (Josh. 15:29). The site is unknown.

3. Mt. Baalah (Josh. 15:11), a narrow ridge between Ekron and Jabneel marking part of the territory allotted to the tribe of Judah.

BAALAH 巴拉、辟拉

音译：bā'ə-lə【希伯来语：ba^a*lā*——“女主人”】

1、巴拉：同基列耶琳（见 KIRIATH-JEARIM [基列耶琳]，书 15:9-10；代上 13:6）。

2、巴拉、辟拉：（可能）也作 BALAH（“巴拉”）【希伯来语：bālā】（书 19:3）；BILHAH（“辟拉”）【希伯来语：bilhā】（代上 4:29）。犹大南地的一座城（书 15:29）。该城位置不明。

3、巴拉：巴拉山（书 15:11），以革伦和雅比聂之间的狭窄山脉，犹太支派分得之地境界的一部分。

BAALATH

bā'ə-lath [Heb. ba^a*lāt*; Gk. Baalath, Baalōn]. A town on the border of Dan (Josh. 19:44) associated with Eltekeh and Gibbethon. It was a store-city of Solomon mentioned with Beth-horon (1 K. 9:18; 2 Ch. 8:6), and is possibly to be identified with “Baalath which is Kirjath-jearim” (Josh. 15:9). According to Josephus (Ant. viii.6.1) it was near Gezer.

BAALATH 巴拉

音译：bā'ə-lath【希伯来语：ba^a*lāt*；希腊语：Baalath, Baalōn】。但支派边境上的一座城（书 19:44），与伊利提基和基比顿一同被提及。巴拉和伯和仑都是所罗门的积货城（王上 9:18；代下 8:6），可能等同于“巴拉就是基列耶琳”（书 15:9）。根据约瑟夫斯的记载（Ant. viii.6.1），该地位于基色附近。

bā'ə-lath-bē'ər [Heb. ba'lat b'er—'lady of the well'] (Josh. 19:8); BAAL bā'al [Heb. ba'al—'lord'] (1 Ch. 4:33). A village included in the inheritance of Simeon. It is also designated as "Ramah [high place] of the South [or Negeb]" while in 1 S. 30:27 it is described as "Ramoth [high places] of the Negeb." It must have been a prominent hill in the far south of the Negeb and near a well. The site is unknown.

BAALBEK

bal'bek [<Ba'al—'lord' + Biq'ā (valley)]. A site with impressive ruins, located in the Beqa', a large fertile area between the Lebanon and Anti-Lebanon ranges, the watershed between the Orontes flowing north and the Litani flowing south. Baalbek is at an elevation of 3800 ft. (1155 m.), the highest point of the plain.

The Beqa' was one of the large grain-producing areas for ancient Rome. The Baalbek region of the plain was especially noted for its grapes and wines. It is not surprising, then, that the "little temple" of the Baalbek acropolis was a temple to Bacchus. It remains one of the best-preserved of ancient buildings.

BAALBEK 巴勒贝克

音译: bal'bek【源于希伯来语词根 Ba'al (“主”) 和 Biq'ā (“山谷”)】。该地有著名的遗迹, 坐落于贝克, 黎巴嫩山脉和外黎巴嫩山脉之间的一片辽阔富饶的地区, 奥特龙斯河流经该地北部, 利塔尼河流经该地南部。巴勒贝克海拔 3800 英尺(1155 米), 是平原的最高点。

贝克是古罗马的大型粮食产区之一。平原上的巴勒贝克地区因出产葡萄和葡萄酒而格外有名。那么, 巴勒贝克卫城上的“小神庙”供奉着酒神巴克斯也就不足为奇了。这座神庙是保存最完好的古建筑之一。

叙利亚的古闪族人崇拜主神哈达, 他是

worshiped as chief deity Hadad, who was lord of the sky. In the Greek period this god was identified with Helios, the sun-god, and hence the Greek name for Baalbek became Heliopolis, “city of the sun.” The Romans built the magnificent temple to Jupiter at Baalbek, six of whose original fifty-four Corinthian columns still tower in lonely majesty over the ruins.

天空之神。希腊时期，哈达被等同于太阳神赫利俄斯（Helios），因此巴勒贝克的希腊名变成了黑利奥波勒斯（Heliopolis），意思是“太阳之城”。罗马人在巴勒贝克建造了宏伟的朱庇特神殿，殿中最初的 54 根哥林多圆柱中仍有 6 根孤傲地耸立在废墟之上。

Ruins of the temple of Jupiter at Baalbek. Completed ca. A.D. 60, the temple was dedicated to three gods: the Syrian storm-god Hadad, equated with Jupiter; the nature-goddess Atargatis (Venus); and a youthful vegetation-god (Hermes or Mercury). (B. K. Condit)

There have been various attempts to identify Baalbek with biblical places, e.g., Baal-gad (Josh. 11:17), or Baalath, one of the frontier cities of Solomon’s time, or Baal-hamon, referred to in Cant. 8:11. None of these identifications is certain.

The early history of Baalbek is obscure. The first certain reference comes from the Roman days when Augustus made Baalbek a Roman colony under the name of Colonia Julia Augusta Felix Heliopolitana. There is no certainty as to

学者们曾多次试图将巴勒贝克确定为《圣经》中的某处地方，如巴力迦得（书 11:17），或巴拉（所罗门时期的一座边境城邑），或巴力哈们（歌 8:11）。但其确切位置尚无定论。

who was responsible for building the Baalbek acropolis. Some authorities believe the temple to Jupiter was Nero's work; others (and more generally), that Antoninus Pius (A.D. 138–161) was responsible. Caracalla (211–217) did much building and restoration at Baalbek.

The practice of polytheism was stopped by Constantine early in the 4th cent., following his conversion. The temple to Venus in Baalbek (located outside the acropolis proper) was specifically ordered to be destroyed. One Christian tradition says that Constantine made Baalbek the site of an episcopal see. Another tradition, however, dates the first bishopric of Baalbek from near the beginning of the 2nd century. When Theodosius (379–395) became emperor, he ordered the great altar in the Baalbek acropolis torn down and had a church built in the great court in its place. The church was destroyed by the French in modern times to make possible the excavation of the court.

The Arabs came to Baalbek in A.D. 635 and transformed the acropolis into a fortified citadel. They also replaced the Greek name HELIOPOLIS by the ancient name Baalbek. The subsequent history of Baalbek is an unhappy record of conflict, sieges, and massacres. It was not until ca. 1850 that any lasting peace and stability existed there. After a long period of wars several serious earthquakes, the marvel is that the ruins are as well preserved as they are.

There are some interesting traditions regarding Baalbek. One is that Cain founded the city as a place of refuge. Another insists that Nimrod built high towers there to fight the gods. Still another

建造者不明。一些权威人士认为是尼禄建立了朱庇特神庙；其他人（更普遍）则认为神庙为安东尼·庇护（公元138-161年）所建。卡拉卡拉（公元211-217年）在巴勒贝克进行了大量的建造和修复工作。

4世纪初期，君士坦丁归信后，废除了多神崇拜的习俗。他特意下令摧毁巴勒贝克的维纳斯神庙（位于卫城之外）。一则基督教传说称，君士坦丁曾将巴勒贝克划为主教辖区。但是，另一则传说却称，约在2世纪初期，巴勒贝克才出现了第一个主教辖区。狄奥多西（公元379-395年）登基后，下令拆毁了巴勒贝克卫城的大祭坛，并在该地的大庭院上建起了一座教堂。在当代，法国人为了对庭院进行发掘，拆毁了这座教堂。

公元635年，阿拉伯人来到了巴勒贝克，并将卫城改造成一座坚固的城堡。他们还将希腊名黑利奥波勒斯（见 HELIOPOLIS [黑利奥波勒斯]）改回为古名巴勒贝克。巴勒贝克随后的历史十分悲惨，充斥着战争、围攻和大屠杀。直到约公元1850年，该地才终于迎来了持久的和平与稳定。该地遗迹在经历长年争战和几次大地震后，仍保留完好，不得不说这是一项奇迹。

一些关于巴勒贝克的传说十分有趣。其中一则传说称，该隐建立了这座城市，并将其定为逃城。另一则传说称宁录为了与诸神争战在该地建造了高塔。还有一则传说称，塞特住在巴勒贝克附

bāl-bə-rith' [Heb. ba'al b'erîṯ—'lord of covenant']. A deity also known as El-berith (Jgs. 9:46) and worshiped by the Israelites at Shechem (9:4) after Gideon's death (8:33). Albright (ARI, p. 113) suggests that this deity belongs to "the sons of Hamor" (Josh. 24:32), since the slaying of an ass (Heb. h^amôr) was an essential part of their treaties. However, the scant evidence does not permit a precise identification of this god.

BAALI

bā'ə-lī [Heb. ba^alî—‘my master’]. A generic title of deity in the ancient Near East. In Hos. 2:16f. God rejects this in favor of Ishi (“my husband”), in order to repudiate the ethos of Canaanite religion and reassert the obligations of the Sinai covenant.

BAALIM

bā'ə-lim [Heb. habb^e‘ālîm]. The collective designation for the various forms of the god BAAL. (Cf. Asherim, Ashtaroth.) The RSV has “Baals” (e.g., Jgs. 2:11, 13; 3:7; 1 S. 7:4; 2 Ch. 28:2; 33:3; Jer. 2:23; 9:14; Hos. 2:13, 17; 11:2).

BAALIS

bā'ə-lis [Heb. ba‘lîs; Gk. Belisa, Baalis, Josephus Baalimos]. King of the Ammonites, and instigator of the murder of Gedaliah (Jer. 40:14; cf. Josephus Ant. x.9.3).

BAAL-MEON

bāl-mē'on [Heb. ba‘al m^e‘ōn]. A town built by the sons Reuben (Nu. 32:38), probably identical with Beon of v. 3. As BETH-BAAL-MEON it was assigned to the tribe of Reuben (Josh. 13:17).

Meshah reports that he fortified it (cf. Moabite Stone); hence ca. 830 B.C. it was in Moabite hands. Ostrakon 27 from Samaria tells of “Baala the Baal-meonite,” indicating Israelite possession ca. 772 B.C., if this is the same city. Later it returned to Moabite rule (Jer. 48:23 [BETH-MEON]; Ezk. 25:9). It has been identified with Ma‘în, ruins about 4 mi.

BAALI 巴力

音译: bā'ə-lī【希伯来语: ba^alî——“我主”】。古代近东地区对神的一般称谓。在《何西阿书》2:16-17中,神不再被称为巴力,而应被称为伊施(“我夫”),从而否定迦南的宗教信仰,并重申西奈山上圣约中所规定的职分。

BAALIM 巴力

音译: bā'ə-lim【希伯来语: habb^e‘ālîm】。巴力神(见 BAAL[巴力])的多种形式的统称。(参:亚舍拉,亚斯她录。)《修订标准译本》译为“Baals”(“诸巴力”(如士 2:11, 13; 3:7; 撒上 7:4; 代下 28:2; 33:3; 耶 2:23; 9:14; 何 2:13, 17; 11:2)。

BAALIS 巴利斯

音译: bā'ə-lis【希伯来语: ba‘lîs; 希腊语: Belisa, Baalis, 约瑟夫斯称其为 Baalimos】。亚扪人的王,基大利被杀事件的唆使者(耶 40:14; 参: Josephus Ant. x.9.3)。

BAAL-MEON 巴力免

音译: bāl-mē'on【希伯来语: ba‘al m^e‘ōn】。流便子孙建造的城邑之一(民 32:38),可能是《民数记》32:3中的比稳。巴力免和伯巴力勉(见 BETH-BAAL-MEON [伯巴力勉])都被分给了流便支派(书 13:17)。

米沙王称他加固了这座城(参:摩押石碑);因此,约公元前830年,摩押人控制着该城。撒玛利亚出土的27号陶器碎片上刻着“巴力免人巴拉”,如果这里提到的巴力免就是《圣经》中的巴力免,那么这表明约公元前772年,以色列人占据着该城。后来,摩押人再次掌控了该城(耶 48:23, 伯米恩[见 BETH-MEON]; 结 25:9)。该城被认定

bāl-pə-rā'zim [Heb. ba'al-p'ērāšîm—'lord of breakings through'; Gk. Baal pharasein]. The place in or near the valley of Rephaim where David obtained a signal victory over the Philistines soon after he was anointed king (2 S. 5:20; 1 Ch. 14:11). The Mt. Perazim mentioned in Isa. 28:21 appears to be a reference to the same spot.

The identification is uncertain and two locations have been suggested: (1) If the valley of Rephaim is the Baqa', the open valley running SW between Jerusalem and Mar Elias, then Baal-perazim may possibly be the mountains to the east near what is called the "Hill of Evil Counsel," or Mar Elias itself. (2) It has further been suggested that the parallelism with the valley of Gibeon in Isa. 28:21 may indicate that the site is N of Jerusalem, possibly Sheikh Bedr about 3 mi. (5 km.) NW of Jerusalem, above Nephtoah.

BAAL-PERAZIM 巴力毗拉心

音译: bāl-pə-rā'zim 【希伯来语: ba'al-p'ērāšîm——“冲破重围的主”; 希腊语: Baal pharasein】。巴力毗拉心位于利乏音谷内或附近,大卫被膏立为王后不久在该地大败非利士人 (撒下 5:20; 代上 14:11)。《以赛亚书》28:21 中提到的毗拉心山似乎指的是同一个地点。

该地的位置尚不确定,现有两种推测: (1) 如果利乏音谷是拜加谷 (Baqa')——位于耶路撒冷和以利亚斯 (Mar Elias) 之间西南走向的空旷峡谷,那么巴力毗拉心可能是该谷东部不远处的“恶意之山”,或是以利亚斯。(2) 另一种推测认为,《以赛亚书》28:21 同时提到了基遍谷,这可能表明该地位于耶路撒冷以北,可能是耶路撒冷西北 3 英里 (5 公里) 处的谢赫拜德尔 (Sheikh Bedr), 地处尼弗多亚之上。

bāl-shal'i-shə [Heb. ba'al šālišā]; AV, NEB, BAAL-SHALISHA. A place near Gilgal. The report in 2 K 4:42 that the bread of the first fruits was brought to Elisha by a man from this locality, and the statement in the Talmudic text (Sanhedrin 12a) that fruits ripened more quickly here than elsewhere, may indicate that this site was in a most productive and fertile area of Palestine. Eusebius calls the place "Baithsarith" (Jerome: "Bethsalisa") and locates it 15 mi. (24 km.) N of Diospolis (Lydda). Khirbet Sirīsiā fits this description almost exactly. Gilgal lies in the plain about 4.5 mi. (7 km.) NW. Some scholars have also suggested Kefr Thilth, 3.5 mi. (5.5 km.) farther N, as a possible location, inasmuch as the Arab. tīlt corresponds exactly to the Heb. šālišā.

bāl-shal'i-shə【希伯来语：ba'al šālišā】；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 BAAL-SHALISHA（“巴力沙利沙”）。吉甲附近的一处地方。《列王纪下》4:42 中记载道，一个从巴力沙利沙来的人带着初熟大麦做的饼，送给了以利沙，《他勒目》中记载道，该地的农作物比其他地方的成熟得快，这表明该地位于巴勒斯坦最多产和最丰饶的地区之一。优西比乌称该地为“Baithsarith”（拜特撒里斯）（耶柔米：“Bethsalisa” [贝特撒里撒]），并称该地位于迪奥斯波利斯（吕大）以北 15 英里（24 公里）处。西里西艾废墟（Khirbet Sirīsiā）几乎完全符合这种描述。吉甲位于平原上西南方 4.5 英里（7 公里）处。一些学者还认为再往北 3.5 英里（5.5 公里）处的西勒斯村（Kefr Thilth）可能是巴力沙利沙，因为该地的阿拉伯语名为 tīlt，完全相当于希伯来语中的 šālišā。

BAAL-ZEBUB 巴力西卜

音译：bāl-zēb'ub【希伯来语：ba'al zēbūb——“苍蝇之主”；希腊语：

in the Philistine city of Ekron and consulted by Ahaziah king of Israel regarding his recovery from a sickness (2 K. 1:2f., 6, 16).

Since the Heb. z^ebûb means “fly” (as LXX Gk. myían; cf. Josephus Ant. ix.2.1), some scholars regard this as an oriental “Baal of flies” similar to the Greek Zeus Apomyios (“fly-averting Zeus”) or the Roman god Myagros. It is unlikely, however, that a god representing the flies that swarm around a sacrifice should be sought after for an oracle regarding the fate of a man injured in a fall. It is more probable that b’l zbl, which can mean “lord of the (heavenly) dwelling” in Ugaritic, was changed to b’l zbb to make the divine name an opprobrious epithet. The reading Beelzebub in Mt. 10:25 would then reflect the right form of the name, a wordplay on “master of the house” (Gk. oikodespótēs). Another suggestion that must be considered is that Baal-zebub is the right spelling of a Philistine word representing a god who gave oracles by the flight of a fly. An accurate identification is not yet possible.

BAAL-ZEPHON

bāl-zē’fon [Heb. ba’al š^epôn—‘lord of the north’]. A place along the route of the Exodus used to locate Pi-hahiroth (which was “in front of Baal-zephon,” Ex. 14:2, 9, or “east of Baal-zephon,” Nu. 33:7; the encampment is further described as “between Migdol and the sea”). The location of Baal-zephon has become central to the discussion of the route of the EXODUS.

Baal-myian】。非利士城邑以革伦城中所信奉的神，以色列王亚哈谢曾差人向巴力西卜询问自己的伤是否能够痊愈（王下 1:2-3, 6, 16）。

因为希伯来语 z^ebûb 的意思是“苍蝇”（类似于《七十士译本》中的希腊语 myían；参：Josephus Ant. ix.2.1），所以一些学者认为本词指东方的“苍蝇神”，类似于希腊的宙斯阿波米奥斯（“驱赶苍蝇的神”）或罗马的神麦亚格罗斯（Myagros）。但是，代表在祭品周围嗡嗡乱飞的苍蝇的神，似乎不太可能预言摔伤之人是否能够痊愈。更为可能的推测是，该词本是乌加里特语中的 b’l zbl，意思是“居住（在天上）的主”，而后人将其改为 b’l zbb，使这个神圣的名字变成了侮辱性的绰号。那么《马太福音》10:25 中的别西卜可能是这个名字的正确形式，别西卜是一个双关语，意思是“一家之主”（希腊语：oikodespótēs）。还有一种值得考虑的推测，即，巴力西卜是一个非利士语单词的正确拼写，表示一个可以通过苍蝇飞动来传达神谕的神。至今仍无法确定该词的准确意义。

BAAL-ZEPHON 巴力洗分

音译：bāl-zē’fon【希伯来语：ba’al š^epôn——“北方之主”】。以色列人出埃及路上的一个地方，用于定位比哈希录（“对着巴力洗分”，出 14:2, 9，或“在巴力洗分东面”，民 33:7；营地被进一步描述为“密夺和海的中间”）。巴力洗分的位置成为了《出埃及记》（见 EXODUS [《出埃及记》]）路线这一讨论中的中心话题。

Since the publication by O. Eissfeldt of his Baal Zaphon, Zeus Kasios und der Durchzug der Israeliten durchs Meer (1932), many scholars have adopted the view that the Israelites proceeded directly from Egypt toward Canaan by the shortest route, viz., along the Mediterranean. The account of the journey in the wilderness and to Sinai is, for any who hold this view, an intrusion into the original story for obvious theological purposes.

Baal-zephon, it is now clear, was a god associated with the sea and maritime commerce, and his name associates him with the north. In the Râs Shamrah texts špn is generally identified with Mt. Casius, N of Ugarit alongside the mouth of the Orontes. It seems logical to assume that a site to the north in Egypt would be chosen for worship of the same deity, and this is supported by a Phoenician papyrus that associates Baal-zephon with the Egyptian port of Tahpanhes (Tell Defneh). On the other hand, it is also clear that Zeus Casios, whom Eissfeldt identifies as Baal-zephon, was worshiped at several places in Egypt, not all of them on the northern boundary, including Tahpanhes and Memphis.

If we accept the biblical record of the stages of the Exodus journey as authentic, we note that the Israelites started out to worship Yahweh at the mountain of Moses' revelation experience, that they proceeded to Etham on the edge of the desert (Ex. 13:20; Nu. 33:6), then turned back (Ex. 14:2; Nu. 33:7) to Pi-hahiroth E of Baal-zephon, where Pharaoh's hosts overtook them (Ex. 14:9). The miraculous deliverance through the parted waters of the "Sea of Reeds," or "Red Sea," occurred there. In Hebrew “Sea of Reeds” can refer both to the Red Sea and to the Gulf of Aqabah; the Greek term is even more vague, referring to the Red Sea, the Arabian Sea, and the Persian Gulf. But in any event, neither term is applied to the Mediterranean Sea or any of its arms. It seems, then, that if we are to handle the biblical text—not to mention the long and unbroken tradition that stems from it—as definitive, we must locate Baal-zephon somewhere between the eastern Delta and the Wilderness of Sinai, possibly in the region of the Bitter Lakes, somewhat to the north of the route from which the Israelites had to turn back.

由于艾斯斐德 (O. Eissfeldt) 发现了 Baal Zaphon, Zeus Kasios und der Durchzug der Israeliten durchs Meer (1932) 这座作品, 许多学者都认同以色列人离开埃及后, 以最短路线直接前往迦南地, 也就是说, 沿着地中海行进。对于持有这种观点的人来说, 以色列人在旷野中和去西奈山的旅途的记载都是出于明显的神学目的而对故事原型进行的加工。

现在来看, 巴力洗分显然是一位与海洋和海上贸易有关的神, 他的名字将这位神与北方联系起来。在拉斯珊拉文献中, špn 通常指的是卡修斯山, 该山位于乌加里特北部, 靠近奥特龙斯河口。埃及北部的一处地点也信奉同一个神, 这种假设似乎符合逻辑, 一份腓尼基语的蒲草纸支持了这个观点, 该文献将巴力洗分与埃及的答比匿港 (达夫奈废丘) 联系在了一起。此外, 埃及的数个地方也都信奉宙斯卡狄奥斯 (Zeus Casios, 艾斯斐德认为他就是巴力洗分), 这些地方中包括答比匿和孟斐斯, 但它们并不都位于北部边境。

如果我们承认《圣经》中对出埃及各段旅途的记载是真实的, 那么我们会发现, 以色列人从摩西接到启示的那座山开始信奉耶和华, 之后前往旷野边缘的以倘 (出 13:20; 民 33:6), 然后又回到了巴力洗分东面的比哈希录 (出 14:2; 民 33:7), 法老的军兵在此地追上了以色列人 (出 14:9)。“芦苇海”或“红海”的海水分开, 以色列人奇迹般地获救的故事就发生在这里。在希伯来语中,“芦苇海”既可以指红海, 也可以指亚喀巴湾; 这个希腊词语的含义更加含糊, 它

可以指红海、阿拉伯海和波斯湾。但在任何情况下,这两个词都不指地中海或其分支。那么,如果我们想把《圣经》中的记载——且不说源于其中的长篇幅的完整传说——视为可信的记录,那么我们似乎必须认为巴力洗分位于三角洲东部和西奈旷野之间,可能位于苦水湖地区,在以色列人行进路线偏北方向,后来耶和华吩咐以色列人从这路线上转回。

It carries the “suggestion of picking up refuse and scraps, and in literature of plagiarism without the capacity to use correctly” (Ramsay, SPT, p. 242; cf. 243). The Athenian philosophers in calling Paul a spermológos, or “ignorant plagiarist,” meant that he retailed odds and ends of knowledge which he had picked up from others, without possessing any system of thought or skill of language, i.e., without culture. In fact it was a fairly correct description of the Athenian philosophers themselves in Paul’s day.

BABEL, TOWER OF

bā'bəl. The popular designation of the tower (Heb. migdōl) described in Gen. 11, which people migrating from the East built in the midst of their city in the plain of Shinar.

I. The Narrative.-Early in the history of mankind, as repopulation was taking place after the ravages of the Flood, a number of people settled in the "land of Shinar." Here they decided to build a city and erect a tower, "its top in the heavens." Their stated purpose was to make a name for themselves, and for this reason the project displeased Yahweh, who put an end to it by scattering the builders far and wide, with consequent diversity of languages; and in the confusion, the project remained incomplete. The narrative finally reveals the name of the city concerned: it is Babel (or Babylon), and the writer links the name with the Heb. bālal, "He confused" (v. 9).

I. 《圣经》中的叙述。人类历史早期,大洪水灭世之后,随着人口数量的增加,许多人定居在了“示拿地”。他们决定在这里建城造塔,“塔顶通天”。他们说明了建城造塔的目的是要传扬他们的名,因此,这项工程触怒了耶和华,于是祂将建造者分散在全地上,变乱他们的口音,他们就停工不造了;人们都处于混乱状态,这里就一直没能建成。叙述的最后终于提到了这座城市的名字:巴别(或巴比伦),作者将这个名字和希伯来语 bālal (“变乱”)联系在了一起(创 11:9)。

II. 故事的类型。整段故事很容易被认

dismiss the whole story as legendary, and deny any historicity in it. But this is an unscholarly procedure; the first step logically must be to endeavor to find out what the narrative means to say. Is its primary purpose to explain the diversity of languages in the world, to explain how Babylon got its name, or to account for the ruined ziggurats that were so plentiful in Mesopotamia? If any of these is the sole answer, then the story may be described as etiological, but completely unhistorical. A further possibility is that the story is basically historical, though interpreted etiological by the compiler of the stories of Genesis. See VII below.

III. Origin of Languages.-It is difficult to concede at once that the wide diversity of tongues could have originated in such a way. Certainly, at the present stage of philological inquiry, it seems hardly likely that the many languages of the world have a common origin, however remote. Even in the case of Middle Eastern tongues that do perhaps share a common origin, such as the Semitic and Hamitic language groups, it may be argued that this origin must be placed in the very earliest, prehistoric times, long before civilization reached the stage of culture and achievement basic to Gen. 11. On the other hand, the incident described is in terms of a catastrophic happening rather than the prolonged development that linguistic research presupposes.

IV. The Name Babel.-The name Babel has no connection with the Heb. bālal, "He confused." Its meaning is in fact patent in its Assyrian form, Bāb-ilī, "gate of god." The final syllable, 'el in Hebrew, is common to all Semitic languages, and means "god"; while bāb is well-known in

III. 语言的起源。我们难以立刻承认多种语言竟是这样产生的。当然, 从语言学研究的现阶段来看, 世界上的众多语言似乎不太可能拥有一个共同的起源, 无论这个起源有多么的久远。就连闪族语系和含族语系这类确实可能拥有共同起源的中东语言, 其起源也被认为应追溯至最早期的史前时代, 远远早于文明能够达到《创世记》11章中文化成就的阶段。此外, 经文中所描述的变故应该是参照了一场灾难性的事件, 而不是像语言学研究中假设的那样, 这场变故经历了漫长的发展过程。

IV. 巴别这个名字。巴别这个名字与希伯来语的 bālal ("变乱") 没有关系。它的含义从其亚述语形式 Bāb-ilī 来看, 其实很明显, 意思是 "神之门"。希伯来语中的最后一个音节 'el 在所有闪族语言中都很常见, 它的意思是 "神"; 而 bāb 在亚述语、阿拉伯语、亚兰语和

Assyrian, Arabic, Aramaic, and late Hebrew. It seems probable, then, that the narrator of Gen. 11:9 is indulging in a play on words, a verbal irony, or else relating a folk etymology, rather than attempting a serious etymology of the name. He must surely have known that such a word could not possibly derive from a root b-l-l.

V. Historical Details.-The two preceding paragraphs might seem to indicate that the story is purely etiological and totally unhistorical. Yet a number of details of the story bear the stamp of historicity. The name Shinar, for instance, was evidently well known for Babylonia in early times; cf. Gen. 10:10. It is possibly cognate with Sumer. The mention of a tower in Babylonia is certainly an authentic touch; the ziggurats of Babylonia known to archeologists are many (see X below). Above all, the reference to brick and bitumen is strikingly accurate, for Babylonia did not possess the stone that was so commonplace a building material in Palestine. Baked mud bricks and bitumen were widely used in the vast Tigris-Euphrates plain.

VI. Brevity of the Story.-It is difficult to deny the historical accuracy of some details of the story, then. But it is not easy to get a clear picture of any historical event from Gen. 11:1-9, since the narrative is so brief and condensed. There are a number of omissions that cause problems. Was the purpose of the tower religious or secular? (Note that the narrative does not state that the builders were trying to reach heaven thereby; the Hebrew idiom signifies merely that the tower was to be very high.) What exactly was the builders' sin? How did Yahweh scatter them? How did He confuse their

V. 历史细节。前两个段落似乎表明这段故事完全符合考源学，而且完全不符合史实。但是故事中的一些细节似乎确有其事。比如，示拿显然是早期巴比伦众所周知的名字；参：创 10:10。该地可能与苏美尔同源。经文中提到的巴比伦的塔显然是真实的；考古学家们知晓许多巴比伦的阶梯式庙塔（见下文的 X）。最重要的是，经文中提到的砖和石漆显然非常的精确，因为巴比伦并没有巴勒斯坦最常见的建筑材料——石头。烘烤过的泥砖和石漆在辽阔的底格里斯河和幼发拉底河平原是使用广泛的建筑材料。

VI. 故事的简洁性。那么，我们很难否认故事中某些细节的历史准确性。但由于《创世记》11:1-9的记载过于简洁扼要，很难从中了解任何历史事件的真相。其中的大量省略引起了一些问题。造塔究竟是出于宗教目的还是出于世俗目的？（注意经文记载中并没有表明修建者希望通过造塔进入天国；希伯来语中的俗语仅仅表明这座塔非常高。）建造者的罪究竟是什么？耶和华是如何将他们分散开来的呢？祂是如何变乱人类的言语的呢？我们无法找出这些问题的答案，因此只能推测作者所要描述的历史事件（如果这一事件确实存在的话）。 language? Without the answers to these questions, we can only guess what historical event, if any, was in the mind of the author.

VII. Setting.-The story, like the others of Gen. 1-11, is in a Mesopotamian setting. This is too easily obscured by such phrases as “the whole earth” (11:1); the Hebrew word is hā’āreṣ, which may mean “the land” or “the world”; and it need not be doubted that the author of this story was concerned with just his own immediate surroundings, southern Mesopotamia. This is the stage, then, and the date is probably the 3rd millennium B.C. The situation is that there is at first one language, and a political unity; the story ends with some political upheaval. If we wish to link this with known historical developments, it seems possible that it refers to one of the periodic shifts of population in the Middle East; and a distinct possibility is the influx of Semites, the Akkadians, into the territory of the Sumerian city-states during the first half of the 3rd millennium B.C. This certainly brought with it a linguistic confusion that lasted some hundreds of years, till eventually the Akkadian tongue displaced the Sumerian.

VIII. Theological Implications.-The writer viewed the builders of Babel as guilty of some sin (probably that of pride, the besetting sin of Babylon at a later date), and to him the linguistic and political confusion that ensued was Yahweh’s punishment upon them. A lofty monotheism is here displayed; it is not the local deities but Yahweh who controls the vicissitudes of Mesopotamian history. It has also been remarked that the writer exhibits a profound insight when he

VII. 故事背景。这则故事和《创世记》1-11章中的其他故事一样,以美索不达米亚为背景。“天下”(创11:1)这类短语很容易掩盖这个背景;此处使用的希伯来语是 hā’āreṣ, 它的意思可能是“地”或“世界”;但是实际上,作者显然指的是他附近的土地,即美索不达米亚南部。那么这个地区就是故事的发生地,而时间可能是公元前3千年。当时,该地起初有一种统一的语言和一个统一的政体;故事结束时,该地出现了某种政治变动。如果我们想要将这段记载与已知的历史时期联系起来,那么它可能指的是中东地区定期发生的一次人口迁移;另一种可能的事件是,公元前3千年上半叶,闪族人和阿卡德人迁入苏美尔城邦的领地。这当然会引起语言混乱,这种混乱持续了数百年,直到阿卡德语最终取代了苏美尔语。 observes the divisions caused by diversity of language.

IX. Composition of the Story.—According to source-critical theories of the composition of the Pentateuch, this story belongs to the original document (or stratum) known for convenience as J (see CRITICISM II; PENTATEUCH). The chief indications of this are the use of the name Yahweh for God, and the anthropomorphic style. A number of scholars have contended that the narrative is a conflation of two accounts (J¹ and J²?); it is suggested that in one account a city was built, in the other a tower. Another supporting argument is that the “Let us go down” of v. 7 is inconsistent with the previous remark, “And Yahweh came down,” of v. 5. When it is understood, however, that such anthropomorphisms are not in any case to be taken literally, the inconsistency is purely verbal, and needs no explaining away. The mere reference to a city and a tower together is not in itself a very secure basis for a theory of conflated accounts, and the present trend of opinion (e.g., Parrot) appears to uphold the unity of the narrative.

IX. 故事的组成。根据对《摩西五经》组成的原始文献考证理论,这个故事源自原始文献(或底层),为简单起见,称其为J底本(见CRITICISM II[批判、考证 II]; PENTATEUCH[《摩西五经》])。这种观点的主要标志为,记载中称神为耶和华,以及记载中所采用的神人同形同性论形式。一些学者坚持认为这段记载由两段文献合成(J¹和J²,尚不确定);他们认为,一段文献记载了城市的建造,另一段记载了巴别塔的建造。支持这一观点的另一个论据是,《创世记》11:7中的“我们下去”和《创世记》11:5中的“耶和华降临”言辞不一致。但是,当理解了这段记载时,就决不能根据字面意思来理解这种神人同形同性论,这两句话的不一致仅限于字面上,不需要多做解释。仅仅是提到了一座城和一座塔并不足以证明这段记载是合成的这一理论,现代学者(如Parrot)似乎倾向于认为这段记载是一致的。 without any special shape or form, as this depended upon the will of the architect and the nature of the ground upon which it was erected. The tower of Babel or Babylon, however, was a structure peculiar to Babylonia and Assyria. According to all accounts, and judging from the extant ruins of the various buildings in those countries, Babylonian towers were always rectangular, built in stages, and provided with an inclined ascent continued along each side to the top. Since religious ceremonies were performed thereon, they were generally surmounted by a chapel in which sacred objects or images were kept.

X. 考古证据。A. 阶梯式庙塔。巴比伦庙塔和迦南的塔或瞭望塔有着显著的区别。瞭望塔仅仅是一座比较高的建筑,可能没有任何特别的形状或样式,因为这取决于建筑师的意愿以及建造

These structures had, with the Babylonians, a special name: ziqurratu, apparently meaning “peak,” or the highest point of a mountain. This word was applied to the mountain height upon which Utnapishtim, the Babylonian Noah, offered sacrifices on coming forth from the ark (or ship) when the waters of the great Flood had sufficiently subsided. It has also been thought that these towers were used as observatories when the Babylonians studied the starry heavens. This is probable; but these structures were of no great height, and in the clear atmosphere of the Babylonian plains perhaps there was no real necessity to go above the surface of the earth to make their observations.

B. Location of the Tower of Babel. There has been much difference of opinion about the location of the tower of Babel. Most writers upon the subject, following the tradition handed down by the Jews and Arabs, have identified it with the great temple of Nabû (Nebo) in the city of Borsippa, now called the Birs Nimrûd

地的地形特征。但巴别塔或巴比伦塔是巴比伦和亚述特有的一种建筑。根据各种记载和巴比伦与亚述现存的各种建筑遗迹推测,巴比伦塔通常为矩形的多层建筑,四面都有通往塔顶的阶梯。由于塔顶是举行宗教仪式的地点,所以塔顶通常有一座拱顶的小神殿,里面供奉着神像或神圣的物件。

巴比伦人给这种建筑取了一个特殊的名字: ziqurratu, 显然指的是“山峰”或山的最高点。这个词用于指当大洪水完全退去之后,巴比伦神话中的挪亚——乌塔那匹兹姆从方舟(或船)中出来献祭的那个山顶。据说,巴比伦人在研究群星璀璨的天空时,将这些塔当做天文台。这是可能的;但是,这些建筑并不是特别高,巴比伦平原天气晴朗,他们或许无需登高就可以观测星空。

B. 巴别塔的位置。巴别塔的位置一直存有很大争议。许多以此为题进行创作的作者遵照犹太人和阿拉伯人世代相传的传说,认为巴别塔就是波尔西帕城(Borsippa)中的那布(尼波)大神庙,这座城现在被称为拜斯宁录(Birs Nimrûd, 被解释为 Birj Nimrûd[“宁录塔”]的错误拼写)。虽然这座建筑非常 (explained as a corruption of Birj Nimrûd, “tower of Nimrod”). This building, however, notwithstanding its importance, was to all appearance never regarded by the Babylonians as the tower of Babel, for the very good reason that it was not situated in Babylon but in Borsippa, which, though called in later times “the second Babylon,” was naturally not the original city of that name. The structure regarded by the Babylonians as the great tower of their ancient city was É-temen-an-ki, “the temple of the foundation of heaven and earth,” called by Nabopolassar and Nebuchadrezzar ziqurrat Bābilī, “the tower of Babylon”—the world-renowned temple tower dedicated to Marduk, Babylon’s chief deity, and his consort Šarpānītum.

This structure was situated in the southern portion of the city, not far from the right bank of the Euphrates, and according to Weissbach is now represented by a depression within which is the original rectangular core of unbaked brick. From its shape the Arabs have named this site Šahn, “the dish.” Within the memory of men not so very old, these remains of the great temple of Babylon towered, even in the ruined state, high above the surrounding plain. The burnt bricks of the ancient Babylonians, however, who “had brick for stone, and bitumen for mortar” (Gen. 11:3), are still good and have a commercial value; so they were all cleared out, along with whatever precious material in the way of antiquities they may have contained, to repair, it is said, the banks of the Hindīyah Canal. Certain records in the shape of conical “cylinders,” however, came into the market and were acquired by the museums of Europe and America. As these refer to the restoration of the building by Nabopolassar, and the part taken by his sons Nebuchadrezzar and Nabû-šumu-lišir in the ceremonies attending the rebuilding, it is very probable that they formed part of the spoils acquired.

重要,但巴比伦人却显然未将其视作巴别塔,最主要的原因是这座塔位于波尔西帕城而非巴比伦城,虽然波尔西帕后来被称作“第二巴比伦”,但它显然并不是最初的那座巴比伦城。巴比伦人所认为的巴比伦塔是七曜塔(É-temen-an-ki,意思是“天地之基的神塔”),那波帕拉萨尔和尼布甲尼撒称其为 ziqurrat Bābilī,意思是“巴比伦塔”,这是一座举世闻名的庙塔,其中供奉着巴比伦的主神马杜克和他的妻子萨尔帕尼通(Šarpānītum)。

C. A Babylonian Description. É-temen-an-ki is generally believed to have consisted of six square stages built upon a platform, topped with a small sanctuary. Primary sources for reconstruction of the tower include a ground plan uncovered in R. Koldewey's 1913 excavations, a third-century B.C. copy of an earlier Akkadian text, and the description of Herodotus, who visited the city ca. 460 B.C.

The pilastered walls of the É-temen-an-ki complex enclosed a large open square, 460 by 408 by 456 by 412 yds. (420 by 373 by 417 by 377 m). Surrounding the square were several small buildings variously interpreted as storehouses or shrines of miscellaneous deities.

The main feature of the complex, the ziggurat, is described by the Esagil Tablet, which indicates dimensions in terms of the suklum-cubit, as used by the Assyrian kings Sennacherib and Esarhaddon: "60.60.60 [is] the length, 60.60.60 the breadth.... To produce the reckoning of it, 3x3." The height of the kigal (tower) of É-temen-an-ki was equal to the length and to the breadth. A second, more cryptic description gives the dimensions in the larger "step-cubit." Detailed measurements of the tower are indicated in the tablet as follows: 1st story-length 90 m., breadth 90 m., height 33 m.; 2nd story-78 by 78 by 18 m.; 3rd story-60 by 60 by 6 m.; 4th story-51 by 51 by 6 m.;

C. 巴比伦人的描述。七曜塔通常被认为是建在平台上的六层方台建筑,塔顶是一座小神殿。重建该塔的主要资料包括考德威(R. Koldewey)在1913年的发掘中发现的一份平面图(这是一份较早的阿卡德语文献的3世纪时期抄本)和希罗多德的记载,他在公元前460年曾游览该城。

七曜塔的带壁柱墙围绕着一块巨大的空旷平台,其面积为460 x 408 x 456 x 412 码(420 x 373 x 417 x 377 米)。平台四周是一些小型建筑,被认为是仓库或各位神的神龛。

埃萨吉尔(Esagil)泥版中记载了庙塔的主要特征,并用亚述王西拿基立和以撒哈顿所使用的单位苏克鲁姆肘(suklum-cubit)记载了庙塔的尺寸:“长度是60.60.60,宽度是60.60.60……从而推算出庙塔的尺寸是3 x 3”。七曜塔的高度和长宽相等。第二个也是更为神秘的描述给出了用“大肘”计量的庙塔尺寸。泥版中记载的详细尺寸如下:第一层长90米,宽90米,高33米;第二层长78米,宽78米,高18米;第三层长60米,宽60米,高6米;第四层长51米,宽51米,高6米;第五层长42米,宽42米,高6米;第六层长33米,宽33米,高6米;第七层长24米,宽24米,高15米。因抄写遗漏,第六层的

5th story-42 by 42 by 6 m.; (6th story-33 by 33 by 6 m.); 7th story-24 by 24 by 15 m. Details of the 6th story, omitted by scribal error, are conjectural.

It cannot be said that it was by any means a beautiful structure, but there was probably some symbolism in its measurements. Although various artistic representations have been proposed, in appearance it probably resembled (except the decoration) the temple tower of Calah as restored in the frontispiece to Layard's Monuments of Nineveh (1st series), in which a step-pyramid with a similarly high basement-stage is shown.

With this detailed description the account in Herodotus (i.181ff.) agrees. He states that it was a temple square in form, two furlongs (1213 ft., 370 m.) each way, in the midst of which was built a solid tower a furlong square (nearly 607 ft., 185 m.). This, however, must have been the platform, which, with the six stages and the chapel on the top, would make up the total of eight stages of which Herodotus speaks. Parrot, E. Unger, and others so interpret the Esagil Tablet. The ascent by which the top was reached he describes as running "outside round about all the towers"—wording which suggests, though not necessarily, that it was spiral—i.e., one had to walk round the structure seven times to reach the top. Representations on Babylonian boundary-stones suggest that this view would be correct, though a symmetrical arrangement of inclined paths might have been constructed which would have greatly improved the design. At the middle of the ascent, Herodotus says, there was a stopping-place with seats to rest upon, which rather favors this idea. At the top of the last tower there was a large cell, and in the cell a large couch was laid, well covered, and by it a golden table. There was no image there, nor did any human being spend the night there, except only a woman of the natives of the place chosen by the god, "as say the Chaldeans who are the priests of this god." These men told Herodotus that the god often came to the cell and rested upon the couch; "but," he adds, "I do not believe them." After mentioning parallels to this at Egyptian Thebes and Patara in Lycia, he goes on to speak of another cell below, wherein was a great image of Zeus (Bel/Marduk) sitting, with a footstool and a large table, all of gold, and weighing no less than 800 talents. Outside of this cell was an altar to the god, made of gold; and also another altar, whereon full grown animals were sacrificed, the golden altar being for sucklings only. The Chaldeans also told him that there was, in the precincts of the building, a statue 12 cubits (5.5 m.) high, and of solid gold. Darius I Hystaspes desired to take possession of this valuable object, but did not venture. His son Xerxes, however, was not so considerate of the feelings of the people and the priesthood, for he also killed the priest when the latter forbade him to meddle with it.

庙塔不能说是一座美丽的建筑，但是它的尺寸可能有某些象征含义。虽然关于它的艺术象征有多种推测，但从外观上看，它（除了装饰）可能类似于莱亚德在 Monuments of Nineveh（第一系列）卷首插图上展示的迦拉庙塔，这是一座阶梯式金字塔，同样有较高的基础平台。

希罗多德（i.181 起）的详细记载符合上文中的描述。他称，七曜塔是一座正方形的神庙，边长 2 弗隆（1214 英尺，370 米），庙塔中间是一座 1 弗隆见方的坚固的塔（约 607 英尺，185 米）。但是，这一定指的是基础平台，上面还有六层平台，顶端有神殿，那么希罗多德所说的庙塔一共应有八层。这是帕洛特、昂格尔（E. Unger）等其他学者对埃萨吉尔泥版上记载的解释。希罗多德将通往塔顶的阶梯描述为“环绕各级塔的阶梯”，这些记载或许表明（不大肯定）这些阶梯是盘旋式的——即，有人想上塔顶时，需要绕塔转七圈。巴比伦的界石证实了这个观点，但是庙塔很可能建有对称的阶梯，这会极大改善庙塔的设计。希罗多德称，在阶梯的中间有休息处，那里有椅子供人休息，这更加证实了上述观点。最后一级塔的塔顶有一座大的殿堂，殿中有一个遮盖好的大躺椅，旁边有一张金桌子。殿中没有神像，除了神在当地人里选出的女子，没人在殿中过夜，“正如侍奉神的迦勒底祭司所说”。这些祭司告诉希罗多德，神经常来到殿内，在躺椅上休息；他补充道“但是，我并不相信他们”。他提到了埃及的底比斯和吕西亚的帕大喇

能与此地相对比的神庙之后,谈到了另一个位于下方的殿堂,其中供奉着宙斯(巴力或马杜克)的巨大坐像,殿中还有全部由纯金打造的脚凳和大桌子,重量不低于 800 他连得。殿外是金子铸造的祭坛,仅用来向神献幼年祭牲;另外一座祭坛则用来献成年祭牲。迦勒底人还告诉他,建筑附近有一座 12 肘(5.5 米)高的纯金雕像。大流士一世舒士他斯伯想要占有这座贵重的雕像,但他没有贸然采取行动。然而,他的儿子薛西斯却不顾及百姓和祭司的感受,当祭司阻止他碰触神像时,他还杀死了这个祭司。

Model of the ziggurat at Babylon, based on E. Unger's interpretation of the Esagil Tablet (Oriental Institute, University of Chicago)

Koldewey's excavations reveal the remarkable accuracy of the Esagil Tablet as well as Herodotus' account. Located in a large rectangular enclosure with external dimensions 500 by 450 yds. (460 by 410 m.) the square foundation of the tower measures approximately 298 ft. (91 m.) on each face. The tower was formed with a core of sun-dried bricks ensheathed with an exterior shell (49 ft. [15 m.] thick) of baked bricks. Three staircases, two against the south face and the third centrally located, at right angles to the façade, provided access to the upper stories from ground level. Extrapolation from archeological data supports the height suggested by the literary evidence, 295 to 300 ft. (90 to 92 m.).

XI. Destruction of the Tower.—There is a Jewish tradition that the tower was split through to its foundation by fire that fell from heaven—suggested probably by the condition of the tower at “second Babylon,” i.e., the Birs Nimrûd. Another tradition, recorded by Eusebius (Praep. ev. ix; Chronicon 13; Chronicon-Syncellus 44) says it was blown down by the winds: “but when it approached the heavens, the winds assisted the gods, and overturned the work upon its contrivers; and the gods introduced a diversity of tongues among men, who, until that time, had all spoken the same language.”

That the building of the city would have been stopped when the confusion of tongues took place is natural—the departure of the greater part of the inhabitants made this inevitable. When the population increased again, the building of

图为根据昂格尔对埃萨吉尔泥版的解读还原的巴比伦庙塔模型。(芝加哥大学东方研究院)

考德威的发掘证明埃萨吉尔泥版和希罗多德的记载是非常准确的。塔的正方形基础平台边长为 298 英尺 (91 米)，平台之外是巨大的矩形围墙，其外部尺寸为 500 x 450 码 (460 x 410 米)。塔基由晒干的砖砌成，外层则由烘干的砖 (49 英尺 [15 米] 厚) 砌成。有三座楼梯连接着地面和上层平台，其中两座位于南面，第三座位于正面，它与建筑正面、地面构成了一个直角三角形。考古学数据推测支持了文献记录中提到的庙塔高度，即 295-300 英尺 (90-92 米)。

XI. 巴别塔的倾倒。一则犹太传说称，从天上降下的火将巴别塔彻底劈开，这可能是根据“第二巴比伦”的塔——拜斯宁录的情况作出的推测。优西比乌记载的另一则传说 (Praep. ev. ix; Chronicon 13; Chronicon-Syncellus 44) 称风吹倒了巴比伦塔：“但是当塔快要达到天上时，诸神吹起了狂风，将塔吹倒，压在建筑者的身上；神扰乱了人类的言语，在那之前，人类说同一种语言”。

当语言变得混乱时，城邑的修建工作自然会停止，这是绝大部分居民离开的必然结果。当人口再次增长时，他们开始继续修造城邑，并最终建成了当时世界上最大的城——巴比伦。虽然存在着关于巴别塔倾倒的传说，但实际上巴别塔

the city continued, with the result that Babylon ultimately became the greatest city of the then known world. The tower, notwithstanding the traditions concerning its destruction, remained; and when, as happened from time to time, its condition became ruinous, some energetic Babylonian king would restore it. Nabopolassar (625–605) and Nebuchadrezzar II (604–562) refurbished the tower, covering the upper temple with blue enameled bricks. Alexander and Philip of Macedon began clearing away the rubbish to rebuild the great temple of Zeus Belos (Bel/Marduk) connected with it, and there is hardly any doubt that the tower would have been restored likewise; but the untimely death of the former, and the deficient mental caliber of the latter for the ruling of a great empire, put an end to the work. The tower therefore remained unrepaired—“The tower was exceedingly tall. The third part of it sank down into the ground, a second third was burned down, and the remaining third was standing until the time of the destruction of Babylon” (Rabbi Yehanan, Sanhedrin 109a).

仍然存在着; 在某些时期, 庙塔会变得破败, 这时, 一些精力充沛的巴比伦王就会进行修复。那波帕拉萨尔(公元前 625-605 年)和尼布甲尼撒二世(公元前 604-562 年)翻新了巴别塔, 他们用蓝色的涂釉砖覆盖了上层的神庙。后来, 马其顿的亚历山大和腓力开始清理巴别塔废墟, 重建与之相连的宙斯巴勒斯(巴力或马杜克)大神庙, 他们显然还想修复巴别塔; 但是, 亚历山大英年早逝, 腓力又才干不足, 无力统治庞大的帝国, 于是修复工作被迫停止了。因此巴别塔未被修复完成——“塔极其高。塔的三分之一陷入了地下, 三分之一被烧毁, 余下的三分之一一直存留到巴比伦覆灭”(Rabbi Yehanan, Sanhedrin 109a)。

I. Location.-Babylon lay on the bank of the Euphrates in the land of Shinar (Gen. 10:10), in the northern area of Babylonia (now southern Iraq) called Accad (as opposed to the southern area called Sumer). Its ruins, covering 2100 acres (890 hectares), lie about 50 mi. (80 km.) S of Baghdad and 5 mi. (8 km.) N of Hillah. The ancient site is now marked by the mounds of Bâbil to the north, Qaşr (“the Citadel”) in the center, and Merkes, ‘Amran Ibn ‘Alī Şahñ, and Homera to the south. The high water and long flooding of the whole area render the earlier and

I. 地理位置。巴比伦城地处幼发拉底河河岸上的示拿地(创 10:10), 位于巴比伦尼亚北部(现在的伊拉克南部地区)的亚甲地区(巴比伦尼亚的南部地区被称为苏美尔)。巴比伦城废墟占地 2100 英亩(890 公顷), 位于巴格达以南 50 英里(80 公里), 希拉以北 5 英里(8 公里)处。现今, 这座古城废墟的标志为北面的巴比伦土丘、中部的城堡(Qaşr)和南面的市区(Merkes)、马杜克神庙(‘Amran Ibn ‘Alī Şahñ)与霍美拉丘(Homera)。整片地区水位较高, 且长期经洪水冲刷, 因此较早时期和下游的废墟已经无法见到了。 lower ruins inaccessible.

II. Name.-The oldest attested extrabiblical name is the Sumerian ká-dingir-ki (usually written ká-dingir-ra, “gate of god”). This may have been a translation of the more commonly used later Babylonian Bāb-ilī, of which an etymology based on Heb. bālal, “confused,” is given in Gen 11:9. Throughout the OT and NT, Babylon stands theologically for the community that is anti-God. Rarely from 2100 B.C. and frequently in the 7th cent. Babylon is called TIN.TIR.KI, “wood (trees) of life,” and from the latter period also. E.KI, “canal zone (?)” Other names applied to at least part of the city were ŠU.AN.NA, “hand of heaven” or “high-walled (?)” and the Heb. šēšaḳ (Jer. 25:26; 51:41), which is usually interpreted as a coded form (ATHBASH) by which š = b, etc. The proposed equation with ŠEŠ.KU in a late king list has been questioned, since this could be read equally well as (É).URU.KU.

III. Early History.-A. Foundation. Genesis ascribes the foundation of the city to Nimrod prior to his building of Erech (ancient Uruk, modern Warka) and Accad (Agade), which can be dated to the 4th and 3rd millennia B.C. respectively. The earliest written reference extant is by Šar-kali-šarri of Agade ca. 2250 B.C., who claimed to have (re)built the temple of Anunītum and carried out other restorations, thus indicating an earlier foundation. A later omen text states that Sargon (Šarrukīn I) of Agade (ca. 2300) had plundered the city.

B. Old Babylonian Period. Šulgi of Ur captured Babylon and placed there his

II. 名称。经证实，在《圣经》之外的巴比伦城的名称中，最古老的是苏美尔语的 ká-dingir-ki（通常写作 ká-dingir-ra，意思是“神之门”）。这可能是后来更常用的巴比伦语 Bāb-ilī 的翻译，Bāb-ilī 的源自《创世记》11:9 中的希伯来语 bālal，意思是“变乱”。纵观《旧约》和《新约》，从神学意义上讲，巴比伦代表着不信神的百姓。公元前 7 世纪，巴比伦经常被称为 TIN.TIR.KI，意思是“生命之木(树)”，后来，这在公元前 2100 年比较罕见，巴比伦城还被称为 E.KI，意思是“河道之地(不确定)”。巴比伦城或至少城中部分地区的其他名称包括 ŠU.AN.NA，意思是“天堂之手”或“建有高墙的(不确定)”，以及希伯来语的 šēšaḳ (示沙克，耶 25:26; 51:41)，这个希伯来语通常被解释为一种加密文字(见 ATHBASH[亚巴殊])，其中 š 相当于 b，等等。一种观点认为 šēšaḳ 相当于后期国王列表中的 ŠEŠ.KU，这种观点受到了质疑，因为将它读作 (É).URU.KU 也行得通。

III. 早期历史。A. *建立。*根据《创世记》中的记载，宁录在建造以力(古时的乌鲁克城，现代的瓦尔卡)和亚甲(阿卡德)之前，先建造了巴比伦城，以力和亚甲的建造时间分别为公元前 4000 年和公元前 3000 年。现存最早的文字记录是亚甲的萨尔卡里萨利(Šar-kali-šarri)于约公元前 2250 年写下的，他自称修建(或重建)了阿努尼图姆(Anunītum)神庙，并实施了其他修复工作，这表明巴比伦城的建立时期要更早。后来的一篇预言中提到亚甲的撒珥根(沙鲁金一世，约公元前 2300 年)曾掠夺过巴比伦城。

B. *古巴比伦时期。*吾珥的舒尔吉占领了巴比伦城，让伊图尔伊录(Itur-ilu)

governor (ensi), Itur-ilu, a practice followed by his successors in the Ur III Dynasty (ca. 2150–2050 B.C.). Thereafter invading Semites, the Amorites of the 1st Dynasty of Babylon, took over the city. Their first ruler Sumu-abum restored the city wall. Though few remains of this time survive the inundation of the river, Hammurabi in the Prologue to his laws (ca. 1750) recalls how he had maintained Esagila (the temple of Marduk), which by the time of his reign was the center of a powerful regime with wide influence. Samsu-iluna enlarged the city, but already in his reign the Kassites were pressing in from the northeast hills. It actually fell in 1595 to Hittite raiders under Mursilis I, who removed the statue of Marduk and his consort Šarpānītum to Ḫana. (Possession of a city's gods [their statues] symbolized control.) The city changed hands frequently under the Kassites (Meli-Šipak [Meli-Šiḫu] and Marduk-aplaidina I) amid the rivalry of the local tribes. Agumkakrime recovered the captive statues, but that of Marduk was again removed at the sack of the city by Tukulti-Ninurta I of Assyria (1250) and by the Elamite Kudur-Naḫḫunte II (1176).

C. Middle Babylonian Period. The recovery of Marduk's statue was the crowning achievement of Nebuchadrezzar I (1124–1103), marking an end to foreign domination of the city. He restored it to Esagila amid much public rejoicing and refurbished the cult places. Although Babylon retained its independence despite the pressure of the western tribes, this required help from the Assyrians, one of whom, Adad-apal-iddina, was given the throne (1067–1046). By the following century, however, the tribesmen held the suburbs and even prevented the celebration of the New Year Festival by Nabû-mukîn-apli of the 8th Babylonian Dynasty.

担任那里的总督 (ensi), 随后的吾珥第三王朝 (约公元前 2150-2050 年) 的继任者们遵循了这个惯例。自那以后, 侵略者闪族人——巴比伦第一王朝的亚摩利人占领了这座城。他们的第一位统治者苏姆·阿布姆 (Sumu-abum) 修复了城墙。虽然当洪水过后, 遗迹大多被毁, 但是汉谟拉比在其法典 (约公元前 1750 年) 的序言中回顾了苏姆阿布姆如何修缮埃萨吉拉 (马杜克神庙), 在他统治时期, 埃萨吉拉是强大政权的中心, 拥有极大的影响力。萨姆苏·伊路那 (Samsu-iluna) 扩建了城区, 但是在他统治时期, 喀西特人就已经开始从东北的山地侵入巴比伦。实际上, 公元前 1595 年, 穆尔西里一世统治时期, 赫人曾占领巴比伦城, 穆尔西里将马杜克及其妻子萨尔帕尼通的神像转移到了哈纳 (Ḫana)。(因为获得城市信奉的神 [的神像] 就意味着对该城的控制。) 喀西特人 (梅里·西巴克 [梅里·希户] 和 马杜克·阿普拉地那一世 [Marduk-aplaidina I]) 统治时, 当地部落之间经常争战, 巴比伦城经常易主。阿贡卡克里默 (Agumkakrime) 修复了掠夺来的神像, 但是亚述的图库尔提·尼努尔塔一世 (Tukulti-Ninurta I) (公元前 1250 年) 和以拦人库杜尔·奈亨台二世 (Kudur-Naḫḫunte II) (公元前 1176 年) 掠夺巴比伦城时, 马杜克神像被再次转移。

C. 中巴比伦时期。尼布甲尼撒一世 (公元前 1124-1103 年) 的最大成就便是修复了马杜克神像, 这标志着外来统治的终结。在民众的欢呼中, 他将神像重新安放到埃萨吉拉, 并翻新了举行仪式的场所。虽然巴比伦在西方部落的压力下保持了独立, 但这需要亚述人的帮助, 其中之一便是被立为王的阿达德·阿帕尔·伊迪纳 (Adad-apal-iddina, 公元前 1067-1046 年)。但是, 在随后的一个世纪里, 西方部落占据了巴比伦城郊, 甚至阻止了巴比伦第八王朝的那布·穆

D. Neo-Assyrian Supremacy. Shalmaneser III of Assyria was called to intervene in the strife that broke out on the death of Nabû-apla-iddina in 852 B.C. He defeated the rebels, entered Babylon, treated the inhabitants with respect, and offered sacrifices in Marduk's temple. This action inaugurated a new period of Assyrian intervention in the southern capital, with the result, according to Herodotus, that Sammu-ramat (Semiramis), mother of Adadnirari III, carried out restoration work there.

The citizens' independent spirit was never long suppressed; and Arameans from the southern tribes seized the city, made Erîba-Marduk their leader, and refused to pay allegiance to the northern kingdom. To remedy this Tiglath-pileser III began a series of campaigns to recover control. First he won over the tribe of Puqûdu (Pekod of Jer. 50:21; Ezk. 23:23), who lived to the northeast, leaving Nabonassar (Nabû-nāšir) as governor of Babylon to pursue a pro-Assyrian policy until his death in 734 B.C., whereupon Ukîn-zēr of the Amukkani tribe seized the city.

The Assyrians then tried to gain the support of the other tribal chiefs, including Marduk-apla-iddina (MERODACH-BALADAN of the OT) of Bît-Yakin, who, however, took over the city on the death of Tiglath-pileser's successor Shalmaneser V in 721. He proclaimed the city's independence and maintained it for ten years. Either toward

金·阿普利 (Nabû-mukîn-apli) 举行新年庆典。

D. 新亚述霸权。公元前 852 年, 那普·阿普拉·伊地那 (Nabû-apla-iddina) 过世, 巴比伦爆发了冲突, 于是巴比伦人向亚述王撒幔以色列三世求援。他击败了叛军, 进入巴比伦城, 善待城中居民并在马杜克神庙献祭。这一行为开启了亚述介入南方都城统治的新时期, 根据希罗多德的记载, 亚达尼拉利三世的母亲萨穆·拉玛特 (塞米勒米斯女王) 由此开始修复巴比伦城。

巴比伦人的独立精神从不接受长期压制; 南方部落中的亚兰人控制了巴比伦城, 推举伊利巴·马杜克 (Erîba-Marduk) 为首领, 拒绝效忠北方的王国。为平定叛乱并恢复统治, 提革拉毗列色三世发动了一系列战役。他首先击败了居住在东北的普古杜 (比割, 耶 50:21; 结 23:23) 部落, 任命那布·那西尔 (Nabû-nāšir) 为巴比伦总督, 他继续实施前亚述的政策, 直至公元前 734 年去世, 随后阿姆卡尼 (Amukkani) 部落的乌金泽 (Ukîn-zēr) 控制了巴比伦城。

亚述人随后试图争取其他部落首领的支持, 其中包括比特亚金 (Bît-Yakin) 的马杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳 (Marduk-apla-iddina, 《旧约》中的比罗达巴拉但 [见 MERODACH-BALADAN]), 但是, 公元前 721 年, 提革拉毗列色的继任者撒幔以色列五世过世之后, 伊迪纳夺取了巴比伦城。他宣布巴比伦城独立, 这种独立状

the end of this period or more probably in 703 B.C., when he again held Babylon, Merodach-baladan sought Hezekiah's help against the Assyrians (2 K. 20:12-17). Sargon II recaptured the city in 710 and celebrated the New Year festival by taking the hands of Marduk/Bēl and the title "viceroy of Marduk."

To revenge Merodach-baladan's later seizure of the capital, Sennacherib marched south to remove the traitor Bēl-ibni and set his own son Aššur-nadin-šumi on the throne. The latter was soon ousted, however, by local revolutionaries, who in turn were defeated by Sennacherib in 689 when he besieged the city for nine months, sacked Babylon, and removed the statue of Marduk and some of the sacred soil to Nineveh. Though this act brought peace, it broke any trust the citizens ever had in the Assyrians, despite Esarhaddon's efforts to restore the decrepit town. Esarhaddon claimed to have revoked his father's decree imposing "seventy years of desolation upon the city" by reversing the Babylonian numerals for 70 to make them 11. Many refugees returned, and the city again became a prosperous center under his son Šamaš-šum-ukīn (669-648). He was isolated, however, by the surrounding tribes, who eventually won him over to their cause. His twin brother Ashurbanipal of Assyria laid siege to the city, which fell after four years of great hardship. Šamaš-šum-ukīn died in the fire that destroyed his palace and the citadel.

E. Chaldean Rulers. Reconstruction work began under the Chaldean Nabopolassar (Nabû-apla-ušur, 626-605 B.C.), who was elected king following a popular revolt after the death of the Assyrian nominee

态持续了十年。这一时期末期，或大概在公元前 703 年，比罗达巴拉但再次控制了巴比伦城，他向希西家求援，对抗亚述人（王下 20:12-17）。公元前 710 年，撒珥根二世再次控制巴比伦城，夺回马杜克（贝尔）神像，并自称“马杜克总督”，以此庆祝新年。

比罗达巴拉但再次控制巴比伦城之后，西拿基立为了向他复仇，于是向南进军，杀死了叛徒贝尔·伊比尼（Bēl-ibni），然后立自己的儿子亚述·纳丁·舒米（Aššur-nadin-šumi）为王。但是当地的革命派很快便推翻了舒米的统治，公元前 689 年，西拿基立围攻巴比伦城 9 个月，并打败了革命派，他洗劫了巴比伦，将马杜克神像和一些圣土转移到了尼尼微。虽然这一事件带来了和平，而且以撒哈顿努力修复这座破败的城邑，但是巴比伦城的市民已经不再相信亚述人。以撒哈顿的父亲下达法令让“城市荒芜七十年”，以撒哈顿声称他取消了这条法令，他将巴比伦数字 70 颠倒，变成了 11。许多难民回到城中，在以撒哈顿之子沙马舒姆金（公元前 669-648 年）的统治下，巴比伦城再次成为了繁荣的中心。但是，周围的部落将沙马舒姆金孤立起来，并最终逼迫他一同起义。他的孪生兄弟亚述王亚述巴尼帕围攻巴比伦城四年后，最终攻取了该城。沙马舒姆金自焚而死，这场大火烧毁了他的宫殿和城堡。

*E. 迦勒底统治者。*迦勒底王那波帕拉萨尔（Nabû-apla-ušur，公元前 626-605 年）开始了重建工作，亚述王位候选人坎达拉努死后，民众选举那波帕拉萨尔做王。精明能干的那波帕拉萨尔之子尼

Kandalanu. His energetic son Nebuchadrezzar (II) with his queen Nitocris restored not only the political prestige of Babylonia, which for a time dominated the whole of the former Assyrian empire, but also the capital city, to which he brought the spoils of war including the treasures of Jerusalem and Judah (2 K 25:13–17). Texts dated to this reign list Jehoiachin king of Judah (Ya'ukin māt Yaḥudu), his five sons, and Judean craftsmen among recipients of corn and oil from the king's stores. It is to the city of this period, one of the glories of the ancient world, that the extant texts and archeological remains bear witness. Nabonidus (555–539 B.C.) continued to care for the temples of the city, though he spent ten years in Arabia, leaving control of local affairs in the hands of his son and co-regent Belshazzar, who died when the city fell to the Persians in 539 (Dnl. 5:30).

IV. Description.-A. Walls. Babylon lay in a plain, encircled by double walls. The inner rampart (dūru), called “Imgur-Enlil,” was constructed of mud brick 6.50 m. (21 ft.) thick. It had large towers at intervals of 18 m. (60 ft.) jutting out about 3.5 and .75 m. (11.5 and 2.5 ft.) and rising to 10–18 m. (30–60 ft.). It has been estimated that there were at least a hundred of these. The line may well have followed that laid down by Sumu-abum of the 1st Dynasty. Over 7 m. (23 ft.) away lay the lower and double outer wall (šalḫu) called Nimit-Enlil, 3.7 m (12 ft) thick, giving a total defense depth of 17.4 m. (57 ft.). Twenty m. (65 ft.) outside these walls lay a moat, widest to the east and linked with the Euphrates to the north and south of the city, thus assuring both river passage and water supply and a flood defense in time of war. The quay wall nearest the city was of burnt brick set in bitumen, and this too had observation towers. The outermost wall of the moat was of beaten earth. The inner area, including Babylon W of the river, which remains unexcavated, measured 8.35 sq. km. (3.2 sq. mi.) and the eastern city alone encompassed an area of about 2.25 sq. km. (.87 sq. mi.). Nebuchadrezzar and, according to Herodotus, his queen Nitocris made significant additions to the defenses begun by his father. These now incorporated his “Summer Palace” (Bâbīl) 2 km. (1.2 mi.) to the north. He also added an enlarged northern citadel and enclosed a large area of the plain with yet a third wall, forming an “armed camp” in which the surrounding population could take refuge in time of war. This ran 250 m. (820 ft.) S of the inner walls and projected about 1.5 km. (1 mi.) beyond the earlier wall systems.

布甲尼撒（二世）和他的皇后尼托克里斯，不仅恢复了巴比伦王国的政治声望，还一度控制整个亚述帝国，并且修复了都城，他们将包括耶路撒冷和犹太财宝在内的战利品都带到了巴比伦城（王下 25:13-17）。这一时期刻在王室仓库中装玉米和油的容器的文献记载了犹太王约雅斤（Ya'ukin māt Yaḥudu）、他的五个儿子和犹太工匠。现存的文献和考古遗迹所见证的，正是这一时期的巴比伦，它是古代世界上最辉煌、最繁华的城市之一。拿波尼度（公元前 555-539 年）虽然在阿拉伯停留十年，但他仍然继续修复巴比伦城中的神庙，他将当地政务留给他的儿子和摄政王伯沙撒处理，公元前 539 年，波斯人占领巴比伦城时，伯沙撒死去（但 5:30）。

IV. 描述。A. 城墙。巴比伦城位于平原之上，建有内外两道城墙。内墙（dūru）被称为“伊穆尔-恩利尔”（Imgur-Enlil），由泥砖建成，厚 6.5 米（21 英尺）。内墙每隔 18 米（60 英尺）便建有一座卫塔，塔比墙面突出了约 3.5 米和 0.75 米（11.5 英尺和 2.5 英尺），高度约为 10 至 18 米（30 至 60 英尺）。据估计，内墙上至少有 100 座卫塔。内墙可能很好地遵循了第一王朝的苏姆阿布姆所定下的边线。内墙之外 7 米（23 英尺）是较矮的双重外墙（šalḫu），外墙被称为“尼米特-恩利尔”（Nimit-Enlil），厚 3.7 米（12 英尺），总防御深度为 17.4 米（57 英尺）。外墙之外 20 米（65 英尺）是一条护城河，河的东部最宽，北连幼发拉底河，南连巴比伦城，在战争时期，护城河既可以保证河路通畅，又可以保证水源供应，还可以地地洪水。据巴比伦城最近的岸墙由烧制的泥砖和石漆建成，岸墙同样

Herodotus, who describes the city and walls some seventy years after the damage done by Xerxes in 478 B.C. (i.178–187), appears to exaggerate the size. He says that the height of the walls, beyond the moat, was 200 cubits (about 90 m. or 300 ft.) by 50 royal cubits thick (= 87 ft., 26.5 m.). The width was sufficient for a chariot and four horses to pass along them. Moreover, the estimate of the total length of the walls as 480 stades (about 95 km. or 60 mi.) is difficult to reconcile with the archeological evidence, though the figures are close to those given by Ctesias (300 furlongs = 68 km. or 42 mi., with the walls 300 ft. [90 m.] high and 60, 40, and 20 furlongs in length respectively). Herodotus viewed the city as a rectangle. Unfortunately no excavations to confirm this have yet been possible West of the river.

建有瞭望塔。护城河外的最外层城墙由夯实的泥土建成。包括河西区域在内的巴比伦内城区仍未经发掘，其面积为 8.35 平方公里 (3.2 平方英里)，东部城区的面积约为 2.25 平方公里 (0.87 平方英里)。据希罗多德记载，尼布甲尼撒和其皇后尼托克里斯加固了他父亲开始建造的防御工事。这些防御工事现在并入了他所修建的“夏宫” (Bâbīl)，夏宫位于城北 2 公里 (1.2 英里处)。他还修建了一座巨大的北部城堡，并用第三座城墙圈起了平原的一大片区域，从而形成了一片“武装营地”，战争时期，附近的人群可以躲入营地避难。这片营地位于内墙以南 250 米 (820 英尺) 处，在早期城墙的基础上，又将保护面积扩建了 1.5 公里 (1 英里)。

公元前 478 年，薛西斯王毁坏了巴比伦城，这之后约 70 年，希罗多德描述了巴比伦城和城墙 (i.178–187)，但他似乎夸大了尺寸。他称护城河外的城墙高 200 肘 (约 90 米或 300 英尺)，厚 50 皇室肘 (相当于 87 英尺，26.5 米)。城墙的宽度足以供一辆战车和四匹马并行。此外，城墙全长约有 480 斯塔德 (约 95 公里或 60 英里)，虽然这些数据与克特西亚斯的记载类似 (300 弗隆相当于 68 公里或 42 英里，城墙高 300 英尺 [90 米]，长度分别为 60、40 和 20 弗隆)，但却与考古证据不符。希罗多德认为巴比伦城是矩形的。遗憾的是，河西并没有发现足以证明上文描述的考古证据。

B. Gates. Babylonian inscriptions give the names of the eight major entrances to the city itself, but of these only four have been excavated. The southwest gate of Uraš was probably typical in general plan. The approach was by a dam across the moat through a wide gateway in the outer wall with recessed tower chambers and thence by a deep gateway in the inner wall. The other gate in the south wall was named after Enlil, since it faced southeasterly toward his sanctuary at Nippur. In the east wall were the gate called "Marduk is merciful to his friend" and, S of this, the Zababa gate facing Kish. In the north wall the Ishtar gate was specially decorated and renovated by Nebuchadrezzar at the time of his enlargement of the citadel.

B. 城门。巴比伦铭文中记载了巴比伦城的八大主城门，但迄今为止，仅挖掘出了四座。从总体规划上看，西南的乌拉斯（Uraš）门可能比较典型。沿着横跨护城河的水坝行走，先穿过外墙上嵌入塔室的宽敞门道，再穿过内墙上的较深门道，便可以进入城内。南面城墙上的另一座城门以恩利尔（Enlil）命名，因为这座城门对着东南方尼普尔的恩利尔神殿。东面城墙上的城门被称为“马杜克善待朋友”，这座城墙以南是对着基什的札巴巴（Zababa）门。尼布甲尼撒扩建城堡期间，特意装饰并翻新了北面城墙上的伊师塔门。

The Sin gate in the north wall and the Šamaš and Adad gates in the west are known only from references in the texts. These gates may well be identified with the five named by Herodotus as Semiramis (Ishtar), Nineveh (Sin to the north?), Chaldean (Enlil? to the south), Kissian (Zababa), and Zeus Belos (Marduk). He further mentions one hundred gates of bronze in the outer walls, which may be “the well-built wide gates with doors of bronze-covered cedar” made by Nebuchadrezzar. Excavations show that the Ishtar gate consisted of a double tower 12 m. (40 ft.) high, decorated with blue and black glazed bricks with alternate rows in yellow relief of 575 mušruššu (a symbol of Marduk, a combination of a serpent with lion’s and eagle’s legs) and the bulls of (H)adad.

C. Streets. The layout of the principal streets was determined by the line of the river and of the main gates and was virtually unchanged from Old Babylonian times. The main thoroughfare, called Ai-ibūr-šābū (“the enemy shall not prevail”), was the sacred procession way running from the Ishtar gate SSE, parallel with the Euphrates. Completed by Nebuchadrezzar, it ran for more than 900 m. to the temple Esagila before joining the main east-west road between that temple and the sacred area of Etemenanki and then turning to the Nabonidus wall on the river. There the crossing was made by a stone bridge, 6 m. wide, supported by eight piers, each 9 by 21 m. (29 by 69 ft.), 只有文献中提到了北面城墙上的罪恶门和西面城墙上的沙玛什门与阿达德门。这些城门可能就是希罗多德提到的五座城门，即塞米勒米斯门（伊师塔门）、尼尼微门（可能是北面的西恩门）、迦勒底门（可能是南面的恩利尔门）、基什门（札巴巴门）和宙斯巴勒斯门（玛尔杜克门）。他还提到了外城墙上的一百座青铜城门，这些可能是尼布甲尼撒建造的“坚固的巨大城门，城门由镀着青铜的香柏木制成”。考古发掘表明，伊师塔门建有 12 米（40 英尺）高的双塔楼，上面镶有蓝色和黑色的釉面砖，每隔数行砖，便刻着带有 575 个 mušruššu（玛尔杜克的一种象征形象，一个具有狮腿和鹰爪的蛇）和阿达德（哈达德）公牛的黄色浮雕。

C. 街道。主街道的布局取决于河流的走向和主城门的方位，自古巴比伦时期开始，这些街道几乎未经改建。名为艾伊布尔沙布（“敌人必不得胜”）的主干道是一条神圣的巡游大路，它从伊师塔门起始，通向东南偏南方向，与幼发拉底河平行。这条大路是由尼布甲尼撒修建完成的，它连接着伊师塔门和埃萨吉拉神庙，这段距离长 900 多米，之后与埃萨吉拉神庙和七曜塔神圣区域之间主要的东西大路相连，然后转向河上的拿波尼度城墙。一座 6 米宽的石桥横跨河上，8 个 9 x 21 米（29 x 69 英尺）的桥墩支撑着石桥，其中位于河中的 6 个桥墩是由烧制的砖建成的，现在仍然可以看见这些桥墩磨损的痕迹。石桥长 123 米（403 英尺），修建码头时，桥的

Herodotus ascribed the bridge to Nitocris (i.186; cf. Diodorus ii.8) and speaks of it as an “open bridge,” perhaps with a removable center section to enable the two parts of the city to be defended independently.

长度缩短为 115 米 (377 英尺)。希罗多德称尼托克里斯修建了这座石桥 (i.186; 参: Diodorus ii.8), 并提到这是一座“开闭桥”, 桥中心可能有可以移动的部分, 从而使巴比伦城的两部分可以各自防守。

Western towers of the Ishtar gate, with reliefs of animals. Constructed by Nebuchadrezzar II (605–562 B.C.), the gate led to the sacred processional street. (Oriental Institute, University of Chicago) See PLATE 6.

The Procession Way was 11–20 m. (36–66 ft.) broad and paved with colored stone from Lebanon, red breccia, and limestone. Some paving stones were inscribed “I Nebuchadrezzar, king of Babylon, paved this road with mountainstone for the procession of Marduk, my lord. May Marduk my Lord grant me eternal life.” The parapet of the raised road was decorated with 120 lions in relief.

巡游大路宽 11 至 20 米 (36 至 66 英尺), 路面铺着红色角砾岩、石灰岩和黎巴嫩运来的彩石。一些铺路的石头上刻着“我, 巴比伦王尼布甲尼撒, 为我主玛尔杜克巡游用山上的岩石铺设了这条大路。愿我主玛尔杜克赐我永生”。这条铺设大路的护栏上刻着 120 个狮子浮雕。

The other main roads intersected the city at right angles and bore names associated with the gates from which they led: “Adad has guarded the life of the people”; “Enlil establisher of kingship”; “Marduk is shepherd of his land”; “Ishtar is the guardian of the folk”; “Šamaš has made firm the foundation of my people”; “Sin is stabilisher of the crown of his kingdom”; “Uraš is judge of his people”; and “Zababa destroys his foes.” There were also other procession streets named after deities—Marduk (“Marduk hears him who seeks him”) and Sibitti—and also after earlier kings (Damiq-ilišu).

D. Citadel. The northern wall was extended in the center by Nebuchadrezzar to form an additional defense for the palaces to the south and to provide more accommodation. This complex appears to have been used by his successors as a storehouse (some think as a “museum”), for here were found objects from earlier reigns including inscriptions of the Assyrian kings Adadnirari III and Ashurbanipal from Nineveh, a Hittite basalt sculpture of a lion trampling a man (“the lion of Babylon”), and a stele showing the Hittite storm-god Tešub from seventh-century (B.C.) Sam’al.

E. Palaces. In the southern citadel, bounded by the Imgur-Enlil wall (N), the river (W), the Procession Way (E), and the Libilḥegalla canal (which was cleared by Nebuchadrezzar and linked the Euphrates and the Banitu canal E of the city with the canal network in the New City, thus providing the city with a system of internal waterways), was a massive complex of buildings covering more than 360 by 180 m. (400 by 200 yds.). Here lay the vast palace built by Nabopolassar and 其他主干道交叉成直角，将巴比伦城分割成几块，这些街道的名字与各自通往的城门有关：“阿达德守护子民的生命”；“恩利尔是王权的创立者”；“玛尔杜克是他土地的牧人”；“伊师塔是民众的守护者”；“沙玛什为子民建立稳固的根基”；“西恩是他王国王权的建立者”；“乌拉斯是他子民的审判者”；“札巴巴毁灭他的敌人”。城中还有其他以神祇名字命名的巡游街道——玛尔杜克大路（“玛尔杜克倾听信徒的求告”）和西比提（Sibitti）大路，城中还有一些以较早时期国王名字（达米克·伊利舒 [Damiq-ilišu]）命名的街道。

D. 城堡。 尼布甲尼撒为进一步保卫南宫，并提供更多住所，扩建了北面城墙的中心。他的继任者似乎将这座建筑当作仓库使用（一些学者认为它是一座“博物馆”），因为其中发现了一些早期王朝的物件，包括来自尼尼微的亚述王亚达尼拉利三世和亚述巴尼帕的铭文，一个刻着狮子攻击人的赫人黑陶雕像（“巴比伦的狮子”），和一个萨马尔的刻着赫人风雨神泰舒卜（Tešub）的石碑（公元前7世纪）。

E. 宫殿。 南宫外围是内城墙（北）、幼发拉底河（西）、巡游大路（东）和利比赫伽拉（Libilḥegall）运河（尼布甲尼撒疏通了这条运河，并运用新城区的运河网将幼发拉底河与城东的巴尼图 [Banitu] 运河连接起来，从而建立起城内的水路运输系统），南宫是一座大型建筑群，占地面积超过 360 x 180 米（400 x 200 码）。那波帕拉萨尔修建、其继承者扩建的巨大宫殿就位于此地。巡游大路通往宫内的入口处是一片庭院（66.5 x 42.5 米，218 x 140 英尺）， extended by his successors. The entrance from the Procession Way led to a courtyard (66.5 by 42.5 m., 218 by 140 ft.), flanked by quarters for the royal bodyguard, which in Nebuchadrezzar's time largely consisted of foreign mercenaries. A double gateway led into the second court, off which lay reception rooms and living quarters. A wider doorway gave access to a third court (66 by 55 m., 218 by 180 ft.); to its south lay the Throne Room, the external wall of which was decorated in blue glazed bricks bearing white and yellow palmettes, pillars with a dado of rosettes and lions. This large hall (52 by 17 m., 170 by 57 ft., partially restored in 1968) could have been that used for state occasions, such as Belshazzar's feast for a thousand persons (Dnl. 5). Two further wings of the palace overlooking the river to the west may have been the quarters of the king, his queen, and their personal attendants. It is more likely that this was the building used by Belshazzar for his feast rather than the "Palace of the Crown Prince" (ekal mār šarri) said to have been used later by Xerxes.

In the northwest angle of this complex, adjacent to the Ishtar gate, lay another large building (42 by 30 m., 140 by 98 ft.) consisting of fourteen narrow rooms leading off a long central walk. Since it was at some time walled off from the new palace, it has been thought to have been the substructure of that wonder of the ancient world, the Hanging Gardens of Babylon. According to Ctesias in Diodorus (ii.10) and Strabo (xvi.1.5), this was a series of garden-laid terraces supported by arches designed by Nebuchadrezzar (so Berossus in Josephus Ant. x.11.1 [226]) for his queen, to remind his new bride, Amyitis daughter of Astyages the Mede, of her mountain-fringed homeland. This description might, however, equally apply to the ziggurat (see G below).

庭院两侧是王室护卫的住所,在尼布甲尼撒时期,护卫主要由外邦雇佣兵组成。这片庭院通过一条双向门道与第二庭院相连,第二庭院两侧是会客厅和住所。第二庭院通过一条更宽的门道与第三庭院相连(66 x 55 米, 218 x 180 英尺);第三庭院南侧是王宫正殿,正殿的外墙饰有白色和黄色棕叶图案的蓝色釉面砖,以及若干带有玫瑰花和狮子图案基座的柱子。这座大殿(52 x 17 米, 170 x 57 英尺, 1968 年大殿被部分修复)也具有礼仪用途,如伯沙撒为一千大臣摆的盛筵(但 5)。南宫内还有两座偏殿可以远眺西侧的河流,这可能是国王、王后及其贴身仆从的住所。这座建筑更可能是伯沙撒宴请群臣之地,而不是后来薛西斯居住的“国王寝宫”(ekal mār šarri)。

The presence of administrative texts within these subterranean rooms more likely indicates that these were palace stores. Included among the tablets found here and dated to the tenth to thirty-fifth years of Nebuchadrezzar (i.e., 595–570 B.C.) were lists of recipients of rations of corn and oil distributed to foreigners, men from Judah, Ashkelon, Gebal, Egypt, Cilicia, Greece (Yamanu), and Persia. Among the men of Judah were Jehoiachin and his sons and craftsmen, some with such OT names as Gaddiel, Shelemiah, and Samakiah (E. F. Weidner, Mélanges offerts à M. Dussaud, II [1939], 924ff.). Nebuchadrezzar also built himself a “Summer Palace” outside the main citadel but within the defense walls. This was set 9 m. (30 ft.) high (it was 100 m. [328 ft.] long) to catch the cooler northeast winds.

F. City Quarters. Tablets name the various parts of the city, which included the citadel itself (ālu libbi āli, “city within a city”) with at least nine temples. It was described as near ká-dingir-ra, which name also applied to the whole city. The citadel included the royal palace as far as Esagila. Here were to be found the temples of Ishtar and Ninmah. Other quarters were named Kaširi, Kullab, and Kumari. The “New City” (ālu eššu) lay on the west bank of the Euphrates and was part of the Chaldean extension. Large areas within the city walls were given up to parks and squares.

G. Temple Tower (Ziggurat). The ziggurat

花园。但是，这个描述也同样适用于庙塔（见下文的 G）。

在这些地下室中发现的行政文件表明了这些地下室更可能是王室仓库。在此地发现的尼布甲尼撒 10 年至 35 年的泥版（即公元前 595-570 年）上，刻着接受分配的玉米和油的外邦人列表，其中包括犹太人、亚实基伦人、迦巴勒人、埃及人、基利家人、希腊人（亚马努人）和波斯人。犹太人中包括约雅斤、他的儿子们和工匠们，其中提到了一些旧约人名，如迦叠、示利米雅和撒玛迦（E. F. Weidner, Mélanges offerts à M. Dussaud, II [1939], 924-925）。尼布甲尼撒还在主城堡外、防御墙内为自己建造了一座“夏宫”。为了享受凉爽的东北风，夏宫高 9 米（30 英尺）（长 100 米[328 英尺]）。

F. 城区。泥版中提到了城中的各个部分，其中包括城堡（ālu libbi āli，“城中城”）和至少 9 座神庙。据描述，城堡位于神之门（ká-dingir-ra）附近，“神之门”也是整座城的名字。城堡建有王宫，甚至还有埃萨吉拉神庙。伊师塔神庙和宁马赫神庙也位于此地。其他城区的名字是卡西里（Kaširi）、库拉伯（Kullab）和库马力（Kumari）。“新城”（ālu eššu）位于幼发拉底河西岸，是迦勒底人所扩建的部分。城墙内大片地区都建有花园和广场。

G. 阶梯式庙塔。巴比伦塔，即七曜塔

of Babylon, É-temen-an-ki (“building [of] the foundation of heaven and earth”), lay in the center of the city, S of the citadel, now marked by the ruin-area Şahṇ (“the Pan”), a deep depression near the mausoleum of ‘Amrān Ibn ‘Alī founded A.D. 680. It lay in a square doublecasemate walled enclosure, forming a rectangular courtyard measuring about 420 by 375 m. (460 by 410 yds.). Entry was by two doors in the north and ten elaborate gateways. The enclosure was frequently repaired, and bricks marking this activity in the reign of Esarhaddon and Ashurbanipal of Assyria and of Nebuchadrezzar have survived. The area was subdivided into a long narrow western court, a northern court in which towered the ziggurat with its adjacent monumental buildings, wall shelters for the pilgrims, housing for the priests, and storerooms. The main approach from the Procession Way led between two long storerooms. One late Babylonian text, the Esagila tablet AO 6555, gives the dimensions of the courts and the names of the gates: “grand”; “the rising sun”; “the great gate”; “gate of the guardian colossi”; “canal-gate”; and “gate of the tower-view.”

Opposite the main gate lay the stepped tower on a platform with shrines grouped around. The stages are given as 91 m. sq. by 34 m. high (300 ft. sq. by 110 ft. high) for the lowest, the next 80 m. sq. by 18 m. high (260 ft. sq. by 60 ft. high), the next three diminishing stages each 6 m. (20 ft.) high and 61, 52, and 43 m. (200, 170, and 140 ft.) square. Originally each stage, as at Ur, may have been of different color. The sanctuary of Marduk (Bēl) on top, 15 m. (50 ft.) high, gave a total height of 85 m. (280 ft.). However, nothing remains of the tower except the lower stairs, the whole having been plundered for its bricks by local villagers. There is no reason to doubt the identification of this site with the Tower of Babel (Gen. 11:1-11), the building of which had been terminated. The inscriptions refer only to rebuilding and repair work by the later kings of Babylon. The common identification of the Tower of Babel with the remains of the ziggurat at Borsippa, 7 mi. (11 km.) SSW, is open to question on a number of grounds, not the least that that edifice was in a separate city. The extant vitrified ruins there are of a temple tower also rebuilt by Nebuchadrezzar II.

主门对面是建在平台上的阶梯型庙塔，四周建有神殿。据记载，最低的平台面积为 91 平方米，高 34 米 (300 平方英尺，高 110 英尺)，第二层面积为 80 平方米，高 18 米 (260 平方英尺，高 60 英尺)，第三、四、五层平台高度均为 6 米 (20 英尺)，面积逐层递减，分别为 61 平方米、52 平方米和 43 平方米 (200 平方英尺、170 平方英尺、140 平方英尺)。平台最初可能和吾珥庙塔一样，每层有不同的颜色。塔顶的玛尔杜克 (贝尔) 神殿高 15 米 (50 英尺)，庙塔总高度为 85 米 (280 英尺)。然而，

除了较低的楼梯之外，庙塔的遗迹没能保存下来，当地人为了获得泥砖拆毁了整座庙塔。这座庙塔无疑就是巴别塔（创 11:1-11），那座被神中止了的建筑。铭文中仅提到后来巴比伦王重建和修复了巴别塔。人们普遍认为巴别塔就是巴比伦城西南偏南 7 英里（11 公里）处波尔西帕城中的庙塔遗迹，这种观点值得怀疑，质疑的理由有许多，其中一个重要的理由是这座遗迹位于另一座城中。该地现存的陶瓷遗迹来自于庙塔，这座庙塔也是由尼布甲尼撒重建的。

Herodotus (i.181-183) described Etemenanki, which he called the "sanctuary" of Zeus Belos. It was, he wrote, 2 stadia (400 m. or 1300 ft.) sq. and was entered through a bronze gate. The temple tower stood in the center of the sanctuary, its sides 1 stadium (200 m., 650 ft.) long, with eight towers, one on top of the other. It also had slopes or steps rising on each level. (See BABEL, TOWER OF.) In the large topmost temple was a couch covered in beautiful rugs with a golden table. There was no image of the deity, and the Chaldean priests informed Herodotus that one unmarried native

希罗多德 (i.181-183) 将七曜塔称为宙斯巴勒斯的“神殿”。根据他的描述，庙塔面积为 2 平方视距尺（400 平方米或 1300 平方英尺），经过一个青铜大门可以进入庙塔。庙塔位于神殿中心，边长为 1 视距尺（200 米，650 英尺），神殿中共有八座塔，其中一座位于其它七座塔的顶端。每层平台上有斜坡或台阶通往上层（见 BABEL, TOWER OF[巴别塔]）。最顶端的大神庙中有一个铺着华丽毛毯的躺椅和一张金桌子。殿中没有神像，迦勒底祭司告知希罗多德，一个当地未婚的女子曾在殿中过夜，等候神祇的降临。虽然希罗多德并不相信这个故事，但这符合大家熟知的巴比伦圣婚 woman spent the night there to be visited by the deity. Though Herodotus did not believe the story, it conforms to the known Babylonian view of the sacred marriage.

H. Esagila. The principal temple of Babylon, Esagila (“house of the uplifted head”), was dedicated to the patron deity of the city Marduk. It lay S of Etemenanki, which must have overshadowed it. The excavations by Koldewey in the ‘Amrān Ibn ‘Alī mound disclosed sufficient evidence to recover the ground plan of two building complexes. The main shrine to the west (10 by 79 m., 33 by 260 ft.) was entered by four doors, one on each side. At a lower level than the principal shrine, that of Marduk, were chapels and niches for lesser deities around the central courtyard. Nabopolassar claimed to have redecorated the Marduk shrine with gypsum and silver alloy, which Nebuchadrezzar replaced with fine gold. The walls were studded with precious stones set in gold plate, and stone and lapis lazuli pillars supported cedar roof beams. The texts describe the god’s gilded bedchamber adjacent to the throne room.

Herodotus (i.183) described two statues of the god, one seated. The larger was said to be 12 ells (6 m., 20 ft.) high, but Herodotus did not see it, being told that it had been carried off by Xerxes. This was the usual practice of those kings who wished to curb the independent citizens of Babylon. The opposite action, that of “taking the hand of Bēl (Marduk)” to lead the statue out of the akitu (New Year) house and into Esagila, ensured their authority and usually acceptance by the people. Herodotus was told that 800 talents (16.8 metric tons) of gold were used for these statues and for the table, throne, and footstool. A thousand talents of incense were burned annually at the festivals while innumerable sacrificial animals were brought in to the two golden altars, one used for large, the other for small victims.

H. 埃萨吉拉。巴比伦最重要的神庙是埃萨吉拉（“抬起头的家”），其中供奉着巴比伦城的保护神玛尔杜克。埃萨吉拉位于七曜塔以南，七曜塔一定夺去了埃萨吉拉的光辉。考德威发掘安默兰·伊本·阿里土丘时，发现了足够的证据来重现这两座建筑群的平面图。埃萨吉拉西侧的正殿（10 x 79 米，33 x 260 英尺）有四个门，分别位于正殿的四面墙上。玛尔杜克主殿的下层是供奉次要神祇的偏殿和壁龛，它们位于中央庭院周围。那波帕拉萨尔自称用石膏和银合金重新装饰了玛尔杜克神殿，后来尼布甲尼撒用精金代替了这些装饰。墙上镶嵌着镀金的宝石，石头和天青石柱支撑着香柏木房梁。文献中还描述了与正殿相连的神祇镀金寝宫。

Esagila was first mentioned by Šulgi of Ur, who restored it ca. 2100 B.C. Sabium, Hammurabi, Samsuiluna, Ammi-ditana, Ammi-šaduqa and Samsu-ditana all refer to their devotion to the temple during the 1st Dynasty of Babylon (1894–1595), a care that was to be continued by every king and conqueror of Babylon except Sennacherib. Some refer to their dedications to Marduk and Šarpānītum or to Nabû and Tašmetum in their twin shrine at Ezida (“house of knowledge”). One of the best-known of these votive gifts was the diorite stele engraved with the laws of Hammurabi and set up in Esagila as a record of the manner in which that king had exercised justice. The standard brick inscription of Nebuchadrezzar describes him as “provider for Esagila and Ezida.” At a lower level in Esagila were located the shrines of Ea to the north, Anu to the south, and elsewhere Nusku and Sin. To the east of Esagila lay a further complex of buildings (89 by 116 m., 292 by 380 ft.) the precise purpose of which is not known.

I. Other Temples. In addition to Ezida, Babylonian texts refer to at least fifty other temples by name, Nebuchadrezzar himself claiming to have built fifteen of them within the city. Excavations have uncovered the temple of Ishtar of Agade (Emašdari) in the area of private houses (Merkes), E of the Procession Way. This faced toward the southwest and was

座坛烧大型的祭物，一座坛烧小型的祭物。

吾珥的舒尔吉第一次提及了埃萨吉拉，他于约公元前 2100 年重建了埃萨吉拉。萨比乌姆、汉谟拉比、萨姆苏伊鲁纳、阿米·狄塔那、阿米·撒杜卡、萨姆苏·地塔那都提及了他们在巴比伦第一王朝期间（公元前 1894-1595 年）对神庙所作的贡献，除了西拿基立之外，每位巴比伦城的王和征服者都应继续这项工作。一些统治者提及了他们在埃兹达的成对神龛（Ezida，“知识之家”）中供奉着玛尔杜克和萨尔帕尼通或纳布和塔斯米图（Tašmetum）。最著名的献礼之一是刻着汉谟拉比法典的闪长岩石碑，这座石碑伫立在埃萨吉拉之中，作为这位国王秉公行义的一种记录。尼布甲尼撒的标砖铭文中将他描述为“埃萨吉拉和埃兹达的供应者”。在埃萨吉拉的下一层，北面供奉着埃阿的神龛，南面供奉着阿努的神龛，其他地方则供奉着努斯库和西恩。在埃萨吉拉东面，还矗立着一片建筑群（89 x 116 米，292 x 380 英尺），但片建筑群的准确用途尚不明确。

I. 其他神庙。除了埃兹达之外，巴比伦文献中至少提到了其他 50 座神庙的名字，尼布甲尼撒自称建立了城中的 15 座。考古发掘在巡游大路东面的民宅区（Merkes）发现了亚甲的伊师塔神庙（Emašdari）。这座神庙面朝西南，形状为矩形（37 x 31 米，111 x 102 英尺），南面和东面分别有两个通往内院的入口。这座神庙规划与同时期的其他神庙 rectangular in form (37 by 31 m., 111 by 102 ft.) with two entrances, S and E, leading into an inner court. The plan was similar to others of the period (e.g., Ezida of Borsippa) with six antechambers alongside the antechapel and shrine, which led directly off the court. This temple was kept in order by Nebuchadrezzar and Nabonidus and lasted into the Persian era.

Koldewey also cleared two temples E of 'Amrān Ibn 'Alī in the Išin-Aswad mound. One cannot be identified as yet due to the absence of inscriptions, hence its designation "Z" temple. This was in continual use over at least seventeen hundred years. To the east lay the shrine of Ninurta (Epatitilla, "temple of the staff of life") built by Nabopolassar, according to its foundation cylinder. This was restored by Nebuchadrezzar. Here the plan (190 by 133 m., 623 by 436 ft.) differs, the main entry being to the east, with subsidiary doors to the north and south. Off the courtyard to the west lay three interconnected equal shrines, each with a dais perhaps dedicated to Ninurta and his wife Gula and son Nusku.

Near the Ishtar gate stood the well-preserved temple of Ninmah, goddess of the underworld, constructed by Ashurbanipal ca. 646 B.C. Outside this massive building, called Emaḥ, stood an altar. Passing this to the main door on the north side, worshipers would then traverse the courtyard, passing a well, to enter the shrine in the antechapel. Here they would kneel before the statue of the goddess splendidly clothed and standing on its dais. The architect, Labāši, had designed the surrounding storerooms with a view to security, since many valuable votive offerings must have been hoarded there together with the many fertility figurines found in them. The outer wall was defended by towers, since the shrine may have lain outside the main city defenses. This building has now been fully restored by the Iraqi Department of Antiquities. The cuneiform texts imply that there were many shrines in the city, “180 open-air shrines for Ishtar” and “300 daises for the Igigi gods and 1200 daises of the Anunnaki gods.” There were also more than two hundred pedestals for other deities mentioned. The open-air shrines were probably similar to those for the intercessory Lama goddess found at crossroads at Ur.

的规划类似（如波尔西帕的埃兹达），正殿和神龕周围都有六座前室，通过前室可以直接进入内院。尼布甲尼撒和拿波尼度妥善地保护着这座神庙，直至波斯时代。

考德威还在伊辛阿斯瓦德（Išin-Aswad）土丘的安默兰·译本·阿里东部清理出两座神庙。其中一座神庙并未出现在铭文资料中，无法对其进行鉴别，因此这座神庙被称为“Z”神庙。这座神庙至少使用了一千七百年。这座神庙东面是尼努尔塔神殿（埃帕提提拉 [Epatitilla]，“生命之支柱的神庙”），根据其地基圆柱推测，应为那波帕拉萨尔所建。后来尼布甲尼撒又修复了这座神殿。它的设计（190 x 133 米，623 x 436 英尺）与其他神殿不同，主要入口位于东面，其他小门则位于北面或南面。院落西面有三座相连的同等规模的神殿，每座神殿中都有祭台，可能是为尼努尔塔和他的妻子古拉以及他们的儿子努斯库献祭用的。

伊师塔门附近是保存完好的冥府女神宁玛赫神庙，约于公元前 646 年由亚述巴尼帕所建。这座宏伟的建筑之外，矗立着一座名为埃玛赫（Emaḥ）的祭坛。敬拜者经过这座祭坛，进入北面的主门，然后穿过庭院，经过一口井，就可以进入正殿中的神龕内。此时，他们会跪在站立在祭台之上穿着华丽的女神像前面。神庙的建造者莱巴锡（Labāši）考虑到安全因素，在周围建造了储藏室，因为许多贵重的祭品和储藏室中发现的许多代表着生育的小雕像都需要储藏起来。神庙的外墙建有许多卫塔，因为神庙可能不在主城的防御范围之

J. Private Houses. A series of mounds to the north of Išin Aswad at Babylon are called locally Merkes, “trade center.” Since the levels containing houses were easier to excavate, being on raised ground, it was possible for Koldewey to trace occupation here almost continuously from the Old Babylonian period to the Parthian period. Here too the streets ran almost straight and crossed at right angles. The houses consisted of a series of rooms around a central courtyard. They were made of mud brick roofed with mats set over wooden beams, and many showed signs of the fire that had raged in the destruction of the city at the hands of the Hittites, Sennacherib, or Xerxes. Several of the buildings had foundation walls 1.8 m. (6 ft.) thick; and, like “the Great House” in Merkes, this may indicate that they supported more than one story. Nevertheless, Herodotus’ observation that “the city was filled with houses of three or four stories” cannot now be checked. Some houses may have been built on higher ground than others. Moreover, his expression órophos could be rendered “roofs” rather than “story.”

J. 民宅。当地人称巴比伦城伊辛阿斯瓦德北面的许多土丘为 Merkes，意为“贸易中心”。因为这片建有民宅的地层位于高地上，较容易发掘，所以考德威能够将此地的人类活动从古巴比伦时期一直追溯至帕提亚时期。这里的街道也近乎笔直，互相交叉成直角。民宅是由中心庭院四周的众多房间构成的。它们由泥砖建造，并将草席铺在木梁上作为屋顶，许多住房留下了赫人、西拿基立或薛西斯火烧巴比伦城的痕迹。一些建筑有1.8米（6英尺）厚的基础墙；这表明它们和贸易中心的“大房子”一样，不止一层。然而，现在尚不能核实希罗多德关于“城中三四层高的房子随处可见”的记载。一些住房可能建在较高的地面上。此外，他所用的表达方式 órophos 指的更可能是“屋顶”而非“楼层”。

K. Documents. Apart from the architectural remains, the decorations of the Ishtar gate, and small objects, the most significant finds from ancient Babylon are more than thirty thousand inscribed tablets. Since apart from the Merkes the Old Babylonian levels have not been explored, mainly because of the high water table of the region, most of these are dated to the Chaldean dynasty or later. They provide an intimate knowledge of personal dealings by merchants until the Seleucid era. Many were obtained by locals in their illicit diggings and cannot now be associated with their original context. These tablets are mainly contracts and administrative documents. There are, however, a number of literary and religious texts originating in the temples in the post-Achaemenid period up to A.D. 100. A few of these traditional “school-texts” are in Greek on clay tablets. These continued to be copied long after Aramaic had become the official language written on more perishable materials, and they include astronomical observations, diaries, almanacs, and omens.

V. Later History.-A. Fall of Babylon, 539 B.C. In 544 Nabonidus returned from Teimā to Babylon, with which he had been in contact throughout his ten-year exile. He does not, however, appear to have taken over control of the city itself again from Belshazzar when, according to the Babylonian Chronicle for his seventeenth year, the gods of the chief cities of Babylonia, except Borsippa, Kutha, and Sippar, were brought into the capital for safekeeping. During Cyrus’

K. 文献。除了建筑遗迹、伊师塔门的装饰和一些小物件之外，三万余块刻有铭文的泥版是古巴比伦城中最重要的发现。因为除了贸易中心之外，古巴比伦城中的其他地层因该地区的高水位还未被发掘，所以这些泥版主要源于迦勒底王朝及随后时期。泥版上提供了塞琉西时代之前商人间私人交易的详细信息。这些泥版主要是通过当地人非法挖掘获得的，无法与最初的环境联系起来。这些泥版主要是合同和管理文件。但是，其中也有一些后阿契美尼德时期至公元 100 年间源于神庙的文学和宗教文献。这些传统的“学术文献”中有一些是用希腊语刻在泥版上的。亚美尼亚语成为官方语言之后很久，这些泥版仍然继续被抄写在较容易腐坏的材料上，这些文献包括天文观测结果、日记、年历和预言。

V. 后期历史。A. 巴比伦城陷落，公元前 539 年。公元前 544 年，拿波尼度从提玛回到巴比伦城，他流亡的十年中，一直与巴比伦城有联系。但是，根据巴比伦年鉴上他在位 17 年的记录，当巴比伦王国主城（除了波尔西帕、库德和西巴尔）的神像被带往都城妥善保管时，拿波尼度似乎并没有从伯沙撒手中夺回巴比伦城的控制权。居鲁士攻击欧皮斯（Opis）期间，巴比伦城的市民显然发动过起义，但被拿波尼度血腥镇压了。提什瑞图月（Tešritu）15 日，西巴 attack on Opis the citizens of Babylon apparently revolted but were suppressed by Nabonidus with some bloodshed. He himself fled when Sippar fell on the 15th of Tešrītu, and the next day Ugbaru, the governor of Gutium, and the Persian army entered the city without a battle. This appears to have been effected by the strategem of diverting the river Euphrates, thus drying up the moat defenses and enabling the enemy to enter the city by marching up the dried-up river bed. This may also imply some collaboration with sympathizers inside the walls. That night Belshazzar was killed (Dnl. 5:30). For the remainder of the month Persian troops occupied Esagila, though without bearing arms or interrupting the religious ceremonies.

On the 3rd of Araḥ-samnu (Oct 29, 539 B.C.), sixteen days after the capitulation, Cyrus himself entered the city amid much public acclaim, ending the Chaldean dynasty as predicted by the Hebrew prophets (Isa. 13:21; Jer. 50f.). Cyrus treated the city with great respect, returning to their own shrines the statues of the deities brought in from other cities. The Jews were sent home with compensatory assistance. He appointed new governors, so ensuring peace and stable conditions essential to the proper maintenance of the religious centers.

B. Achaemenid City. In Nisānu 538, Cambyses II son of Cyrus II “took the hands of Bēl,” but left the city under the control of a governor, who kept the peace until Cambyses’ death in 522 B.C. There followed the first of the recurrent revolts. Nidintu-Bēl seized power, taking the emotive throne-name Nebuchadrezzar III (Oct.–Dec. 522). Darius, the legitimate

尔陷落，拿波尼度逃走了，次日，库提姆总督乌格巴鲁和波斯军队没有遇到抵抗便侵占了巴比伦城。但这种不战而降似乎是受到了幼发拉底河改道战略的影响，河流改道使得护城河干涸，不再具有抵御能力，军队可以沿着枯竭的河床进入城内。这可能还表明城内有支持者协助。当夜，伯沙撒被杀(但 5:30)。该月余下的日子里，虽然波斯军并没有配备武器，也没有打断宗教典礼，但他们仍占领了埃萨吉拉。

阿拉散奴月 (Araḥ-samnu) 3 日 (公元前 539 年, 10 月 29 日), 巴比伦城陷落后第 16 天, 居鲁士在民众的欢呼声中进入城中, 如同希伯来先知预言的那样, 他结束了迦勒底王朝的统治 (赛 13:21; 耶 50-51)。居鲁士非常尊重巴比伦城, 他将从其他城市带来的神像都安放回各自的神殿中。他给犹太人发放赔偿补助并安置回家。他设立了新的总督, 保证了和平稳定的局面, 这对于宗教中心的适当维护是必不可少的。

B. 阿契美尼德城。 公元前 538 年, 尼萨奴月 (Nisānu), 居鲁士二世之子冈比西斯二世 “拖着贝尔的手”, 却将该城留给总督掌控, 这位总督维持着巴比伦城的和平, 直到公元前 522 年冈比西斯逝世。在随后的第一次起义中, 尼丁图·贝尔夺取政权, 取王名为尼布甲尼撒三世 (公元前 522 年 10 月至 12 月)。正统的国王大流士 (公元前 520-485 年) king (520–485), put down a further rebellion in the following year but spared the city, building there an arsenal, a Persian-style columned hall (appa danna), as an addition to the palace he used during his stay in the city.

Xerxes, possibly the Ahasuerus of Ezr. 4:6, maintained Babylon's importance as an administrative center and provincial capital, but the town declined after an uprising that he successfully suppressed. Another rebellion in his fourth year (482) led him to destroy the ziggurat and to remove the statue of Marduk. The walls remained standing in good enough repair for Herodotus, who probably visited the city ca. 460 B.C., to describe them in detail (i.178–188), vindicated to a large measure by subsequent researches. There is no evidence that the decree of Xerxes imposing the worship of Ahuramazda was ever taken seriously.

Economic texts from the Egibi family and the Murašu archives from Nippur (460–400 B.C.) show continued activity despite increasing inflation which more than doubled the rent on a small house, from 15 shekels per annum under Cyrus II to almost 40 shekels in the reign of Artaxerxes I (Longimanus, 465–424), when Ezra and Nehemiah left Babylon to return to Jerusalem (Ezr. 7:1; Neh. 2:1). Artaxerxes II (404–359), according to Berossus, was the first Persian ruler to introduce the statue of Aphrodite or Anahita into the city. Artaxerxes III (Ochus, 358–338) could be the builder or restorer of the appa danna found by Koldewey.

C. Hellenistic Period. After his victory at Gaugamela near Arbela (Erbil), Oct. 1, 于次年镇压了另一次起义,但他赦免了巴比伦城,在那里建立了一座军械库和一座波斯式的多柱大厅 (appa danna) 作为他在该城行宫的附属建筑。

薛西斯(可能是《以斯拉记》4:6中的亚哈随鲁)仍将巴比伦城视作行政中心和都城,但该城在一次起义之后走向衰落,薛西斯后来成功镇压了这次起义。薛西斯在位第四年(公元前482年)发生的另一次起义导致他摧毁了庙塔并将玛尔杜克神像转移。希罗多德可能于约公元前460年参观了巴比伦城,此时的城墙已经完全修复,因此希罗多德可以详细地描述城墙(i.178–188),后来的研究从很大程度上证明了他的描述。并没有证据表明人们曾经严肃对待薛西斯所要求的阿胡拉马兹达(Ahuramazda)崇拜。

艾智比家族的经济文献和尼普尔的穆拉苏(Murašu)档案(公元前460–400年)表明该城虽然物价不断飞涨,但一直有人类活动,一个小房子的租金从居鲁士二世时期的每年15舍客勒涨到亚达薛西一世(长臂王,公元前465–424年)时期的每年几乎40舍客勒,翻了一倍有余,以斯拉和尼希米正是在亚达薛西一世统治期间从巴比伦回到了耶路撒冷(拉7:1;尼2:1)。根据伯诺索斯的记载,亚达薛西二世(公元前404–359年)是第一个将阿弗洛狄忒或阿娜希塔神像引入巴比伦城的波斯统治者。亚达薛西三世(欧奇斯[Ochus],公元前358–338年)可能是考德威多柱大厅的修建者或修复者。

C. 希腊化时期。公元前331年10月1日,亚历山大在阿尔贝拉(埃尔比勒)

331 B.C., Alexander marched to Babylon, where the Macedonian was triumphantly acclaimed, the Persian garrison offering no opposition. He offered sacrifices to Marduk, ordered the rebuilding of temples that Xerxes allegedly had destroyed, and then a month later moved on to Susa. He later returned to further his elaborate plans for the sacred city, on which he paid out 600,000 days' wages for clearing the rubble from the precincts of Esagila (Strabo xvi.1). This debris was dumped on that part of the ruins now called Homera. The Jews who had fought in his army refused to take any part in the restoration of the temple of Bēl (Josephus CAp i.192). Alexander also planned a new port, but this too was thwarted by his death, June 13, 323. The Greek theater inside the east wall (Homera), cleared by Koldewey and Lenzen, may have been built at this time, though it was unquestionably restored in the time of Antiochus IV.

D. Seleucid-Parthians. A king list from Babylon written soon after 175 B.C. names the successors of Alexander who ruled the city—Philip Arrhidaeus, Antigonus, Alexander IV, and Seleucus I (323–250). Before Seleucus died Babylon's economic but not its religious importance had declined sharply, a process hastened by the foundation of a new capital at Seleucia (Tell 'Umar) on the Tigris by his successor Antiochus I, in 274 B.C.

E. Later City. Babylon's attraction as a "holy city" continued. The satrap Hyspaosines of Characene suppressed a revolt led by a certain Hymerus in 127 B.C. when the priests of Esagila were active. Hymerus issued coins as "king of Babylon" in 124/23, but by the following year Mithradates II had regained control.

附近的高加米拉获得胜利后，向巴比伦城进军，马其顿军队在该城受到热烈欢迎，波斯驻军并未做出抵抗。亚历山大向玛尔杜克献祭，下令重建了据称被薛西斯摧毁的神庙，并在一个月后转移到了书珊。他后来又回到了这里来推动重建圣城的详细计划，他支付了 60 万天的报酬来清理埃萨吉拉区域内的碎石（Strabo xvi.1）。投放这些残骸的废墟部分现在被称为霍美拉丘。在亚历山大军中效力的犹太人拒绝参与贝尔神庙的修复工作（Josephus CAp i.192）。亚历山大还计划修建一座新港口，但这项计划同样因他的英年早逝（公元前 323 年，6 月 13 日）而夭折了。考德威和伦岑在东面城墙（霍美拉丘）内发掘出的希腊剧院可能就是这个时期修建的，无疑是在安提阿古四世统治时期修复的。

*D. 塞琉西和帕提亚时期。*在巴比伦城发现的一份写于公元前 175 年之后不久的国王列表中列出了亚历山大的继位者——腓力·阿瑞戴伍斯、安提阿古、亚历山大四世和塞琉古一世（公元前 323-250 年）。塞琉古逝世前，巴比伦城的经济地位（而不是宗教地位）急剧下滑，他的继位者安提阿古一世于公元前 274 年在塞琉西亚（乌玛尔废丘）建立新都，加快了巴比伦城经济衰落的进程。

*E. 晚期城邑。*巴比伦城仍然是“圣城”。公元前 127 年，查拉塞尼的总督许斯鲍希尼斯镇压了一个名叫许米卢斯（Hymerus）的人所领导的起义，当时埃萨吉拉中的祭司很活跃。许米卢斯于公元前 124 或 123 年以“巴比伦王”的身份发行了货币，但次年，密特拉达提二世重新夺回了统治权。公元前 91-80

An independent ruler Gotarzes I was recognized as ruler in 91–80, and the city lay in Parthian hands (Mithradates III, 58–55) until taken over by a rebel Orodes. It remained a center of Hellenism, despite the opposition of a significant traditional Babylonian priestly party and of a minority of Jews, from among whom may have come Hillel. Babylon supported the Jews in Palestine who opposed Herod (Josephus Ant. xv.2.1–3). The close association between these Jews in Babylon, who enjoyed self-government there in the 1st cent., and their fellows in Jerusalem is suggested in Acts 2:9–11. Dated cuneiform texts up to A.D. 110 show that the site was still occupied. While Babylon may have been the site of an early Christian church (1 Pet. 5:13), there is no evidence (see BABYLON IN THE NT). When Trajan entered the city in 115 he sacrificed to Alexander's manes but made no reference to the continued existence of other religious practices or buildings. According to Septimius Severus the site was deserted by A.D. 200.

VI. Exploration and Excavation.—Since the ancient city of Babylon long lay deserted and unidentified, many early travelers, including Schiltberger (ca. 1400), di Conti (1428–1453), Rauwolf (1574), and John Eldred (1583), thought it lay elsewhere, probably at the upstanding remains of 'Aqar Qūf, W of Baghdad, which resembled the Tower of Babel. Benjamin of Tudela (12th cent.), however, considered that the ruins of Birs Nimrūd covered ancient Babylon.

Pietro della Valle, visiting Bâbil in 1616, correctly equated it with Babylon, as did Emmanuel Ballyet in 1755 and Carsten Niebuhr some ten years later. Surface

年,独立的统治者戈塔尔则斯一世被视为巴比伦城的掌权者,起义者奥罗德接管该城之前,它一直受帕提亚人掌控(密特拉达提三世,公元前58-55年)。虽然一部分重要而传统的巴比伦祭司和小部分犹太人(希列可能就来自其中)反对希腊化,但巴比伦城仍是希腊化的中心。后来,巴比伦城资助了巴勒斯坦反对希律的犹太人(Josephus Ant. xv.2.1–3)。《使徒行传》2:9-11中的经文体现了巴比伦城的犹太人与耶路撒冷同乡的密切关系,巴比伦城的犹太人曾在1世纪时享有自治权。根据楔形文字文献记载,公元110年时该城仍有人类居住。虽然巴比伦城可能拥有一个早期的基督教教会(彼前5:13),但并没有证据能够证实这一点(见BABYLON IN THE NT [《新约》中的巴比伦])。当图拉真于公元115年进入巴比伦城时,他给亚历山大的英灵献祭,但并未提及及其他宗教习俗或宗教建筑此时仍然存在。根据塞普蒂米乌斯·塞维鲁的记载,巴比伦城在公元200年前被废弃了。

VI. 探索与发掘。由于古巴比伦城废弃已久,无法确定它的位置,所以包括施尔特伯格(Schiltberger, 约1400年)、狄康提(di Conti, 1428-1453年)、劳沃尔夫(1574年)和约翰·埃尔德雷德(1583年)在内的许多早期的旅行者认为巴比伦城位于别处,可能位于巴格达西部的著名遗迹阿卡尔库夫,该遗迹与巴别塔相似。然而,图德拉的本杰明(12世纪)认为古巴比伦城位于拜斯宁录废墟之下。

庇错·戴乐维于1616年参观了巴比尔(Bâbil),并正确地将巴比尔认定为巴比伦,伊曼纽尔·巴尔耶特(Emmanuel Ballyet)于1755年得出了相同的结论, exploration was undertaken by C. J. Rich (1811/12, 1821) and J. S. Buckingham and Mellino (1827). Ker Porter mapped the ruins (1818), as did Coste and Flandin (1841), while soundings were made by R. Mignan (1828) and more seriously by A. H. Layard (1850).

The first systematic excavations were directed by a French consul, Fresnel, with Oppert and Thomas in 1852. Their finds were regrettably lost when a boat containing them foundered at Qurna. Work was continued by E. Sachau in 1897/98, but it was left to the Deutsche Orientgesellschaft under Robert Koldewey to plan and carry out scientific excavations throughout the years 1899–1917. Work began with the Procession Way, the temple of Ninmah, and the palaces (1900), the Ninurta temple (1901), the Ishtar gate (1902), the Persian buildings (1906/07), Merkes (1908), and the rest of the Qaşr (1911/12).

From 1955 to 1968 the Iraqi Department of Antiquities carried out further clearances, especially of the Ishtar gateway, which was partially restored together with the Procession Way and the palaces. The Ninmah temple was reconstructed, and a museum and rest house built on the site, which is also partially covered by the village of Jumjummah. The German Archaeological Institute has continued its interest in the site by excavating the quay wall and the Greek theater.

约十年后, 卡尔斯顿·尼布尔也如是推论。里奇 (C. J. Rich, 1811 或 1812 年, 1821 年)、白金汉姆 (J. S. Buckingham) 和米利罗 (Mellino, 1827 年) 进行了地表探究。科尔·波特 (1818 年)、科斯特和弗兰丁 (Flandin, 1841 年) 绘制了废墟的地图, 米格南 (R. Mignan, 1828 年) 进行了试探性钻孔, 莱亚德 (A. H. Layard, 1850 年) 进行了更精确的测深。

1852 年, 一位法国领事、菲涅尔、奥波尔和托马斯首先进行了系统发掘。遗憾的是, 当一艘载着他们的小船在古尔奈沉没后, 他们的考古发现都遗失了。1897 或 1898 年, 沙宙 (E. Sachau) 继续进行发掘, 但 1899 至 1917 年, 罗伯特·考德威带领的德国东方研究院计划并进行了科学的发掘。他们陆续发现了巡游大路、宁玛赫神庙、皇宫 (1900 年)、尼努尔塔神庙 (1901 年)、伊师塔门 (1902 年)、波斯建筑 (1906 或 1907 年)、贸易中心 (1908 年) 和城堡的其他部分 (1911 或 1912 年)。

1955 年至 1968 年, 伊拉克文物部门进行了进一步的清理工作, 他们主要清理出了伊师塔门, 这座城门与巡游大路和皇宫一起被部分修复了。宁玛赫神庙被重建, 该位置还建起了一座博物馆和休息处, 这些建筑中的一部分在扎姆扎玛赫 (Jumjummah) 村。德国考古研究所继续对该地进行了挖掘, 并发现了岸墙和希腊剧院。

BABYLON IN THE NT.

Babylon (Gk. Babylōn) is used in the NT both literally and symbolically. In Mt. 1:11f., 17; Acts 7:43 the old Mesopotamian city is plainly meant. These all refer to the Captivity in Babylon.

All the references to Babylon in Revelation are evidently symbolic: cf. 14:8; 16:19; 17:5; 18:2, 10, 21. In 17:5 Babylon is designated as mystérion. This undoubtedly indicates that the name is to be understood figuratively. A few interpreters believe that Jerusalem is the city here designated as Babylon, but most scholars hold that Rome is meant. This interpretation goes back at least to the time of Tertullian (Adv. Marc. iii.13). It was adopted by Jerome and Augustine and has been commonly accepted by the Church. There are some strong reasons for accepting it.

BABYLON IN THE NT. 《新约》中的巴比伦

《新约》中既使用了巴比伦(希腊语: Babylōn)的字面含义,也使用了它的象征意义。《马太福音》1:11-12, 17和《使徒行传》7:43中的巴比伦指的是美索不达米亚的一座古老城市。这些都涉及到以色列人被掳巴比伦。

《启示录》中所提到的巴比伦显然都有象征意义:参:《启示录》14:8; 16:19; 17:5; 18:2, 10, 21。在《启示录》17:5中,巴比伦被称为“奥秘”(mystérion)。这无疑表明巴比伦这个名字应该按其象征意义来理解。一些释经者认为此处被称为巴比伦的城市应该是耶路撒冷,但大多学者认为指的是罗马。这种解释至少应追溯至特土良时期 (Adv. Marc. iii.13)。耶柔米和奥古斯丁接受了这种观点,教会也普遍认可这种说法。下面给出了支持这种观点的充分理由。

(1) 与当时的其他城市相比,罗马更

Babylon apply to Rome rather than to any other city of that age: (a) as ruling over the kings of the earth (17:18); (b) as sitting on seven mountains (17:9); (c) as the center of the world's merchandise (18:2f.; 19:2); (d) as the persecutor of the saints (17:6).

(2) Rome is designated as Babylon in the Sibylline Oracles (5:143), and this is perhaps an early Jewish portion of the book. The comparison of Rome to Babylon is common in Jewish apocalyptic literature (see 2 Esdras and 2 Baruch).

(3) Rome was regarded by both Jews and Christians as being antagonistic to the kingdom of God, and its downfall was confidently expected. This conception is in accord with the predicted downfall of Babylon (Rev. 14:8; 18:2, 10-21). As Babylon had been the oppressor of Israel, it was natural that this new power, which was oppressing the people of God, should be designated as Babylon.

In 1 Pet. 5:13 Babylon is designated as the place from which 1 Peter was written. Down to the time of the Reformation this was generally understood to mean Rome, and two cursives added en Roma. Since the Reformation, many scholars have followed Erasmus and Calvin and have urged that the Mesopotamian Babylon is meant. Three theories may be noted:

(1) That the Egyptian Babylon, or Old Cairo, is meant. Strabo (xvii.1.30), who wrote as late as A.D. 18, says the Egyptian Babylon was a strong fortress, founded by certain refugees from the Mesopotamian Babylon. But during the 1st cent. this was little more than a military station, and it is quite improbable that Peter would have

符合经文中巴比伦的特点：(a) 管辖地上众王 (启 17:18); (b) 坐在七座山上 (启 17:9); (c) 是世界上客商聚集的中心 (启 18:2-3; 19:2); (d) 是圣徒的迫害者 (启 17:6)。

(2) 《西卜神谕篇》5:143 中将罗马称为巴比伦,这可能是书中较早的犹太教部分。犹太教启示文学中经常将罗马与巴比伦进行对比 (见《以斯得拉二书》和《巴录二书》)。

(3) 犹太人和基督徒都认为罗马与神的国为敌,他们确信罗马必将倾覆。这种概念符合经文中预言的巴比伦将要倾覆 (启 14:8; 18:2, 10-21)。由于巴比伦曾经压迫以色列,因此这个压迫神的子民的新政权很自然地被称为巴比伦。

根据《彼得前书》5:13 中的经文,巴比伦是这封书信写成的地方。直至宗教改革时期之前,《新约》中的巴比伦通常被认为指的是罗马,两份草书原稿中添加了“在罗马”(en Roma)。自宗教改革之后,许多学者遵循了伊拉兹马斯和加尔文的观点,认为《新约》中的巴比伦指的就是美索不达米亚的巴比伦。有三种理论值得注意:

(1) 第一种理论认为《新约》中的巴比伦指的是埃及的巴比伦或古开罗。斯特拉波 (xvii.1.30) 直到公元 18 年才开始写作,他称埃及的巴比伦是一座坚固的堡垒,由一些来自美索不达米亚的巴比伦难民建成的。但在 1 世纪,这里仅仅是一座军用驿站,彼得不太可能去那里。也没有传说以任何方式将彼得和埃 gone there. There is no tradition that connects Peter in any way with Egypt. 及联系在一起。

(2) That the statement is to be taken literally and Babylon in Mesopotamia is meant. Many good scholars hold to this view, among them Weiss and Thayer; but there is no evidence that Peter was ever in Babylon, or that there was even a church there during the 1st century. Mark and Silvanus are associated with Peter in the letter and there is no tradition that connects either of them with Babylon. According to Josephus (Ant. xviii.9.5–9), the Jews at this time had largely been driven out of Babylon and were confined to neighboring towns, and it seems improbable that Peter would have made that his missionary field.

(3) That Rome is here again the city designated as Babylon. The Apocalypse would indicate that the churches would understand the symbolic reference, and it seems to have been so understood until the time of the Reformation. The denial of this position was in line with the Reformers' effort to refute Peter's supposed connection with the Roman church. Ancient tradition, however, makes it quite probable that Peter did make a visit to Rome (see J. B. Lightfoot, ed., Apostolic Fathers, I, Clement, Part 2 [1890], 493–97).

Internal evidence helps to substantiate the theory that Rome was the place from which the letter was written. Mark sends greetings (1 Pet. 5:13), and we know he had been summoned to Rome by the apostle Paul (2 Tim. 4:11). The whole passage, "She who is at Babylon, who is likewise chosen, sends you greetings," seems to be figurative, and that being true,

(2) 第二种理论认为应按字面含义理解《新约》中的巴比伦，也就是美索不达米亚的巴比伦。许多著名学者支持这种观点，如韦斯和赛叶；但没有证据表明彼得曾去过巴比伦，或表明 1 世纪时，巴比伦曾有一座教堂。信中提及马可和西拉与彼得一起，但没有传说将任何一人与巴比伦联系在一起。根据约瑟夫斯的记载 (Ant. xviii.9.5–9)，当时的犹太人大多被驱逐出巴比伦，被困于附近的城镇中，彼得似乎不可能在那里传道。

(3) 第三种理论认为《新约》中的巴比伦指的是罗马。启示表明教会能够理解这种象征意义，在宗教改革时期之前，教会似乎一直将巴比伦理解为罗马。否认这种观点符合改教家的观点，他们驳斥了彼得与罗马教会可能有联系的说法。然而，古时的传说表明彼得很有可能确实去过罗马（见 J. B. Lightfoot 编，Apostolic Fathers, I, Clement, 第二部分[1890 年], 493-497）。

经内的证据有助于证明罗马是《彼得前书》写成之地的观点。马可在信中问了安（彼前 5:13），而我们知道使徒保罗曾叫马来罗马（提后 4:11）。整个段落，“在巴比伦与你们同蒙拣选的教会问你们安”，似乎都有比喻意义，如果确实是这样的话，那么用巴比伦来代替罗马是很自然的。整封信的特点表明罗马是写信之地。蓝西认为这卷经文中所

it is natural that Babylon should have been used instead of Rome. The character of the letter as a whole would point to Rome as the place of writing. Ramsay thinks this book is impregnated with Roman thought beyond any other book in the Bible (see CRE, p. 286).

包含的罗马思想要超过《圣经》中其他任何一卷经文（见 CRE，286 页）。 bab-ə-lō'nə-ə. Southern Mesopotamia (modern south Iraq) was the site of the first civilization (Gen. 10:10), first called SUMER and Akkad and later Chaldea. Abraham migrated from here to Palestine (Gen. 11:31). The Babylonian army overran Judah and took the Jews into exile there. Throughout the OT Babylonia and its inhabitants, “Babylonians” (Heb. bēnē babēl—‘sons of Babylon’) were a symbol of opposition to God’s people (see also BABYLON).

I. Geography.-Babylonia designates the plain of Iraq S of the Hamrīn hills, themselves the border with her northern neighbor Assyria. It is bounded on the east by the Persian (Elamite) hills, to the west by the Syrian desert, and to the south by the Persian Gulf. The whole is divided and watered by the slow-flowing river Euphrates and swift Tigris (Gen. 2:14), which flowed southward through steppe and marshes to the Persian Gulf (Kaidu or Chaldea). The southern area has been subject to a geosyncline in which the land levels have risen where silting has occurred, but the coastline may not have changed. To the west lies the desert

I. 地理。巴比伦指的是哈姆林山 (Hamrīn) 南部的伊拉克平原, 这些山是分割巴比伦和北方邻国亚述的疆界。巴比伦的地域东至波斯 (以拦) 山, 西至是叙利亚沙漠, 南至波斯湾。水流平缓的幼发拉底河和水流湍急的底格里斯河分割并灌溉着巴比伦全地 (创 2:14), 这两条河流向南流经干草原和沼泽地, 最终汇入波斯湾 (卡尔度或迦勒底)。南部地区受地槽地质影响, 地平面上升, 形成了泥土淤积, 但海岸线可能不曾变化。巴比伦西部的沙漠一直从叙利亚延伸至阿拉伯。 stretching from Syria to Arabia.

The main rivers, fed from the northern hills and from tributaries (e.g., Diyala), formed the source from which a network of canals made the region very fertile when supplemented with winter rain. The wheat, date groves, and grazing-land supported a large population. The principal cities lay on or near the river Euphrates. In the north (called Akkad) were Babylon the capital, Agade (Gen. 10:10), Sippar, Borsippa, Kutha, and Kish, and in the south (Sumer) were Nippur, Uruk (Erech, Gen. 10:10), Umma, Lagash, and Ur. Although the designation “Sumer and Akkad” was retained as the official title of the country, from ca. 1800 B.C. it was called after its capital Babylon (hence Gk. Babylonia). When Babylon fell to the southern tribesmen in 626 B.C. it was externally known as “the land of the Chaldeans” (Jer. 24:5; Ezk. 12:13).

II. Peoples.—Though it cannot be certain, the earliest inhabitants appear to have been Semites, according to the evidence of early place names and some texts from ca. 2800 B.C. (Abu Šalabīḥ). Till the mid-2nd millennium the non-Semitic Sumerians appear to have lived amid a predominantly Semitic population. Babylonia was in contact with Assyrians, Amorites, Chaldeans, and Arabs and Elamites on its borders and, by trade, with Syria and Egypt. Hittites invaded ca. 1645 B.C., and Kassites and Gutians from the eastern hills took over control for a time. The Judeans were exiled there for at least seventy years from 604 B.C. (Jer. 25:11).

III. Languages.—The earliest identifiable language used in Babylonia is the non-Semitic agglutinative Sumerian

发源自北部山脉和由支流（如迪亚拉）汇聚而成的主要河流经冬季降雨的补充，形成了运河网，从而使这片地区十分富饶。麦子、枣椰树林和草场养活了大量人口。主要的城市位于幼发拉底河河岸上或附近流域。巴比伦北部（被称为阿卡德）是都城巴比伦城、亚甲（创 10:10）、西巴尔、博尔西帕、库德和基什，南部（苏美尔）是尼普尔、乌鲁克（以力，创 10:10）、乌玛、拉格什和吾珥。虽然从约公元前 1800 年起，这个王国的官方名称始终是“苏美尔和阿卡德”，但是它因都城巴比伦城而得名巴比伦王国（因此希腊语为 Babylonia）。公元前 626 年，巴比伦城被南部部落侵占时，外人称其为“迦勒底人之地”（耶 24:5；结 12:13）。

II. 民族。虽然无法确定，但是根据早期地名和一些约公元前 2800 年的文献（阿布塞莱比[Abu Šalabīḥ]）记载推测，这里最早的住民似乎是闪族人。但直到公元前 1500 年，除了绝大多数的闪族人外，这里似乎还居住着非闪族血统的苏美尔人。巴比伦人与边境地区的亚述人、亚摩利人、迦勒底人、阿拉伯人和以拦人有接触，巴比伦与叙利亚和埃及有贸易往来。公元前 1645 年，赫人侵占了巴比伦，来自于东部山脉的喀西特人和古蒂人也曾掌控过巴比伦。公元前 604 年起，犹太人被掳至巴比伦至少 70 年之久（耶 25:11）。

III. 语言。最早在巴比伦使用的可辨别的语言是非闪族的粘着型苏美尔语，这种语言使用楔形文字（见 WRITING[写 employing the cuneiform script (see WRITING). It cannot yet be identified with any known language group, though it bears several characteristics which later appear in different branches of languages.

Several local Semitic dialects appear from ca. 2800 B.C., the most influential being the Amorite Old Babylonian, which became the diplomatic lingua franca of the whole ancient Near East (see 2 K. 18:26). With the rise of the Chaldeans ca. 626 B.C. Aramaic was clearly influencing the local Neo-Babylonian dialect. Aramaic itself became the dominant Semitic dialect in use alongside the local “Late Babylonian” in Achaemenid times as the diplomatic language of the period. Babylonian dialects continued in use, with the cuneiform script for religious purposes at Babylon, until the 1st cent. A.D.

IV. History.-A. Prehistory. The earliest human traces in Mesopotamia in the northern hills (Sulaimania) include Middle Paleolithic implements usually dated about 120,000 years ago. Mousterian skeletons from the Shanidar Caves are said to be about 45,000 years old. The Neolithic revolution (ca. 7000 B.C.) resulted in the settlement of villages with a pre-ceramic culture on irrigated sites. Farming settlements were devoted to cereal crops, husbandry, and early iron and bronzeworking. Some have identified this with the environment portrayed in Gen. 3-5. Phases of culture named after sites where distinctive finds were made include Eridu (possibly Irad, Gen. 4:18) with its early series of temples, Hajji Muhammad, Ubaid, Uruk, and Jemdet Nasr (“Protoliterate”). The “birth of civilization” in this region, which antedates that of Egypt, was marked by the use of writing (Uruk IV, Kish), irrigation, and urbanization. The Sumerian civilization now blossomed around the temple-cities with a social system that was to remain unchanged for many centuries.

一些当地的闪族方言从约公元前 2800 年开始出现,其中最具影响力的是亚摩利人使用的古巴比伦语,这些方言后来成为了整个古近东地区的外交通用语(王下 18:26)。随着迦勒底人的崛起(约公元前 626 年),亚兰语显然影响了当地的新巴比伦语方言。亚兰语变成了主要的闪族方言,它和当地的“晚期巴比伦语”成为了阿契美尼德时期的外交语言。直至公元 1 世纪,巴比伦语方言和宗教用途的楔形文字仍在巴比伦使用。

IV. 历史。A. 史前史。美索不达米亚北部山脉(苏莱曼尼亚区)最早的人类生存迹象包括那些通常可以追溯到 12 万年前的旧石器时代中期的工具。臆尼达尔洞穴(Shanidar Caves)中发现的莫斯特人骸骨可以追溯至 4 万 5 千年前。新石器革命(约公元前 7000 年)后,灌溉地区出现了一些陶器文化以前的村落定居点。农业定居点用于种植粮食作物、饲养牲畜以及制造早期的铁器和青铜器。一些学者认为这就是《创世记》3-5 章中所描绘的生活环境。各个文明阶段以其出现的地区命名,这些遗址中的独特考古发现包括埃利都(可能是以拿,创 4:18)及该地的众多早期神庙、哈吉·默罕默德、欧贝德、乌鲁克和捷姆迭特·那色(Jemdet Nasr,“原始文字时期”)。在这一地区“文明诞生”的时间要早于埃及文明诞生的时间,该文明诞生的一个标志就是开始使用文字(乌鲁克 IV,基什),用水灌溉并出现城镇化。苏美尔文明此时开始在神庙

B. Sumerians. The origin of these early settlers is much questioned, the prevailing view being that they entered from the east and south. Their tradition was that “kingship was lowered from heaven” first to Eridu. Their king lists name five pre-Flood cities where eight (or ten) kings reigned a total of 241,200 years. “Then the Flood swept over” (see FLOOD [GENESIS]). Kingship was resumed at Kish but soon wrested from there by Uruk (biblical Erech, modern Warka), where a powerful dynasty (Enmerkar, Lugalbanda, Dumuzi [Tammuz], and Gilgamesh) held sway. Although a cycle or series of epics has clustered round these figures, especially that of Gilgamesh, the hero of the Babylonian flood story (see IX.A below), there is accumulating evidence of their historical basis. Gilgamesh mastered Agga of Kish in this spectacular period of which the splendor can be seen in the royal cemetery at Ur. This dynasty traded with Syria, Persia, and perhaps as far as the Indus Valley.

With the breakup of the Uruk dynasty, Sumer fragmented into thirteen city-states each under a chief (en-si) governing on behalf of the city-god. In the 1st Dynasty of Kish, Enmebaragesi had built the temple of the supreme god Enlil at Nippur, which thereafter became a special sacred capital city. When the power of Kish was curtailed by Gilgamesh, Ur took up the leading role under Mesanne-pada. In its turn it was overridden by Ur-Nanshe of Lagash. His grandson Eannatum (ca. 2550

和城市的周边发展起来,这种文明的社会制度历经数个世纪不曾改变。

B. 苏美尔人。这些早期定居者的起源备受质疑,人们普遍认为他们来自于东方和南方。根据他们的传说,最初的“王权从天而降”至埃利都。苏美尔人的国王列表中列出了大洪水之前统治着 5 座城市的 8 (或 10) 位国王,他们的统治时间总计 241,200 年。“随后,大洪水淹没了全地”(见 FLOOD [GENESIS], 大洪水[《创世记》])。在基什重新出现了王权,但很快被乌鲁克(《圣经》中的以力,现代的瓦尔卡)的强大王朝取代(恩麦卡尔、鲁伽班达、杜木茨[搭模斯]和吉尔伽美什)。虽然一套或一系列史诗描绘了这些人物,尤其描绘了巴比伦大洪水故事中的英雄——吉尔伽美什(见下文 IX.A),但是关于这些历史人物的证据越来越多。在这个引人注目的时期,吉尔伽美什控制着基什的阿伽,吾珥的皇家陵园体现出了当时的辉煌。苏美尔王朝与叙利亚、波斯、甚至可能与远方的印度河谷有贸易往来。

随着乌鲁克王朝的瓦解,苏美尔人分散到 13 个城邦中,每座城邦中都有一个首领(恩西)代表城邦的神来管理百姓。在基什第一王朝时期,恩美巴拉格西在尼普尔建立了至高神恩利尔的神庙,在那之后,尼普尔成为了一个特别神圣的都城。当吉尔伽美什剥夺了基什的权力之后,吾珥在麦萨内帕达的统治下,占据了主导地位,但随后又被拉格什的乌尔南什颠覆了。他的孙子恩纳图姆(约公元前 2550 年)将苏美尔从以拦侵略者的手中解放出来,战胜了吾珥和基

B.C.) freed Sumer of Elamite raiders, won over Ur and Kish, and warred with his neighbor Umma. His nephew Entemena continued this hostility but made a pact with Uruk and Ur. Lagash revived for a while under the reformer Urukagina, but was destroyed by Lugalzagesi, who captured Uruk and Nippur and claimed dominion from the Persian Gulf to the Mediterranean. His claim may be true, as it was for succeeding Semitic rulers of Babylonia.

See also SUMER.

C. Akkad. Sargon (Šarrukīn I), a vizier of Kish, founded a strong dynasty at a new city, Agade, which gave its name to the line of successors (Akkadians), 2370–2190 B.C., and to the northern part of Babylonia (Akkad). He gained control of Uruk, dismantled the walls of that and other cities, and took over Lugalzagesi's wide realm. Trade with Mediterranean and Anatolian peoples flourished. He maintained suzerainty over Assyria and for this reason some identify him with Nimrod of Gen. 10:9–12. His grandson Naram-Sin held the empire together, maintaining garrisons in the north (Nineveh, Brāk). The Gutian invasion from the eastern hills is described as the action of the goddess Inanna abandoning her cursed city of Agade. These newcomers (2230–2120 B.C.) assimilated the Semitic customs and language. Then Lagash, which had suffered little, flourished under Gudea, who controlled Nippur and Uruk, until by 2100 B.C. most of the former city-states reasserted their independence.

D. Ur III Dynasty. This new regime at Ur (2113–2006 B.C.) witnessed a renaissance

另见 SUMER (苏美尔)。

*C. 阿卡德。*撒珥根(沙鲁金一世)是基什的维齐尔，他在新城亚甲建立了一个强大的王朝(公元前 2370 至 2190 年)，后来的继承者(阿卡德人)和巴比伦北部(阿卡德)都以亚甲的名字命名。撒珥根占领了乌鲁克，拆除了乌鲁克等城市的城墙，并接管了卢加尔扎格西的广阔领地。与地中海和安纳托利亚民族的贸易繁盛起来。他一直统治着亚述，因此，一些学者认为他就是《创世记》10:9-12 中的宁录。他的孙子纳拉姆辛统一了整个帝国，始终保守着北部的要塞(尼尼微, Brāk)。从东部山脉来的古蒂人入侵亚甲被描述成女神伊南娜遗弃了这座被诅咒的城市。这些入侵者(公元前 2230-2120 年)同化了闪族的习俗和语言。随后，几乎未受侵扰的拉格什在古地亚的统治下繁荣起来，古地亚一直控制着尼普尔和乌鲁克，直到公元前 2100 年，前文提到的大多城邦都重新宣布独立。 of Sumerian civilization well attested by numerous documents. The founder, Ur-Nammu, rebuilt his capital and restored the temples at his vassal-cities Eridu, Lagash, Isin, Nippur, and Uruk. More than 1100 brickmakers worked for a year to build the temple-tower and sacred precinct of Ur. He maintained close links with outlying governors (e.g., in Babylon and Assyria) through a messenger service and traded between the Persian Gulf and India.

*D. 吾珥第三王朝。*许多文献有力地证明了这个吾珥的新政权(公元前

Ur-Nammu was followed by a series of vigorous rulers (Šulgi, Amar-Sin [Amar-Su'en], Šu-Sin) each of whom had once been a local governor. Despite defensive measures and punitive raids it proved impossible to withstand the armed incursions of the Semites from the western desert. The Amorite tribesmen isolated the city from its empire; and amid the collapse of central authority, raiders from Elam captured the last king Ibbi-Sin, sacked Ur, and brought the Sumerians to an end as a political force. It may be that the migration of Terah and Abraham (Gen.

E. Isin and Larsa. The West Semites who now took over the main cities brought a new conception of kingship, in which the palace controlled the land, and state institutions existed alongside the temple economy and private enterprise that had characterized their Sumerian predecessors. Some of the latter still controlled some centers. For example, Išbi-Irra, governor of Isin, won back Ur, Nippur, and Dēr and restored the trade that had dwindled during the unrest. Išme-Dagan, however, faced increasing incursions from the western tribes as well as from Assyria (under Ilušuma), which claimed to have “freed” the southern cities. Lipit-Ishtar of Isin faced opposition from Larsa, whose ruler Gungunum had captured Ur and absorbed Nippur and Uruk into his kingdom. Lipit-Ishtar’s successor was a West Semite, Sumu-ilum, who inaugurated the well-known Amorite 1st Dynasty of Babylon whose growing power led to an inevitable clash with Larsa, which controlled the south despite raiders from the eastern hills. Isin was won back by an Elamite sheikh Kudur-Mabuk (see CHEDORLAOMER), who placed his son Warad-Sin on the throne. A revolution led by his brother Rīm-Sin of Larsa brought yet another change. This powerful personality was to rule all central and southern Babylonia for thirty-six years.

F. Amorite Dynasty. At Babylon, Hammurabi (1792–1750 B.C.) consolidated his position and, as can be judged from the Mari Letters, dominated a coalition of ten kings, the same number as followed Rīm-Sin of Larsa, Ibal-pī-’el his contemporary at Eshnunna, and the kings of Qatanum, but fewer than those owing allegiance to Yarīm-Lim of Yamḥad (Aleppo). At this time Mari on the Euphrates was ruled by Yasmaḥ-Adad, son of Šamši-Adad I of Assyria. In his seventh year Hammurabi captured Uruk and Isin and destroyed Malgium. While the uneasy truce with Assyria and Eshnunna lasted, Hammurabi devoted himself to local affairs. He strengthened the palace's hold over land, which he distributed on "feudal" terms to ex-soldiers and other palace dependents. In his twenty-ninth year a dramatic victory over the rulers E of the Tigris opened the way for a major assault on his old rival Rīm-Sin of Larsa. When this was accomplished, together with victories over Eshnunna and Mari, Babylon controlled a wide area of diverse cities and peoples. The internal stability throughout the reign owed much to Hammurabi as judge (see VII below) and his piety toward the gods of the major cult centers. (See also HAMMURABI).

E. 伊辛和拉尔萨。西闪族人此时接管了主要的城市,并提出了一种新的王权概念,在这种概念中,皇宫控制着土地,国家机构、神庙经济和私人商业同时存在,神庙经济和私人商业是之前苏美尔王朝的特征。一些苏美尔人仍然统治着部分中心城市。例如,伊辛的总督伊斯比·以拉(Išbi-Irra)夺回了吾珥、尼普尔和德尔(Dēr),并恢复了因动乱而减少的贸易活动。然而,伊斯迈·达甘(Išme-Dagan)却面临着西方部落和亚述(在伊鲁苏玛[Ilušuma]的统治下)的越来越多的侵略行为,亚述自称“解放了”南部的城市。伊辛的里皮特·伊什塔面临着拉尔萨的反抗,拉尔萨的统治者冈古农占领了吾珥,并把尼普尔和乌鲁克都纳入了拉尔萨王国的版图。里皮特·伊什塔的继任者是一个西方的闪族人,名叫苏穆·伊冷(Sumu-ilum),他建立了著名的亚摩利巴比伦第一王朝,王朝的权力不断增长,不可避免地与拉尔萨王国产生了冲突,拉尔萨王国控制着南部地区,虽然来自东部山脉的侵略者经常袭扰这一地区。以拦族长库都尔·马布克(见 CHEDORLAOMER [基大老玛])夺回了伊辛,并将自己的儿子瓦拉德辛推上了王位。他的兄弟拉尔萨的利姆辛(Rīm-Sin)所率领的革命引发了又一次变动。这位强大的人物统治了巴比伦中部和南部地区长达 36 年。

F. 亚摩利王朝。汉谟拉比(公元前 1792-1750 年)在巴比伦巩固了自己的地位,正如马里泥版中所体现的,他支配着十王联盟,拉尔萨的利姆辛、和他同时代的艾什努那的伊巴尔·皮艾勒(Ibal-pī-’el)以及卡塔努姆(Qatanum)

Hammurabi's successors had to face a revolt by the Sea-Land tribes of the southern marshes. In 1595 the Hittite Mursilis I swept from Aleppo to Babylon. His withdrawal left a weakened regime to face inroads from the Kassites, mountain folk from the northeast.

G. Kassites. The newcomers under Agum-kakrime gradually infiltrated Babylonia and, once in command of Babylon itself, united the whole country against pressure from the Mitanni rulers of Assyria. Their liberal attitude toward Babylonian religion, learning, trade, and institutions, which continued unchanged, was a major unifying factor. It enabled them also to quiet the rebellious south, though here military force was required. Agum-kakrime's successor Kara-indaš was allied by marriage with Amenhotep (Amenophis) III of Egypt, and these relations were maintained by his successors. Kurigalzu II (ca. 1345–1324) restored Ur and founded a new capital at Dūr-Kurigalzu ('Aqar Qūf). The Kassites were much interested in Babylonian religion, rebuilding the shrines, and recopying religious texts. Secular administrative control, to judge from the names of officials, remained in the hands of native Babylonians. Grants of royal land recorded as charters (sometimes with tax exemption) are found on boundary stones (kudurru) of the period. This decentralization undoubtedly decreased the power of the central authority to withstand the incursions of the Aramean tribesmen from the western desert. This allowed Assyrian action against Babylonia, and enabled Elam to rule Babylon itself for a while (ca. 1151 B.C.).

的列王都支配着同样数量的附属王,但效忠于亚木哈德 (Yamḥad, 阿勒波) 的雅里姆利姆 (Yarīm-Lim) 的附属王却多于十位。此时, 亚述的沙马什·阿达德一世之子亚斯马·阿达德 (Yasmaḥ-Adad) 统治着幼发拉底河河岸上的马里。汉谟拉比在位第七年时, 占领了乌鲁克和伊辛, 并摧毁了马尔吉乌姆。当汉谟拉比与亚述和艾什努那暂时休战, 他致力于处理当地事务。他加强了皇宫对土地的掌控, 将这些土地“分封”给退伍士兵和其他皇室亲属。汉谟拉比在位第 29 年时, 戏剧性地战胜了底格里斯河东岸的统治者, 为大举袭击他的老对手拉尔萨的利姆辛开辟了道路。他打败了老对手之后, 又占领了艾什努那和马里, 巴比伦控制了拥有多个城市和民族的广阔地区。汉谟拉比统治时期稳定的国内局面应归功于这位立法者的公义和他对主要宗教中心诸神的虔诚(另见 HAMMURABI [汉谟拉比])。

汉谟拉比的继位者不得不面对南部沼泽中海陆部落的叛乱。公元前 1595 年, 赫人模斯理斯 (Mursilis) 一世从阿勒波一直打到了巴比伦城。他撤退后, 巴比伦第一王朝衰落, 而且还面临着东北山民喀西特人入侵的危险。

G. 喀西特人。这些新来者在阿贡卡克里默 (Agum-kakrime) 的领导下, 逐渐渗透到巴比伦中, 集合全国之力对抗来自亚述的米坦尼统治者的压力, 他们曾一度控制了巴比伦城。他们对巴比伦宗教、学识、贸易和体系的自由态度仍未改变, 这是王国统一的一个重要因素。这种自由的态度促使他们平息了南部的叛乱, 虽然他们平乱时也动用了军

事力量。阿贡卡克里默的继位者卡拉因达斯 (Kara-indaš) 与埃及的阿蒙霍特普 (阿蒙诺菲斯) 三世联姻, 随后的各个继位者也都维持着这种关系。库里加尔祖 (Kurigalzu) 二世 (约公元前 1345 年至 1324 年) 修复了吾珥, 并在都尔库里加尔祖 (Dūr-Kurigalzu, 阿卡尔库夫) 建立新都。喀西特人非常关注巴比伦的宗教, 他们重建了神殿, 还抄写了宗教文献。根据官员的名字判断, 巴比伦人仍然行使着行政权。当时的界石 (赠地文书) 上记录着准许授予王室土地的特权。这种非集权化无疑削弱了中央集权, 以至于很难抵抗西部沙漠的亚美尼亚部落的侵略。亚述因此可以对巴比伦展开行动, 以拦也因此一度控制了巴比伦城 (约公元前 1151 年)。

H. Middle Babylonian Period. Nebuchadnezzar I (ca. 1124–1103) accumulated support from the Babylonian tribes and landowners on the eastern frontier sufficient to mount a highly successful campaign against Elam. He plundered Susa and restored the exiled god Marduk to his place in Babylon amid public rejoicing, an act long to be remembered in Babylonian literature. However, this was not enough to unite local factions for long in the face of constant attacks from nomads, floods, and famine. For more than a century Babylonia was dominated by the southern tribes of the 2nd (or Paše) Dynasty of Isin (called the Sea-Land Dynasty, 1026–987) and the House of Bazi (987–977) until finally control returned to the 8th Dynasty at Babylon itself.

I. Assyrian Supremacy. Freed from Mitanni domination, the Assyrians under Ashurnasirpal (883–859) controlled northern Babylonia and held the southern tribes (Kaldu) in check. His son Shalmaneser III (858–824) consolidated this hold after a show of force against the Kaldu (Chaldean) chiefs, who were now made tribute-paying vassals. Šamši-Adad V had to fight Marduk-balāssu-iqbi of Babylon, who had allied himself with Elam, and entered Babylon 811 B.C. This led to a series of raids directed to control the southern tribes. Tiglath-pileser III of Assyria, “king of Sumer and Akkad,” took the title of “king of Babylon” in 729 B.C., having claimed the throne in 745 under his native name Pul(u) (2 K. 15:19; 1 Ch.

H. 中巴比伦时期。尼布甲尼撒一世（约公元前1124-1103年）获得了许多来自东部边境的巴比伦部落和地主们的支持，这足以使他发动一场打败以拦的战役。他掠夺了书珊，在民众的欢呼声中，将被掳走的玛尔杜克神像安置回巴比伦城，这个行为在巴比伦文学中被铭记了很久。然而，由于面临着游牧民族、洪水和饥荒的不断侵袭，他无法长期联合当地的派系。伊辛第二（或帕赛 [Paše]）王朝（被称为海陆王朝，公元前1026-987年）的南方部落和巴兹家族（House of Bazi, 987-977）统治了巴比伦一个多世纪，最终，巴比伦第八王朝重新夺回了巴比伦的统治权。

I. 亚述霸权。亚述巴尼帕（公元前883-859年）率领亚述人摆脱了米坦尼的控制，占领了巴比伦北部地区，并牵制住了南方部落（卡尔度）。亚述巴尼帕的儿子撒幔以色列三世（公元前858-824年）向卡尔度（迦勒底）首领炫耀武力，巩固了控制权，这些首领此时已经成为向亚述纳贡的诸侯。沙马什·阿达德五世与以拦结盟，攻打巴比伦的玛尔杜克·巴拉苏·伊克比（Marduk-balāssu-iqbi），并于公元前811年入侵巴比伦。这引发了一系列为抢夺南方部落控制权的突袭。亚述的提革拉毗列色三世，“苏美尔和阿卡德的王”于公元前745年以本名普勒称王（王下15:19；代上5:26），后于公元前729年自号“巴比伦王”。他收复了早先被普曲度（比割，耶50:21）的亚兰

5:26). He had earlier recovered ground lost to the Aramean tribe of Puqudu (Pekod, Jer. 50:21) and reinstated a native Nabû-nāšir (Nabonassar) as king in Babylon. When he died in 734, Ukīn-zēr, a sheikh of the Amukkani tribe, seized the throne. The situation was restored only by Tiglath-pileser's acceptance of support from the Chaldean Marduk-apla-iddina (see MERODACH-BALADAN) while his army besieged the other tribes.

族占领的土地，并恢复了当地人那布·那西尔的王位。公元前 734 年，那布·那西尔死后，阿姆卡尼（Amukkani）部落族长乌金泽（Ukīn-zēr）夺取了王位。只有当提革拉毗列色围攻其他部落，接受迦勒底人玛尔杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳（Marduk-apla-iddina，见 MERODACH-BALADAN [比罗达巴拉但]）的支持后，这种局面才得以恢复。

Tiglath-pileser's son Sargon II called himself "vice-regent of Babylon" when he was welcomed into the city, and Marduk-apla-iddina submitted to him, being allowed to retain his chieftainship of the Bīt-Yakin tribe. Sargon's own account of the desolation of Babylon in 709 B.C. has much in common with Isa. 13:1-22. When Marduk-apla-iddina later seized Babylon with Elamite assistance, Sennacherib marched to defeat the coalition in 703 B.C. and sack the city. While Marduk-apla-iddina was left to retreat to the southern marshes. Bēl-ibni was set up as a puppet ruler dependent on Assyria. This did not last, for Marduk-apla-iddina sought outside help for his renewed resistance, including overtures to Judah (2 K. 20:12–19; Isa. 39; see HEZEKIAH). Once more the Assyrian army raided the tribal lands and Marduk-apla-iddina fled into exile. In 692 a further Assyrian campaign led to the defeat of Aramean rebels and their Elamite supporters at Ḫalule. Babylon was sacked after a siege of nine months. These events form the background of Isaiah's prophecies against Babylon (chs. 14; 39; 43:14).

当提革拉毗列色之子撒珥根二世被迎进巴比伦时，他自称“巴比伦的副摄政王”，玛尔杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳向他臣服，并被允许保留比特亚金部落的族长身份。撒珥根在自己的记录中称巴比伦城于公元前 709 年被废弃，这与《以赛亚书》13:1-22 中的记载一致。当玛尔杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳后来在以拦人的帮助下围攻巴比伦城时，西拿基立于公元前 703 年出兵击败二者的联盟，并洗劫了巴比伦城。而玛尔杜克·阿普

Esarhaddon's conciliatory policy toward Babylon enabled peace and trade to be restored so that an Elamite raid there in 675 B.C. elicited no welcome from the independent tribes. Esarhaddon appointed one of his sons Šamaš-šum-ukīn, of equal status (perhaps a twin) to Ashurbanipal, as crown prince of Babylon in 672 B.C. He took over in 668 but his jurisdiction was limited, as some major cities (Nippur) and several Assyrian garrisons and officials owed allegiance directly to Ashurbanipal in Nineveh. It seems that by 652 B.C. pressure from the tribes and Elam, combined perhaps with a misplaced belief in Ashurbanipal's weakness and conciliatory advances, led to open rebellion. But the Arabian and other tribes gradually forsook Babylon under famine and siege. When the Elamites also were defeated, Šamaš-šum-ukīn committed suicide in his burning palace, and Babylon fell into Assyrian hands (648 B.C.). Despite further raids against the Arab tribes (642–638) the southern tribesmen

拉·伊迪纳则撤退到南部的沼泽中。亚述推举贝尔·伊比尼作傀儡统治巴比伦。这种局面没维持多久，因为玛尔杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳寻求外援企图再次夺权，这些外援中包括犹大（王下 20:12-19；赛 39；见 HEZEKIAH [希西家]）。随后，亚述军队再次袭击了部落领地，玛尔杜克·阿普拉·伊迪纳被迫逃亡。公元前 692 年，亚述发动了另一次战役，击败了亚美尼亚的叛乱者及其来自哈路勒（Ḫalule）的以拦人同盟。巴比伦被围 9 个月之后，遭到了洗劫。这些事件构成了以赛亚关于巴比伦预言的背景（赛 14；39；43:14）。

以撒哈顿对巴比伦采取的安抚政策带来了和平，还恢复了贸易，因此当公元前 675 年以拦人攻击巴比伦时，他们并未受到独立部落的欢迎。公元前 672 年，以撒哈顿将他的一个儿子沙马舒姆金（与亚述巴尼帕地位相同，他们可能是双胞胎）立为巴比伦的王储。公元前 668 年，沙马舒姆金接管巴比伦，但他的权力有限，因为一些主要城市（尼普尔）和数支亚述驻军及官员都直接效忠于尼尼微的亚述巴尼帕。到公元前 652 年，亚述面对很多部落和以拦的压力，加之沙玛舒姆金可能误以为亚述巴尼帕很软弱，他竟公然反叛。但阿拉伯等部落因遭受饥荒和围攻，渐渐放弃了巴比伦城。当以拦人也被亚述打败之后，沙马舒姆金在燃烧的皇宫中自杀了，巴比伦城落入了亚述人的手中（公元前 648 年）。虽然阿拉伯部族后来再次受到了亚述的袭击（公元前 642-638 年），但这些南方的部族从未放弃争取独立。

J. Chaldeans. The gap in the Assyrian annals after 639 makes it difficult to trace the decline of that power under aging Ashurbanipal. The Babylonian tribes were not slow to strive for total independence. The Babylonian Chronicles tell of their attack on the Assyrian garrisons of Sin-šar-iškun in northern Babylonia in 627 B.C. When the Assyrian army marched to relieve Nippur they were forced to retreat. The Babylonian commander Nabû-apla-ušur (Nabopolassar) successfully defended Babylon and six weeks later was acclaimed king (Nov. 22, 626) in place of the Assyrian successor of Šamaš-šum-ukīn, Kandalanu, who had died a year earlier. The Assyrians repeated the attempt to reinforce the Nippur garrison but were unsuccessful. In 616/615 they were defeated by the crown prince of Babylon, Nebuchadnezzar, in the middle Euphrates and driven back to the heart of Assyria proper. This prepared the way for the Babylonian attack on Asshur (614) and, with the Medes, the final sack of Nineveh in August 612 (Nah. 1:8; see NINEVEH). The same Chronicles report further expeditions, which culminated in the defeat of the Assyrians and Egyptians at Harran (609) and of the Egyptians at Carchemish in 605 B.C. Then Nebuchadrezzar “conquered the whole of Syro-Palestine” (so also 2 K. 24:7; Josephus Ant. x.6.86). The crown prince, who was at Riblah (Riblah, Jer. 39:5) when he heard of Nabopolassar’s death, rode home to succeed to the throne (Sept. 6, 605) and then returned for another campaign in Palestine.

J. 迦勒底人。公元前 639 年之后，亚述编年史上出现了断代，因此很难找到亚述巴尼帕年老时权力衰退的证据。巴比伦的部落迅速行动以争取完全的独立。《巴比伦年代志》记载道，公元前 627 年，这些部落攻击了巴比伦北部辛沙里施坤的亚述驻军。当亚述出军救援尼普尔时，他们被迫撤军。巴比伦指挥官那波帕拉萨尔（Nabû-apla-ušur）成功地守住了巴比伦，六周后（公元前 626 年，11 月 22 日），他登基称王，取代了一年前死去的沙马舒姆金的亚述继位者坎达拉努。亚述人再次试图支援尼普尔驻军，但以失败告终。公元前 616 或 615 年，巴比伦王储尼布甲尼撒在幼发拉底河中游击败了亚述人，并将他们彻底赶至亚述中心地区。这为巴比伦人和玛代人攻击阿舒尔（公元前 614 年）和最终劫掠尼尼微（公元前 612 年 8 月，鸿 1:8；见 NINEVEH [尼尼微]）埋下了伏笔。《巴比伦年代志》还记载了其他远征，这些远征以公元前 609

In the following year “all the kings of Syro-Palestine,” including Jehoiakim of Judah (2 K. 24:1), became his vassals. However, when in 601 Nebuchadrezzar II was defeated by Neco II of Egypt in a fierce battle, Jehoiakim switched his allegiance. Two years later the Babylonians raided the Arab tribes (Jer. 49:28–33) and so prepared the way for retaliation on Judah. In Nebuchadrezzar’s seventh year “he besieged the city of Judah, capturing it on the second day of the month Adaru [= Mar. 16, 597 B.C.]. He took the king [JEHOIACHIN] and put a king of his own choice [Mattaniah/Zedekiah] on the throne. Having taken much spoil from the city, he sent it back to Babylon” (Babylonian Chronicle BM 21946; cf. 2 K. 24:10–17; 2 Ch. 36:5–10; Jer. 37:1). Jehoiachin’s captivity is confirmed by texts from Babylon. A revolt by Zedekiah led to another attack on Judah in the course of which Jerusalem was sacked (587 B.C.; 2 K. 24:2–25:26). The Babylonians later besieged Tyre and invaded Egypt (568/567 B.C.; Jer. 46).

年亚述人和埃及人在哈兰 (Harran) 战败以及公元前 605 年埃及人在迦基米施战败告终。随后, 尼布甲尼撒 “夺取了叙利亚和巴勒斯坦全地” (另见王下 24:7; Josephus Ant. x.6.86)。在利比拉 (Riblah, 耶 39:5) 的王储听闻那波帕拉萨尔的死讯后, 驱车回国继承王位 (公元前 605 年 9 月 6 日), 之后又回到利比拉发动了另一场巴勒斯坦战役。

次年, 包括约雅敬 (王下 24:1) 在内的 “所有叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的王” 都成为了尼布甲尼撒的诸侯。然而, 当公元前 601 年, 尼布甲尼撒二世在一场激烈的战役中被埃及法老尼哥二世打败后, 约雅敬转变了效忠的对象。两年后, 巴比伦人袭击了阿拉伯部落 (耶 49:28-33), 并准备报复犹太。尼布甲尼撒在位第七年, “他围攻犹太的城, 在阿达加 (Adaru) 月二日 [公元前 597 年 3 月 16 日] 攻取了该城。他掳走了约雅敬王 [见 JEHOIACHIN] 并另立新王 [玛探雅或西底家]。他从城中掠夺了许多战利品, 送回了巴比伦” (《巴比伦历代志》BM 21946; 参: 王下 24:10-17; 代下 36:5-10; 耶 37:1)。巴比伦文献证明了约雅敬被掳事件。西底家反叛导致犹太再次被袭, 耶路撒冷在此期间遭到洗劫 (公元前 587 年; 王下 24:2-25:26)。后来, 巴比伦人围攻了推罗, 并侵略了埃及 (公元前 568 或 567 年; 耶 46)。

Nebuchadrezzar rightly boasted of his architectural achievements at Babylon and of his control of an empire almost equivalent to that of the Assyrians at the height of their power. He was succeeded by a son Amēl-Marduk (2 K. 25:27-30; see EVIL-MERODACH), who enhanced the status of the Judean princes at his court, and then by a fellow army officer Neriglissar or Nergal-šar-ušur (560-558) and Labāši-Marduk (557 B.C.). These for a time acted as intermediaries between the mounting rival powers of Media and Lydia on their borders. Nabonidus (Labynetus of Herodotus) acted similarly until for the years 553-543 he moved to Tema (Teimā) in northwest Arabia and set up a kingdom in exile there. Then with the support of the king of Egypt and the king of the Medes (probably Cyrus, who may be identified with "Darius the Mede" of Dnl. 6:28) he returned to Babylon. Soon the Persians attacked Opis and then Babylon when his coregent and son Bēl-šar-ušur (Belshazzar) was killed (Dnl. 5:30). Cyrus entered Babylon on Oct. 29, 539 B.C., but spared Nabonidus (who may have died in exile in Carmania). Independent Babylonia now ceased to exist.

K. Achaemenids. Under Cyrus II conditions changed little. He entrusted local government in Babylonia to Gubaru (Gobryas), a former general and perhaps a district governor (see DARIUS 1). His own son Cambyses II (Akk. Kambuziya) acted as viceroy from 538 until his father's death in 530 B.C. On Cambyses' death (522) local unrest followed his brother

尼布甲尼撒有资格吹嘘他在巴比伦城的建筑成就和他所掌控的那个相当于鼎盛时期亚述的政权。他的一个儿子以未米罗达（王下 25:27-30，见 EVIL-MERODACH [以未米罗达]）继承了王位，以未米罗达提升了犹太君王在王朝中的地位，随后，军官尼力里沙或尼甲沙利薛（Nergal-šar-ušur，公元前 560-558 年）以及拉拜锡玛尔杜克（Labāši-Marduk，公元前 557 年）先后继承了王位。他们曾担当过边境地区不断增强的敌对势力——玛代和吕底亚的调停者。公元前 553-543 年，拿波尼度（希罗多德称其为拉比奈托 [Labynetus]）逃亡到阿拉伯西北的提玛时，也同样起到了调停作用，他在那里建立了一个王国。随后，拿波尼度在埃及王和玛代王（可能是居鲁士，他也许就是《但以理书》6:28 中提到的“玛代王大流士”）的支持下回到了巴比伦。不久后，波斯人先后攻击了欧皮斯和巴比伦城，在这场战役中，拿波尼度之子摄政王伯沙撒（Bēl-šar-ušur）被杀（但 5:30）。公元前 539 年 10 月 29 日，居鲁士入侵巴比伦城，但他赦免了拿波尼度（他可能在流亡卡尔马尼亚时逝世了）。巴比伦从此不再是独立的政权。

K. 阿契美尼德人。居鲁士二世统治期间，时局变化不大。他委派古巴鲁（Gobryas）掌管巴比伦当地政府，古巴鲁此前是将军，还可能是一个地方总督（见 DARIUS 1 [大流士 1]）。他的儿子冈比西斯二世（阿卡德语：Kambuziya）从公元前 538 年至其父死亡（公元前 530 年）期间一直担任总督。公元前 522 年，冈比西斯逝世，他的兄

Bardiya's usurpation. The Babylonians supported Nidintu-Bēl, who took the title of Nebuchadrezzar III (Oct.–Dec., 522). Next year another rebel (Arakha as Nebuchadrezzar IV) aroused the masses but was put to death. Darius (II) was then acknowledged ruler (520–485 B.C.). Babylonian administration was now reshaped under satraps and local governors, royal inspectors and tax inspectors, who did away with much corruption under rigid control but heavy taxation. In the fourth year of Xerxes (485–465, = Ahasuerus of Ezr. 4:6) the Babylonians made a last attempt to win independence but were crushed by Megabyzus, Xerxes' brother-in-law. Little attention was paid to ruined Babylon while Xerxes was at war with Greece. Herodotus may have visited Babylon about this time (see BABYLON). The larger centers, Babylon, Borsippa, Kish, Nippur, Uruk, and Ur continued as independent trading centers under Artaxerxes II and III (404–338).

L. Hellenistic Rulers. The subsequent history of Babylonia centers on the capital itself, due to the lack of sources from other cities. Alexander III (330–323 B.C.) captured the city and planned to rebuild it, but little was done under his generals Philip Arrhidaeus (323–316) and Alexander IV (316–312). The Seleucids moved the capital to their new city of Seleucia. While Ur died slowly, Uruk flourished. There, as through the Parthian and later Seleucid control, the major cult centers maintained the ancient traditions. Texts continued to be copied in Babylon into the 1st cent. A.D. (cf. 1 Pet. 5:13). Parthian occupation has been traced at Babylon, Kish, Nippur, Uruk, and Lagash, though the temples were now rededicated

弟巴迪亚 (Bardiya) 夺权, 当地时局动荡。巴比伦人支持尼丁图·贝尔, 他自封尼布甲尼撒三世 (公元前 522 年 10 月至 12 月)。次年, 另一位反叛者 (阿拉哈, 自封尼布甲尼撒四世) 煽动百姓, 但他最终被处以死刑。大流士二世是随后公认的统治者 (公元前 520-485 年)。巴比伦此时变为由总督、地方官员、皇室巡官和税务督察共同管理, 他们在严格的管理下几乎不再腐败, 但却收取重税。薛西斯在位第四年 (公元前 485-465 年, 即《以斯拉记》4:6 中的亚哈随鲁), 巴比伦人最后一次试图争取独立, 但却被薛西斯的内兄迈加比佐斯镇压了。薛西斯与希腊开战期间, 几乎不再关注被摧毁的巴比伦。希罗多德可能就是在这期间参观了巴比伦城 (见 BABYLON [巴比伦城])。在亚达薛西二世和三世 (公元前 404-338 年) 统治期间, 巴比伦城、波尔西帕、基什、尼普尔、乌鲁克和吾珥这些较大的中心仍是独立的贸易中心。

L. 希腊化统治者。 由于缺少其他城市的资料, 随后的巴比伦历史主要是它的都城的历史。亚历山大三世 (公元前 330-323 年) 占领了巴比伦城, 并计划重建该城, 但他的将军腓力·阿瑞戴伍斯 (公元前 323-316 年) 和亚历山大四世 (公元前 316-312 年) 并未对重建工作做出多少贡献。塞琉西王朝迁都新城塞琉西亚。当吾珥逐渐衰落时, 乌鲁克繁荣起来。主要的宗教中心在帕提亚人和后来塞琉西王朝统治时期始终延续着古代的传统。公元 1 世纪时, 众多文献仍在巴比伦被人传抄 (参: 彼前 5:13)。巴比伦城、基什、尼普尔、乌鲁克和拉格什都能看到帕提亚人占领的痕迹, 虽然这些城市中的神庙此时重新供奉着其他的神明。有证据表明, 萨桑王朝时期 (公元 227-636 年), 基督

V. Discovery.-A. Exploration. Early travelers, including Herodotus in the middle 5th cent. B.C., recorded their description of Babylon or of a land mentioned in the OT. Few accounts survive, and some authors, as Marco Polo (1271–1295) and “John Mandeville” (1322–1356), failed even to note the ruins of the ancient kingdom. Once interest had been focused on the supposed ruins of Babylon and the Tower of Babel, reports became more frequent. The capital was variously reported as at ‘Aqar Qūf by Nicolo di Conti (1428–1453), at Birs Nimrūd by Benjamin of Tudela (1160–1173) and Carsten Niebuhr (1765), or, correctly, near Hillah by Pietro della Valle in 1616. Closer observation followed, by de Beauchamps (1784) and by C. J. Rich (1811, 1817), through whom the first antiquities found their way to Europe (the Louvre and British Museum). There followed activity by local diplomats and the first excavations. W. K. Loftus explored many a tell at Nuffar (Nippur), Senkereh (Larsa), Warka (ancient Uruk, biblical Erech), and el-Muqaiyar (Ur). In this he followed up Henry Layard’s initial work at Babylon, Borsippa, and Nippur. The first scientific expeditions were conducted by the French at Babylon (1850) and Telloh (Girsu, 1877–1909); by the British at Babylon (1879/80), Dilbat (1880), and Sippar (Abū Ḥabbah, 1881/82); the Americans at Nippur (1889–1900), and the Germans at Adab (1903).

V. 发现。A. 探索。公元前 5 世纪中期，包括希罗多德在内的早期旅行者记载了他们对巴比伦城和《旧约》中提到的土地的描述。这些记载几乎都失传了，马可波罗（1271-1295 年）和“约翰·曼德维尔”（1322-1356 年）等作者甚至没有记载这座古国的废墟。一旦人们的兴趣开始集中在所谓的巴比伦城和巴别塔的废墟上，报道传闻便开始频繁出现。关于巴比伦城的位置出现了不同的传闻，尼科洛·狄康提（1428-1453 年）认为是阿卡尔库夫，图德拉的本杰明（1160-1173 年）和卡尔斯顿·尼布尔（1765 年）认为是拜斯宁录，或是庇错·戴乐维于 1616 年提出的正确观点——位于希拉附近。随后，博尚普（1784 年）和里奇（C. J. Rich, 1811 年、1817 年）进行了仔细的勘察，第一批文物通过二人进入了欧洲（卢浮宫和大英博物馆）。随后让当地的外交官采取了行动，并对该地首次进行了发掘。洛夫特斯（W. K. Loftus）在努法尔（尼普尔）、桑凯拉（Senkereh, 拉尔萨）、瓦尔卡（古乌鲁克，《圣经》中的以力）和穆盖加尔（el-Muqaiyar, 吾珥）发现了许多废丘。他继续完成了亨利·利雅得在巴比伦城、波尔西帕和尼普尔进行的初期探究工作。首批科学考察包括法国人在巴比伦（1850 年）和泰洛赫（吉尔苏, 1877-1909 年）的考察；英国人在巴比伦（1879 或 1880 年）、迪尔巴特（1880 年）和西巴尔（阿布哈巴[Abū Ḥabbah], 1881 或 1882 年）的考察；美国人在尼普尔（1889-1900 年）以及德国人在阿达卜（1903 年）的考察。

B. 发掘。在伊拉克南部进行的现代意义上的科学考古发掘可以说始于考德

archeology may be said to date from the systematic work of the Deutsche Orientgesellschaft at Babylon under R. Koldewey (1899–1917). The joint British Museum—University Museum, Philadelphia work at Ur under Sir Leonard Woolley (1922–1934) is justly famous for its discoveries, including the Royal Graves. The French worked at “Lagash” and Larsa (1929–1934, 1967ff.) while the Americans concentrated on surface surveys and digs in the Diyala region and in 1948 resumed work at Nippur. In the same year the Iraqi Department of Antiquities excavated `Uqair, Eridu, and Dūr-Kurigalzu. Several expeditions are currently at work at Al Hiba (Lagash), Dēr, Abu Salabīkh, Seleucia, and Babylon.

C. Decipherment. Curiosity over the cuneiform inscriptions brought to Europe from Babylon, Ur, and Persepolis by Pietro della Valle, Niebuhr, Rich, and other travelers soon aroused scholarly curiosity. Work concentrated on the bi- and trilingual inscriptions from Persia, especially from Behistun where identical texts were extant in Old Persian, Elamite, and Babylonian. Since the Old Persian system used the fewest signs it was deciphered by Grotefend, Rask, Bernouf, Rawlinson, and Oppert by 1847 on the basis of groups of signs used for royal names and titulary. Then the Babylonian column gradually yielded its secrets to the patient work of Grotefend (1814), Hincks (1847), Rawlinson (1850), and Oppert (1857). In 1857 a trial translation of an inscribed prism of Tiglath-pileser I was arranged by the Royal Asiatic Society. The similarity of results among these scholars proved their ability to read the script. The Elamite cuneiform yielded to F. H. Weisbach in 1892.

C. 破译。 庇错·戴乐维、尼布尔、里奇等旅行者从巴比伦城、吾珥和珀塞波利斯带到欧洲的楔形文字铭文很快引起了学者们的好奇。研究工作集中在来自波斯, 尤其是来自贝希斯敦的双语或三种语言的铭文上, 贝希斯敦仍保留着用古波斯语、以拦语和巴比伦语写成的相同文本的文献。由于古波斯语系所使用的符号最少, 因此公元前 1847 年, 格罗特芬、拉斯克、贝尔诺夫 (Bernouf)、罗林森和奥波尔根据一组表示皇室名字和名号的符号破译了古波斯语。随后, 在格罗特芬 (1814 年)、兴克斯 (1847 年)、罗林森 (1850 年) 和奥波尔 (1857 年) 的耐心工作下, 巴比伦圆柱的奥秘也被逐渐揭示出来。1857 年, 皇家亚洲学会尝试破译提革拉毗列色一世的棱柱上的铭文。这些学者得到了类似的结论, 这证明他们已经能够阅读铭文。1892 年, 威斯巴赫 (F. H. Weisbach) 破译了以拦语铭文。

A non-Semitic language represented by an increasing number of cuneiform texts from Babylonia was identified as Sumerian by Oppert (1869). Detailed linguistic analysis had, however, to await the work of A. Poebel, C. J. Gadd, T. Jacobson, S. N. Kramer (literary texts), and A. Falkenstein (Gudea inscriptions) in the years 1925–1960. Both Sumerian and Akkadian (Assyrian and Babylonian) are now represented by a large literature (in volume some ten times that of the OT). The study of these languages has a prominent place in comparative Semitic studies and helps to elucidate Biblical Hebrew at many points.

VI. Writing.-A. Script. The cuneiform script, originally pictographic, was first employed for memoranda and administrative purposes. By 2500 B.C. its extensive use alongside oral tradition is attested by numerous documents of many different types and purposes (see IX below). Signs were used as ideograms and logograms, and the occurrence of polysyllables and of signs used as markers or determinatives (e.g., for gods, professions, cities, lands) indicates a large development and a skilled use before 3000 B.C. The script was adapted for writing many languages (Hittite, Hurrian, Elamite, Amorite, and Old Persian), and its use together with the scribal schools on which it was based proved an important focus for the spread of Babylonian literature and ideas. There is no proven relationship of the earliest script with later Proto-Elamite, Egyptian hieroglyphs, or with the origin of the alphabet; but an original development from one Babylonian center is not impossible (see WRITING).

在越来越多的巴比伦楔形文字文献中看到非闪族语，奥波尔认为这种语言是苏美尔语（1869年）。但是，博伊贝尔（A. Poebel）、加德（C. J. Gadd）、雅各布森（T. Jacobson）、克雷默（S. N. Kramer, 文学文献）和法尔肯施泰因（A. Falkenstein, 古地亚铭文）于1925至1960年进行了详细的语言分析。大量文献（数量大约是《旧约》的十倍）都使用了苏美尔语和阿卡德语（亚述语和巴比伦语）。这些语言的研究在闪族语言对比研究中占据了显著的地位，研究这些语言还能从许多方面帮助人们阐明《圣经》中的希伯来语。

VI. 书写。A. 文字。楔形文字（起初为象形文字）首先用于备忘录和行政用途。公元前2500年前，楔形文字使用广泛，口述传统也仍在流传，许多不同类型和用途的大量文献都能够证实这点（见下文IX）。符号被用作意符和缩记符，多音节词和符号被用作标记或限定词（如代表神明、职业、城市和土地），这体现了公元前3000年前文字的跨越式发展和技巧性运用。楔形文字可用于多种语言的写作（赫梯语、胡里安语、以拦语、亚摩利语和古波斯语），这种文字的使用和以此为基础的文士学院证明了它是巴比伦语言文学和思想传播的重要核心。没有证据可表明这种最早的文字和原始以拦语、埃及象形文字或字母的起源之间有必要联系；但这种文字最初有可能是从一种基础巴比伦语发展而来的（见WRITING[写作、文字]）。

B. Methods and Materials. One reason for the survival, and consequent unearthing during excavation, of at least a quarter-million inscribed documents from Babylonia is its unique use of the sun-dried or kiln-baked clay tablet (tuppu). These were in vogue continuously from ca. 3000 (mainly pictographs) to the 6th cent. B.C. Thereafter such tablets continued to be used for some types of legal contracts and religious texts until Seleucid times. They were still used by at least one major temple for copies of “canonical” texts until ca. A.D. 100. From the 8th cent. B.C. there was increasing use of wooden writing-boards (lê’u; cf. Heb. lû(a)ḥ, “tablet” of stone, wood, or metal) filled with wax, and of scrolls (magallatu; cf. Heb. m^egillâ) of leather or papyrus (niāru) for the Aramaic script with brush or pen. Parchment (mašak šipirtum) is first mentioned in the Archaemenid period.

C. Scribes and Education. From the late Uruk periods scribes were apprenticed as pupils (“sons”) to temple or secular schools (é-dub-ba, “tablet-house”). All education was bilingual, in Sumerian and Akkadian, the student progressing through the signs (about 500) and syllabary to copying lists of ideographs, words, and then all types of texts (see IX below). A scribe might specialize in accountancy, medicine, or state, religious, or general secretarial work. As an expert (ummānu) he had a highly prized profession, often hereditary. He could rise to high administrative positions such as Chancellor or Secretary of State (Ezra held such a position for Jewish affairs).

From Old Babylonian times many scribes, the poor aristocracy, were trained in local

B. 书写方法和材质。至少有 250 万巴比伦的铭文文献被保留下来,并被发掘出来,其中一个原因便是这些文献是特别雕刻在晒干或窑中烘干的泥版 (tuppu) 上的。约公元前 3000 年 (主要是象形文字) 至公元前 6 世纪,这些泥版一直十分普遍。从那以后至塞琉西王朝时期,这种泥版仍用于记录一些合法契约和宗教文献。直到约公元 100 年,至少有一座主要的神庙仍用泥版抄写“正典”文献。从公元前 8 世纪开始,人们逐渐开始用毛笔和墨水笔在涂满蜡的木制写字板 (lê’u; 参: 希伯来语 lû(a)ḥ, 石、木版或金属“板”) 和皮革或蒲草纸 (niāru) 卷轴 (magallatu; 参: 希伯来语 m^egillâ) 上书写亚兰文字。阿契美尼德时期首次提及了羊皮纸 (mašak šipirtum)。

C. 文士和文士的培养。从乌鲁克时期晚期开始,文士便充当着神庙或非宗教学校 (é-dub-ba, “泥版书舍”) 中的学徒 (“子弟”)。所有的教程都是双语的 (苏美尔语和阿卡德语), 学徒从符号 (约 500 个) 和音节表学起, 然后抄写意符表、单词表, 再之后学习所有类型的文字 (见下文 IX)。文士可以专门研究算学和医学, 或国家和宗教, 亦或从事一般的文书工作。文士作为专家 (ummānu), 是一种非常重要的职业, 通常可以世袭。文士可以被擢升为大臣或国务大臣等重要的管理职位 (以斯拉就曾担任过处理犹太事务的大臣)。 schools and would serve the public, waiting outside public buildings for customers. Literacy was low; only a few kings, Šulgi of Ur, Lipit-Ishtar of Isin, and Darius of Persia claimed, like Ashurbanipal of Nineveh, to be able to read, write, and know the scribal arts.

D. Nonliterary Texts. Babylonia developed a bureaucratic administration centered on the temple and palace. Many tablets written by the scribes were individual accounts (daily, monthly, or annual) of rations, offerings, taxes, and even land disbursed or received. Letters giving effect to local decisions are particularly numerous in the Old Babylonian period (Babylon, Lagash, and Mari). Many refer to interstate diplomacy between kings, e.g., Hammurabi of Babylon and Zimri-Lim of Mari, or between Kassite kings and the Egyptian pharaohs. The majority of the texts written were personal contracts of purchase, sale, loan, hire, rent, gift, inheritance, marriage, or other legally binding event. Evidence before a judge was also recorded (cf. Nu. 27:1–11; 1 K. 3:16–28) as were oaths taken before a god (in a temple) or king.

See also III above.

VII. Law.—The Babylonian held a strong concept of authority and law. Law (kittum) is truth; law and justice or order (kittum u mēšarum) was received from the supreme god. It was the responsibility of the king to exercise it so as “to destroy the evil and the wicked that the strong might not oppress the weak”; equally he had “to protect the fatherless and the widow.” Because the human ruler was answerable to powers outside himself his subjects were protected from autocracy. This made

姓，在公众建筑之外等待顾客。当时人们的读写能力普遍不高；仅有几位国王——吾珥的舒尔吉、伊辛的里皮特·伊什塔、波斯的大流士和尼尼微的亚述巴尼帕据称能够读写并了解文士的艺术。

*D. 非文学文献。*巴比伦形成了一种以神庙和皇宫为中心的官僚制行政。许多文士书写的泥版都是配给量、捐款、税款甚至购买或受赠土地的个人记录（每日、每月或每年）。古巴比伦时期（巴比伦、拉格什和马里），执行地方决策的文书数量尤其多。许多泥版涉及到了诸王之间的邦交，如巴比伦王汉谟拉比和马里王基姆利里姆（Zimri-Lim）之间的往来文书，或是喀西特列王和埃及众法老之间的邦交文书。大部分文献是关于购买、出售、借贷、雇佣、租赁、赠礼、继承、婚姻等受法律约束事件的私人契约。审判前的证据和向（神庙）中神明或国王许下的誓言都被记录下来（参：民 27:1-11；王上 3:16-28）。

另见上文 III。

VII. 律法。巴比伦的权力和律法观念十分强烈。律法 (kittum) 即真理；律法和正义或秩序 (kittum u mēšarum) 都来自至高神。行使律法是国王的责任，他应借此“摧毁邪恶和恶毒之人，不让强权欺凌弱小”；他同样还应“保护孤儿和寡妇”。因为人类统治者负责的是身外的权力，所以他的臣民可以免受独裁统治。为了维持秩序和稳定，所有人在律法和赐予律法的神面前都是平等的。国王是首席法官，负责审判疑难案件，其中一些是由地方和较低级别 for order and stability, with all men as equals before the law and the god who gave it. The king, as chief judge, decided hard cases, some referred to him by local and lesser magistrates. All decisions were recorded in writing to be valid, the summary form used as protasis, "If a man / It was decided that a man had ...," the apodosis recording the royal decision spoken "He shall die/pay a fine," etc. They then omit the detail needed for a modern legal analysis, though full accounts of evidence do exist (see VI.D above). The major Babylonian rulers made selections of decisions taken partly as precedent but mainly to report to this god the discharge of responsibility and god-given wisdom (cf. 1 K. 3:28). These summary collections of laws are not a code (many categories, e.g., murder, sale, are omitted). One large group of laws was collected by Hammurabi of Babylon and recorded on a stone stele set up in the temple of Marduk in Babylon. The 282 cases are only roughly grouped and cover property, marriage and divorce, false witness, corruption, theft, looting, tenants of the crown, commercial law, inheritance, priestesses, adoption, assault, agricultural work, rates of hire, slaves, courts and punishment. Several cases were copied as precedents while a number are similar to those recorded by earlier kings, Lipit-Ishtar of Isin (ca. 1836) and the ruler of Eshnunna. Even earlier collections of laws came from the Sumerian Ur-Nammu of Ur. This literary form remained unchanged throughout Babylonian history. There is no evidence that the few similarities between Babylonian and Hebrew laws are more than the result of common practice.

的行政官员提交上来的。所有判决都以文字形式记录生效, 简要的记录形式为条件从句, “如果一个人……或犯了……罪的人将被判处……”, 国王的判决则被记录为归结子句“他将被判处死刑或罚款”等等。虽然所有证据的记录确实存在(见上文 VI.D.), 但判决中却会省略这些现代法律分析所需的细节。主要的巴比伦统治者选出一些判决并将其记录在泥版上, 一部分原因是留作案例, 但主要还是为了将职责的履行和神赐的智慧报给神(参: 王上 3:28)。这些简要的律法合集并不是法典没有对谋杀、贩卖等行为作出规定。巴比伦王汉谟拉比收集了大量律法, 并将其记录在巴比伦玛尔杜克神庙中的一个石碑上。282 个案件被大致分类, 其中包括财产、结婚和离婚、假见证、贿赂、盗窃、抢劫、篡夺王位、商法、继承、女祭司、收养、伤人、农工、雇佣率、奴隶以及法庭和刑罚。很多被抄录下来的案例都与较早期的王伊辛的里皮特·伊师塔(约公元前 1836 年)和艾什努那的统治者所记录的案例类似。更早期的律法合集则源自吾珥的苏美尔人乌尔南穆。纵观巴比伦历史, 这种文学形式始终保持不变。没有证据表明巴比伦和希伯来律法之间的一些相似性不仅仅是因为它们受到了共同风俗的影响。

Royal edicts or decrees enforcing law and justice include some issued by Urukagina of Lagash (ca. 2300) and Ammi-šaduqa of Babylon (1645 B.C.). These call for remittance of debt, taxes, and of some forms of slavery. Similar mēšarum-edicts were issued in the first full and sole regnal year of Babylonian kings in addition to special occasions. By this means (and the tariffs associated with the collections of law) the economic and social life of the community was regulated according to a constant norm of “law” (i.e., a religious basis). Similar ideal practice could account for the so-called reforms of Hezekiah (2 K. 18:6) and Josiah, whose actions the historian judges by the law of Moses. The phrase “he did the right (Heb. hayyāšār) in the eyes of the Lord” may imply the issue of similar decrees and the acknowledgement of the law also by Asa (1 K. 15:11; 2 Ch. 14:2), Jehoshaphat (1 K. 22:43), and Azariah (2 K. 15:3).

International treaties or covenants are known from Sumer, terminating war or settling boundaries (e.g., the Stele of Vultures between Lagash and Umma). That similar legal documents, based on historical data, were drawn up by the Later Babylonians may be surmised both from the pictorial representation of a parity pact between Shalmaneser III of Assyria and the Babylonian Marduk-zākir-šumi (ca. 846 B.C.), and the partial text of a later agreement between the latter and Šamši-Adad V of Assyria.

Royal land grants were recorded, as most permanent royal legal and religious enactments, on stone (cf. Ex. 24:12). Boundary markers or stones (Bab. kudurru) were set up as public witness to a deed and placed in the temple, showing the title and extent of ownership. These large oval or cylindrical stones were sometimes ornamented with protective divine symbols and curses on any who should remove them (cf. Dt. 19:14; 27:17; Job 24:2).

括一些由拉格什的乌鲁卡基那(约公元前 2300 年)和巴比伦的阿米萨杜卡(公元前 1645 年)所颁布的法令。这些法令规定了还债、收税和一些奴隶制形式。除了某些特殊情况,巴比伦的王会在独自统治的第一个整年颁布类似的律法法令。通过这种方式(和与律法合集相关的税收),国王可以依照持久的“律法”规范(即宗教基础)来管理百姓的经济和社会生活。类似的理想化做法可以解释所谓的希西家(王下 18:6)和约西亚改革,历史学家根据摩西律法对他们的行为做出判断。短语“行耶和华眼中看为正的事(希伯来语: hayyāšār)”可能指的是他们颁布了法令并承认了律法,亚撒(王上 15:11; 代下 14:2)、约沙法(王上 22:43)和亚撒利雅(王下 15:3)也是这样做的。

皇室土地的赠予和大多永久性的皇室律法法令及宗教法令都被记录在石版上(参:出 24:12)。界标或界石(巴比伦语: kudurru)被视为百姓对契约的见证,并安置在神庙内,上面记载着领地的名称和范围。这些椭圆形或圆柱形大石头有时刻有神圣的护符和对任何

VIII. Historiography.-Sumerian historical writing was allied to other genres (e.g., epic; see IX.A below); but separate detailed accounts, such as the border dispute between Lagash and Umma, show that earlier events had been recorded and transmitted both orally and in writing in sufficient detail for later evaluation. Lists of rulers and cities headed the king lists, and genealogies and historical incidents, which can be checked from several sources, are included in omen texts. These attest the careful recording of past events that have some parallel with Gen. 5, 11 (cf. 1 Ch. 1-9). One list gives the full ancestry of the Hammurabi dynasty and includes names otherwise known only as persons, tribes, or toponyms (cf. Gen. 11:10-28). King lists naming rulers before and after the Flood are the framework on which the chronology has been reconstructed. All kings were included in the native Babylonian King List (A), and local year-formulas, citing an outstanding event for each regnal year, were used for dating purposes until the Middle Babylonian period. Thereafter regnal years numbered from each accession were used. Beginning with Seleucus I (312/311 B.C.) an era dating was introduced. Events were usually recorded in expanded form in annals, reports to gods, and dedicatory inscriptions. A reliable source, unique to Babylonia, is the Babylonian Chronicle, which relates specific events in each year. The major Chronicles extant are:

1. Sargon of Agade-Kaštiliašu (ca. 1、亚甲的撒珥根至凯斯提利莱苏 (约

移动界石之人的诅咒 (参: 申 19:14; 27:17; 伯 24:2)。

VIII. 历史编纂学。苏美尔的历史作品与其他文体类似 (如史诗; 见下文 IX.A); 但如拉格什和乌玛的边界争端等独立的详细记录表明, 较早时期的事件采用口传和文字方式来记录和流传, 可供后世评价。在征兆文献中, 统治者和城市列表记录在前, 国王列表、族谱和历史事件等可以从多方考证的资料记录在后。这些文献证明它们谨慎地记录了过去的事件, 其中一些事件在《创世记》5章和11章中有类似的记录(参: 代上 1-9)。一份列表列出了汉谟拉比王朝的全部统治者, 其中有些名字之前仅被视为人名、部落名或地名 (参: 创 11:10-28)。国王列表中列出了大洪水之前和之后的所有统治者名字, 年代学便以此为框架进行历史重现。本国的巴比伦列王表 (《亚历山大抄本》) 包含了所有的国王, 当地的年鉴记载了每个即位元年的一个重要事件, 中巴比伦时期之前, 这种年鉴被用于记载日期。从那以后, 在位时间从登基时开始算起。塞琉古一世 (公元前 312 或 311 年) 引入了一种重要事件纪年法。年鉴、给神的报告和奉献的铭文上通常记载了事件的详细内容。巴比伦独有的《巴比伦年代志》是研究巴比伦历史的可靠来源, 上面记载了每年发生的特殊事件。现存的编年史主要包括:

In these such events as the fall of Nineveh (612), the siege of H̄arran by Neco II with Assyrian help (609), the Babylonian defeat of the Egyptians at Carchemish and the overrunning of Syria and Palestine (605), the Egyptian defeat of the Babylonians (601), the capture of Jerusalem by Nebuchadrezzar II (Mar. 16, 597 B.C.), and the fall of Babylon to Cyrus (Oct. 29, 539 B.C.) are independently attested from extrabiblical sources.

在这些编年史中，尼尼微陷落（公元前 612 年）、尼哥二世在亚述的帮助下围攻哈兰（公元前 609 年）、巴比伦人在迦基米施打败埃及人并侵占了叙利亚和巴勒斯坦（公元前 605 年）、埃及人打败巴比伦人（公元前 601 年）、尼布甲尼撒二世攻占耶路撒冷（公元前 597 年 3 月 16 日）以及居鲁士攻占巴比伦（公元前 10 月 29 日）等事件都得到了经外文献的证实。

From astronomical diaries kept at Babylon (as yet unpublished) it is possible to reconstruct precise datings for political, economic, and other historical events in the Seleucid period. (For Seleucid period chronicles see A. K. Grayson, Assyrian and Babylonian Chronicles [1975].)

IX. Literature.-A. Epics. Sumerian literature is rich in epical material mostly preserved in Old Babylonian (18th cent.)

IX. 文学。A. 史诗。 苏美尔文学中史诗资料十分丰富，它们大多是以古巴比伦语的抄本（公元前 18 世纪）形式流

copies. An early Semitic epic of Atra-ḫasis (“the very devout one”) includes an account of creation, the earliest rulers, and the Flood in a single work (as does Gen. 1–11). It names the five principal cult-centers that were the seats of the antediluvian kings. The existence and roles of the gods are assumed; the lesser gods toil in support of the great gods. Following strike action by the former, the great gods plan to create man to relieve these gods of labor. “Let one god be slaughtered so that all the gods may be cleansed in one dipping. From his flesh and blood let the birth-goddess (Nintu) mix clay so that god and man be thoroughly mixed in the clay. . . . Let there be a spirit in the god’s flesh” (lines 208–215). The increase in population and man’s rebellion (cf. Gen. 6:1–8) are met by divinely sent plagues, which are averted only when man withholds his service of the gods. Man’s evil conduct, ending in violence, is the reason the gods eventually send the Flood. There is a period of “grace” before the judgment (cf. Gen. 6:3). The story of the Flood then given is similar to that known from Tablet XI of the later (11th cent. B.C.) epic of Gilgamesh, but shows that the Sumerian Flood story is itself a translation from an earlier Semitic version.

The Gilgamesh Epic (composed ca. 2000 B.C and recorded on eleven tablets to which a twelfth, describing the afterlife, was added later) is but one of a cycle of earlier epics surrounding this king of Uruk. Basically the story is of the king’s rebellion against the idea of death following the loss of his friend Enkidu. In his quest for immortality Gilgamesh punts across the waters of death to meet Utnapishtim, who recounts his own preservation, due to the revelation of the god's plan by Ea, and his survival of the Flood in a large reed boat accompanied by his family, animals, and birds. Gilgamesh himself, however, fails to pass three tests necessary to become immortal. He is unable to stay awake for six days and nights, he does not drink from the "fountain of youthful life," though he bathes in it, and he loses the "plant of life" to a snake and must return to his earthly city. Any similarities between this Babylonian story and the Genesis narrative are best explained as derived from an earlier source. Copies of this epic were known in Palestine at Megiddo (14th cent.), southern Syria (Ugarit, 13th cent.)—here the hero introduces the Flood story himself in first-person narrative style—and at the Hittite capital of Boghazköy.

传下来的。早期的闪族史诗《阿特拉·哈西斯》(“非常虔诚的那人”)记载了创世、最早的统治者和大洪水(类似《创世记》1-11章)。史诗中提到了五个主要的宗教中心,这些地方是大洪水之前时期诸王的所在地。作品中呈现了诸神的生活和地位;下级神为了支持主神而做工。下级神罢工,于是诸神决定创造人类来减轻诸神的工作。“杀死一个神,这样所有神只一次就可以得到洁净。让生育女神(宁图)将他的血肉和泥土混合,这样神和人将在泥土中融为一体……让神的肉中有灵”(208-215行)。人类的数量增多,并开始反叛(参:创6:1-8),于是神降下了瘟疫,只有当人类始终侍奉诸神时,才能避开瘟疫。人类的罪恶行为以暴力告终,这是诸神最终降下灭世洪水的原因。审判之前,有一段“仁慈的”时期(参:创6:3)。随后的大洪水故事与后期(公元前11世纪)的《吉尔伽美什》史诗中第11块泥版上的记载类似,但这表明苏美尔语的大洪水故事是翻译自较早时期的闪族语故事。

The most copied and recited Babylonian account of creation was Enuma Elish ("When on high ..."), known, as all literary texts, from its opening words. This was composed in the mid to late 2nd millennium B.C. It was originally written on six tablets, to which a seventh was added later to list the fifty titles of the god Marduk, in whose praise the whole was written in hymnal poetic style. The development of the early pantheon is traced from the primeval sweetwater Apsû and the saltwater Tiâmat to Enki and Ea. There was a clash between the younger noisy gods and the aged Tiâmat, who threatened their destruction. The gods found a champion in Marduk son of Ea, who offered to fight Tiâmat's forces in return for elevation to supreme authority among the gods. He battles with his magic weapons, takes the Tablet of Fate/Destiny from the rebel leader Kingu, and cleaves

在大洪水中活了下来。然而，吉尔伽美什没能通过获得永生的三个考验。他不能六日六夜不睡觉，虽然他在“不老泉”中沐浴，却没喝其中的水，“永生之草”也被蛇偷吃了，他必须要回到俗世的城去。这个巴比伦故事和《创世记》中经文的相似之处的最佳解释是，二者都衍生自一部较早的原始资料。史诗的抄本流传于巴勒斯坦的米吉多（公元前 14 世纪）、叙利亚南部（乌加里特，公元前 13 世纪）——这位英雄以第一人称讲述了大洪水的故事——以及博阿兹昆（Boghazköy）的赫梯都城。

传抄和讲述最多的巴比伦创世神话是《以鲁玛·以利斯》（“天之高兮”），它和所有文献一样，以开篇词闻名。这部作品创作于公元前第二个千禧年的中晚期。它起初记载在六块泥版上，后来又添加了记载着玛尔杜克神的 50 个称谓的第七块泥版，赞颂玛尔杜克的所有内容都采取了赞美诗的形式。早期诸神的发展可以从甜水之源阿卜苏和咸水之源提玛特追溯至恩基和埃阿。比较年轻而且爱吵闹的众神与年长的提玛特发生了冲突，提亚特威胁说要毁灭众神。众神推举出埃阿之子玛尔杜克，他打败了提玛特，升为众神之首。玛尔杜克用魔法武器征战，从反叛者之首金固手中夺取了“命运之版”，然后将提亚特劈成两半，形成了天地。随后，玛尔杜克按顺序放置了天体和繁星，然后杀死了金固，金固的血与泥混合，成为了人类的躯体。众神得了封地和任命，作为回报，他们建立了巴比伦，并在那里建造了玛尔杜克的神庙埃萨吉拉。在最

Tiāmat in two to make the heaven and earth. Next Marduk sets in order the planets and stars and then kills Kingu, whose blood mixed with clay becomes the substance of man. The gods are given their stations and tasks and in return build Babylon and Marduk's temple Esagila there. In the final joyful assembly they recite Marduk's fifty names, which bring together all the epithets of the major gods. The epic is thus a cosmology rather than a creation story. Parallels with Genesis are not generally supported. Lambert has shown that the "deep" (ṭhôm, Gen. 1:2) does not presuppose mythological content. The only major similarities between the Hebrew and Babylonian are the existence of water at the initial creation and divine rest at the end. The purposes of the accounts are differently construed.

Other Sumerian epics or myths relate the existence of paradise (Dilmun), the golden age when men and beast did not contend and all men praised the gods in unison. The creation of a woman (nin) is linked with sickness, and other epics mention early medicine, agriculture, horticulture, world peace and harmony.

The epic of the Anzū bird (Zū), found in copies from Assyria, Egypt (Amarna), and Elam (Susa), is of Sumerian origin. It relates the recapture of the "tablet of fate," which was thought to control the correct functioning of every element of the universe. The Descent of Ishtar (or the Sumerian goddess Inanna) through the seven gates of the underworld in search of her dead husband Dumuzi (Tammuz) is unfinished. It seems that Tammuz was allowed out for six months of the year; the older view that this was a seasonal ritual is now much questioned. The emphasis is on

终的庆典集会上,他们列举出了玛尔杜克 的 50 个称谓,这些称谓集合了主神的所有别名。因此,这部史诗不是创世神话,而是一种宇宙论。因此并不支持将它与《创世记》进行对比。兰伯特认为“渊”(ṭhôm, 创 1:2) 并不意味着这段经文是虚构的。希伯来创世神话和巴比伦创世神话仅有两个主要相似之处,一是在创世之初,水已经存在,二是神在创世的末了歇息了。人们对这两种记载的目的有不同的解释。

其他苏美尔史诗或神话提到了天堂(迪尔蒙)的生活和黄金时代,那时人与兽和谐相处,所有人都赞美神。女人的创造与疾病有关,其他史诗则提到了早期的医学、农业、园艺、世界的和平与和谐。

在亚述、埃及(亚玛拿)和以拦(书珊)发现的安朱鸟(风雨神)史诗抄本都源自苏美尔。这部史诗与重获“命运之版”有关,“命运之版”被认为可以控制宇宙中每个元素的正确功能。《伊师塔下冥府》(或苏美尔女神伊南娜)讲述了伊师塔穿越冥府的七道大门寻找亡夫杜木茨(坦木兹)未果的故事。坦木兹似乎每年可以离开冥府六个月;较早的观点认为这是一种季节性的仪式,但是这种观点目前遭到了质疑。作品中强调伊师塔为丈夫之死而悲伤哭泣(如结 8:14)。《内加尔与厄里斯克革》讲述了内加尔是如何成为冥府女王的,而《阿

the weeping for his death (as Ezk. 8:14). Nergal and Ereškigal tells how Nergal became king of the underworld and Adapa how a mortal of divine origin at Eridu broke the south wind which had overturned his boat. Called to answer for this, on the advice of Ea his father he refused the food and drink offered by Anu and thus lost the chance of immortality. This etiological story explains the powers of exorcism granted him and his followers as compensation. The Babylonian Adapa/Oannes was believed to have received the revelation of first things from the gods and so reappears, like Ea, as the original author of a number of works.

Etana, also originally a Sumerian story about this pre-flood king of Kish, describes his desire for a son. The sun god Šamaš introduces him to an eagle on whose back he flies heavenward in an attempt to gain the “plant of birth.”

B. God lists. The Babylonian scribes compiled lists of divine names and epithets as part of their school exercises. Since the ranking of the gods (e.g., Marduk) is not the same in all and some are arranged theologically, they show something of the development of religion and the attempt in Middle Babylonian times at a move toward monotheism. The genealogical position of gods and their epithets, which sometimes came to be thought of as separate deities, can also be traced. The elevation of Marduk (Merodach, Jer. 50:2) as chief god of Babylon was complete by the late 1st millennium B.C.

达帕》讲述了一个埃利都的有神圣血统的凡人打败摧毁他船只的南风的故事。他因此受罚，在其父埃阿的建议下，他拒绝接受安努提供的饮食，因此失去了获得永生的机会。考源学故事认为这个人与他的同伴获得了驱魔的能力作为对他们的补偿。巴比伦的阿达帕（或俄安内）被认为从神那里获得了万有之初的启示，因此他再次出现时，和埃阿一样，成为了众多作品的原作者。

《伊坦纳》最初也是一部关于大洪水之前的基什王的苏美尔神话，它描述了伊坦纳渴望拥有儿子。太阳神沙玛什将他引见给一只鹰，让他骑在鹰背上到天上寻找“生育草”。

B. 众神榜。巴比伦文士编译了记载着众神名字和别号的列表，将这当做学院习作的一部分。因为众神的地位（如玛尔杜克）并不完全相同，而且其中一些神明的等级是根据神学排列的，所以，在中巴比伦时期，文士们试图让宗教向着—神教方向发展。也可以追溯到众神在宗谱中的位置和他们的别名，这些别名有时被认为指的是不同的神明。公元前第一个千禧年末期，玛尔杜克被升为巴比伦的主神（米罗达，耶 50:2）。

C. Wisdom Literature. Babylonian writings concerned with moral and social attitudes, life and nature, and man's evaluation of it based on direct observation, reveal a concern for ethical values and an aesthetic appreciation from the earliest period.

A religious poem Ludlul Bēl Nēmeqi ("I will praise the Lord of Wisdom"), which has sometimes been called the Babylonian Job, describes the dilemma of the personal sufferer, as do variants of the same poem (in Akkadian from Ugarit) and the earlier Sumerian "A man and his god." The man is stripped of possessions and smitten with diseases, and no priestly help avails. The action of the gods is inscrutable and he is resigned to his fate. Withal he seems to have preserved faith in his ultimate recovery and vindication following various dream experiences.

The Babylonian Theodicy is a dialogue, written in stanzas as an acrostic poem (cf. Ps. 119). The man's misfortunes are contrasted with the prosperity of the ungodly; human effort is worthless, and social justice is lacking. His pious opponent praises the gods who allocate man's fate and recommends acceptance of the good and evil they send equally. Pessimistic literature is represented by a Dialogue of Man and His God (ANET, pp. 589-591; cf. Ecclesiastes). Precepts include those counseling a king how to behave, with special reference to the Babylonian cult-centers. They promise due rewards or punishment. For the individual many precepts (like Egyp. sb'zyt, "instruction," and many verses in Proverbs) are based on long experience. They are collections or books of proverbs in Sumerian and Babylonian, some bilingual, and often with no specific arrangement. Some are similar to Proverbs but this indicates only their wide usage in the ancient Near East. Some proverbs are cited in later Aramaic by AHIKAR (whose name appears in cuneiform texts also). Proverbs are found in letters and other literature (as Gen. 10:9; 1 S. 10:12; 1 K. 20:11; Jer. 22:28). Advice and practical instruction are given in a number of texts. One from Ugarit addresses Šube'awelum on leaving home, with special reference to street women, parents, the choice of a wife, buying an ox, fools and wise men. The conclusion is that all is misery and vanity (as in Eccl. 1:17; 12:8). Counsels of Wisdom cover different topics in each section: the avoidance of bad companions, altercations, improper speech, pacification of enemies, the undesirability of marrying a slave girl or prostitute, the temptation of being a vizier, deception by friends.

C. 智慧文学。巴比伦的作品关注道德和社会态度、生活和自然以及人类通过直接观察自然做出的评价,这体现出巴比伦人从历史早期开始就关注道德价值和审美欣赏。

宗教诗歌“让我赞美智慧之主”(Ludlul Bēl Nēmeqi) 描述了受苦的人的窘境,它有时被称为巴比伦的《约伯记》,就像同一首诗歌(在乌加里特发现了这首诗的阿卡德语版本)和较早的苏美尔语作品“人和他的神”的不同版本。这个人被夺去了财产,受疾病困扰,祭司的帮助没能改变情况。神的行为不可预测,这人只能听任命运的摆布。然而,在经历了各种梦境之后,他最终重获新生并洗刷了冤屈,他似乎仍留存着信仰。

巴比伦的《神义论》是一段对话,以离合诗的形式创作而成(参:诗 119)。人类的不幸与邪恶的盛行形成了对比;人类的努力是毫无价值的,仍然缺失社会正义。人类虔诚的敌人赞美支配人类命运的众神,并认为人类应当接受众神平均分配的善恶。《人和他的神的对话》(ANET, 589-591 页,参:《传道书》)是悲观主义文学的代表。书中的训言包括劝导国王行事的训言,还特别提及了巴比伦的宗教中心。它们允诺了应有的奖励和惩罚。针对个人的训言多以长期的经验为基础(如巴比伦语: sb'zyt, “教导”和《箴言》中的多个章节)。它们是苏美尔语和巴比伦语箴言的合集或书卷,有些训言用两种语言写成,通常没有特别的顺序。一些训言和《箴言》类似,但这只能表明它们在古近东地区流传广泛。亚希卡(见 AHIKAR [亚希卡], 他的名字也出现在楔形文字文

There are satirical dialogues and disputations arguing intrinsic worth, e.g., Winter and Summer; the Pickaxe and the Plough; Tamarisk and Date Palm; Truth and Falsehood; Fox, Dog, Wolf, and Lion; Ox and Horse (cf. 1 Esd. 3:1-4:63). Pre-Aesopic animal fables are grouped according to the principal animal actor. For OT fables see Jgs. 9:7-15; 2 K. 14:19; Isa. 10:15; 29:16; Ezk. 17:3-10; 19:1-14. Folk tales so far recovered are few and didactic in purpose. Humor is apparent in the tale of The Poor Man of Nippur who takes revenge for mistreatment by officialdom. The story survives in Babylonian texts from Sultantepe, Nineveh, and in later Arabic sources. Parables are rare in Babylonian literature, as in the OT (cf. 2 S. 12:1-4; Isa. 28:4). So also are allegories (cf. Isa. 5:1-7).

献中) 引用了一些晚期亚兰语的训言。书信和其他文献中引用了训言(类似创 10:9; 撒上 10:12; 王上 20:11; 耶 22:28)。许多文献中记载了建议和务实的教导。一份来自乌加里特的文献是写给将要离家的苏波阿维鲁(Šube'awelum)的,文中特别提到了街上的女人、父母、择妻、购买公牛、愚人和智者。最终得出的结论是,一切都是痛苦和虚空(类似传 1:17; 12:8)。《智慧的忠告》中每部分论及不同的主题:避免坏的同伴、争执、不当的言论,与敌人讲和,不娶奴隶或妓女为妻,作维齐尔的诱惑以及朋友的欺骗。 智慧文学中同样包括讨论内在价值的讽刺性对话和辩论,如冬与夏;镐和犁;怪柳和枣椰;真理和谎言;狐狸、狗、狼和狮子;牛和马(参:拉一 3:1-4:63)。《伊索寓言》之前的动物寓言都依据主要的动物角色来分类。关于《旧约》中的寓言,见《士师记》9:7-15;《列王纪下》14:19;《以赛亚书》10:15; 29:16;《以西结书》17:3-10; 19:1-14。目前还原的民间故事很少,它们都旨在教诲。《尼普尔的穷人》中的故事显然比较诙谐,这本书讲述了尼普尔的穷人报复苛待百姓的官员的故事。萨尔坦(Sultantepe)和尼尼微的巴比伦语文献以及后来的阿拉伯语材料中保留了这则故事。巴比伦文学中的比喻故事比较罕见,这与《旧约》类似(参:撒下 12:1-4; 赛 28:4)。寓言故事也是比较(参:赛 5:1-7)。苏美尔的学院文献中传抄了谜语和谜底(参:士 14:14;

Riddles are found copied out in Sumerian school texts together with their solution (cf. Jgs. 14:14; 1 K. 10:1). Love poems or songs relate to the sacred marriage of the king (acting as Tammuz?) and the representative of the goddess of love (contrast Song of Solomon) or to participants in the New Year Festival. Lamentations bewailing the destruction of cities, as Nippur, Lagash, and Ur (cf. Lamentations on the destruction of Jerusalem and Vergil Aen. ii.157 on Troy), were probably composed prior to their reconstruction, as a liturgical apology to the deity for the razing of buildings. In a Sumerian text, Lugaldingirra bemoans in hyperbolic terms the death of his father and wife.

D. Omens. The Babylonians believed that what the gods planned in heaven was knowable by direct observation on earth. This led to serious and systematic observation and recording of all events (hence historiography; see VIII above) and especially of unusual actions or aspects of men, animals, plants, and objects. These were recorded in a specific form of protasis (šumma, “If/It happened that...”) and apodosis (the concomitant result) or prognostication. These were built up into “scientific” texts by diviners (bārû, mašmāšu). It is noteworthy that this type of literature, though common in Babylonia, is absent from the OT, which is nevertheless cognizant of these pagan practices.

Astrology, the commonest of omens, led to the Babylonians being renowned as astrologers (see ASTROLOGY; CHALDEA VI). Astrological omens were recorded on a series of seventy-seven tablets entitled Enūma-Anu-Enlil. Twenty-three tablets cover observations of the moon; others list omens derived from the sun, weather (pre-dominantly clouds, wind, waves, and earthquakes), planets, and fixed stars. Their rising and setting, relation to other planets, eclipses, halos, color, intensity, and duration are all noted. Horoscopes are first found in the 4th cent. B.C., and predict the future of a child according to the astronomical setting of its birth.

王上 10:1)。爱情诗歌中提及国王（相当于坦木兹[不确定]）和爱神的代表（对照《雅歌》）的圣婚，或提及参加新年庆典的人。哀悼尼普尔、拉格什和吾珥等城倾倒入的哀歌（参：哀悼耶路撒冷倾倒入的哀歌，和维吉尔（Vergil）哀悼特洛伊倾倒入的哀歌，Aen. ii.157）可能创作于这些城市重建之前，以此为建筑的倒塌向神做出礼拜性的道歉。在苏美尔文献中，卢迦丁基拉（Lugaldingirra）用夸张的词汇为他的父亲和妻子的死亡表示哀悼。

D. 征兆。巴比伦人认为通过在地上直接观测可以得知神在天上的计划。因此，他们对所有事件进行严谨而又系统的观察和记录（于是形成了历史编纂学；见上文 VIII），尤其是关于人类、动物、植物和物件的不同寻常的行为或样子的观察和记录。他们用特定形式的条件从句（šumma，“如果……或如果发生了……”）和归结子句（随之而来的结果）或先兆进行记录。这些记录构成了占卜者（bārû, mašmāšu）的“科学”文献。值得注意的是，虽然这类文献在巴比伦十分常见，但却并未出现在《旧约》中，而《旧约》的作者是了解这些异教习俗的。

占星术这种最常见的征兆使巴比伦人成为了著名的占星家（见 ASTROLOGY [占星术]；CHALDEA [迦勒底]）。占星的征兆记录在名为“以鲁玛-安努-恩利尔”的七十七块泥版上。其中二十三块泥版记载了对月亮的观测结果；其他泥

Extispicy is the examination of the liver, lungs, gallbladder, kidneys, or intestines of slaughtered animals, usually sheep, to see the god's "writing" there in response to the diviner's prayer. This was usually performed for the king in matters of war or state. The interpreter had available clay models of the organs (examples were found at Hazor and Mari in the west) as well as tablets that gave in standardized form the phenomena to be observed and the predictions, largely relating to historical events and the fate of earlier rulers. These gave the priest a direct affirmative or negative answer to questions posed by him to the gods.

Medical omens are found in an omen series entitled "If the exorcist goes into the house of a patient," which runs to forty tablets beginning in the Old Babylonian period. The main purpose (tablets 3-34) is the diagnosis and prognosis of disease based on external observation, beginning at the hand and working down to the feet. The prognosis (a precursor of Hippocrates' formulas) states whether the patient will live or die, or the length of illness. Other tablets (35-36) relate to pregnancy and to the birth of children (39-40). A further series of omens (šumma izbu) is derived from the monstrous or multiple births of infants or animals. Physionomical omens were derived from bodily characteristics, eccentricities, the color of hair or skin, location of moles, and mannerisms in speech or gait.

版则列举出从太阳、天气（主要是云、风、海浪和地震）、行星和恒星中获得的征兆。星体的起落、它们与其他行星的关系、天蚀、光晕、颜色、亮度和停留时间都被记录了下来。公元前4世纪首次出现了天宫图，并根据孩子出生时的天象预测这个孩子的未来。

医学征兆出现在一系列以“如果驱邪者进入了病人的家”为名的征兆中，从古巴比伦时期开始，共有四十块泥版记录了医学征兆。这些征兆（泥版3-34）主要是为了基于外部观察诊断和预测病情，观察从手开始，一直到脚。预测（希波克拉底方法的前身）是为说明病人会生还是死，或是疾病持续的时间。其他泥版涉及到怀孕（35-36）或生子（39-40）。另一系列预兆（šumma izbu）则源于对初生婴儿或动物的畸形或多胞胎的观察。观相术征兆源自对身体特征、怪癖、头发或皮肤的颜色、痣的位置和说话或走路时的特殊习惯的观察。

In another type of text, dream omens are usually linked with events. A Dream Book brought together omens derived from activities taking place in dreams. Thus eating (including cannibalism) and traveling to heaven, the underworld, or to a named country or city were made the basis of prognostications. The role of dreams here differs from their usual role in the OT (but cf. Gen. 41:15–32). The largest collection of omens, the series šumma ālu ina mēlē šakin (“If a city is set on a hill”), runs to 110 tablets. It appears to have originated in the Middle Babylonian period. These omens refer to incidents in cities, houses, the behavior of or encounter with animals and reptiles of all kinds, fire, agriculture, and human relations. Since the apodosis often refers to national events, these collections made at Uruk in Babylonia (as at Nineveh, Asshur, and Calah in Assyria) may have been compiled for state purposes. Other omens were compiled to interpret the patterns formed by oil on water or the flight of birds.

E. Prophecies. The so-called Akkadian prophecies describe the reigns of unnamed kings or princes, and are cast in the form of predictions describing each rule as “good” or “bad” in a form similar to that commonly found in the apodoses of omens. One appears to predict a reign of twenty-seven years followed by one of seven years, and others associated with historical events of the period Meli-šipak to Enlil-nadin-aḫḫe can be shown to have been written post eventum. A few set out as forecasts of unnamed kings who will ascend the throne, and in this are parallel to Dnl. 8:23–25; 11:3–45. (See A. K. Grayson, Babylonian Historical-Literary Texts [1975], pp. 24–37, for a dynastic prophecy describing the fall of Assyria, the rise and fall of Babylonia and of Persia, and the rise of the Hellenistic monarchies.) These prophecies are not related to the West Semitic practices of Mari by “ecstatic” priests and priestesses (muḫḫ[tu]). The latter were of lower status than the âpilu (“answerer”), whose name implies that he was the agent through whom revelations were given after questioning the deity through divination (see D above), the paramount means of knowing the divine will. The prophecies were primarily about the temple and its interests, and the person of the king and his military success.

在另一类文献中,梦的预兆通常与事件有关。一部断梦占卜书集合了源自梦中活动的征兆。因此吃东西(包括吃人)和去天堂、冥府或某个国家或城市构成了预兆的基础。梦中的角色与他们在《旧约》中的常见角色不同(另参:创41:15-32)。最大的征兆合集是“如果城在山上”(šumma ālu ina mēlē šakin)系列,共有110块泥版。它似乎源于中巴比伦时期。这些征兆涉及到城中事件、房屋、动物和所有爬行动物的行为或与它们的遭遇、火、农业以及人类关系。因为归结子句通常涉及国家事件,所以这些来自巴比伦乌鲁克(类似亚述的尼尼微、阿舒尔和迦拉)的预兆合集可能是为国家用途编纂的。其他的预兆合集则是为了解释油在水中构成的图案或鸟的飞行模式。

另见 RELIGIONS OF THE BIBLICAL WORLD: ASSYRIA AND BABYLONIA VI (圣经世界的宗教:亚述和巴比伦VI)。

E. 预言。所谓的阿卡德预言描述了无名国王或君主的统治时期的情况,它们以类似于常见预兆归结子句的形式预测每段统治时期的“吉凶”。一篇预言似乎预测了一段27年的统治时期,之后,另一篇预言预测了7年的统治时

F. Rituals. Royal rituals are known mostly from Assyrian or Mari sources describing the part the king played in the cult. In Babylon the primary occasion was the New Year Festival (akītu). The development of this festival from a seasonal rite to the most important cultic and social event of the Mesopotamian calendar in the cities of Babylon, Uruk, Dilbat, Sippar, Kish, and Ur cannot yet be traced. There were many local variations. At Babylon the god Marduk was led by the king in procession from his temple Esagila (see BABYLON IV.H) with other gods who came into the city, as Nabû from Borsippa. (The king had earlier come before the god and had been deprived of his insignia and been granted it back. The Epic of Creation had been recited, as commonly in the ritual.) The procession went out by chariot and barge to the akītu—house on the ninth day of the first month. Then the gods in parliament (Ubšukinna) decided the fates for the following year, and the “sacred marriage” was sometimes performed. On the eleventh of the month the procession returned amid public rejoicing. The king’s legitimate position was not affected by any failure to celebrate the festival. In later Babylonian times the akītu was performed on more than one occasion in the year. Descriptions of the New Year Festival, offerings, and ritual (dullu) have survived from Uruk in Seleucid times. The ritual feeding (tākultu) of deities was associated with the New Year Festival. The daily care of the gods, the sanctuary, and its offerings was the special responsibility of classes of priests.

间,其他则与米利·西巴克(Meli-šipak)至恩利尔·纳丁·埃赫(Enlil-nadin-aḫḫe can)统治时期的历史事件有关,在 post eventum 一书中可以看到对这些事件的描述。有一些预言预测了将要登基的无名之王,这些预言类似于《但以理书》8:23-25 和 11:3-45 中的预言。(关于描述亚述衰落、巴比伦和波斯的崛起和衰落、希腊化王朝的崛起的王朝预言,见 A. K. Grayson, Babylonian Historical-Literary Texts [1975], 24-37 页。)“出神的”祭司和女祭司(muḫḫ[tu])并未将这些预言与西闪族马里的习俗联系在一起。女祭司的地位比“占卜者”(âpilu)的地位低,占卜者这个名字表明他们神的代理,他们通过占卜向神提问,然后得到神的启示(见上文 D),占卜是领受神的旨意的主要方法。预言主要是为了知晓神庙和神庙影响的情况,以及国王的命运和战争的胜负。

F. 仪式。对皇家仪式的了解主要来自描述国王在仪式中作用的亚述或马里文献。在巴比伦城,最重要的场合是新年祭典(akītu)。这个节日从一个季节性的仪式发展为巴比伦、乌鲁克、迪尔巴特、西巴尔、基什和吾珥这些城市中美索不达米亚历中最重要的宗教和社会事件,但这个发展过程还无法追溯。有些地方的新年祭典有所不同。玛尔杜克神和其他来到巴比伦的神明(如波尔西帕的纳布)在这一天在国王的带领下从埃萨吉神庙(见 BABYLON IV.H[巴比伦 IV.H])出发巡游巴比伦。(国王先来到神面前,祭司拿走象征王权的权杖,最后再把权杖归还给国王,祭司会向常见仪式中那样吟诵创世史诗。众神乘着

The individual sufferer had recourse to an incantation-priest who might consult the Šurpu (“burning”) texts to ascertain the cause. These enumerate all types of sins and petition Marduk, the supreme god of exorcist power, the fire, or other substances that might eradicate the failure. The Maqlû series describes the binding, burning, or cursing of figurines representing the man whose illness was due to evil magic. The accompanying prayers invoked or praised the deity who was thought to have been involved.

受苦的人可以向会念咒语的祭司求助,祭司根据“燃烧的” (Šurpu) 文字来确定他们受苦的原因。这些文字列举了所有罪的种类,并祈求拥有驱邪力量的至高神玛尔杜克赐予火焰或其他物质来消除不幸。一个咒语系列 (Maqlû) 描述了捆绑、烧毁或诅咒代表着因邪术而生病的人的雕像。祭司旁边的祷告者则祈求或赞美被认为与此有关的神。

G. Prayers and Hymns. The “lifting up of hands” prayers (šu-il-lá) were an established part of the ritual from Old Babylonian times. After the invocation and praise to a named god, the worshiper’s complaint and request were followed by the words expressing thanks for the blessings to be received. There were lamentations (šigû), benedictions (ikribû), and prayers for special occasions. In some cases “letter-prayers” of similar form were written and placed before the god’s statue. These bore epistolary greeting formulas. Most were petitions for relief from sickness or for long life. This type of text (Gottesbrief) is a more extensively used literary form than has hitherto been recognized. There are also examples of letters from a god to a king in response to requests.

Hymns to deities or planets stem from the earliest period. Some are straightforward praise and worship, others are for processional or liturgical use. A few (e.g., hymns to Šamaš) are preceptive hymns replete with ethical injunctions. More than a hundred royal hymns in Sumerian laud the rulers of the dynasties of Ur, Isin, Larsa, and Babylon (i.e., ca. 2100–1700 B.C.). The first may be Gudea of Lagash’s hymn to Bau (Baba) ca. 2150, and the last comes from the Sea Land Dynasty ca. 1500 B.C. W. Hallo has argued that these emphasize the theoretical concept of Mesopotamian unity by recognizing a single dynast as the earthly holder of a divinely granted primacy over his fellow rulers. Hymns appear to have been composed freely using existing topoi (cf. “Prayer to the Gods of the Night”). They were also composed for the king’s coronation, marriage (cf. Ps. 45), victory, death, and other momentous occasions.

G. 祈祷词和赞美诗。“举起双手”祈祷词 (šu-il-lá) 是从古巴比伦时期开始就已被确立为仪式的一部分。崇拜者祈祷并赞颂一位有名的神之后,对将要收到的祝福表示感谢,随后会提出不满和要求。在特殊场合中会出现哀歌 (šigû)、赐福 (ikribû) 和祈祷词。某些情况下,人们会写下类似形式的“祈祷信”,并将其放在神像前。这些祈祷信使用书信体的问候用语。大多数书信都是祈求减轻病痛或长寿的。这类文献 (Gottesbrief) 是迄今为止使用最广泛的文学体裁。神回应国王请求的书信的例子同样存在。

赞美神明或星体的赞美诗源自最早时期。一些赞美诗直接用于赞颂或崇拜,其他则用于巡游或仪式上。一些赞美诗(如沙玛什赞美诗)是充满道德禁令的教诲性赞美诗。一百余首苏美尔的赞美诗赞颂了吾珥、伊辛、拉尔萨和巴比伦(即,约公元前 2100-1700 年)等王朝的统治者。第一首赞美诗可能是约公元前 2150 年拉格什的古地亚赞美诗,最后一首则来自约公元前 1500 年的海陆王朝。哈洛 (W. Hallo) 认为,这些赞美诗通过将某位君主视为拥有同类君主统治权(这权力是神所赐下的)的世俗统治者来强调美索不达米亚统一的理论概念。赞美诗似乎是采用现存主题而自由创作的(参:“夜神祈祷词”)。还会为国王的加冕礼、婚姻(参:诗 45)、胜利、死亡和其他重大场合创作赞美诗。

X. Science and Technology.-Babylonian “science” was thought to be by revelation or divine instruction to those initiated into a craft. The secret was transmitted orally or in “obscure” writing. The basic data (the lists), however, were available to all skilled scribes.

A. Astronomy. Texts from the 20th to the 1st cent. B.C. constitute the most significant body of scientific texts from a pre-Hellenistic civilization. Positional notations, decimal and sexagesimal systems, and later a zero mark made possible advanced calculations using basically algebraic methods. For practical purposes multiplication, division, and square and cube root tables were available. Exercises also were of an essentially practical nature (estimating for building or financing, etc.). Geometrical problems show a pre-Pythagorean knowledge of theorem ($\pi = 3 \frac{1}{8}$; cf. 1 K. 7:23, $\pi = 3$). By the 7th cent. Babylonian astronomy with its arithmetical methods was concerned with the accurate observation of the appearance and disappearance of the sun, moon, and planets in order to fix the calendar. The zodiac was described and various planetary and stellar movements plotted in sufficient detail to lead to predictions. Rules for computing their positions (“procedure texts”) and the results were listed (“ephemerides”). The goal of all their lunar theory was to determine the precise length of the month. They aimed to find the place of any heavenly body at a given time and thus predict the new moon, its last visibility, and eclipses. These lists are precursors of modern astronomical and nautical almanacs.

X. 科学与技术。巴比伦的“科学”被认为是通过启示或神的指示形成的一种工艺。这种秘密是通过口述或“晦涩”的文献作品流传下来的。然而，所有熟练的文士都能使用基本数据资料(各种列表)。

A. 天文学。公元前 20 至 1 世纪的文献构成了希腊化之前文明的科学文献的最重要的部分。位置记号、十进制和六十进制及后期的零位标志使人们可能运用基本的代数方法来进行先进的运算。实际运算时可以使用乘法、除法、平方根和立方根表。练习实际上也是一种实践(估算建筑或金融等)。几何问题体现出勾股定理出现之前的知识($\pi = 3 \frac{1}{8}$, 参: 王上 7:23, $\pi = 3$)。到公元前 7 世纪时, 巴比伦的天文学及其算术方法可应用于精确地观测太阳、月亮和行星的隐现, 从而有助于确定历法。巴比伦人绘制了黄道十二宫图, 并非常详细地描绘了各种行星和恒星的运行轨迹, 从而可以预测星体的运行。巴比伦人列出了计算星体位置的规则(“步骤文献”)和推测结果(“星历表”)。巴比伦人关于月亮运动的所有理论都是为了确定每月的精确长度。他们想要获得给定时间内所有星体的位置, 并以此推测新月的出现和最近一次出现的时间以及月食的时间。这些列表是现代天文历和航海天文历的前身。

B. Medicine. In addition to the omen-type texts already described (see IX. D above), which gave the diagnosis and prognosis of disease, the Babylonians listed in a pharmaceutical series (uru-anna = maštakal) all plants, drugs, and their substitutes. Prescriptions based on these are preserved. Though often combined with magical or psychological medicine using ritual folklore (ašipūtu), the purely therapeutic texts outline the symptoms and diagnosis, and give advice to the physician (asū) on treatment. Court physicians, as at Babylon, Mari, and Nineveh, were highly skilled and foreigners were accepted. Fevers, women's diseases, and the treatment of wounds were the subject of special study. Epilepsy, jaundice, malaria, rheumatism, and skin diseases ("leprosy") were identified. The pressure points were noted and, in addition to common remedies, some surgery (šipir bēl imti) was carried out, e. g., opening a cranial abscess, trepanning, treatment of caruncle of eye (Hammurabi Laws, §§ 215, 218), clearing cutaneous infection, treatment of fractures (and possibly amputation), and what some think was an early attempt at a caesarean section.

C. Technology. The listing of animals, plants, minerals, etc., led to what may justly be called the first short step toward empirical science. Mineralogy and metallurgy from the 3rd millennium had always some practical end. Thus silver and gold were separated from impurities and assayed ca. 2000 B.C., metals were refined by cupellation, and silver and lead smelted by air reduction. Glass, glaze-making, dying, and textile embroidery may have come from the West, for Babylonia was always open to the influence of new ideas through booty taken in war or by trade. Certainly writing (the cuneiform script), the wheel, water clock, seeder plough, and seal-stone cutting seem to have been local and influential inventions which, like the “sciences” of astronomy and medicine, were passed on through Anatolia to ancient Greece.

B. 医学。除了上文已经描述过的征兆类文献（见上文的 IX.D）能够给出疾病诊断和预测外，巴比伦人还在一个药物学系列文献（uru-anna，相当于 maštakal）中列举出所有植物、药物以及它们的替代品。以此为基础的医药处方流传了下来。虽然经常与巫术或心理药物结合在一起用于宗教民俗方面（ašipūtu），但纯粹的治疗文献大致概述了疾病的症状和诊断结果，并对医师（asū）给出了治疗疾病的建议。巴比伦、马里和尼尼微的宫廷医师技艺高超，有些医师来自于巴比伦之外的国家。发烧、妇科病和伤口的治疗是医师特别研究的学科。癫痫、黄疸、疟疾、风湿和皮肤病（“麻风病”）在当时已经可以诊断出来。当时的医师已经记录了压觉点，除了普通的疗法之外，他们还可以进行一些外科手术（šipir bēl imti），如，打开脑部囊肿、头部钻孔、治疗眼睛上的瘤（《汉谟拉比法典》，215、218 章）、清除皮肤感染、治疗骨伤（可能包括截肢）和某些人心目中的早期剖腹产手术。

C. 工艺。动物、植物和矿物等列表可以恰当地称为向经验科学迈进的第一小步。公元前 3000 年的矿物学和冶金学一直都有实际用途。因此，约公元前 2000 年，巴比伦人可以将金银和杂质分离开来，并对含量进行分析，他们用灰吹法精炼金属，通过减少空气的方法熔炼银和铅。玻璃、制釉、染色和纺织刺绣可能来自西方，巴比伦通常从战利品或贸易品接受了新思想的影响。当然，文字（楔形文字）、车轮、水钟、播种犁和印石切割似乎是当地人重要的发明，这些工艺与天文和医学等“科

D. Music. Musical life and practice is known largely from the instruments discovered. Fifty-three different instruments are listed: percussion (drums, cymbals, gongs, and clackers), wind (wood and reed pipes, flutes), and string (harp, lyre, lute). All the instruments of Nebuchadrezzar’s orchestra (Dnl. 3:5, 7, 10, 15) are attested in sixth-century texts or archeological finds. The names of nine strings and of the intervals and tunings are listed. Thus the lyres from Ur, strung like the modern Ethiopian bagana, were tuned to a scale equivalent to C major or to a seven-tone species similar to, but far antedating, the heptatonic scale known from Greek sources. Musicians and singers of various vocal ranges performed solo or in unison. Šulgi king of Ur claimed to be adept at all musical arts, performing and also tuning and restringing instruments. Tunes (or instruments) to accompany certain hymns, laments, or songs are noted in some text (cf. the headings of some Psalms). No written musical notation has been identified with certainty.

XI. Institutions.-A. Social System. The Babylonian concept of law required that all men be considered equal, but at all times there were distinct groups (prisoners of wars, debtors, etc.) who were enslaved. Outside the palace and temple these were

学”一样，都经由安纳托利亚传到了古希腊。

D. 音乐。对巴比伦音乐生活和习俗的了解主要来自出土的乐器。53 种不同乐器有：打击乐器（鼓、铙钹、锣和响板）、管乐器（木笛和芦笛、长笛）和弦乐器（竖琴、七弦竖琴、诗琴）。6 世纪的文献或考古发现证实了尼布甲尼撒的乐队中的所有乐器（但 3:5, 7, 10, 15）。九弦的名字、音程和曲调的名字被列举出来。因此，吾珥的竖琴的上弦方式与现代埃塞俄比亚的巴加纳（bagana）的上弦方式类似，这种竖琴的音调相当于 C 大调，或相当于七音阶系列，类似于希腊七声音阶，但却远早于希腊的七声音阶。乐师或不同音域的歌者独自表演或一同表演。据称吾珥的舒尔吉王擅长所有的音乐艺术，如演奏、为乐器调音和上弦。一些文献中记载了给某些赞美诗、哀歌或歌曲伴奏的曲调或乐器（参：一些《诗篇》的标题）。目前还不能准确辨认任何书面上的音乐符号。

XI. 体系。A. 社会制度。巴比伦的律法概念要求人人平等，但被奴役的个别群体始终存在（战俘、借债人等）。公元前第一个千禧年晚期以前，皇宫和神庙外的这类个别群体的人数并不多，而且他们在经济中的起到的作用不明显。 not numerous and played a minor part in the economy until the late 1st millennium. A small group won special rights (tax and other exemptions) which enabled them to attain privilege and power. Contrary to many interpretations, the laws (e.g., Hammurabi) rarely refer to a “freeman” (awēlum also stands for “man”), though they legislated for dependents of the palace (muškēnum) and slaves (wardum) in Old Babylonian times. These classes are rarely noted outside these texts. Slaves had privileges, could marry a freeman or woman, hold property or office, and earn redemption. All men could be called up for military or corvée duties (though substitutes could be provided). The corvée was mainly for the constant renewal required of irrigation ditches due to salination, and for harvest or special works. Army service soon called for mercenaries in view of the constant campaigning in Chaldean times.

The main distinction was between nomads (or seminomad tribesmen) and the urban population. The interaction and absorption of nomads led to many political changes. The major cities (Babylon and Nippur) had a unique status and were usually free of royal taxation.

The economy was primarily agricultural. Since this was dependent on security and irrigation, control of land centered in the cities and manorial estates. Villages were comparatively few. The seminomads were dependent on their wool-bearing sheep and goats or, in the marshes, on fishing. The temple and palace held large estates, which enabled them to support flocks, fishing, industry (mainly weaving; cf. Josh. 7:21), shipping, and trade. Guilds of craftsmen attached to temples flourished

一小部分人拥有特殊权利(税务等豁免权), 因此他们得到了特权和权力。律法(如汉谟拉比)与许多评注相反, 虽然在古巴比伦时期, 律法为皇室亲属(muškēnum)和奴隶(wardum)留有余地, 但却很少提到“自由民”(awēlum, 还可以表示“人”)。这类文献之外的作品很少记载这些阶层。奴隶拥有特权, 可以和自由民(男或女皆可)结婚, 可以拥有财产或官位, 还可以被赎获得自由。所有人都可以被召服兵役或劳役(虽然也允许找人来替代)。劳役主要是为了不断地修复盐化的灌溉水渠和进行收割或特殊的工作。由于迦勒底时期战事不断, 加大了对雇佣兵的需求。

主要差异存在于游牧民族(或半游牧民族)和城市人口之间。游牧民族的相互影响和同化引发了许多政治变动。主要的城市(巴比伦和尼普尔)拥有特殊的地位, 通常免缴皇室征税。

巴比伦的经济主要是农业经济。由于这种经济主要取决于安全和灌溉, 所以土地的控制主要集中在城市和庄园土地上。村庄里的土地相对较少。半游牧民族主要依靠产毛的绵羊和山羊或在沼泽以打渔为生。神庙和宫殿占据大量土地, 因此他们可以养殖牲畜、发展渔业、工业(主要是纺织业; 参: 书 7:21)、造船业和贸易。从新巴比伦时期开始, 附属於神庙的工匠协会十分繁盛。 from Neo-Babylonian times.

Trade was by traveling agents, financed by traders (tamkaru) and protected by interstate agreement. Thus Babylonia was linked with Egypt, the Mediterranean, Persia, Arabia, and possibly India. Finance houses (and tax-farmers) sprang up under the Achaemenids and their successors.

B. The King. The King (LU.GAL/šarru) was originally the chief temple official (en-si) or city governor holding supreme power over a tribe or district. Less is known of his functions in Babylonia than in Assyria, but in Babylonia he held a lesser place in the cult and never acted as chief priest. With the advent of the Amorites there was a new concept of kingship and an increasing distinction between palace and temple. The king was surrounded by court administrators headed by a vizier (sukallu) after the Middle Babylonian period. His palace acted as state treasury, receiving tribute, taxes, and dues, and redistributing them in kind through the stores and workshops to the army, civil service, and retainers, many of whom were also tied to the palace by services (ilku) due on their crown holdings. There is no certainty that kings of the Ur III or Amorite periods were considered divine, though they shared in the splendor of deity with robes and horned headdresses while acting on behalf of the state god. They were not worshiped, though their names were sometimes prefixed with the determinative used for divine names. It is probable that this, like some of the hymns addressed to them, was part of the ancestral cult after death.

C. Cities. Cities played an important part from their early development in 贸易由旅行的代理人负责，由贸易商 (tamkaru) 投资，受国家间的协议保护。因此巴比伦与埃及、地中海、波斯、阿拉伯，甚至可能与印度都有贸易往来。在阿契美尼德王朝及其继位者的统治下，贸易机构（和税官）不断涌现。

B. 国王。 国王 (LU.GAL 或 šarru) 起初是主要的神庙官员 (恩西) 或城市的管理者，他们拥有掌控一个部落或一个地区的至高权力。对巴比伦国王职责的了解比对亚述国王职责的了解要少，而且巴比伦国王在宗教中的地位较低，从不担任主祭司。随着亚摩利人的出现，新的王权出现了，皇宫和神庙之间的差距也越来越大。中巴比伦时期以后，国王身边常有维齐尔 (sukallu) 领导的宫廷行政官。国王的宫殿充当着国库，接受供物、税金和税捐，并通过仓库和工坊将它们再次分配给军队、行政官员和侍从，它们也因支持皇位而通过供职 (ilku) 与皇室相关联。虽然无法确定吾珥第三王朝或亚摩利时期的国王被认为是神圣的，但是当他们代表国家之神时尊享神的荣耀，穿着礼服、佩戴头饰，虽然他们的名字有时以神的名字中的限定词作为前缀，但并不被人们崇拜。这些称谓和那些写给国王的赞美诗一样，可能是后人对已逝祖先表示的一种崇拜。

C. 城市。 巴比伦的城市从早期发展开始便一直起着重要的作用。早期的城市

Babylonia. It seems that the early city assembly (puhrum) exercised certain primitive democratic rights. The “city fathers” were consulted on questions of war and peace (as 1 K. 20:7f.; 2 Ch. 25:17). Gilgamesh of Uruk, facing an ultimatum from Agga of Kish, appealed first to the elders and then to the “young warriors,” as did Rehoboam (1 K. 12:8). This shows a certain lack of freedom in the independent exercise of the ruler’s prerogative of decision, at least in matters requiring national support expressed in the vox populi. The Babylonian kings paid particular attention to the maintenance of the fabric, funds, and offerings of the main sanctuaries and thus usually avoided friction between the palace and temple.

These temples acted in much the same way as the palace, being the economic center of large estates that supplied their needs. The šangû-priest headed the administration. In Neo-Babylonian times royal appointees (šatammu) sat with the committees of priests and citizens who managed temple affairs. Part of the temple up-keep was derived from temple taxes, collection boxes (quppu), and votive gifts.

XII. Arts.-The most distinctive characteristic of Babylonian architecture was the temple-tower (ziqurratu). Originally this was a small temple on a raised platform (as at `Uqair); it was then placed at a higher level above the surrounding town (the Diyala city oval temples). Later the temple tower became a series of recessed stepped platforms one above the other rising to three (Ur-Nammu ziggurat at Ur) or to seven stages surmounted by a small chapel (Babylon). Ascent was by direct staircase, or spiral stairs or slopes. These

议会 (puhrum) 似乎行使着某些原始的民主权。人们向“城市元老”询问关于战争与和平的问题 (如王上 20:7-8; 代下 25:17)。当乌鲁克的吉尔伽美什面临基什的阿伽的最后通牒时,他首先求助老年人,然后才求助“年轻的勇士”,罗波安也曾这样做 (王上 12:8)。这表明统治者缺少独立行使决策权的自由,至少在民众需要国家支持 (表现为民意) 的问题上,统治者没有独立的决策权。巴比伦国王尤其关注对主要圣所的织造物、资金和祭物的供应,因此通常避免了皇宫和神庙之间的摩擦。

这些神庙大致与宫殿的作用相同,是大庄园的经济中心,而大庄园满足了神庙的需求。由大祭司主持行政工作。在新巴比伦时期,由皇室指定的人 (šatammu) 负责管理祭司委员会和处理庙中事务的公民。神庙的部分给养来自神庙所收的税务、募捐箱 (quppu) 和奉献礼。

XII. 艺术。巴比伦最独特的建筑特征是庙塔 (ziqurratu)。起初是建在高台上的一个小神庙 (如乌盖尔的小神庙); 后来神庙建在高于周边城镇的高地上 (迪亚拉城的椭圆形神庙)。此后,庙塔成为了一系列嵌入式的阶梯式平台,平台可能有三 (吾珥的乌尔南穆庙塔) 至七层,逐层相叠,庙塔最顶端是一座小神殿 (巴比伦)。庙塔上建有笔直的阶梯、螺旋式阶梯或斜坡。有的庙塔四周建造着围墙。见 BABEL, TOWER OF (巴别塔 X)。 temple-towers sometimes stood within their own walled enclosures adjacent to the temple proper. See BABEL, TOWER OF X.

In Babylonia the principal building material was sun-dried or kiln-baked clay brick, sometimes with the royal builder's name stamped upon it. Bitumen and mud mortar were available locally. Despite the limitations of the material, domes, barrel-vaults, or facades decorated with columns, plastered in color or ornamented with mosaics of colored clay cones (Early Dynastic Uruk), are found. Some Kassite reliefs were made by the insertion of premolded bricks. In Nebuchadrezzar's restoration of Babylon much use was made of bricks with colored glaze surfaces.

The temple, like the palace, had storerooms built around complexes of courtyards. The main sanctuary was approached across one of these paved courts in which were wells or basins for lustrations. The crowned and bedecked statue of the god stood within the small dark naós. The commonest plan required the worshiper to enter and then turn to face the deity from the antecella. Wayside shrines and domestic chapels have been excavated.

Stone was used for boundary stones (kudurru) engraved with symbols, for life-size or smaller statues (e.g., the Warka head, Gudea statues), the stelae of laws (Hammurabi), and commemorative reliefs (Ur-Nammu). All of these were stationed in temples. The commonest use of small stones, apart from jewelry, was for the characteristic cylinder or stamp seal, which was also used as a personal amulet.

巴比伦的主要建筑材料是晒干或烘干的泥砖,有些泥砖上刻着皇室建造者的名字。当地只能使用的石漆和泥浆。除了材料的局限性外,拱顶、筒形穹顶或用柱子装饰的外墙都涂着厚重的色彩,或镶嵌着上色的陶瓷(早期的乌鲁克王朝)。一些喀西特浮雕通过预先制好的泥浆嵌入而成。尼布甲尼撒修复巴比伦时,大量使用了带有彩釉表面的泥砖。

神庙和皇宫一样,在庭院的建筑群周围建有贮藏室。经由一个铺砌完好的庭院即可通往主神殿,这个庭院中有用于洁净的水井和盆。带有皇冠、装饰精美的神像矗立在黑暗的小内殿(naós)中。最常见的规划需要崇拜者进入内殿,然后从内室中转过面对神像。路旁的神龛和家中的小神殿已经被发掘出来。

石头被用于制作雕刻着符号的界石(kudurru)、真人大小或稍小些的雕像(如瓦尔卡之首、古地亚神像)、律法石碑(汉谟拉比)和纪念性浮雕(乌尔南穆)。这些石雕都放置在神庙中。除了制作珠宝外,小石头最经常用来制作独具特色的圆柱形石或图章,也可以用作个人的护身符。塑像研究对于研究宗教来说非常重要。不同原产地、时期和目的的印章,其尺寸、石料和工艺类型

The iconography is important for the study of religion. The size, stone, and style of workmanship varied according to the provenance, period, and purpose of each seal. Stones such as haematite in Old Babylonia and chalcedony in Neo-Babylonia, scenes of a worshiper introduced to a deity, and conical stamp seals in Neo-Babylonia, are particularly characteristic of the Babylonian seal-cutter's craft.

XIII. Legacy.—Babylonia early influenced Egypt, giving that country the cylinder seal and its system of cuneiform script, which also influenced the writing of the Elamites, Syrians, and Hittites. (See WRITING.) Babylonian literary forms and educational practices may have influenced the OT scribes, though the contents, historiography, prophecy, and laws of the OT are unique. Babylonia's sciences and military might played their part in the spread of her ideas, which were incorporated into succeeding civilizations.

也有所不同。古巴比伦的赤铁矿和新巴比伦的玉髓等石料、崇拜者拜见神明的场景以及新巴比伦的圆锥形图章体现出巴比伦印章雕刻工艺的独有特征。

XIII. 遗产。埃及早期受巴比伦的影响,出现了圆柱形石印以及早期的楔形文字体系,巴比伦还影响了以拦人、叙利亚人和赫人的文字。(见 WRITING [写作、文字]。)巴比伦的文学体裁和教育方法可能影响了旧约文士,然而,《旧约》的内容、历史学、预言和律法是独一无二的。巴比伦的科学和军事可能在传播思想方面起到了一定作用,并且融入后期的文明中。

BABYLONIAN CAPTIVITY.

See CAPTIVITY.

BABYLONIANS

[Heb. b^enê-bābel]. The inhabitants of BABYLONIA. They were among the colonists planted in Samaria by the Assyrians (Ezr. 4:9). The “picture of Babylonians” (Ezk. 23:15) refers to the bas-reliefs that decorated the walls of Babylonian palaces. The reports of them heard in Jerusalem or copies of them seen there awakened the nation’s desire for these unknown lovers, of which Judah had ample occasion to repent (vv. 17, 23; cf. 2 K. 24).

BACA, VALE OF

bā'kə [Heb. bākā] (Ps. 84:6); NEB “thirsty valley.” A valley so named because it contained trees that exuded resin or gum, perhaps several species of balsam. The valley of Rephaim has been suggested, but the identification is uncertain (cf. 2 S. 5:23f.; 1 Ch. 14:14f.).

BACCHIDES

bak'ə-dēz [Gk. Bakchidēs]. Ruler over Mesopotamia and a faithful friend of both Antiochus Epiphanes and Demetrius Soter. He established at the request of the latter the rulership over Judea for Alcimus, who, desiring to become high priest, had made false accusations against Judas Maccabeus (1 Macc. 7:8ff.; Josephus Ant. xii.10.2). Bacchides was sent the second time to Judea after the Syrian general Nicanor was killed near Adasa and Judas Maccabeus had gained

BABYLONIANS 巴比伦人

【希伯来语: b^enê-bābel】。巴比伦(见 BABYLONIA [巴比伦、巴比伦王国、巴比伦尼亚])的居民。亚述人安置在撒玛利亚的殖民者之一(拉 4:9)。“巴比伦人的形像”(结 23:15)指的是装饰着巴比伦宫殿墙体的浅浮雕。耶路撒冷流传的关于巴比伦的记录,或是在那里的浮雕副本都唤醒了这支民族对未知情人的欲望,犹大应为此深深忏悔(结 23:17, 23; 参: 王下 24)。

BACA, VALE OF 流泪谷

音译: bā'kə【希伯来语: bākā】(诗 84:6); 《新英文译本》译为“thirsty valley”(“干旱的山谷”)。这个谷因有流出树脂或树胶(可能是数种香脂)的树木而得名。该谷可能是利乏音谷,但尚无定论(参: 撒下 5:23-24; 代上 14:14-15)。

BACCHIDES 巴克西得

音译: bak'ə-dēz【希腊语: Bakchidēs】。美索不达米亚的统治者,是安提阿古·伊皮法尼和底米丢·索特的忠实朋友。他在底米丢的要求下,帮助阿尔西莫统治犹大,阿尔西莫渴望成为大祭司,而且曾诬告犹大·马加比(马一 7:8 起; Josephus Ant. xii.10.2)。叙利亚总督尼迦挪在阿得萨附近被杀后,犹大·马加比掌控着政府,巴克西得被再次派往犹大(马一 9:1 起)。巴克西得在伯士巴西附近战败后,被迫与犹大的弟兄约拿单讲和(马一 9:58 起; Ant.

control of the government (1 Macc. 9:1ff.). After an unsuccessful battle near Bethbasi he was forced to make peace with Jonathan, the brother of Judas (9:58ff.; Ant. xiii.1). In 1 Macc. 10:12 and 2 Macc. 8:30 reference is made to the strongholds Bacchides built during his second campaign against Jerusalem (1 Macc. 9:50).

BACCHUS

bak'əs [Gk. Dionysos, later Bakchos]. The Greek and Roman god of wine, whose rites in the pre-Christian era were synonymous with drunkenness and immorality. His worship was probably introduced into Egypt under Ptolemy Philopator (227–204 B.C.). Antiochus IV Epiphanes, endeavoring to hellenize the Judean Jews, compelled them to participate in the Dionysian rites (2 Macc. 6:7). Some years later Nicanor, when he was fighting Judas Maccabeus, threatened to destroy the Jerusalem temple and build a shrine to Bacchus on the site (2 Macc. 14:33).

BACCHUS 巴克斯

音译：bak'əs【希腊语：Dionysos，后来的 Bakchos】。希腊和罗马的酒神，在主前时代，酒神庆典是醉酒和不道德代名词。酒神崇拜可能是在托勒密·非罗巴特统治时期（公元前 227-204 年）引入了埃及。安提阿古四世伊皮法尼致力于使犹太的犹太人希腊化，他强迫犹太人参加酒神庆典（马二 6:7）。数年后，尼迦挪与犹太·马加比争战时，威胁说要摧毁耶路撒冷圣殿，并在该地建立起巴克斯的神龛（马二 14:33）。

BACHRITES

bak'rīts. The AV for “Becherites,” the descendants of BECHER (Nu. 26:35).

BACHRITES 比结族

音译: bak'rīts。《钦定版圣经》译为 “Becherites” (“比结族”), 比结 (见 BECHER [比结]) 的子孙 (民 26:35)。

BACK.

The “back” (Heb. hôr; AV “back parts”) of Yahweh is referred to in Ex. 33:23 as an anthropomorphic image signifying the reflection of the divine glory, in contrast to the “face” of Yahweh (vv. 20, 23). The expression “cast ... behind the back (gaw),” as used in 1 K. 14:9; Ezk. 23:35 of the Lord as object, in Neh. 9:26 of His law, and in Isa. 38:17 (gēw) of the sins of Hezekiah, means “forget utterly,” “reject,” or “neglect.”

BACK. 背、回、后头

《出埃及记》33:23 中提到的耶和华的 “背” (希伯来语: hôr; 《钦定版圣经》译为 “back parts” [“背部”]) 是彰显神的荣耀的拟人形象, 与耶和华的 “面” (出 33:20, 23) 形成了对比。 “丢在背 (gaw) 后” 在《列王纪上》14:9 和《以西结书》23:35 中表示将主作为被丢的对象, 《尼希米记》9:26 将律法作为被丢的对象, 《以赛亚书》38:17 (gēw) 将希西家的罪作为被丢的对象, 意为 “完全忘掉” “拒绝” 或 “无视”。

BACKBITE.

To slander the absent, like a dog biting behind the back, where one cannot see; to go about as a talebearer. The only RSV occurrence is Prov. 25:23, which speaks of “a backbiting tongue,” lit. “a tongue of secrecy” (Heb. seter).

BACKBITE. 谗谤

背后毁谤人, 就像狗在背后咬人一样, 人是看不见的; 做谗谤的人。《修订标准译本》仅在《箴言》25:23 中使用了这个词, “谗谤人的舌头”, 字面意思是 “秘密的舌头” (希伯来语: seter)。

腊语: hyioi Baian】;《钦定版圣经》译为 BEAN (“伯安”);《新英文译本》译为 BAEANITES (“伯安人”)。与犹太人为敌的一个未知部落(马一 5:4)。他们憎恶犹太人的宗教,试图阻止犹太人重建圣所,因此他们重复了尼希米时期参巴拉与同伙阻止犹太人修复耶路撒冷和圣殿的阴谋(参:尼 4:7-8)。他们最终被犹大·马加比除灭,犹大将他们中的很多人困在塔中,活活烧死。参:《民数记》32:3 中的比稳。

BAETERUS 伯特拉斯

BAG 囊、袋子、口袋、容器、器具

【希伯来语: kēlî, kîs, ḥārîṭ, šērôr, 动词 šûr; 希腊语: péra】;《钦定版圣经》还译为 SACK (“麻袋”)、VESSEL (“容器”)、SCRIP (“袋子”,《新约》);《新英文译本》还译为 BAGGAGE (“器具”, 创 43:11)、BUNCH (“袋子”, 歌 1:13)、PURSE (“囊”, 该 1:6)、PACK (“包”,《新约》)。《圣经》中提到了多种袋子,但英文译本中袋子的类型通常不明确。

The “shepherd’s bag” (Heb. kēlî) of 1 S. 17:40 is given the specific designation yalqūt, which the AV renders “scrip,” the RSV “wallet,” and the NEB “pouch.” This “bag” of the shepherd or “haversack” of the traveler was of a size sufficient for one or more days’ provisions. It was made of the skin of animals, ordinarily undressed, like most of the other “bags” of ancient times, and was carried slung across the shoulder. This is the “scrip for the journey” (Gk. péra) mentioned in Mt. 10:10 par., AV (“scrip” is now obsolete; cf. RSV “bag,” NEB “pack”).

The small bag (Heb. kîs) used by merchants for carrying their weights is mentioned in Dt. 25:13; Prov. 16:11; Mic. 6:11. The same word designates a money purse in Prov. 1:14; Isa. 46:6.

The šêrôr was often a cloth tied up in a bundle, or a sack tied with a string, and was used for carrying jewels and money (Prov. 7:20; Hag. 1:6). A figurative usage occurs in Job 14:17, “my transgression would be sealed up in a bag”; this may refer to the practice of putting a seal upon the knot of the bag. The verb šûr, “tie up in a bag,” occurs in 2 K. 12:10 (MT 11). The NEB reads this verse differently: they “melted down the silver ... and weighed it.”

The Heb. hāriṭ (Arab. harīṭat) is used, on the one hand, for a “bag” large enough to hold a talent of silver (see 2 K. 5:23, “bound two talents of silver in two bags”), and, on the other, for a lady’s dainty satchel, such as is found in Isa. 3:22 (RSV “handbag”; wrongly rendered “crisping pins” in AV). This is the most adequate Hebrew word for a large bag.

《撒母耳记上》17:40 中的“牧人带的囊”（希伯来语：kēlî）有一个专有名称 yalqūt，《钦定版圣经》将其译为“scrip”，《修订标准译本》译为“wallet”，《新英文译本》译为“pouch”，汉译均为“囊”。这种牧人的“囊”或旅人的“背袋”的大小足够装一日或多日的粮食。它由动物皮制成，通常未经鞣制，和古时候的大多数“袋子”一样，是跨在肩膀上的。也就是《钦定版圣经》《马太福音》10:10 平行经文中提到的“行路带的口袋”（希腊语：péra）（“scrip” 现已不再使用，参：《修订标准译本》“bag”，《新英文译本》“pack”，汉译均为“囊”）。

《申命记》25:13、《箴言》16:11 和《弥迦书》6:11 中提到了商人装砝码用的囊（希伯来语：kîs）。《箴言》1:14 和《以赛亚书》46:6 用这个词来表示钱袋。

šêrôr 通常指包袱内绑着的布料或用绳扎着的袋子，用来装珠宝和钱（箴 7:20；该 1:6）。《约伯记》14:17 采用了比喻用法，“我的过犯被你封在囊中”；可能指的是在带子的绳结上加封的做法。《列王纪下》12:10（《马所拉文本》11）中使用了动词 šûr，意思是“包起来”。《新英文译本》对这节的翻译有所不同：他们“把银钱熔化，称了重量”。

希伯来语 hāriṭ（阿拉伯语：harīṭat）既可以用来表示大得可以装下一他连得银子的“口袋”（见：王下 5:23，“将二他连得银子装在两个口袋里”），也可以表示《以赛亚书》3:22 等经文中提到的女子用的“荷包”（《修订标准译本》译为“handbag”[“手袋”]；《钦定版圣经》误译为“crisping pins”[卷曲的针]）。这是最适于表示“大口袋”的

希伯来词语。

BAGGAGE

[Heb. k^llî] (1 S. 10:22; 17:22; etc.; Isa. 10:28; Jer. 46:19; Ezk. 12:3-12); AV CARRIAGE, STUFF, “furnish” (Jer. 46:19); NEB also THINGS, STORES, BAGGAGE-TRAIN, BELONGINGS; [Gk. aposkeuē] (Jth. 7:2; 1 Macc. 9:35, 39; 2 Macc. 12:21); NEB BAGGAGE TRAIN. The words denote various kinds of portable equipment for travel or for battle, or supplies (Lat. impedimenta) for an army.

The Heb. k^llî is a very general word meaning “article,” “implement,” “vessel,” etc. Its various contexts indicate its use for “luggage” (1 S. 17:22), “stores” (1 S. 30:24, where David decrees that those who stay behind to guard the supplies shall share equally in the spoils of victory with those who fight), and “belongings” packed for exile (Ezk. 12). The “keeper of the baggage” with whom David left his things is called a “quartermaster” in the NEB (1 S. 17:22).

In the Apocrypha, Gk. aposkeuē again means the supplies of an army. The verb aposkeuázomai occurs in Acts 21:15, where the NEB has “packed our baggage,” the RSV “made ready.”

BAGGAGE 器具、辎重、物件

【希伯来语: k^llî】(撒上 10:22; 17:22 等; 赛 10:28; 耶 46:19; 结 12:3-12); 《钦定版圣经》译为 CARRIAGE (“辎重”)、STUFF (“物件”)、“furnish” (“器具”, 耶 46:19); 《新英文译本》还译为 THINGS (“物件”)、STORES (“辎重”)、BAGGAGE-TRAIN (“辎重车”)、BELONGINGS (“物件”); 【希腊语: aposkeuē】(滴 7:2; 马一 9:35, 39; 马二 12:21); 《新英文译本》译为 BAGGAGE TRAIN (“辎重车”)。这些词都表示旅行、战争或供给(拉丁语: impedimenta) 时所携带的各种用具。

希伯来语 k^llî 是一个非常常见的词, 意思是“物品”“器具”“容器”等。该词在不同语境中, 可以表示“物件”(撒上 17:22)、“器具”(撒上 30:24, 大卫下令说“上阵的得多少, 看守器具的也得多少, 应当大家平分”), 和预备掳去使用的“物件”(结 12)。在《撒母耳记上》17:22 中, 大卫将带来的食物留在“看守物件的人”的手下, 《新英文译本》称这个人为“供应官”。

在《次经》中, 希腊语 aposkeuē 也指军队的辎重。《使徒行传》21:15 中使用了动词 aposkeuázoma, 《新英文译本》译为 “packed our baggage” (“收拾行装”), 《修订标准译本》译为 “made ready” (“收拾行李”)。

The Aramaic is probably a loanword from the Greek (symphōnía), and is usually thought to indicate a bagpipe or similar musical instrument (cf. BDB, p. 1104; KoB, p. 1103). A contemporary Greek usage is in Polybius xxvi.31, where the symphōnía is said to have been played, along with the horn, at the feasts of Antiochus Epiphanes (cf. E. J. Young, comm. The ancient bagpipe was made of goatskin and had two pipes; it is uncertain, however, whether it existed at the time the story of Daniel takes places.

这种古时的风笛由羊皮制成,有两个管;然而,尚无法确定在但以理故事发生的时期是否已经出现了风笛。

bəhū'rim [Heb. baḥûrîm—‘young men’]; prob. also BAHARUM (1 Ch. 11:33); AV BAHARUMITE, also BARHUMITE (2 S. 23:31). A site E of Jerusalem in the territory of Benjamin, on the old Jerusalem-to-Jericho highway, upon which David fled during the uprising of his son Absalom (2 S. 16:5). The Talmud locates it E of Mt. Scopus near Anathoth at modern Râs eṭ-Ṭmîm. At a nearby brook, Wādî Farah, Abner parted Paltiel from his wife Michal as she was being returned to David (2 S. 3:16). It was the home of Shimei, a man from the house of Saul who cursed as he stoned the fleeing David (2 S. 16:5; 19:16; 1 K. 2:8). In Bahurim, Jonathan and Ahimaaz, sons of the priests Abiathar and Zadok and spies for David, were hidden in a well by a loyal woman (2 S. 17:18–20).

Comparing the variant gentilic forms in 2 S. 23:31 and in 1 Ch. 11:33 it has been conjectured that Azmaveth, one of David's mighty men, was a native son of the village Bahurim.

Scopus) 的东部, 即现在的拉斯泰米。押尼珥在附近的小河——法拉河河岸上让帕铁和他的妻子米甲分开, 米甲被还给了大卫 (撒下 3:16)。这里是扫罗家族示每的家乡, 大卫逃亡时, 他一边向大卫丢石头, 一边咒骂大卫 (撒下 16:5; 19:16; 王上 2:8)。后来, 在巴户琳时, 一个忠诚的女人把祭司亚比亚他和撒督之子, 即大卫的探路者约拿单和亚希玛斯藏在一口井中 (撒下 17:18-20)。

与《撒母耳记下》23:31 和《历代志上》11:33 中这个种族的不同拼写形式相比, 大卫的勇士押斯玛弗被认为是巴户琳村生人。

bā'jith [Heb. bayit—'house'] (Isa. 15:2, AV). If a proper noun (probably correct), a Moabite town mentioned with Dibon; if a common noun, which requires some textual change (the MT is supported by 1QIsa^a), either "house of" or (as RSV) "daughter of" (Dibon). That the definite article is used supports this rendering. Cf. the construct from "Beth-" frequently used in compounds. The NEB has "the people of Dibon go up."

BAJITH 巴益、……家、……的女子

音译: bā'jith【希伯来语: bayit——“家”】(《钦定版圣经》, 赛 15:2)。如果巴益是一个专有名词(可能是正确的), 那么指的就是和底本一同被提起的一个摩押城邑; 如果它是一个普通名词, 那么可能需要对经文进行一些改动(《马所拉文本》得到了《以赛亚书第一古卷》的支持), 指的是“……的家”(如《修订标准译本》)或(底本)“的女子”。限定词的使用支持了这种译法。参: 经常出现在合成词中的“Beth-”的含义。《新英文译本》译为“the people of Dibon go up”(“底本人爬上山去”)。

BAKBUKIAH 八布迦

音译: bak-bə-kī'ə【希伯来语: baqbuqyâ】。

1. A Levite who lived in Jerusalem after the return from exile (Neh. 11:17); perhaps the same as Bakbakkar of 1 Ch. 9:15.

1、被掳归回后住在耶路撒冷的一个利未人(尼 11:17); 可能就是《历代志上》9:15 中的拔巴甲。

2. A Levite who returned from exile with Zerubbabel (Neh. 12:9).

3. A Levite and guard of the temple storehouse (Neh. 12:25).

BAKEMEATS.

Archaic in Gen. 40:17, AV, for “every kind of food which the baker prepares” (NEB); Heb. ma^akīl ma^aśēh ’ōpeh.

BAKER

[Heb. ’ōpeh]. The term was derived from a verb meaning “bake bread,” but from an early period included miscellaneous cooking also (Gen. 40:1–41:13; 1 S. 8:13; Hos. 7:4). Bread was usually baked in an oven or on the surfaces of heated stones. Confections were baked in pans or on griddles (Lev. 2:4ff.). The titles in Gen. 40:1, etc., belonged to high Egyptian court officials; and the duties of the holders may well have undergone significant modification from the time the offices were first devised. Hosea is supposed to have been a baker, but there is no evidence to support this contention.

BAKERS’ STREET

[Heb. hūš hā’ōpīm] (Jer. 37:21); NEB STREET OF THE BAKERS. An area in Jerusalem where the bakers had their ovens and shops. Unlike modern Western cities, where this would be considered wasteful competition, the cities of the ancient Middle East (and even the modern Middle East) had areas where various crafts and guilds were concentrated. Jeremiah received a daily ration of a loaf

2、和所罗巴伯一起从被掳归回的一个利未人（尼 12:9）。

3、一个为圣殿库房守门的利未人（尼 12:25）。

BAKEMEATS. 烤的食物

《钦定版圣经》的《创世记》40:17 用这个古语翻译 “every kind of food which the baker prepares” (“烤的每样食物”) (《新英文译本》); 希伯来语: ma^akīl ma^aśēh ’ōpeh。

BAKER 烤饼的人、膳长

【希伯来语: ’ōpeh】。该词源自一个含义为“烤饼”的动词，但从早期开始，“烤饼”就包括各种食物（创 40:1-41:13；撒上 8:13；何 7:4）。饼通常在炉中或加热的石头表面上烘烤。细面饼则通常在煎盘或扒炉上烤（利 2:4 起）。《创世记》40:1 等经文中提到的“膳长”属于埃及宫廷中的高级官员；从最初设立这些官职开始，这些官员的职责可能发生了重要的变化。何西阿可能是膳长，但没有证据能证明这个推测。

bā'lām [Heb. bil'ām—etymology disputed, perhaps 'devourer'; Gk. Balaam]. A man of Pethor, a city in Mesopotamia lying S of Carchemish; the son of Beor. The narrative describing this enigmatic individual is contained in Nu. 22:2–24:25. Subsequent allusions to him are found in Nu. 31:8, 16; Dt. 23:4f.; Josh. 13:22; 24:9f.; Neh. 13:2; Mic. 6:5; 2 Pet. 2:15f.; Jude 11; Rev. 2:14.

I. The Narrative.—Balak king of Moab, alarmed at the encampment of the Israelites in the Jordan Valley adjacent to his own territory after their overwhelming victories over the Amorites, entered into an alliance with the Midianites and sought the aid of Balaam, a renowned diviner by whose agency he hoped that Israel might be brought under a curse. Balaam's hesitancy in responding to this invitation, which carried with it a handsome reward, is ascribed to his deference to the will of Yahweh (Nu. 22:8, 13). At the same time he appears from the first to be rather less than wholehearted in his acquiescence to Yahweh's will. This impression is confirmed by his reception of Balak's second and more imposing deputation. God permitted Balaam this time to accompany the messengers but admonished him of his complete subservience to the divine will (Nu. 22:20f.). His encounter with the angel of Yahweh and the rebuke administered to him miraculously by his ass serve to show that this permission was granted to Balaam as a judgment upon him for his cupidity (cf. 2 Pet. 2:15f.).

音译: bā'lām 【希伯来语: bil'ām——这个词的词源存在争议,可能意为“吞噬者”;希腊语: Balaam】。一个毗夺人的名字,毗夺是坐落于迦基米施以南的一座美索不达米亚城邑;巴兰是比珥的儿子。《民数记》22:2-24:25 描述了这个神秘的人物。随后的《民数记》31:8, 16;《申命记》23:4-5;《约书亚记》13:22; 24:9-10《尼希米记》13:2;《弥迦书》6:5;《彼得后书》2:15-16;《犹大书》1:11;《启示录》2:14 也提及了巴兰。

I. 经文中的叙述。以色列人大败亚摩利人之后,来到摩押王巴勒领地附近的约旦谷扎营,巴勒十分惧怕,于是与米甸人结盟,并向有名的预言家巴兰求助,希望巴兰能代他咒诅以色列。巴兰本应顺从耶和华的旨意(民 22:8, 13),但巴勒提供的卦金十分可观,因此巴兰对这一邀请一直犹豫不决。同时,他似乎自此不再全心全意地顺从耶和华的旨意。巴兰接待了巴勒第二次派来的使臣更能证实这一点。这次,神允许巴兰与使臣同去,但却告诫他要完全遵行神的旨意(民 22:20-21)。巴兰遇见了耶和华的使者,他的驴又奇迹般地谴责了他,这表明神允许巴兰前往摩押是神对贪婪的巴兰而降下的审判(参:彼后 2:15-16)。

Having reached Moab, Balak led Balaam up to the heights above the Dead Sea whence he might gain a view of Israel encamped below. But neither elaborate sacrificial ritual, nor changing position from one peak to another, availed to produce the desired curse upon Israel. Instead, Balaam was gripped by the Spirit of God (Nu. 24:2) and was powerless to do other than pronounce blessing upon blessing. In all he uttered four memorable oracles (Heb. māšāl is used in each case and signifies here a “prophetic figurative discourse” [BDB]). In the final oracle he adumbrates, among other things, Israel’s conquests under the monarchy and in particular the subjugation of Moab (Nu. 24:17).

This concluded, Balak and Balaam part company and the latter is described as returning “to his place” (Nu. 24:25). It is widely held that this implies that Balaam returned to his home in Mesopotamia. Yet Nu. 25 is represented as the sequel to the narrative concerning Balaam. The idolatry of the Israelites in participating in the immoral rites associated with the worship of Baal-peor is attributed to “the counsel of Balaam” (Nu. 31:16) and it is twice affirmed that Balaam was put to death by the Israelites (Nu. 31:8; Josh. 13:22). For this reason some dispute the location of Pethor in Mesopotamia and claim the support of the Samaritan Pentateuch and LXX that it was located in Ammonite territory (cf. Marsh, IB, II, in loc.).

于是巴勒和巴兰分道扬镳，巴兰回“他本地去”（民 24:25）。人们普遍认为这意味着巴兰回到了位于美索不达米亚的家。但《民数记》25 章被视为巴兰故事的续篇。因“巴兰的计谋”，以色列人崇拜偶像，又参加了与巴力毗珥崇拜有关的邪恶仪式（民 31:16），而且有两处经文证明以色列人处死了巴兰（民 31:8；书 13:22）。因此，一些人认为毗珥位于美索不达米亚，并称《撒玛利亚五经》和《七十士译本》支持了毗珥位于亚扪人领地之内的观点（参：Marsh, IB, II, 见这一章）。

II. Alleged Inconsistencies.-That Balaam's character poses problems can scarcely be denied. A non-Israelite, he yet acknowledged the supremacy of Yahweh and evinced a desire to please Him (Nu. 22:34; 24:1). At the same time he was famed for his skill as a diviner (Heb. qôsēm) and for his ability to use enchantments (Heb. n^ehāsīm—the noun occurs only twice in the OT, in Nu. 23:23; 24:1; the cognate verb nāhaš occurs frequently); both terms are used subsequently in the OT in connection with the false prophets of Israel (cf. Dt. 18:10; Ezk. 13:6; Mic. 3:7, 11; etc.). His prophecies were clearly given to him by Yahweh (Nu. 23:5, 16) and were uttered under the constraint and inspiration of the divine Spirit (Nu. 24:2).

At first sight what is most perplexing of all is that, although God had given Balaam permission to go with Balaam's second deputation, "God's anger was kindled because he went" (Nu. 22:22). A closer examination of the narrative suggests that this apparent inconsistency arises from Balaam's character. The categorical prohibition of Nu. 22:12 was modified as a judicial penalty for Balaam's venality.

Many scholars accept the inconsistencies as real and not merely apparent. Some allege that the unfavorable references to Balaam are later additions attempting to discredit a heathen prophet who appears to act as a true spokesman of Yahweh. Various attempts have been made to analyze the narrative into its original sources, but no suggested analysis has met with universal approval. Source critics concur in regarding the narrative about the ass and the angel of Yahweh (Nu. 22:22–35a) as from a source different from that of the rest of the story, viz., J. The oracles, which are in poetic form, are now held to be earlier than the prose narrative, having been committed to writing, it is conjectured, perhaps as early as the 10th cent. (Albright). The sequel recording Balaam's death and charging him with responsibility for Israel's sin in the worship of Baal-peor (Nu. 31:1–54) is unanimously ascribed to P.

II. 所谓的矛盾。无可否认，巴兰的性格表现出一些问题。他虽然不是以色列人，却承认耶和华的至高主权，并渴望蒙神悦纳（民 22:34；24:1）。同时，他因能说预言（希伯来语：qôsēm）和行巫术（希伯来语：n^ehāsīm——这个名词仅在《旧约》中出现了两次，民 23:23；24:1；它的同源动词 nāhaš 却经常出现）而出名；后来《旧约》中用这两个词来形容假先知（参：申 18:10；结 13:6；弥 3:7，11 等）。他所说的预言显然来自耶和华（民 23:5，16），并完全受圣灵的约束和感动（民 24:2）。

初看之下，最令人费解的是，虽然神允许巴兰与巴勒的第二批使臣同去，但“神因他去就发了怒”（民 22:22）。再仔细研究一下经文就会发现，这种明显的矛盾是由巴兰的性格引起的。《民数记》22:12 中的明确禁令被修改为对巴兰的贪婪的判罚。

III. The Oracles.—The oracles of Balaam (Nu. 23:7–10, 18–24; 24:3–9, 15–24) are significant alike for their content and for the accompanying account of the experience of the prophet himself. The first two oracles are directly attributed to the activity of Yahweh, who “put a word in [Balaam's] mouth” (23:3, 16). Yet it would appear from 24:1 that on both occasions he had recourse to divination. It is noteworthy that the two final oracles are introduced with precisely the same words (24:3, 15) and imply a measure of progress in Balaam's spiritual experience. He speaks of himself as “the man whose eye is opened” (cf. BDB, p. 1060 [šātām]), as if he has come to see the worthlessness of heathen divination and has come to recognize that he must henceforth forego all effort to turn Yahweh from His purpose to bless Israel. The manner of his inspiration also undergoes a change. The apparently somewhat mechanical communication of Yahweh's word in the delivery of the first two oracles is replaced by the direct operation of the Spirit of God upon him (Nu. 24:2b).

III. 预言。巴兰的预言（民 23:7-10, 18-24; 24:3-9, 15-24）是值得关注的，因为这些预言的内容和它们对这位先知经历的记载都十分相似。前两个预言直接源于耶和华的指示，祂“将话传给他[巴兰]”（民 23:3, 16）。但从《民数记》24:1 来看，他前两次都求了法术。值得注意的是，后两次预言都以完全相同的话语开始（民 24:3, 15），这暗示了巴兰属灵经历的进步。他称自己为“眼目睁开的人”（参：BDB, 1060 页 [šātām]），他似乎开始注意到异教法术毫无用处，并意识到他必须从此放弃一切徒劳的尝试，不再试图改变耶和华祝福以色列的旨意。他得到启示的方式也发生了变化。他在说前两个预言时显然略微机械地传达了耶和华的话语，后来圣灵则直接临到巴兰的身上（民 24:2b）。

In the first two oracles Balaam declares his impotence to curse Israel when Yahweh is manifestly intent on blessing them. He acknowledges their uniqueness as a people. Unlike the other nations Israel had no use for divination and augury (Nu. 23:23, RV). God Himself was among them and by His counsel they were guided. Having enlarged upon Israel's prosperity and invincibility as the outcome of their deliverance from Egypt, Balaam proceeds in the third oracle to affirm positively, "Blessed be everyone who blesses you, and cursed be everyone who curses you" (24:9). The last of the oracles is the most striking of them all. General predictions of Israel's future prosperity give way to specific details. The "star out of Jacob" and the "scepter" (v. 17) undoubtedly point beyond the military conquests of David (though this is widely disputed; cf. NBC), and must ultimately be given messianic import (cf. Gen. 49:10, and KD). The terminus ad quem of the prophecy is not agreed. The reference to ships from KITTIM (v. 24) is of particular interest in view of the allusion in Dnl. 11:30 and subsequent references in the literature of the Qumrân sect.

IV. Balaam's Character.-Though an element of mystery surrounds Balaam in the OT narratives, the Scriptures leave us in no doubt as to what conclusions to draw with regard to his character. He is represented as the archetype of the false teachers of the Christian Church who pervert the truth of the gospel in the interests of personal gain (2 Pet. 2:15) and under the guise of Christian liberty advocate compromise with the world (Rev. 2:14).

IV. 巴兰的性格。虽然《旧约》对巴兰的描述略显神秘，但我们完全可以根据经文中的描述总结出巴兰的性格。他被描述为基督教会假师傅的原型，这些假师傅贪图私利，滥用福音的真理（彼后 2:15），并假借基督徒的自由，提倡与世界妥协（启 2:14）。

BALANCE

[Heb. mō'znayim, the usual word, a dual form referring to the two scale pans; qāneh (Isa. 46:6), lit. “reed” or “staff” and thus the beam of a balance; peles (Prov. 16:11; Isa. 40:12), a balance as being level; Gk. zygós, basically “yoke,” used of the beam of a balance in Rev. 6:5].

The form of the balance has hardly altered since OT times. Egyptian and Assyrian sculptures and paintings show portable balances with the crossbeam suspended from a cord or hook at the center, held in the hand, with a pan hanging from each end (ANEP, nos. 117, 133). For weighing large quantities or heavy objects the beam was balanced on a fixed stand (ANEP, nos. 360, 639). In the Roman period the steelyard came into general use. Instead of an equiarmed beam with two pans, the beam was suspended from a point nearer to the one end from which hung the pan. On the other part weights were hung at graduated spaces from the fulcrum.

Before the introduction of coinage (i.e., pieces of precious metal of guaranteed standard weight), exchange often involved weighing the money (Gen. 23:16; Jer. 32:10). A properly constructed balance would give accurate results, but the owner could easily cheat by shortening one arm slightly so that the object placed in the pan on that side appeared to be lighter than it actually was. Such underhand practice is repeatedly condemned in Scripture (“A false balance is an abomination to the Lord, but a just weight is his delight” [Prov. 11:1; cf. 20:23; 16:11; Hos. 12:7; Am. 8:5; Mic. 6:11]) and in other ancient writings (cf. e.g., ANET, p. 388b). BALANCE 天平

【希伯来语：mō'znayim，常用词，指两个天平盘持平；qāneh (赛 46:6)，字面意思为“芦苇”或“棍子”，因此可以指天平的横梁；peles (箴 16:11；赛 40:12)，公道的天平；希腊语：zygós，主要含义是“轭”，在《启示录》6:5中指天平的横梁】。

自旧约时代开始，天平的形式就几乎没有发生过改变。埃及和亚述的雕像和绘画中展示了一种易于携带的天平，这种天平的横梁中间有提在手中的绳子或挂钩，两端各挂着一个托盘 (ANEP, 117、133 号)。称大量物品或重物时，横梁平放在一个固定支架上 (ANEP, 360、639 号)。罗马时期开始普遍使用吊秤。这种秤没有带两个托盘的等臂横梁，在靠近横梁末端的一个点上吊着一个托盘，另一端则按照支轴的刻度位挂上砝码。

在硬币币制 (即保证标准重量的贵重金属片) 引入之前，交易时通常需要称银子的重量 (创 23:16；耶 32:10)。结构合理的天平能够称出准确的重量，但拥有天平的人可以轻易行骗，他稍微缩短一端的臂长，就可以使这端的物品称起来比实际重量轻。《圣经》 (“诡诈的天平为耶和华所憎恶；公平的砝码为祂所喜悦” [箴 11:1；参：箴 20:23；16:11；何 12:7；摩 8:5；弥 6:11]) 和其他古代作品 (参：如，ANET, 388b 页) 一再谴责这种狡诈的做法。律法要求以色列人使用公道的天平，公平交易 (利 19:36)。

Israelites were required to be fair in this as in all their business (Lev. 19:36).

baldness produced by shaving the head. This was practiced as a mark of mourning for the dead (Lev. 21:5; Isa. 15:2; 22:12), or as the result of any disaster (Am. 8:10; Mic. 1:16). The custom arose from the hair's being regarded as a special ornament. Such shaving of the head was the custom of the people of the land, and the Israelites were strictly forbidden to practice it (Lev. 21:5; Dt. 14:1). To call one a "bald head" was an epithet of contempt, and was sometimes applied to persons who were not naturally bald. It was the epithet applied by certain infidel young men to Elisha (2 K. 2:23f.). In a figurative sense it is used to express the barrenness of the country (Jer. 47:5).

本》译为 BALD PATCHES ("秃头")。《圣经》中提到的头秃指的不是头发自然脱落，而是剃光头发。这是一种为死者哀悼的习俗（利 21:5；赛 15:2；22:12），或可能是由某种疾病引起的（摩 8:10；弥 1:16）。这种习俗源于人们视头发为一种特殊的装饰。剃光头发是迦南民族的习俗，神严禁以色列人这样剃光头发（利 21:5；申 14:1）。叫某人“秃头”是对那人的一种蔑称，有时用来称呼那些在非自然情况下头秃的人。一些不信主的童子就称以利沙为“秃头的”（王下 2:23-24）。该词还可以用来比喻土地荒芜（耶 47:5）。

BALM 乳香

【希伯来语：š'ri, š'ri；希腊语：rētīnē】；《新英文译本》还译作 BALSAM（“乳香”，创 43:11；结 27:17）。一种芳香的树脂，在《圣经》中出现了六次，据称在古近东地区，乳香被大量用于医疗中。但是，乳香究竟是哪种植物尚无定论。一些从基列来的以实玛利旅人将乳

journeying from Gilead to Egypt (Gen. 37:25). In Gen. 43:11 it was included in the gifts sent by Jacob to Joseph, while Ezk. 27:17 mentioned it as one of the Judean exports to Tyre. Classical writers referred to balm by a variety of names, and appear to have alluded mainly to Balsamodendron opobalsamum L. or BALM OF GILEAD. This is not a Palestinian shrub, however, being native to Arabia. Strabo and Pliny recorded that it grew at Jericho, but it does not exist there today.

In Jeremiah (8:22; 46:11; 51:8) its medicinal properties as an unguent and sedative are referred to figuratively, and probably here as in Gen. 37:25 the Jericho balsam, Balanites aegyptiaca (L.) Delile, was envisaged. This small shrub still grows in North Africa, and yields a sticky exudate of reputed medicinal value. Since healing qualities are not mentioned, the allusion in Gen. 43:11 may be to the mastic tree, Pistacia lentiscus L., from which a yellow aromatic resin was derived by incising the branches. Balm has dropped out of modern pharmacopoeias.

R. K. H.

BALM OF GILEAD.

In antiquity this substance was reputed for its medicinal qualities, but it presents problems of identification. It has been held to be the aromatic resin exuded by the shrub Balsamodendron opobalsamum L., otherwise known as B. gileadense or Commiphora opobalsamum (L.) Engl. Perhaps no single shrub was envisaged, however, since the substance received its name because it was exported from Gilead to Egypt and Phoenicia (Gen. 37:25; Ezk. 27:17).

香带到了埃及（创 37:25）。《创世记》43:11 中提到雅各送给约瑟的礼物中就有乳香，而《以西结书》27:17 则称乳香是犹大出口到推罗的货物之一。古时的作者用各种名字来称呼乳香，似乎主要指的是没药（拉丁学名：Balsamodendron opobalsamum L.）或基列的乳香（见 BALM OF GILEAD [基列的乳香]）。但它不是巴勒斯坦的一种灌木，而是原产自阿拉伯的一种植物。根据斯特拉波和普林尼的记载，乳香生长在耶利哥，但那里现在已经没有乳香了。

《耶利米书》（8:22; 46:11; 51:8）象征性地提到了乳香膏药和止痛药的药用价值，这里可能和《创世记》37:25 中的描述一样，指的是耶利哥的乳香，鹵刺树（拉丁学名：Balanites aegyptiaca [L.] Delile）。这种小型灌木仍生长于北非，可以产生一种药用价值极高的粘液。《创世记》43:11 中没有提到乳香的治疗作用，因此这里指的可能是乳香黄连木（拉丁学名：Pistacia lentiscus L.），切开这种树的树干可以获得一种黄色的芳香树脂。现代的药典中已经不再提乳香。

词条作者：R. K. H.

BALM OF GILEAD. 基列的乳香

在古代，这种物质因其药用价值而出名，但很难确定基列的乳香指的是哪种植物。有学者认为它是没药灌木（拉丁学名：Balsamodendron opobalsamum L.）上渗出的芳香树脂，也有人认为是哈地丁树（B. gileadense 或 Commiphora opobalsamum [L.] Engl.）。但是，基列的乳香可能指的不是一种灌木，因为这种物质因从基列出口到埃及和腓尼基而得名（创 37:25; 结 27:17）。

It is probably the same place as the Bamoth-baal of Nu. 22:41, RSV, to which Balak king of Moab conducted Balaam to view and to curse Israel (here the AV has “high places of Baal,” NEB “Heights of Baal”). Bamoth-baal is named in Josh. 13:17 as one of the cities given to Reuben. Mesha on the Moabite Stone speaks of having “rebuilt” Beth-bamoth. Its precise location is unknown, though it certainly is on a height on the western edge of the Transjordan plateau in the area of Mt. Nebo.

NT by the several Hebrew, Aramaic, and Greek words noted.

(1) Many types of restrictive bonds are mentioned in the OT: (a) A “skilfully woven band (hēšēb) ... of gold, blue and purple and scarlet stuff, and fine twined linen” bound the ephod to its wearer (Ex. 28:8). (b) The circular borders at the top of the temple’s laver stands that Solomon had constructed (1 K. 7:35) were apparently ornamental as well as practical (vv. 36f.). (c) Figuratively, the dark clouds that envelop the sea are spoken of as its “swaddling band” (Job 38:9). (d) “Magic bands” that were placed on the wrists are mentioned in Ezk. 13:18, 20. These were used in magical practices that involved “the hunt for souls” and “delusive visions” (v. 23); their precise nature is unknown. (e) There are also the “bands of love” with which Yahweh had led Israel, only to see her rebel (Hos. 11:4). (f) The deranged Nebuchadnezzar was to be tethered by “a band of iron and bronze” in the dream Daniel interpreted (Dnl. 4:15, 23).

(2) A group of men: (a) Saul was to join himself to “a band of prophets” (1 S. 10:5, 10). Israel’s earliest prophets seem to have grouped together into schools, i.e., itinerant bands of men dedicated to a rather ecstatic prophetic way of life. See J. Lindblom, Prophecy in Ancient Israel (1962), pp. 48, 65ff.; see also PROPHECY. (b) Isa. 31:4 speaks of “a band of shepherds.” (c) Often hostile bands of foreign raiders are referred to (1 S. 30:8, 23; 1 K. 11:24; 2 K. 13:21; 24:2; 1 Ch. 12:21; 2 Ch. 22:1), but Israel too had bands of commando forces (2 S. 4:2). (d) Escort troops can be called “a band of soldiers” (Ezr. 8:22). (e) “Band” is also used as a synonym for the remnant that

(1) 《旧约》中提到了多种用于束缚的带子：(a) “巧工织的带子 (hēšēb) ……要用金线和蓝色、紫色、朱红色线，并捻的细麻做成”，与以弗得绑在一起，供人佩戴（出 28:8）。(b) 所罗门建的圣殿中，盆架顶端的圆架（王上 7:35），显然既有装饰作用，又有实际用途（王上 7:36-37）。(c) 比喻义，海上方的乌云被描述为“包裹它的布”（伯 38:9）。(d) 《以西结书》13:18, 20 中提到了放在膀臂上的“靠枕”，“猎取人”和“虚假的异象”（结 13:23）等巫术中会用到这种靠枕；尚不知晓这种靠枕到底什么样。(e) 耶和华用“爱索”牵引以色列，但以色列却背道（何 11:4）。(f) 在但以理解的梦中，疯狂的尼布甲尼撒被“铁圈和铜圈”箍住（但 4:15, 23）。

(2) 一群人：(a) 扫罗要加入“一班先知”中去（撒上 10:5, 10）。以色列最早的先知似乎形成了不同的流派，即一群崇尚预言生活的巡游之人。见 J. Lindblom, Prophecy in Ancient Israel (1962), 48 页、65 页起；另见 PROPHECY（预言）。(b) 《以赛亚书》31:4 提到了“许多牧人”。(c) 通常指由外邦侵略者组成的敌军（撒上 30:8, 23；王上 11:24；王下 13:21；24:2；代上 12:21；代下 22:1），但以色列也有突击军队（撒下 4:2）。(d) 护卫队可以称为“步兵”（拉 8:22）。(e) “Band”（“一群人”）一词也可以用作是“余剩的民”的同义词，他们在神的看顾下，在被掳后幸存了下来（王下 19:31，平行经文：赛 37:32）。(f) 邪恶的人“聚集”在一

(g) John speaks of “a band of soldiers” that Judas led to arrest Jesus (Jn. 18:3). In light of the “captain” (v. 12, lit. “tribune”) who was in charge of this band, John is probably speaking of a Roman cohort, the Roman army unit consisting of six hundred men, although it may stand for a smaller unit, the manipule, with two hundred soldiers. All the OT occurrences refer to the bank(s) of a river: Heb. śāpā means “lip”; gādā and gidya (Josh. 3:15; 4:18; 1 Ch. 12:15; Isa. 8:7) mean “cutting” (descriptive of the action of a river upon its banks); and the RSV uses “bank” in translating prepositional expressions such as “at hand” (‘al-yād, Jgs. 11:26; Dnl. 10:4; cf. kol-yād, Dt. 2:37), “before” (lipné, Dnl. 8:3, 6), and “between” (bēn, Dnl. 8:16). In the NT, the uses of Gk. krēmnós (Mt. 8:32 par.) refer to the bank of the Sea of Galilee; trápeza in Lk. 19:23 is a table, one at which a money-changer sits (see BANK; BANKING); and chárax in Lk. 19:43 is a palisade for military purposes, hence the NEB “siege-works.”

这个词在《旧约》中都表示河(两)岸:希伯来语 śāpā 的意思是“边缘”; gādā 和 gidya (书 3:15; 4:18; 代上 12:15; 赛 8:7) 的意思是“切开”(描述河水将两岸切开的状态);《修订标准译本》用“bank”来翻译介词“at hand”(“在……边上”) (‘al-yād, 士 11:26; 但 10:4; 参: kol-yād, 申 2:37), “before”(“在……之前”) (lipné, 但 8:3, 6) 和 “between”(“在……之间”) (bēn, 但 8:16)。在《新约》中希腊语 krēmnós (太 8:32, 平行经文) 指加利利海岸;《路加福音》19:23 中 trápeza 指的是兑换银钱之人所坐的桌子(见 BANK; BANKING[银行; 银行业]);《路加福音》19:43 中的 chárax 指的是军事用途的栅栏, 因此《新英文译本》译为“siege-works”(“围困工事”)。

BANK; BANKING.

Banking is the business of receiving, disbursing, exchanging, safeguarding, and lending money. Institutional banking in the modern sense did not begin until the founding of the Banco di Rialto in Venice, Italy, in 1587, and similar institutions in Amsterdam in 1609 and Hamburg in 1619. Banking functions can, however, be traced from early times through the development of media of exchange, the coining of money for the purpose of exchange, the storing of treasure for safekeeping, and the appearance of the money changer.

I. Safekeeping.—Perhaps the earliest banking was that of deposit for safekeeping. As early as 2000 B.C. Babylonians placed their treasure for

BANK; BANKING 银行; 银行业、银行业务

银行业是一种存储、支付、兑换、保管、借贷银钱的商业。直到 1587 年, 意大利的威尼斯建立了里雅托银行, 现代意义上的机构银行业务才开始出现, 类似的机构还有 1609 年在阿姆斯特丹建立的银行和 1619 年在汉堡建立的银行。但是, 通过交易媒介的发展、兑换用途的压印银钱、为妥善保管而存储起来的财宝以及兑换银钱之人的出现, 可以追溯到早期的银行功能。

I. 妥善保管。最早的银行业务可能是妥善保管钱财的寄存业务。早在公元前 2000 年, 巴比伦人为了妥善保管钱财, 将它们托付给可信的人, 为此, 他们会 safekeeping with trusted men, to whom they paid as much as one-sixtieth of the treasure for that service. The statutes of Hammurabi addressed that practice by providing that “if a man gives to another silver, gold, or anything else to safeguard, whatsoever he gives he shall show to witnesses, and he shall arrange the contracts before he makes the deposits.” Egypt and Greece also had treasure houses. The Greeks used their temples for this purpose. Religious principles made the temple relatively inviolate in turbulent times, for a thief would not dare arouse the anger of the gods by taking what the gods protected. At first “presents” were made to the priests for their safekeeping service. Later, business charges were instituted. Eventually money changers had strongboxes in which they kept their money, and people began to leave their own coins with the money changers for safekeeping in the strongboxes. The revision of the Justinian code of laws in Rome, in A.D. 534, showed that there were many regulations of “banking” of this kind at that time.

In Palestine, as in Greece, temples were used for storing treasures in the absence of banks. During the contest between the Egyptians and Syrians for Palestine in the early 2nd cent. B.C. the pro-Syrian faction of the Jews alerted Seleucus that much money belonging to his opponents was stored in the temple. Seleucus’ attempts at that time to seize the money and other treasures, however, were unsuccessful.

II. Media of Exchange and Currency.-The earliest trade was in direct barter of goods. Nomadic Aryans used cattle as one of the earliest media of exchange. When a cow or ox was the standard medium of exchange, the crude cattle pens in which those forerunners of modern currency were confined became, in effect, the first banks. Indeed, the English word “pecuniary” is derived from the Latin word pecus, meaning “cattle.” Homer relates that when the direct transfer of cattle became inconvenient among the Greeks of Trojans, a weight of uncoined gold, equal in value to an ox, was fixed and called a “talent.” Later, ox talents were coined with the head of an ox impressed on one side, and came to be called “oxen.” The first general coining of gold and silver was probably accomplished by the Lydians in the early 7th cent. B.C. (Herodotus i.94).

支付高达财产六十分之一的服务费。《汉谟拉比法典》中做出了这样的描述，“如果一个人将金银等物交给另一个人妥善保管，所交之物必须展示给见证人，并在交付之前订立契约”。埃及和希腊也有宝库。希腊人用神庙储存财宝。宗教信念使神庙成为动乱时期相对安全的地方，因为小偷可能不敢取走神所保护的财宝，否则会引起神的忿怒。起初，祭司因提供保管服务而收到“礼物”。后来则开始收取服务费用。最后，兑换银钱之人有可以保存钱财的保险箱，人们开始将硬币交给兑换银钱之人放在保险箱中妥善保管。公元前 534 年的《查士丁尼法典》修订本表明当时有许多关于这类“银行业务”的条令。

巴勒斯坦和希腊都没有银行，而是用神庙储存财宝。公元前 2 世纪初期，埃及人和叙利亚人争夺巴勒斯坦期间，犹太人中的亲叙利亚派告诉塞琉古，巴勒斯坦的大量财宝都储存在神庙中。塞琉古当时企图夺取钱财和其他宝物，但没能成功。

II. 交易和流通的媒介。最早的贸易直接以物易物。游牧民族雅利安人将牛当做最早的交易媒介。当母牛或公牛成为标准的交易媒介时，储存这种“现代货币”的前身的简易牛圈就成为了最早的

Until the Exile the Jews had little need either for money as a medium of exchange or for other banking functions. Palestine’s economy was essentially agricultural, and the Hebrews were probably the least commercial people of civilized antiquity, though they were surrounded by other Semitic groups who had developed business as a fine art. The laws of the Israelites were unfavorable to the financing of trade or the development of banking. Lending of money at interest, except to foreigners, was illegal (Ex. 22:25; Lev. 25:37; Dt. 23:19f.; see USURY). Until the 2nd cent. B.C., Jews weighed out silver and gold as payment, or used the currency of other nations. They probably first used coined money during the Exile, and must have used their conquerors’ coins except during their brief periods of independence. Simon the Maccabee is said to have been the first to issue the shekel as a coin. In addition to facilitating increased commercial trade, coined money became a convenient way of paying taxes and tribute.

银行。实际上，英语单词 “pecuniary” (“金钱的”) 就源自拉丁语 pecus (“牛”)。荷马记载道，特洛伊的希腊人认为直接交易牛十分不便，于是他们设定了一种未铸造的黄金的重量单位，“他连得”，价值相当于一头公牛。后来，公牛他连得被铸成硬币，一面压印着公牛首，被称为“欧克”。在公元前7世纪早期，吕底亚人可能首次实现了金银的常规压印 (Herodotus i.94)。

在被掳时期之前，犹太人几乎不需要用钱当交易媒介，也不需要其他银行业务。巴勒斯坦的经济基本上是农业经济，虽然希伯来人的周围是已经将商业发展为一门技艺的闪族人，但希伯来人可能是古代文明中最不需要商业的民族。以色列人的律法不利于贸易融资或银行业发展。借人钱财取利是违反律法的，但是可以将钱财借给外邦人取利 (出 22:25; 利 25:37; 申 23:19-20; 见 USURY[放债])。在公元前2世纪前，犹太人用金银，或使用别国的货币支付。他们可能在被掳时期首次使用了硬币，而且除了短暂的独立时期，他们一定一直在使用征服者发行的硬币。西门·马加比据称是发行舍客勒作硬币的第一人。硬币除了可以促进贸易增长之外，还方便了缴税纳贡。

III. Money Changing.-As the variety of coins multiplied, money changing became increasingly important in order both to exchange the currencies of different countries and to “give change” in smaller coins for the larger currency of the same country. Money changing is the banking function most prominently involved in biblical passages. For a fee, money changers would provide the desired currency at their table (Gk. trápeza) or bench (“bank”), from which they derived the name trapezítēs (“banker” or “money changer,” Mt. 25:27).

The annual temple tax of one-half shekel, and additional freewill offerings were put into chests placed in the temple court of the women (Mk. 12:41). This money was required to be in native coin, necessitating the exchange of foreign coins brought by Jews from the foreign lands in which they lived. Exchange of currency to provide correct denominations for the purchase of animals to be sacrificed, or for other purposes, may also have been necessary. The money changers who provided this service had stalls in the city, and as the feast approached they were admitted to the temple area and placed their tables in the Court of the Gentiles. The commission paid for a half-shekel was, according to the Talmud, a kóllybos, equal to twelve grains of silver. From this the money changer was sometimes called a kollybistēs (Mt. 21:12).

On two occasions Jesus expressed His disapproval of their activities in the temple by overturning the tables of the money changers and driving out those who sold animals for sacrifice. The first is recorded in Jn. 2:14-16, where the

III. 银钱兑换。随着硬币种类日益增多,银钱兑换变得越来越重要,银钱兑换既是为了兑换不同国家的货币,也是为了将大额货币“找零”换成本国的小额货币。银钱兑换是《圣经》中最重要银行业务。兑换银钱的人在桌子(希腊语:trápeza)或柜子(“银行”)前提供客人所需的货币,从而收取费用,他们也因此被称为 trapezítēs (“银行家”或“兑换银钱的人”,太 25:27)。

信徒将一个半舍客勒的圣殿年税和额外的自愿供奉放入圣殿女院中的箱子里(太 12:41)。这些钱必须是本国的货币,因此居住在外邦的犹太人需要兑换他们所带来的外邦货币。为了提供购买祭牲或其他用途的正确面额,必须进行货币兑换。提供这种服务的兑换银钱之人在城内有柜台,随着节期接近,他们获准可以进入圣殿区域,将桌子安放在外邦人院中。根据《他勒目》的记载,兑换半个舍客勒的佣金是一小钱(“kóllybos”),相当于 12 格令银子。因此,兑换银钱的人有时被称为 kollybistēs (太 21:12)。

耶稣两次推翻了兑换银钱之人的桌子,并驱赶卖祭牲的人,以此表示祂对这种行为的反对。第一次记录在《约翰福音》2:14-16 中,这里强调的仅仅是殿中出现的商业活动:“不要将我父的殿当作买卖的地方。”第二次记录在《马太福 emphasis is on the mere presence of commercial activity: “You shall not make my Father’s house a house of trade.” The second occasion is recorded in Mt. 21:12f. and Mk. 11:15–17. In this case the complaint is dishonesty: “It is written, ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer’; but you make it a den of robbers” (Mt. 21:13).

IV. Moneylending.—Money changers were often also moneylenders. The Phoenicians and Greeks, as well as the Romans, had a range of banking functions that included receiving money on deposit, paying interest, and lending it out at a higher rate. The row along the north side of the Roman Forum, on the street of Janus, housed the banking establishments with their facilities not only for money changing, but also for deposit of monies. They paid interest on time deposits, made loans, purchased mortgages, and issued bills of exchange and letters of credit. Despite OT prohibitions on the lending of money at interest except to foreigners, Jesus’ parable of the talents (Mt. 25:14–30) and the parable of the pounds (Lk. 19:11–27) indicate that it was the practice to leave money with the money changers and receive interest from it; and the fearful servant was chastised because he did not at least put the money into the “bank” (Lk. 19:23; “bankers,” Mt. 25:27) to draw interest. “Bank” and “banker” in these passages refer to the trapezitēs rather than to the kollybistēs, suggesting a greater tolerance for the activities of the moneylender in the city than of the money changer in the temple.

音》21:12-13 和《马可福音》11:15-17 中。这是对欺诈行为的控诉：“经上不是记着说：‘我的殿必称为万国祷告的殿’吗？，你们倒使它成为贼窝了！”（太 21:13）

IV. 放债。兑换银钱的人通常也是放债的人。腓尼基人、希腊人和罗马人拥有一系列银行业务，包括收取存款、支付利息和放债收取更高的利。杰那斯街上的罗马市场北侧建有一些银行机构，它们不仅可以兑换银钱，还可以储存银钱。它们给定期存款的人支付利息、放债、购买抵押、并发行汇票和信用证。虽然《旧约》禁止放债取利（借给外邦人银钱可以取利），但耶稣关于才干的比喻（太 25:14-30）和十锭银子的比喻（路 19:11-27）表明当时有将钱财留给兑换银钱之人并从中取利的做法；恐惧的奴仆因没有把银子交给“银行”（路 19:23；“兑换银钱的人”，太 25:27）取利而受到了责骂。这些经文中的“银行”和“兑换银钱的人”指的是 trapezitēs 而非 kollybistēs，这表明在圣殿中兑换银钱比在城中放债更加不可容忍。

A banner was usually a flag, streamer, or wrought emblem affixed to the end of a standard. It was common in the ancient world for banners to be used for military, national, or religious purposes in much the way they are today. The purpose of the banner was to indicate the rallying point for any group holding a common cause (Jer. 50:2).

Perhaps the oldest use of this word in the OT took place at Rephidim where Israel battled the Amalekites, and Moses himself, with arms outstretched, became a living banner symbolizing God's presence. At the close of this successful engagement, Moses built an altar and called its name "The Lord is my banner" (Ex. 17:15). While in the wilderness, and no doubt afterward, each Israelite clan had its own individual banner (lit. "standard, ensign"; cf. Nu. 1:52; 2:2f.). The principal OT usage is military, in which the banner

《旧约》在描述以色列与亚玛力人在利非订争战时, 可能首次使用了本词, 平举双手的摩西成为了代表神存在的活旌旗。摩西在这次取得这次战役的胜利后筑了一座坛, 并给它取名“耶和华尼西” (耶和华是我旌旗) (出 17:15)。以色列人在旷野中时, 每个宗族都有自己的旗号, 他们可能后来仍然使用旗号 (字面意思是“旗子、旗帜”; 参: 民 1:52; 2:2-3)。《旧约》中本词主要指军旗, 它代表着耶和华的忠诚军队的集结地 (诗 60:4; 参: 诗 60:5, 10-12)。举着旌旗示威的军队显得更加威武 (歌 is seen as the rallying point of Yahweh's faithful and their armies (Ps. 60:4; cf. vv. 5, 10-12). The awesome grandeur of a marching army is reinforced by the fearsome parade of its proud banners (Cant. 6:4, 10), but in Israel, when the king was victorious, it was due to the intervention of Yahweh; hence, banners were to be set up in His name (Ps. 20:5).

It is not known what Israelite banners looked like, but banners were widely used by other nations in antiquity and commonly took the form of symbolic animals. It is conceivable that some of these clan symbols, animal and otherwise, are reflected in Gen. 49.

There is an intriguing corresponding between the cruciform stance taken by Moses with Aaron and Hur on either side at Rephidim (Ex. 17:12) and John's depiction of Jesus' crucifixion: "... and with him two others, one on either side, and Jesus between them" (Jn. 19:18). "The meaning of the Evangelist would seem to be: Just as Moses with arms outstretched before Israel was a standard or banner proclaiming Yahweh's victory, so also was Christ raised up on the cross the proclamation of God's victory over sin" (Plastaras, p. 299).

6:4, 10), 但在以色列, 当国王取得胜利时, 要将胜利归于耶和华; 因此, 要奉神的名竖立旌旗 (诗 20:5)。

以色列人的旌旗的样子尚无法得知, 但古时的其他国家普遍使用旌旗, 它们采用了象征性的动物形象。《创世记》49章可能反映出一些宗族的旗帜上印有宗族符号、动物等形象。

在利非订时亚伦和户珥各在一边扶着摩西的手 (出 17:12), 从而形成了一个十字架形的姿势, 这与约翰对耶稣被钉十字架的描述十分相似: "……还有两个人和他一同钉着, 一边一个, 耶稣在中间" (约 19:18)。"这位福音传道者似乎想要表达: 正如摩西在以色列前伸出双臂, 成为了宣告耶和华胜利的旌旗, 基督被钉十字架也宣告了神将战胜罪恶" (Plastaras, 299 页)。

BANQUET

[Heb. mišteh; Gk. deípnōn]; AV also FEAST SUPPER; NEB also DINNER PARTY, DINNER-TIME. The Hebrew word is derived from the verb “to drink,” and conveys the fact that wine was consumed at banquets. The RSV has translated mišteh as “banquet” only in Esther, translating it elsewhere as “feast.” In Esther the term refers to a festive meal, held either by the king or queen. Gk. deípnōn can mean either supper, the main meal of the day, or a formal supper, feast, or banquet (Mt. 23:6; Mk. 12:39; Lk 20:46; Rev. 19:9, 17). The RSV translates deípnōn as “banquet” only in Mk. 6:21, referring to a birthday banquet of Herod, and in Lk. 14:12ff, the “parable of the banquet.”

A mišteh is always a “secular feast,” held on a variety of occasions: the weaning of a son (Gen. 21:8), a wedding (Gen. 29:22; Jgs. 14:10), the birthday of a king (Gen. 40:20), in response to a royal vision (1 K. 3:15), upon the arrival of guests (Gen. 19:3; 2 S. 3:20). A sign of wealth was the ability to “feast” often (1 S. 25:36; Job 1:4f.). The association of “feasting” with drinking is assumed in the oracle of Jer. 51:39.

The “banquets” in Esther (1:3, 5, 9) are similar to others in the OT. Much is made of the drinking: “and drinking was according to the law, no one was compelled; for the king had given orders to all the officials of his place to do as every man desired” (Est. 1:8). One of the banquets is most extravagant: it is said to

BANQUET 筵席

【希伯来语：mišteh；希腊语：deípnōn】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 FEAST SUPPER；《新英文译本》还译为 DINNER PARTY、DINNER-TIME，汉译均为“筵席”。这个希伯来语词汇衍生自表示“喝”的动词，并引申出在筵席上喝酒的含义。《修订标准译本》仅在《以斯帖记》中将 mišteh 译为“banquet”，其他经文中则译为“feast”，汉译均为“筵席”。在《以斯帖记》中，这个词指由国王或王后举办的欢庆宴会。希腊语 deípnōn 既可以指晚餐，即一天中的主餐，也可以指正式的晚宴、宴会或筵席（太 23:6；可 12:39；路 20:46；启 19:9，17）。《修订标准译本》中仅有两处将 deípnōn 译为“banquet”（“筵席”），一是在《马可福音》6:21中，指希律的生日筵席，二是在《路加福音》14:12起，“大筵席的比喻”。

mišteh 经常指“世俗的筵席”，可以在各种场合下举办：儿子断奶（创 21:8）、婚礼（创 29:22；士 14:10）、国王生日（创 40:20）、国王见到异象（王上 3:15）、客人来到（创 19:3；撒下 3:20）。有能力经常“举办筵席”是富有的一个标志（撒上 25:36；伯 1:4-5）。《耶利米书》51:39 中的神谕体现了“筵席”和饮酒的联系。

《以斯帖记》（斯 1:3, 5, 9）中的“筵席”与《旧约》中的其他筵席类似。参加筵席的人喝很多酒：“喝酒有例，不准勉强人，因王吩咐宫里的一切臣宰，让人各随己意”（斯 1:8）。据记载，最奢侈的一场筵席持续了 180 天！另一场筵席持续了 7 天（参：《士师记》14:12 中的婚宴）。

BANQUET HALL; BANQUET HOUSE

[Heb. bêt hayyāyin (Cant. 2:4); Aram. bêt mišl'yā' (Dnl. 5:10)]; NEB also WINE-GARDEN (Cant. 2:4). Ancient Near Eastern banquets were characterized by rich foods and abundant supplies of wine. Many occasions prompted banquets (cf. Gen. 19:3; 21:8; Jgs. 9:27; 2 Ch. 7:8; etc.), and in large houses or palaces they were usually held in a dining room. The Hebrew and Aramaic terms imply that the banquet hall was synonymous with a place where wine was drunk.

BANQUET HALL; BANQUET HOUSE 筵宴所

【希伯来语：bêt hayyāyin（歌 2:4）；亚兰语：bêt mišl'yā'（但 5:10）】；《新英文译本》还译为 WINE-GARDEN（“酒室”，歌 2:4）。供应丰盛的食物和充足的酒水是古代筵席的一大特点。许多场合可以举办筵席（参：创 19:3；21:8；士 9:27；代下 7:8 等），通常在大房子或宫殿的餐厅中举办筵席。希伯来语和亚兰语中表示“筵宴所”的词语都表明，筵宴所是个喝酒的地方。

NT REFERENCES

This first article is designed simply to present the references to baptism in the NT. No attempt will be made to interpret the data; for in this area, in view of the different possibilities of understanding, neutral interpretation is especially difficult. For some of the ways in which baptism is understood and practiced in various churches, readers may consult the specialized articles that follow.

I. The Words.—The words used in relation to baptism should be briefly noted.

The basic verb is Gk. báptō, meaning “dip in or under,” also “dye.” In the NT this word occurs only rarely and always with its literal sense, as in Lk. 16:24. It never has the sense “baptize.”

The form baptízō is the term which in different constructions is employed in the NT for “baptize.” This verb can have varied but related senses as “immerse,

BAPTISM 洗礼

《新约》中的洗礼

第一个分词条仅指出《新约》中提及洗礼的经文。将不会对资料进行解释; 因为在这个方面存在很多不同的理解, 所以很难做出中立的解释。关于不同教会对洗礼的理解和施行, 见下文中的分词条。

- II. 对观福音书中的洗礼
- III. 《约翰福音》中的洗礼
- IV. 《使徒行传》中的洗礼
- V. 保罗书信中的洗礼
- VI. 《希伯来书》中的洗礼
- VII. 大公书信中的洗礼
- VIII. 《启示录》中的洗礼

I. 表示洗礼的词语。 下文简要记述了关于洗礼的词语。

基础的动词是希腊语 báptō, 意思是“沉入或沉在下方”, 也可以指“染色”。在《新约》中, 这个词极少出现, 而且通常都使用它的字面含义, 如在《路加福音》16:24 中。这个希腊词从不表示“施洗”。

《新约》中用 baptízō 的不同形式表示“施洗”。这个动词可以表示多种相关的含义, 如“沉浸、下沉、淹没、沉没、陷入和沐浴”。这个词因有多种含义, sink, drown, go under, sink into, and bathe.” The range of meaning adds to its suitability for an act which itself has different connotations and can be given, in the context of the gospel, such a richly diversified significance.

The noun for baptism is báptisma, which occurs only in the NT, only in the singular, and only for baptism. The term seems to denote not only the external act but also the inner meaning and force. Thus the baptism denoted may be that of the Spirit as well as water, and even the baptism of the cross.

An associated term is baptismós. This is found elsewhere, occurs in the plural as well as the singular, and seems to refer simply to the act of washing. In two instances at least it carries a plain reference to Jewish ablutions. The use in He. 6:2 is contested.

Another word used by the NT is baptistés. This is a descriptive nickname for John. Mark sometimes has instead ho baptízōn, “the baptizer,” but the nickname has stuck, as in the Eng. “John the Baptist.”

II. Synoptic References.-A. John's Baptism. In the Synoptics the first references to baptism occur in relation to John, who is called the baptizer or baptist in Mk. 1:4; Mt. 3:1. In Mk. 1:5; Lk. 3:3 John is said to preach a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins. Mt. 3:2 puts it differently: John proclaims, “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand.” All the Synoptists speak of great crowds coming (from Jerusalem, Judea, and the Jordan area) to be baptized by John in the Jordan. Mk. 1:5; Mt. 3:6 state

所以适于表示有不同内涵的行为,福音书的语境也赋予这个词多种重要意义。

表示洗礼的名词是 báptisma, 它仅在《新约》中以单数形式出现,仅用于指洗礼。这个词似乎不仅可以表示外在的洗礼,同时可以表示洗礼的内在的意义和影响。因此洗礼可以指圣灵的洗礼和水的洗礼,甚至可以指十字架的洗礼。

baptismós 一词与洗礼有关。这个词经常在其他经文中以单数或复数形式出现,似乎指的仅仅是洗的动作。该词至少有两次直接指犹太教的洗礼。《希伯来书》6:2 中该词的用法存在着争议。

《新约》中表示洗礼的另一个词是 baptistés。这是约翰的一个描述性别名。马可有时却称他为 ho baptízōn, 意思是“施洗者”,但约翰的别名一直保留了下来,如英语中的“施洗约翰”(John the Baptist)。

II. 对观福音书中的洗礼。A. 约翰的洗礼。对观福音书中第一次提及洗礼与约翰有关,《马可福音》1:4 和太 3:1 中称约翰为施洗者。据《马可福音》1:5 和《路加福音》3:3 记载,约翰宣讲悔改的洗礼,使罪得赦。《马太福音》3:2 的记载不同:约翰说,“天国近了,你们应当悔改”。所有对观福音作者都提及许多人(来自耶路撒冷、犹太和约旦地区)来找约翰,在约旦河中受他的洗。《马可福音》1:5 和《马太福音》3:6 特别表明那些受约翰施洗的人都为他们的罪忏悔。《路加福音》3:10 起的经 specifically that those baptized by John confessed their sins. Lk. 3:10ff. gives concrete examples of acts of repentance that John demanded. All three Gospels (Mk. 1:7f.; Mt. 3:11; Lk. 3:15ff.) record that John spoke of one mightier than he who was coming and who would not just baptize with water as he did, but baptize with the Spirit (and with fire, Matthew and Luke).

文具体阐述了约翰所要求的悔改行为。三部福音书(可 1:7-8; 太 3:11; 路 3:15 起)都记载道, 约翰说将有一位能力比他更大的要来, 祂不像约翰一样用水施洗, 而是用圣灵(和火, 《马太福音》《路加福音》)施洗。

B. Baptism of Jesus. All the Synoptists (and also John) have accounts of the baptism of Jesus by John. Mt. 3:14 adds that John was reluctant to baptize Jesus but consented when Jesus said it was fitting for them to fulfil all righteousness. Lk. 3:21 notes that Jesus prayed when He came up from the water. All the Synoptists (Mk. 1:11f.; Mt. 3:16f.; Lk. 3:21f.) tell us that three things took place after the baptism: the opening of heaven, the descent of the Spirit like a dove, and the voice from heaven calling Jesus the beloved Son in whom God is well pleased.

B. 耶稣受洗。对观福音作者(和约翰)都记载了耶稣受约翰施洗。《马太福音》3:14 还记载道, 约翰起初不愿为耶稣施洗, 但耶稣说他们理当这样尽诸般的义, 约翰才许了祂。根据《路加福音》3:21 的记载, 耶稣从水里上来时在祈祷。对观福音作者(可 1:11-12; 太 3:16-17; 路 3:21-22)记载了洗礼后发生的三件事: 天开了; 圣灵降临, 形状仿佛鸽子; 有声音从天上来, 说耶稣是神的爱子, 神喜悦耶稣。在这三处记载中, 耶稣受洗之后, 圣灵立即把耶稣催(可 1:12)或引(太 4:1; 路 4:1)到旷野去, 耶稣在那里受撒但(可 1:13)

In all three accounts it is also stated that immediately after the baptism the Spirit drove (Mk. 1:12) or led (Mt. 4:1; Lk. 4:1) Jesus into the desert, where He was tempted by Satan (Mk. 1:13) or the devil (Mt. 4:1; Lk. 4:3).

C. Baptism and the Cup. Although baptism seems so important at the beginning of the Synoptic records, it is little mentioned after the ministry of Jesus commences. We are not told in these Gospels that Jesus or His disciples baptized. Indeed, there are few references of any kind to it. Nevertheless, baptism has not lost its significance, as may be seen from the incident reported in Mk. 10:35ff.; Mt. 20:20ff. Jesus here has just been talking about His coming passion; and when the sons of Zebedee (and their mother) ask for places of special honor in His kingdom (or glory), He asks them whether they too can drink His cup (Mt.), or be baptized with His baptism and drink His cup (Mk.). In another context in Lk. 12:50 Jesus says that He has a baptism to be baptized with, and how He is constrained until it is accomplished. In the light of the cup saying, and the further references to the cup at the last Supper and in Gethsemane, it seems evident that by this baptism He means His vicarious death and passion.

D. Authority of John's Baptism. During the last week, when He taught in the temple, Jesus had to answer many questions put to Him by various adversaries. The most direct challenge came from the chief priests (and scribes) and elders (Mk. 11:27-33; Mt. 21:23-27; Lk. 20:1-8) when they asked Him by what authority He did what He was doing, and who gave Him that authority. In reply

或魔鬼（太 4:1；路 4:3）试探。

C. 洗礼和杯。虽然在对观福音书记载的开始，洗礼似乎十分重要，但耶稣开始传道后，经文中却很少提到洗礼。福音书中没有记载耶稣或祂的门徒给人施洗。实际上，关于任何形式的洗礼的信息很少。然而，洗礼依然很重要，《马克福音》10:35起和《马太福音》20:20起中记录的事件可能就体现出了洗礼的重要性。耶稣刚预言了自己将受难，西庇太的两个儿子（和他们的母亲）就希望能在耶稣的国（或荣耀）里得到特殊的荣耀，于是耶稣问他们能否喝祂所喝的杯（《马太福音》）或者问他们能否喝祂所喝的杯、受祂所受的洗（《马克福音》）。在《路加福音》12:50中，耶稣提到祂有当受的洗还没有成就，以及祂在此之前是何等的迫切。根据杯的说法和主耶稣在最后的晚餐和客西马尼再次提到的杯，祂所说的受洗显然指的是代人死亡和代人受难。

D. 约翰施洗的权柄。耶稣在殿里教训百姓的最后一周，不得不回答各种敌对者提出的诸多问题。最直接的挑战来自祭司长（和文士）以及长老（可 11:27-33；太 21:23-27；路 20:1-8），他们问耶稣仗着什么权柄做这些事，给祂权柄的又是谁。耶稣反问了他们一个问题：约翰的洗礼是从天上来的还是从人间来的？当他们回答说他们不知道的时候，耶稣也拒绝回答他们最初的问题。

Jesus put the counter-question: Did John's baptism have a divine or a human origin? When they answered that they did not know, Jesus refused to answer their initial question. By raising the question of John's baptism Jesus obviously put them in a dilemma, but He also related John's baptism very plainly to Himself and thus accepted its validity. This is confirmed by the forthright endorsement of John in the address that follows in Mt. 21:28ff. and also by similar endorsements in Mk. 9:13; Mt. 11:11ff.; 17:12f.; Lk. 7:24ff.

E. Baptism and the Great Commission. Matthew and Luke tell us after the resurrection Jesus gave the disciples a worldwide commission of preaching and teaching. Lk. 24:44 sees in this a prophetic fulfillment: "It is written that ... repentance and forgiveness of sins should be preached in His [Christ's] name to all nations." No reference is made here to baptism, but repentance and remission remind us of what is said about John's baptism at the outset. Mt. 28:16ff. records a direct commissioning by Jesus. In it He claims full authority and sends out the disciples to make disciples, baptizing and teaching. In a phrase that has aroused much debate, but whose textual credentials are sound enough, this baptizing is to be "in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit" (Mt. 28:19). It may be noted that grammatically the commission is the single one of making disciples; baptizing and teaching are included within this independent clauses. The Markan ending, generally accepted as inauthentic, has no command to baptize, but after the preaching commission states that whoever "believes and is baptized will be saved," while those who do not believe will be

题。耶稣显然通过提出约翰洗礼的问题将他们置于两难之地，但祂也将约翰的洗礼和自己的洗礼直接联系在一起，并认可了约翰洗礼的有效性。《马太福音》21:28 起的经文记载了耶稣随后的话语，祂明确认可了约翰，这证实了约翰洗礼的有效性，《马克福音》9:13；《马太福音》11:11 起；17:12-13；《路加福音》7:24 起的经文中类似的认可也证实了这点。

E. 洗礼和大使命。马太和路加告诉我们，耶稣复活后，赋予使徒向万邦传道和教训的使命。《路加福音》24:44 在这种使命中看到了预言的应验：“照经上所写的……要奉祂[基督]的名传悔改、赦罪的道，……直传到万邦”。此处没有提及洗礼，但悔改和赦罪却令我们想起最开始关于约翰施洗的记载。《马太福音》28:16 起的经文记载了耶稣直接委任使徒。在这段经文中，耶稣称祂拥有所有的权柄，并派使徒使万民作门徒，给他们施洗，并教训他们。“奉父、子、圣灵的名给他们施洗”（太 28:19），这段话引起了许多争议，但这段经文非常可信。值得注意的是，从语法上讲，使命指的仅是使万民作门徒；这个使命包括了附属从句中的施洗和教训。学者们普遍认为《马可福音》的结尾是不真实的，在这段记载中，耶稣没要求门徒施洗，而是在赋予传道使命之后说，“信而受洗的必然得救，不信的必被定罪”（可 16:16）。只有《马太福音》提到了奉三位一体真神的名施洗。 condemned (Mk. 16:16). The reference to baptism in the triune name is peculiar to Matthew.

III. Johannine References.-A. John's Baptizing. Like the Synoptics, John's Gospel opens with the story of the Baptist (Jn. 1:19ff.). The initial concern here is to show that John did not claim to be the Messiah but had come to prepare His way. That he administered baptism comes out incidentally in the question of why he was doing this if he was not the Christ. His reply is that he baptizes with water but that among them is one who comes after him, the thong of whose sandal he is not worthy to untie. (No reference is made as yet to Jesus' baptizing with the Spirit.) It is noted that John baptized at a place called Bethany beyond the Jordan (1:21).

B. John and Jesus. John records the baptism of Jesus by John the Baptist, but with some special touches of his own. Jesus is hailed by John as the Lamb of God (1:29). The purpose of John's baptism is to reveal Him to Israel (v. 31). The Baptist himself sees the Spirit descend like a dove and rest on Jesus (v. 32), and he says that he had been told that he to whom this happens will be "he who baptizes with the Holy Spirit" (v. 33). Witness to the divine Sonship—given in the Synoptics by the voice from heaven—is now borne by John on the ground of what he has seen (v. 34).

C. Baptizing of the Disciples. John's Gospel gives some further information about baptism that none of the Synoptists records. The Baptist's ministry did not stop with the baptism of Jesus. He continued to baptize at Aenon near Salim, where "there was much water" (3:23).

III. 《约翰福音》中的洗礼。A. 约翰施洗。《约翰福音》和《对观福音书》都以施洗约翰的故事开篇(约 1:19 起)。此处提及洗礼是为了表明,约翰没有自称是弥赛亚,而是为了预备祂的道路。有人问约翰,既然他不是基督,为什么施洗呢,这个问题附带说明约翰给人施洗。约翰回答说,“我是用水施洗,但有一位站在你们中间……就是那在我以后来的,我给祂解鞋带也不配”。(经文中没有提及耶稣用圣灵给人施洗。)值得注意的是,约翰在约旦河外的伯大尼给人施洗(约 1:21)。

B. 约翰和耶稣。《约翰福音》中记载了施洗约翰给耶稣施洗,但进行了一些特别的润色。约翰称耶稣为神的羔羊(约 1:29)。约翰给耶稣施洗是为了叫祂显明给以色列人(约 1:31)。这位施洗者看见圣灵仿佛鸽子从天降下,住在耶稣的身上(约 1:32),他说他曾被告知“圣灵降下来,住在谁的身上,谁就是用圣灵施洗的”(约 1:33)。在对观福音书中,天上来的声音见证了耶稣的圣子身份,而此处,约翰则因他看见了,为耶稣的圣子身份作了见证(约 1:34)。

C. 门徒施洗。《约翰福音》中给出了更多关于洗礼的信息,而对观福音书却没有记载。施洗约翰的传道并没有随着给耶稣施洗而结束。他继续在靠近撒冷的哀嫩施洗,因为“那里水多”(约 3:23)。当时,耶稣也在犹太地施洗(约 3:22),但后文解释了,其实不是耶稣亲自施

Meanwhile Jesus also was baptizing in Judea (v. 22), although it is explained later that the disciples, not Jesus, did the actual baptizing (4:2). While some people still came to John, more were now going to Jesus (3:26; 4:1). The Baptist, however, refused to be put out by this (3:27ff.), since he was the bridegroom's friend, not the bridegroom himself. The attention of the Pharisees naturally shifted to Jesus (4:1), and this is perhaps why He moved to Galilee, passing on the way through Sychar, where He appropriately described Himself at the well-side as the giver of eternal water (4:14).

D. Baptism and New Birth. In addition to what he says about the practice of baptism, John speaks also about its significance. The setting is the interview with Nicodemus. In response to Nicodemus' introductory flattery, Jesus abruptly poses the requirement of a new birth, or a birth from above, if one is to see God's kingdom (3:3). When Nicodemus does not understand this, Jesus then says that being born anew is being born of water and the Holy Spirit (v. 5). Commentators expound this saying in different ways. Some find in water, i.e., baptism, an indispensable instrument or agency of regeneration. Others spiritualize water in such a way that it is virtually the same as Spirit and no reference to water baptism is seen at all. In the general context of chs. 1-4 it seems probable that there is at least an allusion to the baptism of water and the baptism of the Spirit (possibly as remission and regeneration). At the same time the rite of water baptism is not expressly mentioned, nor is it said to be an essential vehicle of the new birth. In reflecting on 3:5, comparison should perhaps be made with 7:37ff. Here there is obviously no reference to baptism, since Jesus is summoning the thirsty to come to Him and drink. Yet water and the Spirit are again associated, v. 39. The drinking of water is important as well as washing by water in the teaching of the Johannine Jesus, especially in relation to its life-giving significance.

洗，乃是祂的门徒施洗（约 4:2）。虽然有人仍找约翰施洗，但更多人都往耶稣那里去了（约 3:26; 4:1）。然而，施洗约翰并不因此担忧（约 3:27 起），因为他是新郎的朋友，不是新郎。法利赛人自然将注意力转移到耶稣身上（约 4:1），这可能就是祂往加利利去的原因，祂途经叙加，并在井边恰当地称自己为赐予永生之泉的人（约 4:14）。

D. 洗礼和重生。约翰除了提及洗礼的习俗，还谈到了洗礼的重要意义。故事的背景是尼哥德慕来见耶稣。尼哥德慕奉承耶稣，耶稣突兀地回答说，“人若不重生，就不能见神的国”（约 3:3）。尼哥德慕不理解，于是耶稣告诉他，重生指的是从水和圣灵生的（约 3:5）。注释者对这句话做出不同的解释。一些人认为水，即洗礼，是重生不可或缺的工具或代理。其他人则赋予水以精神意义，认为水实际上相当于圣灵，而且经文中完全没有提及用水洗礼。从《约翰福音》1 至 4 章的一般语境上来看，经文可能不止一次暗示了水的洗礼和圣灵的洗礼（可能是赦罪和重生的工具）。同时，经文中没有明确提及水的洗礼的仪式，也没有表明水是重生的基本工具。或许应对照《约翰福音》7:37 起的经文来研究《约翰福音》3:5 这节经文。这里显然也没有提及洗礼，因为耶稣召集口渴的人来祂这里喝水。但是在《约翰福音》7:39 中，水和圣灵再次被联系在一起。在《约翰福音》记载的耶稣的教训中，尤其是涉及水赋予生命的重要意义时，喝水和用水洗一样重要。

E. The Footwashing. Washing, of course, recurs in the footwashing of ch. 13. Primarily Jesus washes the disciples' feet as an example of humility (vv. 12ff.). In the exchange with Peter, however, there is at least a hint of spiritual as well as physical washing. When Peter, after initial resistance, asks for his head and hands to be washed too, Jesus makes the enigmatic reply that he who has bathed does not need to wash except for his feet, "and you [plural] are clean, but not all of you" (v. 10). The reference is to Judas, and it can hardly mean that the others have had a bath and he has not.

F. The Cross. In John's Gospel Jesus does not call His cross a baptism, but the Evangelist may be alluding to this when he notes that water as well as blood flowed from the pierced side of Jesus (19:34).

G. The Commission. No equivalent of the Great Commission occurs in John, nor is there an express command to baptize. Yet the incident in 20:22 may perhaps point to Jesus as the One who baptizes with the Spirit and who thus gives the apostles authority for their mission: "Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive the sins of any...."

IV. References in Acts.-A. Pentecost. Acts opens with the promise of baptism with

E. 洗脚。《约翰福音》13章中洗脚的故事里当然再次提及了水洗。从根本上讲,耶稣洗门徒的脚是为作谦卑的榜样(约13:12起)。但是,耶稣与彼得的交流中至少暗示出属灵的洗礼或身体的洗礼。彼得起初拒绝让耶稣洗脚,但后来要求耶稣连他的头和手也要洗,此时,耶稣作出了神秘的回答,“凡洗过澡的人,只要把脚一洗,全身就干净了;你们是干净的,然而不都是干净的”(约13:10)。不干净的指的是犹大,而且这不可能指其他人都洗澡了,只有犹大没洗。

F. 十字架。在《约翰福音》中,耶稣没有称祂的十字架为洗礼,但约翰记载了有血和水从耶稣被刺的肋旁流出来(约19:34),这可能暗示了洗礼。

G. 使命。《约翰福音》中没有出现与“大使命”意义相同的词,也没有提到耶稣命门徒施洗。但是《约翰福音》20:22中的事件可能表明耶稣就是那用圣灵施洗的,祂因此赋予使徒权柄来完成使命,“你们受圣灵。你们赦免谁的罪……”

IV. 《使徒行传》中的洗礼。A. 五旬节。在《使徒行传》的开篇,耶稣允诺

the Holy Spirit (1:5) and the summoning of the disciples to a worldwide ministry. The outpouring of the Spirit follows on the day of Pentecost (2:1ff.) and is described as a filling with the Holy Spirit (2:4). Yet this does not abrogate water baptism, for when the people, cut to the heart, ask what to do, Peter tells them to repent and be baptized for the forgiveness of sins (2:37f.). “Those who received his word were baptized, and there were added that day about three thousand souls” (v. 41).

B. Samaria. Philip’s mission to Samaria brought many people to faith in Christ and these “were baptized, both men and women” (8:12). As Philip had preached “the good news about the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ,” this baptism was given “in the name of the Lord Jesus” (8:16). The Holy Spirit, however, did not fall on the new believers when Philip baptized them, but only when Peter and John came and laid their hands on them (v. 17). Whether this descent of the Spirit is baptism with the Spirit, and whether the laying on of the apostles’ hands, with their prayer, is necessary for it, the passage does not explicitly say.

C. The Eunuch. Continuing his ministry on the Gaza road, Philip preached Christ to the Ethiopian eunuch on the basis of Isa. 53. In his teaching Philip must have spoken about baptism, for when they came to water the eunuch asked what prevented him from being baptized (8:36). In the next verse, which is textually insecure, Philip asks for a confession of faith and the eunuch expresses belief in Jesus Christ as the Son of God. Both of them went down into the water and Philip baptized the eunuch (v. 38). No reference

使徒将受圣灵的洗（徒 1:5）并召集他们去全地传道。五旬节那天，圣灵降临（徒 2:1 起），门徒都被圣灵充满（徒 2:4）。但这并未废止水的洗礼，因为当众人觉得扎心，问彼得应如何做时，彼得告诉他们要悔改并受洗，叫他们的罪得赦（徒 2:37-38）。“于是，领受祂话的人就受了洗。那一天，门徒约添了三千人”（徒 2:41）。

B. 撒玛利亚。 腓利在撒玛利亚传道，许多人因此信了基督，“连男带女就受了洗”（徒 8:12）。因为腓利传播“神国的福音和耶稣基督的名”，所以他们“奉主耶稣的名”受洗（徒 8:16）。但是，腓利给新的信徒施洗时，圣灵没有降在他们身上，只有当彼得和约翰到了，并将手按在他们头上时，他们才受了圣灵（徒 8:17）。经文中并没有明确说圣灵降临就是圣灵的洗礼，也没有明确说使徒必须将手按在信徒头上并为他们祷告时，才可以受圣灵的洗礼。

C. 太监。 腓利前往迦萨的路上继续传道，并根据《以赛亚书》53 章的经文对一位埃提阿伯的太监传讲基督。腓利在教训中必然提到了洗礼，因为他们到了有水的地方时，太监问他受洗有什么妨碍（徒 8:36）。下一节经文比较晦涩，腓利要求太监相信忏悔，太监表示他信耶稣基督是神的儿子。于是二人同下水去，腓利就给太监施洗（徒 8:38）。这段经文没有提及圣灵降临。 is made to a descent of the Spirit.

D. Paul. After Paul was granted his vision of the risen Lord and then brought blind into Damascus, Ananias, acting by divine command, went to him and laid hands on him, telling him that he, Ananias, had been sent in order that Paul might regain his sight and be filled with the Holy Spirit (9:3ff., 10ff., 17). Paul's sight returned, and he rose up and was baptized (v. 18). In Paul's later account Ananias told him: "Rise and be baptized, and wash away your sins, calling on his name" (22:16).

E. Cornelius. The baptism of Cornelius follows a common pattern, but as the first recorded gentile baptism it also has some distinctive features. Peter was given a special vision to remove his prejudice against preaching to Gentiles (10:9ff.). Then, while he was still preaching, "the Holy Spirit fell on all who heard the word" (v. 44) so that they spoke with tongues and praised God (v. 46). In the astonishment that this caused (v. 45), Peter asked who could "forbid water for baptizing these people who have received the Holy Spirit just as we have" (v. 47). Not Cornelius alone but also his relatives and close friends were then baptized at Peter's command (v. 48). In his report of the incident in Jerusalem, Peter said that when the Holy Spirit fell on them he "remembered the word of the Lord, 'John baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit'" (11:16; cf. 1:5).

F. Philippi. During the Galatian ministry of Paul and Barnabas no direct reference is made to the baptism of converts. In the ministry at Philippi, however, two baptisms are noted, that of Lydia (16:15)

D. 保罗。保罗看见复活的主的异象后失明了，有人拉他的手，领他进了大马士革，亚拿尼亚遵从神的命令找寻保罗，把手按在保罗身上说，他（亚拿尼亚）受神指派，来叫保罗的眼睛能看见，并被圣灵充满（徒 9:3 起，10 起，17）。保罗能看见之后，就起来受了洗（徒 9:18）。保罗后来叙述道，亚拿尼亚告诉他：“起来！求告祂的名受洗，洗去你的罪”（徒 22:16）。

E. 哥尼流。哥尼流的洗礼遵循了普通的形式，但作为经文中首次记载的外邦人受洗，这次洗礼也有一些不同特征。彼得看到的异象消除了他给外邦人传道的偏见（徒 10:9 起）。随后，当彼得还在传道的时候，“圣灵降在一切听道的人身上”（徒 10:44），他们就说方言，称赞神为大（徒 10:46）。这令众人十分希奇（徒 10:45），彼得问道：“这些人既受了圣灵，与我们一样，谁能禁止用水给他们施洗呢？”（徒 10:47）。在彼得的要求下，不止哥尼流自己，连他的亲戚朋友都一同受了洗（徒 10:48）。彼得在耶路撒冷讲述这件事时说道，当圣灵降临在他们身上时，他就“想起主的话说：‘约翰是用水施洗，但你们要受圣灵的洗’”（徒 11:16；参：徒 1:5）。

F. 腓立比。保罗和巴拿巴在加拉太传道过程中并没有直接提及归信者的洗礼。但是，保罗在腓立比传教时提及了两次洗礼，一次是吕底亚受洗（徒 16:15），一次是狱卒受洗（徒 16:33）。 and that of the jailer (16:33). The baptisms are interesting because in each case the household or family also is baptized. In the case of the jailer Paul and Silas told him that if he believed in the Lord Jesus he would be saved, he and his household. The word of the Lord was then spoken to him and to all who were in his house (16:31f.). Their baptism then followed (v. 33). Of Lydia we simply read that after “the Lord opened her heart to give heed to what was said by Paul ... she was baptized, with her household” (16:14f.).

G. Ephesus. After a long stay in Corinth, where many believed and were baptized, including Crispus and his household (18:8), Paul called briefly at Ephesus (18:19), went back to Antioch, revisited Galatia and Phrygia, and then returned to Ephesus (19:1). There he found disciples who not only had not received but had not even heard of the Holy Spirit (19:2). When Paul asked them about their baptism, they said that they had been baptized into John’s baptism (v. 3). Paul then explained that John had baptized “with the baptism of repentance” but had also told the people “to believe in the one who was to come after him, that is, Jesus” (v. 4). When they heard this the twelve disciples of Ephesus were “baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus” (v. 5). Paul then laid hands on them, the Holy Spirit came on them, and like the disciples at Pentecost and Cornelius and his company, “they spoke with tongues and prophesied” (v. 6).

V. Pauline References.-A. Romans. Paul does not speak much about baptism in his Epistles. This general rule applies to Romans, where there is indeed only one reference in 6:3f. Nevertheless, the 这两次洗礼值得注意，因为受洗的人全家也都受了洗。狱卒受洗前，保罗和西拉告诉他当信主耶稣，这样他和他一家都必得救。保罗和西拉就把主的道讲给他和他全家人听（徒 16:31-32）。他们随后受了洗（徒 16:33）。关于吕底亚的洗礼，经文仅记载道，“主就开导她的心，叫她留心听保罗所讲的话。她和她一家既领了洗……”（徒 16:14-15）。

G. 以弗所。保罗在哥林多停留许久，据称那里有许多人信主并受了洗，其中包括基利司布和他的家人（徒 18:8），这之后，保罗在以弗所短暂停留（徒 18:19），然后回到了安提阿，又再次拜访加拉太和弗吕家，之后又回到了以弗所（徒 19:1）。他在那里遇见的几个门徒不但没领受圣灵，甚至没听过有圣灵赐下来（徒 19:2）。保罗问他们受的是什么洗时，他们回答说是受约翰的洗（徒 19:3）。于是保罗解释说，“约翰所行的是悔改的洗”，但约翰还“告诉百姓，当信那在他以后要来的，就是耶稣”（徒 19:4）。当以弗所的十二个门徒听了这话之后，就“奉主耶稣的名受洗”（徒 19:5）。然后，保罗按手在他们头上，圣灵便降在他们身上，他们就与五旬节上的门徒、哥尼流和他的同伴一样，“说方言，又说预言”（徒 19:6）。

V. 保罗书信中的洗礼。A. 《罗马书》。 保罗在书信中并未过多提及洗礼。《罗马书》也是如此，实际上，《罗马书》中仅有 6:3-4 中提及了洗礼。然而，这段经文十分重要，因为保罗将基督的死 passage is an important one, for in it the apostle interrelates the death and resurrection of Christ and the dying and rising of His people in and with Him. The issue is whether, with the superabounding of grace, we might continue in sin. For Paul this idea is ludicrous. How can those who have died to sin still live in it? (v. 2). All who are baptized into Christ are baptized into His death (v. 3). They are buried with Him by baptism into death so that as He rose again they can now “walk in newness of life” (v. 4). Union with Christ in death means union with Him in resurrection. The old self being crucified, freedom from sin is secured by death. We are dead to sin and alive to God in Jesus Christ (vv. 5ff.).

B. Corinthians. 1 Corinthians contains rather more references to baptism, although, in contrast, 2 Corinthians has none at all. In 1 Cor. 1 Paul responds to party groupings in Corinth by asking whether he was crucified for them or they were baptized in his name. In view of the rise of parties appealing to himself or Peter or Apollos, he is glad that he personally baptized so few, only Crispus and Gaius (v. 14), the household of Stephanas, and perhaps one or two others (v. 16). The task that Christ had given him was not to baptize but preach the gospel (v. 17).

There is a possible allusion to baptism in 6:11. Here Paul is saying that the wicked will not inherit the kingdom of God (v. 9). He then names sinners of various kinds, such as idolaters, adulterers, and thieves (v. 10). Some Corinthian believers were formerly among these flagrant offenders, but they have been washed, sanctified, and justified “in the name of our Lord Jesus

和复活与祂的民在基督里和基督同死同复活联系起来。但问题是，我们可以仍在罪中，叫恩典显多吗？对保罗来说，这种想法十分荒唐。在罪上死了的人岂可仍在罪中活着呢？（罗 6:2）受洗归入基督耶稣的人，是受洗归入了祂的死（罗 6:3）。他们藉着洗礼归入死，和祂一同埋葬，这样他们和基督从死里复活一样，可以“一举一动有新生的样式”（罗 6:4）。与基督在死里联合意味着与祂在复活里联合。旧人被钉十字架，死使人脱离了罪。我们向罪死了，在耶稣基督里向神活着（罗 6:5 起）。

B. 《哥林多书》。《哥林多前书》提及洗礼的次数更多，而《哥林多后书》完全没有提及洗礼。在《哥林多前书》1章中，保罗在回复哥林多教会分党纷争时问道，保罗为你们钉了十字架吗？你们是奉保罗的名受了洗吗？鉴于有人说他们是属保罗的、属彼得的或属亚波罗的，保罗庆幸自己很少亲自给人施洗，他只给基利司布和该犹（林前 1:14）、司提反家施过洗，还可能曾给其他一两个人施洗（林前 1:16）。基督差遣保罗不是为施洗，乃是为传福音（林前 1:17）。

《哥林多前书》6:11 可能暗指了洗礼。保罗称不知不义的人不能承受神的国（林前 6:9）。他随后列举拜偶像的、奸淫的和偷窃的等各种罪人（林前 6:10）。一些哥林多的信徒曾公然犯过这些罪，但他们“奉主耶稣基督的名，并藉着我们神的灵”，已经洗净、成圣、称义了（林前 6:11）。虽然这里没有直接提及洗礼，但“洗净”可能隐含了洗礼的

Christ and in the Spirit of our God” (6:11). While there is no literal reference to baptism here, being “washed” may well carry a reference to the meaning of baptism, especially in the context of the ministry, not only of Christ, but also of the Spirit.

Baptism is mentioned expressly in the admonition in ch. 10. Paul introduces here a comparison to OT Israel. Israel had its own baptism in the great act of deliverance out of Egypt. Israel was baptized into Moses in the cloud and the sea (10:2f.). It also received spiritual food and drink (vv. 3f.). Yet through its wicked acts it still came under God’s displeasure (vv. 5ff.). Christians should learn from this, especially by avoiding idolatry (vv. 11ff., 14ff.).

Another important reference comes in the chapter on gifts. No one can say that Jesus is Lord except by the Spirit (12:3). This Spirit gives different gifts, but the difference does not mean disunity. As with the body and its members, so it is with Christ and His people (12:12). “By one Spirit we were all baptized into one body ... and all were made to drink of one Spirit” (v. 13). It should be noted that baptism and Spirit are closely associated here, that baptism is into Christ’s body, and that drinking as well as washing is in view (cf. Jn. 4; 1 Cor. 10:1ff.).

An enigmatic baptismal saying occurs in the discussion of the Resurrection in 1 Cor. 15. As a subsidiary point, Paul shows in 15:29 that baptism on behalf of the dead makes no sense if there is no resurrection. Expositions of this verse, which has, of course, the form of a question, differ widely. Some think there

含义,尤其是在经文中同时提到基督的传道和圣灵的传道的情况下。

保罗在《哥林多前书》第10章关于以色列历史的鉴戒中明确提及了洗礼。神拯救以色列出埃及时,以色列人已经接受了洗礼。他们在云里、海里受洗归了摩西(林前10:2-3),并且都吃了一样的灵食,喝了一样的灵水(林前10:3-4)。但他们贪恋恶事,仍不被神悦纳(林前10:5起)。基督徒应以此为鉴戒,尤其不应崇拜偶像(林前10:11起,10:14起)。

另一处重要提及出现在关于恩赐的章节中。若不是被圣灵感动的,没有能说耶稣是主的(林前12:3)。圣灵的恩赐是有分别的,但这并不意味着圣灵有多位。就如身子是一个,却有许多肢体,基督和祂的民也是如此(林前12:12)。“……都从一位圣灵受洗,成了一个身体,饮于一位圣灵”(林前12:13)。应当注意的是,在这段经文中,洗礼和圣灵是紧密相连的,信徒受洗成为基督的身体,他们饮于圣灵,从圣灵受洗(参:约4;林前10:1起)。

讨论耶稣复活的《哥林多前书》15章提到了一种高深莫测的洗礼说。保罗在《哥林多前书》15:29中补充了一个观点,如果没有复活,那么为死人受洗就没有意义。这一节经文当然以提问的形式出现,对此节的解释大相径庭。一些学者认为必然存在一种代死人受洗的常见习俗;其他学者则认为这里指的是 must have a regular custom of baptizing the dead vicariously; others suggest an irregular practice of which Paul does not necessarily approve; while others find only a general relation between baptism, death, and resurrection. Since no agreed interpretation can be offered, Paul's actual words might be cited: "Otherwise, what do people mean by being baptized on behalf of the dead? If the dead are not raised at all, why are people baptized on their behalf?"

C. Galatians. Paul mentions baptism in Galatians only at 3:27, but here, as in Romans, the context is important. The line of thought is that in Christ, the one seed of Abraham, all are sons of God through faith, whether or not they fulfil the law (3:27). Baptism is, for all who receive it, a putting on of Christ (3:27). In Christ all divisions are broken down: "There is neither Jew nor Greek.... All are one in Christ Jesus" (3:28; cf. 1 Cor. 12:13f.). "Those who are Christ's are, in him, Abraham's seed and heirs according to the promise" (3:29).

D. Ephesians. Unity is again connected with baptism in Eph. 4. The author is here summoning his readers to lowliness, forbearance, and unity in the Spirit. Unity should be maintained because there is one body and one Spirit. Similarly believers are called to one hope, and there is "one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of us all" (4:5f.). The one baptism here would seem to mean not that we are baptized only once, but that the baptism received in the name of Christ, or of Father, Son, and Spirit, is one and the same for all Christians. As in 1 Cor. 12 diversity of gifts accompanies the unity of the body, the Spirit, and baptism.

一种保罗未必认可的非常规习俗; 还有的学者仅仅发现了洗礼、死和复活之间的一般联系。由于这节经文没有统一的解释, 所以在此引用保罗的原话: "不然, 那些为死人受洗的, 将来怎样呢? 若死人总不复活, 因何为他们受洗呢?"

C. 《加拉太书》。 保罗仅在《加拉太书》3:27 中提到了洗礼, 但这节经文和《罗马书》中的洗礼一样, 非常重要。保罗认为, 不论信徒是否履行了律法, 他们都因信亚伯拉罕的后裔基督耶稣, 成了神的儿子 (加 3:27)。在基督里消除了所有的分别: "并不分犹太人、希腊人……因为你们在耶稣基督里都成为一了" (加 3:28; 参: 林前 12:13-14)。
"你们既属乎基督, 就是亚伯拉罕的后裔, 是照着应许承受产业的了" (加 3:29)。

D. 《以弗所书》。 在《以弗所书》4 章中, 合一与洗礼再次被联系在了一起。保罗号召读者要谦卑、忍耐, 并在圣灵里合一。身体只有一个, 圣灵也只有一个, 因此信徒应保守合一。他还号召信徒同有一个指望, "一主、一信、一洗、一神, 就是众人的父" (弗 4:5-6)。此处的 "一洗" 似乎指的不是我们只受一次洗, 而是指所有基督徒都奉基督的名或圣父、圣子和圣灵的名受相同的洗礼。正如在《哥林多前书》12 章中, 恩赐是有分别的, 但身体是合一的, 圣灵只有一个, 洗礼也只有一个。

An allusion to baptism is sometimes seen in Eph. 5:26. In his admonition to husbands and wives the apostle asks from the former the same love as Christ showed for the Church when He gave Himself for it so as to sanctify it, having cleansed it by the washing of water with the word. Particularly to be noted here is the connection of the washing of water and the word.

Some commentators think that sealing with the Spirit in 1:13 carries an allusion to baptism, while others question or deny it. If baptism is the seal, a relation of baptism and the Spirit takes place as in ch. 4, though the nature of the relation, apart from the thought of marking, is not clearly specified.

E. Colossians. In answer to false teaching at Colossae, Paul has an interesting passage on circumcision and baptism. Believers do not need the OT sign but they have been circumcized with a circumcision without hands. They have put off the body of the flesh with circumcision of Christ (2:11). Through faith, and by the work of God who raised Him from the dead, they have been buried (and raised again) with Christ in baptism (2:12). Inner circumcision (the putting off the body of the flesh) and baptism (burial with Christ) are thus brought into a close relation which is developed by the apostle in v. 13, where the uncircumcision of the flesh is equated with deadness in trespasses, but is remedied by renewal and forgiveness, not by physical circumcision.

F. Titus. The Pastoral Epistles do not use the term baptism but a reference to it is usually seen in Tit. 3:5. The readers have

《以弗所书》5:26 暗示了洗礼。保罗在告诫丈夫和妻子时,要求丈夫要爱妻子正如基督爱教会,为教会舍己,要用水藉着道把教会洗净,成为圣洁。此处尤其应注意的是用水洗净和道的联系。

一些评注者认为,《以弗所书》1:13 中圣灵的印记暗指洗礼,其他人则对此表示质疑或否认这种观点。虽然除了印记的思想之外,洗礼和圣灵的关系的本质并未明确指定,但如果洗礼是印记的话,那么洗礼和圣灵的关系就符合《以弗所书》4 章中的经文。

E. 《歌罗西书》。 保罗在回复歌罗西的假教训时,对割礼和洗礼做出了一段引人注意的论述。信徒不需要这种旧约的记号,但他们受了不是人手所行的割礼。他们因基督的割礼而脱去肉体的情欲(西 2:11)。他们藉着信和那叫基督从死里复活的神所做的工,受洗与基督一同埋葬和复活(西 2:12)。保罗在《歌罗西书》2:13 中的论述将内在的割礼(脱离肉体的情欲)与洗礼(与基督一同埋葬)密切地联系在一起,在这节经文中,保罗将未受割礼的肉体和在过犯中的死亡同等看待,但救赎它们的是重生和宽恕,而不是身体上的割礼。

F. 《提多书》。 教牧书信中没有使用洗礼一词,但《提多书》3:5 中经常提及洗礼。保罗提醒读者,基督徒从前也是

just been reminded that Christians were once foolish, disobedient, and wicked (v. 3). They did not save themselves but were dependent on the goodness and kindness of the Savior God. When He appeared, He saved us, not by our works, but by His mercy. This He did through the washing of regeneration and renewal in the Holy Spirit (v. 5). The washing (water) and Spirit in this verse remind us of Jn. 3:5 and of the basic NT concept of baptism by water and the Spirit.

VI. References in Hebrews.-It is apparent from the context that the washings of He. 9:10 do not imply baptism but relate to provisions of the OT law. Whether or not the washings of He. 6:2 bear a similar reference to ablutions is debatable. As noted under I, we have here a plural of baptismós, which suggests washings in a more general sense. Yet the other “elementary doctrines” listed in the verse—repentance, faith, laying on of hands, resurrection, and judgement—point more naturally to baptism. It has sometimes been suggested that the plural is used because instruction is given about different baptisms, viz., John’s, water baptism, and baptism by the Spirit. If baptism is in view, the point is that we cannot keep on laying, destroying, and relaying the foundation. Baptism is not to be accepted, renounced, then accepted again. We must move on from the basics to the building.

He. 10:22 carries a fairly obvious allusion to baptism which links the outer and the inner action. The passage is speaking of the access to God which Jesus has opened by His blood. We are thus to draw near in faith, our hearts sprinkled clean from bad conscience, our bodies washed with pure

无知、悖逆和不义的（多 3:3）。他们无法救自己，而要依靠救主的恩赐和慈爱。当祂显明时，祂便救了我们，并不是因我们自己所行的义，乃是照祂的怜悯，藉着重生的洗和圣灵的更新（多 3:5）。这节经文中的（用水）洗和圣灵使我们想起了《约翰福音》3:5 中的经文和《新约》中藉着水和圣灵受洗的基本概念。

VI. 《希伯来书》中的洗礼。根据语境，《希伯来书》9:10 中的洗濯显然指的不是洗礼，而是与《旧约》律法中的禁令有关。《希伯来书》6:2 中是否指的是洗礼还存在争议。如上文 I 中提到的，此处使用的是复数形式 baptismós，这表明指的是更广义上的洗濯。但是，本节中列出的其他“基本教义”——懊悔死行、信靠神、按手之礼、死人复活和永远审判——指的更可能是洗礼。有学者提出，这里之所以使用复数形式是因为经文中给出了关于不同洗礼的教导，即约翰的洗礼、水的洗礼和圣灵的洗礼。如果这里指的是洗礼，那么我们就不能一直被建立、毁灭并再立根基。洗礼不应被接受、放弃，再被接受。我们应该在根基上逐渐地被建立起来。

《希伯来书》10:22 显然提及了洗礼，并将身体和内心的行为联系在一起。经文中提到耶稣藉着祂的血打开了一条来到神面前的路。因此，我们因信靠近神，我们心中天良的亏钱已经撒去，身体用清水洗净了。身体的洗净对应着属灵的洗礼。这段话反映了仪式律法 water. The physical washing has a spiritual counterpart. The language reflects the background of the ceremonial law.

VII. References in the General Epistles.-A. 1 Peter. A similar thought to that of He. 10:22 occurs in 1 Pet. 3:21. Baptism is here compared to the ark in which Noah and his family were saved by water when the rest were destroyed by it. In baptism we again have saving water. The washing, however, is not a removing of bodily dirt. It is the answer of a good conscience, or the appeal for it, through the resurrection of Jesus Christ. An inner cleansing is again linked to the outer act.

的背景。
VII. 大公书信中的洗礼。A. 《彼得前书》。《彼得前书》3:21 中的思想与《希伯来书》10:22 中的思想类似。这段经文将洗礼比作挪亚的方舟，方舟中的挪亚和他的家人藉着水得救，而其他人却被水除灭。洗礼也是救人的水。但是，这洗礼本不在乎除掉肉体的污秽，而是藉着耶稣基督的复活，得到无亏良心的果，或是求得无亏的良心。内在的洁净再次与外在的行为联系在了一起。

图为在昆兰发现的通往水池的阶梯。通过仪式上的沐浴来洁净是这个盟约会众生活中的重要部分。(W. S. LaSor)

B. 1 John. A possible allusion to baptism is made in 1 Jn. 5:6ff. Here Jesus is said to

B. 《约翰一书》。《约翰一书》5:6 起的经文可能提到了洗礼。这段经文称耶稣 have come by water and blood. The Spirit is then adduced as the witness. The Spirit, the water, and the blood are three witnesses whose testimony agrees. One is reminded here of the twofold baptism of water and the Spirit and also of the baptism of Jesus which is His death and passion (cf. also the water and blood of Jn. 19:34). In his characteristic way the author does not make an express reference to baptism. Intentional ambivalence, however, leaves the door open for a wealth of associations and cross-connections.

VIII. References in the Revelation.

-Something of the same result is achieved by the vivid imagery of Revelation. Here again baptism is not mentioned, but an interrelating of water and blood occurs in 7:14: "They have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." The rope dipped in blood and the linen white and pure are again set in juxtaposition in 19:13f. Water and blood can also be seen together, of course, in the death and judgment of 16:3f. At the same time a significant feature of the eternal city is the life-giving water that flows from the throne of God and of the Lamb (22:1ff.). As in John, the thought is extended to include not only washing in water (22:14) but also the drinking of it (v. 17). Baptism as a rite is no longer the point here. The water of baptism is associated with the ministry of the Lamb and the Spirit (cf. v. 17), and its eternal significance is poetically developed and presented.

BAPTIST VIEW

是藉着水和血而来的。经文随后将圣灵引为见证。作见证的有圣灵、水与血，这三样都归于一。读者看到这里会想起水和圣灵的双重洗礼，以及耶稣的洗礼，即祂的死亡和受难（另参：《约翰福音》19:34 中的水和血）。作者以其独有的方式写作，并未直接提及洗礼。然而，他故意留下的矛盾情绪会引发大量的联想。

VIII. 《启示录》中的洗礼。

《启示录》中生动的异象也表达了同样的效果。这卷书中同样没有提及洗礼，但《启示录》7:14 却提到了水和血的内在联系：“曾用羔羊的血把衣裳洗白净了”。《启示录》19:13-14 再次将染血的衣服和又白又洁的细麻衣并列在一起。当然，《启示录》16:3-4 中的死亡和审判也将水和血摆在一起。同时，不朽的城的一个重要特征是从神和羔羊的宝座流出来的生命河（启 22:1 起）。和《约翰福音》一样，这个思想不仅包括在水中洗净（启 22:14），还包括喝水（启 22:17）。在这里，洗礼的仪式已不再是重点。洗礼的水与羔羊和圣灵的传道有关（参：启 22:17），《启示录》以诗歌般的语言发展和呈现了洗礼之水的永恒意义。

I. Meaning of Baptism.-A. Terminology.

The verb used in the NT is Gk. baptízō. The nouns báptisma and baptismós occur, though the latter is not used in the NT of the ordinance of baptism except by implication, as in He. 6:2 (“instruction about ablutions”), where the reference is to the distinction between the Christian ordinance and the Jewish ceremonial ablutions. Some MSS have it also in Col. 2:12 (cf. He. 9:10, “various ablutions”) for a reference solely to the Jewish purifications (cf. the dispute about purifying in Jn. 3:25). The verb baptízō appears in this sense in Lk. 11:38, where the Pharisee marveled that Jesus “did not first wash before dinner.”

The Mosaic regulations required the bath of the whole body (Lev. 15:16) for certain uncleannesses. Tertullian (De baptism 15) says that the Jew required almost daily washing. Herodotus (ii.47) says that if an Egyptian should “in passing accidentally touch a pig, he instantly hurries to the river and plunges in [báptō] with all his clothes on.” See also the Jewish scrupulosity illustrated in Sir. 34:25 and Jth. 12:7, where baptízō occurs. The same thing appears in the correct text in Mk. 7:4, “And when they come from the market place, they do not eat unless they bathe themselves.” Here baptízō is the true text. The use of rhantízō (“sprinkle”)

I. 洗礼的含义。A. 术语。《新约》中使用的动词是希腊语 baptízō。《新约》中还出现了名词 báptisma 和 baptismós，但除了《希伯来书》6:2 (“洗礼的教训”)等经文中的暗示，《新约》并没有使用 baptismós 来表示洗礼的仪式，《希伯来书》6:2 提及了基督教和犹太教仪式洗礼的区别。《歌罗西书》2:12 的一些原稿也使用了 baptismós 一词（参：来 9:10, “诸般洗濯”），仅表示犹太教的洁净礼（参：《约翰福音》3:25 中关于洁净的礼的辩论）。《路加福音》11:38 中的动词 baptízō 也有这种含义，这段经文记载道，法利赛人看见耶稣“饭前不洗手”便诧异。

摩西律法中规定，人因有不洁净，所以必须用水洗全身(利 15:16)。特土良(De baptism 15) 称犹太人几乎每天都要洗澡。希罗多德(ii.47)称埃及人如果“不小心碰了猪，会立即跑到河边，穿着所有衣服浸入[báptō]水中”。另见《西卜神谕篇》34:25 和《犹滴传》12:7 中犹太教的诫命，这两段经文中使用了 baptízō 一词。《马可福音》7:4 的正确经文也提到了类似的事，“从市上来，若不洗浴也不吃饭”。这里的 baptízō 是正确的。抄写经文的人因不熟悉犹太风俗而感到困难，因此使用了 rhantízō (“洒”)。还应注意这节经文省略了“榻”这个词。榻是可以轻易沉入水中的简易小床。值得注意的是，此处使用

is due to the difficulty felt by copyists not familiar with Jewish customs. Note also the omission of “couches” in the same verse. The couches were “pallets” and could easily be dipped into water. It is noteworthy that here rhantízō is used in contrast with baptízō, showing that baptízō did not mean “sprinkle.”

The term baptismós occurs in Josephus (Ant. xviii.5.2) in connection with John’s baptism (cf. also Irenaeus Adv. Haer. ii.22 on Christ’s baptism). In general, however, báptisma is the noun found for the ordinance. The verb baptízō is in reality a frequentative or intensive of báptō (“dip”). Examples occur where that idea is still appropriate, as in 2 K. 5:14 (LXX), where Naaman is said to have “dipped himself seven times in the Jordan” (ebaptísato). The notion of repetition may occur also in Josephus (Ant. xv.3.3) in connection with the death of Aristobulus, brother of Mariamne, for Herod’s friends “dipped him as he was swimming, and plunged him under water, in the dark of the evening.” But in general the term baptízō, as is common with such forms in the late Greek, is simply equivalent to báptō (cf. Lk. 16:24) and means “dip,” “immerse” just as rhantízō, like rhainō, means simply “sprinkle.”

If baptízō never occurred in connection with a disputed ordinance, there would be no controversy on the meaning of the word. There are indeed, figurative or metaphorical uses of the word, but the figurative use is that of immersion, like our “immersed in cares” “plunged in grief,” etc. It remains to consider whether the use of the word for a ceremony or ordinance has changed its significance in the NT as compared with ancient Greek.

的 rhantízō 与 baptízō 形成了对比，表明 baptízō 的意思不可能是“洒”。

约瑟夫斯 (Ant. xviii.5.2) 在提及约翰的洗礼时，使用了 baptismós (另参：Irenaeus Adv. Haer. ii.22, 基督的洗礼)。但是，一般而言，表示洗礼的名词是 báptisma。动词 baptízō 实际上是 báptō (“浸入”) 的反复动词或强调成分。在适于表达这种思想的经文中出现了这个词，如在《列王纪下》5:14 (《七十士译本》) 中，乃幔“在约旦河里沐浴七回” (ebaptísato)。约瑟夫斯 (Ant. xv.3.3) 也提到了重复洗礼的概念，米利暗的弟兄阿里斯托布鲁斯死时，希律的朋友“将他浸在水中，好像游泳，又在黑夜时，将他沉在水下”。但一般情况下，baptízō 一词和后期希腊语中的这类形式相同，仅仅是 báptō 的同义词 (参：路 16:24)，与 rhantízō 一样表示“浸入”或“沉浸”，像 rhainō 一样，仅仅表示“洒”。

如果 baptízō 从未在有争议的仪式中出现，那么该词的意思也不会有争议。实际上，这个词有比喻或隐喻意义，但它的比喻义指“沉浸”，如“沉浸在担忧中”或“沉浸在悲伤中”等。还要考虑与古希腊语用法相比，这个词在《新约》中用于典礼或仪式上时，意义是否已经发生了改变。

It may be remarked that no Baptist has written a lexicon of the Greek language, and yet the standard lexicons, like that of Liddell and Scott (LSJ), uniformly give the meaning of baptizō as “dip,” “immerse.” They do not give “pour” or “sprinkle,” nor has anyone ever adduced an instance where this verb means “pour” or “sprinkle.” The presumption is therefore in favor of “dip” in the NT.

B. Proselyte Baptism. Before we turn directly to the discussion of the ceremonial usage, a word is called for in regard to Jewish proselyte baptism. It is still a matter of dispute whether this initiatory rite was in existence at the time of John the Baptist or not. Schürer argues ably, if not conclusively, for the idea that this proselyte baptism was in use long before the first mention of it in the 2nd cent. (HJP, II/2, 319ff.; also Edersheim, LTJM, appendix 12). It matters nothing at all to the Baptist contention what is true in this regard. It would not be strange if a bath was required for a Gentile who became a Jew, when the Jews themselves required such frequent ceremonial ablutions. But what was the Jewish initiatory rite called proselyte baptism? Lightfoot (Horae Hebraicae et Talmudicae, Mt. 3:7) gives the law for the baptism of proselytes: “As soon as he grows whole of the wound of circumcision, they bring him to Baptism, and being placed in the water they again instruct him in some weightier and in some lighter commands of the Law. Which being heard, he plunges himself and comes up, and, behold, he is an Israelite in all things.” To this quotation Marcus Dods (Presbyterian) in DCG adds: “To use Pauline language, his old man is dead and buried in the water, and he rises from this cleansing grave a new man. The full significance of the rite would have been lost had immersion not been practised.” Lightfoot says further: “Every person baptized must dip in his whole body, now stripped and made naked, at one dipping. And wheresoever in the Law washing of the body or garments is mentioned, it means nothing else than the washing of the whole body.” Edersheim (loc. cit.) says: “Women were attended by those of their own sex, the rabbis standing at the door outside.” Jewish proselyte baptism, an initiatory ceremonial rite, harmonizes exactly with the current meaning of baptizō already seen. There was no peculiar “sacred” sense that changed “dip” to “sprinkle.”

应当注意的是,浸信派作者从未编纂过希腊语辞典,而各种标准辞典(如利德尔和斯科特编写的[LSJ])都将 baptizō 译为“浸入”“沉浸”。他们没有将该词译为“倒”或“洒”,也没有人给出过用这个动词表示“倒”或“洒”的例子。因此,这种推测支持了《新约》中将这个词译为“浸入”的翻译。

*B. 归信洗礼。*在我们直接讨论仪式的用法之前,应当先讨论犹太教的归信洗礼。施洗约翰时期是否存在入会仪式仍有待讨论。舒勒尔(Schürer)巧妙地辩论道,在2世纪第一次提及归信洗礼之前,这种仪式就已存在,即使这并不是最终的结论(HJP, II/2, 319起;另见 Edersheim, LTJM, 附录 12)。对浸信会而言,在这点上争论真伪毫无意义。如果犹太人经常需要这种仪式洗礼的话,那么他们要求外邦人归信犹太教之前进行沐浴也就不足为奇。但哪种犹太教的入会仪式被称为归信洗礼呢?莱特福特(Horae Hebraicae et Talmudicae, 太 3:7)给出了归信洗礼的律法:“他割礼的伤口痊愈后,他们给他施洗,将他放在水中,再次教训他律法中或重或轻的诫命。他听了诫命之后,便浸入水中,然后上来,看哪,他已经完全是以色列人了”。马库斯·杜兹(Marcus Dods, 长老派信徒)在作品(DCG)中补充了这段经文:“用保罗的话来说,他的旧人死了,埋在水中,他在洁净的墓中重生,成了新人。如果没有浸礼,那么仪式就失去了全部意义”。莱特福特进一步说道:“每个受洗的人都应将身体全部浸入水中,现在,参加浸礼的人应除去衣服,赤身入水。律法中提到的所有的洗澡或洗衣指的都是洁净全身”。爱德生(在上述引文中)称:“女子受洗时需要同性陪伴,拉比站在门外”。犹太教的归信洗礼是

C. Greek Usage. The Greek language has had a continuous history, and baptizō is used today in Greece for baptism. As is well known, not only in Greece, but wherever the Greek Church prevails, immersion is the unbroken and universal practice. The Greeks may surely be credited with knowledge of the meaning of their own language. The substitution of pouring or sprinkling for immersion, as the Christian ordinance of baptism, was late and gradual and finally triumphed in the West because of the decree of the Council of Trent. But the Baptist position is that this substitution was unwarranted and subverts the real significance of the ordinance. The Greek Church does practice trine immersion, one immersion for each person of the trinity, an old practice (cf. ter mergimatur, Tertullian De baptismo 6), but not the scriptural usage. A word will be needed later concerning the method by which pouring crept in beside immersion in the 2nd and later

C. 希腊语中的用法。希腊语一直被人使用，在现代希腊，baptizō 指的是洗礼。众所周知，不仅在希腊，而且在希腊教会盛行的任何地方，浸礼都是未曾中断的普遍仪式。希腊人当然了解希腊语中该词的含义。在西方，用注水礼或点水礼代替浸礼是后期才出现的，根据天特会议的教令，注水礼或点水礼逐渐取代了浸礼，并最终成为在西方盛行的仪式。但浸信会认为，这种取代毫无根据，而且颠覆了仪式的真正意义。希腊教会的浸礼包含三次浸水，每次浸水对应着三位一体真神的每个位格，这是一种古老的仪式（参：ter mergimatur, Tertullian De baptismo 6），但不是《圣经》中的仪式。在 2 世纪及随后时期，除了浸礼之外，逐渐出现了注水礼，那么应当有一个词来表示这种洗礼的方式。在我们直接讨论《新约》中 baptizō 的用法之前，最好引用索福克勒斯 (E. A. Sophocles) 编辑的 Greek Lexicon of the Roman and Byzantine Periods，他本人就是一个希腊人。他说 (297 页)：“没有证据可以表明路加、保罗和其他新约 centuries. Before we turn directly to the NT use of baptízō it is well to quote from the Greek Lexicon of the Roman and Byzantine Periods by E. A. Sophocles, himself a native Greek. He says (p. 297): “There is no evidence that Luke and Paul and the other writers of the NT put upon this verb meanings not recognized by the Greeks.” We expect therefore to find in the NT “dip,” as the meaning of this word in the ceremonial sense of an initiatory Christian rite. Thayer’s Lexicon likewise defines the word in this ceremonial Christian use to mean “an immersion in water, performed as a sign of the removal of sin.”

Baptists could very well afford to rest the matter right here. There is no need to call for the testimony of a single Baptist scholar on this subject. The word of scholarship has rendered its decision with impartiality and force on the side of the Baptists in this matter. Alfred Plummer (Church of England) in his comm. on Matthew (2nd ed. 1910), p. 28, says that the office of John the Baptist was “to bind them to a new life, symbolized by immersion in water.” Swete (Church of England) in his comm. on Mark (3rd ed. 1909) speaks of “the added thought of the immersion, which gives vividness of the scene” (on 1:9). The early Greek ecclesiastical writers show that immersion was employed; cf. Barn. 11:11, “We go down into the water full of sins and filth, and we come up bearing fruit in the heart.” For numerous ecclesiastical examples see Sophocles’ Lexicon.

D. NT Usage. But the NT itself makes the whole matter perfectly plain. The uniform meaning of “dip” for baptízō and the use of the river Jordan as the place for

浸信会对这个问题的讨论应当到此为止。没有必要要求一个浸信会的学者提供关于这个问题的证据。学者的话已经得出了公正的结论，并表明他们在这个问题上支持浸信会的观点。阿尔弗雷德·普卢默（英国教会）在《马太福音评注》（1910年再版）的第28页写道，施洗约翰的职分是“赐予他们以在浸礼为象征的新生”。斯韦特（英国教会）在《马可福音评注》（1909年第三版）中论及“浸礼的补充思想，这使场景更加生动”（《马可福音》1:9注释）。早期的希腊教会作者表明教会已经开始举行浸礼；参：《巴拿巴书信》11:11，“我们充满罪恶愚昧下沉进入水中，我们上升结成内心敬畏的果”。关于更多教会中的例子，见索福克勒斯的 Lexicon。

D. 《新约》中的用法。《新约》非常清晰地阐述了整个问题。《新约》中的 baptízō 表示“浸入”，除非出现截然对立的证据，否则约翰在约旦河施洗的例 baptizing by John the Baptist makes inevitable the notion of immersion, unless there is some direct contradictory testimony. It is a matter that should be lifted above verbal quibbling or any effort to disprove the obvious facts. The simple narrative in Mt. 3:6 is that “they were baptized by him in the river Jordan.” In Mk. 1:9f. the baptism is sharpened a bit in the use of eis and ek. Jesus “was baptized by John in [eis] the Jordan. And when he came up out of [ek] the water, immediately he saw.” So in Acts 8:38 we read: “They both went down into [eis] the water, Philip and the eunuch, and he baptized him. And when they came up out of [ek] the water, the Spirit ... caught up Philip.”

If one could still be in doubt about the matter, Paul adds further evidence by the symbolism used in Rom. 6:4, “We were buried therefore with him by baptism into death, so that as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, we too might walk in newness of life.” The submergence and emergence of immersion thus, according to Paul, symbolize the death and burial to sin on the one hand and the resurrection to the new life in Christ on the other. Sanday and Headlam (Church of England) put it thus in their comm. on Romans (ICC 14th ed. 1913), in loc.: “It expresses symbolically a series of acts corresponding to the redeeming acts of Christ. Immersion=Death. Submersion=Burial (the ratification of death). Emergence=Resurrection.” In Col. 2:12 Paul again says: “you were buried with him in baptism, in which you were also raised with him through faith in the working of Gods, who raised him from the dead.” The same image is here presented. J. B. Lightfoot (Church of England) in his comm. on Colossians (1900), in loc., says: “Baptism is the grave of the old man, and the birth of the new. As he sinks beneath the baptismal waters, the believer buries there all his corrupt affections and past sins; as he emerges thence, he rises regenerate, quickened to new hopes and new life.”

子必然表明了浸礼的概念。问题在于，应当放弃字面上的争论或试图驳斥显而易见的事实。《马太福音》3:6 中的简单叙述是“在约旦河里受他的洗”。《马可福音》1:9-10 中 eis 和 ek 的用法使洗礼的问题变得更加明确。耶稣“在约旦河里[eis]受了约翰的洗。他从水里一上来[ek]，就看见……”。《使徒行传》8:38 中也记载道：“腓利和太监二人同下水里[eis]去，腓利就给他施洗。从水里上来[ek]，主的灵把腓利提了去”。

如果有人还对这个问题存有疑问的话，保罗在《罗马书》6:4 中的象征又补充了证据，“所以我们藉着洗礼归入死，和祂一同埋葬，原是叫我们一举一动有新生的样式，像基督藉着父的荣耀从死里复活一样”。因此，根据保罗的话，浸礼时的下沉象征着罪的死亡和埋葬，而浮起象征着在基督里的复活和新生。桑迪和黑德勒姆（英国教会）在《罗马书评注》（ICC, 1913 年 14 版）中对这一章作出了如下评注：“它以象征性的手法表达了一系列与基督的救赎行为相关的行为。浸入相当于死亡。淹没相当于埋葬（死亡的认可）。浮起相当于复活”。保罗在《歌罗西书》2:12 中再次说道：“你们既受洗与祂一同埋葬，也就在此与祂一同复活，都因信那叫祂从死里复活 神的功用”。这段经文呈现出了相同的意象。莱特福特（J. B. Lightfoot, 英国教会）在《歌罗西书评注》（1900 年）中写道：“洗礼是旧人的坟墓和新人的诞生地。信徒沉入洗礼的水下时，埋葬了所有的堕落和过去的罪；当他浮起时，获得了新生，有了新的盼望和生命”。

There is nothing in the NT to offset this obvious and inevitable interpretation. The objections that are occasionally raised vanish on examination. The use of “with” after “baptize” in the AV is appealed to as disproving immersion. But the Committee of the American Standard Revision, which had no Baptist member at the final revision, substituted “in” for “with.” Thus, “I indeed baptize you in water unto repentance” (Mt. 3:11; cf. also Mk. 1:8). The use of both “with” and “in” in Lk. 3:16 is a needless stickling for the use of the Gk. en with the locative case. In Mk. 1:8 en is absent in the best MSS and yet the American Revisers correctly render “in.” In Acts 1:5 they seek to draw the distinction between the mere locative and en and the locative. As a matter of fact the locative case alone is amply sufficient in Greek for the notion of “in.” Cf. Jn. 21:8, “in the boat.” The presence or absence of en with baptizo is wholly immaterial. In either case “dip” is the meaning of the verb.

The objection that three thousand people could not have been immersed in Jerusalem on the day of Pentecost is superficial. Jerusalem was sufficiently supplied with pools. There were 120 disciples on hand, most of whom were probably men (cf. the seventy sent out before by Jesus). It is not at all necessary to suppose that the twelve (Matthias was now one of them) apostles did all the baptizing. But even so, that would be only 250 apiece.

《新约》中没有经文否定了这个明显而必然的解释。偶尔出现的异议都经不起检验。《钦定版圣经》在“baptize”后面使用了“with”，这种搭配（意思是“用水施洗”）驳斥了浸礼。但美国标准修订委员会（最终修订的成员中没有浸信会信徒）用“in”（“在水里受洗”）取代了“with”（“用水施洗”）。因此译为“我是用水给你们施洗，叫你们悔改”（太 3:11；另参：可 1:8）。《路加福音》3:16 拘泥于希腊语 en 和方位格连用的惯例，同时使用了“with”和“in”两个词。在最好的手稿中，《马可福音》1:8 中没有使用 en，而美国的修订者则恰当地译为“在……里”。他们试图在《使徒行传》1:5 中找出只使用方位格与 en 和方位格连用之间的区别。实际上，这个希腊语中的方位格本身就足以表达“在……里”的概念。参：《约翰福音》21:8，“在小船上”。baptizo 是否与 en 连用完全不重要。这个动词的意思始终是“浸入”。

有一种观点认为不可能有三千人在五旬节那天在耶路撒冷受浸礼，反对这种观点的理由非常肤浅。耶路撒冷有很多水池。当时有 120 个门徒，他们可能大多都是男人（参：耶稣之前差遣的七十门徒）。完全没有必要认为是十二使徒（马提亚当时也是其中一员）给所有人施洗。但即使只有 12 个门徒，每个门徒也只要给 250 人施洗。

It is sometimes objected that Paul could not have immersed the jailer in the prison (Acts 16:25–34); but Luke does not say they stayed in the prison; indeed he implies just the opposite: “And he took [took along, Gk. pará] them the same hour of the night, and washed their wounds, and he was baptized at once.” He took Paul and Silas with him and found a place for the baptism, probably somewhere on the prison grounds.

E. The Didache. Appeal has been made to the Didache, which may belong to the first half of the 2nd century. Here for the first time pouring is distinctly admitted as an ordinance in place of immersion. Because of this remarkable passage it is argued by some that, though immersion was the normal and regular baptism, yet along-side of it pouring was allowed, and that in reality it was a matter of indifference even in the 1st cent. whether pouring or immersion was used. But that is not the true interpretation of the facts in the case. The passage deserves to be quoted in full and is here given in the translation of Philip Schaff (Presbyterian) in his edition of the Didache (pp. 184ff.): “Now concerning baptism, baptize thus: Having first taught all these things, baptize ye into [eis] the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, in living water. And if thou hast not living water, baptize into other water; and if thou canst not in cold, then in warm [water]. But if thou has neither, pour water thrice upon the head in [eis] the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.” There is thus no doubt that early in the 2nd cent. some Christians felt baptism was so important that, when the real baptism (immersion) could not be performed because of lack of water, pouring might be used in its place. This is all that can be deduced from this passage. It is to be noted that for pouring another word (ekchéō) is used, clearly showing that baptízō does not mean “pour.” The very exception filed proves the Baptist contention concerning baptízō.

E. 《十二使徒遗训》中的洗礼。 值得关注的是《十二使徒遗训》这部可能属于 2 世纪上半叶的作品。这部作品首次明确承认注水礼代替了浸礼。这段引人注意的经文使有些人认为，虽然浸礼是正式、常规的洗礼，但信徒也可受注水礼，实际上，即便是在公元 1 世纪，使用注水礼还是浸礼都是无关紧要的。但这并不能真正地解释关于洗礼的事实。应当完整地引用这段经文，这里给出了菲利普·沙夫（长老派）编辑的《十二使徒遗训》（184 页起）中的译文：“论到洗礼，当这样做：先将以上所说的一切事学习过了，然后到活水里奉[eis] 圣父、圣子和圣灵的名施洗。但如果没有活水，也可以用别的水施洗，若是不能用冷水，热水也可以。若是凉水和温水都没有，可以奉圣父、圣子和圣灵之名将水注在头上三次”。早在 2 世纪，一些基督徒显然已经意识到了洗礼的重要性，因此当因缺水而无法完成真正的洗礼（浸礼）时，他们可以用注水礼代替浸礼。这是经文中可以得出的全部推断。值得注意的是，注水是用另一个词（ekchéō）来表示的，这显然表明 baptizō 的意思不是“注水”。这个特例证实了浸信会关于 baptizō 的争论。

There is no thought of denying that pouring early in the 2nd cent. came to be used in place of immersion in certain extreme cases. The question remains as to why this use of pouring in extreme cases grew. The answer is that it was due to a mistaken and exaggerated estimate put upon the value of baptism as essential to salvation. Those who died without baptism were felt by some to be lost. Thus arose “clinic” baptisms.

F. Baptismal Regeneration. Out of this perversion of the symbolism of baptism grew both pouring as an ordinance and infant baptism. If baptism is necessary to salvation or the means of regeneration, then the sick, the dying, infants, must be baptized, or at any rate something must be done for them if the real baptism (immersion) cannot be performed because of extreme illness or want of water (cf. Justin Apol. i.61). The Baptist contention is to protest against this perversion of the significance of baptism as the ruin of the symbol. Baptism, as taught in the NT, is the picture of death and burial to sin and resurrection to new life, a picture of what has already taken place in the heart, not the means by which spiritual change is wrought. It is a privilege and duty, not a necessity. It is a picture that is lost when

F. 洗礼的重生。注水礼和婴儿洗礼源自于人们对洗礼象征意义的曲解。如果洗礼对救赎而言必不可少,或者说洗礼是重生的方式,那么病人、临终之人、婴儿都必须受洗,如果真正的洗礼(浸礼)因极度虚弱或缺水而不能进行的话,那么至少也应为他们做些其他的事(参: Justin Apol. i.61)。浸信会认为不应曲解洗礼的意义,不应让其失去象征意义。正如《新约》所教导的,洗礼意味着向罪死了并被埋葬,以及复活并得了新生,也意味着在心里已经发生的事,而不是属灵改变的方式。洗礼是一种特权和责任,而不是一种需要。洗礼意味着一种东西失去了,另一种东西取代了它。见 BAPTISMAL REGENERATION (洗礼的重生)。 something else is substituted in its place.

See BAPTISMAL REGENERATION.

II. Subjects of Baptism.-It is significant that even the Didache with its exaggerated notion of the importance of baptism does not allow baptism of infants. It says: "Having first taught all these things." Instruction precedes baptism. That is a distinct denial of infant baptism. The uniform practice in the NT is that baptism follows confession. The people "confessing their sins" were baptized by John (Mt. 3:6). It is frankly admitted by paedo-baptist scholars that the NT gives no warrant for infant baptism. Thus Jacobus (Congregationalist) in the Standard Bible Dictionary says: "We have no record in the NT of the baptism of infants." Scott (Presbyterian) in HDB (1 vol. ed.) says: "The NT contains no explicit reference to the baptism of infants or young children." Plummer (Church of England), HDB, says: "The recipients of Christian baptism were required to repent and believe." Marcus Dods (Presbyterian), DCG, calls baptism "a rite wherein by immersion in water the participant symbolizes and signalizes his transition from an impure to a pure life, his death to a past he abandons, and his new birth to a future he desires." It would be hard to state the Baptist interpretation in better terms.

Thus no room is found in the NT for infant baptism, which would symbolize what the infant did not experience or would be understood to cause the regeneration in the child, a form of sacramentalism repugnant to the NT teaching as understood by Baptists. The dominant Baptist note is the soul's personal relation to God apart from

II. 洗礼的对象。值得注意的是，即使是《十二使徒遗训》这种夸大洗礼重要性的经文都不认可婴儿洗礼。《十二使徒遗训》中提到：“先将以上所说的一切事学习过了，才能受洗”。教导先于洗礼。这显然否认了婴儿洗礼。《新约》中的统一惯例是悔改之后受洗。信徒“承认他们的罪”，然后受了约翰的洗（太 3:6）。婴儿洗礼派的学者坦白地承认《新约》中并没有关于婴儿洗礼的证据。因此，雅各布斯（公理会信徒）在 Standard Bible Dictionary 中写道：“《新约》中没有关于婴儿洗礼的记录”。斯科特（长老派信徒）在作品（HDB，第一卷）中写道：“《新约》中没有明确提及婴儿洗礼或孩童洗礼”。普卢默（英国教会）在作品（HDB）中称：“基督徒必须悔改并信主之后才能接受洗礼”。马库斯·杜兹（长老派信徒）在作品（DCG）中称洗礼为“一种浸入水中的仪式，受洗者以浸入水中象征并表明他的生命从不纯洁变为纯洁，他放弃了过去的死亡，并将在未来得到盼望中的重生”。很难用更好的词语来陈述浸信会的诠释。 ordinance, church, or priest. The infant who dies unbaptized is saved without baptism. The baptized individual, whether child (for children are often baptized by Baptists, children who show signs of conversion) or adult, is converted before his baptism. The baptism is the symbol of the change already wrought. So clear is this to the Baptist that he bears continual protest against that perversion of this beautiful ordinance by those who treat it as a means of salvation or who make it meaningless by performing it before conversion. Baptism is a preacher of the spiritual life. The Baptist contention is for a regenerated church membership, placing the kingdom before the local church. Membership in the kingdom precedes membership in the church.

The passages quoted from the NT in support of the notion of infant baptism are wholly irrelevant, Acts 2:39, where there is no such idea as baptism of infants, and 1 Cor. 7:14, where the point is that the marriage relation is sanctified and the children are legitimate, though husband or wife be heathen. It is begging the question to assume the presence of infants in the various household baptisms in Acts. In the case of the family of Cornelius they all spoke with tongues and magnified God (Acts 10:46). The jailer's household "rejoiced greatly" (Acts 16:34). We do not even know that Lydia was married. Her household may have been merely her employees in her business. Thus the NT presents no exceptions.

III. Present Obligation.-The Baptists make one more point concerning baptism. It is that, since Jesus himself submitted to it and enjoined it upon His disciples, the ordinance is of perpetual obligation. The

童施洗) 还是成人, 在洗礼之前应当归信。洗礼是已经发生的转变的记号。浸信会教徒所表达的洗礼观点非常明确, 有一些人曲解了这种美好的仪式, 认为洗礼是得救赎的方式或未悔改便受洗, 从而使洗礼成为毫无意义的仪式, 对此浸信会教徒一直表示反对。洗礼是属灵生命的传道士。浸信会将神国的地位摆在教会之前, 旨在建立一个重生的教会。首先要成为神国中的子民, 然后才能成为教会的成员。

从《新约》中引用的两段经文证明婴儿洗礼的经文完全不切题, 一段是《使徒行传》2:39, 这段经文完全没有提及婴儿洗礼的概念, 另一段是《哥林多前书》7:14, 这段经文论述的是虽然夫妻一方是异教徒, 但婚姻关系是圣洁的, 子女也是圣洁的。如果认为《使徒行传》中众多家庭在受洗时婴儿也在场, 那么就回避了问题的实质。哥尼流全家受洗时, 他们都说方言, 称赞神为大(徒 10:46)。狱卒的全家在受洗后“都很喜乐”(徒 16:34)。我们甚至不知道吕底亚是否已经结婚。她一家指的可能仅仅是她雇来做买卖的人。因此, 《新约》中没有给出洗礼的例外情况。

III. 现在的义务。浸信会还有一个关于洗礼的观点, 即, 既然耶稣受过洗, 也命令门徒施洗, 那么这个仪式应该是永久的义务。《马太福音》28:19 是后期教会添加上去的这一观点并不令人信服。 arguments for the late ecclesiastical origin of Mt. 28:19 are not convincing. If it seem strange that Jesus should mention the three persons of the trinity in connection with the command to baptize, one should remember that the Father and the Spirit were both manifested to Him at His baptism. It was not a mere ceremonial ablution like the Jewish rites. It was the public and formal avowal of fealty to God, and the names of the trinity properly occur. The new heart is wrought by the Holy Spirit. Reconciliation with the Father is wrought on the basis of the work of the Son, who has manifested the Father's love in His life and death for sin. The fact that in Acts in the examples of baptism only the name of Jesus occurs does not show that this was the exact formula used. It may be a mere historical summary of the essential fact. The name of Jesus stood for the other two persons of the trinity. On the other hand the command of Jesus may not have been regarded as a formula for baptism; while in no sense sacramental or redemptive, it is yet obligatory and of perpetual significance. It is not to be dropped as one of the Jewish excrescences on Christianity. The form itself is necessary to the significance of the rite.

Hence Baptists hold that immersion alone is to be practiced, since immersion alone was commanded by Jesus and practiced in NT times. Immersion alone sets forth the death to sin, burial in the grave, and the resurrection to new life in Christ. Baptism as taught in the NT is "a mold of doctrine," a preacher of the heart of the gospel. Baptists deny the right of disciples of Jesus to break that mold. The point of a symbol is the form in which it is cast. To change the form radically is to destroy the symbolism. Baptists insist on the maintenance of primitive NT baptism because it alone is baptism, it alone proclaims the death and resurrection of Jesus, the spiritual death and resurrection of the believer, the ultimate resurrection of the believer from the grave. The disciple is not above his Lord, and has no right to destroy this rich and powerful picture for the sake of personal convenience, nor because he is willing to do something else which Jesus did not enjoin and which has no association with Him. The long years of perversion do not justify this wrong to the memory of Jesus, but all the more call upon modern disciples to follow the example of Jesus who himself fulfilled righteousness by going into the waters of the Jordan and receiving immersion at the hands of John the Baptist.

因此,浸信会认为信徒只应行浸礼,因为只有浸礼是耶稣所命令的,并且是在新约时期执行的洗礼。只有浸礼表明向罪死了,埋在墓中,又在基督里复活,得了新生。正如《新约》中所教导的,洗礼是“一种教义的模式”,是福音中的核心教导。浸信会认为耶稣的门徒无权打破这个模式。一个记号的重点在于它所采用的形式。彻底改变形式就破坏了这个记号的意义。浸信会坚持保留原始的新约洗礼,因为只有它才能被称作洗礼,也只有它表明了耶稣的死和复活、信徒的属灵死亡和复活以及信徒最

终从墓中复活。门徒不能高于他的主，无权为了个人利益而破坏这个丰富生动的场景，也不能为了个人意愿就去做耶稣不曾命令的且与祂无关的事。多年的曲解不能证明这段关于耶稣的错误记忆是正确的，这更加号召现在的信徒效仿耶稣，藉着在约旦河中受了施洗约翰的洗而称义。

Baptism has been from the earliest times the initiatory rite signifying the recognition of entrance into or of presence within the Christian Church. We find the earliest mention of the ceremony in Galatians (3:27), written about twenty years after the death of Jesus. There and in 1 Corinthians (1:13; 12:13) Paul takes for granted that everyone who becomes a Christian (himself included) must be baptized. The rite seems also to have existed among the discipleship of Jesus

洗礼从最早时期开始就一直是一种入会仪式,代表着受洗的人承认加入基督教会,或参与基督教会活动。《加拉太书》3:27中提到了洗礼,这卷书大约写于耶稣受难后二十年。在这段经文以及《哥林多前书》1:13和12:13中,保罗认为每个基督徒(包括他自己)都应受洗。耶稣受难前作门徒的时候,似乎也存在这种仪式。我们从经文(约4:1-2)中得知,虽然耶稣不亲自施洗,但祂的门徒给人施洗,受他们洗的人比受约翰洗的人还多。 before His death. We are told (Jn. 4:1f.) that, although Jesus Himself did not baptize, His disciples did, and that their baptisms were more numerous than those of John.

I. Scriptural Names for the Rite.-The words commonly used in the NT to denote the rite are the verb baptízō, and the nouns báptisma and báptismós; but none is employed in this sense alone. The verb is used to denote the ceremonial purification of the Jews before eating, by pouring water on the hands (Lk. 11:38; Mk. 7:4); to signify the sufferings of Christ (Mk. 10:38f.; Lk. 12:50); and to indicate the sacrament of baptism. It is the intensive form of báptein, “to dip,” and takes a wider meaning. The passages Lk. 11:38 and Mk. 7:4 show conclusively that the word does not invariably signify to immerse the whole body. Some have held that baptismós invariably means ceremonial purification, and that báptisma is reserved for the Christian rite; but the distinction can hardly be maintained. The former certainly means ceremonial purification in Mk. 7:4, and in 7:8 (AV); but it probably means the rite of baptism in He. 6:2. Exegetes find other terms applied to Christian baptism. It is called ‘water’ in Acts 10:47 (“Can anyone forbid water for baptizing these people?”); the laver of the water in Eph. 5:26 (RV mg.) (where baptism is compared to the bridal bath taken by the bride before she was handed over to the bridegroom); and perhaps the laver of regeneration in Tit. 3:5 (RV mg.) (cf. 1 Cor. 6:11), and enlightenment in He. 6:4; 10:32.

II. Pre-Christian Baptism.-A. Baptism of Proselytes. Converts in the early centuries, whether Jews or Gentiles, could not have

I. 《圣经》中表示洗礼的词语。《新约》中经常用来表示洗礼的词是动词 baptízō 和名词 báptisma、báptismós；但这几个词都还有其他含义。动词 baptízō 用来表示犹太人饭前洗手的洁净仪式（路 11:38；可 7:4）；表示耶稣受难（可 10:38-39；路 12:50）；表示洗礼的圣礼。baptíz 是 báptein（“浸入”）的加强形式，有更广泛的含义。《路加福音》11:38 和《马可福音》7:4 表明这个词并不是始终表示全身浸入水中。一些学者认为 baptismós 总是指洁净仪式，而 báptisma 则指的是基督教的洗礼；但二者的区别并不明显。前者显然指的是《马可福音》7:4 和 7:8（《钦定版圣经》）中的洁净仪式；但也可能指的是《希伯来书》6:2 中的洗礼仪式。释经者还发现了用于表示基督教洗礼的其他词汇。在《使徒行传》10:47 中，洗礼被称为“水”（“谁能禁止用水给他们施洗呢？”）；在《以弗所书》5:26（《修订译本》旁注）中被称为水盆（在这段旁注中，作者将洗礼与交给新郎之前的新娘的沐浴进行对比）；可能在《提多书》3:5（《修订译本》旁注）、《希伯来书》6:4 和 10:36 的教训中被称为重生盆（参：林前 6:11）。

II. 基督教之前的洗礼。A. 归信洗礼。在早期的几个世纪里，无论是犹太归信者还是外邦归信者，都不会对这种入教

found this initiatory rite, in which they expressed their newborn faith, utterly unfamiliar. Water is the element naturally used for cleansing the body and its symbolical use entered into almost every cult, and into none more completely than the Jewish, whose ceremonial washings were proverbial. Besides those, the Jew had what would seem to the convert a counterpart of the Christian rite in the baptism of proselytes, by which Gentiles entered the circle of Judaism. For the Jews required three things of strangers who declared themselves to be converts to the law of Moses: circumcision (men only), baptism, and to offer sacrifice. It is somewhat singular that no baptism of proselytes is forthcoming until about the beginning of the 3rd cent.; and yet no competent scholar doubts its existence. Schürer (HJP) has contempt for those who insist on the argument from silence. The presence of this rite enables us both to see how Jews accepted readily the baptism of John and to understand the point of objectors who questioned his right to insist that all the Jews had to be purified before they could be ready for the messianic kingdom, although he was neither the Messiah nor a special prophet (Jn. 1:19–23).

B. Baptism of John. The baptism of John stood midway between the Jewish baptism of proselytes and Christian baptism. It differed from the former because it was more than a symbol of ceremonial purification; it was a baptism of repentance, a confession of sin and of the need of moral cleansing, and was a symbol of forgiveness and of moral purity. All men, Jews who were ceremonially pure and Gentiles who were not, had to submit to this baptism of repentance and pardon. It differed from the latter because it only symbolized preparation to receive the salvation, the kingdom of God which John heralded, and did not imply entrance into that kingdom itself. Those who had received it, as well as those who had not, had to enter the Christian community by the door of Christian baptism (Acts 19:3-6). The Jewish custom of baptizing, whether displayed in their frequent ceremonial washings, in the baptism of proselytes, or in the baptism of John, made Christian baptism a familiar and even expected rite to Jewish converts in the 1st century.

仪式感到完全陌生，他们在仪式上表达重生的信心。水自然是用于洁净身体的要素，几乎每个宗教都使用了水的象征意义，但水在犹太教中的应用最为全面，他们的洁净仪式是众所周知的。除了这些洁净仪式，犹太人似乎有一种与基督教的入会洗礼仪式类似的仪式，外邦人通过这种仪式成为犹太教中的一员。犹太人要求宣称归信摩西律法的外邦人做三件事：受割礼（仅男人）、受洗和献上祭物。略显异常的是，直到公元3世纪初期才出现入会洗礼；然而，优秀的学者们并不怀疑洗礼的存在。舒勒尔（HJP）轻视那些坚持默证的人。这个仪式的存在有助于我们理解犹太人是如何欣然接受约翰的洗礼的，也有助于我们理解反对者的观点，他们质问约翰，既然他不是弥赛亚也不是特殊的先知，那么他有什么权柄认为犹太人必须先接受洗礼才能准备好进入弥赛亚的国度（约 1:19-23）。

B. 约翰的洗礼。 约翰的洗礼介于犹太教归信洗礼和基督教的洗礼之间。它与犹太教归信洗礼不同，因为它不仅仅是一种洁净仪式的象征；它是悔改的洗礼，是认罪悔改，并承认需要“道德”上的洁净，是宽恕和道德洁净的象征。无论是经过仪式变得洁净的犹太人，还是不洁净的外邦人，都应接受这悔改和赦罪的洗礼。约翰的洗礼与基督教的洗礼不同，因为它象征着受洗的人准备好接受救赎和约翰所预示的神国，而不代表他们进入了神的国。那些接受和没接

C. Baptism in the Pagan Mysteries. Baptism, as an initiatory rite, was no less familiar to gentile converts who had no acquaintance with the Jewish religion. The ceremonial washings of the priests of pagan religions have been often adduced as something that might familiarize gentile converts with the rite that introduced them into the Christian community, but they were not initiations. A more exact parallel is easily found. It is often forgotten that in the earlier centuries when Christianity was slowly making its way in the pagan world, pagan piety had deserted the official religions and taken refuge within the mysteries, and that these mystery religions represented the popular pagan religions of the times. They were all private cults into which men and women were received one by one, by rites of initiation that each had to pass through personally. When admitted the converts became members of coteries, large or small, of like-minded persons, who had become initiated because their souls craved something they believed they would receive in and through the rites of the cult. These initiations were secret, jealously guarded from the knowledge of all outsiders; still enough is known about them for us to be sure that among them baptism took an important place (Apuleius Metamorphoses xi). The rite of baptism was therefore as familiar to pagan as to Jewish converts, and it was no unexpected requirement for the convert to know that baptism was the doorway into the Church of Christ. These heathen baptisms, like the baptism of proselytes, were for the most part simply ceremonial purifications; for while it is true that both in the cult of the mysteries and beyond it a mode of purifying after great crimes was baptizing in flowing water (Euripides Iphigenia in Tauri 167) or in the sea, yet it would appear that only ceremonial purification was thought of. Nor were ceremonial rites involving the use of water confined to the paganism of the early centuries. Such a ceremony denoted the reception of the newly born child into pagan Scandinavian households. The father decided whether the infant was to be reared or exposed to perish. If he resolved to preserve the babe, water was poured over it and a name was given to it.

受约翰洗礼的人都必须接受基督教的洗礼，才能成为基督徒（徒 19:3-6）。犹太教洗礼的风俗，无论是经常举行的洁净仪式和归信洗礼，还是约翰的洗礼，都使公元 1 世纪的犹太教归信者熟悉，甚至期盼基督教的洗礼。

C. 异端秘密宗教的洗礼。 不了解犹太教的外邦人同样熟悉入会议洗礼。异教祭司的洁净仪式通常被认为与外邦归信者所熟悉的基督徒入教仪式很相似，但这些洁净仪式并不是入会仪式。很容易发现更为相似的仪式。人们经常忘记在较早的几个世纪里，当基督教在异端世界缓慢传播时，虔诚的异教徒背离了官方宗教，在秘密的宗教仪式中寻求庇护，这些神秘的宗教代表了当时普遍存在的异教。它们都是秘密的宗教，人们通过一传一的方式加入该宗教，每个入教者都必须亲自参加入教仪式。当入教信徒得到认可后，就加入了这个由志同道合之人组成的大圈子或小圈子，这些已经入教的人相信在入教仪式中和藉着入教仪式他们可以得到灵魂渴望之物。这些入教仪式是秘密举行的，他们提防着局外人，以免被他们知晓；然而所流传出的信息足以让我们肯定，洗礼在这些宗教中占据着很重要的地位（Apuleius Metamorphoses xi）。因此，异教徒和犹太归信者对洗礼仪式同样熟悉，归信者一定知道洗礼是加入基督教会的途径。这些异教的洗礼和归信洗礼一样，多半只是简单的洁净仪式；因为虽然在秘密宗教或其他宗教中，信徒犯了罪之后确实会在活水（Euripides

III. Christian Baptism.-A. Administration of the Rite. In the administration of the rite of Christian baptism three things have to be looked at: the act of baptizing; those who are entitled to perform it; and the recipients or those entitled to receive it. A complete act of baptizing involves three things: the material of the sacrament; the method of its use; and the form of the sacrament, the baptismal formula or form of words accompanying the use of the water. The material of the sacrament is water, and for this reason baptism is called the water sacrament. The oldest Christian ecclesiastical manual of discipline that has descended to us, the Didache, says that the water to be preferred is “living,” i.e., running water, water in a stream or river, or fresh flowing from a fountain. “And if thou hast not living water, baptize in other water; and if thou canst not in cold, then in warm” (ch. 7). In those directions the prescriptions of the ceremonial for the Jewish baptism of proselytes are closely followed. The earlier canons of the Church permit any kind of water, fresh or salt, provided only it be true and natural water (aqua vera et naturalis).

III. 基督教的洗礼。A. 仪式的举行。 关于基督教洗礼仪式的举行, 以下三点值得注意; 施洗的行为; 有权施洗的人; 有权受洗的人。完整的施洗行为包括三点: 施洗的工具; 使用施洗工具的方法; 施洗的形式或用水施洗时说话的形式。施洗的工具是水, 因此洗礼被称为水的圣礼。流传下来的最古老的基督教会会规手册是《十二使徒遗训》, 手册中记载道, 施洗时最好使用“活水”, 即流动的水, 溪流或河流中的水, 或泉中刚流出的水。“但如没有活水, 也可以用别的水施洗, 若是不能用冷水, 热水也可以”(第七章)。犹太教的入会洗礼严格遵循了这些教训中的规定。较早的教

B. Mode. The use of the water is called ablution. According to the rules of by far the largest portion of the Christian Church the water may be used in any one of three ways: immersion, where the recipient enters bodily into the water, and where, during the action, the head is plunged either once or three times beneath the surface; affusion, where water is poured upon the head of the recipient who stands either in water or on dry ground; and aspersion, where water is sprinkled on the head or on the face.

1. Immersion. It has frequently been argued that the word baptizein invariably means “to dip” or “immerse,” and that therefore Christian baptism must have been performed originally by immersion only, and that the two other forms, affusion and aspersion, are invalid—that there can be no real baptism unless the method of immersion be used. But the word that invariably means “to dip” is not baptizein but báptein; baptizein has a wider signification; and its use to denote the Jewish ceremonial of pouring water on the hands (Lk. 11:38; Mk. 7:4), as has already been said, shows that it is impossible to conclude from the word 会正典允许使用各种水施洗, 无论淡水还是咸水, 只要是真正的天然水即可 (aqua vera et naturalis).

B. 洗礼的形式。用水洁净被称为洗礼。根据目前提到的规则来看, 大多数基督教教会都会采取三种洗礼形式中的任意一种: 一是浸礼, 受洗者全身浸入水中, 受洗时, 头要一次或三次浸入水下; 二是注水礼, 受洗的人站在水中或地上, 施洗的人将水倒在他的头上; 三是点水礼, 施洗的人将水洒在受洗人的头或脸上。

1、浸礼。人们经常争论说 baptizein 一直有“浸入”或“沉浸”的含义, 因此基督教的洗礼最初一定只是浸礼, 而其他两种形式, 即注水礼和点水礼, 是不被认可的, 只有浸礼才是真正的洗礼。但始终表示“浸入”这一含义的词不是 baptizein 而是 báptein; baptizein 的含义更广泛; 正如前文所说, baptizein 还可以指犹太教将水倒在手上的洁净仪式 (路 11:38; 可 7:4), 因此我们不能仅从一个词就断定浸礼是唯一被认可的洗礼方式。与此同时, 必须要承认的是, 在举行浸礼时, 全身 (包括头) 都浸入到一池清水中, 更加形象地体现了人的灵魂得到洁净, 脱离了罪; 完全浸入水中更符合《罗马书》6:4 和《歌罗西书》 itself that immersion is the only valid method of performing the rite. It may be admitted at once that immersion, where the whole body including the head is plunged into a pool of pure water, gives a more vivid picture of the cleansing of the soul from sin; and that complete surrounding with water suits better the metaphors of burial in Rom. 6:4 and Col. 2:12, and of being surrounded by cloud in 1 Cor. 10:2.

2. Affusion. On the other hand affusion is certainly a more vivid picture of the bestowal of the Holy Spirit, which is equally symbolized in baptism. No definite information is given of the mode in which baptism was administered in apostolic times. Such phrases as “And when he came up out of the water,” “went down into the water” (Mk. 1:10; Acts 8:38), are as applicable to affusion as to immersion. The earliest account of the mode of baptizing occurs in the Didache (ch. 7), where it is said: “Now concerning baptism, baptize thus: Having first taught all these things, baptize ye into the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, in living water. And if thou hast not living water, baptize into other water; and if thou canst not in cold, then in warm. But if thou has neither, pour water thrice upon the head in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.” This seems to say that to baptize by immersion was the practice recommended for general use, but that the mode of affusion was also valid and enjoined on occasions.

What is here prescribed in the Didache seems to have been the practice usually followed in the early centuries of the Christian Church. Immersion was in common use; but affusion was also widely practiced, and both were esteemed usual and valid forms of baptizing. When immersion was used the head of the recipient was plunged thrice beneath the surface at the mention of each name of the trinity; when the mode was by affusion the same reference to the trinity was kept by pouring water thrice upon the head. The two usages that were recognized and prescribed by the beginning of the 2nd cent. may have been in use throughout the apostolic period, although definite information is lacking.

2:12 中埋葬的隐喻,以及《哥林多前书》10:2 中被云包围的隐喻。

2、注水礼。从另一个方面说,注水礼更能形象地描绘圣灵的赏赐,这也是洗礼的一个象征。尚没有关于使徒时期洗礼形式的确切信息。“他从水里一上来”“下水里去”(可 1:10; 徒 8:38)这类短语既适用于描述注水礼也适用于描述浸礼。关于洗礼形式的最早记载出现在《十二使徒遗训》第 7 章中,该章中写道:“论到洗礼,当这样做:先将以上所说的一切事学习过了,然后到活水里奉圣父圣子圣灵的名施行洗礼;但如没有活水,也可以用别的水施洗,若是不能用冷水,热水也可以。若是凉水 and 温水都没有,就可以三次用水注在头上,奉圣父圣子圣灵的名去做。”这似乎表明,通常情况下应采取浸礼,但注水礼也是被认可的,有时也可施注水礼。

在早期的几个世纪里,基督教会似乎一直遵循《十二使徒遗训》中关于洗礼的教导。教会通常采用浸礼;但也经常使用注水礼,这两种形式都被认为是常见

When we remember the various pools in Jerusalem, and their use for ceremonial washings, it is not impossible to suppose that the three thousand who were baptized on the day of Pentecost may have been immersed; but when the furnishing and conditions of Palestinian houses and of oriental jails are taken into account, it is difficult to conceive that at the baptisms of Cornelius and of the jailer the ceremony was performed otherwise than by affusion.

It is a somewhat curious fact that if the evidence from written texts, whether ancient canons or writings of the earlier fathers, be studied by themselves, the natural conclusion would seem to be that immersion was the almost universal form of administering the rite; but if the witness of the earliest pictorial representations be collected, then we must infer that affusion was the usual method and that immersion was exceptional; for the pictorial representations, almost without exception, display baptism performed by affusion, i.e., the recipient is seen standing in water while the minister pours water on the head. It may therefore be inferred that evidence for the almost universal practice of immersion, drawn from the fact that baptisms took place in river pools (it is more than probable that where we find the names of local saints given to pools in rivers, those places were their favorite places of administering the rite), or from the large size of almost all early medieval baptisteries, is by no means so conclusive as many have supposed, such places being equally applicable to affusion.

而有效的洗礼形式。举行浸礼时，提到三位一体的神的每个名字时，受洗人的头都要浸入水下，总共三次；而举行注水礼时，提到三位一体的神的每个名字时，施洗人会将水注在受洗人的头上，总共也是三次。虽然尚缺乏关于这两种洗礼的确切信息，但在整个使徒时期可能一直采用这两种在 2 世纪初期就被认可和指定的洗礼形式。

我们知道耶路撒冷有许多水池并用于举行洁净仪式，不难想在五旬节当天有可能让三千人受浸礼；但当我们考虑到巴勒斯坦房子和东方监狱的布置和环境时，很难认为哥尼流和狱卒接受的是注水礼之外的其他洗礼方式。

奇怪的是，如果研究文献，无论是古时的正典还是早期教父的作品，似乎会很自然地得出一种结论，即，浸礼几乎是普遍采取的洗礼形式；但如果收集最早的绘画作品证据，我们必然会从中推断出注水礼才是常用的洗礼方式，而浸礼是特例；因为绘画作品几乎无一例外地展现了注水礼的洗礼形式，即，受洗的人站在水中，牧师将水倒在他的头上。因此，根据在河池中举行洗礼的事实（以当地的圣徒来命名的河池很有可能就是他们最喜欢用来举行洗礼仪式的地方），或根据中世纪早期的一些大尺寸洗礼堂，可以推测出，浸礼几乎是通用的洗礼形式，尽管这种推断的证据并不像很多人想的那样确凿，但这些地方同样可举行注水礼。

It is also interesting to remember that when most of the Anabaptists of the 16th cent. insisted on baptism upon confession of faith, immersion was not the method practiced by them. During the great baptismal scene in the marketplace of the city of Münster the ordinance was performed by the ministers pouring three cans of water on the heads of the recipients. They baptized by affusion and not by immersion. This was also the practice among the Mennonites or earliest Baptists. This double mode of administering the sacrament—by immersion or by affusion—prevailed in the churches of the first twelve centuries, and it was not until the 13th that the practice of aspersion or sprinkling was almost universally employed.

3. Aspersion. The third method of administering baptism, by aspersion or sprinkling, has a different history from the other two. It was in the early centuries exclusively reserved for sick and infirm persons too weak to be submitted to immersion or affusion. There is evidence to show that those who received the rite in this form were somewhat despised; for the nicknames clinici and grabatorii were (unworthily, Cyprian declares) bestowed on them by neighbors. The question was even raised in the middle of the 3rd cent.

值得注意的还有，当 16 世纪的大多数再洗派坚持因信悔改受洗时，他们所使用的洗礼形式并不是浸礼。在明斯特市场上的著名洗礼场景中，牧师将三罐水注在受洗人的头上。他们受的是注水礼，而不是浸礼。门诺会和最早的浸信会信徒也采用注水礼。在主后的前 12 个世纪里，教会普遍采用这两种洗礼形式（浸礼和注水礼），直到 13 世纪，教会才普遍采用点水礼或洒水礼。

3、点水礼。第三种洗礼方式是点水礼或洒水礼，这种洗礼方式的历史与其他两种方式不同。在早期的几个世纪里，仅有太过虚弱无法承受浸礼或注水礼的病人和体弱者才能接受点水礼。有证据表明，接受点水礼的人有些受人轻视；因为邻居们给他们起外号，称他们为 clinici 和 grabatorii（居普良称这是一种蔑称）。在 3 世纪中期，甚至出现了点水礼是否有效的问题，居普良在他第 75 封书信中就这个问题做出了回答（在哈特尔的版本中是第 69 封信）。他在信中称这种仪式完全有效，并引用了 whether baptism by aspersion was a valid baptism, and Cyprian was asked for his opinion on the matter. His answer is contained in his 75th epistle (69 in Hartel's ed.). There he contends that the ordinance administered this way is perfectly valid, and quotes in support of his opinion various OT texts that assert the purifying effects of water sprinkled (Ezk. 36:25f.; Nu. 8:5-7; 19:8f., 12f.). It is not the amount of the water or the method of its application that can cleanse from sin: "Whence it appears that the sprinkling also of water prevails equally with the washing of salvation ... and that where the faith of the giver and receiver is sound, all things hold and may be consummated and perfected by the majesty of God and by the truth of faith." His opinion prevailed. Aspersion was recognized as a valid, though exceptional, form of baptism. But it was long in commending itself to ministers and people, and did not attain to almost general use until the 13th century.

The idea that baptism is valid only when practiced in the one method of immersion can scarcely be looked on as anything else than a ritualistic idea.

C. Who May Perform Baptism. The Scripture nowhere describes or limits the qualifications of those who are entitled to perform the rite of baptism. We find apostles, wandering preachers (Acts 8:38), a private member of a small and persecuted community (Acts 9:18) performing the rite. In the subapostolic Church we find the same liberty of practice. Clement of Alexandria tells us that the services of Christian women were necessary for the work of Christian missions, for they alone could have access

大量《旧约》经文来支持他的观点, 这些经文都表明洒水有洁净的效果 (结 36:25-26; 民 8:5-7; 19:8-9, 12:13)。洁净罪的不是水的数量, 也不是用水的方式: “经文中出现洒水的时候, 它所代表的含义和救赎的洗净相同……施洗者和受洗者都要有坚实的信心, 神的至高权柄和信心的真理掌控着一切, 并使之得圆满和完全”。他的观点被普遍接受。虽然点水礼属于特殊的洗礼形式, 但它也被视为有效的洗礼形式。但牧师和信徒在很久之后才接受了点水礼, 直到 13 世纪, 这种洗礼形式才被普遍使用。

认为浸礼是唯一有效的洗礼的观点是一种拘泥于仪式的观点。

C. 施洗的人。《圣经》中没有对施洗人资格的描述或限制。使徒、旅行的传道士 (徒 8:38)、受迫害的小型会众中的普通成员 (徒 9:18) 都可以给人施洗。在使徒后期的教会中, 施洗人也不受限制。亚历山太的革利免告诉我们, 女基督徒的侍奉对于基督教的传教来说是必不可少的, 因为只有她们可以进入女眷的内室 (gynaecium) 并带去福音 (Misc. iii.6)。这类女传教士也可以施洗。无论《保罗和特克拉行传》的可信度如何, 它至少有些内容是符合事实的, 如特克拉确实存在, 她因保罗归信, to the gynaeceum and carry the message of the gospel there (Misc. iii.6). Such women missionaries did not hesitate to baptize. Whatever credit may be given to the Acts of Paul and Thecla, it is at least historical that Thecla did exist, that she was converted by Paul, that she worked as a missionary, and that she baptized her converts.

Speaking generally, as participation in a sacrament has always been looked upon as the recognition of one's presence within the Christian Church, it is an act of the Church and not of the individual believer; therefore no one is entitled to perform the act who is not in some way a representative of the Christian community—the representative character ought to be maintained somehow. As soon as the community had taken regular and organized form the act of baptism was suitably performed by those who, as office-bearers, naturally represented the community. It was recognized that the pastor or bishop (for these terms were synonymous until the 4th cent. at least) ought to preside at the administration of the sacrament; but in the early Church the power of delegation was recognized and practiced, and elders and deacons presided at this and even at the eucharist. What has been called lay baptism is not forbidden in the NT and has the sanction of the early Church. When superstitious views of baptism entered largely into the Church and it was held that no unbaptized child could be saved, the practice arose of encouraging the baptism of all weakling infants by nurses. The Reformed Church protested against this and was at pains to repudiate the superstitious thought of any mechanical efficacy in the rite by deprecating its exercise by any save approved and ordained ministers of the Church. Still, while they condemned lay baptism as irregular, it may be questioned whether they would assert any administration of the rite to be invalid, provided only it had been performed with devout faith on the part of giver and receiver.

D. Who May Receive Baptism. The recipients of Christian baptism are all those who make a presumably sincere profession of repentance of sin and of faith in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior, together with the children of such believing parents. The requirements are set forth in the accounts given us of the performance of the rite in the NT, in which we see how the apostles obeyed the commands of their Master. Jesus had ordered them to “make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit” (Mt. 28:19)—to “preach the gospel to the whole creation. He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned” (Mk. 16:15f.). The apostle Peter said to the inquirers on the day of Pentecost, “Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins; and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit” (Acts 2:38); and three thousand were added to the Church through the initiatory rite of baptism. The Samaritans, who believed on Jesus through the preaching of Philip, were admitted to the Christian community through baptism; though in this case one of the baptized, Simon Magus, after his reception, was found to be still in “the bond of iniquity” (Acts 8:12, 23).

D. 受洗的人。基督教洗礼的受洗人是那些真诚地宣称悔罪并信靠救世主耶稣基督的人,还包括父母是基督徒的孩童。我们可以在《新约》关于洗礼仪式的描述中得出受洗的要求,我们从经文中可以看出使徒是如何遵循主的命令给人施洗的。耶稣命他们“使万民作我的门徒,奉父、子、圣灵的名给他们施洗”(太 28:19);“传福音给万民听。信而受洗的必然得救,不信的必被定罪”(可 16:15-16)。使徒彼得对五旬节上向他询问的人说:“你们各人要悔改,奉耶稣基督的名受洗,叫你们的罪得赦,就必须领受所赐的圣灵”(徒 2:38);三千人通过洗礼加入了基督教。因腓利传道而信耶稣的撒玛利亚人通过受洗得到基督教会众的认可;虽然如此,但有一个名叫西门·马库斯的人受了洗之后,仍“被罪恶捆绑”(徒 8:12, 23)。 her household, were baptized at Philippi by Paul on his and her profession of faith in Jesus. There is no evidence in any of the accounts we have of apostolic baptisms that any prolonged course of instruction was thought to be necessary; nothing of classes for catechumens such as we find in the early Church by the close of the 2nd cent., or in modern missionary enterprise. We find no mention of baptismal creeds, declarative or interrogative, in the NT accounts of baptisms. The profession of faith in the Lord Jesus, the Savior, made by the head of the family appears, so far as the NT records afford us information, to have been sufficient to secure the baptism of the “household”—a word which in those days included both servants and children.

1. Baptism of Infants. This brings us to the much debated question whether infants are to be recognized as lawful recipients of Christian baptism. The NT Scriptures do not in so many words either forbid or command the baptism of children. The question is in this respect equivalent to the change of the holy day from the seventh to the first day of the week. No positive command authorizes the universal usage with regard to the Christian sabbath day; that the change is authorized must be settled by a weighing of evidence. So it is with the case of infant baptism. It is neither commanded nor forbidden in so many words; and the question cannot be decided on such a basis. The strongest argument against the baptizing of infants lies in the thought that the conditions of the rite are repentance and faith; that these must be exercised by individuals, each one for himself and for herself; and that infants are incapable either of repentance or of faith of this kind. The argument seems weak in its second statement; it is more dogmatic than historical, and will be referred to later when the doctrine lying at the basis of the rite is examined.

1、婴儿的洗礼。是否可以将婴儿视为基督教洗礼的合法受洗人,这个问题引起了很大争议。《新约》中没有直接禁止或要求孩童受洗。这个问题就相当于圣日从每周的第七天变成了第一天。没有哪个确切的诫命要求人们要普遍守基督教的安息日;这种改变必须经过大量证据验证才能得到认可。婴儿的洗礼也是如此。这种做法既没被明确认可,也没被明确阻止;不能基于这种原则来决定这个问题。反对婴儿受洗的最有力的论据是,悔改和信心是洗礼的先决条件;无论男女,每个人都要因悔改和信心受洗;而婴儿既不能悔改,也没有任何形式的信心。反对婴儿受洗的第二论据似乎不太具有说服力;与其说这是一种历史的观点,不如说这是一种教条的观点,在后面当我们讨论洗礼仪式所依据的教义时,会提到这种观点。

On the other hand a great deal of evidence supports the view that the baptism of infants, if not commanded, was at least permitted and practiced within the apostolic Church. Paul connects baptism with circumcision and implies that under the gospel the former takes the place of the latter (Col. 2:12); and as children were circumcised on the eighth day after birth, the inference follows naturally that children were also to be baptized. In the OT, promises to parents included their children. In his sermon on Pentecost Peter declares to his hearers that the gospel promise is “to you and to your children” and connects this with the invitation to baptism (Acts 2:38f.). It is also noteworthy that children shared in the Jewish baptism of proselytes. Then we find in the NT narratives of baptisms that “households” were baptized—of Lydia (Acts 16:15), of the jailer at Philippi (16:32), of Stephanas (1 Cor. 1:16). It is never said that the children of the household were exempted from the sacred rite. One has only to remember the position of the head of the household in that ancient world, to recollect how the household was thought to be embodied in its head, to see how the repentance and faith of the head of the household was looked upon as including that of all the members, not merely children but servants, to feel that had the children been excluded from sharing in the rite the exclusion would have seemed such an unusual thing that it would have at least been mentioned and explained. Our Lord expressly made very young children the types of those who entered into His kingdom (Mk. 10:14–16); and Paul so unites parents with children in the faith of Christ that he does not hesitate to call the children of the believing husband or wife “holy,” and to imply that the children had passed from a state of “uncleanness” to a state of “holiness” through the faith of a parent. All these things seem to indicate that the rite that was the door of entrance into the visible community of the followers of Jesus was shared in by the children of believing parents.

从另一方面来说,有大量证据表明即使没有婴儿受洗的诫命,但这种仪式至少也是被允许的,而且使徒时期的教会中也确实存在这种仪式。保罗将洗礼和割礼联系在一起,而且在福音中暗示了洗礼取代了割礼(西 2:12);由于婴儿在出生后第八日受割礼,所以他们自然也应该受洗。在《旧约》中,神对孩子父母的应许囊括了他们的儿女。彼得在五旬节上讲道时对听众宣称,福音的“应许是给你们和你们的儿女”,并将这应许与受洗联系在了一起(徒 2:38-39)。还应值得注意的是,孩子也可以接受犹太教的归信洗礼。而且《新约》中提到了“全家”受洗——吕底亚和她一家都受了洗(徒 16:15),腓立比的狱卒和他全家都受了洗(徒 16:32),司提反和全家也都受了洗(林前 1:16)。经文中从未提到家中的孩子不能接受洗礼。人们应当知道,在古时家主被视为全家的代表,家主悔改并归信就意味着全家都悔改并归信了,这里所说的全家是指家中的所有成员,不仅包括孩子,还包括奴仆,如果受洗的人中不包括孩子,那么应该是很不同寻常的一件事,经文中至少应该提到这件事并做出解释。我们的主显然表明小孩子也可以进入天国(可 10:14-16);保罗将父母和孩子在信靠基督上联系在一起,因此他将父母一方是信徒的子女称为“圣洁的”,这意味着他们因父母的信而从“不洁净”的状态转变为“圣洁”的状态。这些例子似乎都表明基督徒的孩子可以通过洗礼成为耶稣在地上的门徒。

Moreover, evidence for the baptism of children goes back to the earliest times of the subapostolic Church. Irenaeus was the disciple of Polycarp, who had been the disciple of John, and it is difficult to draw any other conclusion from his statements than that he believed that the baptism of infants had been an established practice in the Church long before his days (Adv. haer. ii.22; cf. 1.39). The witness of Tertullian is specially interesting; for he himself plainly thinks that adult baptism is to be preferred to the baptism of infants. He makes it plain that the custom of baptizing infants existed in his days, and we may be sure from the character and the learning of the man that had he been able to affirm that infant baptism had been a recent innovation and had not been a long-established usage descending from apostolic times, he would certainly have had no hesitation in using what would have seemed to him a very convincing way of dealing with his opponents. Tertullian’s testimony comes from the end of the 2nd cent. or the beginning of the 3rd. Origen, the most learned Christian writer during the first three centuries and who comes a little later than Tertullian, in his 14th Homily on Luke bears witness to the usualness of the baptism of infants when he argues that original sin belongs to children because the Church baptizes them.

At the same time it is plain from a variety of evidence too long to cite that the baptism of infants was not a universal practice in the early Church. The Church of the early centuries was a mission Church. It drew large numbers of its members from heathendom. In every mission Church the baptism of adults will naturally take the foremost place and be most in evidence. But it is clear that many Christians were of the opinion of Tertullian and believed that baptism ought not to be administered to children but should be confined to adults. Nor was this a theory only; it was a continuous practice handed down from one generation to another in some Christian families. In the 4th cent. few Christian leaders took a more important place than Basil the Great and his brother Gregory of Nyssa. They belonged to a family who had been Christians for some generations; yet neither of the brothers was baptized until after his personal conversion, which does not appear to have come until they had attained the years of manhood.

The whole evidence seems to show that in the early Church, down to the end of the 4th cent. at least, infant and adult baptism were open questions and that the two practices existed side by side without disturbing the unity of the churches. In the later Pelagian controversy it became evident that the theory and practice of infant baptism had been able to assert itself and that the ordinance was always administered to children of members of the Church.

同时,大量证据表明婴儿洗礼在早期教会中不是一种常见的仪式,因证据太长,在此不作引述。主后前几个世纪的教会是宣道的教会。当时的教会从异教中吸收过来大量归信者。在每个宣道教会中,成人洗礼自然占据了首要地位,而且显然也是举行次数最多的。但显然有许多基督徒支持特土良的观点,认为孩子不应受洗,只有成人才应该受洗。这不仅仅是一种理论,也是一些基督家庭中代代相传的习俗。在4世纪,大巴西流和他的弟兄女撒的贵格利几乎是最重要的基督教领导人。他们家的多代人都是基督徒;但他们都是直到归信后才受洗,而且似乎是在成年后才受洗的。

所有证据似乎表明,至少在直到4世纪末的早期教会中,婴儿洗礼和成人洗礼是开放性的问题,这两种洗礼是并存的,没有影响教会的团结。在后期伯拉纠争论中,婴儿洗礼的理论和习俗显然已经得到了认可,教会经常给教会成员的孩子举行洗礼仪式。

2. Baptism for the Dead. Paul refers to a custom of “baptizing on behalf of the dead” (1 Cor. 15:29). What this “vicarious baptism” or “baptism for the dead” was it is impossible to say, even whether it was practiced within the primitive Christian Church. The passage is a very difficult one and has called forth a very large number of explanations, which are mere guesses. Paul neither commends it nor disapproves of it; he simply mentions its existence and uses the fact as an argument for the resurrection. See BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.

IV. Formula of Baptism. The formula of Christian baptism, in the mode that prevailed, is given in Mt. 28:19: “I baptize you in the name of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.” But it is curious that the words are not given in any description of Christian baptism until the time of Justin Martyr, and there they are not repeated exactly but in a slightly extended and explanatory form. He says that Christians “receive the washing with water in the name of God, the Ruler and Father of the universe, and of our Savior, Jesus Christ, and of the Holy Spirit” (Apol. i.61). In every account of the performance of the rite in apostolic times a much shorter formula is in use. The three thousand believers were baptized on the day of Pentecost “in the name of Jesus” (Acts 2:38); and the same formula was used at the baptism of Cornelius and those who were with him (10:48). Indeed it would appear to have been the usual one, from Paul’s question to the Corinthians: “Were you baptized into the name of Paul?” (1 Cor. 1:13). The Samaritans were baptized “in the name of the Lord Jesus” (Acts 8:16); and the same formula (a common one in acts of devotion) was used in the case of the disciples at Ephesus. In some instances it is recorded that before baptism the converts were asked to make some confession of their faith, which took the form of declaring that Jesus was the Lord or that Jesus Christ was the Son of God. It may be inferred from a phrase in 1 Pet. 3:21 that a formal interrogation was made, and that the answer was an acknowledgement that Jesus Christ was Lord.

2、死者的洗礼。保罗提及了一种“为死人受洗”的习俗(林前 15:29)。我们无从知晓“代人洗礼”或“死者的洗礼”究竟是什么,甚至无法知晓这是否是原始基督教会中的一种习俗。这段经文很难理解,虽然已经有大量的解释,但这些解释都仅仅是推测而已。保罗既不推崇这种行为,也不否定它;他仅仅提到存在这种行为,并将其当作论述复活的一个论点。见 BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD (死者的洗礼)。

IV. 洗礼的惯用语。《马太福音》28:19 给出了流行的洗礼惯用语:“奉父、子、圣灵的名给他们施洗”。但令人好奇的是,在殉道者游斯丁之前,没有任何关于基督教洗礼惯用语的描述,而且游斯丁也没有完全重复之前的话,只是对其稍微扩展并加以解释。他称基督徒“奉统治万有的父神、我们的救主耶稣基督和圣灵的名受洗”(Apol. i.61)。每段关于使徒时期洗礼的记载都使用了一个较短的惯用语。在五旬节那天,三千信徒“奉耶稣的名”受了洗(徒 2:38);哥尼流和与他一起的人也是“奉耶稣基督的名”受了洗(徒 10:48)。实际上,根据保罗问哥林多人的话“你们是奉保罗的名受了洗吗”(林前 1:13),这似乎是一个常见的惯用语。撒玛利亚人“奉主耶稣的名”受洗(徒 8:16);以弗所的门徒受洗时也采用了同样的惯用语(奉献时也常说相同的话)。根据一些经文的记载,归信者应在洗礼前承认他们的信心,他们通常宣称耶稣是主或耶稣基督是神的爱子。从《彼得前书》3:21 可以推断出,归信者会接受正式的询问,他们要回答说承认耶稣基督是主。

Scholars have exercised a great deal of ingenuity in trying to explain how, with what appear to be the very words of Jesus given in the Gospel of Matthew, another and much shorter formula seems to have been used throughout the apostolic Church. Some have imagined that the shorter formula was that used in baptizing disciples during the lifetime of Our Lord (Jn. 4:1f.), and that the apostles having become accustomed to it continued to use it during their lives. Others declare that the phrases “in the name of Jesus Christ” or “of the Lord Jesus” are not meant to give the formula of baptism, but simply to denote that the rite was Christian. Others think that the full formula was always used and that the narratives in Acts and in the Pauline Epistles are merely brief summaries of what took place—an idea rather difficult to believe in the absence of any single reference to the longer formula. Others, again, insist that baptism in the name of one of the persons of the trinity implies baptism in the name of the Three; while others declare that Matthew does not give the very words of Jesus but puts in His mouth what was the common formula used at the date and in the district where the First Gospel was written.

学者们发挥了极大的创造力, 试图根据《马太福音》中可能为耶稣所说的话语来解释整个使徒时期的教会使用的另一个更短的洗礼惯用语。一些学者认为, 我们的主在世期间, 用这个较短的惯用语给使徒施洗(约 4:1-2), 而使徒们也习惯采用这种洗礼方法, 继续在有生之年用这个惯用语给信徒施洗。其他学者称, “奉耶稣基督的名”或“奉主耶稣的名”并不是洗礼的惯用语, 而仅仅表明这是基督教的洗礼。还有学者认为洗礼时都使用完整的惯用语, 《使徒行传》和保罗书信中的记载仅仅是对所发生事件的简要概括——但经文中没有提到较长的洗礼惯用语, 因此这种观点也很难让人信服。还有的学者坚持认为, 奉三一真神之名施洗, 就意味着奉三个位格之名施洗; 而其他学者则称, 《马太福音》中记载的并不是耶稣的原话, 而是借耶稣之口说出了第一福音书创作年代和创作地所使用的常见洗礼惯用语。

Whatever explanation be given it is plain that the longer formula became universal or almost universal in the sub-apostolic Church. Justin Martyr has already been quoted. Tertullian, nearly half a century later, declares expressly that the “law of baptism has been imposed and the formula prescribed” in Mt. 28:19 (De baptismo 13); and he adds in his Adv. Prax. (26): “And it is not once only, but thrice, that we are immersed into the Three Persons, at each several mention of Their names.” The evidence to show that the formula given by Matthew became the established usage is overwhelming; but it is more than likely that the use of the shorter formula did not altogether die out, or, if it did, that it was revived. The historian Socrates informs us that some of the more extreme Arians “corrupted” baptism by using only the name of Christ in the formula; while injunctions to use the longer formula and punishments, including deposition, threatened to those who presumed to employ the shorter, which meet us in collections of ecclesiastical canons (Apostolic Canons 43, 50), prove that the practice of using the shorter formula existed in the 5th and 6th cents, at all events in the East.

V. Doctrine of Baptism. The sacraments, and baptism as one of them, are always described to be (1) signs representing as in a picture or figure spiritual benefits (1 Pet. 3:21), and also (2) as seals or personal tokens and attestations confirmatory of solemn promises of spiritual benefits. Hence the sacrament is said to have two parts: “the one an outward and sensible sign, used according to Christ’s appointment; the other an inward and spiritual grace thereby signified.” It is held, moreover, that when the rite of baptism has been duly and devoutly performed with faith on the part of both giver and receiver, the spiritual benefits do follow the performance of the rite. The question therefore arises: What are the spiritual and evangelical blessings portrayed and solemnly promised in baptism?

无论学者们给出什么解释,但较长的惯用语显然是使徒后期教会中通用的或常用的惯用语。殉道者游斯丁的话已经被引证了。约半个世纪之后,特土良明确地阐述道,《马太福音》28:19 解释了洗礼的律法,并规定了洗礼的惯用语 (De baptismo 13); 他还在另一部作品 (Adv. Prax. 26) 中补充道:“洗礼时,我们不是仅沉入水中一次,而是三次,要奉三位一体真神之名,每提到一个位格,便沉入水中一次”。这个证据表明《马太福音》中给出的洗礼惯用语确实成为了最常见的惯用语;但较短的洗礼惯用语很可能并未完全消失,或者说,即使消失了,也被重新使用。历史学家苏格拉底告诉我们,一些较为极端的亚流派信徒仅奉基督的名施洗,使洗礼“堕落了”;而教会法典合集 (Apostolic Canons 43, 50) 中提到了给那些使用较短惯用语的人的警告、惩罚和证词,要求他们使用较长的惯用语,这证明在 5 或 6 世纪时,东方教会习惯于使用较短的惯用语。

V. 洗礼的教义。 圣礼 (洗礼是一种圣礼) 通常被描述为 (1) 在想象或意象中的属灵恩赐的标志 (彼前 3:21), (2) 属灵恩赐的庄严应许的印记 (或个人符记) 和确据。因此,圣礼据称有两部分: “一部分是外在的、明显的标记,根据基督的差遣行这部分圣礼;另一部分是藉此表明的内在的、属灵的恩赐”。此外,信徒认为,当施洗人和受洗人藉着信心恰当并虔诚地举行洗礼仪式时,属灵的恩赐便会随之而来。因此问题出现了: 洗礼所描绘的并庄严应许的属灵祝福和福音祝福到底是什么?

In the NT we find that baptism is intimately connected with the following: with forgiveness of sins, as in Acts 22:16 (“Rise and be baptized, and wash away your sins”), and in He. 10:22; with regeneration or the new birth, as in Tit. 3:6 and Jn. 3:5 (this idea also entered into the baptism of proselytes and even into the thought of baptism in the mystery religions; neophytes were taught that in the water they died to their old life and began a new one [Apuleius Metamorphoses xi]); with ingrafting into Christ, with union with Him, as in Gal. 3:27—and union in definite ways, in His death, His burial, and His resurrection, as in Rom. 6:3–6; with entering into a new relationship with God, that of sonship, as in Gal. 3:26f.; with the bestowal of the Holy Spirit, as in 1 Cor. 12:13; with belonging to the Church, as in Acts 2:41; with the gift of salvation, as in Mk. (?) 16:16; Jn. 3:5.

From these and similar passages theologians conclude that baptism is a sign and seal of our ingrafting into Christ and of our union with Him, of forgiveness of sins, regeneration, adoption, and life eternal; that the water in baptism represents and signifies both the blood of Christ, which takes away all our sins, and also the sanctifying influence of the Holy Spirit against the dominion of sin and the corruption of our human nature; and that

我们在《新约》中发现，洗礼与下列因素有密切的关联：罪的宽恕，如《使徒行传》22:16（“起来！求告祂的名受洗，洗去你的罪”）和《希伯来书》10:22；重生和新生，如《提多书》3:6和《约翰福音》3:5（归信洗礼，甚至是秘密宗教中的洗礼也引入了这种观点；新入教的人被告知，他们在水中洗礼时结束了旧生命，开始了新生命 [Apuleius Metamorphoses xi]）；归入基督，与祂联合，如《加拉太书》3:27——以确切方式与祂联合，与祂共同死亡、埋葬和复活，如《罗马书》6:3-6；与神建立起新的关系，即做祂的儿女，如《加拉太书》3:26-27；圣灵的恩赐，如《哥林多前书》12:13；加入教会，如《使徒行传》2:41；救赎的恩赐，如《马可福音》16:16（不确定）和《约翰福音》3:5。

baptizing with water signifies the cleansing from sin by the blood and for the merit of Christ, together with the mortification of sin and rising from sin to newness of life by virtue of the death and resurrection of Christ. Or to put it more simply: Baptism teaches that all who are out of Christ are unclean by reason of sin and need to be cleansed. It signifies that just as washing with water cleanses the body so God in Christ cleanses the soul from sin by the Holy Spirit, and that we are to see in this cleansing not merely pardon but also an actual freeing of the soul from the pollution and power of sin and therefore the beginnings of a new life. The sacrament also shows us that the cleansing is reached only through connection with the death of Christ, and further that through the new life begun in us we become in a special way united to Christ and enter into a new and filial relationship with God.

Probably all Christians, Reformed or not, will agree in the above statement of the doctrinal meaning in the rite of baptism; and also that when the sacrament is rightly used the inward and spiritual grace promised is present along with the outward and visible signs. But Roman Catholics and Protestants differ about what is meant by the right use of the sacrament. They separate on the question of its efficacy. Roman Catholics understand by the right use simply the correct performance of the rite and the placing no obstacle in the way of the flow of efficacy. Protestants insist that there can be no right use of the sacrament unless the recipient exercises faith, that without faith the sacrament is not efficacious and the inward and spiritual blessings do not accompany the external and visible signs.

净，应当受洗，这就是洗礼的教训。洗礼表明，正如水能洗净身体，在基督里的神也能藉着圣灵洗净灵魂中的罪，我们不仅在这洁净的过程中看到了宽恕，还看到灵魂从罪的玷污和统治中真正地解放出来，并因此开始了新生。洗礼还表明，只有藉着与基督同死才能得洁净和新生，我们因此通过特殊的方式与基督联合，与神建立了新的联系，即做祂的儿女。

无论是改革宗信徒，还是其他信徒，或许所有的基督徒都赞成上文中提到的洗礼仪式的教义意义，他们还会同意，当“正确执行”洗礼时，神所应许的内在属灵恩赐与外在的有形标志将同时出现。但罗马天主教和新教对“正确执行”的含义持不同观点。他们在洗礼的果效问题上产生了分歧。罗马天主教认为“正确执行”仅意味着洗礼仪式正确地进行，并且洗礼的果效不会受到阻碍。而新教则认为只有受洗人因信受洗，才算“正确执行”洗礼，没有信心，圣礼就是无效的，内在的属灵祝福也不会随着外在的有形标志一同出现。新教的福音教会可能对这种圣礼存在一些细小的分歧，但无论怎样，他们都一致认为，没有信心，就没有重生。基于这一教义，有的人支持给婴儿洗礼，有的人则反对给婴儿洗礼。

Whatever minor differences divide Protestant evangelical churches on this sacrament they are all agreed upon this, that where there is no faith there can be no regeneration. Here emerges doctrinally the difference between those who give and those who refuse to give the sacrament to infants.

The latter, taking their stand on the fundamental doctrine of all evangelical Christians that faith is necessary to make any sacrament efficacious, and assuming that the effect of an ordinance is always tied to the precise time of its administration, insist that infants cannot form such a conscious, intelligent, and individually independent act of faith as they believe all Protestants insist on scriptural grounds to be necessary in the right use of a sacrament. Therefore they refuse to baptize infants and young children.

The great majority of evangelical Protestants practice infant baptism and do not think, due explanations being given, that it in any way conflicts with the idea that faith is necessary to the efficacy of the sacrament. The Baptist position appears to them to conflict with much of the teaching of the NT. It implies that all who are brought up in the faith of Christ and within the Christian family still lack, when they come to years of discretion, that great change of heart and life which is symbolized in baptism, and can receive it only by a conscious, intelligent, and thoroughly independent act of faith. This seems in accordance neither with Scripture nor with human nature. We are told that a child may be full of the Holy Spirit from his mother's womb (Lk. 1:15); that little children are in the kingdom of

绝大多数福音派新教徒为婴儿施洗,并根据现有的解释认为,这种仪式与圣礼因信有效的观点并不矛盾。浸信会的洗礼立场似乎违背了《新约》中的很多教导。浸信会教徒认为,那些在基督徒家庭中和在基督里长大的人,当他们成年时,仍然没有得到洗礼所体现出的心意和生命的巨变,只有当他们拥有自觉、智能和完全独立的信心时,才能接受洗礼。这似乎既不符合《圣经》中的教导,也不符合人类本性。《圣经》教导人们,孩子可以在母腹里就被圣灵充满(路1:15);小孩子也在基督的国中(太19:14);信徒的子女是圣洁的(林前7:14)。这些《新约》经文和《旧约》中的应许“给你们和你们的儿女”难道是毫无意义的吗?此外,那些反对给婴儿施洗的人的论点一经逻辑论证,便会得出一些连他们自己都很难赞同的结论。在所有福音派神学中,信心是救赎

Christ (Mt. 19:14); that children of believing parents are holy (1 Cor. 7:14). Does it mean nothing that in the NT as in the OT the promise is “to you and your children”? Besides, the argument of those who oppose the baptism of infants, if logically carried out, leads to consequences few of them would accept. Faith is as essential to salvation, in all evangelical theology, as it is for the right use of the sacrament; and every one of the arguments brought against the baptism of infants is equally applicable to the denial of their salvation.

Nor can the Baptist position be said to be true to the facts of ordinary human nature. Faith, in its evangelical sense of fiducia or trust, is not such an abrupt thing as they make it. Their demand for such a conscious, intelligent, strictly individualist act of faith sets aside some of the deepest facts of human nature. No one, young or old, is entirely self-dependent; nor are our thoughts and trust always or even frequently entirely independent and free from the unconscious influences of others. We are interwoven together in society; and what is true generally reveals itself still more strongly in the intimate relations of the family. Is it possible in all cases to trace the creative effects of the subtle imperceptible influences that surround children, or to say when the slowly dawning intelligence is first able to apprehend enough to trust in half-conscious ways? It is a shallow view of human nature that sets all such considerations aside and insists on regarding nothing but isolated acts of knowledge or of faith.

With all this in mind, the great majority of evangelical churches admit and enjoin the baptism of infants. They believe that the children of believing parents are “born within the church and have interest in the covenant of grace and a right to its seal.” They explain that the efficacy of a sacrament is not rigidly tied to the exact time of administration, and can be appropriated whenever faith is kindled and is able to rest on the external sign, and that the spiritual blessings signified in the rite can be appropriated again and again with each fresh kindling of faith. They declare that no one can tell how soon the dawning of intelligence may awaken to the act of appropriation. Therefore these churches instruct their ministers in dispensing the sacrament to lay vows on parents that they will train up the infants baptized “in knowledge and fear of the Lord,” and will teach them the great blessings promised to them in and through the sacrament and teach them to appropriate these blessings for themselves. They further enjoin their ministers to admonish all who may witness a baptismal service to look back on their own baptism in order that their faith may be stirred afresh to appropriate for themselves the blessings that accompany the proper use of the rite.

的必要条件,也是“正确执行”圣礼的必要条件;每个驳斥婴儿洗礼的论点都同样否认了婴儿的救赎。

浸信会的观点也未必适用于普通人性的实际情况。信心在福音中的含义是信靠主 (fiducia), 并没有浸信会所说的那么生硬。他们所要求的这种自觉的、智能的和严格独立的信心行为撇开了人性中某些最深刻的事实。无论老幼,没有人是完全自立的;我们的思想和信心也不总是或一直是完全独立的,不受其他人无意识影响的。我们在社会中紧密地结合在一起;真实的东西通常在家庭的密切关系中体现得更为明显。是否在任何情况下都能追溯到孩子周围的微妙细微影响所带来的创造性结果,或者说,智力缓慢发育的孩子何时才能首次以半自觉的方式信靠主? 将所有这类考虑搁置一边,除了知识或信心的孤立行为,什么也不关注,这是一种肤浅的人类观点。

综上所述,绝大多数福音教会承认并要求婴儿受洗,他们认为信徒的孩子“生

来就是在教会里的,可以分享圣约中的恩典,有权获得圣约的印记”。他们解释说,圣礼的果效和执行圣礼的确切时间不存在严格意义上的联系,每当信心被点燃并能够依靠外在的标志时,信徒就能得到洗礼的果效,随着信心一个一个地被点燃,洗礼仪式中所表明的属灵恩赐源源不断地赏赐给了他们。他们认为,没有人知道启蒙中的智力要经历多久才能领悟到蒙神恩赐的行为。因此,这些教会教导牧师,当他们执行圣礼时,要让孩子的父母发誓,说他们会将受洗的婴儿“在认识神和对神的敬畏中”抚养长大,并教导他们圣礼中的所应许的伟大祝福,还要教导他们为自己争取这些祝福。教会还命令牧师告诫那些见证洗礼的人去回顾他们自己的洗礼,重新坚固信心,获得伴随正确执行洗礼而来的祝福。

I. The Term.-The word “baptism” is the Anglicized form of the Gk. báptisma, or baptismós. These Greek words are verbal nouns derived from baptízō, the intensive form of the verb báptō. “Baptismós denotes the act as a fact, báptisma the result of the act” (Cremer, p. 130). This distinction differs from, but is not necessarily contrary to, that of Plummer, who infers from Mk. 7:4 and He. 9:10 that baptismós usually means lustrations or ceremonial washings, and from Rom. 6:4; Eph. 4:5; 1 Pet. 3:21 that báptisma denotes baptism proper.

I. 洗礼的术语。“baptism” (“洗礼”) 一词是希腊语 báptisma 或 baptismós 的英语化形式。这两个希腊词语是衍生自动词 baptízō 的动词性名词，是动词 báptō 的加强形式。“Baptismós 指的是动作本身，而 báptisma 指的是动作的结果” (Cremer, 130 页)。这个差异与普卢默提出的差异不同，但二人的观点未必相反，普卢默根据《马可福音》7:4 和《希伯来书》9:10 推测出 baptismós 通常指洁净或洁净仪式，根据《罗马书》6:4; 《以弗所书》4:5 和《彼得前书》3:21 推测出 báptisma 指的是洗礼。

The Greek words from which our English “baptism” has been formed are used by Greek writers, in classical antiquity, in the LXX, and in the NT, with a great latitude of meaning. It is not possible to exhaust their meaning by any single English term. The action the Greek words express may be performed by plunging, drenching, staining, dipping, sprinkling. The nouns báptisma and baptismós do not occur in the LXX; the verb baptízō occurs in only four places, two of them in a figurative sense (2 K. 5:14; Jth. 12:7; Isa. 21:4; Sir. 34:25). Wherever these words occur in the NT, the context or, in the case of quotations, a comparison with the OT will in many instances suggest which of these renderings should be adopted (cf. Mk. 7:4; He. 9:10 with Nu. 19:18f.; 8:7; Ex. 24:4-6; and Acts 2:16 and 41 with Joel 2:28). But there are passages in which the particular form of the act of baptizing remains in doubt. “The assertion that the command to baptize is a command to immerse ... [is] utterly unauthorized” (C. Hodge, Systematic Theology [1876], III, 527).

In the majority of biblical instances the verbs and nouns denoting baptism are used in a literal sense and signify the application of water to an object or a person for a certain purpose. The ceremonial washings of the Jews, the baptism of proselytes to the Jewish faith, common in the days of Christ, the baptism of John and of the disciples of Christ prior to the day of Pentecost, and the Christian sacrament of baptism, are literal baptisms (baptismus fluminis, “baptism of the river,” i.e., water). But Scripture speaks also of figurative baptisms, without water (Mk. 10:38 and Lk. 12:50 refer to the sufferings that overwhelmed Christ and His followers, especially the martyrs [baptismus sanguinis, “baptism of blood”]; Mt. 3:11; Mk. 1:8; Lk. 3:16; Acts 1:5; 11:16 refer to the outpouring of the miraculous gifts of the Holy Spirit, which was a characteristic phenomenon of primitive Christianity [baptismus flaminis, “baptism of wind, breeze,” i.e., “spirit”]). Some even take Mt. 21:25; Mk. 11:30; Acts 18:25; 1 Cor. 10:2 in a synecdochical sense, for doctrine of faith, baptism being 《旧约》中用法来决定采用哪种翻译（对比《马可福音》7:4;《希伯来书》9:10 和《民数记》19:18-19; 8:7;《出埃及记》24:4-6; 对比《使徒行传》2:16, 41 和《约珥书》2:28）。但人们对于一些经文中描述的特殊洗礼形式仍存有疑问。“有人宣称施洗的命令就是命令人浸入水中,……这完全不足为信”(C. Hodge, Systematic Theology [1876], III, 527)。

《圣经》中的大多数例子使用了那些表示洗礼的动词和名词的字面意思, 这些词表示出于某种目的用水洗物件或人。犹太人的洁净仪式、在基督时期常见的犹太教归信洗礼、约翰的洗礼和五旬节前基督门徒的洗礼、基督教的洗礼圣事都表示字面意义上的洗礼 (baptismus fluminis, “河[即水]的洗礼”)。但《圣经》中还提及了洗礼的比喻义, 即没有水的洗礼(《马可福音》10:38 和《路加福音》12:50 提到了基督和祂的门徒, 尤其是殉道者所承受的苦难 [baptismus sanguinis, “血的洗礼”]; 《马太福音》3:11; 《马可福音》1:8; 《路加福音》3:16; 《使徒行传》1:5; 11:16 提到了圣灵赋予的奇异恩赐, 这是原始基督教的一种特有奇迹 [baptismus flaminis, “风的洗礼”], 即“圣灵的洗”)。有些学者甚至认为《马太福音》21:25; 《马可福音》11:30; 《使徒行传》18:25; 《哥林多前书》10:2 中的洗礼有提喻的含义, 表示信心的教义, 洗礼是这个教义的显著特征 (baptismus luminis, “光的洗礼”)。

a prominent feature of that doctrine (baptismus luminis, “baptism of light”).

Scripture occasionally alludes to Christian baptism without employing the regular term. Thus in Tit. 3:5 and Eph. 5:26 we have the term loutrón, “washing,” instead of báptisma. From this term the Latin Church derived its lavacrum (Eng. “laver”) as a designation of baptism. In He. 10:22 the verbs rhantízō and louō, “sprinkle” and “wash”; in Eph. 5:26 the verb katharízō, “cleanse”; and in 1 Cor. 6:11 the verb apoloúō, “wash,” are evidently synonyms of baptízō.

II. The Ordinance.-A. Teaching of Scripture. Christian baptism as now practiced is a sacred ordinance of evangelical grace, solemnly appointed by the risen Christ prior to His entering into the state of glory by His ascension, and designed to be a means, until His second coming, for admitting people to discipleship with Him. Mt. 28:18-20 and its parallel Mk. 16:15f. are the principal texts of Scripture on which the Church in all ages has based every essential point of its teaching regarding this ordinance. The host of other baptismal texts of Scripture expand and illustrate the contents of these two texts. We have in these texts:

(1) An authoritative (Mt. 28:19) command, issued in plain terms: “Make disciples ... baptizing.” This command declares (a) speciem actus, i.e., it indicates with sufficient clearness, by the use of the term “baptize,” the external element to be employed, viz., water, and the form of the action to be performed by means of water, viz., any dipping, or pouring, or sprinkling, since the word “baptize” signifies any of these modes. On the

《圣经》有时在提到基督教的洗礼时并没有使用常见的词汇。如《提多书》3:5和《以弗所书》5:26就用 loutrón (“洗、洗净”) 代替了 báptisma。拉丁教会从这个词上衍生出表示洗礼的词 lavacrum (英语: “laver”, 意思是“洗濯”)。《希伯来书》10:22 中使用了动词 rhantízō (“洒”) 和 louō (“洗净”); 《以弗所书》5:26 使用了动词 katharízō, 意思是“洗净”; 《哥林多前书》6:11 使用了动词 apoloúō, 意思是“洗净”, 这些动词显然都是 baptízō 的同义词。

II. 关于洗礼仪式。A. 《圣经》中的教训。基督徒现在所受的洗礼是一个福音恩典的神圣仪式, 是复活的耶稣升天得荣耀之前庄严命令的仪式, 洗礼是为了让万民在基督复临时作祂的门徒。所有时代的教会关于洗礼的每个基本教导都将《马太福音》28:18-20 和平行经文《马可福音》16:15-16 作为主要的圣经根据。许多其他经文详细阐述了这两段经文中的内容。我们可以在这些经文中看到:

(1) 权威的命令 (太 28:19), 表达明确: “使……作我的门徒, ……给他们施洗”。这个命令规定 (a) speciem actus, 即用“施洗”一词清晰地表明洗礼所需的外在因素, 即水, 同时还表明了施洗时使用水的动作, 即浸入水、注水或洒水, 因为动词“施洗”可以指任何一种施洗方式。关于这个命令的力量, 路德认为: “洗礼用的不是简单的水, 而是包含了神的命令的水”; 《威斯特敏斯特小教理问答》(94 问) 中称洗礼为“用 strength of this command Luther held: “Baptism is not simple water only, but it is the water comprehended in God’s command”; and the Westminster Shorter Catechism (Q. 94) calls baptism “a washing with water.” Water is distinctly mentioned as the baptismal element in Acts 8:38; 10:47; Eph. 5:26; He. 10:22. “There is no mention of any other element” (Plummer). The phraseology of Eph. 5:26, “the washing of water with the word,” shows that not the external element alone, nor the physical action of applying the water, constitutes baptism; but “the word” must be added to the element and the action, in order that there may be a baptism. “Remove the word and what is water but water? The word is added to the element and it becomes a sacrament” (Augustine). “Without the Word of God the water is simple water, and no baptism” (Luther). The command prescribes (b) exercitium actus, i.e., it enjoins a continued exercise of this function of the messengers of Christ for all time.

(2) A clear declaration of the object in view. The participle “baptizing” qualifies the imperative “make disciples” and expresses the means by which that end is to be attained. The participle “baptizing,” again, is qualified by “teaching” (v. 20). The second participle is not connected by “and” with the first, hence is subordinate to the first. Discipleship is to be obtained by baptizing-teaching. There is no rigid law regarding the order and sequence of these actions laid down in these words; they merely state that Christ desires His disciples to be both baptized and fully informed as to His teaching.

(3) A definite promise: salvation (Mk.

水洗淨”。《使徒行传》8:38; 10:47; 《以弗所书》5:26; 《希伯来书》10:22 显然都提到了水是洗礼的要素。“经文中没有提及其他要素” (Plummer)。《以弗所书》5:26 中提到“要用水藉着道……洗净”，这表明洗礼不仅仅是由水这个外部要素或用水时的身体动作组成的；为了进行洗礼，除了水和动作之外，还应有“道”。“没有道的话，水除了水还能是什么呢？道与水这个要素联合，便形成了圣礼” (奥古斯丁)。“没有神的道的水，仅仅是水，不是洗礼” (路德)。这个命令规定 (b) exercitium actus，即命令耶稣的使者要永远为人施洗。

(2) 虑中之事的明示。“施洗”的分词形式限定了祈使成分“作门徒”，还表明了达到目的的方式。这个分词还限定了“教训” (太 28:20)。经文中没有用“和”将第二个分词与第一个分词连接起来，因此第二个分词从属于第一个分词。受洗并受教训才能成为门徒。耶稣的话语并未严格规定洗礼的顺序和程序；这些话仅仅表明基督要求门徒既要受洗，也要完全领受祂的教训。

(3) 确切的应许：救赎 (可 16:16)，

16:16), i.e., complete and final deliverance from all evil, the securing of “the faith” (1 Pet 1:9). This is a comprehensive statement, as in 1 Pet. 3:21, of the blessing of baptism. Scripture also states, in detail, particular baptismal blessings: (a) Regeneration (Tit. 3:5; Jn. 3:3, 5). Despite Calvin and others, the overwhelming consensus of interpreters still agrees with the ancient Church and with Luther in explaining both these texts of baptism. (See d below.) (b) Remission of sins, or justification (Acts 2:38; 22:16; 1 Cor. 6:11; Eph. 5:26; He. 10:22). This blessing, no doubt, is also intended in 1 Pet. 3:21, where eperótēma has been rendered “answer” by the AV (RV “interrogation”; RSV “appeal”). The word denotes a legal claim, which a person has a right to set up (see Rom. 8:1). (c) The establishment of a spiritual union with Christ, and a new relationship with God (Gal. 3:26f.; Rom. 6:3f.; Col. 2:12). In this connection the prepositions with which baptizein occurs in the NT may be noted. The phrase baptizein eis, “to baptize into,” always denotes the relation into which the party baptized is placed. The only exception is Mk. 1:9. The phrase baptizein en or epi, “to baptize in” (Acts 10:48; 2:38), denotes the basis on which the new relation is made to rest (Crem., p. 128). (d) The sanctifying gifts of the Holy Spirit (1 Cor. 12:13; Tit. 3:5). All these blessings Scripture declares to be effects of baptism. “Baptism is called ‘washing of regeneration,’ not merely because it symbolizes it, or pledges a man to it, but also, and chiefly, because it effects it (Holtzmann, Huther, Pfleiderer, Weiss)... Regeneration or being begotten by God does not mean merely a new capacity for change in the direction of goodness, but an actual change. The legal washings were actual external purifications. Baptism is actual internal purification” (Plummer). To these modern authorities Luther can be added. He says: “Baptism worketh forgiveness of sin, delivers from death and the devil, and gives eternal salvation to all who believe, as the words and promises of God declare” (Smaller Catechism). In Tit. 3:5, AV, the force of the preposition diá, “by,” deserves to be noted: it declares baptism to be the regenerating, renewing, justifying, glorifying medium to the heirs of eternal life. The baptismal promise is supported, not only in a general way, by the veracity and sincerity of the Speaker, who is the divine Truth incarnate, but also in a special way, by the Author’s appeal to His sovereign majesty (Mt. 28:18), and by the significant assurance of His personal (“I” = egō is emphatic) presence with the disciples in their aforementioned activity (Mt. 28:20; cf. Mk. 16:20). See also BAPTISMAL REGENERATION.

即从所有罪恶中被完全、彻底地解放出来，得着“信心”的果效（彼前 1:9）。这是一个关于洗礼的恩典的全面陈述，如《彼得前书》3:21。《圣经》还详述了特殊的洗礼恩典：(a) 重生（多 3:5；约 3:3, 5）。除了加尔文等人，大多数注释者仍赞成古时教会和路德对这两段关于洗礼的经文的解释（见下文 d）。(b) 赦罪，或称义（徒 2:38；22:16；林前 6:11；弗 5:26；来 10:22）。《彼得前书》3:21 无疑也体现了这种恩典，《钦定版圣经》将这段经文中的 eperótēma 译为“answer”（“应允”）（《修订译本》译为“interrogation”[“求问”]；《修订标准译本》译为“appeal”[“求告”]）。这个词指人们有权提出的合法诉求（见罗 8:1）。(c) 与基督属灵的联合，建立和神的新关系（加 3:26-27；罗 6:3-4；西 2:12）。在这点上，应注意《新约》中和 baptizein 一起使用的介词。短语 baptizein eis（“在……里受洗”）通常指受洗的人要建立的关系。《马可福音》1:9 是唯一的特例。短语 baptizein en 或 epi（“在……中受洗”，徒 10:48；2:38）指这种新关系所依赖的基础（Crem., 128 页）。(d) 圣灵的圣洁恩赐（林前 12:13；多 3:5）。《圣经》中称所有这些恩赐都是洗礼的果效。“洗礼被称为‘重生的洗’，不仅因为它象征着重生，更主要是因为它影响着重生（Holtzmann, Huther, Pfleiderer, Weiss）……重生或作神的儿女并不仅仅意味着向善改变的“新能力”，而是一种真实的改变。合法的洁净是真实的外在洁净。洗礼是真实的内在洁净”（Plummer）。这些现代权威人士还应包括路德。他说：“正如神所说和所应允的，洗礼将赦免所有信徒的罪，将他们从死亡和罪恶中释放出来，赐予他们永恒的救赎”（Smaller Catechism）。在《钦定版圣经》的《提多书》3:5 中，应当注意介词 diá（“因”）的确切意义；这节经文中我们藉着洗礼得到圣灵的更新，得称为义，被救主厚厚浇灌，凭着永生的盼望成为后嗣。一

(4) A plain indication of the scope: “all nations,” “the whole creation” (pásē tē ktísei to be understood as in Col. 1:23, “all people”). Baptism is of universal application; it is a cosmopolitan ordinance before which differences such as of nationality, race, age, sex, social or civil status, are leveled (cf. Col. 3:11 with 1 Cor. 12:13). Accordingly, Christ orders baptism to be practiced “always, to the close of the age,” i.e., until the second advent of the Lord. For throughout this period Christ promises His cooperative presence with the efforts of His disciples to make disciples.

(5) A prescribed formula for administering the ordinance: “in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit.” Belief in the trinity is

方面，道成肉身的“代言人”用祂的诚实和真挚以普通的方式证明了洗礼的应许，另一方面，造物主所提到的最高权柄（太 28:18）和祂必在门徒洗礼时与他们同在（“我”相当于 egō，是强调成分）的重要保证（太 28:20；参：可 16:20）也以特殊的方式证明了洗礼的应许。另见 BAPTISMAL REGENERATION（洗礼的重生）。

(4) 明确的范围：“万国”“凡受造的”（要像《歌罗西书》1:23 中那样，将 pásē tē ktísei 理解成“万人”）。洗礼适用于所有人；它是一种普世的仪式，没有国籍、种族、年龄、性别、社会或公民地位之分（参：《歌罗西书》3:11 和《哥林多前书》12:13）。因此，基督命令门徒要“常（施洗），直到世界的末了”。基督应允将始终与门徒同在，要使万民作祂的门徒。

(5) 执行圣礼时的固定公式：“奉父、子、圣灵的名”。信靠三位一体的真神是基督教的根本信仰，因此，加入基督教的神圣仪式当然要强调这种信仰。经 fundamental to Christianity; accordingly the sacred rite by which people are initiated into the Christian religion justly emphasizes this belief. The three persons are mentioned as distinct from one another, but the baptismal command is issued upon their joint and coequal authority (“in the name,” not “names”), thus indicating the unity in trinity.

B. Biblical History of the Ordinance. After the Lord had entered into His glory, we find that in the era of the apostles and in the primitive Christian Church baptism is the established and universally acknowledged rite by which persons are admitted to communion with the Church (Acts 2:38, 41; 8:12f., 36, 38; 9:18; 10:47f.; 16:15, 33; 18:8; 22:16; Rom. 6:3; 1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:27). Even in cases where an outpouring of the special gifts of the Holy Spirit had already taken place, baptism is still administered (Acts 10:44ff.; 11:15f.). Therefore, baptism came to occupy the same place in the new covenant as circumcision had in the old covenant (Col. 2:11f.; cf. Gal. 5:2ff.). The one baptism in Christ was recognized from the beginning as one of the bases for the unity of the Christian community (1 Cor. 12:13; Gal. 3:27f.; Eph. 4:5).

C. Types of Baptism. In 1 Cor. 10:1f. the apostle states that the Israelites were all “baptized into Moses in the cloud and in the sea.” F. W. Farrar attempts the following solution of this type: “The passing under the cloud (Exod. xiv. 19) and through the sea, constituting as it did their deliverance from bondage into freedom, their death to Egypt, and their birth to a new covenant, was a general type or dim shadow of Christian baptism (compare our collect, ‘figuring thereby

文中提到的三个位格彼此不同,但洗礼的要求确实基于这三个联合在一起的同等权柄(“奉……的名”,此处的“名”用的是单数形式,而不是复数形式),这表明了三位一体的真神的统一性。

B. 洗礼的圣经历史。我们发现主得了荣耀之后,在使徒时代的原始基督教会中,洗礼已经成为加入教会的固定仪式和被普遍认可的仪式(徒 2:38, 41; 8:12-13, 36, 38; 9:18; 10:47-48; 16:15, 33; 18:8; 22:16; 罗 6:3; 林前 12:13; 加 3:27)。即使已经受了圣灵的特殊恩赐,也要受洗(徒 10:44 起; 11:15-16)。因此,洗礼在《新约》中占据的地位与割礼在《旧约》占据的地位相同(西 2:11-12; 参:加 5:2 起)。同在基督里受洗从一开始便被视为基督徒统一的基础(林前 12:13; 加 3:27-28; 弗 4:5)。

C. 洗礼的类型。在《哥林多前书》10:1-2 中,使徒保罗称以色列人“都在云里、海里受洗归了摩西”。法勒(F. W. Farrar)对这类洗礼做出了如下解释:“从云下经过(Exod. xiv. 19)、穿过海洋相当于他们摆脱了束缚,获得了自由,象征着他们死在埃及,获得了新约的重生,这是基督教洗礼的普通类型或模糊缩影(参照我们的短祷文,‘因此象征着神圣的洗礼’)。但这种预表非常罕见;它是重要的道德教训……他们通过这种‘洗礼’,接受摩西作他们神赐

Thy holy baptism'). But the typology is quite incidental; it is the moral lesson which is paramount.... By this 'baptism' they accepted Moses as their Heaven-sent guide and teacher" (p. 322). In 1 Pet. 3:21 the apostle calls baptism the antitypon of the Deluge. Delitzsch (on He. 9:24) suggests that týpos and antitypon in Greek represent the original figure and a copy made therefrom, or a prophetic fore-type and its later accomplishment. The point of comparison is the saving power of water in either instance. Water saved Noah and his family by floating the ark which sheltered them, and by removing from them the disobedient generation that had sorely tried their faith, as it had tried God's patience. In like manner the water of baptism bears up the ark of the Christian church and saves its believing members by separating them from their filthy sins.

III. Difficulties.-A. Are Mt. 28:18-20 and Mk. 16:15f. Genuine? Feine (p. 396f.) and F. Kattenbusch (Sch.-Herz., I, 435-440) argue that the trinitarian formula in Mt. 28:19 is spurious, and that the text in Mark belongs to a section that was added to this Gospel at a later time. Thus far research has produced no good reason for rejecting the genuineness of the formula in Matthew. As to the concluding section in Mark (16:9-20), the so-called Longer Ending, its omission from such important MSS as \aleph and B has long cast doubt on its originality; yet no doctrinal scruple can arise on account of this section; for it contains nothing that is contrary to the doctrine of Scripture in other places on the same subject.

B. Was the Trinitarian Formula Used in NT Times? No record of such use can be 的向导和教师” (322 页)。在《彼得前书》3:21 中,使徒保罗称洗礼为水所表明 (antitypon) 的。德利奇 (《希伯来书》9:24 评注) 表明希腊语 týpos 和 antitypon 代表着原始形象或复制形象,或代表着预表和后来的应验。需要进行对比的是两种情况下水的救赎力量。水浮起了承载着挪亚和他的家人的方舟,从而拯救了挪亚和他的家人,除灭了背弃主、试探信心和试探神耐心的人。同样,洗礼的水也作了基督教会的方舟,救了信徒,使他们远离不洁的罪。

III. 难题。A. 《马太福音》28:18-20 和《马可福音》16:15-16 是真实的吗? 法伊内 (396-397 页) 和卡顿布什 (Sch.-Herz., I, 435-440) 认为《马太福音》28:19 中奉三位一体真神的名施洗的公式是伪造的,《马可福音》16:15-16 是后来添加上的。目前的研究尚不足以否认《马太福音》中洗礼公式的真实性。至于《马可福音》(16:9-20) 的结束部分,也就是所谓的“长版结尾”,并未出现在《西奈抄本》和《梵蒂冈抄本》等重要的手稿中,从而引起人们对这段经文真实性的怀疑;但这部分内容并未引起教义上的争议;因为这部分内容并不违背其他经文中关于这一主题的教义。

B. 新约时代使用三位一体的公式吗? 《使徒行传》和使徒书信中没有这类用 discovered in the Acts or the Epistles of the apostles. The baptisms recorded in the NT after Pentecost are administered “in the name of Jesus Christ” (Acts 2:38), “in the name of the Lord Jesus” (8:16), “into Christ” (Rom. 6:3; Gal. 3:27). This difficulty was considered by the fathers. Ambrose says: “What had not been mentioned in words is expressed in belief” (De Spiritu Sancto i.3.43). On close inspection the difficulty is found to rest on the assumption that the above passages are records of baptismal formulas used on those occasions. The fact is that these records contain no baptismal formula at all, but “merely state that such persons were baptized as acknowledged Jesus to be the Lord and the Christ” (Plummer). The same can be said of any person baptized in our day with the trinitarian formula. That this formula was the established usage in the Christian Church is proven by records of baptisms in Justin (Apol i.61) and Tertullian (Adv. Prax. 26).

C. Was Christian Baptism Really a New Ordinance? Baptism was practiced among the Jews prior to the solemn inauguration of this ordinance by the risen Christ. The ceremonial washings of the Jews are classed with the transient forms of the Levitical worship (He. 9:9f.), which had not been intended to endure except “until the time of reformation.” They were removed when Christian baptism was erected into an abiding ordinance of the Church (Col. 2:11-13). It would be erroneous to say that those ancient washings developed into Christian baptism; a shadow does not develop into a substance. Nor do we find the origin of Christian baptism in the baptism of proselytes, which seems to have been a Jewish custom in the days of Christ.

法。根据《新约》的记载，五旬节之后的洗礼“奉耶稣基督的名”（徒 2:38），“奉主耶稣的名”（徒 8:16），“归入基督”（罗 6:3；加 3:27）。教父们考虑到了这个难题。安波罗修说：“话语中没有体现的表现在了信仰上（De Spiritu Sancto i.3.43）”。一旦人们进行仔细的研究，就会发现这个难题基于这样的假设——上述经文记录了这些场合中使用的洗礼惯用语。但实际上，这些经文根本没有记载洗礼的惯用语，“仅仅表明受洗的人承认耶稣是主和基督”（Plummer）。现代人在奉三位一体真神之名受洗时也仅仅表明他们承认耶稣是主和基督。游斯丁（Apol i.61）和特土良作品（Adv. Prax. 26）中关于洗礼的记载证明，基督教会使用这个固定的洗礼惯用语。

C. 基督教洗礼真的是新出现的仪式吗？在复活的基督举行庄严的洗礼之前，犹太人就已经在举行这个仪式。犹太人的洁净仪式被归类为利未人暂时采用的敬拜形式（来 9:9-10），这些仪式只“命定到振兴的时候为止”。当基督教的洗礼成为教会的一种永恒仪式时，犹太人的仪式就会被取代（西 2:11-13）。不要错误地以为这些古老的洁净仪式发展成了基督教的洗礼；因为虚幻不会发展为实体。基督教的洗礼也不源自于归信洗礼，归信洗礼似乎是基督时期犹太人的习俗。虽然犹太人了解洗礼仪式，但约翰的洗礼还是令他们感到震惊（约 1:25）。《以赛亚书》4:4（1:16）；《以西结书》36:25；37:23；《撒迦利亚书》13:1 等经文无疑使犹太人盼望一种弥赛亚时期的洁净仪式，这种仪式将取代利未人的洁净仪式。为了

Though the rite of baptism was not unknown to the Jews, still the baptism of John startled them (Jn. 1:25). Such passages as Isa. 4:4 (1:16); Ezk. 36:25; 37:23; Zec. 13:1 had, no doubt, led them to expect a rite of purification in the days of the Messiah, which would supersede their Levitical purification. The delegation they sent to John was to determine the messianic character of John and his preaching and baptizing.

John's baptism has been a fruitful theme of debate. The question does not affect the personal faith of any Christian at the present time; for there is no person living who has received John's baptism. The entire subject and certain features of it, as the incident recorded in Acts 19:1-7, will continue to be debated. However, attention to a few essential facts will make clear the scriptural estimate of the baptism of John. John had received a divine commission to preach and baptize (Lk. 3:2; Jn. 1:33; Mt. 21:25). He baptized with water (Jn. 3:23). His baptism was honored by a wonderful manifestation of the holy trinity (Mt. 3:16f.) and by the Redeemer in His capacity as the representative of sinful mankind, the sin-bearing Lamb of God, accepting baptism at John's hand (Mt. 3:13-17; Jn. 1:29-34). It was of the necessity of receiving John's baptism that Christ spoke to Nicodemus (Jn. 3:3ff.). The Pharisees invited their eternal ruin by refusing John's baptism (Lk. 7:30); for John's baptism was to shield them from the wrath to come (Mt. 3:7); it was for the remission of sin (Mk. 1:4); it was a washing of regeneration (Jn. 3:5). When Jesus began His public ministry, He took up the preaching and baptism of John, and His disciples practiced it with such success that John rejoiced (Jn. 3:22, 25–36; 4:1f.). All this evidence fairly compels the belief that there was no essential difference between the baptism of John and the baptism instituted by Christ; that what the risen Christ did in Mt. 28:18–20 was merely to elevate a rite that had previously been adopted by an order “from above” to a permanent institution of His Church, and to proclaim its universal application. The contrast that John himself declares between his baptism and that of Christ is not a contrast between two baptisms with water. The baptism of Christ, which John foretells, is a baptism with the Holy Spirit and with fire, the pentecostal baptism. But for the general purpose of begetting men unto a new life, sanctifying and saving them, the Spirit was also bestowed through John’s baptism (Jn. 3:5).

约翰的洗礼备受争议。这个问题并没有影响现代基督徒的个人信心；因为现代人没有受约翰的洗。正如《使徒行传》19:1-7中所记载的，约翰洗礼的全部主题和某些特征仍有待讨论。然而只要对一些基本事实稍加关注，就能明白《圣经》对约翰洗礼的看法。约翰受神的差遣去传道和施洗（路 3:2；约 1:33；太 21:25）。他用水施洗（约 3:23）。神圣的三位一体的真神降下了奇迹（太 3:16-17），神的替罪羔羊、代表罪人的救世主受了约翰的洗（太 3:13-17；约 1:29-34），因此约翰的洗礼得了荣耀。基督向尼哥德慕讲述受约翰的洗的必要性（约 3:3 起）。法利赛人不受约翰的洗，将面临永恒的灭亡（路 7:30）；因为约翰的洗礼指示他们逃避将来的忿怒（太 3:7）；约翰的洗礼是为了使罪得赦（可 1:4）；是重生的洗（约 3:5）。当耶稣开始公开传道时，祂继续约翰的传道和洗礼，约翰见耶稣的门徒给很多人施洗，喜乐便满足了（约 3:22, 25-36；4:1-2）。这些证据都迫使人们相信约翰的洗礼和基督的洗礼没有本质差异；《马太福音》28:18-20 中复活的基督所说的话，仅仅是将这种此前已经被接受的“从天上来的”洗礼提升为祂的教会中的一种永恒习俗，仅仅是为了宣布洗礼的普世性。约翰所说的他的洗礼和基督的洗礼之间的区别并不是这两种水的洗礼之间的区别。约翰所预言的基督的洗礼是圣灵和火的洗礼，是五旬节上

D. Should Infants Be Baptized? The command in Mt. 28:19; Mk. 16:16 is all-embracing; so is the statement concerning the necessity of baptism in Jn. 3:5. After reading these statements, one feels inclined to ask, not “Should infants be baptized?” but “Why should they not be baptized?” The onus probandi rests on those who reject infant baptism. The desire to have their infants baptized must have been manifested on the day when the first three thousand were baptized at Jerusalem, assuming that they were all adults. The old covenant had provided for their children; was the new to be inferior to the old in this respect? (See Plummer.) The baptism of entire households is presumptive evidence that children and infants were baptized in apostolic times (Acts 16:15, 33; 18:8; 1 Cor. 1:16). The arguments against infant baptism imply defective views on the subject of original sin and the efficacy of baptism. Infant

的洗礼。圣灵也通过约翰的洗礼降临在受洗的人身上,但通常是为了赐予他们新生,使他们成圣和得救赎(约 3:5)。

D. 婴儿应当受洗吗?《马太福音》28:19 和《马可福音》16:16 中的诫命包含了一切;《约翰福音》3:5 中关于洗礼的重要性的论述也是如此。读者在阅读这些经文后往往不会问“婴儿是否应当受洗吗”,却是问“为什么婴儿不应受洗呢?”那些反对婴儿受洗的人应担负举证的责任 (onus probandi)。假设在耶路撒冷受洗的三千人都是成人,那么此时便体现出让孩子受洗的渴望。旧约中的应许也包括信徒的孩子;难道在这点上,新约不如旧约么?(见 Plummer。)根据全家受洗可以推测使徒时代的孩子或婴儿也应受洗(徒 16:15, 33; 18:8; 林前 1:16)。反对婴儿洗礼的论点体现出了关于原罪和洗礼的果效这两个主题的不完善观点。婴儿的信心——因为信心对于婴儿和成人来说同样重要——可能会使我们在解释和定义洗礼时产生困惑;但神甚至会与野兽立约(创 9:16-17),祂的应许也给了孩子们(徒 2:39);基督给小孩子祝福(可 10:13-16)并称他们是信徒 faith—for faith is as necessary to the infant as to the adult—may baffle our attempts at explanation and definition; but God who established His covenant even with beasts (Gen. 9:16f.) extends His promises also to children (Acts 2:39); Christ who blessed also little children (Mk. 10:13–16) and spoke of them as believers (Mt. 18:6), certainly does not consider the regeneration of a child or infant a greater task than that of an adult (cf. Mt. 18:3f.).

E. Why Did Paul Not Baptize? Paul did baptize Crispus, Gaius, and Stephanas with his household. These baptisms he performed at Corinth alone; we have no record of his baptisms at other places. What Paul declares in 1 Cor. 1:14–17 is that by his baptizing he could not have become the cause of the divisions in the Corinthian congregation, because he had baptized only a few persons at Corinth and, moreover, had not baptized in his own name, hence had attached no one to his person. The statement, “Christ did not send me to baptize,” is made after the Semitic idiom, and means: “not so much to baptize as to preach” (Farrar). If his words are taken in any other sense, it is impossible to protect Paul against the charge that he did something he was not authorized to do when he baptized Crispus, etc.

F. What is the Baptism for the Dead? 1 Cor. 15:29 is sometimes taken to mean that the early Christians practiced baptism by proxy. After they had been converted to Christianity, it is held, they desired to convey the benefits of their faith to their departed friends who had died in paganism, by having themselves baptized in their behalf, perhaps on their graves.

(太 18:6), 祂显然并不认为使孩子或婴儿重生的使命要比使成人重生的使命更伟大(参: 太 18:3-4)。

E. 保罗为什么不给人施洗? 保罗确实给基利司布、该犹和司提反及其全家施洗。他仅在哥林多给人施洗; 没有关于他在其他地方给人施洗的记载。保罗在《哥林多前书》1:14-17 中称, 他的施洗不可能成为哥林多教会分裂的缘由, 因为他仅在哥林多给少数人施洗, 此外, 他没奉自己的名给人施洗, 因此没人因受洗而属保罗。“基督差遣我, 原不是为施洗”这句话来自一个闪族习语, 这个习语的意思是“多传道, 少施洗”(Farrar)。如果不这样理解保罗的话, 那么就不免指责保罗未受差遣就给基利司布施洗, 或对他进行其他指责。

F. 死者的洗礼是什么? 《哥林多前书》15:29 有时被理解为早期的基督徒代人施洗。他们归信基督教之后, 希望将他们信心的恩赐传达给已故的异教朋友, 因此他们可能会在这些朋友的坟墓上代死者受洗。没有历史证据表明早期的基督教会中盛行这种习俗。经文中也没表明这一点。希腊语 hýper 还可以表示促使某人做某事的动机。在这种情况下

We have no evidence from history that such a practice prevailed in the early Christian churches. Nor does the text suggest it. The Gk. hýper expresses also the motive that may prompt a person to a certain action. In this case the motive was suggested by the dead, viz., by the dead insofar as they shall rise. The context shows this to be the meaning: If a person has sought baptism anticipating that the dead are to rise to be judged, his baptism is valueless if the dead do not rise. See BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD.

BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD

[Gk. baptízomai hypér tón nekrón]. As a subsidiary argument to combat the Corinthian denial of resurrection, Paul suggests that this denial deprives of all point the practice of baptism for the dead (1 Cor. 15:29). To what does he here refer, and what is the true force or drift of his argument?

下，死人，即将会复活的死人表明了动机。经文表明这就是死者受洗的意义：如果一个人希望通过洗礼使一个人复活进而接受审判，那么如果死者没有复活，他的洗礼就毫无价值。见 BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD（死者的洗礼）。

BAPTISM FOR THE DEAD 死者的洗礼

【希腊语：baptízomai hypér tón nekrón】。这是保罗与否认复活的哥林多人争论时的附属论点，保罗认为否认复活使死人的洗礼完全失去了意义（林前 15:29）。他在此处指的是什么，他论点的真正力量或主旨是什么呢？

A first and obvious suggestion is that there was in Corinth an actual practice “of survivors allowing themselves to be baptized on behalf of (believing?) friends who had died without baptism” (Alf., in loc.). This certainly seems to be the plain meaning of the phrase, but there are some good reasons for rejecting this interpretation. (1) Apart from a possible reference in Tertullian (De res. 48c), there is evidence of such a practice only among heretical groups like the Cerinthians and the Marcionites. (2) The practice as such seems inconsistent with Paul’s general teaching. (3) If the practice existed without his approval, he would hardly be likely to appeal to it as the ground of so important a doctrine.

Many alternatives have been suggested, though most of them are strained and artificial. The following may be mentioned as perhaps the most helpful. First, baptisms often took place through the influence of dead friends, or through the actual witness of Christian death; but this would be nonsensical if there were no resurrection of the dead. Second, baptism is with a view to the dead, i.e., to their resurrection; but again this is pointless if there is no hope of resurrection.

The main difficulty with this kind of interpretation is that it does not give a strict rendering of what Paul actually says. On the other hand, it may be that Paul is here inserting a hurried parenthetical question which, like the similar question in 15:30, is a little obscure in its phrasing, because it has its main force by allusion rather than by full and clear statement. There can certainly be no doubt as to the underlying interconnection of baptism, death, and resurrection. Thus the question

首先，哥林多确实有“活着的人代没有受洗便死去的（可能是信主的）朋友受洗”这种习俗（Alf.，见这一章）。这似乎是这句话的普通含义，但仍有一些合理的理由来驳斥这种解释。（1）除了特土良可能提及死者的洗礼（De res. 48c），有证据表明只有像克林萨斯派和马吉安派这类异端教派才有这类习俗。（2）这种习俗似乎不符合保罗的一般教导。（3）如果这种习俗的存在得不到保罗的认可，那么他不太可能将其作为一个重要教义的依据。

虽然人们提出了其他多种可能，但大多数都很勉强，不太真实。下文提到的可能是最有帮助的。首先，这种洗礼通常是藉着已故朋友的影响或真正见证了基督受难的人举行的；但如果没有死人复活，这种洗礼将没有意义。其次，这种洗礼是为了死者，即为了能让他们复活而举行的；如果没有复活的盼望，这种洗礼还是没有意义。

这种解释的主要难点在于它并不能确切解释保罗实际所说的话。从另一方面讲，保罗可能匆忙地在其中插入了一个问题，类似于《哥林多前书》15:30中的问题，这经文的措辞有点晦涩，因为这两句话旨在给出暗示，而不是为了给出全面清晰的陈述。这无疑是在讨论洗礼、死和复活之间潜在的相互联系。因此，这个问题必然意味着：如果没有复活，那么死人的洗礼或代死人受洗的意义又是什么呢？ must mean: What is the value of a baptism unto death, or of the death signified in baptism, if there is no resurrection?

BAPTISM OF FIRE

[Gk. (baptísei) en (pneúmati hagiō kai pyri)]. This expression is found in Mt. 3:11 and Lk. 3:16. Two explanations are advanced. The first is that these are two different baptisms, the one of life (the spirit) and the other of judgment (fire). Arguments for this view are (1) that Luke immediately refers in v. 17 to the judicial work of Christ in terms of fire; (2) that baptism carries with it the thought of death and judgment as well as life and salvation; and (3) that Christ in relation to His atoning work links fire and baptism in the important sayings in Lk. 12:49f.

The second explanation is that the Holy Spirit and fire are here equated. In development of this interpretation it is argued (1) that the copulative demands equation; (2) that the Spirit is linked with tongues like as of fire in Acts 2:3; and (3) that fire may equally well symbolize the purifying, energizing, and even enlightening work of the Spirit.

Probably we should be wiser to think in terms of an interconnection of these various motifs instead of a stark alternative, since the work of the Spirit is also connected with judgment (Jn. 16:8), and the evangelical word and sacraments can be the savor of death to unbelievers as well as of life to believers (2 Cor. 2:15f.). In any case we are not to think of a literal baptism of fire as reported of the Origenists and others.

BAPTISM OF FIRE 火的洗礼

【希腊语: (baptísei) en (pneúmati hagiō kai pyri)】。《马太福音》3:11 和《路加福音》3:16 中使用了这一表达。学者们给出了两种解释。第一种解释认为,这是两种不同的洗礼,一种是生命(灵)的洗礼,另一种是审判(火)的洗礼。支持这种观点的论据是(1)路加紧接着(路3:17)提到了耶稣藉着火所做的审判工作;(2)洗礼表达了死和审判、生命和救赎的思想;(3)基督在祂的救赎中将《路加福音》12:49-50 重要话语中的火与洗礼联系在一起。

第二种解释认为这里提到的圣灵和火是等同的。这种解释发展为(1)联合需要等同;(2)圣灵与《使徒行传》2:3 中火焰般的舌头有关;(3)火可能同样象征着圣灵的洁净、感动工作,甚至象征着启蒙工作。

或许我们应该更明智些,考虑到上述各种解释的内在联系,而不是简单地只考虑一种可能,因为圣灵的工作也与审判有关(约16:8),福音的话语和圣礼可能作了死的香气叫不信的人死,也可能作了活的香气叫信的人活(林后2:15-16)。无论如何,我们不能像俄利根派和其他学者所说的那样,仅考虑字面意义上的火的洗礼。

BAPTISM OF THE HOLY SPIRIT.

I. Biblical Material.—The expression “baptism of the Holy Spirit” is based on a number of predictions found in our four Gospels and the record of their fulfillment in the book of Acts. The passages in the Gospels are as follows: Mt. 3:11: “I baptize you with water for repentance, but he who is coming after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry; he will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and with fire.” The last clause is Gk. autos hymās baptisei en pneūmati hagiō kai pyri. In Mk. 1:8 and Lk. 3:16 we have the declaration in a slightly modified form; and in Jn. 1:33 John the Baptist declares that the descent of the Spirit upon Jesus at His baptism marked out Jesus as “he who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.” Again in Jn. 7:37f. we read: “Now on the last day of the feast, the great day, Jesus stood up and proclaimed, ‘If anyone thirst, let him come to me and drink. He who believes in me, as the scripture has said, “Out of his heart shall flow rivers of living water.”’” Then the Evangelist adds in v. 39: “Now this he said about the Spirit, which those who believed in him were to receive; for as yet the Spirit had not been given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.” These are the specific references in the four Gospels to the baptisms of the Holy Spirit. In Acts we find direct reference by Luke to the promised baptism in the Holy Spirit. In 1:5 Jesus, just before His ascension, contrasts John’s baptism in water with the baptism in the Holy Spirit that the disciples are to receive “before many

BAPTISM OF THE HOLY SPIRIT. 圣灵的洗

I. 《圣经》中的资料。“圣灵的洗”这个表达的基础是四福音书中的大量预言和《使徒行传》中预言应验的记载。四福音书中的经文如下:《马太福音》3:11:“我是用水给你们施洗,叫你们悔改;但那在我以后来的,能力比我更大,我就是给他提鞋也不配。他要用圣灵与火给你们施洗”。最后一个分句的希腊语是 autos hymās baptisei en pneūmati hagiō kai pyri。《马可福音》1:8和《路加福音》3:16中的话语稍有不同;在《约翰福音》1:33中,施洗约翰称耶稣受洗时圣灵降临在祂身上,这表明耶稣就是“用圣灵施洗的”。《约翰福音》7:37-38中也记载道:“节期的末日,就是最大之日,耶稣站着高声说:‘人若渴了,可以到我这里来喝!信我的人,就如经上所说‘从他腹中要流出活水的江河来’”。随后,这位福音传道者又写道(约 7:39):“耶稣这话是指着信他之人要受圣灵说的,那时还没有赐下圣灵来,因为耶稣尚未得着荣耀”。这是四福音书中确切提及洗礼的经文。路加在《使徒行传》直接提到了耶稣所应许的圣灵的洗。在《使徒行传》1:5中,耶稣升天之前不久,将约翰用水施洗与使徒“不多几日”将要受的圣灵的洗做了对比,在《使徒行传》1:8中,耶稣预言使徒将受圣灵的洗,并因此得到作耶稣见证的能力。耶稣复活那天晚上向门徒显现,并“向他们吹一口气,说:‘你们受圣灵’”(约 20:22)。这可能不完全是象征性的动作,而是真正地与门徒交流,在一定程度上赐下圣灵,为后来圣灵完全降临埋下伏笔。 days,” and in v. 8 power in witnessing for Jesus is predicted as the result of the baptism in the Holy Spirit. On the evening of the resurrection day Jesus appeared to the disciples and “he breathed on them, and said to them, ‘Receive the Holy Spirit’” (Jn. 20:22). This was probably not a wholly symbolic act but an actual communication to the disciples, in some measure, of the gift of the Spirit, preliminary to the later complete bestowal.

We observe next the fulfillment of these predictions as recorded in Acts. The gift of the Holy Spirit on the day of Pentecost and the miraculous manifestations that followed are clearly the chief historical fulfillment of the prediction of the baptism of the Holy Spirit. Among the manifestations of the coming of the Spirit at Pentecost were first those that were physical, such as “a sound ... like the rush of a mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they were sitting” (Acts 2:2), and the appearance of “tongues as of fire, distributed and resting on each one of them” (v. 3). Second, there were spiritual results: “And they were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance” (v. 4). In vv. 16–21 Peter declares that this bestowal of the Holy Spirit is in fulfillment of the prediction made by the prophet Joel, and he cites the words in 2:28–32 of Joel’s prophecy.

There is one other important passage in Acts in which reference is made to the baptism of the Holy Spirit. While Peter was speaking to Cornelius (Acts 10:44) the Holy Spirit fell on all that heard the word, and the Jews who were with Peter “were amazed, because the gift of the

接下来要分析的是《使徒行传》记载的这些预言的应验。五旬节上圣灵的恩赐和那之后的奇迹显然是圣灵的洗的预言在历史上主要的应验。五旬节上圣灵降临时首先出现了有形的奇迹，如“有响声下来，好像一阵大风吹过，充满了他们所坐的屋子”（徒 2:2），然后“又有舌头如火焰显现出来，分开落在他们各人头上”（徒 2:3）。随后出现的是属灵的奇迹：“他们就都被圣灵充满，按着圣灵所赐的口才说起别国的话来”（徒 2:4）。在《使徒行传》2:16-21 中，彼得称圣灵降临应验了先知约珥的预言，他引用了《约珥书》2:28-32 中约珥的预言。

《使徒行传》中还有一处重要的经文提到了圣灵的洗。当彼得与哥尼流说话时（徒 10:44），圣灵降临在一切听道的人身上，和彼得一起的犹太人“见圣灵的恩赐也浇在外邦人身上，就都希奇”。彼得在耶路撒冷给弟兄们讲他拜访哥尼流发生的事时，称他所见证的是圣灵

Holy Spirit had been poured out even on the Gentiles.” When giving the brethren at Jerusalem an account of his visit to Cornelius, Peter declares that this event he had witnessed was a baptism of the Holy Spirit (Acts 11:16): “And I remembered the word of the Lord, how he said, ‘John indeed baptized with water, but you shall be baptized with the Holy Spirit.’”

II. Significance.-A. From the Point of View of OT Teaching as to the Gift of the Spirit. The prophecy of Joel quoted by Peter indicates something extraordinary in the gift of the Spirit at Pentecost. The Spirit now comes in new forms of manifestation and with new power. The various classes mentioned as receiving the Spirit indicate the wide diffusion of the new power. In the OT the Spirit was usually bestowed upon individuals; here the gift is to the group of disciples, the Church. Here the gift is permanently bestowed, while in the OT it was usually transient and for a special purpose. Here again the Spirit comes in fulness as contrasted with the partial bestowal in OT times.

B. From the Point of View of the Ascended Christ. In Lk. 24:49 Jesus commands the disciples to tarry in the city “until you are clothed with power from on high,” and in Jn. 15:26 He speaks of the Counselor “whom I shall send to you from the Father, ... he will bear witness to me.” In Jn. 16:13 Jesus declares that the Spirit when He comes will guide the disciples into all truth, and He will show them things to come. In this verse the Spirit is called the Spirit of truth. It was fitting that the Spirit who was to interpret truth and guide into all truth should come in fulness after, rather than before, the completion of

的洗(徒 11:16):“我就想起主的话说:‘约翰是用水施洗,但你们要受圣灵的洗’”。

II. 重要性。A. 从《旧约》中的教训来看圣灵的恩赐。彼得所引用的约珥的预言表明了五旬节上圣灵的恩赐是非凡之事。圣灵现在以新的显现形式和新的力量降临。领受圣灵的不同阶级表明了这种新力量的广泛传播。在《旧约》中,圣灵通常降临在个人身上;而在《新约》中,圣灵的恩赐给了门徒全体,即教会。《新约》中圣灵的恩赐是永久的,而在《旧约》中,恩赐通常是暂时的,并且有特殊目的。《新约》中的圣灵充满了领受的人,而《旧约》中圣灵只是部分降临。

B. 从升天的基督的角度看圣灵的恩赐。在《路加福音》24:49中,耶稣要求门徒在城里等候,直到他们领受从上头来的能力,在《约翰福音》15:26中,耶稣称“我要从父那里差保惠师来……他来了,就要为我作见证”。在《约翰福音》16:13中,耶稣称等圣灵来了,祂要引导门徒明白一切真理,并要把将来的事告诉他们。在这节中,圣灵被称为真理的圣灵。这个称呼是合理的,将要解释真理并引导门徒明白一切真理的圣灵应当在弥撒亚生平使命完成之后完全降临,而不是在这使命完成之前降临。由此完成的神圣真理的历史性显现使完全的圣灵恩赐变得必不可少。基

the life-task of the Messiah. The historical manifestation of divine truth as thus completed made necessary the gift of the Spirit in fulness. Christ Himself was the giver of the Spirit. The Spirit now takes the place of the ascended Christ, or rather takes the things of Christ and shows them to the disciples. The baptism of the Spirit at Pentecost thus inaugurates, on the basis of the completed work of Christ, the worldwide mission of the Church in fulfillment of the Great Commission and with the promised presence and empowering of Mt. 28:19f.

C. From the Point of View of the Disciples. It can hardly be said with truth that Pentecost was the birthday of the Church. Jesus had spoken of His Church during His earthly ministry. The spiritual relation to Christ that constitutes the basis of the Church existed prior to the baptism of the Holy Spirit. But the baptism established the Church in several ways. It did so in unity, the external bond being strengthened by an inner spiritual bond of common quickening and endowment. Second, the Church now became conscious of a spiritual mission, and the material expectations the disciples had had right up to the Ascension in Acts 1 now disappeared. Third, the Church was now endued with power for its work. Among the gifts bestowed were the gift of prophecy in the large sense of speaking for God, and the gift of tongues, which enabled disciples to speak in foreign tongues. The account in Acts 2 admits of no other construction. There was also bestowed power in witnessing for Christ. This was indeed one of the most prominent blessings named in connection with the promise of the baptism of the Spirit. The power of working miracles was also bestowed (Acts 3:4ff.; 5:12ff.). Later in the Epistles of Paul much emphasis is given to the Spirit as the sanctifying agent in the hearts of believers. In Acts the word of the Spirit is chiefly messianic, i.e., the Spirit's activity is all seen in relation to the extension of the messianic kingdom. The occasion for the outpouring of the Spirit is Pentecost, when men from all nations were assembled in Jerusalem. The symbolic representation of tongues of fire is suggestive of preaching, and the glossolalia—or speaking with tongues—that followed, so that men of various nations heard the gospel in their own languages, indicates that the baptism of the Spirit had a very special relation to the task of worldwide evangelization for the bringing in of the kingdom of God.

C. 从门徒的角度看圣灵的恩赐。很难确定地说教会是五旬节那天诞生的。耶稣在地上传道时曾提到过祂的教会。教会与基督的属灵联系是教会的基础，这在圣灵的洗之前就已经存在。但洗礼以多种方式建立了教会。首先，洗礼让教会合一，教徒们共同领受了赐予生命的灵和圣灵的恩赐，属灵的纽带加强了外在的联合。其次，现在教会认识到了属灵的使命，直至《使徒行传》第1章耶稣被接升天之时使徒们一直抱有的现实期望现在消失了。再次，教会所获得的恩赐有预言的天赋，这是从广义上说的代表上帝说话，此外还有语言能力，因此门徒可以说外邦人的话。《使徒行传》2章中的描述不可能存在其他的解释。门徒还被赐予为基督作见证的能力。这确实是与圣灵的洗的应许有关的最重要的恩赐。神还赐予门徒行神迹的权柄（徒3:4起；5:12起）。后来的《保罗书信》则强调圣灵在信徒心里作圣洁的代理。在《使徒行传》中，使徒被圣灵充满所说的话语主要是弥撒亚式的，圣灵的活动都与弥撒亚王国的扩展有关。圣灵在五旬节降临，那时来自万邦的人将聚集在耶路撒冷。火的语言象征着传道和随之出现的言语不清或说方言，所以各族的人都听到本族语言的福音，这表明圣灵的洗礼与旨在将世人领

III. Finality of the Baptism of the Holy Spirit.—The question is often raised whether or not the baptism of the Holy Spirit occurred once for all or has been repeated in subsequent baptisms. The evidence seems to point to the former view to the extent at least of being limited to outpourings that took place in connection with events recorded in the early chapters of Acts. The following considerations favor this view:

(1) In Acts 1 Jesus predicts, according to Luke's account, that the baptism of the Holy Spirit would take place "before many days" (Acts 1:5). This would seem to point to a definite and specific event rather than to a continuous process.

(2) Peter's citation in Acts 2:17–21 of Joel's prophecy shows that in Peter's mind the event his hearers were witnessing was the definite fulfillment of the words of Joel.

入神的国的普世传道有着极为特殊的关系。

III. 圣灵洗礼的终结。经常有人提出这样的问题，圣灵的洗礼只有一次，还是会重复多次。证据似乎都指向前一种观点，至少圣灵的降临仅与《使徒行传》前几章的事件有关。以下理由支持这一观点：

(1) 在《使徒行传》1章，根据路加的描述，耶稣预言，将在“不多几日”受圣灵的洗（徒 1:5）。这似乎指向一个明确、具体的事件，而不是一个连续的过程。

(2) 在《使徒行传》2:17-21 中，彼得引用约珥的预言表明，彼得认为他的听众所见证的事件明确地应验了约珥的话。

(3) The one other event that is described in the NT as the baptism of the Holy Spirit may be regarded as the completion of the pentecostal baptism. The passage is that contained in Acts 10:1–11:18, in which the record is given of the following events: (a) a miraculous vision is given to Peter on the housetop (10:11–16), indicating that the things about to occur are of unique importance; (b) speaking in tongues occurs (10:45f.); (c) Peter declares to the brethren at Jerusalem that the Holy Spirit fell on the Gentiles, in this instance Cornelius and his household, “as on us at the beginning” (11:15); (d) Peter also declares that this was a fulfillment of the promise of the baptism of the Holy Spirit (11:16f.); (e) the Jewish Christians who hear Peter’s account acknowledge this as proof that God has also extended the privileges of the gospel to the Gentiles (11:18). The baptism of the Holy Spirit bestowed upon Cornelius and his household is thus directly linked with the first outpouring at Pentecost, and as the event signaling the formal opening of the door of the gospel to Gentiles, it is in complete harmony with the missionary significance of the first great pentecostal outpouring. It marks a turning point or crisis in the messianic kingdom, for it completes the pentecostal gift by showing that Gentiles as well as Jews are to be embraced in all the privileges of the new dispensation.

(4) Nowhere in the Epistles do we find a repetition of the special baptism of the Spirit. This would be remarkable if it was understood by the writers of the Epistles that this baptism was frequently to be repeated. There is no evidence outside the book of Acts that the baptism of the Spirit

(3)《新约》中描述的另一个关于圣灵洗礼的事件可以被视为五旬节洗礼的结束。《使徒行传》10:1-11:18 的经文记载了以下事件：(a) 彼得在屋顶看到了异象（徒 10:11-16），这表明即将发生的事具有独特的重要性；(b) 说方言（徒 10:45-46）；(c) 彼得对耶路撒冷的弟兄们说，圣灵将降临在外邦人身上，降临在哥尼流和他的家人身上，“正像当初降临在我们身上一样”（徒 11:15）；(d) 彼得还说，这应验了圣灵所应许的洗礼（徒 11:16-17）；(e) 听到保罗描述的犹太基督徒承认，神也赐恩给外邦人（徒 11:18）。圣灵降临在哥尼流和他的家人身上，因此，这与五旬节圣灵的降临有直接的关联，这一事件标志着向外邦人传福音的大门已经正式打开，它与五旬节圣灵首次降临的传教意义完全一致。圣灵的洗礼是弥赛亚国度的转折点或决定性时刻，因为外邦人和犹太人也将得着所有的新恩赐，这证明圣灵的洗礼成就了五旬节的赏赐。

(4) 我们在使徒书信中看不到这种特殊圣灵洗礼重复出现。若书信作者认为这种洗礼是需要频繁经历的，那么定会表述得十分清楚。《使徒行传》之外的其他经卷都不能证明，在后来的新约时期曾经出现过圣灵的洗礼。保罗在《哥林多前书》12:13 中说，“我们……都从

ever occurred in later NT times. In 1 Cor. 12:13 Paul says, “For by one Spirit we were all baptized into one body ... and all were made to drink of one Spirit.” But here the reference is not to the baptism of the Spirit, but rather to a baptism into the Church, which is the body of Christ. We conclude, therefore, that according to the NT teaching the pentecostal baptism, taken in conjunction with the baptism of the Spirit in the case of Cornelius, completes the baptism of the Holy Spirit as a special event. The baptism of the Spirit as thus bestowed was, however, the definite gift of the Spirit in His fulness for every form of spiritual blessing through the divinely ordained ministry of word and sacrament. All subsequent NT writings assume this presence of the Spirit and His availability for all believers. The various commands and exhortations of the Epistles are based on the assumption that the baptism of the Spirit has already taken place, and that, according to the prediction of Jesus to the disciples, the Spirit is to be with them forever (Jn. 14:16). We should not therefore confuse other forms of expression found in the NT with the baptism of the Holy Spirit. When Christians are enjoined to “walk by the Spirit” (Gal 5:16) and “be filled with the Spirit” (Eph. 5:18), or when the Spirit is described as an anointing (Gk. chrísma) as in 1 Jn. 2:20–27, and as the “guarantee of our inheritance” (arrabón) as in Eph. 1:14, and when various other similar expressions are employed in the Epistles of the NT, we are not to understand them as references to the baptism of the Holy Spirit. These expressions indicate aspects of the Spirit’s work in believers or of the believer’s appropriation of the gifts and blessings of the Spirit, rather than the historical baptism of the Spirit.

一位圣灵受洗，成了一体，饮于一位圣灵。”但这里说的不是圣灵的洗礼，而是进入教会的洗礼，而教会是基督的身体。因此，我们可以总结为，根据《新约》中的教导，五旬节的洗礼与哥尼流所受的圣灵的洗相结合，共同构成了圣灵的洗这一特殊事件。然而，圣灵的洗是从圣灵丰满的恩典那里领受的明确的礼物，祂通过神所规定的传道职事和圣礼赐予各种属灵的祝福。随后所有的新约作品都假定存在圣灵，并且所有的信徒都可以领受圣灵的指引。使徒书信中的各种命令和训诫都以领受了圣灵的洗礼为前提，根据耶稣向门徒所说的预言，圣灵永远与他们同在(约 14:16)。因此，我们不应该将《新约》中其他形式的表达与圣灵的洗礼混为一谈。当吩咐基督徒“顺着圣灵而行”(加 5:16)，“被圣灵充满”(弗 5:18)时，或像《约翰一书》2:20-27 那样将圣灵描述成恩膏(希腊语: chrísma)，像《以弗所书》1:14 那样将圣灵描述成“我们得基业的凭据”(arrabón)，亦或像《新约》的使徒书信中那样采用其他各种类似的表达时，我们不要认为它们指的是圣灵的洗礼。这些表述指出了圣灵在信徒里做工的各个方面或信徒领受圣灵的恩赐和祝福的各个方面，而不是历史中的圣灵的洗礼。

Three final points require brief attention, viz., the relation of the baptism of the Spirit to baptism in water, to baptism with fire, and to the laying on of hands.

(1) The baptism of the Spirit was not meant to supersede water baptism. This is clear from the whole history of Acts, where water baptism is uniformly administered to converts after the pentecostal baptism of the Spirit, as well as from numerous references in the Epistles (cf. Rom 6:3; 1 Cor. 1:14-17; 10:2; 12:13; Gal. 3:27; etc.). On the contrary, the baptism of the Spirit brings out the true significance of the rite, inward baptism being the regeneration that the work of the Spirit accomplishes on the basis of the death and resurrection of Christ and through the ministry of the gospel.

(2) The relation of the baptism of the Spirit to that of fire is discussed in BAPTISM OF FIRE. If the two are complementary, we are to refer the latter to judgment; if they are parallel, we are to think in terms of the phenomenon of Acts 2:3 and of the convicting as well as the converting ministry of the outpoured Spirit.

(3) In Acts 8:17 and 19:6 an endowment with the Spirit is connected with the laying on of hands. Three problems arise: (a) whether this is a genuine repetition of the baptism of the Spirit; (b) what is its relation to baptism; (c) whether the practice mentioned is to be continued in the Church. As regards the first, we are to note that this is an individual reception of spiritual gifts rather than the specific and nonrecurrent descent of the Spirit at

必须简要关注最后三个要点,即圣灵的洗礼与水的洗礼、火的洗礼和按手礼的关系。

(1) 圣灵的洗礼不是为了代替水的洗礼。整个《使徒行传》的历史和使徒书信(参:罗 6:3; 林前 1:14-17; 10:2; 12:13; 加 3:27 等)中的许多参考经文都阐明了这一点,在《使徒行传》中,受过五旬节圣灵洗礼的归信者都要接受水的洗礼。相反,圣灵的洗礼显示出这个仪式的真正意义,内在的洗礼使人重生,圣灵藉着基督的死亡和复活,并通过福音传道完成祂的工作。

(2) 火的洗礼(见 BAPTISM OF FIRE)词条中论述了圣灵的洗礼与火的洗礼的关系。如果两者是互补的,那么我们应该认为火的洗礼是一种审判;如果两者是类似的,那么我们应该从《使徒行传》2:3 中描述的异象、定罪和归信传播圣灵降临的福音三个方面考虑这两种洗礼。

在《使徒行传》8:17 和 19:6 中,领受圣灵与按手礼联系在一起。这就产生了三个问题:(a) 这是不是真的在重复受圣灵的洗;(b) 按手礼与洗礼存在怎样的关系;(c) 教会中是否一直保留着经文中提到的这种习俗。首先,我们应该注意,这是个人领受了圣灵的恩赐,而不是只在五旬节出现的圣灵降临。其次,领受圣灵与洗礼结合在一起,可能所有的信徒都相信这一点,但这显然并不排除存在特殊的属灵恩赐的可能。再

Pentecost. As regards the second, the new birth of the Spirit is linked with baptism and may be presumed of all believers, but obviously does not preclude special spiritual endowments. As regards the third, we have no command to follow the example of the apostles, nor is there evidence of any definite conveyance of spiritual blessing, e.g., in confirmation or ordination. Continuation of the practice also involves the danger of minimizing the regenerative work of the Spirit at the expense of subsequent endowment. On the other hand, there is no reason why the scriptural practice of laying on of hands with prayer should not be continued as such, i.e., so long as there is no thought of a necessary bestowal of spiritual gifts by this means. See also HANDS, LAYING ON OF.
