God, the divine message came from between the two cherubim (Nu. 7:89). Cherubim were also woven into the fabric of the tabernacle and the veil (Ex. 26:1, 31; 36:8, 35).

In a highly complex vision experienced by Ezekiel (1:4–28), four winged living creatures were accompanied everywhere by wheels that were “full of eyes all round” (NEB Ezk. 1:18). Although the text nowhere states that these creatures were actually cherubim, this has been inferred from a comparable vision in 10:1–22, where most translations follow the LXX as against the MT in reading a plural form of the term cherub. In the first vision these agents’ only divine service was reflecting God’s glorious presence, but in the second they were stationed at the right side of the temple entrance, filling the inner court and its precincts with the sound of their beating wings. These beings also were attended by wheels, and when the divine glory moved the cherubim accompanied it, ultimately halting at the east gateway of the temple (10:19). Their functions, particularly in divine worship, seemed less direct than those of the SERAPHIM of Isaiah’s vision (cf. Isa. 6:1–8). The cherubim of Ex. 25:18–22 appear to have provided with their wings a visible pedestal for God’s invisible throne (cf. 1 S. 4:4; 2 S. 6:2; Ps. 80:1; etc.). Such activity was apparently implicit in Ezekiel’s vision, in which the throne of God that was upheld by the cherubim became highly mobile. The duties of cherubim as guardians were again reflected in the ode on the fall of the king of Tyre (Ezk. 28:11–23), where the parallel with man’s decline from pristine grace is evident.

以西结看到了极其复杂的异象（结 1:4–28），四个长着翅膀的活物乘着四个轮子到处行走，四个轮辋“周围满有眼睛”（《新英文译本》，结 1:18）。虽然这段经文中并没有说这些活物实际上就是基路伯，但是根据《以西结书》10:1–22 的类似异象推测，这些活物就是基路伯，这段经文的绝大多数翻译遵照《七十士译本》，而不是《马所拉文本》，将基路伯这个词写成复数形式。在以西结的第一个异象中，这些基路伯彰显了神的荣耀，这是他们唯一的神圣职分，但在第二个异象中，这些基路伯停在圣殿入口的右侧，内院以及周围地区充满了基路伯拍打翅膀的声音。当耶和华的荣耀从殿的门槛那里出去时，这些基路伯也乘着轮子，并且最终停在耶和华殿的东门口（结 10:19）。基路伯的作用，尤其是他们在敬拜神上的作用似乎不如以赛亚异象中的撒拉弗（见 SERAPHIM[撒拉弗]）的作用直接（参：赛 6:1–8）。《出埃及记》25:18–22 中的基路伯似乎用他们的翅膀为神的无形君权提供了一个有形的基座（参：撒上 4:4；撒下 6:2；诗 80:1 等）。以西结的异象中显然也暗示出这一点，在以西结的异象中，基路伯之上的神的宝座可以随意移动。关于推罗王灭亡的哀歌也体现出基路伯是约柜的守护者（结 28:11–23），在这段哀歌中推罗王与因堕落而远离神最初恩典的人类一样。

North Syrian iconic practice was amply reflected in the decor of Solomon's temple, which was constructed along contemporary lines by Phoenician craftsmen. Cherubim were prominent in a decorative frieze which was carved around the walls, while the inner sanctuary was dominated by two huge cherubim made from olivewood and plated with gold leaf (1 K. 6:23-29; 2 Ch. 3:10-14; 5:7-9). Their height and wingspan were both about 15 ft. (4.5 m.), and when assembled they covered one whole wall. Cherubim also formed part of the decorative motif on the bronze basins that were used for ritual ablutions (1 K. 7:27-39). The extent to which the Solomonic temple was indebted to Phoenician religious theory and practice has been made evident by archeological discoveries. Excavations have revealed that in Canaanite temples a winged sphinx was a popular iconic element, and the Hebrew cherubim as fashioned by Phoenician (i.e., Canaanite) craftsmen may well have been intended to represent such creatures rather than the cherubim of the tabernacle period.

叙利亚北部的基路伯图案在所罗门圣殿的装饰上得到了充分的体现，所罗门圣殿是腓尼基工匠根据同时期建筑建造的。基路伯安在内殿里，雕刻在内殿外殿周围的墙上，至圣所内也有两个用橄榄木雕刻的巨大的基路伯，外面用金子包裹着（王上 6:23-29；代下 3:10-14；5:7-9）。他们的高度和翅膀约 15 英尺（4.5 米），当将两个基路伯并放在一起时，遮住了一整面墙。基路伯也是用于洗礼的铜盆上的一个装饰性图案（王上 7:27-39）。考古发掘显然已经证明了所罗门圣殿受到了腓尼基宗教思想和宗教风俗的影响。考古发掘显示，迦南神庙中的有翅膀的石狮人面像是迦南地区常见的标志性形象，腓尼基工匠（也就是迦南人）雕刻的希伯来基路伯很能是想要展示狮身人面的活物，而不是会幕时期的基路伯。 touching. One of them advances toward a sacred tree. Part of an ivory panel from Nimrūd (8th cent. B.C.) (Trustees of the British Museum)

Artistic representations of cherubim have been recovered from several Near Eastern sites including Taanach, Carchemish, Tell Halâf, and Aleppo. Particularly fine examples came from Nimrūd, where an ivory panel depicted two winged, sphinx-like creatures standing back to back, and also from Samaria, where cherubim were represented in considerable detail on ivory panels. These showed a figure with a human face, a four-legged animal body, and two large wings. At Gebal (Byblos) excavators recovered a carving of two cherubim supporting the throne of King Hiram of Gebal (ca. 1200 B.C.) and presumably guarding the monarch from danger. Symbolic winged beings were a regular feature of Near Eastern mythology and architecture alike. Statues of winged bulls (Akk. šēdu) and lions were stationed at the entrances of important public buildings in Assyria and Babylonia to afford magical protection for the structures and their contents. Among the Hittites the griffin was a popular mythological creature, an amalgam of lion, eagle, and sphinx.

Ezekiel's visions appear to reflect primarily the reactions of a mystic personality to the Babylonian statuary and, despite the complex descriptions, furnish little understanding of the nature and appearance of cherubim. More difficult to comprehend are the suprahuman beings of Gen. 3:24, since that material issues from a background of Sumerian historiography. Although winged creatures were represented in Sumerian literature, as in the vision of the pious Gudea of Lagash, they were not portrayed artistically in the Assyrian fashion.

The most that can be said with certainty is that in Scripture the cherubim were celestial beings whose duty in the heavenly hierarchy apparently was to guard and protect. Although they were closely associated with the personage and will of God, there is no indication that they were in any sense ethical or moral beings or that they performed functions analagous to those of the seraphim.

kes'ə-lon [Heb. k'sālōn; Gk. Chaslon, Chasalōn]; NEB KESALON. A city on the northern boundary of Judah (Josh. 15:10). It is now identified with Keslā, about 9 mi. (14 km.) W of Jerusalem.

kē'sed, kes'ed [Heb. kešed; Gk. Chaszad]; NEB KESED. One of the sons of Nahor and Milcah (Gen. 22:22); he was probably the ancestor of the Kašdīm. The early Babylonian form kašdu appears in Assyrian as Kaldu or Kaldû. The RSV follows the Assyrian and Greek style of writing the name and uses Chaldees or Chaldeans instead of Casdim.

最多可以肯定地说,《圣经》中的基路伯是天上的事物,显然,按照天上的等级,它们肩负着守护和保护的职责。虽然它们与神的先知和神的意志存在着紧密的联系,但没有任何迹象表明它们通晓伦理道德,或者说它们的作用类似于撒拉弗。

CHEHALON 基撒仑

音译: kes'ə-lon 【希伯来语: k'sālōn; 希腊语: Chaslon, Chasalōn】;《新英文译本》译为 KESALON (“基撒仑”)。犹大北部边境上的一座城市(书 15:10)。基撒仑现在被认为是耶路撒冷以西约 9 英里(14 公里)处的盖什拉(Keslā)。

CHESED 基薛

of the Euphrates, at the head of the Persian Gulf. Abram came from Ur of the Chaldees (Gen. 11:28, 31; 15:7; Neh. 9:7). In Job 1:17 the Kaśdîm are described as invading the land of Uz, the eldest brother of Chesed (Gen. 22:21f.). In the days of Nebuchadrezzar the kaśdîm overran Syria and Palestine and carried the people of Judah in successive deportations into captivity (2 K. 24:1f., 10ff.; 25:1ff.). In Dnl. 2:2, 5 the Kaśdîm are named with the magicians and astrologers as a learned class, skilled in interpretations. Kaśdîym (or Kaśdîmâ) is sometimes used in Hebrew for the land of Chaldea (Ezk. 23:15f.; 11:24).

CHESIL

kē'səl, kes'il [Heb. kē'sîl; Gk. Chaseir]; NEB KESIL. A town in the extreme south of Judah named with Eltolad, Hormah, and Ziklag (Josh. 15:30). The name does not occur again. In Josh. 19:4 it is replaced by Bethul (Gk. Baithēl), and in 1 Ch. 4:30 by Bethuel.

CHEST

[Heb. 'ārôn] (2 K. 12:9f.; 2 Ch. 24:8, 10f.). Heb. 'ārôn is cognate to Akk. arānu, Ugar. 'arn, Phoen. 'rn, Aram. 'rn'. The word means "box, chest, coffin" (the latter especially in the Phoenician inscriptions and in rabbinic Hebrew; cf. Gen. 50:26). The "chest" in 2 K. 12 and 2 Ch. 24:8 was probably of wood (the "ark of the covenant" was made of acacia wood [Ex. 25:10]). In 2 K. 12:9 the LXX has Gk. kibōtón, "wooden box, chest," while in 2 Ch. 24:8 it renders Heb. 'ārôn eḥād, "one chest," with glōssókomon,

CHESIL 基失

音译：kē'səl, kes'il 【希伯来语：kē'sîl；希腊语：Chaseir】；《新英文译本》译为 KESIL（“基失”）。犹大最南边的一座城邑，除了基失，《约书亚记》15:30 中还提到了伊勒多腊、何珥玛和洗革拉。这个地名在其他经文中再没有出现过。在《约书亚记》19:4 中，比土力（希腊语：Baithēl）取代了基失，在《历代志上》4:30 中，彼土利取代了基失。

CHEST 柜子、箱子、棺材

【希伯来语：'ārôn】（王下 12:9-10; 代下 24:8, 10-11）。希伯来语 'ārôn 与阿卡德语 arānu、乌加列语 'arn、腓尼基语 'rn 和亚兰语 'rn 是同根词。这个词的意思是“箱子、柜子和棺材”（该词作为“棺材”的含义在腓尼基铭文和拉比希伯来语中尤为常见；参：创 50:26）。《列王纪下》12 章和《历代志下》24:8 提到的“柜子”可能是木质的（“约柜”是用皂荚木制成的[出 25:10]）。《七十士译本》将《列王纪下》12:9 中这个希伯来语译为希腊语 kibōtón，意为“木箱、木柜”，但将《历代志下》24:8 的希伯来

“case, container” (cf. Jn. 12:6; 13:29, “money box”).

In 2 K. 12:9f., at the request of King Jehoshaphat that temple repairs be undertaken, Jehoiada the priest took “one chest,” bored a hole in its lid, and placed it “beside the altar on the right side as one entered the house of the Lord.” This probably refers to the incense altar inside the temple. The parallel account in 2 Ch. 24:8f. differs slightly. There, at the command of the king, a chest is made and set “outside the gate of the house of the Lord.” In both passages the money collected in the chest was used for temple repairs.

In Ezk. 27:24 the AV renders Heb. b^eginzê b^erômîm “in chests of rich apparel.” The RSV has “in carpets [cf. KoB, p. 190] of colored stuff,” the NEB “in stores of coloured fabric.” The AV and NEB translations are based on Heb. g^enâzîm, meaning “store, treasury” (cf. Est. 3:9; 4:7). The AV probably uses “chest” because it takes Heb. ’âruzîm as “cedar”: “in chests of rich apparel, bound with cords, and made of cedar...” However, Heb. b^eginzê should be translated “garments, fabric” (Tg. Est. 1:3; W. Zimmerli, Ezekiel, II [BKAT, XIII, 1969], 625), and ’âruzîm, a hapax legomenon, as an adjective modifying “ropes” (“tightened, firm”), thus giving “in bicolored garments, bound and tightened with cords,” or the like.

根据《列王纪下》12:9-10 的描述, 约阿施王要求祭司们修理圣殿, 祭司耶何耶大取了“一个柜子”, 在柜盖上钻了一个窟窿, “放于坛旁在进耶和华殿的右边”。这个柜子可能指的是耶和华殿内的香坛。平行经文《历代志下》24:8-9 中的描述稍有不同。根据这段经文的描述, 按照约阿施王的要求, 众人做了一柜, 放在“耶和华殿的门外”。在这两段经文中, 柜中募捐来的银子都用来修理圣殿。

CHEWING THE CUD

[Heb. gērâ-‘cud,’ gārār gērâ- ‘ruminate,’ ma^aleh haggērâ-‘bringing up the cud’]. One of the marks of cleanliness in a quadruped, given in Lev. 11:3 and Dt. 14:6. Among the animals considered fit for food are therefore included the ox, the sheep, the goat, the hart, the gazelle, the roebuck, the wild goat, the ibex, the antelope, and the mountain-sheep (Dt. 14:5). Several of the forbidden animals are expressly named, e.g., the camel, the rock badger, the hare, and the swine (Lev. 11:4-7). See CLEAN AND UNCLEAR II.A; IV.B.3.

CHICKEN

There is no reference to chickens in the OT sufficiently clear to specify our common domestic bird. The many references to “fatted fowl” in these older records, in accordance with the text and the history of the other nations, were to pigeons, guineas, ducks, geese, and swans. The importation of peafowl by Solomon is mentioned in 1 K. 10:22 par. Chickens are distinctive birds and would have been equally a marvel worth recording had they been introduced at that time.

From the history of the bird in other countries it is safe to estimate that they entered Palestine at about the 6th cent. B.C. That would allow sufficient time for them to increase and become common enough to be used as illustrations by Jesus. He mentions the hen (Gk. órnis) and her brood (nossíon, Luke nossiá) in a moving image of divine concern for the Jews who rejected Him (Mt. 23:37; Lk. 13:34).

根据其他地区养殖鸡的历史，可以大胆地推测，巴勒斯坦约在公元前 6 世纪就引进了鸡这种禽类。经过足够长时间的繁殖，在耶稣生活的年代，鸡已经成为一种非常常见的家禽。耶稣在形象地描述神看顾那些背叛祂的犹太人时，提到了母鸡(希腊语: órnis)和小鸡(nossíon, 《路加福音》作 nossiá) (太 23:37; 路 13:34)。

Heads of clan groups (“fathers’ houses”) in the time of Moses (e.g., Nu. 31:26; 36:1), tribal leaders after the settlement in Canaan (e.g., 1 Ch. 5:7, 12), heads of warrior units large and small in David’s time (1 Ch. 11:10ff.; 12:3; etc.), leaders among the returned exiles (e.g., Neh. 10:14; 11:3), and many other kinds of leaders are called in the OT rō’s. The šar could be the chief official of a civil, religious, or military department (see CAPTAIN; PRINCE), such as the chief butler (Gen. 40:2), chief of the Levites (1 Ch. 15; 2 Ch. 35:9), the “chiefs of the service” who helped David organize the temple worship (1 Ch. 25:1), and the chief of the eunuchs in the court of Nebuchadrezzar (Dnl. 1:7ff.).

The Heb. ’allûp in Gen. 36:15ff.; Ex. 15:15; 1 Ch. 1:51–54, translated “duke” in the AV, designates Edomite tribal leaders; the derivation from ’elep, “a thousand,” would indicate the original use for leaders over a thousand men (but the LXX has Gk. hēgemôn, not chiliarchos). The word may relate to an

【希伯来语：ri’sôn】(代上 18:17)；《钦定版圣经》译为 CHIEF；《新英文译本》译为 “in attendance”，汉译均为 “领袖”；CHIEF PRINCE (“太子”)【希伯来语：rō’s (… l’nāgîd)，n’šî’ rō’s，šar ri’sôn】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 “chief, to be ruler” (“太子”，代下 11:22)；《新英文译本》还译为 CROWN PRINCE (“太子”，代下 11:22) 和 “prince of Rosh” (“罗施的王”，结 38:2-3；39:1)；CHIEFTAIN (“首领”)【希伯来语：nāšî’】(代上 5:6)；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 PRINCE (“首领”)。

在《旧约》中，摩西时期的家族首领 (“族长”，如民 31:26；36:21)、定居迦南之后的族长 (如代上 5:7, 12)、大卫时期勇士的首领 (代上 11:10 起；12:3 等)、被掳归回之民的首领 (尼 10:14；11:3) 和许多其他的首领都被称为 rō’s。Šar 可以指民间、宗教或军事组织的领袖 (见 CAPTAIN[首领、军长、船主、护卫长、参谋、百夫长]；PRINCE[王、王子、首领])，如酒政 (创 40:2)、利未人的族长 (代上 15；代下 35:9)、帮助大卫组织圣殿敬拜的 “众首领” (代上 25:1) 和尼布甲尼撒朝中的太监长 (但 1:7 起)。

《钦定版圣经》将《创世记》36:15 起、《出埃及记》15:15 和《历代志上》1:51–54 中的希伯来语 ’allûp 译为 “duke” (“族长”)，这个希伯来词语指的是以东人的族长；这个词从 ’elep (一千) 衍生而来，这说明这个词最初用来表示千夫长 (但《七十士译本》译为希腊语 hēgemôn，而不是 chiliarchos)。虽然我们对以东人

Edomite title, though we know nothing of that language.

In Ex. 24:11 the seventy elders who represented the people at the covenant ratification are called “chief men” (ʿšilīm). The homonymous Hebrew word in Isa. 41:9, however, is not “chief men” as in the AV, but “farthest corners” (RSV, NEB).

The RSV has “chief” for Heb. qāšîn in Josh. 10:24 (“chief of the men of war”) and Prov. 6:7; its Semitic cognates mean “judge,” “decision-maker.” In Ezr. 9:2 certain Jewish leaders are called s^egānîm, “chief men”—a word no doubt brought back from Babylon (cf. Akk. šakun, “perfect”).

The ʿēlîm (sing. ʿayil) of 2 K. 24:15 (Q); Ezk. 17:13, the “chief men of the land,” are probably the landowners or noblemen of Israel; the literal meaning is “rams.” Several MSS read the word also at Ezk. 32:21.

The Heb. nāšîʿ, “one lifted up,” is translated “chief” by the RSV in Nu. 3:32; Josh. 22:14, 30, 32, and “chieftain” (Beerah, leader of a “family” of the Reubenites) in 1 Ch. 5:6. The word has a variety of applications (see BDB, p. 672); in Nu. 3:24, 30, 35 (AV, NEB, “chief”; RSV “head”) it refers to heads of fathers’ houses (see FATHER’S HOUSE); in v. 32, Eleazar son of Aaron is to be “chief over the leaders of the Levites” (n^ešîʿ n^ešîʿ ʿē hallēwî); in 4:34, 46, it designates the Israelite leaders directly under Moses and Aaron (also 7:2, etc.; see LEADER); and in

在《出埃及记》24:11 中，七十位长老被称为“尊者”(ʿšilīm)，他们代表以色列人见证了神与以色列人立约。然而，《以赛亚书》41:9 中同音异义的希伯来词不是《钦定版圣经》中“chief men” (“首领”)，而是指“farthest corners” (“地角”，《修订标注译本》和《新英文译本》)。

《修订标准译本》将《约书亚记》10:24 (“chief of the men of war” [“作战的军长”]) 和《箴言》6:7 中的希伯来语 qāšîn 译为“chief” (“军长、元帅”)；该词的闪族语同根词表示“审判者”和“决策者”。《以斯拉记》9:2 中的一些犹太人领袖被称为 s^egānîm，“官长”——这个词无疑是源自巴比伦语的外来词 (参：阿卡德语：šakun，“完美的”)。

《列王纪下》24:15 (Q 字原材料) 和《以西结书》17:13 中的 ʿēlîm (单数形式：ʿayil)， (“国中的大官”、“国中有势力的人”) 可能指的是以色列的地主或权贵；这个词的字面含义是“公羊”。在一些原稿的《以西结书》32:21 中也可以看到这个词。

在《修订标准译本》中，希伯来语 nāšîʿ，意为“被高举的人”，该词在《民数记》3:32、《约书亚记》22:14、30 和 32 中被译为“chief” (“首领”)，在《历代志上》5:6 中被译为“chieftain” (“首领”，备拉作流便支派的首领)。这个词还有很多意义 (见 BDB, 672 页)；在《民数记》3:24、30、35 中 (《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为“chief”；《修订标准译本》译为“head”，汉译均为“首领”)，指的是宗族的族长 (见 FATHER’S HOUSE [宗族、父家])；在《民数记》3:32 中，亚伦的儿子以利亚撒被称为“利未人众首领的领袖” (n^ešîʿ n^ešîʿ ʿē hallēwî)；

Josh. 22 the word again denotes heads of fathers' houses, "among the clans (^a*lāpîm*) of Israel." (In 22:14 the nāšî' is called rō'š.)

The "chief officers" mentioned in the RSV include Pashhur, head of the temple police, who beat Jeremiah and put him in stocks (Jer. 20:1ff.); Shebuel, in charge of all the keepers of the temple treasuries (1 Ch. 26:24); Conaniah, in charge of the overseers of temple contributions under Hezekiah (2 Ch. 31:12); and Azariah (v. 13; cf. 1 Ch. 9:11), Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel (2 Ch. 35:8), the "chief officers of the house of God," in charge of all those involved in the administration of the temple. All these are called nāgîd. In 1 K. 5:16; 9:23; etc., are mentioned sārê hanniššābîm, superintendents under Solomon "who exercised authority over the people." The "chief officers" of Nebuchadrezzar are called rab (Jer. 39:13), no doubt influenced by Babylonian usage of the cognate term (cf. 41:1).

For "chief prince," and NEB "prince of Rosh," see PRINCE. See also ELDER IN THE OT; RULER; TEMPLE; TRIBE; etc.

CHIEF HOUSE.

在《民数记》4:34 和 4:46 中，这个词表示直接归摩西和亚伦领导的以色列人的首领（另见民 7:2 等；见 LEADER[领袖、首领]）；在《约书亚记》22 章中，这个词也表示宗族的族长，“以色列各家族（^a*lāpîm*）的领袖”。（《约书亚记》22:14 中的 nāšî’被称为 rō'š。）

《修订标准译本》中提到的“总管”包括打了先知耶利米，并将其枷了起来的耶和華殿的总管巴施戶珥（耶 20:1 起）；管理府庫所有守門者的細布業（代上 26:24）；希西家時期管理聖殿供物監督者的歌楠雅（代下 31:12）；以及負責管理神殿“总管”亞撒利雅（代下 31:13；參：代上 9:11）、希勒家、撒迦利亞和耶歇（代下 35:8）。這些職份都被稱為 nāgîd。《列王紀上》5:16、9:23 等章節提到了 sārê hanniššābîm，指的是所羅門的監工，他們負責“監督工人”。尼布甲尼撒的“官長”被稱為 rab（耶 39:13），這個詞一定受到了巴比倫語同根詞用法的影响（參：耶 41:1）。

關於“chief prince”（“太子”）和《新英文譯本》中的“prince of Rosh”（“羅施的王”），見 PRINCE（王子、王、領袖）。另見 ELDER IN THE OT（《舊約》中的長老）；TEMPLE（聖殿、神廟）；TRIBE（宗族）等。

I. Terminology.—The Heb. bēn is the usual word for sons, children in general, or descendants, and occurs repeatedly in the phrase “children of Israel,” i.e., Israelites, and in similar expressions (e.g., Ammonites, Gen. 19:38). It is used also of animals (“young,” Lev. 1:14; 22:28), of members of a class or guild (“sons of the prophets,” 1 K. 20:35; priests, 1 Ch. 9:30; gatekeepers, Ezr. 2:42), or other groups (soldiers, 2 Ch. 25:13; exiles, Ezr. 4:1; see also Nu. 7:25; 1 S. 14:52; 2 S. 3:34; 2 K. 14:14). See SON.

I. 表示孩子的词语。希伯来语 bēn 常用来表示儿子、儿女的统称或子孙，这个词经常用在短语“以色列人” (“children of Israel”) 和类似的表达中 (如，亚扪人，创 19:38)。它还可以表示动物的幼崽 (“幼崽”，利 1:14; 22:28)、某种阶层或协会的成员 (“先知的门徒”，王上 20:35; 祭司，代上 9:30; 守门的，拉 2:42)，或其他的团体 (军兵，代下 25:13; 被掳归回的人，拉 4:1; 另见民 7:25; 撒上 14:52; 撒下 3:34; 王下 14:14)。见 SON (儿子、孩子)。

The Heb. yeled, from yālaq, “bear” or

“beget,” is another general term for offspring, usually sons (Gen. 21; Ex. 1:17f.; 2 S. 12; Jer. 31:20), but also descendants (Isa. 29:23), “children of transgression” (57:4), and animals (Job 38:41; 39:3; Isa. 11:7). It is also used of young men (Gen. 4:23; 1 K. 12:8ff. par.).

A lad or young man is usually called na‘ar, a word of uncertain origin (Gen. 14:24; 21:12, 17ff.; 44:30ff.; 1 S. 20; 2 K. 4:29ff.; Ps. 148:12). In Ex. 2:6; 1 S. 1:22; 4:21; Isa. 8:4, however, it is used of infants; and cf. Jgs. 13:5ff.

A collective noun for little children is tap, normally derived from tāpap, “take quick little steps” (BDB, p. 381). It is not likely related to tōpah, “handbreadth” (cf. tippuḥîm, “children fully formed,” Lam. 2:20). It occurs regularly in the phrase “men, women, and children” (Dt. 3:6; Jer. 43:6) or “women and children” (Jgs. 21:10; cf. Nu. 14:3; Ezk. 9:6; etc.), especially in classifying populations, distinguishing the fighters from the helpless. It is most often translated “little ones.” When children are killed en masse or taken captive, the word most often used is the collective tap (Gen. 34:29; Dt. 2:34; 3:6; Est. 8:11; Ezk. 9:6). The NEB usually translates “dependants.”

Other OT words include ‘ōlēl (or ‘ōlāl), the plural of which is often used like tap (1 S. 22:19; 2 K. 8:12; Isa. 13:16; Lam. 1:5); ‘ûl and yānaq, “suckling infant” (Isa. 49:15; Nu. 11:12; 1 S. 22:19; Ps. 8:2; Lam. 4:4); and zera‘, “seed.”

In the LXX, with several exceptions, bēn is translated by Gk. huiós, yeled by “生”或“生产”，这个词通常也表示后代，通常表示儿子(创 21; 出 1:17-18; 撒下 12; 耶 31:20)，而且可以表示众子(赛 29:23)、“悖逆的儿女”(赛 57:4)和动物的幼崽(伯 38:41; 39:3; 赛 11:7)。它还可以表示少年人(创 4:23; 王上 12:8 起及平行经文)。

少年通常被称为 na‘ar，尚无法确定该词的词源(创 14:24; 21:12, 17 起; 44:30 起; 撒下 20; 王下 4:29 起; 诗 148:12)。不过，在《出埃及记》2:6、《撒母耳记上》1:22、4:21 和《以赛亚书》8:4 中，这个词表示婴孩；另参：《士师记》13:5 起。

表示小孩的集合名词是 tap，一般认为这个词源于 tāpap，意为“小步快走” (BDB, 381 页)。tap 不太可能与 tōpah 有关，tōpah 意为“一手之宽” (参：tippuḥîm，“自己所抚养的婴孩”，哀 2:20)。这个词通常出现在短语“男女和小孩”(申 3:6; 耶 43:6) 或“连妇女带孩子”中(士 21:10; 参：民 14:3; 结 9:6 等)，尤其用于为人口进行分类，将打仗的勇士与无助的人群区分开来。这个词通常译为“little ones” (“孩子”)。当表示孩子全被杀或整体被掳走时，通常使用集合名词 tap (创 34:29; 申 2:34; 3:6; 斯 8:11; 结 9:6)。《新英文译本》通常译为“dependants” (“孩子、子孙、婴孩”)。

《旧约》中用来表示孩子或婴孩的词语还有 ‘ōlēl (‘ōlāl)，该词复数形式通常与 tap 的用法相似(撒下 22:19; 王下 8:12; 赛 13:16; 哀 1:5); ‘ûl 和 yānaq，意为“吃奶的婴孩”(赛 49:15; 民 11:12; 撒下 22:19; 诗 8:2; 哀 4:4); 以及 zera‘，意为“种子、子孙”。

paidion, na‘ar by paidárion or paidion, tap by paidía or aposkeuḗ (“baggage”), ‘ólēl by nēpios or téknos, and yānaq by thēlázōn.

The NT uses Gk. huiós much as it is used in the LXX, and also paidion, diminutive of país, from paideúō, “bring up,” “educate.” Occurring very frequently for “child” is téknos, from tíktō, “bear,” “bring forth” (Mt. 2:18; 3:9; 7:11; 10:21; Jn. 8:39; Acts 2:39; Rom. 8:16f.; Gal. 4:25, 27f.; Eph. 2:3; Col. 3:20; 1 Jn. 3:10; etc.). The context of this word is usually one of relationship with parents. The diminutive tekníon is used by John (Jn. 13:33) especially in his First Epistle (1 Jn. 2:1, 12, 28; 3:7, 18; 4:4; 5:21; but paidía in 2:13, 18, for stylistic variation).

A word for “infant” is Gk. bréphos (Lk. 18:15; Acts 7:19; 1 Pet. 2:2; etc.); in Lk. 1:41, 44 it is used of the unborn John the Baptist. A child viewed as innocent, immature, or not adult is called nēpios (Mt. 11:25 par.; 21:16; 1 Cor. 3:1; 13:11; Gal. 4:1, 3; He. 5:13; etc.); the verb nēpiázō means “be like an innocent baby” (1 Cor. 14:20).

The designation país can mean “child” (Mt. 2:16; 17:18; 21:15; Acts 20:12), but also “servant” (Mt. 12:18; 14:2; Acts 3:13, 26; 4:27, 30). See SERVANT.

paidion, na‘ar 译为 paidárion 或 paidion, tap 译为 paidía 或 aposkeuḗ (“器具、物件”), ‘ólēl 译为 nēpios 或 téknos, 而 yānaq 译为 thēlázōn。

《新约》使用希腊语 huiós 的次数与《七十士译本》使用该词的次数几乎相同，另外《新约》还使用了 país 的指小词 paidion，这个词源自于 paideúō，意为“养育”、“教育”。经常用来表示“孩子”的希腊语是 téknos，源于 tíktō，意为“生”、“生产”（太 2:18；3:9；7:11；10:21；约 8:39；徒 2:39；罗 8:16-17；加 4:25，27-28；弗 2:3；西 3:20；约壹 3:10 等）。通常在与父亲或母亲有关的语境中使用这个词。约翰使用了指小词 tekníon（约 13:33），尤其是在《约翰一书》中（约壹 2:1，12，28；3:7，18；4:4；5:21；但为了使文体富有变化，《约翰一书》2:13 和 2:18 使用了 paidía）。

表示“婴孩”的希腊语是 bréphos（路 18:15；徒 7:19；彼前 2:2 等）；《路加福音》1:41 和 44 用这个词表示未出生之前的施洗约翰。天真、不成熟的小孩被称为 nēpios（太 11:25 及平行经文；21:16；林前 3:1；13:11；加 4:1 和 3；来 5:13 等）；动词 nēpiázō 的意思是“像个婴孩”（林前 14:20）。

País 这个词可以表示“孩子”（太 2:16；17:18；21:15；徒 20:12），也可以表示“仆人”（太 12:18；14:2；徒 3:13，26；4:27，30）。见 SERVANT（仆人、奴仆）。

II. 圣经时代的孩子。A. 孩子的重要性。 希伯来人认为家中得子是蒙神眷顾 presence of children in the family as a mark of divine favor and greatly to be desired (Gen. 15:2; 30:1; 1 S. 1:11, 20; Ps. 127:3; Lk. 1:7, 28). The birth of a male child was especially a cause for rejoicing (Ps. 128:3): more men, more defenders for the tribe. If there were no sons born to a household, that family or branch became lost. If the wife proved childless, another wife or wives might be added to the family (Gen. 16f.). Further, each Jewish mother, at least in later times, hoped that her son might prove to be the Messiah. The custom of levirate marriage, which was not limited to the Hebrew people, rested on the principle that if a man died childless his brother should marry his widow, the children of such union being considered as belonging to the brother, whose name and line were thus preserved from extinction (Dt. 25:5; Gen. 38:26; Mt. 22:24).

B. Ceremony. Children were sometimes dedicated to God, even before their birth (1 S. 1:11). Names often were significant: Moses (Ex. 2:10); Samuel (1 S. 1:20); Ichabod (4:21; cf. Gen. 30) (see NAMES, PROPER). The firstborn son belonged to God, and had to be “redeemed” by a payment of five shekels (Nu. 3:44–51; cf. 1 Pet. 1:18). See FIRST-BORN.

Other stages in the life of the child were celebrated with fitting ceremonies. In Palestine, in the fourth year, on the second day of the Passover occurred the ceremony of the first cutting of the boy's hair, the friends sharing the privilege. Sometimes, as in the case of the wealthy, the weight of the child in currency was given as a donation to the poor. In common with the custom of other eastern peoples, male children were circumcised

的表现，他们也非常渴望得到孩子（创 15:2；30:1；撒上 1:11，20；诗 127:3；路 1:7，28）。男婴的出生尤其令一个家庭感到欣喜（诗 128:3），因为它意味着该宗族将有更多的人口，更多的捍卫者。如果一个家族没有儿子，那么这个家族或其分支将会消失。如果妻子不能生育，那么男人可以再娶一个妻子或多个妻子（创 16-17）。此外，至少后期的每个犹太母亲都希望她的儿子是弥赛亚。不只有希伯来人才有寡妇与亡夫兄弟结婚的风俗，希伯来人认为如果一个男人去世时没有儿女，那么他的兄弟应该娶他的遗孀为妻，妇人生的儿子归死兄的名下，免得他的名和家族在以色列中涂抹了（申 25:5；创 38:26；太 22:24）。

B. 与孩子有关的仪式。 孩子甚至是出生前的孩子有时会献给耶和华（撒上 1:11）。他们的名字通常有重要的意义：摩西（出 2:10）、撒母耳（撒上 1:20）、以迦博（撒上 4:21；参：创 30）（见 NAMES, PROPER[专有名称]）。长子属于耶和华，必须用五舍客勒银子将他们“赎出来”（民 3:44–51；参：彼前 1:18）。见 FIRST-BORN（头生的）。

(Gen. 17:12), the rite being performed on the eighth day.

C. Education. Early education was cared for in the home, the children growing up more or less with the mother (Prov. 6:20; 31:1; 2 Tim. 1:5; 3:14f.), and the girl continuing with her mother until her marriage. In wealthier families tutors were employed (1 Ch. 27:32). Schools for children are first mentioned by Josephus (Ant. xv. 10.5). Children were taught to read and write even in families of moderate means, these skills being widely diffused as early as 600 B.C., if not earlier (Isa. 8:1; 10:19). Great stress was laid on the Torah, i.e., the law of Moses. Boys were trained also in farming, the tending of cattle, and in the trades. The religious training of the boy began in his fourth year, as soon as he could speak distinctly. The religious life of the girl also began early. In later times at least, children took part in the sabbath and Passover festivals and boys attended synagogue and school regularly.

D. In the Family. Children were subject to the father (Neh. 5:5 marks the extreme), who in turn was bound to protect them though he himself had the power of life and death (Lev. 18:21; 20:2ff.). Respect for and obedience to parents were stoutly upheld by public opinion (Ex. 20:12; Dt. 5:16; cf. Prov. 6:20; Mic. 7:6; Dt. 21:18–21; Ex. 21:15).

Both the OT and NT afford abundant evidence of the strength of the bond that bound the Hebrew family together (Gen. 21:16; 2 S. 18:33; 1 K. 3:23ff.; 2 K. 4:19; Isa. 8:4; Job 29:5; Mt. 19:13; 20:20; Mk. 9:24; Lk. 2:48; Jn. 4:47; He. 2:13; 11:23). The gift of a son from the Lord

C. 孩子的教育。孩子在家中接受早期教育，孩子一般跟着母亲长大（箴 6:20；31:1；提后 1:5；3:14-15），女孩出嫁之前始终与母亲待在一起。富有的家庭会为孩子聘请家庭教师（代上 27:32）。约瑟夫斯首次提到了教育孩子的学校（Ant. xv. 10.5）。甚至连中等家庭的孩子都要掌握读写的技能，至少在公元前 600 年人们已经普遍掌握了这两项技能（赛 8:1；10:19）。尤其要能读写律法书，也就是摩西律法。男孩还要学习耕种、饲养牲畜和贸易。男孩从四岁刚能说清话开始就要接受宗教方面的培训。女孩的宗教生活也很早就开始了。至少在后 期，孩子也要守安息日，参加逾越节，男孩要定期去犹太会堂和学校。

D. 家庭中的孩子。孩子要顺从父亲（《尼希米记》5:5 做出了极端的阐述），虽然父亲掌控着儿女的生死，但他们必须保护自己的孩子（利 18:21；20:2 起）。公众都坚决拥护孩子要尊敬和顺从父母的观点（出 20:12；申 5:16；参：箴 6:20；弥 7:6；申 21:18–21；出 21:15）。

《旧约》和《新约》为维系希伯来家庭的纽带力量提供了充分的证据（创 21:16；撒下 18:33；王上 3:23 起；王下 4:19；赛 8:4；伯 29:5；太 19:13；20:20；可 9:24；路 2:48；约 4:47；来 2:13；11:23）。世人最为高兴的事就是蒙神赐福得子；丧子则是最让人悲痛的事情。经文暗示

was the height of joy; the loss of a child marked the depth of woe. A hint occurs in the custom of naming a man as the father of his firstborn son, or even the use of the father's name as a surname (Bar-jonah, Bartimaeus), and this practice continues in the Middle East at the present day. This idea is further instanced in the use, in both OT and NT, of the terms to express the relation between God and men (Ex. 4:22; Dt. 14:1; 32:6; Jer. 3:4; Zec. 12:10; Mal. 1:6).

E. Jesus and the Child. A characteristic feature of the ministry of Jesus is the importance that He attaches to the child and to children. When children were brought to be touched by Him and the disciples tried to keep them back, Jesus was indignant, ordered that they be not hindered, said that to such belongs God's kingdom, and took them in His arms and blessed them (Mk. 10:13-16). In reply to the disciples' question about the greatest in the Kingdom, He put a child in the midst and spoke of the need to turn and become like children even to enter the Kingdom, adding that to receive a child in His name is to receive Him, but to cause a child to sin is a terrible offense (Mt. 18:1ff.). Against those who objected to the acclamation of children on the triumphant entry, He referred to Ps. 8:2 (Mt. 21:15f.). On the return of the seventy He thanked the Father that "these things" are hidden from the wise and revealed to babes (Lk. 10:21). According to one rendering Jesus Himself is called God's child in Peter's address in Acts 3:12-26 and in the prayer of the church in 4:24-30 (cf. Gk. país and RSV mg. in 3:13; 4:25, 27).

E. 耶稣和小孩。耶稣传道的一个特点体现在祂为孩子赋予的价值。当有人带着小孩子来见耶稣，要耶稣摸他们时，门徒试图阻挡孩子，耶稣就恼怒，命令他们不要挡住孩子，并说在神国的，正是这样的人，祂抱着小孩子，为他们祝福（可 10:13-16）。耶稣在回答门徒关于天国里谁最大的这个问题时，耶稣叫一个小孩站在他们当中，并说道，若不回转，变成小孩子的样式，断不得进天国，凡为祂的名接待一个像这小孩子的，就是在接待祂，但凡使一个小孩犯罪的，就是在极大地冒犯祂（太 18:1起）。耶稣用《诗篇》8:2 中的经文来反驳那些不准孩子为容入圣城的耶稣呐喊的人（太 21:15-16）。七十个人回来的时候，耶稣感谢天父将“这些事”向聪明通达人就藏起来，向婴孩就显出来（路 10:21）。根据一种翻译，在《使徒行传》3:12-26 中，彼得说耶稣自称祂是神的儿子，在《使徒行传》4:24-30 中，教会在祷告时也称耶稣是神的儿子（参：希腊语 país 和《修订标准译本》《使徒行传》3:13、4:25 和 27 的旁注）。

III. Figurative Usage.-Jesus addressed His disciples as children (Mk. 10:24). Paul referred to Timothy as his child (1 Tim. 1:2), and also to Onesimus (Philem. 10). John also designated the disciples to whom he was writing as his children (2 Jn. 4). The same use of "children" or "sons" is common in the OT (see 1 K. 20:35; 2 K. 2:3, 5, 7; 4:38). As a term of special endearment, disciples are sometimes called "little children" (teknía). Jesus thus addressed His disciples when He was speaking about His departure (Jn. 13:33). Paul thus addressed the Galatians (Gal. 4:19), and it was a favorite expression with John (see 1 Jn. 2:1; 4:4; 5:21). A term used similarly is paidía (Jn. 21:5; 1 Jn. 2:13, 18). "Children of God" is a common expression in both the OT and NT. It is based on the relation between parents and children, and in general describes God's affection for His own, their dependence upon Him, and moral likeness to Him. The term is sometimes used of those who are disloyal to God, who are designated "rebellious children" (see Isa. 30:1). See CHILDREN OF GOD. Those who are like the devil in thought and action are designated as "children of the devil" (1 Jn. 3:10).

"Child" is used also to express one's relation to something to which he belongs, or by which he is dominated in his affection for it. Thus we have (1) the

III. 孩子的比喻用法。耶稣称祂的门徒为孩子们(可 10:24)。保罗称提摩太(提前 1:2)和阿尼西母(门 1:10)为他的儿子。约翰还称他去信的门徒为儿女(约贰 1:4)。“孩子”或“儿子”的这种用法在《旧约》中很常见(见王上 20:35; 王下 2:3, 5, 7; 4:38)。门徒有时也被称为“小子们”(teknía), 这是一种特殊的爱称。当耶稣谈到祂将要升天时, 祂就这样称呼祂的门徒(约 13:33)。保罗也称加拉太人为“小子”(加 4:19), “小子”也是约翰最喜欢使用的称谓(见约壹 2:1; 4:4; 5:21)。与 teknía 用法类似的一个词是 paidía (约 21:5; 约壹 2:13, 18)。“神的儿女”是《旧约》和《新约》中的一个常见词语。它以父母与儿女之间的关系为基础, 通常用来描述神对祂的儿女的怜爱、神的儿女对神的依赖, 以及他们在道德上效法神。这个词有时用来表示那些悖逆神的人, 他们被称为“悖逆的儿女”(见赛 30:1)。见 CHILDREN OF GOD (神的儿女)。思想和行为像魔鬼的人被称为“魔鬼的儿女”(约壹 3:10)。 children of a city or country (see Jer. 2:16; Mt. 23:37), meaning those who belong to that particular city or country; (2) children of wisdom (Mt. 11:19, AV; Lk. 7:35), i.e., those whose lives are dominated by wisdom; (3) children of obedience (1 Pet. 1:14), those who are eager to obey; (4) children of light (Eph. 5:8), those whose souls are illumined by the light.

Other expressions include children of cursing, or those who are exposed to cursing (2 Pet. 2:14), and children of wrath, or those who are exposed to wrath (Eph. 2:3). "Children of Abraham" (Jn. 8:39; Acts 13:26; cf. Jas. 2:21) can mean spiritual kinship as well as actual. "Babes in Christ" (1 Cor. 3:1; cf. Eph. 4:14; He. 5:13) are men of little spiritual growth, still living on the carnal level rather than the spiritual.

The interpretation and translation of 1 Tim. 2:15 has proved difficult. The RSV reads, "Yet woman will be saved through bearing children [Gk. diá tēs teknogonías], if she continues in faith and love and holiness, with modesty." The NEB has "she will be saved through motherhood," and provides in the margin two other possible readings: "saved through the Birth of the Child, or brought safely through childbirth."

其他的表述还有“被诅咒的种类”或受诅咒的人 (彼后 2:14)、“可怒之子”或忍受愤怒的人 (弗 2:3)。“亚伯拉罕的子孙” (约 8:39; 徒 13:26; 参: 雅 2:21) 既可以表示一种属灵的亲密关系, 也可以表示真实的亲属关系。“基督里的婴孩” (林前 3:1; 参: 弗 4:14; 来 5:13) 指的是那些没有属灵成长的人, 也就是属肉体而不属灵的人。

《提摩太前书》2:15 晦涩难懂, 不易翻译。《修订标准译本》译为 "Yet woman will be saved through bearing children [希腊语: diá tēs teknogonías], if she continues in faith and love and holiness, with modesty" ("然而女人若常存信心爱心, 又圣洁自守, 就必在生产上得救")。《新英文译本》译为 "she will be saved through motherhood" ("她必在生产上得救"), 旁注中又给出了两种合理的翻译 "saved through the Birth of the Child, or brought safely through childbirth” (“必在生产上得救”)。

While the first, normally accepted reading may be hardest to accept culturally, it best fits the context, which teaches male dominance and female submissiveness (2:8–15), arguing from the man’s prior creation and Eve’s having first sinned. Woman must be content with her maternal role in life, Paul says; the extra pain and hardship of child-bearing and child-rearing are necessary for her salvation because of her naturally lower status and because of her responsibility in the fall of man.

Calvin (in loc.) defends this understanding of the passage, but with the warning that “Since the apostle is not dealing here with the cause of salvation, his words cannot and should not be used to infer the merit of works. All he is concerned to do is to point out the way by which God leads us to the salvation He has by His grace appointed for us.” More modern commentators have found it harder to accept this reading without modification. See, e.g., D. Guthrie (Tyndale, 1957), in loc.; but also J. N. D. Kelly (HNTC, 1963).

theou]. These phrases denote the relation in which men are conceived to stand to God, either as deriving their being from Him and depending upon Him, or as standing in that personal relation of intimate trust and love toward Him which constitutes the psychological fact of sonship. The exact significance of the expressions depends upon the conception of God, and particularly of His Fatherhood, to which they correspond. The concept therefore attains to its full significance only in the NT, and its meaning in the OT differs considerably, even though it marks stages of development up to the NT idea.

theou, huioi theou】。这些短语指明了在世人的眼中人与神的关系，要么表示世人是由神创造的，且人依靠神，要么表示世人处于对神信任且爱神的亲密关系中，这种关系构成了儿子名分的心理基础。这些表述的准确意义取决于上帝，尤其取决于祂的父亲身份，并且与这种身份相对应。因此，尽管这一概念从旧约时期到新约时期不断发展，但只有《新约》完整地阐述了这一概念，而且与旧约中“神的儿女”在含义上相差甚远。

Survivals. The most primitive form of the idea appears in Gen. 6:1-4, where the sons of God (NEB "sons of the gods") by marrying the fair daughters of men become the fathers of the giants. These sons of God were a subordinate order of divine beings or demigods, and the title here may mean no more, although it was probably a survival of an earlier idea of the actual descent of these gods from a higher God. The idea of a heavenly court where the sons of God come to present themselves before the Lord is found quite late (Job. 1:6; 2:1; 38:7; Ps. 29:1; 89:6). In all these cases the phrase implies a certain kinship with God and dependence upon Him on the part of the divine society around Him. But there is no evidence to show whether the idea of descent of gods from God survived to any extent, nor is there any indication of a very close personal relationship. A more reasonable interpretation of the phrases, "sons of God" and "daughters of men," is that they mean "the godly and the ungodly." The mingling of the good and the bad results in an immediate apparent improvement which later becomes a deterioration.

B. Created Sonship. The idea of creation has taken the place of that of procreation in the OT, but without losing the sense of sonship. "Thus says the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker: 'Will you question me about my children, or command me concerning the work of my hands?' " (Isa. 45:11). Israel acknowledges the absolute sovereignty of God as her Father and Maker (64:8). Israel's Maker is also her Husband, and by inference the Father of her children (54:5). Since all Israel has one Father, and one God created her, the tribes owe brotherly conduct to one another (Mal. 2:10). The Lord upbraids His sons and daughters whom He as their Father bought, made, and established. “He forsook God who made him, and scoffed at the Rock of his salvation.... You were unmindful of the Rock that begot you, and you forgot the God who gave you birth” (Dt. 32:6, 15, 18ff.). These passages reveal the transition from the idea of original creation to that of making and establishing Israel as a nation. All things might be described as children of God if creation alone brought it to pass, but Israel stands in a unique relation to God.

C. Israel's Collective Covenant Sonship. The covenant relation of God with Israel as a nation is the chief form in which man's sonship and God's Fatherhood appear in the OT. “Israel is my firstborn son” (Ex. 4:22); “When Israel was a child, I loved him, and out of Egypt I called my son” (Hos. 11:1). And to be children of God involves the obligation to be a holy people (Dt. 14:1f.). But Israel has proved unworthy of her status. “Sons have I ... brought up, but they have rebelled against me” (Isa. 1:2, 4; 30:1, 9). Yet He will have pity upon them: “for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first-born” (Jer. 31:9, 20). Israel's unworthiness does not abolish the relation on God's side; she can therefore return to Him again and submit to His will (Isa. 63:16; 64:8); and His pity exceeds a mother's love (49:15). The filial relation of Israel to God is summed up and symbolized in a special way in the Davidic king: “I will be his father, and he shall be my son” (2 S. 7:14 par. 1 Ch. 17:13; cf. 1 Ch. 22:10; 28:6; Ps. 2:7).

C. 以色列藉立约成为神的儿女。耶和华与以色列民族的圣约关系是《旧约》中耶和华与以色列人父子关系的主要形式。“以色列是我的长子”（出 4:22）；“以色列年幼的时候我爱他，就从埃及召出我的儿子来”（何 11:1）。要想成为神的儿女就必须担负起作圣洁的民的责任（申 14:1-2）。但事实已证明以色列配不上这种身份。“我养育儿女，将他们养大，他们竟悖逆我”（赛 1:2, 4; 30:1, 9）。但祂将怜悯他们：“因为我是以色列的父，以法莲是我的长子”（耶 31:9, 20）。以色列悖逆神的行为并不能废除她与神的关系；因此，她必将归回到神的身边，服从神的意志（赛 63:16; 64:8）；神的怜悯超越了一位母亲对子女的怜恤（赛 49:15）。神与以色列的父子关系被概括出来，并以特殊方式在大卫王身上表现出来：“我要作他的父，他要作我的子”（撒下 7:14，平行经文代上 17:13；参：代上 22:10; 28:6; 诗 2:7）。

D. Individual and Personal Relation. God's Fatherhood to collective Israel necessarily tends to develop into a personal relation of father and son between Him and individual members of the nation. The children of Israel, whatever their number, shall be called "Sons of the living God" (Hos. 1:10). The Lord's marriage relation with Israel as a nation made individual Israelites His children (Hos. 2:19f.; Jer. 3:14, 22; cf. Isa. 50:1; Ezk. 16:20f.; 23:37), and God's ownership of His children, the individual members of the nation, is asserted (cf. Ps. 127:3). Chastisement and pity alike God deals forth as Father to His children (Dt. 1:31; 8:5; Ps. 103:13), and these are intimate personal relations which can obtain only between individuals.

E. Universalizing the Idea. In another direction the idea of God as the Father of Israel tends to be modified by the inclusion of the Gentiles. The word "first-born" (in Ex. 4:22 and Jer. 31:9, 20) may be only an emphatic form of expressing sonship, or it may already suggest the possibility of the adoption of the Gentiles. If that idea is not present in words, it is an easy and legitimate inference from several passages, that Gentiles would be admitted some day into this among the rest of Israel's privileges (Isa. 19:25; 65:1; Zec. 14:16).

II. NT Teaching.-A. Disappearance of Physical and Limited Sonship. As the doctrine of divine fatherhood attains its full spiritual and moral significance in the NT, so does the experience and idea of sonship. All traces of physical descent have disappeared. Paul's quotation from a heathen poet, "For we are indeed his offspring" (Acts 17:28), whatever its original significance, is introduced by the apostle for the purpose of enforcing the idea of the spiritual kinship of God and men. The phrase "Son of God" applied to Christ by the Roman centurion (Mt. 27:54; Mk. 15:39) may or may not, in his mind, have involved the idea of physical descent, but its utterance was the effect of an impression of similarity to the gods, produced by the exhibition of power attending His death. The idea of creation is assumed in the NT, but generally it is not prominent in the idea of sonship. The Virgin Birth of Jesus, however, may be understood as implying either the creative activity of the Holy Spirit, or the communication of a preexistent divine being to form a new human personality, but the latter idea also would involve creative activity in the physical realm (cf. Lk. 3:38: "Adam, the son of God"). The limitations of the OT conception of sonship as national and collective disappear altogether in the NT; through Christ men and women of all races and nations may now be the children of God.

D. 个人关系和人际关系。神与整个以色列民族的父子关系必然逐渐发展成神与每个以色列人的父子关系。不论以色列有多少人，他们都将被称为“永生神的儿子”（何 1:10）。耶和华与以色列民族的婚姻关系使每个以色列人都成为了祂的儿女（何 2:19-20；耶 3:14, 22；参：赛 50:1；结 16:20-21；23:37），也使祂的儿女，即每个以色列人都认祂为主（参：诗 127:3）。神对以色列的惩罚和怜悯就像父亲对儿女的惩罚和怜悯（申 1:31；8:5；诗 103:13），这是只有每个个体才可以拥有的亲密人际关系。

E. 儿子名分的普遍化。从另一个角度讲，上帝与以色列的父子关系的观念往往包括了外邦人。“长子”（出 4:22，耶 31:9, 20）一词可能仅仅是表明儿子名分的强调形式，或者说，这个词可以表明外邦人被神收养为儿子的可能性。虽然经文中没有明确表达这一点，但根据多处经文很容易做出以下合理的推测，外邦人将在某一天成为神的儿子并享受到以色列人所拥有的其他特权（赛 19:25；65:1；亚 14:16）。

B. As Religious Experience, or Psychological Fact.-1. Filial Consciousness of Jesus. Divine sonship was first realized and made manifest in the consciousness of Jesus (Mt. 11:27). For Him it meant unbroken personal knowledge of God and communion with Him, and the sense of His love for Him and of His satisfaction and delight in Him (Mt. 3:17; 17:5; Mk. 1:11; 9:7; Lk. 3:22; 9:35). Whether the "voice from heaven, saying, 'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased'" was objective or not, its message always dwelt in the filial consciousness of Jesus. The Father's love was to Him a source of knowledge and power (Jn. 5:20), the reward of His self-sacrifice (10:17), and the inspiration of His love for men (15:9).

B. 一种宗教体验或心理事实。1. 耶稣心目中的神的儿子。耶稣首先意识到并阐明了神的儿子这一身份（太 11:27）。在耶稣看来，神的儿子意味着祂对天父的认知和与天父的交流不曾出现间断过，也意味着祂意识到自己蒙天父怜爱和喜悦（太 3:17；17:5；可 1:11；9:7；路 3:22；9:35）。“从天上有声音说：‘这是我的爱子，我所喜悦的’”，无论这句话是否客观，它却始终表现出耶稣意识到祂是神的儿子。神的爱是耶稣的知识与大能的源泉（约 5:20），是对耶稣舍弃生命的奖赏（约 10:17），并启示耶稣要爱世人（约 15:9）。

Sonship meant for Him His messianic mission (Mt. 16:16f.). It involved His dependence on the Father and His obedience to Him (Jn. 5:19, 30; 8:29), and a resulting confidence in His mission (5:36; 10:36f.). It filled Him with a sense of dignity, power, and glory which the Father gave Him, and would yet give in larger measure (Mt. 26:63f.; 16:27; Jn. 17:5).

2. Communicated to Men. Jesus communicated His own experience of God to men (Jn. 14:9) that they also might know the Father's love and dwell in it (17:26). Through Him and through Him alone can they become children of God in fact and in experience (1:12; 14:6; Mt. 11:27). It is therefore a distinctively Christian experience and always involves a relation of faith in Christ and moral harmony with Him. It differs from His experience in one essential fact. It involves an inner change, a change of feeling and motive, of ideal and attitude, that may be described as a new birth (Jn. 3:3). Man must turn and return from disobedience and alienation through repentance to childlike submission (Lk. 15:18-20). It is not the submission of slaves, but the submission of sons, in which they have liberty and confidence before God, and a heritage from Him for their possession (Gal. 4:6f.; Rom. 8:17). It is the liberty of self-realization. As sons they recognize their kinship with God, and share His mind and purpose, so that His commands become their pleasure: "For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments. And his commandments are not burdensome" (1

对耶稣来说，圣子身份意味着祂要肩负起作救世主的使命（太 16:16-17）。这种身份包含了祂对天父的倚靠和顺服（约 5:19, 30; 8:29）和因此而产生的完成使命的信心（约 5:36; 10:36-37）。天父藉耶稣的圣子身份赐予祂尊荣、权柄和荣耀，而且未来将大大地赏赐祂（太 26:63-64; 16:27; 约 17:5）。

2. 与人交流。耶稣告诉世人祂就是天父（约 14:9），他们也知晓了天父的爱，并住在天父的爱里面（约 17:26）。实际上，世人只有藉着耶稣才能真正地成为神的儿女（约 1:12; 14:6; 太 11:27）。因此，这是基督徒独有的经历，他们要始终相信基督，在道德上效法基督。基督徒的经历与耶稣的经历存在一个本质的区别。基督徒的经历需要他们改变内心、情感、动机、理想和态度，这种改变可以称为“重生”（约 3:3）。世人应该悔改，从悖逆神、疏远神的状态回转到孩子般顺服神的状态（路 15:18-20）。这种顺服不是奴仆的服从，而是儿子的顺服，世人因顺服神而拥有了在祂面前的自由和信心，并继承了祂的产业（加 4:6-7; 罗 8:17）。这是一种自我实现的自由。神的儿子们将意识到他们与神的亲密关系，分享神的心意和意志，所以神的命令成为他们喜悦的事：“我们遵守神的诫命，这就是爱祂了，并且祂的诫命不是难守的”（约壹 5:3）。他们可以坦然无惧地来到神面前（弗 2:18; 3:12）。他们因为爱自由地与神结合在一起，所以他们感觉自己满有力量，摆脱了环境的束缚，主宰着这个世界，并继承神的后嗣所独享的所有必需品（太 6:26, 32, 7:11）。“因为凡从神生的，就胜过世界”（约壹 5:4）。他们知道，整个过程和受造之物是为了使

Jn. 5:3). They have boldness and access to God (Eph. 2:18; 3:12). With this free union of love with God there comes a sense of power, of independence of circumstances, of mastery over the world, and of the possession of all things necessary that befit the heirs of God (Mt. 6:26, 32; 7:11). “For whatever is born of God overcomes the world” (1 Jn. 5:4). They learn that the whole course and destiny of creation is for the “revealing of the sons of God” (Rom. 8:19, 21).

C. As Moral Condition, or Ethical Fact. Christ’s sonship involved His moral harmony with the Father: “I have kept my Father’s commandments and abide in his love” (Jn. 15:10; 8:53). He accomplished the work that the Father gave Him to do (17:4; 5:19), becoming “obedient unto death, even death on a cross” (Phil. 2:8). And sonship makes the same demand upon men. The peacemakers and those who forgive like God are His children (Mt. 5:9, 45; Lk. 6:35). “For all who are led by the Spirit of God are son of God” (Rom. 8:14). God will be Father to the holy (2 Cor. 6:18). The test and mark of the children of God is that they do righteousness and love the brethren (1 Jn. 3:10). They are blameless and harmless, without blemish, in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation (Phil. 2:15). Therefore their ideal of life is to be “imitators of God” and to walk in love even as Christ did (Eph. 5:1). Sonship grows to its consummation as the life grows in the likeness of Christ, and the final destiny of all sons is to be, ever like Him (1 Jn. 3:2).

D. As State of Being, or Ontological Fact. Sonship is properly and primarily a relation, but it may so dominate and

C. 一种道德状况或伦理事实。基督的圣子名分要求祂在道德上效法天父：“你们若遵守我的命令，就常在我的爱里” (约 15:10; 8:53)。祂完成了天父指派给祂的任务 (约 17:4; 5:19)，“存心顺服，以至于死，且死在十字架上” (腓 2:8)。世人得称为神的儿子也需要遵守相应的要求。使人和睦的人和像神一样宽恕别人的人是神的儿女 (太 5:9, 45; 路 6:35)。“因为凡被 神的灵引导的，都是 神的儿子” (罗 8:14)。神要作圣洁之人的父 (林后 6:18)。行义、爱弟兄是对神的儿女的检验，也是神的儿女的标志。他们“无可指摘，诚实无伪，在这弯曲悖谬的世代作 神无瑕疵的儿女” (腓 2:15)。因此，“效法神”是他们生活的理想，他们要像基督一样，凭爱心行事 (弗 5:1)。如果世人像基督一样生活，那么他们最终可以得着儿子的名分，神的众子最终必定像主 (约壹 3:2)。

D. 一种存在状态或存在论事实。确切地讲，儿子名分从根本上来讲是一种关系，但它可能支配并改变一个人全部的

transform the whole of a man's life, thought, and conduct as to become his essential being, the most comprehensive category under which all that he is may be summed up.

1. Essence of Christ's Sonship. It is thus that the NT comprehends the person of Christ. Everything that He did, He did as God's son, so that He is the Son, always and ever Son. In the beginning, in the bosom of the Father, He is the Only Begotten Son (Jn. 1:1, 18). He is born a Son of God (Lk. 1:35). He begins life in the things of His Father (Lk. 2:49). His whole life is that of the beloved Son (Mt. 3:17; 17:5). As Son of God He dies (Mt. 26:63; Lk. 22:70; Mt. 27:40, 43; cf. Jn. 5:18). In His resurrection He was declared to be the Son of God with power (Rom. 1:4); as Jesus the Son of God He is our great high priest in heaven (He. 4:14), and in the glory of His Father He will come to judge in the last day (Mt. 16:27).

2. Men's Sonship. Unlike Him, men's moral sonship is neither eternal nor universal. Are they therefore sons in any sense always and everywhere? All children are heirs of the kingdom of God and objects of the Father's care (Lk. 18:16; Mt. 18:10). But men may turn away from the Father and become unworthy to be called His sons (Lk. 15:13, 19). They may become children of the devil (1 Jn. 3:10; Jn. 8:44), and children of wrath (Eph. 2:3). Then they lose the actuality, but not the potentiality, of sonship. They have not the experience or character of sons, but they are still moral and rational beings made in the image of God, open to the appeal and influence of His love, and able to "rise and go to their Father." They are objects

1. 基督圣子身份的本质。《新约》将基督的位格视为基督圣子身份的本质。基督以神的儿子的名分去做每一件事，所以祂是圣子，且永远都是神的儿子。起初，祂是父怀里的“独生子”（约 1:1, 18）。祂生来就是神的儿子（路 1:35）。祂以父的事为念（路 2:49）。祂的一生就是神的爱子的一生（太 3:17; 17:5）。祂以神的儿子的名分受难（太 26:63; 路 22:70; 太 27:40, 43; 参：约 5:18）。祂从死里复活，以大能显明祂是神的儿子（罗 1:4）；圣子耶稣是我们在天上的大祭司（来 4:14），在最后的审判日来临时，祂将在父的荣耀里降临，审判世人（太 16:27）。

2. 世人的儿子名分。世人与耶稣不同，他们道德上的儿子名分不是永恒的，也不是普世的。因此，他们是否时时处处都是神的儿子？所有神的儿女都是神的国的后嗣和神眷顾的对象（路 18:16; 太 18:10）。但世人可能会背弃他们的父，不配作祂的儿子（路 15:13, 19）。他们可能变成魔鬼的儿女（约壹 3:10; 约 8:44）和可怒之子（弗 2:3）。那时，他们实际上已不再是神的儿子，但是这并不等于说他们无法再成为神的儿子。他们不再有儿子的体验或特点，但他们仍然是长得像神的道德主体和理性存在，可以求告神，得到神的爱，并且可以“重新回到他们的父那里”。他们是神怜爱的对象（约 15:13; 罗 5:8），神因祂的恩典寻找他们（路 15:4; 约 11:52）。但只有当他们被圣灵引导时，他们才真正成为神的儿子（罗 8:14）； of God's love (Jn. 15:13; Rom. 5:8) and of His gracious search and seeking (Lk. 15:4; Jn. 11:52). But they are actual sons only when they are led by the Spirit of God (Rom. 8:14); and even so their sonship will be consummated only in the resurrection (Rom. 8:23; Lk. 20:36).

E. As Relation to God, or Theological Fact. In the relation of father and son, fatherhood is original and creative. That does not necessarily mean priority in time.

1. Eternal Generation. Origen's doctrine of the eternal generation of Christ, by which is meant that God and Christ always stood in the relation of Father and Son to one another, is a just interpretation of the NT idea that the Son "was in the beginning with God" (prós tón theón). But Jesus was conscious of His dependence upon the Father and that His sonship was derived from Him (Jn. 5:19, 36). Still more manifest is it that men derive their sonship from God. He made them for Himself, and whatever in human nature qualifies men to become sons of God is the free gift of God. But men in their sin and disobedience could not come to a knowledge of the Father, had He not "sent forth his Son ... that we might receive adoption of sons" (Gal. 4:4f.); "See what love the Father has given us, that we should be called children of God" (1 Jn. 3:1); "God so loved the world that he gave his only Son" who gave "to all ... who believed in his name ... power to become children of God" (Jn. 3:16; 1:12). It is not the children of the flesh but the children of the promise who are children of God (Rom. 9:4). The mere act of birth does not constitute men into children of God, but His covenant of free

E. 一种与神的关系或神学事实。在父与子的关系中，父亲居于原始的创造性地位。但这并不意味着父亲的身份出现在儿子身份之前。

1. 永恒里所生的。俄利根提出基督是在永恒里所生的，这意味着天父与基督始终是父与子的关系，他的这一教义仅仅是对《新约》中圣子“与神同在”（prós tón theón）思想的解释。但耶稣意识到祂倚靠天父，祂的儿子名分是天父给的（约 5:19；36）。更为显而易见的是，世人的儿子名分是神赐予的。祂按照自己的形象创造了人类，人类身上所有符合神的儿子的本性都是神自由地赏赐给他们的。但世人因犯罪和悖逆神，不再认识他们的父，如果神未曾“差遣祂的儿子……叫我们能得着儿子的名分”（加 4:4-5）；“你看父赐给我们是何等的慈爱，使我们得称为神的儿女”（约壹 3:1）；“神爱世人，甚至将祂的独生子”赐给“凡接待祂的，就是信祂名的人，祂就赐他们权柄，作神的儿女”（约 3:16；1:12）。神的儿女不是肉体的儿女，而是应许的儿女（罗 9:4）。单独的生产行为不能使世人成为神的儿女，他们还必须与神立下自由的恩典之约。从本质上说，上帝是父，祂创造了人类和世界，赐下了圣子和圣灵，从而使“神的众子显出来”。但只有当世人对上帝的慈爱作出回应时，当他们信靠上帝，并且顺服祂时，才能认识他们的父，得到儿子的名分。

grace must be added. God being essentially Father made men and the universe, sent His Son and His Spirit, “for the revealing of the sons of God.” But they can know the Father, and realize their sonship only when they respond to His manifestation of fatherly love, by faith in God and obedience to Him.

2. Work of Grace. The question whether sonship is natural and universal, or conditional upon grace working through faith, does not admit of a categorical answer. The alternatives are not strict antitheses. God as Father graciously created man in His own image. One might thus say that He created him for sonship. In fallen man, however, there is nothing left that can have the reality or bear the name of son. To use the word son of mere creaturehood is to give it a different sense from that which it has in NT usage. God in His grace has fulfilled His original purpose by sending His own Son so that in Him fallen men and women might be newly created in His image and thus adopted, or rejuvenated, as the children of God. They grow as such as they grow in faith and in the knowledge of the Son of God (Eph. 4:13). But it is in Christ alone, and by faith in Him, that God’s purpose is worked out in them and they have their sonship.

2. 恩典的工作。所有人是否生来就是神的儿女，还是只有藉着信心得到神恩典的人才能成为神的儿女，这个问题还没有绝对的答案。其他的选择也不是截然对立的。天父因祂的恩典按照自己的形象造人。因此，有人可能会说，神造人是为了让他们成为祂的儿子。然而，堕落的人类不再配拥有儿子的名分。如果仅仅从被造性理解“儿子”一词，那么就赋予了这个词与《新约》中的用法不同的含义。上帝因祂的恩典赐下圣子来成就祂最初的旨意，从而使堕落的世人可以按照祂的形象重新被创造，进而使他们可以被接纳或重生为神的儿女。随着他们长大成人，他们对神的信心和对神的儿子的认识与日增长（弗 4:13）。但是，唯有在基督里、信靠基督才能成就上帝在世人中的旨意，才能使他们得着儿子的名分。

CHILDREN OF ISRAEL

[Heb. b^enê yiśrā’ēl]. A biblical term

CHILDREN OF ISRAEL 以色列人

referring to the Israelites as the descendants of common ancestor, Jacob, whose name was changed to Israel (see Gen. 32:24–32). It was customary to designate the members of the various tribes as the children of the one from whom the tribe originated (see Nu. 1:20–43; Ezr. 2:3–61), and it was natural that the people who boasted of Israel as their ancestor should be designated as his children. The first reference to the descendants of Jacob is found in the account of the changing of Jacob's name to Israel, and the purpose is to connect them with the experience in Jacob's life which led to the change in his name (Gen. 32:32). In 2 K. 17:34 they are called "the children of Jacob," and this occurs in connection with the account of the changing of Jacob's name to Israel and is intended to connect them closely with their father Jacob, who was favored of God.

After a time, it is quite likely that the term "children of Israel" lost its peculiar significance and was simply one of the popular terms designating the inhabitants of Palestine but at first it was intended to connect these people with their ancestor Jacob whose name was changed to Israel. The Jews of the NT times connected themselves with Abraham rather than with Jacob (see Jn. 8:39; Rom. 9:7; Gal. 3:7, tékna, or huiói Abraham).

表示以色列人的词语，雅各是以色列人共同的祖先，后来改名为以色列（见：创 32:24-32）。经文中习惯于将各支派的人称为该支派祖先的儿女（见民 1:20-43；拉 2:3-61），称以色列为自己祖先的民族理应被称为以色列的儿女。经文在描述雅各改名为以色列时首次提到了雅各的后裔，这是为了将他们与促成雅各改名的生活经历联系在一起（创 32:32）。在《列王纪下》17:34 中，以色列人被称为“雅各的后裔”，这种称呼与雅各改名为以色列的描述有关，是为了将雅各的后裔与他们的祖先，也就是蒙神眷顾的雅各紧密地联系在一起。

过了一段时间之后，“children of Israel”（“以色列人”）很可能失去了其独特的意义，仅仅是一个表示巴勒斯坦居民的常见词语，但起初，使用这个词是为了将以色列人与他们改名为以色列的祖先雅各联系在一起。新约时期的犹太人自称他们是亚伯拉罕的子孙，而不是雅各的子孙（见约 8:39；罗 9:7；加 3:7, tékna 或 huiói Abraham）。

kil'ē-ab [Heb. kil'āb; Gk. Dalouia—'restraint of father']. A son of David, born to him at Hebron. His mother was Abigail, whom David married after the death of her husband Nabal, the Carmelite (2 S. 3:3). In the corresponding account (1 Ch. 3:1) he is called "Daniel," the meaning of which name ("God is my judge") points to its having been given in order to commemorate God's judgment upon Nabal (1 S. 25:39; cf. Gen. 30:6). Some suppose that he bore both names, but the LXX reading here Dalouia (1 Ch. 3:1, Damniél), and the identity of the last three letters of the Hebrew word "Chileab" with the first three of the following word, seems to indicate that the text of Samuel is corrupt.

kil'ē-on [Heb. kilyôn]. One of the two sons of Elimelech and Naomi, "Mahlon and Chilion ... Ephrathites from Bethlehem in Judah" (Ruth 1:2). With his mother and brother he came into Moab and there both married Moabite women, Orpah being the name of Chilion's wife and Ruth that of the wife of Mahlon (4:9f.). Both brothers died early, and Orpah remained in Moab while Ruth accompanied Naomi back to Bethlehem. When Boaz married Ruth he "bought from the hand of Naomi all that belonged to Elimelech and all that belonged to Chilion and to Mahlon" (4:9).

CHILEAB 基利押

音译: kil'ē-ab【希伯来语: kil'āb; 希腊语: Dalouia——“父亲的束缚”】。基利押是大卫的一个儿子,生于希伯仑。基利押的母亲是亚比该,亚比该的迦密人丈夫拿八死后,大卫娶亚比该为妻(撒上3:3)。在平行经文中(代上3:1),基利押被称为“但以利”,这个名字的含义(“上帝是我的审判者”)表明,这个名字是为了纪念上帝对拿八的审判(撒上25:39;参:创30:6)。有些人认为基利押生下来就有两个名字,但《七十士译本》将这个字译为 Dalouia (代上3:1, Damniél),“基利押”的希伯来语形式的最后三个字母与它后面那个词的前三个字母相同,这似乎表明《撒母耳记》的经文有错误的地方。

音译: kil'ē-on【希伯来语: kilyôn】。基连是以利米勒与拿俄米的两个儿子之一,他们“一个名叫玛伦,一个名叫基连,都是犹大伯利恒的以法他人”(得1:2)。基连同他的母亲和兄弟一起来到了摩押,两兄弟在那里娶了摩押女子为妻,基连的妻子是俄珥巴,玛伦的妻子是路得(得4:9-10)。两兄弟英年早逝,他们死后,俄珥巴仍然留在摩押地,而路得随拿俄米回到了伯利恒。当波阿斯娶路得时,“凡属以利米勒和基连,玛伦的,他都从拿俄米手中置买了”(得4:9)。

kil'mad [Heb. kilmad; Gk. Charman]; NEB ALL MEDIA (kl mdy). A city or district mentioned after Sheba and Asshur as supplying merchandise to Tyre (Ezk. 27:23). Working on the mistaken assumption that m and w are interchangeable in Assyrian/Babylonian, scholars have sometimes identified Chilmad as Kalwada near Baghdad (G. Smith, Delitzsch), but this is improbable. The LXX Charman and Vulgate Chelmad take it as the name of a country. The Targum substitutes maḏay, “Media,” which supplies a basis for the emendation behind the NEB rendering. The absence of the conjunction w- (“and”) has suggested other emendations, e.g., k^llimmāḏ, resulting in the rendering “Asshur was as the apprentice of your trading” (Kimchi, Hitzig, Cornill). Suggesting that r has been lost by haplography, Astour emends to klmd(r) rkltk and reads Kalmadara, a city of the kingdom of Unqi. Following up this emendation, Astour makes a possible identification of the site with Tell Jindara (Gindaros), with the astute suggestion that a Hurrian element kulma (“fertile place”?) has been replaced by Aram. gin-, “garden” (IDB Supplement). However appealing the suggestion, we must recognize that it results from an emendation, an unsupported site-identification, and a hypothetical change of place name.

音译: kil'mad【希伯来语: kilmad; 希腊语: Charman】;《新英文译本》译为 ALL MEDIA (“玛代全地”, kl mdy)。《以西结书》27:23 在示巴和亚述之后提到的一个与推罗贸易的城市或地区。学者们根据错误的假设,认为 m 和 w 在亚述语和巴比伦语中是可以互换的,他们有时认为基抹就是巴格达附近的卡瓦达 (Kalwada) (G. Smith, Delitzsch),但这种说法是不可信的。《七十士译本》译为 Charman,《武加大译本》译为 Chelmad,这两个译本都将基抹理解成一个地区的名字。《他尔根》译为 maḏay,意思是“玛代”,《新英文译本》中的翻译就是基于《他尔根》中的翻译进行修订的。其他的修订省略了连接词 w- (“和、与”),如 k^llimmāḏ,所以将整段经文译为“亚述跟你学习贸易”(Kimchi, Hitzig, Cornill)。阿斯特 (Astour) 认为 r 可能被漏写了,所以他将 kl mdy 改写成 klmd(r) rkltk,意为“卡马达拉”(Kalmadara),卡马达拉是翁奇 (Unqi) 王国的一座城市。阿斯特根据这种修订,认为基抹可能是金达拉废丘 (Tell Jindara 或 Gindaros),并且机敏地发现,这个词中的亚兰语元素 gin- (“花园”) 取代了胡利安语元素 kulma (“富饶之地” [不确定]) (IDB 增刊)。然而,根据这种观点,我们必须承认这个词源于一个修订本,是一个尚无法确定位置的地方,可能源于一个变更的地名。

From the reference in Jer. 41:17 it has been inferred that Chimham received a grant of land from David's patrimony at Bethlehem, which retained his name for at least four centuries.

kī'os, kē'os [Gk. Chios]. An island belonging to Greece in the Aegean Sea, 12 mi. (19 km.) W of Izmir (ancient Smyrna) and 5 mi. (8 km.) from the mainland of the Asia Minor. Paul's ship passed it on his last voyage to Jerusalem (Acts 20:15). From Luke's expression, "we came the following day over against Chios," it has been conjectured that they were becalmed; more probably it simply means that, according to the island-hopping practice of the times, they dropped anchor for the night opposite the island; ships normally did not sail at night along the island-cluttered shores of the Aegean.

Chios is shaped like a bow aimed at the Asia minor coast and stretches 32 mi. (51 km.) North and South and 8–18 mi. (13–29 km.) East and West. While the north end of the island is mountainous (highest altitude 4255 ft. [1296 m.]) with steep coasts, there are four plains (mostly in the south) with very fertile soil. Even though there is no real watercourse on the island, luxuriant vegetation is made possible by numerous springs. The place was renowned in antiquity for its wine, figs, wheat, and gum mastic. The last was obtained from the lentiscus tree by making incisions in the branches from which a sort of resin would flow and form a gum. This still constitutes an important element of the economy of the place.

音译：kī'os, kē'os 【希腊语：Chios】。爱琴海中的一座属希腊的岛屿，位于伊兹密尔（古代的士每拿）以西 12 英里（19 公里）处，距离小亚细亚本土 5 英里（8 公里）。保罗最后一次来耶路撒冷时途经了基阿（徒 20:15）。根据路加的描述“次日到了基阿的对面”，从中可以推测出他们因为无风而停止前进；根据逐岛旅行的惯例，这句话更可能仅仅表示他们那晚在岛对面抛锚；一般来说，船只不会在夜间沿着多岛的爱琴海海岸边航行。

基阿是一座正对着小亚细亚海岸的弓形岛屿，南北 32 英里（51 公里），东西 8 至 18 英里（13 至 29 公里）。虽然这座岛屿的北端多山（最高山峰的海拔为 4255 英尺[1296 米]），沿岸地势陡峭，但岛上有四个土壤肥沃的平原（大都位于南岸）。虽然岛上没有真正的河流，但因为岛上有很多泉水，所以植物生长

Chios was especially noted in antiquity for its claim to be the birthplace of Homer, for its school of epic poets, and its sculptors. To Glaucus of Chios was ascribed the invention of iron-welding early in the 7th cent. B.C. The chief city, located in the southeastern part of the island and bearing the same name as the island, was founded on the finest harbor of the eastern seaboard of the Aegean; eighty ships could anchor in her roadstead. The place where Homer is said to have collected his pupils around him is still pointed out to the traveler at the foot of Mt. Epos, 6 mi. (10 km.) N of the capital. In reality it is a sanctuary of the mother goddess Cybele, with altar and figure of the goddess accompanied by two lions carved in the native rock.

The oldest inhabitants of the island were Leleges, Cretans, and Carians; they were conquered by the Ionians, who made Chios one of the most flourishing states in Ionia. Incorporated in the Persian empire under Cyrus in 546, Chios fought heroically against her overlord during the Ionian revolt forty-six years later. Crushing the revolt, the Persians burned the cities and temples of the island and carried off her most beautiful girls. During the 5th cent. B.C. Chios joined the

基阿岛的最古老的居民是莱勒格斯人、革哩底人和卡里亚人；后来爱奥尼亚人打败了他们，并将基阿岛变成爱奥尼亚最繁荣的城邦之一。公元前546年，居鲁士将基阿并入波斯帝国的版图，46年之后基阿岛的爱奥尼亚人英勇地抵抗了该岛的统治者。波斯人粉碎了岛上的叛乱，烧毁了岛上的很多城市和神庙，并掳走了岛上最漂亮的女子。公元前5世纪，基阿加入了提洛同盟（雅典人的联盟），公元前413年之前，基阿岛的居民始终效忠于雅典人。基阿因岛

Delian League (Athenian Alliance) and remained loyal until 413. For her insurrection she suffered terribly at the hands of the Athenians, who ultimately recaptured the entire island. During the 4th cent. Chios joined the Second Athenian Alliance and revolted successfully only a few years before conquest by Alexander the Great. Independent during the early Hellenistic era, she allied with Rome during the 2nd cent. and was virtually depopulated by the sack of 86 B.C., carried out by Mithridates in his temporarily successful contest with Rome.

The Roman general Sulla restored the Chians to their homes and bestowed on them the rights of a free city, which implied local autonomy and in certain respects the privilege of being governed according to native law, while many of their neighboring cities in the province of Asia were governed according to Roman law. Chian efforts to regain prosperity were interrupted by a violent earthquake during the reign of Tiberius. The Roman emperor helped in the rehabilitation, and a reasonable degree of prosperity had been attained by the time Paul sailed by.

Subsequently Chios remained part of the continuing Roman empire, with its capital at Byzantium. In 1307 Turkish pirates subjugated and laid waste the island; the Turks took over the island in 1566. In the war of the Greek revolution, the Chians joined the Greeks (Feb. 1821) but were overpowered by the Turks. The Pasha decreed that the island should be utterly devastated: 23,000 Chians were massacred and 47,000 sold into slavery. Only five thousand escaped. During the Balkan war of 1912 the Greek fleet took

其后，基阿始终是以拜占庭为都城的罗马帝国的一部分。1307 年土耳其的海盗征服了基阿，并使该岛变成了一座荒岛；1566 年土耳其人接管了基阿岛。在希腊革命战争期间，基阿人与希腊人结盟（1821 年 2 月），但他们最终被土耳其人打败。巴夏命令彻底摧毁这座岛屿：两万三千名基阿人被杀，四万七千名基阿人被卖为奴隶。只有五千名基阿人逃离了。1912 年巴尔干战争期间，希腊舰队占领了该岛，后来基阿重新归入希腊的版图。

CHOOSE; CHOSEN

[Heb. bāḥar, qāḅal, bārā', bārâ; Gk. eklēgō, hairéō].

I. In the OT.-The Heb. bāḥar and its derivatives are used of men choosing wives (Gen. 6:2); Lot choosing the cities of the valley (Gen. 13:11); often of kings and generals choosing soldiers for their prowess (e.g., Ex. 17:9; Josh. 8:3; 1 S. 13:2; 2 S. 10:9; 17:1). The word bāḥūr is often used for "young men," as being choice, in the prime of manhood (e.g., Dt. 32:25; Isa. 62:5). The most important uses of bāḥar are these: of Israel choosing a king (1 S. 8:18; 12:13); of moral and religious choice: choosing the Lord as God (Josh. 24:15, 22), or other gods (Jgs. 5:8; 10:14); the way of truth (Ps. 119:30); to refuse the evil and choose the good (Isa. 7:15f.); cf. David's choice of evils (2 S. 24:12). A leading idea is that of God choosing Moses as leader (Nu. 16:5, 7; 17:5), the Levites to the priesthood (1 S. 2:28; 2 Ch. 29:11), Saul as king (1 S. 10:24), David (2 S. 6:21; 1 K. 11:34), Solomon (1 Ch. 28:5). All this follows from the theocratic idea that God rules personally over Israel as His chosen people. A more important, but still subsidiary, idea is that of the Lord choosing Jerusalem as the place of His

I. 《旧约》中的选择或拣选。希伯来语 bāḥar 和它的派生词可以表示男人挑选妻子 (创 6:2); 罗得选择平原中的城市 (创 13:11); 通常表示列王和将军选择英勇的士兵 (如, 出 17:9; 书 8:3; 撒上 13:2; 撒下 10:9; 17:1)。 bāḥūr 一词通常用来表示被选中的年富力强的 "年轻人" (如, 申 32:25; 赛 62:5)。 bāḥar 最重要的用法包括: 以色列拣选自己的国王 (撒上 8:18; 12:13); 道德的选择和宗教选择: 选择耶和华 (书 24:15, 22) 或其他神明 (士 5:8; 10:14) 为主; 拣选忠信的道 (诗 119:30); 弃恶择善 (赛 7:15-16); 参: 大卫选择灾祸 (撒下 24:12)。选择或拣选的主要例子包括, 上帝拣选摩西为领袖 (民 16:5, 7; 17:5), 拣选利未人为祭司 (撒上 2:28; 代下 29:11), 拣选扫罗 (撒上 10:24)、大卫 (撒下 6:21; 王上 11:34) 和所罗门 (代上 28:5) 为王。以上所有的例子都遵循上帝亲自统治祂的选民以色列人这个神权思想。神的拣选这一思想所附带的意义更为重要的一点是, 上帝选择耶路撒冷作为祂的居所和敬拜祂的地方 (申 12:5, 还有其他 20 处提及了这件事; 书 9:27; 王上 8:44, 48; 诗 132:13; 亚 1:17; 2:12; 3:2)。这也是约西亚改革的主导思想, 有助于废除以 habitation and worship (Dt. 12:5, and twenty other times; Josh. 9:27; 1 K. 8:44, 48; Ps. 132:13; Zec. 1:17; 2:12; 3:2). This was the ruling idea of Josiah's reformation, which was instrumental in putting down polytheistic ideas and idolatrous practices in Israel, and was therefore an important factor in the development of Hebrew monotheism; but it was an idea that Hebrew monotheism had to transcend and reject to attain its full growth. "The hour is coming when neither on this mountain nor in Jerusalem will you worship the Father" (Jn. 4:21).

But the fundamental idea of choosing, which governs all others in the OT, is that of God choosing Israel to be His peculiar people. He chose Abraham, and made a covenant with him, to give him the land of Canaan (cf. Neh. 9:7ff.): "For you are a people holy to the Lord your God; the Lord your God has chosen you to be a people for his own possession, out of all the peoples that are on the face of the earth ... because the Lord loves you, and is keeping the oath which he swore to your fathers" (Dt. 7:6-8). Historically this idea originated in the old conception of Yahweh as the tribal God of Israel, bound to them by natural and indissoluble ties (see GOD II.C). But as their conception of Yahweh became more moral, and the idea of His righteousness predominated, it was recognized that there was no natural and necessary relation and harmony between Israel and the Lord that accounted for the favor of a righteous God toward her, for Israel was no better than her neighbors (Am. 1f.). Why then was Yahweh Israel's God, and Israel His people? It was by an act of free choice and sovereign grace on God's part. "You only have I known of all the families of the earth” (Am. 3:2).

色列的多神崇拜思想和崇拜偶像的风俗，因此成为促进希伯来一神论发展的重要因素；但希伯来人的一神论要想取得全面的发展，就必须超越和摒弃这种思想。“时候将到，你们拜父也不在这山上，也不在耶路撒冷”（约 4:21）。

但《旧约》中支配其他拣选观点的基本理念是，耶和华拣选以色列为祂的选民。耶和华拣选亚伯拉罕，与他立约，赐他迦南地（参：尼 9:7 起）：“因为你归耶和华你 神为圣洁的民。耶和华你神从地上的万民中拣选你，特作自己的子民……只因耶和华爱你们，又因要守祂向你们列祖所起的誓”（申 7:6-8）。从历史的观点讲，这一观点源于耶和华是以色列各支派之神，以色列人生来就与耶和华牢固地连接在一起的古老观念（见 GOD II.C[神 II.C]）。但随着他们的耶和华概念被赋予更多的道德意义，关于耶和华神的公义的观点成为占支配地位的思想，人们意识到以色列并不是因为生来就与耶和华存在必然的和睦关系，才被公义的神眷顾，因为以色列并不比邻国好（摩 1-2）。那为什么耶和华是以色列的神，以色列是祂的子民呢？这是神自由拣选的行为，也是祂最高的恩典。“在地上万族中，我只认识你们”（摩 3:2）。

In Hosea the relation is described under the figure of a marriage tie. Yahweh is Israel's husband; and to realize the force of the figure, it is necessary to recall what ancient and oriental marriage customs were. Choice and favor were almost entirely made by the husband. The idea of the covenant which the Lord out of His free grace made with Israel comes to the forefront in Deuteronomy and Jeremiah. Because He loved her, and for no other reason, He chose Israel to be His peculiar people.

In Isa. 40-66 the idea is carried farther in two directions: (1) The Lord's gracious choice of Israel rests ultimately on His absolute sovereignty: "O Jacob my servant, Israel, whom I have chosen! Thus says the Lord who made you, who formed you from the womb" (44:1f.; cf Isa. 29:16; Jer. 18:6; Isa. 64:8). For Israel's deliverance Cyrus and his world empire are in the Lord's hands as clay in the potter's hands (Isa. 45:9f.). (2) "Israel is elect for the sake of mankind." This is the moral interpretation of a choice that otherwise appears arbitrary and irrational. God's purpose and call of salvation are unto all mankind. "Turn to me and be saved, all the ends of the earth! For I am God, and there is no other" (Isa. 45:22). And Israel is His servant, chosen, the messenger He sends to "bring forth justice to the nations" (42:1, 19; 43:10, 12). The idea is further developed in the conception of the SERVANT OF THE LORD as the faithful few (or one) formed "from the womb to be his servant, to bring Jacob back to him," "as a light to the nations," God's salvation for the "end of the earth" (49:1-6; 52:13-53:12) (cf.

《以赛亚书》40-66章从两个角度进一步讨论了这一观点：(1) 耶和华因恩典拣选以色列的行为完全基于祂的绝对主权：“我的仆人雅各、我所拣选的以色列啊，现在你当听！造作你，又从你出胎造就你，并要帮助你的耶和华如此说”（赛 44:1-2；参：赛 29:16；耶 18:6；赛 64:8）。耶和华为了拯救以色列，将居鲁士和他的帝国掌握祂的手中，就像泥土掌握在陶匠的手中（赛 45:9-10）。(2) “因世人的缘故拣选了以色列”。这是对看似专断、不合理的拣选的道德解释。上帝的旨意与救赎的恩召惠及全人类。“地极的人都当仰望我，就必得救，因为我是神，再没有别神”（赛 45:22）。祂为了“将公理传给外邦”让以色列作祂的仆人、选民和使者（赛 42:1, 19；43:10, 12）。耶和华的仆人（见 SERVANT OF THE LORD[耶和华的仆人]）的概念进一步发展了这一观点，一群（个）信靠主的人“从我出胎，造就我作祂的仆人，要使雅各归向祂”，“要使他作外邦人的光”，神的救赎直到“地极”（赛 49:1-6；52:13-53:12）（参：《以赛亚书》中关于剩民施亚雅述的教义；另参《诗篇》中的义人、虔诚人和谦卑人；见斯金纳，《以赛亚书》注释[CBSC, 1915-1917], II, xxx 起）。品格观念、

Isaiah's doctrine of the Remnant: Shear-jashub; also, the righteous, the godly, the meek, in Psalms; and see Skinner, comm. on Isaiah [CBSC, 1915-17], II, xxxff.). As the conception of personality and of individual relation and responsibility to God developed from Ezekiel, together with the resulting doctrine of personal immortality, the conditions were prepared for the application of the idea of election to individuals (cf. Ps. 65:4).

Along with the idea of God choosing Israel runs the complementary idea that Israel should prove faithful to the covenant, and worthy of the choice. God has chosen her, not for any merit in her, but of His free grace, and according to His purpose of salvation; but if Israel fails to respond by faithful conduct, fitting her to be His servant and messenger, He may and will cast her off, or such portion of her as proves unworthy. See Oehler, OT Theology (Eng. tr. 1883), I, 256ff., 287f.

Three other Hebrew words expressing choice in minor matters are: qābal, for David's choice of evils (1 Ch. 21:11); bārā', to mark out a place (Ezk. 21:19), to select singers and porters for the temple (1 Ch. 9:22; 16:41); bārā, to choose a man to represent Israel against Goliath (1 S. 17:8).

II. In the NT.-The whole conception of God, of His relation to Israel, and of His action in history indicated above, constituted the religious heritage of Jesus Christ and His disciples. The national consciousness had to a considerable extent given place to that of the individual; and salvation extended

源自《以西结书》的个体与神的关系和个体对神的责任的观念，以及由此而产生的个体不朽的教义都为拣选个体的观点准备了条件（参：诗 65:4）。

还有三个希伯来词语可以表示选择次要的事物：qābal 用来表示大卫选择灾祸（代上 21:11）；bārā' 用来表示划出一个地点的界限（结 21:19）或选择圣殿中的歌唱者和守门人（代上 9:22；16:41）；bārā 用来表示选择一个人代表以色列与哥利亚争战（撒上 17:8）。

II. 《新约》中的选择或拣选。神、祂与以色列的关系和祂在历史中的作为，以上所有观念是留给耶稣基督和祂的门徒的宗教遗产。民族意识在很大程度上被个体意识所取代；救赎超越了今世，变成了未来世界的福气。但《新约》不仅保留了这些核心理念，而且只有《新约》完善了这些核心理念，因为耶稣基

beyond the present life into a state of blessedness in a future world. But the central ideas remain, and are only modified in the NT in so far as Jesus Christ becomes the Mediator and Agent of God's sovereign grace. Gk. eklégō and its derivatives are the words that generally express the idea in the NT. They are used (1) of the general idea of selecting one out of many (Lk. 14:7); (2) of choosing men for a particular purpose, e.g., of the church choosing the Seven (Acts 6:5); of the choice of delegates from the Council of Jerusalem (Acts 15:22, 25; cf. 2 Cor. 8:19), cheirotoneō; choose by vote (cf. Acts 10:41), procheirotoneō; (3) of moral choice (Mk. 13:20); "Mary has chosen the good portion" (Lk. 10:42); (4) of Christ as the chosen Messiah of God (Lk. 23:35; 1 Pet. 2:4); (5) of Christ choosing His apostles (Lk. 6:13; Jn. 6:70; 13:18; 15:16, 19; Acts 1:2, 24); Paul (Acts 9:15; cf. 22:14, AV), procheirizomai; Rufus (Rom. 16:13); and Paul choosing Silas (Acts 15:40), epilégō; (6) of God choosing Israel (Acts 13:17; cf. Rom. 9:11), choosing the Christian Church as the new Israel (1 Pet. 2:9, AV), choosing the members of the Church from among the poor (Jas. 2:5), the foolish, weak, and despised (1 Cor. 1:27f.), choosing into His favor and salvation a few out of many: "Many are called, but few are chosen" (Mt. 20:16, AV; 22:14); God shortens the days of the destruction of Jerusalem "for the sake of the elect, whom he chose" (Mk. 13:20).

In Eph. 1:4-6 every phrase tells a different phase of the conception: (1) God chose (and foreordained) the saints in Christ before the foundation of the world; (2) according to the purpose of His will; (3) to be adopted as His sons through

督变成了神最高恩典的中保和代理。《新约》通常用希腊语 eklégō 和其派生词来表达这个观点。《新约》用这些词表示 (1) 从许多之中选出一个的普通概念 (路 14:7); (2) 选择特定用途的人, 如, 在教会中拣选七人 (徒 6:5); 选择参加耶路撒冷会议的代表 (徒 15:22, 25; 参: 林后 8:19), 用 cheirotoneō 这个词; 投票选择 (参: 徒 10:41), 用 procheirotoneō 这个词; (3) 道德选择 (可 13:20); "马利亚已经选择那上好的福分" (路 10:42); (4) 上帝拣选基督作弥赛亚 (路 23:35; 彼前 2:4); (5) 基督拣选祂的使徒 (路 6:13; 约 6:70; 13:18; 15:16, 19; 徒 1:2, 24); 拣选保罗 (《钦定版圣经》, 徒 9:15; 参: 徒 22:14), 用 procheirizomai 这个词; 拣选鲁孚 (罗 16:13); 保罗拣选西拉 (徒 15:40), 用 epilégō 这个词; (6) 上帝拣选以色列 (徒 13:17; 参: 罗 9:11), 拣选基督教会为新以色列 (《钦定版圣经》, 彼前 2:9), 从穷人 (雅 2:5)、愚拙的、软弱的和卑贱的人 (林前 1:27-28) 中拣选教会的成员, 从众人中拣选一部分人得着神的恩惠和救赎: "因为被召的人多, 选上的人少" (《钦定版圣经》, 太 20:16; 22:14); "只是为主的选民", 神减少了耶路撒冷被毁的日子 (可 13:20)。

Jesus Christ; (4) to be holy and blameless before Him in love; (5) to the praise of His glorious grace; (6) which He freely bestowed on them in the Beloved. And in Rev. 17:14, the triumphant Church in heaven is described as “called and chosen and faithful.” God’s sovereign choice governs the experience and testing of the saints at every point from beginning to end.

Thus in the NT as in the OT (1) God’s covenant of grace is free and unconditional. It is for all men, now as individuals rather than nations, and without distinction of race or class. It is no less free and sovereign, because it is a father’s grace. (2) Israel is still a chosen race for a special purpose. (3) The Church and the saints that constitute it are chosen to the full experience and privileges of sonship. (4) God’s purpose of grace is fully revealed and realized through Jesus Christ.

This doctrine raises certain theological and metaphysical difficulties that have never yet been satisfactorily solved. (1) How can God be free if all His acts are preordained from eternity? This is an antinomy which indeed lies at the root of all personality. It is of the essence of the idea of personality that a person should freely determine himself and yet act in conformity with his own character. Every person in practice and experience solves this antinomy continually, though he may have no intellectual category that can coordinate these two apparently contradictory principles in all personality. (2) How can God be just, if a few are chosen and many are left? And (3) How can man be free if his moral character proceeds out of God’s sovereign grace? It is certain that if God chose all or left all He would be neither just nor gracious, nor would man have any vestige of freedom. The doctrine describes accurately the moral fact that some accept salvation and others reject it, and the religious fact that God's sovereign and unconditional love is the beginning and cause of salvation. The meeting-point of the action of grace, and of man's liberty as a moral and responsible being, it does not define. Nor has the category as yet been discovered wherewith to construe and coordinate these two facts of religious experience together, although it is a fact known in every Christian experience that where God is most sovereign, man is most free.

(5) 拣选是为了赞美神荣耀的恩典；(6) 按照自己的意志在圣子里赐福给他们。在《启示录》17:14 中，天上得胜的教会描述成“蒙召、拣选、有忠心的”。在圣人从生至死的每个阶段，神的最高拣选始终掌控着他们的经历和对他们的试验。

因此，在《新约》和《旧约》中 (1) 神的恩典之约是白白得来的，且是无条件的。祂为所有人的缘故与每一个人立约，而不是与民族立约，而且这约不分种族或阶级。恩典之约同样是自由的，并且是至高无上的，因为它是一位父亲的恩典。(2) 因特殊的目的，以色列称为神拣选的民族。(3) 神拣选教会与教会中的圣徒，从而让他们完整地体验儿子的名分，享受儿子的特权。(4) 神藉着基督完全揭示并实现了祂恩典的旨意。

【希伯来语: pāras'】。这个希伯来词语的意思是“切成小片”、“分割”，通常将这个词译为“spread”(“发散、传播”)，《弥迦书》3:3 中译为“chop”(“切”)；他们“分成块子像要下锅”，这暗示出上帝子民的官长以残忍的手段毁灭百姓。

CHORASHAN 歌拉珊

音译: kôr-ash'ən。见 BOR-ASHAN (歌拉珊)。

CHORAZIN 歌拉汛

音译: kō-fā'zin 【希腊语: Chorazin】。加利利海以北的一座城邑，耶稣曾责备歌拉汛、伯赛大和迦百农，因为这三座城中的人看到了耶稣行的很多异能却不悔改(太 11:20-24; 路 10:13-15)。《新约》仅在描述这件事时提到了这座城市。《旧约》和约瑟夫斯的作品中没有 not mentioned in the OT or in Josephus; however, it may be the place mentioned in the Babylonian Talmud (Menahoth 85a) as famous for its wheat.

Eusebius, in the 4th cent., said it was 2 Roman mi. from Capernaum; and the ruins at Kerâzeh, about 2.5 mi. (4 km.) N of the modern Tell Hûm, are generally accepted as the site. A less likely suggestion is Khersa on the east shore of the lake.

Extensive ruins at Khirbet Kerâzeh indicate a city of some importance. Traces can be seen of a Roman road connecting Chorazin with the great caravan route leading past the lake on its way to Damascus. As a city (Gk. pólis; cf. Mt. 11:20f.) it would have a synagogue, and the remains of an early synagogue constructed of black volcanic rock have been found. Of special interest is the cathedra Mosis, a carved seat with an Aramaic inscription (cf. Mt. 23:2) uncovered at Kerâzeh. Apparently there was once a tradition that the antichrist would come from Chorazin, and the severe words spoken to the city by Jesus may be related to this tradition (E. Nestle, Expos.T., 15 [1904], 524).

凯拉泽废墟中的大量遗迹表明这里曾是一座比较重要的城市。还可以看到连接哥拉汛和重要商路的罗马道路的遗迹，这条商路经过加利利海通向大马士革。如果哥拉汛是一座城市(希腊语：pólis；参：太11:20-21)，那么城中应该有一座犹太会堂，而且已经在这里发现了一座由黑火山岩建成的早期犹太会堂。尤为引人注意的是 cathedra Mosis，这是一个在凯拉泽挖掘出的、刻有亚兰语铭文的雕刻座位(参：太23:2)。显然，传统上认为敌基督者来自于哥拉汛，基督责备这座城市的话可能与这个传统有关(E. Nestle, Expos.T., 15 [1904], 524)。

I. Introduction.-The work of Christ in the history of the world has many sides or facets. As the personal Word of God He created, sustains, and governs the universe (Jn. 1:1ff.). Thus He manifests God in His sovereign work both by His origination of all things and by His rule over them. He is, at the same time, the Redeemer of creation from the curse and disaster of sin which have come upon it through the disobedience of man. Thus His activity extends to every part of human history and activity.

I. 简介。基督在世界历史中的工作有很多方面。基督道成肉身，祂创造、支撑和统治着这个世界（约 1:1 起）。因此，在基督至高无上的工作中，祂藉着创造万物和统治万物显明了上帝。祂同时是受造物的救世主，他们曾因悖逆上帝而犯罪，受到诅咒，遭受灾祸，基督将他们从诅咒和灾祸中拯救出来。因此，基督的工作延伸到人类历史和人类活动的每个方面。

At the same time one must always beware of the danger of dividing the work of Christ into separate compartments. His work as Creator and His sustentation and rule over creation are closely bound together, for if He were Creator only, and did not also maintain His providential activity, the continued existence of creation would depend upon some other agency, which would mean that He did not possess creation and so could not rule over it. At the same time, one must take care not to separate creation and providence from redemption, for His overcoming of sin could be truly redemptive only because, as Creator and Ruler over creation, He graciously saved man from his antagonism to, and rebellion against, the

与此同时，人们必须始终警惕，切莫将基督的工作分成若干个部分。祂创造、维持和统治的工作是紧密联系在一起，因为如果祂仅仅是造物主，却不维持祂属天的行为，那么受造物的继续存在就将依赖于其他的中保，这也就意味着，祂对于所创造的世界没有所有权，所以不能统治世界。然而，人们一定注意，不要将创世、上帝的旨意和救赎分隔开，基督战胜罪的工作能够真正实现对世人的救赎，只因这位造物主和统治者仁慈地拯救了世人，使他们不再与那位掌握真道的万物之主为敌，不再悖逆祂。只有掌握如此大权柄和大能的基督才能战胜罪。

One who in truth was and is creation's Lord. No one of lesser authority and power could have achieved such a victory over sin.

Although Christians have very often centered the exposition of Christ's redemptive work on His death and resurrection, these two unique events form but the core and the climax of the plan and work of salvation. In order that man might understand, a long time of preparation preceded these events, and a period of explanation and interpretation came after them. Moreover, both before and after His historical redemptive acts, it was He who brought men to faith in Himself, whether as the One who would come in the future or as the One who had accomplished redemption in the past. Throughout history He has in this way made effective His redemptive work in His elect people. To understand what this has meant and what He has accomplished, one needs to see His work as a whole and in a systematic manner. Out of this need has come the formulation theologians have called Christ's threefold office of prophet, priest, and king.

The man who originally set forth this interpretation of Christ's work was Eusebius bishop of Caesarea (d. 340). In so doing, however, he did not invent a handy formula for giving a scientific statement of Christ's work, but actually derived it from the Scriptures (cf. Dt. 18:15; Ps. 110:4; Zec. 6:13). His formulation has thus been generally accepted as genuinely biblical, and as truly setting forth Christ's redemptive work.

II. Prophet.-The biblical teaching concerning the office of a prophet is that the prophet is the mouthpiece of God speaking to man (Dt. 18:18; Jer. 1:9; Gal. 1:11f.; 1 Cor. 15:1-4). The prophet thus reveals to man the word of God, which may be a statement and explanation of that which was past, is present, or will come in the future (Dt. 34:10f.; Jgs. 2:1-5; 3:9-11; Jer. 15:1). Prediction, therefore, while usually a part of the prophetic message, did not constitute its sum total, but was made only as God spoke to men of the ultimate redemption He had prepared for them. The revelation of God's saving purpose was the primary responsibility of the prophet (Jn. 5:39; 1 Pet. 1:11). This office Christ fulfilled as the source of, and the greatest of, all the prophets.

In the opening statements of the Fourth Gospel, the writer makes the claim that Jesus Christ is the Word of God. This would seem to mean that as the second person of the triune Godhead He performs the function of revealing God. Christ revealed God first of all as Creator, and still does as Sustainer and Ruler over the universe (Jn. 1:3; Col. 1:15f.). The works of His hands manifest the divine power and Godhead to all men so that none may avoid or escape from the fact that a God of power and glory rules over all things (Ps. 19:1-6; Rom. 1:20f.). This general revelation of God, given to all men, came to man as soon as he appeared upon this earth; and it still speaks to him, so that he may never escape from the responsibility of worshiping and serving the sovereign God.

From the beginning, however, God set before man even more clearly his

II. 先知。《圣经》中关于先知职分的教导是，先知是为上帝向世人传话的人（申 18:18；耶 1:9；加 1:11-12；林前 15:1-4）。因此，先知向世人揭示出上帝的话语，这种揭示可能是对过去、现在或将来之事的叙述和解释（申 34:10-11；士 2:1-5；3:9-11；耶 15:1）。因此，虽然预言通常属于启示的一部分，却不是先知启示的全部，它仅仅是上帝在向世人传达祂为他们准备的根本救赎。揭示上帝的救赎旨意是先知的主要职责（约 5:39；彼前 1:11）。基督以众先知之源和最伟大的先知的身份履行了先知的职分。

第四福音书的作者在该福音书开头写道，耶稣基督是神的道。这似乎意味着，基督作为三位一体真神的第二个位格，肩负着显明上帝的职责。基督首先揭示出上帝是造物主和这个世界的支撑者与统治者（约 1:3；西 1:15-16）。基督手中的工作向世人彰显了神的大能和神性，所以没有人可以否认这位满有力量和荣耀的神统治着万物这样一个事实（诗 19:1-6；罗 1:20-21）。所有的人一降生就被赐予了这个关于上帝的普遍启示；这一启示之后还继续向他们显明，所以他们不能逃脱敬拜和事奉至高神。 obligations to his Creator, by revealing directly to man through the Word that he is to act as God's vicegerent upon earth, using that which the earth produces for his own welfare, ruling over and subduing it. At the same time, he must constantly acknowledge that God is ultimately the Lord who provides all things, even the very life of man (Gen. 1:28; 2:16ff.). In his state of innocence man lived in true fellowship with God through His Word by whom God spoke to him. This would seem to be the meaning of Gen. 3:8, which refers to "the voice of God" walking in the Garden.

Despite such close communion between creature and Creator, however, man desired to set himself up as independent of God, and by so doing he declared that he possessed the power of interpreting and understanding the universe by his own wisdom (Gen. 3:1-7; Rom. 1:19ff.). Refusing to recognize God's revelation either in nature or by word, he lost even the knowledge he originally possessed. At the same time, because of his utterly false interpretation and view of everything, he also lost his fellowship with God, so that instead of enjoying God's favor he came under God's rejection and condemnation (Gen. 3:16ff.; Rom. 1:26ff.).

One aspect of God's judgment on man was that God gave him up to the delusion of his own mind so that he could no longer comprehend the meaning of God's self-revelation. Claiming to have attained wisdom, in reality he became ignorant (Rom. 1:22ff.). For this reason, if God would have further communication with man He must speak to him more directly and more clearly than before. To this end, therefore, He chose one people through whom He spoke to man, the descendants of Shem, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, to whom He came by way of covenant (Gen. 17; 28; 35). To this people, Israel, God gave His oracles that they might transmit them to the world, in order that men as a whole might know of the way of forgiveness which God had provided for them (Ex. 4:22; Jer. 31:9; Hos. 11:1; Rom. 9:4).

尽管受造物与造物主之间存在密切的关系，但世人企图摆脱神而独立存在，为了达到这一目的，他们宣称他们可以凭借自己的智慧解释和理解这个世界（创 3:1-7；罗 1:19 起）。他们实际上或口头上拒绝承认上帝的启示，甚至失去了他们最初获得的智慧。与此同时，由于他们完全错误地解释和看待每一件事，他们也不再跟随上帝，所以他们不能得到上帝的恩典，反而被人抛弃和诅咒（创 3:16 起；罗 1:26 起）。

上帝对世人的一个审判就是放弃他们，任由他们被自己的思想欺骗，以至他们不再能够理解上帝自我启示的意义。他们声称自己获得了智慧，实际上却变得愚昧无知（罗 1:22 起）。因此，如果上帝想要继续与世人交流，祂必须比从前更加直接、更加清楚地与世人说话。为此，上帝拣选了一个民族，也就是闪、亚伯拉罕、以撒和雅各的子孙，上帝曾与他们立了约，并要藉这个民族与世人说话（创 17，28；35）。上帝告知以色列

God's methods of revelation to Israel were essentially three in number: theophany, prophecy, and miracle. In theophany God appeared to man as man or as angel (Gen. 18; Ex. 3:2; 13:21f.; 14:24; Josh. 5:14), and in all these various appearances the preincarnate Son of God was the one who made His presence known (Jn. 8:56). He also performed the miracles that took place at the hands of the OT prophets, priests, and kings (Jn. 6:32). But most important of all the preincarnate Son of God spoke through the prophets as they both explained the meaning of these divine manifestations and pointed forward to that divine redemptive plan that would surely come to pass (1 Pet. 1:10f.). In this way Christ fulfilled His office of prophet in the OT dispensation.

In speaking the word of God, the prophets pointed forward to the One who would be the prophet of God par excellence. Moses in particular set forth that one would come who would more fully reveal the will of God (Dt. 18:15-19). As the woman at the well of Sychar stated, He would "tell us all things" (Jn. 4:25). Such prophetic proclamation would form part of the work of the Messiah, who would come to redeem the people of God from their bondage under sin (Isa. 61:1; Lk. 4:21; Jn. 4:25). Thus throughout the OT one finds in various places promises that God would send One who would reveal Him more fully and more completely than ever before.

从本质上看，神赐予以色列的启示方法总共有三种：显现、预言和神迹。神以人或天使的形象向世人显现(创 18; 出 3:2; 13:21-22; 14:24; 书 5:14)，道成肉身之前的圣子是神的众多显现形象之一，圣子让世人看到了神(约 8:56)。神还藉旧约先知、祭司和君王之手行了很多神迹(约 6:32)。但道成肉身之前的圣子的最重要作用是让先知说出了神显现的意义，并向世人指明了必会实现的神的救赎计划(彼前 1:10-11)。基督以此实现了祂在旧约时代的先知职分。

This anticipation found its fulfillment in the incarnation of the Son of God, the Word of God in the flesh, Immanuel: "God with us" (Mt. 1:23; Jn. 1:2ff.). For this reason one may say that God now spoke directly to man even as He had spoken to Moses of old (Nu. 12:8). As one studies Christ's discourses one finds that He did not follow the example of other rabbis of the day, who continually looked for their authority either to the OT prophets or to the rabbis of earlier times. Instead He spoke with autonomous authority, for He spoke as the Prophet, as the very Word of God Himself (Mt. 7:29; Mk. 1:22). Moreover, He took upon Himself the right to correct earlier erroneous interpretations of the law and to reject rabbinical additions (Mt. 5:21ff; Mk. 7:4f.). By these means He displayed His claim to be the prophet foretold by Moses, who spoke with the authority of God Himself (Jn. 3:34; 6:45ff.; Jn. 7:16ff.). In this way He fulfilled the messianic office of prophet.

The content of Christ's revelation also differed from that of the OT prophets. They had pointed forward to one who would come to establish the kingdom of God, but Christ came as the Redeemer-King who would fulfil their prophecies by establishing His rule (Mk. 1:15; Mt. 4:12ff.; Jn. 3:35; 18:36f.; Eph. 1:20ff.). Consequently He spoke not in terms of anticipation, but in terms of accomplishment. Moreover, as the Son of God He spoke concerning God in more intimate and accurate terms than could the OT prophets (Jn. 8:14ff.; 10:29ff.; 14:7ff.). Even through His human person He revealed God to men; and by his setting forth of the being and nature of God, Christ also revealed more clearly and more directly the nature and destiny of man and the world. The OT prophets had done this proleptically in the terms of their own environments, but Christ set forth these matters more universally and more fully than ever before (cf. Mt. 5-7; 25; Jn. 6; 8; 10; 14-17). And this in turn involved a definitive explanation of His own messianic work as the Priest and the King who would suffer on behalf of His people but who would rise triumphant over death, bringing redemption to His own (Jn. 6:35ff.; Mt. 16:13ff.; Mt. 26:26ff.; 1 Cor. 11:23ff.). Thus His teaching fulfilled, extended, and clarified that of the OT prophetic order. It formed the culmination of their order and the transition to that of the apostles.

圣子的道成肉身、以肉身显现的神的道和以马内利：“神与我们同在”（太 1:23；约 1:2 起）实现了这一盼望。因此，人们可以说，神现在像当年与摩西说话那样直接与世人交流（民 12:8）。当一个人研究基督的话语时，他会发现基督与当时其他的拉比不同，他们一直渴望得到像旧约先知或早期拉比那样的权柄。而基督以自主的权柄说话，因为祂以先知和神的道的身份说话（太 7:29；可 1:22）。此外，祂主动承担起纠正之前对律法的错误解释的责任，并且抛弃了拉比添加的部分（太 5:21 起；可 7:4-5）。祂以此证明祂就是摩西预言的先知，可以以神的权柄说话（约 3:34；6:45 起；约 7:16 起）。因此，祂履行了先知的救世职分。

His methods of revelation were various, although they followed generally the pattern already established in the OT. His very presence provided a theophany through which God made Himself visible to man. Furthermore, He taught men by means of His miraculous works (Jn. 3:2; 10:37ff.). In these He demonstrated the sovereignty of God over all creation and the divine ability to heal and save from death those who had fallen victims to its power (11:2-43). Both His incarnation and His miracles He also interpreted by word of mouth, in didactic utterances such as one finds in the Sermon on the Mount and other discourses, particularly as recorded in the Gospel of John. In these He employed various methods of teaching. He uttered simple statements of fact, or proverbial sayings as in the Beatitudes. On the other hand, He told parabolic stories that indirectly indicated what He wished men to understand. Finally, He specifically reinterpreted the OT law, showing how the traditional Jewish teachers had failed to understand its true meaning. By these various means He revealed to men the will of God for their salvation.

和这个世界的本质和命运。旧约先知根据他们各自的环境说出了预言，但基督却更全面、更充分地阐述了这些事件（参：太 5-7；25；约 6；8；10；14-17）。这反过来明确说明基督以祭司和君王的身份拯救了世人，祂代替祂的子民受难，但将通过死后复活来战胜死亡，为祂的子民带来救赎（约 6:35 起；太 16:13 起；太 26:26 起；林前 11:23 起）。因此，基督的教导应验、扩展并阐明了《旧约》中先知的教导。基督的教导是先知教导的终点，是向使徒教导过渡的阶段。

Christ's ascension did not bring His prophetic activity to a close. He continued to speak to His people through the prophets and the apostles. Paul says on a number of occasions that the Church rests on the foundation of these two orders (Eph. 2:20; 3:11; 4:5). In the book of Acts prophets such as Agabus appear from time to time (21:11), but Christ revealed to the church the meaning of His work as the incarnate Redeemer even more fully through the apostles, especially Paul (Gal. 1-2). Moreover, by His Spirit He brought into existence the canon of the NT, and by the same Spirit today He enables His people to understand what He would say to them in the word which He has spoken as the Prophet and which comes to them in the Scriptures of the OT and NT (1 Cor. 2; 2 Tim. 3:16f.).

III. Priest.-The office of priest differs from that of prophet in that instead of representing God to man, the priest represents man to God. His purpose is to restore men to fellowship with God who is justly angered at man for his rebellion and his rejection of the truth. This the priest does by the sacrifice of a substitute for man whereby he makes atonement, and by intercession on man's behalf. A careful examination of the Mosaic law makes the work of the priest very clear (Ex. 29; Lev. 1-7; 16:1-34). As the one who made atonement for Israel the priest stood between the sinner and God, symbolically bringing the two together in reconciliation.

基督升天并不意味着祂不再说预言。祂仍然藉着先知和使徒向祂的子民讲话。保罗多次提到教会建立在先知和使徒两大根基上（弗 2:20； 3:11； 4:5）。在《使徒行传》中，亚迦布等先知不时地出现（徒 21:11），但基督藉使徒（尤其是保罗）更全面地向教会显示了道成肉身救世主工作的意义（加 1-2）。此外，祂藉着祂的灵形成了新约正典，今天基督同样藉着祂的灵让祂的子民明白先知基督对他们所讲的话，也让他们明白基督透过新旧两约的经文向祂子民所说的话（林前 2； 提后 3:16-17）。

III. 祭司。祭司的职分不同于先知的职分。因为祭司不是代表神站在人前，而是代表人站在神的面前。基督的祭司职分是为了恢复世人与神同在状态，世人悖逆放弃真道，神理应向他们发怒。祭司基督通过代世人献祭为他们赎罪，并且代替世人向神祈求。只要仔细研究一下摩西律法就会明白祭司的工作（出 29； 利 1-7； 16:1-34）。这位代以色列赎罪的祭司站在罪人和神之间，这象征着人与神和好了。

As the Word of God speaking to the prophets, Christ taught men that since the fall man could approach God only by way of vicarious, sacrificial atonement signified by the offering of animals, birds, or other produce, the immolation of which pointed to a life given in the place of man's (Gen. 4:22ff.; 8:20, 22; Rev. 13:8). This symbolism dominates the thought of the OT, for sanctification and acceptance by God could come only by cleansing through such substitution (He. 9:22). Thus Christ established symbolic sacrifice among the OT people of God as a type of what He would accomplish in the fulness of time (Gal. 4:4; He. 9).

Sacrifice, however, could not be performed by everyone, since man could not save himself. Consequently, in the organization of the Israelites as a nation on their deliverance from Egypt, at the very center of the whole religio-political structure God placed the tribe of Levi, which held the position of a priesthood for the whole people. Up to this time the head of the family had always acted as the priest. From Sinai on, the Levitical priesthood, consecrated to the service of God, had the responsibility of standing between God and man (Nu. 1:47-53; 3:21-27; Ex. 28:1). In this way they symbolically foreshadowed the coming of One who would effectively fulfil all their functions as the great High Priest (He. 8-10).

正如神的道对先知的教导，基督教导世人，自从人类堕落，他们只有通过献上牲畜、鸟或其他出产物，以及代替人类生命的祭物来替他们自己赎罪，才能走近神（创 4:22 起； 8:20, 22； 启 13:8）。这种象征主义是《旧约》中的主导思想，只有藉着基督代替神的子民献祭，使他们洁净，他们才能成圣，才能被神接受（来 9:22）。因此，及至时候满足，基督将成为《旧约》中神的子民的一种象征性祭物（加 4:4； 来 9）。

不过，并不是每个人都可以献祭，因为世人不能拯救他们自己。因此，神从曾被祂救出埃及的以色列人中选出利未支派，将其置于整个宗教政治结构的正中心，让利未人担任整个以色列民族的祭司。直到此时，利未家族的首领始终是祭司。利未人从在西奈山上时开始就作事奉神的祭司，侍立在神与人中间（民 1:47-53； 3:21-27； 出 28:1）。因此，他们象征性地预示着将有一位有效履行利未人所有祭司职分的大祭司降临（来 8-10）。

In His incarnation Christ fulfilled totally the work of the priest; but as the writer of Hebrews points out (ch. 10), He did so by the offering not of an animal but of Himself as the atoning sacrifice. By both His active and His passive obedience, in all His perfection, as the God-man He bore the penalty of sin for His people. In this way He fulfilled the Covenant of Grace on behalf of man, providing a way of entry for man into the presence of God. And by virtue of this sacrifice He makes continual intercession for His people that they may, despite all their sins and transgressions, ever have free access to the throne of the Majesty on high (He. 7:24.).

That this is the point of view of the Synoptic Gospels is abundantly clear right from the beginning. The announcements made to Joseph (Mt. 1:20f.) and to Mary (Lk. 1:31) prior to Christ's birth set forth the view that He would save His people from their sins. Although this aspect of His work does not receive much prominence in the early parts of the Gospels, even these sections have little meaning unless His priestly work is constantly kept in mind. From the time of Peter's confession at Caesarea Philippi and the Transfiguration, however, Christ spoke very plainly to the disciples of His coming death (Mt. 16:21ff.; Mk. 8:31ff.; Lk. 9:22ff.). Although the disciples did not grasp the meaning of His statements, the whole tone of the Gospels thereafter is permeated with this thought. The culmination of Christ's teaching concerning this matter came with the institution of the Lord's Supper. At this time Christ taught explicitly the purpose of His coming into the world, namely, to redeem His people by His own death. Every aspect of the symbolism pointed to His fulfillment of the typology of the OT (Mt. 26:26ff.; Mk. 14:22ff.; Lk. 22:19ff.). After His resurrection His teaching was the same, although at this time He could speak even more plainly, since He had now accomplished His work of redemption (cf. Lk. 24).

It is apparent from the book of Acts that the core of the NT Church's witness consisted primarily in the proclamation of Christ's priestly, redemptive work. Peter's sermon on Pentecost (Acts 2:14ff.) and his defense before the Sanhedrin (4:8ff.) after the healing of the lame man provide good examples. The apostle Paul, however, set this matter forth even more explicitly and systematically, if that is possible. Apart from his various sermons and speeches in Acts one finds the doctrine stated in Rom. 4-6; 1 Cor. 15; Gal. 3-4; Col. 1-2; and various other places. In so doing he receives direct support from the apostles Peter (1 Pet. 1:18ff.), while the same doctrine lies at the base of all the other apostolic writings.

Perhaps the most explicit exposition of Christ's priestly work appears in He. 8-10. There the writer presents a detailed explanation of Christ's work as the fulfillment of the whole of the OT sacrificial system. Christ the eternal High Priest has offered up Himself as a sacrifice, that men might receive forgiveness and pardon for their sins.

The latest of the NT writings, those of the apostle John, indicate that under the teaching of the Spirit the Church had by the end of the apostolic age come to see with great clarity the nature of Christ's priestly work. This theme underlies his Gospel, but appears most clearly in chs. 6; 8; 10; 14-16. 1 Jn. 1-2 sets forth the same doctrine more didactically, while Revelation states it in pictorial terms (chs. 5; 12; 14; 19; 21; 22).

根据《使徒行传》的描述显然可以看出,新约教会的核心见证主要集中在对基督祭司和救赎工作的宣告上。彼得在五旬节的教导(徒 2:14 起)和他治愈瘸子后在公会前的辩词(徒 4:8 起)可能都是很好的例子。然而,使徒保罗尽可能更加明确系统地阐述了这个问题。除了保罗在《使徒行传》中的各种训诫和谈话,人们还可以在《罗马书》4-6、《哥林多前书》15、《加拉太书》3-4、《歌罗西书》1-2 和其他经文中看到这一教义。虽然这一教义以其他所有使徒作品为依据,但保罗因为这么做得到了使徒彼得的支持(彼前 1:18 起)。

或许,《希伯来书》8-10 章最为清晰地阐述了基督的祭司工作。该书作者细致地解释了基督的工作,认为祂的工作是对整个《旧约》中献祭制度的履行。永恒的大祭司基督将自己献作祭物,从而使犯罪的世人可能得到神的宽恕和赦免。

最晚的新约作品是使徒约翰的作品,这些作品表明,在圣灵的指引下,教会在使徒时代结束时已经明确地理解了基督祭司工作的本质。这一主题也构成了《约翰福音》的基础,但《约翰福音》6、8、10 和 14-16 章对这一主题的阐述最为清晰。《约翰一书》1-2 更多地以教诲的口吻陈述了同一个教义,而《启示录》则以形象的语言阐述了这一教义(启 5; 12; 14; 19; 21; 22)。

That the Church came to an understanding of this only gradually is evident from the information furnished by the book of Acts. Chapters 11 and 15 indicate that many of the early Christians did not understand that the Lord had fulfilled, and therefore abolished, the ceremonial law of the OT. Peter first and then Paul found it necessary to devote considerable attention to this matter in order that the Church might have a proper appreciation of Christ's priestly work.

Yet one must also remember that Christ's priestly work did not end with His resurrection. He has once and for all time met the requirements of the law of God, paying the penalty for the sins of His people (Rom. 8:1; Gal. 3:27ff.; Col. 1:20f.; 2:14f.; He. 9:24ff.). Therefore, by His very presence before God the Father He always intercedes on His people's behalf (He. 7:25). As one reads His great high-priestly prayer in Jn. 17, one can perhaps understand a little more clearly what this means. Since Christians have an advocate before the throne of grace, they have no further need of human priests, intercessors, or sacrifices, for Christ continuously performs the work of a priest on their behalf (1 Jn. 2:1ff.).

One must never, however, separate His priestly office from His other two offices. Men come to know of His priestly work and what He has accomplished by it because He as a prophet sets forth the will of God for their salvation. Moreover, men come to faith in Christ only as He by virtue of His kingly office sovereignly brings them to faith and obedience. His priestly office is central to His redemptive work, but man would neither know nor believe were it not for the other

但是人们必须牢记基督的祭司工作并不随着基督复活而结束。祂曾经符合且将永远符合神的律法的要求，为祂的百姓赎罪（罗 8:1；加 3:27 起；西 1:20-21；2:14-15；来 9:24 起）。因此，靠着祂走到天父的面前，祂始终替祂的子民祈求（来 7:25）。如果人们读了《约翰福音》17 章中大祭司耶稣的祷告词，就会更加明白这句话的含义。既然基督徒在恩典宝座前有了一个中保，他们就不再需要人类的祭司、代求者或祭物，因为基督一直代他们履行祭司的职分（约壹 2:1 起）。

two offices that he fulfils.

IV. King.-The work of a king consists primarily in ruling over a kingdom. His first responsibility is to maintain peace within his kingdom's borders by governing his own subjects effectively and justly. With regard to those outside his kingdom he has the responsibility of protecting his subjects from attack, and if such attack should take place he must be prepared to oppose the enemy and subdue him so that he will cease troubling the kingdom. Although in most countries today these functions come under the control of some other authority, whether democratic or dictatorial, in biblical times the king held the supreme political government of a nation, so that Christ is frequently referred to and described as a king, since He is an absolute sovereign.

Christ's kingship arises out of His sovereignty over the whole of creation by virtue of His creative and providential activities. He is Lord of the worlds because He made them and sustains them from moment to moment, and His rule involves not merely inanimate beings, but even man (Mt. 10:29; Job 33:33; 38-41; Ps. 33:6; Isa. 45). Christ from the beginning made plain as prophet that He was the ultimate authority over man, when He forbade him to eat of the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil (Gen. 2:16f.). Only by reason of His lordship over man could He have laid down such a precept. Yet man rejected this order and in so doing denied the divine sovereignty, setting up in its stead his own or another creature's sovereignty which he obeyed. Sin thus crystallized itself in the denial of God's sovereignty, which meant the rejection of Christ as Lord and King

IV. 君王。君王的主要职责是统治一个王国。君王的第一职责是通过有效和公正地管理他的百姓维持国内的和平。他还要保护他的百姓，使他们免受来自国外的攻击，如果国外的敌人向他的王国发起了进攻，他必须准备好与敌人争战、打败敌人，停止敌人对王国的袭扰。虽然今天在大多数国家这些职能掌握在其他民主权威或独裁权威手中，但在圣经时代君王掌控着一个国家的最高政治统治权，所以经文中经常称基督是君王，因为祂拥有至高无上的主权。

基督的君权源于祂对所有受造物的主权，因为祂按照自己旨意创造了他们，所以祂有权统治他们。祂是这个世界的主，因为祂创造了这个世界，并且时时刻刻支撑着这个世界，祂不仅统治无生命的东西，而且统治人类（太 10:29；伯 33:33；38-41；诗 33:6；赛 45）。基督从创世之初就以先知的身份禁止亚当吃善恶树上的果子（创 2:16-17），这表明祂拥有对人类的最高权柄。仅仅因为祂是人类的主，所以祂可以这样警告世人。但人类不接受这个命令，吃了善恶树上的果子，从而否定了神的主权，却服从他们自己的主权或其他生物的主权。因此，人类因否定神的主权而犯罪，这意味着他们抛弃了自己的主和君王——基督（创 3:1 起；罗 1:25）。

(Gen. 3:1ff.; Rom. 1:25).

The only way God could in both justice and grace bring man back to his proper relationship to Him was the establishment of a truly redemptive kingdom, over which He would rule as king with man His willing subject. Such a kingdom, of necessity because of man's rebellion, would center in the fact of salvation by divine grace alone. Thus, immediately after the fall the redemptive principle was introduced into history on the divine initiative (Gen. 3:14ff.), and following this throughout Genesis the gradual establishment of the kingdom took place in the families of Seth, Noah, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. After the Exodus it came to full expression in the giving of the law at Sinai. There Israel appeared clearly for the first time as a redemptive kingdom centered upon the tabernacle, with the service and worship of God as the core of its very existence (cf. Ex. 20).

In this kingdom the preincarnate, Christ ruled as king, for from the earliest days it existed by virtue of a covenant that God made with His chosen people, and Christ as the mediator of the covenant ruled over and governed them. In this way Christ ruled over all of Israel's life. The Mosaic law included matters relating not only to religious ordinances, but to every aspect of individual and national activity. Thus, Israel should have continued as God's covenant people under His direct rule; but they refused. When they had lived for many years in Palestine under judges, they desired a human king, forgetting that most of their difficulties since their entry into the land had resulted from their own disobedience to God. Despite the sinfulness of their desire, God acquiesced in their demand and they obtained a human ruler (1 S. 8). Yet although this represented a rejection of Yahweh's royal claim, He still ruled over the nation both in the choosing of their king and in His continuing to punish or prosper them as they obeyed His law and walked in faith toward Him (cf. Isa. 45; Hos. 1-2; Hag. 2).

The human kingship by no means met Israel's needs. Although some kings such as David, Hezekiah, Joash, and others sought to serve God and to lead the people in this service, many went their own way without regard to the covenantal character of the kingdom. The outcome of this was that the very reason for which Israel demanded a king, a desire for unity and visible leadership, ultimately led to the destruction of both her unity and nationality. Under Rehoboam, Solomon's son, the kingdom divided (1 K. 12:10), the northern ten tribes setting themselves up under the kingship of Jeroboam, who endeavored to turn them away from worship of Yahweh at Jerusalem (vv. 25ff.). Although the two southern tribes, who remained loyal to the house of David, also continued for a time faithful to the covenant, they too eventually lapsed from the faith. In both cases unfaithfulness to Yahweh led to conquest by pagan nations; and although restoration later took place, the kingdom never was reestablished and Israel eventually fell under the domination of Rome.

Throughout the history of the two kingdoms Yahweh continually sent prophets to Israel and Judah to rebuke the people for their sins and at the same time to point forward to the reestablishment of the kingdom, this time on a spiritual and universal basis under a descendant of David possessed of divine power and authority (Isa. 9:6ff.; 11; 40:9ff.; 60; Jer. 23:5ff.; 31:22ff.; Hos. 3; Zec. 14:4ff.; Mic. 5:2). Against this background one must place the activity of John the Baptist, who came preaching the kingdom of God. The central fact he set forth was that Yahweh had come to establish His kingdom (Mt. 3:11f.), and this theme the angel declared in the annunciation to Mary (Lk. 1:31f.), as did also Christ Himself when He commenced His ministry (Mk. 1:15f.). During Christ's early ministry this continued to form the core of His preaching, but the disciples He gathered around Himself thought in terms of a political kingdom. Even when He pointed out to them that as priest He must die for men's sins, they did not believe (Mt. 16:21ff.), and eventually they attempted to make Him king (21:4ff.). After His resurrection they still thought in the same terms (Acts 1:6f.). They recognized Him as the covenant God of the OT who they believed would now reestablish literally David's kingdom. He explained, however, that His kingdom was not of this world (Jn. 18:35ff.; Acts 1:6ff.).

After the Lord's ascension the disciples gradually came to understand the spiritual nature of Christ's kingship. Through His Spirit, Christ led the apostolic Church to perceive it by bringing the Gentiles into the Church. James at the Council of Jerusalem set forth this new understanding of the Kingdom explicitly (Acts 15:13ff.), and the apostolic writers followed his example. The apostle Paul in various places speaks of Christ's exaltation and kingship over all things for the Church (Eph. 1:20ff.; Phil. 2:9ff.; Col. 2:13; 1 Tim. 6:15) as a result of His having fulfilled His work as the Redeemer, the great High Priest. The greatest statement comes, however, in Revelation, where Christ is pictured as “Lord of lords and King of kings” (Rev. 17:14; 19:11f.). By the end of the apostolic age the true nature of Christ’s kingship had been fully stated by the Church.

力和权柄（赛 9:6 起； 11； 40:9 起； 60； 耶 23:5 起； 31:22 起； 何 3； 亚 14:4 起； 弥 5:2）。施洗约翰正是在这样的背景下传道，传扬神国的福音。约翰宣布的核心事实是，耶和华已来建立祂的国（太 3:11-12），向马利亚报喜的天使宣布了这个福音（路 1:31-32），基督在开始传道时也宣告了这个事实（可 1:15-16）。在基督传道初期，这始终是祂传道的核心，但基督拣选的门徒认为神的国是一个政治的王国。甚至当耶稣指示门徒，祂将以祭司的身份为世人的罪恶受难时，他们都不相信耶稣的话（太 16:21 起），但最终他们都称颂祂为君王（太 21:4 起）。耶稣复活之后，他们仍然盼望主耶稣复兴以色列国（徒 1:6-7）。他们认为基督是《旧约》中与以色列立约的神，并认为祂现在确实要复兴大卫的王国。然而，基督解释道，祂的国不属这世界（约 18:35 起； 徒 1:6 起）。

In some ways the Church and the Kingdom are co-extensive and in other ways they differ. The Church consists of those who have received and accepted the covenant promises, its primary work being that of proclaiming the gospel to men. The Kingdom, on the other hand, embraces the whole sphere of obedience to Christ’s rule, including the Church. Men enter His kingdom by faith and live in it by obeying Him in every aspect of life. Such would seem to be the point of many of Christ’s parables concerning the Kingdom. Yet men who live in His Kingdom do so, not because physically conquered, but by the inward compulsion of their faith, which they have received through the Holy Spirit as Christ’s royal gift (1 Cor. 12:3; Eph. 2:5ff.). The consequence is that when Christians seek to serve their King in all things, in the providence of God they also influence those around them who do not believe, so that the mediatorial kingship of Christ exercises its influence upon even those who are not Christians. Thus Christ’s universal sovereignty as Creator and upholder of all things unites with His mediatorial kingship. He is truly “head over all things for the church” (Eph. 1:22).

The final demonstration of the ultimate unity of Christ's kingship both over creation and over His redeemed people will come when He returns in glory as judge of the earth (Mt. 25; Jn. 5:28f.; 1 Thess. 4:16; 2 Thess. 1:6ff.). He will at that time manifest His kingship, not only over His Church, but over all men and creation. Those in rebellion against Him He will cast into utter darkness, while those whom He has redeemed He will usher into the fulness of His kingdom, which will include a regenerated heaven and earth (Mt. 25; Rom. 8:18ff.; 2 Pet. 3:10ff.; Rev. 21). At that time Christ's mediatorial kingship shall cease, for the triune God shall be all in all (1 Cor. 15:24ff.).

CHRISTIAN

[Gk. Christianós].

I. Origin of the Term.—The word “Christian” occurs only three times in the NT (Acts 11:26; 26:28; 1 Pet. 4:16). The first passage, Acts 11:26, gives the origin of the term: “In Antioch the disciples were for the first time called Christians.” The older generation of critical scholars

当基督在荣耀里再次降临，审判这个世界时，祂最终将以万王之王的身分统治万有和祂的救赎之民（太 25；约 5:28-29；帖前 4:16；帖后 1:6 起）。那时，祂不仅将彰显祂统治教会的王权，而且还将彰显祂统治所有人类和受造物的王权。祂将悖逆者置于一片黑暗之中，而被祂救赎的人将丰丰富富走进祂的国，那将是一片新天新地（太 25；罗 8:18 起；彼后 3:10 起；启 21）。那时，基督的中保王权将结束，因为三位一体的真神将成为万物之主（林前 15:24 起）。

CHRISTIAN 基督徒

I. 基督徒一词的起源。“基督徒”这个词在《新约》中仅出现 3 次（徒 11:26；26:28；彼前 4:16）。第一个提及“基督徒”的经文是《使徒行传》11:26，这节经文给出了这个词的起源：“门徒称为基督徒，是从安提阿起首。”老一辈的批判学者对这句话的史实性存有争议。

disputed the historicity of this statement. It was argued that, had the term originated so early, it must have been found far more frequently in the records of early Christianity; sometimes also that the termination -ianos points to a Latin origin. But there is general agreement now that these objections are groundless. The historicity of the Lukan account was upheld not only by Harnack, but by the more radical Knopf in J. Weiss, ed., Die Schriften des NT (1906–1907). In early imperial times, the adjectival termination -ianos was widely diffused throughout the whole empire. Originally applied to the slaves belonging to the great households, it had passed into regular use to denote the adherents of an individual or a party. A Christian is thus simply an adherent of Christ. The name belongs, as Ramsay stated, to the popular slang, as indeed sect and party names generally do. It is only after a considerable interval, and very often under protest, that such names are accepted as self-designations.

The name, then, did not originate with the Christians themselves. Nor would the Jews have applied it to the followers of Jesus, whose claim to be the Christ they opposed so passionately. They spoke of the Christians as “the sect of the Nazarenes” (Acts 24:5); perhaps also as “Galileans,” a term which the emperor Julian later attempted vainly to revive. The word must have been coined by the unconverted population of Antioch, as the Church emerged from the synagogue and a Christianity predominantly gentile took its place among the religions of the world.

II. Christian Attitude to the Name.—Perhaps the earliest occurrence of

“Christian”起初并不是基督徒的自称。犹太人也不用这个词表示耶稣的门徒，他们曾强烈反对耶稣称自己为救世主。他们称基督徒为“拿撒勒教党”（徒 24:5）；可能也称他们为“加利利人”，罗马皇帝后来曾试图恢复使用这个词，但以失败告终。这个词一定是由未归信的安提阿人创造的词，正如教会是从犹太会堂发展而来的，再比如，以外邦人为主导的基督教在世界宗教中确立了自己的地位。

II. 基督徒对这个词的态度。《十二使徒遗训》12:4 中最早出现了自称为“基督

“Christian” as a self-designation is in Didache 12:4. In the Apologists and Ignatius, on the other hand, the word is in regular use. 1 Peter simply takes it over from the anti-Christian judicial procedure of the law courts, without in any way implying that the Christians used it among themselves. There is every probability, however, that the very element of danger that thus began at an early date to attach to the name was what commended it to the Christians themselves as a title of honor. Deissmann (Deiss. LAE) suggests that Christian means “slave of Christ,” as Caesarian means “slave of Caesar.” But the word can scarcely have had that fulness of meaning until the Christians themselves had come to be proud of it.

According to tradition, Luke himself was from Antioch. (Cf. Codex Bezae of Acts 11:27f., “when we had assembled.”) If the historian was not only an Antiochene, but a member of the original gentile Christian Church, we have the explanation alike of his interest in the origin of the name Christian and of the detailed precision of his information.

III. Was “Christian” the Original Form?.-In all three NT passages the uncorrected Codex Sinaiticus reads Chrēstianoī. We know from many sources that this variant was widely current in the 2nd century. Blass in his edition of Acts not only consistently reads “Chrestian,” but conjectures that “Chrestian” is the correct reading in Tacitus (Ann. xv.44), the earliest extrabiblical testimony to the word. The Tacitus MS has since been published in facsimile. This has shown, according to A. von Harnack (Mission and Expansion

传统上认为路加来自于安提阿 (参:《使徒行传》11:27-28 的《伯撒抄本》, “when we had assembled” [“当我们被召在一起”]。) 如果这位历史学家不仅是一个安提阿人, 还是最初外邦基督教教会的成员, 那么就就可以解释他为何要关注“基督徒”这个名字的起源, 并加以详细说明了。

III. “Christian” 是否是这个词的原形? 未修正的《西奈抄本》将在三段新约经文中的“基督徒”译为 Chrēstianoī。我们从很多资料来源可以看出, 在公元 2 世纪这个词的变形使用的范围很广。布拉斯在他出版的《使徒行传》中始终将“基督徒”译为“Chrestian”, 他还推测塔西佗作品 (Ann. xv.44) 应该也将“基督徒”译为“Chrestian”, 塔西佗的作品是《圣经》之外使用“基督徒”的最早证据。塔西佗原稿的临摹版一直在出版。根据哈纳克 (A. von Harnack, Mission and Expansion of Christianity in the First Three Centuries, I [1962 年再 of Christianity in the First Three Centuries, I [repr. 1962], 413f.), that “Chrestian” actually was the original reading, though the name “Christ” is correctly given. Harnack accordingly thought the Latin historian intended to correct the popular appellation of ca. A.D. 64, in the light of his own more accurate knowledge. “The common people used to call them ‘Chrestians,’ but the real name of their founder was Christ.” Be this as it may, a confusion between “Christos” and the familiar Greek slave name “Chrestos” is more intelligible at an early date than later, when Christianity was better known. There must have been a strong tendency to conform the earlier witnesses to the later, familiar, and etymologically correct usage. It is all the more remarkable, therefore, that κ retains “Chrestian.” On the whole it seems probable that this designation, though bestowed in error, was the original one.

IV. Other Christian Self-Designations.—The Christians originally called themselves “disciples,” a term afterward restricted to personal hearers of the Lord, and regarded as a title of high distinction. The ordinary self-designations of the apostolic age are “believers” (Acts 5:14; 1 Tim. 4:12), “saints” (Acts 9:13, 32, 41; Rom. 1:7), “brethren” (Acts 6:3; 10:23; etc.), “the elect” (Col. 3:12; 2 Tim. 2:10), “the church of the Lord [mg. God]” (Acts 20:28), “servants (slaves) to God” (Rom. 6:22; 1 Pet. 2:16). The apostolic authors refer to themselves as “servants (slaves) of Christ Jesus” (Phil. 1:1). Other expressions are occasionally met with, of which perhaps the most significant is: those “that call upon the name of the Lord” (Acts 9:14; Rom. 10:12f.; 1 Cor.

IV. 基督徒的其他自称。基督徒最初自称为 “门徒”, “门徒” 这个词后来只用来表示亲自听见 “主” 讲道的人, 并被认为是一种荣誉称号。使徒时代基督徒以 “信徒” (徒 5:14, 提前 4:12)、“圣徒” (徒 9:13, 32, 41; 罗 1:7)、“弟兄们”(徒 6:3; 10:23 等)、“选民”(西 3:12; 提后 2:10)、“主的教会[旁注神的教会]”(徒 20:28) 和 “神的奴仆”(罗 6:22; 彼前 2:16) 自称。使徒作者自称为 “基督耶稣的仆人”(腓 1:1)。基督徒偶尔还会使用其他的自称, 最重要的一个称谓可能是 “求告主名的人”(徒 9:14; 罗 10:12-13; 林前 1:2)。参: 普林尼禀告图拉真皇帝的话 (Ep. x.97): “他们声称……他们已经习惯于聚集在一起和赞美他们的神基督。”

1:2). Cf. Pliny's report to Trajan (Ep. x.97): "They affirmed that ... they had been wont to assemble and address a hymn to Christ as to a god."

I. In Principle and Essence.—A. Early Use of the Term. Unlike "Christian," which occurs three times in the NT, the term "Christianity" is not used in the Bible. In its Greek form it is parallel to "Judaism" (the Jews' religion; cf. Gal. 1:13f.; 2 Macc. 2:21). It seems to have been used first by Christians themselves.

I. 理论上和本质上的基督教。A. 基督教的早期用法。“基督徒”这个词在《新约》中出现了三次,但《圣经》中却没有提到“基督教”这个词。“基督教”的希腊语形式相当于“犹太教”(犹太人的宗教;参:加1:13-14;马二2:21)。基督徒似乎首先使用了“基督教”这个词。最早使用这个词的权威是安提阿的

Our earliest authority is Ignatius of Antioch, who says that the glory of the Christian is “to live according to Christianity” (Magn. 10). For Christians it is a title of honor. (Cf. also Ign. Rom. 3; Philad. 6.)

B. NT Implications. While the word is not used in the NT, it obviously arises from the biblical account of the person, life, and work of Jesus as the Christ. Christianity rests on the fact that Jesus is, and claims to be, the promised Messiah. Those who accept this fact and this claim are followers or adherents of Christ (Christians), and it is natural that their faith should be called Christianity or Christianism. Implied in Christianity as the fulfillment of the OT is the supreme revelation of God in Jesus Christ, the accomplishment of divine reconciliation through His life and work, and the confirmation of His messiahship and Sonship by His resurrection the third day from the dead. Along these lines the apostles have left some of the simplest and yet the most profound definitions of Christianity, e.g., in Jn. 3:16; Rom. 6; 2 Cor. 5:18ff.; He. 1:1ff.

C. Revelation. The completion of God’s revelation in Jesus is bound up with His being the Word of God (Jn. 1:1). As Christ, in whom OT prophecy is fulfilled, He is not only a chosen and anointed man; He is also the Lord from heaven, very Man and very God. Whereas the prophets spoke of God and spoke in His name, He is God Himself speaking directly in word and act. To see Him is to see the Father (Jn. 14:9). His glory is as the glory of the only-begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth (1:14).

B. 基督教在《新约》中的含义。虽然《新约》中没有使用“基督教”这个词，但基督教显然源于《圣经》对耶稣基督位格、生命和工作的描述。基督教基于耶稣是并自称是神所应允的弥赛亚这一事实。那些接受这一事实和宣告的人是基督的追随者或信徒（也就是，基督徒），他们的信仰自然应该被称为基督教。基督教中所暗含的旧约预言的应验是神在耶稣基督里的最高启示，是藉着耶稣基督的生命和工作与神和好的成就，也是通过耶稣受难后第三天复活对基督的弥撒亚和圣子身份的见证。使徒们沿着这个思路给出了基督教的最简单和最深刻的定义，如《约翰福音》3:16；《罗马书》6；《哥林多后书》5:18起；《希伯来书》1:1起。

C. 启示。神在耶稣里完成的启示与道就是神这个事实密不可分（约 1:1）。救世主耶稣不仅是被神所拣选和膏立的人，还是天上的主、完全的人和完全的神，并且在祂里面应验了《旧约》中的预言。由于先知们既谈到神，又以基督之名说预言，所以基督就是神，祂可以直接用祂的话语和行为传道。看见了基督就是看见了父（约 14:9）。基督充充满满地有恩典有真理，祂的荣光就是神的独生子的荣光（约 1:14）。

To suppose that He was a good and gifted man who simply advanced religious truth by His insights is to miss the whole nature of the divine self-revelation in Him. To argue that His disciples or their successors conferred on Him a title of divine dignity, misunderstanding His true mission, is to miss the very center of Christianity. Indeed, there is no evidence for such a reconstruction. Nor is there any evidence for the theory that Jesus was struggling for a self-awareness which finally culminated in the claim to be not only the Messiah, but in a unique sense the Son of the heavenly Father. In teaching and works, in attitude and conduct, Jesus both is and claims to be the one in whom God Himself is directly present, the incarnate Word. There is no possibility of genuinely following Jesus without confessing Him as the supreme revelation of God in this sense, for His teaching would involve concealment rather than revelation if its central reality and claim were rejected as untrue. Conversely, there is no true knowledge of God apart from knowledge of Him in whom God has given an express revelation of Himself (He. 1:1ff.). This is a necessary implication of Christianity, not as an upward stage in human religion, but as the crown of the divine self-revelation.

D. Reconciliation. The supreme revelation of the Word in fulfillment of the OT necessarily carries with it the accomplishment of reconciliation between God and man. For man's ignorance of God is part of his total estrangement, and the need for revelation is part of the need for reconciliation. Hence the Christ is the reconciler as well as the revealer. If He comes to teach, He also comes to act; if He shows God in His own person, He shows God at work. Nor is His work only an example or demonstration. If His work is also revelation, as His word is reconciliation, it is revelation because it does something. He works for others; in love He enters human life, bearing its griefs, carrying its sorrows, bringing it renewal. By His life, death, and resurrection, the sin of man is propitiated, the penalty executed, the guilt removed. He carries the old life of man to its end on the cross, and inaugurates the new life in His rising from the grave. Again, there can be no doubt that this is Jesus' own understanding of His task according to the solid testimony of the NT and in fulfillment of the prophetic testimony of the OT. More recent biblical study has shown that there can be no separating of a religious and ethical Jesus from the soteriological Christ. The baptism in the Jordan, the acceptance of the servant mission, the prophetic intimation of death and rising again, the orientation to the cross, the giving of the bread and wine at the Last Supper, the taking of the cup in Gethsemane—all point to the reconciling ministry of Jesus as His own strange but proper work. True Christianity demands commitment to this fact.

D. 神与人和好。道的最高启示在应验旧约预言的同时必然会带来神与世人和好。世人不认神是他们完全被神疏远的原因之一，启示的需求也是和好需求的一部分。因此，基督既是调解人也是启示者。基督既教导人，也行事；祂既以自身显明上帝，也在工作中显明上帝。祂的工作不单单是一种例证或示范。正如祂的话语是一种调解一样，祂的工作因成就了事也可以说是一种启

E. Resurrection. The Resurrection belongs to the reconciliation and to the revelation, as the fulfillment of both. It fulfills reconciliation as the introduction of the new and eternal life of righteousness that replaces the old, sinful, condemned life put to death for us in the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Already in the risen Lord, the firstfruits of the coming harvest, the new life, is secured. By the life-giving work of the Holy Spirit we enter into it in faith, work it out in love, and look to its consummation in hope. Yet revelation also is fulfilled in the Resurrection. Here Jesus is declared to be the Son of God with power (Rom. 1:4). Put to death in weakness, He is manifested in glory, so that even in His incarnation and crucifixion God is self-evidently revealed to have been present and active. Indeed, by the operation of the Holy Spirit the risen Lord now continues His ministry of revelation, opening the blinded eyes of sinners to see Him as the Son of God come down for us men and our salvation, and thus bringing reconciliation itself to its subjective fulfillment. What might appear ludicrous in itself, namely, that God is revealed in Jesus of Nazareth and has reconciled us to Himself in Him, is luminous in the light of the Resurrection. To dismiss the Resurrection is to overthrow Christianity, for it is also to deny revelation and to negate reconciliation. A gospel without the Resurrection is no gospel. Christianity has nothing distinctive to offer if Christ is not risen and there is no new life in Him; it has nothing to claim if Christ is a dead teacher. It may have difficulty in giving absolute historical proof to those who are unwilling to believe; but it need not be ashamed of the facts of the empty tomb and the resurrection appearances. Its only shame would be to present its message apart from strong and convincing testimony to the supreme fact in which both revelation and reconciliation are fulfilled, to deny its own true nature by not believing that Jesus Christ, the revealer and the reconciler, is also the resurrected, and therefore by not proclaiming Him as such and not trusting Him to make Himself known.

在虚弱中死去，并在荣耀里复活，所以即使神在道成肉身和被钉十字架时，仍然在自我启示，始终与人同在，始终在工作。实际上，靠着圣灵的指引，复活的主仍然在履行启示的职分，祂治好了罪人的瞎眼，让他们看到祂就是降临到世上拯救他们的圣子，从而成就了祂的旨意。上帝在拿撒勒耶稣里面显明自己，并在耶稣里面与人和好，这似乎略显荒谬，却在复活中被阐明了。否认耶稣复活就是在颠覆基督教，因为否认耶稣复活也就是在否定启示与和好。没有复活的福音不再是福音。如果基督不复活，在基督里没有新的生命，基督教就没有任何与众不同之处；如果基督是一个死去的师傅，那么基督教就没有什么好宣告的。可能很难向不相信耶稣复活的人提供完全可靠的历史证据；但信徒不必为耶稣的空墓和复活显现感到羞愧。他们唯一应感到的羞愧的是，虽然传播基督教福音，却不承认复活为启示和神人和好的实现作了强有力的见证，否定复活的本质，进而不相信耶稣基督这位启示者和调解者就是死后复活的神，因此宣称耶稣没有复活，不相信是神藉着基督显明了祂自己。

F. The Estimate of Unbelief. In face of Christianity, in face of the revelation and reconciliation of God in Him, and in face of His resurrection from the dead, a radical decision has obviously to be made. On the one hand it is possible to resist the Christian message, to dismiss it as untrue or to reinterpret it along more acceptable lines, regarding Jesus as other than the gospel proclaims Him to be. This may be the vote of sheer unbelief or the vote of indifference. It may reflect a qualified recognition which sees in Jesus only the teacher, the example, the genius of religion. In each case, however, it is presumed that the self-witness of Jesus, the apostolic testimony to Him, the record of this testimony, and the historic confession of the Church are all mistaken. Sometimes an attempt is made to produce objective data in support of this assumption. Often recourse is had to hostile hypercriticism of the Christian data, as though the raising of this or that difficulty of detail were sufficient to invalidate the whole testimony. Yet in fact this attitude does not rest on superior data, or on the convincing demolition of the Christian witness, but on general assumptions which the Christian sympathetically sees to be the assumptions of sinful man alienated from God (cf. Rom. 1:21; Eph. 4:17f.). The decision is not just academic or historical. This is why it cannot be reversed simply by academic or historical argument. It is a theological decision, and it must be reversed by the divine self-revelation itself proclaimed in the power of the Spirit.

G. The Response of Faith. The response of faith that this evokes is very different

F. 不信神的人的评价。面对着基督教、神在基督里的启示与和好，以及耶稣死后复活，显然需要做出一个根本的决议。一方面，如果不按照福音中宣告的耶稣来理解耶稣，就可能会拒绝基督教的福音，认为这个福音是不真实的或根据更合意的思路来解释这个福音。这可能是在选择完全不信或漠不关心。如果认为耶稣不过是一位宗教师傅、榜样和天才，那么仅仅呈现了一个有限的认知。然而，这样以来就会做出这样的假设，即耶稣的自我见证、使徒的见证、见证记录和教会的历史性信仰表白都是错误的。有的人可能尝试用客观的资料来支持这种假设。他们经常对基督教资料吹毛求疵，好像通过提出这样或那样的细节上的困难足以颠覆所有的见证。实际上，这种观点并不以优秀的资料或对基督徒见证的有力驳斥为依据，而是依赖于笼统的假设，而基督徒满怀同情地认为，这些都是那些与神隔绝的罪人提出的（参：罗 1:21；弗 4:17-18）。这不仅仅是学术或历史决议。这就是单纯依靠学术或历史证据无法推翻这一决议的原因。它是一个神学决议，只有圣灵宣告的神的自我启示才能推翻这一决议。

G. 信心的回应。基督教唤起的信心回应与不信神的人的抉择截然不同。信心

from the decision of unbelief. It means accepting Jesus as the Christ, finding the revelation of God in Him, entering into the reconciliation with God that He has effected, knowing Him in His resurrection from the dead. This is, of course, the sum and substance of Christianity. It implies committal to what Jesus is and does. This committal is true decision, resting on rational and historical data, and demanding the highest level of emotional and volitional involvement. Nevertheless, it is more than decision. For this decision is one that man cannot make of himself (Jn. 6:65; 10:27; 12:32; Mt. 16:17). Of himself, sinful man will see in Jesus at best a prophet and at worst an impostor or a mythical figure. Faith is the response evoked by the self-witness of Jesus through the Holy Spirit. It is not the product of argumentation, nor is it the creation of religious inwardness. It is not a pretense that things are other than they seem, or an aesthetic adorning of ordinary facts with imaginative significance. Faith is the gift of the Holy Spirit through the biblical testimony. It deals with realities, but realities that are finally theological, because they involve the action of God Himself in the human story. Behind faith stands the operation of the risen Lord Himself giving true perceptions to the senses, true logic to the reason, true wisdom to the understanding, true direction and depth to the emotions, true freedom to the will. This response of faith is the one thing needed to be a Christian, and in turn it then makes it reasonable and natural to be a Christian.

H. Christianity Is Christ. From what has been said, it will be seen that Christianity takes its substance as well as its name from Jesus Christ. It is not a construct of human philosophy, though it points to true wisdom. It is not a system of theological dogmas, though dogmatic truths are involved. It is not just an inward and subjective experience, though it entails a personal relationship with God. It is no mere code of ethics, though it carries with it a way of life. In fact, it is not to be understood or explained in any anthropological terms except insofar as Jesus Himself is true man. It is supremely christological: Christ is the beginning, center, and end. Christianity is Christ, for to proclaim it is to proclaim Him. He is the revelations; He is the reconciliation; He is the Resurrection. To be sure, the whole trinity is involved, Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. But there is no competition between the Son on the one side and the Father and the Holy Spirit on the other; for to say Christ is to say God. Thus, seeing that the purpose of God is worked out in Christ, one can rightly say that Christianity is Christ. Christianity also involves us: the revelation is to us; the reconciliation is for us; the Resurrection implies our own. But the light that comes is still His light; His is the death and His the Resurrection. The Holy Spirit bears witness, not to us, but to Him, and to us only as we are in Him. Christ is the great theme of Scripture and of Christian proclamation. In Him we see God; in Him we are quickened by the Spirit; knowing Him, we know God. In other words, we have no independent status. By Him we are justified and with Him we are heirs of new and eternal life.

回应意味着，承认耶稣是基督，在基督里领受神的启示，分享基督与神和好的成就，通过基督死后复活认识基督。这当然是基督教的要旨。这暗示出要坚信耶稣的身份和祂所做的事。这个承诺是真正的抉择，它以理性的历史资料为依据，需要最高的情感和意志的投入。然而，它不仅仅是选择。因为这不是世人可以独立作出的选择（约 6:65；10:27；12:32；太 16:17）。罪人依靠他自己至多可以看出耶稣是一个先知，在最坏的情况下，他会认为耶稣是一个骗子或神话人物。信心是耶稣藉圣灵自我见证作出的回应。信心不是争论的产物，也不是宗教灵性的创造物。信心不是掩盖事物本来面目的假象，也不是用想象力对普通事实所作的美化。信心是圣灵藉圣经证据赏赐给世人的。信心阐述的是事实，而这些事实最终都是神学事实，因为这些事实中包含了神在人类历史中的作为。信心的背后隐藏着复活的主的工作，祂赐予意识真正的感知力，赐予理性真正的逻辑性，赐予认知真正的智慧，赐予情感真正的方向和深度，赐予意志真正的自由。每个基督徒都需要以信心作出回应，信心的回应反过来则使基督徒充满理性。

H. 基督教是基督。正如上文所述，基督教的主旨和名字都源于耶稣基督。虽然基督教指向真正的智慧，但它并不是一个人类哲学概念。虽然基督教包括教

II. In History and Theology.-A. Christianity and Religion. Intrinsic to all modern scholarship is the empirical and historical method. Applied to Christianity, this has entailed the study of comparative religion. Christianity has been investigated from the outside as a phenomenon of human life, and it has been classified as one of the great world religions. As such it has been compared and contrasted with other religions, and evaluated accordingly. It has been given a place on the evolutionary ladder of religion, and given a status psychologically as an expression of religion itself, of the religious impulse as part of the constitution of man. There is, of course, a measure of justification for this approach. The great principle of the word and work of God declared in Christianity is that of incarnation. God invades the human sphere. He acts historically. He Himself, in the person of the Word, is made flesh and dwells among us. This means that God's work, and the results of God's work, are phenomena that are open to investigation as such. If Jesus Christ is very man, then Christianity is a religion. If the teaching and work of Jesus have a place among the historical achievements of the race, Christianity may be studied from the human standpoint. In fact, Christianity has been a dominant factor in the shaping of human history, more particularly in the West. In addition to the religious legacy it has bequeathed, it has also contributed to the intellectual, artistic, economic, political, and social life of humanity. Its story has been inextricably interwoven into the general story of man. To try to argue to the contrary would be a futile Docetism.

II. 历史和神学中的基督教。A. 基督教和宗教。所有现代学术固有的研究方法是实证和历史研究法。这一研究方法应用到基督教领域，则需要比较宗教研究。外界将基督教当作关于人类生活的

Nevertheless, it should be noted that the historical or comparative study of Christianity, if abstracted from an awareness of its other aspect, can lead to very unsatisfactory developments.

然而,值得注意的是,基督教历史研究和比较研究如果是从基督教其他方面的认知中抽象出来的,可能会取得令人非常不满意的成就。莱辛假设基督的宗教与基督教有所不同,从而创立了一套

Lessing initiated a whole line of theorizing by postulating a distinction between the religion of Christ and the Christian religion (Works, X, 242ff.). His assumption was that doctrinal Christianity has distorted the simple teaching and practice of Jesus. The task of the historian is to disentangle the one from the other, and to show how the false development could take place. Perhaps the main outworking of Lessing's postulate is to be found within the framework of the Hegelian triad, namely, in the assumption that Christianity as we know it is the resolution of a conflict, the synthesis of a thesis and antithesis, with Jesus or Peter on the one side and Paul or the postapostolic Church on the other. Increasingly in the 19th cent. attempts were then made to isolate the original message. Harnack's What Is Christianity? is perhaps the final and most characteristic effort of this kind. Distinguishing between the kernel and the husk, it sums up the essence of the Christian message in terms of divine Fatherhood, human brotherhood, the kingdom of God, and the infinite worth of the human soul.

The empirical approach could also lend itself to hazardous apologetical developments. Herder in the late 18th cent. argued that Christianity is itself not merely a religion among others, but the religion in the sense of the quintessence of religion. This point was taken up with a new intensity and thrust in Schleiermacher's Reden and Glaubenslehre. The justification of religion is that it expresses a valid psychological aspect of man, the feeling of absolute dependence. The justification of Christianity as compared with other religions, which also have relative validity, is that it expresses this human element in the purest and truest form. Religion is an inalienable part of life. Its presence is its vindication. From the standpoint of empirical study, however, it is properly to be classified in the psychological rather than the historical sphere. It can best be defended not by arguing its historical validity or ethical superiority, but by relating it to the given factors of the emotional or psychical life. If this gives relative validity to all religions, it gives highest validity to that religion which corresponds most fully and adequately to the religious element in man.

It is obvious that this apologetic involves the relativization of Christianity, the adoption of a comparative approach that denies its uniqueness, and the opening up of the counterclaim of other faiths that they really express religion just as well or even better. Attention is necessarily drawn to the similarities between Christianity and the religions. The Bible is compared with other sacred books, Jesus Christ with other religious leaders, the gospel stories with legends, and the Virgin Birth with parallels elsewhere. Christianity is, in fact, explained solely from within the human context. This does not necessarily lead to its rejection. Its grandeur may be fully recognized. But the criterion of its superiority is religious man, not self-revealing God. Hence its superiority is relative. To put it christologically, Docetism is avoided only at the expense of a far-reaching Ebionitism.

B. Uniqueness. The point is that, while Christianity is a religion and can be studied as such, it is much more. Only on the surface can it be brought exclusively under ordinary religious categories. In its true essence it can neither be regarded as a purely historical phenomenon, nor be explained in purely psychological terms. As Christ Himself is true God as well as true man, so Christianity is God's action as well as one of many historical and religious developments. A truly objective study of Jesus Christ demands that He be expounded not in abstraction from His deity, but as He is, i.e., in His divine humanity. Similarly, a truly objective study of Christianity demands that it be expounded not in abstraction from its "divine" aspect, but as it is, i.e., as attestation to, and the product of, the divine humanity of Christ. At this point the empirical approach is involved in a dilemma to which it is not equal. If it accepts the deity of Christ and the consequent uniqueness of Christianity, it denies its own fundamental principle, namely, that phenomena are to be studied solely in terms of their creaturely context. On the other hand, if it refuses to accept the deity of Christ and the consequent uniqueness of Christianity, it is false to the very basis of objectivity, namely, that things are to be studied as they are, not as we presume them to be. This is why a genuinely objective study of Christianity is possible only on the basis of faith.

道德优越感，而是通过将宗教与情感生活或精神生活的某些元素关联起来为宗教作最佳辩护。如果这可以赋予所有宗教相对有效性，那么它就可以赋予那些最符合人类宗教要素的宗教最高的有效性。

显然，这种护教学包含了基督教的相对性，采用了否认基督教独特性的比较研究法，容易遭到其他宗教的反对，因为他们实际上也阐述了宗教信仰，甚至可能阐述得更好。在比较研究中必须关注基督教与其他宗教的相似点。将《圣经》与其他圣书进行比较，将耶稣基督与其他宗教领袖进行比较，将福音故事与传奇进行比较，将童贞女之子与其他宗教中对应的人物进行比较。实际上就是仅在人类范围内解释基督教。但这未必会导致人们拒绝基督教。相反，基督教的权威性可能得到充分的认可。但基督教优越性的标准是由基督徒设定的，而不是由自我启示的上帝设定的。因此，这个优越性是相对的。按照基督论，只有以牺牲影响深远的伊便尼主义为代价，才能避免基督幻影说。

B. 基督教的独特性。 问题在于，虽然基督教是一种宗教，可以将它当作一种

The uniqueness of Christianity is true uniqueness—it is not relative superiority. It is not the uniqueness of one man or movement in distinction from others, nor the uniqueness of a higher order of genius or merit. It is the uniqueness of the work of the one God in and upon the human story. Again, it is not just the uniqueness of a higher instance of God's providential superintendence of all human events, nor of the common grace of God which might be discerned in all human achievements. It is the uniqueness of a special action, a special intervention, of the one God. God Himself is uniquely at work in Christ and in Christians. He is at work here as He is not at work elsewhere. This work takes a form which entails integration in the common story and which thus carries with it the possibility of assessment at the common level. In its true nature, however, it is without parallel. This means that Christianity, for all the similarities, cannot be classified with the other religions. Its reality is not to be known by comparative study. Apologetic based on its correspondence to the inner essence of religion is falsely based.

Indeed, one might go so far as to say that to make Christianity a religion (in abstraction) is an act of heresy or even unbelief (cf. Barth, CD, I/2). It requires no faith to say that Jesus is a great religious teacher but ignore His deity. It involves no faith to see in Him the personification of human religious aspiration rather than the incarnation of the Word. Hence, to construe Christianity as a development in human religion is to miss the very thing that is intrinsic to it, and is thus a serious error even though the resultant estimate be favorable. Insofar as it takes human shape Christianity may indeed be viewed as a religion. Insofar as it is also a historical phenomenon, it may be assessed historically. But Christianity, as it truly is, transcends all such study or assessment. It is genuinely unique.

C. Universality. The universality and absoluteness of Christianity are closely linked to this uniqueness. From the very first the gospel was designed for the nations. The promise to Abraham was that in him and his seed all nations should be blessed (Gen. 22:18). The servant was to be “a light to the Gentiles, my salvation to the ends of the earth” (Isa. 49:6). Christ Himself stated plainly that He had come as light into the world (Jn. 12:46; cf. 1:4ff.), and He commissioned His disciples to teach all nations (Mt. 28:19). The gospel is universal not because it best fulfils the religious aspirations of man, nor because its manifest superiority commends it as preferable to all other religions. Its universality is based on its uniqueness. The gospel is God’s word to man. It is God’s word to all men. Directed to all, it is to be addressed to all and it may be received by all. The human need that it meets is that alienation from God which man does not even know of himself, and which he certainly cannot remedy. The message it brings is not simply the best that man can do toward solving the riddles of creation and destiny. It is God’s revealing, reconciling, and regenerating word, which solves all such riddles from God’s side. It is the only revealing, reconciling, and regenerating word and it is addressed and comes to all men equally, irrespective of their nature, history, or background, with revealing, reconciling, and regenerative force.

基督教的独特性体现在唯一真神的特殊行为和特殊干预上。上帝在基督和基督徒里所做的工是独特的。祂只在这里做工，在其他地方不做工。这个工作以整合普通故事的形式呈现出来，因此可以从普通层面进行评价。不过，从本质上说，这个工作是无与伦比的。这意味着，虽然基督教与其他宗教有相似之处，但基督教与它们不属于同一类宗教。借助比较研究无法知晓基督教的现实。如果基督教护教学以宗教内在本质的一致性为根据，那将是站不住脚的。

The universality of the gospel implies its absoluteness. The gospel is addressed to all men, because all men need it. They can have no comparable message of their own. This absoluteness is total. “All who came before me are thieves and robbers,” says Jesus (Jn. 10:8). “There is no other name under heaven given among men,”

says Peter (Acts 4:12). “He who has the Son has life; he who has not the Son of God has not life” (1 Jn. 5:12; cf. Jn. 3:36). If this were the claim of a purely human religion it would be intolerable pretension. Some religions and philosophies advance this kind of claim; they are guilty of the kind of fanaticism and arrogance of which some Christians have also been guilty when they have forgotten that the absoluteness is only that of God and not of the human manifestations of the faith. Christianity can be so exclusive and yet remain a gospel of humility and of loving outreach only because the exclusiveness is that of God’s word, not man’s. It is the exclusiveness of facts, not of opinions. There is no arrogance in asserting with a certain absoluteness that two and two make four, because the fact itself is absolute. Similarly, God’s word is the one truth in comparison with which all human thinking to the contrary is erroneous. This truth of God does not mean, of course, that there may not be truths or partial truths in human systems of religion or philosophy. It does not mean that one human system is alone true and that all others are false. It means that all human attempts to know God and to be in fellowship with Him are without exception fragmentary and incomplete, and that God Himself has given His one word which is addressed with equal love to all and which is to be received with equal humility by all. That God has chosen some, and constantly chooses others, to be the instruments of proclamation of this word confers on them no superiority of their own. They are to proclaim it as the absolute word, for this is what it is. But they are to do so in love, not in superiority. They are to do so with humility, realizing that of themselves they could no more attain to the truth than others. They are to do so with anxious concern, aware that their very presentation may easily be fallible and faulty. They are to do so with generosity, genuinely desiring that others may share the light they have, the power that makes all things new. They are to do so with reverence and dignity, conscious always that the absoluteness is not that of a supreme human achievement, but of God Himself in His gracious and reconciling self-revelation.

D. Expansion. Because of its universality and absoluteness, Christianity has been committed from the very first to evangelistic and missionary expansion. The history of the Church is in the last analysis the history of expansion. To be sure, the Church has been involved in many other things as well. It has not always pursued its chief and proper task. It has even undertaken expansion with the wrong motives, e.g., that of ecclesiastical imperialism. It has had its own vigorous history as a human institution or group of institutions, as a potent factor in the general story of the race. It can be studied from different angles, in terms of its political affiliations, its social effects, its music, art, literature, or liturgy. But its true history is the history of its fulfillment of the task for which it has been left in the world. And if it has had failures, if it has never discharged its task as it should, and has gone through periods of lethargy and retreat, by the grace of God it has also had its astonishing measure of success.

1. Early Church. Already in the apostolic age the gospel spread throughout the

D. 基督教的传播。因为基督教具有普世性和绝对性，所以从一开始福音传道者和传教士就在传播基督教。教会的历史归根结底就是基督教传播的历史。诚然，教会还有其他任务。教会并不是始终在履行它的主要使命和特有使命。教会甚至用邪恶的动机向外扩张，如教会扩张主义思想。历史上的教会是一个充满活力的人类机构或组织，是人类一般故事中的一个强有力的要素。可以从教会的政治背景、社会影响、音乐、艺术、文学或礼拜仪式等不同角度来研究教会。但教会的真正历史是它履行使命的历史，教会的使命是它在这个世界存在的理由。即使教会遭遇过失败，有过不履行使命的情况，并且经历了昏睡期和倒退期，但承蒙上帝的恩典，教会也取得了惊人的成就。

1. 早期的教会。福音在使徒时期已经传遍罗马帝国。除了《新约》中的证据，

Roman empire. Apart from the witness of the NT, Tacitus and Pliny the Younger speak of the considerable numbers of Christians (Tacitus Ann. xv.44; Pliny Ep., x.96). This expansion continued throughout the patristic period. Tertullian in his Apologeticum (37.4–8) could taunt pagans that “all that we have left to you is the temples.” If he exaggerated, he did so on the surge of an evangelistic movement which only increased in the later 3rd cent. (cf. Harnack, Expansion of Christianity [Eng. tr. 1904–1905], II, 455). Nor was the spread confined to the shores of the Mediterranean. Britain on the outer edge of the empire received the gospel. There was a movement through Egypt and Ethiopia. Eastward an early expansion to India is recorded, and Nestorianism in particular pioneered the way through Iran to China. An offshoot of Arianism was the preaching of Christianity to the Goths, though this was to have some unfortunate repercussions during the barbarian invasions that so quickly followed. See Map XXIII.

2. Succeeding Period. The collapse of the Roman empire in the West and the rise of Islam in the East put a stop to the more vigorous outgoing of the faith and even led to some contraction and loss in areas already covered. The new task facing the Church was that of reevangelization in territories that came under barbarian occupation; and so well was this work carried out under Celtic and Roman leadership that not only was there renewed expansion in northern Italy, Gaul, and Britain, but Christianity spread in a new way to Germany, Central Europe, and Scandinavia as well. Less success was enjoyed in North Africa and Syria, and the Byzantine Church failed to maintain itself in Asia Minor against increasing Moslem pressure; but the spread of Christianity to Russia was a notable achievement. By the Middle Ages, when Western Europe had finally been brought under Christian influence, horizons were beginning to widen again, and little companies of friars were attempting, with some success, to penetrate with the gospel to North Africa and Asia. But not until the world was opened up by the great oceanic explorations of the Renaissance period did global missionary expansion begin again on any scale.

2. 后期的基督教。西方罗马帝国的瓦解和东方伊斯兰教的兴起终止了基督教蓬勃发展的势头, 甚至导致已经归信上帝的地区的萎缩。教会面临的新任务是重新在蛮族占领的地区传播福音; 凯尔特人和罗马人领袖很好地传播了福音, 基督教不仅重新在意大利北部、高卢、英国传播, 而且传入了德国、中欧和斯堪的纳维亚。北非和叙利亚的福音传播不太成功, 随着穆斯林施加的压力日增, 拜占庭教会无法维持它在小亚细亚的地位; 但基督教传入俄国是一个显著的成就。到中世纪时期, 西欧最终受到了基督教的影响, 基督教再次开阔了西欧人的视野, 一小部分传道士试图向北非和亚洲传播福音, 并且取得了一定程度的成功。但是直到文艺复兴时期的航

3. Modern Missions. The Roman Catholic powers were the first to open up Africa, America, and Asia; and it is not surprising that the first wave of missionary advance should also be Roman Catholic. The Franciscans, Dominicans, and Jesuits in particular took up with enthusiasm the task of spreading the Christian message, and already at the end of the 16th cent. work had been started in Central and South America, along the coasts of Africa, at settlements in India, and in Southeast and Far Asia. Protestant churches were comparatively lethargic, partly due to lack of opportunity and partly to domestic preoccupation; and even when Holland and England challenged Spain, Portugal, and France as maritime and mercantile powers there was no immediate surge of missionary enthusiasm. But eventually, under strong Pietist influence, the great period of Protestant missions began during the 18th cent.; and today there is hardly a state or territory in the world without some larger or smaller Christian community.

3. 基督教的现代使命。罗马天主教势力首先打开了向非洲、美洲和亚洲传教的大门；首次传道也应该是由罗马天主教徒发动的，这不足为奇。方济会、道明会和耶稣会满怀热情地肩负起传播福音的使命，在 16 世纪末期，他们已经开始在中美洲、南美洲、非洲海岸、印度的定居点、东南亚和远东传播福音。新教教会相对比较低迷，一定程度上是由于它们没有机会向外传教，一定程度上是由于它们专注于在国内传教；甚至当荷兰和英国挑战西班牙、葡萄牙和法国的海上霸权和商业霸权时，都未能立即激起新教教会向外传教的热情。但是新教徒最终受到了虔信派的强烈影响，从 18 世纪开始肩负起传道的使命；今天，世界上几乎没有一个国家或地区不存在或大或小的基督教社区。

Statistics are of little value, of course, in assessing either the range of the gospel or the response to it, for it is finally the Holy Spirit who adds to the Church (Acts 2:47). But statistically Christianity has in fact become the largest and most widespread of all religious groups. Many of those counted as Christians, however, are only the most nominal of adherents. Even when all are counted, the total is still small in comparison with the rapidly increasing population of the world. In many countries the number of Christians is pitifully small and weak, and the Asian representation especially discloses a notable and unhealthy imbalance. Political developments and resurgent religions have helped to make the modern prospect relatively much less favorable from the human standpoint, and Christianity itself is undoubtedly weakened from within by uncertainty, disunity, and theological division. If great steps have been taken toward the fulfillment of the Church's task, even greater steps remain to be taken in the future, and there is need for increased awareness that real expansion can only be in and of the Holy Spirit.

E. Theological Development. The gospel is a given message which has received normative form in Holy Scripture and which the preacher has no authority to change. On the other hand, the task of proclaiming the message is entrusted to men, and this task has to be discharged against a shifting background of human language and thought. This poses the special task of theology. Theology is biblical; it has to work at the correct translation and exposition of Scripture. Theology is dogmatic; it has to bring out the correct implications in relation to the pressure of contemporary thought forms. Theology is practical; it has to make the right application of the gospel to the individual and corporate life and ministry of the Church in the world. Theology is historical; it has to weigh what is to be thought and said and done in the present against what has been thought and said and done in the past. In all its aspects theology is, of course, evangelistic. Its concern is for the gospel and its ministry. It is not an academic department of Christianity remote from ordinary Christian life and work. It serves the ministry by checking the preaching and teaching of the Church, by giving it contemporary form, by helping it to maintain its integrity and purity, by submitting it constantly to the given norm of Scripture.

To give even a reasonably full outline of theological development is obviously impossible here. All that can be given are a few indications of some of the more important trends in the three main periods: the early, the medieval, and the modern.

1. Early Period. The first centuries were dominated by the struggle for the great essentials of Christian faith as the gospel went out into the world of current thought and religion. Out of conflict with Gnosticism came the great affirmation of God as Creator, the unity of the OT and NT, and the reality of the Incarnation and the Resurrection. Out of the trinitarian and christological controversies came the insistence on God's triunity and the unity of the person of Christ in His deity and humanity. Out of the Pelagian controversy came the further emphasis on sin and grace which, if not always in full

1. 早期。前几个世纪随着福音开始形成现在的思想和宗教信仰，这一时期的神学主要致力于阐述基督教的要义。从诺斯替主义的争论中产生了如下重要主张，上帝是造物主，《旧约》和《新约》是统一的，道成肉身和耶稣复活是真实的。从三位一体论和基督论的争论中产生了神是三位一体的真神、基督位格的神性与人性的统一的坚决主张。基于贝拉基主义争论，早期的基督教进一步强调罪和恩典永远是福音信息的必要组成部分，虽然这种观点并不是始终完全符合奥古斯丁关于罪和恩典的观点。早期的教会的语言学学术研究并不引人注目，但早期教会具有说《七十士译本》和《新

Augustinian form, has constantly been seen to be essential to the evangelical message. The early Church was not remarkable for linguistic scholarship, but it had the advantage of speaking the language of the LXX and NT, and except for an early trend toward allegorical exegesis (Origen De prin. iv.2.4) its exposition was good if not always inwardly self-consistent. A serious weakness of the early Church was in relation to some aspects of practical theology. Basically loyal to the precepts of Scripture, it did not work out a sound theological basis for its practice. Thus many customs, ceremonies, disciplinary measures, and even modes of operation were adopted that carried implicitly the possibilities of theological falsification. The problem of postbaptismal sin and forgiveness is to be noted particularly in this respect, as is also the related tendency to conceive of the gospel as the new law.

2. Medieval Period. The medieval period is often the subject of facile generalization, whether in extravagant adulation or undiscerning condemnation. In fact, so many different forces are at work that any general statements can be made only with reservations. Thus the fourfold scheme of exegesis tended to prevail, not without unhappy consequences; but there were also genuine movements toward literal interpretation. Again, if sacramentalism established itself, it has also to be remembered that the doctrine of the atonement received classical formulation in Anselm's Cur deus homo? Aquinas, wrestling with the problems of revelation and philosophy, may have struck a doubtful balance with his principle that grace perfects nature, but Anselm in his Proslogion made a stand for the better theological principle of faith-seeking-understanding as the norm of the relation between reason and revelation. Radbert certainly initiated the development that was to lead to transubstantiation, but already Ratramnus and his successors provided the essentials of the Reformation answer. If a generalization may be hazarded, it is that the Middle Ages added a magnificent but confused and distorted superstructure on the genuine foundation of the gospel. The sphere of practice was again a fruitful source of error. If masses, relics, pilgrimages, and so forth were partly the results of poor theology, they were also in part the causes in a vicious circle of reciprocal interaction.

3. Modern Period. The modern period was initiated by the Reformation, with its rediscovery of the great doctrines of the authority of Scripture and justification by faith, and with its renewed attention to Scripture as the norm of true theology. In reply to the Reformation the Roman Catholic world engaged in an extensive codification of its teaching at the Council of Trent, thus enslaving itself in a rigid ecclesiastical orthodoxy from which it has only recently begun to liberate itself with the rise of the biblical movement and the discussions of the Second Vatican Council.

Within the Protestant world the understanding of the Lord's Supper led to an unfortunate rift between the Lutherans and Reformed which broadened and deepened in the century of orthodoxy (the 17th). In addition, Arminianism raised an issue that cut right across the general alignment, and its success under Laud in England created a High Church party which severed the previous close contacts between Anglican and Reformed theology, more particularly, when Puritanism displayed an intransigent extremism in the opposite direction. The Anabaptist movement also carried deep theological implications, not merely in the sphere of the sacraments, but also in the whole understanding of the Church, of the Bible, and of the nature of sin and grace. Far more important, however, has been the presentation of the liberal challenge from the 18th cent. onward, for much Protestant theology had tended to collapse in face of the new demand that Christianity must be restated to conform to the dicta of rationalism or empiricism.

3. 现代时期。宗教改革开启了神学发展的现代时期，在这一时期重新发现了关于圣经权柄和靠信心称义的重要教义，并再次将《圣经》作为真正神学的标准。罗马天主教界在特伦托会议上开始大量整理天主教的教义，因此，罗马天主教将自己束缚在教会正统中，直到最近随着圣经运动的兴起和第二次梵蒂冈会议的召开，他们才开始从这种束缚中解放出来。

The 20th cent. has been a period of peculiar interest from the theological standpoint. In both Protestantism and Roman Catholicism, the final result of increased biblical study has been to bring at least the beginnings of true theological renewal and the more solid hope of theological rapprochement. The running of the tide against missionary work has also demanded serious reflection on its theological basis, and the erosion of traditional modes of Christian belief and action has brought the issue of Christianity and Christian theology sharply into focus. There are those, of course, who cry for a radical restatement to fit a scientific age. But there are also those who see that the real choice is between gospel and no gospel, between Christianity as it truly is and a mere human shadow or substitute. To be sure, the wording of the message has to be reshaped today as it has always been. But this reshaping must take place under an intensive exegetical and dogmatic study which will ensure that the message itself remains. Only thus can theology serve the mission of Christianity.

It is to be noted that the modern debate carries three positive implications of great importance for the future. First, the Protestant and Roman Catholic worlds are willy-nilly involved together in the modern situation, not only in biblical study but also, for example, in the theology of ecumenism or the confrontation of modern issues. Secondly, the combination of the problems of communication and missionary outreach has provided at least the opportunity for a theological reestablishment of the whole message and mission of the Church, and of a discharge of its mission. Third, since mission is of the very essence of the Church's task, this involves the possibility of a genuine revival of pastoral theology that will bring all the life and activity of Christians under the control of theological criteria. This is of supreme importance, for history shows that practice is often the Achilles' heel of theology; and should the intensive discussion of the present age finally reduce its autonomy, this will be of incalculable benefit to Christian thought and work, i.e., to the reformation of Christianity in accordance with its true and underlying nature.

需要注意的是，现代争论为未来提供了三个极为重要的积极暗示。首先，不管新教和罗马天主教怀有怎样的意愿，它们都被卷入了现代形势中，它们不仅都研究《圣经》，而且都研究泛基督主义神学或争论一些现代问题。其次，交流和传教的问题交织在了一起，这至少为在神学上还原全部信息和完成教会的使命提供了机会。再次，因为传播福音是教会的核心工作，所以这个使命可能会真正地复兴教牧神学，从而使基督徒的所有生活和活动都处于神学准则的控制之下。这是最为重要的，因为历史经验表明，实践通常是神学的致命弱点；假如当代的激烈讨论最终会削弱神学的自主权，那么将给基督徒的思想和工作带来不可估量的益处，即为符合基督教本质的宗教改革带来不可估量的益处。

For the biblical aspects of Christology see PERSON OF CHRIST. The present concern is exclusively with the development of the doctrine through the various historical periods.

I. Patristic.-A. Docetism and Adoptionism. The early patristic period is one of intrinsically correct but undeveloped thinking which allows of some looseness of statement. Two main errors are perceived and avoided: the Docetic, which would make of Christ's humanity a mere appearance, and the Ebionite or Adoptionist, which would see in Christ a man adopted into the Godhead by the descent of the Spirit. In the Apologists (Justin) there is a tendency to equate Christ rather generally with the lógos or reason operative in all men, and also to subordinate the Son to the Father. But in Ignatius, 2 Clement, and Melito of Sardis the true deity and humanity of Christ are both recognized as necessary to the biblical doctrine of His person and work.

关于《圣经》中的基督论,见 PERSON OF CHRIST (基督的位格)。现在的基督论专指各个历史时期教义的发展。

I. 教父时期基督论。A. 基督幻影说和嗣子论。教父早期的基督论从本质上看是正确但不完善的思想,其中有一些表述不太严密。有两个明显可以避免的错误:一个是基督幻影说,这一学说认为基督的人性只是一个幻影,另一个是伊便尼派的学说或嗣子论,这一学说认为世人在基督里靠着降临的圣灵被神拣选为儿女。护教士(游斯丁)倾向于认为基督基本等同于在所有人身上起作用的道(lógos)或理性,并认为圣子的地位低于天父的地位。但在伊格那丢的

B. Modalism and Subordinationism. A further step toward understanding is taken in the great writers of the late 2nd and early 3rd centuries. Irenaeus emphasizes the strong interconnection between Christ's person and work as expressed in the phrase, "He became what we are in order that He might make us what He is." Tertullian specifically refutes the Gnostic errors and also Monarchianism in its Modalistic or Sabellian form, which teaches an economic but not an essential trinity, i.e., the one God assuming three different forms or modes for different purposes. Logically, this involved the so-called patripassian deduction that we might just as well speak of the crucifixion of the Father as the Son; and, since the patripassian Praxeas was also an opponent of Montanism, Tertullian was led to his famous condemnation: "He put to flight the Paraclete and crucified the Father." Origen was a more speculative thinker, and his Christology is marked by a distinct subordinationism of the Son to the Father. Yet he also made a positive contribution with his thought of the eternal generation of the Son, and introduced the term homooúsios, "of one substance."

C. Arianism and Nicea. Christology became the predominant issue in the 4th cent. with the emergence of Arianism.

B. 形态论和次位论。2 世纪末期和 3 世纪早期的伟大作家对于基督论的理解更加深入。爱任纽强调了基督的位格和基督的工作之间的牢固关系，正如那句话所说，“祂变成我们的样子，好叫我们效法祂。”特土良明确驳斥了诺斯替派的错误、形态神格唯一论和撒伯流的神格唯一论，神格唯一论否认了圣子的独立位格，这一学说中的神本质上不是三位一体的真神，即唯一的真神为了实现不同的旨意呈现出三种不同的形态。从逻辑上讲，这一学说包括所谓的“圣父受苦论”，即我们也可以说圣父以圣子的形态死在十字架上；因为坚持“圣父受苦论”的普拉克西亚也是孟他努主义的反对者，特土良做出如下著名的谴责：“他赶走了圣灵，将天父钉在十字架上。”俄利根是一个更爱猜测的思想者，次位论是他基督论的一大特点。但他的永生圣子思想也为基督论做出了积极的贡献，他还引入了 homooúsios 一词，意为“同质的”。

C. 亚流主义和尼西亚。随着亚流主义的兴起，基督论成为公元 4 世纪争论的焦点。亚流认为基督实际上是一个中

For Arius, Christ was virtually an intermediary being. Though preexistent, He was a creature (“There was when the Son was not”). By Him as the firstborn creature the world was made. Not having a human soul, He could not be regarded as true man any more than as true God. Under the inspiration of Athanasius, the Council of Nicea (325) insisted on both the full deity and the full humanity of Christ, which Athanasius saw to be essential to His mediatorial work and therefore to salvation. The word homoousion was adopted to rule out Arian sophistries, and although opposition to this term and ecclesiastical intrigues led to long semi-Arian controversies, the Athanasian position was secured at Constantinople (381).

D. Apollinarianism. The problem of the interrelationship of deity and humanity

D. 亚波里拿流主义。基督的神性和人性的相互关系问题尚没有答案，接下来

still remained, and during the next two centuries this gave rise to a complicated movement of exaggeration and counterexaggeration. Apollinaris initiated the process by creating unity at the expense of full humanity. In body and irrational soul Christ was fully man, but in Him the rational soul was displaced by the Logos. Against this Gregory of Nazianzus brought the crushing Athanasian rejoinder that “the unassumed is the unhealed.” Apollinaris was condemned at Constantinople in 381.

E. Nestorianism. Nestorius went to the opposite extreme, not by denying or diminishing the deity, but by apparently separating the humanity and deity to such a degree that there was no real unity. The term theótokos as applied to the Virgin brought his teaching into focus, for he did not think that Mary ought to be described as the mother of God, or indeed that the incarnate child Jesus should be worshiped as God. On the former point, something might be said on his behalf. For while the term is logically unimpeachable, it is still better to speak of Mary as the mother of the incarnate Word or of the Son in virtue of His incarnation, rather than of God more generally. How far Nestorius held the division of the persons popularly attributed to him is a matter of dispute. There can be no doubt, however, that he used incautious expressions which seemed to imply a separation of persons and not just a distinction of natures.

F. Eutychianism. After the condemnation of Nestorius at Ephesus (431) the opposite extreme was again reached in Eutyches of Alexandria, who pressed the unity of Christ to the point of a unity of nature rather than of person, thus absorbing the human nature into the divine. In answer to this new Docetism, and to the whole problem of divine and human natures in one person, the Council of Chalcedon (451) finally achieved the balanced statement that in Christ two natures are united in one person or hypostasis, without confusion, conversion, division, or separation. In explanation of the possibility of true humanity without an independent hypostasis (anhypostatic), as Cyril of Alexandria has already urged against Nestorius, it was taught by Leontius of Byzantium that the human nature of Christ is enhypostatic, i.e., that it has its substance in and through the lógos.

E. 涅斯多留主义。涅斯多留走向了另一个极端，他并不否认或削弱基督的神性，但他显然分裂了基督的人性和神性，甚至认为两者不能真正结合在一起。涅斯多留的基督论源于童贞女是否应该被称为 theótokos (“生神者”)，因为他认为马利亚不应该被称为上帝的母亲，或者说，不应该将道成肉身的圣子耶稣视为神。他的前一个观点可能有些道理。因为尽管从逻辑上讲 theótokos 这个词是无可质疑的，但将马利亚视为道成肉身圣子的母亲更好一些，而不应笼统地认为她是神的母亲。涅斯多留的两位格分离说法的流行程度是一个存有争议的问题。然而，毋庸置疑，他的表述不够严谨，他似乎分裂了两个位格，而不仅仅是在区分神人二性。

F. 欧迪奇主义。涅斯多留在以弗所会议（431年）受到批判之后，亚历山大的欧迪奇发表了另一个相反的极端学说，他认为基督的联合是神人二性的联合，而不是位格的联合，因此人性融于神性之中。迦克墩会议（451年）对这种新

G. Monophysitism and Monothelitism. The Eutychian position still commanded support, however, and the two centuries after Chalcedon were marked by the attempts of the Monophysites and Monothelites to locate a center of unity either more generally in the nature or more specifically in the will of Christ. Progress was made in Alexandria and Rome toward a compromise that would preserve the two natures but posit a single divine human energy, and Honorius of Rome was even prepared to accept the single will in Christ. The Western Church in general, however, asserted the two wills, and this position was maintained at Constantinople (680), although a subordination of the human will to the divine was conceded. Failure to accept this reaffirmation of Chalcedon led the Syrian Jacobite and Coptic churches into schism.

II. Medieval.-Not without reason, Christology emerged as the dominant issue in early theology; and, if it led to

G. 基督一性论和基督一志论。虽然欧迪奇的观点仍然占支配地位，但迦克墩会议之后的两个世纪出现了基督一性派和基督一志派，这两个派别一个更侧重于讨论基督的神性或人性，另一个更侧重于讨论基督的意志。亚历山大学派和罗马学派之间实现了妥协，双方同意保留神人二性，但同时假设存在一个神圣的人类能量，罗马的拉克留甚至准备接受基督一志论。然而，西方教会普遍认为基督有两个意志，君士坦丁堡会议 (680) 上仍然坚持这一观点，但同时承认人的意志在地位上低于神的意志。由于叙利亚雅各派和科普特教会拒绝接受迦克墩会议上的决议，导致两教派走向了分裂。

II. 中世纪的基督论。基督论成为早期神学的主要问题，这不是毫无理由的；基督论引起了长期的、令人厌烦的争

long and tiresome controversies, it also produced a christological orthodoxy that enabled theologians to concentrate on other issues. In the Middle Ages, therefore, we find no basic contribution to the doctrine. Discussion consisted, for the most part, of an exposition of the Chalcedonian teaching. The only notable point in this respect is the general tendency to conceive and present Christ in an abstract and exalted form in which His humanity is verbally maintained but materially forfeited.

This trend in more specialized discussion is perhaps more than compensated for, however, by the firm linking of Christology to soteriology. This had always been a concern of the fathers. Athanasius, for example, had rightly perceived that the mediatorial and reconciling work of Christ is closely bound up with His person. Augustine in the West had given a particular emphasis to this aspect, underlining also Christ's exemplary humility as man and our mystical relationship with Him. These were the strains that influenced medieval thinking, whether we think of the warm attachment of St. Bernard to the person of Christ or the famous treatise of Anselm Cur deus homo?, which brings out the soteriological necessity or rationale of the Incarnation as understood in the orthodox sense.

III. Reformation.-A. Lutheran. The soteriological implication of Christology was naturally the first interest of Luther in his championing of Chalcedonian orthodoxy. Luther had indeed no great time for christological abstraction. He claimed that we should keep to the historical person of Jesus and His saving office and work. The well-known patristic conception of an exchange played a great part in his thinking. The Son had taken our human nature that we might partake of the divine nature. He had identified Himself with us that He might take our sin and His righteousness might be ours. Along these lines Luther maintained the scholastic emphasis, but with a new force and richness according to his evangelical understanding of justification.

论,但它也产生了基督论的正统思想,从而使神学家们可以专注于研究其他问题。因此,我们在中世纪看不到基督论的基本贡献。大多数讨论主要集中于迦克墩教义的阐述。唯一值得注意的是,神学家们普遍倾向于以抽象的概念理解和描述基督,高举基督的地位,基督的人性仅保留在口头上,实际上已经丧失。

III. 宗教改革时期的基督论。A. 路德的基督论。路德在拥护迦克墩正统思想时,自然首先关注的是基督论中的救赎论含义。路德实际上没有花费大量时间研究基督论的抽象概念。他认为我们应该强调耶稣在历史中的位格和祂的救赎职分与工作。教父著名的二性转换的概念对他的思想产生了很大的影响。圣

In the context of eucharistic doctrine, however, Luther developed a particular nuance. Already in the Tome of Leo that underlay Chalcedon, it had been laid down that there is a communication of the attributes (communicatio idiomatum) of the two natures. Luther took this to mean that the attributes of each nature are transferred to and may thus be predicated of the other, the result being an interpenetration very close to the intermingling condemned at Chalcedon. This does, of course, prevent the constant artificial question whether this or that nature is at work in a given situation. Yet it raises certain difficulties of its own, e.g., How far does the human nature enjoy or exercise the divine attributes? Furthermore, it produces strange results with respect to the eucharist by justifying a real presence of Christ's body and blood in terms of Christ's ubiquity as God (Ubiquitarianism). It is hard to determine whether Luther's prior concern for a real presence helped to produce this particular emphasis, whether the emphasis contributed to the eucharistic doctrine, or whether the two simply worked hand in hand in the young Luther and early Lutheranism. It seems fairly clear, however, that Luther's dogmatic stand on the presence must have had no little influence on at least the outworking of the communicatio idiomatum.

B. Reformed. Reformed theology had no similar eucharistic concern, since it quickly came to see that between the Ascension and the Return the presence and action of Jesus Christ are in and by the Holy Spirit. It could thus maintain Chalcedonian orthodoxy without any undue stress on the communicatio idiomatum. Indeed, Calvin felt that there was a dangerous Eutychian tendency in Lutheran Christology, and he was anxious to maintain the distinction, though not of course the separation, of the natures. This concern underlay his conception of the lógos ásarkos, i.e., the divine Son maintaining His being and activity as the second person of the trinity extra carnem (outside the flesh). Lutheranism suspected a certain Nestorianism in this emphasis, although in fact the unity of Christ's person was upheld in terms of the enhypostasis doctrine of the early fathers. Certainly, this teaching precluded the possibility of a Kenotic theology.

The Reformed did not dispute the communicatio idiomatum as such. They did not argue that the divine attributes belonged only to the lógos and the human to the incarnate Jesus. They recognized that in the unity of Christ's person the one nature is necessarily implicated in the activities and events of the other, so that the human no less than the divine nature may be spoken of as the material and not merely the instrumental cause of salvation. Nevertheless, they did not think in terms of the assuming of the human nature into the divine, but of its assuming into the one person of the Son. Again, they emphasized the fact that the communicatio is an active communication of operations (communicatio operationum) rather than a static interpenetration, thus concentrating on the soteriological rather than the theoretical aspect. Any application to the eucharist they regarded as both unnecessary and misleading inasmuch as the concern here is specifically with the office and work of the Holy Spirit.

*B. 改革宗的基督论。*改革宗神学不关注圣餐礼，因为改革宗神学迅速意识到，在基督升天和复临之间，耶稣基督在圣灵里并藉着圣灵显现、做工。因此，改革宗神学无需过分强调属性相通就可以支持迦克墩的正统基督论。实际上，加尔文发现路德的基督论有陷入欧迪奇主义的倾向，虽然他没有分裂神人二性，但他急切地渴望保持两者之间的差异。这个关注点构成了“无肉身的道”（lógos ásarkos）教义的基础，即圣子始终以三位一体真神肉体之外（extra carnem）的第二个位格存在、做工。尽管早期教父的人性寓于神性之中的教义实际上支持了基督位格合一的观点，但路德派对涅斯多留主义的这个方面表示了质疑。当然，这一教义排除了它属于虚己神学的可能性。

C. Anabaptist. Brief note may be taken of the strange christological contribution of Menno Simons among the sixteenth-century Anabaptists. Simons argued that Christ did not take flesh from the Virgin, but introduced the new and spiritual flesh of the new creation. In this way he tried to avoid the implication of the incarnate Son in sinful humanity, but at the expense of breaking the true identity of Christ with us which had always been thought necessary to His mediatorial work. The Docetic or Apollinarian strain thus reappeared at this point in new guise. How far Simons' views were followed by others has been much disputed, but in some circles at least, e.g., in England, the denial that Christ took flesh of the Virgin as commonly regarded as an Anabaptist tenet.

IV. Modern.-A. Schleiermacher. In the modern period the Lutheran emphasis seems on the whole to have proved more vulnerable to liberal tendencies, in spite of its original emphasis on the deity of Christ. Two factors may have contributed to this. First, a full exercise of the attributes of deity by the incarnate Son is obviously ruled out, and therefore some form of Kenoticizing is demanded.

C. 再洗礼派的基督论。或许应该简单关注一下16世纪再洗礼派教徒门诺·西蒙斯对基督论做出的奇特贡献。西蒙斯认为基督的肉体不是童贞女马利亚给的，而是由天父新创造出来的属灵的新身体。因此，西蒙不以有罪的人性来解释道成肉身的圣子，而是打破了基督与我们的真正同一性，而人们始终认为这种同一性是基督中保工作的必要条件。因此，从这一点上讲，幻影说或亚波里拿流主义重新伪装出现。对于西蒙斯的观点受认可的程度，还存在着争议，但至少某些领域内认可了他的观点，例如，在英国，否认基督肉体源于童贞女马利亚是再洗礼派普遍接受的一个信条。

IV. 现代基督论。A. 施莱尔马赫的基督论。总的来说，路德的基督论在现代似乎更容易受到自由主义者的攻击，尽管这种基督论最初强调基督的神性。可能有两个促成的因素。首先，路德的基督论显然排除了道成肉身的圣子完全运用神性的可能性，因此就需要求助于某种形式的虚己说。其次，路德宗也强调历史中的耶稣；当关注点重新回到人类耶稣时，这种虚己说总是倾向于让神性

Second, Lutheranism also stresses the historical Jesus; and when attention shifts back to the human Jesus there is always the possibility that this Kenoticism will take the form of an adaptation of the divine attributes to the human, with no counterbalancing doctrine of the lógos ásarkos to prevent a final replacement of true deity by a vague human divinity. Something of this is to be seen in the Christology of Schleiermacher. For Schleiermacher the Chalcedon approach is completely alien because it seems to bear too little relation to the human Jesus of the Gospels. As he sees it, to understand the person of Christ we must begin with His human consciousness. In Jesus the basic dependence on God finds supreme and archetypal expression in the sense of sonship. The divinity of Jesus is thus bound up with His full humanity. The basic attributes of deity are no longer communicated. They cannot be, because the limitation of humanity and the divine immutability are thought to constitute a permanent obstacle. They thus yield before a new and generalized divinity which is ultimately true of all men.

B. Kenoticism. A similar process may be seen in the nineteenth-century Kenoticism, which found wide acceptance in Lutheran circles. Already in the Kenotic controversy of the 17th cent. a basic decision had been reached that the man Jesus genuinely, and not merely in appearance, abstained from a full exercise of the majesty imparted to Him. The reconstructed Kenoticism of Thomasius in the 19th cent., however, introduced a new factor with the distinction between the so-called essential or moral attributes (e.g., love or righteousness), which were retained, and the external attributes (e.g.,

B. 虚己论。 19 世纪的虚己论使用了类似的方法, 路德教会普遍支持虚己论。早在 17 世纪的虚己派争论中就形成了一个基本的决议, 即耶稣真实地存在, 而不仅仅存在于表面, 祂放弃了上帝赐予祂的全部权柄。然而, 19 世纪托马斯修斯重申的虚己论引入了一个新的因素, 并区分了保留下来的所谓核心或道德属性(如, 爱或义)与被舍弃的外部属性(如, 无所不知或无所不在)。托马斯修斯希望用这种方法保留耶稣的真正神性, 真正的神性没有局限性, 与真实的人类存在密不可分。虚己论以这种方法解决这个问题, 却没有注意到, 永生神的永恒性并不能阻止祂运用自身的 omnipotence or omniscience), which were set aside. In this way it was hoped to preserve a true deity of Jesus, without the problem of limitation, and inseparable from a truly human existence. Approaching the question in this way, Kenoticism failed to see that the immutability of the living God does not prevent Him from exercising all His attributes in the form of humanity, nor force Him into the violent mutation of a self-deprivation of His attributes, which can leave only partial deity, and therefore no true deity at all, in the incarnate Son. In Kenoticism the communication of attributes ceased to be a genuinely reciprocal process, the attempt to find an interpenetration of the human nature by the divine leading finally to an adaptation of the divine to the human. A modified form of Kenoticism was adopted by the Lux Mundi group of Anglo-Catholics and more recently by the so-called Liberal Evangelical movement in England.

C. Ritschl. Another variation on the same theme is to be found in Ritschl. Starting with the historical Jesus, Ritschl, too, was prepared to recognize the ethical attributes of divinity, but he had no patience with the traditional formulations. As he saw it, Jesus has for us the value of God in virtue of the perfection of His divine and human moral nature. The radical obtuseness of the Kenotics is thus reproduced in Ritschl. Taking humanity as his norm, he allows a communication only of such divine attributes as he assumes to be compatible with it. In the last resort, therefore, he can base the divinity of Christ only on His subjective significance, i.e., His value for us. Naturally, this is poles apart from Luther. Yet it is a possible consequence of the

C. 立敕尔的基督论。立敕尔提出了另外一种基督论。立敕尔首先描述了历史中的耶稣，他也准备认可神性中的道德因素，但他反对传统说法。立敕尔认为，由于耶稣的神性和人类道德属性本身的完美，所以对于我们来说，祂拥有了神的价值。因此，在立敕尔的理论中也体现出虚己派愚钝之极的特点。立敕尔以人性为标准，认为只有与人性一致的神性才能与人性相通。因此，他最终只能将基督的神性建立在基督的主观意义上，即基督对我们的价值上。这当然与路德的观点截然相反。立敕尔可能错误地理解了路德的二性合一观点，才得出了这样的推论。所有的自由派都能接受这种联合的严谨性。但他们的注意力集中在人性和抽象的神性上，这必然削弱了他们的基督论，自由派认为基督只具备人类所可能达到的神性，祂作为永

Lutheran outworking of the union in a distorted form. Liberals of all kinds can accept the strictness of the union. But their concentration on humanity, and their abstract notions of the Godhead, inevitably lead them to a weakened Christology in which Jesus is finally divine only to the degree that divinity is possible for man, His full and proper deity as the eternal Son being partially or totally surrendered.

D. Orthodoxy. In spite of the liberal movement, orthodoxy has naturally maintained itself in both Reformed and Lutheran circles, not to speak of Anglican, Roman Catholic, and Eastern Orthodox. Indeed, the present century has witnessed a new and welcome interest in the Chalcedonian definition, not as a metaphysical formulation, but as a basic and almost doxological confession. Four points in particular have claimed attention. First, the mystery of the Incarnation is that of a unique relationship of grace. Second, this relationship is set up in a human person and work, and is thus to be closely connected with the gospel presentation, with no dichotomy on either side between the Jesus of history and the Christ of faith. Third, the mystery of the Incarnation does not pose an abstract problem of thought, but is to be seen in relation to the atonement and therefore to the fulfilment of the election of grace in Christ incarnate, crucified, and risen. Finally, the humanity of Christ is not a limiting factor which demands either a restriction or a spasmodic and paradoxical manifestation of the divine attributes, but a specific form in which the true and living God can and does bring all His attributes to expression,

D. 正统的基督论。尽管出现了自由主义运动，但除了英国国教、罗马天主教和东正教，正统基督论还轻而易举地得到了改革宗和信义宗的支持。实际上，本世纪已经见证了迦克墩教义重新得到认可，它不再被视为一种形而上学的观念，而是一种基本的悔罪，而且几乎可以视为一种荣耀神的悔罪。有四点尤为值得注意。首选，道成肉身的秘密是独特恩典关系的秘密。其次，这种关系靠一个地上的人和祂的工作建立起来，因此与福音传播存在密切的关系，与历史中的耶稣和信仰中的基督不可分割。再次，道成肉身的秘密并没有提出抽象的思想问题，在耶稣为世人赎罪中可以看到这个秘密，因此在基督道成肉身、被钉十字架和复活中完成了恩典的拣选。最后，基督的人性不是一种限制性因素，不需要神性的限制或神性不定时的、自相矛盾的显现，基督的人性是一种特殊的形式，在这个形式中，永生的真神可以而且确实显明了祂的所有属性，实现了位格的合一、神人二性的共享、属性相通、恩典相通和效力相通，同时一方面不会曲解人性，另一方面不会丧失天父或圣子的神性。

CHRISTS, FALSE

[Gk. pseudochristoi] (Mt. 24:24 par. Mk. 13:22); NEB “impostors ... claiming to be messiahs.” In Jesus’ discourse on the last things, spoken on Tuesday of the week of His Passion, He solemnly forewarned His disciples that many would come in His name saying “I am the Christ,” and that they would deceive many; that there would arise false Christs and false prophets who would show great signs and wonders in order to lead astray, if possible, even the elect; and that, therefore, if any man said to them “Lo, here is the Christ!” or “There he is!” they were not to believe it (Mt. 24:5, 11, 23–25; Mk. 13:6, 21–23; Lk. 21:8).

I. Early Notices.—Christ’s warning was needed. Some commentators have, indeed, pointed out that there is no historical record of anyone expressly claiming to be the Christ prior to the destruction of Jerusalem. This, however, is probably only in appearance (cf. Lange, comm. on Mt. 24:3). Edersheim

【希腊语: pseudochristoi】(太 24:24 及平行经文, 可 13:22); 《新英文译本》译为 “impostors ... claiming to be messiahs” (“假基督”)。耶稣在受难周的星期二谈论末世的预兆时, 曾预先严肃地警告门徒, 将来有好些人冒充基督的名来, 说: “我是基督”, 并且要迷惑许多人; “假基督和假先知将要起来, 显大神迹、大奇事。倘若能行, 连选民也就迷惑了”; 因此, 若有人对他们说, “看哪, 基督在这里”或“基督在那里”, 他们不应该相信 (太 24:5, 11, 23-25; 可 13:6, 21-23; 路 21:8)。

I. 早期的假基督。基督的警告是很有必要的。有些注释者实际上已经指出, 在耶路撒冷被毁之前, 没有关于冒充基督之人的历史记载。不过, 这可能仅仅是表象 (参: Lange, 《马太福音》24:3 注释)。爱德生评论道: “虽然在彼拉多统治至耶路撒冷陷落之间的动荡时期有很多冒充基督的人承诺将像弥赛亚一 remarks: “Though in the multitude of impostors, who, in the troubled time between the rule of Pilate and the destruction of Jerusalem, promised messianic deliverance to Israel, few names and claims of this kind have been specially recorded, yet the hints in the New Testament, and the references, however guarded, in the Jewish historian, imply the appearance of many such seducers” (LTJM, II, 446). The revolts in this period were generally connected with religious pretensions in the leaders (Josephus BJ ii.13.4—“deceived and deluded the people under pretence of divine inspiration”), and in the fevered state of messianic expectation can hardly have lacked, in some instances, a messianic character. Judas of Galilee (Acts 5:37; Josephus Ant. xviii.1.6; BJ ii.8.1) founded a numerous sect (the Gaulonites), and according to Origen (In Luc. Hom. 25) he was regarded by many of them as the Messiah. The Theudas of Acts 5:36, “giving himself out to be somebody,” may or may not be the same as the Theudas of Josephus (Ant. xx.5.1), but the latter, at least, made prophetic claims and deluded many; e.g., he promised to divide the river Jordan by a word. Another instance is the “Egyptian” for whom Paul was mistaken, who had stirred up a “revolt” (Acts 21:38)—one of a multitude of “imposters and deceivers,” Josephus tells us, who persuaded multitudes to follow them into the wilderness, pretending that they would exhibit wonders and signs (Ant. xx.8.6). This Egyptian was to show them that at his command the walls of Jerusalem would fall down (BJ ii.13.5). Of another class was the Samaritan Dositheus, with whom Simon Magus was said to be connected. He is alleged to have been regarded as “the prophet like unto Moses,” whom God was to raise up.

II. Bar Cochba.-The most celebrated case of a false Christ is that of Bar Cochba, the leader of the great insurrection under Hadrian in A.D. 132 (Eusebius HE iv.6; for Jewish and other authorities, see the full account in Schürer, *HJP*², I, 534-557). The insurrection was on a scale such that it required the whole force of the Roman empire to put it down (cf. Schürer). The leader's name was Simon, but the title Bar Cochba (“son of a star”) was given him with reference to the prophecy in Nu. 24:17 of the star that would come out of Jacob. Rabbi Akiba, the most celebrated doctor of his time, applied this prophecy, with that in Hag. 2:6f, to Simon, and announced him as the Messiah. He is commonly known in Jewish literature (and in letters from a cave near En-gedi) as Bar Coziba, probably from his birthplace. Immense multitudes flocked to his standard, and Christians in Palestine were severely persecuted. Coins were issued in his name. After tremendous efforts the rebellion was crushed and Jerusalem was converted into a Roman colony (Aelia Capitolina) that Jews were forbidden to enter.

III. Jewish Pseudo-Messiahs.-Among the Jews themselves, in later times, many pseudo-messiahs have arisen. An interesting account of some of these is given by Elkan Adler in his Introduction to Aspects of the Hebrew Genius (1910). “Such there had been,” this writer says, “from time to time ever since the destruction of the Temple.” In the 16th and 17th cents, however, the belief in pseudo-messiahs took new and

II. 巴可巴。最著名的假基督是巴可巴，他是公元132年哈德良统治时期发动暴乱的领袖（Eusebius HE iv.6；关于犹太和其他的权威，见 Schürer 的完整描述，*HJP*², I, 534-557）。这场叛乱规模很大，以至于罗马帝国必须动用所有军队才能平息这场叛乱（参：Schürer）。这个领袖的名字是西门，但他被称为巴可巴（“星之子”），这个名字与《民数记》24:17 中“有星要出于雅各”的预言有关。拉比亚基巴是这一时期最著名的博士，他认为这个预言和《哈该书》2:6-7 中的预言都指的是西门，并称西门为弥赛亚。犹太文献（和隐基底山洞中发现的信件）中通常称西门为巴可巴，他可能因出生地而得名巴可巴。很多群众追随他，巴勒斯坦的基督徒遭到残酷的迫害。还有以他的名字发行的硬币。罗马帝国付出巨大的努力才平息了这场叛乱，耶路撒冷变成了罗马帝国的一个禁止犹太人入内的殖民地（Aelia Capitolina）。

III. 犹太人中的假弥赛亚。后来犹太人中出现了很多假弥赛亚。埃尔坎·阿德勒在他的作品（Aspects of the Hebrew Genius[1910]）简介中对其中一些假弥赛亚进行了有趣的描述。他说，“自从圣殿被毁不时地出现假弥赛亚。”然而，在16世纪和17世纪，假弥赛亚信仰呈现出新的、奇异的形态。这一时期提到的假弥赛亚包括大卫鲁本尼（David Reubeni），或称他为流便支派的大卫（1524），他最终死于宗教法庭的审判。 remarkable shapes. Among the names mentioned is that of David Reubeni, or David of the tribe of Reuben (1524), who ultimately fell a martyr to the Inquisition. Under his influence a Portuguese royal secretary, Diego Pires, adopted the Jewish faith, changed his name to Solomon Molko, and finally proclaimed himself the Messiah. In 1529 he published some of his addresses under the title of The Book of Wonder. He was burned at the stake at Mantua.

“Other Kabbalists, such as Isaac Luria and Chajim Vital and Abraham Shalom, proclaimed themselves to be Messiahs or forerunners of the Messiah, and their works and manuscripts are still piously studied by many oriental Jews.” The chief of all these false messiahs was Sabbatai Zevi, born at Smyrna in 1626. “His adventures,” says Adler, “created a tremendous stir in western Europe.” He ultimately became an apostate to Islam; nonetheless he had a line of successors, in whom the sect of Donmeh, in Salonica, continue to believe. Another mentioned is Jacob Frank, of Podolia, who revealed himself in 1755 as the Holy Lord, in whom there dwelt the same Messiah-soul that had dwelt in David, Elijah, Jesus, Muhammad, Sabbatai Zevi, and his followers. Jewish literature in the 18th cent. is full of controversial writing connected with Sabbatianism. Cf. G. Scholem, Major Trends in Jewish Mysticism (repr. 1961).

“其他的犹太玄学家，如以撒·卢里亚、哈伊姆·维塔尔和亚伯拉罕·沙龙都自称为弥赛亚或弥赛亚的先驱，很多东方的犹太人仍然在虔诚地研读他们的作品和手稿。”这些假弥赛亚的领袖是沙巴泰·泽维，他于 1626 年出生于士每拿。阿德勒说：“沙巴泰·泽维的奇遇在西欧引起了巨大的震动。”他最终叛教改信伊斯兰教；尽管如此，他还是有很多追随者，萨罗尼加的东马派仍然是他的信徒。另一个自称为弥赛亚的人是波多里亚的雅各·弗兰克，他于 1755 年自称为“圣洁的主”，并称在他里面的弥赛亚之灵就是在大卫、以利亚、耶稣、穆罕默德、沙巴泰·泽维和他的追随者里面的弥赛亚之灵。18 世纪的犹太文学中充斥着与沙巴泰主义有关的争议之作。参：G. Scholem, Major Trends in Jewish Mysticism (1961 年再版)。

I. Name.-This work formed at first one book with the Hebrew title dibrê hayyāmîm, literally “the events of the days,” used in the sense of a chronicle of events, much like a book of daily records (cf. 1 Ch. 27:24). Jerome suggested in Prologus Galaetus (PL, XXVIII, 554) that a more representative title would be chronicon totius divinae historiae, or “Chronicle of the whole divine history.” Luther took from Jerome the title Chronicles, and henceforth this has always been used in Protestant Bibles. The LXX calls it Paraleipomena, i.e., “things passed over” or “things omitted,” implying, as Theodoret explains, that the author of Chronicles put together “whatever the compiler of 1–2 Kings has passed over.” The LXX divides it into two books, a division which was taken over in other versions and has since 1448 come also into Hebrew MSS.

II. Relationship to Ezra-Nehemiah.-It is common to speak today of the Chronicler who produced a historical work comparable to the so-called Deuteronomic history. It is rather widely accepted in current scholarship that Ezra-Nehemiah forms a continuation of Chronicles. In support of the unity of these books is the fact that 2 Chronicles

I. 名称。最初成书时，这本书的希伯来语书名是 dibrê hayyāmîm，字面意思是“那些日子的事件”，也就是事件的年代记，它很像是一本记录日常事件的书籍（参：代上 27:24）。耶柔米在 Prologus Galaetus (PL, XXVIII, 554) 中提到，这本书更合适的书名应该是 chronicon totius divinae historiae 或“完整神圣历史的年代记”。路德接受了耶柔米提出的“历代志”这个名称，自此以后，“历代志”始终是新教《圣经》中一卷书的书名。《七十士译本》将这个书名译为 Paraleipomena，也就是“忽略之事”或“省略之事”，根据狄奥多田的解释，这表明《历代志》的作者整理了“《列王纪上》和《列王纪下》编者忽略的事件”。《七十士译本》将这本书分为两卷，其他版本的《圣经》也接受了这种划分，自 1448 年以后，希伯来原稿也将这本书分成两卷书。

II. 与《以斯拉记》和《尼希米记》的关系。今天通常认为历代志作者创作了一部可以与所谓的《申命记》历史相媲美的历史书。当代学者普遍认为《以斯拉记》和《尼希米记》是《历代志》的续篇。《历代志下》以居鲁士（《圣经》中的“居鲁士”）的法令结篇，而《以斯拉记》以居鲁士的法令开篇（《历代志下》36:22-23 与《以斯拉记》1:1-2 是 closes with the decree of Cyrus with which Ezra begins (2 Ch. 36:22f. = Ezr. 1:1f.). This repetition is the connecting link between the two sections of the Chronicler's work and can be removed neither from 2 Chronicles, for it forms the needed completion of 2 Ch. 32:21, nor from Ezra, for this would render the following verses meaningless. The vocabulary, syntax, and usage of prepositions support common authorship, as does the method by which quotations from the Pentateuch are employed. The way in which canonical and noncanonical sources are used is also strikingly similar. The position and work of the Levites are depicted in the same style and with virtually the same words and the same diligence, and both books are equally interested in genealogies and other lists. Both works manifest a central emphasis on Jerusalem and its cult, on God's law, on the "all Israel" concept, and on the theocracy.

There are scholars who emphasize certain differences between Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah or certain sections in each (so, recently, Freedman, Japhet) which they believe preclude common authorship. While certain differences are to be expected, the overwhelming amount of similarity between these works in linguistic peculiarities, literary mannerism, historical outlook, and theological emphasis supports the conclusion that the Chronicler is responsible for both works and that they form an essential unity (see IX below).

III. Place in Canon.-The work of the Chronicler stands last in the third division or Kethubim (Writings) of the Hebrew canon. In the present Hebrew canonical order Ezra-Nehemiah appears before 1 Chronicles. It has been suggested that the separation of Ezra-Nehemiah from Chronicles may have resulted from using Ezra-Nehemiah as a supplement to the story that ends in 2 Kings (cf. Denter, Pfeiffer, Katz, Myers). The LXX has Chronicles followed by both 1 Esdras (apocryphal) and 2 Esdras (or Ezra-Nehemiah). Both Jerome and Luther adopted the LXX order, which has been preserved in the English versions with the exclusion of the apocryphal 1 Esdras. Since the LXX preserved the natural sequence of Chronicles before Ezra-Nehemiah, it has been suggested that the Chronicler's history was accepted as a whole into the canon as known in Alexandria, perhaps even before Jerusalem accepted a part of it (North, comm., p. 404; cf. Sundberg, pp. 51-79). But there is no certainty on this matter.

平行经文), 这一事实证明这些作品构成了一个整体。这段重复的经文成为连接这部年代记作品两部分的纽带, 不能从《历代志下》中删除这段经文, 因为它使《历代志下》32:21 变得完整, 也不能从《以斯拉记》中删除这段经文, 否则后面的经文就失去了意义。两卷书的词汇、语法和介词的用法都证明它们是由同一个作者创作的, 同时两卷书还以同样的方法引用了摩西五经中的经文。两卷书使用正典资料和非正典资料的方式都惊人地相似。它们以相同的风格、几乎完全相同的词汇和相同的谨慎程度描述了利未人的地位和工作, 它们都很关注宗谱和其他列表。这两部作品都重点描述了耶路撒冷、耶路撒冷的祭祀、神的律法、“全以色列”概念和神权政治。

III. 在正典中的地位。《历代志》在希伯来正典的第三分类或圣卷中处于最后位置。根据现在希伯来正典的排序, 《以斯拉记》与《尼希米记》在《历代

IV. Text.-On the basis of the MS evidence from an earlier period of research, the traditional critical opinion of the Chronicler's respect for the text of his Vorlage (source document) is provided by R. H. Pfeiffer: "In general the Chronicler modified our canonical sources with complete freedom to suit his ideas" (IDB, I, 578). It was assumed that the text of the Chronicler's canonical Vorlage was identical with that of our present MT. As a result of the study of the synoptic parallels between Chronicles and 1 Samuel-2 Kings the Chronicler was credited with tampering with the text of his Vorlage. "The Chronicler rewrote, edited, shortened, expanded, and arbitrarily changed the passages [of his Vorlage] ..." (IDB, I, 579) in order to suit his theological purposes and tendentious aims. The study of MSS discovered at

IV. 经文。根据早期研究中的原稿证据，法伊弗（R. H. Pfeiffer）对历代志作者尊重原稿内容的观点进行了传统评判：“一般来说，历代志作者为了表达他的观点随意修改了正典原资料”（IDB, I, 578）。他认为历代志作者使用的正典原稿中的经文与现在《马所拉文本》中的经文相同。他通过研究《历代志》、《撒母耳记上》和《列王纪下》中的平行经文，认为历代志作者篡改了原稿中的经文。历代志作者为了满足他的神学目的和阐述他的偏见，“重写、编辑、缩减、扩充和随意修改了[原稿中的]经文段落……”（IDB, I, 579）。然而，昆兰原稿研究已经证明，现在需要大规模地修正这些结论。下面的讨论将阐明目前研究的现状。

Qumrân, however, has demonstrated that these conclusions are now in need of wholesale revision. The following discussion will indicate the present state of research.

The first nine chapters of 1 Chronicles are known to rely heavily on the Pentateuch. Whereas it was earlier assumed that the parallels between 1 Ch. 1–9 and the Pentateuch reflected a proto-MT from which the Chronicler diverged at will, it has now been demonstrated that there is a marked resemblance and correspondence in linguistic features (names, use of waw, syndetic construction, plene spellings, “pseudo-cohortative” forms, preference for 'el against 'al, change of collective forms into plural, Aramaizing tendencies), actual composition, arrangement of material, and form of narrative between 1 Ch. 1–9 and the Samaritan Pentateuch and respective Greek MSS, both of which belong to the Palestinian text-type (Cross, pp. 292–97; cf. IEJ, 16 [1966], 81–95; Waltke, pp. 232–34). This evidence indicates that the bulk of the textual differences between 1 Ch. 1–9 and the parallels of the Masoretic Pentateuch is due to the Vorlage utilized by the Chronicler, which belongs to the Palestinian text family. Thus, the Chronicler did not rewrite, edit, shorten, expand, and arbitrarily change the text of his Vorlage, but rather followed quite faithfully the text-type upon which he relied, one that already contained these peculiar features.

It is known that from 1 Ch. 10 onward there are extensive synoptic parallels between the Chronicler's work and Samuel-Kings. Studies of these synoptic parallels have in the past led scholars to credit the Chronicler with many tendentious or theologically motivated deviations, whenever the two histories diverge from each other (cf. Noth, pp. 110–180; Brunet, RB; Botterweck, Theologische Quartalschrift, 136 [1956], 402–432). The DSS indicate the necessity for a drastic revision of these views also.

The respective passages in Chronicles that are synoptic with Samuel have been investigated in the light of all MSS from Qumrân and especially the important Samuel scrolls (4QSam^a, 4QSam^b, 4QSam^c) and the pertinent LXX texts. These studies have demonstrated clearly that the scrolls are widely at variance with the MT and belong to a Palestinian text family to which Chronicles bears close resemblance (Cross, pp. 292f.). On this basis it has been shown that the Chronicler's textual Vorlage was not a proto-MT but rather a Palestinian textual recension (Lemke) on which the Old Greek also is based (Klein, Allen, Shenkel). The archaic Samuel MS (4QSam^a) proves that where Chronicles corresponds to 1 S. 1:1–2 S. 11:1, the text of Chronicles agrees with the Palestinian text-type and not with the MT. The implications of this evidence have a direct bearing both on the Chronicler's handling of his canonical sources and on the date of the composition of Chronicles (see IX below).

These developments in modern research objectively establish that the Chronicler can no longer be charged with violent and wilful distortion of his canonical sources. They prove that the present text of Chronicles is not the result of a deliberate attempt at modernization, nor does it reflect tendentious and theologically motivated changes in the bulk of the synoptic parallels, but it reflects as faithfully as textual history can expect the text-type of its Vorlage. It must be noted that this new situation also has a direct bearing on the evaluation of the Chronicler's history and theology.

V. Sources.—There is sufficient evidence to demonstrate that the Chronicler used both canonical and noncanonical sources in the writing of his history.

A. Canonical Sources. The Chronicler never refers explicitly to canonical sources under titles known to us. But on the basis of comparative studies it has been estimated that about half of Chronicles consists of either quotations of, or clear references to, other canonical accounts (Curtis and Madsen, pp. 17–19). New evidence from the Qumrân scrolls indicates that the Chronicler was very faithful in his usage of these canonical sources (see IV above). It seems certain that he made use of the completed Pentateuch (Sundberg, p. 38 n. 27) and the books of Samuel-Kings. The book of Judges is used in 2 Ch. 15:2ff. (Rudolph, p. xii). The description of the fall of Jerusalem (2 Ch. 36) is dependent on Jeremiah. A quotation of Isa. 7:9 appears in 2 Ch. 20:20; one from Zec. 4:10 in 2 Ch. 16:9. There are references to various prophetic words in 2 Ch. 15:5–7. 2 Ch. 6:41f. quotes Ps. 132:8ff. and a combination of Psalms appears in 1 Ch. 16:8–36. A reference to Lamentations appears in 2 Ch. 35:25. 1 Ch. 2:9–17 uses the genealogy from Ruth 4:18–22.

B. Noncanonical Sources. The Chronicler refers explicitly to a great number of

V. 资料来源。充分的证据已经证明，历代志作者在记录历史时同时使用了正典资料和非正典资料。

A. 正典资料。历代志作者从未明确提到我们知道名称的正典资料。但根据比较研究，据估计，《历代志》大约一半的内容引用或明显参考了其他的正典资料（Curtis 和 Madsen, 17–19 页）。昆兰古卷的新证据表明，历代志作者在使用这些正典资料时非常忠实于原文（见上文 IV）。他似乎使用了整部《摩西五经》（Sundberg, 38 页，注释 27）和《撒母耳记》与《列王纪》。《历代志下》15:2 起引用了《士师记》中的内容（Rudolph, xii 页）。关于耶路撒冷陷落的描述（代下 36）源于《耶利米书》。《历代志下》20:20 似乎引用了《以赛亚书》7:9 中的经文；《历代志下》16:9 引用了《撒迦利亚书》4:10 中的经文。《历代志下》15:5–7 和 6:41–42 中的大量预言引自《诗篇》132:8 之后的经文，《历代志下》16:8–36 引用了多篇《诗篇》。《历代志下》35:25 参照了《耶利米哀歌》中的经文。《历代志上》2:9–17 使用了《路得记》4:18–22 中的家谱。

B. 非正典资料。历代志作者显然引用了大量其他资料，从本质上看，这些资

other sources, which are reliable in all essentials (Bea, pp. 46–58).

The official records of kings are referred to: “The Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah” (2 Ch. 27:7; 25:27; 36:8; cf. 1 Ch. 9:1); “The Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel” (2 Ch. 16:11; 25:26; 28:26; 32:32); “The Chronicles of King David” (1 Ch. 27:24); “The Book of the Kings of Israel” (1 Ch. 9:1; 2 Ch. 20:34); “The Chronicles of the Kings of Israel” (2 Ch. 33:18); “The Commentary [midrash] on the Book of the Kings” (2 Ch. 24:27); “The Directions of David King of Israel and the Directions of Solomon His Son” (2 Ch. 35:4). It is widely but not universally assumed that these titles refer to the same single work. However, since all the notices of sources that occur in the Kings parallels refer to a single title, the “Chronicle of the Acts of the Kings of Judah” (1 K. 14:29; 15:7, 23; 22:45; 2 K. 14:18; 15:6, 36; 16:19; 20:20; 21:17; 23:28; 24:5), the variety of titles in the records enumerated above seems to suggest a variety of sources.

There are also official genealogies. A number of them are expressly noted (1 Ch. 4:33; 5:17; 7:9, 40; 9:1, 22; 2 Ch. 12:15). The Chronicler was doubtless in possession of these genealogical lists and records, and took most of them (1 Ch. 1–9) from the Pentateuch.

The Chronicler also made use of a whole series of prophetic records. Those referred to by name are from “Samuel the seer,” “Nathan the prophet” and “Gad the seer” (1 Ch. 29:29), “Ahijah the Shilonite” (2 Ch. 9:29), “Iddo the seer” (2 Ch. 9:29; 12:15; 13:22), “Shemaiah the prophet” (12:15), and “Jehu ben Hanani”

《历代志》提到了列王的“官方记录”：“以色列和犹大列王记”（代下 27:7; 25:27; 36:8; 参：代上 9:1）、“犹大和以色列诸王记”（代下 16:11; 25:26; 28:26; 32:32）、“大卫王记”（代上 27:24）、“以色列诸王记”（代上 9:1; 代下 20:34）、“以色列诸王记”（代下 33:18）、“列王的传”（代下 24:27）和“以色列王大卫和他儿子所罗门所写的”（代下 35:4）。学者们普遍认为，但并不是每个学者都认为这些名称指的是同一部作品。不过，因为《列王纪》的所有资料来源说明中只提到一个名称“犹大列王记”（王上 14:29; 15:7, 23; 22:45; 王下 14:18; 15:6, 36; 16:19; 20:20; 21:17; 23:28; 24:5），所以上文提到的多个名称似乎指的是多种资料来源。

《历代志》中还使用了“官方家谱”。本卷经文明确提到了大量家谱（代上 4:33; 5:17; 7:9, 40; 9:1, 22; 代下 12:15）。历代志作者一定保存有这些家谱列表和记录，大多数家谱引自《摩西五经》（代上 1–9）。

历代志作者还使用了一系列的“预言资料”。这些提到名称的“预言资料”分别来自于“先知撒母耳”、“先知拿单并先知迦得”（代上 29:29）、“示罗人亚希雅”（代下 9:29）、“先知易多”（代下 9:29; 12:15; 13:22）、“先知示玛雅”（代下 12:15）和“哈拿尼的儿子耶户”（代下 20:34）。先知何赛还记录了玛拿西的事

(20:34). For Manasseh there were the records of the seers of Hozai (2 Ch. 33:19). In addition, there are two references to Isaiah (26:22; 32:32). These records were undoubtedly written documents. “The language of the author is too definite to assume otherwise” (Myers, p. xlvii). Thus the Chronicler had access to royal annals, temple records, lists, genealogies, and liturgical materials as well as documents drawn up by men holding the prophetic office.

C. Use of Sources. Extraordinary divergence of opinion exists among scholars with regard to the use of sources by the Chronicler. The hypothesis of a common source used by both Samuel-Kings and Chronicles (Rothstein and Hänel, Goettsberger, Rehm) may be safely disregarded on the basis of the new understanding of textual families (see IV). There is an increasing amount of evidence suggesting that the Chronicler had a deep reverence for the sources upon which he drew. It is now certain that the TR of Samuel-Kings that we have in our Hebrew Bible is not identical with the source the Chronicler used. It has been shown that in the 12 chapters of 1 Chronicles (chs. 10–21) that have synoptic parallels in 1 Samuel, there are nearly a hundred instances in which the LXX of 1 Samuel agrees with 1 Chronicles against the MT of 1 Samuel (Lemke). Furthermore, the Chronicler is invariably supported by the LXX in those passages paralleled in 4QSam^a where he deviates from the MT. Moreover, sources for which there is presently no extrabiblical literary evidence, such as were drawn from the temple archives, can be shown to be authentic on the basis of archeological discoveries and topographical studies (Richardson, Ehrlich, Myers). It is safe to suppose, therefore, that the Chronicler made careful use of his sources.

*C. 资料的使用。*关于历代志作者使用的资料，学者们的意见存在着巨大的分歧。根据对文本类型的最新认识(见 IV)，完全可以忽略《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》与《历代志》使用了相同的资料的假设(Rothstein、Hänel、Goettsberger 和 Rehm)。越来越多的证据表明，历代志作者非常尊重他所使用的资料。现在可以肯定，《希伯来圣经》《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》的“公认经文”与历代志作者使用的资料不同。《历代志上》有 12 章可以在《撒母耳记上》中找到大意相同的平行经文，有证据证明在这 12 章(第 10 章至 21 章)中，其中有接近 100 处经文与《七十士译本》的《撒母耳记上》的经文一致，却与《马所拉文本》的《撒母耳记上》的经文不一致(Lemke)。而且，在那些与《撒母耳记抄本》表述一致，却偏离《马所拉文本》描述的经文段落中，历代志作者总是得到《七十士译本》的支持。此外，根据考古发现和地理学研究，那些现在尚且得不到《圣经》之外文献证明的资料是真实可靠的(Richardson、Ehrlich 和 Myers)。因此可以大胆地说，历代志作者谨慎地使用了他的资料。

VI. Historical Reliability.-The question of the historical accuracy, reliability, and value of Chronicles, or the total work of the Chronicler (1 Chronicles-Nehemiah), has been answered in many contradictory ways. Some scholars have supposed that the Chronicler was a writer with a clear disregard for historical accuracy, displaying vivid imagination and graphic convictions by composing freely, without any guidance (PIOT, pp. 805f.; IDB, I, 579). The material of Chronicles not derived from Samuel-Kings, they claim, “was all freely composed” (Torrey, p. 231) and “is not to be trusted” (T. H. Robinson, History of Israel [1932], p. 424 n. 2). These assessments of the Chronicler’s historical reliability are in need of drastic revision (see IV above).

The historical reliability of the Chronicler in those passages for which there are no parallels in Samuel-Kings can be assessed on the basis of archeological finds and related studies. A number of personal names, place names, geographical names from 1 Ch. 1-9 find their historical support from Egyptian inscriptions (Mazar, SVT, 4 [1957], 65f.) and other epigraphic materials. The emphasis on the Levites and their functions in 1 Ch. 15f. have the ring of historical authenticity (ARI, pp. 119-125). Ahijah’s war with Israel is historical (Noth, p. 142). Pharaoh Shishak’s campaign to Palestine, reported in 2 Ch. 12:2-16, is supported by his own inscriptions (ANET, pp. 242f., 263f.; Mazar, SVT, 4 [1957], 57-65) and by the archeological evidence of destruction levels in Megiddo, Shechem, Debir, Beth-shan, Beth-shemesh, Lachish, Arad, and other sites. King Asa's victory over Cushite and Bedouin forces (2 Ch. 14:9-15) reflects the actual circumstances of the times (ARI, pp. 152-56). Jehoshaphat's building activity in the Judean Buqe'ah is amply demonstrated by archeological discoveries (Cross and Milik, BASOR, 142 [Apr. 1956], 5-17). The conflict between the Judeans and the combined Moabite-Ammonite forces described in 2 Ch. 20:23 is historically sound (Noth, ZDPV, 67 [1944/45], 45-71; Rudolph, pp. 258f.). The mass of information of 2 Ch. 24 not found in Kings is amply supported by archeology (R. de Vaux, RB, 63 [1956], 535f.; Aharoni, IEJ, 8 [1958], 10f.; Cross, BASOR, 205 [Feb. 1972], 36-42). The Babylonian Chronicle and the excavations of Megiddo support the historical reliability of 2 Ch. 35:20ff. (cf. CCK, pp. 18ff.).

VI. 历史可靠性。关于《历代志》或历代志作者的全部作品（从《历代志上》至《尼希米记》）的历史准确性、可靠性和价值的问题，许多学者做出了相互对立的回答。有些学者认为历代志作者显然是一个忽视历史准确性的作家，他自由创作，不接受任何的指导，展现出生动的想象和形象的遐想（PIOT, 805-806 页；IDB, I, 579）。他们说，《历代志》的资料不来自于《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》，“全都是随意编造的”（Torrey, 231 页），因此“是不可信的”（T. H. Robinson, History of Israel [1932], 424 页，注释 2）。必须彻底改变这些对《历代志》历史可靠性的评价（见上文 IV）。

可以根据考古发现和相关的研究来评价那些在《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》中找不到平行经文的《历代志》经文段落。埃及的碑文（Mazar, SVT, 4 [1957], 65-66）和其他铭文资料从历史角度证明了《历代志上》1-9 中大量人名、地名和地理名称的真实性。《历代志上》15 至 16 章着重描述了利未人和他们的职分，这些描述具有历史真实性（ARI, 119-125 页）。亚希雅与以色列的战争是符合史实的（Noth, 142 页）。《历代志下》12:2-16 提到法老示撒曾远征巴勒斯坦，示撒的碑文（ANET, 242-243 页，263-264 页；Mazar, SVT, 4 [1957], 57-65）以及米吉多、示剑、底璧、伯珊、伯示麦、拉吉、亚拉得和其他遗址被毁地层的考古证据都证明了这一点。亚撒王打败了古实人和贝多因人的军队（代下 14:9-15），这一描述体现出了当时的

On the basis of these and other examples the respect for the historical reliability and accuracy of the Chronicler has been notably enhanced. Myers assesses the situation as follows: "Within the limits of its purpose, the Chronicler's story is accurate wherever it can be checked" (comm., p. lxiii). If the reports of the Chronicler are from ancient and reliable biblical and extrabiblical sources, which are supported in their accuracy wherever they can be checked, then there is every likelihood that the remaining reports are similarly derived, and that the contrary must not be assumed but requires proof, which is not forthcoming.

A special problem relates to the unusually

实际情况 (ARI, 152-156 页)。考古发现充分证明了约沙法在犹大布克亚 (Buqe'ah) 的建造活动 (Cross 和 Milik, BASOR, 142 [1956 年四月], 5-17)。《历代志下》20:23 对犹太人与摩押和亚扪联军争战的描述是符合史实的 (Noth, ZDPV, 67 [1944/1945], 45-71; Rudolph, 258-259 页)。虽然《列王纪》中没有记录《历代志下》第 24 章给出的大量信息, 但考古证据充分证明了这些信息的真实性 (R. de Vaux, RB, 63 [1956], 535-536; Aharoni, IEJ, 8 [1958], 10-11; Cross, BASOR, 205 [1972 年二月], 36-42)。巴比伦年代志和米吉多考古发掘证明了《历代志下》35:20 之后描述的历史可靠性 (参: CCK, 18 页起)。

基于这些例子和其他的例子, 学者们对历代志作者的历史可靠性和准确性的信任程度显著提高。迈尔斯对这个情况作出了这样的评价: "从创作目的来看, 历代志作者的所有有据可查的描述都是准确的" (注释, lxiii 页)。如果历代志作者的描述源于古代《圣经》和可靠经外文献, 而且所有这些记录都被证明是准确的, 那么其他的记录很有可能也源自于《圣经》和经外文献, 因此如果没有现成的证据, 一定不能做出相反的假设。

high numbers found in Chronicles, which have made the Chronicler's work suspect. At times the Chronicler has the smaller number. 2 Ch. 9:25 reads "4,000" stalls while 1 K. 4:26 reads "40,000." Often such differences can be explained on the basis of various types of textual corruption (Driver, Textus, 1 [1960], 125ff.; 4 [1964], 82f.; Wenham, pp. 21-24). The census of David showed that there were in Israel 800,000 that drew sword and in Judah 500,000 men (2 S. 24:9). The parallel in 1 Ch. 21:5 gives the figures as 1,100,000 and 470,000 respectively. The lower total in 2 S. leaves 1,300,000 men of military age, which would imply a population of about five million for Palestine, or nearly double the population per square mile of the most densely populated countries of modern Europe. It is to be noted that the difference between 2 Samuel and 1 Chronicles is in one case 300,000 and in the other 30,000. Wenham (presupposing a different form of notation used as some time before Masoretic standardization) has suggested that a coalescing of two figures is here evident and that in transcription extra zeros have been added. It has thus been postulated that Israel numbered 80,000 + 30 'allûpîm and Judah 40,000 + 70 'allûpîm (Wenham, p. 33), accounting for the MT of both 2 Samuel and 1 Chronicles. Much depends on the meaning of the word 'elep, which is traditionally translated "thousand." It is important to note that most of the very large numbers that cause difficulty are in thousands. It has been suggested that aside from its numerical meaning of 1000 this word can mean a social unit, such as "family," "clan," "tent group," or a military unit, such as a "company" (Mendenhall, JBL, 77 [1958], 52-66), or that it has individual meanings such as “chieftain” (1 Ch. 1:51–54), captain over a 1000 troops, commander of a company, professional soldier, and officer (cf. R. E. D. Clark, Journal of the Transactions of the Victoria Institute, 87 [1955], 82ff.; Wenham, pp. 19–53). The problem of large numbers is not confined to Chronicles, but seems characteristic of Hebrew historiography. Recent studies have provided important new insights that aid in solving the vexing problem of numbers in the OT.

VII. Literary Genre.—A common procedure in analyzing the nature of the Chronicler’s type of literature is to investigate how he selects from, omits, modifies, and adds to, the canonical sources (Brunet, Rehm, Noth, etc.). On this basis it has been claimed that the Chronicler tampered with his canonical sources through conscious suppression, deliberate change, and unwarranted addition in order to make the stories conform with his views, purposes, and aims. It has therefore become customary among some scholars to follow Wellhausen’s negative assessment and to designate the work of the Chronicler as a midrash. But since the Chronicler relied upon a text-type different from the MT, the customary criteria no longer warrant such a definition of the literary genre. The vast majority of some 177 points of contact between Samuel-Kings and Chronicles are now to be ruled out for this kind of evaluation (Lemke).

The literary work of the Chronicler is to be classified as history. This is evident from those sections where the Chronicler has additional historical information (see V and VI above). His history is essentially trustworthy and seeks to supplement Samuel-Kings. Of course, the Chronicler's history must be understood in the context of the OT and the ancient Near East, and cannot be studied within the canons of classical historiography (Herodotus, Thucydides), much less those of the modern historian as laid down by von Ranke, Mommsen, etc. Today's historians are becoming aware that ultimately no history is conceived or valued as an expression of naked facts, but rather as an expression of the total reality of fact and meaning. What the reader of the history of the Chronicler needs is sensitivity to the method of writing history in biblical times together with some knowledge of the milieu in which the work came into existence, the need which it was intended to fill, and the audience to which it was addressed. The Chronicler's historical work—like the other historical books of the OT—is written with the intention of showing God's action in the history of His people from Adam to Cyrus' decree ending the Exile. This work was not written to convey all aspects of Israel's historical past, but rather to emphasize those points of past history that needed special attention in view of the religious, political, and social situation of the Chronicler's time, in order to maintain and further the theocracy and to encourage and foster faith.

题，似乎也是希伯来历史编纂学的一大特征。最近的研究提出了一些重要的新发现，这些新发现有助于解决《旧约》中令人苦恼的数字问题。

VII. 文学体裁。分析历代志作者的文体基本特征的一个共同步骤是研究他如何筛选、删除、修改和添加正典资料 (Brunet、Rehm、Noth 等)。有些学者据此认为，历代志作者通过有意识的删减、故意的改动和无根据的添加篡改了他的正典资料，从而使这些记录符合他的观点、目的和目标。因此，一些学者习惯上遵循威尔豪森的负面评价，认为历代志作者的作品属于“米大示”（犹太法学博士的圣经注释）。不过，因为历代志作者所依赖的文本类型不同于《马所拉文本》的文本类型，通常标准已不能够界定这一文学体裁的定义。为了进行这种评价，现已排除了《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》与《历代志》之间 177 个联系点中的绝大多数联系点 (Lemke)。

VIII. Content and Purpose.—The book of Chronicles, which is the only book in Scripture covering a span of time from Adam to the returned exiles, is naturally divided into four parts. The first part (1 Ch. 1–9) is made up of various genealogies and lists that set the stage for the appearance of David and his dynasty.

VIII. 内容和创作目的。《历代志》是《圣经》中唯一一部记录了从亚当至被掳归回历史的作品，这部作品理应分成四部分。第一部分（代上 1-9）由很多家谱和列表组成，这些家谱和列表为大卫和大卫王朝的出现做了铺垫。这部分内容证明以色列人是上帝选民的直系后裔，也表明以色列人是上帝救赎世界计划

It legitimizes the Israelites as the lineal descendants of the chosen people of God and indicates that they are the center of God's plan of salvation for the world with other peoples or tribes being grafted into those chosen by God. Judah and his descendants come first in the genealogical history (2:3-4:23; cf. 5:1f.). Special attention is also given to Levi (ch. 6).

The second part (1 Ch. 10-29) opens with a short account of Saul's death (ch. 10) and deals with the central figure of the Chronicler's history, David, the ideal ruler of God's people (chs. 11-29). After David's capture of Jerusalem and the building up of his army (chs. 11f.) comes the detailed report of the bringing of the ark to Jerusalem (chs. 13-16). David is depicted as the organizer of elaborate temple services and staff (chs. 21-28). This is followed by a brief evaluation of David's reign (ch. 29).

The third part is devoted to the activities of Solomon (2 Ch. 1-9). Though his reign was more magnificent than his father's, he finished what his father had started and thus stands in the shadow of David. He prayed for special wisdom (ch. 1) and proceeded to prepare for the building of the temple (ch. 2). The plans for the temple (ch. 3), provisions for its equipment (ch. 4), and the dedication follow (chs. 5f.), with a divine admonition (ch. 7). The remainder of this part (chs. 8f.) deals with the various activities of Solomon. Solomon reflects wisdom and piety in his own right, though he carried out the directions of his father David. The unusual emphasis on temple, cult, and its functionaries clearly indicates the theocratic interest of the Chronicler, which was to have a significant role in postexilic times.

其他的民族或宗族藉着以色列人被神拣选。犹大和他的子孙在家谱历史记录中排在前面(代上 2:3-4:23; 参:代上 5:1-2)。另外,还特别关注了利未人(代上 6)。

第二部分(代上 10-29)以对扫罗死亡的简短描述开篇(代上 10),作者主要记录了上帝子民的理想统治者大卫的历史(代上 11-29)。作者描述完大卫占领耶路撒冷和建立军队之后(代上 11-12),详细地记载了约柜被送回耶路撒冷的历史(代上 13-16)。大卫被描述成精心筹建圣殿的组织者(代上 21-28)。《历代志上》第 29 章对大卫的统治作了简短的评价。

第三部分着力描述了所罗门的活动(代下 1-9)。虽然所罗门在位时期取得的成就超过了他的父亲,但他只是完成了他父亲开创的事业,因此他活在大卫的影子里。所罗门求神赐给他特殊的智慧(代下 1),并继续为建造圣殿作准备(代下 2)。作者描述完建造圣殿的计划(代下 3)、建造圣殿的设备(代下 4)和献殿(代下 5-6)之后,给出了神的告诫(代下 7)。这部分的其余章节(代下 8-9)描述了所罗门的各种活动。虽然所罗门执行了他的父亲大卫的指示,但他也展现出自己的智慧和虔诚。作者着力描述了圣殿、祭仪和祭仪中的神职人员,这显然表明作者很关注神权政治,神权政治在被掳归回之后发挥了重要作用。

The last part (2 Ch. 10–36) gives a description of the division of the kingdom (ch. 10), which is followed by an account of the reigns of the kings, almost exclusively of Judah (11:1–36:22). The reports about Jehoshaphat (17:1–21:1), Hezekiah (chs. 29–32), and Josiah (chs. 34f) receive much more attention than in the parallel accounts of Kings, because of the religious reforms of these kings. The reigns of the other kings are passed over quickly. 2 Chronicles ends with the destruction of Jerusalem (586 B.C.), but closes with the hopeful note (36:22f.) of the release of the captive Jews in Babylon by the benevolent Cyrus (ca. 537 B.C.).

Undoubtedly the Chronicler had in view a purpose that grew out of the new historical situation of the postexilic community; the earlier canonical histories of his people did not speak to this situation. The intent and purpose of the Chronicler was not to write a comprehensive history of God's people by gathering together what his predecessors had not covered. He was selective in the material chosen and utilized that which best met the needs of his times and future generations. It is obvious that the Chronicler accepted the Deuteronomic theology of history, in which the doctrine of retribution has a variety of expressions. The genealogies (1 Ch. 1–9) list the families of David and Judah before those of the tribes that made up the rebellious northern kingdom. This indicates that the Chronicler was supremely interested in the realization of the theocracy among God's people. When they heeded the divine word, they prospered; when they neglected it, they met disaster (1 Ch. 10:13; 2 Ch. 14:5f.). The words of Jehoshaphat express this conviction: "Believe in the Lord your God, and you will be established; believe his prophets, and you will succeed" (2 Ch. 20:20). The fact that of 822 verses in 2 Chronicles, 480 deal with four pious kings (Solomon, chs. 1-9; Jehoshaphat, chs. 17-21; Hezekiah, chs. 29-32; Josiah, chs. 34f.) and 342 with seventeen others, shows that the emphasis is placed on those characteristics that bring God's blessing. Obedience to God's will and law was the duty of His people and the prerequisite for prosperity; disobedience could be expected to lead to disaster and ruin. An essential part of the people's faithfulness to God was manifested in their worship at the central sanctuary in Jerusalem, which was God's unique dwelling place. In line with his theocratic ideals, the Chronicler placed great emphasis on religious activities.

最后一部分（代下 10-36）描述了王国分裂（代下 10），作者叙述完王国分裂之后，几乎只描述了犹大诸王的统治（代下 11:1–36:22）。与对于其他国王的描述相比，作者对约沙法（代下 17:1–21:1）、希西家（代下 29–32）和约西亚（代下 34-35）的描述更为引人注目，因为这些国王进行了宗教改革。其他国王的统治被一笔带过。《历代志下》以耶路撒冷失陷（公元前 586 年）结篇，同时留下了希望，那就是仁慈的居鲁士（约公元前 537 年）将释放被掳巴比伦的犹太人（代下 36:22-23）。

Whereas the Davidic dynasty and the temple were major features of the Chronicler's purpose, it had to be recognized that the people of God could engage in proper worship only if they had repented of their sins and found forgiveness from their merciful God (2 Ch. 7:14; 33:11-13). The Chronicler attempted to call his people to a wholehearted return to God, so that they could experience the happiness and peace that would come through the favor of God. Their God would give peace and relief from war (1 Ch. 22:8; 2 Ch. 14:6); if they were attacked, He would protect them (2 Ch. 20:1-30). The Chronicler's ideal for his people was peace. As his people turned to their God and as other nations followed, peace would reign

尽管大卫王朝和圣殿是历代志作者理想的主要特征，但还必须承认，只有当上帝的子民悔罪并得到仁慈的神的宽恕时，他们才能恰当地敬拜神（代下 7:14；33:11-13）。历代志作者试着号召百姓全心全意地追随神，从而使他们可以得到神恩赐的幸福和平安。他们的神可以让他们摆脱战争，获得和平（代上 22:8；代下 14:6）；如果他们受到攻击，神将保护他们（代下 20:1-30）。作者希望他的百姓获得和平。当他们归向神时，当其他民族也效法他们的时候，他们就会获得和平。 among them.

It is evident that the Chronicler's stress of certain motifs is aimed at guiding the Israelite community of his day. He focuses on major leaders, events, and institutions of the past to draw lessons to guide God's true people in their decisions in the present and the future.

IX. Date and Authorship.-There is ample internal evidence to support the thesis that the Chronicler was responsible for both Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah (see II above). Thus in the matter of the date we must keep all four books in focus. This discussion, however, will stress only those matters that concern more directly the date of Chronicles. There has been sharp disagreement among scholars about the date of this work. Many have placed it in the Greek period either after 160 B.C. or ca. 200 B.C. (Pfeiffer, Torrey, Goettsberger, Noordtzi, Noth, Cazelles, etc.). A date near 300 B.C. or slightly earlier is asserted by others (R. Kittel, Curtis, de Vaux, van den Born, Herbert, Galling, Michaeli, etc.) on the basis that a later date is impossible because of the complete silence about the hellenizing of Judaism after Alexander the Great. Arguments for the late dating of Chronicles (and Ezra-Nehemiah) have been undermined by linguistic, archeological, and textual-critical evidence. Arguments for a late date based on so-called Greek loanwords (Torrey) had to be discarded, because it was shown that they were of Persian origin (Albright). The Aramaic of the Elephantine papyri, the ritual texts from Persepolis, and other finds have proven that the Aramaic sections of the Chronicler's work belong to Imperial

IX. 创作日期和作者。有充分的内部证据可以证明历代志作者编写了《历代志》《以斯拉记》和《尼希米记》(见上文 II)。因此就创作日期而论，我们必须关注这四卷书。不过，本次讨论仅会关注那些与《历代志》的创作日期更为直接相关的问题。关于这部作品的创作日期，学者们存在巨大的分歧。许多学者认为这部作品成书于希腊时期，也就是公元前 160 年之后或者约公元前 200 年 (Pfeiffer、Torrey、Goettsberger、Noordtzi、Noth、Cazelles 等)。其他学者则认为这部作品约创作于公元前 300 年或稍早些时候 (R. Kittel、Curtis、de Vaux、van den Born、Herbert、Galling、Michaeli 等)，因为亚历山大大帝之后再未出现过犹太教希腊化，所以《历代志》不可能创作于公元前 300 年之后。语言学、考古学和经文考证证据都从根本上否定了《历代志》(和《以斯拉记》与《尼希米记》)成书较晚的论点。基于《历代志》中使用了所谓希腊语外来词，有些人 (Torrey) 认为《历代志》成书较晚，但必须抛弃这种观点，因为已有证据表明这些外来词是波斯语 (Albright)。象岛的蒲草纸手本上的亚兰语、波斯波利斯的仪式文献和其他发现都证明，《历代志》中的亚兰语属于流行于波斯时期的帝国(官方)亚兰语，因此，这本书的成书时间应该早于约公元前 400 年。亚兰语在波斯时期就对《历代志》中的希伯来语造成了影响，亚兰语不能作为《历代志》成书较晚的证据 (Kropat、Rehm、Myers 等)。一些学

(Official) Aramaic in vogue in the Persian period, and thus do not require a date later than ca. 400 B.C. Aramaic influence on the Hebrew of Chronicles can be expected in the Persian period and does not serve as a proof for a late origin of these books (Kropat, Rehm, Myers, etc.). The MS evidence of Qumrân has led scholars to a date for Chronicles of ca. 400 B.C. (Cross, Waltke, etc.). The unusually early date of ca. 515 B.C. (Freedman) for the basic work of the Chronicler, starting with 1 Ch. 10, is unacceptable on textual-critical and other grounds. If the Chronicler makes use of the distinctive Palestinian text family, one must allow some time to elapse before the Palestinian and Babylonian text families could branch off the Old Palestinian text-type, which is itself dated to the 5th cent. B.C.

A date of ca. 400 B.C. is supported by the Davidic genealogy of 1 Ch. 3:10–24, which is traced down through the successive generations from Jehoiachin's son Pediah to Anani son of Elieoenai. The Jehoiachin Tablets (Weidner texts) indicate that Pediah must have been born ca. 595 B.C. (ANET, p. 308; DOTT, p. 85); and allowing for each generation an average of twenty-five years (Albright, Myers), we come down to ca. 405 B.C. for the birth of Anani. A certain Anani living in Jerusalem is mentioned in one of the Elephantine papyri dated to the last decade of the 5th cent. B.C. (ANET, p. 492). That this genealogy ends with Anani is a strong indication that the material was written down by the Chronicler at about that time. Thus an increasing number of scholars rightly favor a date for Chronicles in the later Persian period, or ca. 400 B.C. (Albright, Rothstein, van Selms, Rudolph, Myers, Ellison, Francisco, Fritsch, etc.). A traditional objection against an early date was based on the mention in 1 Ch. 29:7 of the “daric,” which was earlier identified with the Greek “drachma.” Recent archeological evidence has shown that during the reign of Darius I (522–486 B.C.) Persian gold coins, called “darics,” were circulating throughout the Persian empire (Weingreen, DOTT, p. 232). This again supports a date in the later Persian period. According to all indications the most reasonable date of composition is ca. 400 B.C.

《历代志上》3:10–24 中大卫的家谱从耶哥尼雅的儿子毗大雅一直追溯到以利约乃的儿子阿拿尼, 大卫的家谱证明《历代志》约创作于公元前 400 年。耶哥尼雅碑文 (Weidner texts) 表明, 毗大雅生于约公元前 595 年 (ANET, 308 页; DOTT, 85 页), 考虑到两代人之间平均相隔 25 年 (Albright 和 Myers), 所以阿拿尼应该生于约公元前 405 年。一份可以追溯至公元前 5 世纪最后 10 年的象岛蒲草纸文献中提到了一个居住在耶路撒冷的名叫阿拿尼的人 (ANET, 492 页)。大卫家谱中的最后一个人是阿拿尼, 这有力地证明历代志作者大约在此时创作了《历代志》。因此, 越来越多的学者支持《历代志》创作于波斯时期晚期或约公元前 400 年的说法 (Albright、Rothstein、van Selms、Rudolph、Myers、Ellison、Francisco、Fritsch 等)。反对《历代志》成书时间较早的传统观点以《历代志上》29:7 中提及的“达利克”为依据, “达利克”

The identity of the Chronicler can be established primarily on the basis of internal evidence. It is reasonably certain that a single individual, rather than a circle or school, was responsible for authoring the Chronicles (cf. Noth, p. 111). This is evident from the literary mannerisms that characterize the narrative of Chronicles and Ezra-Nehemiah (see II above), and from the fact that while the Nehemiah memoirs show a marked stylistic individuality, the Ezra memoirs contain the same kind of literary mannerisms and linguistic peculiarities that are manifested in the remainder of the Chronicler’s work. They also share the same ideological and theological emphasis, with the possible exception of the messianism. A number of studies have shown that, on the basis of the first person singular (Ezr. 7:28; 8:15–17, 21–29; 9:1–5) and the first person plural in passages that include travel companions (7:27; 8:17f., 21–23, 31f.), the Ezra memoirs are from Ezra himself. While one cannot prove conclusively that the Chronicler was indeed Ezra, the evidence definitely points in this direction, and an increasing number of scholars have made this identification (so Albright, Rothstein, van Selms, Myers, Fritsch, etc.). There is also a great amount of Jewish and non-Jewish tradition that identifies Ezra with the Chronicler (cf. Brunet, DBSup, VI, 1228). Nevertheless, the internal evidence, corroborated by our increased understanding of the external history, provides the most cogent support for considering Ezra the best candidate for the authorship of these works.

X. Theology.-The Chronicler has provided us with a major historical work covering a span of time from Adam to the postexilic community of ca. 400 B.C. It is certain that this history rests on older reports and is written from the perspective of the postexilic community. That the historical situation out of which it arose was different from those of the earlier histories is reflected in the Chronicler's choice of materials and in his theological emphases. Therefore, Chronicles makes its own special contribution to the various witnesses that make up OT theology.

The Chronicler's picture of God is strictly monotheistic, an emphasis consistent with that of the other historical writings of the OT. The only God known is Yahweh, who is all-knowing (2 Ch. 16:9), all-powerful (1 Ch. 29:12; 2 Ch. 20:6), and universally present (2 Ch. 2:6). He is the world's supreme Ruler who "has power to help or to cast down" (2 Ch. 25:8). His reign is grounded in absolute knowledge, because He "understands every plan and thought" (1 Ch. 28:9). As the God of the patriarchs (2 Ch. 13:18), Yahweh shows His determined interest in

X. 神学。历代志作者为我们呈现了一部重要的历史作品，这部作品讲述了从亚当至约公元前400年被掳归回之后百姓的历史。这段历史显然基于更古老的记录，并且是以被掳归回之后百姓的角度进行编写的。从历代志作者选择的材料和强调的神学重点可以看出，这一时期的历史状况不同于之前的历史状况。因此，《历代志》为旧约神学的各种见证做出了它自身的特殊贡献。

历代志作者坚持严格的一神论，他的描述重点与《旧约》中其他历史作品的描述重点一致。唯一的真神是耶和华，祂无所不知（代下 16:9），无所不能（代上 29:12；代下 20:6），拥有普世的统治权（代下 2:6）。祂是这世上最高的统治者，“能助人得胜，也能使人倾败”（代下 25:8）。祂的绝对知识是祂统治的根据，因为祂“知道一切心思意念”（代上 28:9）。耶和华是列祖的神（代下 13:18），祂决意看顾祂的子民以色列（代上 29:20；代下 13:18；15:12；19:4 等）。祂是满有爱心的神（代下 2:11；9:8），祂与以色列所立的约彰显了祂的“慈

His people Israel (1 Ch. 29:20; 2 Ch. 13:18; 15:12; 19:4; etc.). He is a God of love (2 Ch. 2:11; 9:8), and His “steadfast love” (Heb. hesed, used fifteen times in in Chronicles) is manifested in His having bound Himself by covenant to Israel. Thus He keeps His promises and shows Himself a helper in times of need, while at the same time He remains judge over both Israel and the nations (1 Ch. 16:33; 2 Ch. 4:22).

The election (Heb. bāḥar) motif also plays an important role in the theology of Chronicles. The Hebrew term appears twenty-one times in Chronicles, and of all OT writings appears more often only in Deuteronomy (thirty-one times). In all but four instances (1 Ch. 19:10; 2 Ch. 11:1; 13:3; 25:5) the election motif is a distinctly theological concept in which Yahweh is the subject. In Chronicles election through Yahweh never refers directly to the patriarchs, the beginnings of Israel at the Exodus, or the taking of Canaan, but is uniquely restricted to the choice of David for leadership (1 Ch. 28:4; 2 Ch. 6:6) and of his son Solomon (1 Ch. 28:6; 29:1) for the building of a house (temple) for Yahweh (1 Ch. 28:10; 29:1; cf. 2 Ch. 7:12, 16). Likewise, the election of Jerusalem as God’s chosen city has great prominence (2 Ch. 6:5, 34, 38; 7:12, 16, 12:13; 33:7). The Chronicler links together the election of king, city, and temple with its cult personnel (1 Ch. 15:2; 29:1). The election of king and city seems subsumed under the election of the temple. A theocratic emphasis is apparent here. The community that worships at the Jerusalem sanctuary is Yahweh’s people, and not those who worship at the sanctuary on Mt. Gerizim or the one on the Elephantine island, etc. Thus, the true

拣选 (希伯来语: bāḥar) 这一主题也在《历代志》的神学中起到了重要作用。这个希伯来语在《历代志》中出现了 21 次, 这个词在《旧约》《申命记》中出现的次数最多 (31 次)。除了四个例子 (代上 19:10; 代下 11:1; 13:3; 25:5), 在整个《历代志》中拣选这个主题显然是神学概念, 而耶和华是这个神学概念的主体。在《历代志》中, 耶和华的拣选从不直接表示拣选列祖和开始带领以色列人走出埃及或占领迦南, 而是专门指拣选大卫作王 (代上 28:4; 代下 6:6), 也指拣选大卫的儿子所罗门建造耶和华的殿 (代上 28:10; 29:1; 参: 代下 7:12, 16)。同样, 神拣选耶路撒冷作祂的城尤为引人关注 (代下 6:5, 34, 38; 7:12, 16, 12:13; 33:7)。历代志作者将拣选君王、拣选城市和圣殿与拣选祭仪的事奉人员联系在一起 (代上 15:2; 29:1)。拣选圣殿似乎包括了拣选君王和拣选城市。这里显然凸显了神权。在耶路撒冷至圣所中敬拜的百姓是耶和华的子民, 而在基利心山至圣所中敬拜的人或在象岛等地敬拜的人都不是神的子民。因此, 真正的以色列不是一个民族, 而是在神拣选之地的正规至圣所中敬拜神的人。

Israel is not an ethnical people but those who worship together at God's chosen place with its legitimate sanctuary.

The pregnant term “covenant” (Heb. b^erît) appears a total of thirty times in Chronicles and indicates a prominent place for covenant theology. The covenant made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob was an “everlasting covenant to Israel” (1 Ch. 16:16f.). The covenant made at Sinai is not mentioned, but Israel is considered God's covenant people and is called by Yahweh “my people” (1 Ch. 11:2). The Chronicler records that David made a covenant with Israel at Hebron (1 Ch. 11:3) and that Jehoiada, Hezekiah, and Josiah renewed the covenant between Yahweh and people or king (2 Ch. 23:16; 29:10; 34:30–32). The “ark of Yahweh/God” is known as the “ark of the covenant of Yahweh/God” (1 Ch. 15:15, 26, 29; 16:6, 17; 17:1; 28:2, 18; 2 Ch. 5:2, 7). Josiah's reform was strengthened when the temple yielded “the book of the covenant” (=Dt.), which was read before the people (2 Ch. 34:30). God not only elected David (1 Ch. 28:4) but also entered into a covenant with him (2 Ch. 21:7) which is not renounced even though his offspring walked in wicked ways (vv. 6f.). The covenant promise to David that his royal throne will continue for ever (1 Ch. 22:10; cf. 17:17) seems unconditional (2 Ch. 13:5; 21:7), but is in reality conditioned by the fidelity of his offspring (6:16; 7:17–22). The Chronicler's aim was hardly to vindicate the Davidic covenant over that of Sinai, but to link the second temple with the first and to legitimize the true Israel as the one worshipping at the right place, namely, God's chosen city Jerusalem.

含义丰富的词语“约”(希伯来语: b^erît) 在《历代志》中共出现了 30 次, 这表明立约神学在《历代志》中占有突出的位置。耶和华与亚伯拉罕、以撒和雅各所立的约是“向以色列定为永远的约”(代上 16:16-17)。《历代志》中没有提到在西奈山上所立的约, 但以色列被认为是上帝的约民, 耶和华称以色列为“我的民”(代上 11:2)。历代志作者记载道, 大卫在希伯仑与以色列立约(代上 11:3), 耶何耶大、希西家和约西亚复兴了耶和华与祂的子民或国王所立的约(代下 23:16; 29:10; 34:30–32)。“ark of Yahweh/God”也被认为是“ark of the covenant of Yahweh/God”(代上 15:15, 26, 29; 16:6, 17; 17:1; 28:2, 18; 代下 5:2, 7), 汉译均为“耶和华或神的约柜”。当约西亚在圣殿中得到“约书”(相当于《申命记》), 并把约书念给百姓听(代下 34:30)时, 他的改革得到了巩固。上帝不仅拣选了大卫(代上 28:4), 而且与他立了约(代下 21:7), 虽然大卫的子孙行在耶和华眼中看为恶的事(代下 21:6-7), 但耶和华没有背弃所立之约。耶和华应允大卫, 祂必定坚定他的国位, 直到永远(代上 22:10; 参: 代上 17:17), 这约似乎是无条件的(代下 13:5; 21:7), 但实际上大卫的子孙是否忠心事主是制约这约的条件(代下 6:16; 7:17–22)。历代志作者似乎并不想证明大卫的约高于西奈之约, 而是想要将第二圣殿与第一圣殿联系起来, 并证明真正的以色列应该在适当的地方, 即上帝拣选的城市耶路撒冷敬拜上帝。

The promise to grant David continual progeny, to establish his lineage forever, and to have a temple built (1 Ch. 17) is a correlate of the Chronicler's covenant theology. The division of the united kingdom in 931 B.C., the exile of the northern kingdom in 722 B.C. and of the southern kingdom in 586 B.C., conjunction with the political, social, and religious situation of the Chronicler's own time, appear to have frustrated God's great promises. With fervency the Chronicler unmaskes what provoked such regressions. The fall of the chosen city Jerusalem came as a result of abominable acts committed by the kings and the people (2 Ch. 36:5ff.). The political and religious leaders of Israel, and the people themselves, engaged in rebellion against their God until His anger was so inflamed that there was no other remedy (v. 16). Yet there is hope, says the Chronicler, because the God who punishes wickedness blesses right-doing (2 Ch. 12:1f.; 13:4ff.; 14:11ff.; 16:9; 19:2; 20:37; 21:10; 22:4ff.; etc.). The postexilic community is therefore challenged to be faithful to Yahweh. The word "unfaithful" is a key word in the Chronicler's theology (Koch, TLZ, 90 [1965], 663). The keeping of the Torah with all the moral and cultic injunctions assures faithfulness to Yahweh. While cultic-ritualistic matters are stressed, it would be wrong to depict the Chronicler as either a narrow ritualist or a narrow legalist. What is at stake is the life or death of the postexilic community, which can exist only as a theocratic community. Genuine worship, which involves body, soul, and spirit, is the concern of Hezekiah's prayer: "The good Lord pardons every one who sets his heart to seek God ..., even though not according to the sanctuary's rules of cleanness” (2 Ch. 30:18f.). What counts is pure heart-religion in place of cold legalism.

Another major element of the theology of Chronicles is the concept of retribution. In retrospective vision the Chronicler shows the inner connections between evil and doom and between good and prosperity. That retribution is neither purely automatic nor simply mechanical is shown by the fact that the long reign of wicked Manasseh is explained on the basis that he humbled himself and repented (2 Ch. 33:10ff.). Retribution comes as punishment from the time of Saul (1 Ch. 10:13f.) to the fall of Jerusalem (2 Ch. 36:13ff.), and as reward in the promises given to David (1 Ch. 12f.) and Hezekiah (2 Ch. 30:8f.). It invariably comes in a short-term manner (2 Ch. 21:1ff.; 16:7ff.; 26:16ff.; 33:1ff.) and thereby signifies that each generation, and each individual in it, must face God, respond to His revealed will, stand responsible for its choice and acts. While God’s love and justice demand that He punish wrongdoing, yet “his mercy is very great” (1 Ch. 21:13) and He is ever ready to forgive (2 Ch. 30:9). Indeed, God will listen to the prayers of men (2 Ch. 30:9; 32:24; 33:6, 12f.). Only He can bestow a heart that can live in harmony with His will (1 Ch. 29:19; 2 Ch. 30:12).

The Chronicler’s special interest in cult and worship is evident everywhere. It has been noted already that he recognizes only one true sanctuary, the one planned by David (1 Ch. 22:1–28:19) and built by Solomon (2 Ch. 2:1–5:1). David is also the one who established the orders of cultic functionaries for the temple services. It is clear that the priesthood of the second temple is legitimized by establishing its continuity with that of the first temple. Since the postexilic community worshiped at the temple and not at a tent tabernacle, there was less need to look to Moses as the founder of the sanctuary and its priesthood, though Moses is by no means slighted or ignored (1 Ch 6:1-15; 6:33f.; 2 Ch. 8:12-14; 23:17f.; 30:16; 34:4, 6, 12-15). David's plan or pattern for the temple is integrated with the work of Moses (Ex. 25:9, 40; 1 Ch. 28:11f., 18f; 29:3f.). In a sense David is another Moses. Cultic unity is emphasized repeatedly by mentioning that Yahweh's temple is in Jerusalem (2 Ch. 3:1; 6:6; 30:1; 33:4, 7, 15; 36:14, 23), the only legitimate place of worship, chosen for this purpose by Yahweh Himself (2 Ch. 6:6; 7:12; cf. Dt. 12:5ff.; 14:23-25; 15:20; 16:2ff.; etc.). No other sanctuary is recognized or even mentioned. Of equal importance is cultic purity (2 Ch. 13:10; 23:16ff.; etc.). God's abiding presence in the midst of the post-exilic community, its survival and prosperity, would depend on its maintaining cultic unity and cultic purity in the tradition of David's legitimation of the Jerusalem temple with its cultic functionaries as the center of the only true worship of Yahweh.

《历代志》中神学的另一要素是报应观念。历代志作者通过回顾历史展现出邪恶与厄运以及善良与亨通的联系。由于玛拿西保持谦卑、自我忏悔，所以邪恶的他曾统治很长时间，这也说明报应既不是完全必然的结果，也不是简单的机械行为(代下 33:10 起)。从扫罗时期(代上 10:13-14)至耶路撒冷陷落(代下 36:13 起)，报应以惩罚形式体现出来了，而神通过兑现对大卫(代上 12-13)和希西家(代下 30:8-9)的应许来奖赏人。报应总是在短期内降临(代下 21:1 起; 16:7 起; 26:16 起; 33:1 起)，从而表明受到报应的每代人和每个人都必须面对上帝，回应祂的揭示的旨意，并对自己的选择和行为负责。虽然上帝的爱心和公义要求祂惩罚不道德的行为，但“祂有丰盛的怜悯”(代上 21:13)，永远愿意宽恕罪人(代下 30:9)。实际上，上帝愿意应允世人的祷告(代下 30:9; 32:24; 33:6, 12-13)。只由上帝才能赐予遵守祂旨意的心(代上 29:19; 代下 30:12)。

The messianism of the Chronicler's theology cannot be considered to consist of purely royal messianic hopes. The Chronicler's rendering of the famous Nathan oracle (cf. 2 S. 7:8-16) has a unique aspect. Yahweh promises: "I will confirm him [David] in my house and in my kingdom forever" (1 Ch. 17:14; cf. 2 S. 7:16). The kingdom is clearly Yahweh's and the promise seems unconditional. The word of Yahweh that later comes to Solomon through David is clearly related to the Nathan oracle: “I will establish his [Solomon’s] royal throne in Israel forever” (1 Ch. 22:10). This royal throne is “the throne of the kingdom of the Lord over Israel” (28:5). The last two statements have no counterpart in Samuel-Kings and express the same idea as 29:23: “Then Solomon sat on the throne of the Lord as king” (cf. 1 K. 2:12). 2 Ch. 9:8 reflects a heightening of the messianic motif when the Queen of Sheba confesses that Yahweh set “you [Solomon] on his throne as king for the Lord your God” (cf. 1 K. 10:9). Both throne and kingdom are Yahweh’s, but He has given them “in the hands of the sons of David” (2 Ch. 13:8). The unconditional nature of the promise (1 Ch. 17:14; 22:10; 2 Ch. 13:5) is in tension with the condition that both temple and royal lineage are dependent upon loyalty to the covenant (2 Ch. 7:17ff.; cf. 1 K. 9:1ff.).

众在圣殿内敬拜神，而不是在帐幕内敬拜神，所以不需要将摩西视为圣殿和祭司职分的建立者，但也绝不能轻视或忽略摩西（代上 6:1-15; 6:33-34; 代下 8:12-14; 23:17-18; 30:16; 34:4, 6, 12-15）。大卫对圣殿的规划与摩西的工作结合在一起（出 25:9, 40; 代上 28:11-12, 18-19; 29:3-4）。从某种意义上说，大卫是另一个摩西。作者一再提及耶和华的殿在耶路撒冷，从而强调了敬拜仪式的统一性（代下 3:1; 6:6; 30:1; 33:4, 7, 15; 36:14, 23），耶路撒冷是敬拜神的唯一合法地点，也是耶和华亲自拣选的敬拜祂的地方（代下 6:6; 7:12; 参：申 12:5 起; 14:23-25; 15:20; 16:2 起; 等）。作者不承认也未提及其他的至圣所。敬拜仪式的纯洁性也同样重要（代下 23:10; 23:16 起; 等）。上帝临在被掳归回之后的会众中间，会众的生存和繁荣取决于他们是否保持敬拜仪式的统一和纯洁，而且他们要遵从大卫的传统，将耶路撒冷的圣殿作为真正敬拜耶和华的唯一中心，并确立敬拜仪式上侍奉人员的合法地位。

It should be noted that the integration of the tasks of the prophet Moses with that of king David has a direct bearing on the Chronicler’s messianism. Like Moses, David had the “pattern” (Heb. tabnîṭ) for the sanctuary/temple ready (Ex. 25:9, 40; 1 Ch. 28:11f., 18f.). David’s call for a freewill offering again follows the custom of Moses (Ex. 25:1–9; 35:4–29; 1 Ch. 29:3f.). This pronounced confluence of motifs indicates that the future David would combine in his person both royal and priestly offices. The Chronicler’s royal-priestly messianism is underscored by a quotation from a messianic Psalm (2 Ch. 6:42; cf. Ps. 132:9f.). The conditional aspect (2 Ch. 7:17ff.) of Yahweh’s covenant with David (2 Ch. 21:7; 1 Ch. 17:3–16) had led to the end of the temporal rule of the Davidic dynasty through prolonged disloyalty and persistent unfaithfulness (2 Ch. 36:13–17); the unconditional aspect, on the other hand, remained in force and applied to the future rule of the royal-priestly Messiah. The motif of the throne and kingdom as Yahweh's indicates that He Himself would provide this royal-priestly Messiah in the future, as he had provided David in the past.

的国位，直到永远”（代上 22:10）。这个王位是“所罗门坐耶和华的国位，治理以色列人”（代上 28:5）。最后两句话在《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》中没有对应的表述，与《历代志上》29:23 表达了相同的观点：“所罗门坐在耶和华所赐的王位上”（参：王上 2:12）。当示巴女王承认是耶和华“使你[所罗门]坐在祂的国位，为耶和华你的神作王”（参：王上 10:9）时，《历代志下》9:8 升华了弥赛亚这一主题。王位和王国都是耶和华的，但祂把它们放到“大卫的儿子所罗门的手中”（代下 13:8）。圣殿和王室血统都依赖于神的子民对圣约的忠诚度，而神的应允的无条件性（代上 17:14; 22:10; 代下 13:5）与这一条件相互矛盾（代下 7:17 起；参：王上 9:1 起）。

值得注意的是，先知摩西的工作与君王大卫的工作的融合直接给历代志作者的弥赛亚主义刻上了烙印。大卫像摩西一样，规定了至圣所或圣殿中一切器具的“样式”（希伯来语：tabnîṭ，出 25:9, 40; 代上 28:11-12, 18-19）。同样，大卫也效法摩西，要求自愿为建造圣殿奉献（出 25:1–9; 35:4–29; 代上 29:3-4）。这些主题中明显的重合之处表明，未来的大卫将既是君王，又是祭司。历代志作者通过引用一篇有关弥赛亚的《诗篇》强调了包含君王和祭司职分的弥赛亚主义（代下 6:42; 参：诗 132:9-10）。耶和华与大卫所立之约（代下 21:7; 代上 17:3–16）的条件（代下 7:17 起）导致大卫王朝因长久以来悖逆神、不忠心事奉神而结束了短暂的统治（代下 36:13–17）；而圣约的无条件性继续有效，使未来的弥赛亚以君王和祭司的身

I. 简介。A. 问题。旧约年代学得益于过去五十年大量的考古发现和研究。很 wealth of discoveries and investigations during the past fifty years. Many points that were obscure and that scholars had despaired of ever fully understanding have been clarified to the satisfaction of the great majority. Where previously certain questions could be answered only on the basis of philosophical a priori and conjectures, there is now a mass of factual data from which an answer may be fortified. This is not to say, however, that no difficulties remain. The new evidence has raised several new questions, and, while making it possible to give more informed answers to the original questions, has by no means settled every issue. If nothing else, it has multiplied several fold the complexity of the subject.

Several difficulties are inherent in the subject itself. By definition, a chronology attempts to relate certain events on an absolute temporal scale. The key questions are quantitative: how much, how long, etc. The Bible, on the other hand, is interested in qualitative questions. Much more important than how long a man lived is how well he lived. The purpose is to make plain the inner meaning of history as opposed to a listing of all events that took place. Thus, giving a well-rounded summary of the political history of the Levant, or even of Palestine, is no part of the Bible's concern. It wishes to detail the relation of a people to its God and to show the inevitable effect in history of the character of that relationship. Therefore, those who would construct a chronology of the OT must continually remember that by and large OT writers had only a secondary interest in chronology.

有些问题是年代学固有的问题。按照定义，年代学旨在确定某些事件发生的确切时间。关键问题在于确定数量：多少年、时间多久等。而《圣经》关注的是性质问题。相对于一个人活了多久，更为重要的是这个人生活的质量如何。目的在于透过已经发生的所有事件阐明历史的内在意义。因此，《圣经》不关注地中海东部沿岸诸国和岛屿政治历史的全面总结，甚至不关注巴勒斯坦政治历史的全面总结。《圣经》想要详述神与祂的子民之间的关系，并呈现出神人关系中人类“历史”的必然结果。因此，那些想要解释旧约年代的人必须始终牢记，总的来说，对于旧约作者而言，年代学不太重要。

Does this mean that—as maintained by Wellhausen and his followers—the chronological information given in Scripture is worthless? Is it simply window dressing to enhance the verisimilitude of the historical vehicle that the Hebrews chose to express their faith? It does not mean this, and for two reasons. The first is a logical one. That chronology was a secondary interest for the writers of Scripture does not necessarily imply that they gave no concern to the accuracy of the data they did use. It only means that they may have used the data differently from those for whom it was of interest. The very claim of the Hebrews that they had met God in history would suggest that they took a very careful attitude toward historical data.

The second reason why the chronological data of Scripture should be considered valuable, when rightly interpreted, is the continuing scientific evidence of this value. Again and again during the past fifty years the accuracy of scriptural information has been verified. The most impressive example of this is seen in the work of E. R. Thiele on the records of the kings of Israel and Judah. These numbers had long defied any kind of harmonization, both among themselves and with extrabiblical literature. This fact had been adduced as evidence of the fictionalized nature of the accounts. But Thiele, by a process described below, has shown that this harmonization is possible. More importantly, it is possible only because of the uncanny accuracy of the recorded figures.

Thiele's work has demonstrated another principle that is often only reluctantly granted in the study of Scripture. This is that the statements of Scripture shall—until proven otherwise—be regarded as correct and as being capable of harmonization with the data from other spheres of investigation. This assumption will result in work like Thiele's, which will undertake, not to prove Scripture, but to understand the ways in which it corresponds to truth in other areas. K. A. Kitchen has shown that this is the approach scholars of the ancient Near East ordinarily take toward their texts. Ironically, in part because of the destructive criticism of the 19th and 20th cents, the opposite tendency is manifested in biblical studies, where a skeptical attitude is taken toward every scriptural statement until it is rigorously proven to be correct. This means that the energies of many scholars are spent in the direction of proving their assumption, with the result that much scholarship continues to fragment and reconstruct the Bible. Since the assumption in large part determines the approach, it is imperative that the student of OT chronology hold the appropriate assumption.

B. Methodology. Thus the correct methodology for OT chronology is twofold.

(1) It is first of all to seek the biblical key to the interpretation of each piece of data. Modern attitudes toward chronology and chronological data will not always suffice. Whereas one number in the biblical record may be literally exact, as in the case of the royal annals, another may be a general term, as in the use of the numbers 40, 7, etc. Even when the numbers are literal, it may take an understanding of the rationale by which

B. 方法。因此，正确研究旧约年代学的方法有两种。

(1) 首先应该根据《圣经》中的阐述解释每个数据。现代学者对年代学和年代学资料的态度并不总是足够严谨的。尽管《圣经》中记载的某个数字可能是非常准确的，如王室的年表，但其他的数字可能仅仅是概数，如 40 和 7 等数字用作概数。即使作者如实地记录了这些数字，但是，这些数字被整合进一个一致的体系之前，可以认为作者按照基本原理记录了这些数字（蒂勒就是这么做的）。 records are kept (as it did for Thiele) before they can be organized into a consistent scheme.

The key to interpretation varies according to the type of data that are being examined. There are three types of chronological data in the OT, all somewhat interrelated. First is genealogical information. Typically the material gives lines of descent (cf. Gen. 10; 1 Ch. 1:1–9:21; etc.). However, at certain points—and especially in the patriarchal accounts—chronological information is included in the genealogy. This will often include the father's age at the birth of his firstborn son, as well as his age at death.

Two factors have become increasingly clear for the interpretation of genealogies. First is the fact that commonly all persons in a given lineage are not included. The classic example of this is found in the first chapter of Matthew, where Jesus' genealogy is given as three successions of fourteen generations. The first section (Abraham to David) corresponds to 1 Ch. 2:3–16. However, the second section (David to the fall of Jerusalem) leaves out four generations: the three generations relating to Jezebel's daughter Athaliah, and one generation at the end, which makes Josiah the father of Jehoiachin instead of grandfather (1 Ch. 3:10–16). An example of this phenomenon is found in the OT when four generations from Levi to Moses are said to cover the entire Egyptian sojourn, which was apparently some three hundred to four hundred years in duration (1 Ch. 6:1–3) (see III.A below). It is evident that in ancient Near Eastern parlance, speaking of someone as father of someone else meant only that he was ancestor of that person. Thus, David speaks of both Saul and Jonathan as being the father of Mephibosheth (2 S 9:7). This means that one cannot hope to achieve a reliable chronology simply by picking a certain number of years per generation and multiplying that number by the number of generations in a given genealogy.

年代解释随着被检验数据类型的不同而不同。《旧约》中有三种年代学数据，它们之间拥有一定的相关性。第一种年代学数据是家谱信息。这种资料通常给出了家谱（参：创 10；代上 1:1-9:21；等）。不过，在某些方面，尤其是在对族长的描述中，年代学信息包含在家谱中。家谱中通常给出父亲得长子时的年龄和父亲去世时的年龄。

The second factor to be borne in mind when interpreting genealogical lists is the secondary character of any numbers attached to the list. It is clear that the primary function of genealogy in the Near East has always been to establish a person's or family's identity. With regard to this purpose chronology has no importance. This can be seen in the genealogies of 1 Chronicles, where the returnees from Babylon were attempting to recover their legitimate positions in the history of their people. No chronological references are found. Another indication of the secondary nature of chronology is the fact that no use is made of references when they occur. They are not totaled or otherwise used for establishing chronological relationships. This is not to say that the numbers are of random choice and thus of no significance; but it is to say that they perhaps do not have exact numerical significance as demanded by the modern West.

The same observation applies to a second class of data: random chronological statements, e.g., the statement in Gen. 15:13 concerning the duration of the Egyptian sojourn, or that in 1 K. 6:1 covering the time elapsed between the Exodus and the building of Solomon's temple. While there is no warrant for disregarding such statements, neither is it necessary to assume that they are precise chronological computations. In the premonarchical society especially, long-term chronological records are highly unlikely because of their lack of importance. Rather, approximations arrived at in various ways can be expected, and the use of round numbers, particularly, would suggest some degree of approximation. It is the significance of these numbers for the biblical writers that the interpreter must understand before he attempts to build an absolute chronology upon them.

The third class of chronological data is the numbers found in connection with royal annals or chronicles. This was one of the common methods by which a relative chronology for the dating of business and administrative documents could be achieved. All events during a given ruler's reign were dated from his first, or accession, year. The significance of these numbers then was primary and there is every reason, prima facie, to believe that they would have been kept with a high degree of exactness. Thiele's work, as mentioned above, supplies clear confirmation of this.

(2) The student of OT chronology must also avail himself of extrabiblical materials if he wishes to establish the dating of biblical events on an absolute scale with reference to the birth of Christ. One may learn the relative relations among, e.g., Rehoboam, Ahab, and Jehu from study of Scripture alone. However, that study cannot clearly establish their dates since their relative chronology is not keyed to any event, astronomical or terrestrial, which can be placed on the present absolute scale. What must be done, then, is to locate synchronisms with neighboring cultures whose events can be dated absolutely.

第三类年代数据是与王室年表或编年史有关的数字。这是一种常用的方法，可以利用这种方法确定商业文件和行政公文相对年代。从某位统治者统治时期的所有事件可以追溯到他在位的第一年或登基年。这些数字具有重要的意义，乍一看，有充分的理由认为这些数字都是非常准确的。如上文所述，蒂勒的作品显然证明了这一点。

(2) 研究旧约年代学的学生如果想要参照基督诞生来确定《圣经》中事件的绝对年代，就必须利用经外资料。例如，他们单独研究《圣经》就可以知晓罗波安、亚哈和耶户之间的相对关系。不过，这种研究不能确定这些事件的确切日期，因为这些相对年代与目前任意一个可以确定绝对年代的天上或地上事件的发生时间都不相符。学者们必须参照那些可以确定事件绝对年代的邻邦文明来定位对照性历史年谱。

Fortunately there are a number of such synchronisms with Mesopotamia during the 1st millennium B.C., which make it possible to give an absolute date at least as far back as the death of Solomon in 931 B.C. In the 2nd millennium only one extrabiblical reference is known, and it is, indeed, the first extant reference to Israel outside of the Bible. This is a reference to a defeat of Israel by Merneptah, pharaoh of Egypt, in 1224. Since the Bible mentions no such defeat, the reference is not helpful for establishing an absolute date earlier than that of Solomon. This means that prior to the kingdom period all biblical dating must be computed from within Scripture, without specific external evidence against which to check results. This counsels a caution that is often lacking among scholars of all theological leanings.

A word is in order concerning the methods used to establish an absolute date for events among Israel's neighbors and the reliability of these methods. Normally this is based on some datable astronomical event that is clearly located in that people's (Egypt's or Mesopotamia's) relative chronology. Thus, if a lunar eclipse is reported in the fourth year of a certain king, it is possible to discover in what year B.C. such an eclipse would have occurred in that area of the world and thus to give an absolute date to that king's fourth year. In addition, since the annals of both Egypt and Mesopotamia are complete for a considerable length of time, it is possible to apply the absolute dating backwards and forwards over many years. By the use of these methods and with the occurrence of synchronisms between the two areas, it is generally agreed that it is possible to give an absolute date, plus or minus five years, for the major extrabiblical rulers and events into the latter half of the 2nd millennium B.C.

在使用各种方法来确定以色列邻邦中事件的绝对年代时，以及在检验这些断代方法的可靠性时，有一个合适的原则。这就是通常根据那个民族（埃及或美索不达米亚）相对年代中那些显然可确定年代的天文事件来确定绝对年代。因此，如果某位国王在位第四年发生了月食，就有可能查明在公元前哪一年在那一地区发生了月食，进而确定这位国王在位第四年的绝对年代。此外，因为埃及和美索不达米亚在相当长的时间内记录了完整的年表，所以有可能确定这一时期前后许多年的绝对年代。通过使用这些方法并对照两地同时期发生的事件，学者们普遍认为，有可能确定公元前第二个千禧年后半叶《圣经》之外主要统治者和事件的绝对年代，误差前后仅为五年。

II. Adam to Abraham.-The date of creation is fraught with numerous problems. The first date to be widely accepted was 4004 B.C., which Archbishop Ussher advocated in his Annales Veteris et Novi Testamenti, and which was printed in the margins of many editions of the AV. Ussher arrived at this date through addition of the various numbers given in the Bible, especially those in the genealogies. This position is still held, although with some modification, by significant numbers of

II. 从亚当到亚伯拉罕的时期。有很多关于创世时间的问题。学者们普遍接受的第一个创世时间是公元前4004年，大主教乌社尔在他的 Annales Veteris et Novi Testamenti 中提出了这个创世时间，多个版本的《钦定版圣经》在旁注中也给出了这个时间。乌社尔通过累加《圣经》中的不同的年代数字，尤其是通过累加家谱中的数字得到了这个创世时间。虽然经过了一些修正，但很多基督徒仍然坚持这种假设。不过，乌社尔的论据也有很多严重的缺陷。虽然亚伯拉罕很有可能如乌社尔所说约出生

Christians. However, there are serious weaknesses in Ussher's argument. While his date of ca. 2000 B.C. for Abraham is within the range of probability, the dates prior to Abraham become increasingly difficult. Though it is perhaps not impossible that the high cultures of Mesopotamia and Egypt could have appeared within 1000 years of Creation (ca. 3500 and 3200 B.C., respectively), it is well-nigh impossible for the Flood to have occurred in 2348, as Ussher claimed. This would have been during the Akkadian empire in Mesopotamia and the Old Kingdom in Egypt. No such cataclysm as the Flood is even mentioned. This suggests that however the genealogies and their accompanying numbers are to be handled, they are not to be taken as a literal, lineal chain without breaks.

As noted above, it would be surprising if the genealogies were complete. Clear evidence of at least one such gap is found in Gen. 11:13, where Cainan is excluded from the MT, but included in the LXX between Arpachshad and Shelah. The LXX version of the genealogy is quoted by Luke (3:36), lending weight to its authenticity. Once it is admitted that there are gaps in the genealogy, there is no way to ascertain the amount of time that elapsed between Adam and Abraham, especially in view of the extraordinary longevity that is ascribed to the ANTEDILUVIAN PATRIARCHS.

It has been noted on numerous occasions that an interesting parallel to Gen. 5:3ff. exists in the Sumerian king list (cf. ANET, pp. 265f.), where reigns of fantastic length (tens of thousands of years) are recorded before "the flood" and reigns of reduced length afterward. Albright suggested that the same principle was operative in both cultures. Possessed of a royal or genealogical list that supposedly reached to the beginning of time and yet contained only a relatively few names, each culture—instead of supplying fictitious names to fill the gaps—lengthened the lives of those whose names they had, thus giving a more satisfactory length of time. He attributed the much higher Mesopotamian figures to the fact that the evidences of many previous cultures caused the Mesopotamians to posit creation much farther back in time. The Hebrews, lacking such evidence, were satisfied with smaller figures. Whether or not Albright's suggestion is correct, it does appear that the list of ancestors has been made to conform to an artificial scheme. With the insertion of Cainan in Gen. 11:13 there are ten names on each side of the Flood. This is reminiscent of the genealogy of Jesus in Matthew with its three groups of fourteen names.

如上文所说, 一个完整的家谱会让人很吃惊。确凿的证据表明《创世记》11:13 中至少省略了一代人, 《马所拉文本》中的家谱未提到该南, 但《七十士译本》在亚法撒和沙拉之间提到了该南。路加引用了《七十士译本》中的家谱(路 3:36), 从而增加了《七十士译本》中家谱的可靠性。一旦承认家谱中存在断代, 就没办法确定亚当到亚伯拉罕到底经历了多长时间, 尤其是考虑到大洪水之前的族长(见 ANTEDILUVIAN PATRIARCHS[大洪水之前的族长])都非常长寿。

In addition to the above considerations, the variations in the numbers in Gen. 5 and 11 as found in the MT, LXX, and Sam. Pent., indicate that extreme caution should be exercised in the use of these numbers. The total years from Adam to Abraham differ in each case, with the MT giving 1948, the Sam. Pent. 2249, and the LXX 3314. As can be seen by reference to Table 1, the variations are largely accounted for by the fact that the LXX, with few exceptions, adds a hundred years to the MT version of a man's age when his successor is born. The Sam. Pent. does this after the Flood, but not before. Numerous other, less schematic variations occur; e.g., on Lamech all the figures differ. While it appears that the MT contains the original numeration, the very fact that such sweeping extrapolations could occur in the LXX and Sam. Pent. traditions speaks of the secondary character of the numbers.

除了以上考虑因素，《马所拉文本》《七十士译本》和《撒玛利亚五经》在《创世记》5章和11章中给出了不同的数字，这表明必须极为谨慎地使用这些数字。三者给出的从亚当到亚伯拉罕的总年数不同，《马所拉文本》中为 1948 年，《撒玛利亚五经》中为 2249 年，《七十士译本》中为 3314 年。从表 1 中的数据可以看出，这种数字上的差异主要是由于《七十士译本》将《马所拉文本》中每个男人得长子时的年龄增加了一百岁，只有少数例外情况。而《撒玛利亚五经》将大洪水之后男人得长子时的年龄增加了一百岁，却没有增加大洪水之前男人得长子的年龄。但三个作品中也存在其他很多不太规律的差异。如在三个作品中，拉麦得长子时的年龄各不

Recent archeological studies in the Near East suggest that the first indications of sedentary life in that area are to be dated between 9000 and 7000 B.C. In addition, the oldest known city, Jericho, is dated to this period. These computations are based on nuclear techniques whose uncorroborated results beyond 3000 or 4000 B.C. must be used with some caution. However, if these dates are approximately correct, then the developments of Gen. 4:17–22 would span the years 9000–5000 B.C. (assuming v. 22 to refer to the rudiments of metalworking). Generally it seems clear that the antediluvian society fits best into this timespan, which archeologists designate the Neolithic and Early Chalcolithic periods. As far as the dating of the Flood is concerned, if the lists are correct in placing Noah about midway between Abraham and Adam, then perhaps the Flood should be dated in the 7th or 6th millennium B.C. However, such a date is highly conjectural, since archeological evidence for the Flood is somewhat contradictory.

近东最近的考古研究表明，这一地区的最早的定居生活可以追溯到公元前 9000 年至公元前 7000 年。此外，最古老的城市耶利哥也可以追溯到这一时期。这些计算出的数字以核心技术为依据，如果推测的结果早于公元前 3000 年或公元前 4000 年，那么必须谨慎地使用这些核心技术。然而，如果这些时间大致正确，那么《创世记》4:17–22 中描述的时间应该介于公元前 9000 年至公元前 5000 年（假设《创世记》4:22 中提到了金属制造的初级阶段）之间。一般来说，大洪水之前的社会显然最符合这个时间段，考古学家称这一时期为新石器时代和铜石并用时代初期。关于大洪水发生的年代，如果将挪亚大致置于亚伯拉罕和亚当中间的年表是正确的，那么大洪水或许可以追溯至公元前 7000 年或公元前 6000 年。不过，这完全是推测的时间，因为关于大洪水的考古证据还存在一些矛盾。

III. Abraham to the Conquest.-This period contains some of the most vigorously contested dates in the OT. The major controversy involves the date of the Exodus. Secondly, the length of the Egyptian sojourn is a matter of debate. Once satisfaction is obtained on these issues, most of the other problems can be settled with a minimum of difficulty.

III. 从亚伯拉罕到征服迦南的时期。这一时期包括《旧约》中一些引起最为激烈争论的日期。首先，出埃及的日期是争论的焦点。其次，寄居埃及的时长也是一个存在争论的问题。一旦解决了这些问题，其他绝大多数问题都可以迎刃而解。

Two items of information in Scripture would seem to make these problems very simple. The first appears in 1 K. 6:1 where it is said that Solomon's temple was begun 480 years after the Exodus. Since this was ca. 967 (see below), the Exodus would be dated ca. 1447. In addition, Gen. 15:13 records God's prediction to Abraham that his descendants would be slaves and sojourners in a land not their own for 400 years. Ex. 12:40 seems to confirm this when it reports that the people of Israel dwelt in Egypt 430 years. Assuming the latter to be more exact, one arrives at a date of 1877 for the descent into Egypt. Then, by adding Jacob's age at the entry into Egypt (130 years, Gen. 47:9), Isaac's age at Jacob's birth (60 years, Gen. 25:26), and Abraham's age at Isaac's birth (100 years, Gen. 21:5), the sum of 2167 B.C. is reached for the date of Abraham's birth.

A. Egyptian Sojourn. These figures, however, are beset by several problems. First of all, it is interesting to note that the LXX and the Sam. Pent. agree in reading the 430 years of Ex. 12:40 as applying to the whole time span between Abraham and the Exodus. (Cf. also Gal. 3:17, where Paul accepts the LXX dating.) This would suggest a date of 1952 for Abraham's birth and about 1852 for Isaac's birth. Even further reduction of these dates has often been called for because many of the genealogies between the descent into Egypt and the Exodus contain only a few generations. Best known is that of Moses and Aaron, which contains but four generations (Ex. 6:16–20). In this respect, it is worth noting that Gen. 15:16 follows up the statement in v. 13 of a 400-year sojourn with the declaration that “they will come back here in the fourth generation.”

提到以色列人出埃及 480 年后，所罗门开始建造圣殿。由于所罗门约在公元前 967 年（见下文）开始建造圣殿，所以出埃及应该发生在约公元前 1447 年。此外，《创世记》15:13 中记载了上帝对亚伯拉罕的预言，亚伯拉罕的后裔必寄居别人的地，又服侍那地的人，那地的人要苦待他们四百年。《出埃及记》12:40 似乎肯定了这种描述，其中写道“以色列人住在埃及共有四百三十年”。假设后一种描述更为准确，那么以色列人应该是在公元前 1877 年出埃及。于是，通过累加以色列人进入埃及时雅各的年龄（130 岁，创 47:9）、雅各出生时以撒的年龄（60 岁，创 25:26）以及以撒出生时亚伯拉罕的年龄（100 岁，创 21:5）可以计算出亚伯拉罕出生在公元前 2167 年。

A. 寄居埃及时期。不过，这些数字也存在几个问题。首先，值得注意的是，《七十士译本》和《撒玛利亚五经》都认可《出埃及记》12:40 中记载的从亚伯拉罕出生至出埃及经历了 430 年的说法。（另参：加 3:17，保罗接受《七十士译本》中给出的日期。）这表明亚伯拉罕出生在公元前 1952 年，以撒约出生在公元前 1852 年。学者们通常认为应该将亚伯拉罕和以撒出生的日期再往后推，因为以色列人入埃及和出埃及之间的很多家谱仅仅包含几代人。最为有名的是摩西和亚伦的家谱，他们的家谱只有四代人（出 6:16–20）。从这个方面来说，值得注意的是，《创世记》15:16 根据《创世记》15:13 中以色列人寄居埃及四百年的描述，写道“到了第四代，他们必回到此地。”

Albright attempted to resolve the obvious difficulty by arguing that the Hebrew word dôr actually means “cycle,” and that the meaning “generation” is secondary. Thus, “four dôr” could mean four lifetimes, or four centuries (cf. Akk. dâru, a fifty-year cycle). Whether or not this resolution is valid is a moot point. At any rate, the combination of evidence has led several scholars who also accept a late date for the Exodus to posit a fifteenth- or sixteenth-century date for Abraham. However, it is significant that the genealogies of such figures as Bezalel and Joshua have considerably more entries (seven, 1 Ch. 2:18ff.; twelve, 1 Ch. 7:23–27, respectively). If no gap occurs in these lists, they would suggest a minimum of 250–350 years. If one does not allow for gaps in the genealogy of Moses and Aaron, he is forced to discredit Chronicles. The suggestion that Chronicles supplies fictional generations to correspond to the traditional 400-year figure seems excessively skeptical at this point.

At one time it was believed that the AMRAPHEL of Gen. 14 was Hammurabi (now dated 1792–1750, CAH). If this were so, it would be an invaluable synchronism. It does appear that Hammurabi extended his control as far west as the Mediterranean, but there is no evidence that he campaigned in Canaan. Beyond this, there are some yet-to-be-resolved difficulties in the correspondencies between the two names.

Another question involving the length of the Egyptian sojourn deals with the period of Hyksos control. At present the Hyksos dynasties in Egypt are dated from

另一个问题是寄居埃及的时间长度问题，这个问题与希克索斯王朝统治时期有关。目前埃及希克索斯王朝的统治时间可以从公元前 1786 年追溯至公元前

1786 to 1575. It is very tempting to equate Joseph's rise to power with the early years of these Semitic "shepherd-kings." It has often been pointed out that the Egyptian political system was an open one in which men of any class could rise to the top. Nonetheless, it would be very odd for a Semite to become vizier or prime minister under a native-born Egyptian ruler. This would not be at all odd, however, if the ruler were of Semitic extraction himself. According to this hypothesis, the king "who knew not Joseph" would be Amenhotep I, the founder of the 18th Dynasty, who destroyed the last vestiges of Hyksos power in the Delta, reestablishing Egyptian control. It is logical that he would subjugate any Semites remaining in the land for fear that they would constitute a "fifth column" (Ex. 1:10). If one assumes a date of 1447 for the Exodus, this would allow a maximum of 339 years for the sojourn and would put the birth of Abraham ca. 2076 B.C. A late date of ca. 1275 for the Exodus, and a maximum of 430 years for the sojourn, would yield 1705 for the descent into Egypt and 1995 for the birth of Abraham. With the late date, only the maximum-length sojourn would place Amenhotep I after Joseph's death. Abandoning the Hyksos equation and using the LXX chronology brings Abraham's birth down to 1780 and Joseph's death (Gen. 50:26) to ca. 1420. Thus, it seems likely that the birth of Abraham could be placed with some degree of confidence between 2100 and 1800 B.C. Recent archeological and historical studies tend to support this conclusion.

1575年。学者们倾向于认为约瑟与那些早年间的闪米特“牧羊人国王”同一时间兴起。经常有人指出，埃及的政治体系是开放的政治体系，任何阶层中的人都有升迁的希望。然而，鲜有闪米特人可以成为埃及本土统治者权下的维奇尔或宰相。但如果统治者自己有闪米特血统，这就不足为奇。基于这种假设，“不认识约瑟”的新王应该是埃及第18王朝的建立者阿蒙霍特普一世，他在三角洲彻底摧毁了希克索斯王朝的残余力量，重新确立了埃及人在该地的统治权。为了防止闪米特人“联合埃及的仇敌攻击他们”（出1:10），阿蒙霍特普一世应该消灭了闪米特人在这一地区的残余势力。如果认为以色列人在公元前1447年出埃及，那么他们至少在埃及寄居了339年，因此，亚伯拉罕约出生在公元前2076年。如果接受另一个较晚的出埃及的时间，即约公元前1275年，同时认为以色列人至少在埃及寄居了430年，那么以色列人应该在公元前1705年进入埃及地，亚伯拉罕在公元前1995年出生。如果以色列人这么晚才出埃及，那么约瑟死后以色列人在阿蒙霍特普一世统治埃及时寄居的时间最长。如果放弃希克索斯人与约瑟同一时期兴起的说法，使用《七十士译本》中的年表，那么亚伯拉罕可能在公元前1780年出生，约瑟去世（创50:26）时大约是公元前1420年。因此，似乎可以肯定地说亚伯拉罕出生时间应该介于公元前2100年至1800年之间。考古学证据和历史学研究倾向于支持这一结论。

B. Exodus. As is clear from the preceding discussion, the issues surrounding the date of the Exodus are extremely complex. Since the date is pivotal for the chronology both before and after the event, and since in recent years a great deal of archeological evidence has been brought to bear on the discussion, it has received a considerable amount of scholarly attention. At the present time there are basically two points of view, whose conclusions have been mentioned above. The early date, sometime in the last half of the 15th cent., is based almost entirely on the figure given in 1 K. 6:1. The late date, sometime in the first half of the 13th cent., is based largely upon the conclusions of archeologists.

What evidence has led archeologists to conclude that the figure of 480 years between the founding of the temple in 967 and the Exodus is too long? Essentially, the evidence is twofold. Just before World War II, Nelson Glueck did an extensive surface survey of Transjordan. He concluded that the area's population during the pre-Christian millennia had been marked by cycles of growth and decline. According to his findings, whereas the 13th cent. had seen a significant population, there were very few inhabitants during the 14th and 15th centuries. This would seem to indicate that the encounters between the Hebrews and the various Transjordanian peoples as reported in the Pentateuch could not have taken place during the earlier centuries.

The second category of evidence concerns the destruction levels that appear in the excavations of numerous Canaanite cities. The excavators commonly note that beneath these levels

B. 出埃及时期。从前文中的讨论显然可以看出，出埃及时间问题极其复杂。由于出埃及的时间是确定这一事件前后年代的关键，也由于近些年大量的考古证据影响了前文中的讨论，所以学者们十分关注出埃及的时间。现在主要有两个观点，上文提到了这两个问题的结论。有人认为以色列人在公元前 15 世纪后半叶的某个时间走出了埃及地，这个较早的日期几乎完全以《列王纪上》6:1 中给出的时间为依据。有人认为以色列人在公元前 13 世纪上半叶的某个时间走出了埃及地，这个较晚的日期主要以考古学家的结论为依据。

考古学家根据什么证据总结出从以色列人出埃及至公元前 967 年建造圣殿经历的 480 年的时间过长了？实际上，主要有两类证据。第二次世界大战之前，尼尔森·葛鲁克对外约旦的广阔地表进行了调查。他总结道，基督降生之前的那个千禧年，外约旦地区显然经历了数次人口增减的过程。根据他的发现，虽然在公元前 13 世纪外约旦地区人口数量很多，但在公元前 14 世纪和 15 世纪这里人口很少。这似乎表明，《摩西五经》中记载的希伯来人与外约旦诸多民族的战争不可能发生在更早的世纪。

is an identifiable Canaanite culture, sophisticated and technically competent, while above them is a much cruder level of culture. Since many of these are cities of which the book of Joshua reports the capture (Debir, Lachish, Eglon, Bethel, Hazor, etc.), it has seemed logical to assume that these strata are those of the Israelite take-over. In each case the levels have been dated to the 13th century. At the same time, the re-excavation of Jericho has raised serious questions concerning the validity of Garstang's claim to have found evidence of a fourteenth-or fifteenth-century destruction of that city.

In addition to these claims, there is at least one piece of biblical evidence which seems to support the late date. This is the statement that Hebrew slaves helped to build the Egyptian cities of Raamses and Pithom (Ex. 1:11; cf. also Gen. 47:11). Raamses is apparently the Pi-ramses of Egyptian texts, which Seti I (1309–1291) founded and which Ramses II (1290–1224) completed. If this is correct, the Hebrews were still in Egypt in 1300 B.C. Since the Merneptah stele has Israel in the land by 1224, it would appear that the Exodus took place sometime between 1300 and 1265, assuming the tradition of the forty-year wilderness period to be substantially correct.

Against this line of reasoning stands the plain statement of 1 K. 6:1 that there were 480 years between the Exodus and the building of the temple. If the reasoning is correct, how can that figure be explained? Commonly, it is seen as a round figure, the sum of twelve generations of forty years each. The presence of the two stock numbers, twelve and forty, is enough to create some presumption in favor of this explanation. Although there is no direction in the text that the number should be interpreted as an approximation, neither is there any evidence that the Hebrew people during the judges period had any need for, or any inclination to keep, an exact overall chronology. What the figure may well represent is a schematization based upon an estimate of the number of years involved in the work of the various judges.

此外，至少还有一个《圣经》中的证据似乎可以证明以色列人较晚出埃及地的观点。《圣经》中记载道，希伯来奴隶建造了兰塞和比东这两座埃及城市（出1:11；另参：创47:11）。兰塞显然是埃及文献中的培尔拉美西斯，这座城市从塞提一世（公元前1309年至公元前1291年在位）时期开始建造，并最终由拉美西斯二世（公元前1290年至公元前1224年在位）建成。如果这种说法是正确的，那么希伯来人在公元前1300年还停留在埃及。由于根据麦伦普塔赫石碑上碑文的记载，到公元前1224年以色列人还在埃及地，所以如果以色列在旷野中行了四十年的说法大体正确，那么以色列人出埃及地似乎发生在公元前1300年至1265年之间。

On the other hand, is there evidence that argues for a literal interpretation? It is not enough to claim that any other interpretation destroys biblical authority, for interpreting the genealogies as other than literal does not destroy the integrity of Scripture. Yet many who would demand a literal interpretation of this number are strong adherents of “gap” genealogy. There is some significant evidence, as collected by L. T. Wood. Within the Bible an independent witness appears in Jgs. 11:26, where Jephthah says to the Ammonite king that Israel has the right of adverse possession to the Ammonite territory since it has dwelt in that land unmolested for 300 years. Since Jephthah was yet to be succeeded by several judges (see below), this figure would seem to agree well with a 480-year period. Again, however, it may be asked whether this is not a round figure perhaps consciously exaggerated in support of Jephthah’s claims.

With reference to Ex. 1:11 it has been argued that the cities the Hebrews helped to build have not yet been positively identified. It is possible to contend that the cities were actually built long before Ramses' time and only renamed by him in honor of himself. That this was Ramses' practice is certainly true. In that case the more recent names have been added by a later editor.

关于《出埃及记》1:11 中的表述，有人争论说，目前尚不能肯定希伯来人是否帮埃及人建造了城市。有人可能会认为这两座城市实际上在拉美西斯时期之

Several important questions have been raised concerning the archeological evidence. The first has to do with the accuracy of the late Prof. Glueck's interpretations. Excavations at Amman by G. L. Harding appear to have shown sedentary occupation there during the Hyksos period. While it may be said that this is only one site, nonetheless it demonstrates the need for confirmation of Glueck's conclusions through excavation and re-evaluation before other, more far-reaching conclusions are made dependent upon them.

Secondly, the evidence for Israelite destruction of the Canaanite cities in the 13th cent. is not as overwhelming as it has sometimes been made to seem. In the first place, only two of the cities are conclusively identified: Lachish and Hazor. While the majority of scholars still accept Albright's identification of Tell Beit Mirsim with DEBIR, it has come under increasing question recently. Whether Tell el-Hesī is identical with Eglon is more questionable, and the situation concerning Bethel is fraught with a number of difficulties, one of which is the assumption that this was the city destroyed when the Bible speaks of Ai (Josh. 7:1-8:29).

其次，关于以色列人在公元前 13 世纪摧毁了迦南城市的证据不太具有说服力，尽管看起来似乎很有说服力。首先，最终只能确定两座城市的位置：拉吉和夏琐。虽然绝大多数学者仍然接受奥尔布赖特的观点，认为拜特米尔辛丘 (Tell Beit Mirsim) 就是底璧 (见 DEBIR[底璧])，但这种观点最近越来越受到质疑。赫西废丘 (Tell el-Hesī) 是伊矶伦这种说法更为值得怀疑，关于伯特利的位置还有许多难题有待解决，有一种假设认为伯特利就是《圣经》提及艾城时被摧毁的一座城 (书 7:1-8:29)。

Beyond this, a careful examination of the biblical records may suggest other solutions. Hazor was twice destroyed, first by fire sometime in the 15th cent. B.C. (Josh. 11:11?), and second without fire in the 13th cent. (Josh. 4:1, 17?). After the latter, Hazor was of little significance for several centuries. If this was Joshua's destruction, whence came Jabin of Jgs. 4:2? Added to this is the fact that Joshua's destruction specifically involved fire, which this second one did not. In contrast to this, it appears that Joshua did not burn Debir and Lachish (Josh. 10:31f., 38f.). This impression is strengthened by Josh. 11:13, which, while referring primarily to the northern campaign, may well indicate that Joshua's normal policy was not to burn captured cities unless they had taken specific offensive action against him. In any case, both Debir and Lachish were burned in the 13th century. If it is true that Joshua did not burn these cities, then these destructions may be laid to the upheavals of the judges period.

The question still unanswered in these discussions is the weight of evidence that Canaanite culture continued undisturbed on these sites until the 13th cent., when it was replaced by Israelite culture. If this conclusion be judged correct, and a fifteenth-century conquest is still maintained, then serious thought must be given to the interpretation of the standard statement (e.g., Josh. 11:22) that the Hebrews destroyed every inhabitant of the cities which they captured.

As far as Egyptian history is concerned, either date is a possibility. It would seem that the late date might find more support, but this is far from conclusive. If the Exodus occurred in 1447, the great conqueror of Palestine, Thutmose III, would have been the pharaoh of the Exodus and Amenhotep II would have been ruling at the time of the conquest. At one time the heresy of Akhenaten and the Habiru incursions in Palestine were urged in support of the early date. Akhenaten's movement was seen as the result of Moses' monotheism and the Habiru were identified with the biblical Hebrews. However, there is now evidence to indicate that Akhenaten was the result of a long development within Egypt, and Habiru, instead of being an ethnic title, has been shown to be a class appellation which was used throughout the Near East. In opposition to the early date, it has been pointed out that only during the 19th Dynasty was the capital in the north (in Memphis), where the Exodus narrative seems to place it. In addition, it is odd that Ramses II, who claims to have made several campaigns in Syro-Palestine and lists extensively the peoples he encountered and attacked, makes no mention of Israel if they had been established in the land for some two hundred years. If the late date be assumed, then Ramses was pharaoh of both the Exodus and the Conquest. In this case it is understandable that he would not have mentioned a people whose God had defeated him so soundly in his own land. Only his successor, Merneptah (who seems not to have been Ramses' firstborn son), was enough removed from the actual events to make the first extrabiblical mention of Israel.

In the light of the above discussion, it can be seen that a dogmatic stance on either date is inappropriate at this time. The case for the late date is perhaps slightly stronger, but not as strong as it is sometimes made to seem, and until some of the questions raised above have been answered, caution is dictated. Table 2 presents in graphic form the alternatives discussed in this section.

IV. Conquest to the Division of the Kingdom.-The dates of the latter part of this period, particularly the reigns of

IV. 从征服迦南到王国分裂的时期。这一时期后半部分的时间, 尤其是大卫和所罗门统治的时间非常可靠, 因为可以

David and Solomon, are reasonably secure because the date of Shishak's raid—which took place five years after Solomon's death—can be fixed rather closely. However, the early part is confused because of the uncertainty surrounding the date of the Conquest. Depending on that decision, the period extends from ca. 1407 or ca. 1240 to 931 B.C., either 476 years or 310 years in length.

A. Judges. The major issue is the extent of overlapping in the terms of the various judges. As Table 3 shows, it is impossible in either case simply to add the numbers of years, as if the terms were consecutive. Even a minimal period of twenty years of Joshua and the elders (Jgs. 2:7) and ten years for Saul would push the total over 580. This means that adherents of the early date must reduce the total by about 125 years, while those who advocate the late date must divide it nearly in half.

However, the kinds of reduction mentioned above are not as difficult as they seem. First, there are many round

十分接近地确定示撒侵略犹太的时间——这件事发生在所罗门去世五年后。然而，还不能确定这一时期早期的时间，因为学者们还无法确定征服迦南时的环境。根据示撒侵略犹太的时间，从征服迦南到王国分裂的时期约从公元前 1407 年或公元前 1240 年延续到公元前 476 年，长达 476 年或 310 年。

A. 士师时期。这一时期的主要问题是各个士师兴起的时间存在重叠。正如表 3 所示，不论怎样，不能仅仅通过累加时间来计算这一时期的时间长度，好像各士师的兴起时间是连续的。即使约书亚和长老的最低统治时间是 20 年（士 2:7），扫罗的统治时间是 10 年，那么累加起来的总数就是 580 年。这意味着较早出埃及说法的拥护者必须在总时间中减去约 125 年，而较晚出埃及说法的拥护者必须将总时间减半。

figures, usually multiples or fractions of forty, used in the list. No less than eleven of these are found, totalling 420 years. Obviously, these numbers may be compressed. In addition to this, it may be that 1 S. 7:2 intends to convey the total number of years between the depositing of the ark at Abinadab's house and David's removal of it to Jerusalem. This would subtract nearly fifty years from the total and compress Saul's reign to ten or twelve years. Normally the verse has been taken to indicate the time span between the return of the ark and Samuel's gathering the people at Mizpah.

Second, examination of the geographical areas in which the various judges operated shows that they were often active in localized territories within the land. Thus, Othniel and Shamgar seem to have been in the south, while Ehud was operating in the central highlands, Deborah, Barak, Gideon, and Tola moved in Ephraim and the north, Jair and Jephthah made their bases in the Transjordan, whereas Ibzan, Elon, Abdon, and Samson rather completely quartered the west side of the Jordan. Thus, judges who are listed consecutively could well have been active contemporaneously.

Further evidence is probably found in the treatment of Shamgar (3:31), who apparently operated during Ehud's judgeship, and Abimelech (9:22), whose abortive kingship may have overlapped with Tola (10:1). In addition, Jgs. 10:7 probably points to an overlapping of the Philistine and Ammonite oppressions (cf. 13:1).

Tables 4 and 5 indicate the kinds of overlapping that are necessary for the

因子。其中 40 的倍数或因子多达 11 个，加起来是 420 年。显然，这些数字可能被精简了。此外，《撒母耳记上》7:2 中可能是想要表明从约柜被放在亚比拿达家至大卫将约柜运回耶路撒冷的总时长。这就要从总时间中减去 50 年左右的时间，扫罗的统治时间就减少到 10 年或 12 年。这节经文通常被认为指明了从约柜被送回至扫罗将百姓召集到米斯巴所经历的时长。

从珊迦拯救以色列人的故事中可能会找到更多的证据（士 3:31），珊迦显然在以笏作士师时期救了以色列人，国王亚比米勒（士 9:22）的失败统治可能与陀拉作士师的时间重叠（士 10:1）。此外，《士师记》10:7 可能表明非利士人和亚扪人压迫以色列人的时间存在重叠（参：士 13:1）。

表 4 和表 5 表明很多士师在以色列兴起的时间存在重叠，要想使士师的在位时

judges' terms to agree with the early and late dates, respectively. Round numbers are left as reported in the Scriptures, since there is no controlled methodology with which to compress them. Had such compression been possible, the degree of overlapping would be somewhat lessened. Comparison of the two tables will show that the main difference is in the treatment of Ehud and Othniel, the late date making them contemporaries of Deborah and Barak instead of their predecessors. Table 5 makes Samson a predecessor of Samuel, but the men could have been contemporaries as Table 4 shows them. Whether the period of Philistine oppression mentioned in Jgs. 13:1 should be considered as prior to Samson is a moot point. It appears that they continued to exercise hegemony over the Hebrews until the battle of Mizpah (1 S. 7:12-14) and intermittently after that until the time of David.

THE JUDGES PERIOD FROM 1240 TO 1040
(Late Date of the Exodus)

B. United Monarchy. The length of Saul's reign is highly conjectural, since the MT of 1 S. 13:1 is defective. (The LXX omits the verse entirely.) There is a blank where the king's age at accession is announced, and he is said to have reigned only two years. It has been conjectured the original source might have used numerals instead of words at this point, and that, through scribal error, 2 (=2) had replaced original 20 (=20). Since the signs are alike only in the block script (not in the paleo-Hebrew), and since it is quite possible that paleo-Hebrew was in use until the Exile, the scribal error would have occurred quite late in transmission—a remote possibility for such a substantive error. Acts 13:21 gives Saul a reign of forty years, but this is highly dubious. Since both David and Solomon are said to have reigned forty years (1 K. 2:11, 11:42), it would be very easy to schematize the first reign of the united kingdom, making it forty years as well. As noted above, it is not impossible that the reign was as short as ten or twelve years.

B. 统一王国时期。扫罗的统治时间完全是推测出来的，因为《马所拉文本》的《撒母耳记上》13:1 的描述存在缺陷。（《七十士译本》完全删去了这一节。）经文中并没有提到扫罗登基时的年龄，据说他仅仅在位两年。据推测，原始资料在这里可能使用了数字而不是文字，由于抄写错误，2 (=2) 取代了原来的 20 (=20)。因为只有首行不空格的文本中符号才是相似的（古希伯来语中并非如此），因为出埃及之前以色列人很可能还在使用古希伯来语，所以这种抄写错误很可能是在之后很长时间传播过程中出现的——极不可能出现这样重大的错误。《使徒行传》13:21 指出扫罗作王四十年，但这种描述非常值得怀疑。

With the beginning of the highly organized kingdom under David and especially Solomon, there is more reason to accept the literal accuracy of the statements concerning the length of their reigns. While the forty-year figure again gives every evidence of a scheme, it is likely that it is very close to the actual figure in each case. On this basis, David's reign over Judah would have begun ca. 1010 and Solomon over all Israel ca. 970.

The key date for the establishment of these figures is that of Shishak's invasion, which is reported to have occurred in the fifth year of Solomon's successor Rehoboam (1 K. 14:25). Because Shishak also reports this event in his annals it is possible to bring the Egyptian chronology to bear upon Israel at this point. The Egyptian system has approximately a ten-year margin of error at this time, so some flexibility results. Albright argued for the later date of 917, but this was based on his conclusions concerning an ambiguous mention in the Egyptian documents of a lunar eclipse. These conclusions are being increasingly questioned, especially since Thiele's computations concerning the Hebrew kings correspond better with the earlier date of 926. In view of these developments, the earlier date seems the more likely.

随着大卫时期尤其是所罗门时期开始出现高度组织化的王国，我们更有理由认为经文准确地描述了大卫和所罗门的统治时间。虽然四十年这个数字充分证明了一种体制，但每个国王的统治时间很可能是非常接近于这个数字。因此，大卫约从公元前 1010 年开始统治犹太，所罗门约从公元前 970 年开始统治以色列。

确定这些数字的关键日期是示撒侵略犹太的时间，根据《列王纪上》14:25 中的记载，示撒侵略犹太发生在所罗门的继位者罗波安登基后第五年。因为示撒在他的编年史中也记录了这件事，所以埃及年表中可能有对应这件事的年代。这一时期埃及年表中的误差幅度约为 10 年，所以可以得到一些具有弹性的结论。奥尔布赖特认为是公元前 917 年这个较晚的日期，但他是根据埃及文献中未明确提及的一次月食提出了这一观点。这些结论越来越受到质疑，尤其是蒂勒对希伯来列王统治时间的计算结果更符合公元前 926 年这个较早时间。基于这些新进展，较早的时间似乎更有可能成立。

V. Divided Monarchy.-A. Methodology.

As mentioned above, this period is marked by a great increase in chronological information. The years of the kings of both Judah and Israel are reported in detail, as well as various congruencies with other cultures of the ancient Near East. However, this plethora of material has been an embarrassment when attempts have been made to coordinate the figures with an absolute system. As previously noted, prior to Thiele the two sets of figures could not be made to agree with one another, nor could either be made to agree with the Mesopotamian chronology, short of emendation. So, for instance, the total number of regnal years reported between Jehu's accession and the destruction of Samaria is 143, whereas the total reported from the accession of Athaliah to the sixth year of Hezekiah (when Samaria's fall occurred) is 166 years, twenty-three years more for what should be the same period. Yet both are longer than the Assyrian chronology, which gives 120 years for the period.

Thiele has shown that three factors must be taken into account before simple addition of regnal years is undertaken. First of all, there were in the ancient Near East two systems of counting the first year of a king's reign. The Mesopotamian system began the counting with the first full calendar year after the year in which the king had been crowned. This is called the post-accession dating system. On the other hand, the Egyptian system counted the year in which the coronation took place as a full year of rule. This is called the antedating system. Thus, two kings who were crowned on the same day could be recorded as having begun their reigns a year apart. It now appears that Judah used the postdating system throughout the period with one brief exception, while Israel at first used the antedating system but changed to postdating ca. 800 B.C.

V. 王国分裂时期。A. 方法论。正如上文所说,这一时期的一个特征是年代信息大大增加。这一时期对犹大和以色列诸王统治的年份进行了详细的记载,而且这些年份与古近东的其他文明存在许多重合之处。不过,当尝试确定这些年份数字所处的绝对年代时,过多的材料却成了使人为难的事。如前文所示,蒂勒之前的两组年份数字彼此不相符,它们也与美索不达米亚的年表不符,需要修正。例如,据记载,从耶户登基至撒马利亚被毁经历了143年,从亚她利雅继位至希西家第六年(此时撒马利亚陷落)经历了166年,本应是同一时期,却多出了23年的时间。但上面两个时间都比亚述年表中的时间长,亚述年表中记录的这一时期的总时长是120年。

The second factor which must be taken into account is the existence of two different calendars in the ancient Near East. One began the new year in the spring with the month of Nisan; the other in the fall, as the Jews do today, with Tishri. This introduced a further complication. If kings A and B were both crowned on June 21 according to the present calendar, and if A's reign were antedated to Tishri, while B's were postdated to Nisan, A would be (as Table 6 illustrates) in his second official year of reign when B began his first. Study has shown that Judah used a Tishri year for the duration of its history, while Israel used the Nisan year.

第二个需要考虑的因素是古近东存在两种不同的历法。第一种历法将春天的月份尼散月作为新的一年的开始；第二种历法将秋天的月份提斯利月作为新的一年的开始，今天的犹太人就使用后一种历法。这就产生了更为复杂的问题。如果按照现在的历法，国王 A 和国王 B 都在 6 月 21 日加冕，如果国王 A 的登基时间早于提斯利月，而国王 B 的登基时间晚于尼散月，那么国王 A 处在他统治时期的第 2 年（如表 6 所示），而国王 B 处在他统治时期的第 1 年。研究显示犹太采用“提斯利年”（民事历），而以色列采用“尼散年”（宗教历）。

Added to such difficulties as these is the fact that when a synchronism between a Judean king and an Israelite king is reported by a scribe from the Judean realm, the Israelite's date is computed according to the Judean system. The reverse is true when a synchronism of this sort is reported by an Israelite scribe.

co-regencies. A case in point is that of Jotham and Uzziah (Azariah) reported in 2 K. 15:1–7, 32f. According to these verses, Uzziah reigned fifty-two years (v. 2), while his successor, Jotham, reigned sixteen (v. 33). This would give a total of sixty-eight years between the accession of Uzziah and the death of Jotham. However, v. 5 shows that Uzziah was shut up in his palace with leprosy for a part of his reign while Jotham was acting king. When did Jotham's reign begin—at his assuming the co-regency, or when he became king in his own right? Study of the synchronisms with Israel shows that his reign began with the co-regency, thus shortening the total to sixty years. Thiele's work suggests that co-regency was very common in Judah and somewhat less so in Israel.

Bearing all these factors in mind, it is possible to achieve a satisfactory reconstruction of the period between Solomon and the fall of Jerusalem with only a minimum of questions still unanswered. Table 7 illustrates this reconstruction.

B. Division of the Kingdom to the Invasion of Sennacherib. No serious difficulty appears in the chronology until the reigns of Baasha and Asa. Here the accounts in 1 K. 16 seem to disagree with 2 Ch. 15f. 1 K. 16:8 has Baasha dying in Asa's twenty-sixth year, yet 2 Ch. 16:1 has him fortifying Ramah in Asa's thirty-sixth year. The two books agree as to the length of Asa's reign: forty-one years (1 K. 15:10; 1 Ch. 16:13). Since the northern kingdom was of no interest to the Chronicler, the length of Baasha's reign is not recorded in his work. Albright used 2 Ch. 16:1 in his argument for the later date of Solomon's death (922). While he moved the Israelite kings down the requisite nine years, he subtracted ten years from the Judean reigns. He did so on the warrant of this verse, which seems to have Baasha alive ten years longer than does Kings. However, Thiele has shown that Albright's system must destroy nearly all of the synchronisms between Israel and Judah as reported in Kings. In turn, Thiele has proposed a less radical solution which preserves those synchronisms. Zerah of Ethiopia attacked Judah in the fifteenth year of Asa and was defeated (2 Ch. 14:9-15; 15:9-11). This would be the thirty-fifth year since the division of the kingdom, or 896/5 (cf. 2 Ch. 15:19, MT "There was no war..."). The celebration in honor of this victory attracted many from the north (15:9). This attraction could have supplied the motive for Baasha's work at Ramah: an attempt to seal the border against his own subjects. This could have taken place during the year following the celebration, in Asa's sixteenth year, or the thirty-sixth year since the disruption. This solution seems to fit the facts well and to require the least emendation.

《列王纪下》15:1–7 和 15:32-33 中就记载了约坦和乌西雅（就是亚撒利雅）共同摄政的例子。根据这些章节的记载，乌西雅作王 52 年（王下 15:2），而他的继位者约坦作王 16 年（王下 15:33）。那么从乌西雅继位至约坦去世总共经历了 68 年。然而，《列王纪下》15:5 表明，乌西雅曾在他统治时期因长大麻风而住在别的宫里，而此时约坦以国王身份治理国家。约坦的统治时期从何时开始，是从他与其父共同摄政开始，还是从他单独作王开始？以色列对照性历史年谱研究显示，约坦的统治时期从他与其父共治开始，因此，应该从约坦和其父的统治总时长中减去 6 年的时间。蒂勒的作品表明共治在犹大很常见，而在以色列相对不太常见。

B. 从王国分裂到西拿基立入侵犹大的时期。 巴沙和亚撒统治时期之前，年表中没有出现严重的困难。《列王纪上》16 章的描述似乎与《历代志下》15 章至 16 章的描述不符。《列王纪上》16:8 中记载巴沙在犹大王亚撒二十六年去世，但《历代志下》16:1 中记载巴沙在亚撒三十六年修筑拉玛。两卷书对亚撒统治时长的描述是一致的：四十一年（王上 15:10；代上 16:13）。由于历代志作者不关注北国，所以他没有在他的作品中记录巴沙的统治时间。奥尔布赖特以《历代志下》16:1 中的描述为论点，证明了所罗门去世的较晚日期（公元前 922 年）成立。虽然奥尔布赖特为满足

The first two co-regencies in Judah are associated with Jehoshaphat: three years with his father and six with his son. The evidence for the former is not as plain as that for the latter, yet it is convincing. 1 K. 22:42 dates Jehoshaphat's reign from the fourth year of Ahab, which would correspond to the year of the death of Asa, Jehoshaphat's father. The same verse reports Jehoshaphat's total reign as twenty-five years. Yet there are only twenty-two years between Ahab's fourth year and Jehoshaphat's death in the fifth year of J(eh)oram of Israel (1 K. 8:16).

犹大王国的前两个共治期都与约沙法有关：他与他的父亲共治3年，与他的儿子共治6年。第一个共治期的证据不像第二个共治期的证据那样明显，但是以令人信服。根据《列王纪上》22:42中的记载，约沙法从亚哈四年开始作王，约沙法的父亲亚撒也在这一年去世。这节经文还提到约沙法总共作王二十五年。但从亚哈四年至以色列王约兰五年约沙法去世只有22年的时间（王上8:16）。这表明约沙法与他的父亲共同执政3年，或者说亚哈去世与约兰作王相差3年的时间。前一种说法更有可能成立。或许可以在《历代志下》16:12

This suggests a three-year association of Jehoshaphat with his father or a three-year gap between Ahab and Joram. The former is much more likely. The reason for such a co-regency is perhaps found in 2 Ch. 16:12, where Asa is said to have become seriously ill in his thirty-ninth year.

The existence of the second co-regency becomes plain upon comparison of 2 K. 1:17 with 3:1. In the former passage it is said that Joram, second son of Ahab, acceded to the throne of Israel in the second year of Jehoram king of Judah. Yet the second reference reports that this event occurred in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, father of Jehoram. The co-regency is confirmed by 2 K. 8:16, which places Jehoram's accession to the Judean throne in the fifth year of Joram of Israel. Thus, it is evident that Jehoshaphat lived five official years (four actual) after the change of monarchs in Israel, but that his son had been associated with him on the throne for seven official years prior to his death.

Although the Battle of Qarqar is not mentioned in the Scripture, it is nevertheless an important anchor-point for biblical chronology. This battle, which can be dated to 853 B.C. on the basis of Assyrian records, was fought between the Assyrian Shalmaneser III and a coalition of Syro-Palestinian kings who sought to stop the westward expansion of Assyrian power. They met on the Orontes River in Syria and evidently fought to a draw, although Shalmaneser claimed a victory in his annals. More importantly, he recorded the names of those kings who dared to oppose him. Prominent among these is Ahab king of Israel, who supplied two thousand chariots and ten thousand soldiers. Ahab's death evidently occurred that same year at the hands of his recent allies, the Syrians (1 K. 22:3, 34f.). This is fixed by the next important synchronism, which has Jehu paying tribute to Shalmaneser twelve years after Qarqar in 841. Since there were twelve years between Ahab's death and Jehu's accession (Ahaziah, one actual year, 1 K. 22:52; Joram, eleven actual years, 2 K. 3:1), 853 and 841 are the only possible dates for the respective events.

对比《列王纪下》1:17 和 3:1 可以清楚地看到第二个共治期。《列王纪下》1:17 中提到，亚哈的次子约兰在犹大王约兰第二年登上以色列王位。《列王纪下》3:1 中提到，犹大王约沙法十八年，亚哈的儿子约兰登基作了以色列的王。《列王纪下》8:16 证实了约沙法与他的儿子的共治，这节经文中提到，以色列王约兰第五年，约沙法的儿子约兰登上犹大王位。因此，显而易见，以色列易主之后，约沙法又执政 5 年（实际上 4 年），但约沙法去世之前，他与他的儿子共治了 7 年。

Israel's increasing dominance over Judah in the wake of Jezebel and Ahab is apparently reflected in Judah's change from postdating to antedating, effective between 848 and 797 B.C. According to 2 K. 8:17 and 2 Ch. 21:5, Ahaziah ruled for one year before being killed by Jehu, which event (as has been shown) is definitely fixed in 841. If Judah were still using the postdating system, Ahaziah would actually have begun his reign in 842, with the year of his death being counted as his first year. Ahaziah's father, Jehoram, was said to have reigned eight years (2 K. 8:17; 2 Ch. 21:5, 20). If he died during his eighth year, 842, according to the postdating system he would have begun to rule alone in 850. However, as noted above, 2 K. 8:16 records his coronation as having occurred in the fifth year of Joram of Israel. Since Joram ruled twelve official years (eleven actual) before his death in 841, he must have come to the throne in 852, making his fifth year, according to Judah's former postdating, 847. This results in a discrepancy of three years. The problem is resolved if it is understood that Ahaziah's accession year was 841 and that it was counted as his first year. This would then mean that Jehoram's eighth year was 841 and that he ruled seven actual years, 848 being the year of his coronation but also being counted as his first year. The year 848 would also be the Israelite Joram's fifth year according to the antedating system.

史年谱证明了这场战役的时间，其中提到，耶户在夸夸战役之后 12 年，即公元前 841 年向撒幔以色列纳贡。由于亚哈去世与耶户登基相隔 12 年（与亚哈谢登基作王实际相隔 1 年，王上 22:52；与约兰登基作王实际相隔 11 年，王下 3:1），所以这两件事只可能分别发生在公元前 853 和公元前 841 年。

Confirmation of the change is found in apparently contradictory datings of Ahaziah's first year. 2 K. 9:29 places it in the eleventh year of Joram of Israel, while 2 K. 8:25 places it in the twelfth. There is no contradiction if it is understood that the former scribe was using the old system of postdating while the latter had accepted the newer system. Interestingly, when Judah returned to postdating in 798/797, Israel changed over also. It has been conjectured that Jeroboam I introduced antedating in Israel because of Egyptian influence. If that is correct, this rejection of that system may indicate the final collapse of Egyptian influence in Syro-Palestine in the face of the increasing Mesopotamian dominance under Assyria.

The chronology of Judah and Israel in the 8th cent. B.C. is exceedingly complex because of several co-regencies and the upheaval attendant upon Israel's final collapse. In Judah the first co-regency, that of Amaziah and Uzziah, was one of necessity; for Amaziah, in a burst of false confidence, challenged Israel under Jehoash and was taken captive (2 K. 14:13; 2 Ch. 25:23). That this event took place in 792 and that Uzziah became co-regent in that year is evident from a study of five apparently conflicting references. 2 K. 14:17 makes it plain that Amaziah died fifteen years after Jehoash of Israel. Since Jehoash' death (and the accession of Jeroboam II?) can be fixed in 782/781, Amaziah died in 768/767. In accord with this, 14:23 reports the coronation of Jeroboam II in Amaziah's fifteenth year, or 782. This would mean that Uzziah, Amaziah's successor, should have come to the throne in the fifteenth or sixteenth year of Jeroboam II. Yet 15:1 records Uzziah's accession in Jeroboam's twenty-seventh year. The best resolution of this difficulty sees Jeroboam II as having become co-regent with his father in 793 just before the war with Judah. Since Jeroboam ruled forty-one years (14:23), he died in 753/752 and was succeeded by Zechariah. However, 15:8 demonstrates that Zechariah began to reign in the thirty-eighth year of Uzziah. If Uzziah's reign is dated from 768, then Zechariah's accession is pushed down to 730, at least twenty-three years too late. On the other hand, if 753 is correct, then thirty-eight years prior to date results in a figure of 792/791 for the capture of Amaziah and the beginning of Uzziah's total reign.

从亚哈一年明显自相矛盾的时间中可以发现历法体系的改变。《列王纪下》9:29 中描述道, 亚哈谢在以色列王约兰第十一年登基作犹大王, 但《列王纪下》8:25 中提到, 以色列王约兰第十二年, 犹大王亚哈谢登基。如果认为前一个书记使用古老的登基年制, 而后一个书记使用了较新的纪年法, 这两段描述就没有矛盾之处。有趣的是, 犹大在公元前 798 年或 797 年重新使用登基年制, 以色列也改变了纪年法。有人推测, 耶罗波安一世受埃及影响率先将非登基年制引入以色列。如果这种说法是正确的, 那么弃用这种纪年体系可能表明, 随着亚述治下美索不达米亚的优势日益明显, 埃及对叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的影响最终消失。

The period between 753 and 701 is, if anything, even more complex than the previous fifty year period. A twelve-year excess in Judah's total is so troublesome that Thiele is forced to abandon his own working hypothesis and suggest that an error has crept in. However, the methodology that Thiele himself applied to earlier problems suggests a solution that does not require emendation. The first problem concerns the number of regnal years that 2 K. 15:8-27 and 17:1

assign to Israel between the accession of Zechariah in 753 and the fall of Samaria in 722. Addition of these figures gives a total of forty-two years, whereas the well-established terminal dates allow a maximum of but thirty or thirty-one. That the figures from Shallum through Pekahiah are correct is shown by the fact that their addition will place the assassination of Pekahiah in the fifty-second year of Uzziah, which corresponds to the statement of 2 K. 15:25–27. Since Hoshea's nine-year reign is verifiable (see below), the difficulty occurs in Pekah's enumeration. 2 K. 15:32 records the beginning of Jotham's reign in the second year of Pekah; but if Pekah's succession occurred in 741/740, then Jotham did not come to the throne until two years after his father's death. However, as was shown above (V.A), Jotham had actually been co-regent with his father since 750. This suggests that Pekah had begun to reign in 752. If so, his twenty-year reign would have ended in 732, which coincides exactly with the beginning of Hoshea's reign.

In the light of this, it has been suggested that at the death of Jeroboam II Gilead may have split away from Israel proper and made Pekah its king. Thirteen years later Pekah was able to insinuate himself into a position where he could dispose of the reigning monarch and make himself king of all Israel. If this hypothesis is correct, then 2 K. 15:27 records the date of Pekah's accession to the kingship of all Israel, but lists the total years of reign over any part of the land. David's total of forty years was attained in the same fashion.

31年。事实已经证明从沙龙至比加辖的在位总年数是正确的，因为累加这些年数可以得出，比加辖在乌西雅五十二年被人杀害，这与《列王纪下》15:25–27中的描述一致。由于何细亚九年的时间是可以证实的（见下文），所以困难之处在于计算比加的登基时间。根据《列王纪下》15:32的记载，约坦在比加第二年登基；但如果比加在公元前741年或740年登基，那么约坦就应该在他父亲去世两年后才登上了王位。不过，正如上文所示（V.A），约坦实际上从公元前750年开始就与父亲共同摄政。这表明比加在公元前752年登基作王。如果是这样的话，比加作王第二十年就是公元前732年，何细亚恰好在这一年登上了王位。

因此，有人认为耶罗波安二世去世时基列已经从以色列王国中分裂出来，比加作了基列的王。13年后，比加的地位逐渐上升，掌握了最高的统治权，成为了整个以色列的国王。如果这种假设是正确的，那么《列王纪下》15:27中不仅记载了比加登基作以色列国王的时间，而且记载了他统治整个以色列的总时间。经文中以同样的方式计算出大卫作王的总时间。

duration of Jotham's reign. On the one hand it is said to have been sixteen years (2 K. 15:33), yet only a few verses prior to this reference Hoshea's accession is dated in Jotham's twentieth year (v. 30). Since Hoshea's accession is clearly fixed in 732, nine years prior to Samaria's destruction in 723/722, this does correspond with the twentieth year from the beginning of Jotham's co-regency with Uzziah in 750. (As co-regent he had no accession-year.) Is 15:33, then, in error when it limits his reign to sixteen years? When the year formulae of Ahaz and Hezekiah are added, it seems so. It was in Hezekiah's fourteenth year that Sennacherib attacked Jerusalem (2 K. 18:13). This event is almost unassailably fixed in 701 B.C. This would place Hezekiah's accession in 716/715. His father, Ahaz, is reported to have reigned sixteen years. Thus, his accession would have occurred in 733/732. However, 2 K. 17:1 puts the accession of Hoshea (732) in Ahaz' twelfth year, not his first. This would place Ahaz' accession-year in 743. Yet another difficulty is posed by 16:1, which places Ahaz' coronation in Pekah's seventeenth year, 735. Thus three different dates for the beginning of Ahaz' reign are suggested: 743, 735, 732. It will be noted, first of all, that 735 corresponds to Jotham's sixteenth year. Thus, it has been suggested that Jotham was deposed—but not killed—in that year by a pro-Assyrian faction in Judah. His son Ahaz was made king, but his regnal years were not counted until 732, when his father died in his twentieth year. Thiele refused to credit 17:1; however, there is every reason to see it as an indication that Ahaz was associated with his father as co-regent in 743. He would have been eleven or twelve years of age at the time

间上。一方面,根据《列王纪下》15:33 中的描述,约坦作王十六年,但这节经文之前的几节经文中提到,何细亚在约坦二十年登基作王(王下 15:30)。由于何细亚显然在公元前 723 年或 722 年撒马利亚陷落之前九年,即公元前 732 年登基,所以这应该是约坦与乌西雅共同摄政(从公元前 750 年开始)的第二十年。(因为约坦是共同摄政王,所以他没有登基年份。)那么,《列王纪下》15:33 中约坦作王十六年的描述是否有误呢?如果根据亚哈斯和希西家的登基时间来计算,情况似乎如此。西拿基立在希西家十四年攻击耶路撒冷(王下 18:13)。这件事一定发生在公元前 701 年。这说明希西家在公元前 716 年或 715 年登上了王位。根据经文中的记载,希西家的父亲亚哈斯在位十六年。因此,亚哈斯应该在公元前 733 年或 732 年登基。然而,《列王纪下》17:1 中记载道,何细亚在亚哈斯二十年登基(公元前 732 年),而不是在亚哈斯一年登基。这就使公元前 743 年成为亚哈斯的登基年。《列王纪下》16:1 中的描述也产生了一个困难,这节经文中写道,亚哈斯在比加十六年,也就是公元前 735 年登基。因此,关于亚哈斯的登基年份有三种不同的说法:公元前 743 年、735 年和 732 年。首先,要注意到公元前 735 年就是约坦十六年。因此,有人认为约坦在这一年被犹大境内的亚述支持者罢黜了王位,而不是被他们杀害了。约坦的儿子亚哈斯登基作王,但他的即位年份从公元前 732 年开始计算,约坦在亚哈斯十六年去世。蒂勒不认可《列王纪下》17:1 中的描述;然而,有充分的理由证明亚哈斯从公元前 743 年开始与他的父亲共同摄政。这一年亚哈斯十一岁或十二岁(参:王下 16:2)。这一假设中的一个难点是,在公元前 743 年约坦仍然与他的父亲乌西雅共同摄政。不过,乌西雅这时已经年迈,可能因麻风病基本上丧失了行动能力,所以约坦只是名义上的共同摄政王。亚哈斯可能已

(cf. 16:2). The one difficulty with this hypothesis is that in 743 Jotham himself was still co-regent with Uzziah, his father. However, Uzziah was aged and probably largely incapacitated with leprosy, so Jotham's co-regency was in name only. Beyond this, Ahaz may have already been a tool of the pro-Assyrian faction and may have been forced upon Jotham in the light of Assyria's renewed aggressive activity under Tiglath-pileser III. It is interesting that just at this time Tiglath-pileser records having received tribute from both Judah and Israel.

The final chronological problem of the 8th cent. involves Hezekiah. As noted above, 2 K. 18:13 makes it plain that Hezekiah's regnal years began to be counted from 716/715. However, 18:1 lists his accession as having occurred in Hoshea's third year, or 728. This is confirmed by 18:9, which records Shalmaneser V's siege of Samaria as having begun in Hezekiah's fourth and Hoshea's seventh years. The siege was finally successful in the third calendar year, Hezekiah's sixth and Hoshea's ninth. Although there is some uncertainty as to whether Samaria fell to Shalmaneser (18:10) or to his successor Sargon II, there is reason to discount Sargon's claims and thus to take the earlier date in accord with 18:10. These facts indicate that Hezekiah, like his predecessors for more than a century before him, was a co-regent with his father. In fact, if one discounts 18:1, 9f. and denies a co-regency for Hezekiah, as does Thiele, one is left with what would be an unusual circumstance. That 2 Ch 29f. tells of an embassy Hezekiah sent to the north in his first year with an invitation to participate in the Passover is no argument against a co-regency. Assuredly, this could have taken place more easily in 716 than 728, but it is entirely likely that the reference is to his first year of sole reign rather than to the first year of the co-regency.

公元前8世纪的最后一年问题与希西家有关。正如前面所指出的，《列王纪下》18:13中明确提到，希西家从公元前716年或715年开始登基作王。然而，根据《列王纪下》18:1中的记载，希西家在何细亚三年或公元前728年登基。《列王纪下》18:9中的描述证实了这种说法，其中记载道，撒幔以色列五世在希西家四年和何细亚七年围困了撒玛利亚。撒幔以色列在第三个日历年、希西家六年和何细亚九年成功包围了撒玛利亚。虽然无法确定撒玛利亚到底是落入了撒幔以色列的手中（王下18:10），还是落入了他的继位者撒珥根二世的手中，但是有理由不完全相信撒珥根成功围困撒玛利亚的说法，接受与《列王纪下》18:10表述一致的较早时间。这些事实表明，希西家像一个多世纪之前的祖先一样，与父亲共同摄政。实际上，如果有人像蒂勒一样不完全相信《列王纪下》18:1和18:9-10中的描述，并且否认希西家是共同摄政王，那么他就要承认一个非同一般的情况。《历代志下》29-30章中描述道，希西家在他作王第一年差遣使者到北方去，让使者邀请北方的百姓守逾越节，这个描述与希西家是共同摄政王的说法并不矛盾。诚然，这件事更有可能发生在公元前716年，而不是公元前728年，但这里完全有可

C. Sennacherib's Invasion to the Fall of Jerusalem. Between Sennacherib's invasion in 701 B.C. and the fall of Jerusalem in 587/586 B.C. there are few major problems. This may be due in part to the fact that synchronisms with Israel are no longer present to draw attention to such problems. One can only move to the next fixed date, compute the interval and attempt to arrange the recorded regnal years within that period. The first such date is 597, which the Babylonian records show was the year in which Jerusalem was captured and Jehoiakin's reign brought to an end. Since Hezekiah reigned twenty-nine years from 716/715 (2 K. 18:2), he died in 687. However, addition of the regnal years from Manasseh to Jehoiachin yields ten years and some months excess: ninety-nine years instead of eighty-nine. This suggests one or more co-regencies. Josiah, Jehoahaz, and Jehoiakim were all put on the throne through unusual circumstances that would militate against co-regencies for any of them (2 K. 21:23f.; 23:30, 34). Even if Amon's two-year reign had included time as co-regent, such time would be negligible. The same would apply to Jehoiachin (24:6–17). This leaves only Manasseh, whose very long reign and early age at accession (twelve years old, 21:1) would easily allow for a co-regency of ten or eleven years. Hezekiah's sickness (20:1), which apparently occurred about 700, may have frightened him into associating his son with him as soon as the boy reached the age of accountability. If these conjectures are correct, this event would have occurred in 698/697.

C. 从西拿基立入侵犹太到耶路撒冷陷落时期。从公元前 701 年西拿基立入侵犹太至公元前 587 年或 586 年耶路撒冷陷落这一时期, 几乎不存在多少大问题。这可能一定程度上是因为促使人们注意这些问题的以色列对照性历史年谱已经不复存在。人们只能将注意力转移到下一个固定的年代上, 计算时间间隔, 并尝试安排已记录下来的这一时期的统治时间。第一个这样的年代是公元前 597 年, 根据巴比伦人的记载, 耶路撒冷在这一年被占领, 约雅斤的统治结束。由于希西家从公元前 716 年或 715 年开始登基作王, 共执政二十九年, 所以他死于公元前 687 年。不过, 累加从玛拿西至约雅斤的统治时间得到的年数多了十年零几个月, 共计 99 年, 而不是 89 年。这表明这一时期有一个或多个共同摄政期。约西亚、约哈斯和约雅敬都在不同寻常的情况下登上了王位, 这些不同寻常的情况对共同摄政产生了不利的影响(王下 21:23-24; 23:30, 34)。甚至连亚们作王那两年也包括一

Albright and others have argued that there must have been two invasions by Sennacherib that the Scripture has conflated into the one account contained in 2 K. 18:13–19:37. Primarily, their argument rests on two biblical references: the first to Tirhakah (19:9), who did not begin to rule until 690 and who appeared from Egyptian sources to have been too young to have led an army in 701; and the second (19:37), which seems to imply that Sennacherib died immediately after his return from Jerusalem in 700, when in fact he did not die until twenty years later in 681. However, recent studies have shown that Tirhakah could have been as old as twenty-two years in 701, while the inclusion of Sennacherib's death in 19:37 only rounds out the story of God's total judgment upon Sennacherib's hybris.

The closing years of the Judean monarchy are at first clear, but then somewhat difficult. It is certain that Josiah died in 609 and that

段共同摄政期，这段共同摄政期可以忽略不计。约雅斤的统治时期亦是如此（王下 24:6-17）。只有玛拿西的统治时间很长，并且很早就登上了王位（12岁，王下 21:1），他应该有 10 年或 11 年的共同摄政时期。希西家显然约在公元前 700 年得了病，这场病可能使他很害怕，所以他的儿子刚刚到可以承担责任的年龄，他就将其立为共同摄政王。如果这些猜测是正确的，那么希西家得病这件事应该发生在公元前 698 年或 697 年。

奥尔布赖特等学者认为西拿基立一定入侵犹大两次，《圣经》的《列王纪下》18:13–19:37 将这两次侵略合并在一起进行描述。首先，他们的论点以《圣经》中的两段经文为依据：第一段经文是《列王纪下》19:9，其中写道，特哈加从公元前 690 年开始作王，根据埃及文献中的记载，在公元前 701 年，特哈加还太年轻，不能统领一支军队；第二段经文是《列王纪下》19:37，这段经文似乎表明，公元前 700 年西拿基立刚从耶路撒冷回来后不久便去世了，但实际上，他直到 20 年后的公元前 681 年才去世。然而，最近的研究证明，特哈加在公元前 701 年应该是 22 岁，而《列王纪下》19:37 之所以记载西拿基立的死，只是为了完整地讲述上帝审判狂妄自大的西拿基立的故事。

犹大王国最后几年起初是比较清晰的，但后来有点让人难于理解。毫无疑问，约西亚死于公元前 609 年，尼布甲尼撒于公元前 605 年在迦基米施取得了战争

Nebuchadnezzar's victory at Carchemish occurred in 605. This was followed by a victory tour through the now-defenseless West, the impact of which is reported in Dnl. 1:1 (Jehoiakim's third year—Tishri year) and Jer. 46:2 (fourth year—Nisan year). Likewise, the date when Nebuchadnezzar's punitive expedition against Jerusalem captured the city is clearly fixed in March, 597. Zedekiah's first official year began, then, in Tishri, 597. It was formerly thought that the fixing of Josiah's death in 609 would bring Jehoiakim's eleven-year reign to a close in 598. If, however, as seems entirely likely, Neco placed Jehoiakim on the throne in Tishri, 609 (Neco was at Harran from Tammuz to Elul, which would correspond to the three months of Jehoahaz' reign, and was free to return to Jerusalem in the following month, Tishri), then Jehoiakim's first official year would not have begun until Tishri, 608. According to 2 K. 24:18 Zedekiah's reign was also eleven years in duration. This would fix the final year of his rule between Tishri, 587, and Tishri, 586. 2 K. 25:1 and Ezk. 24:1f. agree that the siege began on the tenth day of the tenth month of Zedekiah's ninth year, or Jan. 15, 588 (months numbered from Nisan). The breaching of the wall came on the ninth day of the fourth month of the eleventh year, or July 19, 586 (2 K. 25:3f.; Jer. 39:2; 52:6f.).

Two factors have caused some scholars to date the destruction in 587, thus pushing all the computations back one year. Ezk. 33:21 and 40:1, which refer to the destruction of the temple in terms of Jehoiachin's regnal years, seem to require the earlier date. However, Thiele has shown that Ezekiel was using a Nisan year, and this understanding removes the difficulty. The second factor is less easily explained. This is the dating of the three deportations in Nebuchadrezzar's seventh, eighteenth, and twenty-third years (Jer. 52:28-30). The seventh year would end in Adar, 597, the month in which Jerusalem was captured first, but the eighteenth year would end in Adar, 586, four months before the breaching of the walls. However, since Jer. 52:12f. definitely places Nebuzaradan's entry into Jerusalem and the burning of the temple in Nebuchadrezzar's nineteenth year, whatever is intended by 52:29 is not sufficient reason to place the destruction of the city in Nebuchadrezzar's eighteenth year, 587.

VI. Exile and Return.-There is little biblical information for this period, and it presents but one major chronological problem: the relationship of Ezra and Nehemiah. The other dates are very clear. Cyrus' edict of ca. 538 set the machinery in motion for the first return under Sheshbazzar (Ezr. 1:1). This presumably occurred before 535 and perhaps as early as 538. The second temple was begun in the second year of the return (3:8). The work was suspended, however, and not resumed until the second year of Darius I, 520 (4:24). It was completed in 515, Darius' sixth year (6:15). There are then no more data until the time of Ezra and Nehemiah in the middle of the following century.

The traditional dates of Ezra and Nehemiah have been arrived at by means of synchronisms with reigning Persian monarchs. According to Ezr. 7:7, Ezra and the second group of returnees reached Jerusalem in the seventh year of 这就是尼布甲尼撒七年、十八年和二十三年三次掳走犹太人的时间（耶 52:28-30）。尼布甲尼撒七年结束于公元前 597 年亚达月，耶路撒冷在这个月首次被占领，但尼布甲尼撒十八年结束于公元前 586 年亚达月，也就是耶路撒冷沦陷前四个月。然而，根据《耶利米书》52:12-13 中的记载，尼布甲尼撒显然在他在位第十八年攻入了耶路撒冷，并烧毁圣殿，无论《耶利米书》52:29 想表达怎样的思想，都不足以证明耶路撒冷在尼布甲尼撒十八年，即公元前 587 年被摧毁。

VI. 被掳时期和被掳回归时期。《圣经》中关于这一时期的信息很少，其中只有一个主要的年代问题，即以斯拉和尼希米的关系。其他的年代都非常的清晰。居鲁士约在公元前 538 年下诏，命令第一批从被掳回归的人在设巴萨的带领下重建圣殿（拉 1:1）。这件事可能发生在公元前 535 年之前，也有可能发生在公元前 538 年。被掳之人在回归之后第二年开始重建圣殿（拉 3:8）。不过，重建圣殿的工作中途停了下来，直到大流士一世第二年，也就是公元前 520 年才重新开始（拉 4:24）。第二圣殿在公元前 515 年，也就是大流士六年最终建成（拉 6:15）。之后再没有其他的信息，直到下世纪中叶的以斯拉和尼希米时期。

传统的以斯拉和尼希米所处的年代是通过对照同时期波斯王的历史年谱得到的。根据《以斯拉记》7:7 中的描述，以斯拉和第二批回归的人在亚达薛西七年回到耶路撒冷，而尼希米在亚达薛西二十年回到耶路撒冷。有人认为这个

Artaxerxes, whereas Nehemiah came to Jerusalem in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes. It has been assumed that this is Artaxerxes I, in which case the respective dates would be 458 and 445. However, many scholars have become convinced that conditions described in the book of Ezra relate to a period after Nehemiah's work. Thus, the hypothesis is advanced that Ezra came to Jerusalem in the seventh year of Artaxerxes II, or 398. This theory, however, denies the statements of Neh. 8f. that Ezra was a contemporary of Nehemiah. In response to this, another theory has suggested that perhaps Ezr. 7:7 originally read "thirty-seventh year," which would put Ezra's return in 428 B.C. Since both numbers begin with the same Hebrew letter, it is suggested that the thirty was dropped through scribal error. There is, however, no textual support for the conjecture.

Of the evidence that supposedly demands placing Ezra after Nehemiah, only one aspect constitutes a serious objection to the traditional dating. This is found in Ezr. 10:6, where Ezra is made a contemporary of Johanan (RSV "Jehohanan"), the son of Eliashib. The difficulty appears when one reads that the high priest at the time of Nehemiah was named Eliashib (Neh. 3:1, 20f.; 13:4) and that this Eliashib had a grandson named Johanan (13:22f.) who was, according to the Elephantine papyri, high priest in 408. If the Johanan of Ezr. 10 was the Johanan who was high priest in 408, then only the second theory is possible; however, this theory, as was pointed out above, does violence to the text of Nehemiah. In view of this, and especially since Johanan is not said to be high priest in Ezra, there is not sufficient reason to abandon the traditional view for theories that have problems at least as great.

CHRONOLOGY OF THE NT.

In the reckoning of time, the ancient world used the same units that we use today: days, months, years, and eras. The day usually began at sunrise, sunset, or midnight. The month began originally at the new moon, and was alternately twenty-nine and thirty days long. The year usually began in relation to a certain position of the sun (solstice or equinox), and had twelve months. The discrepancy between twelve lunar months and one solar year was rectified with greater or less precision by intercalation of additional days or months, or by alteration of the length of months. The era, in turn, was a sequence of years reckoned from a definite point called the epoch.

In the NT period the calendars chiefly in use were the Egyptian with the year beginning on Thoth 1 = Aug. 29; the Syro-Macedonian with the year beginning on Hyperberetaios 1 = Oct. 1; the Julian with the year beginning on Jan. 1; and the Jewish with the year beginning on Tishri (Sept./Oct.) 1, or on Nisan (Mar./Apr.) 1. Eras used were the Seleucid, which began in the older form of the Macedonian calendar on Dios 1 = Oct. 7, 312 B.C., and in the Babylonian calendar on Nisanu 1 = Apr. 3, 311 B.C.; the Greek era of the Olympiads, which began July 1, 776 B.C.; and the Roman era, which reckoned from the founding of the city of Rome (Lat. ab urbe condita). The Roman antiquarian Varro gives a date equivalent to Apr. 21, 753 B.C., for the founding of Rome, but in practice the year was reckoned from Jan. 1 (Lietzmann, Zeitrechnung, p. 12); accordingly A.U.C. 753 = 1 B.C. and A.U.C. 754 = A.D. 1.

古代世界计算时间的单位与今天计算时间的单位是相同的, 这些时间单位包括: 天、月、年和纪元。一天通常从日出、日落或午夜开始算起。一个月通常从新月开始算起, 上一个月 29 天, 下一个月就是 30 天。一年通常从太阳处于某一位置时开始算起(夏[冬]至或春[秋]分), 包括 12 个月。古人通过增加一年的天数或月数, 或者通过改变月份的天数大致准确地矫正了十二个太阴月与一个太阳年之间的差异。一个纪元包括一系列的年代, 它从新纪元这个确定的节点开始算起。

新约时期使用的主要历法是埃及的历法, 这种历法将透特月 1 日, 也就是 8 月 29 日作为新的一年的开始; 叙利亚和马其顿的历法将海坡波拉特斯 (Hyperberetaios) 月 1 日, 即 10 月 1 日作为新年第一天; 儒略历将 1 月 1 日作为新的一年的开始; 犹太历将提斯利月 (九月或十月) 1 日或尼散月 (三月或四月) 1 日作为新年第一天。新约时期使用的纪元是塞琉古王朝时期的纪元, 从古老马其顿历的公元前 312 年迪奥斯 (Dios) 月 1 日, 也就是 10 月 7 日开始算起, 在巴比伦历法中从公元前 311 年巴散努月 1 日, 即 4 月 3 日开始; 以四年为一周期的希腊纪元从公元前 776 年 7 月 1 日开始; 罗马纪元从建罗马城开始算起 (拉丁语: ab urbe condita)。罗马古文物研究者瓦罗认为罗马在公元前 753 年 4 月 21 日建立罗

The Christian era is reckoned from the birth of Jesus and based upon the calculations of Dionysius Exiguus, who, in preparing Easter tables in A.D. 525, said: "We have chosen to note the years from the incarnation of our Lord Jesus Christ." The date established was at least four years too late, however, for by this reckoning Herod the Great, under whom Jesus was born, died in 4 B.C. In the discussion of the chronology of the life of Jesus, the Varronian era will be used coordinately with the Dionysian.

I. Chronology of the Life of Jesus.-A. Birth of Jesus. Jesus was born before the death of Herod the Great (Mt. 2:1ff.), at the time of a census or enrollment made in the territory of Herod in accordance with a decree of Augustus, during the governorship of Quirinius (RSV; AV Cyrenius) in the Roman province of Syria (Lk. 2:1f.). At the time of Jesus' birth a star led the Magi of the East to seek in Jerusalem the infant whom they subsequently found in Bethlehem (Mt. 2:1ff). John the Baptist was born six months before Jesus (Lk. 1:36), also in the days of Herod (Lk. 1:5; cf. 2:1), after his father Zechariah, of the priestly course of Abijah, had been performing the functions of his office in the temple.

I. 耶稣生平的年表。A. 耶稣降生的时间。耶稣在希律大帝去世前降生(太 2:1 起), 此时罗马行省叙利亚的巡抚居里扭(《修订标准译本》和《钦定版圣经》译为 Cyrenius[居里扭])按照奥古斯都的命令在希律的领土范围内进行了一次人口普查或报名上册(路 2:1-2)。耶稣诞生时, 东方的博士在一颗星星的指引下往耶路撒冷寻找一个婴孩, 他们后来在伯利恒找到这个婴孩(太 2:1 起)。施洗约翰也出生于希律时期(路 1:5; 参: 路 2:1), 在他父亲, 也就是亚比雅班里的祭司撒迦利亚在圣殿中任职之后, 且比耶稣早出生 6 个月(路 1:36)。

1. Death of Herod. The death of Herod the Great occurred in the spring of 750/4. (These alternative numbers signify A.U.C. or A.D., 750 A.U.C. = 4 B.C., etc.) He ruled from his appointment in Rome 714/40

1. 希律死亡时间。希律大帝在罗马建城之后 750 年或公元前 4 年的春季逝世。(这些可以相互替换的数字分别表示罗马建城纪元和基督纪元, 罗马建城之后 750 年就是公元前 4 年。)罗马建城

(Josephus Ant. xiv.14.4f.; in the consulship of Caius Domitius Calvinus and Caius Asinius Pollio) thirty-seven years, and from his accession in Jerusalem after the capture of the city 717/37 (Ant. xiv.16.1–3; BJ i.17.9; 18.1–3; Dio Cassius Hist. xlix.22; cf. Schürer, *HJP*², I, 284 n.11) thirty-four years (Ant. xvii.18.1; BJ i.33.7f.; cf. *HJP*², I, 326 n.165, where it is shown that Josephus reckons a year too much, probably counting from Nisan 1 and including partial years). Just before Herod's death there was an eclipse of the moon (Ant. xvii.6.4). According to astronomical calculations an eclipse was visible in Palestine on Mar. 23 and Sept. 15, 749/5; Mar. 12, 750/4; and Jan. 9, 753/1. Of these the most probable is that of Mar. 12, 750/4. Soon after the eclipse Herod put to death his son Antipater and died five days later (Ant. xvii.7; BJ i.33.7). Shortly after Herod's death the Passover was near at hand (Ant. xvii.6.4–9.3). In this year Nisan 14 fell on April 11; and as Archelaus had observed seven days of mourning for his father before this, Herod's death would fall between Mar. 17 and Apr. 4. But as the thirty-seventh (thirty-fourth) year of his reign was probably reckoned from Nisan 1 or Mar. 29, his death may be dated between Mar. 29 and Apr. 4, 750/4.

This date for Herod's death is confirmed by the evidence for the duration of the reigns of his three sons. Archelaus was deposed in 759/6 (Dio Cassius Hist. lv.27; in the consulship of Aemilius Lepidus and Lucius Arruntius) in the tenth year of his reign (Ant. xvii.13.2; cf.

之后 714 年或公元前 40 年，希律就被罗马帝国封为耶路撒冷的王 (Josephus Ant. xiv.14.414.5; 该尤·多米丢·卡尔维努斯和该尤·阿西尼乌斯·波利奥执政时期)，在位 37 年，他在罗马建城之后 717 年或公元前 37 年占领了耶路撒冷 (Ant. xiv.16.1–3; BJ i.17.9; 18.1–3; Dio Cassius Hist. xlix.22; 参: Schürer, *HJP*², I, 284, 注释 11)，之后统治耶路撒冷 34 年 (Ant. xvii.18.1; BJ i.33.7–33.8; 参: *HJP*², I, 326, 注释 165, 这些作品表明约瑟夫斯计算出的时间太长了，这个时间可能从尼散月 1 日算起，包括了一些不完整的年份)。就在希律去世之前，天上出现了一次月食 (Ant. xvii.6.4)。根据天文学计算结果，罗马建城之后 749 年或公元前 5 年 3 月 23 日和 9 月 15 日，罗马建城之后 750 年或公元前 4 年 3 月 12 日，以及罗马建城之后 753 年或公元 1 年 1 月 9 日在巴勒斯坦地区都出现过一次月食。希律去世时出现的月食最有可能是罗马建城之后 750 年或公元前 4 年 3 月 12 日那次月食。月食过后不久希律将儿子安提帕特处死并于五天后去世 (Ant. xvii.7; BJ i.33.7)。希律死后不久就要过逾越节了 (Ant. xvii.6.4–9.3)。在这一年，尼散月 14 日恰逢 4 月 11 日；由于逾越节之前，亚基老已为他的父亲服丧 7 天，所以希律去世的日期应该介于 3 月 17 日与 4 月 4 日之间。但因为希律在位第三十七年 (第三十四年) 可能从尼散月 1 日或 3 月 29 日开始算起，所以希律可能死于罗马建城之后 750 年或公元前 4 年 3 月 29 日与 4 月 4 日之间的某一天。

BJ ii.7.3, which gives the year as the 9th). Antipas was deposed most probably in the summer of 792/39 (Ant. xvii.7.1f.; cf. 6.11; xix.8.2; BJ ii.9.6; *HJP*², I, 352 n. 42, and 327 n.165). There are coins of Antipas from his forty-third year (F. W. Madden, Coins of the Jews [1881], pp. 121ff.). The genuineness of a coin from the forty-fourth year is questioned by Schürer but accepted by Madden. The coin from the forty-fifth year is probably spurious (*HJP*², I, 327 n.165). Philip died after reigning thirty-seven years, in the twentieth year of Tiberius—Aug. 19, 786/33–787/34 (Ant. xviii.4.6). There is also a coin of Philip from his thirty-seventh year (Madden, p. 126). Thus Archelaus, Antipas, and Philip began to reign in 750/4. The death of Herod in 4 B.C. has been questioned by W. E. Filmer in JTS, N.S. 17 (1966), 283–298, but decisively reaffirmed by T. D. Barnes in JTS, N.S. 19 (1968), 204–209.

2. Census of Quirinius. The census or enrollment, which according to Lk. 2:1f was the occasion of the journey of Joseph and Mary to Bethlehem where Jesus was born, is connected with a decree of Augustus embracing the Greco-Roman world. This decree must have been carried out in Palestine by Herod and probably in accordance with the Jewish method—each going to his own city—rather than the Roman. Certainly there is no intimation of an insurrection such as characterized a later census (Acts 5:37; Ant. xviii.1.1; BJ ii.17.7; cf. Tacitus Ann. vi.41; Livy Epit. cxxxviii–cxxxix; Dessau, no. 212, col. 2, line 36), and this may have been due in no small measure to a difference in method. Both Josephus and Luke mention the later census made by Quirinius on the deposition of Archelaus, together with the insurrection of Judas that accompanied it. But while Josephus does not mention the Herodian census—although there may be some intimation of it in Ant. xvi.9.3 and xvii.2.4 (cf. Wm. M. Ramsay, Was Christ Born at Bethlehem? [3rd ed. 1905], pp. 178ff.)—Luke carefully distinguishes the two, characterizing the census at the time of Jesus' birth as "first," i.e., first in a series of enrollments connected either with Quirinius or with the imperial policy inaugurated by the decree of Augustus.

The Greco-Roman writers of the time do not mention this decree, and later writers (Cassiodorus, Isidorus, and Suidas) cannot be relied upon with certainty as independent witnesses. Yet the geographical work of Agrippa and the preparation of a breviarium totius imperii by Augustus (Tacitus Ann. i.11; Dio Cassius Hist. liii.30; lvi.33; cf. T. Mommsen, Römisches Staatsrecht [1887–1888], II, 1025 n. 3), together with the interest of the emperor in the organization and finances of the empire and the attention he gave to the provinces (J. Marquardt, Römische Staatsverwaltung [2nd ed. 1881], II, 211f., cf. 217), are indirectly corroborative of Luke's statement. Augustus himself conducted a census in Italy in 726/28, 746/8, 767/14 and in Gaul in 727/27 (Dio Cassius liii.22.5; Livy Epit. cxxxiv), and had a census taken in other provinces (Pauly-Wissowa, III/2, 1918f.; Marquardt, II, 213). For Egypt there is evidence of a regular periodic census every fourteen years extending back to 773/20 (Ramsay, pp. 131ff.; B. Grenfell and A. Hunt, Oxyrhyncus Papyri, II [1898], 207ff.; U. Wilcken, Griechische Ostraka [1899], I, 444ff.), and it is not improbable that this procedure was introduced by Augustus (*HJP*², I, 404 n. 17). The inference from Egypt to similar conditions in other provinces must indeed be made cautiously (Wilcken, p. 449; Marquardt, p. 441); yet in Syria the regular tributum capitis seems to imply some such preliminary work (Marquardt, II, 200 n. 2; Ramsay, p. 154).

了这次人口普查过程中出现的犹太叛乱。不过，虽然约瑟夫斯没有提到希律的人口普查，尽管这次人口普查可能指的是《犹太古史》十六卷9章3节至十七卷2章4节中的那次人口普查（参：Wm. M. Ramsay, Was Christ Born at Bethlehem? [1905年第3版], 178页起），但是路加谨慎区分了这两次人口普查，耶稣出生时的那次人口普查被称为“第一次人口普查”，也就是说，第一次报名上册要么与居里扭有关，要么与奥古斯都法令中颁布的帝国政策有关。

The time of the decree is stated only in general terms by Luke, and it may have been as early as 727/27 (Marquardt, II, 212) or as late as 746/8 (Ramsay, pp. 158ff.), its execution in different provinces and subject kingdoms being carried out at different times. Hence Luke dates the census in the kingdom of Herod specifically by connecting it with the administrative functions of Quirinius in Syria. But as P. Quintilius Varus was the legate of Syria just before and after the death of Herod from 748/6 to 750/4 (Ant. xvii.5.2; 9.3; 10.1, 9; 11.1; Tacitus Hist. v.9; and coins in J. Eckhel, Doctrina numorum veterum [1792–1798], III, 275) and his predecessor was C. Sentius Saturninus from 745/9 to 748/6 (Ant. xvi.9.1; 10:8; xi.3; xvii.1.1; 2.1; 3.2), there seems to be no place for Quirinius during the closing years of Herod's reign. Tertullian indeed speaks of Saturninus as legate at the time of Jesus' birth (Adv. Marc. iv.9). The interpretation of Luke's statement as indicating a date for the census before Quirinius was legate (C. G. Wieseler, Chronologische Synopse [1843], p. 116; M. J. Lagrange, RB, 20 [1911], 80–84) is inadmissible. It is possible that the connection of the census with Quirinius may be due to his having brought to completion what was begun by one of his predecessors; or Quirinius may have been commissioned especially by the emperor as legatus ad census accipiendos to conduct a census in Syria, and this commission may have been connected temporally with his campaign against the Homonadenses in Cilicia (Tacitus Ann. iii.48; cf. E. Noris, Cenotaphia Pisana [1681], pp. 320ff.; Ramsay, p. 238). It has also been suggested by R. Bour (L'Inscription de Quirinius [1897], pp. 48ff.) that Quirinius may have been an imperial procurator specially charged with authority in the matter of the Herodian census. The titulus Tiburtinus (CIL, XIV, 3613; Dessau, no. 918), if rightly assigned to him—and there seems to be no sufficient reason for questioning the conclusiveness of Mommsen's defense of this attribution (cf. W. Liebenam, Forschungen zur Verwaltungsgeschichte [1888], p. 365)—proves that he was twice legate of Syria, and the titulus Venetus (CIL, III, 6687; Dessau, no. 2683) gives evidence of a census conducted by him in Syria. His administration is dated by Ramsay (p. 243) in 747/7; by Mommsen in the end of 750/4 or 751/3 (pp. 172ff.). The synchronism of the second census of Quirinius with the periodic year of the Egyptian census is probably only a coincidence, for it was occasioned by the deposition of Archelaus; but its extension to Syria may be indicative of its connection with the imperial policy inaugurated by Augustus (Tacitus Ann. vi.41; Ramsay, pp. 161f.). Stauffer (pp. 25f.) suggests that in Syria the prima descriptio Romana was a long process: what Luke describes is the apographa, a systematic listing of all taxable persons and property for which everyone had to appear personally; what Josephus reports is the apotimesis, the official assessment of taxes. Quirinius, he thinks (pp. 30f.), was Roman commander-in-chief of the Orient from 12 B.C. to A.D. 16; he began the apographa in Palestine in 7 B.C., completed the apotimesis in A.D. 7. J. Vardaman in an unpublished paper (“Lysanias and Quirinius: A New Solution through Micrographics” [1975]) adduces evidence that, while Saturninus and Varus were indeed legates of Syria, the supreme authority in Syria and other eastern territories was Quirinius, who served continuously as proconsul of Syria and Cilicia from 11 B.C. until at least 3 B.C. (therefore until after the death of Herod the Great) and at the same time was also procurator of numerous provinces, including Judea.

207 起; U. Wilcken, Griechische Ostraka [1899], I, 444 起), 有可能是奥古斯都将人口普查带到了埃及 (*HJP*², I, 404, 注释 17)。实际上, 必须谨慎地推测埃及的人口普查与其他行省中的人口普查是否类似 (Wilcken, 449 页; Marquardt, 441 页); 不过, 人口普查似乎为叙利亚定期征收人头税 (tributum capitis) 做了准备 (Marquardt, II, 200, 注释 2; Ramsay, 154 页)。

3. Star of the Magi. The identification of the star of the Magi (Mt. 2:2; cf. 2:7, 9, 16; Macrobius Saturnalia II, 4; Ramsay, pp. 215ff.) and the determination of the time of its appearance cannot be made with certainty, although it has been associated with a conjunction in 747/7 and 748/6 of Saturn and Jupiter in the sign of Pisces—a constellation that was thought to stand in close relation to the Jewish nation (C. L. Ideler, Handbuch der mathematischen und technischen Chronologie [1825], II, 400ff.). This very conjunction was in fact recorded at this time in Babylonia (P. Schnabel in Zeitschrift für Assyriologie, 36 [1925], 66–70). When the Magi came to Jerusalem, however, Herod was present in the city; and this must have been at least several months before his death, for during that time he was sick and absent from Jerusalem (Ant. xvii.6.1ff.; BJ i.33.1ff.).

3. 博士看到那颗星的时间。无法确定博士看到的那颗星是什么星(太2:2;参:太2:7, 9, 16; Macrobius Saturnalia II, 4; Ramsay, 215页起),也无法确定这颗星出现的时间,但这颗星可能与罗马建城之后747或公元前7年和罗马建城之后748年或公元前6年双鱼座中土星和木星的汇合有关——双鱼座被认为是与犹太民族存在密切关系的星座(C. L. Ideler, Handbuch der mathematischen und technischen Chronologie [1825], II, 400起)。巴比伦实际上记录了木星和土星的这次汇合(P. Schnabel in Zeitschrift für Assyriologie, 36 [1925], 66–70)。然而,当博士来到耶路撒冷时,希律王也在耶路撒冷;这时距离希律去世至少还有几个月的时间,因为在他死前那几个月,他得了病,离开了耶路撒冷(Ant. xvii.6.1起; BJ i.33.1起)。

Another possibility (and perhaps a complementary one, if the conjunction may be taken as a preliminary sign) is to connect the star with celestial observations recorded in Chinese sources. Here a comet or nova is reported in March, 5 B.C., and in April, 4 B.C. (K. Lundmark in Actes du VIIe Congrès International d'Histoire des Sciences [1953], pp. 436–39; H. W. Montefiore, Nov.Test., 4[1960], 143f.).

4. Course of Abijah. Chronological calculation of the time of the service of the priestly course of Abijah in the temple have been made by reckoning back from the time of the course of Jehoiarib, which, according to Jewish tradition, was serving at the time of the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus. These calculations have been held to be uncertain (GJV, II, 337 n. 3; briefer in HJP, II/1, 274 n. 211; cf. T. Lewin, Fasti Sacri [1865], p. 836), but a six-year almanac from Qumrân also gives the number, name, and order of the priestly courses and confirms Tishri 1 as the beginning point of their rotation, leading together with other evidence to a possible fixing of the Annunciation to Mary in the spring of the year and of the birth of Jesus around the time of the winter solstice (R. T. Beckwith, RQ, 33 [1977], 73–94).

5. Day and Month. As to the day and month of Jesus' birth, Dec. 25 was celebrated by the Church in the West as early as the 2nd cent., if the date determined by Hippolytus be genuine (cf. A. Ehrhard, Altchristliche Literature [1900], p. 383); but Jan. 6 was celebrated in the East as the anniversary both of the birth and of the baptism. Since these are

4. 亚比雅担任祭司的时间。通过估计耶何雅立任祭司的时间可以计算出亚比雅在圣殿中履行祭司职分的年代，根据犹太人的传说，耶何雅立在提图斯皇帝摧毁耶路撒冷时担任祭司一职。无法确定这些计算出的年代是否准确（GJV, II, 337, 注释 3；更简短的描述，见 HJP, II/1, 274, 注释 211；参：T. Lewin, Fasti Sacri [1865], 836 页），不过，昆兰文献中的一个六年的年历指出了祭司的任期、祭司的名字和顺序，并证实了提斯利月 1 日是祭司轮值的开始时间，根据这个六年的年历和其他的证据，天使向马利亚报喜可能发生在春天，耶稣可能在冬至前后出生（R. T. Beckwith, RQ, 33 [1977], 73–94）。

5. 耶稣诞生的日期和月份。如果希坡律陀确定的日期是正确的，那么耶稣的出生日期是 12 月 25 日，西方的教会早在公元 2 世纪就在每年 12 月 25 日庆祝耶稣诞生（参：A. Ehrhard, Altchristliche Literature [1900], 383 页）；但是东方每年在 1 月 6 日举行庆祝活动，并将这一天视为耶稣降生和受洗的日子。因为这两个日期都是古代记录的冬至时间，所

both ancient recorded datings for the winter solstice, this fact may have contributed to the choice of the exact dates, understandably if there were already a historical tradition that Jesus had been born around that time of the year. That shepherds were keeping watch over their flocks at night when Jesus was born (Lk. 2:8) does not make it impossible that the season of the year was winter. (See R. T. Beckwith, RQ, 33 [1977], 73–94.)

6. Summary. The birth of Jesus may therefore be assigned to the period 747/7 to 750/4, before the death of Herod, at the time of a census made by Herod in accordance with a decree of Augustus and when Quirinius was exercising extraordinary authority in Syria—Saturninus or Varus being the regular legate of the province, i.e., probably in 747/7–748/6, or perhaps in 749/5–750/4.

B. Baptism of Jesus. The Synoptic Gospels begin their description of the public ministry of Jesus with an account of the ministry of John the Baptist (Mt. 3:1ff.; Mk. 1:1ff.; Lk. 3:1ff.; cf. Jn. 1:19ff.; 4:24; Josephus Ant. xviii.3.3), and Luke definitely dates the baptism of Jesus by John in the fifteenth year of Tiberius. Luke also designates this event as the beginning of Jesus' ministry, and by stating Jesus' age approximately brings it into connection with the date of His birth. If Luke reckoned the reign of Tiberius from the death of Augustus, Aug. 19, 767/14, the fifteenth year would extend from Aug. 19, 781/28 to Aug. 18, 782/29. This indeed was one of the common modes of reckoning the imperial reigns. The mode of reckoning from the assumption of the tribunician power or from the designation as emperor is altogether unlikely in Luke's case and intrinsically improbable, since for Tiberius the one began in 748/6 and the other in 745/9 (Dio Cassius lv.9; liv.33; Velleius ii.99; Suetonius Tiberius 9). But if, as seems likely, the method of reckoning by imperial years rather than by the yearly consuls was not definitely fixed when Luke wrote, it is possible that he may have counted the years of Tiberius from his appointment in 764/11 or 765/12 to equal authority with Augustus in the provinces (Velleius ii.121; Suetonius Tiberius 20; Tacitus Ann. i.3). This method seems not to have been employed elsewhere (Lewin, pp. 1143f.; cf. Ramsay, pp. 202f.). The coins of Antioch in which it is found are regarded as spurious (Eckhel, III, 276), the genuine coins reckoning the reign of Tiberius from the death of Augustus (III, 278). If Luke reckoned the reign of Tiberius from 764/11 or 765/12, the fifteenth year would fall in 778/25 or 779/26, probably the latter. At all events, Luke's "about thirty" for Jesus' age at the time is only approximate.

6. 综述。因此,耶稣可能在希律王死前,于罗马建城之后 747 年或公元前 7 年至罗马建城之后 750 年或公元前 4 年之间的某一天降生,此时希律王正在按照奥古斯都的命令进行人口普查,此时,居里扭正在叙利亚行使特殊的权柄——撒土尼努和瓦卢斯正在担任罗马教皇驻叙利亚行省的普通使节,此时可能处于罗马建城之后 747 年或公元前 7 年至罗马建城之后 748 年或公元 6 年之间,或者可能处于 749 年或公元前 5 年至罗马建城之后 750 年或公元 4 年之间。

*B. 耶稣受洗的时间。*对观福音书从叙述施洗约翰传道开始描述耶稣公开传道(太 3:1 起;可 1:1 起;路 3:1 起;参:约 1:19 起; 4:24; Josephus Ant. xviii.3.3),路加认为约翰在提庇留在位十五年为耶稣施洗。路加同时指出耶稣受洗标志着耶稣传道的开始,他提到了耶稣传道时的年龄,从而大致可以推算出耶稣出生的日期。根据路加的描述,如果提庇留在罗马建城之后 767 年,即公元 14 年 8 月 19 日奥古斯都去世时登上了皇位,那么提庇留在位十五年就是从罗马建城之后 781 年,即公元 28 年 8 月 19 日到罗马建城之后 782 年,即公元 29 年 8 月 18 日。这实际上是计算帝王统治时间的普通方法之一。路加似乎没有从提庇留掌握政治大权或封为皇帝的时候开始计算他的在位时间,从本

C. First Passover. At the time of the first Passover in Jesus' ministry the Herodian temple had been under construction for forty-six years (Jn. 2:20), Herod began the temple in the eighteenth year of his reign (Ant. xv.11.1, which probably corrects the statement in BJ i.21.1 that it was the fifteenth year; cf. *HJP*², I, 292 n. 12). As Josephus reckons from the accession of Herod in 717/37, the eighteenth year would be 734/20 to 735/19 and forty-six years later would be

质上说, 这种计算方法也是不可能的, 因为有人说提庇留在罗马建城之后 748 年, 即公元前 6 年登上帝位, 也有人说他在罗马建城之后 745 年, 即公元前 9 年登上帝位 (Dio Cassius lv.9; liv.33; Velleius ii.99; Suetonius Tiberius 9)。但是, 如果路加在写《路加福音》时, 以皇帝登基年数而不是以执政官在位年数计算年代的方法还没有完全确定下来, 那么路加可能从罗马建城之后 764 年, 即公元 11 年, 或者从罗马建城之后 765 年, 即公元 12 年提庇留在行省中成为与奥古斯都平起平坐的权威时开始计算提庇留在位时间 (Velleius ii.121; Suetonius Tiberius 20; Tacitus Ann. i.3)。其他地方中似乎没有使用这种计算方法 (Lewin, 1143-1144 页; 参: Ramsay, 202-203 页)。安提阿的硬币之所以被认为是伪造的, 用的就是这种计算方法 (Eckhel, III, 276), 而真实的硬币从奥古斯都去世开始计算提庇留在位时间 (III, 278)。如果路加从罗马建城之后 764 年, 即公元 11 年, 或者罗马建城之后 765 年, 即公元 12 年开始计算提庇留在位时间, 那么提庇留在位第十五年是应该是罗马建城之后 778 年, 即公元 25 年, 或者罗马建城之后 779 年, 即公元 26 年, 后一个时间更有可能成立。总之, 《路加福音》中提到了耶稣传道时“约三十岁”, 这个年龄只是概数。

C. 第一个逾越节的时间。耶稣传道过程中第一个逾越节到来时, 希律的圣殿已经建造了 46 年 (约 2:20), 希律从他在位第十八年开始建造圣殿 (Ant. xv.11.1, 《犹太古史》可能纠正了《犹太战史》[BJ i.21.1]中的描述, 《犹太战史》中描述道, 希律在他在位第十五年开始建造圣殿; 参: *HJP*², I, 292, 注释 12)。按照约瑟夫斯的计算方法, 如果希律在罗马建城之后 717 年, 即公元前 37 年登上王位, 那么希律十八年就是从罗马建城之后 734 年, 即公元前 20

780/27 to 781/28. It is possible, however, that Ant. xv.11.1 means that Herod had passed through his eighteenth year, i.e., was already in his nineteenth year, which would be 735/19 to 736/18, and then forty-six years later would be 781/28 to 782/29. This would then agree with the Lukan dating of the baptism in the year from Aug. 19, 781/28 to Aug. 18, 782/29.

D. Death of John the Baptist. The imprisonment of John the Baptist, which began before Jesus started His Galilean work (cf. Mt. 11:2–19; Lk. 7:18–35), was terminated by beheading at the order of Herod Antipas. Announcement of the death was made to Jesus when He was in the midst of His Galilean ministry (Mt. 14:3–12; Mk. 6:14–29; Lk. 9:7–9). Josephus reports that the defeat of Antipas by Aretas, in the summer of 789/36, was popularly regarded as a divine punishment for the murder of John (Ant. xviii.5.2). But although Josephus mentions the divorce of Aretas' daughter by Antipas as one of the causes of hostilities, no inference can be drawn from this or from the popular interpretation of Antipas' defeat, by which the interval between John's death and this defeat can be fixed (cf. H. W. Hoehner, Herod Antipas [1972], p. 125).

E. Length of Jesus' Ministry. The Synoptic Gospels mention the Passion Passover at which Jesus' ministry was terminated, but they contain no data by which the interval between the imprisonment of John the Baptist and this Passover can be fixed with certainty. Yet indications are not wanting that the interval consisted of at least two years. The sabbath controversy broke out in Galilee when the grain was still standing in the fields (Mt. 12:1; Mk. 2:23; Lk. 6:1), and the condition of the grass when the five thousand were fed (Mt. 14:15; Mk. 6:39; Lk. 9:12) points to the springtime, the Passion Passover marking the return of still another springtime (cf. also Lk. 13:7; Mt. 23:37). But the Gospel of John mentions explicitly three Passovers (2:13; 6:4; 11:55) and probably implies a fourth (5:1), thus necessitating a ministry of at least two years and making probable a ministry of three years after the first Passover. The Passover of Jn. 6:4 cannot be eliminated on textual grounds, for the documentary evidence is conclusive in its favor and the argument against it based on the statements of certain patristic writers is unconvincing (cf. Turner, HDB, I, 407f.; T. Zahn, Kommentar zum NT [1903], IV, 708ff.). The indications of time from 6:4—the Passover when the five thousand were fed in Galilee—to 11:55—the Passion Passover—are definite and clear (7:2; 10:22). But the interval between the first Passover (2:23) and the Galilean Passover (6:4) must have been one and may have been two years. The following considerations favor the latter view: Jesus was present in Jerusalem at a feast (5:1) which is not named but is called simply “a” or “the” feast of the Jews. The best authorities for the text are divided, some supporting the insertion, others the omission of the definite article before “feast”. If the article formed part of the original text, the feast may have been either Tabernacles—from the Jewish point of view—or Passover—from the Christian point of view. If the article was wanting in the original text, the identification of the feast must be made on contextual and other grounds. But the note of the time in 4:35 indicates the lapse of about nine months since the Passover of 2:23, and it is not likely that the Galilean ministry that preceded the feeding of the five thousand lasted only about three months. In fact, this is rendered impossible by the condition of the grain in the fields at the time of the sabbath controversy. The identification of the feast of Jn. 5:1 with Purim, even if the article be not genuine, is extremely improbable; and if so, a Passover must have intervened between 2:23 and 6:4, making the ministry of Jesus extend over a period of three years and the months that preceded the Passover of 2:23. While the identification cannot be made with certainty it seems likely that the feast was Passover; for in this case the subject of the controversy with the Jews in Jerusalem, as well as the season of the year, would harmonize with the Synoptic account of the sabbath controversy in Galilee that probably followed this passover (cf. the variant reading in Lk. 6:1). Stauffer (p. 6) adds an additional year to the interpretation of data in John: 1:29 assumes the Passover season at the baptism; 2:13ff. the (second) Passover and the cleansing of the temple; 4:35 winter, then the third Passover unmentioned, and in 5:1 autumn with the feast of Tabernacles; 6:4 the fourth Passover is at hand; 11:55, etc., the fifth and final Passover.

年到罗马建城之后 735 年,即公元前 19 年, 46 年后就是从罗马建城之后 780 年,即公元 27 年到罗马建城之后 781 年,即公元 28 年。不过,《犹太古史》十五卷 11 章 1 节可能表示的是,希律已经度过了登基后的第十八个年份,也就是说,当时已经是希律十九年,希律十九年是从罗马建城之后 735 年,即公元前 19 年到罗马建城之后 736 年,即公元 18 年,那么 46 年后就是从罗马建城之后 781 年,即公元 28 年到罗马建城之后 782 年,即公元 29 年。这就与路加确定的耶稣受洗时间一致,也就是从罗马建城之后 781 年,即公元 28 年 8 月 19 日至罗马建城之后 782 年,即公元 29 年 8 月 18 日中的某一天。

*D. 施洗约翰去世的时间。*耶稣在加利利传道之前,施洗约翰就开始遭到囚禁(参:太 11:2–19;路 7:18–35),最终奉希律安提帕之命约翰被斩首。耶稣在加利利传道时得知了约翰的死讯(太 14:3–12;可 6:14–29;路 9:7–9)。约瑟夫斯记载道,罗马建城之后 789 年,即公元 36 年夏天,亚哩达打败了安提帕,人们普遍因为这场失败是上帝对希律杀害约翰的惩罚(Ant. xviii.5.2)。虽然约瑟夫斯说,亚哩达女儿与安提帕离婚是这场战争的诱因之一,而且从离婚这件事或从安提帕战败的通俗解释中不能得出任何推论,但是根据安提帕的离婚时间,可以确定从约翰去世至安提帕战败的时间间隔(参: H. W. Hoehner, Herod Antipas [1972], 125 页)。

翰被囚到这个逾越节经历了多长的时间。大量经文证据表明这两件事至少相隔2年的时间。当麦穗还在麦地时，加利利地区突然出现了关于安息日的争论（太 12:1；可 2:23；路 6:1），从耶稣给五千人吃饱时草的长势（太 14:15；可 6:39；路 9:12）可以看出此时正值春季，耶稣受难的那个逾越节表明耶稣在另一个春天回到了这里（另参：路 13:7；太 23:37）。但《约翰福音》中明确地提到过三个逾越节（约 2:13；6:4；11:55），可能还暗指了第四个逾越节（约 5:1），这说明这次传道至少经历了两年时间，耶稣有可能在第一次逾越节之后又传道三年。根据经文中的证据，不能忽略掉《约翰福音》6:4 中的那个逾越节，因为确凿的书面证据证明了这个逾越节，而且以某些教父作家的描述为依据的反论点不足以令人信服（参：Turner, HDB, I, 407-408；T. Zahn, Kommentar zum NT [1903], IV, 708 起）。《约翰福音》6:4 中的逾越节是耶稣在加利利使五千人吃饱的那个逾越节，《约翰福音》11:55 中的那个逾越节是耶稣受难的那个逾越节，这两节经文中给出的时间非常明确、清晰（约 7:2；10:22）。但第一个逾越节（约 2:23）到耶稣在加利利过的逾越节（约 6:4）一定相隔一年的时间，有可能相隔两年的时间。下面这些理由证明了后一种观点：耶稣在节期出现在耶路撒冷（约 5:1），经文中没有提到这个节期的名字，只是提到这是“犹太人的一个节期”。最佳权威学者对这节经文的理解出现了分歧，有些人认为应该再加上一个逾越节，其他人则认为应该省略“节期”前的定冠词。如果最初的经文中也有冠词，那么这个节期可能是住棚节（犹太人的观点）或是逾越节（基督徒的观点）。如果最初的经文中没有这个冠词，那么必须根据上下文和其他证据来确定这个节期到底指的是什么节日。但是《约翰福音》4:35 表明，此时距离《约翰福音》2:23 中的逾越节约有九个月，而且在耶稣使五千人

F. Death of Jesus. Jesus was put to death in Jerusalem at the time of the Passover

吃饱之前，祂在加利利传道的时间不可能只有三个月左右。实际上，从安息日争论时麦地里麦子的长势可以看出不可能出现这样的情况。即使《约翰福音》5:1 最初的经文中没有冠词，其中提到的节期也极不可能是普林节；如果是这样的话，《约翰福音》2:23 和 6:4 中的两个逾越节之间应该还有一个逾越节，从而说明耶稣过《约翰福音》2:23 中的那个逾越节之前，祂已经传道三年零几个月。虽然还不能明确这个节期到底是什么节日，但它有可能是逾越节；因为如果这个节期是逾越节，那么与犹太人在耶路撒冷争论的话题和当年的季节就与对观福音书中这个逾越节之后在加利利地区出现的安息日争论一致（参：《路加福音》中的不同阐述）。斯托弗（Stauffer, 6 页）在解释《约翰福音》中的资料时多增加了一年：《约翰福音》1:29 假定了耶稣在逾越节受洗之事；《约翰福音》2:13 起提到了（第二个）逾越节和洁净圣殿；《约翰福音》4:35 中表明的季节是冬季，但没有提到第三个逾越节；《约翰福音》5:1 中表明的季节是秋季，即住棚节；《约翰福音》6:4 中提到第四个逾越节近了；《约翰福音》11:55 等表明这个逾越节是第五个也是最后一个逾越节。

F. 耶稣受难的时间。耶稣在逾越节在耶路撒冷被判死刑，此时本丢·彼拉多是

when Pontius Pilate was procurator of Judea (Mt. 27:2ff.; Mk. 15:1ff.; Lk. 23:1ff.; Jn. 18:29ff.; 19:1ff.; Acts 3:13; 4:27; 13:28; 1 Tim. 6:13; Tacitus Ann. xv.44), Caiaphas being the high priest (Mt. 26:3, 57; Jn. 11:49; 18:13ff.) and Herod Antipas the tetrarch of Galilee and Perea (Lk. 23:7ff.). Pilate was procurator from 779/26 to 789/36 (Ant. xviii.4.3; 5.3; cf. *HJP*², I, 382 n. 130), Caiaphas was high priest from 771/18 to 789/36 (Ant. xviii.2.2; 4.3; cf. HJP, II/1, 199), and Antipas was tetrarch from 750/4 to 792/39. If the first Passover of Jesus' ministry was in 780/27, the fourth would fall in 783/30. If the first Passover was in 782/29 and if we take a minimal interpretation of the Synoptic Gospels as supposing a ministry of only somewhat over one year, the death Passover was that of the following spring, 783/30; if we take a maximal interpretation of the Fourth Gospel as supposing a ministry that included five Passovers, the fifth would be in 786/33 (Stauffer, p. 8, makes the dates extend from A.D. 28 to 32).

The Gospels name the day before the sabbath (Friday) as the day of the crucifixion (Mt. 27:62; Mk. 15:42; Lk. 23:54; Jn. 19:14, 31, 42), and the Synoptic Gospels represent this Friday as Nisan 15 - the day following (or according to Jewish reckoning from sunset to sunset, the same day as) the day on which the paschal supper was eaten (Mt. 26:17ff.; Mk. 14:12ff.; Lk. 22:7ff.). But the Fourth Gospel is thought by many to represent the paschal meal as still uneaten when Jesus suffered (18:28; cf. 13:29); and it is held that the Synoptic Gospels also contain traces of this view (Mt. 26:5; Mk. 14:2; 15:21; Lk. 23:26). Astronomical calculations show that Nisan 14 could have fallen on Friday in 783/30 and again in 786/33 (H. von Soden, EB, I, 806; cf. B. W. Bacon, JBL, 28 [1909], 130–148; J. K. Fotheringham, JTS, 11 [1910], 120ff.; R. A. Parker and W. H. Dubberstein, Babylonian Chronology 626 B.C.–A.D. 75 [1956]), but the empirical character of the Jewish calendar renders the result of such calculations uncertain (*HJP*², I, 590f.). In the year 783/30 Friday, Nisan 14, would fall on Apr. 7; in 786/33 Friday, Nisan 14, would fall on Apr. 3. An attempt has also been made (Jaubert) to interpret the data of the Passion week in relation to the Jewish calendar that seems to be reflected in the books of Jubilees and 1 Enoch and to have been in use at Qumrân, in accordance with which the Passover supper would have been eaten already on the preceding Tuesday evening; but this interposes a greater length of time between the supper and the crucifixion than appears to be indicated by the Gospels. There is an early patristic tradition that dates the death of Jesus in the year 782/29, in the consulship of the Gemini (C. H. Turner, HDB, I, 413f.), but its origin and trustworthy character are problematical. For A.D. 30 as the most likely date see Bruce, NT History, p. 201 n. 20.

G. Summary of Dates. The death of Herod was in the spring of 4 B.C., and the birth of Jesus was prior to that, perhaps as much as two years (Mt. 2:16), and probably when Saturninus was legate of Syria (9–6 B.C.) and Quirinius was in supreme authority in the East; therefore the birth was probably in 6/7 B.C. The baptism of Jesus was in the fifteenth year of Tiberius (Aug. 19, 28 to Aug. 18, 29), probably in the fall of 28. the Fourth Gospel explicitly mentions three Passovers (2:13; 6:4; 11:55) but the first of these, with the cleansing of the temple, must be the same as that which the Synoptic Gospels place at the end (J. Marsh, Gospel of St. John [Pelican, 1968], p. 163). Therefore we have in fact to reckon with two Passovers: that of the spring of 29 and that of the spring of 30. The date of the crucifixion is probably Friday, Apr. 7, A.D. 30.

15:21; 路 23:26)。天文学计算结果表明，尼散月 14 日恰好是罗马建城之后 783 年，即公元 30 年和罗马建城之后 786 年，即公元 33 年的星期五 (H. von Soden, EB, I, 806; 参: B. W. Bacon, JBL, 28 [1909], 130–148; J. K. Fotheringham, JTS, 11 [1910], 120 起; R. A. Parker 和 W. H. Dubberstein, Babylonian Chronology 626 B.C.–A.D. 75 [1956])，但是因为犹太历完全根据经验计算时间，所以这些计算结果是靠不住的 (*HJP*², I, 590-591)。罗马建城之后 783 年或公元 30 年那个星期五，即尼散月 14 日恰好是 4 月 7 日；罗马建城之后 786 年或公元 33 年那个星期五，即尼散月 14 日恰好是 4 月 3 日。有些学者 (Jaubert) 也曾尝试用犹太历解释关于受难周的资料，《禧年书》和《以诺一书》中似乎体现出犹太历，昆兰似乎也使用了犹太历，根据犹太历的日期，耶稣已经在受难前的星期二晚上吃了逾越节晚餐；但根据犹太历得出的逾越节晚餐和耶稣被钉十字架之间的时间要比福音书中暗示出的时间长很多。早期的教父传统上认为耶稣受难发生在罗马建城之后 782 年或公元 29 年，在杰米尼做执政官时 (C. H. Turner, HDB, I, 413-414)，但这种说法的出处和可信度都是值得怀疑的。关于耶稣最有可能在公元 30 年受难的说法，见 Bruce, NT History, 201 页，注释 20。

G. 年代总结。 希律在公元前 4 年春季去世，而耶稣大概在希律去世两年前出生 (太 2:16)，此时撒土尼努有可能是罗马教皇驻叙利亚的使节 (公元前 9 年至公元前 6 年)，居里扭可能是东方的最高统治者；因此耶稣可能出生于公元

II. Chronology of the Apostolic Age.-A. Paul's Conversion. The chronology of the apostolic age must be based on the data in Acts and the epistolary literature of the NT which afford contacts with persons or events of the Greco-Roman world. From the fixed points thus secured, a general outline of the relative chronology may be established with reasonable probability.

The conversion of Paul followed the stoning of Stephen (Acts 7-9), an event that may probably be assigned to the time of permissiveness in the Roman administration of Palestine that began in A.D. 36 when Vitellius, imperial legate in Syria (35-37), deposed Pilate and sent Marcellus as his representative to Caesarea, and also replaced Caiaphas with Jonathan as high priest. If Paul's conversion ensued thereafter in A.D. 36, his visits to Jerusalem "after three years" and "after fourteen years" (Gal. 1:18; 2:1), each probably counted inclusively from that momentous event, were in A.D. 38 and 49 respectively, and the latter date was presumably also that of the Apostolic

II. 使徒时期的年表。A. 保罗悔改的时间。必须根据《使徒行传》和《新约》书信文献中的信息来确定使徒时期的年表,这些作品将使徒时期与希腊和罗马世界中的人和事联系起来。根据已经被证实的某些固定时间点,很有可能大致确立使徒时期的相对年代。

司提反被石头打死后(徒7-9),保罗悔改,司提反被石头打死这件事可能发生在罗马让巴勒斯坦地区自治的时期,这一时期从公元36年开始,此时罗马帝国驻叙利亚使节维特里乌斯罢黜了彼拉多,让马塞勒斯作他在凯撒利亚的代表,并让约拿单取代该亚法作大祭司。如果保罗随之在公元36年悔改,那么保罗“过了三年”和“过了十四年”两次上耶路撒冷(加1:18; 2:1)的时间应分别在公元38年和公元49年,这两个时间可能都是从保罗悔改那天算起的,耶路撒冷使徒会议(徒15)也可能是在公元49年举行的(B. Reicke, NT Era, 191-199页)。

Council (Acts 15) in Jerusalem (B. Reicke, NT Era, pp. 191–99).

Paul was converted near Damascus (Acts 9:3ff.; 22:5ff.; 26:12ff.; Gal. 1:17). After a brief stay in that city (Acts 9:19ff.) he went to Arabia and then came again to Damascus (Gal. 1:17). When he left Damascus the second time, he returned to Jerusalem after an absence of three years (Gal. 1:18). The flight of Paul from Damascus (Acts 9:24) probably terminated his second visit to the city. At that time the ethnarch Aretas (i.e., Aretas IV, who reigned as king of the Nabateans from ca. 9 B.C. until ca. A.D. 40), acting with the resident Jews (Acts 9:23f.), guarded the city in order to seize him (2 Cor. 11:32).

Damascus had been taken by the Romans in 62 B.C. and probably continued under their control until the death of Tiberius (March A.D. 37). Roman coins of Damascus have been found from the time of Augustus, Tiberius, and Nero, although there are no such coins from the time of Caligula and Claudius (*HJP*², I, 582; HJP, II/1, 97f.). Moreover, the relations of Aretas with Augustus and Tiberius make it extremely improbable that he held Damascus during their reign as part of his kingdom, or that he acquired it by conquest. The best explanation is probably that Damascus was given to Aretas by Caligula, the change in the imperial attitude being due perhaps to the influence primarily of Agrippa and possibly also of Vitellius (Steinmann, Aretas IV [1909], pp. 34ff.; S. Perowne, Journeys of St. Paul [1973], p. 18). Caligula began to reign on Mar. 18, 37 and Aretas IV probably sent his governor to Damascus soon afterward so this was probably the situation when Paul made his escape three years after his conversion, i.e., in A.D. 38.

保罗在大马士革附近悔改（徒 9:3 起；22:5 起；26:12 起；加 1:17）。保罗在大马士革短暂逗留后（徒 9:19 起），去了阿拉伯，之后再次回到了大马士革（加 1:17）。当他第二次离开大马士革时，他时隔三年后回到了耶路撒冷（加 1:18）。保罗从大马士革逃走（徒 9:24）可能结束了他的第二次大马士革之旅。此时，统治者亚哩达（即，亚哩达四世，他从约公元前 9 年至公元 40 年作纳巴泰人的国王）与当地的犹太人（徒 9:23-24）把守着大马士革的城门，要抓住保罗（林后 11:32）。

B. Death of Herod Agrippa I. Herod Agrippa I died in Caesarea shortly after a Passover season (Acts 12:23; cf. 12:3, 19). Caligula had given him the tetrarchy of Philip and of Lysanias in A.D. 37—the latter either at this time or later—with the title of king (Ant. xviii.6.10; BJ ii.9.6), and this was increased in A.D. 40 by the tetrarchy of Antipas (Ant. viii.7.1f.; BJ ii.9.6). Claudius became emperor on Jan. 25, 41 and “forthwith” gave him also Judea and Samaria (Ant. xix.5.1; BJ ii.11.5), thus making his territory even more extensive than that of his grandfather, Herod the Great. Agrippa reigned over “all Judea” for three years under Claudius (Ant. xix.8.2; BJ ii.11.6), his death falling in the spring of A.D. 44 in the seventh year of his reign. The games mentioned by Josephus in this connection are probably those that were celebrated in honor of the return of Claudius from Britain in A.D. 44 (*HJP*², I, 452 n. 43). There are coins of Agrippa from his sixth year, but the attribution to him of coins from other years is questioned (*HJP*², I, 451 n. 40; Madden, p. 132). In order to show his sympathy with the Jewish priestly authorities Agrippa probably acted against the Christian leaders shortly after his arrival to rule in Judea, so the execution of James and imprisonment and subsequent departure of Peter (Acts 12:1–4, 17) are to be put at Passover time in A.D. 41.

C. Famine under Claudius. The prophecy of a famine and its fulfillment under Claudius (Acts 11:28) are associated in Acts with the death of Herod Agrippa I

B. 希律亚基帕一世的死亡时间。希律亚基帕一世在逾越节之后不久在凯撒利亚去世（徒 12:23；参：徒 12:3, 19）。卡利古拉在公元 37 年让希律亚基帕一世统领腓力和吕撒聂的领地，并封希律为王——吕撒聂的领地可能是此时，也可能是后来才赐给希律的（Ant. xviii.6.10; BJ ii.9.6），公元 40 年卡利古拉又封希律为安提帕的分封王（Ant. viii.7.1-7.2; BJ ii.9.6）。革老丢在公元 41 年 1 月 25 日登基作了罗马皇帝，并“立即”将犹太和撒马利亚赐给了希律亚基帕一世（Ant. xix.5.1; BJ ii.11.5），因此希律亚基帕一世的统治范围比他的祖父大希律王的统治范围还要广。革老丢在位时期，希律亚基帕一世统治“整个犹太”三年时间（Ant. xix.8.2; BJ ii.11.6），亚基帕在他在位第七年，即公元 44 年春天去世。约瑟夫斯提到的比赛可能与公元 44 年举行的庆祝革老丢从英国归来的活动有关（*HJP*², I, 452, 注释 43）。目前已经发现了亚基帕一世在位第六年的硬币，但亚基帕其他在位年份的硬币却是值得怀疑的（*HJP*², I, 451, 注释 40; Madden, 132 页）。亚基帕为了展现他对犹太祭司的同情，统治犹太之后不久，他就与基督教领袖为敌，所以雅各被处死、彼得被囚入监和随后彼得获释都发生在公元 41 年的逾越节（徒 12:1-4, 17）。

C. 革老丢统治年间大饥荒的爆发时间。关于大饥荒的预言和革老丢年间爆发的大饥荒（徒 11:28）与《使徒行传》中希律亚基帕一世的死亡有关（徒

(11:30; 12:23). Famines in Rome during the reign of Claudius are mentioned by Suetonius (Claudius 18), Dio Cassius (lx.11), Tacitus (Ann. xii.43), and Orosius (Historiae vii.6). Josephus narrates in the time of Fadus the generosity of Helena during a famine in Palestine (Ant. xx.2.5), but subsequently dates the famine generally in the time of Fadus and Alexander. The famine in Palestine would fall therefore at some time between 44 and 48 (*HJP*², I, 457 n.8).

D. Sergius Paulus. When Paul visited Cyprus with Barnabas the island was administered by Sergius Palaus (Acts 13:7ff.), a propraetor with the title proconsul (Marquardt, I, 391). There is an inscription from Cyprus (R. Cagnat, Inscriptiones Graecae ad res Romanas pertinentes [1906], III, 930), dating from the 1st cent., and probably from the year 53 (T. Zahn, Neue Kirchliche Zeitschrift, 15 [1904], 194) in which an incident in the career of a certain Apollonius is dated in the proconsulship of Paulus (epi Paulou [anth]-ypátou). From another inscription (CIG, 2632), dated in the twelfth year of Claudius, it appears that L. Annius Bassus was proconsul in 52. If the Julius Cordus mentioned by Bassus was his immediate predecessor, the proconsulship of Sergius Paulus may be dated at some time before 51.

11:30; 12:23)。苏埃托尼乌斯 (Claudius 18)、狄奥·卡修斯 (lx.11)、塔西佗 (Ann. xii.43) 和奥罗修斯 (istoriae vii.6) 都曾提到过革老丢统治年间罗马的大饥荒。约瑟夫斯叙述道, 在法都统治时期有个叫海伦娜的人曾在巴勒斯坦闹饥荒时慷慨解囊 (Ant. xx.2.5), 但他后来大体上认为这次饥荒爆发于法都和亚历山大统治时期。因此, 巴勒斯坦的这次大饥荒应该爆发于公元 44 年至公元 48 年之间 (*HJP*², I, 457, 注释 8)。

D. 士求保罗生活的年代。当保罗与巴拿巴来到塞浦路斯时, 方伯 (Marquardt, I, 391) 士求保罗管理着这座岛屿 (徒 13:7 起)。在塞浦路斯发现了一篇可以追溯到公元 1 世纪的铭文 (R. Cagnat, Inscriptiones Graecae ad res Romanas pertinentes [1906], III, 930), 这篇铭文可能是公元 53 年写成的 (T. Zahn, Neue Kirchliche Zeitschrift, 15 [1904], 194), 这篇铭文记载了某个叫阿波罗尼奥斯的人在士求保罗作方伯时期经历的一件事 (epi Paulou [anth]-ypátou)。根据革老丢十二年另一篇铭文 (epi Paulou [anth]-ypátou) 的记载。巴苏斯 (L. Annius Bassus) 似乎在公元 52 年担任塞浦路斯的方伯。如果巴苏斯提到的尤里乌斯·科尔都斯 (Julius Cordus) 是巴苏斯的前任方伯, 那么士求保罗可能在公元 51 年之前担任塞浦路斯的方伯。

Berna at Corinth, where Paul was brought before Gallio and the tribunal (Acts 18:12–17). The date of Gallio's proconsulship is important in establishing the chronology of Paul's journeys. (W. S. Lasor)

E. Edict of Claudius. When Paul came to Corinth for the first time, he met Aquila and Priscilla, who had left Rome because of an edict of Claudius expelling the Jews from the city (Acts 18:2). Suetonius mentions an expulsion of the Jews from Rome by Claudius but gives no date (Claudius 25; cf. Dio Cassius lx.6). Orosius, however, dates the edict in the ninth year of Claudius or A.D. 49 (Historiae vii.6.15); and although Josephus, from whom he quotes, does not mention this edict but records the favor shown by Claudius to the Jews and to Herod Agrippa I (Ant. xix.5.1–3; cf. Dio Cassius lx.6.6, 9f.; 8.2), it is not improbable that the date is approximately accurate (HJP, II/2, 237 n. 69).

F. Gallio. During Paul's first sojourn in Corinth the apostle was brought before the proconsul Gallio (Acts 18:12). This could not have been earlier than the year 44, when Claudius gave Achaia back to the Senate and the province was administered by a propraetor with the title proconsul (Dio Cassius lx.24; Marquardt, I, 331f.; W. M. Ramsay, Expos., 5th series, 5 [1897], 207). Moreover, the career of Seneca makes it improbable that his brother would be advanced to this position before 49 or 50 (A. von Harnack, Die Zeit ... und die Chronologie [1878], I, 237; C. G. Wieseler, Chronologie des apostolischen Zeitalters [1848], p. 119). There is a fragmentary inscription from Delphi containing a letter from the emperor Claudius in which mention is made of Gallio (E. Groag, Die römischen Reichsbeamten von Achaia bis auf Diokletian [1939], pp. 32–35). The inscription is dated by the title of the emperor, which contains the number 26. This is referred naturally to the acclamatio as “imperator” and dated in the year 52 before August, after which time the number 27 occurs in the title of Claudian inscriptions. Gallio may therefore have been proconsul for the year beginning in the spring or summer of A.D. 51 or 52. The latter date is supported by some (Hennequin, DBSup, II, 355–373), but the former seems more probable. If Paul was brought before Gallio in the summer of 51 soon after the new proconsul arrived and had already been in Corinth one year and six months (Acts 18:11), he must have arrived in midwinter 49/50, perhaps in December, A.D. 49 or January, A.D. 50 (H. Lietzmann, Zeitschrift für wissenschaftliche Theologie, 54 [1911], 345–354; Deissmann, Paul, p. 272; P. Lemerle, Philippes et la Macedoine orientale [1945], p. 18f.).

上图为哥林多的犹太公堂，保罗曾被带到这里面见迦流，接受审判（徒 18:12-17）。迦流作方伯的时间对于确定保罗行程的年代很重要（W. S. Lasor）。

*E. 革老丢下诏的时间。*当保罗第一次来到哥林多时，他遇到了亚居拉和百基拉，因为革老丢下诏赶走罗马城中的犹太人，他们离开了罗马（徒 18:2）。苏埃托尼乌斯提到了革老丢将犹太人赶出罗马城，却未指明这件事发生的时间（Claudius 25；参：Dio Cassius lx.6）。然而，奥罗修斯认为革老丢在他在位第九年或公元 49 年颁布了这个诏书（Historiae vii.6.15）；约瑟夫斯引用了奥罗修斯的话，虽然约瑟夫斯没有提及这个诏书，却记载了革老丢向犹太人和希律亚基帕一世施予了恩惠（Ant. xix.5.1–3；参：Dio Cassius lx.6.6, 9-10; 8.2），但是这个时间可能大致准确（HJP, II/2, 237, 注释 69）。

*F. 迦流作方伯的时间。*当保罗第一次来到哥林多时，他被带到了方伯迦流的面前（徒 18:12）。这件事不可能早于公元 44 年，此时革老丢将亚该亚还给了元老院，该行省归地方长官方伯管理（Dio Cassius lx.24; Marquardt, I, 331-332; W. M. Ramsay, Expos., 第 5 系列, 5 [1897], 207）。辛尼加作方伯的时间表明，他的兄弟迦流不可能在公元 49 年或 50 年之前成为亚该亚的方伯（A. von Harnack, Die Zeit ... und die Chronologie [1878], I, 237; C. G. Wieseler, Chronologie des apostolischen Zeitalters [1848], 119 页）。在特尔斐发现了一篇残缺的铭文，其中记载了一封罗马皇帝革老丢的书信，信中提到了迦流（E. Groag, Die römischen Reichsbeamten von Achaia bis auf Diokletian [1939], 32–35 页）。根据这个皇帝的名字可以确定这篇铭文的时间，这篇铭文中提到了数字 26。铭文中的 acclamatio 自然指的

G. Festus. When Paul had been for two years a prisoner in Caesarea, Felix was succeeded by Festus as procurator of Judea (Acts 24:27). Suetonius (Claudius 28) says that Claudius gave Felix command of Judea, and Josephus (Ant. xx.7.1) tells of the same appointment and immediately afterward mentions the completion by Claudius of his twelfth year of reign. Therefore the appointment of Felix was probably in the twelfth year of Claudius, A.D. 52. The accession of Festus, which is placed by Eusebius in his church history in the reign of Nero (HE ii.22.1), is dated in the Chronicon in the version of Jerome to the second year of Nero, A.D. 56, and in the Armenian version to the fourteenth year of

是“古罗马皇帝”，这篇铭文完成于公元 52 年 8 月之前，在这一时间之后，革老丢的铭文中出现了数字 27。因此，迦流应该从公元 51 年或 52 年春天或夏天开始作亚该亚的方伯。有些人认为迦流从公元 52 年开始作方伯(Hennequin, DBSup, II, 355–373)，但迦流更有可能从公元 51 年开始作方伯。如果保罗在公元 51 年夏天迦流刚作亚该亚方伯之后不久被带到了他的面前，而且此时保罗已经在哥林多住了一年零六个月（徒 18:11），那么保罗应该是在公元 49 年或 50 年隆冬时节来到了哥林多，可能是公元 49 年 12 月，或是公元 50 年 1 月（H. Lietzmann, Zeitschrift für wissenschaftliche Theologie, 54 [1911], 345–354; Deissmann, Paul, 272 页; P. Lemerle, Philippes et la Macedoine orientale [1945], 18-19 页）。

G. 非斯都作巡抚的时间。保罗被囚在凯撒利亚两年后，非斯都接替腓力斯作犹太的巡抚（徒 24:27）。苏埃托尼乌斯（Claudius 28）说，革老丢命腓力斯管理犹太，约瑟夫斯（Ant. xx.7.1）也提到腓力斯作犹太巡抚，随即提到革老丢结束了他 12 年的统治时期。因此，腓力斯可能是在革老丢十二年，即公元 52 年作了犹太巡抚。优西比乌在他的《教会史》中认为腓力斯在尼禄统治时期作了巡抚（HE ii.22.1），耶柔米在《编年史》中提到腓力斯在尼禄第二年，即公元 56 年作了巡抚，亚美尼亚人则认为腓力斯在革老丢十四年，即公元 54 年作了巡抚。辛塞路斯的《编年史》显然节选了耶柔米的《编年史》中的内容，但辛塞路斯仅仅提到，尼禄命非斯都接了腓力斯的任（A.K.I. Schoene 编，

Claudius, A.D. 54. The excerpts from the Chronicon-Syncellus apparently follow the text underlying the version of Jerome, but state simply that Festus was sent as successor of Felix by Nero (A.K.I. Schoene, ed., Eusebi Chronicon [1866–1875], II, 154). After his removal from office Felix was tried in Rome, but escaped punishment through the influence of his brother Pallas, who, according to Josephus, was in favor with Nero at that time (Ant. xx.8.9). Pallas was removed from office before Feb. 13, A.D. 55 (Tacitus Ann. xiii.14.1; cf. 15.1), but apparently continued to have influence with the emperor, for he fixed the terms of his removal and was permitted to enjoy his fortune for several years (Ann. xiii.14.1f.; 23.1–3). His death occurred in A.D. 62 (Ann. xiv.65.1). The trial of Felix must therefore have occurred before 62; but it is impossible to place it before the removal of Pallas, for this would necessitate the removal of Felix in 54, and this is excluded by the fact that the first summer of Nero's reign fell in A.D. 55. Dates proposed for the succession of Festus to Felix run therefore from A.D. 55 (Knox, p. 66) to 60 (Armstrong, ISBE [1929], I, 649). According to new "micrographic" evidence discovered by J. Vardaman, however, the date can be fixed in A.D. 56. On a coin of Nero's fifth year are the names of the consuls of the year 58 and the notation that this was the third year of Festus. Therefore the first year of Festus was 56.

H. Relative Chronology of Acts. Of the foregoing data the most precisely defined points seem to be the proconsulate of Gallio in Corinth with the consequent conclusion that Paul arrived there in approximately December, 49 or January, Eusebi Chronicon [1866–1875], II, 154)。腓力斯卸任之后在罗马受审,但靠着他的兄弟帕拉斯的影响力躲避了惩罚,约瑟夫斯认为,帕拉斯在此时受到了尼禄的宠爱 (Ant. xx.8.9)。帕拉斯在公元 55 年 2 月 13 日之前卸任 (Tacitus Ann. xiii.14.1; 参: 15.1),但他显然仍是可以影响皇帝的人,因为他规定了卸任的条件,罗马皇帝允许他在卸任数年后仍然可以享受俸禄 (Ann. xiii.14.1-14.2; 23.1–3)。帕拉斯于公元 62 年去世 (Ann. xiv.65.1)。因此,腓力斯的审判一定发生在公元 62 年之前,但不太可能发生在帕拉斯卸任之前,因为这要求腓力斯在公元 54 年卸任,也就与尼禄登基后的第一个夏天处在公元 55 年这一事实相违背。因此有人认为非斯都和腓力斯的换任时间介于公元 55 年 (Knox, 66 页) 至公元 60 年 (Armstrong, ISBE [1929], I, 649) 之间。不过,根据瓦达曼 (J. Vardaman) 发现的新的“微小”证据,这个时间应该是公元 56 年。尼禄五年的硬币上记录了公元 58 年的各巡抚的名字,以及这是非斯都作巡抚第三年的符号。因此非斯都作巡抚第一年应该是公元 56 年。

H. 《使徒行传》的相对年代。在前面的年代数据中,最能明确确定的似乎是迦流在哥林多作方伯的时间和非斯都于公元 56 年接了腓力斯的任,根据迦流的任期可以确定保罗大约在公元 49 年 12 月或公元 50 年 1 月来到了哥林多,

50, and the succession of Festus to Felix in A.D. 56 with the consequent conclusion that this was the date of the termination of the imprisonment of Paul in Caesarea and the beginning of his “shipwreck journey” to Rome. In agreement with these dates and within the limits indicated by the other data discussed above, the following conclusions appear probable. Paul’s “first missionary journey” (Acts 13–14) was in A.D. 47–48 prior to the Apostolic Council (Gal. 2:1; Acts 15) in A.D. 49. The “second missionary journey” (Acts 15:40–18:22) was in A.D. 49–51, with Paul’s appearance before Gallio in the spring A.D. 51 and his return soon thereafter. Departure on the “third missionary journey” (Acts 18:23–21:16) was in the fall A.D. 51, with two years and three months in Ephesus (Acts 19:8, 10; called three years in 20:31) and arrival in Jerusalem about Pentecost (Acts 20:36) in A.D. 54. Two years of imprisonment in Caesarea were from the summer of 54 to the summer of 56, ending soon after the arrival of Festus in the spring of 56. The “shipwreck journey” began then in the fall of 56; and after three months (Acts 28:11) on Malta in the winter of 56/57, arrival in Rome was in the spring of 57; and the two subsequent years in Rome with which Acts closes (28:30f.) extended to the spring of A.D. 59.

I. Pauline Epistles. Ten of the thirteen Pauline Epistles were written during a period of about ten years between Paul’s arrival in Corinth and the close of his first Roman imprisonment. These Epistles fall into three groups, each possessing certain distinctive characteristics; and although each reflects the difference in time and occasion of its production, they all reveal an essential continuity of thought and a similarity of style which evidences unity of authorship. The earliest group consists of the Thessalonian Epistles, both of which were written from Corinth on the second missionary journey ca. A.D. 50, while Silas (Silvanus) was still in Paul's company and shortly after Paul's visit to Athens (1 Thess. 1:1; 3:1f., 6; 2 Thess. 1:1). The major Epistles belong to the third missionary journey. 1 Corinthians was written from Ephesus ca. 52–53; Galatians probably from Ephesus, either before or after 1 Corinthians, for Paul had been twice in Galatia (Gal. 4:13); 2 Corinthians from Macedonia ca. 54; and Romans from Corinth in early 54. The imprisonment Epistles were written from Rome; Colossians, Ephesians, and Philemon ca. 58, and Philippians ca. 59.

根据非斯都上任的时间可以确定保罗于公元 56 年结束了在凯撒利亚的囚禁生活，开始了他前往罗马的“船坏之旅”。以下结论似乎是可信的，这些结论与上面这些时间一致，而且也没有超出上面其他年代数据所表明的时间范围。保罗“第一次传道之旅”(徒 13-14)从公元 47 年到公元 48 年，早于公元 49 年的使徒会议(加 2:1; 徒 15)。“第二次传道之旅”(徒 15:40-18:22)从公元 49 年到公元 51 年，保罗在公元 51 年春天来到迦流面前，随后不久保罗回到了安提阿，保罗的“第三次传道之旅”从公元 51 年秋天开始(徒 18:23-21:16)，他在以弗所住了两年零三个月(徒 19:8, 10; 《使徒行传》10:31 中说保罗在以弗所住了三年)，并于公元前 54 年五旬节来到了耶路撒冷(徒 20:36)。保罗在凯撒利亚坐监那两年是从公元 54 年夏天到公元 56 年的夏天，公元 56 年秋天非斯都上任之后不久便结束了保罗在凯撒利亚的囚禁生活。“船坏之旅”从公元 56 年秋天开始；三个月之后(徒 28:11)，保罗在公元 56 年或 57 年冬天抵达了米利大，并于公元 57 年春天来到了罗马；保罗随后在罗马住了两年，一直住到公元 59 年的春天，《使徒行传》至此结篇(徒 28:30-31)。

J. Release and Death of Paul. When Paul wrote to Philemon (Philem. 22) and to the Philippians (Phil. 2:24; cf. 1:25), he expected a favorable outcome of his trial in Rome and was looking forward to another visit to the East. Before his arrest he had planned a journey to Spain by way of Rome (Rom. 15:28), and when he bade farewell to the Ephesian elders at Miletus (Acts 20:25) he must have had in mind not only the dangers of his journey to Jerusalem, but also his determination to enter another field of labor. 1 Clem. 5, the Muratorian Canon, and the Apocryphal Acts of Peter witness to the Spanish journey, and the Pastoral Epistles to a journey to the East and to another imprisonment in Rome. The two lines of evidence for Paul's release are independent and neither can be explained as derived merely from the statement of Paul's intention in Romans and in Philemon and Philippians. The historical situation implied in the Pastoral Epistles can be charged with artificiality only on the hypothesis that Paul was not released from his first Roman imprisonment. The data of these Epistles cannot be fitted into any period of Paul's life previous to his imprisonment. But these data are embodied in just those parts of the Pastoral Epistles which are admitted to be Pauline by those who regard the Epistles as containing only fragments genuinely from Paul but assign the Epistles in their present form to a later writer. On any hypothesis of authorship, however, the tradition these Epistles contain cannot be much later than the first quarter of the 2nd century. It is highly probable, therefore, that Paul was released from his first Roman imprisonment; that he visited Spain and the East; and that he was imprisoned a second time in Rome, where he met his death under Nero. Since Clement of Rome describes the death of both Paul and Peter in connection with the martyrdom of a "vast multitude" who suffered "among us," and since Tacitus (Ann. xv.44) describes the persecution by Nero of a "vast multitude" in connection with the fire at Rome in the summer of 64, it is possible that this is the date of the death of the two apostles. Jerome (De vir. ill. 1, 5), however, puts the two martyrdoms in the fourteenth year of Nero (A.D. 67/68), while in the Chronicon of Eusebius the date is 67 in the Armenian version, 68 in the version of Jerome, and these dates are often cited. According to early tradition Paul suffered martyrdom by beheading with the sword (Tertullian De praescr. haer. 36). This was the manner of execution for a Roman citizen, which Paul was (Acts 16:37; 22:27-29; 23:27), and probably presupposes a legal proceeding eventuating in the death sentence.

J. 保罗被释放和殉道的时间。当保罗写信给腓利门（门 1:22）和腓立比教会（腓 2:24；参：腓 1:25）时，他盼望他在罗马的审判可以有一个良好的结果，并希望再一次到东方传道。在保罗被捕之前，他曾计划经由罗马前往西班牙传道（罗 15:28），当他在米利都与以弗所的长老告别时（徒 20:25），他一定意识到了前往耶路撒冷途中将面临的危险，并且决定到另一个地方传道。《革利免一书》5 章、《穆拉多利经目》和《次经》中的《彼得行传》都见证了保罗的西班牙传道之旅，教牧书信见证了保罗的东方传道之旅和他再一次被囚禁在罗马。关于保罗被释放的两种证据是独立的，仅根据《罗马书》《腓利门书》和《腓立比书》中关于保罗传道计划的描述，不能解释这两种证据。仅根据保罗第一次被囚禁在罗马时没有被释放这一假设，就可以说教牧书信中表明的历史形势是不真实的。这些书信中的年代数据与保罗被囚禁前的任何时期都不相符。但是这些年代数据仅包含在保罗创作的教牧书信中，有些人认为教牧书信只

Sulpicius Severus (Chronicorum ii.29) connects the deaths of the apostles with the promulgation of laws by Nero making it unlawful to be a Christian. All of this must have taken time and may make the date of A.D. 67/68 probable for the death of Paul, perhaps most likely A.D. 67.

K. Death of Peter. In addition to what is recorded of Peter in the NT there is a tradition of his bishopric of 20 or 25 years in Rome (cf. A. von Harnack, Geschichte der altchristlichen Litteratur [1893–1904], II; Chronologie, I, 243f.). 1 Peter was probably written from Rome (5:13; cf. Eusebius HE ii.15.2), and the testimony to Peter's martyrdom (implied in Jn. 21:18f.) under Nero in Rome by crucifixion (Tertullian De praescr. haer. 36; cf. 1 Clem 5:1ff.) is early and probably trustworthy. Tradition also associates Peter and Paul in their Roman labors and martyrdom (Dionysius in Eusebius HE ii.25.8; Irenaeus Adv. haer. iii.1.2; iii.3.1). The mention of the Vatican as the place of Peter's interment (Caius in Eusebius HE ii.25.6f.) may also indicate a connection of his martyrdom with the Neronian persecution following the fire in the summer of A.D. 64. The record of the fire and the persecution by Tacitus (Ann. xv.38–44) recounts a rather long series of events and makes it probable that the persecution followed some time after the fire itself, probably later in 64 or even in 65, and this may be taken as the probable date of the death of Peter (A.D. 64/65), perhaps most likely A.D. 65. If Peter departed from Jerusalem (Acts 12:17) and went to Rome in A.D. 41 his death in 65 would have been 25 years (counted inclusively) later, during which time he could have been considered the head of the Roman church although

K. 彼得的殉道时间。除了《新约》中关于彼得的描述，有一种传说认为他在罗马作了20年或25年的主教（参：A. von Harnack, Geschichte der altchristlichen Litteratur [1893–1904], II; Chronologie, I, 243–244 页）。《彼得前书》可能写于罗马（彼前 5:13；参：Eusebius HE ii.15.2），很早就有证据表明彼得在尼禄统治时期在罗马被钉了十字架（Tertullian De praescr. haer. 36；参：1 Clem 5:1 起），以此为主殉道（《约翰福音》21:18–19 也暗示出这一点），这个证据可能比较可靠。传统上也把彼得和保罗在罗马的传道和殉道联系起来（Dionysius in Eusebius HE ii.25.8；Irenaeus Adv. haer. iii.1.2；iii.3.1）。据说，彼得死后被埋在梵蒂冈（Caius in Eusebius HE ii.25.6–25.7），这可能表明彼得的殉道与公元 64 年夏天罗马大火之后尼禄的迫害有关。塔西佗记录了一系列的事件（Ann. xv.38–44），并认为大火之后尼禄的迫害有可能发生在公元 64 年或公元 65 年，彼得可能就是这个时候去世的（公元 64 年或 65 年），他最有可能在公元 65 年去世。如果彼得于公元 41 年从耶路撒冷出发（徒 12:17）去罗马，那么他应该在 25 年后（粗略计算），即公元 65 年去世，虽然在这 25 年时间里，他不是始终停留在罗马，但他还是被视为罗马教会的主教。（关于施米德尔 [Schmiedel] 驳斥彼得住在罗马和为主殉道的完整阐述，见 EB，见词条“Simon Peter”，尤其是 458 卷起；另参：T. Zahn, Intro. to the NT [1909 年英译本]，II, 158 起）。 surely not remaining there continuously for all that time. (The arguments against the Roman sojourn and martyrdom of Peter are stated fully by Schmiedel in EB, s.v. “Simon Peter,” esp. cols. 458ff.; on the other hand, cf. T. Zahn, Intro. to the NT [Eng. tr. 1909], II, 158ff.).

L. Death of James the Just. James the Just, the brother of the Lord, was prominent in the church of Jerusalem at the time of the Apostolic Council (Acts 15:13ff.; Gal. 2:9; cf. 1:19; 2:12), and later when Paul was arrested he seems still to have occupied this position (Acts 21:18ff.), laboring with impressive devotion for the Jewish people until his martyrdom ca. 62 (Josephus Ant. xx.9.1; Eusebius, HE ii.23.3ff.; Reicke, NT Era, p. 215). The Epistle of James contains numerous indications of its early origin and equally clear evidence that it was not written during the period when the questions discussed in the major Epistles of Paul were agitating the Church. It is possibly the earliest book of the NT, written before the Apostolic Council.

M. The Synoptic Gospels. In the decade just preceding the fall of Jerusalem, the tradition of the life, and teaching of Jesus was committed to writing in the Synoptic Gospels. Early tradition dates the composition of Matthew’s Gospel in the lifetime of Peter and Paul (Irenaeus Adv. haer iii.1.1; Eusebius HE v.8.2ff.), and that of the Gospel of Mark either just before or just after Peter’s death (Clement in Eusebius HE vi.14.7; cf. ii.15; and Irenaeus Adv. haer Presbyter of Papias in Eusebius HE iii.39.15; cf. also 2 Pet. 1:15). The Lukan writings—both the Gospel and Acts—are also held by some to fall in this period, on the basis of the

L. 公义的雅各殉道时间。主的兄弟公义的雅各在使徒会议期间是耶路撒冷教会的重要人物（徒 15:13 起；加 2:9；参：加 1:19；2:12），后来当保罗被捕时，雅各似乎仍然在教会中担任此职（徒 21:18 起），约公元 62 年殉道前，他始终为犹太人鞠躬尽瘁（Josephus Ant. xx.9.1；Eusebius, HE ii.23.3 起；Reicke, NT Era, 215 页）。《雅各书》中多次提及该书的由来，并以同样明确的证据表明，在保罗主要书信中论及的问题在教会内激起争论的时候，这本书还没开始写。《雅各书》有可能是《新约》中最早的经卷，其创作时间有可能早于使徒会议召开的时间。

M. 对观福音书的创作时间。在耶路撒冷沦陷之前的十年，关于耶稣生平的传说和耶稣的教导被收录进对观福音书中。早期的传统认为《马太福音》是彼得和保罗在世时编纂成书的（Irenaeus Adv. haer iii.1.1；Eusebius HE 8.2 节起），《马可福音》是彼得去世前后编纂成书的（Clement in Eusebius HE vi.14.7；参：ii.15；Irenaeus Adv. haer Presbyter of Papias in Eusebius HE iii.39.15；另参：彼后 1:15）。有些人认为路加的《路加福音》和《使徒行传》也是在这一时期成书的，因为《路加福音》没有暗示出耶稣关于耶路撒冷将被摧毁的预言已经应验（参：路 21:21；徒 11:28），而推测这本书成书较早的最佳理由就是， argument that the Gospel contains no intimation that Jesus' prophecy of the destruction of Jerusalem had been fulfilled (cf. Lk. 21:21; Acts 11:28), and that the silence of Acts about the issue of Paul's trial is best explained on the hypothesis of an early date (Jerome De vir. ill. 7; Harnack, Neue Untersuchungen zur Apostelgeschichte [1911]; cf. also Lk. 10:7; 1 Tim. 5:18). To this period belong also the Epistle of Jude and the Epistle to the Hebrews (if addressed to Jewish Christians of Palestine; but later ca. A.D. 80, if addressed to Jewish Christians of Rome), the former being used in 2 Peter and the latter in 1 Clement.

N. Death of John. Early tradition connects John with Ephesus and mentions his continuing in life until the time of Trajan (Irenaeus Adv. haer. ii.22.5 [Eusebius HE v.24]; iii. 1.1; v.30.3; v.33.4; Clement in Eusebius HE in iii.23.5–19; Polycrates in Eusebius HE iii.31.3; v.24.3; Justin Dial. lxxxii; cf. Rev. 1:1, 4, 9; 22:8; Jn. 21:22–24; 19:35). He died probably about the end of the 1st century. There is another but less well-attested tradition of early martyrdom based chiefly on the De Boor fragment of Papias (TU, 1888), a Syriac martyrology of the 4th cent. (Wright, Journal of Sacred Literature, 8[1865/66], the Codex Coislinianus 305 of Georgius Hamartolus). This tradition, it is thought by some, finds confirmation in Mk. 10:35–40; Mt. 20:20–23 (cf. Bousset, TR, 9 [1905], 225ff., 277ff.), but more probably owes its origin to a confusion with John the Baptist who did experience martyrdom. It is often supposed that it was during the closing years of his long life that John wrote Revelation, the Fourth Gospel, and the three Epistles, but there are serious grounds for considering that all of these as well as all the other writings of the canonical NT are prior in date to A.D. 70 (J. A. T. Robinson, Redating the NT [1976]).

*N. 使徒约翰的去世时间。*早期的传说将使徒约翰与以弗所联系起来,并提到约翰一直活到图拉真统治时期 (Irenaeus Adv. haer. ii.22.5 [Eusebius HE 24 节]; iii. 1.1; 30.3 节; 33.4 节; Clement in Eusebius HE in iii.23.5–19; Polycrates in Eusebius HE iii.31.3; 24.3 节; Justin Dial. lxxxii; 参: 启 1:1, 4, 9; 22:8; 约 21:22–24; 19:35)。使徒约翰可能在公元 1 世纪末期去世。还有一个未被完全证实的关于约翰很早殉道的传说,这个传说主要以德布尔 (De Boor) 的《帕皮亚残篇》(TU, 1888) 为依据,这是一部创作于公元 4 世纪的叙利亚殉教史 (Wright, Journal of Sacred Literature, 8[1865/66], the Codex Coislinianus 305 of Georgius Hamartolus)。有人认为《马可福音》10:35–40 和《马太福音》20:20–23 证实了这一个传说 (参: Bousset, TR, 9 [1905], 225 起, 277 起), 但更可能的是由于将使徒约翰混同于为主殉道的施洗约翰,所以才出现了这个传说。人们通常认为,长寿的约翰在人生末年写了《启示录》、第四福音书和三封书信,但人们有充足的理由认为这些作品和新约正典的其他作品都是在公元 70 年

I. 基督诞生以前教会的历史。虽然希腊语 ekklēsia 成为了一个特殊的基督教词语,但在希腊世界和《旧约》中都有该词的来历。在希腊世界中,这个词用来表示一位先驱(衍生自 ek, “外面的”, summoned by a herald (< ek, “out,” and kalein, “to call”; cf. Acts 19:32, 39f.). In the LXX it was used for the Heb. qāhāl, which denotes the congregation or people of Israel, especially as gathered before the Lord (cf. Acts 7:38). It is of interest that behind the NT term stand both Greek democracy and Hebrew theocracy, the two being brought together in a theocratic democracy or democratic theocracy.

II. The Church and The Teaching of Jesus.-In the teaching of Jesus Himself there is little mention of the Church. The only two references in the Gospels are both in Matthew (16:18: “On this rock I will build my church,” and 18:17: “Tell it to the church”). In the second of these the reference might be to the Jewish synagogue, though the general context of Mt. 18 seems to suggest the emergent Christian community. Apart from the critical questions raised by some scholars, these verses give rise to many problems. For example, do they denote the intention of Jesus to found a Church? If so, or even if He only foresees its creation, what is the relation of this Church to the older congregation of the Lord? Is the new to continue the old, to supersede it, or to be quite different and perhaps parallel? Again, what is the relationship between the Church and the kingdom of God or of heaven which is the main theme of the teaching of Jesus? Are the two completely different? Are they synonymous? Or is the Church as the present sphere of Christ’s rule a provisional or partial form of the kingdom?

These questions are easier to ask than to answer, and it is probably in terms of a qualified comprehensiveness that true

II. 教会和耶稣的教导。耶稣在教导中很少提及教会。在福音书中, 只有《马太福音》中的两节经文曾提及了教会 (《马太福音》16:18: “我要把我的教会建造在这磐石上”; 和《马太福音》18:17: “就告诉教会”)。虽然《马太福音》18章中的总体语境似乎暗示了基督徒社团的兴起, 但这一章中提及的教会可能指的是犹太人的会堂。除了某些学者提出的批判性问题, 这两节经文也产生了许多问题。例如, 它们是否表明耶稣打算建立教会? 如果耶稣打算建立教会, 或者如果祂仅预见到了教会的建立, 那么这个教会与从前耶和华的会众有什么关系? 新建立的教会是对耶和华的会众的延续, 还是取代了它, 两者完全不同还是可能有类似之处? 此外, 教会与耶稣教导的主题神国或天国有何关系? 两者是否完全不同? 教会是否可以等同于神国或天国? 基督现在统治的教会是神国的暂时形式或神国的一部分吗?

相对于提出这些问题, 回答这些问题更难, 只有全面进行考虑才可能找到解决这些问题的方法。因此, 耶稣的教会是

solutions are to be sought. Thus the Church of Jesus is a new body, yet there is a continuity of fulfillment in relation to the OT congregation. Again, the kingdom is quite evidently not the Church, for we could hardly proclaim the Church as the first apostles proclaimed the kingdom (Acts 8:12). On the other hand, we certainly cannot say that the Church is an alternative after the rejection of the kingdom. To the extent that the Church is a fellowship of those who have accepted the kingdom, submitted to its rule, and become its heirs, we may rather believe that it is a creation and instrument and therefore a form and manifestation of the kingdom prior to its final establishment in glory.

III. The Church in Acts.-While the kingdom is still the theme of apostolic preaching, the word “church” is regularly used in Acts to denote the company of believers, more especially in the local sense. Thus we read of churches in Jerusalem (5:11), Antioch (13:1), and Caesarea (18:22), a similar usage being found in the seven letters of Revelation. The same word can also be used, however, for the sum of local churches or the totality of believers (9:31), though with no suggestion of an organized external structure. The same twofold usage occurs in the Pauline Epistles. Each individual group may be addressed as the church, e.g., “the church of God which is at Corinth” (1 Cor. 1:2). Indeed, the word is perhaps further localized in respect of the household group within the local church, though this is unusual (Rom. 16:5; 1 Cor. 16:19). On the other hand, the comparison between Jews and Greeks on the one side and the Church on the other (1 Cor. 10:32) shows that there is also the more general sense in Paul (cf. 1 Cor. 12:28), this being, of course, the basis of the Pauline doctrine of the Church.

III. 《使徒行传》中的教会。虽然神国仍然是使徒传道的主题，但《使徒行传》中通常用“教会”这个词表示信徒团体，尤其表示地方性的信徒团体。因此，我们在《使徒行传》中读到了耶路撒冷的教会（徒 5:11）、安提阿的教会（徒 13:1）和凯撒利亚的教会（徒 18:22），在《启示录》的七封信中也可以看到类似的使用法。不过，这个词也可以用来表示当地所有的教会或所有的信徒（徒 9:31），但它并没有暗示出教会是一个有组织的外部机构。在保罗的书信中也可以找到这个词的双重用法。每个单独的团体都可以被称为教会，如“哥林多神的教会”（林前 1:2）。实际上，教会这个词可能还有更狭义的使用法，表示当地的家庭教会，但这种用法很罕见（罗 16:5；林前 16:19）。另一方面，《哥林多前书》10:32 中犹太人和希腊人与教会的对比说明保罗所阐述的教会含义更广（参：林前 12:28），当然，保罗的教会教义就以此为基础。

IV. Pauline Doctrine of the Church.-Theologically, there is only one Church, for Christians are now fellow citizens of the saints and of the household of God, built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets. If there is a distinction, it is that of fulfillment as compared with promise, but not of a different purpose, covenant, basis, consecration, or goal. This Church is not a human organization; it is God's workmanship (Eph. 2:10), created in accordance with His eternal purpose in Christ (Eph. 1:4f.) that in it He might show the exceeding riches of His grace (Eph. 2:7). It may thus be described in several pregnant phrases, of which the following are to be noted.

(a) The Church is the people or Israel of God (Eph. 2:12; cf. 1 Pet. 2:10), in whom there is fulfillment of the ancient covenant promise: "I will be your God, and you shall be my people."

(b) It is the household or family of God (Eph. 2:19; 3:15; 4:6), consisting of those who are adopted by God as sons and heirs in Christ.

(c) It is the planting of God to bring forth fruit to His glory (1 Cor. 3:10; cf. Jn. 15:1f.).

(d) It is the temple of God, built by God Himself in Christ to be His dwelling and therefore to be the center of true holiness and worship (Eph. 2:21f.; cf. Jn. 2:19f.; 1 Cor. 3:9; 1 Pet. 2:4f.).

IV. 保罗的教会教义。从神学意义上讲，只有一个教会，因为基督徒现在与圣徒同国，是神家里的人，建立在使徒和先知的根基上。如果说神学上的教会有什么不同之处，那么可以说它是神的应允的实现，而不是一个不同的旨意、圣约、根基、圣化或目标。神学上的教会不是一个人类组织；它是神的工作（弗 2:10），是神按照祂在基督里永恒的旨意创造出来的（弗 1:4-5），祂要将祂极丰富的恩典在教会里显明给我们看（弗 2:7）。因此，可以用许多富有意义的语句描述神学上的教会，下面几句话值得注意。

(a) 教会是神的子民或神的以色列（弗 2:12；参：彼前 2:10），祂在教会里兑现了古老圣约中的应允：“我要作你们的神，你们要作我的子民。”

(b) 教会是神的家（弗 2:19；3:15；4:6），在基督里被神拣选为子嗣的人都是神家里的人。

(c) 教会是神的园子，祂要藉这园中结出的果子彰显祂的荣耀（林前 3:10；参：约 15:1-2）。

(d) 教会是神在基督里建造的供祂自己居住的圣殿，因此是真正圣洁的中心和敬拜的中心（弗 2:21-22；参：约 2:19-20；林前 3:9；彼前 2:4-5）。

(e) It is the bride of Christ for which the Bridegroom gave Himself that it might be presented, cleansed, sanctified, and pure at the eternal marriage feast (Eph. 5:25).

(e) 教会是新郎基督献给自己的新娘，所以教会要洗净自身，成为圣洁，出现在永恒的婚筵上（弗 5:25）。

(f) It is the body of Christ, the fulness of Him that fills all in all, Christ Himself being the head (Eph. 4:15f.) and yet also in a true sense the totality (1 Cor. 12:12), with each Christian being a member in particular (1 Cor. 12:27).

(f) 教会是基督的身体，是那充满万有者所充满的，基督是教会的元首（弗 4:15-16），但从真正的意义上说，也是一个整体（林前 12:12），每个基督徒都是肢体（林前 12:27）。

These descriptions obviously open up great themes which we cannot pursue in the present restricted context. The following points, however, may be observed.

这些描述显然揭示出许多重要的主题，而我们目前受语境的制约还无法阐明这些主题。不过，我们应该注意以下几点。

(1) We are neither to isolate nor to oppose the various descriptions, nor to make any one a ruling principle, but rather to accept the rich and varied contributions that they all make toward a comprehensive view.

(1) 我们不应该孤立地来看各种不同的描述，也不应该反对这些描述，更不该认为某个描述起支配作用，而应该认为这些描述共同勾勒出了一幅丰富多彩的全景。

(2) While the descriptions naturally have a symbolical character, they are not to be referred to an ideal or mystical or nebulous church, but are to be seen as descriptions of the reality of the Church in contrast to present but passing aspects.

(2) 虽然这些描述自然都具有象征特点，但不应该认为这些描述揭示了一个理想、神秘或模糊的教会，而应该认为它们通过对比教会的现在和过去描述了教会的实际状况。

(3) It is to be emphasized that this reality of the Church is in Christ and not in itself. Thus the Church is the Israel of God in Jesus Christ the true Israelite. It is the family of God in Christ the true Son. It is the planting of God in Christ the true vine or grain of wheat. It is the temple of God in Christ whose incarnate body is the dwelling place of God and therefore the foundation, cornerstone, and temple. It is the bride as the chosen and sanctified bride of this Bridegroom. It is the body, not as an independent or supplementary organism, but as He Himself is both body and head, and as it finds all its being and life and order and power in Him.

(3) 需要强调的是教会的实际情况在基督里，而不在其本身。因此，教会是神在耶稣基督里的以色列，而耶稣基督是真以色列人。教会是在圣子基督里的神的家。教会是在基督里的神的园子，而耶稣基督是真正的葡萄树或麦粒。教会是在基督里的神的圣殿，而道成肉身的基督是神的居所，因此也是根基、房角石和圣殿。教会是新郎耶稣亲自拣选和洁净的新娘。教会不是一个独立或附属有机体，而是基督的身体，基督是教会的头，教会的存在、生命、次序和权

The third point obviously underlies the other two. Christ can never be exhausted by any one description and therefore there is room for a wealth of varied imagery. Christ is true reality, and therefore it is in Him rather than in its faltering and passing manifestation that the true reality of the Church is to be found.

V. Notes of the Church.-In addition to the descriptions of the Church, the NT also brings before us certain features or characteristics usually referred to as the notes of the Church. These may be classified in various ways, but we do well, perhaps, to follow the traditional grouping of the creeds in terms of unity, sanctity, catholicity, and apostolicity.

(1) The Church is one. Naturally, this is no mere unity of organization. Nor is it a necessary uniformity of practice. It is a theological unity grounded in the one body, etc., of Eph. 4:4f. It is a given indestructible unity which no external separation or schism can nullify or overthrow. Yet it is a unity that is not just invisible or vaguely spiritual. Already in the churches of the NT we see a conscious sense of unity and therefore a resistance to schism (cf. esp. 1 Cor. 1:11ff.). The fact that the Church is Christ's body is given very practical application (1 Cor. 12:12ff.). Nor is this merely a unity of the local church. From the very first there are close relations among the churches (Acts 11:22; 15:2). A conference can be held at Jerusalem that

V. 教会的印记。除了对教会的描述，《新约》还向我们介绍了教会的某些特点或特征，这些特点或特征通常被称为教会的印记。可以以不同的方法对这些印记进行分类，但就统一性、圣洁性、普世性和使徒性方面来说，我们或许应当遵循传统的信条分类方法。

(1) 教会是一个统一的整体。诚然，教会不仅仅是一个统一的组织。现实中的教会也不一定始终是统一的。教会是以《以弗所书》4:4-5 中的一个身体（以及一个圣灵、一主、一信、一洗、一神）为基础的神学统一体。教会的统一性是坚不可摧的，任何外部离间或分裂都无法废除或颠覆教会的统一性。教会的统一性不仅仅是看不见的或在灵上是模糊的。我们可以在新约的教会中看到一种主动的统一意识和对教会分裂的抵制（尤见林前 1:11 起）。教会是基督的身体这一事实具有非常实用的用途（林前 12:12 起）。这不仅仅维护了地方教会的团结。各教会从最初就保持着紧密的联系（徒 11:22；15:2）。召开耶路撒冷会议不仅仅是为了讨论当地的事务（徒 15:6 起）。保罗和巴拿巴与年长的使徒用右手行相交之礼（加 2:9）。保罗想通

is of more than local concern (15:6ff.). Paul and Barnabas are given the right hand of fellowship by the older apostles (Gal. 2:9). Paul in his collection is concerned to forge a practical bond among the churches (2 Cor. 8f.). Everywhere there is a visible unity in the NT Church. The inward reality seeks and should be given practical expression, not only on the local scene, but also in the wider interrelations of the universal Church.

(2) The Church is holy. It is a holy nation (1 Pet. 2:9). It is the fellowship of the saints or the sanctified (1 Cor. 1:2). Here again we do not begin with externals. This is not merely a formal sanctification. It is the holiness given to the Church as the people that in Jesus Christ is called out, cleansed, and consecrated to divine service. Nor is it a merely future holiness. For all the glaring faults and failures of the Church, its holiness is its reality inasmuch as it is Christ's Church. On the other hand, the Bible certainly does not speak merely of an invisible or mystical or ideal holiness. The holiness of the Church is to find expression in sanctified life and consecrated service. Christians are commanded to be holy (2 Cor. 7:1; 1 Thess. 4:3). They are to be wholly yielded up to God (Rom. 12:1; 1 Cor. 6:19f.). Their life and work are to be brought into conformity with their true being in Christ. Prayer is made for their sanctification (1 Thess. 5:23). They are also empowered by the Holy Spirit both to achieve practical sanctification (Rom. 8:1ff.; Gal. 5:16f.; Eph. 5:9) and to discharge the ministry of preaching and praise to which they are consecrated (Acts 1:8; 1 Thess. 1:5).

(3) The Church is catholic. This does not mean that it constitutes a single worldwide organization. It means that Jesus Christ died for all classes without distinction, so that in His Church there are no external qualifications of age, sex, generation, descent, or status. In Him these distinctions have no reality. They still exist, and legitimately or illegitimately they are reflected in the life and work of the Church. But the Church is not to be ordered by them. It is catholic in its true reality. In Christ there is neither Greek nor Jew, circumcision nor uncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond nor free (Col. 3:11), male nor female (Gal. 3:28). The Church is not to be identified with any human grouping, culture, or structure. Its boundaries cannot be drawn in terms of any human differentiations. Despite the need for external manifestations of unity, it is not identical exclusively with any one ecclesiastical construct. Its catholicity is rooted in the representative action of Jesus Christ, the one for the many in whom the many are one.

(4) The Church is apostolic. This implies rather more than genealogical descent of organization or ministry from the apostles. It means that the apostles, with the prophets, are the foundation of the Church (Eph. 2:20). They are the first and authentic witnesses of Jesus Christ (Acts 1:8). It is through them that the record and message of the gospel come. They are raised up for this purpose. They are thus the criterion of true proclamation and teaching. The true Church may be recognized by its fidelity to apostolic testimony and doctrine. It believes and proclaims what it has received (1 Cor. 12:23; 15:1f.; 2 Thess. 2:15; 2 Tim. 1:13;

(3) 教会具有普世性。这并不意味着教会是一个全球性组织。教会的普世性意味着耶稣基督为所有人受难，所以在基督的教会里没有年龄、性别、辈分、血统或地位等外部限制性条件。这些差异在基督里消失了。虽然这些差异仍然存在，并体现在教会的生活和工作上，无论是否合理。但教会不应该受它们的摆布。教会实际上是普世的。在基督里并不分希腊人、犹太人、受割礼的、未受割礼的、化外人、西古提人、为奴的、自主的（西 3:11），或男或女（加 3:28）。不应将教会看作是人类组织、文明或机构。不应当根据人类的划分标准划定教会的范围。尽管教会的统一性需要外在的表现形式，但普世的教会不同于任何教会组织。教会的普世性源于耶稣基督有代表性的行为，所有信徒以基督为首合为一体了。

2:2). Nor does this apostolic tradition lie in the sphere of fallible human memory. By the Holy Spirit it has been committed to writing in order that the apostolicity of the Church might be safeguarded (Lk. 1:1ff.; Jn. 20:21; 21:24). To the prophetic testimony of the OT there has thus been added the apostolic testimony of the NT (cf. 1 Cor. 15:2). In other words, apostolicity means the preservation and honoring of Holy Scripture. Where Scripture is read and preached as the basis of evangelism and edification and the supreme rule of faith and practice, there is the apostolic Church (1 Tim. 3:15ff.).

VI. Distinctions of the Church.-From an early period it has been recognized that, while the Church is one and catholic, it presents different aspects or forms which call for differentiation in reference. Thus already in the Bible itself there is distinction between the OT Church and the NT Church. It would be wrong to deduce from this a complete dichotomy, as though the NT Church were something quite different which began only at some point in the NT story, e.g., at Pentecost. On the other hand, it would be pointless to deny that there are valid differences between the OT Church and the NT Church. A legitimate distinction may thus be drawn.

Again, the fact that many brethren are now “asleep” (1 Thess. 4:13ff.) suggests a distinction between the Church as already with the Lord and the Church still engaged in pilgrimage and conflict, i.e., the so-called Church triumphant and Church militant. Insofar as there is here a real though not an ultimate difference, a distinction may be validly made; and the terms triumphant and militant have a good scriptural basis even if they are not applied to the Church in this way. There is no justification for introducing a third category comprising the Church in purgatory.

VI. 教会的差异。人们从早期开始就认为，虽然教会是统一的和普世的，但教会也有很多不同的方面或不同的形式，这就要求在提及教会时必须加以区分。因此，《圣经》本身就区分了旧约教会和新约教会。一方面，如果依此完全将旧约教会和新约教会分裂开来，好像新约教会是完全不同的教会，是仅在新约故事中的某一时期，如五旬节才开始出现的，那就错了。另一方面，否认旧约教会和新约教会之间的真实差异，也将是毫无意义的。因此，应该合理地区分两者之间的差异。

此外，许多弟兄还在“沉睡”（帖前 4:13 起）这一事实表明，主的教会与仍然忙于朝圣和争执的教会，即所谓得胜的教会和战斗的教会是有区别的。只要两者之间确实存在差异，且不是根本的差异，就应该合理地加以区分；得胜的和战斗的这两个词虽然不适于用来描述教会，但这两个词在《圣经》中有良好的根据。没有理由引入包含炼狱中教会

What are we to say concerning the common Reformation distinction between the Church visible and the Church invisible? Here again there seems to be a legitimate basis, even though there is no corresponding biblical usage. Thus the true being of the Church in Christ is not seen. Believers are hid with Christ in God (Col. 3:3). We walk by faith and not by sight (2 Cor. 5:7). Faith is the evidence of things not seen (He. 11:1). There are hidden things which are yet to be brought to light (1 Cor. 4:5). These verses imply first that the visible aspect of the Church does not yet display its invisible reality, thus leading to the tension between what Christians are in themselves and what they are in Christ, and to the so-called scandal of the Church. But they also imply that the external membership of the Church is not necessarily coincident with its internal constitution. "For not all who are descended from Israel belong to Israel" (Rom. 9:6). There are tares in the field as well as wheat (Mt. 13:38). The apostolic band can contain a Judas and the early Church an Ananias and Sapphira. On the other hand, we are not to harden this distinction into a human judgment concerning the true Church and the purely nominal, as though we could know the secrets of the heart and thus anticipate the last judgment. It is striking that in the NT those who confess Christ are addressed as believers and brethren irrespective of the ultimate sincerity of their profession and sometimes in defiance of the evidence of their conduct and beliefs (cf. the Corinthians). The Reformers normally maintained this biblical usage by defining the visible Church as the company of believers in which the Word is faithfully preached and the sacraments are duly administered, but by refraining from any corresponding or counterbalancing pronouncements on the invisible Church.

关于改革派对有形教会和无形教会的常见区分，我们应该作何评论呢？即使《圣经》中没有相应的用法，但这种区分似乎也有一个合理的依据。因此，在基督里的教会的本质是看不见的。信徒与基督一同藏在神里面（西 3:3）。我们行事为人，是凭着信心，不是凭着眼见（林后 5:7）。信是未见之事的的确据（来 11:1）。暗中的隐情将会被照出（林前 4:5）。这些经文首先表明，教会的有形方面并没有展现出教会无形的现实，从而导致基督徒本身与基督里的基督徒之间出现了矛盾，并产生了所谓的教会丑闻。但这些经文也表明，教会的外部成员并不一定与它的内部构成一致。“因为从以色列生的，不都是以色列人”（罗 9:6）。一方面，田地中既有好种也有稗子（太 13:38）。使徒中有一个犹太，早期的教会中有亚拿尼亚和撒非喇。另一方面，我们不应牵强地认为这是人类对真正教会和名义教会所做的区分，似乎我们能够知晓心中的秘密，进而预料到最后的审判。值得注意的是，在《新约》中那些认基督的人都被称为信徒和弟兄，不论他们的宣告是否完全真诚，也不论他们有时会违背行为和信仰的确据（参：《哥林多书》）。改革派通常坚持这种《圣经》中的用法，认为有形教会就是忠实地传道、谨遵圣礼的信徒团体，却没有对无形教会作出相应的描述。

In addition to these valid distinctions, brief reference may be made to two that are quite invalid. The first is between saints and ordinary Christians, saints being those who have maintained their postbaptismal righteousness and the rest being those who have incurred temporal guilt which must be finally absolved in purgatory. The second is between the clergy and the laity of the Church, the former being a special class of rulers and teachers and the latter the regular members. It may be noted that in the Bible the relevant terms “saints,” “heritage” (1 Pet. 5:3; pl. of Gk. kléros, whence clergy), and people (laós, whence laity) are all used of the whole Church, so that doctrinal misunderstanding is introduced if they are misapplied in terms of these distinctions.

VII. Order of the Church.-The Church does not exist for itself but for the discharge of a commission. Taking its place and fulfilling its task in the world, it has need of order. Even in the exercise of the free gifts of the Spirit, Paul can still plead for order (1 Cor. 14:40). Even within the one people of God, those who labor and are over you in the Lord are to be esteemed very highly for their work's sake (1 Thess. 5:12f.). Even though there is neither male nor female, the interrelations of man and woman are still to be in terms of order (Eph. 5:22ff.). If there is no rigid or hierarchical organization, the Church is an organism and therefore there is still differentiation of function (1 Cor. 12) with a view to integrated growth and effective activity.

VII. 教会的次序。教会不是为了自身而存在，而是为了肩负使命而存在。教会要想肩负起使命，完成它在这个世界上的任务，就需要建立教会的秩序。虽然保罗行使着圣灵赐予他的权柄，但他仍然要求凡事按照次序而行（林前 14:40）。尽管教会内弟兄们都是神的子民，但那些受苦、在主里面治理你们的人应该因他们所作的工而格外受到尊重（帖前 5:12-13）。虽然教会内没有男女之分，但男人和女人的关系仍然存在次序（弗 5:22 起）。即使教会没有严格

Jesus Himself, of course, made little contribution to the establishment of an orderly pattern of life and ministry, leaving this work to the Holy Spirit as the administrator of spiritual gifts. Yet Jesus left us the basic elements, calling out the Twelve, giving the great commission, instituting the two sacraments, and constituting service the principle of rule and mutual forbearance the principle of conduct.

In Acts the worship of the Church is still linked with the temple, but household meetings are also held for prayer, exhortation, and table fellowship; and a distinctive ministry of word and sacraments is exercised by the disciples and others. The need to supervise the daily ministrations leads to the election of the Seven, in whom the later diaconate probably has its origin, though it is noteworthy that two at least of the Seven (Stephen and Philip) seem to display more evangelistic initiative at this stage than the apostles. The deacons are the first instance of popular appointment, the Eleven having been appointed directly by the Lord and the mode of replacing Judas by Matthias being a little obscure.

Five further points are to be noted in relation to Acts. (1) The apostleship can denote a wider body than the Twelve, Paul in particular being directly called to this work by the risen Lord. (2) James,

或分等级的机构，但教会是一个有机体，因此，为了保证教会的协调发展和有效运行，教会内仍有职责之分（林前 12）。

诚然，耶稣本人对建立教会生活和事工秩序的贡献很小，而是把这个工作留给了管理属灵恩赐的圣灵。不过，耶稣留给我们一些基本要素，祂恩召了十二使徒，赐给他们重要的使命，制定了两个圣礼，将事奉确立为管理教会的原则，将相互宽容立为基督徒的行为准则。

在《使徒行传》中，教会的敬拜始终与圣殿联系在一起，但也会为了祷告、劝化和桌上团契而在家中举行聚会；门徒和其他人分别在传道和举行圣礼。七个人应监督每日供给之事的需要而被拣选出来，后来的执事可能便由此而来，但值得注意的是，这七人中至少有两人（司提反和腓利）在此时比使徒们更积极地传道。拣选执事可能是第一个大众任命职位的例子，主耶稣直接拣选了十一人，尚不清楚马提亚是以怎样的方式取代了犹大。

《使徒行传》中还有 5 个方面值得注意。（1）使徒可能远不止十二个人，特别是保罗曾直接蒙复活的主的恩召作了使徒。（2）主的兄弟雅各似乎被普遍认为是耶路撒冷教会的领袖（参：徒

the Lord's brother, seems to emerge as acknowledged leader of the church in Jerusalem (cf. Acts 15:14). (3) Elders are appointed by Paul and Barnabas (not, so far as we are told, by popular election) in the new missionary communities (Acts 14:23), probably after the pattern of the Jewish synagogue (cf. 15:2). (4) These elders may also be called bishops (Acts 20:28), though it is argued by some that, while all bishops are elders, not all elders are necessarily bishops. (5) There are also prophets and teachers in the local churches (Acts 13:1), who may have exercised a more itinerant ministry (cf. 21:10) and among whom we are also to number prophetesses (21:9).

As regards the life and worship of the Church, we do not learn much from Acts. It may be noted, however, that during the period spent by Paul at Troas the disciples came together on the first day of the week to break bread, presumably in the evening (Acts 20:6ff.), although on Jewish reckoning the reference might be to the preceding evening and early morning.

In the Epistles there is obviously a ministry of spiritual gifts in connection with the orderly administration of elders and deacons. Itinerant ministry is still exercised by the apostles, prophets, and teachers, partly for evangelism and partly for instruction and exhortation. There are also special gifts of tongues, interpretations, prophecy, healing, miracles, etc., for the exercise of which opportunity seems to be given in the gatherings of the community, although Paul insists that things must be done in orderly fashion and that women must keep silence in the church (1 Cor. 12-14).

15:14)。(3) 保罗和巴拿巴在新的传教团体(徒 14:23)中选立了长老(据我们所知, 长老不是大众选立的), 他们可能效仿犹太会堂选立了长老(参: 徒 15:2)。(4) 这些长老可能也被称为监督(徒 20:28), 但是有些人认为, 虽然所有的监督都是长老, 但并非所有的长老都是监督。(5) 地方的教会中还有先知和教师(徒 13:1), 其中还包括一些女先知(徒 21:9), 他们可能经常到各地传道(参: 徒 21:10)。

在使徒书信中显然有一个与长老和执事的有序管理有关的属灵恩赐的事奉。仍然由使徒、先知和教师进行巡回传道, 这一定程度上是为了传播福音, 一定程度上是为了教导和劝化世人。他们还被赐予说方言、翻译、说预言、治愈和行神迹等特殊天赋, 他们似乎是在基督徒聚会时被赐予了这些天赋, 但保罗坚持认为凡事必须按照次序而行, 妇女应该在教会中闭口不言(林前 12-14)。有些人认为, 《圣经》并没有告诉我们, 只有使徒时代才有这些特殊的事工, 尽管从严格的意义上说, 使徒显然没有连续不断地出现。另一方面, 这些事工是圣灵真实的恩赐, 因此不能作为教会事

The Bible does not tell us, as some suppose, that these special ministries are only for the apostolic age, although obviously there can be no continuation of apostles in the strict sense. On the other hand, these are genuine gifts of the Spirit and cannot, therefore, be made a stereotyped feature of the Church's ministry. Incidentally, the apostles on occasion seem to appoint delegates for particular purposes, e.g., Paul in the case of Timothy and Titus. But here we are in the sphere of a developing missionary situation and there can be no question of the establishment of a permanent feature of organization.

The more regular ministry of bishops and deacons or elders and deacons is, however, a normative element in the Church as we find it in Philipians, the Pastoral Epistles, 1 Peter, James, and possibly the Epistles of John. If the common exercise of ministry in Acts gives guidance for an evangelistic and missionary situation, or for the possible discharge of extraordinary ministries, here we have the pattern for regular pastoral administration within the established community. The work of bishops and elders seems to be primarily spiritual (Acts 20:17, 28, 35; 1 Tim. 3:2-5; Jas. 5:14; 1 Pet. 5:2). The deacons are more concerned with practical matters, especially the administration of help to the sick, poor, and needy (1 Tim. 5:8-11), which is probably the main financial operation of the early Church. It is also likely that in the Pastorals we have reference to deaconesses (cf. Rom. 16:1), though there is no evidence of commanded appointment as in the case of elders (cf. Tit. 1:5). The appointment of elders still seems to be from above (i.e., by the apostles or their delegates), though there is nothing to show that this function of the apostles was transmitted to others apart from the elders themselves (cf. 2 Tim. 2:2). Thus, on the modern mission field the missionary may well institute the local ministry but does not on this account appoint permanent successors to himself for the continuation or control of this ministry.

There can be no disputing the fact that the apostles and their associates exercise a special and primary ministry and take initial order for the Church. Yet this does not allow us to deduce either (1) that they appoint successors in this function or (2) that these successors are the later bishops, or some of the more outstanding of the later bishops. If there is any continuation of the apostolic ministry, it is probably to be found rather in those who pursue the same special function of evangelism and missionary outreach. Yet even here there is only a secondary and derivative form of apostolate. The apostles themselves as the first evangelists and witnesses, appointed by the Lord Himself and specially endowed for their distinctive task, are obviously unique. Not even delegates like Timothy and Titus can properly be described as their successors. The later bishops are the successors only of the first bishops or elders, who were appointed as such, and not as apostles, to provide for orderly and continuous pastoral ministry in the local congregations.

毋庸置疑，使徒和他们的同工是特殊的、主要的传道者，在教会中居于首位。但我们不能依此推论出（1）他们选立履行这一职责的继任者，（2）这些继任者是后来的主教，或者某些继任者是后期更为杰出的主教。如果说使徒的传道具有一定的延续性，那么那些同样肩负传播福音和传教这个特殊职责的人可能延续了使徒的职分。但是即使这样，他们只是源于使徒，地位却不及使徒。显而易见，作为第一批福音传道者和见证者的使徒是独一无二的，他们是由主亲自拣选的，并且因要完成特殊的任务而被赋予了特殊的权柄。甚至连提摩太和提多这些使徒代表都不能算作是使徒的继任者。后来的主教只是第一批主教或长老的继任者，他们被选为主教而不是使徒，从而为牧师在当地会众中有序、连续的传道作准备。

I. Introduction.—To discover in definite detail what kind of church government is mirrored in the NT is, no doubt, quite impossible. Certain general features, however, may clearly be seen.

The subject is best approached through the Gk. ekklēsia, translated “church.” Passing by the history of this word, and its connection with the Heb. ‘ēdā and qāhāl (which the LXX sometimes renders

 - A. 教会成员
 - B. 明确的组织
 - C. 神职人员
 - D. 教会的职能
- III. 外部权柄
- IV. 合作关系

I. 简介。毋庸置疑，在《新约》中完全不可能找出关于教会体制类型的具体细节。不过，可以清楚地看出某些一般特征。

通过希腊语 ekklēsia (译为“教会”) 可以完美地解释这个主题。纵观这个词的历史，以及这个词与希伯来语 ‘ēdā 和 qāhāl (《七十士译本》有时译为 ekklēsia) 的关系，我们顿时会明白这个词在《新

by ekklēsia), we come at once to the NT usage. Two perfectly distinct senses are found, viz., a general and a local.

A. General Sense. Christ is “head over all things for the church, which is his body ...” (Eph. 1:22); “the assembly of the firstborn who are enrolled in heaven” (He. 12:23). Here we have “church” in the broadest sense, including all the redeemed in earth and heaven, and in all ages (see also Eph. 3:10; 5:22–27; Col. 1:24).

B. Local Sense. Here the Scripture passages are very numerous. In some cases the word is used in the singular, and in others the plural; in some it is used with reference to a specified church, and in others without such specification. In all cases the sense is local. In Acts 11:26, it is said that Paul and Barnabas “met with the church,” where the church at Antioch is meant. In Acts 14:23, Paul and Barnabas are said to have “appointed elders for them in every church,” i.e., in churches they had planted. In Rev. 2f. the seven churches of Asia Minor are addressed. In Acts 16:5 we are told that the churches “were strengthened in the faith.” On the local sense see further Acts 8:1; 15:4; 16:5; 20:17; Rom. 16:4; 1 Cor. 1:2; 6:4; 11:16; Gal. 1:2, 22, and many other places.

A few passages do not seem exactly to fit into either of the above categories. Such, e.g., are Mt. 18:17 and 1 Cor. 12:28, where it seems best to understand a generic sense. Such, also, are passages like Acts 9:31 and 1 Cor. 10:32, where a collective sense best suits the cases.

Church government in the NT applies

约》中的用法。这个词有两个完全不同的含义，即广义和狭义。

A. 广义。基督“为教会作万有之首，教会是祂的身体……”（弗 1:22）；“有名录在天上诸长子之会所共聚的总会”（来 12:23）。我们这里使用了最广义的“教会”，包括了地上、天上和历代所有得救赎的人（另见弗 3:10；5:22-27；西 1:24）。

B. 狭义。《圣经》中采用该词狭义用法的段落有很多。在某些情况下，该词以单数形式出现，在其他情况下，该词以复数形式出现；经文中有时用这个词指代某个具体的教会，有时又没有具体所指。所有这些情况都是该词的狭义用法。《使徒行传》11:26 中提到，保罗和巴拿巴“和教会一同聚集”，这里的教会指的是安提阿教会。《使徒行传》14:23 中提到，保罗和巴拿巴“在各教会中选立了长老”，即他们建立的教会。《启示录》2-3 章中提到了小亚细亚的七个教会。《使徒行传》16:5 中提到众教会“信心越发坚固”。关于这个词的狭义用法，另见《使徒行传》8:1；15:4；16:5；20:17；《罗马书》16:4；《哥林多前书》1:2；6:4；11:16；《加拉太书》1:2, 22 和其他多处章节。

有几个经文段落似乎不太符合上面的两个分类。比如《马太福音》18:17 和《哥林多前书》12:28，这里的教会似乎最应该从广义用法去理解。再比如《使徒行传》9:31 和《哥林多前书》10:32 中的教会采用的是该词的集合意义。

only to the local bodies.

II. Internal Order.-With respect to the constitution and life of these NT churches, several points may be made out beyond reasonable doubt.

A. Subjects of Admission. They were composed of persons who professed faith in Christ, and who were believed to have been regenerated, and who had been baptized, See Acts 2:41, 44, 47; 8:12; Rom. 1:8; 6:4; 10:9f.; 1 Cor. 1:2; Col. 1:2, 4; 1 Tim. 6:12, and others, where they are called “saints,” “sons of God,” “faithful brethren,” “sanctified in Christ Jesus.”

B. Definite Organizations. They were definitely and permanently organized bodies, and not temporary and loose aggregations of individuals. It is quite impossible, for example, to regard the church at Antioch as a loose aggregation of people for a passing purpose. The letters of Paul to the churches at Rome, Corinth, Philippi, Thessalonica, cannot be regarded as addressed to other than permanent and definitely organized bodies.

C. Ministers. They were served by two classes of ministers—one general, the other local.

1. General. At the head of these is the “apostle” (1 Cor. 12:28; Eph. 4:11). His official relation to the churches was general. He did not necessarily belong to the group of the original Eleven. Besides Matthias (Acts 1:26), Paul and Barnabas (1 Cor. 9:5f.), James, the Lord’s brother (Gal. 1:19), Andronicus, and Junias (Rom. 16:7) are reckoned as “apostles.”

II. 内部秩序。关于这些新约教会的构成和生活，可以明确以下几点。

*A. 教会的成员。*新约教会由信基督的人、被圣灵更新的人和受洗的人组成，见《使徒行传》2:41, 44, 47; 8:12; 《罗马书》1:8; 6:4; 10:9-10; 《哥林多前书》1:2; 《歌罗西书》1:2, 4; 《提摩太前书》6:12 等，在这些经文中，教会成员被称为“圣徒”、“神的儿子”、“忠心的弟兄”和“在基督耶稣里成圣的”。

*B. 明确的组织。*新约教会是明确、永久的组织，而不是暂时、松散的个人团体。例如，完全不能出于暂时的目的而认为安提阿的教会是一个松散的个人团体。保罗的《罗马书》《哥林多书》《腓立比书》和《帖撒罗尼迦书》一定是写给一些组织明确的永久团体的书信。

*C. 神职人员。*有两种神职人员在新约教会中事奉——一般神职人员和地方神职人员。

1. 一般神职人员。“使徒”在教会中居于首位（林前 12:28; 弗 4:11）。使徒与教会存在着正式的、普遍的联系。使徒不仅仅包括最初的十一个人。除了马提亚（徒 1:26），保罗和巴拿巴（林前 9:5-10），主的兄弟雅各（加 1:19）、安多尼古和犹尼亚安（罗 16:7）也被认为是“使徒”。成为使徒的永恒必要条件是看到过复活后的主（徒 1:22; 林前

The one invariable and necessary qualification of an apostle was that he should have seen the Lord after the Resurrection (Acts 1:22; 1 Cor. 9:1). Another qualification was to have wrought “the signs of an apostle” (2 Cor. 12:12; cf. 1 Cor. 9:2). He was to bear witness to what he had seen and heard, to preach the gospel of the kingdom (Acts 1:8; 1 Cor. 1:17), to found churches and have a general care of them (2 Cor. 11:28). From the nature of his chief qualification, his office was temporary.

Next comes the “prophet.” His relation to the churches, also, was general. It was not necessary that he should have seen the Lord, but it appertained to his spiritual function that he should have revelations (Eph. 3:5). There is no indication that his office was in any sense administrative.

After the “prophet” come the “evangelist” and “teacher,” the first a traveling preacher, the second, one who had special aptitude for giving instruction.

After the “teacher” and “evangelist” follow a group with special gifts: “healers, helpers, administrators, speakers in various kinds of tongues.” It may be that “helpers” and “administrators” are to be identified with “deacons” and “bishops,” to be spoken of later. The other items in this part of Paul’s list seem to refer to those who had special charismata.

2. Local. There were two clearly distinct offices of a local and permanent kind in the NT churches. Paul (Phil. 1:1) addresses “all the saints in Christ Jesus who are at Philippi, with the bishops and deacons.” See BISHOP; DEACON.

9:1)。另一个条件是“显出使徒的凭据来”(林后 12:12; 参: 林前 9:2)。使徒为听到的和看到的作见证, 传播天国的福音(徒 1:8; 林前 1:17), 建立教会, 并关心教会的事(林后 11:28)。从成为使徒的主要条件的本质上看, 使徒的职分是暂时的。

“先知”在教会中居于次位。他们也与教会存在着普遍的联系。先知不一定需要看到过主, 但他们必须领受圣灵的启示, 且肩负着属灵的职责(弗 3:5)。不论怎样, 没有任何证据表明先知的职分是管理的职分。

排在“先知”后面的是“福音传道者”和“教师”, 福音传道者是到处游历的牧师, 教师是具有教导天赋的人。

排在“教师”和“福音传道者”后面的是些具有特殊天赋的人: “医病的, 帮助人的, 治理事的, 说方言的。”“帮助人的”和“治理事的”可能就是后来的“执事”和“主教”。保罗这份教会成员名单中的其他人似乎指的是那些得到特殊恩赐的人。

2. 地方神职人员。新约教会中的地方神职人员和永久神职人员显然有两个不同的职分。保罗(腓 1:1)“写信给凡住腓立比, 在基督耶稣里的众圣徒, 和诸位监督, 诸位执事”。见 BISHOP (主教、监督); DEACON (执事)。

The most common designation of the first of these officers is “elder” (presbyteros). In one passage (Eph. 4:11) he is called “pastor” (poimēn). In Acts 20:17–28, it becomes clear that the office of elder, bishop, and pastor was one; for there the apostle charges the elders of the church at Ephesus to feed (pastor) the church in which the Holy Spirit has made them bishops (cf. Tit. 1:5, 7; 1 Pet. 5:1f.).

The function of the elders was, in general, spiritual, but involved an oversight of all the affairs of the church (1 Tim. 3:2; 5:17).

As to the second of the local church officers, little is given us in the NT. That the office of deacon originated with the appointment of the Seven in Acts 6 is not certain. If we compare the qualifications there given by the apostles with those given by Paul in 1 Tim. 3:8–13, it seems quite probable that the necessity which arose at Jerusalem, and which led to the appointment of the Seven, was really the occasion for originating the office of deacon in the churches. The task assigned the Seven was secular, that is to say, the “service of tables.” They were to relieve the apostles of that part of the work. A similar relation to the work of the elders seems to have been borne by that of the deacons.

D. Ecclesiastical Functions. Again, the churches exercised the highest ecclesiastical functions. (1) They exercised discipline. In Mt. 18:17 the final determination of disciplinary matters is in the hands of the church (although it is possible that the reference here may be to the synagogue, and just

第一种地方神职人员的最常见称谓是“长老” (presbyteros)。在《以弗所书》4:11 中，“长老”也被称为“牧师” (poimēn)。在《使徒行传》20:17–28 中，长老、监督和牧师的职分显然是相同的；因为使徒让以弗所教会的长老牧养教会，而圣灵拣选他们作教会的监督（参：多 1:5, 7；彼前 5:1-2）。

总的来说，长老肩负着属灵的职责，但他们要监督教会里所有的事（提前 3:2；5:17）。

我们对《新约》中地方教会中神职人员的第二个职分了解得很少。尚无法确定执事的职分是否源自《使徒行传》6 章中那七个被拣选的人。如果我们对比使徒们给出的执事的任职资格和《提摩太前书》3:8-13 中保罗给出的执事的任职资格，就会发现促成七人在耶路撒冷被拣选出来的需求实际上为教会中执事职分的出现提供了时机。十二使徒让七人负责管理世俗事务，也就是“管理饭食”。他们分担了使徒们的部分工作。执事的工作似乎与长老的工作类似。 conceivable that it could be to the Church at large). More clearly, the Corinthian church is urged by Paul to settle its own disputes and to maintain internal discipline (1 Cor. 5:5; 2 Cor. 2:2). It is to be noted, however, that a special binding and loosing is committed to the apostles, that a function of rule appertains to individuals within the churches, and that the local church may finally be construed as the sum of congregations in a city or locality rather than as each particular congregation.

*D. 教会的职能。*此外，教会行使着最高的教会职能。(1) 教会负责管教信徒。在《马太福音》18:17 中，教会掌握着管教事宜的最终决定权（虽然这里的教会可能指的是会堂，也有可能指的是笼统意义上的教会）。再说的清楚一点，保罗让哥林多教会自己解决教会内的问题，维持教会的内部纪律（林前 5:5；

(2) The churches had some responsibility in the election of their ministers. This is a difficult subject. The Seven were plainly selected by the Church (Acts 6:3-13), and the special delegations of Acts 15:22 and 1 Cor. 16:3 (cf. also Phil. 2:25) are to some degree chosen by the congregations. On the other hand, when we turn to more regular ministries of preaching and discipline, we find that apostles were chosen directly by the Lord (but cf. Matthias), that the first elders were appointed or instituted by Paul and Barnabas, that Timothy had hands laid on him by Paul (2 Tim. 1:6) and by the presbytery (1 Tim. 4:14), and that Titus was to appoint elders in every city (Tit. 1:5). We cannot infer from this that there was an arbitrary imposition of ministers from above. On the other hand, we can hardly deny that oversight, especially in ordination, was exercised first by the apostles and then probably by the existing elders or bishops.

(3) The churches were responsible for their own order, e.g., in the administration of the Lord's Supper (1 Cor. 11:20-34) and the management of such matters as the collection or general poor relief. Here

林后 2:2)。然而，值得注意的是，使徒拥有约束地方教会和放松约束的特权，治理的职责应当属于教会内的弟兄，地方教会可能最终被视为城中或该地所有的会众，而不应将其视为每个特定的会众。

(2) 教会肩负着选立教会神职人员的职责。这是一个很难解释的问题。那七人显然是由教会拣选的（徒 6:3-13），从某种程度上说，《使徒行传》15:22 和《哥林多前书》16:3 中的特殊代表（另参：腓 2:25）是由会众拣选的。此外，当我们将注意力转向更为普通的传道和管教的职分时，会发现使徒是由主耶稣直接拣选的（除了马提亚），第一批长老是由保罗和巴拿巴选立的，提摩太接受了保罗和众长老的接手礼（提后 1:6；提前 4:14），但提多却在每座城市选立了长老（多 1:5）。我们不能依此推断出，神职人员可以行使专权。另一方面，我们几乎不能否认，后来可能由主教或长老行使使徒的监督权柄，尤其是神职授任时的监督权柄。

(3) 教会对自身的秩序负责，如管理主的晚餐（林前 11:20-34），管理募捐或一般的济贫等事务。我们在这里看到了每个教会的根本职责，这一职责主要由长老、执事或其他代表履行。没有任何

again we have an ultimate responsibility of each church primarily discharged through the elders or deacons or other representatives. There is no evidence that apostolic successors are created to supervise whole groups of churches. At the same time, the local church is not to be equated too easily with the individual congregation, as though a presbyterian or episcopal form of order were in essential or necessary contradiction with the NT pattern. It is also to be remembered that a measure of common responsibility cannot be evaded in view of the basic unity of the whole Church, the order or scandal of one local church being of common concern to all. Thus, while there would be no government of groups of churches either by another prominent church or by a confederation, there seems to be good reason for the summoning of larger synods for the settlement, or at least the discussion, of fundamental issues of order, life, and doctrine (cf. the gathering at Jerusalem in Acts 15).

III. External Authority.-As we have seen, the biblical evidence gives us no warrant for a single ecclesiastical organization under hierarchical government, and even less for the spectacle of denominational federations. The tendency toward an extension and centralization of control after the pattern of political government, whether autocratic, oligarchical, or bureaucratic, is one that must be constantly resisted in the Church. Nevertheless, the evidence for pure congregationalism is not quite so strong as might appear. For one thing, there is in the NT a secured interconnection of ministry through the apostles; and, while the apostles themselves can have no successors, it cannot be assumed too lightly that this interconnection should vanish with them. Again, the local church might well become much broader than a single congregation, so that there is no apparent breach of NT order in, for example, the maintenance of a united church of Geneva at the time of the Reformation. Where the local unit is expanded to become a state or nation, there is, of course, a dangerous pressure away from the NT pattern, though it is interesting that Paul can naturally enough address a single epistle to a group of churches (the Galatians) that geographically or politically constitutes a kind of unit of its own. Again, there is obvious interchange and even common decision on matters of more than local concern, the local church being constantly reminded that it cannot advance any abstract claim to individualistic autonomy. In sum, the church order of the NT demands a development of order that is not dominated by political concepts but can allow of apparently contradictory factors through the basic orientation on the principle of common edification and service. In practice, the church unity will obviously be the local congregational or territorial unity. But if the larger interconnection that may be legitimate and necessary should not be allowed to harden into enforced and authoritarian government, neither should the local or territorial independence be exalted as an abstract principle or perverted into self-assertive autonomy.

III. 外部的权柄。正如我们所看到的,圣经证据不能说明在等级体制下存在一个单独的教会组织,甚至不能说明存在教派联盟。教会必须始终抵制像专制、寡头或官僚政体那样热衷于扩张和集权的管制模式。但是,完全会众制的证据似乎没有看上去那样可靠。首先,在《新约》中,藉着使徒确立了牢固的事工连系;虽然使徒时代之后再未出现过使徒,但不能因此轻率地认为,这种连系会随着使徒的消亡而消亡。其次,地方教会很可能远不只有一个会众,所以宗教改革时期维护日内瓦教会的团结并不明显违背《新约》中的教会秩序。当然,当地方教会扩张成为一个国家,教会就面临着违背新约教会模式的危险,但有趣的是保罗可以非常自然地给众多教会只写一封信(《加拉太书》),

In the NT there is, of course, no interference of the civil authorities in church matters apart from attempts to silence or suppress. Christians are to be good citizens of the states in which they live (Rom. 13:1-7; 1 Pet. 2:13, 16), observing the law insofar as this impinges on their individual or corporate life. If they may sometimes be called to resist the state because of a demand that conflicts with the law of God, they are obviously not to seek to establish themselves as an imperium in imperio, and may rightly avail themselves of their rights as citizens as occasion requires (Acts 16:37). At the same time, they are not to take their differences into temporal, or at least non-Christian, courts (1 Cor. 6:1f.). They do finally belong to another kingdom, though it is not of this world (Jn. 18:36). They recognize that temporal rule, while it is of God, is also of the world, so that there are areas of life in which their peculiarity as citizens or colonists of heaven must transcend and even replace their civil attachment.

More complicated problems arise when rulers or judges themselves become Christians and thus seek to bring the institutions of the state into conformity with Christian standards. In these circumstances might not the judicial system become a Christian court which Christians may use without transgression of Paul's advice in 1 Corinthians? Indeed, does not the whole situation approximate more closely to that of the OT than to that of the NT? This was the conclusion that underlay a good deal of the interrelationship of church and state in the period after Constantine, and also the thinking and practice of the Reformers regarding the godly prince and the state church. At the same time, the more perspicacious Reformers perceived the dangers either of a domination of the state by the church on the one side or an interference of the state in the church on the other; and even in situations where a national church has been maintained there has been a progressive trend away from the OT theocratic conception, a conception that inspired many Separatists in their attempted communities as well as the main Reformers. It is true enough that in any circumstances there are bound to be points at which the state and the church overlap, e.g., in terms of association or the laws of property. It is also true that where leaders of state are themselves Christian the practical relationship may be much closer. Nevertheless, it seems advisable that a clear distinction should always be seen and maintained between the two, the church advising the state and the state facilitating the cause of the church without any equation of the two or subordination of the one to the other.

IV. Cooperative Relations.-Whether the churches are territorial or congregational in the NT, and irrespective of their precise relationship to the NT apostolate, there can be no doubt that in the NT we find cooperation for various purposes, e.g., in evangelism, in the settlement of questions of general interest, in common edification, and in mutual aid. The great expansion of the Church from primitive times has undoubtedly increased rather than diminished both the area of cooperative action and the need for it. Again, the rise of denominationalism in its various forms has posed a demand for joint planning and integration among the denominations, e.g., in evangelistic and missionary work, as also for a common platform on many issues of common Christian concern. It must be emphasized that there should be a measure of freedom in these cooperative ventures. But this will be the freedom of the gospel, which finds its fulfillment and impulsion in the constraint of obedience and service.

IV. 合作关系。无论《新约》中的教会是属地教会还是会众教会，也不论它们与《新约》中的使徒有多么明确的关系，我们无疑可以在《新约》中找到出于各种目的进行合作的例子，例如，共同传道，合力解决共同关心的问题，领受共同的启示，相互帮助。教会从初期开始的大力扩张无疑增加了而不是减少了合作的领域和合作的需求。此外，因为出现了各种形式的宗派主义，因此需要教派间的联合与整合，例如为了进行福音传道和传教，也为了给许多共同关心的基督教问题提供一个共同的平台，各教派必须联合起来。必须强调的是，各教派在这些合作的事业中应该有一定的自由。但这将是福音的自由，要在顺从和事奉的约束中实现，并从中寻找动力。

si-lish'yə [Gk. hē Kilikia]. A large region in southeast Asia Minor divided geographically into two parts. "Flat" Cilicia (Gk. Pedias; Lat. Campestris) to the east is a wedge of plains about 100 mi.(160 km.) long in the angle formed by the Taurus (with Anti-Taurus) and Amanus ranges, along the north shore of the extreme northeast corner of the Mediterranean. Along its northwest side it is dominated by the Taurus, which rises over 10,000 ft. (3000 m.) blocking almost all access to the great hinterland plateau of Anatolia. Through a formidable gorge called the Cilician Gates, a single major route leads to Lycaonia and the west. The same mountains supply the three main rivers, called in antiquity the Cydnus, the Sarus, and the Pyramus, which have built up the lower alluvial levels and maintain their prosperity. On the southeast side a narrow coastal strip is similarly divided from the plains of Syria, which open out to the Euphrates, by the Amanus, where again there is a strategic pass, the Syrian Gates, carrying the road to Antioch.

Thus Cilicia Pedias, with its twin "gates," dominated the main land route from Asia Minor to Syria and Mesopotamia. The ruins of a number of castles attest its importance in the Middle Ages as Greek control contracted toward Byzantium. Fifteen hundred years before, in the 4th cent. B.C., it had opened the way for the two great eastward expeditions of the Greeks: the fatal revolt of the younger Cyrus against the Persians (described by Xenophon), and Alexander's triumphant progress. In Cilicia, at Issus, Alexander won the victory that threw Asia open to the Hellenistic age. Greeks had in fact already long settled in these particular plains (local tradition held that they had come in the scattering of peoples after the Trojan War). Under the Seleucid successors of Alexander, there was now a thorough hellenization. By the time the Romans assumed control in the 1st cent. B.C., Cilicia Pedias was apparently divided entirely into the territories of seventeen republican cities, a mark of its intensely concentrated development. Of these Tarsus was the most eminent, and at the time, as Strabo shows, the rival of Athens and Alexandria as an international center of education (Geog. xiv.5.13). Rich agricultural (wheat, rice) and orchard (dates, figs, wine) industries flourished in Pedias, and the flax crop was the basis of an important linen export trade (with which Paul's family was connected? cf. Acts 18:3).

“Rugged” Cilicia (Gk. Tracheia; Lat. Aspera) to the west is the massive bastion that the Taurus thrusts down into the Mediterranean toward Cyprus, cutting Pedias off from the similar plains region to the west, Pamphylia. In spite of the string of Greek states along its seaboard, the importance of Tracheia lay in two strategic commodities of the hill country, manpower (the “Isaurians” were still famous soldiers in Byzantine times) and timber. The latter product, vital to their naval policy, had attracted the attention of the Ptolemies of Egypt, who controlled Tracheia although it was geographically part of the Seleucid domains. With the decline of Ptolemaic power and the weakening of the Seleucids and the naval republic of Rhodes by Roman intervention, Tracheia became the base of the pirates who in the 2nd cent. B.C. terrorized the eastern Mediterranean and, through the great market of Delos (which Strabo says could handle 10,000 slaves a day [Geog. xiv.5.2]), exported a constant flow of victims into slavery at Rome.

Eventually, in 102 B.C., the Romans set up a provincial command to police such activities; but it was not until the brilliant campaign of Pompey in 67 B.C. that piracy was exterminated and regular Roman control established for Padias at least. There was still little question of the Romans tackling Tracheia, which was left to satellite rulers. In the NT period it was part of the kingdom of Antiochus IV of Commagene. Padias seems to have been administered with one of the Roman provinces to either side, Cappadocia or Syria, until the two parts of Cilicia were combined as a province in their own right in A.D. 72. (Cf. RRAM, pp. 1419f., on this complex matter.) The coupling of Cilicia with Syria (Gal. 1:21; Acts 15:23, 41) reflects the administrative arrangements at the time, though Acts 23:34 speaks of Cilicia as a distinct province.

Although no details of the churches of Cilicia are given in the NT, they were no doubt important. There was a considerable Jewish settlement, for the Cilicians gave their name to a synagogue in Jerusalem (Acts 6:9), to which Paul (21:39; 22:3) would have belonged. He himself returned to Tarsus for some years after his conversion (9:30; 11:25), and the letter from the Jerusalem Council was addressed to Cilicia among others (15:23). Paul visited Cilician churches (15:41),

罗马人终于在公元前 102 年建立了一个地方指挥部来监督海盗活动；但直到公元前 67 年庞培将军取得战役胜利，才最终除尽了这里的海盗，并且至少确立了罗马对比底亚的持续统治权。罗马人让附属统治者管理西基利家，关于罗马人对西基利家的统治，还有一个小问题。在新约时期，西基利家是科马根行省安提阿哥四世的王国的一部分。比底亚似乎与罗马行省加帕多家或叙利亚同属于一个管辖区，直到后来基利家的两部分于公元 72 年合并成了一个独立的罗马行省。（关于这个复杂的问题，参：RRAM, 1419-1420 页。）基利家与叙利亚在一起被提及（加 1:21；徒 15:23, 41）体现出这一时期的行政安排，尽管《使徒行传》23:34 中将基利家说成是一个独立的行省。

虽然《新约》中没有详细描述基利家的教会，但它们无疑都非常重要。有大量犹太人定居在基利家，因为基利家人将耶路撒冷的一个犹太会堂命名为基利家会堂（徒 6:9），保罗应该是基利家人（徒 21:39；22:3）。保罗悔改多年之后回到了大数（徒 9:30；11:25），耶路撒冷会议给外邦信徒的书信向基利家等外邦的弟兄问了安（徒 15:23）。保罗拜访了基利家的教会（徒 15:41），随后途经基利家隘口来到了吕高尼，他后来再次经这一路线传道（徒 18:23）。

Circumcision is practiced by many peoples in different parts of the world. In biblical times it was a custom among the West Semites (Hebrews, Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites) but was unknown among the Eastern Semitic peoples of Mesopotamia. In Egypt, as indeed generally in the ancient world, circumcision was a rite performed either at puberty or in preparation for marriage (cf. ANET, p. 326). Among the people of Canaan the Philistines were exceptional in their nonadherence to the practice, and of them alone is the term “uncircumcised” customarily used. An additional example of uncircumcised Canaanites is given in Gen. 34:13–17, but there is the possibility that the Shechemites also were of non-Canaanite or non-Semitic descent.

In biblical times the rite of circumcision was a precondition of the enjoyment of certain political and religious privileges (Ex. 12:48; Ezk. 44:9), and was

【希伯来语: mûl, mālal (创 17:11), mûlôt (出 4:26); 希腊语: peritémnō, peritomé】; 还有“未受割礼”【希腊语: di' akrobystias】(罗 4:11)。割礼指的是割去男性生殖器阳皮的习俗, 通常指的是一种宗教仪式, 但今天男子接受割礼通常仅仅是为了保持卫生。

世界上不同地区的很多民族都有行割礼的习俗。在圣经时代, 割礼是西闪族人 (希伯来人、摩押人、亚扪人和以东人) 的一种习俗, 但美索不达米亚的东闪族人是否施行割礼尚不清楚。在埃及, 甚至在整个古代世界, 男孩在青春期接受割礼或将割礼作为婚前的准备 (参: ANET, 326 页)。在迦南的民族中, 只有非利士人不遵守这种习俗, 只有他们是“未受割礼的”民族。《创世记》34:13–17 中还给出了另一个未受割礼的迦南人的例子, 但示剑人也有可能不是迦南人或闪族人的后裔。

在圣经时代, 行割礼是享受某些政治特权和宗教特权的前提 (出 12:48; 结 44:9), 男孩在出生之后的第八天接受割礼。关于割礼的起源和最初的重要性, performed on the child of eight days. Various theories have been advanced with regard to its origin and original significance, but before consideration of these it would be well to consider the principal references to the rite in the OT.

I. Circumcision in the OT.-Gen. 17 outlines the origin of circumcision in Israel. In view of the widespread adherence to the custom by neighboring peoples, it is best to see in this chapter a description not of the custom's general origin but of its special meaning and perhaps restructuring for the Hebrews. Circumcision on the eighth day seems to have been an innovation, and certainly the significance assigned to the rite as a mark of God's covenant with the family of Abraham is unique. Included in the number treated were Abraham (age 99), Ishmael (age 13), and every male member of the household, whether slave or free; and the record gives no indication that any of the number had previously undergone the operation. Of course, if Gen. 17 is, as many affirm, nothing more than a late (P) etiological narrative, tying the ubiquitous custom of circumcision to Israel's salvation-history, then there is no need to search the chapter for evidence of circumcision's origin among the Hebrews. Abraham then becomes representative of all Hebrews, Ishmael pictures the Arabs, and the assorted slaves and retainers represent the Canaanite nations around. However, so much of the chapter reflects a very old tradition (e.g., the covenant concept is known to issue from the 2nd millennium; and the custom of circumcision itself, as set in a Canaanite milieu, certainly fits the period in question) that it seems unlikely that this account does not reflect

I. 《旧约》中的割礼。《创世记》17章概述了割礼在以色列的起源。由于以色列周围的很多民族都普遍遵守这一习俗，所以与其将这一章看作对割礼起源的大体描述，不如将其理解成对割礼的特殊意义或者希伯来人改变割礼习俗的描述。以色列的男婴在生下来第八天接受割礼似乎已经成为一种创新，当然割礼的意义是独特的，它是上帝与亚伯拉罕的后裔立约的记号。亚伯拉罕九十九岁接受了割礼，以实玛利十三岁接受了割礼，亚伯拉罕家里的一切男子，无论是奴仆还是自由人都行了割礼；经文中并没有提到在此之前男子在什么年龄接受割礼。当然，正如很多人所断言的，如果《创世记》17章仅仅是一种穷本溯源的阐述（P底本），将普遍存在的割礼习俗与以色列的救恩史联系起来，那么就无需在本章中寻找希伯来人割礼起源的证据。亚伯拉罕后来成为所有希伯来人的代表，以实玛利代表着阿拉伯人，亚伯拉罕家里的奴隶和家丁代表着以色列周围的迦南民族。不过，这一章中的大量内容体现出割礼拥有非常古老的传统（例如，从第二个千禧年开始就有人知晓约的概念；迦南人的割礼习俗必然是从这一时期开始出现的），因此这种描述似乎很可能体现出割礼的真正起源。正如我们所说，没有理由认为割礼是凭空出现在以色列的，但也并没有理由否认亚伯拉罕和他的后裔如经文所述行了割礼。《创世记》的编纂者不关注割礼的终极起源；而是关注后来以色列人所接受的割礼和割礼的意义。这个明显的关注点并不能证明他的描述不可靠。 something of the true beginning of the practice. As we have said, there is no reason to affirm that circumcision arrived in Israel in a vacuum, but neither is there reason to deny its application to Abraham and his posterity in the form outlined by the text. The editor of the Genesis account has no interest in the ultimate origin of circumcision; he is, rather, concerned with its subsequent application and significance in Israel. Such an obvious concern does not render his account untrustworthy.

“Mortuary priests” using flint knives to perform the rite of circumcision on a group of boys. Relief from the tomb of Ankhmahor at Saqqarâh (6th Dynasty, 2350–2000 B.C.) (Egyptian Museum, Cairo)

Exodus 4:24ff. is usually considered the oldest biblical witness to the practice of circumcision. In this account, so full of strange and obscure elements, Zipporah apparently redeems Moses from the power of Yahweh (considered by many scholars to represent an original pre-Yahwistic demon of the night) by performing the rite on her son. Just why

Yahweh attacked Moses and why the foreskin ritual with respect to the boy had vicarious value is not clear. The element of dedication of the son to the service of God was probably not absent; it is, however, the apparent deliverance from death by means of the symbolic act and the phrase “You are a blood-bridegroom to me” that form the core of the narrative. It is difficult to escape the conclusion that the narrative is thus somehow connecting the Israelite custom of circumcising an infant with the original and widely practiced custom of circumcising adults as a puberty or marriage rite (cf. B. Childs, Myth and Reality in the OT [1962], pp. 59–65). Not only does the shedding of the infant’s blood indicate his dedication to God, but its application to Moses’ feet (probably a euphemism for the male organ) made him ceremonially clean in a manner formerly achieved by adult circumcision. Such a connection between marriage and circumcision in Israel is further attested by the word-group from the root ḥtn (ḥātān, “bridegroom”; ḥōtēn, “father-in-law”), a root which in Arabic means both “circumcise” and “marry.”

One further account must be discussed. Josh. 5:2–9 tells of the circumcision of the Israelites born in the wilderness at a place called “hill of the foreskins,” an act that removed from them the “reproach of Egypt.” Taking the narrative at face value, we find that those Israelites who had been resident in Egypt had been circumcised, but the custom had not been kept up during the wilderness wanderings. Consequently, the narrative may not be seen as explaining the origin of the rite. The phrase “reproach of Egypt” has been the subject of varying explanations, the most probable being that the Egyptians, themselves a circumcised people (cf. Ezk. 32:19), would have considered the Hebrews with contempt apart from performance of the rite, and this act of Joshua's removed the stigma. For Israel, of course, it had another meaning, as the Passover was about to be celebrated (Josh. 5:10) and apart from circumcision an adult male was debarred from participation (Ex. 12:48).

II. Theories of Origin.-We have already considered the biblical evidence for the origin of circumcision in Israel; but the custom is manifestly older than its application in Israel, and some understanding of its significance to the Hebrews may result from a study of its original intent. Theories as to its origin may be arranged under four heads:

(1) Herodotus (ii.37), in dealing with circumcision among the Egyptians, suggests that it was a sanitary operation, a thought echoed by Philo and others. While there may be merit in the suggestion, and circumcision may well have facilitated marital intercourse or lessened the possibility of disease, we can hardly agree that the ancient world would have separated the religious from the secular to the extent that the custom would have been devoid of sacred significance, or even that it might have originated with the secular primarily in view. More to the point is the argument that circumcision was originally a rite celebrating a person's coming of age, a concomitant of which was the right to marry and enjoy full civic privileges.

(2) It was a kind of tribal mark which

义，因为马上就要守逾越节了（书 5:10），如果一个成年男子还未行割礼，那么他就不能参加逾越节的庆祝活动（出 12:48）。

II. 关于割礼起源的学说。我们已经考虑了开始在以色列行割礼的圣经证据；但割礼习俗显然早于以色列人行割礼的时间，关于割礼对希伯来人重要性的某种理解可能来自学者们对希伯来人行割礼的最初目的的研究。有四种关于割礼起源的学说：

(1) 希罗多德 (ii.37) 研究了埃及人的割礼，并认为埃及人的割礼是一次卫生手术，斐罗等人支持了这种观点。虽然这种观点可能有一定的价值，割礼很可能有利于婚姻中的性行为或者减少了感染疾病的可能性，但我们很难认同古代世界会将宗教与世俗完全分割开，以致割礼习俗失去了宗教意义，或者割礼可能主要源于世俗目的。更切题的一个论点是，割礼最初是一种庆祝男子成年的仪式，行过割礼之后，男子有权结婚和享受全部的公民特权。

enabled one member of the tribe to recognize another and thus avoid injuring or slaying a fellow-tribesman. Since such a mark was usually hidden, this suggestion does not seem to be valid, although the custom of stripping for combat may have been practiced. (Such was not, however, normal in historical times; cf. various battle scenes from ANEP.) If, however, one thinks of circumcision more as an initiatory rite, whether into the tribal group or into a state of full manhood, it becomes easier to see how the concept of a tribal mark might function. For the Hebrews the initiation, connected as it was with the covenant, took place in infancy and, although normally the effect of the rite was unseen, its presence or absence provided the basic identification for every Hebrew man.

(3) It was a vestigial remnant of human sacrifice. As sacrifice of the child began to be done away with, the sacrifice of the most easily removed portion of the anatomy provided a vicarious offering. However, among the Hebrews circumcision was not performed by priests, nor was the act performed in a sacrificial context. Perhaps even more telling, circumcision was most certainly in origin a puberty rite rather than an infant rite, and what evidence we have for human sacrifice among the Semites involves infants rather than adults.

(4) It was a sacramental operation. The “shedding of blood” was necessary to the validity of any covenant between tribes or individuals. An alliance based on blood-relationship was inviolable, and the rite of blood established this relationship between the contracting parties. In the same way the tribal god was supposed to share in the blood of the sacrificed animal, and a sacred bond was established between him and the tribe. It is not quite obvious why circumcision should be necessary in connection with such a ceremony, though if it were related to the human sacrifice idea (3) such a concept is not impossible. However, in the Gen. 17 account, wherein circumcision is tied to the covenant, there is no emphasis whatever on the bloody aspect of the operation.

(3) 割礼是活人献祭的遗俗。由于以婴孩献祭的习俗逐渐被废除，所以人体上最容易被去掉的部分变成了一种替代的祭物。不过，希伯来人不让祭司为他们行割礼，也不在献祭时才行割礼。割礼最初一定是一种成年礼而不是一种出生礼，这也许更能说明问题，而且证据已经证明闪族人用婴孩而不是成年人献祭。

(4) 割礼是一种圣礼。“流出的血”对于证明宗族间或个体间的盟约有效性是必要的。以血缘关系为基础的同盟是不可褻渎的，而歃血仪式确立了立约双方的血缘关系。同样，宗族的神应当分享祭牲的血，从而建立了他和宗族之间的圣约关系。尚不太清楚立约仪式上必

III. Spiritual Significance.-Though we cannot with certainty discover the original significance of the rite, we can affirm without doubt that circumcision was originally a religious act. Its value as a tribal mark has certainly come through in the application of the rite within Israel, wherein it becomes the mark par excellence of God's covenant with the descendants of Abraham. It is in this sense, as a mark given by God to indicate membership in the covenant, that the major spiritual emphasis is drawn. As early as the time of the Deuteronomist, membership in the covenant community is seen as a spiritual thing, dependent on a mark that is not outward but a matter of the heart (Dt. 10:16). Jeremiah echoes this figurative use of the term, and calls for a membership based on ethical commitment (4:4) rather than physical mutilation, although it must be recognized that there is no rejection of the outward sign either in Deuteronomy or Jeremiah. Jeremiah goes on to tell his countrymen that they are no better than Egyptians, Edomites, Moabites, and Ammonites (9:25)—peoples who are circumcised, yet uncircumcised. The Judeans, though circumcised outwardly, are uncircumcised in heart. Paul uses the term “mutilation” (AV “concision”) to describe this outward circumcision unaccompanied by any spiritual change (Phil. 3:2).

III. 割礼的属灵意义。虽然我们无法确定割礼的最初意义，但我们可以非常肯定地说，割礼最初是一种宗教行为。割礼作为宗族记号的价值必然体现在以色列人的割礼习俗中，割礼成为至高无上的神与亚伯拉罕的后裔立约的一个记号。神赐的这个记号表明他们是与神立约的人，从这个角度引出了重要的属灵意义。早在申命记编者生活的年代，与神立约的人就被视为属灵的人，这种圣约关系不依赖于外在的记号，而依赖于心里的割礼（申 10:16）。耶利米也使用了割礼的比喻义，他提倡根据道德承诺而不是肉体上割礼来判断一个人是否是神立约的人（耶 4:4），但是必须要承认的是《申命记》和《耶利米书》都未否定外在的割礼记号。耶利米还说，他的同胞比那些受过割礼，心却未受割礼的埃及人、以东人、摩押人和亚扪人好不了多少（耶 9:25）。犹太人虽然受了外在的割礼，心却未受割礼。保罗用“mutilation”（《钦定版圣经》译为“concision”，汉译均为“妄自行割的”）来形容受了外在的割礼却未产生任何属灵改变的人（腓 3:2）。

The idea that spiritual rather than physical circumcision was the goal of God’s people occasioned a protracted strife among the early Christians. While no one in the early Church questioned the ethical commitment involved in a truly circumcised life, there were not wanting Jews who, when the first gentile believers were added, required a commitment to the physical rite as well. Eventually the question became a touchstone for proceeding to the fundamental problem of the relationship of Judaism to the infant Christian community. The great conference in Jerusalem was called upon presentation of this very challenge in Antioch (Acts 15:1), the result of which seems to have been an agreement to allow a difference in practice between Jewish and gentile believers (15:19–21). Paul himself consented to the circumcision of Timothy (16:3), a convert from a partially Jewish family (though Luke gives the reason as “because of the Jews”); but when a principle was at stake, and in most of his Epistles, he refused to grant even a measure of compromise to the Judaizers (Gal. 2:3). That there is no more distinction between Jew and Gentile is a foundational element in Pauline teaching (Gal. 3:28). It is not a matter of circumcision or uncircumcision, but of keeping the commandments of God (1 Cor. 7:19; cf. Col. 2:11ff.).

IV. Figurative Uses.—In addition to the “spiritual circumcision” already noted, there are several passages in which we find a figurative use of the term. For three years after the settlement in Canaan the “fruit of the land” was to be considered as “uncircumcised” (lit. “you shall reject as profane its foreskin, the fruit of it; three years it shall be to you as uncircumcised,” Lev. 19:23). Inasmuch as the fourth year’s fruit was dedicated in praise to Yahweh, this prohibition regarding the first three years may have had sacrificial significance also.

心里的割礼而不是肉体的割礼是神的子民追求的目标，这个观点在早期基督徒中引起了长期的争论。虽然早期教会中所有基督徒都未质疑，一个真正受割礼的生命要遵守道德承诺，但当第一批外邦信徒加入教会时，很多犹太人要求他们必须接受肉体上的割礼。最终，这个问题成为解决犹太教信徒与早期基督徒关系这一根本问题的标准。因为安提阿教会起了外邦人是否必须受割礼的争论，召开了重要的耶路撒冷会议（徒 15:1），会议决定在割礼问题上按实际情况区别对待犹太信徒和外邦信徒（徒 15:19-21）。保罗同意给有犹太人血统的归信者提摩太行割礼（徒 16:3）（虽然路加认为“只因那地方的犹太人”才给提摩太行了割礼）；但是当触及原则时，保罗在他的大多数书信中坚决拒绝向犹太基督徒妥协（加 2:3）。保罗的一个基本教导是犹太人和外邦人之间不再有差别（加 3:28）。问题不在于是否应受割礼，而在于是否守神的诫命（林前 7:19；参：西 2:11 起）。

IV. 割礼的比喻用法。除了上文提到的“心里的割礼”，我们还可以在几段经文中看到割礼一词的比喻用法。在以色列

In another passage (Ex. 6:30), Moses with characteristic humility describes himself as a man of “uncircumcised lips.” Jeremiah likewise charges his contemporaries with having their ears uncircumcised (Jer. 6:10) and also their heart (9:26). In both instances the meaning seems to be that the organ so described is closed to hearing and consequently to obeying God’s command.

在另一段经文中（出 6:30），摩西谦卑地说自己的“嘴唇未受割礼”（“拙口笨舌的人”）。耶利米同样指责同时代的人的耳朵（耶 6:10）和心（耶 9:26）是未受割礼的。这两个例子似乎想要表达的是，未受割礼的耳朵和心是无法听到进而遵从上帝的命令的。

CISTERN

[Heb. bôr, bō'r, gebe', gēb]; AV, NEB, often PIT, DUNGEON, or WELL. Any of various artificial reservoirs for storing water.

I. Necessity.-The efforts made to supplement the natural water supply, both in agricultural and in populated areas, are clearly seen in the innumerable cisterns, wells, and pools throughout Palestine. The rainy season, upon which the various storage systems depend, begins in late October and ends about the beginning of May. Records kept since 1859 indicate an average rainfall in Jerusalem of 26 in. (66 cm.), in Jericho of only 5.5 in. (14 cm.). Toward the end of the summer, springs and wells, where they have not actually dried up, diminish greatly, and cisterns and open reservoirs become at times the only sources of supply. The problems of scant rainfall and a long dry season are aggravated by the rain's falling in heavy showers, often running off in destructive flash floods when the water is not channeled into reservoirs. The town of Ma'ân in southern Jordan, in what is normally a dry area, had many of its homes destroyed by a cloudburst and flood in March 1966. In this climate cisterns and collecting pools, or reservoirs, are a necessity.

Nelson Glueck describes the Iron Age settlements in the Negeb as depending on channels, terracing of fields, damming of stream beds to hold the water in the soil, and thousands of strategically located cisterns. He comments that "no Iron II fortress or village could have existed in the Negeb without these cisterns of

CISTERN 水池

【希伯来语：bôr, bō'r, gebe', gēb】；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》通常译为 PIT（“坑”）、DUNGEON（“监牢”）或 WELL（“井”）。水池就是各种人工建造的蓄水的池子。

I. 建造水池的必要性。巴勒斯坦地区众多的水池、井和水塘显然说明当地人非常注重弥补农业和居民区的天然水的不足。这些蓄水系统依赖于雨季的降水，巴勒斯坦地区的雨季从 10 月末开始，约在 5 月初结束。从 1859 年开始的降水记录表明，耶路撒冷的平均降水量为 26 英寸（66 厘米），耶利哥的平均降水量只有 2.5 英寸（14 厘米）。夏季快要结束时，虽然泉和井实际上还没有干枯，但水量骤减，水池和露天水库有时成为唯一的水源供应地。除了降水不足和长期干旱的问题，突降的暴雨使得当地的情况更加糟糕，当雨水未被蓄入水库时，就会爆发具有破坏性的洪水。约旦南部的城邑玛安（Ma'ân）通常是一个干旱的地区，1966 年 3 月的一场大暴雨和洪水摧毁了当地很多房屋。在这种气候下必然需要水池、水塘或水库。 various types, the digging of which is biblically attested.” He cites 2 Ch. 26:10 (BASOR, 155 [1959], 4; see also 142 [1956], 5–14 for accounts by Cross and Milik of similar cisterns and irrigation systems at Iron Age sites in Judea W of Qumrân).

II. Wells and Cisterns.—Wells and cisterns are treated similarly in the OT in some respects. Both were holes or pits, and as such required covers to prevent animals or men from falling in (cf. Ps. 7:15; Ex. 21:33f. [see Josephus Ant. iv.8.37], with bōr, “cistern” or “pit,” and Gen. 14:10; 29:2f., with b^e’ēr, “well” or “pit”). Both were used to water flocks and herds, as well as to supply human needs (cf. 2 Ch. 26:10, with bōr, and Gen. 24:19f.; 29:2f.; Ex. 2:16, with b^e’ēr). Distinctions are also apparent, however. Cisterns, or reservoirs for the storage of water, were filled by drainage from roofs, streets, or the surface of a slope, or by water channeled from some other source. Wells, on the other hand, might be fed directly from underground springs. Jer. 2:13 contrasts cisterns, which when unbroken should be able to hold water, with “the fountain of living water.” The terms “living water” and “spring” are used in connection with wells in the Bible, but not in connection with cisterns. Isaac’s servants, digging in the valley of Gerar, opened a “well of living water” (RSV “springing water”; Gen. 26:19; cf. also Cant. 4:15). Prov. 5:15 speaks of water from a cistern, but of “running waters” (RSV “flowing water”) from a well. Israel’s song to the well calls upon it to “spring up” (Nu. 21:17). Hagar’s well, and the well where Abraham’s servant met Rebekah, are called both “wells” and “springs” in the biblical accounts (Gen.

II. 井和水池。从某些方面说,《旧约》将井和水池视为类似的事物。井和水池都是洞或坑,都需要盖起来,以免动物或人跌入其中(参:诗 7:15; 出 21:33-34[见 Josephus Ant. iv.8.37], bōr, “水池”或“坑”, 创 14:10; 创 29:2-3, b^e’ēr, “井”或“坑”)。井和水池都用来为牛羊和人提供水源(参:代下 26:10, bōr, 创 24:19-20; 29:2-3; 出 2:16, b^e’ēr)。不过,两者也有明显的区别,水池或用来蓄水的水库中充满了从屋顶、街道或从斜坡表面流过的水,或是从其他水源地引来的水。而井水可能直接来源于地下的泉水。《耶利米书》2:13 中对比了水池和“活水的泉源”,水池一旦破裂就不能再存水。在《圣经》中,“活水”和“泉”这两个词与井有关,但与水池无关。以撒的仆人在基拉耳谷中挖井,并得了一口“活水井”(《修订标准译本》译为“springing water”[“活水井”]; 创 26:19; 另参:歌 4:15)。《箴言》5:15 中提到,池中的是水,而井里的是“活水”(《修订标准译本》译为“flowing water”[“活水”])。以色列人唱歌说,井啊“涌上水来”(民 21:17)。夏甲的井和亚伯拉罕的仆人遇到利百加的那口井在《圣经》中被称为“水井”和“水泉”(创 16:7-14; 24:11-49),这表明它们是“活水”井。同样,《新约》中用“泉”和“井”两个词来表示雅各井(约 4:6, 11-12)。考古发掘还发现了到达地下水面的井。以坦的一口 30 英尺(9 米)深的竖井和伯示麦的一口 60 英尺(18 米)深的竖井都挖到了地下水面,而不是挖到了任何地下泉水处(参: H. Donner 和 E. Kutsch, ZDPV, 79 16:7–14; 24:11–49), indicating a “living” source. Similarly in the NT the word for “spring” and the word for “well” are both applied to Jacob’s well (Jn. 4:6, 11f.). Wells reaching groundwater levels are known also from excavations. A shaft 30 ft. (9 m.) long at Etam and one 60 ft. (18 m.) long at Beth-shemesh were sunk to groundwater, rather than to any known spring (cf. H. Donner and E. Kutsch, ZDPV, 79 [1963], 113–16).

III. Private Cisterns.—Many modern buildings in Jerusalem are like those of biblical times in having private cisterns, filled by rainwater from the roof. The OT speaks of ordinary citizens enjoying the water of their own cisterns (2 K. 18:31), and thousands of small cisterns have been found on the sites of ancient cities (e.g., Gezer, Beth-shemesh, Debir, and Tell en-Naşbeh, as well as Jerusalem). In any city not adequately supplied by a natural spring or water source, such cisterns were essential. Petra has inadequate springs and scant rain, but many cisterns, with channels leading to them, are cut into the cliffs surrounding the city, as well as attached to the rock-cut houses and sanctuaries. At least six pools and cisterns at Qumrân held water channeled from Wādī Qumrân for the community there, in an area with even less rainfall. King Mesha of Moab, the contemporary of Ahab of Israel in the 9th cent. B.C., reflects a concern and a practice common to Israelites and Moabites in his inscription, “And there was no cistern inside the town at Qarhoh, so I said to all the people, ‘Let each of you make a cistern for himself in his own house.’”

Cisterns were made in various shapes, often irregular, but many were somewhat [1963], 113–16)。

III. 私人水池。耶路撒冷的许多现代建筑很像圣经时代的建筑，都有私人水池，池中充满了从屋顶上流下的雨水。《旧约》中提到，普通市民喝自己井里的水（王下 18:31），在古城遗址中（如基色、伯示麦、底璧、纳斯比丘和耶路撒冷）发现了成千上万的小水池。任何天然泉水或雨水供应不足的城市都需要建造水池。佩特拉的泉水和雨水不足，却从城市四周的峭壁上凿出了很多水池，这些水池建在岩凿房屋和庇护所的旁边，并且有很多水道通向这些水池。在昆兰至少有 6 个从昆兰河谷引水的水塘和水池，它们为降水较少的社区提供了水源。摩押的米沙王是与公元前 9 世纪的以色列亚哈王同时代的人物，米沙碑文记载道：“夸吼（Qarhoh）城没有水池，所以我对所有人说，‘你们每家都建造自己的水池吧。’”，这反映出以色列人和摩押人都关注水池建设问题，都有建造水池的习俗。

bottle-or bell-like, rounding out toward the bottom. When not in use as a cistern, a rock-cut hole such as this, its only opening at the top, made a convenient prison (Jer. 38:7-13; cf. Gen. 37:24; 40:15; and the guard room and prison or cistern that have been excavated under the Church of St. Peter en Gallicante in Jerusalem). Often a sump, or depression in the bottom, is provided for dipping up the last of the liquid before cleaning or replastering. The many potsherds, coins, bits of jewelry, and occasional bones or even entire skeletons found in cisterns indicate somewhat long intervals between cleanings, however. Sometimes, as in Macalister's example from Gezer, a smaller catchpit, with its overflow channel leading to the main cistern, provides a means of purification for the water coming in. The use of lime plaster to cement and waterproof the cisterns seems to date from the beginning of the Iron Age (ca. 1200 B.C.); it also seems to be responsible for the great number of cisterns in use in this period in Palestine (N. Glueck, BASOR, 138 [1955], 16f.).

IV. Public Cisterns.-Besides private cisterns, there were many public cisterns within city walls. The great water caverns under the temple area in Jerusalem show a most extensive system of water storage, involving at least thirty-seven cisterns. One immense, rock-cut cavern, 43 ft. (13 m.) deep, has a capacity of over two million gals (7.5 million l.); it has numerous manholes in its partly natural-rock, partly masonry roof. These cisterns are supplied to some extent by rainwater, but also, at least from the Roman period, by an aqueduct bringing water a distance of about 10 mi. (16 km.) from "Solomon's Pools" near Bethlehem

呈圆形。当这种从岩石中凿出且顶端只有一个开口的洞不作水池时，便成了一种实用的监牢(耶 38:7-13; 参: 创 37:24; 40:15; 已经在耶路撒冷加利康都的圣彼得教堂的地下挖掘出了禁闭室、监牢或水池)。通常在洁净或重新抹灰之前会从一个水坑或洼地中汲取最后的液体。不过，在水池中发现的许多陶瓷碎片、硬币、珠宝碎片，和偶尔发现的骨骼甚至整个骨架，表明了稍长的清洗间隔时间。以麦卡利斯特 (Macalister) 在基色的发掘为例，有时一个更小的集水井，通过分水槽连接主水池，净化流入的水。石灰泥加固技术和水池防水材料的使用似乎可以追溯到铁器时代初期(约公元前 1200 年); 这似乎也是这一时期巴勒斯坦地区大量使用水池的原因 (N. Glueck, BASOR, 138 [1955], 16-17)。

IV. 公共水池。除了私人水池，城墙内还有很多公共水池。耶路撒冷圣殿区地下巨大的水洞穴证明这里曾有一个非常庞大的蓄水系统，这个蓄水系统至少包括 37 个水池。一个岩石中雕凿而成的大洞深 43 英尺 (13 米)，蓄水量超过 200 万加仑 (750 万升); 洞顶部分由天然石构成，部分由砖石建造而成，其中有很多检修孔。这些水池中的水一部分源于雨水，还有一部分水是，至少从罗马时期开始，利用水道从约 10 英里 (16 公里) 以外伯利恒附近的“所罗门水池”引来的 (参: J. J. Simons, Jerusalem in the OT [1952], 347 页起)。大型公共水池通常由同样充当水库的小水池为其供水，这些小水池有时也位于城墙内

(cf. J. J. Simons, Jerusalem in the OT [1952], pp. 347ff.). Large public cisterns were often supplemented by pools, also serving as reservoirs, and sometimes also within the city walls (cf. Siloam in Jerusalem). See also POOL.

Rectangular (left) and circular (right) cisterns at Khirbet Qumrân. Approximately forty such pools or reservoirs, possibly used for water storage or ceremonial washing, have been discovered in the vicinity. (B. Van Elderen)

Other ancient water systems involve rock-cut stairwell tunnels, leading to cisterns or reservoirs for spring water. At Gezer a cave providing a natural reservoir for spring water is reached by a great rock-cut staircase which descends 94.5 ft. (28.8 m.) from the surface and is 23 ft. (7 m.) high and 12.8 ft. (3.9 m.) wide at its largest point (see R. A. S. Macalister PEQ, April, 1908, pp. 96–111). A rock-cut cistern supplements this water supply (Macalister, Excavations, I, 256–268). At Megiddo an almost horizontal tunnel brings water from the spring to the foot of a rock-cut staircase leading to the street level of the city, a distance of approximately 64 ft. (19.5 m.) vertically and 214 ft. (65.2 m.) horizontally. Other staircase tunnel and reservoir systems, designed to make water from a spring available within the city's defense walls,

古代的供水系统还包括岩石雕凿而成的阶梯水道，这些阶梯水道一直通向存有泉水的水池或水库。在基色，可以通过一个雕凿而成的、94.5英尺（28.8）米长的阶梯下到一个存有泉水的天然水库中，这个天然水库是一个高23英尺（7米），最大宽度达12.8英尺（3.9米）的洞穴（见 R. A. S. Macalister PEQ, 4月, 1908, 96–111页）。雕凿而成的水池为基色提供了补给水源（Macalister, Excavations, I, 256–268）。在米吉多，一条几乎水平的水道将泉水引到岩石阶梯的脚下，阶梯的另一端通向城市的街面，垂直距离约为64英尺（19.5米），水平距离约为214英尺（65.2米）。在耶路撒冷、以伯莲、他纳和基遍还发现了其他的阶梯水道和蓄水系统，这些阶梯水道和蓄水系统是为了使护城墙内的人可以用到泉水。

V. Figurative Use.—Good wives are described as cisterns that hold water (Prov. 5:15–20), while idols and other objects that drew Israel away from trust in God are “broken cisterns, that can hold no water,” according to Jer. 2:13.

Admah, Zeboiim, and Bela (Zoar), mentioned in Gen. 14:2. The locality was first described in Gen. 13:10, where Lot was said to have observed all the “plain” (AV, RV, NEB, JB; RSV “valley”) of the Jordan, which prior to the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah was well watered, and comparable to the irrigated terrain of Egypt. The word for “plain” or “valley” is actually the old Canaanite term for “circle” (kikkār), and the Hebrew of Gen. 13:10f.; 1 K. 7:46 par. preserves the geographical designation “Circle of the Jordan.”

Some nineteenth-century geographers and biblical scholars saw this “Circle” in terms of the area N of the Dead Sea where the Jordan Valley broadens out into the “plain” of the Jordan (cf. Dt. 34:3). They maintained that the cities of this area were visible from the heights of Bethel (Gen. 13:10), unlike any at the southern end of the Dead Sea, which would be too distant for observation. Further, they urged that Zoar was said to be in the range of Moses’ vision from the top of Pisgah (Dt. 34:1–3), whereas the south end of the Dead Sea cannot be seen from that point owing to intervening mountains. And by identifying Hazezon-tamar with Engedi, it was possible to assume that the kings of the Mesopotamian coalition, in moving to attack those petty Palestinian rulers who had rejected their suzerainty after twelve years, were conducting their campaign to the north rather than to the south of the Dead Sea. Finally, it was urged that the latter terrain could hardly be described as “the garden of the Lord.”

It is true, of course, that the “plain” of the 城邑”。《创世记》14:2 提到了主要的平原城邑——所多玛、蛾摩拉、押玛、洗扁和比拉（琐珥）。《创世记》13:10 中首次提到了这个地区，罗得从那里看到了整个约旦“平原”（《钦定版圣经》《修订译本》《新英文译本》和《耶路撒冷圣经》；《修订标准译本》译为“valley”[“平原”]），那地在所多玛和蛾摩拉灭亡以前是灌溉充足的地区，可以与埃及的灌溉区相媲美。“平原”这个词实际上是对古迦南语中表示“circle”的词（kikkār）和《创世记》13:10-11 中的希伯来语的翻译；平行经文《列王纪上》7:46 保留了“Circle of the Jordan”（“约旦平原”）这个地理学名称。

十九世纪的一些地理学者和圣经学者认为“Circle”这个词指的是死海以北的地区，约旦谷在这里变宽，形成了约旦“平原”（参：申 34:3）。他们认为从伯特利的至高点可以看到平原的城邑（创 13:10），这些城邑与死海南端的城邑不同，死海南端的城邑距离伯特利太远了，因此根本看不到。此外，学者们认为站在毗斯迦山山顶的摩西可以看到琐珥（申 34:1-3），但由于山脉阻挡，从那里看不到死海的南端。如果哈洗逊他玛就是隐基底，那么美索不达米亚联军的诸王可能向死海北部而不是死海南部发动了战争，他们率军进攻巴勒斯坦的诸侯王，因为后者在十二年后否认他们的宗主权。最后，学者们还认为死海南部几乎不太可能被描述成“耶和华的园子”。

诚然，约旦“平原”的更恰当称谓应该

Jordan, an area more properly described as the Ghor terrace, contained on its eastern side a number of thriving communities in the Middle Bronze Age (1950–1550 B.C.), remains of which have been uncovered by archeologists. But this fact does not preclude other valleys near the Dead Sea from being inhabited, particularly at the southern and southeastern end, where in antiquity the land was well watered by means of a number of streams and rivers. To attempt to isolate one particular “Pisgah” is hazardous, for the term simply means “elevation,” “height,” and its invariable use in Hebrew with the article indicates that it is a common noun. If present conditions are any indication it is hardly possible to describe the region around the north end of the Dead Sea as the “garden of the Lord,” although conditions there may well have changed, as they appear to have at the southern end of the Dead Sea.

Gen. 13:10 makes it clear that Lot was attracted not by the urban facilities of the Jordan Valley but by the good pasturage of the district. Furthermore, there are grounds for believing that the Circle of the Jordan once had a southern extension which was situated in the now flooded area S of the Dead Sea promontory known as el-Lisan (“the Tongue”). In this area was doubtless situated the valley of Siddim (see SIDDIM, VALLEY OF), originally a fertile plain watered by the five streams that now flow E and SE into the Dead Sea.

While all traces of the cities have disappeared, modern scholarship locates them under the waters of the southern part of the Dead Sea. Archeological investigation has shown that ca. 2000

《创世记》13:10 已经表明, 罗得并不是被约旦谷的城市设施吸引, 而是被这里优良的牧场吸引。此外, 有理由认为约旦谷曾一度向南延伸到现在被海水淹没的死海海角的南部地区, 即艾利珊 (“舌头”)。这片区域无疑位于西订谷 (见 SIDDIM, VALLEY OF[西订谷]) 中, 最初是一片土壤肥沃的平原, 五条现从东面和东南流入死海的河流为这个平原提供了灌溉水源。

虽然所有的城市遗迹已经销声匿迹, 但是现代学者认为这些城市现在位于死海南部水域的下方。考古研究证明约在公元前 2000 年那里发生了一次具有毁灭性的自然灾害, 这次自然灾害影响这

B.C. a devastating natural catastrophe occurred there, which denuded the area of sedentary occupation for over a half a millennium. Among numerous reasons for locating the cities in this region is that the maximum depth of the water in the southernmost part of the Dead Sea is about 16 ft. (5 m.), whereas N of the peninsula of el-Lisan a depth of over 1200 ft. (365 m.) has been measured by soundings. On balance a southern location seems preferable for these cities.

Roman citizenship is of special interest to the Bible student because of the apostle Paul’s relation to it. It was one of his qualifications as the apostle to the Gentiles. Luke shows him in Acts as a Roman citizen, who, though a Jew and a Christian, receives for the most part justice and courtesy from the Roman officials, and more than once successfully claims the privileges of his citizenship.

Paul himself declared that he was a citizen of Tarsus (Acts 21:39). He was not only born in that city but had a citizen’s rights in it (See PAUL THE APOSTLE VII.A; TARSUS). But this citizenship in Tarsus did not of itself confer upon Paul the higher dignity of Roman citizenship. Had it done so, Claudius Lysias would not have ordered him to be scourged, as he did, after having learned that he was a citizen of Tarsus (Acts 21:39; cf. 22:25). So, over and above this Tarsian citizenship was the Roman one, which availed for him not in one city only, but throughout the Roman world, and secured for him everywhere certain great immunities and rights. Precisely what all of these were we are not certain; but we know that, by the Valerian and Porcian laws, exemption from shameful punishments, such as scourging with rods or whips, and especially crucifixion, was secured to every Roman citizen; also the right of appeal to the emperor, with certain limitations. This sanctity of person had become almost a part of their religion, so that any violation was esteemed a sacrilege. Cicero's oration against Verres indicates the almost fanatical extreme to which this feeling had been carried. Yet Paul was thrice beaten with rods, and five times received from the Jews forty lashes save one (2 Cor. 11:24f.). Perhaps it was as at Philippi before he made known his citizenship (Acts 16:22f.), or the Jews had the right to whip those who came before their own tribunals. Roman citizenship included also the right of appeal to the emperor in all cases, after sentence had been passed, and no needless impediment must be interposed against a trial. Furthermore, the citizen had the right to be sent to Rome for trial before the emperor himself, when charged with capital offenses (Acts 16:37; 22:25-29; 25:11).

2:19)。《希伯来书》8:11 中的 politēs 表示“住在同一城市的人”(《钦定版圣经》《新英文译本》和《修订标准译本》译为“fellow”[“乡邻”])。许多原稿译为 plēsion，“乡邻”。参：《次经》的《马加比二书》4:50; 5:6; 9:19。

圣经学者必须特别关注罗马民籍，因为使徒保罗就是罗马人。保罗因为是罗马人成为向外邦人传道的使徒。路加在《使徒行传》中提到保罗是罗马公民，他虽然是个犹太基督徒，却在很多情况下受到了罗马官方的公正对待和礼遇，还多次获得了罗马人的特权。

保罗自称为大数人(徒 21:39)。他不仅出生在大数，而且获得了大数的民籍(见 PAUL THE APOSTLE VII.A[使徒保罗 VII.A]; TARSUS[大数])。但是保罗的大数民籍并不比罗马民籍更高贵。倘若如此，革老丢吕西亚就不会在得知保罗是大数人之后鞭打保罗(徒 21:39; 参：徒 22:25)。所以罗马民籍高于大数民籍，罗马民籍不仅可以使保罗在一个城市享受礼遇，而且可以使他在整个罗马世界享受礼遇，并可以使他在各个地方获得一些重要的豁免权和其他权利。这些恰恰是我们无法确定的地方；但我们知道根据瓦勒良和波西亚法律，罗马公民可以免受棒打、鞭打，尤其是钉十字架等羞辱性惩罚；而且罗马公民在一定的条件下拥有向罗马皇帝上诉的权利。这种人格尊严几乎已经成为他们宗教信仰的一部分，所以任何践踏这种尊严的行为都被视为亵渎神明的行为。西塞罗对韦雷斯的演说辞的批判表明，这种情感几乎发展到了狂热的程度。然而，保罗曾被棍打三次，曾被犹太人鞭打五次，每次四十，减去一下(林后 11:24-25)。保罗可能是在腓立比表明他的民籍之前遭受了棍打(徒 16:22-23)，

How then had Paul, a Jew, acquired this valued dignity? He himself tells us. In contrast to the parvenu citizenship of the chief captain, who seems to have thought that Paul also must have purchased it, though apparently too poor, Paul quietly says, "But I was born (a citizen)" (Acts 22:28). Thus either Paul's father or some other ancestor had acquired the right and had transmitted it to the son.

What more natural than that Paul should sometimes use this civic privilege to illustrate spiritual truths? He does so a number of times. Before the Sanhedrin he says, in the words of our English versions, "I have lived before God in all good conscience" (Acts 23:1). But this translation does not fully bring out the sense. Paul uses a noticeable word, politeuōi, "to live as a citizen." He adds, "to God" (τῷ θεῷ). That is to say, he had lived conscientiously as God's citizen, as a member of God's commonwealth. The day before, by appealing to his Roman citizenship, he had saved himself from ignominious whipping, and now what more natural than that he should declare that he had been true to his citizenship in a higher state? What was this higher commonwealth in which he has enjoyed the rights and performed the duties of a citizen? What but the theocracy of his fathers, the ancient Church, of which the Sanhedrin was still the ostensible representative, but which was really continued in the kingdom of Christ without the national restrictions of the older one? Thus Paul does not mean to say simply, "I have lived conscientiously before God," but "I have lived as a citizen to God, of the body of which He is the immediate Sovereign." He had lived theocratically as a faithful member of the Jewish church, from which his enemies claimed he was an apostate. Thus Paul's conception was a kind of blending of two ideas or feelings, one of which came from the old theocracy, and the other from his Roman citizenship.

那么犹太人保罗是如何得到这种尊重的？他亲自告诉了我们。保罗的罗马民籍与千夫长的新贵 (parvenu) 公民身份不同，千夫长似乎认为保罗也是用银子才加入了罗马的民籍，而保罗平静地说，“我生来就是”（徒 22:28）。因此保罗的父亲或他的某位祖先获得了罗马民籍，保罗继承了罗马民籍。

Later, writing from Rome itself to the Philippians, who were proud of their own citizenship as members of a colonia, a reproduction on a small scale of the parent commonwealth, where he had once successfully maintained his own Roman rights, Paul forcibly brings out the idea that Christians are citizens of a heavenly commonwealth, urging them to live worthy of such honor (Phil. 1:27, RV mg.).

A similar thought is brought out when he says, "But our commonwealth [politeúma] is in heaven" (Phil. 3:20; cf. NEB, "for we are citizens of heaven").

后来，保罗在罗马写信给腓立比人，因为腓立比人以他们是罗马殖民地（colonia）的公民而夸口，罗马殖民地是罗马帝国的一个缩影，保罗曾在那里成功地享受到了罗马人的权利，而此时保罗竭力强调基督徒是天国国民的观点，并要求他们在行事为人上要配得上这份荣耀（腓 1:27，《修订译本》旁注）。

当保罗说，“我们却是天上的国 [politeúma]民”（腓 3:20；参：《新英文译本》，“for we are citizens of heaven” [“我们却是天上的国民”]），他表达了

The state to which we belong is heaven. Though absent in body from the heavenly commonwealth, as was Paul from Rome when he asserted his rights, believers still enjoy its civic privileges and protections; sojourners upon earth, citizens of heaven. The OT conception, as in Isa. 60-62, would easily lend itself to this idea, which appears in He. 11:10, 16; 12:22-24; 13:14; Gal. 4:26, and possibly in Rev. 21.

Ancient cities exhibited considerable differences, and terminological distinctions on the basis of size, character, or function, if they did occur, were entirely subjective. 类似的思想。我们的国在天上。虽然信徒现在不在天国中，正如保罗宣称他的权利时他也不在罗马，但信徒们仍然相信他们得到了天国国民的特权和天国的庇护；他们是地上的寄居者，却是天上的国民。《以赛亚书》60-62章中的旧约观念很符合这种观点，《希伯来书》11:10, 16; 12:22-24; 13:14; 《加拉太书》4:26, 或许还有《启示录》21章都体现出了这种观点。

- II. 古近东的城市
- III. 叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的城市
- IV. 希腊和罗马的城市

I. 城市的定义。很难确定一个居住区何时可以算作是一座城市, 而且这个问题也存在着争议。古代语言在区分“城市”、“城镇”和“乡村”时通常变得很含糊(参: TDNT, VI, 530 [Strathmann])。根据《圣经》中的用法, 城市与城镇(希伯来语: hāšēr; 希腊语: kómē)的主要 primary characteristic distinguishing the city from the village (Heb. ḥāṣēr; Gk. kómē) was a wall or other form of enclosure such as a ring of adjoining houses (cf. Lev. 25:31). But this might indicate any fortified place (BDB, p. 745), and other social, economic, and political or administrative factors must be noted. Size, either of territory or of population, may have been a consideration, but was not in itself a determinant of city status. Implicit was a level of technological and social development sufficient to support a population that was dense enough, and sustained by enough different food resources, to permit a variety of nonagricultural specialists, including a literate group to record economic activities. One such technological development, irrigation, was not always a physical requirement, but did demonstrate a sophisticated level of community organization. The city might serve as a religious or cultural center, an economic center for the collection or distribution of goods, or the base for a political or military power exerting influence or control beyond the area necessary for the community's self-sufficiency. Kinship had been supplanted by social and economic distinctions as the organizational pattern, and ideology had replaced blood ties as a means of reinforcing community solidarity.

Ancient settlements demonstrating marked advancements in the transition to an economy based on plant cultivation and animal domestication include Palestinian Jericho (Tell es-Sultān), ca. 7800 B.C., and Jarmo, E of Kirkûk in the foothills bordering the Tigris-Euphrates

plain, ca. 6750 B.C. Nevertheless, the various criteria for city status do not appear to have been met until ca. 3500 B.C. when numerous walled cities, often so closely situated as to be within view of each other, emerged throughout the lower Tigris-Euphrates plain. (Caution must be taken to avoid the suggestion of a rigid evolutionary schedule of subsistence patterns and community forms leading to this “urban revolution.”)

II. Ancient Near East.-The Sumerian city, upon which the later Babylonian and Assyrian cities were patterned, was generally rectangular and divided into three parts. The “inner city” (cf. Akk. ina libbi āli) or walled area contained the temple or other holy places and the royal palace, themselves within walled zones, and boroughs or quarters comprised of private residences; these sectors had their respective city gates, around which wide

II. 古近东的城市。苏美尔人的城市通常是长方形的，分为三个部分，后来的巴比伦城市和亚述城市就是模仿苏美尔人的城市建造的。“内城区”（参：阿卡德语：ina libbi āli）或城墙内的区域建有神庙、其他的圣所和王宫，这些建筑本身也建在围墙内，自治区或居住区由私人住宅组成；这些城市分区都有各自的城门，城门附近是一个作为市场和法律或行政中心的宽阔的区域。郊区或“外城区”（苏美尔语：uru-bar-ra）位 areas served as marketplaces and legal or administrative centers. The suburbs or “outer city” (Sum. uru-bar-ra), outside the city wall, included houses and agricultural lands providing the community’s sustenance; at least in later times this district was protected by secondary walls. The harbor section (Sum. kar; Akk. kāru) was an economically and politically autonomous commercial sector housing merchants, scribes, and taverners.

Availability of space seems to have been the primary concern in Mesopotamian city planning. Monumental structures such as palaces and temples were generally symmetrical, but arranged with little regard for adjacent buildings. They consisted of elongated narrow rooms in single or multiple rows around courtyards (e.g., the sacred precinct of Ur, ca. 2100 B.C. and the Neo-Babylonian temples at Babylon and Borsippa). Residences followed this pattern on a smaller scale (Tepe Gawra, Mari), but simply grew outward in whatever direction possible, making streets irregular. The only consistency was a tendency for buildings to face the northwest, source of the most pleasant wind.

Mesopotamian cities covered relatively large areas by ancient standards. In the 1st millennium Babylon encompassed 2500 acres (1012 hectares); Nineveh, 1850 acres (750 hectares); Uruk (biblical Erech, modern Warka), 1100 acres (450 hectares); and Calah (Nimrūd), 800 acres (325 hectares). Athens in the 5th cent. B.C. was considered unusually large at 550 acres (225 hectares). Population figures, at least for the earliest periods, appear quite small by contrast. At its peak the population of the walled city of Ur was 34,000; counting the suburbs, harbor, and dependent areas it may have numbered nearly 100,000.

于城墙外，包括一些房屋和为城区提供生计的农业用地；至少在后期这一地区被第二道城墙保护了起来。庇护区（苏美尔语：kar；阿卡德语：kāru）是一个享有经济和政治自主权的商业区，商人、书记和酒馆老板都住在这个区。

根据古代的标准，美索不达米亚城市相对面积较大。在公元前第一个千禧年，巴比伦城占地 2500 英亩（1012 公顷）；尼尼微占地 1850 英亩（750 公顷）；乌鲁克（《圣经》中的以力，现代瓦尔卡）占地 1100 英亩（450 公顷）；迦拉（尼姆鲁德）占地 800 英亩（325 公顷）。公元前 5 年的雅典通常被认为占地面积达 550 英亩（225 公顷）。相对于城市的占地面积，城市人口数量似乎很少，至少在最早时期的人口数量非常少。建有城墙的城市吾珥鼎盛时期拥有 34,000 人；

Authority in the earliest Sumerian cities appears to have been distributed among the temple, which controlled the agricultural lands (the property of the gods) and their produce; private families engaged in commerce; and the lord or ruler (Sum. en), who oversaw the civil operations. An assembly of the citizens operating on mutual agreement met to deal with crises and to select a war leader, a temporary post that eventually became the permanent claim of the en. By the early 3rd millennium some cities began to dominate others, transforming the originally autonomous cities into a territorial or national state with the dominant city as capital. Under the various Mesopotamian states the ruler increasingly demanded of the populace taxes and services, both military and corvée. Because of special religious or political status some cities, such as Nippur, Babylon, and Asshur, were “free” or “under the aegis of the kidinnu,” a standard or symbol indicating the release of their native citizens from such assessments and their immunity from fines or imprisonment. Such cities might, however, face other restrictions, like the prohibition of weapons within Nineveh during the reign of Esarhaddon.

Literary sources, themselves urban products reflecting the life and attitudes of more privileged and stable elements, present a somewhat slanted view of urban life and its acceptance by the masses. A. L. Oppenheim has noted the constant anti-urban bias of rural elements, partly because they were frequently enlisted to populate the sites of periodic royal building ventures (cf. ANET, p. 559; also pp. 164f., 290, 307). This displacement was intended to expand the base of taxation, increase general productivity, and balance the urban-rural population ratio. Discontent with the demands of urban life underlies the need for frequent expeditions into the open country to apprehend those who had fled the cities to avoid debts or military and corvée service. Poverty and vagrancy are the subject of Sumerian proverbs, and a seamy image of urban life is suggested because military forces drafted to protect the city were sometimes not to be trusted within the walls (A. Falkenstein, Baghdader Mitteilungen, 2 [1963], 59f.).

建筑遗址上重建家园（参： ANET, 559 页；另参：164-165 页, 290 页, 307 页）。这种移民安置可能是为了扩大征税的人数, 提高综合生产率, 协调城市和农村人口的比例。统治者由于无法满足城市生活的需求, 不得不经常远征空旷的地区, 俘获那些为躲避债务、兵役或强制劳役而逃出城市的人。贫穷和漂泊是苏美尔谚语中的两大主题, 这也体现出了城市生活丑恶的一面, 因为城墙内的人有时并不信任驻守城市的军队 (A. Falkenstein, Baghdader Mitteilungen, 2 [1963], 59-60)。

Efforts at colonization beyond Mesopotamia in the Old Assyrian period (19th cent.) included the establishment at various locations of a merchant colony (kāru). One such community was Kaniš (Kültepe, near Kayseri in modern Turkey), strategically located between Mt. Argaeus and the Halys River where it controlled the major Anatolian trade routes. Living in multilevel clusters of houses, the Assyrian merchants were permitted to own property and to govern themselves.

The indigenous Anatolian cities, isolated and sternly independent, were designed primarily for defense. Hattusa (modern Boghazköy) owed its selection as a royal residence and capital of the Hittite empire to the rugged terrain and its suitability for fortification rather than to agricultural or commercial considerations. The city was surrounded by a massive double wall with rectangular towers, all atop a stone-lined rampart through which a tunnel had been made for surprise attacks. Hattusa contained five great temples, each of which apparently was enclosed in a sacred precinct or temenos. The Hittite cities' lack of concern for the development of natural resources or for ideological contributions marked the region as a relatively uncultured backwater.

Cities in Egypt developed along the Nile River and in the delta region in the later 3rd millennium. Remains are sparse because the mud and twigs used in construction were perishable and the sites were covered by the Nile alluvium. Although surviving texts name cities, few available documents record the details of their everyday life. Periodic fluctuation between unification under a central power and fragmented regionalism, as well as the frequent relocation of the capital under the various pharaohs, prevented the growth of substantial cities. Also, the great temples and other monumental structures, which required a strong central power dominating considerable human and economic resources, took precedence over city planing. Concerned primarily with religious, funerary, or administrative functions, an Egyptian city was designed around one or more walled sacred precinct and a palace; the more mundane residential and commerical sectors were not clearly defined. Processional ways, often flanked by stone sphinxes (Luxor, Karnak), were added in later periods. Unique to Egypt was the pyramid city of the Old and Middle Kingdoms, created by royal charter to house construction workers and subsequently priests for the royal funerary services. These and the necessary agricultural and maintenance personnel were exempt from taxation and conscription.

III. Syria and Palestine.-Palestine experienced extensive urbanization in the Early Bronze Age (3rd millennium B.C.), with heavily fortified settlements dominating the entire region from Kadesh in the north to Arad in the south, and particularly in the lowlands through which passed the coastal trade route connecting Egypt and Mesopotamia. Although small by Mesopotamian standards, their size (generally 10 to 20 acres [4 to 8 hectares]) is not disproportionate to that of later Palestinian cities. Planning is evident in some cities such as Arad, with a basic division into public and residential quarters. Its buildings were fairly uniform in design, and its streets and plazas generally orderly. Many of the sites suggest a continuity with the earlier unwalled communities (Jericho, Tell el-Fâr'ah [Tirzah]), but the transition was probably not a linear evolution. Rather, urbanization appears to have been imposed upon the indigenous village peoples by an influx of groups from Syria and Anatolia. Despite some rivalries the cities demonstrate a general unification against a common external foe, predynastic Egypt.

划出更多的普通住宅区和商业区。埃及人后期在城中铺设了游行道路，游行道路两侧通常矗立着石质的狮身人面像（卢克索和卡纳克）。古王国和中王国时期的金字塔城市是埃及独有的，它们是王室建造的供建筑工人和后来为王室主持葬礼的祭司居住的城市。这些人和必要的农业人员和维修人员免征税赋，免服兵役。

III. 叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的城市。巴勒斯坦在青铜时代初期（公元前 3000 年）经历了全面的城市化过程，从北方加低斯至南方亚拉得的整个巴勒斯坦地区，尤其是连接埃及和美索不达米亚的沿海贸易线所穿过的巴勒斯坦低地，出现了很多坚固城。虽然根据美索不达米亚人的标准，这些城市很小，但这些城市的面积大小（通常为 10 至 20 英亩[4 至 8 公顷]）与后期巴勒斯坦城市的大小是成比例的。亚拉得等城市在布局时显然分成了公共区和住宅区两个基本区域。巴勒斯坦地区的建筑在设计上相当一致，街道和广场通常排列有序。许多遗址显示巴勒斯坦延续了早期无城墙社区的建筑风格（耶利哥、法拉废丘[得撒]），但这里可能并没有经历直线式的过渡。更确切地说，由于叙利亚和安纳托利亚的多个民族来到了这里，本土乡村中的民族似乎被迫经历了城市化。尽管这些城市面临着很多竞争对手，但他们通常联合起来抵御共同的敌人——前王朝时期的埃及。

By the latter part of the Early Bronze Age Ebla (Tell Mardikh) in northwestern Syria had become a city-state of 260,000 people, with lesser “vassal” cities forming a far-reaching empire. It was the center of a vast commercial network, and records of its enterprises contain the earliest mention of such biblical cities as Salim, Megiddo, Gaza, Hazor, Lachish, and Joppa. An indication of the city’s sophisticated planning is the audience court of the royal palace, which both architecturally and functionally mediates the space between the quarters with private residences and those with administrative offices.

Sudden and violent destruction occurred throughout much of the ancient world ca. 2300–2100 B.C. Palestinian civilization returned to the village level, with many E.B. sites abandoned and others left unfortified, a situation that continued through the early stages of the Middle Bronze period (until ca. 1950 B.C.). While many factors may have been involved, especially significant were Egyptian raids and mass population movements, at the center of which were the Amorites. The influx of urban-oriented peoples in M.B. IIA (ca. 1950–1800) reintroduced city life and formed the basis of the “Canaanite” period. Major centers formed along the two primary trade routes, overland (Damascus, Alalakh) and coastal (Byblos, Ugarit, Tyre, Sidon). Attacks on many coastal cities ca. 1800 B.C. left them temporarily defenseless; inland towns such as Shechem, Gezer, and Jericho apparently had not been severely tested and thus had remained unfortified (cf. W. G. Dever, in Cross, Lemke, and Miller, eds. Magnalia Dei, p. 9). An intense period of building and fortification took place after 1650 (M.B. IIC), as attested at Tell Beit Mirsim and Shechem. Vertical walls of fairly small stones laid in rough courses were constructed, with additional fortification provided by high and massive ramparts several meters thick. These were of mud brick or unworked stones and often reinforced by earthen embankments (Tell el-Fâr'ah) or secondary walls immediately adjacent to the main wall (Jericho). A subsequent development in the rampart, formerly attributed to the Hyksos rulers of Egypt (1900–1500), was the use of beaten earth (terre pisée), often covered with a plastered surface; this was presumably intended as a defense against the battering ram. At Hazor the rampart was 100 ft. (30 m.) wide; that at Shechem was 80 ft. (24 m.) wide and 20 ft. (6 m.) high. Massive semi-circular towers were incorporated into the walls (Ai, Arad, Jericho; Byblos had square towers), and a moat was occasionally added. The M.B. city was rather densely built up, with little open space. Houses often included upper-story living quarters, with stables, storerooms, and workshops on the lower level. As a result of the various population movements throughout the Bronze Age and the frequent settlement of peoples along the commercial routes, the cities' ethnic composition was mixed (cf. the reference to Jerusalem's ancestry in Ezk. 16:3, 45).

Despite the recurrent assertion of Egyptian control, the Canaanite cities

Dever, in Cross, Lemke 与 Miller 合编, Magnalia Dei, 9 页)。拜特米尔辛丘和示剑证明, 公元前 1650 年(青铜时代中期 IIC)之后是集中修建建筑物和防御工事的时期。人们用未经过加工的碎石建起了垂直的墙体, 还用几米厚的高墙筑起了防御工事。这些防御工事是由泥砖和未经过加工的石头建成的, 通常用土质的路堤(法拉废丘)或紧邻主墙的第二道墙体(耶利哥)进行加固。埃及人用夯实的土(terre pisée)来加固当初由埃及希克索斯王朝(公元前 1900 年至公元前 1500 年)的统治者修建的城墙, 通常在墙面上涂抹上灰泥; 以抵挡破城锤的撞击。夏琐的城墙宽 100 英尺(30 米); 示剑的城墙宽 80 英尺(24 米), 高 20 英尺(6 米)。城墙内建起了大量的半圆形的塔(艾城、亚拉得、耶利哥; 比布鲁斯的塔是正方形的), 有的城市还修建了护城河。青铜时代中期的城市布局很密集, 很少有空地。房屋的上层通常是居住区, 下层是马厩、储藏室和工作坊。由于整个青铜时代多次出现了人口迁徙, 也由于很多民族频繁地定居在商业道路沿线, 所以这些城市中生活着多个民族(参:《以西结书》16:3, 45 中提到了耶路撒冷的祖先)。

continued to gain in strength, leading to the formation of a vast chain of city-states. These were for the most part powerful enough to engage in inter-city conflicts but neither strong enough nor wealthy enough to expand their territorial influence. Their relationships to each other and to the greater powers are documented in the extensive Amarna correspondence of the 14th century. Although Egyptian strength declined after the death of Thutmose III (1450), Canaan was still an Egyptian territory, and some cities were claimed as the property of the pharaoh, including Gaza and Joppa (Thutmose III), Simyra and Kumidi (Ramses II), and Ashkelon (later Ramessides).

The individual cities were dominated by the king and, especially in the larger cities, a small inner circle of landed nobility; the masses of people were peasants or tenant farmers, bound to the aristocracy in a feudal relationship. Underlying this social structure was an ideology based on sheer power and greed, whose benefits were reaped exclusively by the monarchy while the masses earned little more than constant demands for taxation and labor.

Large segments of the Canaanite population became increasingly discontented and renounced their allegiance to the city-states. Inspired by the Israelites who had escaped their own oppression in Egypt, many joined them in forming settlements in the highlands and later in overthrowing the Canaanite cities themselves. (For a summary and evaluation of studies on the conquest, cf. M. Weippert, Settlement of the Israelite Tribes in Palestine [1971].) Adopting the lime-plastered cistern and employing iron tools for extensive deforestation, the Israelites established cities in an area the Canaanites had been unable to inhabit. The new cities were small and poorly fortified, and Israelite occupations of previously Canaanite cities covered only fractionally the area of those Bronze Age sites. Nevertheless, these early settlements became the foundation of what might be regarded the “typical” Israelite city, that of Iron Age Palestine.

个别城市尤其是大城市被国王和少数拥有土地的贵族控制着；城中的大多数人口是农民或佃农，依附于封建贵族。一种基于绝对权力和贪欲的意识形态构成了这种社会结构的基础，君主及其家庭成员获得了所有的利益，而人民大众只能不断地交纳赋税和服劳役。

迦南的大量人口对此越来越不满，并拒绝效忠于这些城市国家。摆脱埃及压迫的以色列人鼓舞了很多人，他们与以色列人一起定居在高地上，后来征服了迦南的城市。（关于征服迦南研究的总结和评价，参：M. Weippert, Settlement of the Israelite Tribes in Palestine [1971].）以色列人使用抹上灰泥的水池，并用铁器大量采伐森林，在迦南人以前无法居住的地方建起了城市。新的城市很小，防御也很薄弱，以色列人占领的先前迦南的城市只占青铜时代遗址的很小的

Although communities varied as a result of political and economic fortunes, a primary concern of the biblical city continued to be adequate FORTIFICATION, namely “high walls, gates, and bars” (Dt. 3:5; 2 Ch. 8:5; Neh. 3:3). In the Early Iron Age (1200–1000 B.C.) the Israelites adopted the casemate wall, which the Hittites had introduced during the Late Bronze Age in Syria and Anatolia. Two concentric walls ringed the city, generally 5 to 7 ft. (1.5 to 2 m.) apart, joined at intervals by perpendicular walls. The fortifications were then strengthened by filling with rubble the rooms thus formed: some of these spaces, however, may have been used as residences (cf. Josh. 2:15, which suggests that the walls thus may have contained windows). The casemate wall was used most extensively at Samaria, capital of the northern kingdom. Solomon strengthened the casemate style at Megiddo and Gezer with carefully fitted cut stones on the wall faces. Other forms of Iron Age walls included massive (“cyclopean”) constructions made of huge boulders, often designed with salients and recesses (“offsets and insets”; 10th–9th cents), Rehoboam’s sun-dried mud brick wall at Lachish, 20 ft. (6 m.) thick (ca. 900 B.C.), and the roughly

一部分区域。然而，这些早期的定居点奠定了所谓“典型”以色列城市和铁器时代巴勒斯坦城市的基础。

虽然根据政治和经济形势的不同，生活在城市中的社区也有所不同，但《圣经》中的城市主要关心的问题依然是充分的防御工事（见 FORTIFICATION[防御工事]），即“高墙，有门、有闩”（申 3:5；代下 8:5；尼 3:3）。在铁器时代初期（公元前 1200 年至公元前 1000 年），以色列人采用双层防护墙，赫人早在青铜时代晚期就已经将这种防护墙引进了叙利亚和安纳托利亚。两层通常相隔 5 至 7 英尺（1.5 米至 2 米）的同心城墙包围着城市，中间每隔一定距离用垂直的墙体连接起来。然后用碎石将其间的空隙填满，从而形成了房间；然而，有些房间可能曾被当作住宅使用（参：书 2:15，这节经文表明墙上可能有窗户）。北国的都城撒玛利亚使用双层城墙的范围最广。所罗门通过在墙面上添加精心订做的琢石加固了米吉多和基色的双层城墙。铁器时代其他形式的城墙还包括用巨石建起的、通常带有凸角和凹处（“墙坎和镶边”；公元前 10 世纪至公元前 9 世纪）的巨大（“巨石式”）墙体，耶罗波安在拉吉用晒干的泥砖建造的 20 英尺（6 米）厚的墙体（约公元前 900 年），以及基本同时期在纳斯比丘用碎石建造的 20 英尺（6 米）厚的墙体，后来这种墙体被加厚至 26 英尺（8 米），墙表面涂抹一层厚厚的灰泥，并在墙周围分段建造了斜堤（一个由土质路堤和砖墙组成的精致建筑结构，墙边堆积着

City gates were important not only for defense but also as civic and commercial centers. While Bronze Age cities had only one or two gates, later cities had several. The gates generally consisted of two and sometimes even three or four sets of piers, and jutted out from the walls, forming deep recesses. A ramp provided access from the outside. Swinging wooden doors suspended from vertical timbers and rotating in stone sockets closed the main entrance, located in the outer set of piers. The doors were secured by a wooden or metal bar that could slide into a slot in one of the piers when the doors were opened. The main opening was about 14 ft. (4 m.) wide, permitting chariots to enter; a smaller second opening without doors was used for pedestrians and animals. An indirect access gate of three piers (similar to the modern Damascus and Jaffa gates in the Old City of Jerusalem) was used at many sites, including Megiddo, Shechem, and Gezer. Because of the potential for unauthorized entry into the city, gates were fortified by towers (Jgs. 9:51ff; 2 Ch. 26:9; 32:5), sometimes with a room above the gate (Tell Beit Mirsim, Tell en-Nasbeh; cf. 2 S. 18:24, 33). As one of the busiest points in the city, the gate and open square within served as the marketplace (2 K. 7:1), and was the seat for the administration of justice before the elders (Dt. 21:19; Josh. 20:4; Ruth 4); the heavy traffic assured a ready supply of witnesses. The gates of Jerusalem were named according to geographical orientation (Ephraim, 2 K. 14:13; Valley, 2 Ch. 26:9) or the function of their respective quarters (Sheep, Neh. 3:1, 32; Dung, v. 14; Water, v. 26; Horse, v. 28).

The citadel, a fortress or stronghold within the city, provided the last line of defense. In combination with the palace and temple or other important public buildings, it formed a walled acropolis. At Megiddo the fortified hilltop was a citadel including administrative buildings and the purported stables. Israelite border cities such as Bethel, Dan, and Arad converted former “high places” into sanctuaries within the royal citadels. As with the governor’s palace at Megiddo, the citadel walls were often of a style, borrowed from the Phoenicians, in which massive piers of finely hewn stone were placed at 4-ft. (1.2-m.) intervals with a filling of irregularly layered rubble. In addition to the highest point, the northwest corner of the city was again a preferred location because of the breeze. The impressive Omride palace was on the northwest side of the Samaritan summit; the Megiddo palace was on the northwest side, but at a lower point in the city. Another favorable location was immediately inside the gate, as shown by the governor's palace at Beer-sheba. Ramat Rahel (7th-6th cents.) contained both an upper palace citadel and a lower stronghold.

滑动到一侧支墩的插槽中。主入口约 14 英尺（4 米）宽，可供战车通过；第二个入口比较狭窄，没有门，供行人和牲畜穿行。米吉多、示剑和基色等城市中使用了三支墩迂回式的城门（类似于耶路撒冷旧城区的现代大马士革门和雅法门）。为了防止非法进入城市，用城楼加固了这些城门（士 9:51 起；代下 26:9；32:5），有的城门上面有一个房间（拜特米尔辛丘[Tell Beit Mirsim]、纳斯比丘[Tell en-Nasbeh]；参：撒下 18:24, 33）。城门是城市中最热闹的地方，城门和城内开阔的广场可以用作市场（王下 7:1），也是长老审判案之地（申 21:19；书 20:4；得 4）；川流不息的人群为长老审判提供了见证。耶路撒冷的城门是根据地理方位（以法莲门，王下 14:13；谷门，代下 26:9）或各个区的职能（羊门，尼 3:1, 32；粪厂门，尼 3:14；水门，尼 3:26；马门，尼 3:28）进行命名的。

Considerable care was taken to obtain and store water. Huge catch basins were used to collect water running off the mountains at Late Iron Age Lachish (ca. 600 B.C.), as it had been at E.B. Arad. The plastered Cistern permitted Israelites to maintain an adequate supply during the long dry summers; most residences had their own cisterns, some large enough to support many households in emergencies. Wells and springs were generally located outside or even beneath the cramped cities, and wells were often dug at great length through solid rock (144 ft. [44 m.] at Lachish; cf. Beth-shemesh, Tell Beit Mirsim). Elaborate provisions were frequently made to guarantee access to water supplies during times of siege. Continuing earlier Jebusite efforts, Hezekiah built a conduit from the spring Gihon to a new pool within Jerusalem by tunneling through the rock (2 K. 20:20; Sir. 48:17), assuring safe use by residents while denying access to enemies. At Taanach a water system consisting of a square shaft and lower chamber cut beneath the city was a prototype for other Late Bronze and Iron Age installations including those at Gezer, Gibeon, and Megiddo. Most impressive is the early ninth-century system at Hazor, consisting of a vertical shaft along which was fashioned a staircase 1 ft. (30 cm.) wide, connected to the subterranean water pool by a sloping stepped tunnel. Access to the system, which reaches a depth of 138 ft. (42 m.), was by ramps in an entrance building within the city. A secondary system outside Megiddo's defenses most likely was used in peacetime, the larger underground arrangement being intended for times of siege. One of Gibeon's two systems included an enormous cylindrical shaft 37 ft. (11.3 m.) in diameter and 35 ft. (10.7 m.) deep, continued by a corkscrew tunnel to the reservoir 45 ft. (14 m.) below.

Although still comparatively small, Israelite cities reached their greatest size by the 8th cent. B.C. Tell Beit Mirsim's 7.5 acres (3 hectares) included 150 to 200 houses and a population of 2000 to 3000. Beth-shemesh was approximately the same size. Lachish had 18 acres (7.3 hectares) and 6000 to 7500 people; Megiddo, 13 acres (5.3 hectares), and 3500 to 5000 people. Immediately before the Exile Jerusalem numbered perhaps 50,000; but at the time of the return it had dropped to 12,000, and residents had to be drafted from among the neighboring populace (Neh. 11:1f.; cf. the Greek practice of synoikismos, lit. "settling together"). Excavations have supported Assyrian records, which list forty-six captured Judean towns with a total of 200,000 people.

虽然以色列人的城市相对较小，但到公元前 8 世纪以色列人的城市达到了最大规模。拜特米尔辛丘的面积是 7.5 英亩（3 公顷），其中有 150 至 200 个房屋，生活着 2000 至 3000 人。伯示麦的面积与拜特米尔辛丘的面积大致相同。拉吉占地 18 英亩（7.3 公顷），有 6000 至 7500 的人口；米吉多占地 13 英亩（5.3 公顷），人口数量介于 3500 至 5000 之间。被掳之前不久，耶路撒冷的人口数量可能达到 50,000；但是回到耶路撒冷时，耶路撒冷的人口数量降至 12,000，不得不从邻近的百姓中选出一些人作耶路撒冷的居民（尼 11:1-2；参：希腊语 synoikismos 的用法，字面意思是“居住在一起”）。考古发掘已经证明了亚述人的记载，46 个被占领的犹太城邑的总人口为 200,000。

Despite their size, the cities were densely inhabited, with houses cramped together irregularly in any available space and sometimes even placed outside the walls. At Megiddo the residents were housed in the lower city and protected by a secondary wall. Houses at Tell Beit Mirsim and other sites often used the city wall as one side of the structure; these were separated by a road from the central district, where irregular dwellings were massed. Other cities, such as Tell en-Naşbeh, separated houses from the wall by a buffer zone of cisterns and storage pits. Any attempted planning was generally restricted by the site's terrain, and extensive urban clutter contributed to the architectural jumble. Although materials were often reused, the accumulation of debris from burned houses was considerable, and compacted stones and sherds raised the level of the otherwise unpaved streets.

In addition to the area within the walls, cities maintained jurisdiction over various outlying territories (Nu. 32:33; cf. 1 S. 9:27). Included were agricultural areas such as fields (Lev. 14:53; 1 Ch. 6:56; etc.), pasture lands (Nu. 35:5, 34; Josh. 21:22; 1 Ch. 6:55; etc.), and villages (Josh. 13:28; etc.), whose people tended the lands. Other extramural sites might include shrines or high places (regarded as pagan, 1 S. 9:25) or unclean areas (Lev. 14:40f., 45), such as cemeteries or refuse dumps. Villages relied on the cities as markets for produce and also for protection. Building close to or even against the walls, the villagers might seek refuge within the walls during siege, and residents might be enlisted in the city's defense. (The muddled text of Hab. 3:14 may refer to p^erāzîm, lit. "hamlet dwellers,” who rush forth to meet an attacker.) Few legal distinctions are recorded; city houses that had been sold or otherwise alienated might be redeemed for the original owner by payment only within a year, while those of villages were to be returned to the seller in the Jubilee Year (Lev. 25:29–31). Kinship terminology was often used to express either relationships between cities and their villages or covenants and treaties with other cities. Bethmaacah is called “mother” (2 S. 20:19), indicating a city with dependent villages (Heb. bānôt, lit. “daughters”; Nu. 21:25, 32; Jgs. 11:26; the Philistine cities Ekron, Ashdod, and Gaza have both “daughters” and “villages” [h^aṣērîm; Josh. 15:45–47], suggesting different degrees of dependency). After defeat in war, a city might become vassal to another (Lam. 1:1), receiving the designation ’almānā (lit. “widow”; Isa. 47:8f.; 54:4; cf. MT Jer. 51:5). Changes in alliances or the result of the growth and subsequent independence of villages may be reflected in variant relationships recorded in the genealogies of 1 Ch. 1–9, which lists persons, groups, and territories (cf. the Edomite cities Korah and Shammah [1 Ch. 1:35, 37]; Ephah [1:33]; note also the conflicting designations within the Perez line for Caleb, Hur, and Hezron [2:19, 50; 4:1]).

Some cities had specialized functions. Such were fortress cities (Ramath Rahel or Beth-haccherem), storage centers for grain (2 Ch. 17:12; Tell el-Kheleifeh; cf. Tell Jemmeh), chariot cities (Hazor, Lower Beth-Horon, Baalath) or bases for horsemen (Megiddo), caravan cities (Gaza, Beth-shean, Tyre), and seaports (Ezion-geber, Joppa, Sidon). Solomon’s extensive building program established many of these specialized cities (1 K. 9:19). The capital of a territory or state was designated a “royal city” (1 S. 27:5; 2 S. 12:26). See also CITIES, LEVITICAL; CITIES OF REFUGE.

年必须归还给卖方 (利 25:29-31)。通常用亲属关系术语来描述城市和它们所属村庄之间的关系或者与其他城市的契约和条约关系。伯玛迦被称为“母城”(撒下 20:19), 这表明伯玛迦是一个有附属村庄的城市(希伯来语: bānôt, 字面意思“女儿”; 民 21:25, 32; 士 11:26; 非利士城市以革伦、亚实突和迦萨都有各自的“属城”和“村庄” [h^aṣērîm, 书 15:45-47], 这表明这些属城和村庄都在不同程度上依赖于“母城”)。战争失败之后, 一座城市可能变成另一座城市的附属城市(哀 1:1), 被称为 h^aṣērîm (字面意思“寡妇”; 赛 47:8-9; 54:4; 参:《马所拉文本》的《耶利米书》51:5)。《历代志上》1-9章的家谱列出了人名、宗族名和领地的名称, 其中记录的各种关系可能体现出同盟关系发生了改变或村庄经过发展后来获得了独立(参:以东城市可拉和沙玛[代上 1:35, 37]; 以法[代上 1:33]; 另参:法勒斯家族中迦勒、户珥和希斯仑的不同称谓[代上 2:19, 50; 4:1])。

David’s selection of Jerusalem as capital was an act of political genius and of historical significance, both real and symbolical, uniting on the site of the former Jebusite stronghold the diverse and potentially separative northern and southern tribes. Because he had captured the city he regarded it as his personal possession (“city of David”). It was accordingly a neutral territory and an independent power base, strengthened by adoption of the Jerusalem Canaanite dialect as the official “Hebrew” tongue, and by the relocation there of the ark of the covenant, making the capital also the cultic center of the kingdom, a “holy city” (Isa. 48:2; 52:1; 64:10).

Under the monarchy the Israelite city, and particularly Jerusalem, showed signs of increased secularization and reflected a movement away from the original ideals of the covenant with Yahweh. The early Hebrew communities had enjoyed an ideological solidarity, despite their diverse components. This was lost through increased complacency and the influx of non-Israelite elements (including foreign artisans and merchants, as well as diplomatically arranged royal marriages and alliances). The acceptance of Jerusalem as the “city of David” was contrary to Yahweh’s idealized ownership of all the land. Increased conscription for the massive building projects and heavy taxation to support the expensive and ostentatious palace, temple, and attendant bureaucracy marked a trend toward the conditions of Late Bronze Age Canaan. No longer a classless society, the city reflected clear social stratification. (Cf. Tell el-Fâr'ah, where the uniformly appointed tenth-century houses were supplanted by a wealthy section of large, well-built houses separated by a wall from crowded and relatively crude dwellings.) The contrast between the Yahwistic principles of early Israel and the later character of the Israelite city is underscored by the outspoken complaints of the prophets, representing the views of their outlying villages (by nature conservative) against the blatant hypocrisy and overt decadence of the urban centers (Micah 6:9-16; cf. Amos 3-4).

大卫建都耶路撒冷体现出了大卫的政治天赋和这件事的历史意义，这件事既有现实意义，又有象征意义，在从前耶布斯人要塞的基址上将众多具有分裂倾向的北部和南部支派团结起来。因为大卫占领了这座城市，所以他认为这座城市归他所有（“大卫的城”）。因此，耶路撒冷是一个中立的地区和独立的权力中心，因为将耶路撒冷的迦南方言作为官方“希伯来语”，以及约柜重新被运回那里，所以这座城市的地位得到了巩固，成为了王国的宗教中心，即“圣城”（赛 48:2；52:1；64:10）。

在君主制时期，以色列人的城市，尤其是耶路撒冷逐渐变得世俗化，并且倾向于背离与耶和华签订的圣约中的最初理想。虽然早期的希伯来会众是由多个宗族的人组成的，但他们在思想上是团结的。随着希伯来人逐渐骄傲自满，以及非以色列因素（包括外邦工匠和商人，以及出于外交目的的王室联姻和结盟）的影响，希伯来会众不再团结。如果认可耶路撒冷是“大卫的城”，那么就违背了全地归耶和华所有的理想化观念。青铜时代晚期的迦南常常为了兴建宏伟的建筑，不断征兵，为了支持奢华的宫殿、神庙和相应官僚机构的用度，不断加重赋税。城市不再是一个无阶级的社会，却体现出了明显的社会分层。（参：法拉废丘[Tell el-Fâr’ah]，大量坚固的大住宅取代了公元前 10 世纪风格一致的房屋，一道墙将这些坚固的

IV. Greek and Roman Cities.-Following the Exile the Palestinian city was in decline, both in size and in style. Thus the imperialist activities of Alexander the Great and his successors made significant impact on sites throughout the region, as they had in Asia Minor. To solidify their conquests and to advance Greek influence in those territories, they ambitiously constructed cities throughout the Levant, introducing the form if not so much the spirit of the Greek city, and mingling Greek and Near Eastern cultures. Many of these cities were new settlements, but others were rebuildings of existing towns. A number of Greeks settled there, some by choice and others by assignment, so the Greek cultural influence was strong; nevertheless, the stubborn independence of native elements maintained the oriental texture.

Greek pólis originally designated a fortified settlement, and the NT uses the term to differentiate the city, as an enclosed place of human residence, from the villages and countryside. The NT city, particularly as depicted in Acts and the Epistles, was the descendant of the classical Greek pólis. This city-state, which developed in scattered, isolated pockets, was thus independent, self-reliant, and strongly provincial. This spirit was reflected in the nature of the community, whose ideals were mutual responsibility and concern for general well-being through which the individual could develop to the fullest potential culturally, physically, and spiritually. Expressions of such concerns in the Greek city were such common elements as the gymnasium, stadium, and theater.

IV. 希腊和罗马城市。被掳之后, 巴勒斯坦的城市开始走向衰落, 不仅城市的规模逐渐缩减, 而且城市开始失去自身的风格。亚历山大大帝和他的继任者的霸权主义行动对巴勒斯坦地区的所有城市和小亚细亚的城市产生了深远的影响。为了团结他们征服的地区和扩大希腊在这些地区的影响, 他们雄心勃勃地在黎凡特地区建造城市, 如果一座城市不太符合希腊城市的风格, 他们就会在城市中引入希腊风格, 还将希腊文化和近东文化融合在一起。其中一些城市中有一些新的居住区, 而其他的城市只是改建了当时已经存在的城邑。大量的希腊人定居在那里, 有些人主动选择定居在那里, 而其他的人则是被迫安置在那里, 所以希腊文化对巴勒斯坦地区产生了深远的影响; 然而, 坚守独立的本地城市仍然保留着东方的文化。

希腊语 pólis 最初表示筑有防御工事的定居点, 《新约》用这个词来区分城市、

The Greek spirit also appears in the Hellenistic policy permitting communities throughout the empire to retain their respective cultures and to experience, within bounds, political autonomy. Antioch on the Orontes, founded by Seleucus in 300 B.C., was a mixture of Macedonian Greeks and Syrians, plus a colony of Jewish veterans of the Seleucid army. As provincial capital of Syria the city was considered so politically and commercially important as to warrant appointed officials. Nevertheless, it retained considerable self-government by a civic-minded aristocracy and the popular assembly. Hellenism was less successful in Jerusalem. As requested by Antiochus IV Epiphanes and in exchange for a substantial payment, the city was transformed in 175 B.C. from a temple state (katoikia) into the pólis Antioch-in-Judea (2 Macc. 4:9-14). Enfranchised citizens were designated, the local council became the boulé, and the temple priests were named magistrates. But the hellenized elements became the object of pro-Ptolemaic resistance and religious dissent, and social and economic tensions between the urban rich and agricultural peasantry forced Antiochus to take strong measures against the city (169 or 168). He rededicated the temple to Olympian Zeus and halted the observance of Judaism by suspending the city's constitution, the Mosaic law (2 Macc. 6:1-6)。

Relatively little evidence of Hellenistic occupation has been preserved in Palestine proper. Marisa (OT Mareshah, Tell Sandaḥannah), Jerash (Gerasa), and Amman (Philadelphia) represent a characteristic Greek city plan attributed to Hippodamos of Miletus (5th cent.). Although adapted to the local terrain, this was a fairly rigid orthogonal plan, oriented to the four points of the compass. The cities consisted of houses in blocks formed by perpendicular streets, and a rectangular central area for public buildings. Pergamum in Asia Minor (Rev. 2:12-17) was less faithful to the orthogonal form, but still a unified settlement with terraced buildings around the citadel, a central residential area, and a main street flanked by various public buildings.

Most significant of the Hellenistic innovations was the agorá. Combining the functions of marketplace and civic center, the agora replaced the typical Palestinian city gate as the focus of activity. Ephesus, established by Alexander's general Lysimachus, was characteristic. The rectangular agora, 300 ft. (90 m.) on each side and surrounded by pillars, focused on the shrine of Hera Boulaia with its perpetually burning sacred hearth, symbol of the city's well-being. The civic center also contained an assembly hall for the city council, offices of various officials, and a basilica, the business and legal center. Statues and inscriptions abounded, glorifying both subject and donor. No street passed through the agora, although it was adjacent to a main thoroughfare. Immediately outside the district were shops, temples, and a library.

The Romans imitated the Hellenistic city plan, using a rectilinear design characterized by north-south (cardo) and east-west (decamus) streets, which had gates at each end and intersected at right angles near the center of the city. The forum, of which there might be several, was a large, open square which was surrounded by shops and through which streets ran; it was successor to the agora as a depository for monuments and plaques. That Roman architecture was largely monumental is perhaps most apparent in the primarily ornamental city walls and triumphal arches.

Missing was the open spirit of the Greek city. Accorded different degrees of political status and thus of administrative autonomy, the cities were generally left to themselves. In Palestine the Herodians, despite their outward appearance as enlightened philhellene monarchs, were extremely wary of any threat to their highly centralized administrative system, and local autonomy was severely curtailed. Some cities (Marisa) were suppressed, while others (Joppa, Azotus [Ashdod]) were reduced to capitals of toparchies, administrative districts comprised of several villages (cf. Josephus BJ iii.3.5 [§§ 54f.]). Although Sebaste (Samaria) was granted additional territory to accommodate peoples relocated there, that land apparently was not considered part of the city's sphere of influence. The care taken to guarantee the privileges of Roman citizens throughout the empire led to rigid social stratification within the cities (Roman, non-Roman, free, slave). Taxes and other financial burdens, legally or illegally imposed by Roman officials, also heightened economic distinctions (landowner, merchant, agriculturalist, laborer).

最值得注意的希腊风格创新是城市广场 (agorá)。城市广场既是市场，也是城市的中心，它取代了典型的巴勒斯坦城门，成为市民活动的中心。以弗所是由亚历山大的将军利西马科斯建造的城市，它拥有典型的希腊风格的广场。长方形广场的每侧宽 300 英尺 (90 米)，四周是柱子，广场中心是作为城市福乐象征的赫拉布莱雅 (Hera Boulaia) 神龛和永不熄灭的圣炉。市中心还有一个用于召开城市会议的大礼堂、众多官员的办事处和一座长方形的会堂，长方形会堂是城市的商业中心和法律中心。城中还有大量赞美百姓和捐助者的雕像和碑文。虽然广场附近有一条主街道，但没有街道从广场中间穿过。广场外围是商店、神庙和一座图书馆。

罗马人模仿了希腊风格的城市布局，南北 (cardo) 走向和东西 (decamus) 走向的街道都采用直线设计，街道的两端都有城门，并在市中心附近垂直相交。古罗马广场是一个开阔的正方形区域，四周是一些商店，有街道从中穿过，可能有多个古罗马广场；古罗马广场由希腊广场发展而来，是摆放纪念碑和纪念匾的地方。罗马的装饰性城墙和凯旋门可能最能体现罗马建筑的恢弘气势。

Most of the Roman building activity in the Near East was done by Herod the Great (37–4 B.C.), who cultivated his reputation as a great city-builder by rebuilding and expanding many sites and renaming them for his political superiors. Thus the Phoenician fortified city of Strato's Tower became Caesarea, Samaria was named Sebaste (Gk. for Augusta, after Caesar Augustus), and the great tower in Jerusalem was enlarged and named Antonia after his patron Mark Anthony. (The practice was common in the Greek and Roman periods; Acco was called Ptolemais after Ptolemy II Philadelphus, and the Greek settlement of Panea on the slope of Mt. Hermon was named by Herod's successor Philip as Caesarea Philippi after Tiberius Caesar

Samaria (Sebaste) displays evidence of some of the more extraordinary Herodian building. Both for sentimental reasons (the city had been loyal during his struggles with Antigonus [Josephus Ant. xiv.15.3], and there he married Mariamne [Ant. xiv.15.14]) and as a means of solidifying his political advantage, Herod restored the city to its earlier prominence, settling six thousand war veterans there and engaging in extensive building. He refortified the city with a new wall 2 mi. (3.2 km.) in circumference and 0.6 mi. (1 km.) in diameter, strengthened at intervals by gateways with towers. Most outstanding of the Herodian edifices was a temple honoring Augustus, 225 ft. (69 m.) on each side. Located on a platform 14 ft. (4.3 m.) high, it was approached by a monumental staircase from a large forecourt extending over the edge of the mound. Other Roman additions within the city walls included a roofed stadium with a track of Olympic proportions.

Magnificently built at great expense over twelve years' time (25–13 B.C.), Caesarea featured artificial harbor installations extending 0.25 mi. (0.4 km.) from shore and a stone breakwater 200 ft. (60 m.) wide and standing in 120 ft. (37 m.) of water. Josephus considered it at least the rival of Athens (Ant. xv.9.6; BJ i.21.5–8). Enclosed within a semicircular wall, the main part of the city included a forum, an oval amphitheater for gladiatorial competition measuring 300 ft. (90 m.) by 200 ft. (60 m.)—slightly larger than the Roman Colosseum—and a stadium where games were held every fifth year. A high aqueduct brought the city's water supply from the foothills of Mt. Carmel by a 3 ft.

By NT times, Jerusalem also had experienced considerable change. The city’s topography had been altered over the years. The Tyropoeon Valley between the eastern and western portions of the city had been partially filled by centuries’ accumulation of debris. Also, the Maccabees had constructed a powerful fortress on the site of the former lower city (the Herodian Acra), reducing the hill and filling the valley between it and the temple. To enclose urban sprawl to the north of the old city, two new walls were constructed in Hellenistic-Hasmonean times. Another wall was begun in A.D. 42 by Herod Agrippa to enclose suburban Bezetha, but it was not completed until the first Jewish revolt in A.D. 66.

Herod the Great reinforced the existing fortifications at Jerusalem by construction of a strongly fortified citadel in the northwest corner of the city near the present Jaffa Gate. Strengthened by three huge towers, the entire palace was constructed on an elevated platform and covered an area 985 ft. (300 m.) by 330 ft. (100 m.). A Maccabean fortress at the juncture of the second city wall with the temple enclosure was rebuilt and named the Tower of Antonia. The tallest of its four towers (105 ft. [32 m.]) faced the temple courts and was intended to police the worshipers, perhaps by a Roman cohort garrisoned there (cf. Acts 21:31–37). Paved with limestone blocks, the court of the fortress may be the “Pavement” of Jn. 19:13. Here Paul disputed with Jewish leaders and was confined for protection during investigation by the tribunal (Acts 21:27–22:29). Here also Jesus may have been questioned by Pilate.

迦密山脚下的水引入凯撒利亚。城中的赛马场（公元 2 世纪）可以容纳 30,000 多人，俯瞰海岸的剧场可以容纳 4500 人。凯撒利亚后期的建筑包括浴场、四座塔门和有柱廊的街道。凯撒利亚是罗马总督的所在地和巴勒斯坦的都城（公元 6 至 66 年），它也是亚基帕审判保罗的地方（徒 25:23-26:32）。这座城市的希腊风格受到虔诚犹太人的攻击，犹太元素和外邦元素的冲突导致犹太人于公元 66 年发动了反对罗马的叛乱（Josephus Ant. xx.8.7–9; BJ ii.13.7; ii.14.4-14.5）。

Most impressive in Herod’s rebuilding of Jerusalem were his efforts involving the temple area proper. Begun by Herod in 20 B.C. partly as a means of endearing himself to the Jewish populace, the program included construction of four massive retaining walls intended to support the enlarged courtyard, one of the largest such areas in the ancient world at 35 acres (14 hectares). The extensive system of vaults and columns supporting the platform is traditionally called “Solomon’s Stables.” Portions of the retaining walls have survived, including the Western (or Wailing) Wall. Although the general plan of the temple was fixed by sacred tradition, Herod was able to enhance it by making it higher and by providing elaborate ornamentation. A royal portico inside the temple mount courtyard was built in basilical style and apparently served as a commercial center, a likely location for money changing.

将之命名为安东尼亚塔。四座塔中最高的塔（105 英尺[32 米]）面对着圣殿的院子，是为监督敬拜者而建的，可能有一支罗马步兵大队驻守在那里（参：徒 21:31–37）。要塞的院子中铺着石灰岩块，这个院子可能就是《约翰福音》19:13 中的“铺华石处”。保罗在这里与犹太人的首领辩论，在法庭调查期间保罗被囚禁在这里（徒 21:27–22:29）。彼拉多可能就是在这里审问的耶稣。

希律重建耶路撒冷时最令人印象深刻的是他重修了耶路撒冷城内的圣殿区。希律从公元前 20 年开始重修圣殿，这是他讨好百姓的一种方式，他修建了四个巨大的挡土墙来支撑已被扩建的院子，这个院子是古代世界最大的院子之一，占地 35 英亩（14 公顷）。由拱顶和柱子支撑起来的巨大平台通常被称为“所罗门的马厩”。部分挡土墙被保存下来，其中包括“西墙”（“哭墙”）。虽然圣传确定了圣殿的总体布局，但希律通过提高圣殿布局规格和精心装饰圣殿改善了圣殿的总体布局。他仿照长方形大会堂的风格在圣殿院子中建造了一个王家柱廊，这个王家柱廊显然是一个商业中心，很可能是兑换钱币的地方。

this period. Residences of the wealthy included multistory structures arranged around a central court under which were cisterns and ritual bathing facilities. Ornamentation included mosaic floors and plastered walls with frescoes. Suggesting heightened cultural and recreational interests, a theater and stadium are also said to have been among Herod's additions to Jerusalem. The Herodian city was levelled by Titus' army in A.D. 70.

Herod's other activities in Palestine included enclosures for the tombs of the Jewish patriarchs at Hebron and Abraham's Oak at Mamre. Herodian public buildings were erected at Ashkelon, Jericho, and Qarn Sartabeh (Alexandria, N of Jericho). He also built a series of fortresses in the Judean wilderness and in the region around the Dead Sea, including Masada and his castle and tomb at Herodium SE of Bethlehem.

Outside Palestine, typical Roman building of biblical interest can be illustrated by CORINTH. As other cities in the western Roman empire, Corinth attempted to copy Rome, and its distinctly Roman character is important for understanding Paul's work there. The Romans, who refounded the city in 44 B.C., apparently located the forum on a different site from the earlier Greek agora. Surrounded by shops, basilicas, and monuments, the marketplace was divided into northern and southern sections by a long row of central shops. Near the center was the béma ("tribunal"; cf. Lat. rostrum; Acts 18:12-17), a platform for public speaking with capacity for a sizable crowd. In addition, the forum contained the typical Roman gymnasium with two stoas, a theater, and underground baths. On the city's north side, adjacent to the wall and near the spring Lerna, was the sanctuary of Asclepius, god of healing; it contained facilities for votive offerings of those seeking healing, and chambers for cultic meals (cf. 1 Cor. 8, 10). North of the city on the east side of the Corinthian isthmus was the sanctuary of Poseidon, site of the Isthmian games, survivals of which continued in Roman times.

巴勒斯坦地区之外的哥林多 (CORINTH[哥林多]) 可以显示出《圣经》中关注的典型罗马建筑。哥林多像西罗马帝国的其他城市一样, 尝试模仿罗马的城市风格, 而且它显著的罗马城市特点有助于人们理解保罗在那里的传道工作。罗马人与公元前 44 年重建了这座城市, 他们显然不是在从前的希腊广场上建造的古罗马广场。哥林多市场的周围是商店、长方形会堂和纪念碑, 一长排中心商店将市场分为南北两区。市场中心附近是公堂 (béma; 参: 拉丁语: rostrum; 徒 18:12-17), 公堂是一个用于公开演讲的平台, 可以容纳相当数量的听众。此外, 广场上还有一个拥有两个柱廊的典型罗马体育馆、一个剧场和地下浴室。在临近哥林多北城墙的地方, 勒拿泉附近是医术之神亚克里比阿

Among the last Roman efforts in Palestine were Hadrian's rebuilding of Jerusalem ca. A.D. 132 as the thoroughly pagan Aelia Capitolina, from which Jews were excluded under penalty of death. This Roman provincial city covered 70 acres (28 hectares), with 10,000–18,000 Roman colonists, and contained well-planned streets and the usual Roman public buildings. Included were the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus on the former Jewish sacred precinct and a temple of Venus on the approximate location of the later Church of the Holy Sepulchre. To the north, Samaria-Sebaste was reestablished as the colony Lucia Septimia Severus. Extremely prosperous from ca. A.D. 180 to 230, the city included architecturally uniform buildings such as summit temple and temple of Kore, a small theater, a rectangular forum surrounded by pillars, and a large basilica.

CITY, BIBLICAL THEOLOGY OF

From Genesis to the Revelation of John, the biblical canon conveys a rich, consistent “theology of the city,” which illumines not merely the city itself but also the broader sweep of God’s judgment and grace in relation to man and his works. Probably the best way to summarize this message of God about the city is to consider first the stream of revelation that begins with Cain’s city and culminates with the final end of Babylon, the great city, under the judgment of God; second, God’s gracious action, which culminates in the eschatological city, New Jerusalem; finally, a few observations about the relationship of the two cities in human history and the problem of an urban ethics.

I. From the City of Cain to Babylon.-The origins of the city, in biblical revelation, are not to be found in Eden, nor can they be rooted satisfactorily in the mandate to Adam and Eve. Rather, the first city is built by Cain the murderer, the rejector of the word and presence of the Lord (Gen. 4). Instead of wandering under the protection of God, Cain chooses to settle in the land of Nod and build a city. The city becomes a sign of fallen man’s quest for security apart from God. It is important to note that Genesis does not present the conflict as “country versus city”; rather, the city is accessory and symbolizes Cain’s quest for autonomy and security.

Cain is followed by the sons of Ham, the impure and cursed son of Noah, as the next city-builders (Gen. 10). The Canaanite cities, above all Sodom and

CITY, BIBLICAL THEOLOGY OF 城市的圣经神学

I. 从该隐之城至巴比伦。在《圣经》的启示中，无法从伊甸园中找到该隐之城的起源，在神对亚当和夏娃的授权中也找不到关于这座城市起源的满意答案。相反，该隐建立了第一座城市，他是在耶和華面前拒绝承认杀死兄弟的人（创4）。该隐选择定居挪得之地并建立一座城市，而不是在上帝的庇护下流离飘荡。这座城市成为堕落之人在上帝之外寻求保护的一个标志。值得注意的是，《创世记》并没有展示出“乡村与城市”之间的冲突；相反，城市成为一种附属物，是该隐寻求自主权和庇护的象征。

该隐之后，含的子孙、道德败坏和被诅咒的挪亚的子孙成为下一批城市建设者（创10）。迦南城市尤其是所多玛和蛾摩拉成为声名狼藉之地，城中的人道

Gomorrah, were to become notorious centers of moral corruption, idolatry, and enmity against God. Mizraim (Egypt) was the place where enslaved Israel built the storage cities and is also linked to the early Philistines. Above all, Nimrod the son of Cush, is noted as the builder and conqueror of cities, most notably Babel/Babylon and Nineveh. Nimrod is called a “mighty one in the earth” and a “mighty hunter/plunderer.” To Cain’s city as security apart from God is added the indictment of the city as the place of moral corruption, idolatry, outright enmity against God, slavery for the people of God, and the spirit of power and war.

The Babel episode (Gen. 11) is paradigmatic for the theological understanding of the city. The pride and lust for power that motivate this work of fallen man are obvious: “Let us build for ourselves”; “let us make a name for ourselves.” Providentially, God intervenes by confusing language and communication, thus bringing the work to a halt. The sad irony of this situation is that this providential restriction of the possibilities of power and pride is accomplished through a new hazard characteristic of the city: difficulty of true communication and understanding.

Sodom and Gomorrah are the next cities to receive substantial attention in Scripture (Gen. 18–19). The righteous sojourner Abraham pleads with the Lord for the preservation of the corrupt cities because of the possibility of a faithful remnant within. God accepts the terms of the bargain, but not even ten righteous can be found. The few righteous must flee the city to avoid God’s judgment on these archetypes of urban moral corruption.

Israel's relationship to the city is at first peripheral, since the patriarchs are nomadic shepherds. After the death of Joseph, however, the cities of Egypt become the place of slavery. Specifically, the children of Israel must build the storage cities Pithom and Raamses (Ex. 1). The conquest of Canaan brought the people of God into direct conflict with the cities of that region. In fact, Israel's commission to conquer, or even destroy, the Canaanite cities was based largely on the divine judgment against the wickedness and idolatry which they harbored. Jericho typified the very worst of these conditions; a curse was pronounced on anyone who would try to rebuild it (Josh. 6:26).

Despite the fact that the people of God were occasionally directed to use, or even to build, some cities (above all, Jerusalem), such activity easily lapsed into the pattern of Cain and his followers, with dire results. Solomon, the first great building king in Israel, is remembered chiefly for building the temple. However, it was his building of the Millo and the many storage cities through forced labor that led to Jeroboam's revolt (1 K. 9, 11). Solomon's apostate acceptance of foreign gods opened the floodgates, so that the prophet Jeremiah later wailed "your gods are as many as your cities, O Judah!" (Jer. 11:13). The Chronicles, in particular, recount this pattern of construction of cities by kings, with its correlate of corruption and idolatry, and then separation from God. The prophets inveigh against the cities not out of a nostalgia for a rural past but because of the corruption and wickedness associated with them.

Babylon in particular becomes “the city.” Built on bloodshed and slavery, filled with idols, wealth, luxury, and the wisdom of man, carrying away captive the people of God, mocking the Creator, Babylon’s spirit was voiced best by King Nebuchadnezzar: “Is this not Babylon the great, which I myself have built ... by the might of my power and for the glory of my majesty?” (Dnl. 4:30). In the oracle of Isaiah, Babylon was “the beauty of kingdoms, the glory of the Chaldeans’ pride” (Isa. 13:19). It was the great city of Cain. Its end would be destruction by God.

Jesus’ relationship to the city evidenced great compassion on His part while at the same time continuing the general attitude seen in the OT. The lament over Jerusalem is particularly instructive in regard both to Jesus’ attitude and to the hardness of the city in response (Lk. 13:34f.). The cities often showed themselves at enmity with the gospel. The gospel must be proclaimed in all the cities and villages, but woe to those that reject it (Lk. 10:8–16)! It was in the city that political functionaries, religious leaders, and an urban mob rejected, sentenced, and crucified Jesus Christ.

The Apostolic Church spread from city to city gaining a foothold nearly everywhere and yet suffering much the same consequences that Jesus encountered. Finally, the Apocalypse rounds out the description and pronounces the final judgment on this city of Cain: “Fallen, fallen is Babylon the Great” (Rev. 18:2). Rev. 18 summarizes the judgment: she has become a dwelling place of demons; her sins are piled as high as the heavens. She is guilty of gross immorality, horrible violence, piling up wealth and luxury at the expense of human lives. She has rejected and slain the prophets and saints and exulted in her own power. The great city is the apotheosis of sin and evil.

尤其是巴比伦变成了“那城”。巴比伦建立在杀戮和奴役的基础上，城中充满了偶像、财富、奢华和人类的智慧，巴比伦掳走了神的子民，嘲笑造物主，国王尼布甲尼撒的话最能体现出巴比伦的精神：“这大巴比伦不是我用大能大力建为京都，要显我威严的荣耀吗？”（但 4:30）。在以赛亚的预言中，巴比伦素来“为列国的荣耀，为迦勒底人所矜夸的华美”（赛 13:19）。它是该隐的大城。最终被上帝摧毁。

耶稣与城市的关系显示出祂的怜悯之心，同时延续了《旧约》对城市的总体态度。耶稣为耶路撒冷悲伤尤其能体现祂对这座城市的态度和这座城市的冥顽不化（路 13:34-35）。这些城市通常敌视福音。福音必将传遍所有的城市和村庄，拒绝福音的城市和村庄要有祸了（路 10:8-16）！政治官员、宗教领袖和城中的暴徒在城市中拒绝和审判了耶稣基督，并将祂钉死在十字架上。

使徒教会在城市间扩展蔓延并几乎在每个地方的城市中站稳了脚跟，但也蒙受了耶稣所遭受的相同苦难。最后，《启示录》中阐明了这座该隐之城将面临的最终审判：“巴比伦大城倾倒了，倾倒了”（启 18:2）。《启示录》18章总结了 这个审判：她成了魔鬼的住处；她的罪恶滔天。她因极度邪恶、恐怖暴力、以牺牲人的生命为代价积累财富和贪图

II. From Salem to New Jerusalem.-From Genesis to Revelation, then, the city is under judgment and a curse. It originated in the strivings of fallen men and women for security, power, carnal satisfaction, and glory, apart from God. Separated from God it became the place of violence, moral corruption, economic oppression, slavery, idolatry, the absence of communication, the reduction of individuals to members of the crowd—in sum, the institutional incarnation of evil.

However, even in the case of the city, the grace and election of God triumphed over the works of fallen man. This is the remarkable theological counterpoint to the condemnation of the city repeatedly encountered in Scripture. Man descends to new lows. Yet God reaches down to fallen man, meets him, and redeems him at that level. The history of God's dealings with the city is analogous to His relationship to kingship (1 S. 8, 12.). God warned Israel not to seek a king like the other nations. They insisted, yet God did not reject them. Rather, He helped them choose their king. Finally, God is revealed in biblical eschatology as the true King of Kings. Similarly, the city does not appear as God's intention for human life, yet He does not reject urban man but begins to redeem him and his city. The choice of Jerusalem in the OT, with its temple of God's presence, and the

II. 从撒冷到新耶路撒冷。从《创世记》至《启示录》，城市在整部《圣经》中始终是遭受审判和诅咒的对象。它们因堕落的男女试图在上帝之外寻求庇护、权柄、肉欲的满足和荣耀而遭受审判和诅咒。城市远离了上帝，变成了充满暴力、道德败坏、经济压迫、奴役、偶像崇拜、缺乏交流、盲目从众的地方——总之，成了魔鬼的住处。

然而，即使在城市中，上帝的恩典和拣选仍然战胜了堕落之人的工作。这与《圣经》中城市屡次遭受的谴责形成了鲜明的神学对比。世人越来越堕落。而上帝俯就堕落之人，救赎他，将他提到天上去。上帝救赎城市的历史类似于祂与君权的关系（撒上 8, 12）。上帝警告以色列不要像其他的民族那样渴望一位国王。他们却坚持选立一位国王，但上帝没有拒绝他们。相反，祂帮助他们拣选了一位国王。最终，上帝在《圣经》末世论中揭示出祂是万王之王。同样，城市没有体现出上帝对人类生活的旨意，但祂并没有抛弃城市中的人，而是开始救赎他们和他们所生活的城市。《旧约》中的耶路撒冷，神的居所圣殿和末世论异象中的上帝之城新耶路撒冷共同勾勒出一幅完整的画面。

eschatological vision in terms of New Jerusalem, the City of God, completes the picture.

Some of Israel is given permission to build “cities for our little ones” just before the conquest (Nu. 32:16ff.), and in dividing up the land, the tribes of Israel are assigned various Canaanite cities. These, of course, were to be purged of their idols and, thereby, their religious significance as places of rebellion against the true God. More significant yet is the choice of certain cities as “cities of refuge” (Nu. 35). Here are cities chosen by God for life, a promise of things to come, a promise of what God intends for this work of man.

Even without a conquest and purification, it is possible for the people of God to live in the cities of Cain and remain faithful to God. Short of the extreme case of Sodom, where the only remaining option was to flee, it may be possible to participate in the city while refusing to join in its evil and idolatry. “Seek the welfare of the city where I have sent you into exile, and pray to the Lord on its behalf; for in its welfare you will have welfare” (Jer. 29:7). Esther in the OT, Erastus the city treasurer in the NT (Rom. 16:23), and many others indicate the possibilities of participation in the cities of Cain by the pilgrim people of God. Jonah, of course, indicates the extreme possibility of a Nineveh repenting en masse before God.

The main counterpoint to Babylon, however, is Jerusalem. Babel has its tower to the greatness and pride of man; Jerusalem is elected by God to have the temple of God’s presence within its walls. Jerusalem is to be the city under the word of God. The roots of Jerusalem go back to the Jebusite descendants of Canaan, the cursed son of Ham. Yet, in a most significant brief episode, Melchizedek, king of Salem (Jerusalem?) and “priest of the God Most High,” suddenly appears with a gift of bread and wine and a blessing for Abraham (Gen. 14). Ps. 110:4 and the Letter to the Hebrews indicate that this priest-king was a type of the coming Messiah.

即使没有征服迦南和洁净仪式，生活在该隐之城中的上帝的子民也有可能忠实于上帝。除了所多玛这个极端例子，城中的居民只能逃离所多玛，别无其他选择，上帝的子民有可能生活在城市中，同时拒绝邪恶和偶像崇拜。“我所使你们被掳到的那城，你们要为那城求平安，为那城祷告耶和华。因为那城得平安，你们也随着得平安”（耶 29:7）。《旧约》中的以斯帖和《新约》中的城市司库以拉都（罗 16:23）等人都曾指出上帝的朝圣者可以生活在该隐的城市中。当然，约拿给出了尼尼微全城的人可能在上帝面前忏悔的极端例子。

然而，与巴比伦对应的主要城市是耶路撒冷。巴别城中的巴别塔体现出世人的狂妄自大；上帝拣选了耶路撒冷，并在耶路撒冷的城墙内修建圣殿作为祂的居所。耶路撒冷将成为顺从神的城市。耶路撒冷最初是迦南地耶布斯的子孙

During the period of the conquest and the judges, Jerusalem remained “Jebus” under the control of the Jebusites. David, however, conquered the city (also called Zion) and soon after brought the ark of the Lord to Jerusalem (2 S. 5f.). A city, Jerusalem, was now the “Holy City,” the city where God’s presence and witness were to be centered and maintained (Isa. 52). Under Solomon, the temple was erected to symbolize even more visibly this presence of God.

The millennium that followed the period of David and Solomon was filled with the drama of Israel’s apostasy and revival. Jerusalem was sacked, its temple destroyed, and its people carried away captive to Babylon, only to be rebuilt later under God’s leadership. Finally, Jerusalem’s status as holy city was ended with the arrival, crucifixion, and resurrection of Jesus Christ, and the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem. The earthly temple is destroyed and replaced by the body of Christ as the resurrected “temple of God” (Jn. 2:19; 1 Pet. 2). Jesus’ death and resurrection are the desacralization of the earthly Jerusalem and the “sacralization” of the people of God.

在征服迦南时期和士师时期，耶路撒冷仍然是耶布斯人控制的城市，此时它被称为“耶布斯”。不过，大卫征服了这座城市（也被称为锡安），不久之后将神的约柜运到了耶路撒冷（撒下 5-6）。耶路撒冷变成了“圣城”，并且始终是上帝显现和见证上帝存在的城市（赛 52）。所罗门通过建造圣殿来更加明显地彰显出上帝的存在。

大卫和所罗门之后的那个千禧年经常发生以色列叛教和复兴的戏剧性故事。耶路撒冷被洗劫，圣殿被毁，耶路撒冷的居民被掳至巴比伦，后来在上帝的指引下重建了耶路撒冷。随着耶稣基督降临，被钉十字架和复活，以及耶路撒冷的圣殿被毁，耶路撒冷逐渐失去了它的圣城地位。世上的圣殿被拆毁，耶稣的身体取代了它，并成为复原的“神的殿”（约 2:19；彼前 2）。耶稣受难和复活使地上的耶路撒冷不再神圣，却使神的子民成圣。

Yet that is by no means the end of the city. The coming eschatological reality is described in terms of the New Jerusalem (Rev. 21). In this city there is no temple “for its temple is the Lord God the Almighty and the Lamb” (Rev. 21:22). Babylon has been destroyed completely; all things are new and the New Jerusalem is all in all. The old Jerusalem takes its place in history as a witness and pointer to the new.

III. The Two Cities.-Babylon, the city of Cain, has occasionally been so totally in dominion over particular cities that God has intervened in judgment in human history. This was the case with Babel, Sodom, Jericho, Babylon, Nineveh, and Jerusalem, for example. New Jerusalem, the city of God, has never been fully present on earth, and cannot be until Babylon is finally destroyed by God. Nevertheless, there are hints and foreshadowings of that future City of God that comes into our history. By faith we know that God is at work in our history, using the works of man (even rebellious man) toward the final end in ways that we cannot see now with total clarity.

The coming city of God is defined by the presence of God, who is all in all. Thus, in the present context, the role of the “body of Christ” is to exemplify the coming city of God even now. This should be our primary “urban identity,” implying that we reside as pilgrims and aliens in the other cities of the world. Our task is to be the “city set on a hill” and the “light of the world” (Mt. 5:14). The OT saints followed Abraham in living as pilgrims, looking for the “city which has foundations, whose architect and builder is God” (He. 11:10). In Jesus Christ,

III. 两座城市。该隐之城巴比伦有时完全统治着某些特殊的城市，所以上帝以祂的审判干预人类的历史。巴别、所多玛、耶利哥、巴比伦、尼尼微和耶路撒冷皆发生过类似的事。上帝之城新耶路撒冷尚未完全在地上建立起来，只有当上帝最终摧毁巴比伦，新耶路撒冷才能完全建立。有些暗示和预示表明上帝之城将来会在人类历史中出现。我们靠着信心知晓上帝在我们的历史中工作，祂利用人类的作为（甚至是反叛者的作为），以我们尚无法完全看清的方式，引导我们走向最终的归宿。

充满万有的上帝以祂的显现描绘出即将降临的上帝之城的样子。因此，尽管在目前的环境中，“基督的身体”仍然代表着即将降临的上帝之城。这应该是我们的主要“城市身份”，并表明我们以朝圣者和外人的身份居住在这个世界的其他城市中。我们是“建在山上的城”和“世上的光”（太 5:14）。《旧约》中的圣人仿效亚伯拉罕，像朝圣者一样生活，等候“那座有根基的城，就是神所经营所建造的”（来 11:10）。然而，我们在耶稣基督里“来到锡安山，永生神的城邑，就是天上的耶路撒冷”（来 12:22-23）。

however, we have “come to Mount Zion and to the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem” (He. 12:22f.).

Beyond this primary task of “being present” as the coming city of God in our present lives, we have the task of proclamation of the Gospel to the cities, in the footsteps of Jesus. And we have the task of praying for the city and seeking the welfare of the city wherein we reside as aliens and pilgrims (Jer. 29:7). The city of Cain must see within its borders and in its activities the visible indications of the coming triumph of the New Jerusalem.

CITY AUTHORITIES

[Gk. politárchai] (Acts 17:6, 8); AV RULERS OF THE CITY; NEB MAGISTRATES. Men before whom Jason and the other Christians were dragged by the mob. The term distinguishes the magistrates of a free Greek city from the ordinary Roman officials. It primarily denotes “rulers of the citizens,” and hence was used only of magistrates of free cities. The term seems to have been confined largely to Macedonia, although there have been found a few inscriptions elsewhere in which it is used.

The use of this term well illustrates the accuracy of the author of Acts, for while politárchai is not found in classical authors, this form is attested by a number of Macedonian inscriptions, of which at

这个词的用法充分体现出《使徒行传》作者用词的准确性，因为虽然古典文学作者不使用 politárchai 这个词，但在大量的马其顿铭文中可以看到这个词，其中至少有五篇铭文来自于帖撒罗尼迦。

The suggested identification of the City of Salt with Khirbet Qumrân has been confirmed by the discovery of Iron Age II (900–600 B.C.) buildings beneath the ruined Qumrân community settlement. Large numbers of iron sherds compare favorably with those found at the other Buqei’ah fortresses, to which Wâdī Qumrân may have been connected by an Iron Age II road.

MSS, and it is now hardly possible to determine absolutely which have been altered and which accord with the original.

The context of the reference is an oracle of Isaiah concerning Egypt, occupying all of Isa. 19. In vv. 1–15, the prophet foretells divine punishments on Egypt: civil war, subjection to “a fierce king” (v. 4), and low Niles; and he castigates contemporary Egyptian rulers. Then come five parallel prophecies, each beginning with “In that day,” i.e., the general period of civil confusion, oppression, and natural catastrophe of vv. 1–10, 15 (11–14 referring to the then present time). In the first prophecy God’s hand of judgment and the land of Judah (His instrument?) will terrify Egypt; in the second are foreseen five cities in Egypt that speak the tongue of Canaan and swear to Yahweh, one to be called the City of the Sun (or destruction); in the third is envisaged an altar to Yahweh in Egypt and a pillar to Him at its border, as a sign; thus the Egyptians under disciplinary oppression will find Yahweh as their savior and turn to serve Him; the fourth prophecies that there will be free intercourse between, and common worship by, Egypt and Assyria; fifth, Israel will be “third” with Egypt and Assyria, and all blessed of God.

The full scope of these prophecies is not easily narrowed down; the period covered by “that day” could have begun even during the age of Isaiah’s ministry (ca. 750–690 B.C.). Egypt knew internal conflict in the early 25th Dynasty, ca. 720–715 B.C., when Piankhi and Shabaka of Ethiopia (Cush) successively overcame the Saite princes Tefnakht and Bakenranef and their allies. The oppressors of Egypt could range from Assyrian and Persian emperors to Roman ones, and deliverers from the 26th Dynasty, Alexander, and the Christian era. Jewish proselytism and then the spread of Christianity in Egypt (down to modern missions) could successively contribute to fulfilling vv. 21f. Other verses may yet await fulfillment.

座城市（赛 19:18）。犹太人关于奥尼亚在埃及所建圣殿的争论可能成为某些早期原稿修改这段经文的原因，现在很难明确地说出哪些是修改后的经文，哪些是最初的经文。

参考经文中提到了以赛亚关于埃及的预言，《以赛亚书》19章以整章的内容阐述了这个预言。这位先知在《以赛亚书》19:1-15章中预言了上帝对埃及的惩罚：内战、“强暴王”的辖制（赛 19:4）和尼罗河枯干；他谴责同时期埃及的统治者。然后他说了五个相似的预言，每个预言都以“当那日”开始，大致是《以赛亚书》19:1-10和19:15中所描述的国内混乱、遭受压迫和爆发自然灾害的时期（《以赛亚书》19:11-14提到了埃及当时的情况）。在第一个预言中，上帝的审判和犹大地（可能是祂的工具）必使埃及惊恐；第二个预言中提到，埃及必有五城的人说迦南的方言，并指着耶和華起誓，其中一城必被称为“灭亡城”；第三个预言中提到，埃及地必有为耶和華筑的一座坛，并在埃及的边界上必有为耶和華立的一根柱作为记号；因此，受人欺压的埃及人必会发现耶和華是他们的救主，并会事奉祂；第四个预言中提到，埃及和亚述之间必有自由出入的大道，埃及人要与亚述人一同敬拜耶和華；第五个预言提到，以色列必与埃及、亚述三国一律，使地上的人得福。

The five cities speaking Hebrew and worshiping Yahweh must refer to five Jewish settlements in Egypt. At various periods quite a number of such settlements are known. Thus, Jeremiah (44:1) mentions Jews at Migdol, Tahpanhes, and Memphis, plus those in Upper Egypt (Pathros). In Upper Egypt, in the Persian period (5th cent. B.C.), a Jewish military colony existed at Elephantine (Aswan), known to us from its Aramaic papyri. According to Josephus (Ant. xii.9.7; xiii.3; BJ i.9.4; vii.10), at Leontopolis in the Delta among a similar colony the fugitive priest Onias IV established a smaller temple on the Jerusalem model (ca. 162 B.C.). And in the Greco-Roman period (ca. 300 B.C. onward), there was always an important Jewish community in Alexandria; the Arabic names of various ruins in the Delta (like Tell el-Yehūdiyyeh, “mound of the Jewess”) may reflect the memory of still other settlements in late antiquity. The “altar” of v. 19 was perhaps first fulfilled in the building of the Jewish temple at Elephantine and later by that of Onias IV.

If the reading “city of destruction” be adopted (a purely descriptive epithet and not a proper name), there is no real clue to the identification of the city concerned, unless heres, “destruction,” be considered as a veiled pun on heres, “sun.” In this case, or if the reading “city of the sun” be adopted, then there might be an allusion to an Egyptian name. Egyptian sources suggest two possibilities. The “city of the sun” par excellence was Heliopolis (Egyp. ’Iwnw, Heb. ’Ōn), near which was a Jewish community in the 1st cent. A.D. (Bell, p.35). Otherwise there was the settlement at Tell el-Yehudiyeh about 10 mi. (16 km.) N of Heliopolis. A Greco-Roman Jewish cemetery was found here, and the Leontopolis of Onias IV’s temple was probably somewhere here (not at the Leontopolis of Tell Mokdam). However, the name of Tell el-Yehūdīyeh in Pharaonic times was not Per-Re or Pi-Re as often stated (e.g., by Naville and Montet), “house of the sun-god,” but rather Nayu-Ta-Hat-Ramses (“dependency of the mansion [funerary temple] of Ramses [III]”) in the domain (Egyp. per, lit. “house”) of Re on the north of Heliopolis, later abbreviated to Natho. The allusion to “sun” is still applicable, but less direct. The whole question is still best left open.

马皇帝都是欺压埃及的人，埃及人在第 26 王朝时期、亚历山大帝国时期和基督纪元得到了拯救，犹太人改变宗教信仰和后来基督教在埃及的传播（直到现代传教）可能先后应验了《以赛亚书》19:21-22 中的预言。其他经文中描述的预言可能尚未实现。

五座说希伯来语且敬拜耶和华的城市可能指的是埃及的五个犹太人定居点。埃及在各个时期都有大量犹太人定居点。因此，耶利米（耶 44:1）提到了住在密夺、答比匿、挪弗和上埃及（巴忒罗）境内的犹太人。我们从象岛的亚兰语蒲草纸中了解到，在波斯时期（公元前 5 世纪），上埃及的象岛（阿斯旺）出现了一个犹太军事殖民地。根据约瑟夫斯的描述（Ant. xii.9.7; xiii.3; BJ i.9.4; vii.10），逃亡的祭司奥尼亚四世仿照耶路撒冷的圣殿在尼罗河三角洲利安托波力斯的一个相似的殖民地中建造了一个小型圣殿（约公元前 162 年）。在希腊和罗马时期（约公元前 300 年以后），亚历山大港一直有一个重要的犹太社区；尼罗河三角洲众多废墟的阿拉伯语名字（如 Tell el-Yehūdiyyeh [“耶胡迪耶废墟”]，“犹太女人的高地”）可能反映出在古埃及晚期这里还有其他定居点。《以赛亚书》19:19 中的“坛”可能最初是犹太人在象岛建造圣殿时修筑的，后来奥尼亚四世也筑起了一座坛。

如果将“灭亡城”译为“city of destruction”（仅仅是一个描述性词语，而不是一个专有名词），却没有任何真

实的线索可以证明这座城市的位置，除非将 heres（意为“毁灭”）理解成一个含蓄的双关语，它还可以译为“sun”（“太阳”）。如果是这样，或者说如果用“city of the sun”表示“灭亡城”，那么“city of the sun”可能暗指了一个埃及地名。埃及文献提供了两种解释。“city of the sun”可能指的是黑利奥波勒斯（埃及语：’Iwnw，希伯来语：’Ōn），黑利奥波勒斯附近就是一个公元1世纪的犹太社区（Bell, 35页）。“city of the sun”还有可能指的是黑利奥波勒斯以北约10英里（16公里）处的耶胡迪耶废丘（Tell el-Yehudiyeh）中有一个定居点。在这里发现了一个希腊罗马时期的犹太人墓地，奥尼亚四世建造圣殿的地方利安托波力斯可能就在这个定居点附近（而不在莫克达姆废丘的利安托波力斯）。然而，法老时代的耶胡迪耶废丘不是人们通常所说的帕拉（Per-Re）或皮拉（Pi-Re）（意为“太阳神的家”，纳维尔[Naville]和蒙泰[Montet]就持有这种观点），而是黑利奥波勒斯以北拉（Re）领地（埃及语：per，字面意思“家”）中的努亚塔哈特拉美西斯（Nayu-Ta-Hat-Ramses）（意为“拉美西斯[三世]宫殿[葬庙]的附属地”），后来简称为奈苏（Natho）。这个词仍然可以用来暗指“太阳”，但不那么直接。整个问题仍然悬而未决。

The boundaries of the group referred to are not always clearly distinct in Hebrew. The clans of Israel were united generally by a blood relationship, although other factors tending to cause union in some cases might have been: families sharing the same geographical region, the assimilation of the weaker families by the stronger, and the cooperation of several weaker families to form a strong front.

klô'dē-ə [Gk. Klaudia]. A member of the Christian congregation at Rome, who with other members of that church sent her greetings through Paul to Timothy (2 Tim. 4:21). More than this concerning her cannot be said with certainty. The Apos. Const. (vii.21) name her as the mother of Linus, mentioned subsequently by Irenaeus and Eusebius as bishop of Rome.

An ingenious theory has been proposed, upon the basis of the mention of Claudia and Pudens as husband and wife in an epigram of Martial, that they are identical with the persons of the same name here mentioned. A passage in the Agricola of Tacitus and an inscription found in Chichester, England, have been used in favor of the further statement that this Claudia was a daughter of a British king, Cogidubnus. CLAUDIUS klô'dē-əs [Gk. Klaudios]. The fourth Roman emperor. He reigned for over thirteen years (A.D. 41–54), having succeeded Gaius Caesar (Caligula).

Caligula had seriously altered the conciliatory policy of his predecessors regarding the Jews and, considering himself a real and corporeal god, had deeply offended the Jews by ordering a statue of himself to be placed in the temple of Jerusalem, as Antiochus Epiphanes had done with the statue of Zeus in the days of the Maccabees (2 Macc. 6:2). Claudius reverted to the policy of Augustus and Tiberius and marked the opening year of his reign by issuing edicts in favor of the Jews (Josephus Ant. xix.5), who were permitted in all parts of the empire to observe their laws and customs in a free and peaceable manner. Special consideration was given to the Jews of Alexandria, who were to enjoy without molestation all their ancient rights and privileges. The Jews of Rome, however, who had become very numerous, were not allowed to assemble there (Dio Cassius Hist. lx.6.6), an enactment in full correspondence with the general policy of

音译：klô'dē-əs 【希腊语：Klaudios】。罗马的第四位皇帝。他接替该尤·凯撒（卡利古拉），统治罗马超过十三年（公元41年至公元54年）。

卡利古拉完全改变了前任皇帝对犹太人的安抚政策，并称自己是一个有形的真神，正如马加比时期的安提阿哥·伊皮法纽将宙斯的雕像放在圣殿中（马二6:2），卡利古拉也要求把他自己的雕像放在耶路撒冷圣殿中，这深深地冒犯了犹太人。革老丢恢复了奥古斯都和提庇留的政策，在他执政第一年就颁布了有利于犹太人的诏书（Josephus Ant. xix.5），罗马帝国全境的犹太人可以自由和平地遵守他们自己的律法和风俗。亚历山大港的犹太人被给予了特殊的关照，他们可以完全自由地享有他们古时的所有权利和特权。然而，革老丢下诏禁止众多居住在罗马的犹太人在罗马聚会（Dio Cassius Hist. lx.6.6），这份诏书完全符合奥古斯都针对西方犹太人的总政策。

Augustus regarding Judaism in the West.

Tiberius Claudius Nero Germanicus, Roman emperor who, despite acts favorable to Jews in his early reign, later forbade their assembly in Rome (Trustees of the British Museum)

The edicts mentioned were largely due to the intimacy of Claudius with Herod Agrippa, grandson of Herod the Great, who had been living in Rome and had been in some measure instrumental in securing the succession for Claudius. As a reward for this service, the Holy Land had a king once more. Judea was added to the tetrarchies of Philip and Antipas; and Herod Agrippa I was made ruler over the wide territory which had been governed by his grandfather.

Whatever concessions to the Jews Claudius may have been induced out of friendship for Herod Agrippa to make at the beginning of his reign, Suetonius records Claudius' expulsion of Jews instigated by "Chrestus" who were continually causing an uproar (Claudius 25), an event assigned by some to A.D. 50, though others suppose it to have taken place somewhat later. Among the Jews thus banished from Rome were Aquila and Priscilla, with whom Paul became klô-dē-əs lis'ē-es [Gk. Klaudios Lysias]. A tribune who intervened when the Jews sought to do violence to Paul at Jerusalem (Acts 21:31; 24:22).

Lysias, who was probably a Greek by birth (cf. 21:37), and who had probably assumed the Roman forename Claudius (23:26) when he purchased citizenship (22:28), was a military tribune or chiliarch (i.e., leader of 1000 men) in command of the garrison stationed in the castle overlooking the temple at Jerusalem. Upon learning of the riot instigated by the Asiatic Jews, he hastened down with his soldiers, and succeeded in rescuing Paul from the hands of the mob. As Paul was the apparent malefactor, Lysias bound him with two chains, and demanded to know who he was and what was the cause of the disturbance. Failing amid the general tumult to get any satisfactory reply, he conducted Paul to the castle, and there questioned him as to whether he was the "Egyptian," an impostor that had lately been defeated by Felix (Josephus BJ ii.13.5; Ant. xx.8.6). Upon receiving the answer of Paul that he was a "Jew of

吕西亚可能出生在希腊（参：徒 21:37），买了罗马的民籍（徒 22:28），因此取了一个罗马人的名字——革老丢（徒 23:26），他是护民军官或千夫长（也就是一千人的首领），他指挥的卫戍部队驻守在能够俯瞰耶路撒冷圣殿的城堡中。吕西亚一听说亚细亚的犹太人煽动了暴乱，就立刻带着兵丁跑下去，并成功地将保罗从暴徒的手中解救出来。由于吕西亚看保罗明显是动乱分子，所以用两条铁链锁住了保罗，问他是什么人，为什么煽动暴乱。吕西亚因为众人嚷乱，得不着实情，就吩咐人将保罗带进营楼，并问他是否是那个作乱的“埃及人”，也就是后来被腓力斯打败的那个骗子（Josephus BJ ii.13.5; Ant. xx.8.6）。当他得知保罗是“大数的犹太人”，就允许保罗在营楼与圣殿之间的台阶上对百姓讲话。由于保罗的话未能安抚众人，所以吕西亚就用鞭子拷问保罗；当吕西亚得知保罗是罗马人，就停止了拷问，并解开了保罗的铁链。吕西亚后来召开的犹太公堂会议也在嚷乱中结束，他大费周折地救出了保罗，并

Tarsus,” he gave him permission to address the people from the stairs which connected the castle and the temple. As the speech of Paul had no pacifying effect, Lysias intended to examine him by scourging; but on learning that his prisoner was a Roman citizen, he desisted from the attempt and released him from his bonds. The meeting of the Sanhedrin which Lysias then summoned also ended in an uproar, and having rescued Paul with difficulty he conducted him back to the castle.

The news of the plot against the life of one whom he knew to be a Roman citizen decided for Lysias that he could not hope to cope alone with so grave a situation. He therefore dispatched Paul under the protection of a bodyguard to Felix at Caesarea, along with a letter explaining the circumstances (23:26–30; the genuineness of this letter has been questioned by some, but without sufficient reason). In this letter he took care to safeguard his own conduct, and to shield his hastiness in binding Paul. There is evidence (cf. Acts 24:22) that Lysias was also summoned to Caesarea at a later date to give his testimony, but no mention is made of his arrival there. It is probable, however, that he was among the chief captains who attended the trial of Paul before King Agrippa and Festus (cf. 25:22).

迫害这位罗马人的消息使吕西亚意识到他不能指望着独自面对如此严峻的形势。因此，吕西亚吩咐兵丁将保罗解往凯撒利亚腓力斯的面前，并去信说明了情况（徒 23:26-30；有些人质疑这封信的真实性，却无法给出质疑的充分理由）。他在信中小心地为自己的行为辩护，并为他轻率捆绑保罗的罪责开脱。有证据表明吕西亚后来也被召唤到凯撒利亚作证人（参：徒 24:22），但经文中并没有提到吕西亚来到凯撒利亚。然而，吕西亚可能是在亚基帕王和非斯都面前审判保罗的千夫长之一（参：徒 25:22）。

True clay, which is a highly aluminous soil often mixed with impurities, is found in various locations in the Near East. The Hebrews distinguished between wet and dry clay in a manner not found in the English versions. For dry clay, which had no specific Hebrew equivalent, the OT used ’āpār, or “dust,” in Job 10:9; ’āḏāmā, “ground,” in Gen. 2:19; and ’ereṣ, “ground,” in Ps. 12:6 (AV “earth”; NEB “gold”). The name for unworked wet clay was ṭṭ (Isa. 41:25; Nah. 3:14), whereas the common designation for any kind of worked clay was ḥōmer (Job 33:6; Isa. 29:16; 41:25; etc.).

CLEAN AND UNCLEAN

Seeking to prevent famine and disease, Israel's neighbors focused the full power of their cults on securing fertility. These communities also desired to insure themselves against angering the gods and thus being destroyed. Consequently, rigorous standards of correct procedure for conducting the worship of the deity were established, some of which related to ritual purity. Their content reflected each community's comprehension of the deity. In other words, there was continuity between a community, its theology, and its pattern of cultic worship. The general idea of clean and unclean is in no way unique to Israel, nor are particular expressions of it, but Israel's overall system is unique because it is built on her view of Yahweh.

CLEAN AND UNCLEAN 洁净与不洁净

为了避免饥荒和感染疾病,以色列的邻邦最为关注的是,他们崇拜的对象可以赐给他们丰足充实。这些百姓也不希望他们惹怒神明,进而被神明毁灭。因此,他们制定了正确敬拜神明的严格标准,其中一些标准与敬拜仪式上的洁净有关。他们敬拜神明的标准体现出每个部落团体对神明的理解。换句话说,一个部落团体、它的神学和宗教敬拜模式之间存在着延续性。洁净与不洁净的普通概念绝不是以色列独有的,关于这个普通概念的特殊表达也不是以色列独有的,但以色列的整个系统是独特的,因为它建立在以色列的耶和华观念之上。

For lāqah, “cleaning (wheat)” (2 S. 4:6), the AV renders (lit.) “would have fetched”; NEB “sifting.” Whereas the AV renders “cleansing” for the piel of nāqā, the RSV emends to “avenge” and “clear the guilty.”

I. 表示洁净和不洁净的语言。 A. 《旧约》中关于洁净与不洁净的语言。(1) 《旧约》中表示“be clean”或“become clean”(“洁净”)的希伯来语 ṭāhēr、zākā 和 zākak (伯 15:15);《钦定标准译本》还译为“be pure”;《新英文译本》译为“be innocent”, 汉译均为“洁净”。

(2) 表示“cleansing”(“洁净”)的词语有 ṭāhēr 的加强主动干、ḥāṭā’的加强主动干(亚 13:1), bārar 的使役主动干(耶 4:11)、zākak 的使役主动干(伯 9:30)、dû(a)ḥ 的使役主动干(赛 4:4)、māraq (箴 20:30)、rāḥaṣ 的复数(箴 30:12)、meš’î(结 16:4)、lāḇēn 的使役主动干(但 11:35);《钦定版圣经》还译为“purge”(“洁净”)、“purify(oneself)”(“洁净[自己]”)、“supple”(“使……洁净”) (结 16:4)、“make white”(“洁白”)(但 11:35)等;《新英文译本》还译为“purify”(“洁净”)、“rubbing”(“使……洁净”) (结 16:4)等;《新英文译本》还将 zākā (“使……洁净”)的加强主动干译为“steer an honest (course)”(“洁净他的行为”)(诗 119:9)和“have a clear (conscience)”(“洁净我的心”)(箴 20:9)。《钦定版圣经》(按照字面意思)将 lāqah (“取[麦子]”) (撒下 4:6) 译为“would have fetched”(“取”);《新英文译本》译为“sifting”(“筛”)。《钦定版

圣经》将 nāqā 的加强主动干译为“cleanse”（“洁净”），《修订标准译本》改译为“avenge”（“报仇”）和“clear the guilty”（“赦免罪孽”）。

(3) The terms for “cleanness” are niqqāyôn (Am. 4:6) and bōr; those for “cleansing” are toh^orā and the piel infinitive of hātā’ (Lev. 14:49); the AV also has “pureness,” etc.; NEB also “kept teeth idle” (Am. 4:6), “get rid of impurity” (Lev. 14:49), etc.

(3) 表示“cleanness”（“洁净”）的词语是 niqqāyôn（摩 4:6）和 bōr；表示“cleansing”（“洁净”）的词是 toh^orā 和 hātā’加强式不定词（利 14:49）；《钦定版圣经》还译为“pureness”（“清洁”）等；《新英文译本》还译为“kept teeth idle”（“使牙齿洁净”）（摩 4:6）、“get rid of impurity”（“洁净”）（利 14:49）等。

(4) The terms for “clean” are tāhōr, nāqī (Ps. 24:4), bar (Job 11:4), zak (Job 33:9); the AV also has “pure,” “fair” (Zec. 3:5); NEB also “spotless,” “innocent” (Job 33:9). The RSV also uses “clean” in the sense of “completely” in Ezk. 37:11 (“clean cut off,” Heb. gāzar). The AV does this extensively, particularly in rendering the infinitive absolute preceding the verb (Isa. 24:19; Joel 1:7; Zec. 11:17; cf. also Lev. 23:22; Josh. 3:17; 4:1, 11; Ps. 77:8 [MT 9]).

(4) 表示“clean”（“洁净”）的词有 tāhōr、nāqī（诗 24:4）、bar（伯 11:4）和 zak（伯 33:9）；《钦定版圣经》还译为“pure”（“纯全、清洁”）和“fair”（“洁净的”）（亚 3:5）；《新英文译本》还译为“spotless”（“无瑕疵无玷污的”）和“innocent”（“无辜的”）（伯 33:9）。《修订标准译本》在《以西结书》37:11 中用“clean cut off”来表示“灭绝净尽”的含义，希伯来语：gāzar）。《钦定版圣经》经常使用“clean”这个词，尤其是用这个词翻译动词前的不定式独立动词（赛 24:19；珥 1:7；亚 11:17；另参：利 23:22；书 3:17；4:1, 11；诗 77:8[《马所拉文本》9]）。

(5) The terms for “be unclean” or “become unclean” are tāmē’, the pual of gā’al (Ezr. 2:62 par. Neh. 7:64), piel of tāmē’ (“pronounce” or “hold unclean”), hiphil of tāmē’ (“make [oneself] unclean”); the AV also renders “pollute,” “be polluted”; NEB also “defile (oneself).”

(5) 表示“be unclean”或“become unclean”（“不洁净的”）的词有 tāmē’、gā’al 的复数（拉 2:62，平行经文尼 7:64）、tāmē’的加强主动干（“定为不洁净的”或“分为不洁净”）、tāmē’的使役主动干（“使[自己]不洁净”）；钦定版圣经还译为“pollute”（“玷污”）和“be polluted”（“被玷污”）；《新英文译本》还译为“defile (oneself)”（“使[自己]不洁净”）。

(6) The terms for “uncleanness” are tum’ā and niddā; the AV also renders “filthiness”; NEB also “impurity,”

(6) 表示“uncleanness”（“不洁”）的词语有 tum’ā 和 niddā。《钦定版圣经》还译为“filthiness”（“污秽”）；《新英文

“forbidden,” “polluted” (Ezr. 9:11), “lewdness,” “period,” “filth,” “foul and disgusting” (tum’at hanniddâ Ezk. 36:17).

(7) The terms for “unclean” are tāmē’ (cf. ṭmē’at hanniddâ, Ezk. 22:10), niddâ (Ezr. 9:11), dāweh (Isa. 30:22); the AV also renders “defiled,” “menstruous” (Isa. 30:22); NEB also “forbidden,” “heathen” (Am. 7:17), “foul discharge” (Isa. 30:22).

B. LXX and NT. (1) The LXX uses Gk. katharós for Heb. ṭāhōr and infrequently for other words such as bōr and nāqī; Gk. katharismós for Heb. ṭoh^orā; Gk. katharizō for Heb. ṭāhēr, nāqā, and the piel of ḥāṭā; Gk. akáthartos for Heb. tāmē’; Gk. akatharsía for Heb. niddâ.

(2) The NT terms for “make clean,” “cleansing” are Gk. katharizō, rhantizō (“sprinkled clean,” He. 10:22), katharismós (“cleansing” [Mk. 1:44; Lk. 5:14], “cleansed” [2 Pet. 1:9]), katharós (“clean”); the AV also gives “purge,” “purify,” “sprinkled” (He. 10:22); NEB also “count clean,” “cure,” “heal.”

(3) The NT terms for “uncleanness” are akatharsía, akáthartos (“unclean,” frequently with “spirit” to mean

译本》还译为“impurity” (“污秽”)、 “forbidden” (“禁止的”)、 “polluted” (“污秽的”) (拉 9:11)、“lewdness” (“淫荡”)、“period” (“经期”)、“filth” (“污秽”)和 “foul and disgusting” (和合本译为 “好像正在经期的妇人那样污秽”) (tum’at hanniddâ, 结 36:17)。

(7) 表示 “unclean” (“不洁净的”) 的词语有 tāmē’ (参: ṭmē’at hanniddâ, 结 22:10)、niddâ (拉 9:11) 和 dāweh (赛 30:22); 《钦定版圣经》还译为 “defiled” (不洁净的)、“menstruous” (“污秽的”) (赛 30:22); 《新英文译本》还译为 “forbidden” (“被禁止的”)、“heathen” (“污秽的”) (摩 7:17)、“foul discharge” (“污秽之物”) (赛 30:22)。

B. 《七十士译本》和《新约》中的洁净与不洁净。(1) 《七十士译本》用希腊语 katharós 来翻译希伯来语 ṭāhōr, 偶尔也用这个希腊语来翻译 bōr 和 nāqī 等词语; 用希腊语 katharismós 来翻译希伯来语 ṭoh^orā; 用希腊语 katharizō 来翻译希伯来语 ṭāhēr、nāqā 和 ḥāṭā 的加强主动干; 用希腊语 akáthartos 来翻译希伯来语 tāmē’; 用希腊语 akatharsía 来翻译希伯来语 niddâ。

(2) 《新约》中表示 “make clean” 和 “cleansing” (“使洁净”) 的词语有希腊语 katharizō、rhantizō (“被洁净”, 来 10:22)、katharismós (“洁净” [可 1:44; 路 5:14], “得了洁净” [彼后 1:9]) 和 katharós (“洁净”); 《钦定版圣经》还译为 “purge” (“洁净”)、“purify” (“洁净”)和 “sprinkled” (“洒去”) (来 10:22); 《新英文译本》还译为 “count clean” (“洁净”)、“cure” (“治愈”)和 “heal” (“医治”)。

(3) 《新约》中表示 “uncleanness” (“不洁净”) 的词语有 akatharsía、akáthartos (“不洁净的”, 经常与 “灵” 连用来表 “demon”; cf. Mt. 10:1), koinos; the AV also renders “filthiness,” “anything that defileth” (koinos, Rev. 21:27); NEB also “impurity,” “indecent,” “vileness,” “base motive” (1 Thess. 2:3), “foul desires” (Eph. 4:19), etc.

II. Laws of Uncleanness.-A. Food. The Bible pictures man as initially a vegetarian (Gen. 2:16). Eating of animals was not permitted until after the Flood. Even then animals were distinguished as clean or unclean (Gen. 7:2f., 8f.); although whether solely for sacrificial use or for dietary rules is not said. Later under the covenant the cultic laws fully distinguished between forbidden meats and those that could be eaten (Lev. 11; Dt. 14:3-20). Among quadrupeds those that have a cloven hoof and chew the cud are considered clean (Lev. 11:3-8; Dt. 14:3-8). Thus the camel, the rock rabbit, the hare, and the pig are specifically mentioned as excluded. Animals that walk on flat paws and all four feet are unclean, including dogs and cats (Lev. 11:27). Swarming creatures such as rodents and reptiles are unclean (Lev. 11:29f., 41f.), as are creatures that move on the belly, go on all fours, or have many feet (Lev. 11:41). Fish without fins and scales may not be eaten, e.g., lobsters, crabs, shrimp and other shellfish (Lev. 11:9-12; Dt. 14:9f.). Unclean birds (see ABOMINATION, BIRDS OF) include vultures, the ossifrage, the osprey, the buzzard, the kite, falcons, ravens, the ostrich, hawks, the sea gull, the owl, the cormorant, the ibis, the water hen, the pelican, the stork, herons, the hoopoe, and the bat (Lev. 11:13-19; Dt. 14:11-

示“魔鬼”;参:太10:1)和 koinos;《钦定版圣经》还译为“filthiness”(“污秽”)、“anything that defileth”(“凡不洁净的”)(koinos, 启21:27);《新英文译本》还译为“impurity”(“污秽”)、“indecent”(“丑事”)、“vileness”(“邪恶”)和“base motive”(“污秽”)(帖前2:3)、“foul desires”(“污秽”)(弗4:19)等。

II. 不洁净的律法。A. 洁净与不洁净的食物。根据《圣经》中的描述,人类最初是素食者(创2:16)。直到大洪水之后,人类才可以吃动物的肉。即使在大洪水之后,动物也分为洁净的和不清净的(创7:2-3, 8-9);虽然经文中没有提到这些动物是仅仅用于献祭,还是作为人类的食物。后来,在圣约中,祭仪律法明确区分了不可以吃的肉和可以吃的肉(利11;申14:3-20)。在四足动物中,凡分蹄成为两瓣又倒嚼的被认为是洁净的(利11:3-8;申14:3-8)。因此,经文中还特别提到骆驼、沙番、兔子和猪是不洁净的。凡用四足行走的动物都是不洁净的,包括狗和猫(利11:27)。啮齿动物和爬行动物等群居动物都是不洁净的(利11:29-30, 41-42),凡用肚子行走的和用四足行走的,或是有许多足的都是不洁净的(利11:41)。以色列人不可吃无鳞无翅的鱼类,如龙虾、螃蟹、虾和其他贝类动物(利11:9-12;申14:9-10)。不洁净的鸟(见 ABOMINATION, BIRDS OF[可憎的鸟])包括秃鹰、鱼鹰、鸮、秃鹫、鹞鹰、隼鹰、乌鸦、鸵鸟、鹰、海鸥、猫头鹰、鸬鹚、鸚、角鸮、鹈鹕、鸛、鹭、戴鹳与蝙蝠(利11:13-19;申14:11-18)。虽然经文没有对这些鸟进行分类,但是它们大都是生活在湿地和沼泽地中的食肉性鸟类。只可以吃有足有腿、在地上蹦的昆虫;其中蝗虫、蚂蚱和蟋蟀是可以吃的(利11:20-23;申14:19-20)。触摸或吃了不洁净动物的肉将使人变得不洁净(利11:8, 27-28, 31)。

18). Although not categorized, most of these are carnivorous or live in swamps and marshes. All manner of insects are prohibited except those whose legs are jointed for leaping; certain locusts, grasshoppers, and crickets are acceptable as food (Lev. 11:20–23; Dt. 14:19f.). The unclean animals produce uncleanness when touched or eaten (Lev. 11:8, 27f., 31).

In addition, the eating of blood in any form was strictly prohibited (Lev. 17:11ff.; Dt. 12:23). At no time could one eat the flesh with its blood (Gen. 9:3f.). All clean animals had to be properly slaughtered; no animal that died naturally (Dt. 14:21) nor one that was torn by beasts (Ex. 22:31 [MT 30]; Lev. 17:15; 22:8) was to be eaten. Because the internal fat or suet of an animal belonged to God in sacrifice, it was forbidden to man (Lev. 7:23ff.). The law that one “shall not boil a kid in its mother’s milk” has increasingly influenced dietary regulations in Judaism (Ex. 23:19; 34:26; Dt. 14:21), so that today all kosher meals must separate meat from milk and its products. Also, based upon the narrative that describes Jacob’s wrestling match with the angel, the ischiatic nerve of an animal is forbidden (Gen. 32:25ff.).

B. Bodily Emissions. Bodily emissions, especially sexual discharges, were unclean (Lev. 15:2f.). A man who had an emission of semen was unclean until the evening, as was anything the semen touched. Any garments affected were to be washed and considered unclean until evening (Lev. 15:17). A woman participant was also unclean (Lev. 15:16ff.). She had to bathe but remained unclean until evening. A woman was

此外，律法严禁以色列人吃各种形式的血（利 17:11 起；申 12:23）。以色列人决不能吃带血的肉（创 9:3-4）。必须恰当地杀死洁净的动物；不可以吃自然死亡的动物（申 14:21），也不可以吃被野兽撕裂的牲畜。因为动物的内部脂肪或油脂是献给上帝的祭物，以色列人不可以吃（利 7:23 起）。律法规定“不可用山羊羔母的奶煮山羊羔”，这条律法对犹太教饮食规定的影 响越来越大（出 23:19；34:26；申 14:21），所以今天所有符合犹太教规定的食物都必然将肉与奶和奶制品分开。另外，根据经文中关于雅各与天使摔跤的描述，以色列人也不可以吃动物大腿窝的筋（创 32:25 起）。

B. 身体排泄物。身体排泄物尤其是漏症是不洁净的（利 15:2-3）。人若梦遗，他必不洁净到晚上，被精所染的，必不洁净到晚上。被精所染的衣物要用水洗，并被认为不洁净到晚上（利 15:17）。交合后的女人是不洁净的（利 15:16 起）。她必不洁净到晚上，并要用水洗澡。女人行经，必污秽七天（利 15:19）。凡她所躺或坐的物件都被认为是不洁净的，凡摸这些物件的人也是不洁净的（利 15:20-23）。男人若与那女人同房， unclean during her menstrual cycle for seven days (Lev. 15:19). Whatever she lay or sat on was considered unclean, as was anyone who touched these things (Lev. 15:20–23). A man who lay with her also became unclean for seven days (Lev. 15:24).

Whoever had a continuous discharge which was considered unclean remained ritually unclean (Lev. 15:2–12; 25–28). All beds, chairs, saddles, and vessels used by such a person were unclean, and anyone who touched him or such an object became unclean until sunset. After the discharge ceased the person remained unclean for seven days. A man washed his clothes, bathed in running water, and was considered clean, but a woman merely waited seven days. On the eighth day one had to bring either two turtledoves or two young pigeons to be offered by the priest as a sin offering and a burnt offering; thus the priest made atonement for whomever had had the discharge (Lev. 15:13ff.).

C. Various Kinds of Leprosy. When a swelling, eruption, spot, boil, or itch appeared, the person had to appear before the priest (Lev. 13), who quarantined him and periodically examined him. The general title applied to this condition was leprosy, but various diseases apparently were involved, probably including the disease labeled leprosy today (elephantiasis graecorum). Also, when the body had a burn and the skin was raw the person was pronounced unclean (Lev. 13:24f.). Baldness was acceptable, but not abnormal loss of hair (vv. 40–44). The leper was continuously unclean until cured (vv. 10ff.). He had to wear torn clothes, leave his hair unkempt, cover his

也要七天不洁净 (利 15:24)。

凡持续患有不洁净的漏症的人在仪式上都是不洁净的 (利 15:2-12; 25-28)。那人所使用的所有床、椅子、坐垫和器皿都是不洁净的,所有摸患漏症之人或那些物件的人都不洁净到晚上。漏症好了七天后,才能洁净。男人要洗衣服,用水洗澡,才被认为是洁净的,但女人只需要等七天就可以洁净。第八天,祭司要为那人献上两只斑鸠或是两只雏鸽,一只为赎罪祭,一只为燔祭;因此,祭司为患漏症的人赎了罪 (利 15:13起)。

*C. 各种麻风病。*当一个人身体若出现了肿胀,出疹子、斑、疖子或疥疮,就必须来到祭司的面前 (利 13),祭司将那人隔离起来,并定期察看灾病。这些症状统称为麻风病,但其中显然包括各种疾病,可能包括今天所谓的麻风病 (拉丁学名: elephantiasis graecorum)。另外,人的皮肉上若起了火毒,火毒的瘀肉成了火斑,那人就被定为不洁净的 (利 13:24-25)。头秃的人是洁净的,但异常掉头发的人是不洁净的 (利 1:40-44)。患大麻风病的人被治愈之前始终是不洁净的 (利 1:10 起)。他必须穿撕裂的衣服,也要蓬头散发,蒙着上唇,喊叫说:“不洁净了!不洁净了!”,他要独居在营外 (利 13:45-46)。 upper lip, cry “unclean, unclean,” and live alone outside the camp (vv. 45f.).

The cleansing for a leper was quite involved (Lev. 14:1–32). After examination revealed him to be healed, he presented two living birds with cedarwood, scarlet stuff, and hyssop. From the blood of one bird sacrificed in an earthen vessel over running water he was sprinkled seven times and pronounced clean. The living bird was released to the open fields. When the person had washed his clothes, shaved off all his hair, and bathed, he might enter the camp, but not his tent. After seven days he again shaved his hair, including beard and eyebrows, washed his clothes, and bathed. On the eighth day he presented two male lambs without blemish and one ewe lamb a year old without blemish, a cereal offering, and a log of oil; a poor man had lesser requirements. One male lamb was offered as a guilt offering. The priest placed some of the blood on the right earlobe, right thumb, and right big toe. Then the same places were anointed with oil; the remaining oil was put on his head. Next the priest offered a sin offering followed by a burnt offering and a cereal offering. Thereby the priest made atonement for the healed leper.

Garments or houses that were attacked by a leprous growth were examined and pronounced clean or unclean (Lev. 13:47–59; 14:33–47). A garment affected was burned, but one in which the growth was deterred was washed twice to become clean (13:56–58). A house that could not be cured was torn down and its materials carried outside the city to an unclean place (14:45), but a house in which the disease did not spread became clean when atonement was made (14:48–53). A small bird was slain, and with another dipped in the blood and in running water the priest sprinkled the house seven times, after which the living bird was released.

《利未记》14:1-32 详述了大麻风病的洁净。祭司要察看患大麻风病的人，若见他的大麻风痊愈了，那人要拿两只活鸟和香柏木、朱红色线并牛膝草来。祭司要用瓦器盛活水，宰一只鸟，再把另一只活鸟和香柏木、朱红色线并牛膝草一同蘸于宰在活水上的鸟血中，在患大麻风病的人身上洒七次，就定他为洁净了。活鸟放还在田野里。那人洗衣服，剃去毛发，用水洗澡，然后可以进营，但不可以进入帐棚。七日之后，他要再把头上所有的头发与胡须、眉毛，并全身的毛，都剃了，又要洗衣服，用水洗身。第八天，他要取两只没有残疾的公羊羔和一只没有残疾、一岁的母羊羔，又要把调油的细面献为素祭，并油一罗革；若贫穷之人不能预备够数，就要取一只公羊羔作赎愆祭。祭司要取些赎愆祭牲的血，抹在求洁净人的右耳垂上和右手的大拇指上，并右脚的大拇指上，就是抹赎愆祭之血的原处；剩余的油抹在那求洁净的人的头上。然后祭司要献赎罪祭，随后献上燔祭和素祭。因此，祭司为患大麻风病痊愈的人赎了罪。

D. Death. Anyone who touched a corpse became unclean for seven days (Nu. 19:11). If someone died in a tent, all who were in the tent became unclean for seven days (Nu. 19:14); all open vessels became unclean (v. 15). The same period of uncleanness was sustained by coming into contact in an open field with one slain by a sword, a dead body, a human bone, or a grave (v. 16). For purification the unclean cleansed himself with specially prepared ashes from the sacrifice of a red heifer along with running water in a vessel. On the third and seventh days a clean person sprinkled him, as well as the tent and its furnishings (vv. 12, 17ff.); the one who did the sprinkling became unclean until evening. On the seventh day the person washed his clothes and bathed; at evening he became clean. If he failed to seek cleansing, he was forever cut off from his people, for he defiled the tabernacle (vv. 13, 20).

Touching or carrying the carcass of a clean or unclean animal made one unclean (Lev. 11:39f.). The defiled person washed his clothes and remained unclean until evening (Lev. 11:24–28, 39f.). Anything on which the carcass of a swarming animal fell became unclean—an earthen vessel or stove thus defiled was broken; articles of wood or of skin were put in water and declared clean at evening; food or drink in these vessels became unclean; a spring, cistern with water, or seed for sowing (unless watered) remained clean (Lev. 11:32–38).

D. 死亡。摸了死尸的必七天不洁净(民 19:11)。若人死在帐棚内，凡进帐棚的必七天不洁净(民 19:14)；凡敞口的器皿也是不洁净的(民 19:15)。无论何人在田野里摸了刀杀人，或是尸首，或是人的骨头，或是坟墓，也要七天不洁净(民 19:16)。要为这不洁净的人将祭牲纯红的小母牛烧成的除罪灰放在器皿里，倒在活水中。到了第三日和第七日，一个洁净的人要把水洒在这不洁净的人身上、帐棚和帐棚内的一切器皿上(民 19:12, 17 起)；为求洁净的人洒水的人要不洁净到晚上。到第七日，那人要洗衣服，用水洗澡。到晚上就洁净了。如果那人不能得到洁净，他必从他的民中被剪除，因为他玷污了耶和华的帐幕(民 19:13, 20)。

若有人摸或搬运了洁净或不洁净动物尸体，就不洁净了(利 11:39-40)。被玷污的人必不洁净到晚上，并要洗衣服(利 11:24-28, 39-40)。群居动物死了，掉在什么东西上，这东西就不洁净了——要打破被玷污的瓦器或器皿；木器或皮子须要放在水中，必不洁净到晚上；这些器皿中的食物或水也不洁净了；但泉源、聚水的池子，或要种的子粒(除非水已经浇在子粒上)仍是洁净的(利 11:32-38)。

The priests could allow themselves to become defiled by a corpse only for one who was next of kin: mother, father, son, daughter, brother, or virgin sister (Lev. 21:1–4). The high priest was not allowed to defile himself by coming near any dead body, even that of a parent (vv. 10ff.). Neither was he to mourn by letting his hair hang loose or rending his garments.

E. Places. A place could be considered clean or unclean. The area inside the camp was clean; that outside was unclean, yet there appear to have been certain areas set aside outside the camp that were considered clean (e.g., Lev. 4:12). Palestine came to be considered the Holy Land (Zec. 2:12 [MT 16]; cf. Ps. 78:54), its cities holy (Isa. 64:10 [MT 9]), and Jerusalem the Holy City (Isa. 48:2; Joel 3:17 [MT 4:17]; Ob. 17). But a clean land could become defiled when its inhabitants violated the basic moral standards, especially through sexual abuse (Lev. 18:19–30; Ezk. 36:17f.). These perversions were often combined with idolatry (cf. Jer. 2:7, 23). Leaving a person hanging on a tree overnight (Dt. 21:23), pursuing the occult (Lev. 19:31), and unavenged murder (Nu. 35:30–34; Dt. 21:1–9) also defiled the land. The sanctuary was particularly defiled by placing foreign cultic objects in or near it and by sacrificing children to foreign gods (Lev. 20:3; Jer. 7:30f.; Ezk. 20:31; 23:38f.; Ps. 106:37ff.). Thus every major reform required the elimination of foreign worship from the land and the cleansing of the temple by priests who were ritually clean (2 Ch. 29:12–19; 34:3–18). Often Passover celebrated the climax of the cleansing of the land and the sanctuary. Because many at the time of King Hezekiah had not purified themselves to celebrate the feast, adjustments were made in the sanctuary rules of cleanness, e.g., the Levites killed the Passover lamb. Then Hezekiah interceded for the pardon of these people (2 Ch. 30:13–22). This incident reflects the idea that the laws of ritual purity are secondary to moral zeal in serving Yahweh and could be partially suspended under significant circumstances.

祭司不可为死人沾染自己，除非为他的骨肉之亲的父母、儿女、弟兄和作处女的姐妹，才可以沾染自己（利 21:1-4）。大祭司不可挨近死尸，也不可为父母沾染自己（利 21:10 起）。大祭司不可蓬头散发，也不可撕裂衣服。

E. 洁净与不洁净的地方。一个地方可以被认为是洁净或不洁净的。营内的区域是洁净的；营外是不洁净的，但营外似乎有某些区域也被认为是洁净的（如，利 4:12）。巴勒斯坦地区被认为是圣地（亚 2:12[《马所拉文本》16]；参：诗 78:54），巴勒斯坦的城市也被认为是圣洁的（赛 64:10[《马所拉文本》9]），耶路撒冷被认为是圣城（赛 48:2；珥 3:17[《马所拉文本》4:17]；俄 17）。但是当洁净土地上的居民违背了基本的道德标准，尤其是当他们行淫时，这片土地就被玷污了（利 18:19-30；结 36:17-18）。这些堕落的行为通常与偶像崇拜结合在一起（参：耶 2:7, 23）。尸首留在木头上过夜（申 21:23），交鬼的和行巫术的（利 19:31），故意杀人者（民 35:30-34；申 21:1-9）都会玷污土地。将外邦人崇拜的偶像放在至圣所内或置于至圣所附近，以及将孩子献给外邦人的神明都会亵渎至圣所（利 20:3；耶 7:30-31；结 20:31；23:38-39；诗 106:37 起）。因此，每次主要的宗教改革都需要除掉地上的偶像崇拜，都需要洁净的祭司洁净圣殿（代下 29:12-19；34:3-18）。人们通常在逾越节庆祝土地上和至圣所内的洁净仪式达到了高潮。由于在希西家时期很多人尚未洁净自己，不能庆祝节日，所以至圣所内的洁净规定被修改了，例如，利未人杀死了逾越节的羔羊。后来希西家祈求上帝宽恕这些百姓

Continuous defilement of the land ended the right of its occupants to inhabit it. The prophets accused Israel of polluting the land by forsaking Yahweh and pursuing pagan practices (Isa. 24:4f.; Hos. 4:3). Accordingly, they informed Israel that she was subject to being taken into captivity, the greatest punishment for violating the Sinai covenant (Lev. 26:27–39). The fact that the people would have to live in an unclean land and thereby be perpetually unclean only added to its intensity (Hos. 9:3; Am. 7:17). Such a law would prevent the people from setting up in a foreign land any type of sacrificial worship similar to the Jerusalem temple, for any sacrifices would have been always ritually unclean. Although such a temptation probably was strong among the exiles, it was fraught with the danger of syncretism that would destroy Yahwism, as the shrines at Samaria and Elephantine bear witness.

F. Miscellaneous. God is so pure that in comparison neither the heavens (Job 15:15) nor the stars (25:5) are clean in His sight. The fear of the Lord is considered clean (Ps. 19:9). “Clean” may also be used in the sense of free from dirt,

(代下 30:13-22)。这一事件体现出，与事奉耶和华的道德热情相比，关于仪式洁净的律法处于次要地位，在重要的情形下，可以废除某些关于洁净仪式的律法。

由于地上的居民一直在亵渎这土地，所以他们不可再生生活在这片土地上。先知们谴责以色列因背弃耶和华和奉行异教仪式而玷污了这土地（赛 24:4-5；何 4:3）。因此，他们告诉以色列，她将被掳，这是神对以色列违背西奈山之约最大的惩罚（利 26:27-39）。先知们更加严厉地谴责道，以色列人将住在污秽之地，因此将永远不洁净（何 9:3；摩 7:17）。这一律法使以色列人在外邦人的土地上献上的所有敬拜仪式不同于耶路撒冷圣殿内的敬拜仪式，因为从仪式上讲，他们献上的祭物都是不洁净的。虽然这可能是被掳之人面临的一大诱惑，但正如撒马利亚和象岛的神龛所见证的，其中充满了破坏耶和华崇拜的不同宗教融合的危险。

F. 洁净的多种用法。与纯全的上帝相比，在祂的眼中，天（伯 15:15）和星星（伯 25:5）都是不清洁的。耶和華的道理是洁净的（诗 19:9）。“clean”（“洁净的、干净的”）还可以用来表示远离污秽，如洁净的冠冕（亚 3:5）和埋葬

as a clean turban (Zec. 3:5), and a clean linen shroud used for burying Jesus (Mt. 27:59).

III. Purification.-The various means of purification included the mere passing of time, cleansing agents, and various atoning sacrifices, depending on the intensity of the uncleanness. One who unknowingly became unclean had to offer a guilt offering upon becoming aware of his error (Lev. 5:2-6). Almost always some type of washing was connected with the purification rites. Thus the phrase "clean hands" symbolized that one had properly carried out all the rites for purification and was obedient to Yahweh (2 S. 22:21; Job 17:9).

Another means of cleansing was by fire (cf. Mal. 3:2f.). Any articles taken in war that could stand the test of fire were so cleansed, followed by purification with the water of impurity; less durable objects were purified by water alone (Nu. 31:21-24). When Isaiah encountered the presence of the holy God he confessed that he was a man of unclean lips and he dwelt among people of unclean lips (Isa. 6:5). A burning coal was then taken from the divine altar and was touched to his mouth; thus his sin was forgiven (Heb. kipper; vv. 6f.). In another passage Isaiah anticipated that in the Last Days the filth of the daughters of Zion will be washed and the bloodstains of Jerusalem will be cleansed "by a spirit of judgment and by a spirit of burning" (4:4).

IV. Theology Behind Ritual Purity.-A. Relationship of Sin and Holiness to Ritual Purity. The standard of ritual purity in Israel is built on the view of God's holiness and of man's alienation from

耶稣时，用来包裹耶稣身体的干净的细麻布（太 27:59）。

III. 洁净。 洁净的方法有很多，其中包括只凭时间来洁净，使用清洁剂来洁净和靠各种赎罪的祭物来洁净，根据污秽的程度不同，使用不同的洁净方法。一个人若不经意间变得不洁净，当他意识到自己犯下的错误时，要献上赎愆祭（利 5:2-6）。几乎所有的洁净仪式都要用到某种水洗形式。因此，“洗手”这个短语象征着，这个人恰当地举行了所有的洁净仪式，愿意顺服耶和华（撒下 22:21；伯 17:9）。

另一种洁净的方法是用火来洁净（参：玛 3:2-3）。凡能见火的战争物件都要接受火的洁净，随后用除污秽的水洁净；凡不能见火的物件只能用水来洁净（民 31:21-24）。当以赛亚看到上帝显现时，他忏悔说，他是嘴唇不洁的人，住在嘴唇不洁的民中（赛 6:5）。撒拉弗从圣坛中取下了燃烧的炭，用炭沾以赛亚的嘴；因此以赛亚的罪得以赦免（希伯来语：kipper；赛 6:6）。以赛亚在另一个段经文中预言道，在最后的审判日，“公义的灵和焚烧的灵”将洗去锡安女子的污秽，除净耶路撒冷的血迹（赛 4:4）。

IV. 仪式洁净中的神学。A. 罪和圣洁与仪式洁净的关系。 以色列关于仪式洁净的标准建立在上帝的圣洁和世人因罪远离上帝的观点之上。世人的罪也使他们疏远了这个世界。这种疏远的结果就

God because of his sin. With man's sin also came alienation between the world and man. The result of this alienation is death and the ultimate destruction of the world (cf. Gen. 2:17; 6:5-8). In contrast is the possibility of new life that may overcome the alienation by participating in a covenant with God. Under the Sinai covenant God provided Israel the cultic apparatus to maintain the covenant and to approach him. The instruments used as a part of the cult had to be sanctified so that they could endure the presence of the holy God, and they had to be atoned for every year (Lev. 16:16, 19, 32f.). Man too had to be sure that he was morally and ritually clean before entering the precincts of the tent of meeting or the temple.

The key verse in the cultic legislation regarding ritual purity states to the priesthood, "You are to distinguish between the holy and the common, and between the unclean and the clean" (Lev. 10:10). Clean and holy, although not synonymous, are closely associated. The clean is not necessarily holy, but the holy is always clean. Cleanness has to do with fidelity to the cultic laws, rather than physical washing, which may, however, constitute a small part of it. Cleanness is a condition of being obedient to the statutes and ordinances of the law, which allows one to encounter the holy without danger. It is crucial to realize that cleanness must be attained by each person and is nontransferable. Uncleanness, on the other hand, is readily transmitted (cf. Hag. 2:12ff.). There is no harm, however, in becoming unclean. Uncleanness neither harms or destroys. Destruction comes from the holy when uncleanness is brought into its presence.

祭仪律法中的一个重要章节与仪式上的洁净有关,这个重要的章节阐述了祭司的职分,“使你们可以将圣的、俗的,洁净的、不洁净的,分别出来。”(利 10:10)。“洁净的”与“圣洁的”虽然不同义,却密切相关。洁净之物未必就是圣洁的,但圣洁之物总是洁净的。洁净与遵守祭仪律法有关,而不是与身体上的洁净有关,然而,身体洁净是洁净的一小部分。洁净是遵守律法章程和律例的状态,可以使洁净之人坦然地面对圣洁之物。至关重要,洁净必须让每个人得着,并且是不可转移的。但世人很容易沾染不洁净(参:该 2:12 起)。不过,不洁净不会给人带来伤害。不洁净既不会带来伤害,也不会带来破坏。当洁净之物变得不洁净时,就会遭到毁灭。圣洁是不断洁净的动态过程。因此,不洁净之物将受到审判,要么得着洁净,要么遭受毁灭。危险在于将圣洁与不洁净混在一起。

Holiness is dynamically cleansing all the time. Hence uncleanness in its presence is judged, resulting in purification or destruction. The danger lies in mixing holiness and uncleanness.

Because man participates in the world of life and death, employing the essential means of preserving life, eventually he will become unclean. Man is made aware that maintaining his very existence has profound implications in his relationship to God. Thus the laws regarding ritual purity fundamentally deal with sustaining life and confronting death and build on the motif of sin and death. Since this world is cursed, it is impossible for one to live a life of constant ritual purity. Of course, all sin renders one ritually unclean. There is no sin, however, in becoming unclean so long as one does not intentionally perpetuate his uncleanness.

Since through becoming unclean one has come into contact with the curse of alienation and death, usually atonement must be made for further participation in the cult. For example, a woman by giving birth remains unclean for seven days for a boy and fourteen days for a girl, followed by a period of exclusion from the holy lasting 33 days and 66 days respectively (Lev. 12:2-5). Several reasons have been advanced to explain why the birth of a girl renders the mother unclean twice as long as the birth of a boy. Keil argues that people at that time believed the discharges following the birth of a girl were longer. Another suggestion is that the female child is a future source of menstrual uncleanness. Such a belief no doubt is traced back to the original curse and woman's role in it, both as one who was seduced and as one who provides hope by giving birth to Him who will overcome man's enemy (Gen. 3:6, 14ff.). In giving birth she encounters the pain of the curse and counters the curse by bringing life into the world to overcome the curse on behalf of the human race. Therefore atonement must be made for the woman who, in giving birth, has challenged the curse of death. And yet the child she produces lies under the curse of alienation from God if he does not fulfil the covenant.

In conclusion, the rationale behind all cultic ritual is that the participant is made aware of his basic alienation from God, and he knows that he must prepare himself to take advantage of the opportunities to approach God. In so responding he demonstrates his obedience to God and discovers the meaning of the confession that Yahweh is the Holy One of Israel.

B. Possible Reasons Behind Specific Classes of Laws Regarding Ritual Purity. Although there is no moral problem in becoming ritually unclean, there is the inherent danger of bringing uncleanness into the proximity of the tabernacle and thereby defiling it (Lev. 15:31). Thus there are proper ways of approaching Yahweh and there are other things that belong to this life which, even though they possess value, can never serve as a medium for worship. The laws of uncleanness prevented false approaches to the true God. Yahwism saw its greatest danger in syncretism, whereby the devotee might claim to worship Yahweh, not realizing that by his confusing of Yahwism and other beliefs he had broken the covenant and was subject to its

总之，隐藏在敬拜仪式中的基本原理是敬拜仪式参与者必须意识到他已疏远了神，他知道必须抓住机会走近神。他以这种回应证明自己顺服神，并发现了悔改的意义——耶和华是以色列的神。

B. 仪式洁净的特殊律法存在的可能原因。虽然仪式上变得不洁净不会产生道德问题，但是存在着不洁净沾染帐幕，进而褻渎帐幕的内在危险（利 15:31）。因此，必须以适当的方式走近耶和华，而其他的事物尽管具有价值，却是属于今生的，不能成为敬拜耶和华的方法。不洁净的律法阻止世人以错误的方法走近真神。耶和华信仰面临着宗教融合中最大的威胁，信徒可能一方面自称敬拜耶和华，另一方面却未意识到虽然他们称颂耶和华的名，但由于他们将耶和华信仰与其他信仰混为一谈而违背了圣约，并要受到违约带来的诅咒。关于不洁净的律例通过区分那些可以献给耶和华的祭物与那些始终属于世俗的祭物来竭力消除这种可能性（参：利 20:22-26）。 curses, even though the name of Yahweh was on his lips. The regulations regarding uncleanness sought to eliminate this possibility (cf. Lev. 20:22–26) by distinguishing between what may be sanctified for worship and what must always remain a part of the common or profane.

1. Sexual Regulations. Yahweh sought interaction with His people solely by the word and sacrifice; therefore all other ways of worship were eliminated. No sexual act was permitted as a means of worshipping Yahweh. All such activity in this regard, therefore, rendered one unclean. Sex was viewed as a part of man's mundane existence, not a means of his interaction with the Divine. Becoming unclean through sex did not connote the idea that sex was sinful or without value, but that it could not be used as a means of worship or be given greater sanction by being conducted in the temple area. This belief embodied a strong polemic against paganism, which constantly associated sexual intercourse at the cultic center with guaranteed fertility (cf. Hos. 4:12ff.). In contrast, Israel's fields and flocks were productive as a result of the gracious blessing of God upon the people in response to their covenant faithfulness (cf. Lev. 26:3–13).

2. Death. Paganism also stressed the veneration of the dead. Perhaps the greatest monuments to such over-emphasis on the dead are the pyramids. Ancestral worship and magical rites, including seances with the dead (cf. Isa. 65:2–5), are perversions of the reality of death as the curse on man's disobedience. In Israel the dead received their proper honor, but in no way were

1. 关于性的条规。耶和华仅通过祂的话语和祭物与祂的子民交流；因此，必须除掉其他的敬拜方式。耶和华禁止祂的子民以行淫来敬拜祂。因此，所有与性相关的敬拜方式都将使敬拜者变得不洁净。性被认为是人类世俗存在的一部分，但它不是与神交流的方式。性会使世人不洁净，但这并不意味着性是有罪的或毫无价值的，而是意味着不可以用性行为来敬拜耶和华，或者说，不可以在圣殿区行淫。这一信仰有力地驳斥了异教信仰，异教信仰经常将在祭仪中心的行淫与赐予生育力结合在一起（参：何 4:12 起）。相反，由于以色列谨守圣约，神以祂的恩典赐福给以色列，使以色列的土地生出土产，并使以色列生养众多（参：利 26:3-13）。

2. 死亡。异教信仰也强调对死者的崇拜。过份强调死者崇拜的最大遗迹可能是金字塔。包括通灵会在内的祖先敬拜仪式和行巫仪式（参：赛 65:2-5）将死亡的现实曲解为神明对不顺服之人的诅咒。以色列人恰当地尊敬死者，但他们决不会过份崇拜死人，或让其成为崇拜的偶像。因此，大祭司不能沾染死人。此外，祭仪律法明确区分了耶和华信仰和异教信仰。

they given undue veneration nor did they become objects of worship. Thus the high priest was not to become involved in any connection with the dead. Again, the cultic laws created a strong barrier between Yahwism and paganism.

3. Foods. The origins of the regulations about clean and unclean animals are difficult to assess. Reasons given for classifying certain animals as unclean include their role in foreign cults, their loathsome appearance, or their repulsive habits. But all such arguments have limitations; e.g., the pig, used especially in the occult, was forbidden (cf. Isa. 65:3ff.; 66:17), but the bull, although worshiped throughout the Near East and having found its way into Israel as the golden calf (Ex. 32) and later as the two calves erected at Dan and Bethel (1 K. 12:28, 33), was accepted as a supreme sacrifice (Lev. 4:2f., 13ff.). W. Kornfeld argues that animals were classified as unclean because they were carnivorous, eaters of carrion, or inhabitants of desert places and ruins and thereby associated with beings of the underworld. For later Israel he asserts that the unclean animals were so designated because they were considered unpleasing to Yahweh. Regarding the list of unclean birds, M. Douglas suggests that “those species are unclean which are imperfect members of their class or whose class itself confounds the general scheme of the world” (Purity in Danger [1966], p. 55). These classifications, in her opinion, give the oneness, purity, and completeness of God a physical expression in every encounter with animals, in the field or at meals (p. 57).

3. 食物。难以追溯关于洁净与不洁净动物律例的起源。某些动物由于它们是异教崇拜的对象，拥有可憎的外表或习性，被归为不洁净的动物。但这些争论都有局限性；例如，以色列人不可吃猪肉，尤其不能用猪交鬼（参：赛 65:3起；66:17），而公牛虽然是整个近东地区崇拜的对象，并且在以色列出现了金牛犊（出 32），后来在但和伯特利安了两个金牛犊（王上 12:28, 33），但是公牛被认为是最好的祭牲（利 4:2-3, 13起）。科恩菲尔德（W. Kornfeld）认为有些动物因为食肉、食腐肉或生活在荒芜之地和废墟中而沾染了地下的生物，所以被归为不洁净的动物。他对后来以色列人区分不洁净动物的做法进行了评价，他认为以色列人之所以将某些动物归为不洁净的动物，是因为这些动物不被耶和華悦纳。关于不洁净的鸟的清单，道格拉斯（M. Douglas）认为“那些鸟是不洁净的，它们是有缺陷的鸟类，或者说这些鸟扰乱了这个世界的整体秩序”（Purity in Danger [1966], 55页）。道格拉斯认为，田野中或餐桌上的各种动物的分类形象地体现了上帝的同一性、纯洁性和完整性（57页）。

pagan neighbors, which would include banqueting, was impossible for an Israelite, because their food was unclean. Thus food regulations erected a strong barrier against social intercourse with Israel's neighbors. Consequently, reasons that both symbolize the meaning of holiness and erect barriers against magic and the occult appear to be the most significant in dividing animals into clean and unclean.

The prohibition against blood may be explained on this same basis. Blood was used by Israel's neighbors to participate intimately in the life of the deity and to induce ecstatic encounters. Since in Israel blood was the basis for atonement, it belonged exclusively to Yahweh. Its exclusion as food indicated that there was no possibility of partaking of Yahweh through blood sanctified at the altar. Similarly the Canaanites made a special rite out of seething a kid in its mother's milk. For this reason, and maybe out of humanitarian concern, such a practice was forbidden.

4. Hygiene. In Yahwism all of life came under God's concern and was to be lived before Him. Thus Israel was to take care that life be healthy as well as moral. Latrines were to be properly cared for (Dt. 23:12ff.). Certain diseases were contained by a quarantine regulated by the priesthood. Although they did not understand contagious disease with the accuracy of contemporary medicine, they must have known that some diseases could be conveyed from one to another. These concerns, and also the realization that care regarding the cleanness of hands and bodies made for a healthier society, may be an implicit reason behind the legislation of ritual purity.

4. 卫生。在耶和华信仰中，所有的生命都在神的庇护下，都在神的看顾下生活。因此，以色列必须确保那生命是健康的、品行端正的。他们必须恰当地打扫便所的卫生（申 23:12 起）。祭司负责将患有某些疾病的人隔离起来。虽然他们还不能像当代医学那样精准地推断出这是接触性传染病，但是他们一定知道某些疾病可以在人群间传播。这是以色列人关注的问题，他们还意识到洁净双手和身体有利于构建一个更加健康的社会，这可能是他们遵守仪式洁净律法的潜在原因。

C. Cleanness and Morality. In “P” and “H” (see CRITICISM II; PENTATEUCH) the basic idea of morality is connected with the concept of the holy God (Lev. 19:2). Frequently, the reason for various regulations, especially moral standards, is that “I am Yahweh” or “I am Yahweh your God” (e.g., Lev. 19:10f.). But the idea of cleanness, more directly, means the correct ordering of one’s daily routine so that he may approach the holy God without danger. Cleanness has to do more with the proper course of a truly moral life than with defining morality. The Psalms and the prophets, however, no doubt building on the intent of cultic legislation, clearly join together at the point of motive outward cleanness and moral integrity. Ps. 24 asks those approaching the temple mount: “Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord? And who shall stand in his holy place?” (v. 3), with the response “He who has clean hands and a pure heart, who does not lift up his soul to what is false, and does not swear deceitfully” (v. 4; cf. 2 Ch. 23:19). This is supported by Ps. 15, where other ideas joined to ritual purity include not uttering slander, swearing to one’s own harm and holding to it, and not taking bribes. The emphasis is on pure inner motivation and integrity of life style. Job understands this interconnection by claiming, according to Elihu, “I am clean, without transgression; I am pure, and there is no iniquity in me” (Job 33:9). The author of Ps. 51 earnestly desires to go beyond ritual purity to a radical change in his innermost being. He petitions God: “Cleanse me from my sin” and “create in me a clean heart” (51:2, 10 [MT 4, 12]; cf. 7 [MT 9]).

C. 洁净和道德。在“祭典”和“法典”（见 CRITICISM II[批评、考证 II]；PENTATEUCH[摩西五经]）中，道德的基本观念与圣洁的上帝的观念结合在一起（利 19:2）。通常情况下，制定各种律例，尤其是制定道德标准的理由是“我是耶和華”或“我是耶和華你們的神”（如，利 19:10-11）。但更直接地讲，洁净的观念意味着一个人要在日常生活中遵守正确的秩序，所以他可以坦然无惧地走近圣洁的上帝。洁净应是在真实道德生活中做更多正确的事，而不是为道德下定义。然而，诗篇的作者和先知们无疑根据祭仪律法中的旨意，明确地将外在洁净的动机与德行联系在一起。《诗篇》24 中问那些走近圣殿山的人：“谁能登耶和華的山？谁能站在他的圣所”（诗 24:3），接着回答道“就是手洁心清，不向虚妄，起誓不怀诡诈的人”（诗 24:4；参：代下 23:19）。《诗篇》15 中与仪式洁净联系在一起的其他观点包括，不以舌头诽谤人，即使吃亏也要信守誓言，不受贿赂。这里强调的是纯洁的内在动机和正直的生活方式。从以利户的话语中可以看出约伯知晓这种相互联系，“我是清洁无过的，我是无辜的，在我里面也没有罪孽。”（伯 33:9）。《诗篇》51 的作者强烈希望超越仪式上的洁净，彻底地改变自己的内心。他向上帝祈求道：“洁除我的罪”，“为我造清洁的心”（诗 51:2, 10[《马所拉文本》4, 12]；参：诗 51:7[《马所拉文本》9]）。

Isaiah tried to convince Israel that in God's sight clean hands were insufficient. God claimed through him, "When you spread forth your hands, I will hide my eyes from you; even though you make many prayers, I will not listen; your hands are full of blood. Wash yourselves; make yourselves clean; remove the evil of your doings from before my eyes; cease to do evil" (1:14ff.). Of course, clean hands outstretched in prayer were inadequate when the heart was defiled. Thus Isaiah exhorted the people to transform the entire person and to have their scarlet sins washed so that they would be white as snow (1:18).

D. Cleanness as Applied to the New Age. For the prophets moral cleanness becomes the criterion for participation in the blessings of the new age. Zechariah foresees a fount available in Jerusalem to cleanse from sin and uncleanness (Zec. 13:1). Ezekiel placed a portion of the blame for the defilement of the land, which led to the captivity, on the priesthood, which failed to teach the distinction between the holy and the common, the clean and the unclean (Ezk. 22:24f.); he pictures the transformation of Israel in preparation for the new age in ritualistic terms: "I [Yahweh] will sprinkle clean water upon you, and you shall be clean from all your uncleannesses, and from all your idols I will cleanse you" (Ezk. 36:25; cf. Jer. 33:8). The people of God will receive a new heart and a new spirit (Ezk. 36:26). Then they will again inhabit cities and build palaces (36:33). The cleansing will be so complete that never again will the people or the land become defiled (37:23). There will be also a new sanctuary properly sanctified and a new priesthood that rightly carries out its functions (43:18–27; 44:15–31); they will correctly teach about the clean and the unclean (44:23). In that time the unclean shall not travel the highway of holiness that figuratively leads from captivity to Zion (Isa. 35:8), nor shall they enter Jerusalem (52:1). Revelation resumes this theme in regard to the new Jerusalem, stating that “nothing unclean shall enter it” (21:27). In both testaments the new age focuses on the city of God, which shall be inhabited by his people who live morally clean lives.

以赛亚竭力让以色列相信，在上帝的眼中，只有双手洁净是远远不够的。上帝藉着以色列说道，“你们举手祷告，我必遮眼不看；就是你们多多地祈祷，我也不听。你们的手都满了杀人的血”（赛 1:14 起）。当然，如果心已经被玷污了，在祷告时举起洁净的手也无济于事。因此，以赛亚规劝以色列人要完全更新自己，洗净朱红的罪，使其变得雪白（赛 1:18）。

V. NT Understanding of Clean and Unclean.-A. Unclean. The word “unclean” in the NT is most frequently joined to “spirit” to connote a demon. Uncleanness is not a ritual term, but a moral one denoting man’s wayward behavior that keeps him from fellowship with God. Included are licentiousness, covetousness, and sexual abuses (Eph. 4:19; 5:3; Rom. 1:24). Uncleanness is classified as one of the works of the flesh that prohibits following the Spirit’s leadership (Gal. 5:17ff.). From these defilements the believer must cleanse himself to live a separate and unique life (2 Cor. 7:1).

B. Clean. The question of ritual purity was quite prominent among various sects of Jews at the time of Jesus, e.g., the Essenes bathed three times a day to ensure their compliance with the law. Jesus and His disciples often found themselves in conflict with the Pharisees over this question; for instance, the disciples were criticized for eating with unwashed hands (Mk. 7:1–7) and Jesus for dining with sinners (Lk. 15:1f.; 19:1–

不得进那城” (启 21:27)。在两约中，上帝之城是新时代的重点，神的子民将住在那城中，过着道德洁净的生活。

V. 《新约》对洁净与不洁净的理解。
*A. 《新约》对不洁净的理解。*在《新约》中，“unclean”（“不洁净的、污秽的”）这个词最经常与“spirit”（“灵”）连用表示魔鬼。不洁净不是一个仪式用语，而是一个道德用语，表示世人远离上帝的任性行为。污秽还包括放荡、贪婪和行淫（弗 4:19； 5:3； 罗 1:24）。不洁净是肉体拒绝圣灵指引的后果之一（加 5:17 起）。信徒必须洁净自己，除去这些污秽，过上独立、独特的生活（林后 7:1）。

*B. 《新约》中的洁净。*在耶稣生活的年代，仪式洁净是众多犹太教派争论的焦点，例如，艾赛尼派信徒每天洗澡三次，以此表示他们遵守律法。耶稣和祂的门徒经常与法利赛人争论这一问题；例如，法利赛人指责门徒们不洗手就吃饭（可 7:1-7），指责耶稣与罪人同吃饭（路 15:1-2； 19:1-10）。而耶稣谴责法利赛人仅热衷于遵守律法，却忘记了更为重要的公义问题（太 23:23 起）；耶稣将他们比喻成里面装满了死人骨头的

10). Jesus, in contrast, accused the Pharisees of having forgotten the weightier matter of justice in their zeal to follow the law (Mt. 23:23ff.); He compared them to whitened sepulchers, full of dead men's bones (Mt. 23:27). In light of the laws regarding ritual purity and death, Jesus could scarcely have used a more pungent reproach. In anticipation of the new covenant, Jesus went further in deliberately setting aside the whole question of ritual purity. He taught that it is words flowing from a corrupt heart that defile a man, not food, which merely enters the mouth on the way to the stomach (Mk. 7:14-23). The early Church appealed to this teaching to affirm that Jesus Himself had declared all foods clean (Mk. 7:19). Jesus desires a moral life style flowing from a pure heart, which He Himself sanctifies by the Holy Spirit (Jn. 14:20f., 23; 17:17).

The NT emphasizes that the one who confesses his sins and walks in the light is cleansed from all sin and unrighteousness (Jn. 1:7, 9). Every believer, Jew or Gentile, is clean, for God purifies the heart by faith (Acts 15:9; cf. 10:9-16, 34f). This idea is radical, for it declares that the Jewish believer in no way is defiled by the Gentile believer and the Gentile, truly purified, also has full access to God. To show the new position of the believer before God, He. 10:22 draws on the double imagery of sprinkling with ashes of a red heifer one defiled through contact with a corpse (Nu. 19) and of the bathing of the high priests's body before serving on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:4); that is, the Christian, cleansed from the curse of death for sin and freed from an evil conscience, has boldness to enter the presence of God as a priestly intercessor.

粉饰坟墓 (太 23:27)。耶稣根据关于仪式洁净和死亡的律法, 对他们进行了最严厉的批判。祂期盼立下新约, 并故意将全部仪式洁净问题抛至一边。祂教导道, 唯有从堕落的内心里出来的才能够污秽人, 食物不能污秽人, 因为食物仅仅是从嘴里入肚腹的 (可 7:14-23)。早期的教会根据这一教义认为, 耶稣自己已将所有的食物定为洁净的 (可 7:19)。耶稣渴望过上内心洁净、合乎道德的生活, 祂藉着圣灵使自己的内心变得圣洁 (约 14:20-21, 23; 17:17)。

《新约》强调悔罪与行在光里的人将除去所有的罪和邪恶 (约 1:7, 9)。每个信徒, 无论是犹太人还是外邦人, 都是洁净的, 因为神藉着信洁净了他们的心 (徒 15:9; 参: 徒 10:9-16, 34-35)。这是一个全新的观点, 因为它表明犹太信徒决不会被外邦信徒玷污, 真正洁净的外邦人也完全可以走近神。《希伯来书》10:22 呈现了在神面前的信徒的新状态, 并描绘了两个画面, 其中一个将纯红母牛烧成的灰洒在因沾染死尸变得不洁净的人身上 (民 19), 另一个画面描绘了祭司在赎罪日侍奉之前用水洗澡 (利 16:4); 也就是说, 基督徒被除去了死罪的诅咒, 摆脱了恶念的束缚, 可以以代求祭司的身份坦然地走到神的面前。

The Word also plays a crucial role in the cleansing, for it is the obedient response to its proclamation that transforms the inner man (Jn. 15:3; cf. Eph. 5:26). The only rite of washing to symbolize the transformation is baptism, which is administered a single time. Thus purity of heart becomes the uncompromising demand and the possibility of the NT (Mt. 5:8; 1 Pet. 1:22; 1 Tim. 1:5; 2 Tim. 2:22). A pure heart produces the inner confidence to pursue earnestly the demands of God (1 Tim. 3:9; 2 Tim. 1:3; He. 10:22).

The goal of the believer's life is still holiness (e.g., 1 Pet. 1:14ff.). He is to pursue purity in all aspects of his life (cf. Jas. 4:7f.). He is not regulated by a set of laws, but by a liberty under his own responsible character directed by the Holy Spirit. As Paul exhorts, "Since we have these promises, beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from every defilement of body and spirit, and make holiness perfect in the fear of God" (2 Cor. 7:1). The principle which Paul lays down in Rom. 14:14, "that nothing is unclean in itself; but it is unclean for anyone who thinks it unclean," clearly shows that the Christian is entrusted with critical faculties to discern the proper use of his Father's world.

Cultic purity is no longer necessary under the new covenant because the atoning work of Christ as its foundation has proleptically secured the restoration of harmony between man and nature (cf. Rom. 8:19-23). A redeemed nature no longer defiles and hinders man's approach to God. Jesus emphasized His lordship over nature by performing various miracles; He particularly healed lepers. The word most often used is “cleansed”; it means that the leper is fully restored physically and cultically (Mt. 8:2ff.; 10:8; cf. 2 K. 5:10–14 where “cleanse” also means “heal”). These miracles point to the total healing that His redemptive work will bring. Further, just as the dedication of the first-born and the first-fruits according to the OT released the rest of the flock and the crops to God’s people (Ex. 22:29; 23:19; 34:26; Nu. 18:15), so the death of God’s first-born released the world back to man for its proper enjoyment as originally intended. Although this redemption is not finalized, the NT believer has been given a foretaste of the complete redemption by being freed from the tremendous burden of maintaining the standards of ritual purity.

道也在洁净中起到重要作用，因为讲道表明一个人顺服神，这种顺服的回应将改变一个人的灵魂（约 15:3；参：弗 5:26）。唯一一个可以象征转变的洁净仪式是洗礼，一个人只能受一次洗礼。因此，必须有洁净的内心，这样才有可能成就新约（太 5:8；彼前 1:22；提前 1:5；提后 2:22）。只有存清洁的心，才能满怀信心地来到神的面前（提前 3:9；提后 1:3；来 10:22）。

圣洁仍然是信徒生活的目标（如，彼前 1:14 起）。他必须在生活的各个方面都追求洁净（参：雅 4:7-8）。他不受律法的约束，可以在圣灵的指引下自主地对自己的行为负责。正如保罗所告诫的，“亲爱的弟兄啊，我们既有这等应许，就当洁净自己，除去身体、灵魂一切的污秽，敬畏神，得以成圣。”（林后 7:1）。保罗在《罗马书》14:14 提出了一个原则，“凡物本来没有不洁净的。惟独人以为不洁净的，在他就不洁净了”，这个原则显然表明基督徒被赐予恰当利用天父创造的世界的重要工具。

麻风病已被完全治愈，可以以洁净的身体崇拜神（太 8:2 起；10:8；参：王下 5:10-14，其中“cleansed”还表示“治愈”）。这些神迹指明了基督的救赎工作所带来的完全治愈。此外，《旧约》中头生的儿子和初熟的果子要献给耶和华，从而保证神的子民的其他后裔得以延续，并保证他们可以收获庄稼（出 22:29；23:19；34:26；民 18:15），而《新约》中圣子受难使世人重新回到这个世界上，恰当地享受上帝最初赐予他们的福分。虽然这个救赎工作尚未完成，但新约信徒因为摆脱了仪式洁净标准的束缚，提前尝到了完全救赎的果实。

CLEAVE

[Heb. dābaq]; AV also “keep to” (Nu. 36:7, 9), JOINED (Job 41:23), STUCK (Ps. 119:31); NEB also UNITED (Gen. 2:24), RETAIN (Nu. 36:7, 9), “hold fast to” (Dt. 10:20; 11:22; 13:4; 30:20; Josh. 22:5; 23:8; Ps. 119:31), CLING (Dt. 28:60; Ps. 137:6), “stick to” (Job 31:7; Ps. 22:15), HAUNT (Dt. 28:21), “be found in (your) possession” (Dt. 13:17), “stick out through” (Job 19:20), “close knit” (Job 41:23), “I will have none of it” (Ps. 101:3), HANGS (Ps. 102:5), FASTEN (Ezk. 3:26), “held his tongue” (Job 29:10), “lie prone” (Ps. 44:25; 119:25); [bāqa] (Ps. 74:15; 78:15; 141:7; Isa. 48:21; Mic. 1:4; Hab. 3:9); NEB also OPEN (Ps. 74:15), “splinters (of wood)” (Ps. 141:7); [niphāl of sāpāh] (Isa. 14:1); NEB ATTACH; [piel of pālag] (Job. 38:25); [hāšaq] (Ps. 91:14); AV, NEB, “set (his love) (up)on.”

The term “cleave” is used in two opposite senses: dābaq, sāpāh, and hāšaq mean “cling to,” usually with great affection; bāqa and pālag mean “divide” or “separate” by splitting, as in cutting wood for a fire (cf. Gen. 22:3) or cutting a channel through rock.

CLEAVE 守住、联络、持守、联合、专靠、粘、贴

【希伯来语：dābaq】：《钦定版圣经》还译为“keep to”（“守住”）（民 36:7, 9）、JOINED（“联络”）（伯 41:23）、STUCK（“持守”）（诗 119:31）；《新英文译本》还译为 UNITED（“联合”）（创 2:24）、RETAIN（“守住”）（民 36:7, 9）、“hold fast to”（“专靠”）（申 10:20; 11:22; 13:4; 30:20; 书 22:5; 23:8; 诗 119:31）、CLING（“贴”）（申 28:60; 诗 137:6）、“stick to”（“粘住”）（伯 31:7; 诗 22:15）、HAUNT（“贴”）（申 28:21）、“be found in (your) possession”（“粘你的手”）（申 13:17）、“stick out through”（“紧贴”）（伯 19:20）、“close knit”（“紧贴”）（伯 41:23）、“I will have none of it”（“不容沾在我身上”）（诗 101:3）、HANGS（“紧贴”）（诗 102:5）、FASTEN（“贴住”）（结 3:26）、“held his tongue”（“贴住上膛”）（伯 29:10）和“lie prone”（“紧贴”）（诗 44:25; 119:25）；【bāqa】（诗 74:15; 78:15; 141:7; 赛 48:21; 弥 1:4; 哈 3:9）；《新英文译本》还译为 OPEN（“分裂”）（诗 74:15）、“splinters (of wood)”（“刨地的土块”）（诗 141:7）；【sāpāh 的简单被动干】（赛 14:1）；《新英文译本》译为 ATTACH（“贴”）；【pālag 的加强主动干】（伯 38:25）；【hāšaq】（诗 91:14）；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 “set (his love) (up)on”（“他专心爱”）。

“cleave”这个词可以用在两个相反的含义中：dābaq、sāpāh 和 hāšaq 意思是“粘住、依靠”，通常带有强烈的感情色彩；bāqa 和 pālag 的意思是“劈开”或“劈成两半”，如劈木头烧火（参：创 22:3），在岩石中凿出沟渠。

[Heb. niqārā] (Ex. 33:22); NEB CREVICE; [sā'îp] (Jgs. 15:8, 11; Isa. 2:21; 57:5); AV also TOP; NEB also CAVE, CRANNIES; [nāqîq] (Isa. 7:19; Jer. 13:4; 16:16); AV HOLE; NEB also CREVICE; [hāgû] (Cant. 2:14; Jer. 49:16; Ob. 3); NEB HOLES, CRANNIES; CLIFF [madrēgā] (Cant. 2:14; Ezk. 38:20); AV STAIRS, “steep places”; NEB “high ledges,” “terraced hills”; [sela'] (Isa. 2:21); AV “ragged rocks.”

These terms indicate various characteristics of rocky or mountainous terrain: fissures or faults, caves, crevices, ledges, and precipices. The cleft (“cave”[?]; cf. 1 K. 19:9, 13) where God covered Moses (Ex. 33:22) on Mt. Sinai was still thought to exist a century ago (cf. KD for a discussion of the traditions). Samson fled from the Philistines to a fissure called Etam (not to be confused with the Etam SW of Bethlehem, 2 Ch. 9:6) in the hill country E of Timnah. The cleft above Wādī Isma‘ in 2.5 mi. (4 km.) SE of Zorah has been suggested as the most likely identification.

In Canticles the poet desires a hiding place or refuge for his beloved; the association of cliffs with the dove (pigeon) in Cant. 2:14 is appropriate, since the rock dove is known to build its nest in remote, rocky crags (cf. Jer. 48:28).

CLEFT 石缝、石穴、陡岩、岩穴

【希伯来语：niqārā】（出 33:22）；《新英文译本》还译为 CREVICE（“石穴”）；【sā'îp】（士 15:8, 11；赛 2:21；57:5）；《钦定版圣经》译为 TOP（“石穴”）；《新英文译本》还译为 CAVE 和 CRANNIES，汉译均为“石穴”；【nāqîq】（赛 7:19；耶 13:4；16:16）；《钦定版圣经》译为 HOLE；《新英文译本》还译为 CREVICE，汉译均为“穴”；【hāgû】（歌 2:14；耶 49:16；俄 3）；《新英文译本》译为 HOLES 和 CRANNIES，汉译均为“穴”；CLIFF（“陡岩”）【madrēgā】（歌 2:14；结 38:20）；《钦定版圣经》译为 STAIRS 和 “steep places”；《新英文译本》译为 “high ledges” 和 “terraced hills”，汉译均为“陡岩”；【sela'】（赛 2:21）；《钦定版圣经》译为 “ragged rocks”（“石洞”）。

这些词语表明了岩石或山脉地形的各种特征：断裂或断层、石洞、石缝、岩架和悬崖。上帝在西奈山的石缝中用手遮掩了摩西（出 33:22），学者们仍然认为这个石缝（“石穴”[不确定]；参：王上 19:9, 13）在一百年前就已经存在（参：KD 对这些传说的探讨）。参孙从非利士人的手中逃出来，来到了一个叫以坦的石穴中（不要与伯利恒西南的以坦混为一谈，代下 9:6），该石穴在亭拿以东的丘陵地带。这个石穴很可能指的是琐拉东南 2.5 英里（4 公里）处以撒玛干谷（Wādī Isma‘）上的石洞。

在《雅歌》中，诗人想要为他的爱人寻找一个躲藏之地或避难所；《雅歌》2:14 恰当地将磐石穴与鸽子联系在一起，因为众所周知，岩鸽在偏僻的峭壁中筑巢（参：耶 48:28）。

The prophecies in Jer. 49:16 and Ob 3 are parallel; both deal with God's judgment upon Edom. Rocky gorges and cliff-top fortresses made the capital city, Sela (later Petra), virtually impregnable. In fact, the phrase b^eḥagwê hassela (Jer. 49:16; Ob. 3), "in the clefts of the rock," may actually refer to the "cliffs of Sela."

For 2 Ch. 20:16, AV, see ASCENT; Job 30:6, AV, "clefts of the valleys" is RSV "gullies of the torrents."

CLEMENT

klem'ənt [Gk. Klēmēs—'mild'].

1. A fellow worker with Paul at Philippi, mentioned with special commendation in Phil. 4:3.

2. One of the APOSTOLIC FATHERS, usually identified with the third bishop of Rome. His identity with 1, though supposed by Origen, Eusebius, Epiphanius, and Jerome, is highly unlikely given the remoteness of the two in time and place.

《耶利米书》49:16 和《俄巴底亚书》3 章中的预言是类似的；这两个预言都与上帝对以东的审判有关。峡谷和悬崖顶端的堡垒变成了都城，西拉（后来的佩特拉）几乎是坚不可摧的。实际上，b^eḥagwê hassela 这个短语（耶 49:16；俄 3）的意思是“在山穴中”，这个短语有可能指的是“西拉的悬崖”。

CLEMENCY. 宽容

《钦定版圣经》将《使徒行传》24:4 中的希腊语 epieikeia 译为“clemency”，《修订标准译本》译为“kindness”，汉译均为“宽容”。《新英文译本》改译为“I crave your indulgence”（“只求你宽容”）。

CLEMENT 革利免

音译：klem'ənt 【希腊语：Klēmēs——“温和的”】。

1、革利免：保罗在腓立比时的一个同工，《腓立比书》4:3 中专门提到了这个人。

2、革利免：使徒教父之一，他通常被认为是罗马的第三任主教。虽然俄利根、优西比乌、伊皮法纽和耶柔米都认为他和 1 中的革利免是同一个人，但这种说法很可能不成立，因为这两人生活的年代相差很远，两人的居住地也相距甚远。

klē'e-pes [Gk. Kleopas—'renowned father']. One of the two disciples whom Jesus met on the way to Emmaus (Lk. 24:18). The name is a contraction of Cleopatros, not identical with Clopas (an Aramaic name) of Jn. 19:25.

CLEOPATRA

klē-ə-pā'trə [Gk. Kleopatra—'from a famous father']. The name of several Egyptian queens and princesses. One, probably the wife of PTOLEMY VI PHILOMETOR, is mentioned in Ad. Est. 11:1. According to Josephus (Ant. xii.9.7; xiii.3.1-3), Ptolemy and Cleopatra permitted Onias, the expatriate son of a high priest who cited Isa. 29:19 in his request, to build a temple for Jews in Heliopolis.

Their daughter is probably the Cleopatra mentioned in 1 Maccabees. Her father first gave her in marriage to Alexander Balas (1 Macc. 10:58; Josephus Ant. xiii.4.1), then took her from Alexander and gave her to DEMETRIUS II NICATOR (1 Macc. 11:9-12; Ant. xiii.4.7). Later, while Demetrius was in captivity in Parthia, Cleopatra married his brother ANTIOCHUS VII SIDETES.

CLEOPATRA 革流巴特拉

音译: klē-ə-pā'trə 【希腊语: Kleopatra——“来自于一个著名的父亲”】。埃及的多名女王和王妃都叫革流巴特拉。《以斯帖补篇》11:1 中的革流巴特拉可能是多利买六世·非罗巴特（见 PTOLEMY VI PHILOMETOR）的妻子。根据约瑟夫斯的描述（Ant. xii.9.7; xiii.3.1-3），多利买和革流巴特拉允许阿尼亚在黑利奥波勒斯为犹太人建造圣殿，阿尼亚是一位大祭司的被放逐的儿子，他在建造圣殿的诉求中引用了《以赛亚书》29:19。

他们的女儿就是《马加比一书》中提到的克流巴特拉。多利买首先将他的女儿嫁给亚历山大·巴拉斯（马一 10:58; Josephus Ant. xiii.4.1），然后将她从亚历山大王身边带走，把她嫁给了底米丢二世·尼加铎（见 DEMETRIUS II NICATOR）（马一 11:9-12; Ant. xiii.4.7）。后来当底米丢被掳至帕提亚，但克流巴特拉嫁给了底米丢的兄弟安提阿古七世·西底达斯（见 ANTIOCHUS VII SIDETES）。

CLOAK

[Heb. k'sut] (Dt. 22:12); AV VESTURE; [śalmā] (24:13); AV RAIMENT; [mitpahat] (Isa. 3:22); AV WIMPLE; [beqed] (Jer. 43:12); AV GARMENT; NEB CLOTHES; [Gk. himátion] (Mt. 5:40; Lk. 6:29); NEB COAT; AV CLOKE; [phailónēs] (2 Tim. 4:13), próphasis (fig., 1 Thess. 2:5)]; AV CLOKE; PURPLE CLOAK [porphýra] (Mk. 15:17, 20); AV, NEB, PURPLE. A variety of outer garments is designated in these references; the exact type is often unclear. See GARMENTS.

The cloak of Dt. 22:12 had “four corners” (see TASSEL) and was wrapped around the body like a blanket. The śalmā (more correctly śamlā) of Dt. 24:13 was wrapped about the body at night for sleeping; cf. Ex. 22:26f.; also Gen. 9:23; Dt. 22:17; etc. In the list of feminine articles of dress and accessories in Isa. 3:18–24 occurs the word mitpahat; in the only other occurrence, Ruth 3:15, it designates the garment worn by Ruth (RSV “mantle”), which was loose enough to carry “six measures of barley.” The cloak of the shepherd is called beqed in Jer. 43:12, a general word used for many kinds of garments and coverings, both costly and poor.

In Mt. 5:40 and Lk. 6:29 the Gk.

CLOAK 外衣、衣服、外袍

【希伯来语: k'sut】(申 22:12); 《钦定版圣经》译为 VESTURE (“外衣”); 【śalmā】(申 24:13); 《钦定版圣经》译为 RAIMENT (“衣服”); 【mitpahat】(赛 3:22); 《钦定版圣经》译为 WIMPLE (“外袍”); 【beqed】(耶 43:12); 《钦定版圣经》译为 GARMENT; 《新英文译本》译为 CLOTHES, 汉译均为 “外衣”; 【希腊语: himátion】(太 5:40; 路 6:29); 《新英文译本》还译为 COAT; 《钦定版圣经》译为 CLOKE, 汉译均为 “外衣”; 【phailónēs (提后 4:13), próphasis (比喻用法, 帖前 2:5)]; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 CLOKE (“外衣”); PURPLE CLOAK (“紫袍”)【porphýra】(可 15:17, 20); 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 PURPLE (“紫袍”)。这些词可以表示各种外衣; 经文通常没有明确指明具体是哪一种衣服。见 GARMENTS (衣服)。

在《马太福音》5:40 和《路加福音》6:29 中, 希腊语 himátion 表示里衣 (chitón, worn over the chitón, a tunic (NEB “shirt”). (For an explanation of the different order in the two passages see Bauer, p. 377.) The cloak Paul asks to be sent from Troas he calls phailónēs (in some MSS phainólēs), related, probably as a loanword, to Lat. paenula, a raincoat or traveling garment. The word porphýra, “purple,” is used in Mk. 15 for the royal garments mockingly put on Jesus.

Figuratively, próphasis is translated “cloak” in 1 Thess. 2:5; the meaning is “pretense,” as in Mk. 12:40; Lk. 20:47; Acts 27:30; Phil. 1:18.

See also MANTLE; ROBE.

CLOD

[Heb. regeb] (Job 21:33; 38:38); NEB also DUST; [megrāpā] (Joel 1:17); NEB SOIL. Regeb refers to a “piece of clay” or “soft lump of earth.” Megrāpā refers to a “furrow,” or “something thrown off by the spade.”

CLOGGING.

In Ex. 14:25 the RSV and NEB follow the Samaritan Pentateuch, LXX (Gk. synedēsen), and Syriac translations, reading Heb. ’āsar, “bind,” rather than MT sūr, “remove.”

klō’pās [Gk. Klōpas] (Jn. 19:25); AV CLEOPHAS. The husband of one of the women who stood by the cross of Christ. Upon the philological ground of a variety of pronunciations of the Hebrew root, he is sometimes identified with Alphaeus,

《新英文译本》译为“shirt”[“里衣”]外面的外衣。(关于这两段经文不同语序的解释, 见 Bauer, 377 页)。保罗称从特罗亚送来的衣服为 phailónēs (某些原稿作 phainólēs), 这个词可能是源于拉丁语 paenula 的外来词, 指的是雨衣或旅行时所穿的衣服。《马可福音》15 章中的 porphýra (“紫袍”) 表示的是兵丁戏弄耶稣时穿在祂身上的皇家服饰。

《帖撒罗尼迦前书》2:5 将 próphasis 译为“cloak”, 这里采用了该词的象征性含义, 意为“假意”, 《马可福音》12:40、《路加福音》20:47、《使徒行传》27:30 和《腓立比书》1:18 中也使用了这个词的象征意义。

CLOD 土块

【希伯来语: regeb】(伯 21:33; 38:38); 《新英文译本》还译为 DUST (“土块”); 【megrāpā】(珥 1:17); 《新英文译本》译为 SOIL (“土块”)。Regeb 指的是“土块”或“柔软的泥块”。Megrāpā 指的是“犁沟”或“用铁锹挖出来的沟”。

CLOGGING. 脱落

《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》的译法遵照《撒马利亚五经》《七十士译本》(希腊语: synedēsen) 和叙利亚语译本中的希伯来语 ’āsar (意为“捆绑”), 而不是《马所拉文本》中的 sūr (意为“移除”), 将《出埃及记》14:25 中的“脱落”译为“clogging”。

CLOPAS 革罗罢

音译: klō’pās 【希腊语: Klōpas】(约 19:25); 《钦定版圣经》译为 CLEOPHAS (“革罗罢”)。站在耶稣十字架旁边的一个妇女的丈夫。根据语言学中这个希伯来语词根的众多读音, 革罗罢有时被认为是小雅各的父亲亚勒腓。但通常认

the father of James the Less. He is said by tradition to have been the brother of Joseph the husband of Mary; see BROTHERS OF THE LORD.

CLOSE; CLOSED

[Heb. sāgar, 'ātar, 'āšar, 'ātam, šā'ā, 'ālam, šāpan, šīt, sābab, nāqap, kāsā, šūp, 'ārēl]; AV also SHUT, STOP, HIDE, COMPASS, etc.; NEB also SHUT, ENGULF, STOP, BLOCK, etc.; [Gk. kleiō, kammýō, ptýssō, syntéleia]; AV also SHUT, END; NEB also ROLLED UP, SHUTS UP, END.

Some of the Hebrew verbs used in the sense of “close,” “shut” are sāgar, 'ātar (Ps. 69:15), 'āšar (Gen. 20:18), 'ātam (Prov. 17:28; 21:13), and šā'ā (“be stuck shut,” Isa. 32:3). In Lam. 3:56 'ālam means “hide,” “cover” (NEB “turn a deaf ear”), and in Job 17:4 šāpan means “keep (something) away from.” In Gen. 46:4, the clause rendered “Joseph’s hand will close your eyes” by the RSV is translated more literally by the AV: “Joseph shall put [šīt] his hand upon thine eyes.” Nāqap (Job 19:6; Ps. 88:17) and sābab (Jonah 2:5) carry the meaning of “surround” or “encircle,” while kāsā (Nu. 16:33) means “cut down” and šūp (Lam. 3:54) means “flood” or “rise up.” The adjective 'ārēl means literally “uncircumsized”; in Jer. 6:10, “Behold their ears are closed,” the term is used in the sense of ears that are unfit for hearing.

In the NT the Greek verbs kleiō (1 Jn. 3:17), kammýō (Mt. 13:15; Acts 28:27),

为革罗罢是马利亚的丈夫约瑟的兄弟；见 BROTHERS OF THE LORD (主的弟兄)。

CLOSE; CLOSED 关闭；关着

【希伯来语：sāgar, 'ātar, 'āšar, 'ātam, šā'ā, 'ālam, šāpan, šīt, sābab, nāqap, kāsā, šūp, 'ārēl】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 SHUT (“关闭”)、STOP (“停止”)、HIDE (“隐藏”)、COMPASS (“包围”)等；《新英文译本》还译为 SHUT (“关闭”)、ENGULF (“包围”)、STOP (“停止”)、BLOCK (“阻止”)等；【希腊语：kleiō, kammýō, ptýssō, syntéleia】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 SHUT (“关闭”)和 END (“结束”)；《新英文译本》还译为 ROLLED UP (“卷起”)、SHUTS UP (“关闭”)和 END (“结束”)。

表示“关上”、“关闭”含义的希伯来语动词有 sāgar、'ātar (诗 69:15)、'āšar (创 20:18)、'ātam (箴 17:28; 21:13) 和 šā'ā (“不再昏迷”，赛 32:3)。《耶利米哀歌》3:56 中 'ālam 的含义是“隐藏”或“遮掩”（《新英文译本》译为“turn a deaf ear” [“掩耳不听”]），《约伯记》17:4 中 šāpan 的含义是“蒙蔽”。《钦定版圣经》更直接地翻译了《修订标准译本》《创世记》46:4 中“Joseph’s hand will close your eyes”这句话为“Joseph shall put [šīt] his hand upon thine eyes”，汉译均为“约瑟将手按在你的眼睛上”。Nāqap (伯 19:6; 诗 88:17) 和 sābab (拿 2:5) 的意思是“围绕”或“缠绕”，而 kāsā (民 16:33) 的含义是“合闭”，šūp (哀 3:54) 的意思是“充满”或“上升”。《耶利米书》6:10 中形容词 'ārēl 的字面含义是“未受割礼的”，“他们的耳朵未受割礼”这句话表明他们的耳朵不能听见耶和華的话。

在《新约》中，希腊语动词 kleiō (约壹 3:17)、kammýō (太 13:15; 徒 28:27)

and pty̅ssō (Lk. 4:20) mean “close” or “roll up.” The noun syntéleia, used in the phrase “the close of the age” (Mt. 13:39f, 49; 24:3; 28:20), refers to the “end” or “consummation” of the age.

CLOSE; CLOSELY.

The terms “close” and “closely” are sometimes a direct translation of an adjective or adverb; e.g., Heb. ‘ummā (Ex. 25:27; 37:14; Lev. 3:9), kābēd (Jgs. 20:34, AV “sore”; NEB “heavy”), ‘allūp (“familiar,” AV “chief”), qārōb (Job 19:14, AV “familiar”; NEB “intimates”; Isa. 13:22, AV, NEB, “near”), ṣar (Job 41:15, NEB “enclosed in”); also Gk. engýs (Jn. 19:42, AV “nigh”; NEB “near”), anankaíos (Acts 10:24, AV “near”), ásson (27:13, NEB “hugging”), akribós (Lk. 1:3, NEB “in detail”; Acts 23:20, AV “perfectly”; NEB “precise”).

In other instances “close” or “closely” is used in translating a verb or participle based on a verb; e.g., Heb. rādap (“followed closely,” Gen. 31:23), nāga (“was close,” Jgs. 20:41), dābaq (“keep close,” Ruth 2:8, 21, 23; “were close,” 2 S. 1:6), bîn (“looked at closely” 1 K. 3:21; AV “considered”).

In Acts 11:6 the Gk. katanoéō is rendered

和 pty̅ssō (路 4:20) 的意思是“关闭”或“卷起”。名词 syntéleia 用在短语“世界的末了”(太 13:39-40, 49; 24:3; 28:20) 中, 指的是世代“终结了”或“结束了”。

CLOSE; CLOSELY. 挨近、临近、亲密的; 接近地

有时“close”和“closely”这两个词被用来直接翻译一个形容词或副词; 如, 希伯来语 ‘ummā (出 25:27; 37:14; 利 3:9), kābēd (士 20:34, 《钦定版圣经》译为“sore”; 《新英文译本》译为“heavy”, 汉译均为“凶猛”)、‘allūp (“亲密的”, 《钦定版圣经》译为“主要的”)、qārōb (伯 19:14, 《钦定版圣经》译为“familiar”; 《新英文译本》译为“intimates”, 汉译均为“亲密的”); 赛 13:22, 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》均译为“near”[“临近”]、ṣar (伯 41:15, 《新英文译本》译为“enclosed in”[“封住”]); 希腊语 engýs (约 19:42, 《钦定版圣经》译为“nigh”, 《新英文译本》译为“near”[“附近”])、anankaíos (徒 10:24, 《钦定版圣经》译为“near”[“亲密”])、ásson (徒 27:13, 《新英文译本》译为“hugging”[“贴近”])、akribós (路 1:3, 《新英文译本》译为“in detail”[“详细地”]; 徒 23:20, 《钦定版圣经》译为“perfectly”; 《新英文译本》译为“precise”[“详细地”])。

此外, “close”或“closely”也用来翻译动词或基于动词的分词; 如, 希伯来语 rādap (“追赶”, 创 31:23), nāga (“临到”, 士 20:41), dābaq (“与……在一处”, 得 2:8, 21, 23; “紧紧地”, 撒下 1:6)、bîn (“详细地察看”, 王上 3:21; 《钦定版圣经》译为“considered”[“详细地察看”])。

《修订标准译本》将《使徒行传》11:6

“looking closely” by the RSV, “looked intently” by the NEB, and “considered” by the AV. The term connotes contemplation as well as perception. In Rom. 7:21 Paul uses parákeimai (RSV “lies close”) to express the idea that whenever he desires to do right he finds only sin at his disposal. The author of Hebrews exhorts his readers (12:1) to lay aside the sin “which clings so closely” in order to run the race before them. The allusion to a race suggests that euperístatos (AV “easily besetting”; NEB “to which we cling”) may be related to euperispaston, “diverting from the course.”

中的希腊语 katanoéō 译为 “looking closely”, 《新英文译本》译为 “looked intently”, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “considered”, 汉译均为 “定睛观看”。这个词语有沉思和感知的意思。保罗在《罗马书》7:21 中用 parákeimai (《修订标准译本》译为 “lies close” [“与……同在”]) 来表达当他愿意为善时, 便于恶同在的思想。《希伯来书》的作者劝告读者 (来 12:1), 为了奔摆在他们前头的路程, 他们必须脱去 “容易缠累” 他们的罪。这里提及的路程 euperístatos (《钦定版圣经》译为 “easily besetting”; 《新英文译本》译为 “to which we cling” [“容易缠累我们的”]) 可能与 euperispaston (“偏离航向”) 有关。

CLOSET.

The term is used only once by the RSV, in Jgs. 3:24, to translate Heb. heder, an indoor washroom. Its use in the AV for Gk. tameion (Mt. 6:6; Lk. 12:3) is obsolete for “room.”

To put on or wear as a garment or other covering, often used figuratively.

CLOSET. 楼、内屋

《修订标准译本》仅在《士师记》3:24 中用这个词来翻译希伯来语 heder, 这个希伯来语的意思是 “室内厕所”。《钦定版圣经》用这个词来翻译希腊语 tameion (太 6:6; 路 12:3), 它是表示 “房间” 的废词。

CLOTHE; CLOTHED 穿衣; 穿衣服的

【希伯来语: lābēš, lābaš, kāsā (代上 21:16; 赛 37:2), krbl (代上 15:27), qādar (结 31:15), 介词 min 的习惯用法 (鸿 2:3) 和 ‘al (伯 37:22); 希腊语: endýō, peribállō, amphiénnymi, enkombóomai (彼前 5:5), ependýomai (林后 5:2, 4)】; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 WRAP (“遮体”) 和 ARRAY (“披上衣服”); 《新英文译本》还译为 COVER (“遮体”) 和 WEAR (“穿衣”)。穿衣或遮体通常有比喻义。

The Hebrew verbs metaphorically depict endowment with a power or quality such as righteousness (Job 29:14; Ps. 132:9), glory and splendor (Job 40:10), salvation (2 Ch. 6:41; Ps. 132:16; Isa. 61:10), shame, and dishonor (Job 8:22; Ps. 35:26; 109:29; 132:18). They describe acquisition of such characteristics as gloom (Heb. qāḏar [Ezk. 31:15]; AV “caused to mourn”; NEB “put in mourning”), strength (Job 39:19), cursing (Ps. 109:18), and trembling (Ezk. 26:16). God is clothed with honor and majesty (Ps. 104:1; Job 37:22 [Heb. ‘al-’lō (a)h]; cf. Ps. 93:1; Isa. 59:17; Lam. 3:43).

The metaphorical range includes several types of covering. Job’s skin is clothed with worms (7:5; NEB “infested”). The victorious Nebuchadnezzar will array himself with the land of Egypt (AV Jer. 43:12; RSV “clean”). The spirit of the Lord so completely envelops a person as to gain control (Heb. lābēš, Jgs. 6:34; 1 Ch. 12:18 [MT 19]; 2 Ch. 24:20).

Various attributes are portrayed as garments or clothing (Heb. l’būš), including strength and dignity (Prov. 31:25), garments (Heb. begeḏ) of salvation (Isa. 59:17; 61:10), and garments (Heb. tilbōšet) of vengeance (Isa. 59:17). Clouds are the garment of the sea (Job 38:9). Covering appears “as a garment,” as when God covers the earth with the deep (Ps. 104:6) and changes earth and heaven “like raiment” (Ps. 102:26 [MT 27]; AV “vesture”; NEB “cloak”). Heb. me’il (“robe, mantle”) occurs in the phrase “as a mantle,” referring to fury (Isa. 59:17), justice (Job 29:14), and shame (Ps. 109:29); cf. “robe of righteousness” (Isa. 61:10) and “robe of light” (Ps. 104:2). In the AV divorce is described as “covering violence with one’s garment” (Mal. 2:16).

这些希伯来语动词比喻性地描述了赐予人权柄或才能，如公义（伯 29:14；诗 132:9）、荣耀庄严（伯 40:10）、救赎（代下 6:41；诗 132:16；赛 61:10）、惭愧和羞耻（伯 8:22；诗 35:26；109:29；132:18）。还可表示使人忧郁（希伯来语：qāḏar [结 31:15]；《钦定版圣经》译为“caused to mourn”；《新英文译本》译为“put in mourning”，汉译均为“使人悲哀”），赐予力量（伯 39:19），遭受诅咒（诗 109:18），和使人惊骇（结 26:16）。上帝以尊荣威严为衣服（诗 104:1；伯 37:22 [希伯来语：‘al-’lō (a)h]；参：诗 93:1；赛 59:17；哀 3:43）。

这个比喻包括多种类型的衣服。约伯的肉体以虫子为衣（伯 7:5；《新英文译本》译为“infested” [“滋生”]）。凯旋归来的尼布甲尼撒必得埃及地好像披上外衣（《钦定版圣经》《耶利米书》43:12；《修订标准译本》译为“clean” [“得到”]）。耶和华的灵深深地感动了一个人，从而控制这个人（希伯来语：lābēš，士 6:34；代上 12:18 [《马所拉文本》19]；代下 24:20）。

衣服（希伯来语：l’būš）可以体现出多种属性特征，其中包括能力和威仪（箴 31:25）、拯救的头盔（希伯来语：begeḏ）（赛 59:17；61:10），报仇的衣服（tilbōšet）（赛 59:17）。云彩是海的衣服（伯 38:9）。上帝用深水遮掩地面，“犹如衣裳”（诗 104:6），将天地“如里衣”更换（诗 102:26 [《马所拉文本》27]；《钦定版圣经》译为“vesture”；《新英文译本》译为“cloak” [“里衣”]）。希伯来语 me’il (“袍子、外袍”) 用在短语 “as a mantle” (“作外袍”) 中，指的是愤怒（赛 59:17）、公义（伯 29:14）和羞愧（诗 109:29）；参：“公义的外袍”（赛 61:10）和“亮光的外袍”（诗 104:2）。在《钦定版圣经》中，休妻被描述为“以

Other Hebrew verbs that figuratively indicate clothing are ’āṭā (“cover” in Ps. 89:45 and 104:2 [NEB “wrap”]; “wrap” in Isa. 59:17; “array” in Jer. 43:12, AV [RSV “clean”; NEB “scour”]); yā’at (“cover” in Isa. 61:10 [NEB “wrapped”]); sārar (“bind” in Job 26:8 [NEB “keeps penned in”]; “wrapped” in Prov. 30:4 [AV “gathered”; NEB “bound up”]; Hos. 4:19 [AV “bound up”]); sākak (“wrapped” in Lam. 3:43f. [NEB “hidden”]).

Figurative occurrences in the NT include acquiring such characteristics as power (Lk. 24:49), humility (1 Pet. 5:5), and compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, and patience (Col. 3:12). God clothes the grass (Mt. 6:30; Lk. 12:28). Rome is a city clothed in fine linens and other riches of trade (Rev. 18:16); in another vision a woman is clothed with the sun (12:1).

Spiritual rebirth or the acceptance of Christ is depicted as having “put on Christ” (Rom. 13:14; Gal. 3:27), a new nature (Eph. 4:24; Col. 3:10), a heavenly dwelling (2 Cor. 5:2), and the imperishable and immortality (1 Cor.

其他一些用来比喻衣服的希伯来动词有 ’āṭā (诗 89:45 和 104:2 中的 “cover” [《新英文译本》中译为 “wrap”, 均汉译为[“披、披上”]; 在《钦定版圣经》《以赛亚书》59:17 中的 “wrap” 译为[“披上”]; 《耶利米书》43:12 中的 “array” 译为[“披上”]; [《修订标准译本》译为 “clean”, 《新英文译本》译为 “sour”, 汉译均为 “披上”]; yā’at (赛 61:10 中的 “cover” [《新英文译本》译为 “wrapped” 译为 “披上”]); sārar (伯 26:8 中的 “blind” [《新英文译本》译为 “keeps penned in”, 均汉译为 (“包起来”)]); 《箴言》30:4 中的 “wrapped” 在[《钦定版圣经》中译为 “gathered”; 《新英文译本》中译为 “bound up”, 均汉译为 (“聚”)]]; 《何西阿书》4:19[《钦定版圣经》中译为 “bound up”, 汉译为 “裹”; sākak (哀 3:43-44 中的 “wrapped” 在[《新英文译本》中译为 “hidden “], 均汉译为 “笼罩”。

《新约》中穿衣的比喻用法包括获得像能力 (路 24:49)、谦卑 (彼前 5:5)、怜悯、仁慈、谦虚、温柔、忍耐的心 (西 3:12) 这样的特点。神还给它这样的装饰 (太 6:30; 路 12:28)。罗马是一座披着细麻 (启 18:16) 且贸易繁多的城市; 另一个异象是一个身披日头的妇女 (启 12:1)。

灵魂的再生或基督的悦纳被视为披戴主耶稣基督 (罗 13:14; 加 3:27)、新人 (弗 4:24; 西 3:10)、天上来的房屋 (林后 5:2)、不朽坏的和不变的 (林前 15:53, 54)。保罗希望信徒拥有一个富有新生机的肉体 (希腊语译为 ependýomai; 《修

15:53f.). Paul suggests an enswathement of the physical mortal body with the new life (Gk. ependýomai; RSV “further clothe”; NEB “put on over”). Viewed by contemporary philosophers as a covering of the soul, the body was to be simultaneously clothed and transformed by the superimposed heavenly body. Cf. Gk. ependýtēs (an outer garment, Jn. 21:7), frequently used in the LXX for Heb. m^e‘il, an upper garment or robe.

Metaphorical garments in the NT include the armor of light (Rom. 13:12), the whole armor of God (Eph. 6:11), and the breastplate of faith and love (1 Thess. 5:8).

Among Eastern peoples a means of showing deep sorrow or remorse. Upon the death of a relative or important personage, or when there was a great calamity, it was customary for the Hebrews to tear their garments. Reuben rent his clothes when he found that Joseph had been taken from the pit (Gen. 37:29). The sons of Jacob rent their clothes when the cup was found in Benjamin’s sack (44:13). A messenger came to Eli with his clothes rent to tell of the taking of the ark of God and of the death of his two sons (1 S. 4:12). David rent his garment when he heard that Absalom had slain his brothers (2 S.

在新约中具有比喻性的服饰包括光明的兵器(罗 13:12)、神所赐的全副军装(弗 6:11)、由信和爱构成的护心镜遮胸(帖前 5:8)。

CLOTHES, RENDING OF. 撕裂衣服

这是东方人表示哀痛和懊悔的方式。一旦有亲属或重要的人离去,或是有重大灾难发生时,希伯来人便会撕毁他们的衣服。流便回到坑边,见约瑟不在坑里,就撕裂衣服(创 37:29)。当雅各的儿子们发现银杯在便雅悯的口袋里时,他们就撕裂衣服。一个报信人撕裂衣服,告诉以利两个儿子被杀和神的约柜被掳走的消息(撒上 4:12)。当大卫得知押沙龙杀死了他的兄弟,他撕裂了衣服(撒下 13:31)。另见《撒母耳记下》15:32;《列王纪下》18:37;《以赛亚书》36:22;《耶利米书》41:5。

Rending of clothes was evidently an expression of other strong emotions as well. The high priest rent his garment when Jesus spoke what he thought was blasphemy (Mt. 26:65).

I. 巴勒斯坦的云。在《圣经》中，特殊的云以及与天气现象有关的云都很少被提及。巴勒斯坦的天气比其他地区的天气多变。巴勒斯坦西部是一个细长的沿海地区，东部是沙漠地区。从西部吹过来的风很湿润并带来乌云。如果地面

other lands. It is a long, narrow country with sea on the west and desert on the east. The wind coming from the west is always moist and brings clouds with it. If the temperature over the land is low enough the clouds will be condensed and rain will fall, but if the temperature is high, as in the five months of summer, there can be no rain even though clouds are seen. As a whole the winter is cloudy and the summer clear.

In the autumn rain storms often arise suddenly from the sea and what seems to be a mere haze, "as small as a man's hand," such as Gehazi saw (1 K. 18:44) over the sea, within a few hours becomes the black storm cloud pouring down torrents of rain (v. 45). Fog is almost unknown and there is very seldom an overcast, gloomy day. The west and southwest winds bring rain (Lk. 12:54).

In the months of April, May, and September a hot east wind sometimes rises from the desert and brings with it a cloud of dust which fills the air and penetrates everything. In the summer afternoons, especially in August, on the seacoast there is apt to blow up from the south a considerable number of low cirro-stratus clouds which seem to fill the air with dampness, making more oppressive the dead heat of summer. These are doubtless the detested "clouds without water" mentioned in Jude 12, and "heat by the shade of a cloud" (Isa. 25:5).

II. Figurative Uses.—The metaphoric and symbolic uses of clouds are many, and furnish some of the most powerful figures of Scripture. In the OT, the Lord's presence is made manifest and His glory shown forth in a cloud. The cloud is

秋季，海上经常会下暴雨，看起来就像烟雾，就像仆人看见的从海上来的“如人手那样大的小片云”（王上 18:44），霎时间，天因风云黑暗，降下大雨（王上 18:45）。烟雾很难分辨，而且这里也很少有多云、阴沉的天。西风和西南风带来了雨（路 12:54）。

在四月、五月和九月，沙漠上空会形成炎热的东风，风中掺杂着许多尘土，飘散在空中，渗入万物中。在夏季的午后，尤其是八月份的午后，沿海地区南部大量的低压卷层云覆盖着整个沿海地区，这些低压卷层云使空气变得潮湿，使得炎热的夏日更加令人窒息。这些低压卷云层大概是《犹大书》12章中提到这令人厌恶的“无水的云”和“被云影消化的热气”（赛 25:5）。

II. 比喻用法。关于云彩的隐喻和象征性用法有很多，而且《圣经》中有一些最经典的例子。在《旧约》中，耶稣的存在是很引人注目的，祂在云中显明祂的荣耀。云彩一般象征着光明与闪耀，而且不能被世人彻底理解：“你以黑云 usually spoken of as bright and shining, and it could not be fathomed by man: “Thou hast wrapped thyself with a cloud so that no prayer can pass through” (Lam. 3:44). The Lord Himself was present in the cloud (Ex. 19:9; 24:16; 34:5) and His glory filled the places where the cloud was (16:10; 40:38; Nu. 10:34); “a cloud filled the house of the Lord” (1 K. 8:10). In the NT we often have “the Son of man coming on (with) clouds” (Mt. 24:30; 26:64; Mk. 13:26; 14:62; Lk. 21:27) and received up by clouds (Acts 1:9). The glory of the Second Coming is indicated in Rev. 1:7, “he is coming with the clouds” and “we who are alive ... shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord” and dwell with Him (1 Thess. 4:17).

The pillar of cloud was a symbol of God’s guidance and presence to the children of Israel in their journeys to the Promised Land. The Lord appeared in a pillar of cloud and forsook them not (Ex. 33:9f.; cf. Ps. 78:14; 99:7; Neh. 9:12, 19; etc.). See PILLAR OF CLOUD AND FIRE.

As the black cloud covers the sky and sweeps the sun from sight, so the Lord promises to sweep away the sins of Israel (Isa. 44:22); Egypt also shall be conquered: “She shall be covered by a cloud” (Ezk. 30:18; cf. Lam. 2:1).

There is usually a wide difference in temperature between day and night in Palestine. The days are warm and clouds coming from the sea are often completely dissolved in the warm atmosphere over the land. As the temperature falls, the moisture again condenses into dew and mist over the hills and valleys. As the sun rises the “morning cloud” (Hos. 6:4) is 遮蔽自己，以致祷告不得透入”（哀 3:44）。耶稣本人也出现在云彩中（出 19:9; 24:16; 34:5）并且祂的荣光在云中显现（出 16:10; 40:38; 民 10:34）；“有云充满耶和华的殿”（王上 8:10）。在《新约》中我们经常可以看到这样的话“人子驾着天上的云降临”（太 24:30; 26:64; 可 13:26; 14:62; 路 21:27）并被云接去（徒 1:9）。《启示录》1:7 中表明了基督复临时的光荣“他驾云彩降临”和“我们这活着还存留的人必和他们一同被提到云里，在空中与主相遇”并与主同在（帖前 4:17）。

密云遮住了天空和太阳，所以耶和华应允将像消散密云一样涂抹以色列的罪恶（赛 44:22）；埃及也将会被征服：“这城必有密云遮蔽”（结 30:18; 参：哀 2:1）。

在巴勒斯坦，早晚的温差很大。白天很暖和，云从海面上来，通常被完全融入陆地上空温暖的大气中。当气温下降时，水汽凝结成露水和山谷上的雾气。随着太阳的升起，“早晨的云雾”（何 6:4）会迅速的消散并完全消失。约伯的福禄如同云彩一样过去（伯 30:15）。

quickly dispelled and disappears entirely. Job compares the passing of his prosperity to the passing clouds (Job 30:15).

God “binds up the waters in his thick clouds” (Job 26:8) and the “clouds are the dust of his feet” (Nah. 1:3). The Lord will “command the clouds that they rain no rain” (Isa. 5:6), but as for man, “who can number the clouds ...?” (Job 38:37); “Can any one understand the spreading of the clouds?” (36:29); “Do you know the balancings of the clouds, the wondrous works of him who is perfect in knowledge ...?” (37:16). “He who regards the clouds will not reap” (Eccl. 11:4), for it is God who controls the clouds and man cannot fathom His wisdom. “Thick clouds enwrap him” (Job 22:14).

Clouds are a central figure in many visions. Ezekiel beheld “a stormy wind ... out of the north, and a great cloud” (Ezk. 1:4), and John saw “a white cloud, and seated on the cloud one like a son of man” (Rev. 14:14). See also Dnl. 7:13; Rev. 10:1; 11:12.

The cloud is also the symbol of the terrible and of destruction. The day of the Lord’s reckoning is called the “day of clouds” (Ezk. 30:3) and a day of “clouds and thick darkness” (Zeph. 1:15). The invader is expected to “come up like clouds” (Jer. 4:13). Joel (2:2) foretells the coming of locusts as “a day of clouds and thick darkness,” which is both literal and figurative. Misfortune and old age are compared to “a day of clouds and thick darkness” (Ezk. 34:12) and “the clouds returning after rain” (Eccl. 12:2).

上帝“将水包在密云中”(伯 26:8)，“云彩为祂脚下的尘土”(鸿 1:3)。主将会“命云不将雨降在其上”(赛 5:6)，但是人类，“谁能算出云数…?”(伯 38:37)。“谁能明白云彩如何铺张?”(伯 36:29)；“云彩如何浮于空中，那知识全备者奇妙的作为，你知道吗…?”(伯 37:16)。“望云的必不收割”(传 11:4)。因此上帝可以控制云彩而人们不能理解祂的智慧。“密云将祂遮盖”(伯 22:14)。

在一些异象中云彩是中心意象。《以西结书》中提到“狂风从北方刮来，随着有一朵大云”(结 1:4)，并且约翰也看到“一片白云，云上坐着一位好像人子”(启 14:14)。另见但 7:13；启 10:1；11:12。

云彩也是恐怖和灾难的一种象征。主将那一天叫做“密云之日”(结 30:3)和“密云、乌黑的日子”(番 1:15)。侵略者“必如云上来”(耶 4:13)。《约珥书》2:2 中预示着蝗虫即将来临，犹如“密云、乌黑的日子”，这里既表达了字面意思，也使用了比喻用法。灾难和暮年也可比喻为“密云、乌黑的日子”(结 34:12)和“雨后云彩返回”(传 12:2)。

Clouds are used in connection with various other figures: rapidity of motion, “these that fly like a cloud” (Isa. 60:8); swaddling clothes of the newborn earth (Job 38:9); great height (Job 20:6), figuratively, Isa. 14:14, “I will ascend above the heights of the clouds,” portraying the self-esteem of Babylon. “A cloudless morning” is the symbol of righteousness and justice (2 S. 23:4); and clouds are a figure of partial knowledge and hidden glory (Lev. 16:2; Acts 1:9; Rev. 1:7).

CLOUDBURST

[Heb. nepes] (Isa. 30:30); AV SCATTERING. The literal meaning of the Hebrew is “shattering,” “scattering,” or “dispensing”; here the context indicates that “clouds” is the implied object.

CLOUT.

An archaic word in the AV for a patch or piece of cloth, leather, or the like—a rag, a shred, or fragment: old “cast clouts [Heb. hass^ehābôt] and old rotten rags” (Jer. 38:11f.). As a verb it means to “bandage,” “patch,” or mend with a clout: “old shoes and clouted [tālā’, RSV “patched”] upon their feet” (Josh. 9:5); cf. Shakespeare, Cymbeline, IV, 2: “I thought he slept, And put my clouted brogues from off my feet”; Milton, Comus: “And the dull swain treads on it daily with his clouted shoon.”

云彩还用于其他多种描述中；快速的运动，“那些飞来如云”（赛 60:8）；像包裹新天地的布（伯 38:9）；比喻很高的高度（伯 20:6），例如描述巴比伦的自大，“我要升到高云之上”（赛 14:14）。“无云的清晨”（撒下 23:4）象征着公义和公正；云彩也是受上帝偏爱，有智慧和荣耀之人的象征（利 16:2；徒 1:9；启 1:7）。

CLOUDBURST 霹雷、大雨

【希伯来语：nepes】（赛 30:30）；《钦定版圣经》译为 SCATTERING（“霹雷”）。这个希伯来语的字面意思是“破碎”“散乱”或“分散”；根据语境分析，这个希伯来语在这里暗指的是“云彩”。

CLOUT. 衣服

《钦定版圣经》中用来表示一块布、皮革或类似之物（碎布、碎片）的古词：“破布”【希伯来语：hass^ehābôt】“烂衣”（耶 38:11-12）。该词的动词形式表示“用布带包扎、包裹”，“修补”或者用布缝补：“将补过的旧鞋和旧衣服【tālā’，《修订标准译本》中译为“patched”（“修补”）】穿在的脚上和身上”（书 9:5）；参：莎士比亚《辛白林》（IV, 2）：“我以为他睡了，便把我补过的皮鞋从我脚上脱了下来”；弥尔顿《酒神之假面舞会》：“无奈的年轻人每天穿着补过的旧鞋子走在路上”。

The term occurs in Dt. 14:6f.; Lev. 3:3, 7, 26 for a participial form of Heb. šāsa ‘, to “split,” and is applied to beasts with divided hooves. Ruminant beasts with hooves completely bifurcated were allowed to the Israelites as food. See CHEWING THE CUD.

CLOVEN 分开的、分蹄的

这个词在《申命记》14:6-7;《利未记》3:3, 7, 26 中用来翻译希伯来语 šāsa 的分词形式, 意为“分开”, 还可以表示走兽的蹄子分为两瓣。以色列人可以将分蹄反刍的动物作为食物。另见 CHEWING THE CUD (倒嚼)。

Philologically, little is known about Heb. tōtāh, which occurs only in Job 41:29. A presumed Semitic cognate verb means “beat with a club,” and the LXX has Gk. sphýra, “hammer, mallet.” In Prov. 25:18 the LXX reads rhópalon, “war club,” which is the equivalent of Heb. mappēš.

The Gk. xýlon means basically “wood,” but is used also to designate various wooden objects. Jesus was arrested by a crowd carrying swords and xýla, weapons of wood, perhaps shepherd staves but more likely clubs.

nī'dəs [Gk. Knidos]. A Greek colony on the southwestern tip of Caria, Asia Minor. It is mentioned in Acts 27:7 with the simple statement that Paul and his companions on their journey to Rome “arrived with difficulty off Cnidus.” As early as the 6th cent. B.C. Cnidus, which had been colonized by Dorians, was an important trade center, with connections to Rome and to Egypt. In the Hellenistic period, according to Strabo (Geog. xiv.2.15 [col. 656]), Cnidus had two harbors “one of which can be closed,” and was a naval station for twenty ships. The peculiar geographical location, on a promontory about 40 mi. (65 km.) from W to E, lying between the islands of Cos and Rhodes and surrounded by other islands of the Sporades, not only gave it the two harbors, but also made it dangerous to sail past when the wind was blowing from the north. The captain of Paul’s ship was forced to go with the Cnidus was explored in the 19th century. The ruins of a well-planned city with seawalls, piers, and many sanctuaries can be traced. Here were discovered the statue of Demeter, now in the British Museum, and the justly famous Aphrodite of Praxiteles (4th cent. B.C.). The city was a cult center of Aphrodite, and a portion of the ruins of the temple to that goddess can still be seen. Cnidus held the rank of a free city, and a colony of Jews was located here as early as the 2nd cent. B.C.

考古学家在 19 世纪发掘了革尼土。从该地遗迹可以看出这里有一座布局合理的城市，并且可以看到海堤、码头和许多圣所的痕迹。在这里发现了德墨忒尔女神雕像，现已存放于大英博物馆，还有著名雕刻家普拉克西特列斯（公元前 4 世纪）的名作阿佛洛狄忒雕像。这座城市曾是阿佛洛狄忒的崇拜者的聚集地，现在仍然可以看到这位女神神庙的部分遗迹。革尼土是自由的城市，早在公元前 2 世纪就有犹太人定居在这里。

COAL 炭、煤炭

【希伯来语: gaḥelet】; 《新英文译本》译为 EMBER (“火炭”) 【peḥām】 (赛 44:12; 54:16; 诗 11:6 修订); 《钦定版圣经》译为 SNARE (“火炭”) (诗 11:6, 《马所拉文本》作 paḥ); 【reṣep】 (赛 6:6); 【希腊语: ánthrax】 (罗 12:20); CHARCOAL (“余火”) 【希伯来语: peḥām (箴 26:21); 希腊语: anthrakía (约 18:18; 21:9)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 COALS (“余火”); 参: 《新英文译本》 (箴 26:21), “就像余火上加炭”; 《钦定版圣经》用 “coal” (“火炭”) 翻译《列王纪上》19:6 中的希伯来语 reṣep, (《修订标准译本》, 《新英文译本》中译为 “hot stone” [“炭火”]), 《雅歌》8:6 (《修订标准译本》译为 “flash” 《新英文译本》译为 “blaze”, 汉译均为 “火焰”) 和《哈巴谷书》3:5 (《修订标准译本》, 《新英文译本》中译为 “plague” [“热症”]) 中的 reṣep 和《耶利米哀歌》4:8 中的

ṣ̌ḥôr (《修订标准译本》,《新英文译本》中译为“soot”[“煤炭”])。

There is no reference to mineral coal in the Bible. Coal, or more properly lignite, of inferior quality, is found in thin beds (not exceeding 3 ft.[1 m.]) in the Nubian sandstone formations, but there is no evidence of its use in ancient times. Charcoal is manufactured in a primitive fashion which does not permit the conservation of any by-products. A flat, circular place (Arab beidar, same name as for a threshing floor) 10 to 15 ft. (3 to 5 m.) in diameter is prepared in, or conveniently near to, the forest. On this the wood to be converted into charcoal is carefully stacked in a dome-shaped structure, leaving an open space in the middle for fine kindlings. All except the center is covered first with leaves and then with earth. The kindlings in the center are then fired and afterward covered in the same manner as the rest. While it is burning or smoldering it is carefully watched, and earth is immediately placed upon any holes that may be formed in the covering by the burning of the wood below. In several days, more or less according to the size of the pile, the wood is converted into charcoal and the heap is opened. The charcoal floor is also called in Arab mašharah, from šahhār, “soot”; cf. Heb. ṣ̌ḥôr. The characteristic odor of the mašharah clings for months to the spot.

In Ps. 120:4 there is mention of “coals of the broom tree.” This is doubtless the Arab retem, Retama roetam, Forsk., a kind of broom which is abundant in Judea and Moab. Charcoal from oak wood, especially Quercus coccifera, L., Arab sindyān, is much preferred to other kinds, and draws a higher price.

In most of the passages where English versions have “coal,” the reference is not necessarily to charcoal, but may be to coals of burning wood. Peḥām in Prov. 26:21, however, seems to stand for charcoal:

“As charcoal to hot embers and wood to fire, so is a quarrelsome man for kindling strife.”

The same may be true of peḥām in Isa. 44:12 and 54:16; also of š^eḥōr in Lam. 4:8.

更受欢迎，价格也较为昂贵。

英文译本在大多数段落中将其译为“coal”，这个词不一定是指“木炭”，也可能是指“燃烧的炭”。然而，Peḥām 在《箴言》26:21 中可能表示“木炭”。

就如余火加炭，火上加柴一样。”

《以赛亚书》44:12 和 54:16 中的 peḥām 和《耶利米哀歌》4:8 中的 š^eḥōr 也可能表示煤炭。

【希伯来语：“rīsā】(民 15:20-21；尼 10:37；结 44:30)；《钦定版圣经》，《新英文译本》译为 DOUGH (“麦面”)。可能献初熟的果实时用到的一种大麦面或和面的第一阶段。

【希伯来语：’î】(创 10:5；斯 10:1；诗 97:1；赛 11:11 等)；《钦定版圣经》译为 ISLE (“岛屿”)，ISLAND (“海岛”)，COUNTRY (“海岛”) (耶 47:4)；《新英文译本》译为 SEA-COAST (“沿海”) (赛 23:2, 6)，ISLAND (“海岛”)；【gebûl】(民 34:6；书 15:12, 47)；《钦定版圣经》译为 BORDER (“海岸”)；《新英文译本》译为 SEABOARD (“海滨”) (民 34:6)，“land adjacent” (“毗邻的土地”)；【hōp】(书 9:1；士 5:17)；《钦定版圣经》，《新英文译本》译为 SEA-SHORE (“海口”) (士 5:17)；【希腊语：katá tēn Asian】(徒 27:2)；《新英

文译本》译为 PROVINCE (“海边”)。

In general, the term 'i means “coast” or “shore,” although “island” is required in Jer. 47:4 (cf. Egyp 'w or 'iw, “island”); thus, any land—island or mainland—contiguous with the waters of the Mediterranean Sea. The Phoenicians were “inhabitants of the coast” (Isa. 23:2, 6) and their commercial ventures extended to the distant lands of the Mediterranean (Ezk. 27:3, 15, 35). The “shores of Kittim [Cyprus]” (Jer. 2:10; Ezk. 27:6) refers not to the entire island but to the territory on Cyprus occupied by the Phoenicians (cf. Isa. 23:1f.). These Mediterranean colonies of Phoenicia were, together with Tyre and Sidon, the objects of God’s judgment (Jer. 25:22); a prophecy was fulfilled in Tyre’s submission to Babylonian suzerainty in 574 B.C., after a thirteen-year siege. The place name “Elishah” in Ezk. 27:7 (“Alashia” in the El-Amarna Tablets) refers to a city (Enkomi?) on the island of Cyprus. In Isa. 40–66; Jer. 31:10; and Ezk. 26:15, 'i refers to distant, heathen nations. Dnl. 11:18 predicts the seizure of the 'iyyim of Asia Minor and the Aegean during the campaign of Antiochus III against Greece, 197–191 B.C.

Hebrew hōp (Ugar. hp; Egyp. ha-pū) designates the shore or coastal plain of the Mediterranean (cf. Gen. 49:13; Dt. 1:7; Jer. 47:7; Ezk. 25:16). For g^ebūl, see BORDER.

In Acts 27:2, katá replaces a genitive and refers to water along the coasts of Cilicia and Pamphylia (cf. Acts 27:5). Paul’s ship was sailing from Caesarea and going home to Adramyttium in Mysia; at Myra, Paul transferred to an Alexandrian ship

总的来说, 'i 的意思是“海边”或“海岸”, 但《耶利米书》47:4 中实际指的是“海岛”(参: 埃及语 'w 或 'iw, 意思是“岛屿”); 因此, 指的是地中海海滨的任何一座陆地岛或大陆。腓尼基人是“沿海的居民”(赛 23:2, 6), 他们与地中海上的一些偏远岛屿邦国通商(结 27:3, 15, 35)。“基提海岛(塞浦路斯岛)”(耶 2:10; 结 27:6)不是指整座岛屿, 而是指腓尼基人在塞浦路斯岛上占领的那片区域(参: 赛 23:1–2)。这些地中海上腓尼基人的领地与推罗和西顿都要受到上帝的审判(耶 25:22); 公元前 574 年, 推罗在被包围十三年后, 向巴比伦宗主国投降, 关于推罗的预言应验了。《以西结书》27:7 中“以利沙”(亚玛拿泥版中的“Alashia”)指的是塞浦路斯岛上的一座城市(可能是恩科米)。在《赛 40–66》;《耶利米书》31:10 和《以西结书》26:15 中, 'i 指的是远方的异教国家。《但以理书》11:18 中预言了公元前 197–191 年安提阿三世在远征希腊时将夺取小亚细亚和爱琴海的海岛。

希伯来语 hōp (乌加里特语 hp; 埃及语 ha-pū) 指地中海海岸(参: 创 49:13; 申 1:7; 耶 47:7; 结 25:16)。关于 g^ebūl, 见 BORDER (海岸)。

《使徒行传》27:2 中, katá 取代所有格, 指基利家和旁非利亚前面的海(参: 徒 27:5)。保罗的船队从凯撒里亚出发, 回到了每西亚上的亚大米田; 保罗在每拉换乘亚历山大的船只前往罗马。

COAT 衣服、内袍、里衣

【希伯来语: kuttōnef】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 GARMENT (“衣服”); 《新英文译本》译为 TUNIC (“长袍”), SHIRT (“上衣”), DRESS (“衣服”), MANTLE (“披风”); 【maq】(诗 109:18); 《钦定版圣经》, 《新英文译本》译为 GARMENT (“衣服”); 【希腊语: chiton】; 《新英文译本》译为 TUNIC (“长袍”), SHIRT (“上衣”)。这些词显然指的是贴身穿的内袍。男人要穿(利 10:5; 撒下 15:32; 伯 30:18) 女人也要穿(歌 5:3), 内袍是基本的服装, 其他的衣服要穿在它的外面。耶稣教导祂的门徒, 有人夺你的外衣(希腊语 himátion; 《新英文译本》“coat” [“衣服”]), 连里衣(希腊语 chitón) 也由他拿去(路 6:29; 参: 太 5:40; Bauer, 377 页)。内袍显然穿在祭司蓝色以弗得外袍的里面(出 29:5)。那些享有特权的人可能会穿两件内袍(路 3:11, 太 10:10, 《钦定版圣经》, 《新英文译本》; 《修订标准译本》译为 “tunics” [“衣服”])。(见 CLOTHE, CLOTHED. [穿衣, 穿衣服的]) 睡觉的时候脱去这种衣服(歌 5:3)。在动荡时期要撕裂衣服, 以示悲痛(撒下 15:32; 另见 CLOTHES, RENDING OF [撕裂衣服])。

内袍一般是由细麻布料制成的, 但也有用皮子等其他面料制成的(参: 创 3:21, 《钦定版圣经》; 《修订标准译本》译为 “garments” [“衣服”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “tunics” [“里衣”])。这些希伯来

Greek terms were derived (Sum. gad, gada; Akk. kitû, kitinnu; Ugar., Phoenician ktn) the same word meant both “linen” and “(linen) tunic.” In Hebrew linen was designated by both baḏ (Lev. 16:4; originally “piece [of cloth]”; KoB, p. 108) and šēš (Ex. 28:39; RSV, AV, “fine linen”), high-quality Egyptian material (cf. Gk. býssos; KoB, p. 1013). In some instances the garment was seamless (Jn. 19:23, AV; RSV, NEB, “tunic”). The coat was sometimes decorated by embroidery (Ex. 28:4, 39, AV; RSV “checker work”; NEB “checkered tunic”). Among tribute paid by kings of Syria and Palestine, Tiglath-pileser III (744–727) lists “linen garments with multi-colored trimmings” (ANET, p. 282). The AV renders the Hebrew term for Joseph’s garment (kēṭōneṭ passîm; Gen. 37:3, 23, 31f.) as “coat of many colors” (LXX Gk. chitōna poikilon; RSV “long robe with sleeves”); it was probably a robe or tunic of variegated pieces (cf. Heb. pas, “piece”; KoB, p. 768

In the wall reliefs from Sennacherib’s palace at Nineveh, men of Lachish are shown wearing long garments with sleeves of varying length. The garments appear to have closely-fitted collars (cf. Job 30:18, AV; RSV “tunic”; NEB “shirt”). No sashes are worn, but cf. Ex. 28:39; Mk. 1:6; Josephus Ant. iii.7.2.

Frequently designated as a priestly garment (Ex. 28:4, 39f.; Lev. 10:5; Ezr. 2:69; Neh. 7:70, 72 [MT 69, 71]), the coat was among the vestments bestowed in the consecration service (Ex. 29:5, 8; 39:27; 40:14; Lev. 8:7, 13). Aaron was commanded to wear the “holy linen coat” when entering the holy of holies on the Day of Atonement (Lev. 16:4).

语和希腊语是从一些同语系语言中衍生出来的，在这些语言中（苏美尔语：gad, gada；阿卡德语：kitû, kitinnu；乌加里特语，腓尼基语：ktn），这个词既可以表示“细麻布”，也可以表示“细麻布短袍”。在希伯来语中，细麻布用 baḏ（利 16:4；原意是“一件衣服”；KoB, 108 页）和 šēš（出 28:39；《修订标准译本》，《钦定版圣经》译为“fine linen” [“细麻线”]）来表示，这是一种高质量的埃及布料（参：希腊语 býssos；KoB, 1013 页）。里衣有时没有缝儿（约 19:23，《钦定版圣经》；《修订标准译本》，《新英文译本》译为“tunic” [“里衣”]）。有些内袍是杂色的（出 28:4, 39，《钦定版圣经》；《修订标准译本》译为“checker work”；《新英文译本》译为“checkered tunic”，汉译均为“杂色的内袍”）。在亚兰、非利士献给提革拉毗尼色三世的贡品清单中提到了“细麻布衣服和多彩的配饰”（ANET, 282 页）。《钦定版圣经》将表示约瑟的衣服的希伯来词 (kēṭōneṭ passîm；创 37:3, 23, 31–32) 译为“coat of many colors” (“彩衣”)（《七十士译本》译为希腊语 chitōna poikilon，《修订标准译本》译为“long robe with sleeves” [“带袖长袍”]）；这可能指的是一件杂色的长衣或长袍（参：希伯来语 pas，意思是“件、片、条”；KoB, 768 页）。

在尼尼微西拿基立宫殿的浮雕墙上，拉吉人穿着袖子长短不一的长袍。外衣上似乎有合身的领子（参：伯 30:18，《钦定版圣经》；《修订标准译本》译为“tunic” [“里衣”]；《新英文译本》译为“shirt” [“上衣”]）。他们不带腰带，参：《出埃及记》28:39；《马可福音》1:6；约瑟夫斯《犹太古史》iii.7.2。

mitnaššē, “lifting itself up.” The RSV and NEB follow the LXX and Vulgate (Lat gallus), which are presumed to be based on a better Hebrew text here. The cock was introduced into Judea probably only with the Roman conquest (see CHICKEN), but Babylonian influence could explain the reference in Proverbs.

J. W. DEHOOG

The cock is several times mentioned in the NT, always with reference to its habit of crowing with clocklike regularity. The first full salute comes almost to the minute at half-past eleven, the second at half-past one, and the third at dawn. So uniformly do the cocks keep time and proclaim these three periods of night that we find cock-crowing mentioned as a regular division of time: “Watch therefore—for you do not know when the master of the house will come, in the evening, or at midnight, or in the morning” (Mk. 13:35).

Jesus had these same periods of night in mind when he warned Peter that he would betray Him. Mt. 26:34; Lk. 22:34; Jn. 13:38, give almost identical wording of the warning. But in all his writing Mark was more explicit, more given to exact detail. Remembering the divisions of night as the cocks kept them, his record reads: “And Jesus said to him, ‘Truly, I say to you, this very night, before the cock crows twice, you will deny me three times’” (Mk. 14:30). It is hardly necessary to add that the cocks crow at irregular intervals as well as at the times indicated, according to the time of the year and the phase of the moon (being more likely to crow during the

鸡这个词在《新约》中多次被提到, 通常还提到鸡鸣像闹钟一样准时。第一声鸡鸣在十一点半, 第二声在一点半, 第三声在黎明拂晓时。鸡鸣时间很准确, 表明了晚上的三段时间, 我们发现经文中提到的鸡鸣准确的划分了时间: “所以你们要警醒, 因为你们不知道家主什么时候来, 或晚上、或半夜、或鸡叫、或早晨”(可 13:35)。

耶稣对彼得说“今晚鸡叫以前, 你会三次不认我”, 在耶稣心中夜晚同样分为三段时间。《马太福音》26:34; 《路加福音》22:34; 《约翰福音》13:38 几乎都使用了相同的警示语。但在《马可福音》中表述更具体, 也给出更多的细节。以鸡叫来划分时间, 他回忆道: “耶稣对他说: ‘我实在告诉你: 就在今天夜里, 鸡叫两遍以先, 你要三次不认我’”(可 14:30)。没有必要补充说, 鸡叫是不规律的, 正如各时代情况所表明的, 据说在一年的某个时间以及月亮处于某个相位时(更有可能指夜晚出现满月时的鸡叫), 或当有风暴来袭时, 亦或有人骚扰邻居家时, 鸡也会叫。

sē'lə-sir'ē-ə[Gk. Koilē Syria-‘hollow Syria’]; AV CELOSYRIA. The region between the Lebanon and the Anti-Lebanon mountain ranges. The term is variously used to designate other areas or larger areas, extending from the Euphrates River to the border of Egypt. The OT name biq'at hall'ēbānōn, “the valley of the Lebanon” (Josh. 11:17), refers to the portion of the Rift Valley which lies N of the Upper Jordan Valley, and is generally equated with Coelesyria. The modern Arabic name Beqa' is given to the same region (cf. Baalbek, “the Ball of the Beqa'”). See LEBANON.

In the days of the Ptolemies and the Seleucids, the area composed of Palestine and Phoenicia was considered to be a single province, possibly the equivalent of the Persian province of Trans-Euphrates (“Beyond the River”; cf. Ezr. 8:36; Neh. 2:7; etc.). Jerusalem was one of its cities. Yet while Phoenicia was included in the province, we should note that it was not included in the term Coelesyria, for Apollonius of Tarsus is referred to as “governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia” (2 Macc. 3:5–8; cf. 1 Macc. 10:69; etc.).

COELESYRIA 大叙利亚、基利叙利亚

音译: sē'lə-sir'ē-ə【希腊语: Koilē Syria-“大叙利亚”】；《钦定版圣经》译为 CELOSYRIA（“叙利亚”）。介于黎巴嫩和外黎巴嫩山之间的地区。这个词可以表示从幼发拉底河延伸到埃及边界的其他地区或更大的区域。《旧约》中的 biq'at hall'ēbānōn，意思是“黎巴嫩谷”（书 11:17），指的是大裂谷的一部分，位于上约旦河谷的北部，基本就是大叙利亚的位置。在现代阿拉伯语中 Beqa' 也表示同一地区（参：巴勒贝克“贝加山谷”）。见 LEBANON（黎巴嫩）。

在多利买和塞琉古王朝时期，巴勒斯坦和腓尼基地区被认为是一个行省，可能相当于大河西的波斯行省（“河西”；参：拉 8:36；尼 2:7 等）。耶路撒冷是其中的一个城市。然而当腓尼基并入到该行省内时，我们应该注意到它并不在大叙利亚范围内，因为大数的阿波罗尼是“大叙利亚总督”（马二 3:5–8；参：马一 10:69 等）。

Josephus on the one hand speaks of “Coelesyria as far as the river Euphrates and Egypt” (Ant. xiv.4.5). On the other hand, when Josephus reports that “Herod was made general of Coelesyria and Samaria” (BJ i.10.8), he uses the term with reference to northern Transjordan, including Scythopolis (Beisan) in Cisjordan, and extending even to Damascus. Strabo (Geog. xvi.2.2–22) uses the term Coelesyria to include also the fertile area between the Anti-Lebanon and the desert, with Damascus as the principal city. Hence there is no precise meaning of the term.

约瑟夫斯一方面说“大叙利亚延伸到底格里斯河和埃及” (Ant. xiv.4.5)。另一方面又说“希律是大叙利亚和撒玛利亚的总督” (BJ i.10.8)，约瑟夫斯所说的大叙利亚是指外约旦的北部，包括约旦河西岸的西昭波利（贝森），甚至延伸至大马士革。斯特拉波 (Geog. xvi.2.2–22) 所说的大叙利亚也包括了逆黎巴嫩谷和沙漠之间的肥沃土地，并把大马士革作为了大叙利亚的主要城市。因此大叙利亚这个词的含义尚不确定。

Palestine is essentially a land of sunshine and warmth, where the extreme cold of northern latitudes is unknown. January is the coldest month, but the degree of cold in a particular place depends largely on the altitude above the sea. On the seacoast and plain snow never falls, and the temperature reaches freezing-point perhaps once in thirty years. In Jerusalem, at 2500 ft. (750 m.) above the sea, the mean temperature in January is about 45° F. (7° C.), but the minimum may be as low as 25° F. (-4° C.). Snow occasionally falls, but lasts only a short time. On Mt. Hermon and on the Lebanon snow may be found the whole year, and the cold is intense, even in the summer. In Jericho and around the Dead Sea, 1292 ft. (394 m.) below sea level, it is correspondingly hotter and cold is not known.

Because cold weather in Palestine is of such short duration, little provision is made for the heating of private homes apart from portable appliances. In the biblical period the charcoal brazier was a popular source of heat in winter (cf. Jn. 18:18). Peasants and nomadic peoples often maintained camp fires in the open air in cold weather (cf. Acts 28:2) to avoid the more severe effects of winter (cf. Ps. 147:17). Extreme deprivation was described under the image of nakedness in the cold (Job 24:7).

In the burning heat of summer the shadow of a rock or the cool of the evening is a welcome boon, as is a cup of cold water to the parched traveler (Prov. 25:25). The “cold of snow” (Prov. 25:13) may perhaps refer to chips of ice used for cooling beverages in summer. Figurative usages of cold occur in Mt. 24:12; Rev. 3:15f.

COLLECTED SAYINGS

[Heb. ba^alê^asuppôt—‘masters of collections’] (Eccl. 12:11); AV “masters of assemblies”; NEB “assembled people.” If the RSV is correct, the phrase refers to a phenomenon common in the ancient Near East, viz., the creating or collecting of wise sayings by classes of scribes under priestly or royal patronage. The OT has both Solomon (1 K. 4:29–34) and Hezekiah (Prov. 25:1) making such collections. To the Israelite, God was the ultimate source of the wisdom reflected in the sayings of wise men like Qoheleth.

COLONY

[Gk. kolōnia, from Lat. colonia] (Acts 16:12). The word occurs but once, in reference to Philippi in Macedonia. Roman colonies were of three kinds and of three periods: (1) Those of the early republic, in which the colonists, established in conquered towns to serve the state as guardians of the frontier, were exempt from ordinary military service. They were distinguished as (a) coloniae civium Romanorum, wherein the colonists retained Roman citizenship, also called coloniae maritimae because they were situated on the coast, and (b) coloniae Latinae, situated inland among the allies (socii), wherein the colonists possessed the ius Latinum, entitling them to invoke the Roman law of property (commercium) but not that of the family (connubium), and received Roman citizenship only when elected to magistracies. (2) The colonies of the Gracchan period, established in pursuance of the scheme of agrarian reforms, to provide land for the poorer citizens. (3) Colonies founded in Italy by the republic after the time of Sulla as a device for granting lands to retiring veterans, who of course retained citizenship. This privilege was appropriated by Caesar and the emperors, who employed it to establish military colonies, chiefly in the provinces, with various rights and internal organizations. To this class belonged Philippi. Partly organized after the great battle of 42 B.C. fought in the neighboring plain by Brutus and Cassius, the champions of the fated republic, and Antonius and Octavian, it was fully established as a colony by Octavian (afterward styled Augustus) after the battle of Actium (31 B.C.), under the name Colonia Augusta Iulia Philippi,

COLONY 驻防城、殖民地

【希腊语：kolōnia，来自拉丁语：colonia】（徒 16:12）。这个词只出现过一次，马其顿的腓立比。罗马殖民地分为三种，经历了三个发展阶段：（1）早期共和国时期的殖民地，罗马人在征服的城镇中建立驻防城作为他们的边界要塞，这种驻防城可以免除普通的兵役。它们分为两种（a）一种是罗马公民殖民地（coloniae civium Romanorum），这里面的殖民者保留罗马国籍，这种殖民地因为位于沿海地区，也被称为沿海殖民地（coloniae maritimae），另一种（b）叫拉丁殖民地（coloniae Latinae），它们建立在同盟国间的内陆上，这里面的殖民者享有拉丁权利，他们援引罗马财产法（commercium）而不是援引家庭法（connubium）行使权利，只有当他们被选举为地方长官时，才能获得罗马国籍。（2）格拉古时期的殖民地，这种殖民地是为了推行土地改革和向更贫困的居民提供土地而建立的。（3）苏拉时期之后，罗马共和国在意大利建立了殖民地，这种殖民地主要用于安置退役军人，当然这些人拥有罗马国籍。凯撒和罗马皇帝独享这种特权，他们用这种特权和各种权利以及内部组织建立军事殖民地，这些殖民地主要建立在行省内。腓立比属于这种类型的殖民地。公元前 42 年已亡共和国的拥护者布鲁图和卡西乌斯与安东尼和屋大维在腓立比附近的平原上争战，在这场大战以后，腓立比部分形成，亚克兴战役之后（公元前 31 年）屋大维将其建成了罗马的驻防城（奥古斯都后来设计了这座城市的样式），并将其命名为 Colonia Augusta Iulia Philippi 或 Philippensis。这座城市拥有意大利权（ius Italicum），因此行省内的城市同样获得了意大利权利，它们拥有自治权，并且可以免交丁税和土地税。

I. Hebrew and Greek Terms.-The word translated “color” in the AV most frequently is Heb. ‘ayin, which literally means “eye” or “appearance” and is usually so translated in the RSV. In the NT the Gk. próphasis has the meaning of pretense or show (AV Acts 27:30; cf. Rev. 17:4). The references to Joseph’s coat “of many colors” (AV Gen. 37:3, 23, 32) and to garments “of divers colors” (2 S. 13:18f.) probably do not mean the color of the garment at all; Heb. passîm more likely indicates that it had long sleeves, as suggested by the RSV and NEB. In Jgs. 5:30 the word for “dip” or “dye,” Heb. ṣeba, appears in the MT and has been so translated by the RSV (see DYE). In 1 Ch. 29:2 Heb. riqmâ, meaning “variegated,” hence “varicolored,” occurs. In Isa. 54:11 pûk is used. This name was applied to the sulphide of antimony used for painting the eyes; thus the RSV rendering “antimony” instead of “fair colors” (see PAINT).

I. 希伯来语和希腊语词条。《钦定版圣经》通常将希伯来语 ‘ayin 译为“color” (“颜色”), 这个希伯来词语的字面意思是“眼睛”或“外貌”, 《修订标准译本》通常译为“眼睛”或“外貌”。《新约》中希腊语 próphasis 还有“夸耀”的意思(《钦定版圣经》, 徒 27:30; 参: 启 17:4)。这些词指的是约瑟的“彩色”长衣(《钦定版圣经》, 创 37:3, 23, 32)

II. Color Awareness Among the Ancient Hebrews—Although the ancient Hebrews had no specific words for “color,” “paint,” or “painter,” we know that they constantly met with displays of the art of coloring among the Assyrians, Babylonians (Ezk. 23:14), Egyptians, and the inhabitants of Palestine. Pottery, glazed bricks, glassware, tomb walls, sarcophagi, wood, and fabrics were submitted to the skill of the colorist. Babylonian and Assyrian ziggurat towers, e.g., were made of glazed enamel bricks, each story of a different color. The dominant colors in Assyrian wall paintings were bright blue (lapis lazuli) and red, with black and white as secondary colors. The Egyptian tomb frescoes of the New Kingdom (1580–1375 B.C.) show mainly red, yellow, and brown, but also whitewash, blue, and black. The Greek term for Phoenicia (Phoinikē) means “land of the red-purple”; the dye is extracted from the murex shellfish taken in waters off the coastline. This industry was still widespread in NT times (Acts 16:19).

和“彩色”的衣服（撒下 13:18-19），可能并不表示衣服的颜色。正如《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》所表明的，希伯来语 passîm 更可能是指有长袖的衣服。《马所拉文本》中希伯来语 ṣeba ‘通常译为“dip”（“蘸染”）或“dye”（“彩色”）（士 5:30），《修订标准译本》也译为“蘸染”或“彩色”（见 DYE [颜色]）。《历代志上》29:2 中出现希伯来语 riqmâ 的意思是“彩色的”，因此译为“varicolored”（“彩色的”）。《以赛亚书》54:11 中使用了 pûk 一词。这个词原本是用来指画眼睛用的一种颜料——锑的硫化物，因此《修订标准译本》译为“antimony”（“锑”）而不是“fair colors”（“彩色”）（见 PAINT [颜料]）。

II. 古代希伯来人对颜色的了解。 尽管古希伯来语中没有表示“颜色”，“颜料”或“绘画者”的具体的词汇，但我们知道希伯来人经常可以看到亚述人、巴比伦人（结 23:14）、埃及人和巴勒斯坦人的着色艺术品。陶器、釉砖、玻璃器具、墓壁、石棺、木材和布料上都是有颜色的。巴比伦人和亚述人的塔庙是由釉砖建造成的，每一层都有不同的颜色。亚述人的壁画以鲜蓝 (lapis lazuli) 和红色为主色，黑色和白色为配色。埃及新王国时期（公元前 1580–1375）的墓地壁画上主要是红色、黄色和棕色，同时也有灰色，蓝色和黑色。“腓尼基”这个词的希腊语形式 (Phoinikē) 的含义是“紫红色之地”；染料是从海边捡来的骨螺贝类中提取出来的。在新约时期这种产业的分布范围很广（徒 16:19）。

Two reasons may be given for the indefiniteness of many of the biblical references to color. (1) The origin of the Hebrew people: they had been wandering tribes or slaves with no occasion to develop a color language. (2) Their religious laws: these forbade expression in color in the form of graven images (Ex. 20:4). Yielding to the attractions of gorgeous display was discouraged by such prophets as Ezekiel, who had sickened of the abominations of the Chaldeans (Ezk. 23:14-16): "and I said to them, Cast away the detestable things your eyes feast on" (Ezk. 20:7).

III. Biblical References to Color-A. Eyes, Hair, Skin, and Teeth. Biblical references do not specify color of eyes, though presumably different darker hues were known and appreciated. David had "beautiful" eyes according to 1 S. 16:12 (lit. "health"; AV "countenance"). In Cant. 1:15; 4:1 the whites of the woman's eyes are associated with the color of doves or pigeons; in 5:12 the comparison is applied to the white of the beloved man's eyes. "Redness" of eyes (Prov. 23:29; lit "dull") means bloodshot. Leah's "tender" (AV), "weak" (RSV), dull, pale, lackluster, or bleary eyes are contrasted with (the eyes of) her sister Rachel, described as "beautiful" (or healthy) and "lovely" (Gen. 29:17). Ideally a woman's eyes were glowing and lively. Eyes could be "like flaming torches" (Dnl. 10:6; Rev. 1:14; 2:18; 19:12), "lustful" (1 Jn. 2:16), "wanton" (Isa. 3:16), and either "disturbing" (Cant. 6:5), or "like the eyelids of the dawn" (Job 41:18). Hair color is normally shiny black-brown as of goats' hair (Cant. 4:1; 6:5); when diseased, white or yellow (Lev. 13:10,

无法确定《圣经》中给出的很多颜色，原因有二。(1) 希伯来人的起源：他们是游牧民族或奴隶，因此无法发展表示颜色的语言。(2) 他们的宗教律法：他们禁止用颜色来描述偶像（出 20:4）。以结西等先知不鼓励人们被华丽的事物所吸引，以结西非常厌倦迦勒底人的可憎之物（结 23:14-16）。“我对他们说，你们各人要抛弃你们眼中那些可憎的像”（结 20:7）。

III. 《圣经》中表示颜色的词。A. 眼睛，头发，皮肤和牙齿。虽然《圣经》中可能有表示不同深色调的词语，但其中并没有明确表示眼睛颜色的词。根据《撒母耳记上》16:12 中的描述，大卫有“清秀”眼目（字面意思“健康的”；《钦定版圣经》译为“countenance”[“容貌”]）。《雅歌》1:15 和 4:1 中形容女人的眼睛像鸽子眼；《雅歌》5:12 中形容她们爱人的眼睛也如鸽子眼一样。“红色”的眼睛（箴 23:29；字面意思“灰白”）意思是充血的眼睛。利亚的眼睛没有“神气”（《钦定版圣经》），“无神”（《修订标准译本》），不明亮，暗淡的，无生气的，模糊不清的眼睛与他妹妹拉结的清秀美丽的眼睛形成了鲜明的对比（创 29:17）。按理说女人的眼睛应该是明亮有生气的。眼睛像“火把”（但 10:6；启 1:14；2:18；19:12），眼目的“私欲”（约壹 2:16），眼神“妩媚”（赛 3:16），令人“心动”（歌 6:5），或“如同清晨的阳光”（伯 41:18）。头发的颜色通常是发亮的黑棕色，如同山羊毛（歌 4:1；6:5）；当人患病时，头发颜色变白或变黄（利 13:10）。随着年龄的增长，头发渐渐变白（创 42:38；诗 71:18；箴 20:29；赛 46:4）。 30). With age, hair turns gray (Gen. 42:38; Ps. 71:18; Prov. 20:29; Isa. 46:4).

Skin tones seen in Palestine covered a wide range of colors with darker shades predominating. The biblical references accent the noteworthy extremes, such as brown-black from over-exposure to the sun (Job 30:28, 30), black (associated with the “sons of Ham,” including Libyans, Egyptians, and Ethiopians [Am. 9:7; Jer. 13:23, where J. Bright translates Ethiopians as “Negro”]) and white (Lev. 13:10; lit. “white as milk,” i.e., diseased or abnormal). Healthy skin is “fresh” (Heb. rutapaš) as a child’s (Job 33:25; lit. “fat”) or “fair” (tôb, yāpeh, etc., Gen. 24:16; 26:7; Est. 1:11; Job 42:14; Cant. 1:8; 2:10, 13; 5:9; 6:10; Hos. 10:11; Am. 8:13; Jer. 15:2; Ps. 45:2). The term “fair” is normally used of women, but also of David (1 S. 17:42) and Absalom (2 S. 13:1); it is associated with “ruddy” (’ādam, ’admōnī), which literally meant tinted with red ochre, “more ruddy than coral” (Lam. 4:7). Fair skin could be artificially produced with cosmetics (hithpael of yāpā, Jer. 4:30; RSV “beautify”) (see III.E). Skin should “shine” (qāran, Ex. 34:29f, 35), sending out rays of light. Understandable was an association of skin color with bronze (nāhūš, nehōšet), as in Ezk. 40:3; Job 6:12. Teeth could be white as milk (lābān, Gen. 49:12) or as newly washed sheep (Cant. 4:2; 6:6).

B. Textiles. The extensive manufacture and use of textiles for tents, sacking, basketry, clothing, curtains, and decorations added a wide range of colors to the biblical culture. The natural colors of the fabrics varied. The wool of goats naturally came in dark colors from brown 在巴勒斯坦，人们皮肤的颜色通常是暗色调的。《圣经》中给出了一些值得注意的极端例子，像因日晒而全身变棕黑色（伯 30:28, 30），黑色（与“含的儿子”有关，也包括利比亚人、埃及人和古实人 [摩 9:7; 耶 13:23]，布赖特 (J. Bright) 称古实人为“黑人”) 和白色（利 13:10; 字面意思“像牛奶一样白”，例如：患病或不正常情况下的肤色）。健康的皮肤是“鲜嫩的”（希伯来语：rutapaš）如孩童的皮肤（伯 33:25; 字面意思“脂肪”）或是“白皙的”（希伯来语：tôb, yāpeh 等，创 24:16; 26:7; 斯 1:11; 伯 42:14; 歌 1:8; 2:10, 13; 5:9; 6:10; 何 10:11; 摩 8:13; 耶 15:2; 诗 45:2）。“白皙”一词一般用来形容女人，但也可形容大卫（撒上 17:42）和押沙龙（撒下 13:1）；这个词还与“红润”有关（希伯来语：’ādam, ’admōnī），字面意思是红赭色，“比红宝石（或珊瑚）更红润”（哀 4:7），抹了化妆品，皮肤会变得白皙（yāpā 的加强反身干，耶 4:30; 《修订标准译本》译为“beautify” [“修饰”]）（见 III.E）。皮肤应该是“发亮的”（希伯来语：qāran, 出 34:29–30, 35），光彩照人的。正如《以西结书》40:3 和《约伯记》6:12 所描述的，将肤色与铜联系在一起是合乎情理的（希伯来语：nāhūš, nehōšet）。牙齿雪白如牛奶般（希伯来语：lābān, 创 49:12）或像刚刚洗净的羊那样洁白（歌 4:2; 6:6）。

B. 织物。以色列人广泛地制造织物并将织物用于帐篷，麻布袋，篮筐，衣服，窗帘和装饰品上，这大量增加了圣经文化中的颜色。纤维织物的天然色彩很丰富。深色系的羊毛色调一般分为棕色和黑色，浅色系的羊毛色调分为褐色和灰白色，制作便宜衣服和笨重帐篷用的骆 to black, while that of sheep came in lighter colors from brownish to off-white, and that of camels (for cheapest clothing and heavy tents) varied from brown to tan. Linen and “fine linen” (i.e., “silky”) made from flax was yellow-tan to white. Cotton was always white. Sackcloth, a rough cloth which was at times woven of hair and usually dark in color (Isa. 50:3; Rev. 6:12), was used for sacks and for mourning garments (Est. 4:1–4; Job 16:15; Isa. 20:2). Haircloth (2 K. 1:8) was a recognized costume of a prophet (Zec. 13:4; Mt. 3:4).

The threads, not the woven cloth, were dyed. A principal dye from the murex shellfish was a deep crimson. Used in combination with other dyes, this expensive “royal purple” could produce various shades from red to blue. By bleaching (see FULLER) additional shades were possible. Israelite bleaching, dyeing, and weaving on an industrial scale is known archeologically from Tell Beit Mirsim (Debir?), Tell Jezer, Beth-shemesh, Tell en-Naşbeh (Mizpah?), and Khirbet et-Ṭubeiqah. “The families of the house of them that wrought fine linen” (1 Ch. 4:21) has been interpreted (WBA) as indicating that artisans skilled in dyeing and weaving were at times organized into recognized guilds.

Embroidery, the interweaving of threads of various colors into specific patterns, was an art for which the Israelites were famed (Prov. 31:22; Jgs. 5:30). Oholiab, a Danite, did such work for the tabernacle (Ex. 35:34f.). Israelite workers wove “purple, crimson and blue fabrics” and “fine linen” for the temple veil (2 Ch. 2:7; 3:14). Carpets, spreads, and

驼毛色调有棕色和棕褐色。细麻布和“细麻线”（如：“细麻”）由麻制成，分为黄褐色和白色两种颜色。棉布常常为白色的。麻布很粗糙，有的麻布是用毛发编织的，呈黑色（赛 50:3；启 6:12），麻布用于制麻袋和丧服（斯 4:1–4；伯 16:15；赛 20:2）。毛皮衣（王下 1:8）是先知穿的一种服装（亚 13:4；太 3:4）。

细线不用来织布，而是拿来染色用的。从骨螺贝类中提取出的染料是朱红色的。这种昂贵的“皇室紫色”和其他的染料混合在一起可以调出从红到蓝多种不同色调。通过漂白（见 FULLER [漂白]）有可能增加其他的颜色。拜特米尔废丘（底壁 [不确定]）、耶塞废丘、伯示麦、纳斯比废丘（米兹巴 [不确定]）和图贝卡废墟（Khirbet et-Ṭubeiqah）考古发掘显示，以色列的漂洗、染色和编织形成了产业。“织造细麻布的众家族”（代上 4:21）表明（WBA）掌握染色和编织技艺的工匠有时会形成公认的行会。

coverings were richly colored (Ezk. 27:23; Prov. 7:16; Jgs. 5:10), while pillows were woven of black-brown goats' hair (1 S. 19:13, 16).

Extrabiblical sources illustrate colorful textiles made and worn by Semites. In the 8th cent. B.C., lists of booty taken by Tiglath-pileser III from the kings of the west—including those of Samaria and Judah—mention “linen garments with multicolored trimmings, garments of their native (industries) (being made of) dark purple wool” (ANET, p. 282.). A wall painting by an Egyptian artist in a tomb at Beni-hasan (ca. 1890 B.C.) gives a visual representation of a visiting group of “Asiatics,” men, women, and children. Their clothing is decorated with colored fringes and with red, blue, and brown designs against a white background (ANEP, no. 3 and notes, p. 249; Avi-Yonah, pp. 42–44).

C. Pottery. Natural Palestinian clays contain varying amounts of iron, giving colors ranging from reddish brown to tan. These colors are minimized or intensified by the firing process. While glazing was not developed, but was known from imported pots, burnishing was used. Decoration with color by slip, banding, or wash was employed, but these were more widely used at some periods than others. Palestinian local wares were most highly decorated and colorful in the Late Bronze period (ca. 1500–1200 B.C.); the colors generally used were buff, cream, gray, red, brown, and dark brown together with combinations such as brown with gray or green; red with black, pink, or yellow; black with pink, gray, or red; green with buff or brown; yellow with red, gray, or white. Blue and purple shades were rare.

C. 陶器。巴勒斯坦的天然泥土里含有一定数量的铁，有些泥土是红棕色的，有些则是棕褐色的。泥土的颜色也会随着烧制的过程变浅或变深。虽然上釉技术尚不发达，但进口的陶瓷使用了这种技术，还使用了抛光技术。可以用上泥釉，加彩条或清洗的方式来装饰颜色，但只在某些时期才使用这种上色的方法。在青铜器时代晚期（约公元前 1500–1200 年），巴勒斯坦当地的陶器装饰最为精美，也最为多彩多色，经常使用的颜色有米色、乳白色、灰色、红色、棕色和深棕色、还有棕灰色或棕绿色、红色与黑色、粉色、黄色相间的颜色；也有黑色与粉色、灰色或红色相间的颜色；绿色和米色或棕色相间的颜色；黄色和红色、灰色或白色相间的颜色。蓝色和紫色比较少见。纵观圣经时期巴勒斯坦的历史，这些颜色和混合色在一定程度上成为陶器的典型装饰色。

Such colors and combinations of colors were more or less typical of pottery decoration throughout the history of Palestine in Bible times.

In the NT period “pompeian red” siglata ware was imported. Imported pottery was also seen in OT Palestine. Especially striking were Philistine types with horizontal bands, geometric designs, metopes, and pictures in black line drawing on white or buff backgrounds, highlighted with color, especially reddish purple. Imported pottery (except Egyptian) was more elaborate, colorful, and of higher quality than the local ware. From earliest Israelite times pottery was known from Greece, Cyprus, Phoenicia, and Crete in forms characteristic of these lands. Hellenistic decorated ware used varying shades of black, brown, or red in glazes, paints, slips, and washes.

D. Wall Painting. Except for slight evidence in early levels at Megiddo and Jericho, archeologists have not discovered much evidence of wall painting in OT Palestine. In Neolithic Teleilat el-Ghassul (ca. 3500 B.C.) geometric patterns and pictures, such as an eight-ray star and a realistically drawn bird, appear with the colors red, yellow, black, white, and dark red. The Hellenistic tombs of Marisa (3rd cent. B.C.) had wall designs and pictures of wildlife in extraordinarily bright colors, as well as the sort of painted “imitation marble” to be seen in Herod’s palace at Masada (1st cent. A.D.). The walls of Herod’s palace at NT Jericho and the palace at Khirbet al Majar (8th cent. A.D.) were decorated with carved and painted stucco. The walls of the Dura Europos synagogue (built A.D. 250) were covered with richly painted scenes of OT history and include also painted “imitation marble.” Note the “ivory” palace of Ahab (1 K. 22:39) and the palace of Jehoiakim, known for extensive use of vermilion paint (Jer. 22:14); Ezekiel’s references to the animals and idols painted (?) on the walls of a secret place in the temple (8:10) and to a Chaldean bas-relief “portrayed in vermilion” (23:14); the Babylonian “red” shields borne by soldiers “clothed in scarlet” (Nah. 2:3). Such an accumulation of evidence goes far to suggest that Israelites were familiar with the techniques of al fresco painting with colors.

D. 壁画。除了考古学家在米吉多和耶利哥早期考古地层中发现的很少关于壁画的证据，他们再没有找到关于旧约时期巴勒斯坦壁画的证据。在新石器时代特雷拉迦苏 (Teleilat el-Ghassul) (约公元前 3500 年) 的几何体的样式和图案，如：八角星和逼真的鸟是红色、黄色、黑色、白色和深红色的。希腊化时期的马里沙墓 (公元前 3 世纪) 的墓壁上用异常明亮的颜色画出了野生动植物的图案，马萨达希律宫殿 (公元 1 世纪) 中可以看到“仿大理石”画。新约时期耶利哥的希律宫殿和马加尔废址 (Khirbet al Majar) (公元 8 世纪) 上的宫殿的墙壁是用雕刻和粉饰灰泥装饰的。杜拉欧罗普斯的犹太教堂 (建于公元 250 年) 以丰富的图画再现了旧约时期的场景，其中也有“仿大理石”画。值得注意的是，亚哈的“象牙”宫 (王上 22:39) 和约雅敬的宫殿大量使用了丹红油漆 (耶 22:14); 《以结西书》提

E. Cosmetics. “Adorning” herself, Jezebel “painted her eyes” (2 K. 9:30). Other references (Jer. 4:30; Ezk. 23:40) are to prostitutes who “beautify” themselves by outlining the eyes with black galena or stibnite to make them appear larger. Egyptian women customarily used black above the eye and green (occasionally yellow and more rarely red) below. Red ochre was used to decorate lips, cheeks, palms, fingernails, soles of the feet, and hair. The OT shows no trace of the magical and superstitious significance of cosmetics which appears to have been commonly accepted in Egypt and Mesopotamia.

IV. Colors in Symbolism.-Color terms have general symbolic significance: white for purity (Mk. 1:6) and joy (Eccl. 9:8); black for decay (Job 30:30) and judgment (Mic. 3:6); red (not frequent) for life-blood (2 K. 3:22f), and also for sins (Isa. 1:18); blue, the sky-color, frequently used with white or purple in contexts of royalty, but more often (by association with the tabernacle, temple fabrics, and

到了神殿的隐秘位置的墙画上的动物和偶像 (结 8:10) 和 “用丹色所画” 的迦勒底人的像 (结 23:14); 巴比伦勇士的盾牌是 “红色” 的, “衣服是朱红的” (鸿 2:3)。这些累积的证据足以证明以色列人已经掌握了露天绘画技术。

E. 化妆品。耶洗别 “涂眼”, “装扮” 她自己 (王下 9:30)。其他经文提到 (耶 4:30; 结 23:40) 妓女用黑色方铅矿粉或辉锑矿粉画眼线, 以此来 “装扮” 自己, 使眼睛看起来更大。埃及女人通常用黑色画上眼线, 用绿色 (偶尔用黄色, 很少用红色) 画下眼线。用红赭色涂嘴、脸颊、手掌、指甲、脚心和头发。在《旧约》中看不到化妆品的神奇和迷信意义, 埃及和美索不达米亚的人似乎已经普遍接受了化妆品。

IV. 颜色的象征意义。颜色一词有普遍的象征意义: 白色象征着纯洁 (可 1:6) 和快乐 (传 9:8); 黑色象征着朽坏 (伯 30:30) 和审判 (弥 3:6); 红色 (不常用) 象征着杀戮 (王下 3:22-23), 也象征着罪恶 (赛 1:18); 蓝色, 天空的颜色, 常与白色或紫色一起用于装点皇室, (因为与会幕、神殿织物和圣洁的幔子有关) 但更经常被认为是 “耶和华” 的颜色 (民 15:38; 诗 11:4); 红紫色象征 sacred tassels) considered the “Yahweh” color (Nu. 15:38; Ps. 11:4); red-purple for luxury and elegance (Jgs. 8:26; Est. 8:15; Lk. 16:19).

In apocalyptic symbolism, color terms are adopted, adapted, and sometimes altered. Thus the symbolism in apocalyptic writings: white for conquest or victory, either temporary or eternal (Dnl. 7:9; Zec. 6:3; Rev. 1:14; 7:13f.); black for scarcity of food, or famine (Zec. 6:6; Rev. 6:5); red for slaughter in strife, usually of war (Zec. 6:2; Rev. 6:4); “pale,” or literally “greenish-gray” (the color of a corpse), for death (Rev. 6:8) (cf. “dappled gray,” Zec. 6:3, 6); purple for royalty, or often for pretended royalty (Dnl. 5:7; in Rev. 17:14; 18:12, 16 joined with scarlet); rainbow, as total color, for omnipotence (Rev. 4:3; 10:1).

V. Color Terms Most Widely Used.-In Hebrew, “a language of the senses” (G. A. Smith), color terms are not abstractions but distinctions of shade by visual association with concrete sense perceptions. Thus, OT people did not think, “the color of blood is red,” but, “red is the color seen in blood” (cf. 2 K. 3:22); not, “the color of vegetation is green,” but, “green is the color seen in vegetation” (cf. Ps. 23:2; Jer. 11:16). As was usual in the languages of the ancient world, the Hebrew color vocabulary was simple and undeveloped. An added factor for Hebrew was the religious prohibition against image-making (Ex. 20:4; Dt. 5:8), which was understood to include the painting of pictures. With this understanding, certain observations can be made regarding the most widely used color terms:

着奢华和高雅（士 8:26；斯 8:15；路 16:19）。

启示象征中使用了颜色词语的象征意义，并进行了调整，有时还改变了它们的象征意义。因此在启示作品的象征意义中：白色象征着短暂或永恒的征服或胜利（但 7:9；亚 6:3；启 1:14；7:13-14）；黑色象征着食物短缺或饥荒（亚 6:6；启 6:5）；红色象征着争斗中的屠杀，通常是指战争中的厮杀、残杀（亚 6:2；启 6:4）；“苍白”或字面意思“灰绿色”（尸体的颜色），象征着死亡（启 6:8）（参：“有斑点的”亚 6:3, 6）；紫色象征着皇室或冒充的皇室（但 5:7；在《启示录》17:14；18:12, 16 中与朱红色连用）；兼有各种颜色的彩虹色，象征着上帝的全能（启 4:3；10:1）。

V. 最广泛使用的表示颜色的词语。希伯来语是“感官语言”（G. A. Smith），表示颜色的词语不是抽象词语，而是通过视觉和具体的感知力进行区分的不同色调。因此，《旧约》中人们不认为“血的颜色是红色”，而认为“红色是在血液中看到的颜色”（参：王下 3:22）；他们不认为“植物的颜色是绿色的”，而认为“绿色能在植物中看到”（参：诗 23:2；耶 11:16）。希伯来语中表示颜色的词汇都很简单而且不够全面，这种现象在古代世界的语言中很常见。导致这一情况的另一个因素是，希伯来人的宗教禁止雕刻偶像（出 20:4；申 5:8），其中包括禁止绘画。基于此，可以对最广泛使用的颜色词做出一些评论：

A. Black. Different words have been translated “black,” with various meanings such as “dusky,” “swarthy,” “dark.” “Black” is applied to hair (Lev. 13:31; Cant. 5:11; Mt. 5:36), to mourning (Job 30:28, 30; Jer. 14:2), to horses (Zec. 6:2, 6; Rev. 6:5), to the heavens (1 K. 18:45; Job 3:5; Prov. 7:9; Jer. 4:28; Mic. 3:6), to the sun (Rev. 6:12), to the skin (Cant. 1:5f.), to flocks (Gen. 30:32ff., AV “brown”).

B. Blue. Heb. t̄kēlet is applied only to fabrics dyed with a special blue dye obtained from a shellfish, frequently in association with purple. “Blue” is applied to fringes, the veil, vestments, and embroideries in the descriptions of the tabernacle (Ex. 25; Nu. 4:6; 15:38); also to workers in blue (2 Ch. 2:7, 14; 3:14), palace adornments (Est. 1:6), and royal apparel (Est. 8:15; Jer. 10:9; Ezk. 23:6; 27:7, 24).

C. Crimson. Three words are translated “crimson”: Heb. šānī, the dye (2 S. 1:14; Jer. 4:30); tōlā’, cloth dyed with šānī (Lev. 14:4; Isa. 1:18); and karmīl, a late synonym for tōlā’ (2 Ch. 2:7, 14; 3:14). “Crimson” is applied to clothing (2 S. 1:24; Lev. 14:4), also to sins (Isa. 1:18).

D. Gray. The Heb. šēb means “be old,” and hence refers to the color of the hair in old age (Gen. 42:38; 44:29, 31; Dt. 32:25; 1 S. 12:2; Job 15:10; Ps. 71:18; Prov. 20:29; Isa. 46:4; Hos. 7:9). Šēb is rendered “hoar” or “hoary” applying to hair in Lev. 19:32; Job 41:32; Prov. 16:31 (AV also in 1 K. 2:6, 9; Isa. 46:4). The RSV renders “dappled gray” for the difficult Heb. b̄ruddīm’amuššīm (AV “grisled and bay”) in Zec. 6:3.

A. 黑色。不同的词被译为“黑色”，但含义不尽相同，如：“昏暗的”，“黝黑的”，“阴暗的”。“黑色”用来形容头发（利 13:31；歌 5:11；太 5:36）、哀悼（伯 30:28, 30；耶 14:2）、马匹（亚 6:2, 6；启 6:5）、天空（王上 18:45；伯 3:5；箴 7:9；耶 4:28；弥 3:6）、太阳（启 6:12）、皮肤（歌 1:5-6）和羊群（创 30:32 起，《钦定版圣经》译为“brown”[“棕色”]）。

B. 蓝色。希伯来语 t̄kēlet 用来形容染成特殊蓝色的纤维布料，这种特殊的蓝色染料是从骨螺贝类中提取出来的，通常和紫色一起用。“蓝色”可用来形容会幕中的縵子、幔子、祭服和刺绣（出 25；民 4:6；15:38）；还可以用来形容巧匠（代下 2:7, 14；3:14）、宫殿中的装饰物（斯 1:6）和王室的服饰（斯 8:15；耶 10:9；结 23:6；27:7, 24）。

C. 朱红色。三个词被译为“朱红色”：希伯来语 šānī，意为“染料”（撒下 1:14；耶 4:30）；tōlā’，意为“染色的布料”（利 14:4；赛 1:18）；karmīl，后来出现的 tōlā’ 的同义词（代下 2:7, 14；3:14）。“朱红色”可用来形容衣服（撒下 1:24；利 14:4），也可形容罪恶（赛 1:18）。

D. 灰色。希伯来语 šēb 意为“古老的”，因此是指老人的头发的颜色（创 42:38；44:29, 31；申 32:25；撒上 12:2；伯 15:10；诗 71:18；箴 20:29；赛 46:4；何 7:9）；在《利未记》19:32；《约伯记》41:32；《箴言》16:31 中，Šēb 译为“灰白”或“灰白的”，用来形容头发的颜色（另见《钦定版圣经》，王上 2:6, 9；赛 46:4）。《修订标准译本》中将《撒迦利亚书》6:3 中复杂的希伯来语 b̄ruddīm’amuššīm 译为“dappled gray”（“有斑点的”）（《钦定版圣经》译为

“grised and bay” [“有斑点的”]) (亚 6:3)。

E. Green. This word refers almost without exception to vegetation. The Heb. yārāq, literally “pale,” is considered one of the three definite color words used in the OT (the others being red and white). The Greek equivalent is chlōros. Yārāq occurs in Gen. 1:30; 9:3; Ex. 10:15; Ps. 37:2; Job 39:8, and chlōros in Mk. 6:39; Rev. 8:7; 9:4. Heb. ra^anān, closely allied in meaning to yārāq, is used to describe the color of trees in Dt. 12:2; Ex. 10:15; 1 K. 14:23; 2 K. 16:24; 17:10; 2 Ch. 28:4; Job 15:32; Ps. 52:8; etc. Elsewhere the Hebrew equivalents denote the condition of being full of sap, fresh, or unripe, as in Jgs. 16:7f; Ps. 92:14; Ezk. 17:24; 20:47; Lk. 23:31. “Greenish” is used to describe leprous spots (Lev. 13:49; 14:37) and gold in Ps. 68:13 (RSV “green”; AV, NEB, “yellow”).

E. 绿色。这个词几乎毫无例外地表示植物的颜色。希伯来语 yārāq 字面意思是“苍白的”，它是《旧约》中三个有明确含义的颜色词汇之一（其他两个是红色和白色）。希腊语中表示相同含义的词是 chlōros。Yārāq 出现在《创世记》1:30; 9:3; 《出埃及记》10:15; 《诗篇》37:2; 《约伯记》39:8 中, chlōros 出现在《马可福音》6:39; 《启示录》8:7; 9:4 中。希伯来语 ra^anān 与 yārāq 意思相近, 在《申命记》12:2; 《出埃及记》10:15; 《列王纪上》14:23; 《列王纪下》16:24; 17:10; 《历代志下》28:4; 《约伯记》15:32; 《诗篇》52:8 等经文中形容树的颜色。在其他经文中, 这个希伯来词的同义词还有“满了的汁浆”、“新鲜的”或“未熟的”含义, 在《士师记》16:7-8; 《诗篇》92:14; 《以西结书》17:24; 20:47; 《路加福音》23:31 中就表示这样的含义。“浅绿色”也可形容麻风病的斑点(利 13:49; 14:37), 在《诗篇》68:13 中表示黄金(《修订标准译本》译为“green”[“绿色”]; 《钦定版圣经》, 《新英文译本》译为“yellow”[“黄色”])。

F. Purple. The Heb. 'argāmān is a loanword; the Greek word is porphýreos. The latter word refers to the source of the dye, a shellfish found on the shores of the Mediterranean. This color, which varied widely according to the kind of shellfish used and the method of dyeing, was utilized in the adornment of the tabernacle (Ex. 25-27; Nu. 4:13). There were workers in purple called to help in beautifying the temple (2 Ch. 2:7, 14; 3:14). Purple was much used for royal garments and furnishings (Jgs. 8:26; Est. 1:6; 8:15; Cant. 3:10; 7:5; Dnl. 5:7, 16, 29; Mk. 15:17, 20; Jn. 19:2, 5); it was typical of gorgeous apparel (Prov. 31:22;

F. 紫色。希伯来语 'argāmān 是一个外来词; 紫色对应的希腊语是 porphýreos。后者指的是染料的来源, 也就是在地中海海岸发现的古螺贝类。根据染色所用的贝类的种类不同和染色方法的不同, 颜色也会随之发生很大变化, 紫色也会用在会幕的装饰上(出 25-27; 民 4:13)。穿着紫色衣服的工匠被派来装饰神殿(代下 2:7, 14; 3:14)。紫色也常用在王室的衣服和器具上(士 8:26; 斯 1:6; 8:15; 歌 3:10; 7:5; 但 5:7, 16, 29; 可 15:17, 20; 约 19:2, 5); 紫色也是华丽服饰的典型颜色(箴 31:22; 耶 10:9; 结 23:6; 27:7, 16; 哀 4:5; 可 15:17, 20; 路 16:19; 约 19:2, 5; 徒 16:14; 启 17:4; 18:12, 16)。

Jer. 10:9; Ezk. 23:6; 27:7, 16; Lam. 4:5; Mk. 15:17, 20; Lk. 16:19; Jn. 19:2, 5; Acts 16:14; Rev. 17:4; 18:12, 16).

G. Red. The Heb. 'ādōm is from dām, “blood,” and hence it means “bloodlike.” One of the three distinct color words mentioned in the OT, it is used in most of the references to red. Ḥaklīlī probably means “fiery” (Gen. 49:12; Prov. 23:29), and Gk. pyrrós means “fire-colored” (Mt. 16:2f; Rev. 6:4; 12:3). “Red” is applied to dyed skins (Ex. 25:5; 26:24; 35:7, 23; 36:19; 39:34), to the color of animals (Nu. 19:2; Zec. 1:8; 6:2; Rev. 6:4; 12:3), to the human skin (as “ruddy” in Gen. 25:25; 1 S. 16:12; 17:42; Cant. 5:10; Lam. 4:7), to the eyes (Gen. 49:12; Job 16:16; Prov. 23:29), to sores (Lev. 13), to wine (Prov. 23:31), to water (2 K. 3:22), to pottage (Gen. 25:30), to apparel (Isa. 63:2; Rev. 9:17), to the sky (Mt. 16:2f.), to sins (Isa. 1:18), to shields (Nah. 2:3) (see also RED SEA).

H. Scarlet. Scarlet and crimson colors were probably from the same source. Heb. tōlā' and derivatives have been translated by both “scarlet” and “crimson” (Gk. kókkinos). “Scarlet” is applied to fabrics or yarns used (1) in the equipment of the tabernacle (Ex. 2:5ff.; Nu. 4:8); (2) in rites in cleansing lepers (Lev. 14); (3) in the ceremony of purification (Nu. 19:6); (4) in association with royal or gorgeous apparel (2 S. 1:24; Prov. 31:21; Lam. 4:5; Jer. 4:30; Nah. 2:3; Mt. 27:28; Rev. 17:4; 18:12, 16); (5) for marking-thread (Gen. 38:28, 30; Josh. 2:18, 21). It is also used of lips (Cant. 4:3), sins (Isa. 1:18), beasts (Rev. 17:3), and wool (He. 9:19).

I. White. The principal word for

*G. 红色。*希伯来语 'ādōm 来源于 dām, 意思是“鲜血”，因此表示“像血一样的颜色”。这个希伯来词也是《旧约》中三个含义明确的颜色词汇之一，在大多数表示红色的经文中会用到这个词。Ḥaklīlī 的意思可能是“赤红”（创 49:12; 箴 23:29），希腊语 pyrrós 意思是“火红色”（太 16:2-3; 启 6:4; 12:3）。“红色”可形容染过的皮毛（出 25:5; 26:24; 35:7, 23; 36:19; 39:34）、动物的颜色（民 19:2; 亚 1:8; 6:2; 启 6:4; 12:3）、皮肤（创 25:25; 撒上 16:12; 17:42; 歌 5:10; 哀 4:7）、眼睛（创 49:12; 伯 16:16; 箴 23:29）、疮（利 13）、酒（箴 23:31）、水（王下 3:22）、汤（创 25:30）、衣服（赛 63:2; 启 9:17）、天空（太 16:2-3）、罪恶（赛 1:18）和盾牌（鸿 2:3）的颜色（另见 RED SEA [红海]）。

*H. 深红色。*深红色和朱红色可能来自同一个希伯来语。希伯来语 tōlā' 和它的衍生词都被译为“深红色”和“朱红色”（希腊语：kókkinos）。“深红色”用于形容纤维织物和纱线的颜色，它们分别用于（1）会幕的器具中（出 2:5 起; 民 4:8）;（2）除去麻风病的仪式上（利 14）;（3）洁净的仪式上（民 19:6）;（4）王室或华丽的服装上（撒下 1:24; 箴 31:21; 哀 4:5; 耶 4:30; 鸿 2:3; 太 27:28; 启 17:4; 18:12, 16）;（5）线绳上（创 38:28, 30; 书 2:18, 21）。也用来形容嘴唇（歌 4:3）、罪恶（赛 1:18）、野兽（启 17:3）和羊毛的颜色（来 9:19）。

whiteness in Hebrew is lāḇān, a distinctive color word, associated with the color of snow (Isa. 1:18), milk (Gen. 49:12), wool (Ezk. 27:18; Rev. 1:14), and general cleanness (Eccl. 9:8; Dnl. 11:35; 12:10). “White” is applied to goats (Gen. 30:35), teeth (Gen. 49:12), leprous hairs and spots (Lev. 13; Nu. 12:10), garments (Eccl. 9:8; Isa. 19:9; Dnl. 1:9), horses (Zec. 1:8; 6:3, 6), tree branches (Gen. 30:37; Joel 1:7), coriander seed (Ex. 16:31). The corresponding Greek word leukós is applied to hair (Mt. 5:36; Rev. 1:14), to raiment (Mt. 17:2; 28:3; Mk. 9:3; 16:5; Lk. 9:29; Jn. 20:12; Acts 1:10; Rev. 3:4f, 18; 4:4; 6:11; 7:9, 13f; 19:14), a harvest (Jn. 4:35), horses (Rev. 6:2; 19:11, 14), a throne (20:11), a stone (2:17), a cloud (14:14). Besides lāḇān, three other Hebrew words have been translated “white”: (1) ḥōrî or ḥûr, meaning “bleached,” as of flour (Gen. 40:16), linen (Est. 1:6; 8:15; Isa. 19:9), or a human face (Isa. 29:22, RSV “pale”); (2) ṣaḥ or ṣāḥōr, literally “whiteness,” is applied to yellowish-red asses, translated “tawny” (Jgs. 5:10), to human appearance, translated “radiant” (RSV Cant. 5:10), to wool (Ezk. 27:18); (3) dar, occurring only in Est. 1:6, is used of a pearl-like stone floor.

J. Others. Less widely used terms include “yellow,” Heb. ṣāḥōḇ used of leprous hair in Lev. 13; and “vermilion,” Heb. šāšar, a deep red paint, probably an oxide of iron (Jer. 22:14; Ezk. 23:14).

是 lāḇān, 它是一个很特别的颜色词, 与雪 (赛 1:18)、牛奶 (创 49:12)、羊毛 (结 27:18; 启 1:14) 和清静洁白 (传 9:8; 但 11:35; 12:10) 有关。“白色”可形容山羊 (创 30:35)、牙齿 (创 49:12)、大麻风的毛发和斑点 (利 13; 民 12:10)、衣服 (传 9:8; 赛 19:9; 但 1:9)、马匹 (亚 1:8; 6:3, 6)、树枝 (创 30:37; 珥 1:7) 和芫荽子 (出 16:31) 的颜色。同义的希腊语 leukós 可形容头发 (太 5:36; 启 1:14)、衣服 (太 17:2; 28:3; 可 9:3; 16:5; 路 9:29; 约 20:12; 徒 1:10; 启 3:4-5, 18; 4:4; 6:11; 7:9, 13-14; 19:14)、庄稼 (约 4:35)、马匹 (启 6:2; 19:11, 14)、宝座 (启 20:11)、石头 (启 2:17) 和云彩 (启 14:14) 的颜色。除了 lāḇān, 还有其他三个希伯来语译为“白色”：(1) ḥōrî 或 ḥûr 意思是“漂白”, 像面粉一样白 (创 40:16), 形容细麻布 (斯 1:6; 8:15; 赛 19:9) 或人脸 (赛 29:22, 《钦定版圣经》译为“pale”[“苍白的”]) 的颜色; (2) ṣaḥ 或 ṣāḥōr, 字面意思“白色”, 形容黄中带红的驴为“白驴” (士 5:10), 形容人的脸有“光彩” (《钦定版圣经》, 歌 5:10) 或白羊毛 (结 27:18); (3) dar 只出现在《以斯帖记》1:6 中, 用来形容珍珠白石板。

J. 其他的颜色。 比较少用的颜色词有“黄色”, 希伯来语 ṣāḥōḇ 在《利未记》13 中用来形容患大麻风的毛发; 还有“丹色”, 希伯来语 šāšar, 丹色油漆可能是铁的氧化物 (耶 22:14; 结 23:14)。

kə-los'ē [Gk. Kolossai] (Col. 1:2); AV COLOSSE. A city of Phrygia on the Lycus River, one of the branches of the Maeander, and 3 mi. (5 km.) from Honaz Dağ (Mt. Cadmus), 8435 ft. (2570 m.) high. It stood at the head of a gorge where the two streams unite, and on the great highway traversing the country from Ephesus to the Euphrates Valley, 13 mi. (21 km.) from Hierapolis and 12 mi. (19 km.) from Laodicea. Its history is chiefly associated with that of these two cities.

Early, according to both Herodotus and Xenophon, Colossae was a place of great importance. There Xerxes stopped 481 B.C. (Herodotus vii.30) and Cyrus the Younger marched 401 B.C. (Xenophon Anabasis i.2.6). From Col. 2:1 it appears unlikely that Paul visited there in person, but its Christianization was due to the efforts of Epaphras and Timothy (1:1, 7); it was the home of Philemon and Epaphras. That a church was established there early is evident from 4:12f.; Rev. 1:11; 3:14. As the neighboring cities Hierapolis and Laodicea increased in importance, Colossae declined. There were many Jews living there, and a chief article of commerce, for which the place was renowned, was the colossinus, a peculiar wool, probably of a purple color. In religion the people were especially lax, worshiping angels (cf. Col. 2:18). Of them Michael was the chief, and the protecting saint of the city. It is said that he once appeared to the people, saving the city in time of a flood.

音译: kə-los'ē 【希腊语: Kolossai】(西 1:2); 《钦定版圣经》译为 COLOSSE“歌罗西”。歌罗西是门德雷斯河支流里古河沿岸的一座弗吕家城市, 距离海拔 8435 英尺 (2570 米) 的卡德摩斯山 (Honaz Dağ) 3 英里 (5 公里)。歌罗西坐落于峡谷上方, 位于两条河流的交汇处, 在以弗所到幼发拉底河谷的大道上, 距离希拉波立 13 英里 (21 公里), 距离老底嘉 12 英里 (19 公里)。它的历史主要与这两座城市有关。

依据希罗多德和色诺芬的记载, 早期歌罗西具有非常重要的地位。薛西斯在公元前 481 年 (Herodotus vii.30) 曾在这里停留, 小居鲁士在公元前 401 年途径了这里 (Xenophon Anabasis i.2.6)。根据《歌罗西书》2:1 中的描述, 保罗没

During the 7th and 8th cents the place was overrun by the Saracens; in the 12th cent. the church was destroyed by the Turks and the city disappeared. The hollow cavity and a few stones of a large theater, fragments of columns and traces of a hall, and a necropolis with stones of a peculiar shape are still to be seen. The site is 3 mi. (5 km.) NW of the modern Honaz, about 0.5 mi. (1 km.) from the modern road from Denizli to Eskişehir.

有亲自拜访过歌罗西，歌罗西基督教化是以巴弗和提摩太努力的结果（西 1:1, 7）；歌罗西是腓利门和以巴弗的家乡。《歌罗西书》4:12–13；《启示录》1:11；3:14 证明歌罗西在早期曾建立过一个教会。周边城市希拉波立和老底嘉的重要地位提高后，歌罗西便衰落了。有许多犹太人住在这里，而且歌罗西是著名的贸易集散地，也被称为 colossinus，这个词指的是一种特殊的羊毛，可能是紫色的羊毛。那里的人们宗教观念非常松散，崇拜天使（参：西 2:18）。米迦勒是他们崇拜的主要天使。据说他曾在水灾时出现在人们面前并拯救了这座城市。

7 世纪到 8 世纪之间这里曾被撒拉逊人侵占；12 世纪时，教堂被土耳其人摧毁，这座城市便消失了。但仍能看到该地空洞穴、大剧场的一些石头、石柱和大厅的遗迹，以及拥有特殊形状石头的大墓地。该遗址位于现代霍纳兹西北 3 英里（5 公里）处，距离代尼兹利至埃斯基谢希尔（Eskişehir）的大道约 0.5 英里（1 公里）。

COLOSSIANS, EPISTLE TO THE 歌罗西书

音译: kə-losh'ənz。《歌罗西书》是保罗几乎在同一时间写的三四封书信之一，后来由他的朋友推基古和特罗非摩将这封书信送往罗马亚西亚行省的诸多教会中。其他的书信是写给以弗所人和腓利门的书信，可能就是《歌罗西书》4:16中提到的神秘的“从老底嘉来的书信”。

I. 创作时间和场合。保罗在狱中写了这些书信（这些书信属于保罗的“狱函”； belong, that is to say, to his “Captivity Epistles”; see PHILEMON, EPISTLE TO). While arguments have been advanced for the view that they were written from Caesarea (so E. Lohmeyer) or Ephesus (G. S. Duncan), it is more probable that they were written from Rome during the two years Paul spent in custody there (ca. A.D. 60–62; cf. Acts 28:30).

The theology of Colossians and Ephesians suggests a later date for these Epistles than for Paul’s other letters to churches. In particular, his presentation of the Church as the body of Christ in Colossians and Ephesians marks a later and more advanced stage of his thought on this subject than the stage represented by 1 Corinthians (ca. A.D. 55) and Romans (ca. A.D. 57). It is only in Colossians and Ephesians that the idea emerges of Christ as the head of the body. In 1 Cor. 12:12ff., where the common life of Christians is first compared to the interdependence of the various parts of the body, the head is one “member” among others; a member of the Church may be thought of as the head or as part of the head. This becomes impossible with the more advanced conception found in Colossians and Ephesians—a conception that may well reflect Paul’s vigorous reaction to news reaching him from Colossae.

Some years previously (ca. A.D. 52–55), from his headquarters in Ephesus, Paul and his colleagues had evangelized the province of Asia (Acts 19:10). The valley of the river Lycus, in which Colossae lay (with the neighboring cities of Laodicea and Hierapolis mentioned in Col. 4:13), was one of the districts evangelized at that time—not, it appears, by Paul in person, but by his lieutenant Epaphras. This Epaphras had paid Paul a visit in Rome and told him of the state of the churches in the Lycus Valley. Much of his news was encouraging, but there was one disquieting feature: at Colossae Christians were strongly inclined to accept an attractive line of teaching calculated (although they did not suspect it) to subvert the pure gospel that they had believed and to bring them into spiritual bondage.

许多年前 (约公元 52–55 年), 保罗和他的同工从他们大本营以弗所开始在亚西亚行省传福音 (徒 19:10)。歌罗西所在的里古河谷 (还有在《歌罗西书》4:13 中提到了它附近的两座城市老底嘉和希拉波立) 是那时听到福音的地区之一——似乎不是保罗亲自到那里传的福音, 而是他的助手以巴弗到那里传的福音。以巴弗去罗马见了保罗并告诉他里古河

II. The Colossian Heresy.-We have no formal exposition of the “Colossian heresy”; its features have to be inferred from Paul’s references to it in the course of the Epistle and from the particular aspects of Christian truth he emphasizes in order to provide his readers with an antidote against it.

Basically the heresy was Jewish. This seems obvious from the part played in it by legal ordinances, circumcision, food regulations, the sabbath, new moon, and other prescriptions of the Jewish calendar.

But it was not the same as the straightforward form of Judaism against which the churches of Galatia had to be put on their guard at an earlier date—a form probably introduced to the Galatian churches by emissaries from Judea. This was rather a development of Phrygian Judaism, which had undergone a fusion with a philosophy of non-Jewish origin—an early and simple form of Gnosticism.

When the gospel was introduced to the area, a Jewish-Hellenistic syncretism evidently found no great difficulty in

谷的教会的情况。以巴弗告诉了保罗很多令人鼓舞的消息，但也有令人感到不安的消息：在歌罗西很多基督徒有接受其他虚假的教训的强烈倾向（尽管他们对这些教义并不怀疑），从而使他们背离了他们曾相信的纯正福音，拥有了精神束缚。

II. 歌罗西异端。没有关于“歌罗西异端”的正式的解释；可以从保罗在《歌罗西书》中相关阐述和他强调的基督教真理的特殊方面来推测歌罗西异端的特征，保罗的阐述和强调是为了防止他的读者被异端影响。

这种异端邪说基本上都是犹太人提出的。从法律条例、割礼、食物条例、安息日、月朔和犹太历上的规条中能明显看出异端邪说。

但这种异端邪说与犹太教宣传的简单形式并不相同，加拉太的教会在早期曾提防犹太教的这种简单形式，但它可能通过犹太的使者传入了加拉太的教会。这就是弗吕家犹太教的发展，并且与非犹太哲学融合后，形成了早期诺斯底主义的简单形式。

当福音传到一个地区，会形成希腊和犹太的融合，不难发现，这些异端邪说充分地吸取了基督教义，同时还不断地扩

expanding and modifying itself sufficiently to take some Christian elements into its system; and we may reconstruct the resultant Colossian heresy with fair accuracy from Paul's treatment of it.

In this teaching a decisive place was accorded to the angelic beings through whom the law was given. They were not only elemental spirits but dominant ones as well—principalities and powers, lords of the planetary spheres, sharers in the plenitude of the divine essence. Since they controlled the lines of communication between God and man, all revelation from God to man and all prayer and worship from man to God could reach its goal only through their mediation and by their permission. It was therefore thought wise to cultivate their good will and pay them such homage as they desired.

Moreover, since they were the agents through whom the divine law was given, keeping the law was regarded as a tribute of obedience to them, and breaking the law incurred their displeasure and brought the lawbreaker into debt and bondage to them. Hence they must be placated, not only by the regular legal observances of traditional Judaism, but by a rigorous asceticism.

All this made an undoubted appeal to a certain religious temperament, the more so as it was presented as a form of advanced teaching for the spiritual elite. Christians were urged to pursue this progressive “wisdom” (Gk. sophia) and “knowledge” (gnōsis, to explore the hidden mysteries by a series of successive initiations until they attained

这种教训认为宣布律法的天使占据关键地位。天使不仅是基层的邪灵，而且是统治的邪灵——权天使、能天使和掌管天体的天使都有丰富的神圣本体。由于天使掌控着上帝与世人之间交流渠道，所以上帝赐予世人的所有启示和世人的所有祷告和敬拜都必须藉着他们，经他们允许才能达成。因此，获得天使的美意、给予他们应得的敬意被认为是明智的

此外，由于天使是上帝赐予律法的媒介，所以守律法被认为是顺从天使，敬畏天使，而不守律法则会招致天使的不满，使违法者受到惩罚和奴役。因此，必须抚慰天使，这不仅要求信徒遵守传统犹太教的律法规定，还要求严格奉行禁欲主义。

这种教训无疑引起了某些信徒的兴趣，实际上属灵的精英们更多地认为它是一种高级的教义。基督徒被鼓励去追逐这种先进的“智慧”（希腊语 sophia）和“知识”（gnōsis，通过一系列的启蒙去探索隐藏在背后的秘密，直到他们达到完美 [teleiōsis]）。基督徒接受洗礼只是一个开始，如果想要在探索真理的路上走的更远，就应该放下所有的物质，过上禁

perfection (teleiōsis). Christian baptism was only a preliminary, initiation; if they would proceed farther along the path of truth, they must put off all material elements by pursuing an ascetic regimen until at last they found themselves transported from the material to the spiritual world, from the domain of darkness to the realm of light. This was the true redemption at which they ought to aim.

If we may judge by the analogy of parallel systems, Christ was probably held to have relinquished successive portions of His power to the planetary lords as He passed through their spheres, one after the other, on His way to earth. But certainly His death was believed to prove His inferiority to them, since it was they who made Him suffer. And by the same token His servant Paul, who had to endure so many afflictions in his apostolic ministry, clearly had not attained to that degree of insight into the powers of the world and of control over them which would have enabled him to avoid these sufferings.

III. Paul's Reply.—Paul's answer to this "tradition of men" is to set against it the one trustworthy tradition, the true doctrine of Christ. Christ, he says, is the very image of God, the One who embodies the plenitude of the divine essence, in which these elemental spirits have no share at all. And those who are members of Christ realize their fulness in Him; they need not seek, and they cannot find, perfection anywhere else. It is in Christ that all wisdom and knowledge we consecrated and made available to His people—not just to an elite, but to all. Christ is the one Mediator between God and man, not in the sense of one who occupies the lines of communication between them and can transmit messages passing from one side to the other, but in the sense that He combines Godhead and manhood in His single person and so brings God and man together. Christ is the one through whom and for whom all things are created, including the principalities and powers to which the Colossians were being tempted to pay tribute. But why should those who are united with the Creator of these principalities and powers think it necessary to appease them? Above all, Christ by His death is revealed as the conqueror of these principalities and powers. On the cross He fought and won the decisive battle against them. Not only did He repel their attack upon Himself and turn the cross into His triumphal chariot before which they were driven as His vanquished foes, but by that victory He liberated His people also from their power. Why then should those who through faith-union with Christ had shared His death and resurrection go on serving those beings whom He had so completely conquered? Far from being a form of advanced wisdom, this false system that they were being urged to accept, with its taboos, bore all the marks of immaturity.

如果我们根据这两个平行体系的类比进行判断，基督可能每次穿越天使的领域降临地上时都会将祂继承的部分权柄转让给天使。然而，基督受难必定被认为是基督的权柄低于天使的权柄，因为他们使基督遭受苦难。祂的仆人保罗带着相同的记号，他在传道时被迫忍受了很多的苦难，保罗显然还没有深刻洞察这世界的权柄和掌控力，这权柄和掌控力可以使他免受苦难。

III. 保罗的回复。保罗对“人的传统”的回答是为了使这种传统与那个值得信任的传统——基督的真正教义形成对比。他说，基督恰好有上帝的形象，上帝体现着丰富的神圣本质，而那些基层的邪灵不具有这神圣的本质。基督的肢体在基督里得到了充实；他们不需要在其他地方寻找完美，也根本找不到。我们推崇的智慧和知识在基督里让祂的子民得着——不单让精英得着，而是让所有人得着。基督是神与人们之间的中保，这并不意味着基督是神与人之间交流的渠道，可以将一方的信息传予另一方，而是意味着祂在一个位格上兼有神性和人性，将神和人结合在了一起。神藉着

Thus, in his reply to the Colossian heresy Paul develops the doctrine of the cosmic Christ more fully than he had in his earlier extant Epistles. The doctrine was not new, indeed (cf. Rom. 8:19-22; 1 Cor. 1:24; 2:6-10; 8:6); but what was hinted at here and there in some of Paul's earlier Epistles is expounded more fully in Colossians.

因此，保罗在驳斥歌罗西异端时比以往的书信更为全面地阐述了全宇宙的基督这一教义。这一教义并不新颖（参：罗 8:19-22；林前 1:24；2:6-10；8:6）；但保罗在《歌罗西书》中更为全面地阐述了蕴含在之前书信中暗示。

IV. Ethical Injunctions.-As in most of Paul's Epistles, the doctrinal part is followed by a practical part, the two being linked together logically by the conjunction oún, "therefore" (Col. 3:5). Because that is the doctrine, he says in effect, this is how you should live (cf. Rom. 12:1; Eph. 4:1).

The practical injunctions of Col. 3:5-4:6 are arranged according to what appears to have been a well-established catechetical method in primitive Christianity; they may be subdivided under the headings: "Put off" (3:5-11), "Put on" (3:12-17), "Be subject" (3:18-4:1), "Watch and pray" (4:2-6). The third of these, "Be subject," takes the form of directions about the mutual duties of members of a Christian household.

V. Authenticity.-The arguments that have been used against the authenticity of Colossians cannot stand up to serious examination. Some of them depend on an unwarranted restriction of "Paulinism" to the themes treated in Galatians and Romans. The type of heresy the Epistle attacks is not the developed Gnosticism that we meet in the 2nd cent., but an incipient Gnosticism such as was prone to emerge in the 1st cent. and even earlier in areas where the Judaism of the Dispersion was influenced by dominant trends of Hellenistic and oriental thought. If Paul uses terms here in a rather different sense from what they mean in his earlier Epistles, we need not be surprised; the sense he gives to a number of technical terms in Colossians may well be due to the sense in which they were employed by the heretical teachers. Some parts of Col. 1:9-23 have been singled out as especially un-Pauline in character; but in part of this section (vv. 12–17) we probably have echoes of a primitive Christian confession of faith.

IV. 道德警告。像大多数保罗书信中一样,《歌罗西书》在给出教义之后给出了一个实例,保罗用一个连词 oún (意为“因此”)将这两部分合理地联系在一起(西 3:5)。保罗实际上说道,你的生活实际上应以这个教义为准则(罗 12:1; 弗 4:1)。

《歌罗西书》3:5-4:6 中实际警告是按照原始基督教中普遍认可的问答式方法进行安排的;他们细分为以下的标题:“脱下”(西 3:5-11),“穿上”(西 3:12-17),“服从”(西 3:18-4:1),“警醒和祷告”(西 4:2-6)。第三个标题“服从”以命令的形式呈现出来,这是关于基督教家庭成员的相互责任的命令。

V. 真实性。驳斥《歌罗西书》真实性的论点是经不起仔细推敲的。有些论点根据毫无根据的“保罗神学”限制《加拉太书》和《罗马书》中的主题。书信所驳斥的这种异端邪说不是我们在 2 世纪看到的成熟的诺斯底主义,而是 1 世纪或更早时期在某些地方出现的初期诺斯底主义,在这些出现初期诺斯底主义的地方,离散的犹太人受到希腊化主导思想和东方思想的影响。如果保罗这里使用的词与他在早期书信中使用的词的意思相差很远,那么我们也不必感到太惊讶;保罗在《歌罗西书》中使用了很多术语的不同意义,这很可能是因为异端教师也使用了这层含义。《歌罗西书》1:9-23 中的许多部分被单独挑选出来,并被认为是非保罗的教义;但是正是在《歌罗西书》12-17 这部分,我们可能看到早期基督徒以宣告信心所作的回应。

The mediating theory (propounded in varying forms by H. J. Holtzmann and C. Masson), that Paul wrote a shorter letter to Colossae which some later hand expanded by the incorporation of sections from Ephesians, is condemned by its own complexity. The literary relationship of the two Epistles presents a real problem, but the solution does not lie in this direction. Most probably Paul, having completed his letter to Colossae, continued to contemplate the cosmic reconciliation effected by Christ until he was gripped by the vision that finds expression in Ephesians, and began to dictate its contents as his testament to the Asian churches in an exalted mood of inspired meditation, thanksgiving, and prayer.

Both letters (with the companion Epistle to Philemon) are present in the Pauline corpus as far back as we can trace the existence of this collection (at least as early as Marcion, ca. A.D. 140), and are acknowledged as canonical by our earliest witnesses to the NT canon.

Since horses are seldom mentioned in the Bible, only in connection with royal equipages and armies, “colt” does not occur in its ordinary English sense. “Colt” and “foal” refer to the young of the ass everywhere in the English versions except Gen. 32:15, where “colt” is used in the AV and RSV of the camel. In most cases 'ayir (cf. COLT; FOAL 驹子

she-asses”; cf. Mt. 21:5: epí ónon kaí epí pólōn huión hypozygiou, “upon an ass, and upon a colt the foal of an ass.” Matthew evidently understands the Hebraism literally, and mentions two animals in his story, whereas Zec. 9:9 has in mind only one; cf. Mk. 11:2ff.; Lk. 19:30ff.

The quotation in Jn. 12:15 has Gk. epí pólōn ónou, while v. 14 has the diminutive onárion. The commonest NT word for “colt” is Gk. pólos, which is akin to Ger. Fahle and Eng. “foal” and “filly” (cf. Lat. pullus, meaning either “foal” or “chicken”).

COLUMN

[Heb. ‘ammûd] (Cant. 5:15). From the 2nd millennium B.C. onward, columns of wood or stone were used to support upper stories or balconies of Palestinian houses. The upper story of Solomon’s “House of the Forest of Lebanon,” e.g., rested on rows of columns. In his temple, the two bronze pillars at the entrance may have been free-standing (1 K. 7:15–22; see JACHIN AND BOAZ).

COLUMN (of writing)

[Heb. delet-‘door’] (Jer. 36:23). Normally in OT and NT times a book consisted of a scroll inscribed in columns called “doors” because of their appearance on the roll.

《约翰福音》12:15中的“驴驹”的希腊语形式是 epí pólōn ónou，然而《约翰福音》12:14中使用了指小词 onárion。《新约》中最常见的词“驹子”的希腊语表达形式是 pólos，这个词与德文 Fahle 和英文“foal”和“filly”同义（参：拉丁语 pullus，意思是“驹子”或“小鸡”）。

COLUMN 柱子

【希腊语：‘ammûd】（歌5:15）。从公元前2000年开始，木柱或石柱就用来支撑二楼或巴勒斯坦人的房子的阳台。所罗门的“黎巴嫩林宫”的楼上也是由一排排柱子支撑的。在所罗门的神殿的入口处立着两个铜柱（王上7:15–22；见 JACHIN AND BOAZ [雅斤和波阿斯]）。

COLUMN (of writing) 书卷

【希伯来语：delet——“书卷”】（耶36:23）。通常在旧约时期和新约时期，一本书由一个刻在柱子上的卷轴组成，由于它看起来像是一个卷，也被称为“书卷”。

COMBAT COMMANDERS 军长

【希伯来语：sārê milhāmôt】（代下32:6）；《钦定版圣经》译为 CAPTAINS OF WAR（“军长”）；《新英文译本》译为 MILITARY COMMANDERS（“军长”）。在战争中带领人们的人，通常是

In the time of Saul and David, the king was the supreme and active commander even though one of the generals took command. The army units of thousands, hundreds, fifties, and tens harked back to nomadic days (Ex. 18:21; Dt. 1:15).

The connotations of the Hebrew terms are: attractive, beautiful, lovely, handsome. Yāpeh (“handsome”) is also applied to David in 1 S. 16:12. Isa. 53:2 has been taken literally of Christ’s physical appearance, but it is more likely that it refers to His whole life-style, including His most unattractive death.

The AV sometimes employs “comely” in the obsolete sense of “fitting” or “suitable,” as in Ps. 33:1; 147:1; Eccl. 5:18.

COMELY 优美的、俊美的、美丽的、嘉美的

【希伯来语: šeper】(创 49:21); 《钦定版圣经》译为 GOODLY (“优美的”); 《新英文译本》译为 LOVELY (“优美的”); 【yāpeh】(撒上 17:42), 《钦定版圣经》译为 FAIR (“俊美”); 《新英文译本》译为 BRIGHT (“英俊”); 【nā'weh (歌 1:5, 10; 2:14; 6:4), nāweh (耶 6:2)】; 《新英文译本》译为 LOVELY (“美丽的”); COMELINESS (“美丽的”) 【hādār】(赛 53:2); 《新英文译本》译为 MAJESTY (“美貌”)。

这些希伯来语的含义是: 有魅力的、美丽的、可爱的、英俊的。《撒母耳记上》16:12 用 Yāpeh (“英俊”) 形容大卫。《以赛亚书》53:2 照字面意思理解, 认为指的是基督的外貌, 但更可能是指基督所有生活方式, 包括祂最不吸引人的受难。

如在《诗篇》33:1; 147:1; 《传道书》5:18 中, 《钦定版圣经》有时用“comely”来表示“合适的”这一过时意义。

【希伯来语: nāham, n^ehāmā, tanhûmôt, tanhûmîm, taḥ^anûmîm (耶 3:19), bālag

(Job 10:20); Gk. parakalēō, paráklēsis, paramythéomai, paramythía (1 Cor. 14:3), parēgoría (Col. 4:11)]; AV also SUPPLICATIONS (Jer. 31:9); NEB also CONDOLE, CONDOLENCES, ENCOURAGE (1 Cor. 14:3), RELIEF (Job 6:10), RESTORATION (Lk. 2:25). “time of happiness” (6:24), “be happy” (Job 10:20), “ease (one’s) mind” (Ruth 2:13), etc. (cf. Gen. 38:12). The AV “be of good comfort” for Gk. tharséo (Mt. 9:22 par.) is in the RSV “take heart” (cf. Phil. 2:19, eupsychéō, RSV “be cheered”).

An Arabic cognate of Heb. nāḥam refers to the heavy breathing of a horse; in its reflexive and passive forms nāḥam has the basic meaning “ease oneself,” “find relief.” An interesting occurrence is Gen. 27:42, where Esau, it is said, “comforts himself” by planning vengeance on Jacob, i.e., his plot against Jacob is the means of venting his anger. In the intensive (piel) form, nāḥam means “comfort” or “console,” literally “give relief” or “help find release” for pent-up sorrow and emotion. The other OT words for “comfort” and “consolation” are all derived from nāḥam, except for bālag in Job 10:20 (AV, RSV), which means “brighten up” (cf. Ps. 39:13; Job 9:27; Am. 5:9).

The most important NT word is Gk. parakalēō (paráklēsis), literally “call by the side,” thus “encourage” (RSV Eph. 6:22; Col. 4:8; 1 Thess. 2:11; 5:11), “exhort” (Acts 16:40; 1 Thess. 3:2),

(伯 10:20); 希腊语: parakalēō, paráklēsis, paramythéomai, paramythía (林前 14:3), parēgoría (西 4:11)]; 《钦定版圣经》译为 SUPPLICATIONS (“恳求”) (耶 31:9); 《新英文译本》译为 CONDOLE (“安慰”), CONDOLENCES (“安慰”), ENCOURAGE (“劝勉”) (林前 14:3), RELIEF 译为“安慰”(伯 6:10), RESTORATION (“安慰者”) (路 2:25). “time of happiness” (“安慰”) (路 6:24), “be happy” (“畅快”) (伯 10:20), “ease (one’s) mind” (“安慰……的心”) (得 2:13) 等 (参: 创 38:12)。《钦定版圣经》中将希腊语 tharséo 译为 “be of good comfort” (“得到安慰”) (太 9:22 平行经文), 《修订标准译本》译为 “take heart” (“得到鼓励”) (参: 腓 2:19, eupsychéō, 《修订标准译本》译为 be cheered [“得到鼓励”])。

希伯来语 nāḥam 的阿拉伯语的同根词指的是一匹马沉重的呼吸; nāḥam 的反身代词和被动形式的基本含义是“自我安慰”和“解除焦虑”。有趣的是在《创世记》27:42 中, 以扫想要杀雅各“报仇雪恨”, 也就是说以扫谋害雅各的图谋是他泄愤的一种方法。nāḥam 的加强主动干的意思是“安慰”或“抚慰”, 字面意思是从压抑的情绪和悲伤中“释放出来”。除了《约伯记》10:20 中的 bālag (“畅快”), 《旧约》中其他表示“安慰”的词都来源于 nāḥam, (《钦定版圣经》, 《修订标准译本》) (参: 诗 39:13; 伯 9:27; 摩 5:9)。

最重要的新约词汇是希腊语 parakalēō (paráklēsis), 字面意思是“叫到一边”, 因此可以表示 “encourage” (“安慰”) (《修订标准译本》, 弗 6:22; 西 4:8; 帖前 2:11; 5:11), “exhort” (“劝勉”) “console” (Mt. 2:18), and “comfort” (5:4; Lk. 16:25; Acts 10:12; 2 Cor. 1:4; etc.). The “consolation [paráklēsis] of Israel” in Lk. 2:25 is evidently a standardized expression among the Jews of this time, alluding to prophetic promises such as Isa. 40:1, and referring to the eschatological restoration of the kingdom of Israel (cf. NEB).

The other NT words are paramythéomai, “cheer up” (Jn. 11:19, 31; 1 Cor. 14:3; cf. 1 Thess. 2:11; 5:14, “encourage”), and parēgoría (Col. 4:11), “soothing comfort” (cf. Eng. “paregoric”).

As with mourning customs, giving comfort or consolation is among Eastern peoples often much less inhibited and more demonstrative and vociferous than in the West. The consoler becomes involved empathically in the sorrow or discomfort of the one needing comfort, and together they find release for the emotions.

COMFORTABLY.

An obsolete term used by the AV to render the Heb. ‘al lēb, “to the heart.” The RSV renders “kindly” (2 S. 19:7), “encouragingly” (2 Ch. 30:22; 32:6), “tenderly” (Isa. 40:2; Hos. 2:14). The words ‘al lēb are also the ordinary Hebrew expression for wooing; e.g., Boaz spoke “to the heart” of Ruth (Ruth 2:13; AV “friendly”; RSV, NEB, “kindly”). The term has exceptional

(徒 16:40; 帖前 3:2), “console” (“安慰”) (太 2:18) 和 “comfort” (“宽慰”) (太 5:4, 路 16:25; 徒 10:12; 林后 1:4 等)。《路加福音》2:25 中“以色列的安慰者 [paráklēsis]”, 显然是当时犹太人的一种标准化表达方式, 暗指《以赛亚书》40:1 中预言性的应许, 指的是以色列王国的末世复兴(参:《新英文译本》)。

其他新约词汇还有 paramythéomai, 意为“安慰”(约 11:19, 31; 林前 14:3; 参: 帖前 2:11; 5:14; “encourage”[“勉励”]), parēgoría (西 4:11), “安慰”(参: 英文 “paregoric” [“止痛”])。

与西方人相比, 东方人表示哀悼、安慰的习俗通常更难以控制, 更公开强烈。安慰者对被安慰者的悲痛或不适表示同情, 他们一起发泄情绪。

另见 ENCOURAGEMENT (鼓励); EXHORT (劝慰); INCENTIVE (安慰) (腓 2:1); REFRESH (释放); 关于“劝慰子”见 BARNABAS (巴拿巴)。

I. Vocabulary.-The commonest OT word for "commandment" is mišwâ (pl. mišwôt, vb. šāwâ), usually considered just one of several synonyms for "law" (tôrâ), as also mišpāt (Zeph. 2:3; AV "judgment"; NEB "laws"), piqqûdîm (Ps. 103:18), and in the AV dāt (Est. 3:14; 8:13) and hōq (Am. 2:4). Various attempts have been made, however, to show it was a technical term used specifically to denote the Decalogue (see

COMMAND; COMMANDMENT 命令; 戒律

【希伯来语: mišwâ; 希腊语: entolé (见下文)】。上帝的指示或命令; 通常指摩西十诫。

I. 表示命令或戒律的词汇。《旧约》中最常见的表示“戒律”的词是 mišwâ (复数形式 mišwôt, 动词形式 šāwâ), 常被看作是“律法” (tôrâ)、mišpāt (番 2:3; 《钦定版圣经》译为“judgment” [“审判”]; 《新英文译本》译为“laws” [“律法”])、piqqûdîm (诗 103:18) 的同义词, 《钦定版圣经》中认为它与 dāt (斯 3:14; 8:13) 和 hōq (摩 2:4) 是同义词。然而, 学者们多次尝试证明这是一个表示摩西十诫的专业术语 (见 M. G. Kyle,

M. G. Kyle, Problem of the Pentateuch [1920], Investigation I). According to this argument, mišwôṭ, when used in connection with “judgments” and “statutes” as titles for groups of laws, refers always to the Decalogue (but cf. Gen. 26:5!), and is representative of the most fundamental kind of law, analogous to the Magna Carta of England or the Constitution of the United States.

Commandments are denoted in the OT also by peh, “mouth” (AV also “appointment,” Nu. 4:27; 2 S. 13:32; “word,” Nu. 4:45; 20:24; 22:18; Josh. 19:50; 22:9); by dāḅar, ma^amār (Est. 1:15; 9:32), ’imrā, and ’ōmer, all “word,” “thing spoken” (AV often “word”; cf. 1 K. 20:35; Ps. 68:11; 147:15; Jer. 35:14; etc.); by qōl (Jgs. 2:2, AV and “voice”), and š^edāqā (Dt. 33:21; AV “justice”; NEB “what [the Lord] deemed right”); and by Aram ṭa’am (Ezr. 6:14) and millā (Dnl. 3:28, AV “word”). Note also Job 37:15, “lays his command upon them,” Heb. śûm (AV “disposed”).

In the NT the main word is Gk. entolē; Paul occasionally used also epitagē (NEB also “instructions,” 1 Cor. 7:25; “order,” 2 Cor. 8:8). The “cry of command” in 1 Thess. 4:16 translates kéleusma (AV “shout”). See TDNT, II, s.v. εντελλομαι (Schrenk).

II. Developed NT Concept.-In the teaching of the Jewish rabbis there are 613 specific commandments (mišwôṭ) in the Torah, reference to which may form Problem of the Pentateuch [1920], Investigation I)。依据这一观点，当 mišwôṭ 与“审判”和“法规”连用作为一些律法法规的标题时，通常指的是摩西十诫（参：创 26:5），并且代表了最根本的律法，类似于英国《大宪章》或美国宪法。

《旧约》中表示“诫命”的词有 peh，意为“嘴”（《钦定版圣经》译为“appointment”[“指派”]，民 4:27；撒下 13:32；“word”[“吩咐”]民 4:45；20:24；22:18；书 19:50；22:9）；dāḅar，ma^amār（斯 1:15；9:32），’imrā 和 ’ōmer，意为所有的“吩咐”、“命令”（《钦定版圣经》译为“word”[“吩咐”]；参：王上 20:35；诗 68:11；147:15；耶 35:14 等）；qōl（《钦定版圣经》，士 2:2 和“voice”[“话语”]），和 š^edāqā（申 33:21；《钦定版圣经》译为“justice”[“公义”]；《新英文译本》译为“what [the Lord] deemed right”[“施行耶和华的公义”]）；亚兰语 ṭa’am（拉 6:14）和 millā（但 3:28，《钦定版圣经》译为“word”[“命令”]）。另参《约伯记》37:15，“神怎样吩咐这些”，希伯来语 śûm（《钦定版圣经》译为“disposed”[“吩咐”]）。

《新约》中主要使用的一个希腊语是 entolē；保罗偶尔使用 epitagē（《新英文译本》译为“instructions”[“命令”]，林前 7:25；“order”[“吩咐”]林后 8:8）。《帖撒罗尼迦前书》4:16 中用“呼叫的声音”来翻译 kéleusma（《钦定版圣经》译为“shout”[“呼声”]）。见 TDNT, II, 见词条 εντελλομαι (Schrenk)。

II. 成熟的《新约》观念。在犹太拉比的教导中，律法书里有 613 条特殊的诫命 (mišwôṭ)，这些诫命可能构成了《新约》中某些诫命改变的背景（太 19:18；

the background for certain exchanges in the NT (e.g., Mt. 19:18; 22:36; Mk. 12:28). Jesus, although explicitly affirming the absolute authority of the OT law (Mt. 5:19), stressed the organic unity of the Commandments, reducing the “Ten” to two, and these to one principle, that of love (cf. Mt. 22:37–40; Mk. 12:29–31; Lk. 10:27; Rom. 13:8–10). It is this corrective, when set over against the tendency of Pharasaic Judaism toward an atomistic ethics, that gives Jesus’ teaching its unique flavor. In the Fourth Gospel the “commandments” became first the commandment of the Father to the Son (Jn. 10:18; 12:49f.) and secondarily the very personal “my commandments” given by the Son to His followers (13:34; 14:15, 21; 15:10, 12). Throughout the Johannine Epistles we hear an echo of this same language in the expression “his commandments.” Here, as in the Gospel of John, the first commandment is to love (1 Jn. 4:21; cf. Jn. 13:34); indeed, it is because the new life in Christ enkindles love that the life itself becomes the free expression of the commandments and of the nature of God, in which the commandments are grounded.

This emphasis on love as the fulfilling element of the law is not absent in Paul (Rom. 13:9f.), though elsewhere in the apostle’s writings the “commandment” (i.e., the Mosaic law in its character as a hostile judge) is spoken of as a negative force (Rom. 7; Eph. 2:15). Nevertheless, both the law of the Decalogue and the commandments of the Lord (Jesus) are explicitly affirmed (Eph. 6:2; 1 Cor. 14:37), rendering fatuous any attempt to picture the great apostle as an antinomian.

22:36; 可 12:28)。尽管耶稣明确的肯定旧约律法的绝对权威(太 5:19), 强调诫命的有机统一性, 将十诫总结成两条, 集中于一个原则, 那就是爱(参: 太 22:37–40; 可 12:29–31; 路 10:27; 罗 13:8–10)。正是由于这种纠正, 在反对法利赛犹太人的心理元素论的倾向时, 显示出耶稣教导的独特性。第四福音中, “诫命”中居于第一的是圣父对圣子的诫命(约 10:18; 12:49–50), 其次是圣子对追随者的私人诫命(约 13:34; 14:15, 21; 15:10, 12)。在使徒约翰的所有书信中, 我们始终可以读到“他的诫命”这一表达。与《约翰福音》中一样, 第一条诫命是爱(约壹 4:21; 参: 约 13:34); 正是因为基督里的新生唤起了人们的爱心, 生命本身才变成了对诫命和上帝本质的自由表达, 而爱心则是诫命的基础。

保罗也曾强调爱是成全律法的要素(罗 13:9–10), 尽管在保罗的其他作品中也提到诫命(如: 摩西律法从性质上看属于一种敌对的审判)视作一种负面力量(罗 7; 弗 2:15)。然而, 摩西十诫和耶和(耶稣)的诫命都已被明确证实(弗 6:2; 林前 14:37), 所以认为伟大使徒保罗是唯信仰论者的说法是多么地荒谬。

The terms rendered “commander” by the RSV are imprecise designations applied to military leaders of an army (1 K. 1:19) or of a unit of an army (1 S. 8:12); see COMBAT COMMANDERS. In nonmilitary contexts śar can refer to governors of towns (Jgs. 9:30), elders (8:14), heads of families (Ezr. 8:29), leaders in occupations (e.g., chief baker in Gen. 40:16), and civil officials such as the king’s ministers (1 K. 4:2; Jer. 24:8) and district governors (1 K. 20:14). COMMANDMENT, THE NEW [Gk. entolḗ kainḗ] (Jn. 13:34; 1 Jn. 2:7f.; 2 Jn. 5f.; cf. Jn. 15:12, etc.).

I. Christ and the Old Commandment.-In the OT the concept of “commandment” expresses the theocratic idea of morality wherein the will or law of God is imposed upon men as their law of conduct (2 K. 17:37). This idea is not repudiated in the NT, but supplemented or modified from within by making love the essence of the command. Jesus Christ, as reported in the Synoptics, came “not ... to abolish the law and the prophets ... but to fulfil them” (Mt. 5:17). He taught that “whoever then relaxes one of the least of these commandments and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven” (5:19). He condemned the Pharisees for rejecting the commandments of God as given by Moses (Mk. 7:8-13). Thus, there is a sense in which Christ propounded no new commandment; but the new element in His teaching was the emphasis laid on the old commandment of love, and the extent and intent of its application. The great commandment is “You shall love the Lord your God ... [and] your neighbor as yourself. On these two

关于《以赛亚书》20:1，见 TARTAN（他珥探）。

COMMANDMENT, THE NEW 新命令

【希腊语：entolḗ kainḗ】（约 13:34；约壹 2:7-8；约贰 1:5-1:6；参：约 15:12 等）。

I. 基督和旧命令。《旧约》中的“诫命”观念表达了政教合一的观点，上帝的旨意或律法成为世人的行为准则（王下 17:37）。这种观点在《新约》不但没有被否定，反而加以补充或修订，使爱成为命令的本质。基督耶稣在《对观福音书》中说道“我来不是要废掉律法和先知，乃是要成全”（太 5:17）。祂教导道“无论何人废掉这诫命中最小的一条，又教训人这样做，他在天国要称为最小的”（太 5:19）。祂谴责法利赛人拒绝摩西给的神的诫命（可 7:8-13）。因此基督并没有给出新命令；但祂教导中的新要素体现在祂强调旧诫命中的爱心，以及爱心的应用范围和目的。最重要的诫命是“你要爱主你的神……要爱人如己。这两条诫命是律法和先知一切道理的总纲”（太 22:34-40；可 12:28-34；参：申 6:5；利 19:18）。 commandments depend all the law and the prophets” (Mt. 22:34–40; Mk. 12:28–34; cf. Dt. 6:5; Lev. 19:18).

II. The Law Internalized as Love.—When the law realizes itself in a person’s heart as love for God and neighbor, it ceases to bear the aspect of a command. The force of authority and the subject’s active resistance or inertia disappear; the law becomes a principle, a motive, a joyous harmony of the human will with the will of God; and in becoming internalized it becomes universal and transcends all distinctions of race or class. Even this was not an altogether new idea (cf. Jer. 31:31–34; Ps. 51); nor did Christ’s contemporaries and disciples think it was. The revolutionary factor was the death of Christ wherein the love of God was exemplified and made manifest as the basis and principle of all spiritual life (Jn. 13:34). Paul therefore generalizes all pre-Christian morality as a system of law and commandments, standing in antithesis to the grace and love which are through Jesus Christ (Rom. 5–7).

Believers in Christ felt their experience and inward life to be so changed and new that it needed a special term (Gk. agápē, “love”) to express their ideal of conduct (see Love III). Another change that grew upon the Christian consciousness, following from the resurrection and ascension of Christ, was the idea that He was the permanent source of the principle of life. This was summarized in the confession that “Jesus is Lord” (1 Cor. 12:3). Hence in the Johannine writings the principle described by the term agápē is associated with Christ’s lordship and solemnly described as His “new commandment.” “A new commandment I give to you, that you love one another; even as I have loved you, that you also love one another” (Jn. 13:34). To the Christians of the end of the 1st cent. it was already an old commandment which they had from the beginning of the Christian teaching (1 Jn. 2:7; 2 Jn. 5); but it was also a new commandment which ever came with new force to men who were passing from the darkness of hatred to the light of love (1 Jn. 2:8–11).

II. 律法的内在是爱。当人们在内心里将律法理解为爱上帝和爱邻舍，律法就不再是命令。权威的力量和主体的反抗或惰性将会消失；律法将变成一种原则，一种动力，一种人类意志和上帝旨意的喜乐融合；律法在内化过程中变成了普世的律法，并且超越了所有种族或阶级界限。即使这并不是全新的观点（参：耶 31:31–34；诗 51）；也不是基督同代人和门徒想出来的。革命性因素是基督的受难是上帝爱的典范，显然已作为所有属灵生活的基本和原则（约 13:34）。因此保罗将基督以前的道德总结为律法和命令体系，它与上帝藉着耶稣基督给的恩典和爱心对立（罗 5–7）。

III. A New Revolution.—The term “new commandment” in the Gospel we may owe to the Evangelist, but it brings into relief an element in the consciousness of Jesus that the author of the Fourth Gospel had appreciated more fully than the Synoptists. Jesus was aware that He was the bearer of a special message from the Father (Jn. 12:49; Mt. 11:27), that He fulfilled His mission in His death of love and self-sacrifice (Jn. 10:18), and that the mission fulfilled gave Him authority over the lives of men, “even as I have loved you, that you also love one another.” The full meaning of Christ’s teaching was realized only when men had experienced and recognized the significance of His death as the cause and principle of right conduct. The Synoptists saw Christ’s teaching as the development of the prophetic teaching of the OT. Paul and John felt that the love of God in Christ was a new thing: new as a revelation of God in Christ, new as a principle of life in the Church, and new as a union of believers with Christ. While it is love, it is also a commandment of Christ, calling forth the joyous obedience of believers.

See also BROTHERLY LOVE.

黑暗，得到爱心照耀的人来说具有新意义（约壹 2:8–11）。

III. 一场新革命。福音中的新诫命可能要归功于传道者，但是它使耶稣的观念里少了一种要素，第四福音的作者比对观福音书作者更欣赏这个新诫命。耶稣意识到祂是圣父的信息传达者（约 12:49；太 11:27），祂以受难和以身献祭完成了自己的使命（约 10:18），祂也因此获得了高于世人的权柄，“我怎样爱你们，你们也要怎样相爱”。只有当世人意识到耶稣受难是正确行为的原因和准则，基督教导的全部意义才会完全体现出来。对观福音书中基督的教导是对旧约先知教导的一种发展。保罗和约翰在感受到在基督里上帝的爱是一种新事物：上帝在基督里的新启示、教会中的新生活原则，以及信徒与基督新的结合。然而，它是爱心，也是基督的命令，恩召信徒喜乐地顺从祂。

[Heb. hálal (Prov. 12:8), šāḇaḥ (Eccl. 8:15); Gk. epainéō, épainos, synístēmi, synistánō, parístēmi (1 Cor. 8:8), paratíthēmi (Acts 20:32), paradídōmi (14:26; 15:40)]; AV also PRAISE, APPROVE, RECOMMEND; NEB also APPLAUD (Lk. 16:8), PRAISE, “bring (us) into (God’s) presence” (1 Cor. 8:8), “produce (our) credentials” (2 Cor. 3:1; cf. 12:11), RECOMMEND (4:2; 5:12; 6:4; 10:18), “put forward (their own) claims” (10:12). The usual meaning of the two Hebrew words and of Gk. epainéō (épainos) is “praise.” The literal meaning of synístēmi is “stand with,” as one stands with a friend to introduce or recommend him to others (Rom. 16:1). It can also be used reflexively, “commend oneself” (2 Cor. 3:1; 4:2; 6:4; 10:12).

In discussing the problem of eating food that had been offered to idols, Paul states: “Food will not commend us to God” (1 Cor. 8:8). But parístēmi here may be taken in its legal technical sense “bring before” (a judge), so that the statement means, “eating such food will not cause us to be brought to judgment before God.” Or it may mean simply “bring before God,” without necessarily the legal sense (cf. NEB; see Bauer, p. 633).

COMMEND 称赞、称颂、夸奖

【希伯来语: hálal (箴 12:8), šāḇaḥ (传 8:15); 希腊语: epainéō, épainos, synístēmi, synistánō, parístēmi (林前 8:8), paratíthēmi (徒 20:32), paradídōmi (徒 14:26; 15:40)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 PRAISE (“称颂”), APPROVE (“称赞”), RECOMMEND (“交托”); 《新英文译本》译为 APPLAUD (“夸奖”) (路 16:8), PRAISE (“称赞”), “bring (us) into (God’s) presence” (“使我们亲近神”, 林前 8:8), “produce (our) credentials” (“自我推荐”, 林后 3:1; 参: 林后 12:11), RECOMMEN (“推荐”) (林后 4:2; 5:12; 6:4; 10:18), “put forward (their own) claims” (“自我推荐”, 林后 10:12)。这两个希伯来语和希腊语 epainéō (épainos) 的意思是“称赞”。Synístēmi 的字面意思是“站在一起”, 一个人和朋友站在一起, 并向另一个人推荐或介绍自己的朋友 (罗 16:1)。它还可作反身代词, 意为“称赞自己” (林后 3:1; 4:2; 6:4; 10:12)。

论到偶像之物, 保罗说: “食物不能叫神看中我们” (林前 8:8)。但是 parístēmi 在这里可能取它律法术语上的意思 “带到[法官]面前”, 所以这句话意思是 “吃这样的食物也不会将我们带到上帝面前得到审判”。或者这句话的意思仅仅是 “带到上帝面前”, 没有律法含义 (参: 《新英文译本》; 见 Bauer, 633 页)。

I. General Scope.-Etymologically, a commentary (from Lat. commentor) denotes jottings, annotations, memoranda, on a given subject or perhaps on a series of events; hence its use in the plural as a designation for a narrative or history, as the Commentaries of Caesar. In its application to Scripture the word designates a work devoted to the explanation, elucidation, illustration, sometimes the homiletic expansion and edifying utilization, of the text of some book or portion of Scripture. I. 概述。从词源学上讲，注释（来源于拉丁文：commentor）表示对某一话题或一系列事件上做出简短的笔记、附注或备忘录；因此这个词的复数形式表示一个故事或一段历史，如凯撒的注释（Commentaries）。《圣经》注释指的是一部专注于解释、阐述和说明的作品，有时指的是具有说教和教化用途的部分圣经经卷。一个好的注释的主要作用是在深思熟虑后，准确地解释一段经文的含义；注释需要展现所谈论作品中思想的关联性、论证的步骤、整体的范围和布局。只有通过仔细地研究语境和作者 function of a good comm. is to furnish an exact interpretation of the meaning of the passage under consideration; it should also show the connection of ideas, the steps of argument, and the scope and design of the whole, in the writing in question. This can be successfully accomplished only with a knowledge of the original language of the writing and of the historical setting of the particular passage; by careful study of the context and of the author's general usages of thought and speech; and by comparison of parallel or related texts. Aid may also be obtained from external sources, e.g., information concerning the history, archeology, topography, chronology, and manners and customs of the lands, peoples, and times referred to; or, as in A. Deissmann's discoveries, from the light thrown on peculiarities of language by papyri or other ancient remains (see Deiss.LAE).

II. Differences in Character.-It is obvious that comments will vary greatly in character in accordance with their purpose. Some are more scholarly, technical, and critical; these enter, e.g., into philological discussions, and tabulate and remark upon the various views held as to the meaning. Others are more popular, aiming only at bringing out the general sense and conveying it to the mind of the reader in attractive and edifying form. When the practical motive predominates and the treatment is greatly enlarged by illustration, application, and the enforcement of lessons, the work loses the character of comm. proper, and takes on more of the character of homily or discourse.

III. Range.-No book in the world has been made the subject of so much commenting and exposition as the Bible. Theological libraries are full of comms of all descriptions and all grades of worth. Some are on the original Hebrew or Greek texts, some on the English or other versions. Modern comms are usually accompanied with some measure of introduction to the books commented upon; the more learned works have commonly also some indication of the data for the determination of the textual readings (see CRITICISM I). Few writers are equal to the task of commenting with profit on the Bible as a whole, and with the growth of knowledge this task is now seldom attempted. Frequently, however, one writer contributes many valuable works, and sometimes by the cooperation of like-minded scholars, comms on the whole Bible are produced. It is obvious that only a very slight survey can be taken in a brief article on the work of commenting and on the literature to which it has given rise; the attempt can be made only to follow the lines most helpful to those seeking aid from this class of books. On the use and abuse of comms by the preacher, see C. H. Spurgeon's spicy remarks in his book Commenting and Commentaries (1876).

II. 注释性质的差异。根据注释目的的不同，注释的性质显然存在很大的差异。一些注释更为学术性、专业性和批判性；有些注释属于语言学讨论的对象，针对一个含义表达不同的观点。另一些注释要更通俗，仅专注于一般含义，并以积极及启发性的方式将信息传达给读者。当实用目的占主导地位时，说明、应用和经验教训便极大地增加了处理的方法，作品本身不再具有评论色彩，而更多地变为一种说教或评论。

III. 注释范围。世界上没有一本书像《圣

A. Early Commentaries. Rabbinical interpretations and paraphrases of the OT may here be left out of account (see COMMENTARIES, HEBREW; also TARGUM; TALMUD). comms on the NT could not begin until the NT books themselves were written and had acquired some degree of authority as sacred writings (see CANON OF THE NT). The earliest comms we hear of are from the heretical circles of the Gnostics. Heracleon, a Valentinian (ca. A.D. 175), wrote a comm. on the Gospel of John (fragments in Origen) and on parts, at least, of the Gospel of Luke. Tatian, a disciple of Justin Martyr, compiled at about the same time his Diatessaron, or Harmony of the Four Gospels, on which, at a later time, comms were written. Ephraem Syrus (4th cent.) wrote such a comm., of which an Armenian translation has now been recovered. The church father Hippolytus (beginning of the 3rd cent.) wrote several comms on the OT (Exodus, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Daniel, Zechariah, etc.), and on Matthew, Luke, and Revelation.

《圣经》一样成为评论和注释的主题。神学类的书籍充满了各种各样的注释，也具有不同的价值。一些注释用希伯来语或希腊语写成的，一些则是用英语或其他语言写成的。现代注释通常带有对所评论书籍的介绍；更为学术的作品通常包含正确理解文本的资料（见 CRITICISM I [批评、考证 I]）。很少有作者将圣经注释的任务与从圣经中获益等同起来，随着知识的增长现在很少有人尝试这项任务。然而，一个作者通常创作许多有价值的作品，有时会 and 志趣相投的学者们合作完成《圣经》中的注释。显然，对于一部简短的作品和由此产生的文学作品，能够进行的调查微乎其微。只能遵循如下原则进行尝试，即那些想要从这类书籍中获得帮助的人可以从中获得最大帮助。关于传道士使用和滥用注释的现象，见司布真《书评和参考书》（Commenting and Commentaries）（1876）中的犀利评论。

1. Origen and the Alexandrian School. The strongest impulse to the work of commenting and exposition of Holy Scripture, however, undoubtedly proceeded from the school of Alexandria—especially from Origen (A.D. 203–254). Clement, Origen’s predecessor, had written a treatise called Hypotypōseis, or “Outlines,” a survey of the contents of Holy Scripture. Origen himself wrote comms on the books of the OT (Ruth, Esther, and Ecclesiastes alone excepted) and on most of the books of the NT (Mark, 1 and 2 Corinthians, 1 and 2 Peter, 1, 2, and 3 John, James, Jude, Revelation excepted). In addition he furnished scholia, or notes on difficult passages, and delivered homilies, or discourses, the records of which fill three folio volumes. “By his Tetrapla and Hexapla,” says Farrar, “he became the founder of all textual criticism; by his Homilies he fixed the type of a popular exposition; his Scholia were the earliest specimens of marginal explanations; his Commentaries furnished the Church with her first continuous exegesis” (History of Interpretation [1886], p. 188).

1. 俄利根和亚历山大学派。强力推动注释工作以及对《圣经》的阐释无疑是从亚历山大学派开始的, 尤其是从俄利根(公元203–254)开始。俄利根的老师革利免曾撰写一本注释书《纲领》(Hypotypōseis), 他在该书中调查了《圣经》中的内容。俄利根也写过旧约注释(除了《路得记》, 《以斯帖记》, 《传道书》)和大部分《新约》作品的注释(除了《马可福音》, 《哥林多前书》, 《哥林多后书》, 《彼得前书》, 《彼得后书》, 约翰一书), 《约翰二书》, 《约翰三书》, 《雅各书》, 《犹大书》, 《启示录》)。此外还完成了经文边注(scholia)或是一些难理解的篇章和布道训词或讲道词的注释, 这些记录编成了三卷书。法拉说: “俄利根通过撰写《四栏经文合参》和《六栏经文合参》, 成为了文本考证的创始人; 他还在说教作品中确定了通俗解经的类型; 他的《经文边注》是最早边注的范本; 他的注释为教会提供了最早的、连续的注释”(History of Interpretation [1886], 188页)。不幸的是, 亚历山大学派采用寓意释经的方法, 经常陷入最为夸张的想象中。假设《圣经》中三重含义——字面含义、道德含义和属灵含义, 那么当对最简单的历史描述进行虚构时, 就会随意地加入一些

Unfortunately the Alexandrian school adopted a principle of allegorical interpretation which led it frequently into the most extravagant fancies. Assuming a threefold sense in Scripture—literal, moral, and spiritual—it gave rein to caprice in foisting imaginary meanings on the simplest historical statements (Farrar, pp. 189ff.). Some of Origen's comms, however, are much freer from allegory than others, and all possess high value (cf. Lightfoot, Galatians [repr. 1957], p. 217). The later teachers of the Alexandrian school continued the exegetical work of Origen. Pamphilus of Caesarea, the friend of Eusebius, is said to have written OT commentaries.

2. Chrysostom and the Antiochian School. At the opposite pole from the allegorizing Alexandrian school of interpretation was the Antiochian, marked by a sober, literal, and grammatical style of exegesis. Its reputed founder was Lucian (martyred A.D. 312); but its real heads were Diodorus of Tarsus (d. ca. 394) and Theodore of Mopsuestia (d. ca. 428); and its most distinguished representative was John Chrysostom (b. ca. 347). Chrysostom wrote continuous comms on Isaiah (only 1:1–8:10 extant) and on Galatians; but his chief contributions were his Homilies, covering almost the whole of the OT and NT. Of those over six hundred remain, chiefly on the NT. They are unequal in character, those on Acts being reputed the feeblest; others, as those on Matthew, Romans, and Corinthians, are splendid examples of expository teaching. Schaff speaks of Chrysostom as “the prince of commentators among the Fathers” (History of the Christian Church, II [repr. 1973], 816). Thomas Aquinas is reported to have said that he would rather possess Chrysostom's homilies on Matthew than be master of all Paris. In the West, Ambrose of Milan (ca. 339–397) wrote expositions of OT histories and of Luke (allegorical and typical), and Jerome (ca. 346–420) wrote numerous comms on OT and NT books, largely, however, compilations from others.

2. 屈梭多模和安提阿学派。与亚历山大学派的寓意释经方法相对立的是安提阿学派的解经方法, 安提阿学派严格地按照字面意思和语法风格进行解经。人们普遍认为这种释经方法是由路迦诺创立的 (路迦诺于公元 312 年殉道); 但实际的创始人是大数的戴阿多若 (约卒于 394 年) 和摩普绥提亚的狄奥多若 (约卒于 428 年); 最著名的代表是屈梭多模 (约生于 347 年)。屈梭多模连续写了《以赛亚书》(现存只有《以赛亚书》1:1–8:10) 和《加拉太书》的连续注释; 但是他最主要的贡献是他撰写的讲道集 (Homilies), 这些讲道集几乎覆盖了所有《旧约》和《新约》的内容。其中有六百多个讲道集保留下来, 主要是关于《新约》的讲道集。这些讲道集在质量上参差不齐, 其中关于《使徒行传》的讲道集质量最差; 而《马太福音》、《罗马书》和《哥林多书》讲道集是释经的杰出例子。沙弗说道屈梭多模是“教父中注释的佼佼者” (History of the Christian Church, II, 1973 年再版, 816 页)。阿奎那曾说与了解整个巴黎相比, 他更愿意拥有屈梭多模的《马太福音》讲道集。在西方, 米兰的安波罗修 (约

B. Scholastic Period. The medieval and scholastic period offers little for our purpose. There was diligence in copying MSS and producing catenae of the opinions of the fathers; in the case of the schoolmen, in building up elaborate systems of theology; but the Scriptures were thrown into the background. Yet all was not darkness. Such pioneers as Hugo (ca. 1096–1141) and his pupil Andrew (d. 1175), an ardent Hebraist, possessed a large measure of exegetical sanity, and with their emphasis on the literal sense they anticipated to a remarkable degree modern approaches to biblical interpretation.

The 14th cent. produced one commentator of real eminence—Nicholas of Lyra (ca. 1270–1349). Nicholas was a Franciscan monk, well versed in Hebrew and rabbinical learning. While recognizing the usual distinctions of the various senses of Scripture, he built practically on the literal, and exhibited great sobriety and skill in his interpretations. His work, which bears the name Postillae perpetuae in universa Biblia, was much esteemed by Luther, who acknowledged his indebtedness to it. Hence the jest of his opponents, Si Lyra non lyrasset, Lutherus non saltasset.

339–397 年) 撰写了旧约时期的历史的注释和《路加福音》的注释(使用寓意释经和象征释经), 耶柔米(约 346–420) 撰写过很多关于《旧约》和《新约》的注释, 然而大部分都是其他人作品的合集。

B. 经院哲学时期。中世纪的经院哲学时期对我们的研究几乎没有提供多少帮助。这一时期的学者勤奋地抄录原稿, 并表达一系列关于先祖的观点, 经院学者专注于建立复杂的神学体系, 把《圣经》置于次要位置上, 但也没有完全埋没它的地位。一些先驱者如雨果(约 1096–1141 年) 和他的学生狂热的犹太教信徒安德鲁(卒于 1175 年) 都热衷于释经, 他们注重按照字面意思释经, 在很大程度上率先采用现代的释经方法。

14 世纪出现了一位杰出的释经者——吕拉的尼古拉(约 1270–1349)。尼古拉是法兰西方济会的修士, 熟练掌握希伯来语和希伯来语知识。当他意识到《圣经》不同意思的差别时, 他采用了字义的释经方法, 并用更加理智娴熟的注释技巧释义《圣经》。路德极为推崇他的《普世圣经注释》(Postillae perpetuae in universa Biblia), 并承认受到这部作品的影响。因此他的对手嘲笑说, 如果吕拉不演奏竖琴, 路德就不会跳舞(Si Lyra non lyrasset, Lutherus non saltasset)。

C. Reformation and Post-Reformation Periods. The Reformation brought men's minds back to the Scriptures and opened a new era in biblical exposition and commentary. It became the custom to expound the Scriptures on Sundays and weekdays in all the pulpits of the Protestant churches. Luther's custom was to preach series of sermons on the OT and NT. The Reformation began at Zürich with a series of discourses by Zwingli on the Gospel of Matthew. The same was true of Calvin, Beza, Knox, and all associated with them. The production of comms or expository homilies was the result.

1. Luther and Calvin. Outstanding examples of comms written in this period are Luther's comm. on Galatians and the comms of Calvin. Not all by any means, but very many of the comms of Calvin were the fruit of pulpit prelections (e.g., the expositions of Job, the Minor Prophets, Jeremiah, Daniel). Others, such as the comms on Romans and the Psalms (reputed his best), were prepared with great care. Calvin's supreme excellence as a commentator is disputed by no one. His expositions of Scripture display breadth, moderation, and fairness in exhibiting the inward genius of Holy Writ.

2. Beza, Grotius, etc. Lutheranism had its distinguished exegetes (Brenz, d. 1570), who wrote able comms on the OT, and in both the Calvinistic and Arminian branches of the Reformed Church the production of comms held a chief place. Beza, Calvin's successor, is acknowledged to have possessed many of the best exegetical qualities that characterized his master. Grotius, in

C. 宗教改革时期和宗教改革后期。宗教改革使人们重新关注《圣经》，并开启了《圣经》阐述和注释的新时代。新教教会的神职人员养成在周日和工作日解释《圣经》的习惯。路德习惯于根据《旧约》和《新约》来讲道。慈运理的一系列关于《马太福音》的演说拉开了苏黎世宗教改革的序幕。加尔文、伯撒、诺克斯以及与他们相关的所有人都是宗教改革者。注释作品或注释讲道集是宗教改革的产物。

1. 路德和加尔文。在这一时期杰出的注释作品有路德的《加拉太书》注释（comm. on Galatian）和加尔文的注释。但加尔文的大多数注释是讲道台讲道的成果（例如：《约伯记》、《小先知书》、《耶利米书》、《但以理书》的注释）。《罗马书》注释和《诗篇》注释（被认为是最好的注释）是加尔文精心准备的。没有人会质疑加尔文是非常杰出的注释者。他全面、适当且清晰地进行注释，并展现出《圣经》的内在智慧。

2. 伯撒、格鲁修等。路德宗有其杰出的注释者（布伦兹，卒于1570年），布伦兹撰写了优秀的《旧约》注释，在加尔文教派和归正会的阿米纽斯派，注释作品都占据重要的地位。加尔文的继承者伯撒被公认为拥有很多像他的师傅那样的最优秀的注释能力。荷兰的格鲁修（卒于1645年），在16世纪阿米纽斯派的注释者中占有最重要地位。如果说他的作品不具有灵性，那么起码可以体现出他

Holland (d. 1645), occupied the foremost place among the expositors in that century on the Arminian side. His exegetical works, if not marked by much spirituality, shows sagacity and learning, and are enriched by parallels from classical literature. The school of Cocceius (d. 1669) developed the doctrine of the covenants, and revelled in typology. Cocceius wrote comms on nearly all the books of Scripture. His pupil Vitringa (d. 1722) gained renown by his expositions of Isaiah and Revelation.

3. Later Writers. Partly fostered by the habit of basing commentary on pulpit exposition, the tendency to undue prolixity set in early, and spread. The comms of Peter Martyr (Swiss Reformer, d. 1562) on Judges and Romans occupy a folio each; N. Byfield (Puritan, d. 1622) fills a folio on Colossians; Caryl (Independent, d. 1673) on Job extends to two folios; Durham (d. 1658) on Isa. 53 consists of seventy-two sermons; Venema (Holland, d. 1787) on Jeremiah fills two quartos, and on the Psalms no less than six quartos. These are only samples of a large class. H. Hammond's Paraphrase and Annotations on the NT, from an Arminian Standpoint also belongs to this period (1675). Another work that long took high rank is M. Poole's elaborate Synopsis criticorum aliorumgue Sacrae Scripturae ... (5 vols., folio, 1669–1676)—a summary of the opinions of 150 biblical critics; with which must be taken his English Annotations of the Holy Bible, only completed up to Isa. 58 at the time of his death (1679). The work was continued by his friends.

3. 后期作者。早期便出现了冗长释经的倾向，并有发展之势，这一定程度上因为注释者习惯于根据神职人员的阐述来进行注释。彼得·马特尔（Peter Martyr，瑞士改革家，卒于1562年）为《士师记》和《罗马书》作的注释各成一书；拜菲尔德（N. Byfield，清教徒，卒于1622年）撰写的《歌罗西书》注释构成了一本书；卡里尔（Caryl，无党派者，卒于1673年）撰写的《约伯记》注释成了两两本书；德拉姆（Durham，卒于1658年）对《以赛亚书》第五十三章的注释包括了七十二条训诫；温尼马（Venema，荷兰人，卒于1787年）撰写的《耶利米书》注释足足构成两个四开本，《诗篇》的注释多达六个四开本。这些只是一大类的例子而已。哈蒙德的 Paraphrase and Annotations on the NT, from an Arminian Standpoint 一书也属于这一时期（1675年）。普尔（M. Poole）精心创作的 Synopsis criticorum aliorumgue Sacrae Scripturae 是另一部长久以来拥有很高威望的作品（5册，对开本，1669–1676），这部作品总结了一百五十位评论家的观点；还必须提及他的另一部作品 English Annotations of the Holy Bible，在他死前只完成了《以赛亚书》第五十八章的注释。他的朋友帮他完成了这部作品。

D. 18th Century. 1. Calmet, M. Henry, etc. The 18th cent. is marked by greater sobriety in exegesis. It is prolific in comms, but only a few attain to high distinction. Calmet (d. 1757), a learned Benedictine, produced his comm. littéral sur tous les livres de l'Ancien et du Nouveau Testament, in twenty-three quarto volumes—a work of immense erudition, though now superseded in its information. On the Protestant side, Matthew Henry's celebrated Exposition of the Old and New Testament (1708–1710) easily holds the first place among devotional comms for its blending of good sense, original and felicitous remark, and genuine insight into the meaning of the sacred writers. It is, of course, not a critical work in the modern sense, and often is unduly diffuse. M. Henry's work extends only to the end of Acts; the remaining books were done by various writers after his death (1714). Le Clerc (d. 1736) may be named as precursor of the critical views now obtaining on the composition and authorship of the Pentateuch. His comms began with Genesis in 1693 and were not completed till 1731. Other commentators of note with Arminian views were Daniel Whitby (d. 1726; converted to Arianism), and, later, Adam Clarke, a Wesleyan (1762–1832), whose work extended into the next century. Clarke's comm. on the Holy Scriptures (1810–1826), still held by many in high esteem, is marred to some extent by eccentricities of opinion.

2. Patrick, Lowth, Scott. In the Anglican Church the names of chief distinction in this century are Bishop Patrick, Bishop Lowth, and later Thomas Scott. Patrick, usually classed with the Cambridge

D. 18 世纪的注释。1. 卡尔梅特，亨利等。18 世纪的注释更为严谨。这一时期的注释数量极多，但是很少有高质量的。卡尔梅特（卒于 1757 年），是本笃会修士，他撰写了 comm. littéral sur tous les livres de l'Ancien et du Nouveau Testament，这部作品包含 23 个四开本的书卷，这是一部包含丰富知识的作品，但现在其中的知识已经被取代。新教徒马太亨利的著名作品 Exposition of the Old and New Testament (1708–1710) 早在虔诚释经方面占有最重要的地位，因为该书用词准确，忠实于原文，措辞恰当并且真正理解圣经作者想要表达的含义。当然，从现代的意义讲，这不是一部批评作品，而且叙述过于冗长。亨利的注释到《使徒行传》就结束了；其余作品都是在他死后（1714 年）由很多其他的作家一起完成的。克莱尔 (Le Clerc, 卒于 1736 年) 可能被被称为批评性意见的先驱，他因确定了摩西五经的构成和作者而获此殊荣。他从 1693 年开始撰写《创世记》注释，直到 1731 年才最终完成。其他坚持亚米纽斯主义观点的著名的注释者：包括怀拜 (Daniel Whitby, 卒于 1726 年，后来转向亚流主义) 和亚当克拉克 (Adam Clarke, 卫斯理工会派, 1762–1832)，亚当克拉克的注释工作延续到了下个世纪。虽然很多人极为推崇克拉克撰写的《圣经》注释 (comm. on the Holy Scriptures) (1810–1826) 但他却因古怪的观点而遭受了一定的毁誉。

2. 帕提克，洛思，斯科特。在 18 世纪英国教会的杰出人物有帕提克、洛思和史嘉乐。帕提克（卒于 1707 年）通常被认为属于剑桥柏拉图学派，他的主要成就就是撰写了《旧约》中从《创世记》到

Platonists (d. 1707), contributed paraphrases and comms on the OT from Genesis to Canticles, while Lowth (d. 1787) acquired lasting fame by his Prelections on Hebrew Poetry, and A New Translation, with Notes on Isaiah. He was among the first to treat the poetical and prophetic writings really as literature. The comms of Patrick and Lowth were subsequently combined with those of Whitby and other divines (e.g., Arnold) to form a complete Critical comm. (1809), which went through many editions. The well-known comm. of Thomas Scott (1747–1821), representing a moderate Calvinism, is a solid and “judicious” piece of work, inspired by an earnest, believing spirit, though not presenting any marked originality or brilliance. Brilliance is not the characteristic of many commentators of this age.

3. Gill, Doddridge. Two other English writers deserving notice are John Gill (d. 1771; Calvinistic Baptist), who wrote Expositions on the OT and the NT and a separate Exposition of the Song of Solomon—learned, but ponderous and controversial; and Philip Doddridge (d. 1751), whose Family Expositor, embracing the entire NT, with a harmony of the Gospels and paraphrases of the meaning, is marked by excellent judgment, and obtained wide acceptance.

4. Bengel, Wettstein. Meanwhile a new period had been precluded in Germany by the appearance in 1742 of the Gnomon Novi Testamenti of J. A. Bengel (d. 1752), a work following upon his critical edition of the NT issued in 1734. Though belonging to the 18th cent., Bengel’s critical and expository labors really

3. 吉约翰，杜理其。另两位值得关注的作者是吉约翰（卒于 1771，加尔文主义浸信会）和杜理其（卒于 1751 年），吉约翰撰写了 Expositions on the OT and the NT 和 Exposition of the Song of Solomon，吉约翰学问精深，但是有些沉闷死板并颇有争议；杜理其撰写了 Family Expositor，其中包含了《新约》的全部内容，实现了福音书和释义的和谐统一，该书体现出非凡的判断力，并且获得了广泛的认可。

4. 本革尔，韦特斯坦。与此同时，本革尔（J. A. Bengel，卒于 1752 年）根据他 1734 年所作的《新约》批判在 1742 年创作了 Gnomon Novi Testamenti，这部作品的问世拉开了德国一个新时期的序幕。尽管本革尔的作品创作于 18 世纪，但是他的批评和注释确实成为一种先兆，并抢先成为 19 世纪批评和注释领域

herald and anticipate the best work in these departments of the 19th century. His scholarship was exact, his judgment sound, his critical skill remarkable in a field in which he was a pioneer; his notes on the text, though brief, were pregnant with significance and were informed by a spirit of warm and living piety.

Bengel's fame is shared by Johann J. Wettstein, whose amazing collection of classical and rabbinic parallels, Novum Testamentum Graecum (2 vols., 1751–1752; repr. 1962), remains a treasure trove for commentators.

E. Modern Period. The modern period to which Bengel belongs in spirit, if not in date, is marked by great changes in the style and character of commentaries. The critical temper is now strong; great advances have been made in the textual criticism of both the OT and NT (see CRITICISM. I); the work of the higher criticism had begun in the OT; in Germany the spirit of humanism, inherited from Lessing, Herder, and Goethe, had found its way into literature; knowledge of the sciences, of oriental civilizations, of other peoples and religions, was constantly on the increase; scholarship was more precise and thorough; a higher ideal of what commentary meant had taken possession of the mind. Learning, too, had enlarged its borders, and books on all subjects poured from the press in such numbers that it was difficult to cope with them. This applies to comms as to other departments of theological study. Comms in the 19th cent., and in our own, are legion. Only the most prominent landmarks can be noted.

韦特斯坦与本革尔齐名，他杰出作品和拉比平行文本 Novum Testamentum Graecum (2册, 1751–1752; 1962再版)，是给注释者们留下的宝贵财富。

E. 现代时期。虽然本革尔注释从时间上看不属于现代时期，但他的注释精神却属于现代时期，但这一时期的注释风格及特点仍发生了很大变化。现代的注释具有很强的批判精神；在《旧约》和《新约》的考证上取得了很大进步（见 CRITICISM. I [批评、考证 I]）；更高级别的考证工作从《旧约》考证开始；在德国，人文主义精神从勒新、赫德和歌德传承下来的，并应用在文学领域中；科学、东方文明、民族、宗教方面的知识始终在增加，学问更加准确完整；学者们满脑子想的都是注释的更高理想。学识也扩大了注释的范围，关于各主题的书籍大量出版，让人应接不暇。这适用于注释，也适用于其他神学研究领域。19世纪和当代的注释非常多。只有最为突出的标志才值得关注。

1. Germany. a. Liberal School. In Germany, as was to be anticipated, the rise of the critical spirit and the profound influence exercised by it are reflected in most of the comms produced in the first half of the 19th century. On the liberal side, the rationalistic temper is shown in the rejection of miracle, the denial of prediction in prophecy, and the lowering of the idea of inspiration generally. The scholarship, however, is frequently of a very high order. This temper is seen in De Wette (d. 1849), whose comms on the NT, written when his views had become more positive, show grace and feeling; in Gesenius (d. 1842), who produced an epoch-making comm. on Isaiah; in Knobel (d. 1863), pronouncedly rationalistic, but with keen critical sense, as evinced in his comms on the Pentateuch and Joshua, Ecclesiastes, and Isaiah; in Hupfeld (d. 1866) in his comm. on the Psalms (4 vols); in Hitzig (d. 1875), penetrating but arbitrary, who wrote on the Psalms and most of the Prophets; above all, in Ewald (d. 1875), a master in the interpretation of the poetical and prophetic books, but who commented also on the first three Gospels, on the writings of John, and on Paul's Epistles. The Exegetical Handbook (Kurzgefasstes exegetisches Handbuch) embraced compendious annotations by Knobel, Hitzig, Bertheau (school of Ewald), etc., but also by Olshausen (d. 1839; wrote likewise on the NT), on all the books of the OT.

b. Conservative School. On the conservative side a multitude of comms on the OT and NT were produced from a variety of standpoints—evangelical, critical, mediating, confessional. The extremely conservative position in

b. 保守学派。保守学派从不同立场（福音派、批判派、中间派和忏悔派）撰写了大量关于《旧约》和《新约》的注释，亨斯登伯（卒于 1869 年；撰写《诗篇》《传道书》《以西结书》《约翰福音》《启示录》注释），著名的凯尔（Keil，卒于 criticism was defended by Hengstenberg (d. 1869; on Psalms, Ecclesiastes, Ezekiel, John, Revelation), by Keil (d. 1888) in the well-known Keil and Delitzsch series (Genesis to Esther, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, Minor Prophets; also NT comms), and by Havernick (d. 1845, Daniel, Ezekiel). Delitzsch (d. 1890) wrote valued comms on Genesis, Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Canticles, Ecclesiastes, Isaiah, and also on Hebrews. After the rise of the Wellhausen school, he considerably modified his views in the newer critical direction. His New comm. on Genesis (1887) shows this change, but with his other works is still written in a strongly believing spirit. On the other hand, the critical position (older, not newer) is frankly represented by A. Dillmann (d. 1894) in his comms on the books of the Pentateuch and Joshua.

The mediating school, largely penetrated by the influence of Schleiermacher, had many distinguished representatives. Among the most conspicuous may be named Lücke (d. 1855), who wrote on John; Bleek, the OT and NT critical scholar (d. 1859), who has a work on the first three Gospels, and lectures on Ephesians, Colossians, Philemon, Hebrews, and Revelation (his comm. on Hebrews is the best known), and Tholuck (d. 1877), whose expositions and comms on Psalms, John, Romans, and Hebrews with his comm. on the Sermon on the Mount are fine pieces of exegetical work.

A special place must be given to two names of high distinction in the present connection. One is J. P. Lange (d. 1884), the projector and editor of the great Bibelwerk (theological and homiletical)

中间派有很多杰出的代表,很大程度上受到士来尔马赫的影响。最著名的代表有吕克(Lücke,卒于1855年),他撰写了《约翰福音》注释;《旧约》和《新约》的批判主义学者布莱克(卒于1859年),他撰写了《马太福音》《马可福音》《路加福音》《以弗所书》《歌罗西书》《腓利门书》《希伯来书》《启示录》注释(他的《希伯来书》注释最为著名),还有陶乐(Tholuck,卒于1877年),他撰写的《诗篇》《约翰福音》《罗马书》《希伯来书》注释和 Sermon on the Mount 是非常优秀的释经作品。

in twenty-two volumes, to which he himself contributed the comms on Genesis to Numbers, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi, Matthew, Mark, John, Romans, Revelation, with introductions and homiletic hints. The other is H. A. W. Meyer (d. 1873), whose Critical and Exegetical comm. on the NT from Matthew to Philippians (the remaining books being done by other scholars, Lünemann, Huther, etc.) is an essential part of every NT scholar's equipment.

With the more positive and confessional theologians may be ranked R. E. Stier (d. 1862), whose Words of the Lord Jesus (Eng. tr. in 8 vols.; biblical, mystical, with a tendency to prolixity), with comms on seventy selected Psalms, Proverbs, Deutero-Isaiah, Ephesians, Hebrews, James and Jude, found much acceptance. A. von Harless (d. 1879) wrote a comm. on Ephesians praised by Tholuck as one of the finest extant. Philippi (d. 1882), of Jewish extraction, best known by his comm. on Romans, was strictly Lutheran. One of the ablest of the Lutheran Confessionalists was Luthardt (d. 1892), whose works include a comm. on St. John's Gospel, Ebrard (d. 1888), as stoutly confessional on the Reformed side, has an esteemed comm. on Hebrews. An eminent continental theologian who cannot be overlooked is the Swiss F. L. Godet (d. 1900), whose admirable comm. on St. John's Gospel, and comms on Romans and Corinthians are highly appreciated.

2. Britain and America. Meanwhile the English-speaking countries were pursuing their own paths in the production of comms either in continuing their old traditions or in striking out on new lines, under the foreign influences that from the beginning of the century had begun to play upon them. In England Bishop Blomfield (d. 1857) published Lectures on John and Acts. In the USA there appeared from the pen of J. A. Alexander of Princeton (d. 1860) a noteworthy comm. on Isaiah, fully abreast of the modern learning but staunchly conservative, and also a comm. on Psalms. From the seminary proceeded the massive comms of Charles Hodge (Calvinistic) on Romans, Ephesians, and Corinthians. Adapted for popular use and greatly in demand for Sunday-school purposes were the Notes, Critical, Explanatory, and Practical of Albert Barnes (d. 1870; New School Presbyterian). These Notes, the fruit of the use of the early morning hours in a busy pastoral life, covered the whole of the NT, with several books of the OT (Job, Psalms, Isaiah, Daniel). Sensible and inforamatory rather than original or profound, they have proved helpful to many. Of similar aim, though less widely known, were the Notes of M. W. Jacobus (d. 1876; on the NT, Genesis, and Exodus).

利亚书》《玛拉基书》《马太福音》《马可福音》《约翰福音》《罗马书》和《启示录》注释，这些作品都有简介，还提供了一些布道提示。另一个人物是迈尔(H. A. W. Meyer, 卒于 1873 年)，他的 Critical and Exegetical comm. on the NT 包括从《马太福音》到《腓立比书》的注释(剩余的经卷注释由 Lünemann 和 Huther 等学者完成)，这部作品是每位新约学者必备的工具之一。

更积极和忏悔派的神学研究者可能是斯蒂尔(R. E. Stier, 卒于 1862 年)，他撰写了 Words of the Lord Jesus (英译本 8 册；这是一部与《圣经》相关的神秘作品，但表述啰嗦)，还为七十篇《诗篇》、《箴言》《后以赛亚书》《以弗所书》《希伯来书》《雅各书》和《犹太书》作了注释。哈莱斯(A. von Harless, 卒于 1879 年)撰写了《以弗所书》注释，陶乐(Tholuck)称赞说这是现存最杰出的注释书之一。犹太人腓立比(卒于 1882 年)是虔诚的路德宗信徒，他撰写过的最广为人知的作品是《罗马书》注释。路德宗忏悔派最有能力的人物是卢特哈特(Luthardt, 卒于 1892 年)，他撰写了 comm. on St. John's Gospel，爱布拉德(Ebrard, 卒于 1888 年)是改革派坚定的忏悔者，他因为撰写了《希伯来书》注释而受人尊敬。可忽略的一位杰出的欧洲大陆神学研究者是瑞士的戈代(F. L. Godet, 卒于 1900 年)，他最著名的 comm. on St. John's Gospel 和《罗马书》《哥林多书》注释备受推崇。

2. 英国和美国。与此同时，说英语的国家坚持他们自己的注释方法，他们或者遵循过去的注释传统，或者因世纪之初受到其他国家的影响而开始使用新的注释方法。英国主教布罗姆菲尔德(卒于

A new era was opened in critical commentary in England by the publication of the Greek Testament (1849–1860) of Dean Alford (d. 1871), followed by his NT for English Readers (1868). These works presented a thoroughly critical treatment of the texts, with a full display of the critical apparatus, accompanied by philological and exegetical notes and learned introductions, on all the books of the NT. About the same time appeared the solid—if more theological and homiletical—comms of the Scottish scholar J. Eadie (d. 1876) on Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Anglican scholarship produced its ripest fruits in this line in the classical Critical and Grammatical comms of Bishop Ellicott (d. 1905) on Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, Philemon, Thessalonians, Pastoral Epistles, and the yet more remarkable series of comms by Bishop J. B. Lightfoot (d. 1889), massive in learning and wider in outlook than Ellicott's, on Galatians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon. A large part of the value of Lightfoot's works consists in the special essays or dissertations on important subjects (e.g., "St. Paul and the Three," "The Christian Ministry," "The Colossian Heresy," etc.). With these names should be associated that of Bishop Westcott, Lightfoot's successor in the see of Durham (d. 1901), whose comms on the Gospel and Epistles of St. John, and on Hebrews take a place among the foremost. Bishop Moule, who in turn succeeded Westcott, has also written comms, simpler in character, on Romans, Ephesians, Philippians, and Colossians, in the Cambridge Bible Series, and on Romans in the Expositor's Bible. In OT exposition mention should be made of Bishop Perowne's valuable work on the Book of Psalms (2nd rev. ed. 1870), with his contributions to the Cambridge Bible (see below).

The critical and theological liberalism of Germany made its influence felt in England in the rise of a Broad Church party, of which the best products in commentary were Dean Stanley's (d. 1881) graphic and interesting comm. on 1 and 2 Corinthians (1855) and B. Jowett's Epistles of St. Paul to the Thessalonians, 按照这种方法创作出了最为成熟的古典作品 Critical and Grammatical comms, 这部作品是他为《创世记》《以弗所书》《腓立比书》《歌罗西书》《腓利门书》《帖撒罗尼迦书》和教牧书信作的注释。主教赖特富（卒于 1889 年）撰写的一系列著名的注释书更为引人注目，赖特富比埃利科特（Ellicott）更博学，比他视野更开阔，他撰写了《加拉太书》《腓立比书》的注释。赖特富作品很大一部分的价值体现在一些重要主题的论文中（如：“St. Paul and the Three”，“The Christian Ministry”，“The Colossian Heresy”等）。与这些名字相关的一个人物是达勒姆主教赖特富的接任者魏斯科（卒于 1901 年），他撰写的《约翰福音》、约翰书信和《希伯来书》注释占据着最为重要的地位。主教魏斯科的继承者慕稼谷在 Cambridge Bible Series 上撰写了《罗马书》《以弗所书》《腓立比书》《歌罗西书》注释，并在 Expositor's Bible 写了《罗马书》注释，但他的注释更为简明。《旧约》注释中必须要提到的是主教贝罗安（Perowne）撰写的有价值的作品 Book of Psalms（第二次修订版，1870）中，以及他对 Cambridge Bible 的贡献（见下文）。

英国广教会的崛起受到了德国批判和神学自由主义的影响，其中最著名的注释是史丹利（Dean Stanley，卒于 1881 年）撰写的形象有趣的《哥林多前书》和《哥林多后书》注释（1855），以及乔义特（B. Jowett）撰写的 Epistles of St. Paul to the Thessalonians, Galatians, and Romans, with Critical Notes and Dissertations

Galatians, and Romans, with Critical Notes and Dissertations (1855). The new spirit culminated in the appearance of the famous Essays and Reviews (1860), and in the works of Bishop Colenso on the Pentateuch and Joshua (1862–1879). Colenso had already published a translation of Romans with commentary (1861).

Besides works by individual authors, there appeared during this period several general comms to which many writers contributed. The Speaker's comm. (10 vols., 1871–1882), general ed. Canon F. C. Cook (d. 1889), was initiated because of the agitation over Colenso. Cook himself wrote introductions to Exodus, Psalms, and Acts, and contributed the entire comms on Job, Habakkuk, Mark, Luke, 1 Peter, with parts of comms on Exodus, Psalms, and Matthew. The work is of unequal value. A serviceable series is the Cambridge Bible for Schools and Colleges, ed. Perowne, with the Smaller Cambridge Bible for Schools, and the Cambridge Greek Testament (1881–1933). Perowne (d. 1904) himself contributed to the first-named the comms on Obadiah, Jonah, Haggai, Zechariah, Malachi, and Galatians. Many valuable contributions appear in this series, e.g., A. F. Kirkpatrick on 1 and 2 Samuel and Psalms, A. B. Davidson on Job and Ezekiel, Driver on Daniel, G. G. Findlay on Thessalonians, etc. Next, under the editorship of Bishop Ellicott, were produced (1877–1884) a NT comm. for English Readers (3 vols.), and an OT comm. for English Readers (5 vols.), which contained some valuable work (Genesis by R. Payne Smith, Exodus by Canon G. Rawlinson, etc.). Akin to this in character was the Popular comm. on the NT (4 vols., 1879–1883), ed. W. Schaff. This embraced, with other excellent matter, comms on Thessalonians by Marcus Dods, and on 1 and 2 Peter by S. D. F. Salmond. The Pulpit comm. (49 vols), ed. J. S. Exell and Canon H. D. M. Spence has expositions of good scholars and an abundance of homiletical material by a great variety of authors. The series of Handbooks for Bible Classes has a number of valuable comms, e.g., that of A. B. Davidson on Hebrews.

(1855)。著名的 Essays and Reviews (1860) 和主教科伦索撰写的《摩西五经》与《约书亚记》注释 (1862–1879) 的问世标志着新批判精神达到高潮。科伦索还出版了《罗马书》的译本，并作了注释 (1861)。

F. Recent Period. The turn of the 20th cent. and succeeding decades featured the production of many new commentary series as well as comms by individual writers, spanning the whole range of the critical spectrum.

1. Germany. In Germany, in addition to the Kurzgefasstes exegetisches Handbuch of older standing (see III.E.1 above), may be mentioned three works that offer painstakingly detailed philology: W. Nowack, Göttinger Handkommentar zum AT (1892ff.), which includes H. Gunkel's work on Genesis and Psalms and C. Steuernagel's comments on Deuteronomy and Joshua; Kommentar zum AT(KZAT), ed. E. Sellin, et al. (1913–1939), with O. Proksch on Genesis, R. Kittel on Psalms, and P. Volz on Jeremiah; and Biblischer Kommentar: AT, ed. M. Noth, et al. (BKAT), which was launched with the first Lieferung of W. Zimmerli's comments on Ezekiel (1955), and includes Hans-Joachim Kraus on Psalms (1960) and H. W. Wolff on Hosea (1961), Joel, and Amos (1969). BKAT aims at philological accuracy combined with practical theological concerns. Less technical are K. Marti,

(4 册, 1879–1883), 其中包含了其他优秀的作品, 如马杜慈 (Marcus Dods) 撰写的《帖撒罗尼迦书》注释, 萨蒙德 (S. D. F. Salmond) 撰写的《彼得前书》和《彼得后书》注释。埃克塞尔 (J. S. Exell) 和斯宾塞 (Canon H. D. M. Spence) 编著的 Pulpit comm. (49 册) 中包含很多优秀学者的注释, 也为很多作者提供了丰富的布道素材。系列丛书 Handbooks for Bible Classes 中包含了大量的有价值的注释, 如: 戴维森撰写的《希伯来书》注释。

F. 近期。19 世纪末 20 世纪初及随后数十年出现了一些新注释丛书和由个别作家所作的注释, 这些作品涵盖了整个批判领域。

1. 德国。在德国, 除了坚持旧有立场的 Kurzgefasstes exegetisches Handbuch 之外 (见上文 III.E.1), 可能需要提及三部提供了详尽的语言学方面知识的作品: 诺瓦克 (W. Nowack) 的 Göttinger Handkommentar zum AT (1892 年起), 其中包含了袁克尔 (H. Gunkel) 撰写的《创世记》《诗篇》注释和施托伊尔纳格尔 (C. Steuernagel) 撰写的《申命记》《约书亚记》注释; 雪林 (E. Sellin) 等人编著的 Kommentar zum AT (KZAT) (1913–1939), 其中包含了 O. Proksch 撰写的《创世记》注释, 基特尔 (R. Kittel) 撰写的《诗篇》注释和弗尔茨 (P. Volz) 撰写的《耶利米书》注释; 诺特 (M. Noth) 等人编著的 Biblischer Kommentar: AT (BKAT), 其中包括齐麦里 (W. Zimmerli) 撰写的《以西结书》注释 (1955), 克劳斯 (Hans-Joachim Kraus) 撰写的《诗篇》注释 (1960) 和沃尔夫 (H. W. Wolff) 撰写的《何西阿书》(1961)、《约珥书》、《阿摩司书》(1969) 注释。 BKAT 试图将语言学 and 实用神学

Kurzer Hand-Commentar zum AT (21 vols., 1897–1906), to which Marti contributed the volumes on Isaiah, Deuteronomy, and the Minor Prophets; and Strack-Zöckler, Kurzgefasster Kommentar (OT and NT; critical but moderate). In the latter work Strack wrote the volumes on Genesis to Numbers (Oettli contributed Deuteronomy, Joshua, and Judges). Much less critical in spirit are the comms of H. C. von Orelli (Basel) on Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and the Minor Prophets. More widely known is Otto Eissfeldt, ed, Handbuch zum Alten Testament (HAT, 1934ff.), which includes K. Galling's Biblisches Reallexikon (2 vol.), Joshua by Noth, and Jeremiah by W. Rudolph. Das Alte Testament Deutsch: Neues Göttinger Bibelwerk (ATD), ed. V. Hertrich and A. Weiser, began to appear in 1949; translations of some of the volumes are available in the Old Testament Library (OTL), ed. G. E. Wright, et al (1961ff.), which also includes fresh treatments, such as J. Gray on 1 and 2 Kings, and B. S. Childs—who subordinates the “prehistory” of the text to interpretation of its canonical form—on Exodus (1974). The series is designed for popular use, but enjoys high prestige because of a rare combination of brief, though informed, comment on the text with a profound theological concern. Weiser himself interprets Job and Psalms, and G. von Rad offers knowledgeable comment on Genesis.

The standard NT series in German has long been “Meyer’s” Kritisch-exegetischer Kommentar über das Neue Testament (KEK), begun by H. W. Meyer (1829). Some of the more recent editions (1956ff.) include E. Lohmeyer on Matthew (ed. W. Schmauch), Mark, Philippians; E. Lohse on Colossians and Philemon; R. Bultmann on John and 1–3 John; E. Haenchen on Acts; O. Michel on Romans and Hebrews; H. Conzelmann on 1 Corinthians; H. Schlier on Galatians; M. Dibelius on James (ed. H. Greeven). T. Zahn, ed., Kommentar zum Neuen Testament (KZNT, 1909–1930) is equally impressive for the broad learning exhibited by the various contributors, but is more restrained than Meyer in its critical expression. From Roman Catholic quarters comes Herders Theologischer Kommentar zum NT (HTK), ed. A. Wikenhauser (1953ff.), with contributions that include H. Schürmann on Luke (vol. I, 1969) and R. Schnackenburg on John (vol. I, 1965). The Handbuch zum NT (HNT, 1906ff), founded by H. Lietzmann and continued by G. Bornkamm, was until the advent of E. Käsemann on Romans (1973) less ponderous than KEK; in addition to comms by leading scholars, this series includes L. Radermacher, Neutestamentliche Grammatik (2nd ed. 1925); W. Bousset, Die Religion des Judentums im späthellenistischen Zeitalter (3rd ed. rev. H. Gressman, 1926; repr. with rev. bibliography [E. Lohse], 1966); and four comms on the Apostolic Fathers. The Theologischer Handkommentar zum NT mit Text und Paraphrase was begun in 1928 and included F. Hauck on Mark and Luke and F. Büchsel on the Epistles of John. The series was never completed, and a new beginning was made under E. Fascher with a second edition of A. Oepke's work on Galatians (1957); W. Grundmann produced a thorough revision of the 写的《马太福音》(施毛赫[W. Schmauch]编)、《马可福音》注释和《腓立比书》注释; 洛斯(E. Lohse)撰写的《歌罗西书》《腓利门书》注释; 布尔特曼(R. Bultmann)撰写的《约翰福音》《约翰一书》《约翰二书》《约翰三书》注释; 韩庆(E. Haenchen)撰写的《使徒行传》注释; 米歇尔(O. Michel)撰写的《罗马书》《希伯来书》注释; 康哲曼(H. Conzelmann)撰写的《哥林多前书》注释; 列尔(H. Schlier)撰写的《加拉太书》注释; 狄比流(M. Dibelius)撰写的《雅各书》注释(H. Greeven编)。赞(T. Zahn)编著的 Kommentar zum Neuen Testament (KZNT, 1909–1930) 因为展现出众多注释者的博学而给人留下了深刻印象, 但不如迈尔(Meyer)作品的批判性强。罗马天主教徒的作品包括威肯豪塞(A. Wikenhauser)编著的 Herders Theologischer Kommentar zum NT (HTK) (1953年起), 其中收录了修曼(H. Schürmann)撰写的《路加福音》注释(I册, 1969)和施诺肯保(R. Schnackenburg)撰写的《约翰福音》注释(I册, 1965)。利兹曼(H. Lietzmann)创作的 Handbuch zum NT (HNT, 1906年起), 后由邦坎(G. Bornkamm)继续完成, 直到凯瑟曼(E. Käsemann)撰写的《罗马书》注释收录其中才最终完成(1973), 这部作品不像 KEK 那样沉闷呆板; 除了主要学者撰写的注释外, 这一丛书还包括拉德马赫尔(L. Radermacher)撰写的 Neutestamentliche Grammatik (第2版, 1925); 布瑟(W. Bousset)撰写的 Die Religion des Judentums im späthellenistischen Zeitalter (第三修订版, H. Gressman, 1926; 再版时修订了参考书目[E. Lohse], 1966)和使徒教父作的四篇注释。 Theologischer Handkommentar zum NT mit Text und Paraphrase 从1928年开始创作, 包括豪克(F. Hauck)撰写的《马可福音》《路加福音》注释和布沙尔(F. Büchsel)撰写的约翰书信的注释。

结合起来。专业性稍差的作品有马蒂(K. Marti)的 Kurzer Hand-Commentar zum AT (21册, 1897–1906), 其中包含马蒂撰写的《以赛亚书》《申命记》《小先知书》注释; 扎克勒(Strack-Zöckler)的 Kurzgefasster Kommentar (《旧约》和《新约》; 具有批判性但是比较温和)。后期作品有斯特拉克(Strack)撰写的《创世记》到《民数记》注释(欧特利[Oettli]撰写的《申命记》《约书亚记》《士师记》注释)。不太具有批判精神的作品有欧列利(H. C. von Orelli [Basel])撰写的《以赛亚书》《耶利米书》《以西结书》《小先知书》注释。更广为人知的是艾斯斐德(Otto Eissfeldt)编著的 Handbuch zum Alten Testament (HAT, 1934起), 其中包括 K. Galling 撰写的 Biblisches Reallexikon (2册), 诺特(Noth)撰写的《约书亚记》注释和鲁道夫(W. Rudolph)撰写的《耶利米书》注释。赫恩特里希(V. Hertrich)和韦泽(A. Weiser)编著的 Das Alte Testament Deutsch: Neues Göttinger Bibelwerk (ATD)一书于1949年出版; 许多册的译本都收录在莱特(G. E. Wright)等人编著的 Old Testament Library (OTL) (1961年起)中, 其中还收录了许多新论文, 如: 格雷(J. Gray)撰写的《列王纪上》《列王纪下》注释和蔡尔兹(B. S. Childs)编写的《出埃及记》注释, 蔡尔兹认为经文的“史前史”从属于标准形式的解释。这一系列丛书是为大众编写的, 却享有很高声望, 这是因为这些丛书很少将经文简短但有见识的注释与深刻的神学理论结合起来。韦泽(Weiser)撰写《约伯记》和《诗篇》注释, 拉德(G. von Rad)撰写《创世记》注释。

在德国, 标准《新约》丛书收录在迈尔(H. W. Meyer)的 Kritisch-exegetischer Kommentar über das Neue Testament (KEK) (1829)中。一些近代版本(1956年起)中包括罗梅尔(E. Lohmeyer)撰

comm. on Mark (1959) and Luke (1961), and a fresh treatment of Hauck's unpublished comm. on Matthew (1968). In a more popular vein again is the counterpart to the ATD, Das Neue Testament Deutsch (NTD), which has gone through many revisions.

Following paths first traversed by J. Lightfoot, Horae Hebraicae et Talmudicae (1658–1674), P. Billerbeck explored talmudic and midrashic literature for parallels that would provide enlightenment of the NT, and H. Strack lent his editorial assistance to its publication in Kommentar zum NT aus Talmud und Midrasch (SB, 5 vols., 1922–1928); a sixth volume (1961), compiled largely by K. Adolph, includes a rabbinic index to the more than nine hundred biblical scholars cited, and an explanatory geographical register. In a work of related genre H. Braun, Qumran und das NT (2 vols., 1966), illuminates the NT seriatim at the hand of the Qumrân texts; comparative historico-theological discussion of various subjects comprises the second volume. A. Schlatter's comms on Matthew (1929), John (1930), and Romans (1935) have in their many editions put rabbinic source material at the service of respected theological discernment.

2. Britain and America. Variations in critical approaches comparable to those in Germany find display in British and American scholarship. The leading commentary series in English on the entire Bible has been the International

这一丛书尚未完成, 法师尔 (E. Fascher) 重新开始编辑这个丛书, 他再版了欧披克 (A. Oepke) 撰写的《加拉太书》注释 (1957); 顾鲁德曼 (W. Grundmann) 出版了细致详尽版本的《马可福音》注释 (1959) 和《路加福音》注释 (1961), 并重新编辑了豪克未出版的《马太福音》注释 (1968)。ATD 的对应之作 Das Neue Testament Deutsch (NTD) 采用了更通俗的创作手法并进行了多次修订。

比莱尔贝克 (P. Billerbeck) 沿着赖特富开辟的道路 (Horae Hebraicae et Talmudicae [1658–1674]) 继续研究《他勒目》和《米大示》的平行经文, 这为理解《新约》带来了启示, 斯特拉克 (H. Strack) 帮忙编著了 Kommentar zum NT aus Talmud und Midrasch (SB, 5 册, 1922–1928) 一书; 第六册 (1961) 主要由阿道夫 (K. Adolph) 编著完成, 其中包括九百多圣经学者引用的拉比索引和一个地理学解释。同一类别的作品有布劳恩 (H. Braun) 的 Qumran und das NT (2 册, 1966), 该书根据手中的昆兰文献逐一解释了新约各卷, 第二卷内容包含了各个主题的历史学和神学讨论。舒莱特 (A. Schlatter) 撰写《马太福音》注释 (1929)、《约翰福音》注释 (1930) 和《罗马书》注释 (1935) 也将拉比文献资料放在这些注释的多个版本中, 以供神学研究之用。

2. 英国和美国。英国和美国的学者使用了不用于德国学者的批评方法。关于《圣经》全部内容的主要英文版注释丛书是 International Critical comm. on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament (ICC), 该书由布里格斯 (C. Briggs)、

Critical comm. on the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament (ICC), begun by C. Briggs, S. Driver, and A. Plummer in 1895 with Driver's volume on Deuteronomy, followed among others by J. Skinner on Genesis, G. Gray on Numbers (one of the best on this book), G. F. Moore on Judges, A. Montgomery and H. Gehman on 1 and 2 Kings, C. Toy on Proverbs, G. Barton on Ecclesiastes, W. Allen on Matthew, W. Sanday and A. Headlam on Romans, A. Robertson and A. Plummer on 1 Corinthians, Plummer and F. Brown on 2 Corinthians, De Witt Burton on Galatians, J. Frame on 1 and 2 Thessalonians, W. Lock on the Pastorals, and R. Charles on Revelation. This series now may well be overtaken by Hermeneia, a remarkable project that incorporates the highest standards of the printer's craft with the use of Hebrew and Greek font and includes in its scope translations of distinguished comms published in languages other than English as well as fresh contributions; the series began with a translation of E. Lohse's work on Colossians and Philemon (1971); a translation of H. W. Wolff's comm. on Hosea (1974) initiated the OT section. The Westminster comms. (WC) is a series designed for clergymen and educated laypersons and includes such notable works as S. Driver on Genesis, W. Oesterley on Proverbs, S. Brown on Hosea, J. Wand on 2 Peter and Jude; unfortunately the series was never completed. Leading scholars also contributed to the Century Bible, whose popular appeal found encouragement in such volumes as W. H. Bennett on Genesis and on "General Epistles," A. R. S. Kennedy on 1 and 2 Samuel, Skinner on 1 and 2 Kings, A. S. Peake on Job and on Hebrews, and Driver on a group of 德赖弗 (S. Driver) 和普鲁玛 (A. Plummer) 在 1895 年开始编写, 包括、德赖弗 (S. Driver) 撰写的《申命记》注释、斯金纳 (J. Skinner) 撰写的《创世记》注释、格雷 (G. Gray) 撰写的《民数记》注释 (这本书中最好作品之一)、穆尔 (G. F. Moore) 撰写的《士师记》注释、蒙哥马利 (A. Montgomery) 和吉曼 (H. Gehman) 撰写的《列王纪上》和《列王纪下》注释、托伊 (C. Toy) 撰写的《箴言》注释、巴顿 (G. Barton) 撰写的《传道书》注释、艾伦 (W. Allen) 撰写的《马太福音》注释、桑迪 (W. Sanday) 和黑德勒姆 (A. Headlam) 撰写的《罗马书》注释、罗伯逊 (A. Robertson) 和普鲁玛 (A. Plummer) 撰写的《哥林多前书》注释、普鲁玛 (A. Plummer) 和布朗 (F. Brown) 撰写的《哥林多后书》注释、伯顿 (De Witt Burton) 撰写的《加拉太书》注释、弗雷姆 (J. Frame) 撰写的《帖撒罗尼迦前书》和《帖撒罗尼迦后书》注释、洛克 (W. Lock) 撰写的教牧书信注释和查尔斯 (R. Charles) 撰写的《启示录》注释。这一丛书现在可能已被 Hermeneia 一书超越, 这一鸿篇巨著是采用了高标准的打印技巧, 使用了希伯来语和希腊语字体, 还包括其他语言注释 (除了英语) 的著名译本, 以及一些新注释; 洛斯 (E. Lohse) 最先开始撰写《歌罗西书》注释和《腓利门书》注释 (1971), 《旧约》部分是以沃尔夫 (H. W. Wolff) 的《何西阿书》注释 (1974) 的译文开始的。 Westminster comms. (WC) 是为牧师和受过教育的非专业人士撰写的注释, 该书中包含了很多著名作品如: 德赖弗 (S. Driver) 撰写的《创世记》注释、厄斯特利撰写的《箴言》注释、布朗 (S. Brown) 撰写的《何西阿书》注释、J. Wand 撰写的《彼得后书》和《犹大书》注释, 遗憾的是, 这本丛书并未完成。主要学者们也致力于研究世纪圣经 (Century Bible), 班纳特 (W. H. Bennett) 的《创世记》注释和“大公书信”注释、肯尼

the Minor Prophets. The New Century Bible, edited by H. H. Rowley and R. E. Clements (OT) and M. Black (NT), is based on the RSV and presents in semipopular form mid-twentieth-century exegetical developments.

Written for a similar clientele is the Interpreter's Bible (IB). Contemporary developments in exegetical inquiry expose the thinness of much of the exposition, and the introductory and supplementary articles are often more valuable than the comm., but outstanding treatments in this series are G. E. Wright on Deuteronomy, S. Terrien on Job, W. Taylor and W. McCullough on Psalms, R. Scott on Isaiah, and H. May on Ezekiel. More meaty in general is the Anchor Bible (AB), "a project of international and interfaith scope ... aimed at the general reader," who is gradually, however, being forgotten as the series moves on. Begun in 1964 under the editorship of W. F. Albright and D. N. Freedman, this series accents fresh translation of the biblical text, with comment of varying degrees of quality and thoroughness; M. Dahood's treatment of Psalms (1966-1968) is especially noteworthy for its use of Ugaritic material; J. M. Myers' discussion of 1 and 2 Esdras (1974) reflects increasing interest in the inter-testamental literature and encourages the nonspecialist to develop acquaintance with basic resources for understanding canonical documents that enjoy broader recognition; R. Brown displays a firm grasp of the critical problems relating to John (2 vols., 1966–1970); and M. Barth accepts Pauline authorship of Ephesians, emphasizing the social aspects of reconciliation (2 vols., 1974). The New International comm. on the OT, under the editorship of R. K. Harrison, is more accessible to the general reader; it includes comms on Deuteronomy by P. C. Craigie (1976), and Joel, Obadiah, Jonah, and Micah by L. C. Allen (1976). The Layman's Bible comm., begun in 1959, lives up to its title and balances informative exposition with edifying comment. With a similar reading public in mind, the Concordia comm. began to appear in 1968 under the editorship of A. J. Glock (OT) and W. J. Bartling (NT), but only five volumes (1 and 2 Samuel, Jeremiah and Lamentations, Romans, Acts, and Pastorals with Philemon) were published under the original plan; a sixth, Jesus and the New Age According to St. Luke, by F. W. Danker, was issued by a different publisher (1972), followed by W. Wifall, The Court History of Israel: A comm. on First and Second Kings (1975). Publication of the NEB encouraged fresh directions for two older series. A. Argyle piloted the Cambridge Bible comm. on the NEB with his comments on Matthew (1963), in the NT portion (CBCNT); P. R. Ackroyd initiated the OT portion (CBCOT) with 1 Samuel (1971); the comm. on Job (1975), by N. Habel, is one of the more notable contributions in this series. The New Clarendon Bible, begun with C. K. Barrett's comm. on the Pastorals (1963), under the general editorship of H. F. D. Sparks, also uses the NEB as its base and terminates the Clarendon Bible, which was based on the 面(2册,1974)。哈里森(R. K. Harrison)主编的 New International comm. on the OT 更能被大众读者接受,该书包括克雷吉(P. C. Craigie)撰写的《申命记》注释(1976),艾伦(L. C. Allen)撰写的《约珥书》《俄巴底亚书》《约拿书》《弥迦书》注释(1976)。*Layman's Bible comm.*一书创作于1959年,做到了内容与标题相符并平衡教导性注释和启迪性注释之间的关系。从1968年开始问世的 Concordia comm. 也面对类似的读者受众,这本书是由格洛克(A. J. Glock,《旧约》)和巴特林(W. J. Bartling,《新约》部分)合编的,但只有五卷书(《撒母耳记上》、《撒母耳记下》、《耶利米书》、《耶利米哀歌》、《罗马书》、《使徒行传》和包括《腓利门书》的教牧书信)按照原计划出版;第六册 Jesus and the New Age According to St. Luke 是由 W. Danker 编辑的,由另一个出版商出版(1972),后来威佛(W. Wifall)编辑了 The Court History of Israel: A comm. on First and Second Kings (1975)。《新英文译本》的出版促进了之前两个旧版本丛书的改版。阿盖尔(A. Argyle)编著的 Cambridge Bible comm. on the NEB 中包括了他所作的《新约》(CBCNT)中《马太福音》注释(1963);阿克罗伊德(P. R. Ackroyd)所作的《旧约》(CBCOT)中《撒母耳记上》注释(1971);哈贝尔(N. Habel)撰写的《约伯记》注释(1975)是这一系列丛书中比较著名的作品之一。巴瑞特(C. K. Barrett)结合教牧书信的注释(1963)编著了 New Clarendon Bible, 斯帕克斯(H. F. D. Sparks)担任主编的,这部作品也以《新英文译本》为基础,并最终在《修订译本》为蓝本编著了 Clarendon Bible。

为类似读者群体创作的作品还有 Interpreter's Bible (IB)。同时期注释研究的发展体现出很多注释的薄弱性, 而且介绍类和补充说明类的文章通常比注释更有价值, 但是这一时期较为杰出的注释有赖特 (G. E. Wright) 撰写的《申命记》注释、泰伦 (S. Terrien) 撰写的《约伯记》注释、泰勒 (W. Taylor) 和麦卡洛 (W. McCullough) 撰写的《诗篇》注释、斯科特 (R. Scott) 撰写的《以赛亚书》注释和梅 (H. May) 撰写的《以西结书》注释。更富含重要观点的作品是 Anchor Bible (AB), "这是献给世界各地和不同宗教信仰者的作品...是写给普通读者的作品", 人们渐渐忘记了继续推动系列丛书的发展。1964 年由奥尔布赖特 (W. F. Albright) 和费里德曼 (D. N. Freedman) 主编出版的丛书强调对经文的全新翻译, 其中还包含了很多不同质量和层次的注释; 达户 (M. Dahood) 撰写的《诗篇》注释 (1966-1968) 尤为值得关注, 因为其中使用了乌加里特语材料; 迈尔 (J. M. Myers) 撰写的《以斯得拉一书》和《以斯得拉二书》注释 (1974) 展现出作者对两约之间文献的浓厚兴趣, 并鼓励非专业人士去了解那些有助于理解正典 (广受认可) 的基本资料; 布朗 (R. Brown) 阐述了有关《约翰福音》的批判问题 (2 册, 1966-1970); 巴特 (R. Brown) 接受《以弗所书》的原作者是保罗, 强调神人复和的社会层

RV.

For the exposition of the NT only, students have relied for many years on the Expositor's Greek Testament, ed. W. Nicoll (5 vols., 1897–1910), which was designed to supersede H. Alford's work. Although the series is largely obsolete in the light of contemporary developments in literary criticism, profit is still to be gained especially from R. Knowling on Acts and H. Kennedy on Philippians. C. F. D. Moule piloted in 1957 a new format for the old Cambridge Greek Testament with a comm. on Colossians and Philemon; the new series is entitled Cambridge Greek Testament Commentary. C. K. Barrett's comm. on Romans (1957) spearheads Harper's NT comms. (HNTC), under the general editorship of H. Chadwick. For Greekless readers the Moffatt NT comm. (1926–1950) still offers substantial fare, including C. H. Dodd on the Johannine Letters and M. Kiddle, assisted by M. Ross, on Revelation. A similar but less ambitious work is the Torch Bible Comms., ed. J. Marsh, D. Paton, and A. Richardson. More reflective of contemporary biblical research is the Pelican NT comm., begun under the editorship of D. E. Nineham and based on the RSV; J. C. Fenton on Matthew (1963) and Nineham on Mark (1963) are especially instructive for the lay reader.

More traditionally oriented is the New International comm. on the NT (ed. N. B. Stonehouse, beginning in 1951) and its contemporary The Tyndale NT comms, ed. R. Tasker. The former reproduces the gist of the original in thought units and handles linguistic and special problems in footnotes, thus making comment available also to the Greekless reader. The Tyndale series follows the traditional verse by verse exposition. The frequent citations of the Greek text are transliterated and always accompanied by a clear indication of their meaning, thus making the entire comm. available to the Greekless user. In both these series, as well as in HNTC, editorial policies have given the advantage of space to the comms. on the Epistles.

对于《新约》的阐述，学生们多年来只能参考尼柯尔 (W. Nicoll) 编著的 Expositor's Greek Testament (5 册, 1897–1910)，该书旨在取代柯尔福 (H. Alford) 的作品。从当代文学批判的角度看，尽管系列丛书已过时，但诺林 (R. Knowling) 撰写的《使徒行传》注释书和肯尼迪 (H. Kennedy) 撰写的《腓立比书》注释书仍具有参考价值。慕尔 (C. F. D. Moule) 于 1957 年出版了新版的 Cambridge Greek Testament，并将之命名为 Cambridge Greek Testament Commentary，该书包含了《歌罗西书》和《腓利门书》注释。查德威克 (H. Chadwick) 主编的 Harper's NT comms. (HNTC) 以巴瑞特 (C. K. Barrett) 撰写的《罗马书》注释 (1957) 为开篇。为不懂希腊语的读者出版的 Moffatt NT comm. (1926–1950) 仍然可以提供大量参考资料，这本书包括多得 (C. H. Dodd) 撰写的约翰书信注释和罗斯 (M. Ross) 协助基德尔 (M. Kiddle) 完成的《启示录》注释。由马尔什 (J. Marsh)、巴顿 (D. Paton) 和理查德森 (A. Richardson) 编写的 Torch Bible Comms. 是一部类似的作品，但算不上鸿篇巨制。更能反映当代圣经研究的作品是 Pelican NT comm.，这部作品由尼罕 (D. E. Nineham) 担任主编，以《修订标准译本》为基础编著而成；芬东 (J. C. Fenton) 撰写的《马太福音》注释 (1963) 和尼罕 (Nineham) 撰写的《马可福音》注释 (1963) 对一般读者非常有教育意义。

A number of one-volume comms have enjoyed popularity. A New comm. on Holy Scripture Including the Apocrypha, ed. C. Gore, H. Goudge, and A. Guillaume (1928) is noted for its breadth and thoroughness of critical treatment, but has given way to a fresh edition of A. Peake and A. Grieve, eds., comm. on the Bible (1924) under the title Peake's comm. on the Bible, eds. M. Black and H. H. Rowley (1962) with the assistance of an international corps of scholars. Of comparable calibre are the Jerome Biblical comm., eds. R. Brown, J. Fitzmyer, and R. Murphy (1968) and its British cousin, New Catholic comm. on Holy Scripture, eds. R. C. Fuller, L. Johnston, and C. Kearns (1969), which replaces Catholic comm. on Holy Scripture (1953) and at the same time documents a fundamental change in direction of Roman Catholic biblical scholarship. Smaller-scale works range from comm. on the Holy Bible, ed. J. R. Dummelow (1908), to the New Bible comm., ed. F. Davidson (1953; rev ed. 1970 [D. Guthrie, et al]). The latter introduces fewer modern critical conclusions.

Outstanding comms. published since

丁道尔 (Tyndale) 系列丛书遵循按节注释的传统方法。通常采用直译的方式处理希腊语文本中的引文, 并且总是明确地指出这些引文的含义, 因此整本注释也适合不懂希腊语的读者阅读。在这些注释作品和 HNTC 中, 编辑方针使书信注释拥有了空间优势。

很多只有一册的注释书也很受欢迎。戈尔 (C. Gore)、古奇 (H. Goudge) 和吉约翰 (A. Guillaume) 编著的 A New comm. on Holy Scripture Including the Apocrypha (1928) 以其批判的广度和彻底性而闻名, 但是皮克 (A. Peake) 和格里夫 (A. Grieve) 新编著的 comm. on the Bible (1924) 取代了这本书的地位, 布莱克 (M. Black) 和罗利 (H. H. Rowley) 在国际学者团体的帮助下编著完成了 Peake's comm. on the Bible (1962)。可与之相媲美的作品是布朗 (R. Brown)、费兹麦尔 (J. Fitzmyer) 和墨菲 (R. Murphy) 编著的 Jerome Biblical comm. (1968) 以及富勒 (R. C. Fuller)、约翰斯顿 (L. Johnston) 和卡恩斯 (C. Kearns) 编著的英译本 New Catholic comm. on Holy Scripture (1969), New Catholic comm. on Holy Scripture (1969) 取代了 Catholic comm. on Holy Scripture (1953) 的地位, 同时还记载了罗马天主教圣经学研究方向的根本变化。篇幅较小的作品有 J. R. Dummelow 编著的《圣经》(1908) 和戴维森 (F. Davidson) 编著的 New Bible comm. (1953 年; 修订版 1970 [D. Guthrie 等人])。后一部作品较少提及现代批判的结论。

1900 by individual writers still commanding widespread attention are G. A. Smith on Jeremiah (4th ed. 1929) and on the Minor Prophets (rev. ed. 1929); R. S. Cripps on Amos (2nd ed. 1955); A. H. McNeile on Matthew (1915); V. Taylor on Mark (2nd ed. 1966), superseding H. Swete (3rd ed. 1909); J. M. Creed on Luke (1930); B. F. Westcott on John (2 vols., 1908); F. J. F. Jackson and K. Lake on Acts (5 vols., 1920–1933); W. M. Ramsay on Galatians (1900); J. Robinson on Ephesians (2nd ed. 1909); J. Mayor on James (3rd ed. 1913); E. Selwyn on 1 Peter (1955); J. Mayor on Jude and 2 Peter (1907). Many of the older comms., long out of print, are being republished, but the original date of publication is not always noted. The accompanying bibliography will assist the student in identifying the real age of the advertised product.

In view of their pivotal importance for interpretation of the NT books with which they are intimately associated, the following special studies in English and German deserve inclusion here: G. Bornkamm, G. Barth, and H. J. Held, Tradition and Interpretation in Matthew (Eng. tr. 1963); J. D. Kingsbury, Matthew: Structure, Christology, Kingdom (1975); on Mark, W. Wrede, The Messianic Secret (1901; Eng. tr. 1971); K. L. Schmidt, Der Rahmen der Geschichte Jesu (1919); W. Marxsen, Mark the Evangelist: Studies on the Redaction History of the Gospel (Eng. tr. 1969); on Luke, H. J. Cadbury, Making of Luke-Acts (1927); H. Conzelmann, Theology of St. Luke (Eng. tr. 1960); J. Dibelius, Studies in the Acts of the Apostles (Eng. tr. 1956); on 1 and 2 Corinthians, W. Schmithals, Gnosticism in Corinth (Eng. tr. 1971); U. H. Elliot, The Elect and the Holy (1966).

受关注的优秀的注释书有：史密斯 (G. A. Smith) 撰写的《耶利米书》注释 (1929 年第四版) 和《小先知书》注释 (1929 年修订版)、克利普斯 (R. S. Cripps) 撰写的《阿摩司书》注释 (1955 年第二版)、麦尼尔 (A. H. McNeile) 撰写的《马太福音》注释 (1915)、泰勒 (V. Taylor) 撰写的《马可福音》注释 (1966 年第二版) (该注释取代了斯威特 [H. Swete] 1909 年发行的第三版作品)、J. M. Creed 撰写的《路加福音》注释 (1930)、威斯科特 (B. F. Westcott) 撰写的《约翰福音》注释 (2 册, 1908 年)、杰克逊 (F. J. F. Jackson) 和 K. Lake 撰写的《使徒行传》注释 (5 册, 1920–1933)、拉姆齐 (W. M. Ramsay) 撰写的《加拉太书》注释 (1900)、鲁滨逊 (J. Robinson) 撰写的《以弗所书》注释 (1909 年第二版)、迈尔 (J. Mayor) 撰写的《雅各书》注释 (1913 年第三版)、赛尔温 (E. Selwyn) 撰写的《彼得前书》注释 (1955)、迈尔 (J. Mayor) 撰写的《犹大书》和《彼得后书》注释 (1907)。以前一些旧版本和长期未发行的注释书如今重新出版, 但最初出版日期始终不受关注。但同时学生们可借助参考文献来确定出版物的原始日期。

鉴于以下英语和德语特殊研究作品对新约书卷注释的重要性以及它们与新约书卷的密切关系, 所以应该提及这些作品: 邦坎 (G. Bornkamm)、巴特 (G. Barth) 和赫尔德 (H. J. Held) 撰写的 Tradition and Interpretation in Matthew (1963 年英译本); 金斯伯利 (J. D. Kingsbury) 的 Matthew: Structure, Christology, Kingdom (1975); 弗雷德 (W. Wrede) 撰写的《马可福音》注释和 The Messianic Secret (1901; 英译本 1971 年); 斯密特 (K. L. Schmidt) 的 Der Rahmen der Geschichte Jesu (1919); 马仕新 (W. Marxsen) 的 Mark the Evangelist: Studies on the Redaction History of the Gospel (1969 年英译本); 吉百利 (H. J.

3. France. The Protestant theological faculty of the Université de Strasbourg introduced Commentaire de l'Ancien Testament with S. Terrien on Job (1963). Their Commentaire du Nouveau Testament was begun in 1949 with Jean Hering on 1 Corinthians (Eng. tr. 1962). Still valued is the series on the NT, Études Bibliques, begun by M.-J. Lagrange in 1903; his comms. on each of the Synoptics and on Romans set a standard that stimulated such notable publications as E. B. Allo on 1 Corinthians (1934), 2 Corinthians (1936), and Revelation (1921, 3rd ed. 1933); B. Rigaux on 1 and 2 Thessalonians (1956); and C. Spicq on Hebrews (1947) and the Pastorals (1947); most of the works in this series have gone through a number of editions or revisions. La Sainte Bible (43 vols., 1948–1954) was prepared under the direction of the École Biblique Cadbury) 撰写的关于《路加福音》的 Making of Luke-Acts (1927); 康哲曼 (H. Conzelmann) 的 Theology of St. Luke (1960 年英译本); 耶弗尔 (J. Jervell) 的 Luke and the People of God: A New Look at Luke-Acts (1972); (除了杰克逊和莱克的特殊研究) 狄比流 (M. Dibelius) 撰写的关于《使徒行传》的 Studies in the Acts of the Apostles (1971 年英译本); 史密塞斯 (W. Elliot) 撰写的关于《彼得前书》的 The Elect and the Holy (1966)。

3. 法国。斯特拉斯堡大学的新教神学院出版发行了 Commentaire de l'Ancien Testament, 其中包括泰里安 (S. Terrien) 撰写的《约伯记》注释 (1963)。Commentaire du Nouveau Testament 从 1949 年开始创作, 其中包括埃林格 (Jean Hering) 撰写的《哥林多前书》注释 (1962 年英译本)。关于《新约》的有价值的注释丛书有拉格兰奇 (M.-J. Lagrange) 于 1903 年创作的 Études Bibliques; 拉格兰奇 (M.-J. Lagrange) 撰写的《马太福音》《马可福音》《路加福音》《罗马书》注释确立了一种规范, 阿洛 (E. B. Allo) 受其影响撰写了著名的《哥林多前书》注释 (1934)、《哥林多后书》注释 (1936)、《启示录》注释 (1921 年, 1933 年第三版); 于克勒 (B. Rigaux) 撰写的《帖撒罗尼迦前书》《帖撒罗尼迦后书》注释 (1956); 史毕克 (C. Spicq) 撰写的《希伯来书》注释 (1947) 和教牧书信注释 (1947); 丛书中的大部分作品有多个版本或修订版。耶路撒冷圣经学院指导完

COMMENTARIES, HEBREW 希伯来注释

- I. 斐洛

- III. 米大示
- IV. 他勒目
- V. 迦来特派
- VI. 中世纪的注释
- VII. 现代时期的注释
- VIII. 死海古卷
- IX. 米大示释经方法

犹太人的注释像其他基督教注释一样, 数百年间使用了不同的释经方法。可以按照年代顺序研究这些注释。

I. 斐洛。斐洛出生于公元前 20 年前后, 卒于公元 40 年之后, 是希腊时期埃及亚历山大城的犹太人。斐洛的寓意释经法 method of exegesis (a method learned from the Stoics), Philo exercised a far-reaching influence not only on Jewish thought, but even more so on the Christian Church, particularly on Origen and other Alexandrian Christian writers. His purpose in employing his allegorical method was mainly to reconcile Greek philosophy with the OT. See PHILO JUDAEUS.

II. Targum.-The Aramaic translation of the OT. Literally, the word designates a translation in general; its use, however, has been restricted to the Aramaic version of the OT, as contrasted with the Hebrew text, which was called miqrā'. The Targum includes all the books of the OT except Daniel and Ezra-Nehemiah, which are written in part in Aramaic. Its inception dates back to the time of the second temple. One might consider it a comm., the first before the time of Jesus, for the Targum is not a mere translation, but a combination of translation and commentary, resulting in a paraphrase, or an interpretative translation, with its origin in exegesis. The language of this paraphrase is the vernacular tongue of Syria, which began to reassert itself throughout Palestine as the language of common discourse and trade, as soon as a familiar knowledge of the Hebrew tongue came to be lost. The Targums are:

(1) To the Pentateuch:

(a) Targum Onkelos or Babylonian Targum (the accepted and official);

(b) Targum Yerushalmi or Palestinian Targum ("Pseudo-Jonathan"; aside from this [complete] Targum there are fragments of T.P. termed "Fragment

(从斯多亚派那里学来的释经方法)不仅对犹太人的思想产生了深远影响,而且对基督教教会,特别是俄利根和其他亚历山大学派基督作者产生了深远的影响。他之所以采用寓意释经法主要是为了使希腊哲学与旧约保持一致。见 PHILO JUDAEUS (斐洛)。

II. 《他尔根》。《旧约》的亚兰文译本。按字面意思,这个词通常表示译本,但它只能用来表示旧约的亚兰语译本,与希伯来语原文形成了对照,希伯来语原文被称为 miqrā'。《他尔根》包括《旧约》中除《但以理书》、《以斯拉记》和《尼希米记》之外的所有经卷,这些经卷都是用亚兰文写成的。《他尔根》的创作日期可追溯到第二圣殿时期。有人可能认为《他尔根》是耶稣出生之前的第一本注释书,《他尔根》不仅是一个译本,而且是译文和注释的合著,因此是意译或解释性翻译,最初是为了注释。意译时使用了叙利亚的方言,后来意译语言取代了为人们所熟悉的希伯来语,成为整个巴勒斯坦的通用语和贸易用语。《他尔根》包括:

(1) 《摩西五经》:

(a) 《盎克罗的他尔根》或《巴比伦他尔根》(公认和官方版本);

(b) 《耶路撒冷他尔根》或《巴勒斯坦他尔根》("伪约拿单的他尔根";除了"完整的")《他尔根》之外,还有一些"《他尔根》残篇")。 Targum”).

(2) To the Prophets:

(a) Targum Jonathan ben Uzziel (the official one; originated in Palestine and was then adapted to the vernacular of Babylonia);

(b) A Palestinian Targum called Targum Yerushalmi (Palestinian in origin; ed. P. de Lagarde, Prophetae Chaldaice [1872]).

Other Targums (not officially recognized): To the Psalms and Job; to Proverbs; to the Five Rolls; to Chronicles—all Palestinian. See TARGUM.

III. Midrash.—Apparently the practice of commenting upon and explaining the meaning of the Scriptures originated in the synagogues (in the time of Ezra), from the necessity of an exposition of the Law to a congregation many of whom did not or might not understand the language in which it was read. Such comms., however, were oral and extempore and were not until much later crystallized into a definite form. When they assumed a definite and, still later, written shape, the name Midrash (meaning “investigation,” “interpretation,” from dāraš, “to investigate” a scriptural passage) was given. The word occurs in 2 Ch. 13:22 where the RV translates “commentary” and the Jerusalem Bible, “Midrash.” From this fact some have drawn the inference that such midrashim were recognized and extant before the time of the Chronicler. They are: Midrash Rabbah on the Pentateuch and the Five

(2) 先知书:

(a) 《乌薛之子约拿单他尔根》(官方版本; 最初成书于巴勒斯坦, 后来出现了巴比伦方言版);

(b) 《巴勒斯坦的他尔根》被称为 Targum Yerushalmi (最初成书于巴勒斯坦; P. de Lagarde 编, Prophetae Chaldaice [1872])。

其他没有被官方认可的《他尔根》有: 《诗篇他尔根》和《约伯记他尔根》; 《箴言他尔根》; 《五卷他尔根》; 《历代志他尔根》, 他们都是巴勒斯坦的他尔根。见 TARGUM (《他尔根》)。

III. 《米大示》。圣经注释和圣经释义的习俗显然源于犹太会堂(以斯拉时期), 犹太会堂必须向会众解释律法, 因为很多人(可能)不明白律法中的语言。这些注释都是口头和即兴的, 后来才逐渐形成一种定式。当这些注释定形以及后来成文时, 它们被称为“米大示”(意思是“调查”、“研究”, 源于 dāraš, 这个词的意思是“研究”经文)。这个词出现在《历代志下》13:22 中, 《修订版圣经》译为“commentary”(“注释”), 也曾出现在《耶路撒冷圣经》中, 译为“Midrash”(“米大示”)。有些人据此推测这些《米大示》在历代志作者生活年代之前就已经存在且得到了认可。它们是: 关于摩西五经的《拉巴米大示》和关于五卷的《拉巴米大示》(由于《创世记》的年代最早及其重要性, 《创世记》米大示在众多米大示中排在首位)。其次是《耶利米哀歌》米大示。(如恩斯 [L. Zunz] 指出《拉巴米大示》由十个完全不同的米大示组成)。这十本书还有一个类似的合集, 被称为 ha-Midrash ha-gadol (“大米大示”), 这本合集中引用了包括《拉巴

Rolls (the one on Genesis occupies a first position among the various exegetical midrashim, on account of both its age and importance). Next is that on Lamentations. (L. Zunz pointed out that the Midrash Rabbah consists of ten entirely different midrashim.) On the same ten books there is a similar collection called ha-Midrash ha-gadol (the “Great Midrash”), a collection of quotations from several works including the Midrash Rabbah. Other midrashim are: The Midrash Tanhuma on the Pentateuch; the Mekilta on Exodus (this has been [1909] translated into German by J. Winter and A. Wuensche; the latter also published, under the main title Bibliotheca Rabbinica, a collection of the old midrashim in a German translation with introductions and notes). Others include Siphra on Leviticus; Siphra on Numbers and Deuteronomy; and Pesikta, which comments on sections taken from the entire range of Scriptures for various festivals. There are also extant separate midrashim on the Psalms, Proverbs, and other books.

In this connection should be mentioned the Yalkut Shimeoni, a haggadic compilation attributed to the 11th or, according to Zunz, the 13th century. The Yalkut extends over the whole of the OT and is arranged according to the sequence of those portions of the Bible to which reference is made. Further, the Yalkut ha-Makiri is a work similar in contents to the Yalkut Shimeoni, ed. L. Grünhut (1902).

IV. Talmud.-This term is used here to designate the entire body of literature exclusive of the Midrash. Ample exegetical material abounds in the 米大示》在内的几本作品中的内容。其他的米大示还有：摩西五经《坦库玛米大示》；关于《出埃及记》的“注释”（Mekilta）（温特 [J. Winter]，温舍 [A. Wuensche] 于 1909 年将其译为德语版；后者出版时又名 Bibliotheca Rabbinica，它是附有简介和注释的古老米大示的合集）。其他米大示还包括关于《利未记》的注释（Siphra）；关于《民数记》和《申命记》的注释（Siphra）；和 Pesikta，Pesikta 是《圣经》中有关各个节日的经文的注释。现存的还有关于《诗篇》、《箴言》和其他经卷的独立米大示。

这里应提到 Yalkut Shimeoni，11 世纪或（依据如恩斯 [Zunz] 所说的）13 世纪的哈加达编译作品。Yalkut 对所有的旧约经卷作了注释，并按照各书在《圣经》中的顺序作了排版。此外，Yalkut Shimeoni 与格因胡特 (L. Grünhut) 1902 年编著的 Yalkut ha-Makiri 内容相似。

IV. 《他勒目》。这个词在这里表示除《米大示》之外的所有文献。《他勒目》与《米大示》一样，拥有丰富的注释材料。有些他勒目学者对《圣经》作的批注带有

Talmud as it does in the midrashim. The critical notes on the Bible by some Talmudists are very characteristic of their intellectual temper. Some of them were extremely radical and expressed freely their opinions on important problems of Bible criticism, such as on the integrity of the text, or doubtful authorship. An Amora of the 3rd cent. A.D. held the opinion that the story of Job is purely fictitious as to both the name of the hero and his fate. The Talmudists also generalized and set up critical canons.

各自的特点。有些他勒目学者是激进的自由主义者，自由地表达了他们对圣经考证重要问题的观点，如：文本的完整性和不确定的作者身份。公元3世纪的一位阿摩拉（犹太教律法学者）认为约伯的故事纯属虚构，这位英雄的名字和他的事迹也都是虚构的。他勒目学者归纳并建立了批判原则。

Section of the Babylonian Talmud (TB Pesahim 108b) concerning reclining and the drinking of wine during the Passover meal (Seder). Included are the Mishnah or oral laws (center) and the Gemara (periphery), a commentary on the Mishnah by later sages. (Rebecca Bennet Publications)

《巴比伦他勒目》节选 (TB Pesahim 108b) 讲述有关在逾越节晚餐时仰卧和喝酒的事宜。其中收录了《米示拿》或口头律法（中间）和《革马拉》（四周），《革马拉》是后来的圣贤对《米示拿》的注释 (Rebecca Bennet Publications)。

The “Baraitha of the Thirty-two Rules” is the oldest work on biblical hermeneutics (Philo’s hermeneutical rules being rather fanciful) and contains exegetical notices that are still valid. Although hermeneutics is not exegesis proper, but the theory of exegesis, one results from the other. This Baraita calls attention, for instance, to the fact that words occur in the OT in an abbreviated form—a view now generally accepted. See TALMUD.

“巴莱沓的三十二条规则”是最古老的释经学作品（斐洛的释经规则非常奇特），其中一些注释注意事项依然被人们认可。虽然释经学本身并不是注释而是注释理论，但是一个注释理论可以衍生

V. Karaites.- “Followers of the Bible.” Sometimes referred to as the “Protestants of the Jews,” they profess to follow the OT to the exclusion of the rabbinical tradition. The founder of this Jewish sect was an eighth-century Babylonian Jew, Anan ben David; hence they were first called Ananites. The principal Karaite commentators of the 9th, 10th, and 11th cents are: Benjamin Al-Nahawendi (the first to use the term “Karaites,” Heb. ba ‘alē miqrā’), Solomon ben Jeroham. Sahl ibn Mazliah, Yusul al-Basir, Yafith ibn Ali (considered the greatest of this period), and Abu al-Faraj Harum. Of a later date were Aaron ben Joseph and Aaron ben Elijah (14th cent.).

The struggle between the Rabbinites and the Karaites undoubtedly gave the impetus to the great exegetical activity among the Jews in Arabic-speaking countries during the 10th and 11th centuries. The extant fragments of Saadia’s comm. on the Pentateuch (not less than his polemical writings proper) are full of polemics against the Karaite interpretation. The same circumstance aroused Karaites to like efforts.

VI. Middle Ages.-Medieval Jewish exegetes established a fourfold form of interpretation comprising the p^ešāṭ or obvious literal sense of the passage, the remes or allegorical significance, the

出另一个注释理论。例如,《巴莱查》呼吁学者们关注《旧约》中那些简写词语——这一观点现在得到了普遍的认可。见 TALMUD (他勒目)。

V. 迦来特派。“经文的追随者”。他们有时也被称为“犹太人的新教徒”,他们宣称以《圣经》为本,排斥犹太教传统。这一犹太教教派的创始人是 18 世纪巴比伦犹太人亚难·便·大卫 (Anan ben David), 因此迦来特派起初也被称为“亚难派”(Ananites)。迦来特派 9 世纪、10 世纪以及 11 世纪主要的注释者分别是: 奈哈沃际 (Benjamin Al-Nahawendi, 他最早用 “Karaites” 一词, 希伯来语: ba ‘alē miqrā’), 耶龙哈 (Solomon ben Jeroham), 迈兹利赫 (Sahl ibn Mazliah), 拜西尔 (Yusul al-Basir), 阿利 (Yafith ibn Ali, 他被认为是这一时期最杰出的代表) 和哈龙 (Abu al-Faraj Harum)。后期的代表人物有亚伦·便·约瑟 (Aaron ben Joseph) 和亚伦·便·以利亚 (Aaron ben Elijah, 14 世纪)。

毋庸置疑, 10 世纪至 11 世纪时期拉比派与迦来特派之间的争论极大地推动了阿拉伯语世界犹太人注释活动的发展。萨阿迪亚 (Saadia) 撰写的《摩西五经》注释的残篇 (不比他的论辩作品少) 中随处可见驳斥迦来特派注释的论证法。迦来特派同样竭尽全力地驳斥了拉比派的观点。

VI. 中世纪的注释。中世纪犹太人的注释分为四部分: 字面意义 (p^ešāṭ)、寓意 (remes)、伦理说教意义 (d^eraš) 和神秘意义 (sôd)。这些注释后来被称为离合诗的 PaRDeS, 并且出现了许多的变

d^eraš or ethico-homiletical interpretation, and the sôd or mystical meaning of the text. These were subsequently designated by the acrostic PaRDeS and occurred in numerous variations and combinations.

Saadia ben Joseph (892–942), the severest antagonist of the Karaites, translated the OT into Arabic with notes. The parts published were: Pentateuch, Isaiah, Proverbs and Job.

Moses ha-Darshan (the Preacher) of Narbonne, France, and Tobiah ben Eliezer in Castoria, Bulgaria (11th cent.), are the most prominent representatives of midrashic-symbolic Bible exegesis. The former's work is known only by quotations and contained theological conceptions similar to those held by Christians; the latter is the author of Lekah Tob or Pesikta Zutarta on the Pentateuch and the five Megilloth.

Rashi (Solomon ben Isaac of Troyes; 1040–1105) wrote a very popular comm., which extends over the whole of the OT with the exception of Chronicles, Ezra-Nehemiah, and the last part of Job. He strove for the p^ešāṭ, i.e., for a sober, natural, and rational interpretation of the Bible. His is still a comm. for both the novice and the master among the Jews. Christian exegetes of the Middle Ages as well as of modern times made use of his Bible commentary. Nicholas of Lyra followed Rashi closely, and it is known that Luther's translation of the Bible is dependent upon Nicholas. Rashi's comm. has called forth numerous expositions on his work.

An independent and important exegete was Joseph Kara (ca. 1100). He edited

萨阿迪亚 (Saadia ben Joseph, 892–942) 是迦来特派最强劲的对手, 他将《旧约》译为阿拉伯语并附带注释。已出版的经卷有:《摩西五经》、《以赛亚书》、《箴言》和《约伯记》。

法国纳博讷的摩西·哈·达尔尚 (Moses ha-Darshan) 和保加利亚的多比雅·便·埃利泽 (Tobiah ben Eliezer) (11世纪) 是最杰出的米大示式的圣经注释。摩西·哈·达尔尚的作品仅仅因为引用而出名, 并且其中包含了与基督徒的观点类似的神学概念; 多比雅·便·埃利泽是 Lekah Tob or Pesikta Zutarta 的作者, 它是《摩西五经》和《五卷》注释作品。

约瑟·卡拉 (约 1100 年) 是一位独立且重要的注释者。他参与编辑并部分完成

and partly completed Rashi's comm., particularly the part on the Pentateuch.

Abraham ibn Ezra's (1092–1168) scholarly comm. on the Pentateuch, like Rashi's works, has prompted many expositions. He was the first to maintain that Isaiah contains the work of two authors, and his doubts respecting the authorship of the Pentateuch were noticed by B. Spinoza.

The grammarians and the lexicographers were not merely exegetical expounders of words, but many of them were likewise authors of actual commentaries. Such were the Kimhī's, Joseph and his sons Moses and David, and especially the latter. The Kimchis were the most brilliant contributors to Bible exegesis and Hebrew philology (like ibn Ezra) in medieval times.

Maimonides' (1135–1204) work, like Philo's, uses the allegorical method for the purpose of reconciling Plato with the OT. To Maimonides Aristotle was the representative of natural knowledge and the Bible of supernatural—and he sought for a reconciliation between the two in his religious philosophy. Exegesis proper was the one field, however, to which this great genius made no contribution of first-class importance.

His followers were the Maimunists, exegetes of a philosophical turn, including: Joseph ibn Akin, Samuel ibn Tibbon, his son Moses, and his son-in-law, Jacob ben Abba Mari Anatolio, whose Malmad ha-Talmidim was the most important work of philosophical exegesis in that period.

了拉希的注释,尤其是关于《摩西五经》的注释。

学者亚伯拉罕·伊本·以斯拉(Abraham ibn Ezra, 1092–1168)的关于《摩西五经》的学术性注释书与拉什的作品类似,也引起了许多阐述。斯宾诺莎(B. Spinoza)是首位坚持认为《以赛亚书》是由两位作者写成的,并质疑《摩西五经》的原作者的人。

语法学者和词典编纂者不只是词语的解释者,他们中的许多人实际上是注释的作者。如吉姆希家族(Kimhī's)、约瑟夫、约瑟夫的儿子摩西和大卫,尤其是后者。古姆希家族是中世纪《圣经》注释书和希伯来语文献(如 ibn Ezra)的最杰出撰述者。

迈蒙尼德(Maimonides, 1135–1204)的作品与斐洛的一样,使用寓意释经方法从而使柏拉图哲学符合《旧约》。迈蒙尼德认为亚里士多德是同时熟悉自然知识和超自然《圣经》的代表人物——他试图在他的宗教哲学中实现两者之间的和谐。释经本身是一个领域,然而,这位伟大的天才并没有为这一领域做出卓越的贡献。

Malmed ha-Talmidim 是这一时期哲理释经的最重要作品。

Joseph ibn Kaspi, chiefly known as a philosopher of the Maimonist type, was an exegete of the first quality. His exposition of Isa. 53 might be the work of the most modern scholar. He refers the prophecy to Israel, not to an individual, and in this his theory is far superior to that of some other famous Jewish expositors who interpret the chapter as referring to Hezekiah.

The principal commentators with a Kabbalistic tendency include Nahmanides (1194–1270?), whose great work was his comm. on the Pentateuch, and Immanuel of Rome (1270?–1330?), who, however, did not disregard the literal meaning of the Scriptures. Bahya ben Asher (d 1340), who formulated the four methods of exegesis of PaRDeS referred to above, took Nahmanides as his model; many super-comms. were written on his comm. on the Pentateuch. L. Gersonides (1288–1334), a maternal grandson of Nahmanides, saw symbols in many biblical passages; on account of some of his heretical ideas expressed in his philosophy, some rabbis forbade the study of his commentaries.

The Zohar, the “Bible of the Kabbalists,” dominated the thinking and feeling of the Jews for almost five hundred years and was in favor with many Christian scholars. This pseudepigraphic work, written partly in Aramaic and partly in Hebrew, first appeared in Spain in the 13th cent. and was made known through Moses de Leon, to whom many historians attribute it.

Joseph ibn Kaspi 是一位迈蒙尼德派哲学家，是一位优秀的注释者。他撰写的《以赛亚书》53章注释可能属于最现代学者的作品。他指出这预言是指着以色列说的，不是指着每个人说的，从这一点看，他的学说远胜于其他著名犹太注释者的学说，他们认为这一章中的预言是指着希西家说的。

《光明篇》被称作“卡巴拉派的圣经”，影响犹太人的思想和情感将近五百年的时间，并得到许多基督徒的认可。这部伪经作品一部分由亚兰文写成，一部分由希伯来语写成，最早于 13 世纪在西班牙问世，并通过摩西·德·利昂 (Moses de Leon) 为人们所熟知，许多历史学家认为这部作品是由摩西·德·利昂创作的。

Mention must also be made of Isaac ben Moses Arama (1430–1494), whose Akedat Yitzhak, a comm. on the Pentateuch (homiletical in style), was the standard book for the Jewish pulpit for centuries, much esteemed by the Christian world, and is still much read by Jews, particularly in Eastern Europe.

VII. Modern Times.—Isaac Abravanel (or Abarbanel; 1437–1508) was a statesman and scholar who came nearest to the modern idea of a Bible commentator by considering not only the literary elements of the Bible but the political and social life of the people as well. He wrote a general introduction to each book of the Bible, setting forth its character; and he was the first to make use of Christian comms., which he quotes without prejudice. Moses Alshech (second half of 16th cent.) wrote comms., all of which are of a homiletical character. In the main the Jewish exegesis of the 16th and 17th cents branched out into homiletics.

The Biurists were a school of exegetes which had its origin with Mendelssohn's (1729–1786) literal German translation of the Bible, at a time when Christian biblical studies of a modern nature had made some progress, and under whose influence the Biurists wrote. They include S. M. Dubnow, N. M. Wesseley, A. Jaroslav, H. Homberg, and J. Euchel. They laid a foundation for a critico-historical study of the Bible among modern Jews. It bore its fruit in the 19th cent. in the writings of L. Philippson, S. Munk, J. Fuerst, and others. The same century produced Zunz's (1794–1886) Gottesdienstliche Vortraege der Juden, the book of "Jewish science." It also produced three Jewish

VII. 现代时期的注释。以撒·阿巴伯内尔 (或阿布拉瓦 [Abarbanel], 1437–1508) 既是政治家也是学者, 他的观点最接近于现代圣经注释者的观点, 因为他不仅关注《圣经》的文学要素, 而且关注人们的政治生活和社会生活。他为《圣经》各卷撰写了概述并提出了各卷的特征; 他是最早不带偏见地引用基督注释的人。摩西·谢克 (Moses Alshech, 16 世纪后半叶) 撰写的注释都带有说教色彩。16 世纪和 17 世纪犹太人的注释书基本上都属于说教术。

犹太教改革派是圣经注释的一个学派, 该学派起源于门德尔松 (1729–1786) 直译的德语圣经, 此时现代基督教圣经研究取得了一定的进步, 受门德尔松的影响, 犹太教改革派创作了一些注释作品。犹太教改革派代表人物包括: 杜博诺 (S. M. Dubnow)、卫斯理 (N. M. Wesseley)、雅罗斯拉夫 (A. Jaroslav)、洪贝格 (H. Homberg) 和埃塞尔 (J. Euchel)。他们为批判历史研究或现代犹太人的《圣经》研究奠定了基础。菲利普斯 (L. Philippson)、蒙克 (S. Munk)、尔斯特 (J. Fuerst) 等人的作品体现出犹太教改革派在 19 世纪的研究成果。恩斯 (Zunz, 1794–1886) 也在这个世纪撰写了 Gottesdienstliche Vortraege der Juden (“犹太人科学”)。另外还有三位犹太注释者: 意大利的卢扎托 (S. D. Luzzatto)、 exegetes, S. D. Luzzatto in Italy, M. L. Malbim and A. B. Ehrlich in Russia. The last after 1878 resided in New York; he published in Hebrew a comm. on the OT, entitled Mikra ki-Peshutah (3 vols., 1899–1901), and, in German, Randglossen zur hebräischen Bibel, two scholarly works written from the conservative standpoint (begun in 1908). Malbim was highly esteemed by the Christian commentators F. Delitzsch and J. Muehlau, who studied under him. Others are Joseph Halévy, a French Jew, a most original Bible investigator, and D. Hoffmann (the last two named are adversaries of “higher criticism”) and D. H. Mueller. M. Heilprin wrote a collection of Bibelkritische Notizen (1893), containing comparisons of various biblical passages, and Historical Poetry of the Ancient Hebrews (2 vols., 1879–1880). The American rabbi B. Szold published a comm. on Job (1886), written in classical Hebrew and applying accurate scholarship to take full account of the work of the Masoretes. A new Hebrew comm. on the whole of the OT, Has-sepārîm Haḥîṣônîm, was begun in 1903 under the editorship of A. Kahana. This was the first attempt since Mendelssohn’s Biur to approach the Bible from the Jewish viewpoint with the latest philological and archeological equipment. Among the authors are Kahana on Genesis and Jonah, S. Krauss on Isaiah, Z. H. Chajes on Psalms and Amos, Wynkoop on Hosea and Joel, G. Lambert on Daniel.

俄罗斯的马尔毕姆 (M. L. Malbim) 和欧利希 (A. B. Ehrlich)。欧利希 (A. B. Ehrlich) 在 1878 后居住在纽约；他出版了《旧约》注释的希伯来语版，命名为 Mikra ki-Peshutah (3 册, 1899–1901) 和德语版 Randglossen zur hebräischen Bibel，这两部作品都是以保守主义观点创作完成的 (1908)。基督教注释者德里兹 (F. Delitzsch) 和米赫劳 (J. Muehlau) 极为尊敬马尔毕姆 (Malbim) 并师从于他。其他的注释者还有法国犹太人哈里维 (Joseph Halévy)、霍夫曼 (D. Hoffmann) 和穆勒 (D. H. Mueller)，哈里维 (Joseph Halévy) 是最早研究《圣经》的注释者，霍夫曼 (D. Hoffmann) 和穆勒 (D. H. Mueller) 反对“高级考证”。赫勒普瑞 (M. Heilprin) 撰写了 Bibelkritische Notizen 一书 (1893)，其中包含多个圣经段落的对比，他还撰写了 Historical Poetry of the Ancient Hebrews (2 册, 1879–1880)。美国拉比索尔德 (B. Szold) 用古希伯来语撰写了《约伯记》注释 (1886)，并以严谨的学术态度完整地阐述了马所拉学者的作品。哈瓦那 (A. Kahana) 于 1903 年开始创作新希伯来语《旧约》注释 (Has-sepārîm Haḥîṣônîm)。这是自门德尔松的比兀尔 (Biur) 之后首次尝试以犹太人的视角，结合最新的语言学和考古学研究《圣经》。这些学者包括撰写《创世记》和《约拿书》注释的哈瓦那 (Kahana)、撰写《以赛亚书》注释的克劳斯 (S. Krauss)、撰写《诗篇》和《阿摩司书》注释的沙热 (Z. H. Chajes)、撰写《何西阿书》和《约珥书》注释的温库普 (Wynkoop) 和撰写《但以理书》注释的兰伯特 (G. Lambert)。

The aim of M. M. Kalisch (1828–1885) to publish a critical comm. on the entire OT remained largely unfulfilled. Of his Historical and Critical comm on the OT, with a New Translation, only the following parts were published: Exodus (1855); Genesis (1858); Leviticus (pts 1–2, 1867–1872). They contain a resume of all that Jewish and Christian learning had accumulated on the subject up to the dates of their publication. His Leviticus anticipated J. Wellhausen to a large extent.

卡里西 (M. M. Kalisch, 1828–1885) 想要出版一本完整的《旧约》考证注释，但该书大部分内容并未完成。他撰写的 Historical and Critical comm on the OT, with a New Translation 一书只出版了以下几部分：《出埃及记》注释 (1855)；《创世记》注释 (1858)；《利未记》注释 (1–2 章, 1867–1872)。这些注释书涵盖了截止这些注释书出版时的所有关于《旧约》的犹太人学问和基督教学问。卡里西的注释在很大程度上预先满足了威尔豪森 (J. Wellhausen) 的需要。

The works of A. Geiger, H. Graetz, and K. Kohler reflect nineteenth-century liberal thought, a trend continued by many Jewish commentators of the 20th century. The more notable conservative Jewish scholars include J. H. Hertz, chief rabbi of the British Commonwealth, whose comm. on the Pentateuch, 盖革 (A. Geiger)、格雷茨 (H. Graetz) 和科勒 (K. Kohler) 的作品反映出十九世纪的自由主义思想，这种趋势在二十世纪的许多犹太人注释者身上得到了延续。更著名的保守派犹太人学者是赫兹 (J. H. Hertz)，他是英联邦的主要拉比，他撰写的《摩西五经》注释最初只出版了五册，是一本学术性极高的注释书籍。 originally published in five volumes, was an outstanding scholarly production. The Soncino Books of the Bible series also contained comms by authorities such as A. Cohen, I. Epstein, H. Freedman, I. W. Slotki, and others. An important thirty-five-volume edition of the Talmud was also edited by Epstein. The most outstanding modern comm. in Hebrew, which was intended to encompass the whole OT, was begun by U. Cassuto, but he was able to complete only part of the Pentateuch.

VIII. Dead Sea Scrolls.-A. Sources. Commentaries among the Dead Sea literature are now sparse and fragmentary, though adequate to show manner, tendency, and viewpoint, and to suggest that originally they were voluminous.

Qumrân Cave 1 produced the largest single item, the comm. on Hab. 1–2 (1QpHab), together with fragments on Micah (1QpMic) and Psalms (1QpPs). Splendid Hebrew transliterations and photographs of 1QpHab are available in Burrows, I, and of the fragments in Barthélemy and Milik, I (1955). (For

VIII. 死海古卷。A. 来源。死海文学注释现已非常稀有且残缺不全, 尽管现存书卷足以显示出这种文学的类型、发展趋势和观点, 也足以说明最初确实存在大量的死海文学作品。

1 号昆兰洞穴发掘出了最多的单卷死海古卷, 其中包括《哈巴谷书》1–2 章的注释 (1QpHab), 还有一些《弥迦书注释》(1QpMic) 和《诗篇注释》(1QpPs) 的残篇。巴罗斯 (Burrows, I) 在他的作品中呈现了《哈巴谷书注释》的杰出希伯来语直译和插图, 巴泰勒米 (Barthélemy) 和妍睿 (Milik) 在他们

Cave 4 has yielded a considerable portion of a comm. on Nahum (4QpNah) and parts of various comms on Isaiah (4QpIsa^{a,b,c,d}) and on Ps. 37. Two of its further documents, 4Q Florilegium (4QFlor) and 4Q Testimonia (4QTestim), are of special interest. They indicate not only messianic expectations—from the Jewish, not the Christian standpoint—but also the existence of a testimony book of OT proof texts for the Messiah, such as postulated by scholars to account for certain peculiarities of citation, referring to Jesus, in the NT.

B. Interpretation. The arrangement of these comms is fairly uniform. A passage of the basic Scripture is quoted, followed by the Aramaic word pšr or pšrw, “(its) interpretation is....” The Hebrew phrase in Gen. 40:12, 18, zeh pitrōnô, referring to the interpretation of the dreams of Pharaoh’s butler and baker, is approximately equivalent, and pšrw is familiar in the Targums and other Aramaic sources. It never denotes ordinary scientific exegesis. For the Qumrân community, the sacred volume was a repository of symbolism, representing the circumstances of their present, the operations of their minds, or their ultimate hopes—terms that might be rewritten as fulfilled prophecy, mysticism, and eschatology—restricted to the schismatic minority, convinced that it was the true Israel, the saved remnant. The OT had become for them something like a fortuneteller’s crystal, in the mysterious depths of which they pondered their own destiny and that of their foes. To cite two vague and rather generalized examples, the grim words of Mic. 6:14–16 are eschatologically applied to the last mortal generation, and the comparable sentiments of Zeph. 1:18–2:2 to the inhabitants of Judah.

的作品 (I) 中呈现了某些残篇的杰出希伯来语直译和插图 (关于译文, 注释和其他资料, 见参考书目)。

4 号洞穴发掘出很多关于《那鸿书》的注释 (4QpNah) 和部分关于《以赛亚书》的不同注释 (4QpIsa^{a,b,c,d}) 以及《诗篇》37 章的注释。还有两部更重要的文献, 即 4 号洞穴发掘的经文论集 (4QFlor) 和见证集 (4QTestim), 这两部文献尤为值得关注。根据犹太人的观点 (而不是基督徒的观点), 这些文献不仅指明了弥赛亚的指望, 而且证明了确实存在一部见证弥撒亚的《旧约》, 例如有些学者以此解释《新约》中那些提及耶稣的经文的独特性。

B. 解释。 这些注释的排版相当一致。首先引用《圣经》中的一个章节, 随后用到一个亚兰语 pšr 或 pšrw, 句式为“这段经文的解释为...”。《创世记》40:12, 18 中的希伯来短语 zeh pitrōnô 指的是对酒政和膳长梦境的解释, 几乎相当于上面两个亚兰词语的同义词, pšrw 在《赫尔根》和其他亚兰语文献中很常见。但这些词决不是指普通的科学解释。对昆兰社团来说,《圣经》是一个象征主义“知识库”, 体现出他们目前的情况、他们的思想状态或他们的最终指望——可以用应验的寓言、神秘论和末世论来改写这些词语,《圣经》限制了少数的分裂派, 使昆兰社团相信他们就是真正的以色列, 就是被上帝拯救的剩民。《旧约》对他们来说就像占卜者手中的水晶球, 他们用这个神秘的水晶球预测自己的敌人的命运。引用两个笼统概括的例子, 从末世论的角度讲,《弥迦书》6:14-16 中的严肃词语指的是最终必死的一代, 与《西番雅书》1:18-2:2 中提到的犹太居民一样, 指的是耶和华的烈怒。

Many passages in the Qumrân literature clearly refer to historical personages and events, though modern commentators may quarrel over identity. Two of the less disputed examples may be cited. 1QpHab abounds with references to the Kittim (hkty'ym). These were almost certainly the Romans; and commentators see references to provincial commanders and military methods in col. 4, lines 5–9; to the Roman senate in the “house of guilt” (byt'sm) in line 11; to the soldier cult of battle standards in col. 6, line 4; and to the extortions of the fiscal taxes in lines 6–8. The suffering Lebanon of Hab. 2:17 is identified with the inner council of the Qumrân community itself (col. 12, lines 3f.; Lebanon is found as a name for the temple in the Midrash; cf. Midr. Mekilta, ed. J. Z. Lauterbach, II, 151). This is made explicit in the text. Many other identities are suggested by translators, some of them conjectural.

A small piece of verbal exegesis, reminiscent of rabbinic methodology, occurs in 1QpHab, col. 2, line 1. The baggôyim (bgwym) of Hab. 1:5 (AV “among the heathen”) is read as bwgdym, “the rebels” (cf. LXX hoi kataphronētai), which suits the commentator’s purpose. The official standing of the priest as scriptural exegete is affirmed in col. 2, line 8. The writer of the comm., almost certainly himself a priest, seems to circumscribe the reach of prophecy in col. 7, lines 1f., 7f. God, he says, revealed to Habakkuk the course of the mortal generations to their end, but did not make known to him the consummation of the end time (line 2). The intervening generations have exceeded prophetic expectation (lines 7f.). This links with certain NT sayings about the Second Coming.

《哈巴谷书注释》第二栏第一行还出现了少量字面意思注释，这让人联想到拉比的注释方法。《哈巴谷书》1:5 中的 baggôyim (bgwym)（《钦定版圣经》译为“among the heathen”[“列国”]）读作 bwgdym，意为“背叛者”（参：《七十士译本》中的 hoi kataphronētai），这种解释满足了注释者的目的。第二栏第八行中证实了祭司的官方身份是圣经注释者。注释者很可能就是祭司，第七栏 1-2 行、7-8 行似乎限制了预言的范围。注释者说，上帝向哈巴谷揭示了必死的

The total literature so far available is a meager dozen or fifteen pages of Hebrew, making evaluations rather tentative. Certainly this is not biblical commentary in the contemporary sense. It is serenely indifferent to what the rabbis call the p^ešāṭ, the literal, historical meaning of Scripture. Yet it is no less commentary than the allegorical exegesis of Philo, which it partially resembles, though its aim is more immediate and practical.

IX. Exegetical Methods of a Typical Midrash.-The Rabbah group, covering the Pentateuch and Megilloth, is the best-known of the midrashim or rabbinic comms on books of the OT. (It is extensively cited in R. A. Stewart, Rabbinic Theology [1961].) As there is distinctive family likeness throughout the literature, examples are drawn from the early and typical Midrash Mekilta on portions of Exodus. This document has the usual rabbinic admixture of Halakic (legal) and Haggadic (homiletical) material.

Mekilta frequently bases its Halakic decisions from Scripture on the "Hermeneutical Rules," particularly the "Thirteen" of Rabbi Ishmael, which were an amplification of Hillel's seven rules. (See Jew. Enc., s.v. "Rules of Hillel";

世人走向最终结局前的经历，但是祂并没有向他揭示最终结局的样子（2节）。中间的世代已经超越了预言的指望（7-8节）。这与《新约》中关于基督复临的某些描述有关。

目前总共只有十二页或十五页希伯来语文献，所以很难做出评价。当然这不是现代意义上的圣经注释。这种注释完全不在乎拉比所说的 p^ešāṭ（《圣经》的字面和历史意义）。尽管这种的注释的目的更为直接、更为实用，但是它与斐洛寓意解经的地位不相上下，两者部分类似。

IX. 典型的米大示的释经方法。《大米大示》（包括《摩西五经》和《五圣卷》）是最著名的米大示或拉比的《旧约》注释。（斯图尔特 [R. A. Stewart] 撰写的 Rabbinic Theology [1961] 中大量地引用了《大米大示》中的内容。）由于全部的文学中存在着特殊的属类相似性，所以可以从早期和典型的关于《出埃及记》的《法规米大示》中提取一些例子。这种文献通常融合了希伯来语哈拉卡（律法）和哈加达（教训）材料。

《法规米大示》通常以“释经规则”对《圣经》进行哈拉卡注释，尤其是拉比以实玛利的“十三条法规”，它们详细地阐述了希列的七条法规。（见 Jew. Enc.，见词条“Rules of Hillel”；“Rules of Ishmael”；“Talmud Hermeneutics”）。这

“Rules of Ishmael”; “Talmud Hermeneutics.”) Two examples may suffice here. Ishmael Rule Two, gzyrh šwh, “an equivalent law,” states that if two pentateuchal enactments contain words of similar or identical meanings, both laws are subject to the same application. (Cf. Mekilta i.41: Nu. 9:2, referring to Passover, and Nu. 28:2, referring to Tamid, or the daily whole-offering, have in common the phrase b^emô “dô, “in its due season.” Thus, Passover and Tamid take precedence over sabbath restrictions.) Ishmael Rule Four, kll wprt, “general and particular,” is stated and its definition completed in Mekilta i.117, ’yn bkll l’mh šb prt, “there is nothing in general beyond what is contained in the particular.” (Cf. Nu. 19:2, “[a] This is the ordinance of the law ... [b] that they bring thee a red heifer without spot.” In the context, [b] limits and defines [a]; cf. also Ex. 12:43.) If the order is reversed (cf. Ex. 19:6), Ishmael Rule Five is applied, “Particular and General.” Like Aristotelian logic, they have their value and their weaknesses, and are liable to dialectical abuse.

In contrast to this legalistic exegesis are allegorical interpretations of Scripture, in slighter echo of Philo. Job 8:11 is taken to signify Israel’s need for Torah (Mekilta ii.135). The slave of Ex. 21:6 is interpreted to have his ear bored because he was a thief, whose ear had heard the commandment “Thou shalt not steal” (iii.16). Similarly, there are various embellishments of the Bible stories of Moses, Joseph, Pharaoh, Jonah, and others, together with numerous parabolic and allegorical interpretations of the Torah. Parables also are found. A brief and pregnant one: the Torah, given in fire—impertinent proximity and irreligious avoidance bring parallel punishments (ii.220f.; cf. also i.211, 224f., 228; i.205f.).

里只需给出两个例子。以实玛利法规第二条, gzyrh šwh (“对等律法”) 中阐述道, 如果两项《摩西五经》中的律例含有相似的词语或相同含义, 那么这两项律例的用途是相同的(参: Mekilta i.41; 《民数记》9:2 提到了逾越节, 《民数记》28:2 提到了常献的燔祭或按日期献燔祭, 这两节经文都使用了短语 b^emô “dô, 意为“按日期”。因此, 逾越节和常献燔祭的法规比安息日的法规更重要)。《法规米大示》i.117 给出了以实玛利法规第四条 kll wprt (“普通和特殊法规”), 并给出了定义, 即 ’yn bkll l’mh šb prt (“普通法规不可超越特殊法规”) (参: 民 19:2 “[a] 律法中的一条律例乃是这样说的… [b] 牵一只纯红的母牛”。在经文中, [b] 限制和定义了 [a]; 另参: 出 12:43)。如果颠倒了顺序(参: 出 19:6), 就是以实玛利法规的第五条“特殊和普通法规”。它们就像亚里士多德逻辑学原理一样, 有自身的价值, 也有缺陷, 容易被辩证滥用。

与律法注释相对的是略微仿效斐洛的寓意解经。根据寓意解经, 《约伯记》8:11 象征着以色列人对律法的需求 (Mekilta ii.135)。《出埃及记》21:6 中的奴仆被解释成贼, 他们听到了这样的命令“不再偷窃” (Mekilta iii.16)。同样, 《圣经》中关于摩西、约瑟、法老、约拿和其他人的故事也经过了多种修饰, 并对律法进行了多种比喻和寓意解释。另外还发现了一些比喻。其中一个简短又富有意义的比喻是火中的律法——无礼的亲近和反宗教的规避会受到相应的惩罚 (Mekilta ii.220-221; 另参: Mekilta i.211, 224-225, 228; i.205-206)。

The midrashim in general quote Scripture with considerable accuracy, acknowledging its canonical authority and respecting its literal meaning (p^ešāṭ). Several stock formulas of introduction occur: ktyb, k^etīb (“written”), šene^emar (“as is said”), and others more elaborate. By the sheer bulk of quotation, these writings provide an important corroborative source for the text of the OT. Passages are sometimes shortened, as indicated by wgw/ (i.e., wgwmr, “etc.”), which refers the reader to the MT.

The Qumranic exegesis of Hab. 1:5 (1QpHab) by variant reading has numerous parallels in Mekilta. Sometimes the MT remains unaltered, as in Ex. 21:6; 22:8, 23, where ’ēlohīm may be read as “God” or “judges,” making good sense either way (iii.151). However, the MT readings are often repointed. In Ps. 68:27 (MT 28), Benjamin is described as rōdēm, “having rule over them”; but rōdām would be the usual form. Mekilta i.232 proposes to read rd ym—Benjamin went down first of all the tribes, daring the Red Sea. This is ingenious, but the expected form, pointed, would be rōdeh hayyām.

《米大示》通常非常准确地引用经文，承认《圣经》的正典权威性，并且尊重《圣经》的字面意思 (p^ešāṭ)。书中给出许多常见引用句式：ktyb, k^etīb (“写着”)、šene^emar (“正如经上所说”)和其他一些更为复杂的句式。这些作品通过大量完全的引用，为旧约经文提供了重要的可靠来源。有时缩短了经文，正如 wgw/ (如，wgwmr 等) 所示，这是为了让读者参读《马所拉文本》。

昆兰发掘的《哈巴谷书》1:5 的注释 (1QpHab) 通过修订后编入法规米大示 (Mekilta) 中。《马所拉文本》中，如《出埃及记》21:6; 22:8, 23, ’ēlohīm 有时被理解为“神”或“审判官”，但两种解释都很好 (法规米大示 iii.151)。然而，《马所拉文本》经常重嵌。《诗篇》68:27 (《马所拉文本》28) 中便雅悯被描述为 rōdēm (“统管他们”)，但是 rōdām 是常用形式。法规米大示 i.232 理解为 rd ym——便雅悯是所有支派中最先消失的，daring 理解为死海。这种理解很有独创性，但原本的形式应指出是 rōdeh hayyām。

COMMENTARY

[Heb. midrāš] (2 Ch. 24:27); AV, NEB, STORY (cf. 13:22). These are the only two OT uses of the Hebrew term, each indicating one of the Chronicler's sources (see CHRONICLES, BOOKS OF, V.B.), probably didactic elaborations of more strictly historical accounts.

COMMERCE.

The acquisition, distribution, and exchange of merchandise. Commerce developed in antiquity whenever the basic unit of society, the household, be it of peasant or of king (the palace), was unable to provide commodities regarded as necessary for life or desired for its enhancement. Extensive interchange of goods had occurred in the ancient Near East since long before the settlement of Canaan by Israelites.

Israel was ideally situated geographically to participate in the important commerce that passed between Egypt and Syria, and between Arabia and the Mediterranean. But the major natural trade routes skirted Israel rather than passed through it,

COMMENTARY 传、传记

【希伯来语: midrāš】(代下 24:27); 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 STORY (“传记”) (参: 代下 13:22)。这是这个希伯来语在《旧约》中仅有的两个用法, 分别表明了历代志作者参考的来源 (见 CHRONICLES, BOOKS OF, V.B [历代志上, 历代志下, V.B]), 可能是更为严谨历史记录的说教式阐释。

COMMERCE. 商业、贸易

商品的购买、经销和交易。在古代, 当基本的社会单元——无论是农民家庭还是王室, 无法提供生活所需的日用品或想要扩大社会范围时, 商业贸易就会向前发展。在以色列人移民到迦南之前很久, 古近东时期就已广泛出现了商品交换。

以色列所处的地理位置优越, 适于参与埃及于叙利亚之间、阿拉伯与地中海之间的重要贸易。除了从约旦谷经耶斯列谷和以斯德伦平原至地中海的商路, 以及从叙利亚经加利利到大海的商路, 其他主要的自然商路并不经过以色列, 而

是环绕着以色列。因此只有当以色列商人主动走出他们的高地要塞时，以色列才在贸易中扮演着重要的角色。

I. In the OT.-A. Long-Distance Trade. In Israel, as elsewhere in the ancient Near East, the palace appears as the organizer of long-distance trade. As the Egyptian government at Thebes sent Wen-Amon to Byblos to obtain timber for ship building (ca. 1100 B.C.; see ANET, pp. 25–29), so Solomon sent envoys to Tyre for timber, dealing directly with Hiram the king and paying with grain, oil, and land (1 K. 5:10f.; 9:11). The state took the initiative in commerce when Solomon constructed a fleet of ships at Ezion-geber on the Gulf of Aqabah. The expeditions that he mounted “once every three years” brought back gold from Ophir, and also silver, ivory, apes, and monkeys (1 K. 9:26–28; 10:22; 2 Ch. 8:17; cf. also 1 K. 10:11). A stage-sponsored attempt to restore this enterprise a century later, in the days of Jehoshaphat king of Judah, met with disaster (1 K. 22:48f.; 2 Ch. 20:35–37). Another royal commercial venture is alluded to in 1 K. 10:28f. par. 2 Ch. 1:16f., although textual difficulties make the details uncertain. (The “king’s merchants” obtained horses for Solomon from Muṣur [see J. A. Fitzmyer, Aramaic Treaties of Sefire (1967), pp. 29–31]—or Egypt [RSV, NEB; cf. Dt. 17:16]—and Kue [Que] in Cilicia and exported them to Syria with chariots obtained from Egypt.) The involvement of the palace in commerce is again clear when Ben-hadad, in his hour of defeat, conceded to Ahab the right to establish street stalls (hūṣōt, lit “streets,” RSV “bazaars”) in Damascus, just as Israel had earlier granted trading privileges to the Syrian crown in Samaria (1 K. 20:34). Kings also controlled trade by exacting transit tolls from merchants

I. 《旧约》中出现的商业贸易。 A. 长途贸易。在以色列，像古近东的其他地方一样，王室是长途贸易的组织者。底比斯的埃及政府派特使温亚蒙 (Wen-Amon) 到比布鲁斯 (Byblos) 获取建船的木材 (约公元前 1100 年; 见 ANET, 25–29 页), 所罗门也派使者到推罗去换取木材, 使者直接与推罗王希兰进行贸易, 支付粮食、油和土地换取木材 (王上 5:10-11; 9:11)。当所罗门在亚喀巴海湾的以旬迦别建造一支船队时, 以色列王国积极地投身到贸易中。所罗门每三年就要远征一次并从俄斐带回黄银、象牙、猿猴 (王上 9:26–28; 10:22; 代下 8:17; 另参: 王上 10:11)。一个世纪后犹大王约沙法试图复兴商业贸易, 却遭受了灾祸 (王上 22:48-49; 代下 20:35–37)。《列王纪上》10:28-29 和平行经文《历代志下》1:16-17 中都提到了另一次王室贸易探险的经历, 但由于文本问题, 具体细节不得而知。“王的商人”为所罗门从摩尔 [见 J. A. Fitzmyer, Aramaic Treaties of Sefire (1967), 29–31 页] 或埃及 [《修订标准译本》, 《新英文译本》, 参: 申 17:16], 以及基利家的古厄带来了马匹, 并用战车将从埃及获得的马匹出口到亚兰)。当便哈达战败之际向亚哈做出让步, 同意以色列人在大马色立街市 (hūṣōt, 字面意思是“街区”, 《修订标准译本》译为 “bazaars” [“集市”]) 时, 王室显然再次卷入商业贸易中, 正如以色列此前曾授予亚兰王室在撒马利亚立街市的贸易特权 (王上 20:34)。国王向经过他们领土的商人征收通行税, 以此来控制贸易 (参: 王上 10:15; “杂族的诸王” [《钦定版圣经》遵照《马所拉文本》, 译为 “mingled people”, 意为“杂族”] 不属所罗门的附庸; 另参: 拉 4:13, 20)。宫殿是外邦人远征贸易的终点。阿拉伯南部的示巴女王的“大批随员”用骆驼驮着“香料、宝石和许多金子”来见所罗 passing through their territory (cf. 1 K. 10:15; “all the kings of Arabia” [RV with MT “mingled people”] were not tributaries of Solomon; cf. also Ezr. 4:13, 20). The palace appears as the destination of commercial expeditions arriving from abroad. The “very great retinue” of the Queen of Sheba, in south Arabia, whose camels carried “spices, and very much gold, and precious stones,” made for Solomon’s palace (1 K. 10:1–10). It was a palace official who purchased Joseph from the Midianite traders (“Ishmaelites”), whose camels carried gum, balm, and myrrh to Egypt (Gen. 37:25–28; 39:1). The king’s role in trade is again suggested by Solomon’s construction of “store-cities” (1 K. 9:19). Exotic wares and precious metals presumably found their way out of the palace and down through the various strata of society as gifts to retainers and through exchange.

The role of the private entrepreneur in long-distance trade must not be wholly excluded, however. It is suggested by the householder who goes on a long journey with a bundle of silver (š^erôr-hakkeseq) in his hand and is not expected back until the full moon (Prov. 7:19f.; but the passage may be no earlier than the 4th century).

Merchandise was carried overland by caravan (’ōrah, ’ōr^ehâ, h^alikâ; e.g., Job 6:18f.; Isa. 21:13; Jgs. 5:6). In Gen. 37:25 and 1 K. 10:2 the beasts of burden are camels, but asses were also used, as in Gen. 42:26 and Isa. 30:6.

The lament over type in Ezk. 27 indicates the geographical extent and the range of commodities (here uniquely termed

门王 (王上 10:1–10)。一个官员从米甸商人的手中买来了约瑟, 米甸的 (“以实玛利人”) 商人用骆驼驮着香料、乳香、没药, 带下埃及去 (创 37:25–28; 39:1)。所罗门王建造积屯城再次表明了国王在贸易中的作用 (王上 9:19)。外来的商品和贵金属可能走出了王室, 藉着赏赐家臣流入社会各阶层中, 成为交换的商品。

然而, 并不能完全排除私人商贩在长途贸易中的作用。据说丈夫拿着银囊 (š^erôr-hakkeseq) 出门行远路, 必到月望才回家 (箴 7:19-20; 但这一段经文可能不早于四世纪)。

结伴的客旅带着货物在陆路上长途跋涉 (’ōrah, ’ōr^ehâ, h^alikâ; 如: 伯 6:18-19; 赛 21:13; 士 5:6)。《创世记》37:25 和《列王纪上》10:2 中提到用骆驼驮着货物, 如《创世记》42:26 和《以赛亚书》30:6 所示, 有时也用驴来驮货物。

ma^arāb) of international trade in the OT period. The reference to Asshur in vv. 23f. as an exporter of “choice garments” recalls the, “beautiful mantle from Shinar” (Mesopotamia) found by Achan among the spoils of Ai (Josh. 7:21). Cappadocia imported “Akkadian garments” (ṣubātū ša akkadī) from Assyria already in the 19th cent. B.C. Assyrian trade with Palestine after 721 B.C. is documented by Assyrian pottery at several sites (see R. Amiran, Ancient Pottery of the Holy Land [1970], p. 291). Sheba is mentioned in Ezk. 27:22 as a source of “all kinds of spices, and all precious stones, and gold.” The high value placed on aromatics in the ancient world is illustrated by the appearance of spices and “precious oil” together with silver and gold as the contents of Hezekiah’s treasure house (2 K. 20:13).

The “industrial installations” excavated at such Palestinian sites as Tell Beit Mirsim (dye vats) and Tell el-Kheleifeh, ancient Ezion-geber (foundries), seem to have served only domestic needs. The only known exports of OT Israel are agricultural (Gen. 43:11; 1 K. 5:11; Ezk. 27:17). But Prov. 31:13, 19, 22, 24 are noteworthy as suggesting the role of women in a “cottage industry” which served more than local needs (“she delivers girdles to the merchant [k^ena^anī],” v. 24).

B. Local Trade. The presence of a religious shrine favored the development of a city as a center of local commerce. This is clear from Dt. 14:22–27, which permitted an Israelite who lived far from the sanctuary to sell his agricultural tithes locally and buy an equivalent amount of commodities at the cult center for consumption there by himself and his household. The legislation presupposes the presence of retailers of livestock and produce in the city where the shrine was located, which was not always Jerusalem. The pilgrimage festivals (Passover and Unleavened Bread, Weeks, and Booths), when worshipers flocked to the sanctuary from outlying districts, were doubtless occasions for commercial fairs (for Shiloh, cf. 1 S. 1; Jgs. 21:19).

在巴勒斯坦遗址中发掘出的“工业设备”似乎只为满足内需，如拜特米尔废丘（染缸）和克赫莱弗废丘（Tell el-Kheleifeh）及古代的以旬迦别（铸造厂）。旧约时期以色列出口的唯一商品是农产品（创 43:11；王上 5:11；结 27:17）。但是，在《箴言》31:13, 19, 22, 24 中，女人在“家庭手工业”中扮演的角色尤为值得关注，家庭手工业制作的产品超出了当地人的需求（“她又将腰带卖与商家” [k^ena^anī]，箴 31:24）。

B. 本地贸易。 宗教圣地促进了城市的发展，使其成为本地贸易的中心。《申命记》14:22–27 显然说明了这一点，住的离至圣所较远的以色列人可以在本地贩卖他的农业什一税，并可以在祭仪中心购买供他本人和家人消费的同数量的商品。律法允许圣地所在的城市出现牲畜和农产品的零售商，不是只有耶路撒冷

C. Time and Place of Commerce. Market days were probably held at fixed intervals. The “day of assembly” (yôm hakkenîsâ), a term used in the Mishnah (ca. A.D. 200) for the second and fifth days of the week (Megillah i.1; Ketuboth i.1), may well have been a market day well as a day when the courts sat (see S. Krauss, Talmudische Archäologie, II [1911], 358, 690). The custom of holding “assembly days” twice a week may go back to OT times. Trade was regarded as an unsuitable activity for the sabbath and the new moon festival (Neh. 13:16–21; Am. 8:5).

Exchange, be it barter or true sale (see BUYING), took place in the streets where tradesman had their workshops, as in a modern Arab sūq (such presumably was “(he bakers’ street” of Jer. 37:21), or at the city gate (2 K. 7:1), the customary place for doing public business (cf. Dt. 21:19; Ruth 4:1–4; Prov. 8:2f.; 31:23). The city gate was probably where nonresident traders displayed their wares; such were the local peasants (‘ammê hā’āreṣ) of Neh. 10:31 (MT 32), with their agricultural produce, and traders from distant parts (but note that Neh. 13:16 refers to Tyrian importers of [salt] fish and other merchandise as resident in Jerusalem [cf. 1 K. 20:34], presumably near the Fish Gate of Neh. 3:3; 12:39). There was no large open space within an ancient Palestinian city to serve as a market place like the agora of a Hellenistic city; at best the street was unusually wide near the gate (cf. Neh. 8:1; Tell Beit Mirsim and Tell en-Naṣbeh provide examples).

C. 贸易的时间和地点。贸易时间可能是固定的。犹太法典中记载的“集会日”(yôm hakkenîsâ)(约公元200年)是每周二和每周五(Megillah i.1; Ketuboth i.1),也有可能是集市日和开庭日(见 S. Krauss, Talmudische Archäologie, II [1911], 358, 690)。每周守两次“集会日”的习俗可能要追溯到旧约时期。在安息日和月朔时进行贸易被视为不合时宜的(尼13:16–21; 摩8:5)。

商品交换,无论是易货贸易还是真正的买卖(见 BUYING [买]),在建有商铺的街道上,也就是现代阿拉伯语中 sūq (可能像是《耶利米书》37:21 中的“饼铺街”)进行,或在城门口(王下7:1)和处理公共事务的通常位置进行(参:申21:19; 得4:1–4; 箴8:2–3; 31:23)。城门口可能是非本地商人展示商品的地方;《尼希米记》10:31(《马所拉文本》32)中提到的带来农产品的当地农民(‘ammê hā’āreṣ)和来自远方的商人都在城门做买卖(但《尼希米记》13:16中提到了进口鱼[盐]的推罗人和住在耶路撒冷的其他商人[参:王上20:34],他们贩卖货物的地点可能接近《尼希米记》3:3和12:39中提到的鱼门)。在古巴勒斯坦城

D. Terms for “Merchant.” The Hebrew terms for “merchant, trader” are sōhēr, rōkēl, kena’an/kena’anī, and (only in 1 K. 10:15 par. 2 Ch. 9:14) tār. Since tār elsewhere means “explorer, spy,” it should perhaps here be emended to taggār, the usual rendering of both sōhēr and rōkēl in the Targums. The use (always late) of kena’an(i), lit. “Canaan (ite),” reflects the role of the Phoenicians as the merchants par excellence in the Mediterranean at the time of the Hebrew monarchy. The distinction between sōhēr and rōkēl is not clear (the LXX normally renders both by émporos, “merchant,” or a form of the cognate verb emporeúomai, to “trade”). But the meaning “slander (er)” borne by the word rākīl, which is related to rōkēl, suggests that the rōkēl was held in low esteem, like the kápēlos, “petty trader,” of the Greek world, who was commonly regarded as a cheat. (In Isa. 1:22 the agents of the dishonest dilution of wine with water, unspecified in the MT, are identified as kápēloi in the LXX; and according to Sir. 26:29, the kápēlos will not be justified of his sin.) The nuance of itinerant merchant has been suggested for sōhēr on the basis of Akk. saḥāru, “go around, turn,” but not without challenge (see E. A. Speiser, BASOR, 164 [Dec. 1961], 23–28; B. Landsberger, SVT, 16 [1967], 187–190). The regulated verb sāhar is rendered

内没有像希腊化城市的集市那样宽敞的露天交易场所；城门附近异常宽阔的街道是最佳的交易场所（参：尼 8:1；拜特米尔废丘和纳斯比废丘提供了例证）。

D. “商人”一词。“商人、经商者、行商的”的希伯来语形式是 sōhēr, rōkēl, kena’an/kena’anī（只在《列王纪上》10:15 的平行经文《历代志下》9:14 中出现过）和 tār。由于 tār 在其他经文中表示“窥探者、探子”，这里可能应该改为 taggār，《他勒目》中通常用这个词翻译 sōhēr 和 rōkēl。kena’an(i) 的用法（通常是后期用法）说明腓尼基人是希伯来王国时期地中海地区最好的商人，这个词的字面意思是“迦南（迦南的）”。sōhēr 和 rōkēl 没有很明显的差别（《七十士译本》通常用 émporos 来翻译这两个词，émporos 意为“商人”，或用同根动词 emporeúomai 的一种形式来翻译这两个词，emporeúoma 意为“贸易”）。但是“诋毁（者）”一词的含义源于 rākīl，这说明“诋毁者”（rōkēl）非常不受尊敬，就像希腊世界的“小商人”（kápēlos）一样，通常被认为是骗子。《以赛亚书》1:22 中提到的在酒中掺水的骗子就是《七十士译本》中 kápēloi（“小商人”），《马所拉文本》中没有提到这种人；根据《便西拉智训》26:29 中的描述，所有的买卖人 [kápēlos] 都有罪。基于阿卡德语 saḥāru（意为“四处走动”）的 sōhēr 表明了行商的细微不同之处（见 E. A. Speiser, BASOR, 164 [1961 年 12 月], 23–28; B. Landsberger, SVT, 16 [1967], 187–190）。《修订标准译本》将这个被改动的动词 sāhar 译为“trade in (a place)”（“在某处交易”），《新犹太译本》译为“move about in (a place)”（“在某处移动”）（如：创 34:21; 42:34, 参：《新英

“trade in (a place)” in the RSV, but “move about in (a place)” in NJV (e.g., Gen. 34:21; 42:34, cf. NEB).

II. In the NT.-A. Background and General Considerations. The principal events of the NT, from the public ministry of Jesus to the martyrdom of Paul, fall within the last four decades of a century of almost unbroken peace that prevailed in Palestine from the beginning of Herod the Great's rule as king of Judea (37 B.C.) until the outbreak of the First Jewish Revolt (A.D. 66). Commerce flourishes best in time of peace, and the events of the NT took place in a setting of commercial prosperity. This peace brought relief from the almost three centuries of conflict that had afflicted Palestine after the arrival of Alexander the Great in the Near East (331 B.C.), as Antigonids, Ptolemies, Seleucids, and Hasmoneans struggled for supremacy. But even in these troubled times, fortunes could be made by those with power to exploit the weak (even by Jews; cf. Josephus Ant. xii.4.7). The nature of Palestinian commerce ca. 260 B.C. is well illustrated by the archives of the Egyptian official Zeno (see V. Tcherikover, Hellenistic Civilization and the Jews [1959], pp. 60–73). The constant interchange of men, goods, and ideas throughout the Mediterranean lands resulting from Greek colonization, the progressive adoption of coinage in a world flooded with the squandered treasuries of plundered oriental monarchies, and the eventual unification of the known world under Roman arms stimulated intense commercial activity. Commerce principally affected the cities, especially the new (or rebuilt) Hellenistic cities along the major trade routes, such as Gaza, Ascalon, Joppa, Caesarea (earlier Strato's Tower), Ptolemais (Acre), Sepphoris, Tiberias, Sebaste (Samaria), Jericho ('Alâyiq) and the cities of the Decapolis. The North-South line of cities E of the Jordan indicates the importance at this period of the desert route from the Red Sea and the Hejaz through Nabatean Petra to Damascus. But commerce probably brought little benefit to the peasants, whose heavy taxes made possible the luxuries of the city-dwelling magnates (1 Macc. 10:29–45 indicates how heavy taxes were ca. 150 B.C.; for the time of Herod the Great, see Josephus Ant. xvii.11.2). And as Josephus observes in a striking passage, the Jews of Palestine in the 1st cent. A.D. were still predominantly an agrarian people (CAp i.12).

II. 《新约》中的贸易。A. 贸易的背景和概况。《新约》中的主要事件，从耶稣公开传道至保罗殉道，都发生在那个几乎持续和平世纪的最后四十年里，巴勒斯坦的这个和平时期从希律王开始统治犹太（公元前 37 年）一直延续到首次犹太人叛乱爆发（公元 66 年）。和平时期是贸易最繁荣的时期，《新约》中的事件发生在贸易繁荣时期。这段和平时期结束了亚历山大大帝抵达近东之后巴勒斯坦地区长达将近三个世纪的动荡局面，而当时安提阿哥王朝、多利买王朝、塞琉西王朝和哈斯摩尼王朝在争夺霸权。但即使在这样一个多事之秋，有能力剥削弱者的权势仍然能赚到财富（甚至包括犹太人；参：Josephus Ant. xii.4.7）。埃及官员芝诺（Zeno）的档案很好地展现了约公元前 260 年巴勒斯坦的商业特征（见 V. Tcherikover, Hellenistic Civilization and the Jews [1959], 60–73 页）。由于希腊殖民地化造成人员、货物思想在整个地中海沿岸频繁地交流和交换，货币也逐渐在世界范围内被接受，加之掠夺东方国家的财富被肆无忌惮地挥霍掉，以及罗马军队最终统一了这个已知的世界，这些因素极大地刺激了频繁的商业活动。商业主要影响了城市，尤其是主要贸易沿线新兴（新建）的希腊化城市，如迦萨、亚实基伦、约帕、凯撒里亚（早期的斯特拉托塔）、多利买（阿克里）、赛佛瑞斯、提比哩亚、色巴斯（撒玛利亚）、耶利哥（阿拉伊 [‘Alâyiq]），以及低加波利的一些城市。约旦河东岸城市的南北分界线表明了这一时期从红海和汉志经纳巴泰佩特拉至大马士革的沙漠路线的重要性。商业贸易没有给农民带来多少益处，但他们交纳的重税却使得城中的富人能够买得起奢侈品（《马加比一书》10:29–45 表明了约公元前 150 年的赋税有多重；关于希

The opportunities for better material rewards led many Jews to try their fortunes in the wider world outside Judea (e.g., Aquila the tentmaker of Acts 18:2f.), and by the time of Jesus more Jews resided in the Diaspora, especially in Babylonia, Egypt, and Asia Minor, than in Palestine (for estimates of their number, see Tcherikover, pp. 292–95). But the Jews of the Diaspora maintained close links with Judea; each paid an annual half-shekel tax to the temple (Mt. 17:24), and many traveled to Jerusalem for the pilgrimage feasts. This constant coming and going between Jerusalem and the most diverse parts of the Greco-Roman world (cf. Acts 2:8–11) cannot have failed to make the city a center of wealth and commerce. It also facilitated the rapid spread of Christianity.

B. Long-Distance Trade. The booming

律王时期，见 Josephus Ant. xvii.11.2)。约瑟夫斯在一段引人注目的段落中指出巴勒斯坦的犹太人在约公元一世纪大都还是农民 (CAp i.12)。

为了获得更好的物质回报，许多犹太人到犹太以外更广阔的世界寻找商机(如：《使徒行传》18:2-3 中提到的以制作帐篷为业的亚居拉)，耶稣生活的年代，更多的犹太人流散各地，尤其是巴比伦、埃及和小亚细亚，而不是生活在巴勒斯坦地区（关于犹太人的大概人数，见 Tcherikover, 292–295 页）。但流散的犹太人仍然与犹太地区有密切的联系；每人每年为神殿缴税半舍客勒（太 17:24）作为税捐，还有许多犹太人为守朝圣节来到耶路撒冷。耶路撒冷与希腊和罗马世界各地的这种频繁往来必定使这座城市成为希腊罗马世界的财富和贸易中心（参：徒 2:8–11）。但也促进了基督教的快速传播。 prosperity of the period is indicated by the grandiose building programs undertaken in Palestine, especially by Herod the Great. At least some of the more highly skilled artisans employed for these undertakings must have come from abroad, and foreign artisans, like foreign troops (as were the Roman legionaries), are invariably accompanied by foreign traders. Evidence for the import of foreign materials for the most ambitious Palestinian structure of this period, the Jerusalem temple, is given by Josephus, who reports the use of Lebanese timber for rafters (BJ v.1.5) and Corinthian bronze for the gates (BJ v.5.3). Goods moving through ports and other toll points were subject to the imperial harbor-tax (see M. I. Finley, Ancient Economy [1973], p. 159), and the tax collector (telónēs) is a familiar figure in the Gospels (cf. Mt. 9:9). Josephus mentions taxes on public purchases and sales (Ant. xvii.8.4).

Asphalt was exported from the Dead Sea (Diodorus ii.48.6; xix.99.3) and dates and balsam from Jericho (so one may infer from Josephus Ant. xiv.4.1; xv.4.2). Galilee was able to export olive oil (BJ ii.21.2), and the export of pickled fish may be inferred from the fact that they were prepared at Taricheae (probably Magadan [Magdala] of Mt. 15:39; Taricheae means “pickling places”) by the Sea of Galilee (Strabo Geog. xvi.2.45; cf. Mt. 4:18).

Merchandise was transported by ship whenever possible. Despite the excellence of Roman roads (introduced to Palestine by Hadrian; see HGHL, p. 697), it cost more to transport a wagonload of grain 75 mi. (120 km.)

筑，尤其是希律王建造的宏伟建筑表明了这个时期的繁荣程度。至少一些建造这些建筑的技艺高超的工匠一定来自于外邦，外邦的工匠，像外邦的军队（如罗马军团）一样，始终与外邦的商人一起结伴而行。约瑟夫斯给出了这一时期为建造最为雄伟的巴勒斯坦建筑（耶路撒冷神殿）从外邦进口材料的证据，他说，建造房椽用的木材是从黎巴嫩进口的（BJ v.1.5），从港口和其他征税点运来的货物需征收王室的港口税（BJ v.5.3）。从港口运来的货物需征港口税（见 M. I. Finley, Ancient Economy [1973], 159 页），福音书中常能看到坐在税关上的收税员（参：太 9:9）。约瑟夫斯提到公共采购和销售需征税（Ant. xvii.8.4）。

死海出口沥青（Diodorus ii.48.6; xix.99.3），耶利哥出口枣子和香膏（约瑟夫斯在 Ant. xiv.4.1; xv.4.2 中可能提到了其中之一）。加利利出口橄榄油（BJ ii.21.2），从加利利海附近塔瑞妾耶（Taricheae）（可能是《马太福音》15:39 中提到的马加丹；“塔瑞妾耶”意思是“腌制的地方”）腌制的鱼可以推测出，加利利出口腌鱼（Strabo Geog. xvi.2.45; 参：太 4:18）。

overland than to carry it the length of the Mediterranean by ship (see Finley, p. 126). Merchant ships, which were out of commission in the winter (cf. Acts 27:9–12), are mentioned a number of times in Acts Paul’s means of transportation on his missionary journeys (cargoes are mentioned in 21:3 and 27:10, 18, 38 [wheat]). The kinds of merchandise carried in these vessels indicated by the list of wares of the merchants who lament the fall of Babylon (Rome) in Rev. 18:11–19 (with allusions to Ezk. 27). Roman arms had made the seas safe for commerce, but brigandage on the roads was a constant threat to traders (cf. Lk. 10:30; Josephus Ant. xiv.9.2; 15.4).

Jas. 4:13 indicates the mobility of traders in the Greco-Roman world, undoubtedly with the practice of Jewish traders particularly in mind. They would “go into such and such a town and spend a year there and trade and get gain,” presumably then moving on to another town. It is little wonder that Jews were to be found in all cities, as claimed by Strabo (quoted in Josephus Ant. xiv.7.1).

C. Local Trade. The only place on whose local trade the NT provides some information is Jerusalem. Jerusalem was never in the first rank of the commercial capitals of antiquity because it was not situated on a major natural trade route. But the presence of the temple assured the city importance as a center of at least local commerce. Even the regular daily sacrifices and the special private offerings must have required quite considerable quantities of materials. But the demand made on local suppliers must have been enormously heavy at the pilgrimage feasts, when thousands of 徒 27:9–12), 《使徒行传》在描述保罗传教过程中所乘坐的交通工具时曾多次提及了商船(《使徒行传》21:3; 27:10; 18, 38 中提到载着麦子的货船)。《启示录》18:11–19 在客商的货物清单中提到了用船运来的各种货物(《以西结书》27 章中也提到了各种货物),这些客商也为巴比伦(罗马)倾倒哀叹。罗马军队保护海运的安全,但陆路上的土匪经常对商人构成威胁(参:路 10:30; Josephus Ant. xiv.9.2; 15.4)。

《雅各书》4:13 中体现了希腊罗马世界商人的流动性,无疑也体现出了犹太商人的活动,尤其是他们的思想活动。他们将“往某城里去,在那里住一年,作买卖得利”,可能还会再往另一座城去。难怪斯特拉波(Strabo)声称在各个城市中都能看到犹太人(引自 Josephus Ant. xiv.7.1)。

C. 本地贸易。《新约》中仅描述过耶路撒冷的本地贸易。但耶路撒冷从来不是古代一等的商业首都,因为耶路撒冷并在主要的自然商路上。但由于神殿的存在,耶路撒冷至少是重要的本地贸易中心。就连日常的祭品和特殊的私人供物都必然需要本地供应大量的物质资料。当成千上万的犹太人在朝圣节来到耶路撒冷时,当地的供货商需要提供巨大数量的祭品(关于逾越节,见:可 14:1-2; 路 2:41-44; 关于五旬节,见:徒 2:1-11; 21:27; 参:徒 20; 16)。来访者需要食物、住宿(参:可 14:14)和祭牲(约 2:14),尤其在逾越节。他们通过圣殿周围银钱兑换之人兑换可作为圣殿税捐的

Jews came to Jerusalem from far and wide (for Passover, see Mk. 14:1f.; Lk. 2:41–44; for Pentecost, see Acts 2:1–11; 21:27; cf. 20; 16). The visitors required food, accommodation (cf. Mk. 14:14), and sacrificial animals (Jn. 2:14), especially at Passover. Coins acceptable as temple dues were obtained from money changers who did business in the temple precincts (Mt. 21:12; Mk. 11:15; Jn. 2:14).

The commercial district of Jerusalem can be identified as situated on the western hill (the traditional Mt. Zion) because Josephus calls this “the upper market” (hē ánō agorá, BJ v.4.1), although the city is not known to have had a large open space typical of a Hellenistic agora. Josephus also mentions “the wool-shops, the braziers’ smithies and the clothes-market” (BJ v.8.1) and the “timber market” (BJ ii.19.1).

The parable of the talents shows that a man with the means to set himself up in business could hope to make a profit, but the nature of the business is not specified (Mt. 25:16f.; RSV “traded” is simply ergázomai “to work”).

D. Terms for “Merchant.” Only one word for “merchant” occurs in the NT. This is émporos, found only in Mt. 13:45 (“a merchant in search of fine pearls”) and Rev. 18:3, 11, 15, 23 (of traders who lament the fall of Babylon). The absence from the NT of the term naúklēros, used for a seafaring merchant who outfits his own ship, occasions no surprise since the Jews were not a maritime nation (Ps. 107:23 need not refer to Israelites). The term for a petty trader or hawker, kápēlos, might have been expected,

钱币 (太 21:12; 可 11:15; 约 2:14)。

耶路撒冷的商业区位于西山 (传说中的锡安山), 因为约瑟夫斯称之为“上面的市场” (hē ánō agorá, BJ v.4.1), 但无从知晓城中是否有像希腊市场那样的宽敞空地。约瑟夫斯还提到“‘集市中卖羊毛的店铺’、铜匠铺和服装店” (BJ v.8.1), 以及“木材市场” (BJ ii.19.1)。

才干的比喻证明, 一个凭本事做买卖的人一定能赚到钱, 但经文中并没有指出买卖的性质 (太 25:16-17; 《修订标准译本》中的 “traded” [“买卖”] 仅仅表示 ergázomai [“工作”])。

D. “商人”一词。《新约》中只有一个词用来表示“商人”, 这个词就是 émporos, 只有《马太福音》13:45 (“买卖人寻找好珠子”) 和《启示录》18:3, 11, 15, 23 (为巴比伦哭泣悲哀的客商) 中使用了这个词。《新约》中没有用来表示航海商人 (naúklēros) 的词, 但这不足为奇, 因为犹太人不是海上民族 (《诗篇》107:23 未必指的是以色列人)。可能指的是小商小贩 (Kápēlos), 尤其是因为《马太福音》14:15 和《马可福音》6:37 表明, 旅行者可以在村中买到饼 (饼; 也可能买到其他的食物)。但没有证据可

however, particularly since Mt. 14:15 and Mk. 6:37 show that travelers could buy cooked food (bread; perhaps also other items) in the villages. But there is no evidence of a middleman between producer and consumer in local commerce (cf. Finley, p. 144).

III. Biblical Attitude to

Commerce.—Commerce was not viewed as an unmixed blessing by the biblical writers. The riches that came from foreign trade were coveted for the glory of a restored Israel (Isa. 60:4–9, 13), but it was recognized that with foreign goods came foreign cults and customs that threatened the purity of Israel's religion (e.g., 2 K. 23:13; Isa. 2:6–8). Jesus seems to have avoided the Hellenistic cities during His ministry (although it was in the cities of the empire that the infant Church was later to become most firmly established), and He warned of the dangers of riches (Mk. 10:23–25). Whereas in Rev. 18 the saints rejoice at the fall of Babylon (v 20), the merchants of the earth weep and mourn (v 11); and it is by controlling buying and selling that the beast of Rev. 13:17 oppresses the saints.

III. 《圣经》中对待贸易往来的态度。

圣经作者并不将商业贸易视为一种纯粹的祝福。通过对外贸易获取的财富是复兴的以色列渴望的荣耀（赛 60:4–9, 13），但要意识到，外邦的偶像崇拜和习俗跟随着外邦的货物传入了以色列，并沾染了以色列宗教的纯洁（如：王下 23:13；赛 2:6–8）。耶稣传道时似乎避开了希腊化的城市（尽管初期的教会后来正是在这些帝国城市中被坚实地建立起来），祂警告了富人面临的危险（可 10:23–25）。然而，在《启示录》18 章中，众圣徒因巴比伦倾覆而欢喜（启 18:20），而地上的客商却为她哭泣悲哀（启 18:11）；《启示录》13:17 中的兽正是通过控制买卖来压迫圣徒。

COMMIT 交付、交托、禀明

【希伯来语: gālal, pāqaḏ, nātan 和 sím (伯 5:8), ’āzab (诗 10:14); 希腊语: paradidōmi, paratithēmi 和 dídōmi (启 20:4)】;《钦定版圣经》还译为 DELIVER (“交付”)、TRUST (“信靠”) (诗 22:8; “交托给”)、REVEAL (“禀

In these references “commit” is used in the sense “entrust,” “give in charge,” and once possibly “pledge” or “bind” (Rom. 6:17). Elsewhere “commit” is used in the sense “do,” “perform,” as “commit adultery,” “commit iniquity.”

The last of the seven “words” of Jesus on the cross is in Lk. 23:46, “Father, into thy hands I commit (paratithēmi) my spirit!” quoting Ps. 31:5 (MT 30:6) (pāqaḏ). The meaning here is “put in the care of.”

In Rom. 6:17 the significance of paradídōmi is uncertain. It may have the technical sense “hand down,” as of tradition, reading as in the AV, “that form of doctrine which was delivered you.” See TDNT, II, s.v. παραδίδωμι 6 (Büchsel). The RSV, however, has “the standard of teaching to which you were committed,” and the NEB “the pattern of teaching to which you were made subject” (but cf. mg.). Bauer (p. 620) suggests “the form of teaching, for the

《路加福音》23:46 中耶稣在十字架上说的七“句话”中的最后一句是，“父啊，我将我的灵魂交 (paratithēmi) 在你手里！”这句话引自《诗篇》31:5（《马所拉文本》30:6）(pāqaḏ)。这里的意思是“交给…看顾”。

《罗马书》6:17 中 paradídōmi 的含义尚不明确。这个词的严格含义是“传授”，如在《钦定版圣经》译为“that form of doctrine which was delivered you”（“所传送给你们的教义的规范”）。见 TDNT, II, 见词条 παραδίδωμι 6 (Büchsel)。《修订标准译本》译为“the standard of teaching to which you were committed”（“所传给你们道理的模范”），《新英文译本》译为“the pattern of teaching to which you were made subject”（“所传给你们道理的模范”）（参：《罗马书》注释）。

COMMON.

In the OT “common” as opposed to “holy” is called Heb. hōl, as “common bread” (1 S. 21:4; NEB “ordinary bread”), i.e., other than the showbread or bread of the Presence; “common journey” (v. 5, AV “common manner”; NEB “ordinary campaign”), i.e., other than a military expedition, for which David and his men would have had to be consecrated; cf. also Lev. 10:10 (AV “unholy”; NEB “profane”); Ezk. 22:26 (AV “profane”); 42:20; 44:23 (AV, NEB, “profane”).

In Lev. 4:27 the “common people” (am hā’āreṣ, lit. “people of the land”) are distinguished from the rulers or men “of standing” (v. 22, NEB; Heb. nāsī’). Cemeteries for the common people (benē hā’ām) are mentioned in 2 K. 23:6 (AV “graves of the children of the people”; NEB “common burial-ground”) and Jer. 26:23.

The “common land” (Heb. migrāš, AV “suburbs”) mentioned in Lev. 25:34; 2 Ch. 11:14; 31:19 (elsewhere RSV “pasture land”; see PASTURE) is land around Palestinian towns used in

COMMON 俗的、寻常的、共同的

《旧约》中“common”(“俗的”)是“holy”(“圣的”)的反义词, 其希伯来语形式是 hōl, 如“common bread”(“普通的饼”, 撒上 21:4; 《新英文译本》译为“ordinary bread” [“寻常的饼”]), 也就是不同于陈设饼的饼; “common journey”(“寻常行路”, 撒上 21:5, 《钦定版圣经》译为“common manner”, 《新英文译本》译为“ordinary campaign”, 汉译均为“寻常行路”), 也是不同于军队远征路线的行程, 大卫和他的随从本不必为此洁净自己, 另参: 利 10:10 (《钦定版圣经》译为“unholy” [“不圣洁的”]); 《新英文译本》译为“profane” [“世俗的”]); 结 22:26 (《钦定版圣经》译为“profane” [“世俗的”]); 结 42:20; 44:23 (《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为“profane” [“俗的”])。

《利未记》4:27 中“common people”(“民众”) (am hā’āreṣ, 字面意思是“这块土地上的人民”)与“官长”或“领袖”不同 (《新英文译本》, 利 4:22, 希伯来语: nāsī’)。《列王纪下》23:6 和《耶利米书》26:23 中提到的平民 (benē hā’ām) 的坟 (《钦定版圣经》译为“graves of the children of the people”; 《新英文译本》译为“common burial-ground”, 汉译均为“平民的坟”)。

common by shepherds and herdsmen for grazing sheep and cattle.

The Hebrew expression “of a man” sometimes means “common,” as in the “common cubit” (‘iṣ) of Dt. 3:11; the “common characters” (‘enôš) of Isa. 8:1 (AV “a man’s pen”); or the “man of the common sort” (rōb ‘ādām) mentioned in Ezk. 23:42; see also Nu. 16:29, the “common death of all men,” and in the NT 1 Cor. 10:13 (Gk. anthrōpinos).

In the NT the usual word is Gk. koinós, or the verb koinōō, indicating what is public, general, universal, as contrasted with idios, what is peculiar, individual, not shared with others. Thus, “common faith” (Tit. 1:4) and “common salvation” (Jude 3) refer to that in which the experience of all Christians unites and is identical: “common,” because there is but one faith and one salvation (Eph. 4:4–6). From this comes the derived meaning of what is ordinary and, therefore, to be disesteemed, as contrasted with what pertains to a class, and is to be prized, because rare. This naturally coincides with OT exclusivism, particularity, and separation. Its religion was that of a separated people, with a separated class as its ministers, and with minute directions as to distinctions of meat, drink, times, places, rites, vessels, etc. Whatever was common or ordinary, it avoided (see DEFILE). The NT, on the other hand, with its universalism of scope and its spirituality of sphere, rose above all such externals. The salvation it brought was directed to the redemption of nature as well as of man, sanctifying the creature and pervading all parts of man's being and all relations of life. The antithesis is forcibly illustrated in Acts 10:14f., where Peter says: "I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean," and the reply is: "What God has cleansed, you must not call common."

“of a man” (人的) 的希伯来语表达形式有时表示“世俗的”，如《申命记》3:11 中提到的“人肘” (‘iṣ); 《以赛亚书》8:1 中提到的“常用的字” (‘enôš, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “a man’s pen” [“人所用的笔”]) 或《以西结书》23:42 中提到的“粗俗的人” (rōb ‘ādām); 另见《民数记》16:29 中提到的“死若与世人无异”和《新约》《哥林多前书》10:13 (希腊语: anthrōpinos)。

《新约》中常用希腊语 koinós 或动词 koinōō 表示“公共的、普通的、一般的”含义，而 idios 表示“特殊的、个别的、私人的”含义。因此，“共信之道” (多 1:4) 和“共享的救恩” (犹 1:3) 指的是所有的基督徒的经历联合在一起，完全“相同”，因为信仰只有一个，救赎只有一个 (弗 4:4–6)。从这里衍生出因普通而被轻视的含义，正好与出众和因稀有而被珍视的含义相对，这当然很符合《旧约》的排外主义、独特性和分离性。旧约宗教是一个被分别出来的民族的宗教，被分别出来的一个阶层作了这个宗教的牧师，并且有关于区分肉、饮品、时代、地点、礼仪、器皿等事物的详细规定。旧约宗教规避所有的世俗或普通之物 (见 DEFILE [玷污])。另一方面，《新约》超越了这些外部事物，并且有它的普世性和灵性。《新约》带来的救赎指向本性的救赎和人类的救赎，使世人成圣，充满人类的每个部分和所有生命关系。彼得在《使徒行传》10:14-15 中说：“主啊，这是不可的，凡俗物和不洁净的物我从来没有吃过”，而上帝回答道：“神所洁净的，你不可当作俗物”，这提供了有力的反证。

Other NT words include dēmósios in Acts 5:18, for the "common prison" into which the apostles were put (the NEB has "official custody," and F. F. Bruce, in loc., has "public ward"); and idiōtēs in 4:13, "common men," NEB "laymen." Peter and John, though without formal theological training, could argue intelligently before the Sanhedrin.

COMMON LIFE.

Though not occurring specifically in the OT or NT, this phrase (based on Gk. koínos and cognates) appears frequently throughout history as a summary designation of the unique relationships that obtain among Christians.

The common life is established by baptism (in the true sense of Gal. 3:27; cf. 1 Pet. 3:21), and expresses a very intimate two-dimensional relationship. Believers share together vertically in and with Christ (e.g., 1 Cor. 1:9; Eph. 2:19–22; He. 3:14; 1 Jn. 1:3), and this has implications for the horizontal relationship (e.g., Jn. 13:14; 1 Jn. 1:7). Union with Christ transcends all other distinctions and ineluctably creates a new kind of loving fellowship (Gal. 3:27–29).

其他的新约词汇还包括《使徒行传》5:18 中的 dēmósios (“外监”), 使徒就曾被收在“外监”中(《新英文译本》译为“official custody”[“外监”], F. F. Bruce, 见这一章, 译为“public ward”[“外监”]); 以及《使徒行传》4:13 中的 idiōtēs (“小民”), 《新英文译本》译为“laymen”[“小民”]。彼得和约翰虽都没受过正式的神学教育, 但他们可在犹太公会前机智地辩论。

COMMON LIFE. 共同的生命

尽管在《旧约》或《新约》中没有出现过这一短语, 但它的希腊语 koínos 和希腊语的同源词曾在历史中频繁出现, 作为基督徒之间独特关系的统称。

共同的生命通过洗礼建立起来(加 3:27 中给出了真正的意义, 参: 彼前 3:21), 并体现出亲密的双向关系。信徒联合在一起(纵向关联), 在基督里与祂一同得分(如: 林前 1:9; 弗 2:19–22; 来 3:14; 约壹 1:3), 这也暗示出一种横向关联(如: 约 13:14; 约壹 1:7)。与基督的联合超越了所有的分别, 必然创造出一种新的友爱的团契关系(加 3:27–29)。然而, 纵向关联源于横向关联, 后者展现了前者的活力(参: 约 13:12–13, 34; 腓 2:1–13)。

While the vertical originates the horizontal, the vitality of the former is demonstrated by the latter (cf. Jn. 13:12ff., 34; Phil. 2:1–13).

The common life's double dimension appears most dramatically when Paul argues for helping the poor saints in Jerusalem (Rom. 15:25–28; 1 Cor. 16:1f.; 2 Cor. 8f.). The sharing of spiritual blessings necessitates outward expression (Rom. 15:27). Giving materially is, for Paul, not “charity” but a practical and tangible demonstration of organic unity. The intended recipients are not “the poor,” but the Christian community in Jerusalem from which the gospel had been generated. Paul does not use Gk. logeia (the technical term for collecting money), but koinonia itself, when referring to the collection (RSV “contribution”) for Jerusalem (Rom. 15:26; 2 Cor. 9:13). Likewise, Paul's passionate plea for a money offering provides the imagery for one of his most eloquent descriptions of Christ (2 Cor. 8:9). This twofold relationship is also evident in another concrete manifestation of the common life, the Lord's Supper (e.g., 1 Cor. 10:17, and possibly 11:29).

当保罗在耶路撒冷帮助贫穷的圣徒时，共同的生命两个方面以最显著的方式展现了出来（罗 15:25–28；林前 16:1-2；林后 8-9）。既然他们在属灵的好处上有份，就当把养身之物供给他们（罗 15:27）。对保罗来说，给别人财物不是“施舍”，实际上是所有人构成有机整体的外在表现。接受财物者不是“穷人”，而是传播福音的耶路撒冷的基督团体。保罗没有使用希腊语 logeia（捐钱的专业术语），而是使用 koinonia（《修订标准译本》译为“contribution”[“捐项”]，罗 15:26；林后 9:13）。保罗鼓励慷慨捐助，这为他传神地描述基督提供了一个意象（林后 8:9）。另一个共同生命的具体体现（主的晚餐）中也表明了这种双重关系（如：林前 10:17，也可能是林前 11:29）。

COMMUNICATION. 说话、分享、交往

《钦定版圣经》中通常用 “communication” 表示说话 (撒下 3:17; 王下 9:11 [希伯来语: śî(a)h; 《修订标准译本》译为 “his talk” (“他说的话”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “the way his thoughts run” (“说什么”]); 太 5:37; 路 24:17; 弗 4:29), 但也用这个词翻译《腓立比书》1:6 中的希腊语 koinōnía (《修订标准译本》译为 “sharing” [“分享”]), 过去还用这个词翻译《哥林多前书》15:33 中的 homilia (《修订标准译本》译为 “company” [“朋友”])。

COMMUNION; FELLOWSHIP. 共享; 相交、相通、团契

这两个词表示信徒在共同的救赎经历中或在各种苦难、外在行动和救赎的益处中的相交。虽然《新约》中对这一观点表述的很清楚, 但《旧约》已经预表, 神的子民将以上帝之约的共同受益人的

adumbrated in the OT where the people of God share a common calling and inheritance as joint beneficiaries of the covenant made with them by God; they consequently share in the land and its fruits, in common worship and law, and are required on the one hand to share their material prosperity with their poor neighbors and on the other hand to abstain from common life with peoples outside the commonwealth of Israel (cf. Rom. 9:4f.). Some NT descriptions of “communion” clearly allude to this OT adumbration, e.g., Col. 1:12.

In the NT the fellowship of believers is chiefly designated by the Gk. verb koinōnéō and its cognate forms, but the verb metéchéō and merízō, with their cognate forms, are also important (the three nouns koinōnía, metoché, and merís occur in parallel in 2 Cor. 6:14f), together with a number of words having a syn-prefix, and a number of images (e.g., the body) expressing the idea of common participation. Even so, “fellowship” is by no means confined to passages where these words or images are employed (see C. H. Dodd, Johannine Epistles [MNTC, 1946], pp. 6ff.).

For koinōnía, Hauck (TDNT, III, 798) distinguishes three senses: “1. ‘participation,’ 2. ‘impartation,’ 3. ‘fellowship.’” For an analysis of “communion” along these lines, see NBD, s.v.

I. Acts 2:42.—Luke’s only use of the noun koinōnía (he does not use the verb) occurs in a passage of singular interest. The three thousand converts at Pentecost “devoted themselves to the apostles’

身份共同蒙召，共享继承权；因此，他们共享土地、地上的果子，共同敬拜和遵守律法，一方面要求他们要周济贫穷的邻舍，另一方面他们要远离以色列王国以外的世俗生活（参：罗 9:4-5）。《新约》对“共享”的一些描述显然暗指了《旧约》中的这种预表，如《歌罗西书》1:12。

在《新约》中，希腊语动词 koinōnéō 和它的同源词主要表示基督徒之间的相交，但动词 metéchéō 和 merízō 以及它们的同根词也很重要（《哥林多后书》6:14-15 的平行经文中使用了三个名词 koinōnía、metoché 和 merís），另外还有大量带有合成前缀的词语，以及大量表达共享含义的意象（如，身体）。即便如此，“fellowship”的含义绝不仅限于经文中这些词语或意象所表达的含义（见 C. H. Dodd, Johannine Epistles [MNTC, 1946], 6 页起）。

关于 koinōnía，郝克（Hauck）（TDNT, III, 798）区分出了三个不同的含义：“1、‘享有一份’，2、‘给予一份’，3、‘共有’”。关于“communion”一词的分析，见：NBD，见词条。

I. 《使徒行传》2:42。路加只在一个特别有趣的段落中使用了名词 koinōnía（而没有使用动词）。五旬节当天三千悔改的信徒“都恒心遵守使徒的教训，彼此交接、擘饼、祈祷”（“devoted teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers.” “Fellowship” here has its own definite article, and the phrase “to the fellowship” should stand as a separate object of “devoted themselves,” coordinate with “to the apostles’ teaching.” While the precise meaning here of “the fellowship” has been much discussed, it probably is at least close to being a term for the Jerusalem church seen as an “association.” The verb proskarteréō (“devote oneself”) generally means “attend regularly” or “actively engage in,” which suggests that “the fellowship” was a visible activity, not merely a sense of spiritual affinity. Thus the NEB renders: “they met constantly to hear the apostles teach, and to share the common life.” C. Anderson Scott suggested that hē koinōnia here represented the Aramaic term ḥ^abûrâ, which “was in current use to describe a group of companions or partners, sharers in a common life (e.g., students at a college),” and that its use may have gone back to the days when Jesus was still on earth, as a designation for His circle of disciples (Christianity According to St. Paul [1927], pp. 159f.).

However that may be (for a criticism, see R. N. Flew, Jesus and His Church [1938], pp. 111f.), the term koinōnia had recognized connotations in contemporary Hellenistic society. “Whatever the original Jerusalem group may have thought about the character of their society ..., the person who wrote up its affairs a generation later for the information of a Hellenistic public presented it in terms that could not fail to identify it as a religious association of the kind familiar to them” (E. A. Judge, Social Pattern of Christian Groups in the themselves to the apostles’ teaching and fellowship, to the breaking of bread and the prayers”)。这里的“Fellowship”前有定冠词，“to the fellowship”（“相接”）是“devoted themselves”（“恒信遵守”）的一个宾语，是与“to the apostles’ teaching”（“使徒的教训”）并列的词组。虽然“the fellowship”的确切还有待讨论，但是对于耶路撒冷教会来说，这个词至少与“association”（“联合”）意思相近。动词 proskarteréō（“devote oneself” [“恒心遵守”]）通常表示“定期参加”或“积极参与”，这表明“相接或团契”是一个看得见的活动，不仅仅表示心灵亲近的感觉。因此，《新英文译本》修订为“they met constantly to hear the apostles teach, and to share the common life”（“都恒心遵守使徒的教训，分享共同的生活”）。斯科特（C. Anderson Scott）认为，hē koinōnia 在这里相当于亚兰语 ḥ^abûrâ，“现在用这个词表示共同生活上的伙伴”（如：学校中的学生），这种用法可能要追溯到耶稣还在地上的日子，是对耶稣门徒的称呼（Christianity According to St. Paul [1927], 159-160 页）。

不论 koinōnia 的含义是什么（关于该词的考证，见 R. N. Flew, Jesus and His Church [1938], 111-112 页），这个词在当代希腊社会中有公认的含义。“不管怎样，最初的耶路撒冷团体可能已经想到了他们社团的特征...，后代人为希腊公众记录了这个社团的事情，并用一些希腊公众所熟悉的同类宗教社团的表达词语来表示这个社团”（E. A. Judge, Social Pattern of Christian Groups in the 1st cent. [1960], 45 页；另见 B. Reicke, Diakonie, Festfreude und Zelos in Verbindung mit Altchristlichen Agapenfeier [1951]）。但这并不意味着

1st cent. [1960], p. 45; see also B. Reicke, Diakonie, Festfreude und Zelos in Verbindung mit Altchristlichen Agapenfeier [1951]). This does not mean that hē koinōnía was a current title for the Christian Church, but rather that the group of Jerusalem believers had the character of a society whose most obvious feature was “association” in certain common activities. (Similarly, the term ekklēsia, which finally came to be a designation of Christians as a permanent society, was probably in the first place a description of the central function of believers, viz., “assembly.”) Luke apparently mean us to identify, as the activities involved in hē koinōnía, “the breaking of bread and the prayers,” as well as the community of goods which occurred when need arose (Acts 2:44f. and 4:32; in both cases note the use of the cognate adjective koiná, “all things in common”).

Although Acts 2:42 is describing the external rather than the internal character of the believers’ common life, this is perhaps the only place in the NT where koinōnía is used as a term for this COMMON LIFE in general. Elsewhere, koinōnía is used with reference either to the association of particular groups among believers (especially the association of Gentiles with Jews), or else to particular benefits that believers share in common.

II. Communion Between Particular Groups.—The most remarkable instance of “communion” in the NT is that which brought Jew and Gentile into common enjoyment of the same spiritual benefits (although the similar “communion” of male and female, bond and free, was hē koinōnía 是基督教会的通用名, 相反, 耶路撒冷信徒具有社团特征, 他们最明显的特征是“共同”参加某些活动。(通常, ekklēsia 一词最终成为了永恒社团基督徒的称谓, 这个词最初可能是对信徒[也就是会众]主要“职责”的描述)。路加显然告诉我们, “相接”就是“擘饼、祈祷”的活动, 也就是迫切需求出现时的凡物公用(徒 2:44-45, 4:32; 关注一下这两节经文中使用的同根形容词 koiná, “凡物公用”)。

虽然《使徒行传》2:42 描述了信徒共同生命的外部特征, 而没有描述其内部特征, 但是, 这可能是《新约》中唯一一次用 koinōnía 表示共同的生命(见 COMMON LIFE [共同的生命])。其他经文中, koinōnía 一词则表示信徒中某一“特殊的团体”(特别是外邦人和犹太人组成的团体), 或表示信徒共享“独特的益处”。

II. 特殊团体间的相交。《新约》中最值得注意的“相交”是犹太人和外邦人同得着属灵的好处(尽管类似的男人和女人的“相交”——捆绑与自由不太引人关注)。保罗说, 外邦人是共享人(synkoinōnós), 他们和犹太人一同得着橄榄根的肥汁(罗 11:17)。尤其是, (马 little less remarkable). The Gentile, says Paul, is joint shareholder (synkoinōnós) with Jews in the rich root of the olive tree (Rom. 11:17). More particularly, the gentile believers (of Macedonia and Greece) have come to share (koinōnéō) the spiritual benefits of the saints at Jerusalem (Rom. 15:27). The securing of this communion is a central benefit of the gospel (see esp. Eph. 2:11–21), though many problems were encountered in the attempt to give practical expression to fellowship at table and in other aspects of common life (Acts 15; Gal. 2; Rom. 14). The references to “common faith” (Tit. 1:4) and “our common salvation” (Jude 3) may well refer to the writers’ being Jews and their readers Gentiles (cf. 2 Pet. 1:1, “to those who have obtained a faith of equal standing with ours”; and Acts 15:9).

This koinōnía in spiritual things, for which the Jews must give and the Gentiles receive, leads in turn to a koinōnía in material goods, for which the Gentiles must give and the poor of the saints in Jerusalem receive (Rom. 12:13; 15:26; 2 Cor. 8:4; 9:13). A similar koinōnía, with reciprocal giving and receiving of both spiritual and material benefits, exists between “him who is taught the word” and “him who teaches” (Gal. 6:6). An extension of such fellowship is the support of an apostle in his further labors by a church that he has founded. Paul thanks the Philippians for such support (“partnership in the gospel,” Phil. 1:5), but regrets that other churches have not had fellowship with him in this way (Phil. 4:15). Although in contexts such as these koinōnía comes nearly to mean “give” or “receive” a share, Paul’s insistence on the principle of equality

其顿和希腊的) 外邦信徒与耶路撒冷的圣徒同得 (koinōnéō) 属灵的好处 (罗 15:27)。虽然在真正尝试桌上团契时和世俗生活的其他方面可能遇到很多问题 (徒 15; 加 2; 罗 14), 但是传播福音主要是为了保证所有人同得着益处 (尤其参考: 弗 2:11-21)。《新约》中提到的“共信之道”(多 1:4) 和“共同的救恩”(犹 1:3) 很可能说明了作者是犹太人, 而他们的读者是外邦人 (参: 彼后 1:1, “与我们同得一样宝贵信心的人”; 徒 15:9)。

属灵事物上的“共享”(Koinōnía) 导致物质财富上的“共享”, 犹太人必须拿出他们的属灵之物, 与外邦人共享, 而外邦人必须周济耶路撒冷贫穷的圣徒 (罗 12:13; 15:26; 林后 8:4; 9:13)。“受教的人”和“施教的人”之间也存在着类似的共享 (加 6:6), 双方都在属灵好处和物质利益的施与受中得到了益处。一个使徒在继续做工时得到他所建立教会的支持, 这是这种相交的延伸。保罗感谢腓立比人给他的支持 (腓 1:5 “同心合意地兴旺福音”), 也为其他教会的不予支持感到遗憾 (腓 4:15)。虽然在这些经文中, koinōnía 几乎等同于“施”和“受”, 但是保罗坚持均平 (isótiēs) 的原则, 这说明 koinōnía 的基本原则仍然是共同分享, 而不是偶然的施与受, 尽管偶然的施与受对于确保这种相交来说是有必要的。

(isótēs) of participation shows that the basic idea of koinōnía remains the common sharing, rather than the incidental giving or receiving that may be necessary to secure such fellowship (2 Cor. 8:14).

III. Communion in Christ and the Spirit.-In 1 Cor. 1:9ff. the common sharing of Christ is set over against a party spirit that absurdly implies that Christ is the peculiar possession of a segment of the Church. “ ‘I am of Christ.’ Has Christ been apportioned [i.e., given as the exclusive portion of one section]?” No, the whole people of God shares together in Christ, as the type in 1 Cor. 10:4 indicates. Cf. He. 3:14: “We share in Christ,” A corollary of this is the fellowship of believers in Christ’s sufferings (Phil. 3:10; 1 Pet. 4:13), although the koinōnía here is strictly a sharing in suffering by both Christ and the believers.

Likewise believers partake together of the Holy Spirit (He. 6:4). This is probably the meaning of “the fellowship of the Spirit” in Phil. 2:1 and 2 Cor. 13:14 (see NBD, loc. cit.). The corporate reception of the Spirit by believers (Gal. 3:2, 5; Acts 1:5; 2:4) is obviously related. Compare 1 Cor. 12:13 with 10:4 implying an identity between drinking of Christ and drinking of the Spirit. OT types and promises lie behind these ideas, as also behind the pictures of fellowship in “calling” and “inheritance” in He. 3:1 and Col. 1:12.

IV. Communion in the Body and Blood of Christ.-Any common meal is a form of koinōnía inasmuch as a number of persons share together in a reality

III. 基督里的相交和属灵的相交。在《哥林多前书》1:9起中，同领基督的思想与“基督为部分教会所独有”的荒诞派系思想形成了对照“‘我是属基督的’难道基督被分开了 [也就是说，难道基督只被赐予了一部分人？]”。显然不对，正如《哥林多前书》10:4所描述的，神的子民同领了基督。参：《希伯来书》3:14：“我们就在基督里有份了”。虽然在这里 koinōnía 的严格意义是基督和信徒一同受苦，但是由此得出的推论却是，信徒在基督的苦难里相交。

同样，信徒于圣灵有份（来6:4）。这可能就是《腓立比书》2:1和《哥林多后书》13:14中所说的“圣灵的感动”（见 NBD，出处同上）。这显然也与信徒受了圣灵有关（加3:2, 5；徒1:5；2:4）。比照《哥林多前书》12:13和10:4的经文，我们可以从中看出“饮于一位圣灵”和“喝了基督的灵水”含义相同。旧约的预表和应许隐藏在这些观念的背后，也隐藏在《希伯来书》3:1和《歌罗西书》1:12的“同蒙天召”和“同得基业”的背后。

IV. 同领基督的身体和血。任何共享的餐都是“共享”(koinōnía)的一种形式，因为很多人共同经历了他们之外的现实。当一顿餐与宗教对象联系在一起时，这 external to them all. Where a meal is associated with a religious object, there is inevitably a deeper koinōnia in the object that the meal represents. When Israelites joined together in a sacrificial meal, they were really united in the altar whence the meal came and whence it derived its meaning. Likewise, those who joined in feasts in idol temples were actually united in the idols, or rather in the demons that were the reality beyond the idols. So, argues Paul in 1 Cor. 10:14ff., those who sit and partake together of the cup of blessing and of the broken bread in Christian assembly must know that they are associated together in the blood of Christ and in the body of Christ, i.e., in Christ crucified, since the whole purpose of eating the bread and drinking the cup is to remember Christ in relation to His death (11:23–26). Thus, while Paul does not actually designate the Lord's supper by the title of "communion," he asserts that to share together in it is a fellowship or communion with one another in the death of Christ. It weakens the force of this passage to restrict the meaning of koinōnia in 1 Cor. 10:16 to "partaking" merely; the full sense of "communion" is intended. There is an objective reality, the death of Christ; and the unity of believers springs from their all being joined together in that death.

V. 1 John 1:1–7.— "Fellowship" has two aspects here: first, the sharing in divine revelation by the apostles and those whom he addresses, as a result of apostolic testimony (v. 3a; cf. II above); second, an advanced fellowship stated explicitly only here in the NT: "Our fellowship is with the Father." The idea of a common life with the Father is

V. 《约翰一书》1:1–7。“Fellowship”在这里有两层含义:其一,使徒和约翰去信的人在使徒的见证下共享上帝的启示(1:3a; 参:上文 II);其二,《新约》中只有这卷书明确提到了高级的相交:“我们乃是与父相交的”。与父相交的思想是非常引人关注的,但是这种思想尚不成熟(参:彼后 1:4)。约翰之所以这样说,可能是因为他认为“光”是连接 striking, but it is not developed (cf. 2 Pet. 1:4). Possibly John speaks this way because he considers “light” to be the bond of unity between the Father and believers. Our fellowship with Him (and consequently with each other) depends on our walking “in the light” as He is “in the light.”

COMMUNITY OF GOODS.

In Acts 2:44 it is said that in the infant church at Jerusalem “all who believed were together and had all things in common” (Gk. eíchon hápanta koiná), and (4:34f.) “as many as were possessors of lands or houses sold them, and brought the proceeds of what was sold and laid it at the apostles’ feet.” The inference from this, that there was an absolute disposal of all the property of all the members of the church, and that its proceeds were contributed to a common fund, has been disputed upon the ground that the example of Barnabas in selling “a field” for this purpose (4:37) would not have been mentioned if this had been the universal rule. The thought conveyed is that all believers in that church held their property as a trust from the Lord, for the benefit of the entire brotherhood, and, as there was need, did as Barnabas.

No commandment of which record has been preserved prescribed any such course. It came from the spontaneous impulse of the sense of brotherhood in Christ, when the band of disciples was still small, making them in a sense one family, and under the external constraint of extreme want and persecution. Under such conditions they had so much in common already that they were ready to extend this to all things. It was, in a sense, a continuance of the practice of a common purse in the band of Jesus' immediate followers during His ministry. The penalty inflicted on Ananias and Sapphira was not for any failure to comply fully with this custom, but because the freedom of ownership which was theirs (Acts 5:4) they falsely claimed to have renounced, thus receiving in the estimation of their brethren a credit that was not their due.

COMMUNITY OF GOODS. 凡物公用

《使徒行传》2:44 和 4:34-35 中提到，在耶路撒冷的早期教会中，“信的人都在一处，凡物公用”（希腊语：eíchon hápanta koiná），“因为人人将田产房屋都卖了，把所卖的价银拿来，放在使徒脚前”。有人据此推测，教会中所有基督徒的全部财产完全交由使徒处置，教会用价银组成了公共基金，但是如果这是普遍原则，那么经文中就不会提及巴拿巴卖了“田地”并将价银拿来放在使徒脚前这件事（徒 4:37）了，因此，这种推论是存在争议的。这里想表达的是，教会中的所有信徒都像巴拿巴一样，将他们的财产交由上帝的委托人代管，从而使所有主内的弟兄得着益处，使他们没有缺乏。

诫命中没有关于凡物公用的诫命。凡物公用是门徒数量尚少时、受到极度匮乏和迫害的外部限制时主内兄弟情谊自然

This custom did not last long. It was possible only within a limited circle, and under very peculiar circumstances. Specialized revivals of it may be seen in monasticism and in various Christian communities such as the Hutterites.

凡物公用的习俗没有持续很久。可能只有在有限的圈子内和特殊的环境下才能推行凡物公用。修道院和众多基督教社团（如哈特派信徒）专门复兴了这一习俗。

COMPANY 结伴、众人

【希伯来语：‘ēdā, qāhāl, šābā’, m^ahaneh, rōš, sōd 和 hebrā (伯 34:8), lah^aqā (撒上 19:20), ‘aseret (耶 9:2), šip‘á (王下 9:17), 动词 hēleq (“一同有份”，诗 50:18), rā‘á (“结交”，箴 29:3), zā‘aq (“聚集许多人”，士 18:23), 还译为 “companies which gave thanks” (“称谢的人”) (tôdôt, 尼 12:31, 40, 单数形式, 尼 12:38), 参：《诗篇》78:49; 希腊语：sympósion (可 6:39), klisia (路 9:14), synodía (路 2:44), óchlos (路 5:29; 徒 1:15), pléthos (路 23:1; 徒 4:32; 14:1), hikanós(óchlos) (徒 11:24; 26; 19:26), homilia (林前 15:33), hoi peri ... (徒 13:13), (ex) hēmōn (路 24:22), hymōn (罗 15:24), hymn (罗 15:32)】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 ARMY (“军兵”)、HOST (“军队”)、ASSEMBLY (“会众”)、MULTITUDE (“群众”)、CONGREGATION (“会众”)、BAND (“敌军”)、DROVE (“群”，创 33:8)、“be partaker” (“与……同伙”，诗 50:18)、MUCH (PEOPLE) (“一群人”)、NUMBER (“许多”，徒 1:15)、COMMUNICATIONS (“结交”，林前 15:33) 等；《新英文译本》还译为 HOST (“军队”)、TRIBAL HOST (šābā’，“族

“common cause” (30:18), MOB (Jer. 9:2), GANG (15:17), GROUP (Mk. 6:39; Lk. 9:14), ASSEMBLY (Lk. 23:1), BODY (Acts 4:32; 14:1), NUMBERS (11:24, 26), COMPANIONS (13:13), CROWDS (19:26).

The “companies” (šēbā’ōt) of Nu. 1:3, 52; 2:3, 9f.; 10:14; etc. are military units into which the tribes were grouped, when they were numbered and also when they left Mt. Sinai. In general šābā’ indicates an army, a host of warriors.

《民数记》1:3, 52; 2:3, 9-10; 10:14 等章节中提到的“companies” (“军队”，šēbā’ōt) 指的是统计各族人口时和离开西奈山时由各族组成的军队。šābā’ 通常表示军队、勇士队伍。

Other important OT words are maḥ^aneh, normally an encampment, but occasionally extended to mean “group” in general, as in Gen. 32:7-10; 50:9 (Jacob’s funeral party); 2 K. 5:15; qāhāl, a “gathering” of peoples (Gen. 28:3; 35:11; 48:4; 49:6; Ps. 26:5; Jer. 31:8; 50:9; Ezk. 17:17; 27:27; 32:22f.; 38:4), usually indicating large numbers; ‘ēdā, a group with common purpose or relation (Nu. 16:5ff.; 26:9f.; 27:3; Job 15:34; 16:7; Ps. 22:16; 106:17f.), most often translated CONGREGATION; and rōš, “head,” a small military unit (Jgs. 7:16, 20; 9:34ff.; 1 S. 11:11; 13:17f.; Job 1:17).

其他重要的旧约词语还有 maḥ^aneh, 这个词通常指的是一个营地，但偶尔也表示“一队人”，如《创世记》32:7-10; 50:9 (雅各的葬礼队伍); 《列王纪下》5:15; qāhāl 意为“多国的民” (创 28:3; 35:11; 48:4; 49:6; 诗 26:5; 耶 31:8; 50:9; 结 17:17; 27:27; 32:22-23; 38:4), 通常表示很多人; ‘ēdā 指的是有共同目的的人或同族人 (民 16:5 起; 26:9-10; 27:3; 伯 15:34; 16:7; 诗 22:16; 106:17-18), 通常译为 CONGREGATION (见 CONGREGATION [聚会者、会众、会众席、会众位]); rōš 意为“首领”，一个小的军队单位 (士 7:16, 20; 9:34 起; 撒上 11:11; 13:17-18; 伯 1:17)。

In Mark’s account of the miraculous feeding of the five thousand, he says Jesus commanded the people to sit down sympósia sympósia (6:39), and that they sat down prasiaí prasiaí (lit. “garden beds,” v. 40), group by group, “by hundreds and by fifties.” In Luke’s parallel account they are told to sit down in klisíai of “about fifty each” (9:14). The Gk. sympósiōn normally meant “banquet,” and klisía means “people reclining” as at a banquet; here they refer to the less formal groups of people eating on the grass beside the Sea of Galilee. This grouping may have been for efficient distribution of the food, and possibly also to promote more intimate fellowship. Or could there lie behind this division into groups a cultural revulsion to eating in a disordered throng?

In Lk. 2:44 occurs the Gk. synodía, referring to the group returning from the Passover. This must have been a large caravan, for they had gone a day’s journey before Jesus’ parents realized that their son had remained in Jerusalem.

Paul warns against “bad company” in 1 Cor. 15:33, using Gk. homiliai, “associations.”

Large crowds or gatherings of people are designated also in the NT by óchlos, pléthos, and hikanós (“sufficient”).

COMPASS

[Heb. m^ehûgâ, sābab]; NEB also “make the circuit” (sābab). The term “compass” occurs only twice in the RSV; in Isa. 44:13 the noun m^ehûgâ describes a pair of compasses (NEB “callipers”) used in woodwork. The term sābab, often rendered “compass” or “fetch a compass” by the AV, is rendered “compass” in the obsolete sense of this term only once by the RSV, in Josh. 6:11,

“有一百一排的，有五十一排的”。《路加福音》9:14中提到耶稣叫他们一排一排(klisíai)地坐下，“每排大约五十人”。希腊语 sympósiōn 通常意为“筵席”，klisía 意为“赴宴的人”，这里指的是在加利利海边的草地上一同吃饭的一群人。分组可使食物有效地分配给各人，也可能增进彼此间的关系。或者，分组吃饭可能是为了扭转众人混乱就餐的陋习？

《路加福音》2:44中出现的希腊语 synodía 指的是从逾越节筵席中返回的一群人。这应该比较大的同行队伍，因为耶稣的肉身父母意识到他们的儿子仍在耶路撒冷之前，他们已经走了一天的路。

保罗在《哥林多前书》15:33中警告信徒不可“滥交”时用到了希腊语 homiliai (意为“联系”)。

在《新约》中，óchlos、pléthos 和 hikanós (“足够的”)表示很多人或众人。

Both rāḥam and splanchnizomai are examples of the physical origin of spiritual terms, the bowels being regarded as the seat of the warm, tender emotions or feelings. But, while rāḥam applied to the lower viscera as well as the higher, splanchnon denoted chiefly the higher viscera, the heart, lungs, liver.

Compassion, literally a feeling with and for others, is a fundamental and distinctive quality of the biblical conception of God, and to its prominence the world owes more than words can express. Along with it goes mercy, which in the OT translates much the same vocabulary. (1) It lay at the foundation of Israel's faith in Yahweh. For it was out of His compassion that He, by a marvelous act of power, delivered them from bondage and called them to be His own people. Nothing, therefore, is more prominent in the OT than the ascription of compassion, pity, mercy, etc., to God; the people may be said to have gloried in it. It is summed up in such sayings as that of the great declaration in Ex. 34:6 (NEB): “The Lord ... compassionate and gracious” (cf. Ps. 78:38). And, because this was the character of their God, the prophets declared that compassion or kindness was an essential requirement of rāḥam 和 splanchnizomai 是发出心灵感受的身体器官,内脏被认为是热心、怜悯或情感的寄所。但 rāḥam 既可以表示身体下部内脏,也可以表示身体上部内脏,splanchnon 主要表示身体上部内脏,如心脏、肺、肝脏。

怜悯(字面意思是对他人的情感)是《圣经》中上帝的一个基本且独特的属性,这个世界都感激上帝的难以用言语表达的怜悯。除了怜悯之外,还有仁慈,《旧约》用这两个词翻译几乎相同的词语。(1)“怜悯”是以色列信靠耶和華的基础。因为耶和華正是出于祂的怜悯心才藉着神迹解除了以色列人的捆绑,恩召他们作神的子民。《旧约》中没有比赞美上帝的怜悯、慈悲的话更为重要的;神的子民因神的怜悯得着荣耀。《出埃及记》34:6(《新英文译本》)中的话语做出了总结:“有怜悯、有恩典的神”(参:诗 78:38)。由于怜悯是上帝的属性,先知们说怜悯是对每位信徒的基本要求(弥 6:8;参:箴 19:17)。(2)怜悯心是耶稣基督的一个显著特征,上帝在基督里“道成肉身”(太 9:36; 14:14 等),基督教导门徒,不仅要爱朋友和邻舍,甚至还要爱他们的仇敌(太 5:43-48;路 10:30-37)。

members of the community (Mic. 6:8; cf. Prov. 19:17). (2) In Jesus Christ, in whom God was “manifest in the flesh,” compassion was an outstanding feature (Mt. 9:36; 14:14; etc.), and He taught that it ought to be extended, not to friends and neighbors only, but to all without exception, even to enemies (Mt. 5:43–48; Lk. 10:30–37).

The God of the NT, the Father of men, is most clearly revealed as “a God full of compassion.” His compassion extends to the whole human race, for which He effected not merely a temporal, but a spiritual and eternal deliverance, giving up His own Son to the death of the cross in order to save us from the worst bondage of sin with its consequences; seeking thereby to gain a new, wider people for Himself, still more devoted, more filled with and expressive of His own Spirit. Therefore all who know the God and Father of Christ, and who call themselves His children, must necessarily cultivate compassion and show mercy, “even as he is merciful.” Hence the many apostolic injunctions to that effect (Eph. 4:32; Col. 3:12; Jas. 1:27; 1 Jn. 3:17; etc.). Christianity may be said to be distinctively the religion of compassion.

COMPEL.

In the AV “compel” does not always have the strong significance it has today; cf. 1 S. 28:23 (Heb. pāraṣ), where the RSV replaces it with “urge,” and Acts 26:11, where AV “compelled” (Gk. ēnánkazon)

《新约》中的上帝和圣父显然被描绘成“有怜悯的神”。祂怜悯所有人，上帝的救赎不是暂时的，而是永恒的属灵救赎，为了救我们脱离罪的桎梏和苦果，祂将祂的独生子赐给我们，并让祂钉死在十字架上；因此，上帝赐予新生命，拣选更多的人，让他们更加虔诚，更加被祂的灵充满，并彰显祂的灵。因此，那些认识上帝和基督的父的人，以及那些称自己为神的儿女的人必须有怜悯之心和慈悲心，“如祂一样慈悲”。因此很多使徒要求基督徒存怜悯的心（弗 4:32；西 3:12；雅 1:27；约壹 3:17 等）。基督教可以说成是有怜悯的宗教，这是这种宗教的与众不同之处。

在《钦定版圣经》中，“compel”并不总是像如今的用法带有强烈的色彩；参：《撒母耳记上》28:23（希伯来语 pāraṣ），《修订标准译本》译为“urge”（“劝”），以及《使徒行传》26:11，《钦定版圣经》

is in the RSV “tried to make” (so also NEB), and perhaps 2 Ch. 21:11; Lk. 14:23. See also COURIER.

COMPETE

[Heb. hithpael of hārâ] (Jer. 12:5; 22:15); AV CONTEND, CLOSE; NEB VIE, “be more splendid”; [Gk. tréchō—‘run’] (1 Cor. 9:24); AV, NEB, RUN; [athléō] (2 Tim. 2:5); AV STRIVE. Competition is used figuratively by Jeremiah to warn Israel and by Paul to characterize the life of a Christian.

COMPILE.

The RSV rendering of the rather rare Gk. anatáxasthai in Lk. 1:1. Other possible renderings are “arrange,” “set in order,” “draw up.” Luke is referring to various narratives which had been produced prior to his own attempt at Gospel writing. These were based on the reports of those who were eyewitnesses of Jesus’ ministry. With the rise of numerous congregation in Palestine and beyond, such compilations were needed for instructing the saints concerning the words and deeds of Jesus. Luke’s use of “narrative” is not congenial to the form-critical notion that the Gospels were pieced together from small, detached fragments of information.

COMPLACENCE

[Heb. šalwâ-‘ease’] (Prov. 1:32); AV

译为“compelled” (“追逼”，希腊语 ēnánkazon)，《修订标准译本》译为“tried to make” (“强逼”) (另见《新英文译本》)，或许还可以参考《历代志下》21:11和《路加福音》14:23。另见 COURIER (信使)。

COMPETE 竞争、追赶、争胜

【希伯来语：hārâ 的加强反身干】(耶 12:5；22:15)；《钦定版圣经》译为 CONTEND (“竞争”)、CLOSE (“争胜”)；《新英文译本》译为 VIE (“竞争”)、“be more splendid” (“更华丽”)；【希腊语：tréchō——“赛跑”】(林前 9:24)；《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 RUN (“赛跑”)；【athléō】(提后 2:5)；《钦定版圣经》译为 STRIVE (“竞赛”)。耶利米使用竞争的比喻义来警告以色列，而保罗使用竞争的比喻义来描述基督徒的生活。

COMPILE. 编著成书

《修订标准译本》将《路加福音》1:1 中罕见希腊语 anatáxasthai 译为 “compile” (“编著成书”)。其他翻译还可能包括 “arrange” (“筹备”)、“set in order” (“整理”)、“draw up” (“拟定”)。路加提到了很多故事，这些故事在他编写《路加福音》之前就已经存在。这些故事依据耶稣传道的见证人的描述编写而成。随着巴勒斯坦及其之外地区出现了很多会众，因此为了教导圣徒，需要将耶稣的话语和行为编著成书。路加的“叙述”并不符合形式批判观点，形式批判观点认为福音书是由小故事或故事残拼凑而成。

COMPLACENCE 安逸、无虑

【希伯来语：šalwâ——“安逸”】(箴

PROSPERITY; COMPLACENT [bōt̄hōt̄—‘careless’] (Isa. 32:9–11); AV CARELESS; NEB “that live at ease,” “who have no cares.” The ease of unrighteousness in the face of God’s judgment is mere complacency before destruction. The peace that issues from obedience to His will is “quietness and trust forever.”

COMPLAIN; COMPLAINT

[Heb. śī(a)h, rīb (Jgs. 21:22; Job 31:13; Jer. 2:29; 12:1), ‘ānan (Nu. 11:1; Lam. 3:39), yākāh (Gen. 21:25), tōkāhāt (Hab. 2:1); Aram. šēkah (Dnl. 6:4f.) Gk. momphe (Col. 3:13), lógos (Acts 19:38), légō (Phil. 4:11)]; AV also REPROVE (Gen. 21:25; Hab. 2:1), PLEAD (Jer. 2:29; 12:1), PRAY (Ps. 55:17), PRAYER (Ps. 64:1), CONTEND (Job 31:13), BABBLINGS (Prov. 23:29), SPEAK (Phil. 4:11), MATTER (Acts 19:38), QUARREL (Col. 3:13), etc.; NEB also GRIEF (Job 9:27; 10:1), THOUGHTS (Job 21:4; 23:2), ANXIETY (Prov. 23:29), LAMENT (Ps. 64:1), DISPUTE (Jer. 12:1), CHALLENGE (Hab. 2:1), ARGUE (Jer. 2:29), WOES (Ps. 55:17), CASE (Acts 19:38), “alluding to” (Phil. 4:11), etc.

To complain is to express one’s pain, grief, or discontent. Job complains to Yahweh about his suffering (Job 7:11) even to the point of loathing his own life (10:1). The Israelites murmur in the wilderness and complain to Yahweh of their misfortunes (Nu. 11:1). The psalmist brings his complaint before Yahweh in the temple and is confident that Yahweh will hear him and save him from his trouble (Ps. 55:16f.; 142:2, 6f.).

【希伯来语：śī(a)h, rīb (士 21:22; 伯 31:13; 耶 2:29; 12:1), ‘ānan (民 11:1; 哀 3:39), yākāh (创 21:25), tōkāhāt (哈 2:1); 亚兰语：šēkah (但 6:4–5), 希腊语：momphe (西 3:13), lógos (徒 19:38), légō (腓 4:11)】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 REPROVE (“指责”，创 21:25；哈 2:1)、PLEAD (“争辩”，耶 2:29；12:1)、PRAY (“祷告”，诗 55:17)、PRAYER (“祷告”，诗 64:1)、CONTEND (“争辩”，伯 31:13)、BABBLINGS (“哀叹”，箴 23:29)、SPEAK (“说”，腓 4:11)、MATTER (“控告”，徒 19:38)、QUARREL (“嫌隙”，西 3:13)等；《新英文译本》还译为 GRIEF (“哀情”，伯 9:27；10:1)、THOUGHTS (“诉冤”，伯 21:4；23:2)、ANXIETY (“哀叹”，箴 23:29)、LAMENT (“哀叹”，诗 64:1)、DISPUTE (“争辩”，耶 12:1)、CHALLENGE (“诉冤”，哈 2:1)、ARGUE (“争辩”，耶 2:29)、WOES (“哀声”，诗 55:17)、CASE (“控告”，徒 19:38)、“alluding to” (“暗指”，腓 4:11)等。

控诉是为了表达痛苦、悲伤或不满。约伯向耶和华吐露哀情(伯 7:11)，乃至厌烦他的性命(伯 10:1)。以色列人在荒野中低声抱怨，他们的恶语达到耶和华的耳中(民 11:1)。诗篇作者在圣殿中求告耶和华，并确信耶和华必垂听他的声音，

One also makes a complaint when his legal rights have been violated (Acts 19:38; Job 31:13). Abraham complains to Abimelech when Abimelech's servants seize his well (Gen. 21:25). Israel (Jer. 2:29) and the prophet (12:1) make a case before Yahweh when they are convinced of unjust treatment.

In the AV “comprehend” has certain archaic uses. In Isa. 40:12 it translates Heb. kūl, which means as in the RSV

必会拯救他摆脱困境（诗 55:16-17; 142:2, 6-7）。

当一个人的合法权益受到侵犯时，他可以发出控告（徒 19:38; 伯 31:13）。因亚比米勒的仆人霸占了一口水井，亚伯拉罕为这事指责亚比米勒（创 21:25）。当以色列人（耶 2:29）和先知们（耶 12:1）受到不公正的对待时，他们向耶和华吐露苦情。

COMPOSITION 调和之法

【希伯来语：matkōmet——“方法”】；《新英文译本》译为 PRESCRIPTION（“配置的分量”）、COMPOUND（“调和”）【希伯来语：rāqah——“作香”】。这些词语用于描述圣膏油（出 30:25, 32-33）和圣香（出 30:37-38），属于宗教术语。

COMPREHEND 测透、明透、明白、知道

【希伯来语：yāda‘（伯 37:5），bīn（伯 38:18），šāmē(a)‘（赛 33:19）；希腊语：ginōskō（林前 2:11），katalambánō（弗 3:18）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 PERCEIVE（“理会”）、KNOW（“知道”）；《新英文译本》还译为 “(that pass our) knowledge”（“测透”，伯 37:5）、CATCH（“懂得”，赛 33:19）、KNOW（“知道”）、GRASP（“晓得”）。见 KNOW（知道）。

《钦定版圣经》中“comprehend”一词有一些过时用法。“comprehend”用来翻译《以赛亚书》40:12 中的希伯来语 kūl, “enclose” (NEB “hold”). In the NT it is used for Gk. anakephalaiōō (Rom. 13:9), meaning “sum up” (RSV, NEB) under one head. And in Jn. 1:5 it translates katalambánō, “the darkness comprehended it not.” The RSV reads “the darkness has not overcome it.” NEB “has never mastered it.” See OVERCOME.

CONANIAH 歌楠雅

音译：kon-ə-nīə【希伯来语：kōnanyāhū——“耶和华已经建立”或“耶和华保守的”】。

1、《钦定版圣经》译为 CONONIAH（“歌楠雅”）。一个利未人，与其弟示每同受希西家和圣殿祭司亚撒利雅的委派，掌管祭品、什一税和供献的物品（代下 tithes and the dedicated things (2 Ch. 31:12-13).

31:12f.).

2. One of the chiefs of the Levites mentioned in connection with the Passover celebration in Josiah's reign (2 Ch. 35:9).

CONCEAL.

The Bible is God's revelation, and He is a God who reveals Himself, through Christ; yet, "It is the glory of God to conceal things" (Prov. 25:2), and His hiddenness is proclaimed in such passages as Ps. 97:2; 1 Tim. 6:16. Moreover, on the other side of Jesus' apokálypsis (revelation) was the element of parákalypsis (concealment), as in Lk. 9:45, "it was concealed from them, that they should not perceive it," and Mk. 4:12, "so that they may indeed see but not perceive, and may indeed hear but not understand." See PARABLE; MYSTERY, HIDE.

CONCEIT.

The phrase "wise in his own conceit" occurs in the AV at Prov. 26:5, 12, 16; 28:11, where the RSV translates more literally, "wise in his own eyes" (Heb. 'ayin), and in Rom. 11:25; 12:16. The RSV retains it only at Rom. 11:25 ("wise in your own conceits," Gk. heautoís phrónimoi), translating the similar phrase at 12:16 "conceited." But in Job 37:24, where the AV has "wise of heart," the RSV renders "wise in their own conceit" (Heb. lēb).

2、利未人的一个族长，在约西亚时期的逾越节盛典中提到了这个人（代下 35:9）。

CONCEAL. 隐藏、隐秘

《圣经》是上帝的启示，上帝是藉着基督自我启示的神；然而，“将事隐秘，乃神的荣耀”（箴 25:2），《诗篇》97:2 和《提摩太前书》6:16 等经文中提到了上帝的隐秘性。此外，基督的启示（apokálypsis）是上帝的隐秘性（parákalypsis）的一部分，如《路加福音》9:45 中所说：“意思乃是隐藏的，叫他们不能明白”，以及《马可福音》4:12 中所说：“叫他们看是看见，却不晓得；听是听见，却不明白”。见 PARABLE（寓言、比喻）；MYSTERY（奥秘），HIDE（隐瞒）。

CONCEIT. 自以为是、自负

“wise in his own conceit”（“自以为有智慧”）这个短语出现在《钦定版圣经》的《箴言》26:5, 12, 16 和 28:11 中，《修订标准译本》采取了直译，“wise in his own eyes”（“自以为聪明”）（希伯来语 'ayin），《罗马书》11:25; 12:16 中也出现了这个词组。《修订标准译本》仅在《罗马书》11:25 中保留了这个短语（“wise in your own conceits” [“自以为聪明”]，希腊语：heautoís phrónimoi），而在《罗马书》12:16 中将类似的短语译为“conceited”（“自以为是的”）。但在《约伯记》37:24 中，《钦定版圣经》译为“wise of heart”（“自以为心中有智慧”），《修订标准译本》译为“wise in their own conceit”（“自以为心中有智慧”）（希伯来语 lēb）。

Other words for “conceit” are Gk. physiōseis (2 Cor. 12:20, AV “swellings”; NEB “arrogance”), kenodoxía (Phil. 2:3, AV “vainglory”; NEB “personnal vanity”), and typhóomai, “puffed up with conceit” (1 Tim. 3:6, AV “lifted up with pride”; 6:4, AV “proud”; NEB “pompous”), “swollen with conceit” (2 Tim. 3:4, AV “highminded”; NEB “swollen with self-importance”).

CONCESSION

[Gk. syngnómē] (1 Cor. 7:6); AV PERMISSION. The Greek term is used only once in the NT and rarely in the LXX. Both the RSV and the NEB have “by way of concession.” Edwards convincingly argues against “pardon” as a possible translation for this word since it is not antithetical to “command.” Another common translation, “by permission” (AV), is ruled out by Robertson and Plummer on the ground that it is ambiguous. Commentators (e.g., Robertson and Plummer, Edwards, Grosheide) generally agree on “concession” as the best translation.

There has been much dispute over what is being conceded. Barnes thinks Paul

其他表示“自负”的希腊语有 physiōseis (林后 12:20, 《钦定版圣经》译为“swellings”[“膨胀”];《新英文译本》译为“arrogance”[“自大”])、kenodoxía (腓 2:3,《钦定版圣经》译为“vainglory”[“自负”];《新英文译本》译为“personnal vanity”[“自大”])和 typhóomai, “自高自大”(提前 3:6,《钦定版圣经》译为“lifted up with pride”[“自高自大”];提前 6:4,《钦定版圣经》译为“proud”[“心高气傲”]《新英文译本》译为“swollen with self-importance”[“自高自大”])。

CONCESSION 允准、特许、容许

对于容许的内容, 目前注释者们还存在争议。巴尔内斯 (Barnes) 认为保罗指

refers to v. 5. Rosenmüller says it speaks of what follows. However, the stronger arguments are advanced by who hold that it refers to “all the Apostle has said on the subject of marriage” (Edwards), or “to the leading direction given in ver. 2, from which vv. 3–5 digressed” (Findlay). Paul is telling the Corinthians that under certain circumstances they should marry, but God has given no command that they must do so.

CONCORDANCES.

A biblical concordance is an alphabetically arranged list of words from the text of the Bible. After each word the book, chapter, and verse in which that particular word occurs is given. Each reference generally includes a context of several words. F. W. Danker writes, “In a lexicon a word is like a friend in a coffin. A concordance restores him to life.”

的是《哥林多前书》7:5 中的内容。罗森茂勒 (Rosenmüller) 认为保罗指的是《哥林多前书》7:6 之后的内容。有些注释者提出了更充分的论点，他们认为这里指的是“所有的使徒都讨论过婚姻这个主题” (Edwards)，或者指的是“《哥林多前书》7:2 中的主题，而《哥林多前书》7:3-5 偏离了这个主题” (Findlay)。保罗教导哥林多人结婚要视情况而定，但上帝没有命令信徒必须要结婚。

CONCORDANCES. 经文汇编

《圣经》中的经文汇编是按照字母顺序排列的经文词语表。在每个词语的后面，给出了出现该词的相应的卷章节。每条索引通常都包含了多个词语的语境。丹克 (F. W. Danker) 曾写到: “在一部词典中，每个词语就像在棺材里的一个朋友。经文汇编使他活了过来”。

There are three principal uses for a concordance: (1) a text can be located by looking under words known to occur in the passage; (2) similar content in other passages can be located by checking every occurrence of a particular word; (3) various shades of meaning of a word can be determined by checking its use in other contexts. For the latter two uses especially, it is very helpful for a concordance to provide a sufficient context in order to illustrate well the word under consideration. It can do this by showing the word in its grammatical construction and the words with which it is normally associated. Another use similar to (2) is for study of particular phrases, not simply single words.

The oldest known concordance was based on the work of Cardinal Hugo of St. Caro, who, with the help of hundreds of Dominican monks at St. James Convent in Paris, completed a word-index of the Vulgate in the year 1230. In 1250–1252 other Dominicans added contexts for each word, thereby making this relatively short work a real concordance. Of the concordances to the Bible that have been compiled since then, three basic kinds are pertinent to the English reader: original-language concordances, bilingual concordances, and concordances to English translations. In addition, several miscellaneous types of concordances will be briefly discussed.

I. Original-Language Concordances.—The first concordance to the Hebrew OT was produced by Rabbi Isaac Nathan in the year 1448. It was not published, however, until 1523 in Venice. There has been much work on the 经文汇编的三个主要用途：(1) 可以根据一个词语的原文编号找到这个词的原文；(2) 通过查询某个词所处所在的经文，可以确定其他经文中的相似内容；(3) 通过查询一个词在其他语境中的用法，可以确定这个词的许多隐含意义。尤其是最后两个用途，经文汇编有助于提供充足的语境，以便于充分地解释某个词语。通过给出这个词的语法结构和通常与之搭配使用的词语，就能充分地解释这个词。另一个用途与第二个用途相似，这个用途是为了研究某个短语，而不单单是为了研究某个词语。

已知的最古老的经文汇编以圣卡罗红衣主教雨果的作品为蓝本，雨果于 1230 年在巴黎的圣雅各修道院的上百名黑方济会修士的帮助下完成了《武加大译本》的字汇索引。1250 至 1252 年间，其他的黑方济会修士为每个词语添加了经文出处，从而使这部相对较短的作品变成了一部真正的经文汇编。从那时起编辑成书的所有圣经经文汇编中，有三类基础的经文汇编适于英语读者阅读：原文经文汇编，双语经文汇编和英语原文汇编。

I. 原文经文汇编。第一部希伯来语《旧约》经文汇编是由拉比以撒拿单于 1448 年编写而成的。不过，直到 1523 年这部作品才在威尼斯出版发行。从那以后涌现出了许多希伯来语经文汇编，但有两本经文汇编对旧约学者来说具有较高的

Hebrew concordance since that time, and currently there are two that are of great value to most OT scholars. Solomon Mandelkern produced the Veteris Testamenti Concordantiae Hebraicae atque Chaldaicae, originally published in 1900 and revised in 1955 and 1967. The most recent concordance to the Hebrew OT, produced by Gerhard Lisowsky in 1958, is entitled Konkordanz zum Hebräischen AT. Each of these concordances is exhaustive and indispensable for any study of OT texts in the original language.

The first concordance to the LXX was produced by Conrad Kircher in 1607 at Frankfort, Germany. The definitive concordance current today is Concordance to the LXX and the Other Greek Versions of the OT, edited by Edwin Hatch and Henry A. Redpath, originally done in 1897, most recently revised in 1954. It is an exhaustive concordance to the LXX including the Greek text of the Apocryphal books and the remains of the other versions that formed part of Origen's Hexapla, and generally gives a good context. The basic texts used were the MSS A, B, and α , and the Sixtine Edition of 1587. A supplement of some 272 pages, published in 1906, includes an index of Greek proper names and an index of Hebrew words.

The first concordance to the Greek NT was produced by Sixtus Birken, librarian at the city library in Augsburg, in 1546. The second was published in 1594 by Henry Stephens, who used the verse divisions that had been devised by his father some years before. The third, but first really good work, was produced by

基歇尔 (Conrad Kircher) 于 1607 年在德国法兰克福出版了第一本《七十士译本》的经文汇编。今天最新的经文汇编是由哈奇 (Edwin Hatch) 和雷德帕斯 (Henry A. Redpath) 编辑的 Concordance to the LXX and the Other Greek Versions of the OT, 于 1897 年出版了第一版, 并于 1954 年出版了最新修订版。这本详尽的《七十士译本》经文汇编包括希腊语次经和其他译本中未收录的内容 (构成了俄利根《六经合参》的部分内容)。这本经文汇编所使用的基础文本包括《亚历山太抄本》《梵蒂冈抄本》《西乃抄本》和 1587 年的《西斯廷译本》。于 1906 年出版了一本 272 页的附录, 其中包括希腊专有名词的索引和希伯来语索引。

奥格斯堡的图书管理员比尔肯 (Sixtus Birken) 于 1546 年出版了第一本希腊语《新约》经文汇编。斯蒂芬斯 (Henry Stephens) 于 1594 年出版了第二本希腊语《新约》经文汇编, 斯蒂芬斯 (Henry Stephens) 在这本经文汇编中使用的分节方法是多年前由他的父亲发明的。施密德 (Erasmus Schmid) 于 1638 年在威

Erasmus Schmid at Wittenberg in 1638. The most definitive concordance of the Greek text available today is the work of W. F. Moulton and A. S. Geden, Concordance to the Greek NT (1897; 4th ed. [rev. H. K. Moulton] 1963). Basically it is predicated on the texts of Westcott and Hort, Tischendorf, and the English revisers. It is valuable because it is exhaustive and provides a good context for most words. Under a given word it often organizes some of the references by means of numbers indicating special uses of the term being treated. A somewhat abbreviated Greek concordance, Handkonkordanz zum griechischen NT, was produced by Alfred Schmoller. The 14th edition (1968), an abridged work based on the 15th and 16th editions of the Nestle text, organizes the references and gives symbols where the concordance is not complete.

The newest concordance in this field is the Vollständige Konkordanz zum griechischen NT, compiled under the direction of Kurt Aland. By 1976 two fascicles were in print (Α-ΥΡΑΦΩ). This concordance is based on the Nestle-Aland 26th edition but includes variants from all major editions appearing in the previous hundred years. It includes every occurrence of every Greek word. The longer lists are organized and a good context for each word is provided. A list of prepositions attached to a particular verb is given at the beginning of the entry for that verb.

II. Bilingual Concordances.-Bilingual concordances have been produced to help those who are not well versed in the Greek language. The Englishman's Greek Concordance of the NT, produced by 滕伯格出版了第三本希腊语《新约》经文汇编，这也是第一本佳作。今天，最权威的一本希腊语《新约》经文汇编是由莫尔顿 (W. F. Moulton) 和吉登 (A. S. Geden) 编写的 Concordance to the Greek NT (1897 年第四版，1963 年由莫尔顿 [H. K. Moulton] 修订)。这本经文汇编主要以威斯克 (Westcott)、霍特 (Hort)、申多夫 (Tischendorf) 和英国修订者编写的文本为蓝本。一个给定单词的下面通常是原文编号索引，它们表明了这个词的特殊用法。施穆勒 (Alfred Schmoller) 编写了一本缩减版的希腊语经文汇编 Handkonkordanz zum griechischen NT。第 14 版 (1968) 是基于耐斯特 (Nestle) 文本的第 15 版和第 16 版改编而成的删减版，第 14 版编排了索引，并且当经文索引不完整时还标记了符号。

最新的经文汇编是 Vollständige Konkordanz zum griechischen NT，这部作品是在奥兰 (Kurt Aland) 的指导下编辑而成的。1976 年出版了两个分册 (Α-ΥΡΑΦΩ)。这本经文汇编以耐斯特和奥兰的第 26 版经文汇编为依据，但同时包括了数百年前出版的主要经文汇编的不同版本。这本经文汇编包含了所有希腊词语的经文出处。创建了更长的经文索引表，并明确地指出了每个词的出处。动词条目开头还给出了与这个动词搭配的介词表。

II. 双语经文汇编。双语经文汇编对不精通希腊语的读者很有帮助。Englishman's Greek Concordance of the NT 由威格拉姆 (George V. Wigram) 于 1839 年编写完成，现已修订了很多版

George V. Wigram (1839), has passed through several editions. If one is able to look up the Greek word (which is also transliterated) alphabetically, he can use this volume to find every occurrence of the translations of that Greek word. The English word that translates the Greek is always in italics. Adequate context in English is given, and the work is fairly exhaustive.

J. B. Smith's Greek-English to the Concordance NT (1955) is based on the TR (the Stephanus text of 1550) and the AV. A special feature is the listing of the number of times a given Greek word occurs in each NT book, in addition to the references. An index lists alphabetically all of the English words together with the various Greek words (transliterated) that are so translated, and the number of times each occurs. By the use of serial numbers the reader is referred to the concordance, where the individual Greek words are listed with all their NT occurrences.

The Greek-English Analytical Concordance of the Greek-English NT, produced by J. Stegena (1963), also is based on the TR and the AV. It is analytical in that it lists all forms and identifies them grammatically, and in fact also gives roots for the various Greek words.

In 1972 the New Englishman's Greek Concordance of the NT appeared, published by the William Carey Library of South Pasadena, California, in the preface of which the reader is advised of the advance over the old format. A new numbering system, based on the system found in Strong, enables the reader to

本。如果读者能按照字母顺序查阅希腊词语（通常采用音译），他便可用这本书查阅某个希腊词词语的所有经文出处。翻译希腊语的英文词总是采用斜体。这本书用英语给出了足够多的语境，是一部十分详尽的作品。

史密斯 (J. B. Smith) 的 Greek-English to the Concordance NT (1955) 以《公认经文》(1550 年的史蒂芬原文) 和《钦定版圣经》为依据。这本书的一个特征是列出了《新约》每卷书中一个给定希腊词语在经文中的出现次数，同时给出了参考经文。索引表按照字母顺序列出了所有的英语词汇和可以翻译（直译）成这些英语词汇的不同希腊语，以及每个词出现的次数。读者可以通过使用序号查询经文汇编，其中列出了每个希腊词语在《新约》中的出处。

史蒂芬 (J. Stegena) 于 1963 年编写的 Greek-English Analytical Concordance of the Greek-English NT 也以《公认经文》和《钦定版圣经》为依据。这是一本解析之作，其中列出了所有词形并进行了语法分析，实际上也给出了不同希腊词语的词根。

加利福尼亚州南帕萨迪纳市的威廉·克理图书馆于 1972 年出版发行了 New Englishman's Greek Concordance of the NT，该书在前言中就告诉读者这个版本优于旧版。新的编号系统使读者可以找到希腊语原词和出现这个希腊语原词的其他经文，这个新的编号系统以斯特朗的编号系统为基础。 find the Greek original and also the other passages in which that Greek original occurs.

III. English Concordances.

Many English concordances have been produced since the first one by Thomas Gybson in London (1535). There are still three widely used concordances of the AV. The most popular is Alexander Cruden's exhaustive Complete Concordance to the Holy Scriptures (1737). More recent editions use an asterisk to indicate where the RV differs from the AV. References to some words are divided; e.g., "soul" has been divided into references to "my soul," "our soul," "own soul," etc. It is an abridged concordance with a supplementary list of proper names seldom mentioned in Scripture and not in the text of the concordance itself. James Strong's Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible (1890) has an additional comparative concordance listing all words in the American RV that are not in the AV, and gives all references to these. It is generally complete, but this comparative concordance gives no contexts. The main concordance is, as its title claims, exhaustive. It lists forty-seven unimportant words like "a," "an," "and," by reference only in an appendix. It has generally good context for each of its listings and uses special symbols to alert the user that a later translation uses different words. The supplements include a Hebrew and Chaldee dictionary listing 8674 words with transliteration and a brief definition. It also has a Greek dictionary of the NT containing 5624 words with Greek transliterations, pronunciation, and brief definitions. Robert Young's Analytical

III. 英语经文汇编。自从吉普森 (Thomas Gybson) 发表第一本英语经文汇编 (1535), 许多英语经文汇编已经被发表出来。现仍有三本被广泛使用的《钦定版圣经》的经文汇编。最受欢迎的经文汇编是克鲁登 (Alexander Cruden) 详尽编写的 Complete Concordance to the Holy Scriptures (1737)。新版用星号标注出了《修订译本》和《钦定版圣经》的不同文本。一些词语的参考章节进行了区分; 如: "soul" ("魂") 分别可以参考 "my soul" ("我的魂")、"our soul" ("我们的魂")、"own soul" ("自己的魂") 等。这是一本精简版经文汇编, 其中有一个专有名词的附录, 这些专有名词在《圣经》中鲜被提及且不包含在经文汇编中。詹姆斯特朗的 Exhaustive Concordance of the Bible (1890) 中还附加了一个对比经文索引, 其中给出了所有未出现在《钦定版圣经》却出现在美国《标准版圣经》的词语。这本经文汇编大体上是完整的, 但这个比较经文索引未给出上下文语境。主经文汇编如书名所宣称的, 内容详尽。主经文汇编中列出了 47 个不重要的词语, 如: "a"、"an"、"and", 仅在附录中提及了这些词。每个列表都给出了比较好的上下文语境, 这个经文汇编还用特殊符号提醒读者, 后来的翻译采用了不同的词汇。附录包括一本希伯来语和迦勒底语词典, 词典中共收录了 8674 个词语, 并给出了这些词的直译和简单含义。还包括一本新约希腊语词典, 其中收录了 5624 个词汇, 并给出了这些词的直译、发音和简单含义。罗伯特·杨 (Robert Young) 编写的 Analytical Concordance to the Bible (1873) 也给出了双语译文, 并根据希伯来语或希腊语原文标出每个词语及其音译。这个经文汇编提供了足够多的语境。这本经文汇

Concordance to the Bible (1873) also gives alternate translations and lists each word according to its Hebrew or Greek original, with transliteration. Sufficient context is supplied. The supplements in this concordance include an “index-lexicon,” in which the transliterated Hebrew and Greek words are listed alphabetically, with their translations (and the number of uses of each translation) in the AV. By astute use of this concordance one can do fairly accurate word studies without a great knowledge of the original languages.

There is only one concordance to the American RV that approximates completeness, the Complete Concordance to the American Standard Version of the Holy Bible (1922) by M. C. Hazard, which does omit certain prepositions, pronouns, and conjunctions. The concordance often gives the definition of the word, especially of Hebrew names, and it does divide some references. For example, the reference “pleasure” is divided into “good pleasure,” “his pleasure,” “no pleasure,” “take pleasure,” etc. It has no supplements.

Nelson’s Complete Concordance of the Revised Standard Bible (1957) is complete, aside from the omission of some prepositions, pronouns, and conjunctions. Fifty-nine percent of the text of the Bible is listed. This concordance also gives good context and references. There are no supplements.

New translations into English have appeared rapidly, but concordances for them are much slower in production. W. J. Gant edited Concordance of the Bible

编中的附录包括一本“索引词典”，这本词典按照字母序列出了音译的希伯来语和希腊语词汇，以及它们在《钦定版圣经》中的翻译（和每个翻译出现的次数）。使用者即使不太懂原文，也可以通过仔细地查询这个经文汇编来精确地研究原文中的词语。

只有一本几乎完整的针对美国《修订版圣经》的经文汇编，那就是由哈泽德（M. C. Hazard）编写的 Complete Concordance to the American Standard Version of the Holy Bible（1922），书中省略了一部分介词、代词和连词。这本经文汇编通常会给出词语的含义，特别是希伯来人名的含义，而且将一些参考经文进行了分类。如：“pleasure”（“喜悦”）分别可以参考“good pleasure”（“美意”）、“his pleasure”（“他的美意”）、“no pleasure”（“不喜悦”）和“take pleasure”（“喜爱”）等。书中没有附录。

Nelson’s Complete Concordance of the Revised Standard Bible（1957）一书除了省略了一些介词、代词和连词之外，基本可以算是完整之作。这本书列出了《圣经》百分之五十九的经文。这本经文汇编同样给出了很好的语境和词语索引。书中没有附录。

in the Moffatt Translation (1950), which is somewhat abridged and gives a fairly short context for each word. The New English Bible NT Concordance (1964) does not aim to be complete. It is simply a concordance of words not in, or not in the same verses as, the AV. Generally, however, sufficient context is given to provide the setting for each occurrence. A concordance to the New American Standard Bible has been issued by the Lockman Foundation, La Habra, California (1972). The Complete Concordance to the Bible Douay Version (1957) includes the Apocrypha, divides references to some of the words, and lists by Scripture reference all cardinal and ordinal numbers. It is basically complete and provides good context.

IV. Miscellaneous.-In addition, there are some special types of concordances, such as that for the very peculiar MS Codex Bezae, produced by James Yoder to facilitate the study of the Western text, particularly in the book of Acts. Concordances to Ugaritic literature and Aramaic inscriptions have also been compiled because of their value to OT and NT studies. C. R. Joy compiled Harper's Topical Concordance (rev. ed. 1962), which helps one to study topically from the standpoint of the English language. The Zondervan Expanded Concordance (1968) gives the key words from several translations, including the AV, Amplified, Berkeley, RV, NEB, Phillips, RSV, and the New Scofield Bible. It does divide long sections, e.g., the word "Lord" is divided into applications to men and to God. It also repeats verses with different translations of the same words, e.g., "love" and "charity."

(1950), 这本书有所删减, 但针对每个词都给出了简短的上下文。 New English Bible NT Concordance (1964) 并不力图完整。它不过是一本收录了未在《钦定版圣经》中的词语或未在《钦定版圣经》的同一章节的词语的经文汇编。然而, 这本书通常给出足够的语境, 从而为每个经文出处提供情节背景。《新美国标准译本》(New American Standard Bible) 的经文汇编(1972)已由加利福尼亚州拉哈布拉市克曼基金会出版发行。 Complete Concordance to the Bible Douay Version (1957) 收录了《次经》中的内容, 将某些词语的参考经文进行了分类, 并按照《圣经》索引给出了所有基数词和序数词。

IV. 其他的经文汇编。此外, 还有许多其他类型的经文汇编, 例如尤德(James Yoder)为了推动西方圣经文本的研究, 尤其是对《使徒行传》的研究, 发表了十分罕见的《伯撒抄本》的经文汇编。另外乌加里特语文献和亚兰语碑文的经文汇编也被编辑出来, 因为它们对《旧约》和《新约》研究十分有价值。乔伊(C. R. Joy)编写了 Harper's Topical Concordance (1962年再版), 帮助读者从英语角度研究经文。 Zondervan Expanded Concordance (1968) 给出了许多译本中的关键字, 这些译本包括《钦定版圣经》《扩大版圣经》《伯克利译本》《修订版圣经》《新英文译本》《修订标准译本》和《新司可福圣经》。这本经文汇编分割了冗长的部分, 如: "Lord" ("主") 这个词既可以用来称呼人, 又可以用来称呼上帝。这本书还重复了同一个词有不同翻译的经文章节, 如: "love" ("爱") 和 "charity" ("仁爱")。

The Computer Bible, published by Biblical Research Associates, composed of fascicles of individual groups of smaller books, is an attempt to aid literary-critical and linguistic-grammatical studies especially. In the NT volumes, the forward key-word-in-context concordance and the reverse key-word-in-context concordance enable the student to locate easily identical phrases and grammatical forms or uncover a series of hitherto unknown but significant phrases. There will be great difficulty in analyzing material from the complete NT because there are so many separate volumes. It is printed in transliterated computer forms. The OT volumes lack the unity of form of citation that the NT volumes have. These volumes are useful only for study of the particular books covered and not for comparative analysis of several books.

Computer Bible 由圣经研究协会出版发行，该书由许多不同的小册子组成，有助于文学批评的研究尤其有助于语言语法方面的研究。在《新约》册子中，正向语境关键字索引和反向语境关键字索引可以使学者很容易找到相同的短语和语法形式，或揭示一些尚无人知晓却有重要意义的短语。很难分析来自整部《新约》的材料，因为有很多分册子以计算机直译的形式将其印刷发表。《旧约》册子不像《新约》册子那样有统一的引用格式。这些册子仅对研究特定经卷有帮助，不适用于多卷的对比研究。

《钦定版圣经》用 Concourse 来翻译《箴言》1:21 的希伯来语 hāmā (“in the chief place of concourse” [“在热闹街头”]，希伯来语：b^erō’š hōmîyōt) 和《使徒行传》19:40 中的希腊语 systrophē。在《旧约》中，《新英文译本》译为 “at the top of the busy street” (“在热闹街头”)。《修订标准译本》遵循《七十士译本》，修订为 “hōmōt”，意思为 “墙” (“街”)，译

[Heb. pīlegeš, pīlegeš, šiddâ (Eccl. 2:8)]; AV also “musical instruments”; [Aram. l̥hēnâ (Dnl. 5:2f., 23)]; NEB COURTESANS. A female slave regarded as part of the Israelite family, generally designated as bearing children. She might be taken in debt or purchased from a poor Israelite family or taken captive in war (2 S. 5:13). Heb. pīlegeš is a non-Semitic loanword, perhaps related to Gk. pállax, “young girl.”

Certain status was accorded concubines, who are listed among members of the family and court (2 S. 19:5; 1 K. 11:3; 2 Ch. 11:21; Cant. 6:8f.; Dnl. 5:2f., 23). Succession could be traced through concubines, hence their place in genealogies (Gen. 22:24; 36:12; 2 S. 5:13f.; 1 Ch. 1:32; 2:46, 48; 3:9; 7:14). Sons of concubines could also be equals in inheritance and succession and thus a threat to the sons of wives (Gen. 25:6; cf. 21:10). A man was regarded as a concubine’s husband (Jgs. 20:4). Harm to a concubine was regarded as a crime worthy of vengeance (Jgs. 19:29).

Concubines are mentioned almost exclusively in the patriarchal period and early monarchy and, in the latter, only in relation to kings. Kings might have numerous concubines (1 K. 11:3; 2 Ch. 11:21), access to whom was regarded as a claim to the throne (2 S. 3:7; 16:21f.; 1

为 “on the top of the walls” (“在墙头上”)。在《使徒行传》19:40 中，《修订标准译本》译为 “commotion” (“扰乱”)，《新英文译本》译为 “uproar” (“喧嚷”)。另见《钦定版圣经》，《犹滴传》10:18 (希腊语: syndromé, 《修订标准译本》译为 “excitement” [“骚动”])。

CONCUBINE 妃嫔、妾

【希伯来语: pīlegeš, pīlegeš, šiddâ (传 2:8)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 “musical instruments” (“乐器”); 【亚兰语: l̥hēnâ (但 5:2-3, 23)】; 《新英文译本》译为 COURTESANS (“妃嫔”)。女性奴隶(妾)是以色列人家庭中的一员, 通常买来生育子女。妾或嫔妃可能是赎债品, 可能是直接从以色列穷人家买来的, 也可能是战利品 (撒下 5:13)。希伯来语 pīlegeš 并不是闪族语的外来语, 可能与希腊语 pállax 有关, 意为 “年轻的女孩”。

妾或妃嫔有一定的地位, 是家庭和朝中的成员 (撒下 19:5; 王上 11:3; 代下 11:21; 歌 6:8-9; 但 5:2-3, 23)。妾或妃嫔有继承权, 因此她们的名字也列在宗谱中 (创 22:24; 36:12; 撒下 5:13-14; 代上 1:32; 2:46, 48; 3:9; 7:14)。妾或妃嫔所生的儿子与正室所生的儿子享有同等的继承权, 因此他们对正室所生的儿子构成了威胁 (创 25:6; 参: 创 21:10)。有一个男人被认为是妾的丈夫 (士 20:4)。伤害妾室被视为犯罪, 必被报仇雪恨 (士 19:29)。

几乎只在族长时期和君主制早期提到过妾室, 后来只提到过与国王有关的妃嫔。国王可能有许多妃嫔 (王上 11:3; 代下 11:2), 亲近国王的妃嫔被视为获得了王位 (撒下 3:7; 16:21-22; 王上 2:22-25)。因此, 由太监看管嫔妃 (撒下 20:3; 斯 2:14)。

K. 2:22–25). For this reason, they were guarded, often by eunuchs (2 S. 20:3; Est. 2:14).

In addition to providing offspring and sexual activity (Eccl. 2:8), concubines were responsible for care of the house (2 S. 15:16; 16:21; 20:3; NEB “in charge of the palace”).

Although the concubine was a slave, it is not clear whether a woman’s maidservant, given to a man to provide male offspring (Gen. 16:1f., 4f.; 30:3; 30:9), was regarded as a concubine.

妃嫔除了要生育儿女和满足男人的性需求 (传 2:8), 还负责看守宫殿 (撒下 15:16; 16:21; 20:3; 《新英文译本》译为 “in charge of the palace” [“看守宫殿”])。

尽管妾是奴隶, 但是目前尚不清楚给男人生育儿女的女仆是否也被视为妾 (创 16:1–2, 4–5; 30:3; 30:9)。

CONCUPISCENCE. 贪心、邪情

《钦定版圣经》用 concupiscence 来翻译《罗马书》7:8 (《修订标准译本》译为 “covetousness” [“贪心”]); 《歌罗西书》3:5 (《修订标准译本》译为 “desire” [“贪婪”]) 和《帖撒罗尼迦前书》4:5 (páthos epithymías, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “lust of concupiscence” [“私欲的邪情”]; 《修订标准译本》译为 “passion of lust” [“私欲的邪情”]) 的希腊语 epithymía。见 COVET (贪图、贪恋)。

CONFEDERATES. 结盟、和好

《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》的《俄巴底亚书》1:7 将希伯来语 ʾanšē berītekā 译为“men of your covenant”（“与你结盟的”）（《钦定版圣经》译为“men that were at peace with thee”[“与你和好的”]）。

CONFESS; CONFESSION 承认（认罪、认信）

【希伯来语：yādā, tōdā（拉 10:11），nāgad（诗 38:18），zākar（赛 48:1），sāpar（结 12:16）；希腊语：homologéō, exomologéō, homología】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 DECLARE（“承认”，诗 38:18；结 12:16）、“make mention of”（“提说”，赛 48:1）、ACKNOWLEDGE（“认罪”，约壹 2:23）、PROFESSION（“见证”）、“without controversy”（“无可争议”）（关于 homologouménōs，提前 3:16，《修订标准译本》译为“we confess”[“众人承认”]）；《新英文译本》还译为“make no secret of”（“承认”，诗 38:18）、“boast in”（“夸口”，赛 48:1）、“tell the whole

Heb. yādā can indicate both confession and praise or thanksgiving, the latter especially in the Psalms (e.g., 44:8; 54:6; 75:1; 92:1; 100:4; 105:1; 145:10). To praise God's name is to confess Him. Also, to declare (nāgaḏ, sāpar) one's sin is to confess it. The Gk. homologéō means "say the same thing," hence "agree." Confession of faith implies joining one's voice harmoniously to the voices of others, in common affirmation of belief. See TDNT, V, s.v. ὁμολογέω (Michel).

When a man is said to confess or make confession, the contents of the confession are variously distinguished. All, however, may be grouped under two heads, confession of faith and confession of sin. Confessions of faith are public acknowledgments of fidelity to God, and to the truth through which God is revealed, as 1 K. 8:33, AV; cf. RSV. They are declarations of unqualified confidence in Christ, and of surrender to His service; cf. Mt. 10:32, AV: "Whosoever ... shall confess me before men" (cf. RSV). In Phil. 2:11, however, confession includes not only voluntary but also involuntary acknowledgment of the sovereignty of Jesus. The word stands also for everything contained in the Christian religion—"the faith" used in the objective and widest sense, in He. 3:1; 4:14 (cf. NEB). In both these passages, the allusion is to the writings of the NT.

See also CREEDS AND CONFESSIONS.

story of" ("述说一切事", 结 12:16)、ACKNOWLEDGE("承认")、"beyond all question"("无人不以为然", 提前 3:16)、"the religion we profess"("持定所承认的道", 来 3:1; 4:14)。希伯来语 yādā 既可以表示认罪, 也可以表示赞美或感恩, 赞美或感恩的用法在《诗篇》中尤为显著(如: 诗 44:8; 54:6; 75:1; 92:1; 100:4; 105:1; 145:10)。赞美神的名就是向祂认罪。另外, 说出(nāgaḏ, sāpar)自己的罪就是为自己的罪忏悔。希腊语 homologéō 意为"说同一件事", 因此也有"承认"的含义。认信意味着一个人的声音和谐地融入到其他人的声音中, 承认共同的信仰。见 TDNT, V, 见词条 ὁμολογέω (Michel)。

一个人承认的时候, 他们所承认的内容不尽相同。然而, 承认分两种, 分别是认信和认罪。认信是指公开地表示愿意忠实于上帝和揭示上帝的真理(《钦定版圣经》, 王上 8:33; 参:《修订标准译本》)。认信和认罪就是宣布无条件地信靠基督, 并愿意事奉祂; 参: 太 10:32, 《钦定版圣经》译为 "Whosoever ... shall confess me before men" ("凡在人面前认我的", 参:《修订标准译本》)。然而, 在《腓立比书》2:11 中, 承认耶稣基督为主包括主动地和不由自主地承认耶稣的主权。Confession 一词也可以代表包含在基督教中的一切——《希伯来书》3:1 和 4:14 中客观和最广义的"信心"(参:《新英文译本》)。这两段经文都暗指了《新约》作品。

另见 CREEDS AND CONFESSIONS (信经与信条)。

Confessions of sin are also of various classes: (1) To God alone. Wherever there is true repentance for sin, the penitent freely confesses his guilt to Him against whom he has sinned. This is described in Ps. 32:3-6; cf. 1 Jn. 1:9; Prov. 28:13. Such confession may be made either silently or, as in Dnl. 9:19, orally; it may be general, as in Ps. 51, or particular, as when some special sin is recognized; it may even extend to that which has not been discovered, but is believed to exist because of recognized inner depravity (Ps. 19:12), and thus include the state as well as the acts of sin (Rom. 7:18).

(2) To one's neighbor, when he has been wronged (Lk. 17:4): "If he sins against you seven times in the day, and turns to you seven times, and says, 'I repent,' you must forgive him." It is to this form of confession that James refers (5:16): "Confess your sins to one another"; cf. Mt. 5:23f.

(3) To a spiritual adviser or minister of the word, such as the confession of David to Nathan (2 S. 12:13), of the multitudes to John in the wilderness (Mt. 3:6), of the Ephesians to Paul (Acts 19:18). This confession is a general acknowledgment of sinfulness, and enters into an enumeration of details only when the conscience is particularly burdened.

(4) To the entire church, where some crime has created public scandal. As "secret sins are to be rebuked secretly, and public sins publicly," in the apostolic age, where there was genuine penitence for a notorious offense, the acknowledgment was as public as the

认罪分很多种：(1) 只对上帝认罪。每当忏悔者真正悔罪时，他将坦白地在上帝面前承认他的罪行（如：诗 32:3-6；参：约壹 1:9；箴 28:13）。可以默默地在心里忏悔（如，但 9:19），也可口头上忏悔；可以像《诗篇》51 章那样以普通的方式悔罪，但当一个人意识到自己犯了特殊的罪时，他也可以用特殊的方式悔罪；甚至当过错隐而未现，但因内心的堕落而犯罪时，也要悔罪（诗 19:12），因此，既要为罪恶的状态悔罪，也要为罪恶的行为悔罪（罗 7:18）。

(2) 为苦待邻舍而向他们认罪：“倘若他一天七次得罪你，又七次回转，说，‘我懊悔了’，你总要饶恕他”（路 17:4）。《雅各书》中就提到了这种认罪方式（雅 5:16）：“你们要彼此认罪”（参：太 5:23-24）。

(3) 向属灵的忠告者或牧师认罪，如大卫向拿单忏悔罪行（撒下 12:13），众人在旷野中向约翰认罪（太 3:6），以弗所向约翰认罪（太 3:6），以弗所向约翰忏悔（徒 19:18）。这种认罪是一种常见的承认有罪的方式，只有当认罪者良心极为不安时，他们才会细数犯下的罪。

(4) 当某种罪行引起公愤时，向全体教会认罪。因为“隐秘的罪会受到背地里的指责，公开的罪将受到公开的指责”，在使徒时代，当一个人真正为臭名昭著的过犯忏悔时，他会向当初公开犯罪那样公开地认罪。哥林多的著名事例就体现出了这一点（参：林前 5:3 起，林后 deed itself. An illustration of this is found in the well-known case at Corinth (cf. 1 Cor. 5:3ff. with 2 Cor. 2:6f.).

For auricular confession in the sense of the medieval and Roman Church there is no authority in Holy Scripture. It is traceable to the practice of examining those who were about to make a public confession of some notorious offense, and of giving advice concerning how far the circumstances of the sin were to be announced—an expedient that was found advisable, since as much injury could be wrought by injudicious publishing of details in the confession as by the sin itself. The practice once introduced for particular cases was in time extended to all cases; and the private confession of sin was demanded by the Church as a condition of the absolution, and made an element of penitence, which was analyzed into contrition, confession, and satisfaction. See the Examen Concilii Tridentini (1st ed. 1565) of Martin Chemnitz, superintendent of Brunswick, for a thorough exegetical and historical discussion of this entire subject. 关于中世纪和罗马教会的“耳边忏悔”（或“秘密忏悔”），在《圣经》中找不到权威的证据。“耳边忏悔”源于考察将要公开认罪（臭名昭著的罪行）之人的习俗，以及劝告犯罪之人认罪程度的习俗——这是一种比较可取的权宜之计，因为不明智地细数罪行也会像犯罪那样给人带来伤害。这种习俗曾应用于特殊案例上，但很快便应用到了所有案例上；教会规定秘密认罪是赦免的一个条件，也是悔罪的要素之一，秘密认罪被细分为：悔悟、认罪和赎罪。关于这个主题的深入完整的注释性和历史性讨论，见布伦瑞克（Brunswick）主编，凯姆尼斯（Martin Chemnitz）撰写的 Examen Concilii Tridentini（1565年初版）。关于这个主题的历史方面，另见莉亚（H. C. Lea）撰写的 History of Auricular Confession and Indulgences in the Latin Church（3册，1896年）。

If it is possible to distinguish shades of meaning among the OT words, bāṭaḥ and derivatives express a reliance based on (presumed) strength (Jgs. 9:26; 2 K. 18:19; Job 6:20; 11:18; 31:24; 40:23; Ps. 62:10; Prov. 14:26; etc.), ’āman is firmly based trust, sāmaḥ means “find support,” and kesel is often a naive trust, even a “foolish confidence” (Ps. 49:13; cf. Job 8:14). Confidence in the sense of “intimacy” is expressed by sōḏ Prov. 3:32, “the upright are in his confidence,”

如果有可能区分旧约词语在语义上的细微差别的话, bāṭaḥ 和它的衍生词表示基于某种(假定)力量的信心(士 9:26; 王下 18:19; 伯 6:20; 11:18; 31:24; 40:23; 诗 62:10; 箴 14:26 等), ’āman 以信任作为牢固的根基, sāmaḥ 的意思是“得到支持”, kesel 通常表示天真地相信, 甚至是“愚昧地相信”(诗 49:13; 参: 伯 8:14)。Sōḏ 表示因“亲密”而相信(《箴言》3:32 中提到“正直的人为祂所亲密”, 即, 祂愿信任他们)。《钦定版圣经》的《耶利米书》2:37 中的“thy confidences”

i.e., He is willing to confide in them). In Jer. 2:37, AV, “thy confidences” (mibṭāh) means “those in whom you trust” (RSV).

In the OT confidence is most often a private trusting, especially confidence in God; but in the NT, outside the shelter of an exclusivist religion, Christian faith is a public matter, and there is an emphasis on “speaking boldly” in the face of possible public ridicule or persecution. Here the commonest word for confidence is Gk. parrhēsia, “speaking out” (e.g., He. 3:6; 4:16; 10:19, 35; 1 Jn. 2:28; 3:21; 4:17; 5:14).

Another important NT emphasis is on Christian faith as “being persuaded”; and Gk. peithō, “persuade,” “convince,” means in the 2nd perfect and pluperfect “be confident,” “trust” (e.g., 2 Cor. 10:7; Gal. 5:10; Phil. 3:3f; 2 Thess. 3:4), and pepoithēsis is “confidence” (2 Cor. 3:4; 8:22; 10:2; Eph. 3:12; Phil. 3:4). Other NT words for confidence are tharrhēō, “be bold” (2 Cor. 7:16; He. 13:6), pisteuō, “believe” (1 Pet. 1:21), and hypóstasis, that which stands under one (2 Cor. 11:17; He. 3:14).

When the Bible speaks of having confidence, it nearly always mentions an object of confidence, whether the material objects of false confidence (Job 8:13–15; 31:24; Phil. 3:3f.) or the divine object and foundation of true Christian confidence (Prov. 14:26; Phil. 1:14; 2 Thess. 3:4; 1 Tim. 3:13; 1 Pet. 1:21; 1 Jn. 5:14).

CONFIRM

[Heb. qûm, ’āman, ’āmaḏ, hāzaq, mālē’

(mibṭāh) (“你所倚靠的”)表示“those in whom you trust” (“你所倚靠的”,《修订标准译本》)。

《旧约》中提到的信靠通常是指秘密地相信,特别是对上帝的信心;但在《新约》中,暂且不论排外宗教的保护,基督教信仰是一种公开的信仰,特别强调在面对公众嘲笑或遭到迫害时要“放胆地说”。最经常用来表示信心的希腊语是 parrhēsia, 意为“放胆地说”(如: 来 3:6; 4:16; 10:19, 35; 约壹 2:28; 3:21; 4:17; 5:14)。

《新约》中还特别强调基督教信仰是“被说服”的信仰;希腊语 peithō 的意思是“说服”、“使相信”,它的第二人称完成时和过去完成时态表示“信任”、“信靠”(如: 林后 10:7; 加 5:10; 腓 3:3-4; 帖后 3:4), pepoithēsis 意为“信任”(林后 3:4; 8:22; 10:2; 弗 3:12; 腓 3:4)。《新约》中其他表示信任的词有 tharrhēō, (“放胆”, 林后 7:16; 来 13:6)、pisteuō, (“信任”, 彼前 1:21)、hypóstasis (“放胆、确实的信心”, 林后 11:17; 来 3:14)。

《圣经》中提到信任时,几乎也会同时提到信任的对象,无论是错信的对象(伯 8:13–15; 31:24; 腓 3:3–4),还是真正的基督徒的信心的根基和所信的神圣的对象(箴 14:26; 腓 1:14; 帖后 3:4; 提前 3:13; 彼前 1:21; 约壹 5:14)。

CONFLICT.

In Dnl. 10:1, RSV, Heb. ṣāḇā' is translated “conflict”; the AV has “time appointed,” and the NEB reads “it cost him much toil,” joining this with the next phrase, “to understand it.” The larger context here, and the normal military usage of ṣāḇā', point to the RSV reading as most likely.

The “conflict” of Phil. 1:30 (Gk. agōn, NEB “contest”) is the struggle of the new Church against unbelief—both in the realm of ideology and in the arena of physical suffering.

[Gk. symmorphos (Rom. 8:29), syschēmatizō (12:2; 1 Pet. 1:14)]; AV also “fashioning yourselves according to” (1 Pet. 1:14); NEB SHAPED (Rom. 8:29), “adapt yourselves ... to the pattern of” (12:2), “let your characters be shaped ... by” (1 Pet. 1:14); see also Phil. 3:10, 21. These references illustrate the difference between Gk. morphé, form reflecting inner nature, and schéma, the merely outward fashion. Note especially Rom. 12:2: “Be not conformed [mé syschēmatizesthe] to this age, but be transformed [metamorphoústhe] by the renewal of your mind.”

CONFLICT. 争战

《修订标准译本》的《但以理书》10:1 将希伯来语 ṣāḇā' 译为 “conflict” (“争战”)；《钦定版圣经》译为 “time appointed” (“所定的日期”)，《新英文译本》译为 “it cost him much toil” (“他大费周折”)，以及下句经文 “to understand it” (“理达这事”)。上下文语境和 ṣāḇā' 的标准军事用法都证明《修订标准译本》中的翻译似乎最为合适。

《腓立比书》1:30 中的“争战”(希腊语: agōn, 《新英文译本》译为“contest”[“争战”])指的是刚建立的教会在意识形态领域和肉体受苦方面与无信仰的斗争。

CONFORMED 效法

【希腊语: symmorphos (罗 8:29)、syschēmatizō (罗 12:2; 彼前 1:14)】; 《钦定版圣经》还译为“fashioning yourselves according to” (“效法”, 彼前 1:14); 《新英文译本》译为 SHAPED (“效法”, 罗 8:29)、“adapt yourselves ... to the pattern of” (“效法”, 罗 12:2)、“let your characters be shaped ... by” (“效法”, 彼前 1:14); 另见《腓立比书》3:10, 21。这些引用阐明了希腊语 morphé 和 schéma 之间的差异, morphé 指的是体现内在品质的形式, schéma 仅仅表示外在的形式。值得注意的是《罗马书》12:2: “不要效法 [mé syschēmatizesthe] 这个世界, 只要心意更新而变化 [metamorphoústhe]”。

CONFOUND 羞愧、惊惶

The AV often reads “confound,” in the archaic sense “put to shame” (bōš, Ps. 71:13; Jer. 17:18; hāpēr, Ps. 35:4; Mic. 3:7) or “be ashamed, disgraced” (bōš, Jer. 48:1, 20; 50:2; Ezk. 16:52; Mic. 7:16).

CONGREGATION 会众

【希伯来语：'ēdā、qāhāl（代下 7:8；24:6；拉 10:8；诗 22:22，25；35:18；40:9-10 等）、maqḥēlīm（诗 26:12）、maqḥēlōt（诗 68:26）；希腊语：ekklēsia（徒 7:38；来 2:12）、plēthos（徒 15:30；19:9）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 PEOPLE（“会众”，利 10:6）、ASSEMBLY（“会众”，民 10:2；20:8）、COMPANY（“会众”，民 14:7）、CHURCH（“大会”，徒 7:38；来 2:12）。MULTITUDE（“众人”，徒 15:30；19:9）；《新英文译本》还译为 COMMUNITY（“会众”）、COMPANY（“会众”，民 16:19，21）、CROWD（“会众”，民 25:7）、PEOPLE（“会众”，书 9:18）和 ASSEMBLY（“会众”）。

Heb 'ēdā (from the root y'd, “appoint” and qāhāl (related to qōl, “voice”; thus, “call” or “summon”) are virtually synonymous (cf. Lev. 4:13; Nu. 14:5). The RV consistently translates the former “congregation,” the latter “assembly.” A slight distinction between the nouns may lie in the fact that 'ēdā suggests the group or community, whether gathered or not, while qāhāl suggests the gathered assembly. 'Ēdā occurs more frequently in Exodus-Judges, whereas later books of the OT show a preference for qāhāl. In the LXX qāhāl is frequently, though not exclusively, translated by ekklēsia. This is the case in Deuteronomy (except 5:22), Joshua, Judges, Samuel, Kings, Chronicles, Ezra, and Nehemiah; in the remainder of the Pentateuch qāhāl is rendered synagōgē. Ēdā is usually rendered synagōgē, never ekklēsia.

希伯来语 'ēdā（词根为 y'd，“指派、指定”）和 qāhāl（与 qōl 有关，“声音”；因此有“召唤”或“召集”的含义）实际上是同义词（参：利 4:13；民 14:5）。《修订译本》将 'ēdā 全部都译为“congregation”（“会众”），将 qāhāl 全部译为“assembly”（“会众”），将 qāhāl 译为“assembly”（“集会”）。这两个名词间的细微差别在于，'ēdā 表示召集或非召集来的会众，而 qāhāl 表示召集在一起的会众。'Ēdā 一词在《出埃及记》至《士师记》中使用得更为频繁，而《旧约》的其他书卷更愿意使用 qāhāl 一词。在《七十士译本》中，ekklēsia 通常用来翻译 qāhāl（虽不完全是）。《申命记》（除申 5:22）《约书亚记》《士师记》《撒母耳记》《列王纪》《历代志》《以斯拉记》和《尼希米记》也用 ekklēsia 来翻译 qāhāl；《摩西五经》的其他各卷中的 qāhāl 被翻译为 synagōgē。Ēdā 通常被翻译为 synagōgē，而不是 ekklēsia。

The nature of the gathered assembly is defined by the biblical context. The great qāhāl of the OT is the assembly of Israel at Mt. Sinai (cf. Dt. 5:22). Here the covenant of Yahweh was ratified (note the similarities between 'ēdā and the root y'd in Thompson's article); the Exodus was climaxed and Israel was formally constituted the people of God. As a covenant assembly ('ēdā), Israel was a people called into a relationship of fellowship with the Lord. The Hebrew terms for "congregation" are particularly conspicuous in the Pentateuch because the constitutive history of the theocracy is contained there. Consequently, any attempt to determine the meaning of qāhāl from its Greek counterpart (i.e., the purely secular sense of ekklēsia, "an assembly") must be adjudged theologically inadequate. In both the LXX and the NT qāhāl determines the meaning of ekklēsia, not vice versa. This point is bolstered by the way the NT writers quote the OT. The image projected by the apostolic and early Christian community in He. 2:12 and Acts 7:38 is certainly one with theological significance. The Christian ekklēsia is variously designated as the people of the new Exodus, the people assembled at the mount of God (cf. esp. He. 12:18–24), the people of the new covenant under a better Mediator, a pilgrim (wilderness) people, a people sustained by the living manna and living water, a people destined for an everlasting inheritance. The principle that the OT is fulfilled in the NT emphasizes that the NT congregation is an assembly in personal relationship with God through Jesus Christ, i.e., a (new) covenant community.

《圣经》中给出了会众的基本特征。《旧约》中 qāhāl 一词指的是聚集在西奈山上的以色列会众（参：申 5:22）。以色列在西奈山与耶和华立了约（需要注意的是，在汤普森 [Thompson] 的著作中，'ēdā 和词根 y'd 的含义相近）；这件事在《出埃及记》中达到高潮，以色列人正式成为神的子民。以色列人是与神立约的会众（'ēdā），他们是与主相交的民族。《摩西五经》中表示“会众”的希伯来语尤为引人关注，因为神权政体的基本历史都包含于此。因此，从神学角度来说，不应该根据 qāhāl 的希腊语同义词（即，ekklēsia 的纯粹世俗意义，“大众”）确定这个词的含义。在《七十士译本》和《新约》中 qāhāl 决定 ekklēsia 的含义，而不是反过来。基督教的会众 (ekklēsia) 有很多不同的称谓，如出埃及的新民众、聚集在神山上的民众（特别参阅：来 12:18–24）、藉更好的中保建立的新约民众、朝圣者（旷野中的民众）、靠吗哪和活水为生的民众、注定要继承永恒产业的民众。《新约》应验《旧约》的原则强调，《新约》的会众是藉着耶稣基督与神相交的人，也就是，（新的）圣约团体。

Pléthos can mean either (1) a crowd or multitude (cf. Acts 2:6; 14:1; 17:4; 28:3), or (2) a full Christian assembly or congregation (cf. Acts 4:32; 6:2, 5; 15:12, 30; 19:9). The Greek word is a translation of the Heb. rabbîm (“the many”), which is common in the Qumrân Scrolls for the “assembly of believers.”

在《旧约》中, 征服者是拿着刀剑并带来上帝审判的人。《旧约》中的常见词汇

judgment. The usual OT word is Heb. nākā (1 K. 15:20; 2 K. 3:19, 25; 2 Ch. 16:4; Ezk. 40:1), for which the AV has “smite”; the NEB has “attack” (1 K. 15:20; 2 Ch. 16:4), “raze to the ground” (2 K. 3:19, 25), “destruction” (Ezk. 40:1). Heb. lāham, “consume,” occurs at 2 K. 16:5 (AV “overcome”, but NEB “bring to battle”) and Isa. 7:1 (AV “prevail against”; NEB “force a battle”), and bāqa in Isa. 7:6 (AV “make a breach”; NEB “make [her] join [with us]”). The participle of yāraš is rendered in the AV “them that shall inherit” in Jer. 8:10 and “heir” in Mic. 1:15; but the word can also mean “possess” in a more forceful sense, and the RSV translates “conqueror(s)” in both places (NEB “new owners,” “others to take your place”). The Micah passage is a play on the name Mareshah.

In Isa. 18:2, 7 occurs the Heb. mebūsā, translated “conquering” in the RSV and “proud” in the NEB. The AV has a different understanding altogether of this passage, and takes the word in a passive sense, “trodden down.”

In the NT the usual word is Gk. nikáō (all in Revelation), and once katagōnizomai (He. 11:33). In Rom. 8:37, Paul uses the word hypernikáō, which the AV and RSV translate: “we are more than conquerors”; cf. the NEB, “overwhelming victory is ours.” a more accurate if less memorable rendering of the sense of the prefix.

《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》分别将《以赛亚书》18:2 和 18:7 中的希伯来语 mebūsā 译为 “conquering” (“践踏”) 和 “proud” (“骄傲”)。《钦定版圣经》采取了不同的理解, 用了这个词的被动含义, 即 “被践踏”。

有余”), 虽然这种翻译给人的印象不太深, 但对前缀的含义翻译得更准确。

I. Terminology.-A. Occurrence. In the RSV the term “conscience” appears only once in the OT and twenty-eight times in the NT.

In the NT the same Greek noun syneidēsis lies behind all twenty-eight occurrences of “conscience” and the occurrence of “consciousness of sin” (He. 10:2) as well. Thus a study of the biblical references to conscience is for all practical purposes a study of the background and usage of syneidēsis.

In the NT, Paul’s use of syneidēsis is by far the most frequent. Including the two occurrences in the book of Acts (23:1; 24:16) where Paul’s dialogue is reported, he uses the term twenty of the twenty-eight times it appears. He also uses it in a larger variety of contexts than any other NT writer. Thus, Paul’s usage provides the primary source of insight.

B. Origin. Many NT terms are understood only against the background of the OT Hebrew term that shaped the thinking of the writer; but this is not the case with syneidēsis. All but one of the RSV occurrences of “conscience” are from the NT because there simply is no close equivalent to syneidēsis in OT Hebrew. The Heb. lēb, translated “conscience” in 1 S. 25:31, is actually a much broader term. It is commonly

I. “良心”这一术语。A. 出现次数。《修订标准译本》中“conscience”一词只在《旧约》中出现过一次，《新约》中出现了28次。

《新约》在28次提及“良心”和“罪的意识”(来10:2)时都使用了同一个希腊名词 syneidēsis。因此,研究《圣经》中“良心”的用法实际上是为了研究 syneidēsis 的背景和用法。

在《新约》中,保罗最经常使用 syneidēsis 一词。保罗在《使徒行传》中的对话中使用这个词两次(徒23:1; 24:16),保罗总计使用这个词20次,而这个词共在《新约》出现过28次。与其他《新约》作者相比,保罗更喜欢在各种语境中使用 syneidēsis 一词。因此,保罗对 syneidēsis 一词的使用是我们研究该词用法的主要来源。

B. 起源。许多新约词汇只有借着塑造作者思想的旧约希伯来语的背景才能被人理解;但 syneidēsis 一词是个例外。《修订标准译本》中的“conscience”(“良心”)几乎都出现在《新约》中(只有一次出现在《旧约》中),因为 syneidēsis 在旧约希伯来语中没有完全对应的词。《撒母耳记上》25:31中将希伯来语 lēb 译为“conscience”(“良心”),但 lēb 其实是一个含义更广泛的词语。lēb 通常译为“heart”(“心”),有理解、感受和意愿 translated “heart” and carries a range of meaning that includes understanding, feeling, and will, rather than the more precise inner witness indicated by syneidēsis.

If the background for the NT meaning of syneidēsis is not to be found in some OT concept, it must be found in the Greek world. Paul and other NT writers did not invent the term; they appropriated it as an existing part of the Greek language of their time. But how it entered the Greek language is a question of some importance, because the background of the term will shed light on its meaning.

On the basis of a few references to syneidēsis in the writings of certain Stoic philosophers, some scholars have concluded that the term was the invention of the Stoics. If so, then the term should be seen against the background of a Stoic view of the human personality. But a Stoic origin for the term is unlikely. First, the material supporting a link between syneidēsis and the Stoics is meager and even disputable. At best only three quotations are available, and the most vital of these, attributed to Epictetus, is of doubtful authenticity. Second, the Stoics, with their negative attitudes toward feelings and emotions, would be among those least likely to need a precise term for the inner testimony of conscience.

Stronger evidence indicates that the noun syneidēsis simply developed in everyday use from forms of the verb synoida. In Greek writings the noun forms syneidēsis and the related syneidós rarely appear before the 1st cent. B.C., and when they do appear the content of the terms is

如果在旧约观念中找不到新约词汇 syneidēsis 的含意的背景，那么这个词一定是来自于希腊世界。保罗和其他《新约》作者没有杜撰出这个词；他们使用这个词时，这个词已经存在于当时的希腊语中。但是，这个词在希腊语中的起源确是一个非常重要的问题，因为了解这个词的背景有助于理解这个词的含意。

根据斯多亚派哲学家在作品中对 syneidēsis 一词的引用，很多学者认为该词起源于斯多亚派。如果真是这样，那么应当从斯多亚派人格观的背景来理解这个词。因此，该词不太可能起源于斯多亚派。首先，可以证明 syneidēsis 一词与斯多亚派有关材料非常少，而且这些材料还饱受争议。我们目前至多可以找到斯多亚派对该词的三处引用，最为重要的是，这些引用被认为均出自于埃皮克提图，其真实性却备受质疑。其次，斯多亚派对情感和情绪持消极态度，他们不太可能需要一个准确地表达内在良心见证的词汇。

更具说服力的证据表明，名词 syneidēsis 其实源于动词 synoida 的日常用法。公元前 1 世纪之前，名词 syneidēsis 和与之相关的词语很少出现在希腊语作品中，而当出现这两个词时，它们所表达的含意通常很模糊。但是，在公元前 6 世纪的大量流行希腊语作品和专业性希 often unclear. But the verb forms of sýnoida appear frequently in a great variety of Greek writings, popular as well as technical, dating back to the 6th cent. B.C. It appears that by the 1st cent. B.C. the verb form describing an action had developed into a noun form designating the agent in the human makeup that performs the action. Thus sýnoida gave birth to syneídēsis. By Paul's time syneídēsis had a content so clearly established in the language that he could use the term without defining it, assuming that his readers would know what he meant.

C. Literal Meaning. Literally the verb sýnoida means “know in common with.” It may mean simply “be conscious” or “be aware” of something. It is important to note that the verb appears in both nonreflexive and reflexive forms.

In its nonreflexive form sýnoida appears as sýnoida tīni tí or sýnoida tīnos í or perí tīnos and literally means “have knowledge of something with another person (as an eyewitness).” Its general use is to indicate knowing about another person, as a witness for or against him.

The reflexive form of the verb, sýnoida emautó, literally, “I know with myself,” moves closer to the meaning of the noun. Here the person who knows and the one who shares the knowledge or bears witness to it are the same person.

Something important happened when the verb forms sýnoida shifted to the noun form syneídēsis. Literally, syneídēsis is “the self that knows with itself.” It is significant, however, that syneídēsis is not merely another action performed by

C. 字面意思。 Sýnoida 这一动词的字面意思是“我也与……一同知道”。这个词可能仅仅表示“自知某事”或“意识到某事”。值得注意的是, sýnoida 这一动词常以反身动词和非反身动词的形式出现。

Sýnoida 的非反身动词形式是 sýnoida tīni tí、*sýnoida tīnos í*或 perí tīnos, 字面意思是“与他人(作为见证人)认知某事”。 Sýnoida 的非反身动词的常规用法指的是以见证者的身份(正面或反面见证)去了解他人。

Sýnoida 的反身动词形式是 sýnoida emautó, 字面意思是“我靠自己知晓”, 与 sýnoida 的名词含义相近。这里知晓的人与共知者或见证者是同一个人。

当动词 sýnoida 转换成名词 syneídēsis 时, 一些重要的事情就会出现。 Syneídēsis 的字面意思是“自知的自我”。但值得注意的是, syneídēsis 不仅是自我的另一个行为, 还表示自我里面的行为主体。这个名词的发展标志着认知了另

the self; it is now an agent within the self. The development of the noun form signaled the recognition of an alter ego, another self within the self that observes the self and then testifies as to what it sees.

D. Relation to Self-consciousness. While the tendency is to see the sole function of conscience as the making of moral judgments, the term syneidēsis actually has a broader meaning than that of a moral witness. As observed above, syneidēsis literally means the self knowing with or observing itself. It should be noted that the basic factor here is not morality but self-awareness. While self-awareness usually has moral dimensions, this is not necessarily or invariably the case. Self-awareness may cover more than awareness of one's moral status. Literally the term can include all that belongs to the self engaged in the act or reflecting upon itself.

II. Usage.-A. Secular Greek. Usage in secular Greek is especially important in the case of syneidēsis, since there is no OT background of meaning on which to draw. Whatever the NT writers did with the concept, they started not with a Hebrew concept to be translated but rather with a term that gained its meaning in the Greek culture. Since, as indicated above, the noun form syneidēsis appears to have developed from the reflexive verb form synoida emautō, the usage of that verb form deserves some attention.

The form occurs twice in the trial of Socrates. Socrates uses the expression in his own defense when he explains that

D. 与“自我意识”的关系。虽然人们通常只看到良心的道德审判功能，但 syneidēsis 一词实际有比道德见证更广泛的含义。如上文所说，syneidēsis 一词的字面意思是自知或自省自我。值得注意的是，这里的基础要素不是道德，而是自我意识。尽管自我意识通常有道德维度，但是实际上并非始终如此。自我意识可能包括了对道德地位的意识。这个词的字面意思可能包括了所有从属于行为主体或自省者的事物。

II. 用法。A. 世俗希腊人的用法。由于从《旧约》中无法找到 syneidēsis 含义的背景，因此 syneidēsis 一词在世俗希腊人中的应用显得尤为重要。无论《新约》作者怎样理解 syneidēsis 一词，他们开始时没有将这个当作是一个翻译过来的希伯来语概念，而是将它当作一个源于希腊文化的词汇。如上文所说，由于 syneidēsis 这一名词衍生自反身动词 synoida emautō，因此需要注意反身动词 synoida emautō 的用法。

syneidēsis 在苏格拉底的审判中出现两次。苏格拉底在为自己辩护时使用了这个词，他解释说，他的质疑方法源自于

his questioning method arises from his being “aware within myself” of his complete ignorance. Alcibiades uses the same expression in declaring that he is “aware within myself” that he is helpless to resist Socrates while listening to him. In both instances there is self-awareness: Socrates is aware of his own ignorance, Alcibiades of his own helplessness. However, moral self-awareness does not seem to be involved in either instance, demonstrating that not morality but self-awareness is the more basic ingredient in the concept.

The noun form syneidēsis also may reflect only self-awareness in the broader sense rather than something necessarily moral. Chrysippus, a Stoic philosopher, is cited by Diogenes Laertius (Vitae Philosophorum vii.85) as saying, “It is suitable for every living thing to be aware of its own structure and of itself.” Here syneidēsis plainly refers to self-consciousness but appears to have no clear moral content.

Nevertheless, in secular Greek most appearances of the reflexive verb form synoida emautō and the noun form syneidēsis involve some definite moral self-awareness. Many instances show a keen grasp of the inner pain and damage that can be inflicted upon the self by the moral disapproval of the conscience. For example, Socrates refers to the bad conscience of those who bore false witness against him (Xenophon Apologia Socratis 24). Orestes, the matricide, identifies conscience as the sickness that has destroyed him (Euripides Orestes 396). Democritus (297) writes of those who suffer greatly because of awareness of their evil-doing. Plutarch gives a vivid description of the conscience that reminds people of their sins and evokes the torments of hell (De tranquillitate animi 476–477a). In each of these instances conscience appears as an accuser within, bearing a moral witness regarding the evil behavior of the person and inflicting inward pain by an attack on his moral worth.

It should not be concluded, however, that the Greek culture saw the moral function of conscience as simply that of inflicting pain. In a passage sometimes attributed to the Stoic philosopher Epictetus there is a striking insight into the Greek view of conscience. “When we were children our parents handed us over to a nursery slave who should watch over us everywhere lest harm befall us. But when we were grown up, God hands us over to the conscience implanted in us, to protect us. Let us not in any way despise its protection for should we do so we shall be both ill-pleasing to God and have our own conscience as an enemy” (Pierce, p. 41). Whatever its true authorship may have been, the view of conscience appearing in the passage is illuminating. The conscience, like the nursery slave, is a kind of substitute parent. Its inner voice is not by nature the voice of an enemy, not just an instrument producing pain. The conscience, until alienated, is seen as having a positive and protective purpose. It is advisable and possible to stay on good terms with this inner voice.

In summary, secular Greek usage does not always give conscience a moral meaning, for conscience includes self-awareness in the broader sense. Nevertheless there was a highly developed awareness of the capacity of the conscience to inflict intense inward pain upon those who reject its testimony. Conscience is basically, however, a positive rather than a negative ingredient, and one is well-advised to live in such a way as to be on good terms with one's conscience.

总而言之，syneidēsis 一词在世俗希腊语中的用法不总是有道德意义，因为良心还有更广泛的自我意识的含义。然而，良心会严厉地惩罚那些拒绝良心见证的人，这是一个非常成熟的意识。从根本上说，良心是一个积极要素，而不是一

B. NT. The term syneidēsis does not occur in any of the four Gospels, probably reflecting the Hebraic orientation of the writers. It was the apostle Paul, familiar with Greek culture, who first used the term and whose usage is by far the most extensive among the biblical writers.

Nowhere does he give a definition of conscience. Perhaps he comes closest in Rom. 2:15f. as he writes of the Gentiles, the law, and their conscience: "They show that what the law requires is written on their hearts, while their conscience also bears witness and their conflicting thoughts accuse or perhaps excuse them on that day when, according to my gospel, God judges the secrets of men by Christ Jesus." Here the conscience is seen as an inner witness in all human beings, even the Gentiles who "have not the law." This witness evaluates and may either excuse or accuse, approve or disapprove.

When the view of conscience expressed here is compared with that found in secular Greek usage, there appears to be nothing new in the concept itself. The inner witness as described by Paul was well known to the Greeks. What is new is the way Paul relates the inner witness of conscience to the law of God written in every human heart and to God's judgment of all mankind in Christ Jesus.

B. 《新约》中的用法。四福音书中没有使用 syneidēsis 一词，这可能反映出福音书作者都接受的是希伯来文化。使徒保罗熟知希腊文化，他最先使用 syneidēsis 一词，因此，保罗可谓是所有《圣经》作者中最常使用 syneidēsis 一词的人。

保罗并没有给出 syneidēsis 的定义。在《罗马书》2:15-16 中，保罗可能给出了最接近 syneidēsis 的定义，“这是显出律法的功用写在他们心版上，他们是非之心同作见证，并且他们的思念互较量，或以为是，或以为非，就在神藉耶稣基督审判人隐秘事的日子，照着我的福音所言”。在这段经文中，良心被看作是内在的见证人，甚至“没有律法”的外邦人，也有良心作见证。通过良心的见证，可能会作出宽恕或谴责，同意或不同意的判断。

与世俗希腊语中的用法相比，《新约》中对良心观点的阐述可能没有任何新意。希腊人非常熟悉保罗所说的内在见证。但保罗将良心的内在见证与神刻在每个人心中的律法和神藉着基督耶稣做的判决联系在一起。保罗承认希腊人知晓良心是内在的见证，但他也给出了自己对良心见证的观点。

What Paul appears to have done is to recognize the inner agent known to the Greeks as conscience, but to give his own version of the content of its testimony.

One group of Paul's references to conscience relates to the issue of meats offered to idols. These passages include 1 Cor. 8:7, 10, 12 and 10:25, 27–29, and provide important insight into the meaning of conscience as Paul sees it.

In relation to meats offered to idols the conscience of some is weak. Its testimony may be uncertain, confused, or in error. Paul recognizes that the conscience of some testifies that eating meats offered to idols is wrong in itself. Paul does not agree with the judgment of their conscience. He declares that “an idol has no real existence” and “there is no God but one.” Nevertheless, even the weak or mistaken conscience should not be defiled (1 Cor. 8:7). One should not be pressured or encouraged to act in defiance of his conscience, because the offended conscience has great destructive power (8:11). Therefore those whose consciences are strong need to respect the consciences of the weak. One whose conscience is strong need not be bound by the conscience of the weak. There is a liberty of conscience that is not overruled by another man's scruples. One may “eat whatever is sold in the meat market without raising any question on the ground of conscience, for the earth is the Lord's and everything in it.” But this liberty must be exercised in a way that shows caring concern for the problem of the weak. To tempt the weak to violate his conscience, and thus expose him to the destructive power of the violated conscience, is a sin against Christ (8:12).

The same concerns for the scruples of the weak are voiced in Rom. 14, although the term syneidēsis does not appear there. In v.1 Paul refer to those who are weak in faith (pístis) rather than weak in conscience (syneidēsis). The fact that Paul makes the same point in these two ways suggests the close relationship in Paul's mind between faith and conscience. For Paul, weakness of conscience is weakness of faith, and to do harm to a brother's relationship with his conscience is to do harm to his faith.

Elsewhere Paul also draws an intimate connection between faith and conscience. 1 Tim. 1:18f. refers to waging the good warfare, "holding faith and a good conscience." In the same reference he goes on to declare: "By rejecting conscience, certain persons have made shipwreck of their faith." He affirms the same importance of a good conscience in 1 Tim. 3:9 where he declares that deacons "must hold the mystery of the faith with a clear conscience."

Paul also testifies of his own good conscience: "I thank God whom I serve with a clear conscience" (2 Tim. 1:3). "I have lived before God in all good conscience up to this day" (Acts 23:1). "So I always take pains to have a clear conscience toward God and toward men" (Acts 24:16).

There are five occurrences of syneidēsis in the Epistle to the Hebrews. He. 9:9 speaks of perfecting the conscience of the worshiper, which cannot be accomplished by gifts and sacrifices. He. 9:14 affirms that the blood of Christ will

保罗还见证了他自己的清洁的良心：“我感谢神，我用清洁的良心所侍奉的神”（提后 1:3）。“我在神面前行事为人都是凭着良心，直到今日”（徒 23:1）。“我因此自己勉励，对神对人，常存无亏的良心”（徒 24:16）。

Syneidēsis 一词在《希伯来书》中出现五次。《希伯来书》9:9中提到所献的礼物和祭物，就着良心说，都不能叫礼拜的人得以完全。《希伯来书》9:14中提到基督的血“能洗净你们的心，除去你们的死行，使你们侍奉那永生神”。《希伯

“purify your conscience from dead works to serve the living God.” He. 10:2, where “consciousness of sin” appears instead of “conscience,” is part of a passage pointing out the need for repetition in the sacrificial system because of the inability of the sacrifices to make perfect those who draw near. If the worshipers had once been cleansed, there would no longer be any “consciousness of sin.” He. 10:22 contains an exhortation to “draw near ... with our hearts sprinkled clean from an evil conscience.” He. 13:18 says “pray for us, for we are sure that we have a clear conscience.”

In these passages the writer of Hebrews does not define or develop the function of conscience, but sees conscience as that which is defiled and in need of purification or cleansing, a cleansing that cannot be achieved by anything less than the sacrifice of Christ. In common with Paul, the writer of Hebrews sees the change from a bad conscience to a good or clear conscience as being essential to salvation.

1 Peter contains two references to “conscience.” (The other use of syneidēsis, in 2:19, seems to mean “consciousness, awareness.”) 1 Pet. 3:16 exhorts, “Keep your conscience clear, so that when you are abused, those who revile your good behavior in Christ may be put to shame.” 1 Pet. 3:21 speaks of baptism “not as a removal of dirt from the body but as an appeal to God for a clear conscience.”

Both references convey insight. The first shows that a clear conscience enables one to endure persecution. Battles without can be handled if there is no

来书》10:2 中使用了 “consciousness of sin” (“罪的意识”), 而不是 “conscience” (“良心”), 这节经文指出那些近前来的人每年都献一样的祭物, 献了又献, 因为祭物无法让献祭的人的良心得到洁净。如果礼拜的人的良心一旦被洁净, 就不再有 “罪的意识”。《希伯来书》10:22 中劝勉 “洒去我们心中天良的亏欠……来到 神的面前”。《希伯来书》13:18 中提到 “请你们为我们祷告, 因我们自觉良心无亏”。

《希伯来书》的作者 在经文中并没有定义或进一步发展良心的作用, 而是认为良心已经有亏, 需要洁净, 只有藉着基督献祭才能洁净良心。《希伯来书》的作者像保罗一样, 认为从不好的良心转变为无亏的良心是得救恩的必要条件。

《彼得前书》曾两次提及 “良心” (《彼得前书》2:19 中的 syneidēsis 似乎表示 “意识”)。《彼得前书》3:16 中劝勉道 “存着无亏的良心, 叫你们在何事上被毁谤, 就在何事上可以叫那诬赖你们在基督里有好品行的人自觉羞愧”。《彼得前书》3:21 中提到洗礼 “不在乎除掉肉体的污秽, 只求在 神面前有无亏的良心”。

这两处引文给出了深刻的见解。《彼得前书》3:16 中提到无亏的良心可使人忍受迫害。内无争竞则外患可除。《彼得前书》3:21 中将洗礼与良心联系在一起, 在洗

battle going on within. The second relates baptism to the conscience as an appeal for cleansing. As with Paul and the writer of Hebrew, Peter sees the clear conscience as being very important to the Christian life.

III. Biblical Theological Interpretation.-A. Why No OT Term? If the conscience, and especially the clear conscience, is so important to salvation, why does not the conscience receive more attention in the OT? Is this a deficiency in the OT?

It is more than likely that the differences between the Hebrew and Greek minds account for the lack of a term for conscience in the OT. While the Hebrew mind tended to focus outside of man, on God and His law as revealed, the Greek mind was more introspective and had more tendency to examine the inner workings of man's psychology. While the OT did not possess any terminology that sharply identified the conscience, it did stress the importance of righteousness in relation to both God and fellow man and the deep healing and peace signified by šālôm.

B. Whose Voice is the Conscience? If the conscience is recognized as an alter ego, an inner voice that bears witness to the self, the question inevitably arises: Where does that inner voice come from and whose voice is it that speaks? Textual and linguistic evidence does not immediately settle this question, and views have differed widely.

One view tends to see the conscience as the voice of God Himself speaking within. Conscience is then regarded as

礼时需要洁净良心。彼得与保罗和《希伯来书》作者一样，认为无亏的良心对基督徒的生活来说非常重要。

III. 圣经神学解释。A. “良心”为什么不是《旧约》词汇？如果良心，特别是无亏的良心对救赎而言非常重要，为什么《旧约》不深入地阐述良心呢？这是《旧约》的不足之处吗？

《旧约》中没有“良心”这个词很可能是由希伯来人和希腊人之间的思想差异造成的。希伯来人更关注人类以外的事，如上帝和祂的律法所揭示的思想，希腊人更加注重内省，更侧重于省察人类心理的内在作用。虽然《旧约》中没有准确表达“良心”的词语，但是，《旧约》确实强调公义对于上帝和信徒的重要性，以及 šālôm 所表达的心灵深处的治愈和平安。

B. “良心”是谁的声音？如果良心是另一个自我，是见证自我的内心的声音，那么问题来了：内心声音从何而来？又是谁发出的内心声音呢？原文证据和语言证据并没有直接解决这个问题，人们对此也众说纷纭。

有人认为，良心是内心中上帝的声音。良心就是与神权交谈，良心见证的有效性不容质疑。顺从良心是每个人应尽的

speaking with divine authority, and the validity of its testimony can never be challenged. Duty to one's conscience then is simple obedience. 义务。

Another view sees that inner voice as merely another element in the human makeup. On this basis the testimony of conscience is regarded as only a subjective judgment. Like other subjective judgments it can be freely challenged or even lightly dismissed. It speaks with no authority, for it has no objective reference.

Neither of the above views, at least when so simply stated, fits the biblical data on conscience. Paul makes clear that the conscience is not to be treated simply as the voice of God, for the conscience can be weak, or mistaken, and does involve subjective judgment (1 Cor. 8). However, the conscience is also not to be lightly dismissed or treated with disrespect, for a clear conscience is very important to one's faith. One cannot defile the conscience without serious spiritual consequences.

The Greek word syneidēsis itself provides some basis for understanding whose voice conscience is. Conscience is literally "the self that knows with itself." It is, in other words, the self looking at itself from the viewpoint of another person. Conscience is the internalized voice of those whose judgment of a person counts with him. It is the inner voice that testifies for the moral authorities that we recognize.

Some voice of conscience speaks to all (Rom. 2:15). But the content of that voice varies according to the authorities

至少可以说，如果像这样简单地陈述观点，以上观点都不符合《圣经》中关于“良心”的解释。保罗清楚地解释道，不能简单地将良心视为神的声音，因为良心既有软弱的，也有错误的，而且还包含着主观判断（林前 8）。不可轻视或不尊重良心，因为无亏的良心对一个人的信仰来说至关重要。被损害的良心必会带来严重的精神伤害。

希腊语 syneidēsis 可为研究良心是谁的声音提供一些基本的参考。良心的字面意思是“自知的自我”。换句话说，是从另一个人的角度看待自我。良心是与被判断方一起作出判断的人的内在声音。良心是为我们认可的道德权威作见证的内在声音。

每个人都能听到良心的声音（罗 2:15）。但根据我们有意识或无意识地承认的权威和价值标准的不同，良心的声音也各

and values that we consciously or unconsciously recognize. For some the voice of conscience may reflect merely the voices of family, friends, and society. But a sensitive Christian conscience speaks in behalf of the values of the Christian fellowship, and, beyond these, is responsive to God as He reveals Himself in the Scriptures, in His law, and in the person of Christ.

C. Does the Conscience Speak Only Negatively? C. A. Pierce, in a very detailed study of conscience in the NT, concludes that conscience is always and only a negative or disapproving voice. He maintains that the numerous references to a “good” conscience in the words of Paul and other NT writers means only the absence of the voice of conscience. The good conscience is the silent conscience. Whenever the conscience speaks, as he sees it, it speaks disapprovingly and inflicts pain. This conclusion is defended after a detailed examination of all the NT materials on conscience.

That analysis appears to fail to do justice to the “excusing” conscience of Rom. 2:15 and to the positive testimony of the good conscience (e.g., 2 Cor. 1:12), which is more than mere silence. However, more than the interpretation of a few passages is at stake. At stake is the nature of conscience itself. If the voice of conscience is, as observed above, the internalized voice of all the authorities that we recognize, the question is whether those authorities speak only negatively in people’s lives. While it is undeniable that both external authorities and the internalized voice of conscience speak more negatively than positively,

C. 良心只有消极意义吗？皮尔斯(C. A. Pierce)仔细研究了《新约》中的良心后得出结论，良心总是而且只是一种消极或不赞同的声音。他认为，保罗和其他《新约》作者屡次提到的“无亏的”良心仅仅意味着不存在良心的声音。无亏的良心是沉默的良心。正如他的理解，良心所说的都是消极的，都给人带来痛苦。在仔细地研究《新约》中关于良心的所有材料后，这一结论得到了证明。

那个分析似乎无法公平地评判《罗马书》2:15 中的“是非”之心和无亏良心的积极见证（如，林后 1:12），无亏的良心不仅仅是静默的良心。不过，不止是几段经文的解释出现了争议。关于良心的性质也有争议。如上文所述，如果良心的声音是所有权威的内心声音，那么问题是，这些权威是否在人们的生活中只发出消极的声音。外部权威和内在的良心更多地发出消极的声音，虽然这一点是毋庸置疑的，但是这并不是因为那是它们发声的唯一方式。

this is not because that is the only way they can speak.

D. Does the Conscience Speak Only in Relation to Past Acts? This question is related to the previous one. Those who hold the narrower view that the conscience speaks only negatively tend also to hold that the conscience speaks only after the act. However, if the voice of conscience, as indicated above, is the internalized voice of all the authorities that we recognize, then there is an antecedent conscience, a voice that urges the right, as well as a subsequent conscience, the voice that protests the wrong. Once again, the conscience of a particular individual may tend to speak only negatively and after the fact, but this is not required by the nature of conscience.

E. How Reliable Is the Conscience? The inner voice of conscience is not always accurate in its testimony. It bears witness to the standards and values of the authorities that we recognize, but as with any witness, its testimony may be inaccurate. 1 Cor. 8 shows that the conscience can be in error in judging the eating of certain meats as sinful, when nothing is objectively wrong in eating the meat. The internalized voice may inadequately represent the standards from which it speaks. This can be true whether what is being voiced is the mores of society, the values of the parent, or the Word of God. The voice of conscience, as any other part of the human condition, is fallible and needs correction.

Nevertheless, it should be remembered that Paul warns that even the weak

D. 良心之音只与过往行为有关吗？这一问题与上一个问题有关。那些坚持狭隘的良心观的人认为仅仅发出消极的声音，他们倾向于认为良心仅在事后发声。如果正如上文所述，良心的声音是我们认可的所有权威的内在声音，那么就有一个催人正确行事的事先良心和一个谴责人的错误的事后良心。此外，某个人的良心可能只在事后发出消极的声音，但是，良心的本质并没有这样的要求。

E. 良心有多可靠？良心的内在声音所作的见证并非总是准确的。良心为我们认可的所有权威的标准和价值观作见证，不过，良心的见证同其他所有的见证一样，也可能是不准确的。《哥林多前书》第 8 章表明，良心可能错判吃祭偶像之物的人是有罪的，但客观地讲，吃祭偶像的食物并没有损害。这个内在的声音可能不恰当地说出了它所依赖的标准。无论良心的评判对象是社会的道德标准、父母的价值观、还是上帝的道，良心的评判都有可能是不恰当的。良心的声音同人类境况的其他部分一样，都容易犯错，需要修正。 conscience must be taken seriously (1 Cor. 8; 10). It is wrong to violate the conscience, whether the conscience is strong or weak. Violating the conscience touches off a war within that is very damaging to the person and destructive of faith.

F. Can the Conscience Be Trained? As the internalized voice of the recognized authorities, the conscience is not a static thing. It is capable of growth and is, in fact, in a continual process of being shaped by social influences. The consciences of all are shaped by the standards of the company they keep and the groups in which they share. The Christian conscience is in a lifelong process of being shaped by the Word of God in the fellowship of believers. One of the purposes of the communion of the saints and the admonition of the Church is the shaping of the moral discernment of the individual in order that he grow up into mature discernment (cf. Eph. 4:13).

G. How Does Conversion Affect Conscience? As observed earlier, in his usage Paul draws an intimate connection between faith and the conscience. A good conscience is very important to the life of faith. However, this intimate connection may tempt some to make easy generalizations about the relation between conversion and the conscience. Generalizations about conscience and conversion or conscience and faith should be examined in the light of the NT materials.

Conversion should not be construed in such a way that the awareness of conscience appears as a product of conversion, as if apart from conversion

无论是软弱的良心还是坚定的良心，违背良心都是错误的。违背良心会引发内心的争斗，进而给人带来伤害，毁灭信心。

F. 可以通过训练获得良心吗？良心是被认可权威的内在声音，不是一个静态事物。良心也会在社会的影响下不断成长。群体的标准塑造了所有人的良心。基督徒的良心终生受到弟兄相交中神的话语的影响。圣徒相通以及教会训诫的目的在于塑造每个信徒的道德辨别能力，从而使他们逐渐形成成熟的辨别力（参：弗 4:13）。

G. 悔改是怎样影响良心的？正如上文所示，保罗将信心和良心密切的联系在一起。无亏的良心对信仰生活至关重要。有些人可能根据信心和良心的密切关系简单地总结出悔改和良心的关系。我们应该根据新约材料仔细地研究关于良心与悔改或良心与信心的总结。

不应该将良心的意识视为悔改的产物，好像如果没有悔改，良心必然是麻木不仁或沉默的。《罗马书》2:15 中保罗提到外邦人有良心作见证，这反映出他意识

the conscience is necessarily dull, or seared, or silent. In Rom. 2:15 Paul speak of the witness of conscience in the Gentiles, reflecting his awareness that the testimony of conscience is a broadly human experience. Moreover, Paul came to that observation using the terminology of the Greek mind. As shown earlier, awareness of the testimony of conscience actually arose not in the OT materials, nor in the Hebrew mind, but in the secular Greek culture preceding the time of Paul. Awareness of the testimony of conscience cannot be tied to Christian conversion, for that awareness entered the stream of biblical content from a secular Greek source.

On the other hand, it also will not do to say that apart from conversion all live in an agonized relationship with their consciences. It will not do to picture everyone apart from conversion as harried and guilt-burdened because of the relentless attacks of conscience; nor to conclude that anyone who commits a crime such as murder will necessarily suffer severe pangs of conscience. The conscience may indeed torment the individual who violates the standards with which he identifies. But if he thoroughly identifies with a group that for its own purposes sanctions murder (such as an underworld organization), his inner voice may testify only to the moral code of the group, and he may suffer no pangs of conscience. Also, when one acts in conflict with conscience, that inner voice may be deadened or “seared” (1 Tim. 4:2) by repeated violations until it has become feeble and scarcely heard. Thus it cannot be assumed that apart from conversion all live in an agonized relationship with their consciences.

此外，亦不可说如果没有悔改，所有人都将生活在良心的折磨中。不能说如果没有悔改，所有人都将承受因良心无情打击所带来的折磨和负罪感。更不能说犯罪的人（如杀人犯）必将忍受良心的折磨。良心确实会给那些故意违背行为准则的人带来痛苦。如果一个人完全认同一个因自身的缘故惩治凶犯的团体（如地狱），他内心的声音可能仅仅是这个团体道德准则的见证。如果一个人的行为违背了良心，那么这个人内心的声音会因屡违良心而减弱或“如同被热铁烙惯了一般”（提前 4:2），直至这个声音越来越微弱，几乎无法被听到。因此，不能认为如果没有悔改，所有人都生活在良心的折磨中。

Nevertheless, conversion, understood as a conscious turning to faith in Christ and obedience to Him, inescapably involves the conscience. In the NT materials the change in life's focal point involves new orientations for the conscience.

This reorientation of conscience appears to have more than one dimension. The conscience undergoes change of authority focus. A conscience that has previously emphasized the standards of parents and social groups begins to witness to the will of Christ and to find its focus there (cf. 1 Cor. 4:3f.).

There appears also to be a change of sensitivity for the previously dull or insensitive conscience. The conscience that may have been insensitive may be awakened to new and possibly agonizing awareness of the conflict between Christ's standards and one's own performance (cf. Rom. 3:20; 7:19).

There is also evidence of a change from an accusing conscience to a clear or good conscience. A conscience that in its accusations attacked the worth of the individual (Rom. 7:18) becomes a conscience assured and at peace (Rom. 8:1). As observed above, the good conscience is not merely an accuser turned silent, but is a positive witness to one's moral worth and standing (cf. Acts 23:1).

然而，悔改必然需要良心，悔改被认为是有意识地归向基督，顺从基督。在《新约》中，生活重心转变时需要良心重新确定方向。

良心的重新定向似乎不只有一个维度。良心的转变也经历了权威重心的转变。之前强调父母和社会准则的良心开始见证基督的意志并在那里找到重心所在（参：林前 4:3-4）。

从前麻木迟钝的良心似乎变成了敏感的良心。一个人昔日麻木的良心可能被唤醒，并在良心的折磨中意识到自己的行为不符合基督的标准（参：罗 3:20；7:19）。

控告的良心向无亏良心的转变也得到了证明。良心在控告时否定了个体的价值（罗 7:18），而现在变成了无亏安宁的良心（罗 8:1）。综上所述，无亏的良心不仅是一个变得沉默的控告者，也是一个人的道德价值和道德地位的积极见证者（参：徒 23:1）。

《修订标准译本》将《钦定版圣经》《诗篇》83:5 (希伯来语: lēb;《新英文译本》译为 “with one mind” [“同心”]) 和《西番雅书》3:9 (šēkem'ehād, 译为 “shoulder to shoulder” [“同心合意”]) 中的 “with one consent” 译为 “with one accord”,

6:9 šekmā is not as in the AV “by consent” but as in the RSV and NEB “to Shechem.” In Ps. 50:18 rāšā, AV “consented,” is in the RSV “be a friend,” NEB “choose as a friend.” Elsewhere in the OT, “consent” translates Heb. ’ābā (Jgs. 11:17; 1 K. 20:8; Prov. 1:10) and ’ōt (Gen. 34:15).

The main NT word is Gk. syneudokéō, used in Lk. 11:48; 1 Cor. 7:12f.; and also Acts 8:1, where Saul was said to be “consenting” to the murder of Stephen. The word implies a positive consent, meaning “share a favorable opinion,” literally “think well of along with,” and in Acts 22:20 the same word reflecting on the same incident is in the RSV “approving.” Other NT words are aphiēmi (Mt. 3:15), synkatatithēmi (Lk 23:51), and gnōmē (Philem. 14, AV “mind”).

汉译均为“同心”，将《钦定版圣经》《撒母耳记上》11:7 中的 “with one consent” (’iš;《新英文译本》译为“to a man”[“如同一人”]) 译为 “as one man” (“如同一人”)。然而，《何西阿书》6:9 中的 šekmā 的含义不是《钦定版圣经》中的 “by consent” (“同心”)，而是《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》中的 “to Shechem” (“往示剑”)。《钦定版圣经》将《诗篇》50:18 中的 rāšā 译为 “consented” (“与……同伙”)，《修订标准译本》译为 “be a friend” (“与……成为朋友”)，《新英文译本》译为 “choose as a friend” (“选……为朋友”)。《旧约》中其他地方用 “consent” (“允准、应允”) 翻译希伯来语 ’ābā (士 11:17; 王上 20:8; 箴 1:10) 和 ’ōt (创 34:15)。

希腊语 syneudokéō 是一个主要的新约词语，《新约》《路加福音》11:48;《哥林多前书》7:12-13 和《使徒行传》8:1 中都使用了这个词，《使徒行传》8:1 中提到扫罗 “喜悦” 司提反被杀。该词含有积极同意的意思，意为 “共同赞成一个看法”，字面意思是 “与……一同赞赏……”，《使徒行传》22:20 中提到相同事件的时候用的也是同一个词，《修订标准译本》译为 “approving” (“赞同”)。其他的《新约》词汇还有 aphiēmi (太 3:15)、synkatatithēmi (路 23:51) 和 gnōmē (门 1:14,《钦定版圣经》译为 “mind” [“意思”])。

Both 1 Cor. 10:28 and Acts 16:3 (NEB “consideration”; AV, RSV, “because of”) have the Greek preposition diá with the accusative case, expressing “on account of” or “because of.”

AGREED TOGETHER. Secret agreement to do wrong against a person or state. These terms may indicate formation of an agreement to commit wrong (Gen. 37:18; 2 Ch. 24:21; Ps. 83:5 [MT 6; Heb. yā'aš; cf. v. 3 (MT 4)]; Acts 23:13), the act of violence (1 K. 16:20; 2 K. 10:9; 15:15), or the perpetrators (2 S. 15:12; cf. 2 Ch. 24:26; 33:25). In combination, the noun and verb mean "make a conspiracy," indicating both the joining together and the resolution (2 K. 12:20 [MT 21]; 14:19 [par. 2 Ch. 25:27]; 15:30).

Although the basic sense is to do wrong against another (Gen. 37:18; Acts 23:13), conspiracy is most often an attempt to gain royal power (1 S. 22:8, 13; 2 S. 15:12, 31), usually involving assassination (1 K. 15:27; 2 K. 12:20 [MT 21]; 14:19 [par. 2 Ch. 25:27]; 15:25). When an individual claims the deed (1 K. 16:9, 16, 20, AV "treason"; cf. 15:15, 30), the sense may be "plot." Amos is accused of threatening Jeroboam's power (Amos 7:10).

A conspiracy may be a political alliance (Ps. 2:1; Isa. 28:12; AV "confederacy"; NEB "say 'too hard'"; cf. AV in 2 K. 17:4 [RSV "treachery"; NEB "was being disloyal"]; Neh. 4:8 [RSV "plotted together"; NEB "banded together"]).

The AV translates gešer in Jer. 11:9 as "conspiracy," indicating religious or

为 "[be] in turmoil" ("骚动"); 【yā'aš】 (诗 83:5 [《马所拉文本》6]); 《钦定版圣经》译为 CONSULTED TOGETHER ("同心商议"; "彼此商议"); 《新英文译本》译为 AGREED TOGETHER ("同心商议")。同心密谋对付某人或背叛国家。这些词语指的是同谋犯罪(创 37:18; 代下 24:21; 诗 83:5 [《马所拉文本》6; 希伯来语: yā'aš; 参: 诗 83:3 (《马所拉文本》4)]; 徒 23:13); 同谋背叛(王上 16:20; 王下 10:9; 15:15), 或同谋叛逆的势派(撒下 15:12; 参: 代下 24:26; 33:25)。动名词组合意为"密谋", 有联合起来并一同决定的意思(王下 12:20 [《马所拉文本》21]; 14:19 [平行经文代上 25:27]; 15:30)。

尽管该词的基本含义是同谋害他人(创 37:18; 徒 23:13), 但最常见的含义是密谋夺得王权(撒上 22:8, 13; 撒下 15:12, 31), 通常伴随着暗杀事件(王上 15:27; 王下 15:27 [《马所拉文本》21]; 14:19 [平行经文代下 25:27 平行经文]; 15:25)。当有人主张采取这种行动的时候(王上 16:9, 16, 20, 《钦定版圣经》译为 "treason" ["背叛"]; 参: 王上 15:15, 30), 该词便意为"密谋"; "图谋"。阿摩司被指控图谋背叛耶罗波安(摩 7:10)。

一个密谋集团可能是一个政治联盟(诗 2:1; 赛 28:12; 《钦定版圣经》译为 "confederacy" ["同谋背叛"]; 《新英文译本》译为 "say 'too hard'" ["同谋背叛"]; 参: 《钦定版圣经》的《列王纪下》17:4 [《修订标准译本》译为 "treachery" ("背叛"); 《新英文译本》译为 "was being disloyal" ("背叛")]; 尼 4:8 [《修订标准译本》译为 "plotted together" ("同谋"); 《新英文译本》译为 "banded together" ("同谋")])。

《钦定版圣经》的《耶利米书》11:9 将 gešer 译为 "conspiracy" ("阴谋"), 表 moral decay, thus a plot against the Covenant and its ideals. In Ezk. 22:25, the AV “conspiracy of her prophets” follows the MT (Heb. qešer n^ebī’e[y]hā); the RSV emends the text to read “her princes” (Heb. ‘āšer n^ešī’e[y]hā), following the LXX (Gk. hoi aphēgoúmenoi).

Heb. ṣûq “constrain,” whereas the NEB gives the later meaning “gripe”: “a bellyful of wind [rû (a)h, AV and RSV “spirit”] gripes me.”

Jesus in Lk. 12:50, looking ahead to His crucifixion, says, “I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how I am constrained [Gk. synéchō; AV “straitened”] until it is accomplished.” The verb can mean “occupied” with something, as in Acts 18:5, or “controlled,” as in 2 Cor. 5:14, but here most likely means “tormented” (cf. Mt. 4:24; Lk. 4:38; also Phil. 1:23). This torment was due not only to Jesus’ human fear of suffering and death, but also to His divine impatience to accomplish salvation, and divine sorrow over the divisions that He was to cause. In 1 Pet. 5:2 “by constraint” (Gk. anankastōs) means “by compulsion,” “as if forced.”

CONSUL

[Gk. hýpatos] (1 Macc. 15:16). One of two chief military and political magistrates of senatorial rank in the Roman republic. The identification of the consul in 1 Macc. 15:16 and the authenticity of his letter to Ptolemy are matters of debate.

CONSULT

《约伯记》32:18 中的希伯来语 ṣûq 译为 “constrain” (“激动”), 《新英文译本》则译为 “gripe” (“掌握、控制”): “a bellyful of wind [rû(a)h, 《钦定版圣经》和《修订标准译本》译为 “spirit” (“灵”)]gripes me” (“一阵阵的风催逼我”)。

在《路加福音》12:50 中, 耶稣预言祂钉十字架时说: “I have a baptism to be baptized with; and how I am constrained (希腊语: synéchō, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “straitened” [“迫切”]) until it is accomplished”(“我有当受的洗还没有成就, 我是何等地迫切”)。这个动词可能表示 “迫切地” 做某事 (如, 徒 18:5), 也可以表示 “催逼” (如, 林后 5:14), 但最有可能表示 “受苦” (参: 太 4:24; 路 4:38; 腓 1:23)。这种痛苦不仅仅是因为耶稣对疾病与死亡感到恐惧, 还因为祂迫切渴望应验救赎, 以及祂为自己所引起的纷争感到悲伤。在《彼得前书》5:2 中, “by constraint” (希腊语: anankastōs) 意为 “出于勉强” 或 “强迫”。

TAKE COUNSEL; NEB also CONFER, CONSPIRE, WHISPER; [‘āmaḏ]; AV STAND UP; [šā’al]; AV also ASK COUNSEL, ENQUIRE; NEB also MAKE INQUIRY, RESORT TO.

Heb dāraš means “resort to” or “seek”; it is used for inquiring of levitical priests and the judge (Dt. 17:9), mediums and wizards (Isa. 8:19), also idols and sorcerers (Isa. 19:3), or the Lord (Isa. 31:1). Šā’al, meaning “ask,” is rendered “consult” when used for inquiring of an oracle of God (2 S. 16:23) or of a medium (1 Ch. 10:13); or of a method of divination, consulting the teraphim (Ezk. 21:21). ‘Āmaḏ, meaning literally “stand” or “arise,” is used in Ezr. 2:63 of a priest’s referring to Urim and Thummim. Yā’aš has the more usual meaning of exchanging counsel. It is used of an action taken by enemies (Ps. 71:10; 83:3) and by David (1 Ch. 13:1), also rhetorically of the Lord (Isa. 40:14).

希伯来语 dāraš 意为“求问”或“寻求、寻找”;这个词用来表示求问祭司利未人和审判官(申 17:9)、交鬼的和行巫术的(赛 8:19)、偶像和念咒的(赛 19:3)或耶和華(赛 31:1)。Šā’al 意为“求、问”,当表示求问神的话(撒下 16:23)或求问交鬼的(代上 10:13);或以占卜的方式求问(结 21:21)时,这个词被译为“consult”(“求问”)。‘Āmaḏ 字面意思是“站起来”或“兴起”,在《以斯拉记》2:63 中用来表示用乌陵和土明决疑的祭司的兴起。Yā’aš 通常意为“彼此商议”。该词用于描述仇敌的商议(诗 71:10; 83:3),大卫与首领的商议(代上 13:1),还用来比喻耶和華的商议(赛 40:14)。

It may mean pulmonary consumption, which occurs frequently in Palestine; but from its association with fever in Lev. 26:16; Dt. 28:22, it is probably the much more common condition of wasting and emaciation from prolonged or often recurring attacks of malarial fever.

《新约》中还使用了希腊语 kataphágō (“吃尽”)、analískō (路 9:54; 加 5:15)、katanalískō (来 12:29)、aphanízō (太 6:19-20, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “corrupt” [“锈坏”])、ekkaíō (罗 1:27, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “burned” [“欲火攻心”]) 和 esthiō (来 10:27)。

CONSUMPTION 痲病

【希伯来语: šaḥepet——“消瘦”】; 《新英文译本》译为 “wasting disease” (“痲病”)。痲病是对忽视或违背法律之人的—种惩罚。这个词可能表示肺痲, 这种病在巴勒斯坦很常见; 《利未记》26:16 和《申命记》28:22 中都提到了同时染上痲病和热病, 染上痲病的人可能通常伴随着消瘦和憔悴的症状, 这些症状是由长时间忍受疟疾热引起的。

CONTAIN. 控制、禁欲

《钦定版圣经》用 “contain” (“控制”) 来翻译《哥林多前书》7:9 中的希腊语 enkrateúomai, 《修订标准译本》译为 “exercise self-control” (“自控”), 《新英文译本》译为 “control themselves” (“自控”)。在希腊文献中该词通常意为 “节制” 和 “禁欲”。

CONTENTIOUS.

In the OT “contend” usually translates Heb. rīb, “dispute” or “quarrel” (AV also “plead,” “strive,” “debate,” “chide”; NEB also “dispute,” “defy,” “fight,” “accuse,” etc.), sometimes with the formal sense of “engage in a lawsuit.” In Mic. 6:2 yākaḥ refers to arguing a case in a court of law. Among other OT terms, Heb. ‘āsaq (Gen. 26:20) and nāṣā (Nu. 26:9) mean “quarrel,” and gārā (as used in Dt. 2:5, 9, 19, 24) includes the possibility of battle (AV also “meddle”; NEB “provoke”). The word in Dnl. 10:21 is a form of ḥāzaq, “be strong,” “take courage.” Isa. 41:12 uses a noun, maṣṣūt, “your adversaries,” whence the RSV “those who contend with you.” Terms used in the NT are: Gk. diamáchomai (Acts 23:9, NEB “take sides”); éstin ... pālē (Eph. 6:12, AV “wrestle”) and epagonízomai (Jude 3), both athletic imagery; and diakrino (Jude 9), “dispute.” “Contention” in Prov. 15:18 and Hos. 4:4 translates Heb. rīb, which in Jer. 15:10 and Hab. 1:13 is rendered “strife” while “contention” is used for māḏôn. In Acts 15:39 the term is Gk. paroxysmós, here used in the unfavorable sense “irritation,” “sharp disagreement” (Bauer). “Contentious” translates the Heb. midyānīm (cf. māḏôn above) in Prov. 21:9, 19; 25:24; 27:15, and Gk. philóneikos (lit “fond of victory”) in 1 Cor. 11:16. “Contenders” in Prov. 18:18 is supplied by the translators to render the sense of “powerful [persons].”

CONTENTIOUS. 争辩；竞争者；争竞；好争辩的

《旧约》中通常将希伯来语 rīb 译为 “contend”，这个希伯来语的含义是“争论”或“争吵”（《钦定版圣经》还译为 “plead” [“争论”]、“strive” [“争斗”]、“debate” [“辩论”]、“chide” [“争闹”]；《新英文译本》还译为 “dispute” [“辩论”]、“defy” [“怒骂”]、“fight” [“争战”]、“accuse” [“控告”]等），有时这个词还有“进行诉讼”的正式意义。《弥迦书》6:2 中 yākaḥ 指的是在法院中辩论案子。在其他《旧约》词汇中，希伯来语 ‘āsaq（创 26:20）和 nāṣā（民 26:9）有“争吵”的含义，gārā（申 2:5, 9, 19, 24）可能有争战的含义（《钦定版圣经》还译为 “meddle” [“干预”]；《新英文译本》译为 “provoke” [“争战”]）。《但以理书》10:21 中使用了 ḥāzaq 一词，这个词有“要坚强”、“不要害怕”的含义。《以赛亚书》41:12 中使用了名词 maṣṣūt，意思是“你的仇敌”，《修订标准译本》译为 “those who contend with you”（“与你争战的”）。《新约》中使用的词汇有：希腊语 diamáchomai（徒 23:9，《新英文译本》译为 “take sides” [“争辩”]）、éstin ... pālē（弗 6:12，《钦定版圣经》译为 “wrestle” [“争战”]）、epagonízomai（犹 1:3）、diakrino（意为“争辩”，犹 1:9），其中 éstin ... pālē 和 epagonízomai 都是描述行动敏捷的意象。《箴言》15:18 和《何西阿书》4:4 将希伯来语 rīb 译为 “contention”（“争辩”），《耶利米书》15:10 和《哈巴谷书》1:13 中则译为 “strife”（“相争”），而 “contention” 用来翻译 māḏôn。《使徒行传》15:39 中使用了希腊语 paroxysmós，这里采用了这个词的贬义，“恼怒”或“强烈反对”。《箴言》21:9, 19; 25:24; 27:15 中的希伯来语 midyānīm（参：上文的 māḏôn）和《哥林多前书》11:16 中的希腊语 philóneikos（字面意思是“喜欢胜利”）都被译为 “contentious”（“好争辩的”）。译者在《箴言》18:18

CONTENT; CONTENTMENT.

The Heb. yā'al is used in the somewhat stylized expression “content to dwell” in Ex. 2:21; Josh. 7:7; Jgs. 17:11, where it means little more than “be willing,” “agree,” “be (so) disposed.” In Lev. 10:20, “content” translates yātab b'ēnē, “be good in the eyes”; the NEB has “he deemed it right.” The RSV uses “content” in 2 K. 14:10 and Ezk. 16:47 not to translate a specific Hebrew word but to draw out the sense of the original.

In the NT the main word is Gk. arkéō (Lk. 3:14; 1 Tim. 6:8; He. 13:5; 3 Jn. 10), “be satisfied,” or even “make do,” as Lk. 3:14, NEB. In 2 Cor. 12:10 the word is eudokéō, “think well of,” for which the AV has “take pleasure in,” the NEB “am well content.”

The familiar passage Phil. 4:11, “I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content” (autárkēs), has a different interpretation in the NEB: “I have learned to find resources in myself whatever my circumstances.” This reading emphasizes the Stoic aspect of self-sufficiency present in the word; yet Paul is quick to state the ultimate source of his self-sufficiency: “him who empowers me” (v. 13). The substantive autárkeia, “contentment,” occurs in 1

CONTENT; CONTENTMENT. 甘心; 知足 《出埃及记》2:21; 《约书亚记》7:7; 《士师记》17:11 的程式化表达 “content to dwell” (“甘心同住”) 中使用了希伯来语 yā'al, 这个词比 “愿意”、“同意”、“乐意” 表达的程度更深。《利未记》10:20 中将 yātab b'ēnē 译为 “content” (“觉得合理”)、yātab b'ēnē 的意思是 “以为美”; 《新英文译本》译为 “he deemed it right” (“他觉得合理”)。《修订标准译本》的《列王记下》14:10 和《以西结书》16:47 中没有用 “content” (“觉得合理”) 去翻译某个希伯来词, 只是想借此表达原义。

《新约》中使用的主要词汇是希腊语 arkéō (路 3:14; 提前 6:8; 来 13:5; 约叁 1:10), 这个词的意思是 “满足” 或 “觉得合理” (如《新英文译本》的《路加福音》3:14)。《哥林多后书》12:10 中使用了 eudokéō 一词, 意思是 “赞赏”, 《钦定版圣经》译为 “take pleasure in” (“以……为喜乐”), 《新英文译本》译为 “am well content” (“以……为喜乐”)。

与之相似的经文是《腓立比书》4:11 “I have learned, in whatever state I am, to be content” (autárkēs), 《新英文译本》中给出了不同的翻译 “I have learned to find resources in myself whatever my circumstances”, 汉译均为 “我无论在什么景况下都可以知足, 我已经学会了”。这种理解强调了世上自给自足的苦行生活; 不过, 保罗紧接着便阐述了知足的终极根源: “靠着那加给我力量的” (腓 4:13)。《提摩太前书》6:6 中使用了名词性实词 autárkeia, 意思是 “知足”, 《新

The NT words for “contradict,” which mean “speak in opposition,” can have the sense “oppose” or “deny” (cf. Rom. 10:21; Lk. 20:27), or “dispute”; it is not clear whether they are ever used to mean “say the opposite.”

The antithéseis of 1 Tim. 6:20 are Gnostic teachings “antithetical” to Christian belief.

CONTRADICT 反驳

《钦定版圣经》译为 GAINSAY (“反驳”);《新英文译本》译为 REFUTE (“反驳”); 【antiléō】 (徒 13:45; 多 1:9);《钦定版圣经》还译为 “gainsayers” (“驳斥”);《新英文译本》还译为 “objectors” (“反驳者”, 多 1:9); 【anantírrhētos】 (“驳不倒的”, 徒 19:36);《钦定版圣经》译为 “cannot be spoken against” (“驳不倒的”);《新英文译本》译为 “are beyond dispute” (“驳不倒的”); CONTRADICTIONS (“反驳”) 【antithéseis】 (提前 6:20);《钦定版圣经》译为 OPPOSITIONS (“反对”)。《钦定版圣经》将希腊语 antilogía 译为 “contradiction” (“反驳”),《修订标准译本》译为 “(beyond)dispute” (“驳不倒的”, 来 7:7) 和 “hostility” (“顶撞”, 来 12:3)。

《新约》中表示“反驳”的希腊语意为“发言反对”, 也有“反对”或“反驳”(参: 罗 10:21; 路 20:27) 的含义或“争辩”的含义; 目前尚不清楚是否有“说反话”之意。

《提摩太前书》6:20 中 antithéseis 指的是与基督教信仰“对立的”诺斯底教义。

CONTRIBUTION

[Heb. ʿrûmâ, mʿnât (2 Ch. 31:3); Gk. koinōnía (Rom. 15:26; 2 Cor. 9:13), logía or logeía (1 Cor. 16:1f.)]; AV also OFFERING, PORTION (2 Ch. 31:3), OBLATIONS (31:14), COLLECTION (1 Cor. 16:1), GATHERINGS (16:2), DISTRIBUTION (2 Cor. 9:13); NEB also SHARE (2 Ch. 31:3), COMMON FUND (Rom. 15:26), COLLECTION (1 Cor. 16:1), COLLECTING (16:2).

According to 2 Ch. 31, King Hezekiah arranged for full support of the priests and Levites by means of contributions of produce from the people of Israel. This was so successful that special rooms had to be set aside to contain the contributions (31:11), and several men assigned to oversee and distribute them (vv. 12ff.). These contributions and their chambers are mentioned in Neh. 10:35–39; 12:44, 47; 13:5; and in 13:10–13 the practice is restored by Nehemiah, after a lapse while he was away visiting the court of Artaxerxes.

Acts 11:29f. tells of the contribution made by the church in Antioch, “every one according to his ability,” for the relief of Jerusalem Christians suffering

《钦定版圣经》和《修订标准译本》中的“walk contrary to”（“行事与……反对”）频繁地出现在《利未记》26:21–41中（希伯来语：hālak qerî），意思等同于《新英文译本》中的“defy”（“与……相违”）。

CONTRIBUTION 供物、燔祭、捐钱、进项

【希伯来语：ʿrûmâ, mʿnât（代下 31:3）；希腊语：koinōnía（罗 15:26；林后 9:13）、logía 或 logeía（林前 16:1-2）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 OFFERING（“供物”）、PORTION（“燔祭”，代下 31:3）、OBLATIONS（“供物”，代下 31:14）、COLLECTION（“捐钱”，林前 16:1）、GATHERINGS（“进项”，林前 16:2）、DISTRIBUTION（“捐钱”，林后 9:13）；《新英文译本》还译为 SHARE（“燔祭”，代下 31:3）、COMMON FUND（“捐项”，罗 15:26）、COLLECTION（“捐钱”，林前 16:1）、COLLECTING（“进项”，林前 16:2）。

根据《历代志下》31 的记载，希西家用以色列人的捐项全力支持祭司利未人。这事办得非常成功，以至于希西家不得不预备仓房储存供物（代下 31:11），并派去很多人监管供物和发放供物（代下 31:12 起）。《尼希米记》10:35–39；12:44, 47；13:5；13:10–13 中提到了这些供物和收存供物的屋子，尼希米在离开亚达薛西王的朝廷之后几天，就恢复了这种习俗。

from famine. The relief was sent by the hand of Paul and Barnabas, evidently on the visit related by Paul in Gal. 2:1ff. (cf. v. 10, “they would have us remember the poor”).

Another contribution for the Jerusalem poor is described in Rom. 15:25–27; 1 Cor. 16:1–4; 2 Cor. 8f. In these passages, Paul three times used the terms koinōnía and diakonía (diakonéō) in conjunction—at Rom. 15:25f.; 2 Cor. 8:4; 9:13. The diakonía refers to the “service” element of the contribution, and the koinōnía to the “fellowship” or “sharing” aspect (cf. He. 13:16). The fellowship of believers in Christ—in this case of gentile Christians with Jewish Christians—enabled them to share of their possessions, to have their goods in common as in Acts 4:32ff. (see COMMUNITY OF GOODS).

Of this second series of contributions we learn that they were made in Galatia, Corinth, Macedonia, and Achaia. At least in Galatia and Corinth they were made the first day of every week, from each “as he may prosper” (1 Cor. 16:2); and they were entirely voluntary in each church (2 Cor. 8:3f.). In spite of their poverty the Macedonians gave abundantly (8:2); Paul urged the relatively more wealthy Corinthian church to give to the poor “as a matter of equality” (v. 14). In the case of Corinth, Paul sent Titus and two others as an advance party to arrange for their gift (2 Cor. 8:16–9:5), to avoid “humiliation” in case some Macedonians happened to be with Paul when he came there, and to avoid the appearance of personal pressure by Paul. Paul planned to deliver the contributions to Jerusalem himself, along with others carefully chosen (Rom. 15:25; 1 Cor. 16:3f.); but he had the option of sending accredited delegates in his place, which it seems likely he did, since Acts nowhere mentions his delivering these gifts (but cf. Acts 24:17f.).

罗显然在《加拉太书》2:1 之后的救济访问中提到了这件事（参：《加拉太书》2:10, “只是愿意我们纪念穷人”）。

《罗马书》15:25–27；《哥林多前书》16:1–4 和《哥林多后书》8-9 中提到救济耶路撒冷穷人的另一笔捐项。保罗在《罗马书》15:25-26 和《哥林多后书》8:4；9:13 中同时使用 koinōnía 和 diakonía (diakonéō) 这两个词多达三次。Diakonía 指的是捐项中用作“供物”的部分，koinōnía 指的是“共享”的部分（参：来 13:16）。信徒（外邦人基督徒和犹太基督徒）在基督里彼此相交，共享财产，凡物公用（徒 4:32 起）（见 COMMUNITY OF GOODS [凡物公用]）。

加拉太、哥林多、马其顿和亚该亚地区的教会发起了第二波捐款。至少在加大太和哥林多的众教会，每逢七日的第一日，各人要“照自己的进项”抽出来留着（林前 16:2）；而且他们是甘心乐意地捐助（林后 8:3-4）。尽管马其顿人也很贫困，但是他们还是愿意显出乐捐的厚恩（林后 8:2）；保罗吩咐相对富裕的哥林多众教会，“为了均平”要将他们的富余补给穷人（林后 8:14）。至于哥林多，保罗派提多和两个兄弟先去，将捐资送到（林后 8:16–9:5），为避免保罗和马其顿人去时，却发现他们没有预备，反成了“羞辱”，也为了避免保罗的压力。保罗本计划精心挑选几人与他同去耶路撒冷送捐款（罗 15:25；林前 16:3-4）；但他最后决定选择可信的人代表他前往，这很像他的作风，因为《使徒行传》没有提到他有去送捐款（另参：徒 24:17-18）。

CONTRITE

[Heb. dakkā-‘bruised’] (Ps. 51:17; Isa. 57:15); NEB BROKEN; [nākēh] (Isa. 66:2); NEB DISTRESSED. A contrite heart or spirit is one in which the natural pride and self-sufficiency have been completely humbled by the consciousness of guilt. The theological term “contrition” designates more than is found in these passages. It refers to the grief experienced as a consequence of the revelation of sin made by the preaching of the law (Jer. 23:29). The Augsburg Confession (Art. XII) analyzes repentance into two parts, “contrition and faith,” the one the fruit of the preaching of the law, the other of the gospel. While contrition has its degrees and is not equal in all persons, the promise of forgiveness is not dependent upon the degree of contrition but solely upon the merit of Christ. It is not simply a precondition of faith, but as hatred of sin combined with the purpose, by God’s aid, to overcome it, it grows with faith.

CONTRITE 忧伤、痛悔

XII）将悔改分为两部分——“痛悔和信心”，痛悔是宣讲律法的成果，信心是传福音的成果。虽然每个人痛悔的程度不同，但宽恕罪的应许不取决于痛悔的程度，而是仅仅取决于基督的价值。痛悔不仅仅是信心的前提，而且是对罪的憎恶，以及在上帝的帮助下战胜罪的过程，随着信心的增长，痛悔的程度也越来越深。

CONTROVERSY 争辩、辩论

【希伯来语：riḅ；希腊语：zētēma, zētēsis】；《钦定版圣经》（《新约》）译为

44:24), CHARGE (Hos. 4:1), CASE (Mic. 6:2), DISPUTES (Acts 26:3), “mere verbal questions” (1 Tim. 6:4), SPECULATIONS (2 Tim. 2:23; Tit. 3:9). The OT references are to legal disputes, literal in Ezekiel and figurative, of Yahweh, in Hosea and Micah.

The “controversies” of the Jews which Paul mentions in Acts 26:3 are the many “questions of their law” (23:29), the casuistic disputes, which were well known to Agrippa. See also 18:15; 25:19f.

In his letters to Timothy and Titus, Paul finds it necessary to speak out against “stupid controversies,” disputes over minor details of the faith, quarrels over the law, “speculations” (ekzētēseis, 1 Tim. 1:4), and the like. These warnings testify to the many problems and disruptions in the early Church caused by “false teachers” and heretics of various persuasions, in this situation including evidently Judaizers of Crete and Ephesus. See PASTORAL EPISTLES III.B.3.

The Gk. zētēsis (zētēma) used in all these NT passages comes from zētēō, “seek,” “search out,” and is used of various kinds of investigations, usually controversial. Cf. Jn. 3:25; Acts 15:2, 7.

“Without controversy” in 1 Tim. 3:16, AV (Gk. homologouménōs), RSV “we confess,” means “beyond all doubt,” “indisputably,” “as all agree.”

QUESTIONS (“辩论”);《新英文译本》译为 DISPUTE (“争讼”，结 44:24)、CHARGE (“争辩”，何 4:1)、CASE (“争讼”，弥 6:2)、DISPUTES (“辩论”，徒 26:3)、“mere verbal questions” (“专好问难争辩言词”，提前 6:4)、SPECULATIONS (“辩论”，提后 2:23; 多 3:9)。《旧约》中这些词指的是律法的争辩，《以西结书》中使用了争辩的字面意思，而《何西阿书》和《弥迦书》中的“耶和华的争辩”属于比喻用法。

保罗在《使徒行传》26:3 中提到的犹太人的“辩论”指的是许多“律法的辩论”（徒 23:29），亚基帕王很熟悉犹太人的辩论。另见《使徒行传》18:15; 25:19-20。

在保罗给提摩太和提多的书信中，保罗认为必须要公开地反对“愚昧的争辩”、在信心的诸多次要细节上的争辩，以及对律法、“无稽之谈” (ekzētēseis, 提前 1:4) 等问题的争辩。这些警告说明因为受到“假先知”和许多异教徒的影响，早期教会存在许多问题，克里特岛和以弗所的犹太派基督徒显然也面临很多问题，见 PASTORAL EPISTLES III.B.3 (教牧书信 III.B.3)。

许多《新约》经文中的希腊语 zētēsis (zētēma) 源于 zētēō，意思是“寻找”、“查出”，这个词通常用于各种存有争议的调查中。参：《约翰福音》3:25；《使徒行传》15:2, 7。

《钦定版圣经》的《提摩太前书》3:16 将希腊语 homologouménōs 译为“without controversy” (“不以为然”)，《修订标准译文》译为“we confess” (“众人公认”)，这个希腊词语的意思是“毫无疑问”、“无可争辩”、“所有人都同意”。

CONVENIENT.

Archaic in the AV for “fitting,” “proper,” “necessary,” “suitable,” etc. In Prov. 30:8 it translates Heb. hōq (RSV “needful”), and in Jer. 40:4f. yāšār (“right”). “Convenient day” in Mk. 6:21 and “convenient season” in Acts 24:25 translate Gk. kairós, RSV “opportunity”; cf. Mk. 14:11 (eukairōs); 1 Cor. 16:12 (eukairéō). In Rom. 1:28, AV, “those things which are not convenient” (tá mē kathēkonta) means as in the RSV “improper” conduct. The other occurrences are for Gk. anēkō in Eph. 5:4 (“fitting”) and Philem. 8 (“required”).

CONVERSANT.

The Hebrew verb hālak is rendered by the obsolete term “conversant” (AV Josh. 8:35; 1 S. 25:15), meaning “go along with (them).”

CONVERSATION.

In the AV this word never has its modern significance, but means “behavior” or “conduct.” It occurs twice in the OT, for Heb. derek, “way” (Ps. 37:14; 50:23), several times in the NT for Gk. anastrophē or anastrophō, and also for politeiō (Phil. 1:27, RSV “manner of life”), politeuma (3:20, RSV “commonwealth”; see CITIZEN), and

CONVENIENT. 需要、恰当、合宜

《钦定版圣经》中表示“适合的”、“合适的”、“必要的”、“适当的”等含义的废词，“convenient”这个词用于翻译《箴言》30:8 中的希伯来语 hōq (《修订标准译本》译为“needful” [“需要的”]) 和《耶利米书》40:4-5 中的 yāšār。《马可福音》6:21 中的“convenient day” (“合适的日期”) 和《使徒行传》24:25 中的“convenient season” (“合适的季节”) 用于翻译希腊语 kairós, 《修订标准译本》译为“opportunity” (“机会”); 参:《马可福音》14:11 (eukairōs); 《哥林多前书》16:12 (eukairéō)。《钦定版圣经》的《罗马书》1:28 的“those things which are not convenient” (tá mē kathēkonta, “那些不合理的事”), 与《修订标准译本》中“improper” conduct (“不正当的事”) 意义相同。《以弗所书》5:4 和《腓利门书》1:8 将希腊语 anēkō 译为“convenient”, 汉译分别为“相宜”和“合宜”。

CONVERSANT. 与……来往

希伯来语动词被译成了一个过时的词语“conversant” (《钦定版圣经》, 书 8:35; 撒下 25:15), 意为“与他们来往”。

CONVERSATION. 行为

《钦定版圣经》从未使用过 conversation 的现代含义, 而是采用了这个词表示“行为”的含义。该词在《旧约》中出现过两次, 用来翻译希伯来语 derek (“行为”, 诗 37:14; 50:23), 该词在《新约》中出现过很多次, 用来翻译希腊语 anastrophē、anastrophō、politeiō (腓 1:27, 《修订标准译本》译为“manner of life” [“行事”])、politeuma (腓 3:20, trópos (He. 13:5).

CONVERSION

[Gk. epistrophé] (Acts 15:3); CONVERT (noun) [Gk. aparché] (“first convert[s]” Rom. 16:5; 1 Cor. 16:15); AV FIRSTFRUITS; [prosélytos] (Acts 13:43); AV PROSELYTE; NEB “gentile worshipper”; [neóphytos] (1 Tim. 3:6, “recent convert”); AV NOVICE. The verb “convert” occurs several times in the AV, but in the RSV and NEB is replaced by “turn,” “turn again,” “return,” etc.

I. Biblical Usage.—Of the Hebrew terms used for this concept, the most frequent is šûb. Others are pānā, hāpak, and sābab, in hiphil. They can be used in the literal sense, e.g., in Gen. 14:7; Dt. 17:16; Ps. 56:9 (MT 10); Isa. 38:8. In the later prophetic writings šûb, in both qal and hiphil, refers to the return from captivity (Isa. 1:27; Jer. 29:14; 30:3; Ezk. 16:53; Zeph. 2:7). In the figurative sense the reference is to turning (back) to God (e.g., 1 S. 7:3; 1 K. 8:33; Isa. 19:22; Joel 2:12; Am. 4:6ff.; Hos. 6:1; 7:10) or (less often) from God (e.g., Nu. 14:43; 1 S. 15:11; 1 K. 9:6).

The terms used in the LXX and the NT are stréphō and its cognates, especially epistréphō (see TDNT, VII, s.v. [Bertram]; Bauer, p. 301). Besides its literal uses, epistréphō is used of turning from the wrong to the right in Mt. 13:15;

《修订标准译本》译为“commonwealth”[“国民”], 见 CITIZEN[公民])和 trópos (来 13:5)。

CONVERSION 回转

【希腊语：epistrophé】(徒 15:3)；CONVERT (名词) (“归基督的人”)【希腊语：aparché】 (“初信主的”，罗 16:5；林前 16:15)；《钦定版圣经》译为 FIRSTFRUITS (“初结的果子”)；【prosélytos】(徒 13:43)；《钦定版圣经》译为 PROSELYTE (“改信仰者”)；《新英文译本》译为“gentile worshipper” (“外邦归信者”)；【neóphytos】(提前 3:6, “初入教的”)；《钦定版圣经》译为 NOVICE (“初入教的”)。动词 “convert” (“初信主的”) 在《钦定版圣经》中出现很多次，但在《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》中，这个词被 “turn” (“回转”)、 “turn again” (“回去”)、 “return” (“返回”) 等词取代。

I. 《圣经》中的用法。最常用来表示“回转”这一概念的希伯来词是 šûb。另外还有 pānā、hāpak 和 sābab 的使役主动干。通常取这些字的字面意思，如《创世记》14:7；《申命记》17:16；《诗篇》56:9 (《马所拉文本》10)；《以赛亚书》38:8 中的用法。在后期的先知书中，šûb 的简单主动干和使役主动干形式表示被掳的人归回 (赛 1:27；耶 29:14；30:3；结 16:53；番 2:7)。这个词的比喻意义是归向耶和华 (如，撒上 7:3；王上 8:33；赛 19:22；珥 2:12；摩 4:6 起；何 6:1；7:10) 或退回不跟从耶和华 (这种用法不太常见，如，民 14:43；撒上 15:11；王上 9:6)。

《七十士译本》和《新约》中使用了 stréphō 和它的同根词，特别是 epistréphō (见 TDNT, VII, 见词条 [Bertram]; Bauer, 301 页)。除了使用 epistréphō 的字面意思，epistréphō 在《马太福音》13:15；《马可福音》4:12；《路加福音》

Mk. 4:12; Lk. 1:16f.; 22:32; Acts 9:35; 11:21; 14:15; 15:19; 26:18; 28:17; 2 Cor. 3:16; 1 Thess. 1:9; Jas. 5:19f.; 1 Pet. 2:25 (from right to wrong cf. Gal. 4:9; hypostréphō in 2 Pet. 2:21). It is used in connection with metanoéō (“repent”) in Acts 3:19; 26:20. The root word stréphō is used in this sense in Mt. 18:3; Jn. 12:40.

II. General Modern Usage.—The term “conversion” is often used in “a very general way to stand for the whole series of manifestations just preceding, accompanying, and immediately following the apparent sudden changes of character involved” (Starbuck, p. 21). “‘To be converted’, ‘to be regenerated’, ‘to receive grace’, ‘to experience religion’, ‘to gain an assurance’, are so many phrases which denote the process, gradual or sudden, by which a self, hitherto divided and consciously wrong, inferior and unhappy, becomes unified and consciously right, superior and happy in consequence of its hold upon religious realities. That at least is what conversion signifies in general terms” (James, p. 189). In this general, imprecise way the term is used not only by psychologists, but also by theological writers and in common religious parlance. A converted person is a Christian, a believer, a person who “has religion,” who has experienced regeneration.

III. Theological Usage.—A. Varied Meaning. The biblical words for “turn” can have a very broad range of

1:16-17; 22:32; 《使徒行传》9:35; 11:21; 14:15; 15:19; 26:18; 28:17; 《哥林多后书》3:16; 《帖撒罗尼迦前书》1:9; 《雅各书》5:19-20; 《彼得前书》2:25 中还表示从错误中归正（或误入歧途，参：《加拉太书》4:9; 《彼得后书》2:21 中的 hypostréphō）。在《使徒行传》3:19; 26:20 中, epistréphō 和 metanoéō（意思是“悔改归正”）连用。在《马太福音》18:3 和《约翰福音》12:40 中, 词根 stréphō 也表示“回转”的含义。

II. 现代用法。“conversion”这个词通常用来表示“性质突然发生变化之前、过程中或紧随其后的一系列的标志” (Starbuck, 21 页)。“to be converted” [“归正”]、“to be regenerated” [“重生”]、“to receive grace” [“接受恩典”]、“to experience religion” [“归主”]、“to gain an assurance” [“获得应许”] 这些短语表示逐渐或突然归主的过程, 因为归了主, 那个昔日有纷争、故意犯错、卑微又不喜乐的自我变得团结、有意识地行义, 并变得高贵且充满喜乐, 这都是自我坚持宗教现实的缘故。这至少是归主的普通含义” (James, 189 页)。心理学家和神学作者及通用宗教用语中对该词的使用都不够准确。归主的人是一个基督徒、一个信徒和一个“有宗教信仰”并经历重生的人。

III. 神学上的用法。A. 多种不同的含义。《圣经》中表示“回转”的词语有很广泛的神学意义。对于耶和華来说, 这 theological meaning. In relation to God they can denote God's turning to His people, His turning from them, His turning of them, and even perhaps His preventing of their turning to Him. In relation to man the terms have similar range. People turn from God, turn (back) to idols, turn (again) from idols, turn (back) to God, return to their land, turn others to God, turn people to one another, turn back those in error, or even turn the gospel into its opposite.

B. Inner and Positive Focus. In the theological development of the concept of conversion two important concentrations take place in relation to this almost bewilderingly complex usage. First, inner rather than outer turning becomes the center of attention. This aspect is significant already in the OT, where many of the references have to do with the inner relation between God and Israel. It takes on increasing importance in the NT, for, while the words can still carry a spatial reference, they bear a transferred sense in a high proportion of the instances. Second, the emphasis comes to be placed increasingly on the positive, not the negative side. This, too, is the clear tendency in the NT. The sense of turning away is still present in 2 Pet. 2:21, but most of the references have to do with turning to God or to the Lord. This is reinforced by the connection made between conversion on the one side and faith or repentance on the other. Theologically conversion emerges as the word for an inner turning (or turning back) to God.

C. Divine Side. While conversion has a decisive inner aspect, it cannot be understood simply as a human act. Thus

B. 内在和积极的关注点。虽然这种复杂的用法令人感到困惑，但是在回转观念发展过程中出现了两个重要的神学关注点。首先，内心的回转而不是外在的转变成成为关注的焦点。内心回转在《旧约》中已经非常重要，《旧约》中的很多关于“回转”的例子阐述了上帝与以色列的内在关系。内心回转在《新约》中变得更为重要，因为虽然这些词仍然可以表示空间上的变化，但是这些词的意义在很多例子中发生了变化。其次，《旧约》更为关注积极的回转，而不是消极的退回。这种倾向在《新约》中也非常的明显。《彼得后书》2:21 中仍然提到了背弃，但是，多数例子讨论的是归向耶和华或归主。回转与信心或悔改的关系进一步巩固了这一观念。神学意义上的回转指的是发自内心的归向耶和华。

C. 神使人回转。虽然回转的内在方面起到了决定性的作用，但是不能将回转简单地理解成一种人类行为。因此，从神

it would not be wholly true to think of it theologically as the human side of regeneration. Throughout Scripture conversion as a human act has its ground in conversion as a divine act. God turns back Israel. He turns His people to Himself. This is not just a consequence but also a condition of His people's turning to Him. Some fifteen times in the OT God is said to convert man, and while the NT does not say so specifically it leaves no doubt that the ministry of the Holy Spirit is what makes possible the turning of sinners to God (cf. Jn. 16:18; 1 Cor. 2:4f.). In this sense God's converting stands closely related to His renewing (Eph. 2:11f.) and regenerating (Jn. 3). God accomplishes this work of His through those who proclaim His word. Thus the Baptist, filled with the Spirit, will turn many Israelites to the Lord their God (Lk. 1:16). Similarly the brethren can convert a sinner from the error of his way (Jas. 5:19f.).

D. Human Side. The relating of conversion to repentance and faith points to the human side. Freed to do so by God's converting power, sinners are converted, or convert, in a twofold movement. First, they turn from idols or Satan in the authentic repentance that means renunciation. Second, and as part of the same act, they turn to God in the true faith that means commitment. In most instances what is in view is this first turning whereby unbelievers become Christians, as in Acts 3:19 or 1 Thess. 1:9. Yet a restoration of believers, involving a renewal of renunciation and commitment, can also be intended, as in the saying of Jesus to Peter in Lk. 22:32, where Peter can hardly be coming to faith for the first time.

学方面讲，将回转视为人类的更新不可能是完全正确的。纵观《圣经》，人类的回转以神使人回转的行为为根基。神使以色列归向祂。神使祂的子民归向祂。这不仅仅是一种结果，也是神的子民归向神的条件。《旧约》十五次提及神使人类回转，虽然《新约》中没有明确提到神使人类回转，但是，毋庸置疑，圣灵的工作使罪人有可能归向神（参：约 16:18；林前 2:4-5）。从这个意义上讲，神使人回转的行为与祂使人更新（弗 2:11-12）和重生（约 3）的行为存在密切的关系。神利用传道者完成了这项工作。因此，被圣灵充满的施洗者使很多以色列人回转，归于他们的神（路 1:16）。同样，弟兄可以使迷失真道的罪人回转（雅 5:19-20）。

D. 人类的回转。回转与悔改和信心的关系表明了人类的回转。罪人藉着上帝使人回转的大能归于上帝，或者说，罪人采用两种方式回转。首先，他们真正地悔改，不再崇拜偶像或撒但，即与他们脱离了关系。其次，作为回转行为的一部分，他们怀着真正的信心归于上帝，即将自己献给了上帝。大多数例子展示的是第一种回转，无信仰的人靠着这种回转成为了基督徒，参：《使徒行传》3:19 或《帖撒罗尼迦前书》1:9。但是，信徒也可以再回转，即再次脱离关系，委身于上帝，正如《路加福音》22:32 中耶稣对彼得所说的，彼得第一次几乎不敢表明他的信心。

E. Conversion as Act. Theologically conversion must be defined as an act and not just an emotional experience. Since this act takes place in human life it can be studied and evaluated psychologically (see V). Scripture itself, however, shows no evidence of psychological interest. It portrays God at work and records the act of conversion which takes place as a result. Elements of will, intellect, and emotion go into it and yet it takes concrete form as an actual turning from sin, confession of faith, and renewing of life in conformity, not now with the world, but with God.

F. Mode of Conversion. The act of conversion need not follow a set pattern. It can often be sudden. The conversions of Paul (Acts 9) and the Philippian jailer (Acts 16) serve as examples. In other instances, although the act takes place in a moment, a period of preparation is suggested. The accounts of the Ethiopian eunuch (Acts 8) and the centurion Cornelius (Acts 10) may be quoted in support. The phrase used about Lydia in Acts 16:14, "The Lord opened her heart to give heed to what was said by Paul," points to a quiet if brief process which has nothing dramatic about it but is none the less authentic on that account. The NT has no specific accounts of children growing slowly in or to conversion, just as it has no records of the sudden conversions of Christians' children. Nevertheless, the exhortation to bring up children "in the discipline and instruction of the Lord" (Eph. 6:4) and the succession in faith of Lois, Eunice, and Timothy (2 Tim. 1:5) offer a strong indication that, while conversion always means act, an instantaneous conversion

E. 归主是一种行为。神学意义上的归主是一种行为，而不仅仅是一种情感的体验。由于这种行为发生在人类生活中，因此可从心理学的角度进行研究和评价（见 V）。然而，《圣经》并不关注心理上的归主。《圣经》描述了一直在做工的上帝，并记录了因上帝做工所产生的归主行为。《圣经》中的归主掺入了意志、智力和情感因素，但是归主的具体表现是，脱离罪，表明信心，更新生活，不要像现在这样效法这个世界，而是要效法上帝。

F. 归主的方式。归主没有特定的方式。通常是突然醒悟并归主。保罗归主（徒 9）和腓立比的狱卒归主（徒 16）就是很好的例子。对于其他的例子来说，尽管归主的行为突然发生，但是归主之前显然有一段准备的时间。埃塞俄比亚太监归主（徒 8）和百夫长哥尼流归主（徒 10）可能就是佐证。《使徒行传》16:14 在描述吕底亚归主时说了这样一句话，“主叫她留心听保罗所讲的话”，这句话描述了一段安静又简短的归主过程，其中没有任何戏剧性元素，却很真实。《新约》中没有明确提到孩子逐渐地归主，也没有提到基督徒的孩子突然归主。然而，《圣经》中教导说，“要按照主的教训和警戒”养育孩子（弗 6:4），并提出要继承罗以、友尼基和提摩太的信仰（提后 1:5），这有力地证明了，虽然归主总是一种行为，但是在特定场合突然归主不必遵循这样的原则。 at a specific moment need not be the exclusive rule.

IV. Historical Usage.-A. Early Church.

The graphic nature of conversion found expression in the baptisms of pagan converts. By the early 3rd cent. the baptismal service took place on the eve of Easter or Pentecost. Exorcisms had been introduced. The candidates, in response to questions, renounced evil and professed faith in Christ and obedience to Him. The giving of new garments and sometimes of milk and honey symbolized the beginning of a new life. The church fathers saw in these conversions the work of both God and man, although not always in the same order. Chrysostom, as one might expect from a preacher, regarded conversion as a work of human choice and volition which God completes. Augustine, with his emphatic doctrine of grace, put predestination first. As we recognize in our prayers for unbelievers, God takes the initiative with His prevenient grace and only then may conversion follow.

B. The Middle Ages. In medieval theology adult conversions ceased to be the rule. In relation to infants, emphasis on the priority of God's work led to the view that conversion takes place ontologically at baptism. The new principle of being imparted in this way works itself out in a new life of instantaneous or gradual conversion through external graces. This includes living to God and acceptance of Christ through faith informed by love. Conversion in this sense extends to all life and not to its beginning alone.

C. The Reformation. The reformers did

III. 历史用法。A. 早期教会。异教徒的洗礼生动形象地表达了他们归主的基本特征。早在3世纪，在复活节前夕或五旬节时举行洗礼。后来有了驱魔术。准备受洗的人回答问题，宣布远离罪恶，公开承认信主并归顺于祂。给受洗的人新衣服，有时给他们牛奶或蜂蜜，这象征着新生活的开始。教父在这些归主的行为中见证了上帝和人类的工作，虽然两者做工的顺序并不相同。居梭多模将归主视为人类的选择和上帝实现的意志。奥古斯丁强调恩宠论，将上帝的预定视为归主的首要因素。正如我们为不信者祷告的时候所说的，只有当上帝预先赐下恩典，不信者才有可能归主。

B. 中世纪时期。在中世纪的神学中，成人归主不再是一种惯例。对于婴儿归主来说，中世纪神学强调上帝工作的优先性，从而产生了存在论的一种观点：归主发生在洗礼时。因此，对于藉着外部恩典突然或逐渐归主的新生命而言，一种新原则诞生了。这包括靠着爱所表明信心向着上帝而活，以及接受基督。从这个层面上说，归主不仅仅发生在生命的起始阶段，而是贯穿生命的始终。

C. 宗教改革时期。改革家并没有完全否

not totally dissent from the medieval interpretation. For them, too, conversion was predominantly God's act worked out over the whole life. They placed less emphasis, however, on a mysterious change effected at baptism and shifted attention to the ministry of the Holy Spirit through the Word as in the doctrine of calling. In so doing they linked conversion—a term not greatly used by theologians like Calvin—very closely to repentance and faith. When Calvin does use the word, he equates it not merely with the start of the Christian life but with the lifelong repentance of mortification and renewal, i.e., the total turning about of life that Paul describes in Rom. 12:1f. For Calvin the will “is converted by the Lord's power alone.”

D. Evangelicalism. With the Pietist movement and the evangelical awakenings, a new call for individual conversion or regeneration went out which did not exclude sanctification but in some circles introduced a sharper differentiation from it. Where Arminian theology took hold, the element of personal decision acquired greater prominence and accompanying manifestations gave rise to a new psychological interest and an increasing concern for experience. Conversions could even be viewed at times as the human side of regeneration. Indeed, in extreme cases regeneration itself could be equated terminologically with the conversion experience (see II). Nevertheless, evangelical theology, especially in its Reformation components, has continued to recognize the hand of God in conversion and to find in it a life-affecting act and not just an emotional experience.

定中世纪的解释。对于改革家而言，归主主要是贯穿生命始终的上帝的行为。但是，他们不太关注洗礼所带来的神秘变化，而是像呼召论那样将注意力转移到圣灵藉着道所做的工作中。改革家通常将归主与痛悔和信心紧密地联系在一起，但是像加尔文这样的神学家并不常用归主一词。当加尔文使用归主一词时，他不仅将其等同于基督徒生活的开始，而且等同于终身的禁欲悔改和重生，即完全转向保罗在《罗马书》12:1-2 中所描述的生活。加尔文认为“只有耶和華的大能才能改变”人的意志。

D. 福音派主义。随着敬虔主义运动和福音觉醒，个人归主或重生的新观点已过时，这种观点并不排斥归主的神圣性，但在某些领域内引入了更为尖锐的分化。阿明尼乌神学认为，个人的意志在归主过程中更为重要，阿明尼乌派的公开声明使人们重新关注归主的心理层面，并更加关注经验。归主有时甚至被视为人类的重生。在特殊情况下，重生可等同于归主的经历（见 II）。但福音神学，尤其是福音神学的改革部分，仍然承认上帝在归主中所起的作用，并认为归主是一种影响生命的行为，不仅仅是一种情感体验。

E. Roman Catholicism. In contrast to more extreme forms of emotionalizing, Roman Catholic theology has always contended for the divine introduction of a new principle of life at the entitative level. Conversion derives from this as the new life of conformity to God in which, enabled by the divine initiative of grace, believers turn to God in contrition and faith. Pre-conversion grace plays an important role by way of preparation. While conversion in the full sense is to Jesus Christ, or to faith in Him, Roman Catholic theologians speak of two other conversions as well, a moral conversion to goodness and a confessional conversion to the Roman Catholic Church.

F. Karl Barth. Trying to avoid a subjectivizing of conversion without falling victim to its sacramentalizing, Barth points to the objective ground of individual conversion in God's turning of the world to Himself in the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. On the basis of the conversion, or turning around, accomplished in this vicarious work, believers are awakened by the Holy Spirit to personal conversion, which may well be datable, as an entry into Christ, or identification with Him, in repentance, faith, and sanctification. The true deity and humanity of Christ mean for Barth that He is both the converting God and also, representatively, converted man. This does not make our conversion superfluous. On the contrary, it makes it possible by providing its objective ground. In support of this understanding Barth adduces the primary sense of conversion as "turning around" (Ger. Umkehren) in distinction from the common sense of conversion experience (Ger. Bekehrung), which has for him an anthropocentric overtone. In the last analysis our turning is not only to God; it is also in God and by God.

E. 罗马天主教。与更为极端的情感化形式相比，罗马天主教神学始终认为上帝实际上引入了一种新的生活原则。当与上帝一致的新生活藉着上帝赐下的恩典使信徒怀着痛悔之心和信心转向上帝，信徒就归于上帝了。回转前的恩典是回转的准备，在回转过程中起到了重要的作用。然而，虽然完整意义上的回转指的是归于耶稣基督，但是罗马天主教神学家们提出了另外两种回转，它们分别是道德上的向善回转和忏悔着转向罗马天主教会。

F. 卡尔·巴特。巴特竭力避免使回转主观化，同时又避免了成为回转圣礼化的牺牲品，他指出个体归主的客观依据在于，上帝以耶稣基督的生死和复活使这个世界转向祂。基于基督的代替工作所带来的回转，信徒被圣灵唤醒，很可能是在某个时间点归于上帝，藉着悔改、信心和圣洁进入基督里或认识基督。巴特认为基督真实的神性和人性意味着祂既是使人回转的神，也是回转的人。这并不意味着我们的回转是多余的。相反，正是因为有了这个客观依据，才有可能出现回转。巴特为了证明这种观点给出了 conversion 的基本含义，即“转向”（德语：Bekehrung），这个基本含义不同于“回转经历”（德语：Bekehrung）这个普通含义，他认为 conversion 的普通含义是以人类为中心的。最后，我们的回转不仅仅是归于神，而且是在神里面和靠着神回转。

V. Psychological Usage.-The early psychologists of religion (e.g., Starbuck and W. James) distinguished between “gradual” and “sudden” conversions. While these distinctions are helpful, the situation is far more complex, as noted above. In fact, the underlying processes may be the same in both of these types. As Salzman and others have noted, there is probably a long period of unrest, incubation, and struggle that precedes even the sudden conversions. These processes may be conscious or unconscious. Even the Greeks whom Paul addressed on Mars Hill were prepared by long periods of interest and study.

W. James, among others such as Kildahl, feels that there are distinct personality differences that predispose persons toward one or the other type of conversion. James’ “healthy-minded” persons who block out sadness and evil are inclined toward gradual conversions because they always feel that God cares about them and have faith in the goodness of life. “Sick-minded” persons are inclined to see evil in themselves and the world around them. For them conversion is usually a radical, sudden, dramatic event, since it takes an extreme experience to wrest them from their pessimism.

Much further study has been done on the

V. 心理学用法。早期宗教心理学家(如: 斯坦巴克 [Starbuck] 和詹姆斯 [W. James]) 将归主分为“逐渐归主”和“突然归主”两种。虽然这样的区分是有益的, 但情况远比这复杂。实际上, 这两种归主的类型可能在过程上是相同的。正如萨尔曼兹 (Salzman) 和其他心理学家所说的, 归主可能要经历较长的不安期、潜伏期和挣扎期, 即便是突然归主也不例外。归主的过程可能是有意识的, 也可能是无意识的。即便是希腊人(保罗曾在亚略巴古向他们讲道)在归主前也经历了漫长的研究和准备期。

詹姆斯 (W. James) 与乔达 (Kildahl) 等人认为, 不同的个性差异导致人们选择不同的归主方式。詹姆斯 (James) 认为“思想健康”的人善于隐藏悲伤和罪恶, 因此往往是“逐渐归主”, 因为他们能够感受到上帝对他们的关爱并对生活的美好充满信心。“思想不健康”的人总是看到自身和这个世界邪恶的一面, 对他们而言, 归主通常是一个激进、意外和戏剧性的事件, 因为只有极端的经历才能使他们归于主。

conversion process (cf. Scroggs and Douglas). A number of the yet unresolved issues are these: Is there an optimal age for conversion? (Most of the literature up to this point suggests adolescence is the most common time; cf. Starbuck.) Are certain persons more susceptible to conversion than others? Are certain personality types immune to conversion? Do religious and secular conversions follow the same processes? Can one achieve conversion by striving, or does it happen spontaneously? Can conversion be manipulated? Finally, is conversion an experience that involves thoughts, feelings, intentions, and actions together, or need it consist of only one or more of these processes?

Although these are psychological questions they cannot be divorced from their theological implications. The crucial issue is, of course, the relationship between the action of God and the response of human beings. Faith must continue to affirm the power of God, while all that psychology can do is describe the reactions.

(如, 斯克罗格斯 [Scroggs] 和道格拉斯 [Douglas])。仍有许多待解决的问题: 归主有最佳的年龄吗? (目前大部分文献认为青春期是归主的最常见的时间段; 参: 斯坦巴克 [Starbuck])。有一部分人要比其他人更易归主吗? 有某些个性特征的人不易归主吗? 宗教上的归主和世俗的回转都经历相同的过程吗? 归主能受控制吗? 最后, 归主是否是一种包括思想、情感、意愿和行动的经历, 或者说, 归主只有一个过程, 还是多个过程?

虽然这些都是心理学问题, 但是它们不可能与它们的神学含义毫无关联。当然, 问题关键在于上帝的行为与人类的回应之间的关系。信心必定继续见证上帝的大能, 而心理学只能描述归主的反应。

CONVICT

[Gk. elénchō, exelénchō (Jude 15)]; AV CONVINCED; NEB also “prove in the wrong” (Jn. 8:46, RSV “convict of sin”), “bring conviction” (1 Cor. 14:24); the RSV “convicts himself” in 2 S. 14:13 is a paraphrase of the Hebrew, which is literally “(he speaks) as guilty” (kē’āšēm), AV “as one which is faulty,” NEB “you condemn yourself.” The basic meaning of elénchō is “show” or “demonstrate”; the further legal sense “prove guilty” is evident from the context in Jn. 8:46; Jas. 2:9; Jude 15; cf. Jn. 16:8; and cf. “confute” in Tit. 1:9, where again there is the idea of successfully demonstrating the truth of a charge. In 1 Cor. 14:24 the meaning is less obviously “convicted”; it could just as well be “exposed,” as in Jn. 3:20; Eph. 5:11, 13.

CONVICTION

[Gk. plērophoria, élenchos]; AV ASSURANCE (1 Thess. 1:5), EVIDENCE (He. 11:1); NEB also “makes us certain” (He. 11:1). As in 1 Cor. 2:4, so in 1 Thess. 1:5 Paul says that the gospel comes not as mere words but also “in power and in the Holy Spirit,” and here he adds plērophoria pollé, “with complete certainty.” Built into the gospel message is the power to convince completely, through the Holy Spirit.

CONVICT 证实、指证

【希腊语: elénchō, exelénchō(犹 1:15)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 CONVINCED (“证实”); 《新英文译本》还译为 “prove in the wrong” (“指正我有罪”, 约 8:46, 《修订标准译本》译为 “convict of sin” [“指正我有罪”])、 “bring conviction” (“劝醒”, 林前 14:24); 《修订标准译本》的《撒母耳记下》14:13 将希伯来语意译为 “convicts himself” (“自证已错”), 字面意思是 “自己承认自己有错” (kē’āšēm), 《钦定版圣经》译为 “as one which is faulty” (“自证已错”), 《新英文译本》译为 “you condemn yourself” (“自证已错”)。elénchō 的基本含义是 “表明” 或 “证明”; 律法含义是 “指证有罪”, 《约翰福音》8:46; 《雅各书》2:9; 《犹太书》1:15 显然使用了这层含义; 参: 《约翰福音》16:8; 参: 《提多书》1:9 中的 “confute” (“驳倒”), 即成功地展示指控的事实。在《哥林多前书》14:24 中, “证明……有罪” 这层含义不太明显; 可能像《约翰福音》3:20; 《以弗所书》5:11, 13 中那样, 仅仅表示 “暴露”。

另见 CONVINCED (说服)。

CONVICTION 证明、确据

【希腊语: plērophoria, élenchos】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 ASSURANCE (“信心”, 帖前 1:5)、EVIDENCE (“确据”, 来 11:1); 《新英文译本》还译为 “makes us certain” (“给我们确据”, 来 11:1)。正如保罗在《哥林多前书》2:4 和《帖撒罗尼迦前书》1:5 所说, 福音不独在乎言语, 而 “在乎权能和圣灵”, 保罗还加上 plērophoria pollé, “并充足的信心”。福音信息中隐藏着藉着圣灵使人完全相信的权能。

In its classic definition in He. 11:1, faith is called the élenchos of things not seen. The AV rendering “evidence” best shows the paradox of faith: a “demonstration” of what cannot be demonstrated. See FAITH.

J. W. D. H

CONVINCE.

Archaic in the AV for “convict” (Gk. elénchō, Jn. 8:46; 1 Cor. 14:24; Tit. 1:9; Jas. 2:9; exelénchō, Jude 15) and for “confute” (Heb. yākah, Job 32:12; Gk. diakatelénchomai, Acts 18:28). In the RSV the archaic usage seems to be retained in Jn. 16:8 (elénchō; AV “reprove”; NEB “confute,” v. 9 “convict”).

Elsewhere in the RSV, “convince” translates Gk. peithō in Lk. 16:31; 20:6; Acts 28:23 (AV “persuade”), v. 24 (AV “believe”); Phil. 1:25 (AV “having this confidence”); dokéo in Acts 26:9 (AV “I verily thought”); plērophoréō in Rom. 4:21; 14:5 (AV “persuaded”); krinō in 2 Cor. 5:14 (AV “judge”); and elénchō again in 2 Tim. 4:2 (AV “reprove”) and Jude 22. In this last passage most ancient MSS read eleáte, “have compassion” (AV; cf. NEB “who need your pity”); and there are several other textual and translational difficulties as well in the last few verses of Jude. In He. 6:17 “more convincingly” renders Gk. perissóteron (AV “abundantly”).

《希伯来书》11:1 中给出了“信心”的传统含义，信是未见之事的“确据”(élenchos)。《钦定版圣经》中的翻译“evidence”最能证明信心的悖论：不可证明之事的“明证”。见 FAITH(信心)。

《钦定版圣经》中用于表示“指证”(希腊语: elénchō, 约 8:46; 林前 14:24; 多 1:9; 雅 2:9; exelénchō, 犹 15) 和“驳倒”(希伯来语: yākah, 伯 32:12; 希腊语: diakatelénchomai, 徒 18:28) 的一个废词。《修订标准译本》在《约翰福音》16:8 中似乎保留了这一废词的用法(elénchō; 《钦定版圣经》译为“reprove”[“责备、审判”]; 《新英文译本》译为“confute”[“驳倒”], 而在《约翰福音》16:9 中译为“convict”[“证实”])。

在《修订标准译本》的其他章节中, “convince”用来翻译《路加福音》16:31; 20:6; 《使徒行传》28:23 (《钦定版圣经》译为“persuade”[“劝告”])、《使徒行传》28:24 (《钦定版圣经》译为“believe”[“相信”]) 和《腓立比书》1:25 (《钦定版圣经》译为“having this confidence”[“深信”]) 中的希腊语 peithō; 《使徒行传》26:9 中的 dokéo (《钦定版圣经》译为“I verily thought”[“我自以为”]); 《罗马书》4:21; 14:5 中的 plērophoréō (《钦定版圣经》译为“persuaded”[“劝说”]); 《哥林多后书》5:14 中的 krinō (《钦定版圣经》译为“judge”[“审判”]); 《提摩太后书》4:2 和《犹大书》1:22 中的 elénchō (《钦定版圣经》译为“reprove”[“责备”])。在《犹大书》1:22 中, 最原始的手稿中写为 eleáte, “怜悯”(《钦定版圣经》中译为“have compassion”; 参:《新英文译本》译为“who need your pity”, 汉译均为“怜悯”); 《犹大书》的最后几节中还存在其

他许多文本问题和翻译问题。《希伯来书》6:17 中将希腊语 perissóteron 译为“more convincingly”(“格外显明”)(《钦定版圣经》译为“abundantly”[“格外显明”])。

CONVOCAATION.

Used by the AV and RSV to render Heb. miqrā' in the frequent “holy convocation” (NEB “sacred assembly”). On a holy convocation no work could be done. The phrase differs from “solemn assembly,” which in the Pentateuch is applied only to the concluding festivals at the end of Passover and Tabernacles, while “holy convocation” is used of the sabbath and all the great holy days of the Mosaic legislation.

CONVULSE

[Heb. rā'am] (Ezk. 27:35); AV TROUBLED; NEB “horror is written on (their faces)”; [Gk. sparássō]; AV TEAR, REND; NEB “throw into convulsions,” RACK. The OT reference is to the expression on the faces of the kings of the coastlands, struck with horror at the sudden downfall of Tyre. The RSV “convulsed” may be a bit strong; a better suggestion is “tremble” or “quiver” with fear.

All the NT references are to the actions of demons on their victims: Mk. 1:26; 9:20, 26; Lk. 9:39, 42. See DEMONOLOGY.

CONVOCAATION. 集会

《钦定版圣经》和《修订标准译本》通常将希伯来语 miqrā' 译为“holy convocation”(“圣会”)(《新英文译本》译为“sacred assembly”[“圣会”])。只有在举行圣会时可以什么工都不做。该短语要区分于“solemn assembly”(“严肃会”),《摩西五经》中提到的严肃会是逾越节和住棚节快要结束时的节日,而圣会用于表示安息日和摩西律法中所有盛大的宗教节日。

CONVULSE 不安、愁容、惊惶

【希伯来语: rā'am】(结 27:35); 《钦定版圣经》译为 TROUBLED (“不安”); 《新英文译本》译为“horror is written on (their faces)” (“面带愁容”); 【希腊语: sparássō】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 TEAR (“撕裂”)、REND (“夺回、撕裂”); 《新英文译本》译为“throw into convulsions” (“面带愁容”)、RACK (“惊惶”)。这些词在《旧约》中表示沿海地区的君王惊惶地看到推罗突然沉没时的面部表情。《修订标准译本》的“convulsed”带有很强的感情色彩; 更好的翻译是害怕得“发抖”或“颤抖”。

该词在所有的《新约》经文中均表示魔鬼作恶的行为:《马可福音》1:26; 9:20, 26; 《路加福音》9:39, 42。见 DEMONOLOGY (鬼神学)。

meat)' (8:13)]. Normally in Israel the women of the family were the cooks, although men took a hand in it at times (Jgs. 6:19). Often a cook had to butcher the meat as well as boil it. The cooks mentioned in 1 S. 8f. were professionals.

COOK; COOKING

See FOOD.

COOL SPIRIT.

In Prov. 17:27 the RSV "cool spirit" and NEB "cool head" are based on the reading of the kethibh, Heb. w^egar-rû(a)h, whereas the AV "excellent spirit" reads with the qere, y^egar-ru(a)h. Although "hot" is used in the OT of anger or displeasure, nowhere else in the OT does "cold" or "cool" have an abstract sense. But if the kethibh is read here, a "cool spirit" probably means "calm."

The AV uses "copper" only in Ezz. 8:27 (RSV "bronze"; NEB "red copper"). Copper was one of the earliest metals to be known and utilized in alloy, but copper, as a single metal, was probably little used. The remains of spears, balances, arms, vases, mirrors,

COOL SPIRIT. 性情温良

在《箴言》17:27 中，《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》参照“写的字形”希伯来语 w^egar-rû(a)h，分别译为“cool spirit”和“cool head”，《钦定版圣经》参照“读的字形”希伯来语 y^egar-ru(a)h，译为“excellent spirit”，汉译均为“性情温良”。《旧约》中虽然使用“hot”一词表示“生气”或“不高兴”，但在《旧约》的其他章节中，“cold”或“cool”都没有抽象含义。但是如果这个“写的字形”可以读出来，那么“cool spirit”可能表示“沉着冷静”。

COPING. 檐石

《列王纪上》7:9 中将建筑学词语 ṭ^epāhōt 译为“coping” (“檐石”)，但是这种传统的推测性译法尚未得到证实。

COPPER 光铜、红铜

【希伯来语：n^ehōšet 以及它的同根词；希腊语：chalkós 以及它的同根词、leptón】。《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》通常将这些词译为“bronze” (“青铜”)，但这个希伯来词语可以表示“光铜”或“青铜”。《钦定版圣经》只在《以斯拉记》8:27 中使用了“copper”一词（《修订标准译本》译为“bronze” [“青铜”]；《新英文译本》译为“red copper” [“红铜”]）。铜是最早被大家熟知的金属材料，也可做成合金铜，但铜作为单

statues, cooking utensils, implements of all kinds, etc. from Bible times are principally of an alloy of copper hardened with tin known today as Bronze. In such passages as Dt. 8:9, where reference is made to the native metal or ores, “copper” is the proper term. This is true also of coins (chalkós) in Mt. 10:9.

Our modern English word “copper” is derived from an old name pertaining to the island of Cyprus. Copper was known to the ancients as Cyprian metal, probably because that island was one of the chief sources for this metal. The Sinai Peninsula and the mountains of northern Syria also contributed to the ancient world’s supply. Copper artifacts dating from the late Chalcolithic period have been recovered from various sites in Palestine.

一的金属材料，可能很少被使用。圣经时期的长矛、天平、武器、花瓶、镜子、雕像、炊具以及各式各样的工具的遗迹表明，这些工具大部分都是由红铜和坚硬的锡合金制成的，也就是今天我们熟知的青铜。如《申命记》8:9中提到的天然金属或矿石，其实指的是“红铜”。《马太福音》10:9中的铜钱 (chalkós) 也指的是铜币。

现代英语中，“copper”一词来源于一个与塞浦路斯岛有关的旧名称。古人认为红铜是塞浦路斯的金属，这可能是因为该岛是这种金属的主要来源之一。西奈半岛和叙利亚北部山区在古时候也出产这种金属。巴勒斯坦的许多遗址中发现了源于红铜时代晚期的铜器。

In Jewish tradition, a word used to declare something dedicated to God. In the Gospel story Jesus castigates the Jews for their practice, justified in their legal tradition, of pronouncing their property “corban” and thus rendering it unable lawfully to be used for the material support of aged parents, even though it did not then need actually to be offered to God but could be retained for personal use.

Pertinent rabbinic passages, cited by Rengstorf (TDNT, III, s.v.), include Nedarim i.3; viii.7; ix.1, 4–6. For a discussion of this practice see TALMUD IV. It is mentioned by Josephus in Ant. iv.4.4 and CAp. i.22 (167).

CORBAN 各耳板

音译: Kôr'ban 【希伯来语: qorbān, 《马可福音》7:11 中直译希腊语 korban; 翻译希腊语 dōron——《七十士译本》和《马太福音》15:5 以及《马可福音》7:11 中的“礼物”】。在犹太传统中, 该词通常表示奉献给神的的供物。在福音书中, 耶稣谴责犹太人依据遗传的行事方法, 他们称自己的钱财已经作了“各耳板”, 因此不能用于供养年迈的父母, 尽管当时他们实际上并没有将钱财献给神, 却可以留作私用。

斯托夫 (Rengstorf, TDNT, III, 见词条) 引用的与之相关的希伯来语文章有:《论许愿》i.3; viii.7; ix.1, 4–6。关于这一行为的讨论, 见 TALMUD IV (《他勒目》IV)。约瑟夫斯在 Ant. iv.4.4 和 CAp. i.22 (167) 中也提到过这种行为。

CORD. 绳子

(1) 【希伯来语：gabluṭ】；《钦定版圣经》译为 WREATHEN WORK(“绳子”)；《新英文译本》译为 ROPE (“套绳”)。字面意思是“拧着的绳子”，如，胸牌上用精金拧成的如绳的链子(出 28:22)。另见下文(5)和(8)。

(2) 【希伯来语：hebel】《钦定版圣经》还译为 BAND(“绳子”)、SORROW(“悲伤”)；《新英文译本》还译为 BAND(“绳子”)、BOND (“约束”)、CHAIN (“链子”)、LEADING-STRING (“牵绳”)、NOOSE (“套绳”)、ROPE (“绳子”)、TETHER (“栓绳”)。用于固定帐子(斯 1:6)或地毯(结 27:24)的捆绑物；还用来比喻无辜的人受到阴间的绳索(撒下 22:6; 诗 18:5)、死亡的绳索(诗 18:4)、苦难的绳索(伯 36:8)、恶人的绳索(诗 119:61)、骄傲的人暗设的绳索(诗 140:5)、虚假的绳索(赛 5:18)和慈绳(何 11:4)的捆绑和牵引；还表示固定天上的耶路撒冷的帐幕的绳子(赛 33:20)；钓鳄鱼的绳子(伯 41:1)；挂灯的绳子，灯灭预示着生命的终结(传 12:6)。

(3) 【希伯来语：hūt】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 “line of thread” (“绳子”)；《新英文译本》还译为 “strand of cord” (“绳子”)。喇合用绳子作记号(书 2:18；另见下文 [10])。三股合成的绳子不容易折断(传 4:12)。

(4) [Heb. yeter]. A tent-string or bow-string; which is meant is unclear in the context (Job 30:11; cf. 4:21). What is clear is that Job is no longer held in respect by men who had previously respected him.

(5) [Heb. migbālōt]; AV WREATHEN WORK; NEB ROPE. Literally “the twisted”; hence the twisted golden chains of the ephod (Ex. 28:14).

(6) [Heb. mētār]; NEB also ROPE, TENT-ROPE. Strings used in the erection and securing of the tabernacle and its courts (Ex. 35:18), its screens (Ex. 39:40; Nu. 3:26; 4:26) and pillars (Nu. 3:37; 4:32), and tents (Isa. 54:2; Jer. 10:20).

(7) [Heb. mōš^ekoṭ]; AV BAND. The cords of Orion, probably a mythological allusion (Job 38:31).

(8) [Heb. “bōṭ]; AV also BAND, WREATHEN CHAIN, WREATHEN WORK; NEB also BOND, CHAIN, ROPE. Wound or twisted rope, made of gold and used on the breastpiece (Ex. 28:24; 39:15, 17) and ephod (Ex. 28:25; 39:18); restraints or bonds (Ps. 2:3), which restrict movement (Ezk. 3:25; 4:8). The Lord reveals His righteousness by cutting the righteous loose from the wicked (Ps. 129:4).

(9) [Heb. pātīl]; AV BRACELET, RIBBAND; NEB also THREAD. Decorative thread on a garment (Nu. 15:38); or a holding seal, used as part of Judah’s pledge to Tamar (Gen. 38:18, 25).

(4)【希伯来语：yeter】。搭帐幕的绳子或弓弦；在经文中的意思并不明确（伯 30:11；参：伯 4:21）。但是，《约伯记》显然表明从前尊重约伯的人不再尊重他。

(5)【希伯来语：migbālōt】；《钦定版圣经》译为 WREATHEN WORK（“绳子”）；《新英文译本》译为 ROPE（“套绳”）。字面意思是“拧绳”；因此表示以弗得上用精金拧成的链子（出 28:14）。

(6)【希伯来语：mētār】；《新英文译本》还译为 ROPE（“套绳”）、TENT-ROPE（“帐绳”）。用于建造和固定帐幕和院子（出 35:18）、院子的门帘（出 39:40；民 3:26；4:26）、柱子（民 3:37；4:32）和帐棚（赛 54:2；耶 10:20）的绳子。

(7)【希伯来语：mōš^ekoṭ】；《钦定版圣经》译为 BAND（“绳子”）。参星的带，可能是一个神话典故（伯 38:31）。

(8)【希伯来语：“bōṭ】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 BAND（“绳子”）、WREATHEN CHAIN（“绳子”）、WREATHEN WORK（“链子”）；《新英文译本》还译为 BOND（“绳子”）、CHAIN（“链子”）、ROPE（“套绳”）。胸牌上（出 28:24；39:15, 17）和以弗得上（出 28:25；39:18）的两条用精金拧成的链子；约束或捆绑时用的绳索（诗 2:3），以此限制活动（结 3:25；4:8）。耶和华通过砍断恶人的绳索显明祂的公义（诗 129:4）。

(9)【希伯来语：pātīl】；《钦定版圣经》译为 BRACELET（“镯子”）、RIBBAND（“带子”）；《新英文译本》还译为 THREAD（“线”）。装饰衣服的缝子（民 15:38）；手中的印，犹大给他玛的当头（创 38:18, 25）。

(10) [Heb. tiqwā]; AV LINE; NEB STRAND OF CORD. Scarlet material used as signal by Rahab (Josh. 2:21).

(11) [Gk. schoinion]; AV SMALL CORDS. Rope made of rushes, used by Jesus to make a whip for clearing the temple (Jn. 2:15).

kō'inth [Gk. Korinthos]. A famous city 1¹/₂ mi. (2¹/₂ km.) S of the narrow isthmus that joins the Peloponnesus to the rest of Greece. Paul's choice of this city as a strategic center in which to plant the gospel was justified by the control that its location gave the city over trade and travel E and W by sea, as well as N and S by land. Corinth had two good harbors, being connected by two continuous walls to Lechaeum on the Gulf of Corinth to the west, and by a series of forts to Cenchreae on the Saronic Gulf to the east. CORINTH 哥林多 risks encountered in a voyage around Cape Malea, the southernmost tip of Achaia, shipowners preferred to have the cargoes of larger vessels unloaded and transported the less than 5 mi. (8 km.) across the isthmus to be reloaded into other ships; smaller ships were dragged across by means of specially built devices. Her control over trade made Corinth very prosperous although located in an unfertile plain.

Corinth was one of the first parts of Greece to be inhabited. Signs of habitation date from the 4th millennium B.C. Overrun by invaders in 2000 B.C., the city remained uninhabited until 1350. Growth in military and commercial strength came to Corinth in the 8th century. While ruled by the family of Bacchiads, she established colonies in Sicily and on the western shore of the Adriatic. The prosperity and glory of Corinth continued to rise during the rule of the tyrant Cypselus (ca. 657–629 B.C.), and reached its high point under his son Periander (ca. 629–585 B.C.).

Shortly thereafter, kingship collapsed. Rivalry with Athens contributed to the decline of Corinth, so it is not surprising that she sided against Athens in the power struggle between Athens and Sparta. Corinth was made the center of a new Hellenic League by Alexander as he made preparations for war with Persia. Her history as a Greek city terminated in 146 B.C. when the Roman General Lucius Mummius in reprisal for an anti-Roman uprising destroyed the city, exterminated the male population, and sold the women and children into slavery.

Julius Caesar rebuilt Corinth in 46 B.C. as 大的风险，因此货船船主更愿意让大船在地峡 5 英里（8 公里）范围内的区域卸载或搬运货物，然后将货物重新装进其他的船只中；较小的货船靠特殊装置被拖过地峡。尽管哥林多位于贫瘠的平原上，但由于哥林多控制着商路，成为了非常富裕的城市。

哥林多是希腊人最先定居的地区之一。哥林多的人类居住痕迹可追溯至公元前 4000 年。公元前 2000 年侵略者摧毁了这座城市，直到公元前 1350 年一直无人居住。8 世纪是哥林多军事力量和商业实力的发展期。当时由巴西底（Bacchiads）家族统治哥林多，并在亚得里亚海（Adriatic）西岸和西西里岛建立了殖民地。僭主希普塞卢斯（Cypselus，约公元前 657 年至公元前 629 年）统治时期的哥林多更加繁荣辉煌，希普塞卢斯的儿子佩里安德（Periander，约公元前 629 年至公元前 585 年）统治时期，哥林多进入鼎盛时期。

不久之后，王室瓦解。哥林多与雅典的竞争加剧了哥林多的衰落，所以，不足为奇的是，当雅典与斯巴达发生权力斗争时，哥林多不支持雅典。当亚历山大准备与波斯争战时，哥林多成为了新希腊联盟的中心。哥林多这座希腊城市在公元前 146 年从历史中消失，当时罗马将军木缪斯（Lucius Mummius）为镇压反罗马势力叛乱而摧毁了哥林多，他杀死了城中的所有男性，并将妇女和儿童卖为奴隶。

a Roman colony with the name Colonia Laus Julia Corinthiensis, and settled many Roman freemen there. Latin was established as the official language, and the Roman character of the city is reflected by the many Latin names in the NT (Acts 18:7f.; Rom. 16:21–23; 1 Cor. 16:17); nevertheless, the majority of the population were Greeks, and Greek was likely the language of the common people. That many Jews resided in the city is shown by the presence of a synagogue. Augustus made Corinth the capital of Achaia, and her beauty was enhanced by the many public works of Hadrian.

The most conspicuous landmark at Corinth was the Acro-corinth, a mountain to the south of the city. Reaching a height of 1886 ft. (575 m.), it was an ideal situation for a fortress that could control all the trade routes into the Peloponnesus. The temple of Aphrodite, the goddess of love and beauty, stood on its highest peak. The thousand female prostitutes who served there contributed to Corinth's reputation for immorality. In fact, it is to this evil trade carried on in the name of religion that Strabo, the geographer, ascribed the prosperity of the city. The degree to which Corinth was given over to vice is apparent as early as the time of Aristophanes by the coining of the word korinthiazomai (lit. "Corinthianize"), meaning "practice immorality"; similarly "Corinthian girl" (Gk. Korinthia kórē) designated a prostitute. That the situation continued into Paul's day is evidenced by the evils he attacks in his Corinthian letters.

将其作为罗马的殖民地，取名为 Colonia Laus Julia Corinthiensis，并在哥林多城安置了许多罗马公民。拉丁语成为哥林多城的官方语言，《新约》中的许多拉丁名字反映出哥林多是一座具有罗马特征的城市（徒 18:7-8；罗 16:21–23；林前 16:17）；然而，哥林多城中大部分人口是希腊人，希腊语很可能是平民的语言。哥林多的犹太教堂证明当时有许多犹太人长住在这里。奥古斯都立哥林多城为亚该亚行省的首都，哈德良时期的许多公共建筑使这座城市变得更加美丽。

起始于利支菴港（Lechaeum）的道路是哥林多保存最完好的一条道路。路面是

It was built of hard limestone blocks, with a raised walk on each side. As this road drew near the agora it was flanked on both sides by small shops that opened either on the street or on a courtyard. An inscription found in this area contains the term macellum, “market” (cf. 1 Cor. 10:25). This passage is brought to mind also by a doorstep inscribed “Lucius the Butcher” found in a shop in the agora. A basilica, a large columned hall used by the Romans for commercial and judicial purposes, stood on the west side just before the road entered the agora. The Peribolos of Apollo was situated directly across from this basilica. This was a large paved court surrounded by columns and containing a large statue of Apollo. Corinth’s most important reservoir, the Fountain of Peirene, was constructed between the Peribolos of Apollo and the agora. This reservoir had a capacity of over 81,000 gal. (306,500 l.) and was fed by subterranean waters led in by many tunnels from the east and west.

The road from Lechaeum entered the agora from the north through the Propylaea, or entrance, a staircase surmounted by a magnificent gateway. Though it comes from a later century, the discovery by archeologists in this area of a piece of white marble with the inscription “Synagogue of the Hebrews” suggests that the synagogue may have been located somewhere in the vicinity. The north and west sides of the agora were bounded by shops. A long stoa (500 ft.; 150 m.), or colonnaded pavilion, stood on the south. To the rear of this were many small shops equipped with pits cooled by water brought from the Fountain of Peirene through underground channels. These may have been restaurants or wine shops. Leading out from the middle of this stoa was the road to Cenchreae, the harbor where Paul departed from Corinth. The Bouleuterion, meeting place of the Council, was on the west side of this road and another basilica was on the east. On the eastern edge of the agora was a large building which has been called the “Julian Basilica” but whose use is unknown. The large open plaza of the agora was divided by a row of shops running E and W. In the center of these was the béma, an ornate structure covered with sculptured marble, where public officials would address the populace. There were benches for the dignitaries and rooms for those waiting to present their cases to the magistrate. This is likely the place where Paul was brought before the governor Gallio (Acts 18:12–17), for the Gk. béma found in Acts 18:12 and translated Judgment Seat (AV) is the equivalent of rostra, the Latin term found in an inscription near this structure and no doubt referring to it.

Another road led from the agora NW to Sicyon. To the east of this road and just N of the agora was the site of the temple of Apollo. Seven massive Doric columns from this structure which are still standing are the most striking remains of ancient Corinth. Alongside a temple on the west of this road was the Fountain of Glauke, an important princess in Corinthian mythology.

The temple of Asclepius the god of healing was built on the north edge of the ancient city. A number of buildings for the patients surrounded this temple. An elaborate system of water storage and supply indicates the importance of water in effecting the cures.

场上宽敞的露天广场分成若干部分。这些商铺中心是 béma——一个由大理石雕刻而成的华丽建筑，这座建筑是政府官员对百姓演讲的地方。建筑内有供达官贵人坐的长椅以及为等候诉讼案件的人准备的等候室。保罗可能被带到了这里面见方伯迦流(徒 18:12–17)，因为《使徒行传》18:12 中的希腊语 béma 和《钦定版圣经》中的译文“审判座”与讲台同义，这一建筑附近发现的铭文中提到了这个拉丁词语，这个词无疑指的是讲台。

另一条穿过市场的道路沿着西北方向通往西息温 (Sicyon)。这条道路的东侧和市场的正北面就是阿波罗神庙。这座神庙的七根巨大的陶立克圆柱依然屹立在那里，并成为古哥林多最引人注目的遗迹。格劳刻泉 (Fountain of Glauke) 在神庙附近，位于这条道路的西侧，格劳刻是哥林多神话中一位重要的公主。

The Odeion, or music hall, and a large theater were located in the northwestern sector of the city. A reused paving block found near the theater bears the name of an Erastus who was Commissioner of Public Works. It has been suggested that this was none other than the associate of Paul mentioned in Acts 19:22 and Rom. 16:23. Corinth's location near the scene of the Isthmian Games is significant in the light of Paul's frequent reference to athletics in his Corinthian letters.

音乐厅和大剧场位于城市西北角。剧院附近发现的一块重复使用的铺路砖上刻着市政工程的行政长官以拉都(Erastus)的名字。这表明这个以拉都正是《使徒行传》19:22和《罗马书》16:23中提到的保罗的同工以拉都。因为保罗在写给哥林多人的书信中经常提到竞技比赛,所以哥林多地峡运动会附近的地区很值得关注。

By common consent the two Epistles to the Corinthians together with those to the Romans and The Galatians form a most important block of Pauline teaching. In these writings we see Paul at the height of his ability as a writer of epistles. He is dealing with great themes and dealing with them at his magnificent best. This is the period of his controversy with the Judaizers, and he is particularly concerned to make clear the nature of the way of salvation and the implications of justification by faith.

I. Authenticity.-A. External Evidence. The authenticity of this Epistle, like that of the others in this group, has rarely been seriously denied. If anything bears the authentic Pauline stamp, these

人们普遍承认《哥林多前后书》与《罗马书》和《加拉太书》是介绍保罗教导的最重要的书籍。在这些作品中，我们能够领会到保罗作为福音书作者的高超的创作能力。保罗以杰出的方式讨论了很多大主题。保罗在这时期与犹太派基督徒辩论，并且特别关注阐明救赎方式的本质和因信称义的含义。

I. 真实性。A. 外部证据。《哥林多前书》与其他同类书信一样，其真实性很少受到质疑。《哥林多前书》肯定由保罗所写。甚至连杜平根学派都认可《哥林多前书》；虽然范海南（W. C. van Manen） writings do. Even the Tübingen school accepted 1 Corinthians; and though the Dutch school of W. C. van Manen rejected it, their view has attracted scant following. It is difficult to imagine any more convincing reasons for holding this letter to be Pauline than those that are actually found. The external attestation is extremely good. The Epistle is quoted in 1 Clement, the oldest noncanonical Christian writing extant, dating from the late 1st century. 1 Corinthians accordingly is the first NT writing to be cited with the name of its author. Ignatius and Polycarp early in the 2nd cent. quote from it, and from their time onward there are many references to it. In fact, there are more references to this Epistle than to any of the other Pauline writings. In a number of early lists of books held to be canonical (e.g., the Muratorian Fragment) this Epistle heads the list of the Pauline writings. It is uncertain why it should be accorded this prominence, but the fact that it does hold it shows something of the esteem in which it was held. It is also worth noting that in all the multiplicity of references to this Epistle there is no dissentient voice. We have no record of any writer from antiquity who doubted that this was a genuine letter of Paul. The very fact of the letter's preservation by the Corinthians also indicates authenticity. The letter contains many severe rebukes, and it is not the kind of thing that one can imagine a church treasuring if it were not a genuine writing of the great apostle.

B. Internal Evidence. Questions of style and language are always to some extent subjective, but no one has produced arguments to show that 1 Corinthians is non-Pauline in either respect. Moreover, the letter accords with what little we know of the situation at Corinth. It is the kind of letter we would expect from Paul as he sought to deal with a difficult situation.

*B. 内部证据。*从某种程度上来说，这封书信的风格和语言问题通常都是很主观性的问题，但没有人能证明《哥林多前书》不是保罗所写。此外，这封书信对哥林多形势的描述与我们仅有的一点认

Both external and internal evidence then point us strongly in the direction of authenticity. There is much in favor and little or nothing against. We need have no hesitation in regarding 1 Corinthians as a genuine product of the great apostle.

II. Integrity.-The integrity of 1 Corinthians is beyond serious dispute. The writer deals with a number of unconnected topics, but this means no more than that this is a genuine letter. It is not a systematic theological treatise, but a genuine attempt to deal with a concrete living situation, a situation calling for an apostolic pronouncement on more than one topic. So Paul goes naturally from one subject to another, sometimes with little connecting material.

Some scholars (e.g., J. Weiss) have suggested that a number of writings have been put together to form this Epistle. But the reasons have not been found convincing. Once rid of the idea that a letter ought to read like a systematic treatise, one can find little reason for denying that this is a real letter, and one without substantial interpolation.

III. The Corinthians.-CORINTH by virtue of its geographical position was an important center of commerce. It was totally destroyed by the Romans in 146 B.C., but was later refounded as a Roman colony, and thus had a substantial Roman element in its population (the NT links

识一致。我们估计保罗写这些书信是在竭力解决哥林多当时面临的艰难情况。

外部证据和内部证据都有力地证明了《哥林多前书》的真实性。我们掌握了大量有利的证据,几乎没有不利的证据。我们毫不犹豫地相信《哥林多前书》是一位伟大使徒的真实作品。

II. 完整性。《哥林多前书》的完整性是不容置疑的。作者讨论了许多无关联的话题,但这仅仅说明《哥林多前书》是一封真实的书信。它不是一篇系统神学论文,而是一次解决具体生活状况的真实尝试,这种生活状况要求这位使徒讨论多个话题。所以,保罗很自然从一个话题跳到另一个话题,有时甚至没有给出连接材料。

一些学者(如,韦斯 [J. Weiss])认为这封书信是由许多作品拼凑而成的。但他们给出的理由却不能令人信服。当人们不再认为一封书信应该像一篇系统的论文,他们就没有理由否认《哥林多前书》是一封真实的书信,而不是许多作品拼凑而成的。

III. 哥林多书信。哥林多(见 CORINTH [哥林多])因其独特的地理位置成为了重要的商业中心。公元前 146 年,哥林多被罗马人彻底摧毁,但是,后来罗马重建了哥林多,并使其成为罗马的殖民地,因此,哥林多城中有很多人拉拉丁人名(《新约》将许多拉丁人名与哥林多 many Latin names with Corinth, as Lucius, Gaius, Tertius, Erastus, Quartus, all in Rom. 16:21ff.; Fortunatus, Achaicus, 1 Cor. 16:17; Crispus, Titius Justus, Acts 18:7f.). But there were also many other lands represented. Being a seaport town it attracted men from far and wide. There were evidently enough Jews there to have a synagogue (Acts 18:4). The cosmopolitan nature of Corinth did nothing to raise moral standards; and immorality was further encouraged by a debased religion, the worship of Aphrodite, whose priestess-prostitutes at one time numbered a thousand. Corinth in the 1st cent. was characterized by the utmost in vice and evil living.

Corinth was the capital of the Roman province of Achaia. It was thus a busy and populous as well as an evil city, a place where men might be expected to develop their own interests, whether those interests lay along the lines of business, lust, sport (the biennial Isthmian Games had worldwide popularity), or culture. Corinth offered wide variety. But in that variety little place was found for the deep things of the spirit. It may be significant that Corinth never produced a writer of really great literature.

Thus the preaching of the gospel in this city was attended by enormous difficulties. Indeed some have thought that the difficulties themselves were the reason for Paul's choice of Corinth as a preaching place. This seems unlikely, and it is more probable that he was influenced by the city's strategic importance. If the gospel were well and truly planted at Corinth, from this center

联系在一起，如，《罗马书》16:21 起中出现的人名：路求、该犹、德丢、以拉都、夸图；《哥林多前书》16:17 中出现的人名：福徒拿都、亚该古；《使徒行传》18:7-8 中出现的人名：基利司布、提多犹士都）。哥林多也有很多拉丁语地名。这座海港城市吸引了来自四面八方的人。哥林多显然有很多犹太人，因为城中有一个犹太会堂（徒 18:4）。哥林多住着世界各国的人，但这并没有提高它的道德水平；哥林多人崇拜阿佛罗狄忒，这位女神的女祭司和妓女曾达到了一千，这种堕落的宗教信仰进一步加剧了道德败坏。公元 1 世纪，哥林多的堕落和罪恶最为严重。

哥林多是罗马亚该亚行省的首府。哥林多城是一个繁忙且人口众多的邪恶城市，那里的人可以发展自己的产业，无论是商业、色情产业、运动产业（两年一次的哥林多地峡运动会闻名世界）还是文化产业。哥林多是一个充满多样性的城市。但在哥林多的多样性中几乎找不到精神层面的深层事物。值得注意的是，哥林多从未有过真正伟大的文学大家。

it would emanate in every direction throughout Achaia.

IV. Paul's Relations with the Corinthians.-A. Experiences Elsewhere in Greece. Paul tells us that when he first came to the city he came "in weakness and in much fear and trembling" (1 Cor. 2:3). If we consider what had happened to him in the weeks immediately preceding, this is not surprising. At Philippi, at Thessalonica, and at Beroea he had preached at first with considerable success. Then in each case his work had apparently been wrecked by the opposition of fanatics. The Jews, opposing him bitterly, had rioted against him and compelled his departure from each of these cities in turn. At Athens the situation was different, but Paul seems to have had little success in this proud, academic city. A few converts were won but nothing in Acts leads us to think that Paul was very pleased with his stay there. It is not surprising, accordingly, that he was feeling rather low when he first came to Corinth. He was probably alone, for his companions on this particular journey, Silas and Timothy, appear to have been occupied in Macedonia at the time.

B. Founding of the Church. While he was in Corinth Paul lodged with Aquila and Priscilla (Acts 18:2f.). These were people with whom he was to have a good deal of contact in later years, and it is clear that they became beloved co-workers. They came from Rome, having been expelled by a decree of the emperor Claudius. It may be that Paul's reason for joining them in the first place was that they and he were alike tentmakers.

IV. 保罗与哥林多人的关系。A. 在希腊别处的经历。保罗告诉我们当他第一次来到哥林多城时，他感到“又软弱，又惧怕，又甚战兢”（林前 2:3）。如果我们考虑之前数周内发生在保罗身上的事，就不会因他说的话而感到惊奇。保罗在腓立比、帖撒罗尼迦、庇哩亚首次讲道就取得了巨大的成功。在这些地区，保罗的传道工作显然都遭到了狂热者的破坏。犹太人强烈地反对保罗，发动暴乱，迫使保罗离开那些城市。雅典的情况不同，但保罗似乎在这座骄傲的科学城取得的成就不大。虽然保罗争取到一些归主的人，《使徒行传》中的记载并不能证明保罗对这里的传道满意。因此，我们不会为保罗首次来哥林多时意志消沉感到稀奇。他可能只身一人来到这里，因为他本次传道的同工西拉和提摩太似乎此时还在马其顿传道。

B. 教会的建立。保罗在哥林多时与亚居拉和百基拉同住（徒 18:2-3）。保罗晚年经常与这些人交往，很明显他们已经成为保罗挚爱的同工。他们来自罗马，但被革老丢驱逐出罗马。保罗之所以最初选择和他们住在一起，是因为他们和保罗都以制造帐篷为业。

It was not long before Silas and Timothy rejoined Paul. When they did they brought most encouraging news from Thessalonica. They were able to assure Paul that his converts there were standing firm despite all the opposition they were meeting. Paul could discern from this news that, though he was opposed on every hand, yet God was really blessing his work. Fanatics might rage against him, but if God was with him then the work that he was doing would certainly stand. Luke tells us that he “was occupied with preaching, testifying to the Jews that the Christ was Jesus” (Acts 18:5). This seems to mean that Paul gave himself to the task with renewed vigor. He was heartened by the good news he had received and threw himself energetically into the task of evangelism in Corinth.

But his way here was not to be easy either. As in other cities, he found strong Jewish opposition. It was his custom to begin preaching in a new city in the synagogue. This gave him a preaching place, and it brought him into contact with those who might be expected to be interested in his message: Jews with their love of the OT, and pagans who were so dissatisfied with their paganism that they had gone as far as to attend the Jewish house of worship. But it was not long before Paul was compelled to leave this vantage point in Corinth. Jewish opposition came early and compelled him to leave the synagogue. He found in the house of a man called Justus a new center of activities, and as this was next door to the synagogue he could keep his contacts with interested Jews. We do not ever read of very many Jewish converts at Corinth, though among them was a man named Crispus, called “the ruler of the synagogue” (Acts 18:8). 1 Corinthians supports Acts in this, because there are very few Jewish names mentioned here (nor are there many in 2 Corinthians). However, many Corinthians believed, and Paul remained in the city for about eighteen months.

These months cannot have been easy. In addition to being expelled from the synagogue Paul was accused before the proconsul, a man called Gallio, of teaching men to worship “contrary to the law” (Acts 18:13). Gallio took little notice of the accusation, but its having been made shows that Paul’s opponents were vigorous and active. It is almost certain that the letters to Thessalonica were written from this city, and they indicate that he was being opposed at the time of writing (1 Thess. 2:15f.; 2 Thess. 3:1f.).

Nevertheless Paul was instrumental in bringing into being a strong church. From 1 Cor. 1:26ff. it seems likely that the bulk of the converts were taken from the lower strata of society. Not all, for some of the converts were certainly eminent people. Thus in Rom. 16:23 (Romans was almost certainly written from Corinth) Gaius is called “host to me and to the whole church,” and Erastus is spoken of as “the city treasurer.” Such people were men of consequence. Chloe, who is mentioned in 1 Cor. 1:11, is likely to have been a wealthy lady with business interests in both Corinth and Ephesus. If she was a Corinthian this would indicate that at least one convert was wealthy. But it may well be that she came from Ephesus. 1 Corinthians has references to people engaging in law suits and to others attending private banquets, and these again are not commonly activities of the lowest classes. Nevertheless all the evidence indicates that most of the converts were men and women of humble origin. 1 Cor. 1:26ff. draws attention to the lowly status of many of the believers, and we have no reason for thinking that the church as a whole was composed of any other.

这十八个月的时间过得并不容易。保罗不仅被迫离开会堂，还遭到控告，被带到方伯迦流的面前，说保罗“不按着律法”敬拜神（徒 18:13）。迦流却并不理会这一指控，但这一控告却表明反对保罗的人较为激进和活跃。几乎可以肯定的是保罗是在哥林多写的《帖撒罗尼迦前后书》，这两封书信表明保罗在写信时正遭受着犹太人的反对（帖前 2:15-16；帖后 3:1-2）。

然而，保罗推动了稳固教会的建立。从《哥林多前书》1:26 之后的章节可以看出，大部分归主的人可能都来自社会底层。但情况并非完全如此，因为有些归主的人显然是达官贵族。因此《罗马书》16:23（《罗马书》几乎可以肯定是保罗在哥林多时写的）中提到，该犹“接待我，也接待全教会”，以拉都是“城内管银库的”。这些人都是地位显赫之人。《哥林多前书》1:11 中提到的革来氏很有可能是一个在哥林多和以弗所都有产业的阔太太。如果她是哥林多人，那么说明了归主的人中至少有一个富人。但她也很可能来自以弗所。《哥林多前书》中提到归主的人中有从事律法诉讼和参加私人宴会的，这些活动都不是最低社会阶层的日常活动。然而，所有证据表明大多数归主的人出身卑微。《哥林多前书》1:26 之后的经文着重强调了许多信徒的卑微身份，我们没有理由认为全体教会

C. Visit of Apollos. Eventually Paul left Corinth, and in due course the church was visited by Apollos. We read of this man in Acts 18:24ff., where we find that he was an Alexandrian, an eloquent man, and that he came into Christianity by way of the teachings of John the Baptist. Indeed he was preaching Christ while still baptized only with John's baptism. But Aquila and Priscilla explained to him "the way of God more accurately" and evidently brought him into the fellowship of the Christian Church. Apollos went on in the Christian faith and employed his gifts of eloquence in preaching the gospel, for he "powerfully confuted the Jews" (Acts 18:28), and he did this in Achaia, which almost certainly means in Corinth, the capital city.

We know little else about Apollos. It is sometimes said that he was fond of the allegorical method of interpreting Scripture. This is not at all impossible, but the only evidence we have is that he came from Alexandria, a city known in later years as a center of allegorical interpretation. This is a very slight foundation for the theory. From the way Paul speaks of him we may be sure that there was no difference in the essential message proclaimed, whatever may have been different in the way Apollos

C. 亚波罗拜访哥林多。保罗最终离开了哥林多，紧接着亚波罗拜访了哥林多的教会。我们可以在《使徒行传》18:24之后的经文中读到关于这个人的故事，亚波罗生在亚历山大，是有学问有口才的人，他因受施洗约翰的教导信仰了基督教。他教导人关于耶稣的事，只是他单晓得约翰的洗礼。但百基拉和亚居拉“将神的道给他讲解更加详细”，显然还带他参加了基督教会的团契。亚波罗坚固了他的基督教信仰，并运用他的口才传福音，因为他“极有能力驳倒犹太人”（徒18:28），他在亚该亚行省传道，这几乎意味着他在亚该亚的首府哥林多讲道。

我们对亚波罗的了解只有这么多。有人说他偏爱寓意释经。这并非完全没有可能，但是，我们只能证明他来自亚历山大，亚历山大后来成为寓意解经的中心。这是这种学说的微不足道的证据。从保罗谈论亚波罗的方式我们可以肯定他们所传的基本信息是没有任何差别的，无论亚波罗传福音的方式多么地不同。不过，他们讲道方式的差异（无论是怎样的差异）足以使哥林多人表明立场，有人支持保罗，其他人则支持亚波罗。还有人说彼得是保罗和亚波罗的领导者，彼得很有可能拜访了哥林多，但是我们

presented it. However, the difference, of whatever sort it was, was enough to enable the Corinthians to take sides, some espousing Paul and others Apollos. Another group claimed Peter as their leader, and it is possible that this apostle too paid a visit to Corinth, though if he did we know nothing about it.

D. The “Previous” Letter. The next information we have is that Paul wrote a letter to the Corinthians. This letter has perished (for the hypothesis that some of it is preserved in 2 Cor. 6:14–7:1 see CORINTHIANS, SECOND V). All we know is that Paul in this letter told the Corinthians “not to associate with immoral men” (1 Cor. 5:9). Paul introduces the reference to this letter in order to clear up a misunderstanding. We need not be greatly surprised, therefore, that the letter has perished. If it was capable of being misconstrued, and if the correct teaching was given more fully in a letter we now have, there was no point in preserving the former letter.

E. Paul’s Authority Questioned. Something went wrong in the Corinthian church. In some way Paul’s authority was questioned. It is curious that though we have two fairly long letters to the Corinthians, yet we cannot find out from them or from the Acts or from any other sources the exact nature of the trouble. Obviously it was serious, and it involved calling in question Paul’s authority. Whatever it was, Paul determined to send Timothy to attend to the matter on his behalf (1 Cor. 4:17; 16:10f.). It is not really certain that Timothy reached Corinth, and if he did he could not have paid a very long visit, for he was away from Corinth when 1 Corinthians was

D. “先前的”书信。据我们所知，保罗之前曾给哥林多人去过信。这封书信没有被保存下来（有种假设认为这封书信中的部分内容保存在《哥林多后书》6:14–7:1中，见 CORINTHIANS, SECOND V [哥林多后书 V]）。我们只知道保罗在信中告诉哥林多人“不可与淫乱的人相交”（林前 5:9）。保罗提及这封信是为了消除误解。因此，我们不必为这封信没有保存下来而感到过分惊讶。如果这封信有可能被误解，如果保罗的正确教导在目前已知的书信中更为完整地保留了下来，就完全没有必要留存这封信。

E. 保罗的权威受到质疑。哥林多教会出现了一些问题。保罗的权威在某种程度上受到了质疑。但让人好奇的是，虽然有两封写给哥林多人的相当长的书信，但是我们不能从这些书信中，或从《使徒行传》以及其他文献中找到出现了怎样的问题。显然，当时哥林多教会出现了很严重的问题，有人质疑保罗的权威性。但无论出现了怎样的问题，保罗决定派他的代表提摩太解决这个问题（林前 4:17; 16:10-11）。无法确定提摩太是否到了哥林多，如果他真的来到了哥林多，可能也没呆多久，因为保罗写《哥林多前书》时提摩太不再哥林多。提摩太显然无法解决教会中出现的问题。 written. Clearly Timothy was unable to do anything very effective.

Paul now made contact with certain members of the church of Corinth. He picked up news from some representative of the house of Chloe (1 Cor. 1:11), which appears to mean that some of Chloe's slaves had been in Corinth and had come to Ephesus bringing news of what they had seen and heard in the Corinthian church. Paul evidently took no action immediately, but he bore the information in mind. The opportunity to make use of it occurred when he received from the Corinthian church a letter, which appears to have been brought to him by Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus (1 Cor. 7:1; 16:17). This gave Paul a very good reason for writing to the Corinthian church, and the resultant letter is that which we know as 1 Corinthians.

V. Purpose.-The immediate purpose of the Epistle was obviously to answer the letter Paul had received from the Corinthian church. But that this was not primarily in his mind is seen in that not until 1 Cor. 7 does he turn his attention to the letter he had received. Much more important to Paul were certain matters that the Corinthians had not mentioned. He wrote to set things right. His primary concern was with the divisions in the church and the spirit of factiousness that these divisions proclaimed to all. So he took a good deal of time to make clear that such divisions are completely unworthy of a body of Christians, and to urge the brethren to return to a godly unity.

He was as concerned with the lax moral standards of which he was hearing. There was a case of incest, an easy attitude toward fornication, and a tendency to indulge in litigation before pagan judges. All these things Paul saw as incompatible with the Christian profession, and he wrote to say so plainly.

保罗当时与哥林多教会内的一些信徒取得了联系。革来氏家里的人给保罗带来了消息(林前 1:11),这似乎说明革来氏家中的一些仆人来自于哥林多,他们将自己在哥林多教会中的所见所闻带到了以弗所。保罗显然没有立即采取行动,但是始终记着这个消息。当保罗收到哥林多教会的来信,利用这个消息的机会出现了,哥林多教会的书信似乎是司提反、福徒拿都和亚该古带来的(林前 7:1; 16:17)。这为保罗给哥林多教会去信提供了很好的理由,我们知道这封书信就是《哥林多前书》。

V. 书信的目的。保罗写这封书信的直接目的显然是为了回复哥林多教会来信中提到的问题。但这并不是保罗写这封书信的主要目的,因为直到《哥林多前书》7章,保罗才开始关注他收到的书信。保罗更关注哥林多教会在信中未提及的问题。保罗想要去信指正这些问题。他最关心的是教会内的结党纷争。因此保罗用大量的时间表明这些纷争与基督徒的身份不相称,并劝戒弟兄们重新结成圣洁的整体。

He also had in mind the questions asked by the Corinthians, and in due course he turned his attention to them. These questions included among other things marriage, complicated as it sometimes was by the conversion of one of a pagan pair. Did the standard for Christian marriage apply to this pagan union? Some evidently had a high regard for celibacy, and Paul wrote to help them on such points. There were other questions. Some pertained to the right conduct with respect to meals in idol temples and to meat offered in sacrifice. Some concerned Christian worship, including such difficult matters as the place of women and the proper estimation of speaking in “tongues.” There was a question about the resurrection of the body, and Paul gives us his most important treatment of the subject in reply. Finally, the Corinthians had inquired about the collection Paul was making for the poor in Jerusalem. Paul’s purpose, then, was first to deal with grave irregularities he perceived in the Corinthian church, and second to clear up certain difficulties that the Corinthians had encountered and on which they sought his guidance.

VI. Date and Place of Origin.-It is difficult to date this Epistle with precision. It is plain from 1 Cor. 16:8 that it was written from Ephesus, but it is not certain which stay in Ephesus is meant, nor at what time in his stay Paul wrote it.

保罗也记着哥林多人在信中问到的问题，并顺次回答了这些问题。其中就包括婚姻问题，这个问题很复杂，因为有时涉及到外邦归信者的婚姻问题。基督教的婚姻标准也适用于外邦夫妻吗？有些人显然非常重视独身，保罗在信中回答了关于独身的问题。此外还有其他的问题。有些问题关乎正确地对待祭偶像的食物和献祭的肉。有些问题关乎基督徒的敬拜，其中包括女人的位置和恰当地对待说“方言”这些难题。还有身体复活的问题，保罗对此作出了最权威的回答。最后，哥林多人向保罗询问了关于他为耶路撒冷的穷人筹集的捐资。保罗首先讨论了哥林多教会中出现的重大不法行为，接着解决了哥林多人遇到的并寻求保罗指导的一些难题。

VI.创作时间和地点。至今仍很难确定保罗写《哥林多前书》的准确时间。《哥林多前书》16:8表明这封书信写于以弗所，但不确定保罗哪次停留在以弗所时写的这封信，保罗在以弗所时什么时间写的这封信。我们只知道保罗在哥林多完成

We know that Paul went to Ephesus immediately after his original mission at Corinth (Acts 18:18–21). But it is impossible to think that 1 Corinthians was written at this time. It was clearly a short stay, and it took time for the situation to develop to the point at which 1 Corinthians became necessary. So it is more probable that the letter was written during the visit mentioned in Acts 19, a visit that lasted for three years (Acts 20:31). If 1 Cor. 16:8 means that Paul left Ephesus at Pentecost subsequent to the writing of the Epistle, then 1 Corinthians must have been written during the last of his three years at Ephesus.

Another line of approach starts from the reference to Gallio in Acts 18:12. This is a most important statement, for it enables us to arrive at one of the few fixed points in the chronology of the NT. An inscription at Delphi gives us the reply of the emperor Claudius to a question asked by Gallio, and the date of the inscription seems to show that Gallio began his term of office in Corinth during the early summer of A.D. 51. Some of Paul's eighteen months in Corinth elapsed after this, and we must also allow for subsequent events up till his third year in Ephesus.

It is disappointing that all this does not enable us to fix the date of the Epistle with precision. It must be some time after A.D. 51, but how long after is not certain. Somewhere about the mid 50's seems as close as we can estimate.

VII. Teaching.-A. Divisions. Paul's first major topic is that of division in the church. He draws attention to the fact of division, for some of the believers were

了最初的使命后就直接去了以弗所（徒 18:18–21）。但不能认为《哥林多前书》是在那时写的。保罗在以弗所停留时间显然较短，形势发展到一定程度才产生了写《哥林多前书》的必要性，而形势的发展是需要一定时间的。《哥林多前书》很可能是在《使徒行传》19章中提到的那次访问期间写成的，这次访问持续了三年（徒 20:31）。如果《哥林多前书》16:8表明保罗在写完这封书信之后的那个五旬节离开了以弗所，那么《哥林多前书》很可能是保罗在以弗所最后那三年写成的。

另一个研究《哥林多前书》创作时间的方法从《使徒行传》18:12提到的迦流入手。这是一段非常重要的陈述，因为我们可以依此陈述确定新约年表中的其中一个固定的时间点。特尔斐的一篇铭文给出了革老丢对迦流提出的问题的答复，这篇铭文的年代似乎表明迦流从公元51年初夏时节开始在哥林多作方伯。在这之后，保罗在哥林多停留了十八个月，我们也必须考虑到随后发生的事，直到保罗在以弗所第三年。

遗憾的是，这些都不能帮助我们确定《哥林多前书》的准确写作日期。这封书信一定写于公元51年之后，但是无法确定具体的时间。我们估计这封书信大约写于公元55年前后。

VII. 教导。A. 纷争。保罗谈论的首个重要主题是教会的纷争问题。他注意到了教会纷争这个现实，因为有一些信徒说他们是属保罗的，有一些说他们是属 claiming to belong to Paul, others to Apollos, others to Cephas, and yet others to Christ. How this state of affairs came about is not known, but the fact is clear. Emphatically Paul disclaims responsibility for the situation, and he engages in a vigorous argument to show its sinfulness and folly. He points out that God does not act in the way human wisdom might suppose. He saves men by the “foolishness” of the cross, and not by anything that would be flattering to human pride. Paul discounts human greatness by reminding the Corinthians that most of their number were lowly folk. Their salvation was a demonstration not of human excellence but of God’s power. The message Paul preached was not a message originating in profound human thought, but a message given by the Holy Spirit Himself. And it would be recognized as such by those who had spiritual discernment.

B. Wisdom. But the current state of affairs in Corinth showed a gross misunderstanding of the essential truth of the gospel. In all this Paul is concerned to set the wisdom of the world over against the true wisdom, the wisdom that rests on divine revelation. It is always salutary to remember that the gospel is not called upon to give account of itself before the bar of human approval. It is not and never can be merely a wise human device. It is God’s answer to the problem of man’s sin and must be reckoned as such, though this is something that the “natural” man cannot receive. Paul goes on to show that the Corinthians had the wrong attitude regarding the preachers, and that by this they demonstrated that they were but babes in Christ. Paul and Apollos were not in competition with each other. They were partners in the work of God, each doing his part, but depending on God for the results. Paul has an important passage about the building and the foundation (3:10–16) wherein he makes it plain that there can be but one foundation for the Christian life, namely, Jesus Christ. But each man builds on this foundation, and he may build something valuable or something worthless. The day of judgment will reveal it all. This is of relevance to the work of all preachers and indeed to that of all Christian people. Men are saved by Christ, and there is no other basis for salvation. But that does not mean that what men do is unimportant. We are building on the foundation and we must be careful how and what we build. From this Paul returns to the thought that the preachers are mere servants, and he goes on to make an appeal to the Corinthians to act on what he has written.

*B. 智慧。*哥林多当时的情况表明哥林多人严重曲解了福音中的基本真理。保罗认为这世界的智慧有违真正的智慧，真正的智慧依赖于神的启示。我们始终要牢记，传福音不是为了以人类的标准解释福音。福音绝不仅仅是智慧人的工具。福音是神对人类罪恶问题的回应，必须照此理解福音，虽然“属血气的”人不能领会。保罗继续说道，哥林多人以错误的态度对待传道者，因此，他们不过是基督里的婴孩。保罗和亚波罗之间没有竞争。他们一同做工，每人做自己分内的事情，最后的结果取决于上帝。保罗有一段关于建造和根基的重要论述（林前 3:10-16），保罗明确说道，基督徒生活中只有一个根基，即耶稣基督。每个人在这一根基建造，他可能建造有价值的工程，也可能建造无价值的工程。审判之日要将它表明出来。这与所有传教士和基督徒的工作有关。拯救人类的

C. Moral Laxity. In ch. 5 Paul turns his attention to the grave moral laxity of which he had heard. He reminds the believers that incest is a crime reprobated even by the Gentiles. Yet the Corinthians had done nothing to show their detestation of such an evil in their midst. Paul urges them to clear out the evil. Then he goes on to castigate them for a factious spirit, manifested in their taking part in lawsuits before heathen judges. Nothing could have been more unfortunate in a body of men supposedly trying to proclaim the gospel of love. The apostle goes on to deliver some important teaching on the nature of the body and on sexual relations. Fornication cannot be held to be an indifferent matter. Believers have been bought by

C. 道德沦丧。保罗在《哥林多前书》第5章中把注意力转向他风闻的严重的道德沦丧问题。他提醒信徒淫乱是一种连外邦人都谴责的罪行。然而，哥林多人却并不憎恶他们中间的这种罪。保罗劝戒他们除去这种罪。然后，保罗谴责哥林多人中间的派系之争，这体现在他们在外邦人面前求审。可能没有什么比用身体传爱的福音更为不恰当了。保罗继续阐述了关于身体的本质和两性关系的重要教义。不能将乱伦视为无关紧要之事。基督救赎了信徒。身体是圣灵的殿，基督徒要在身子上荣耀神。

Christ. The body is a temple of the Holy Spirit, and Christians must glorify God in their bodies.

D. Marriage. When he comes to deal with the questions the Corinthians had asked, Paul begins with marriage. This part of his teaching is commonly misunderstood today; it should be noted that he clearly views marriage as the normal rule, and although he has much to say in praise of celibacy he never belittles the married state. On the contrary, he inserts little sayings to show that, even in situations where he is counseling celibacy, there is no sin in marrying (7:9, 28, 36, 39). He has advice for various classes of people, the single, widows, Christians married to Christians, Christians married to pagans, etc. His general theme is that men should lead the kind of life that God assigns them. There is some special crisis at Corinth (7:26), and in view of this it is better that men should remain as they are. What this crisis was we do not know. Some suggest that it was the imminence of Christ's return, but this is unlikely. Nowhere in his extant Epistles does Paul link this kind of exhortation to teaching about the Second Coming. Paul's view is that there is a definite value in celibacy, for the unmarried are free to serve the Lord without the cares that are inseparable from marriage (7:32–35). But even so he refuses to discountenance marriage (7:2), and recognizes the indispensable place of the sex act within marriage (7:4f.). Some should marry and some should not. No rule can be laid down that applies to all (7:7).

E. Sacrifices to Idols. To us it seems axiomatic that the believer can have nothing to do with idol worship. But in the 1st cent. practically all social life involved some contact with idolatry. Celebrations calling for men to eat a communal meal, whether public or private, would be the very kind of occasion when the offering of a sacrifice seemed most appropriate. Christians who claimed to be mature reasoned that an idol means nothing. "What harm can it possibly do," they apparently asked, "to eat one's meat in front of a block of wood or stone? What if the heathen do think of it as a god? We know better, and know that bringing meat before a piece of wood cannot defile it." The question was wider than idol feasts, for much of the meat sold in shops and eaten in private homes was surplus from the temples. So some of the believers were puzzled and put their question to Paul. They found it difficult to eat in idol temples, or to eat meat that had been offered to an idol, without some twinge of conscience. Paul deals with the whole matter on a high plane. He reminds the strong of their responsibility toward the weak. While an idol is nothing, yet to eat in idol temples is to encourage others to do the same, who may not be able to do so with a good conscience. Such actions are harmful to the weak and may do them irreparable spiritual injury.

D. 婚姻。保罗从婚姻问题开始依次回答了哥林多人向他询问的问题。今天人们普遍曲解了保罗关于婚姻的教导。值得注意的是，保罗显然将婚姻视为标准原则，虽然保罗称赞独身，但是他从未贬低过婚姻。相反，即使在他称赞独身时，他也没有说过婚姻有罪（林前 7:9, 28, 36, 39）。他给社会中各阶层的人送去了忠告，这些人包括单身者、寡妇、娶（嫁）基督徒的基督徒和娶（嫁）外邦人的基督徒。保罗想要表达的基本主题是，人类应该过上上帝安排的生活。哥林多面临着艰难（林前 7:26），因此，人类应该保持他们原来的样子。我们不知道哥林多到底面临着怎样的艰难。有人认为这种艰难指的是基督复临已经迫近，但这种说法不太可能成立。保罗在这封书信中并没有将这种劝勉与关于基督复临的教导联系在一起。保罗认为独身有一定的价值，因为独身者不必承担已婚者的挂虑，因此能更好地侍奉神（林前 7:32 – 35）。但即使如此，保罗仍然不主张贬低婚姻（林前 7:2），并承认性行为是婚姻中不可或缺的一部分（林前 7:4-5）。有些信徒应该结婚，有些则不应该结婚。没有适合所有信徒的标准（林前 7:7）。

E. 祭偶像之物。对我们而言，不拜偶像似乎是不言自明的事实。但在 1 世纪，

Paul then vigorously points out that he practices the principle he is here preaching. He has certain rights and privileges as an apostle. He has the right to be maintained by those to whom he preaches the gospel. But he has not availed himself of that right. He is always ready to waive his rights that thereby he might win men for Christ. Then he tries another tack. He shows how the Israelites, despite their high privileges, had suffered grievously in the wilderness and many of them had died when they dallied with idolatry. This leads to a recognition that the very fact of participation in the holy communion is a reminder that they ought to have nothing to do with idols, for one cannot share in the Lord's table and at the same time in the table of demons (10:21).

Paul takes a common-sense attitude to meat sold in the shops or served in homes. Since "the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof" (10:26, AV), the believer ought not to ask fussy questions, but should eat whatever is set before him. He knows there are no "gods" and that therefore he may safely eat even though the meat may in fact have been offered to an idol. But if someone were to say, "This was offered in sacrifice," then the believer should not eat. It is not that the meat has become contaminated, but that to eat now is to countenance idolatry and to embolden the weak to eat to their detriment. The believer must always act in a spirit of love. This lesson is relevant to our very different circumstances. It is a chief value of this Epistle that in it we see how the great Christian principles apply to the everyday situation of the believer, whatever that situation may be.

F. Public Worship. The Corinthians were giving offense by some of the things they did in public worship. Contrary to the accepted conventions in polite society, women were attending public worship with uncovered heads, and Paul deprecates the practice. He deals with the conduct of the Lord's Supper, rebuking the Corinthians' irreverence and urging proper self-examination. It would seem that some of the Corinthians were very proud of their ability to speak in tongues, and Paul devotes his attention to the subject. A very notable part of his treatment of this subject is his great section on love (ch. 13), which has become the classic Christian treatment of the theme. He does not forbid speaking in tongues, but he shows that it is more important that believers act in a spirit of Christian love than that they acquire a reputation for wisdom, eloquence, or piety. It is a lesson that is not yet out of date. From this Paul passes to the conduct of public worship and insists that “all things be done for edification” (14:26).

餐是在提醒弟兄们不该崇拜偶像，因为一个人不能既吃主的筵席，又吃魔鬼的筵席（林前 10:21）。

保罗以常识对待市场上卖的肉或家里吃的肉。因为“地和其中所充满的都属乎主”（《钦定版圣经》，林前 10:26），信徒不应该大惊小怪，而应该吃摆在他们面前的任何食物。他们知道除上帝之外再无别“神”，因此他们可以放心地吃肉，即使这肉实际上是献给偶像的。但如果有人说“这是祭偶像之物”，信徒便不当吃。这并不是因为这肉已经被污染了，而是因为现在吃这肉就是在拜偶像，并将怂恿软弱之人吃对他们无益的食物。信徒行事为人必须总是充满爱心。这一教导与我们现在截然不同的环境密切相关。这封书信的主要价值体现在这些基督教的重要原则适用于信徒每天遇到的任何情形。

F. 公共礼拜。哥林多人在公共礼拜时做的很多事冒犯了神。哥林多的女人在礼拜时不蒙头，这有违上流社会的公认的惯例，保罗抨击了这种行为。保罗讨论了主的晚餐，谴责了哥林多人的无礼行为，并敦促他们恰当地自省。有些哥林多人似乎因能够说方言而夸口，保罗也关注了这个问题。保罗对这一话题的著名论述就是《哥林多前书》13 章中关于爱的重要经文，这已经成为基督教对这

G. The Resurrection. Some of the Corinthians denied the resurrection of the body, evidently holding to some such idea as the Greek concept of the immortality of the soul. To many today it seems of small consequence which of these two ideas one holds. But Paul is very clear on the importance of holding the right doctrine. Step by step he unfolds the consequence of this apparently minor aberration. He shows that when it is thought through, this error strikes at the heart of the Christian faith. It means that Christ did not rise, and this in turn that He did not deal effectively with sin. Paul goes on to deal with objections to the idea of resurrection, with the nature of the resurrection body, and with the final triumph of Christ when He returns in glory. Chapter 15 is the most important Christian treatment of resurrection.

From this mighty theme Paul turns to the collection for the poor saints at Jerusalem. He gives directions as to how it is to be taken up, and how it is to be sent to Jerusalem. He has a few terse exhortations and some greetings, and so brings the letter to a close.

一话题的经典论述。保罗并不反对说方言，但是他认为基督徒的爱心要比他们的智慧、口才或虔诚更重要。这个教训现在也不过时。保罗进而提及了公共礼拜时的行为，并坚持认为“凡事都当造就人”（林前 14:26）。

G. 复活。有些哥林多人否认身体的复活，显然坚持灵魂不朽的希腊思想。对于当今的许多人来说，坚持这两种观点中的任何一种观点不会产生多大的影响。但保罗很清楚坚持正确教义的重要性。保罗逐步揭示了这种微小偏差所产生的后果。保罗认为当彻底想清楚了，就会发现这种错误会动摇基督徒信仰的核心。它意味着基督没有复活，且没有赎去世人的罪。保罗紧接着讨论了对复活观点的异议、复活身体的性质，以及基督在荣耀中复临时所取得的最后的胜利。《哥林多前书》15 章是基督教关于复活最为重要的阐述。

谈论完这个伟大的主题，保罗转而又提及了为耶路撒冷贫穷的圣徒捐钱的事情。他指示哥林多教会当如何筹集捐资，

From all this it is plain that there is no Epistle of the great apostle that sticks more stubbornly to local affairs. Paul never sets out to deliver a theological discourse. There is no place in the whole Epistle where he attempts to set forth in systematic form the Christian teaching on any subject. Right through he takes his starting point in some specific practice of the Corinthian church or some specific question the Corinthians had asked him. But, though he is occupied all the time with local problems, he deals with them all in the light of great eternal principles. And because he thus brings the basic principles of the Christian faith to bear on the small problems of an individual church, he brings out for all time the way central Christian truth is related to everyday needs.

以及如何将捐资送到耶路撒冷。他给出了一些简洁的劝勉，并向一些人问安，最后结束了这封书信。

由此可见，没有哪位伟大使徒的书信像保罗书信那样坚持处理当地事务。保罗从未打算发表一篇神学演讲。他也没有在整封信中系统地阐述基督教关于某个主题的教义。保罗从哥林多教会中出现的一些具体问题着手，或者说从哥林多人询问的问题着手。然而，虽然保罗始终忙于处理当地的问题，但是他按照永恒的大原则处理了所有的问题。因为保罗用基督教信仰的基本原则处理了地方教会的小问题，所以他为所有的时代指明了方向，即基督教的主要真理关乎每日的需要。

This Epistle comes from the same period as 1 Corinthians, being written indeed at no great interval after the first letter. It arises out of a further development of the same situation.

这封书信与《哥林多前书》写于同一时期，两封书信相隔时间不长。这封信的创作源于相同形势的进一步发展。

I. Authenticity.-Like the First Epistle to the Corinthian church this one is almost universally accepted as Pauline. Only W. C. van Manen and those who agreed with him that there are no genuine Pauline Epistles have denied that this is a genuine letter of the great apostle. The external evidence is not quite as good as that for 1 Corinthians, but it is still adequate. The Epistle is first quoted by Polycarp. (It is a little puzzling that Clement of Rome does not use it; it seems as though it would have given his case quite strong support. Possibly this Epistle was somewhat slower in getting into general circulation than was 1 Corinthians.) It is also cited in the letter to Diognetus. From the time of Irenaeus it is frequently quoted.

I. 真实性。这封书信与《哥林多前书》一样，也被普遍认为由保罗写的。范梅南（W. C. van Manen）和支持他的人认为不存在真实的保罗书信，只有他们否认这是由使徒保罗所写的真实书信。《哥林多后书》的外部证据不如《哥林多前书》的外部证据那样确凿，但还算充分。坡旅甲首先引用了这封书信中的内容。（令人稍微有些困惑的是，罗马的革利免并没有引用这封书信；这封书信本可以为他的作品提供非常坚实的佐证。这可能是因为这封书信流传的较慢，不像《哥林多前书》那样很快便被人们普遍知晓。）《致丢格那妥书》中也引用了这封书信中的内容。从爱任纽生活的年代开始，这封书信频繁地被引用。

The internal testimony is also convincing. Characteristically Pauline words and phrases abound, and the style is Pauline throughout. Indeed the letter may be said to be more Pauline than any of the others, for we see the man Paul in this Epistle as we see him nowhere else.

《哥林多后书》真实性的内在证据也很有说服力。这封书信中有大量典型的保罗话语和语句，而且整封书信都体现出了保罗的风格。据说《哥林多后书》比其他书信更具保罗风格，因为我们在这封书信中看到的保罗在其他的书信中都看不到。作者很为哥林多教会的情况担

The writer was clearly troubled about the condition of the Corinthian church, and he writes out of a deep pastoral concern. Here, better than anywhere else, we see what it meant to Paul to have resting upon him “the care of all the churches” (2 Cor. 11:28, AV). There is no real reason for doubting that this letter is a genuine Pauline writing.

II. Paul's Relations with the Corinthian Church.-A. The “Painful” Visit. In the article on 1 Corinthians we noticed that trouble was developing between Paul and the Corinthian church when that Epistle was written. Whatever the nature of the trouble, it grew worse with the passage of time. In 1 Corinthians we see the church looking to Paul for authoritative answers to questions, but later his authority was challenged. The exact order of events is not easy to untangle, but it seems tolerably clear that some time after the writing of 1 Corinthians Paul paid a further visit to Corinth. We know that he was planning to spend the winter with the Corinthians (1 Cor. 16:5-7), and this shortly after the writing of 1 Corinthians (1 Cor. 4:19). However, for some reason his plans had to be revised; but the new plan still provided for a visit to Corinth, in fact for two visits. Instead of going to Corinth from Macedonia Paul now proposed to go first to Corinth, then to Macedonia, then back to Corinth (2 Cor. 1:15f.). From the way he mentions it, this plan evidently was not carried through; but the point is that with all his changes of mind there was a firm and consistent determination to visit Corinth. And it seems plain that this visit did take place, even though we cannot be sure exactly when. Twice Paul speaks of visiting the Corinthians for “the third time” (12:14; 13:1). This certainly indicates that before writing 2 Corinthians he had paid a visit to Corinth other than the visit when the church was founded.

II. 保罗与哥林多教会的关系。A. “痛苦”的探访。我们从《哥林多前书》中可以看出, 保罗写这封信时他与哥林多教会的艰难困境进一步升级。无论是怎样的艰难, 情况随着时间的推移进一步恶化。从《哥林多前书》中可以看出, 哥林多教会就一些问题寻求保罗的权威回复, 但后来保罗的权威受到了质疑。很难理清事件的次序, 但似乎可以肯定的是, 保罗在写完《哥林多前书》后再次探访了哥林多。我们知道保罗打算与哥林多人一起过冬 (林前 16:5-7), 这是写完《哥林多前书》之后不久发生的事情 (林前 4:19)。后来由于某些原因保罗不得不改变了计划, 但是保罗仍想再次探访哥林多, 实际上保罗打算两次访问哥林多。保罗原本打算从马其顿到哥林多, 后来打算先去哥林多, 然后去马其顿, 之后再返回哥林多 (林后 1:15-16)。从保罗提及这一计划的方式可以看出, 这一计划显然没有付诸实践; 但是, 关键在于虽然保罗的想法几经改变, 但是他始终想访问哥林多。显然, 保罗最终还是去了哥林多, 但是具体时间尚不清楚。保罗曾两次提及 “第三次” 访问哥林多 (林后 12:14; 13:1)。这无疑说明写《哥林多后书》之前, 保罗已拜访了哥林多, 并且这次访问不同于建立教会的那次访问。

Moreover, this second visit was an exceedingly unpleasant one. Paul tells them that he had made up his mind “not to make you another painful visit” (2:1). The second visit accordingly had been painful to the apostle, and presumably also to the Corinthian church. From all this it appears that when the trouble worsened Paul determined on a personal visit to Corinth. But the visit fell far short of his expectations. Reading between the lines it appears that Paul’s opponent or opponents at Corinth withstood him vigorously and that the attitude of the church as a whole was at least an equivocal one. It may have been worse. At any rate Paul did not secure the support that he felt he was entitled to. The visit was a failure, serving only to worsen the situation.

B. The Severe Letter. After leaving Corinth, Paul determined to make a further appeal by letter. This letter evidently cost him a good deal to write, and was couched in very severe terms. He tells us that he wrote it “out of much affliction and anguish of heart and with many tears” (2 Cor. 2:4). So strong was the letter that for a time Paul regretted ever having written it (7:8). This severe letter has been lost entirely (but see V below on chs. 10–13). But we can gather something about it from references in 2 Corinthians. Paul must have written it in such blunt and forthright terms that if it had not been received in the right way it could have permanently damaged his relations with the Corinthians. However, the Corinthians reacted to it in the way the apostle had hoped. It seems likely that, among other things, Paul had suggested that the principal offender should be suitably disciplined by the church, and that the Corinthians accepted the suggestion. Indeed they accepted it so wholeheartedly that Paul wondered whether they might not be going too far (2:5ff.).

此外，保罗第二次探访哥林多也是极不愉快的。保罗告诉他们他已定了主意，“再到你们那里去，必须大家没有忧愁”（林后 2:1）。因此，第二次访问是令使徒忧愁，并且很可能也令哥林多教会忧愁的访问。这样看来，当问题恶化时，保罗决定亲身访问哥林多。但是这次访问与他的预期相去甚远。从字里行间看出，似乎教会中一个或数个反对保罗的人断然拒绝了他，而且，总的来说，教会的态度至少在当时是模棱两可的。实际情况可能更糟。不管怎样，保罗并没有获得他理应得到的支持。这次探访哥林多是失败的，只是让情况更加恶化而已。

C. Reconciliation. Evidently the severe letter was taken to Corinth by Titus, and the arrangement was that he should return to Paul by way of Macedonia and Troas. But Paul was too deeply concerned about the Corinthians and too worried about how his letter was being received to remain where he was until Titus returned. So he went to Troas; “but my mind could not rest because I did not find my brother Titus there” (2 Cor. 2:13). Accordingly he went across to Macedonia and here at last met Titus, who was bringing him the glad news of the way the Corinthians had received the letter (2:14ff.; 7:6ff.). 2 Corinthians is the result. This letter appears to have been written almost immediately, and is the expression of Paul’s deep sense of thankfulness that all had turned out so well. He looked forward now to being able to visit Corinth. Apparently he did so, and he may even have spent the whole winter there (Acts 20:2f; Rom. 15:25–27; 16:23).

III. Purpose.—As we have seen, this letter was written out of Paul’s deep thankfulness for the favorable turn in his relations with the Corinthians. He wrote the letter partly to assure the Corinthians of his deep satisfaction, and partly to prepare the way for the visit that he hoped soon to accomplish. Paul was a realist. He knew that the worst of the trouble was over, but that did not mean there was no further cause for concern. Therefore, throughout his letter there are passages designed to prevent the recurrence of the trouble, as well as passages expressing his sense of fellowship with the Corinthians and his gratitude to God for what had happened. These warning passages are especially prominent toward the end of the Epistle, but we should not forget that they are to be found in the early part as well (cf. 2 Cor. 3:1; 4:3f.; 6:1; etc.). Paul speaks of taking severe measures against offenders (13:2, 10). He was clearly determined to stamp out the trouble. He was also deeply concerned with the collection for the saints at Jerusalem, and he wanted the Corinthians to have this completed before he came (9:3ff.). So he writes to ensure that there will be no failure on their part.

林多人接受了这个建议。保罗可能也知道哥林多人这么全心全意地接受教导能持续多久（林后 2:5 起）。

C. 和解。据证实，这封严厉的书信由提多带给哥林多教会，并安排他经由马其顿和特罗亚回来找保罗。但是，保罗太过关心哥林多人并且为这封信会被认可到什么程度而担忧，以致于到提多归来之前，他一直坐立难安。于是，他去了特罗亚。“那时因为没有遇见兄弟提多，我心里不安”（林后 2:13）。因此他又前往马其顿并最终在那里遇到了提多，提多将哥林多人接到书信的消息告诉保罗，而且哥林多人对书信的反应令保罗欣喜（林后 2:14 起；7:6 起）。因此便有了《哥林多后书》。保罗好像紧接着就写了《哥林多后书》，并且为所有事都进行得如此顺利而在信中表达了他深深的感恩之情。保罗期盼立刻探访哥林多。显然保罗确实去了哥林多，甚至可能在那里度过了整个冬季（徒 20:2-3；罗 15:25–27；16:23）。

III. 《哥林多后书》的写作目的。如我们所见，保罗因为感激与哥林多教会关系得到改善而写了《哥林多后书》。保罗写这封信一方面是要表示他对哥林多人非常满意，另一方面是为了尽快探访哥林多做铺垫。保罗是一位现实主义者。

IV. Date and Place of Origin.-The date of this Epistle can be determined only approximately, and with reference to that of 1 Corinthians. There is nothing outside the Epistle to assist us in estimating the date. We can say only that the situation apparent in 1 Corinthians had developed to such an extent that a lapse of some months seems required. However, it is the same situation that is developing, and therefore we must not allow too great a length of time. To say that 2 Corinthians was written within about a year of 1 Corinthians seems as close as we can get.

The place of writing is determined by Paul's statement about Titus (2 Cor. 2:12ff.). From this it is clear that he met

他知道最坏的情况已经过去，但这并不意味着不会再有令人担心的问题出现。因此，保罗去信是为了防止再次出现这样的问题，同时表达了他与哥林多人相交的情感并为所发生的事情感谢上帝。虽然这些警示哥林多人的段落主要在书信的后部分，但我们不要忘记在书信开头也能找到这样的警示段落（参：林后 3:1; 4:3-4; 6:1 等）。保罗主张严厉惩罚犯罪的人（林后 13:2, 10）。显然他想要彻底解决问题。他也非常关心为耶路撒冷圣徒捐献的事情，他想要哥林多人在他到哥林多前就完成捐项的事情（林后 9:3 起）。因此他写信给哥林多教会为了确保他们已经完成他们该做的事情。

IV. 《哥林多后书》的写作时间和地点。根据《哥林多前书》的描述只能大致确定《哥林多后书》的写作日期。除了这封书信以外，没有任何信息能帮助我们估计《哥林多后书》的写作日期。我们只能说似乎需要经历几个月的时间才会发展成《哥林多前书》中描述的那种形势。相同的形势一直在向前发展，因此我们相信两份书信相隔的时间不会太长。因此，我们最多可以说，在《哥林多前书》完成后一年内保罗写了《哥林多后书》。

书信的写作地点是根据保罗关于提多的描述决定的（林后 2:12 起）。很明显保罗在马其顿遇见了提多，然后立即写了

Titus in Macedonia, and that he wrote the letter immediately. We can say then that the letter was written from the province of Macedonia, most likely from Philippi.

V. Integrity.-Though few would be found who deny that this Epistle is genuine, it is otherwise with its homogeneity. Many think that the letter as we have it has been compiled from fragments of other Pauline letters. The principal passages called in question are 2:14-7:4; 6:14-7:1; ch. 9; and chs. 10-13.

Concerning the first and third of these little need be said. The supposition that the lengthy passage 2:14-7:4 is a fragment from another letter appears to rest on no surer foundation than that 7:5 would read very naturally if it followed immediately after 2:13. It is thought that there is an urgency in the narrative up to 2:13 which is lacking in the following section but which is resumed again at 7:5. But it is at least as reasonable to contend that the section in question is a typical example of Paul's habit of making sudden digressions. He is certainly far from being the systematic kind of writer who says all that he has on one particular subject and then quietly proceeds to another, never to return to the first. In many places he can be shown to digress from his main subject, only to return to it again at a later time. In this particular case it is not surprising, as he recalls the stress through which he has gone, that he also recalls with gratitude the sustaining grace of God, that this leads on to other thoughts, and that only considerably later does he return to the thought of stress.

Chapter 9 (AV) begins, "For as touching

V. 《哥林多后书》的完整性。虽然很少有人否定这封书信的真实性，但却有人反对这封书信出自同一人的手笔。许多人认为《哥林多后书》是由保罗其他书信的残篇整合而成的。存在争议的主要章节有《哥林多后书》2:14-7:4; 6:14-7:1; 第9章; 和10-13。

关于《哥林多后书》2:14-7:4 和第9章的问题就不必说了。有人认为如果《哥林多后书》7:5 紧跟在《哥林多后书》2:13 的后面，那么这节经文就非常自然，这种假设似乎缺乏可靠证据，更缺乏可靠证据的一种假设是《哥林多后书》2:14-7:4 这段冗长的经文是另一封书信的残篇。有人假设作者叙述到《哥林多后书》2:13 时发生了一个紧急情况，所以这节经文缺失了，但是《哥林多后书》7:5 还原了这部分内容。但至少我们可以合理地认为，这个存有争议的章节体现出保罗突然转移话题的典型写作习惯。系统创作的作者通常首先完整地讨论某个话题，然后平稳地过渡到另一个话题，并且从不会回头再继续讨论第一个话题，但保罗显然不是这类作者。在好多章节中都能看出他偏离了他所讲的中心主题，后来又回到之前的主题。因此，当我们看到，保罗首先回想自己一直以来经受的不安时，又怀着感激之情提及了上帝源源不断的恩典，接着又提及了其他的想法，多段经文之后他才又回来关于不安的话题上，我们不必为此感到惊奇。

the ministering to the saints....” This is thought by some to indicate the introduction of a new subject, and not to be a continuation of the subject already treated in ch. 8. Therefore it must come from a separate letter. This, however, seems to be unwarranted. Paul, as we have seen, does not always conform to the canons of systematic writing that we may feel inclined to lay down. But the overwhelming reason for rejecting this hypothesis is the unity of theme that binds chs. 8 and 9. Chapter 9 is really the necessary continuation of ch. 8, and it is hypercriticism to doubt this.

These two hypothesis have little support. But it is otherwise with the other two passages. There are many who are ready to suggest that 6:14–7:1 originally formed no part of this letter, but was part of the “previous” letter. It is pointed out that this passage as it stands interrupts the sequence of thought, for 7:2 follows very naturally after 6:13. Further, it not only interrupts the argument, but it is said to introduce ideas that are out of keeping with it. Moreover, from 1 Cor. 5:9 we learn that the lost letter was concerned with sexual sin, and it is urged that this present passage would fit in very well with such a letter.

Against this we must urge the consideration already noticed, namely, that Paul is far from being a consistent and systematic writer. Again and again he breaks off his theme and introduces a digression. There seems no real reason why he should not have done this here. That 7:2 follows naturally on from 6:13 may mean no more than that, having left his subject for a brief space, when Paul returns to it he connects it up in thorough-going fashion. It must not be forgotten also that 2 Corinthians was written at a time when Paul was in a state of great emotional upheaval. He had been terribly worried about the Corinthians, and he wrote out of a feeling of overwhelming relief. But this does not mean that he was unmindful of the dangers still lurking in the situation. Unless he and they were careful the Corinthians might well slip back again into the perilous position from which they had so lately emerged. So Paul's letter is not simply one unmitigated paean of praise and thankfulness. He includes many notes of warning. It is not at all out of character for such a man as Paul in such a situation as that in which 2 Corinthians was written to pass from the exhortation in 6:11-13 that the Corinthians open their hearts, to the further exhortation in 6:14ff. that they avoid entanglement with unbelievers. There is also the small point that "I said before" (7:3) is more natural if Paul is conscious of having made a digression since 6:11-13 than if these words immediately precede the expression.

虽然这两种假设没什么依据。但关于另外两段经文的假设则全然不同。许多人认为《哥林多后书》6:14–7:1 最初并非这封信的一部分，而是“前一封”书信的一部分。这些人认为《哥林多后书》6:14–7:1 打断了行文思路，因为《哥林多后书》7:2 中的经文放在《哥林多后书》6:13 之后更为合适。此外，《哥林多后书》6:14–7:1 不仅破坏主题思想，而且引入了一个毫不相关的观点。此外，从《哥林多前书》5:9 中可知，遗失的书信中讨论了行淫之罪，因此，有人认为这节经文非常符合这封遗失书信的主题思想。

针对这种观点，我们必须强调已经提到的观点，即保罗根本不是一个行为连贯、系统创作的作者。他经常暂时抛开正在讨论的主题，引入新的主题。但也没有任何真实的理由可以解释他本不该这样做的原因。《哥林多后书》7:2 放在《哥林多后书》6:13 之后很合适，但这可能仅仅说明他只是短暂地偏离了主题，当他说回到之前的话题时，他将深入透彻地讨论原来的主题。同时我们不要忘记《哥林多后书》是保罗在极其不安的心

But the passage that is most confidently claimed as no part of the original 2 Corinthians is the concluding section, chs. 10-13. There is certainly a change of tone in this part of the Epistle. Whereas before Paul has been expressing his thankfulness that the crisis is over, in these chapters he seems rather to be defending himself and urging the Corinthians to the right line of action. It seems incredible to many critics that Paul could have written chs. 10-13 after 1-9. They therefore suggest that these last chapters form part of the severe letter. They suggest that the bulk of this letter has perished but that this section was preserved.

态下写成的。虽然他之前非常担心哥林多人，并因为感到强大的安慰才写了这封书信。但这并不意味着他不再留意在当前形势中仍然潜在的危险。除非保罗和哥林多信徒都小心谨慎，否则他们就会再倒退回刚刚逃离的状态。因此保罗的这封书信中不只有赞美和感激。还有许多警告。保罗在《哥林多后书》6:11-13 中的劝勉哥林多人要敞开心扉，进而在《哥林多后书》6:14 之后进一步劝勉哥林多人要避免与异教徒纠缠，这完全符合保罗的个性，因为他写这封书信时正面临着这样的形势。还有一个小的要点，如果保罗意识到自己已经偏离了《哥林多后书》6:11-13 中的主题，说一句“我已经说过”（林后 7:3）要比这一表达之后紧接着就说这些话更自然。

At first sight this looks rather impressive. There is no denying that there is a change of tone with the beginning of ch. 10. And it is comforting to feel that we have not completely lost the severe letter but that we have part, at any rate, of Paul's passionate pleading which wrought such a change of heart among the Corinthians. Yet closer examination throws doubt on this. In the first place we should notice that these chapters do not tally with such description as we have of the painful letter. That letter, Paul tells us, was written "with many tears" (2:4). He tells us that he regretted ever having written it (7:8). It is difficult to see anything in chs. 10-13 to which this applies. The argument, it is true, is vigorous, and Paul's defense of himself is far from being halfhearted. But it is more than difficult to point to anything in these four chapters that fairly meets the description Paul has given us of the lost letter. There is also the point that the opening words of ch. 10—"I, Paul, myself entreat you, by the meekness and gentleness of Christ"—do seem to suggest a deliberate change of tone. The man who wrote these words was about to embark on something different from what he had already written.

It is also to be borne in mind that some such strictures as are contained in chs. 10-13 seem to have been necessary. Many writers assume that after the severe letter everything was completely satisfactory in the Corinthian church. We have no reason for thinking that this was indeed the case. The immediate crisis was over. The offender had been disciplined. The church had declared for Paul, and against his opponents. But this did not mean that opposition was crushed to such an extent that there was no possibility of its ever reviving again. The possibility was there, and Paul did not mean to give it the opportunity of developing. So, having expressed his satisfaction at the good progress thus far made, he finishes his letter with some forthright exhortation, designed to deal with the last remnants of opposition. It is also worth bearing in mind that though there is a change of tone in these chapters the extent of this change ought not to be exaggerated. The whole of chs. 1-9 is not sweetness and light. Here and there even in these chapters we have traces of argumentativeness, indications that all was not completely well. It need not surprise us accordingly that Paul decides to finish off the matter with a thoroughgoing exposition of his position.

乍一看，这种观点似乎十分可信。不可否认，从第 10 章开始语气发生了转变。当我们发现严厉书信并没有完全遗失，至少那部分体现保罗热切祈求致使哥林多人弃邪归正的部分保留了下来时，会感到欣慰。然而，如果更仔细地进行研究便会对这种观点发出质疑。首先，我们应该注意到这些章节中的内容与严厉书信中所描述的内容不符。保罗告诉我们，严厉书信是伴着“多多地流泪”（林后 2:4）写成的。保罗告诉我们他懊悔曾写了那封信（林后 7:8）。但在 10-13 章的经文中很难看到这些信息。这个观点的确很有说服力，而且保罗确实全心全意地为自己辩护。但我们很难看出，这四章内容非常符合保罗的那封遗失书信中的描述。此外，第 10 章开头说“我保罗，如今亲自藉着基督的温柔、和平劝你们”，这句话读起来确实很像故意转变语气。写这些话的人要讲述完全不同于之前内容的事情。

Against all such hypotheses as those we have been examining, it can also be urged that there is difficulty in envisaging the process whereby the originals broke up and the complete letter came into being. It is not easy to think that letters would have been broken up into fragments of varying sizes, fragments moreover that conveniently have rather neat beginnings and endings. It is even more difficult to think of the passages in question as selections purposely inserted by editorial work. The editors of antiquity were surely as aware as modern critics of the sense of a passage, and of how they would be disturbing it by, say, inserting 6:14-7:1 between 6:13 and 7:2. We need a convincing account of how and why the hypothetical editors carried out their work as well as the assertion that the passages in question would read better without the intervening matter. It is also worth noting that there is no MS known to us that gives any trace of the postulated divisions. It is difficult to imagine that, had the history of the Epistle been such as we are asked to accept, there should be no trace at all in the textual tradition.

VI. Teaching.-This letter reveals Paul the pastor as none other of his writings does. It is a letter difficult to analyze, because, like any true letter, again and again it goes off into side issues. All the more is this the case in the present instance because of Paul's deep emotional involvement. He was at once concerned for his converts, relieved at their present attitude, and watchful for their future. This does not make for orderly, systematic writing.

A. Reconciliation with the Corinthians. Paul begins with praise for the way God continually gives His servants the strength they need. Adversity has its place in the life of the Christian. It fits him to serve other people. Paul refers to some great trouble that befell him in the province of Asia (1:8). We know nothing about this incident except what Paul tells us of it here, but clearly he had been in grave danger. Such dangers help the believers to help others. Paul then turns his attention to the charge of fickleness arising from the various changes in his plans. He makes it clear that there had been no wavering in his steadfast determination to serve God, or in his affection for the Corinthians. The reason he had not paid the expected visit to Corinth was "to spare you" (1:23). He reminds them that he had written a letter that made them sorry, and he had no wish to add to that. There had evidently been a ring-leader in opposition to Paul, and part of the process of reconciliation involved the disciplining of this man by the Corinthian church. The Corinthians had now taken the necessary action, but Paul wonders whether they may not perhaps be inclined to go too far. He himself is ready to forgive the man (2:10).

VI. 教导。《哥林多后书》中描述的传道者保罗不同于保罗在其他作品中对自己的描述。这是一封很难分析的书信，因为就像任何真实的书信一样，《哥林多后书》经常谈及与主题无关的次要问题。由于保罗在书信中掺杂了深刻的情感，因此更难分析《哥林多后书》。保罗之前为他的归信者担忧，又因他们现在的态度而如释重负，并且时刻留心他们的未来。这不是条理的系统写作。

*A. 保罗与哥林多人和解。*保罗在《哥林多后书》的开头部分赞美上帝不断地赐予祂的仆人所需的力量。苦难是基督徒生活中的一部分。苦难使他们学会帮助他人。保罗提到了他在亚细亚行省遭遇的巨大苦难（林后 1:8）。除了保罗书信中的记载，我们对此事一无所知，但保罗确实身陷巨大危险中。这样的危险可帮助信徒去体恤他人。随后保罗将注意力转移到人们因他多次更改行程而对他的苛责上。保罗明确表明在事奉上帝的决心上或对哥林多人的爱心上毫无动摇。保罗没有前往哥林多去是为要“宽容你们”（林后 1:23）。保罗提到他之前去信使哥林多人忧愁，而他不想再加重他们的忧愁。很明显，哥林多有一个反对保罗的头目，要想实现他们之间的和解，哥林多教会就必须惩罚这个人。虽然哥林多人现已采取了必要的行动，但是保罗想要知道他们是否给那人过重的

B. Implications of the Gospel. From this point to 6:10 Paul is concerned in one way or another to bring out the implications of the gospel. He tells the Corinthians of the tremendous relief it had been to him to meet Titus with his good news, and this leads him immediately into a characteristic outpouring of praise for the triumph of the gospel (2:14–16). Paul protests his sincerity and then goes on to point out that the Corinthians are the outstanding proof of the power of the gospel he has preached. Other people might use letters of commendation, but the Corinthians themselves were all the letter Paul needed. They were the living proof that he was an apostle of God. So he passes on to a meditation on the surpassing excellence of the gospel, contrasting it particularly with Judaism. He sees the old dispensation that was to pass away as glorious, and thinks of the new that was to remain as even more glorious (3:11).

Paul's great idea that the gospel is of God and not of man comes out in the thought that the treasure of which he is writing is "in earthen vessels" (4:7). The messengers are not important. It is the message, and it alone, that matters. It is

责罚。保罗已经准备好赦免这个人（林后 2:10）。

B. 福音的意义。保罗在《哥林多后书》2:10-6:10 中以各种方式阐明福音的意义。他告诉哥林多人，当他看到提多并得到提多带来的好消息，内心得到了极大的安慰，急切地渴望赞美福音的胜利（林后 2:14–16）。保罗表明了他的真诚，随后又提到哥林多人是他所传福音力量的有力证明。其他人可能需要荐信，但对保罗而言，哥林多人就是他的荐信。哥林多人就是保罗是上帝使徒的鲜活见证者。因此保罗继续思考福音极大的能力，特别是将福音与犹太教信仰进行对比。他认为若废掉的有荣光，这长存的就更有荣光了（林后 3:11）。

保罗的主要思想是福音是出于神，不是出于人类，他认为他所写的宝贝“在瓦器里”（林后 4:7）。传福音的人不重要。重要的是传福音者传达的消息。不敬重或迫害传福音的人并不重要。重要的是显明耶稣带来的生（林后 4:11）。上帝的

of little significance that they should be held in small esteem or persecuted. What matters is that the life that Christ brings should be made manifest (4:11). The servant of God can look for nothing but difficulty as he labors. He looks to God who raised up Jesus and will raise up believers (4:12-14). It is important to have our sense of values right, and Paul proceeds to contrast the sufferings of the here and now with the glory that awaits us (4:16-18). Chapter 5 brings the thought that the important thing is the life after the resurrection and not the difficulties of our present life. Our relationship to Christ dominates all our living.

This leads to a very important treatment of the nature of the Christian ministry and the nature of the Christian message. Paul tells us that it is “the fear of the Lord” that impels the preachers to preach (5:11), and this may be otherwise expressed by speaking of the constraint exercised by “the love of Christ” (5:14). The death of Christ transforms men’s lives. Because He died, those who live in Him no longer live for their own purposes but for His (5:15). They have been created anew. Paul goes on to a memorable interpretation of the atoning work of Christ as a reconciliation. This was not brought about by man, but “God was in Christ reconciling the world to himself” (5:19). Reconciliation was effected by not reckoning unto men their trespasses. The consequence of it is that God has committed to preachers the word of reconciliation. They are ambassadors for Christ. They plead on His behalf.

Paul returns to the atoning death of 仆人艰苦劳作，却除了苦难毫无所得。他指望那叫耶稣复活的也必叫信徒复活（林后 4:12-14）。重要的是要有正确的价值观，于是保罗继续对比了现在的苦难和将来的荣耀（林后 4:16-18）。从第 5 章可以看出，重要的是复活后的生命而不是今世的困难。我们与基督的关系支配着我们所有的生活。

由此引出关于基督教职事的性质和基督教福音的性质的一个重要观点。保罗告诉我们“主是可畏的”，这促使传道者去传道（林后 5:11），“基督的爱”对我们的激励可能也表明了这一点（林后 5:14）。基督受难换来了人类的生。祂替众人死，是叫那些活着的人不再为自己活，乃为替他们死而复活的主活（林后 5:15）。他们就是新造的人。保罗继续阐述了一个值得注意的观点，即基督的救赎工作就是和解的工作。这个工作不是人类完成的，而是“神在基督里叫世人与自己和好”（林后 5:19）。不将他们的过犯归到他们身上才能实现和好。和好的结果是上帝将和好的道理托付给了传道者。他们是基督的使者。代表基督祈求神与人类和好。

保罗再次提到基督替世人赎罪受难，并

Christ with the reminder that “for our sake, he made him to be sin who knew no sin.” These mysterious words refer the readers to that bearing of sin (He. 9:28), that being made “a curse” (Gal. 3:13), wherein Christ took the place of sinners. He died that men might live.

Paul then appeals to his friends. He reminds them of what he and other preachers have suffered for them and of the depths of the affection he has for them. Their wrong attitude was a constriction of their feelings. He urges them to know the abundant life of real affection. This leads to an appeal to break off all connection with worldly things. Christ has nothing in common with Belial. Characteristically Paul quotes from Scripture to show that believers must have nothing at all to do with anything that is unclean.

Paul turns now to the joy that had been his when he learned of the change of heart of the Corinthians. He looks back to the time when he had waited so anxiously for the result of his severe letter. He had had other troubles. He does not tell us what they were but they were “at every turn—fighting without and fear within” (7:5). But the situation was transformed when Titus came to him, and Paul dwells on the comfort and joy that the happy outcome meant for him.

C. The Collection. In ch. 8 Paul turns to the collection for the saints at Jerusalem. He reminds the Corinthians of the good example set by the churches of Macedonia, who had evidently supported Paul very well. Tactfully he praises the many graces of the Corinthians (8:7), and then urges them to excel in this act of 提醒道：“神使那无罪的，替我们成为罪”。这些难解的话语告诉我们基督担当了多人的罪（来 9:28），为我们受了“诅咒”（加 3:13），因此代罪人受罚。祂受死人类才可能生。

然后，保罗呼吁他的同工。提醒他们他和其他传道者为他们遭受的苦楚以及他对他们的深刻的情感。他们错误的心态是对情感的一种束缚。他呼吁他们去了解真正充满爱的丰富生命。并呼吁他们抛开与世俗之物的所有联系。基督和彼列之间没有任何相同点。显然，保罗引用经文表明信徒必须与一切不洁净的事物断绝关系。

保罗马上又开始讲述当他听到哥林多人转变心意时的喜悦。保罗回顾了过去，那时他在焦急地等待哥林多教会收到严厉书信后的结果。他那时还遭受了其他苦难。他没有告诉我们是什么苦难，只说“周围遭患难，外有争战，内有惧怕”（林后 7:5）。但当提多见到他时，情况有所转变，保罗因良好的结果而感到欣慰和喜悦。

C. 捐项。 保罗在第 8 章中转而谈论为耶路撒冷圣徒捐助的事情。他提到马其顿教会已为哥林多人作出了好榜样，马其顿教会显然非常支持保罗。保罗巧妙地赞扬哥林多人身上的许多美德（林后 8:7），并呼吁他们投身于基督教慈善事业中。保罗热切希望他们捐项或处理钱款的事上无可指摘。他给出了如何筹集

Christian charity. Paul was anxious that there should be no occasion for reproach in the manner either of the collection or of the disposal of the money. He gives information about the way in which the arrangements were to be made. Paul is concerned not only that things should be done rightly before God, who looks on the heart, but rightly before men, who look on that which is outward (8:21). This is an important principle in the conduct of Christian affairs. The opening of ch. 9 shows that Paul expected the money to be ready when he arrived. He goes on to the general principle of the way Christians should give. For the believer, giving is the expression of what is in the heart, not the grudging adherence to an external standard (9:7). God gives His children all they need (9:8ff.) and Paul looks to see the gentile churches behave in such a way that the Jerusalem churches will be able to glorify God for what they do. Characteristically he closes this section with the reminder of the great gift that God has given men (9:15).

D. Paul's Defense of Himself. In the concluding section of the Epistle Paul vigorously defends himself. Some of the Corinthians had evidently taken the line that he could be a terrible man when it came to writing letters but he was very insignificant in person (10:10). Paul points out that the Christian does not proceed by carnal methods (10:4). Paul's own aim is to make all his thinking subject to Christ (10:5). He is not concerned with the outward appearance. He has a real authority that the Lord has given him, but he does not wish to use it in overbearing fashion (10:8f.). If compelled he can make his position when present just what it seems in his letters. But Paul dislikes this whole matter of boasting, and concludes that it is the Lord's commendation that matters (10:18).

捐项的意见。保罗认为不仅要在看重心意的主面前行光明的事，而且在看重物质的人面前也要这样行（林后 8:21）。这是基督徒行事的一条重要原则。保罗在第 9 章的开头表明他希望哥林多教会在他到哥林多时就将钱款准备好。保罗转而谈到了基督徒捐助的总体原则。对信徒而言，捐助应发自内心，而不是勉强地遵守外在准则（林后 9:7）。神能给祂的孩子所需的一切（林后 9:8 起），保罗盼望看到外邦教会在这事上的行为，这样，耶路撒冷教会便会因为他们的行为赞美神。显然，保罗在最后一节提醒哥林多人神已给予他们极大的恩赐（林后 9:15）。

D. 保罗为自己辩护。保罗在书信结束部分极力为自己辩护。有些哥林多人显然认为保罗写信时是个可怕的人，见面时却其貌不扬（林后 10:10）。保罗指出基督徒不是凭着属血气争战（林后 10:4）。保罗想要使他所有的思想都顺服基督（林后 10:5）。他不在意外貌。他有主赐给他的真正权柄，但他不希望以傲慢的姿态用这权柄（林后 10:8-9）。当面临着信中的形势，保罗本可以为这权柄夸口。但保罗不喜欢夸口，并认为主的称许才是重要的事（林后 10:18）。

Paul is very anxious for the welfare of his converts (11:3), and this leads him into a reluctant commendation of his own ministry. If he were discredited, that would be no help to them, so he has to say that he came behind no apostle (11:5f.). He embarks on a list of his works and difficulties as the most effective way of refuting those who claimed eminence but were not able to measure up to him. He deals with his preeminence as a Jew (11:21f.) and the sufferings he had endured for Christ's sake (11:23-27). In ch. 12 he goes on to speak of revelations, but comes back to the thought of his own weakness. God's power is shown in its perfection in human weakness (12:9). Paul brings this section to a close by reminding them that they ought to have been the ones to commend him (12:11), for truly they had seen "the signs of a true apostle" when Paul had worked among them (12:12).

Paul is about to pay his third visit to Corinth, and he will keep to his previous practice and not be a burden to them (12:14f.). All that he does is for the profit of his Corinthian friends. He does not want them to show such evil qualities as will demand stern action from him (12:19-21), for when he comes he will not spare (13:2). He reminds them that Christ's crucifixion, though apparently evidence of weakness, was really evidence of the mighty power of God (13:4). This leads to an exhortation that his friends should examine themselves, and set right what was in need of reform. The letter concludes with salutations and the grace, the grace in this Epistle being the only one in the Pauline correspondence that includes all three members of the trinity.

保罗打算第三次去哥林多，并且遵循以前的惯例，不会成为他们的负担（林后 12:14-15）。他做这些都是为了哥林多同工们的利益。保罗不想他们表显出邪恶的品质而迫使保罗不得不对他们严厉处理（林后 12:19-21），因为他若再来，必不宽容（林后 13:2）。他提醒哥林多人基督被钉在十字架上，虽然从表面上看祂是因为软弱被钉在十字架上，但实际上见证了神的大能（林后 13:4）。保罗进而劝勉他的同工要省察自己，并且指出作完全人需要做的事。这封书信以问候和感激结尾，在保罗书信中，保罗只在这封书信中提到了三位一体真神的三个位

如果仔细地训练鸬鹚的幼鸟, 从船上放幼鸟入水, 它们就能给主人带来大量的

The eggs are small for the size of the birds, having a rough, thick, but rather soft shell of a bluish white which soon becomes soiled—along with the nest and its immediate surroundings—due to the habits of the birds. The young are at first leathery black, later becoming covered with soft down of brownish black above and white beneath, and taking on the full black of the grown bird at about three years. If taken in the squab state the young are said to be delicious food, resembling baked hare in flavor. The grown birds are mentioned among the abominations for food (Lev. 11:17; Dt. 14:17). Their flesh is dark, tough, and quite unfit to eat on account of their diet of fish.

CORNELIUS 哥尼流

音译：kôr-nēl'yās【希腊语：Kornēlios (拉丁文)】。一位罗马百夫长，在哥尼流和彼得都看到神的异象之后，通过彼得归主的人 (徒 10:1–11:18)，哥尼流也是第一个外邦基督徒。

哥尼流是罗马人，与西庇阿斯和苏拉一样出身于帝都家族。因此他很可能是有

city, such as the Scipios and Sulla. Thus he was probably an Italian of Roman blood. Julian the Apostate reckons him as one of the few persons of distinction who became a Christian. He was evidently a man of importance in Caesarea and well known to the Jews (Acts 10:22). He was a centurion in the Italian Cohort, at Caesarea, the residence of the Roman procurator and headquarters of the Roman garrison in Palestine. (See ARMY, ROMAN.)

He is described as devout and God-fearing, the latter term often indicating a non-Jew who nonetheless embraced the monotheism of the Jews, read the Scriptures, and practiced more or less the Jewish rites. He was well reported of by the Jews, and his religion showed itself in prayer at the regular hours, and in alms to the people (of Israel). Moreover, he seems to have made his house a sort of church, for his relatives and friends were in sympathy with him, and among the soldiers who closely attended him were some devout ones (Acts 10:24, 27).

The story of his conversion and admission into the Christian Church is told in some detail in Acts 10. Nothing further is known of Cornelius, though one tradition asserts that he founded the church in Caesarea, and another legend that he became the bishop of Scamandros.

The exact importance of the incident depends upon the position of Cornelius before it occurred. Certainly he was not a proselyte of the sanctuary, circumcised, under the law, a member of the Jewish communion. This is abundantly evident

哥尼流是虔诚且敬畏神的人，敬畏神的人通常指的是拥护犹太人的一神论的非犹太人，他们诵读《圣经》，或多或少遵守犹太人的宗教习俗。哥尼流为犹太人所称赞，而且从他定时祷告和周济（以色列）百姓可看出他的宗教信仰。此外，因为哥尼流的亲属和密友都与他心意相同，且与他亲近的士兵都是虔诚的人，所以他的家似乎成了一个教会（徒 10:24, 27）。

《使徒行传》第 10 章详述了哥尼流归主和加入基督教会的故事。对于哥尼流的了解仅此而已，虽然据一个传说，哥尼流在凯撒利亚创立了一个教会，还有传说称哥尼流成了斯卡曼德洛斯（Scamandros）的主教。

这件事的准确意义取决于事件发生前哥尼流的地位。他不是至圣所的归主者，未受割礼，不守律法，也不是犹太会众中的一员。可从《使徒行传》10:28, 34, 45; 11:3, 18; 15:7, 14 中找到大量的证据。不过，难道哥尼流不是低等的归

from Acts 10:28, 34, 45; 11:3, 18; 15:7, 14. But was he not an inferior form of proselyte, later called “proselytes of the gate”? This question has been much debated and is still under discussion. Ramsay (SPT, p. 43) says that the expression “God-fearing” is always used in Acts with reference to this kind of proselyte. Such were bound to observe certain regulations of purity, probably those, this author thinks, mentioned in Acts 15:29, and which stand in close relation to the principles laid down in Lev. 17f. for the conduct of strangers dwelling among Israel. Renan, on the other hand, says that Cornelius was not a proselyte at all, but simply a devout Gentile who adopted some of the Jewish ideas and religious customs which did not involve a special profession.

The importance of the whole transaction to the development of the Church seems to depend on the circumstance that Cornelius was probably not a proselyte at all. Thus we regard Cornelius as literally the firstfruits of the Gentiles. The step here taken by Peter was therefore one of tremendous importance to the whole development of the Church. The significance of the incident consists exactly in this, that under divine direction the first Gentile, not at all belonging to the old theocracy, becomes a Spirit-filled Christian, entering through the front door of the Christian Church without first going through the narrow gate of Judaism. The incident settled forever the great fundamental question as to the relations of Jew and Gentile in the Church. The difficulties in the way of the complete triumph of Peter’s view of the equality of Jews and Gentiles in the kingdom of Christ were enormous. It would have been indeed little short of miraculous if the multitude of Christian Pharisees had not raised the question again and again. Did they not dog Paul's steps after the Council? Certainly Ramsay is wrong in saying that the case of Cornelius was passed over or condoned as exceptional, for it was used as precedent by both Peter and James (Acts 15:7, 14).

信者，后来被称为“门口的归信者”吗？这个问题一直备受争议且仍未解决。拉姆塞（Ramsay, SPT, 43 页）提到《使徒行传》中经常用“敬畏神的人”表示这种归信者。《使徒行传》作者认为“敬畏神的人”必定要守有关洁净的条例，可能就是《使徒行传》15:29 中提到的那些律例，这些律例与《利未记》17-18 关于寄居在以色列人中间的外人的行为准则有密切关系。但是，雷南认为哥尼流根本不是一个归信者，他仅仅是一位接受部分犹太教思想和宗教习俗（无需特殊声明）的虔诚外邦人。

As for Peter's subsequent conduct at Antioch, no one who knows Peter need be surprised at it. The very accusation that Paul hurled at him was that for the moment he was carried into inconsistency with his principles (hypókrisis). Of course, this incident of Cornelius was only the first step in a long development; but the principle was forever settled. The rest in due time and proper order was sure to follow. By this tremendous innovation it was settled that Christianity was to be freed from the swaddling bands of Judaism and that the Christian Church was not to be an appendix to the synagogue. The noble character of Cornelius was just fitted to abate, as far as possible, the prejudices of the Jewish Christians against what must have seemed to them a dangerous, if not awful, innovation.

CORNER.

The RSV renders "corner" for variety of OT and NT terms. In the OT it most frequently translates Heb. pinnâ, which is used of the name of a gate in Jerusalem (2 K. 14:13; 2 Ch. 25:23; 26:9; Jer. 31:38, 40; Zec. 14:10), a corner of Jerusalem (2 Ch. 28:24), a corner of a wall (Neh. 3:25, 31f.), the keystone of a building (Ps. 118:22; Jer. 51:26), a street corner as the primary hangout of loose women (Prov. 7:8, 12), the corner of a housetop as a refuge from a nagging wife (Prov. 21:9; 25:24), the corners of the altar as the location for the horns on which sacrificial blood is sprinkled (Ex. 27:2; 38:2; Ezk. 43:20; 45:19), the corners of stands for lavers (1 K. 7:34), the corners of city walls as the locations for protective weapons (2 Ch. 26:15), and the corners of a house which collapse in the wind (Job. 1:19).

关于彼得随后在安提阿的作为，了解彼得的人都不会感到惊讶。保罗严厉地指责彼得，因为彼得的行爲与他遵守的原则 (hypókrisis) 不一致。当然，哥尼流事件只是一连串事件中的第一个事件；但原则已永久地确立下来。其他事件要适时并按次序发生，并遵守这个原则。由于这个伟大的创举，基督教摆脱了犹太教的襁褓，基督教会不是犹太教会堂的附庸之物。而犹太基督徒对不利于自身的冒险创新(如果不是可怕创新的话)有偏见，而哥尼流的高贵身份恰好可以尽可能地减轻这种偏见。

《修订标准译本》用“corner” (“角”) 翻译《旧约》和《新约》中的各种词语。在《旧约》中最常用来翻译希伯来语 pinnâ，这个希伯来语表示耶路撒冷城门的名字(王下 14:13; 代下 25:23; 26:9; 耶 31:38, 40; 亚 14:10)、耶路撒冷的拐角(代下 28:24)、城墙的转弯(尼 3:25, 31-32)、一座建筑物的拱顶石(诗

Heb šīle(y)hā (lit. “its most distant parts”) is used of the “farthest corners” of the earth in Isa. 41:9. The Heb ’āsīl can also mean “noble”; hence the AV rendering “chief men.” Kānāp means literally “wing” or “extremity”; thus it refers to the corner of garments (Nu. 15:38), of a cloak (Dt. 22:12), of the earth (Job 37:3; Isa. 11:12), of the land (Ezk. 7:2). See also EARTH, CORNERS OF THE. Katēp (lit. “shoulder,” “side”) is used in 1 K. 7:39 and 2 Ch. 4:10 to designate the location of the sea in Solomon’s temple (AV renders “side”). Pē’ā means literally “part cut off,” hence side or corner of a couch (Am. 3:12), or table (Ex. 25:26; 37:13), or land (Neh. 9:22). Jeremiah identifies some peoples as those who cut their hair along the temples (Jer. 9:26; 25:23; 49:32).

Heb miqšô(a) (lit. “angle”) is used of the corner-buttress for the court (Ezk. 46:21), the altar (Ezk. 41:22; 46:22), and the tabernacle (Ex. 26:23f.; 36:28f.). Another structural term, zāwîyôṭ, compares daughters to decorative corner pillars in a palace (Ps. 144:12), and also refers to the location of the altar in the temple (Zec. 9:15). Qāšâ (lit. “end,” “border”) is used

118:22; 耶 51:26)、作为淫妇主要聚集地的巷口(箴 7:8, 12)、用于躲避唠叨妇人的房顶角(箴 21:9; 25:24)、用于抹祭物血的坛的四个拐角(出 27:2; 38:2; 结 43:20; 45:19)、盆架上的角(王上 7:34)、用于放置防护武器的角楼(代下 26:15)、在狂风中倒塌的房屋的四角(伯 1:19)。

希伯来语 šīle(y)hā (字面意思是“最远的部分”)在《以赛亚书》41:9 中表示“地角”。希伯来语 ’āsīl 还可以表示“高贵的”;因此《钦定版圣经》译为“chief men”(“族长”)。*Kānāp*的字面意思是“翅膀”或“末端”;因此指的是衣服的边(民 15:38)、外衣的四围(申 22:12)、地极(伯 37:3; 赛 11:12)、地境(结 7:2)。另见 EARTH, CORNERS OF THE (地极)。在《列王纪上》7:39 和《历代志下》4:10 中, Katēp (字面意思是“肩膀”、“旁边”)指的是所罗门圣殿中海的位置(《钦定版圣经》译为“side”[“旁边”])。 Pē’ā 字面意思是“切掉的部分”,因此可以指床角或床边(摩 3:12)、或桌角(出 25:26; 37:13)、或疆界(尼 9:22)。耶利米称某些民族是剃周围头发的民族(耶 9:26; 25:23; 49:32)。

of the bronze grating on the altar (Ex. 27:4; 38:5) (AV and NEB render “ends”). Pa’am literally means “beat” or “foot-beat,” hence “foot”; it denotes the foot of the ark as the location of gold carrying-rings (Ex. 37:3) or of the stands for supporting the lavers (1 K. 7:30). The NEB also gives “flanges” and “handles.”

In the NT, Gk. gōnía is used in a variety of contexts: of the keystone (originally of a building) of God’s plan for the world (Mt. 21:42; Mk. 12:10; Lk. 20:17; Acts 4:11; 1 Pet. 2:7; cf. Ps. 118:22), of a corner as a site of clandestine activities (Acts 26:26), of a street corner as a public place to assure notice of one’s prayers (Mt. 6:5), and of the corners of the earth (Rev. 7:1; 20:8). Arché (lit. “beginning”) denotes the corners of the sheet in Peter’s vision (Acts 10:11; 11:5).

在《新约》中，希腊语 gōnía 用在很多经文中：上帝为世人做的房角的头块石头（最初表示一个建筑的头块石头）（太 21:42；可 12:10；路 20:17；徒 4:11；彼前 2:7；参：诗 118:22）、秘密行事的地方（徒 26:26）、为引人注意公开祷告的街角（太 6:5）、地的四角（启 7:1；20:8）。 Arché（字面意思是“起始”）指的是彼得在异象中看到的布的四个角（徒 10:11；11:5）。

CORNERSTONE.

Ordinarily the term “cornerstone” is used in the Bible in a figurative or symbolical sense. No doubt the original meaning was some important stone, which was laid at the foundation of a building. With the Canaanites, who preceded Israel in the possession of Palestine, cornerstone-laying seems to have been a most sacred and impressive ceremony. Under this important stone of temples or other great structures bodies of children or older persons would be laid, consecrating the building by such human sacrifice (see SACRIFICE, HUMAN). This was one of many rites and practices that Israel was to extirpate. It may throw light on the curse pronounced upon the building of Jericho (Josh. 6:26).

In every OT occurrence of this idea the Hebrew term pinnâ (“corner”) is used, ordinarily with 'ēben (“stone”; e.g., Job 38:6; Isa. 28:16), though it could also be used alone to represent the whole phrase-idea (Zec. 10:4; AV “corner”). While all the passages indicate the stone at the corner, there appear to be two conceptions: (1) the foundation stone upon which the structure rested (Job 38:6; Isa. 28:16; Jer. 51:26 [RSV, AV, “corner”; NEB “corner-stone”]); or (2) the topmost or capstone, which linked the last tier together (Ps. 118:22). In both cases it is an important stone and figurative of the Messiah, who is “the First and the Last.” In Job 38:6 it beautifully expresses in figures the stability of the earth, which Yahweh created. In Zec. 10:4 the leader or ruler in the messianic age is represented by the corner-stone. The ancient tradition of the one missing stone, when the temple was being built, is reflected in or has been suggested by Ps. 118:22, where the Hebrew reads rō'sh ("head") pinnâ; the AV and RSV render "head (stone) of the corner"; the NEB gives "corner-stone."

《圣经》中通常取 “cornerstone” (房角石) 的比喻或象征意义。“cornerstone” (“房角石”) 最初一定指放置在一个建筑物根基上的基石。迦南人先于以色列人来到了巴勒斯坦, 放房角石似乎已经成为他们最神圣且引人注目的仪式。在孩子或老人的尸体埋葬在神殿或其他大型建筑的房角石下, 这种活人献祭使建筑成圣 (见 SACRIFICE, HUMAN [活人献祭])。这是以色列人想要根除的一种仪式和习俗。这可能有助于理解对耶利哥的建筑所发出的诅咒 (书 6:26)。

在《旧约》中希伯来语 pinnâ (“角”) 每次出现时都表示 “房角石”, 而且这个词通常与 'ēben 连用 (“石头”; 如, 伯 38:6; 赛 28:16), 尽管有时可以单独用 pinnâ 这个词表示 “角石” 的含义 (亚 10:4; 《钦定版圣经》译为 “corner” [“房角石”])。尽管以上所有经文中的这个希伯来词语均指的是角石, 但似乎有两种含义: (1) 作为建筑物根基的基石 (伯 38:6; 赛 28:16; 耶 51:26 [《修订标准译本》《钦定版圣经》译为 “corner” [“房角石”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “corner-stone” [“房角石”]); 或者 (2) 放在最顶端的石头或压顶石, 可以将最后一排石头连接起来 (诗 118:22)。在这两种情况中, 角石都表示一块重要的石头, 都比喻 “首先的和末后的” 弥赛亚。在《约伯记》38:6 中, 角石这个词极好地描述出耶和华所创造的地的稳定性。在《撒迦利亚书》10:4 中, 房角石表示弥撒亚时代的领导者或统治者。《诗篇》118:22 反映出或提到了在建造神殿时缺少一块石头的古代传说, 其中表示 “头块石头” 的希伯来语为 rō's (“头”) pinnâ; 《钦定版圣经》

Ps. 118:22 is quoted and interpreted as fulfilled in Jesus Christ in a number of NT passages: Mt. 21:42; Mk. 12:10; Lk. 20:17; Acts 4:11; 1 Pet. 2:7, the Greek being kephalē gōnias, literally "head of the corner," and so rendered by the AV and RSV; the NEB gives "corner-stone." Ps. 118:22 is also the evident basis for Eph. 2:20 (akrogōniaios, "lying at the extreme corner"). Isa. 28:16 is quoted twice in the NT: in Rom. 9:33, from the LXX combined with the words of Isa. 8:14, and in 1 Pet. 2:6 (akrogōniaios), which is quoted with some variation from the LXX. The OT passages were understood by the rabbis to be messianic, and were probably so applied by the NT writers.

【希伯来语: n^ebēlā (王下 9:37; 赛 5:25)、peger (赛 34:3; 尼 3:3)、g^ewīyā (诗 110:6); 希腊语: nekrós (可 9:26)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 CARCASE、DEAD BODIES、ONE DEAD, 汉译均为“尸首”; 《新英文译本》还译为 BODIES (“身体”)。英语单词“corpse”源于拉丁词语 corpus, 含义为“身体”。《旧约》中认为尸首在礼仪上是不洁净的, 祭司不可碰触尸首, 除非是他的骨肉之亲 (利 21:1–3)。为了保护大祭司和拿细耳人职分的象征性的洁净, 律法禁止他们碰触尸首 (利 21:11; 民 6:6 起)。闪族人小心谨慎地埋葬尸首, 并且将死后仍未被埋葬的尸首视为一种不幸 (参: 申 28:26; 撒下 21:10; 代上 10:11–12 等)。被处死之人的尸首要在傍晚前埋葬, 以便保持

In the Hebrew mind “correction” and “instruction” are closely related; both can be indicated by the Heb. mūsār (vb. yāsar), which means “discipline” or “chastening.” The literal meaning of šēbet is “rod.” In Isa. 1:17, 'āšar may be taken to mean “set right,” as in the AV or RSV, or “advance the cause of,” as the NEB.

The Gk. paideuō is like Heb. yāsar in that it can mean either “educate” (Acts 7:22) or “chastise” (Lk. 23:16). In 2 Tim. 2:25 the meaning is between the two extremes, as is true also of paideutēs in Rom. 2:20. The Gk. epanóρθōsis, which occurs only in 2 Tim. 3:16, comes from orthōō, “set upright.” The literal significance is a setting back upright of what has fallen, but it is used further of making something or someone conform to a standard.

希腊语 paideuō 和希伯来语 yāsar 含义相似，既可以表示“教育”（徒 7:22），也可以表示“责打”（路 23:16）。在《提摩太后书》2:25 中，其具体含义介于这两个极端含义之间，《罗马书》2:20 中 paideutēs 亦是如此。希腊语 epanóρθōsis 仅在《提摩太后书》3:16 中出现过，该词衍生自 orthōō，意为“归正”。这个词的字面意思是使堕落的人归正，深层含义是使人或事遵守一种标准。

MOUNT OF OLIVES; [‘āwôn] (Hos. 7:1); AV INIQUITY; NEB GUILT; [Gk. phthorá] (Gal. 6:8; 2 Pet. 1:4; 2:19); [diaphthorá] (Acts 2:27, 31; 13:34–37).

The term generally refers to decay, whether of an organic or moral nature. ‘Ālah refers specifically to moral corruption, while ‘ānuš means “incurable,” and the verb ‘ābaḏ, when used with lēb, means “deprive of the understanding.” The reference in Hosea employs ‘āwôn, a common word for “sin,” “perverseness,” “guilt”; but the Hebrew term used most often is šāḥaṭ, “spoil,” “become corrupt.” On 2 K. 23:13, see CORRUPTION, MOUNT OF.

The NT references to “corruption” are generally a rendering of phthorá, “rotteness,” “decay,” “perishableness,” or one of its cognates. In 2 Pet. 1:4; 2:19 it refers to moral corruption. The degeneration of the physical body is referred to in Acts 2:27, 31; 13:34ff., reflecting the use of the word diaphthorá in the LXX of Ps. 16:10 (RSV “the Pit”; NEB “Sheol”); the Greek term also has a broader meaning, however (cf. Lk. 12:33, where the AV gives “corrupt” in its obsolete sense of “destroy”). Miainō, which means literally

“败坏的、受到破坏的、堕落的”)、RUINED (“堕落的、受到破坏的、败落的”)；【kataphtheirō】 (“[心地]坏了”，提后 3:8)；《新英文译本》译为“lost the power to reason” (“失去了思考的能力”)；【miainō】 (多 1:15)；《钦定版圣经》译为 DEFILED (“污秽的”)；《新英文译本》译为 TAINTED (“被污染的、堕落的”)；CORRUPTION (“邪僻”) 【希伯来语：mašhîṭ】 (“邪僻[山]”，王下 23:13)；《新英文译本》译为 MOUNT OF OLIVES (“橄榄山”)；【‘āwôn】 (何 7:1)；《钦定版圣经》译为 INIQUITY (“罪孽”)；《新英文译本》译为 GUILT (“罪行”)；【希腊语：phthorá】 (加 6:8；彼后 1:4；2:19)；【diaphthorá】 (徒 2:27，31；13:34–37)。

该词通常表示肉体朽坏或道德败坏。‘Ālah 特指道德败坏，而 ‘ānuš 意为“无可救药的”，动词 ‘ābaḏ 与 lēb 连用时，表示“失去理解力、失去理智”。《何西阿书》中使用常见词语 ‘āwôn 表示“罪恶、罪孽”、“堕落”、“罪行、犯罪”；但最常用的希伯来词语是 šāḥaṭ，意为“变坏、腐坏、毁坏”、“变得腐败、堕落”。关于《列王纪下》23:13，见 CORRUPTION, MOUNT OF (邪僻山)。

《新约》中通常将 phthorá 译为“corruption” (“败坏”)，“rotteness” (“腐败、堕落”)、“decay” (“腐败、衰败”)、“perishableness” (“易朽性、易腐败性”)或 corruption 的同源词。在《彼得后书》1:4；2:19 中，“corruption”指的是道德败坏。《使徒行传》2:27，31；13:34 起中指的是肉体朽坏，这反映出《七十士译本》《诗篇》16:10 中 diaphthorá 一词的用法（《修订标准译本》译为“the Pit” [“阴间”]；《新英文译本》译为“sheol” [“阴间”]）；然而 diaphthorá 这个希腊词语还有更广泛的含义（参：路 12:33，《钦定版圣经》

CORRUPTIBLE.

[Heb. har-hammašhîṭ; Gk. tó óros tou Mosoath] (2 K. 23:13); NEB MOUNT OF OLIVES. A hill “before” (i.e., E of) Jerusalem, “on the right” of which (i.e., toward the south) Solomon built high places for Ashtoreth, Chemosh, and Milcom, deities of the Sidonians, Moabites, and Ammonites, respectively (1 K. 11:7). The high places were destroyed by Josiah (2 K. 23:13). Jeremiah prophesied against a “destroying mountain” (Jer. 51:25), which in Hebrew has the same name, har-hammašhîṭ. The Vulgate of 2 K. 23:13 gives Mons Offensionis (Mt. of Offense); this name and another Latin name, Mons Scandali (Mt. of Scandal), are both used in modern times.

The identification of the site is not entirely certain. There is no other geographical reference to har-hammašhîṭ. In the Talmud the name har-hammišhâ (Mt. of the Ointment) is used for the Mt. of Olives, and the term may have been already old. The Jewish scholar Rashi (11th cent.) suggested that the name was changed from har-hammišhâ to the similar har-hammašhîṭ

《钦定版圣经》中用来翻译希腊语 phthartós 的一个废词（如，罗 1:23；林前 9:25；15:23-24），《修订标准译本》中译为“mortal”（“必死的”）或“perishable”（“易朽坏的”）。

CORRUPTION, MOUNT OF 邪僻山

【希伯来语：har-hammašhîṭ；希腊语：tó óros tou Mosoath】（王下 23:13）；《新英文译本》译为 MOUNT OF OLIVES（“橄榄山”）。耶路撒冷“前”（即：东侧）的一座山，所罗门在这座山的“右边”（即：南面）为西顿人的神亚斯他录、摩押人的神基抹和亚扪人的神米勒公建邱坛（王上 11:7）。后来这些邱坛被约西亚摧毁（王下 23:13）。耶利米曾预言反对这座“行毁灭的山”（耶 51:25），希伯来同名词语是 har-hammašhîṭ。《武加大译本》在《列王纪下》23:13 中译为 Mons Offensionis（“罪孽的山”）；这个名字和另一个拉丁语名字 Mons Scandali（“丑行之山”）一直沿用至今。

目前还不能准确地确定邪僻山的位置。没有任何其他的地理学文献提到过 har-hammašhîṭ（“邪僻山”）。《他勒目》中的 har-hammišhâ（“膏油之山”）指的是橄榄山，这个词可能已经是个旧词。犹太学者拉希（Rashi，公元 11 世纪）认为把 har-hammišhâ 改成类似的 har-hammašhîṭ 是一种责备，因为拜偶像的人在那里敬拜。倘若《耶利米书》中也提到过邪僻山——这是完全有可能的，因

as a reproach because of the idolaters who worshiped there. If Jeremiah was referring to the same location—which is entirely possible, since the high places were destroyed by Josiah who was a contemporary of Jeremiah—the pejorative name may be from that time or even earlier.

Early Christians identified the site with the southern knoll of the ridge which is properly known as the Mt. of Olives, although in popular terminology this name is usually applied only to the northern portion of that ridge. The southern portion is known by the Arab. Jebel bāṭn el-Hawā, “the ridge of the wind,” and is separated from what is popularly called the Mt. of Olives by a slight depression through which runs the road to Jericho. The village of Silwān lies on the western flank, and to its southwest the Kidron and Hinnom valleys join to form Wādī en-Nār, the deep ravine which separates the Mt. of Olives from the Mt. of Evil Counsel, S of Jerusalem across the Hinnom Valley.

In 2 Ch. 28:3 the location of the idolatries of King Ahaz is given as the Valley of Hinnom. Since the specific abominable practice mentioned is the burning of his own sons as an offering, and since this was part of the worship of Chemosh, who is mentioned in 2 K. 23:13, there are some who suggest that the location of Solomon’s high places should be sought on the Mt. of Evil Counsel. This theory, without good biblical support, is sometimes offered to tourists to Jerusalem, and is at times associated with the fact that the headquarters of United Nations is nearby.

早期基督徒认为邪僻山的遗址是山脊南面的山丘,可能就是人们熟知的橄榄山,尽管在常用术语中这个名字通常仅指山脊的北部。阿拉伯语 Jebel bāṭn el-Hawā “风脊”指的是南面部分,它被一个细长的洼地与通常说的橄榄山隔开,经过这个洼地可通往耶利哥。司列温村位于西侧,而邪僻山西南边的汲沦谷和欣嫩谷形成了拿尔河(Wādī en-Nār),这个深深的沟壑将橄榄山与耶路撒冷南面穿过欣嫩谷的邪僻山分隔开。

在《历代志下》28:3中,亚哈斯王拜偶像的地方被称为欣嫩谷。由于焚烧自己的儿子作为祭物是可憎的习俗,还因为这是敬拜基抹(在《列王纪下》23:13中提到过基抹)的一部分,所以有人认为所罗门的邱坛应该就在邪僻山上。没有很好的圣经证据支持这一理论,有时会将这个理论提供给去耶路撒冷的游客,有时还会将它与实事相关联(如,联合国总部就在这附近)。

kôs, kōs [Gk. Kōs-‘summit’]; AV COOS. An island off the coast of Caria, Asia Minor, one of the Sporades, under Greek control since 1948. The island is mentioned in connection with Paul’s third missionary journey in Acts 21:1, and in its relations with the Jews in 1 Macc. 15:23; Josephus Ant. xiv.7.2; 10.15.

Cos is a long, narrow island oriented E-W. About 23 mi. (37 km.) long, it has a circumference of 65 mi. (105 km.) and consists of an area of 111 sq. mi. (287 sq. km.). It is divided into three parts or regions: an abrupt limestone ridge along the eastern half of the southern coast, a rugged peninsula at the west end, and along the northern coast a central lowland of fertile soil which produces an excellent quality of grapes. The harbor is at the eastern end of the island. Mt. Oromedon, a landmark for navigators, rises in the middle of the island to a height of 2500 ft. (762 m.).

Cos was settled by Greeks as early as the 15th cent. B.C. During the 5th cent. the city-state joined the Delian League and suffered considerable destruction during the Peloponnesian War (431–404). A member of the Second Athenian Alliance, it revolted successfully against Athens in 354. Coming under the control of Alexander, Cos subsequently oscillated between Macedon, Syria, and Egypt to find its greatest glory as a literary center under the protection of the

音译: kôs, kōs 【希腊语: Kōs——“顶峰”】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 COOS (“哥士”)。小亚细亚的卡里亚海岸的一个岛屿, 斯波拉提群岛之一, 希腊人自 1948 年统治哥士。《使徒行传》21:1 中记载了保罗在第三次传道之旅中曾途径此地, 而《马加比一书》15:23 和约瑟夫的 Ant. xiv.7.2; 10.15 中提到了哥士与犹太人的关系。

哥士是一个东西朝向且又长又窄的岛。长约 23 英里 (37 公里), 周长为 65 英里 (105 公里), 面积是 111 平方英里 (287 平方公里)。哥士被分为三部分或三个地区: 沿南海岸的东半部分的陡峭石灰岩山脊, 西端的崎岖半岛, 以及北海岸土壤肥沃的洼地, 这里盛产优质的葡萄。海港在岛的东端。奥若梅当山 (Mt. Oromedon) 是航海家的地标, 耸立在岛的中央, 高 2500 英尺 (762 米)。

希腊人早在公元前 15 世纪就居住在哥士。在公元前 5 世纪期间, 这个城邦加入了提洛联盟并在伯罗奔尼撒战争 (431-404 年) 中遭到相当严重的破坏。第二雅典联盟的成员之一于 354 年反叛雅典并获得了胜利。之后进入了亚历山大统治时期的哥士是一些伟大人物 (如, 诗人菲勒塔斯 [Philetas]) 的故乡, 作为一个受多利买保护的文学中心, 哥士为了找回自己最大的荣耀, 在马其顿、叙利亚和埃及之间摇摆不定。哥士在 2 世纪, 甚至在成为亚细亚行省的一部分

Ptolemies, when it was the home of such great figures as the poet Philetas. In the 2nd cent. Cos was loyal to Rome even before it became a part of the province of Asia. Herod the Great was one of the benefactors of the people of Cos. Claudius, influenced by his Coan physician Xenophon, made Cos a free city and conferred immunity from taxation upon it in A.D. 53.

One of the most beautiful ports of the ancient world, Cos not doubt was most famous as a health resort. It was the site of the first school of scientific medicine and the sanctuary of Asclepius (Esculapius). The island had a healthful climate and hot ferrous and sulfurous springs, which the great Hippocrates (ca. 460–377 B.C.), the father of medicine, first used to cure his patients.

The sanctuary of Asclepius (the god of healing) was excavated by Rudolf Herzog of Tübingen University, 1898–1907. He uncovered a sanctuary on three terraces set in a sacred grove of cypresses about 2 mi. (3 km.) from the town. The topmost terrace had a Doric temple built of white island marble, surrounded on three sides by a U-shaped portico with its open side facing the lower terraces, and dating ca. 160 B.C. The middle terrace dated ca. 280 B.C. and supported a great altar faced by a small temple and other structures. The lowest terrace had a U-shaped portico with its open side facing the one on the top level. Dated ca. 350–250 B.C., this portico contained rooms where the patients slept.

杜平根大学的鲁道夫赫索格（Rudolf Herzog）在 1898-1907 年发掘了阿斯克勒庇俄斯（医术之神）的庙。他在离城镇 2 英里（3 公里）处的一个神圣的柏树林中发掘了一个三层的圣所。在顶层发掘了一个用岛上的白色大理石建造的多利安（Doric）神殿，神殿三面由 U 型柱廊围绕，开口处面向下面的层级，多利安（Doric）神殿可追溯至约公元前 160 年。中间那层可追溯至约公元前 280 年，由一个小的神殿和其他的建筑支撑一个大祭坛。最底层有一个 U 型柱廊，开口处与顶层的开口相对。最底层可追溯至约公元前 350-250 年，这个门廊有供病人休息的房间。

当 1933 年的地震几乎毁了哥士城的时候，意大利人统治了该岛，他们借此机会发掘了这座古老的城市。他们发现了

They found a planned Hellenistic town with main cross streets, a stadium, and a surrounding wall; and they found evidence of occupation at the site as early as Mycenaean times. At the lower level of the sanctuary the excavators uncovered Roman baths which utilized the healing waters of the island's springs and which (by inscriptions) dated to Nero's reign—and thus to the time of Paul's ministry.

COSMETICS.

Numerous concoctions were employed in the ancient Near East to enhance beauty, to provide pleasant aromas, and to soothe the skin dried by the hot climate. Ointments and perfumes were the most common. Archeological excavations have recovered many cosmetic containers and applicators, but such find scant mention in the OT.

COUNSELOR 谋士、策士、参谋

【希伯来语: yā‘aš 和 ’iš ‘ēšā (诗 119:24; 赛 40:13); 亚兰语: yē‘at (拉 7:14-15), ᵀdargāzar (但 3:2-3), haddābar (但 3:24, 27; 4:36 [《马所拉文本》 33]; 6:7 [《马所拉文本》 8]); 希腊语: paráklētos (约 14:16, 26; 15:26; 16:7), (罗 11:34)】; 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 COUNSELLOR (“谋士”); 《钦定版圣经》还译为 JUDGE (“谋士”, 但 3:2-3), “of the counsel” (“谋士的”, 代下 25:16), COMFORTER (“参谋”) (paráklētos); 《新英文译本》还译为 “official at court” (“参谋”, 拉 4:5), MINISTER (“谋士”, 伯 3:14), COUNSEL (“谋士”,

King David employed certain men as advisers in his court, including Ahithophel, who was succeeded by Jehoiada son of Benaiah, and Jonathan, David's uncle, who was educated and a "scribe" (1 Ch. 27:32). The important role such advisers often played is illustrated in 2 Ch. 22:3ff.; and the esteem in which counselors were held is seen in Job 3:14, "kings and counselors." Proverbs considers it wise to employ an "abundance of counselors," both for a nation's defense (11:14) and to plan offensive strategy (24:6). That counselors occupied a regular place in ancient administrations is clear from Ezr. 4:5; 7:14f., 28; 8:25; Isa. 3:3; 19:11; etc.

In Daniel, the two Aramaic words translated "counselor" in the NEB and RSV are of Persian origin; according to F. Rosenthal (Grammar of Biblical Aramaic [2nd ed. 1963]) Aram. ^a*dargāzar* (Dnl. 3:2f.) probably means "counselor," and haddābar (3:24, etc.) means "companion" (cf. NEB "courtier," and cf. "king's friend" in 1 Ch. 27:33).

Various renderings have been suggested for Isa. 9:6; the name of the son is read as six names (Vulgate), five (AV), four (RSV, NEB, JB, etc.), or a single sentence (Amer. Tr.). The consensus today is that four names are here given, one of which is Heb. pele' yô'ēš, "Wonderful Counselor" (RSV, JB), or "in purpose wonderful" (NEB). See E. J. Young, Intro. to the OT (repr. 1963), for a discussion.

诗 119:24), "planning" ("智谋", 箴 11:14; 24:6), "in purpose" ("定意", 赛 9:6), COURTIER ("谋士") (haddābar), ADVOCATE ("谋士", 赛 41:28; 约 14-16)。大卫王雇佣某些人在他的宫中做谋士, 这些谋士有亚希多弗、比拿雅的儿子耶何耶大和大卫的叔叔约拿单, 约拿单有智慧, 又作"书记"(代下 27:32)。《历代志下》22:3 之后的经文显示出这些谋士常发挥重要的作用; 从《约伯记》3:14 中可看出谋士是受尊敬的, "君王和谋士"。《箴言》中认为雇佣"众多谋士"来保护国家(箴 11:14)和制定防御策略(箴言 24:6)是明智的。《以斯拉记》4:5; 7:14-15, 28; 8:25; 《以赛亚书》3:3; 19:11 表明谋士是古代行政机构中的中坚力量。

在《新英文译本》和《修订标准译本》《但以理书》中, 翻译成 "counselor" ("谋士") 的两个亚兰语源于波斯语; F. Rosenthal (Grammar of Biblical Aramaic[1963 年第 2 版]) 认为亚兰语 ^a*dargāzar* (但 3:2-3) 的意思可能是 "谋士", haddābar (但 3:24 等) 的意思可能是 "同伴" (参:《新英文译本》译为 "courtier" ["谋士"], 参:《历代志上》27:33 中 "王的陪伴")。

《以赛亚书》9:6 有许多种翻译版本;《武加大译本》中用六个名字来翻译圣子的名字,《钦定版圣经》中用五个名字来翻译圣子的名;《修订标准译本》《新英文译本》和《耶路撒冷圣经》等用四个名字来翻译圣子的名,《美国译本》中用一个句子来翻译圣子的名。这里列出了现今得到一致认可的四个名字,其中之一是希伯来语 pele' yô'ēš, 意思是 "Wonderful Counselor" ("奇妙的谋士",《修订标准译本》,《耶路撒冷圣经》)或 "in purpose wonderful" ("奇妙的谋士",《新英文译本》)。详见 E. COUNTENANCE

The noun is the translation of a variety of Hebrew and Greek expressions, Heb. pānīm being the most frequent. Besides this are found mar'eh, “appearance,” “shape,” “comeliness,” “visage,” (Jgs. 13:6), 'ap, “nose,” “anger” (Ps. 10:4); and Gk. stygnázō, “be sad” (Mk. 10:22), prósōpon, “face,” “presence,” “aspect” (Lk. 9:29).

To the Oriental the countenance is particularly indicative of a person's inner feelings, reflecting such emotions as anger (Gen. 4:5f.), severity (Dt. 28:50, NEB “grim aspect”), sadness (Job 9:27, NEB “show a cheerful face”; Eccl. 7:3, NEB “sad face”), dismay (Mk. 10:22), and pride (Ps. 10:4, NEB “arrogant”). The idea of favor or presence is rendered by the phrase “light of (thy) countenance” (Nu. 6:26; Ps. 4:6; 90:8; etc.).

COUNTERFEIT

In 2 Tim. 3:8 Gk. adókimos is used to describe a reprobate person: “men of corrupt mind and counterfeit faith” (AV “reprobate concerning the faith”; NEB “cannot pass the tests of faith”). In Wisd. 15:9 kibdēlos, “mixed with dross,” is rendered “counterfeits” by

COUNTENANCE 相貌、面容、表情

这个名词用来翻译许多希伯来语和希腊语，最常用这个词来翻译希伯来语 pānīm。除了翻译这个词外，还可以翻译希伯来语 mar'eh，意为“外貌”，“身材”，“清秀”和“面貌”（士 13:6），'ap，意为“鼻子”，“怒气”（诗 10:4）；以及希腊语 stygnázō，“悲伤”（可 10:22）和 prósōpon，意为“面容”，“仪态”和“外貌”（路 9:29）。

对东方人来说，一个人的表情尤其可以体现出一个人的内心情感，如发怒（创 4:5-6）、凶恶（申 28:50，《新英文译本》译为“grim aspect”[“冷酷的一面”]）、忧愁（伯 9:27，《新英文译本》译为“show a cheerful face”[“喜笑的面容”]）；传 7:3，《新英文译本》译为“sad face”[“愁容”]）、沮丧（可 10:22）和骄傲（诗 10:4，《新英文译本》译为“arrogant”[“骄傲”]）。“light of (thy) countenance”（“向[你]仰脸）表达了喜爱或见面的含义（民 6:26；诗 4:6；90:8；等）。

英语单词 “country” (“国”) 翻译的几个希伯来语和希腊语指的是一处特定的区域 (希伯来语: g^ebūl; 字面意思是 “边境”, 也就是 “四境”; 出 8:2; 10:4; ’ereš; 士 11:21; 斯 8:17), 常表示政治实体 (希伯来语 sādeh; 创 14:7; 36:35; 代上 1:46; g^ebūl; 出 10:19; 希腊语: chóra; 太 8:28)。外邦列国被称为 “各国” (希伯来语: ’ārāšōt; 结 6:8) 或 “列邦” (maml^ekōt hā ’ārāšōt; 代上 29:30; 代下 12:8; 代下 20:29; 参: 《申命记》28:25 中类似的短语 maml^ekōt hā ’āreš, “万国”; 王下 19:15; 赛 37:20; 耶 25:26)。常表示本族或本家的意思 (’ereš; 创 12:1; 30:25; 王上 22:36; g^ebūl; 耶 31:17; maqôm; 创 29:26; 士 11:19; ’adāmā; 拿 4:2; 希腊语: patris; 太 13:54, 57; 平行经文, 可 6:4; 路 4:23-24)。《希伯来书》11:16 中的希腊语 kreittōn 暗示出天家是比地上的家更理想的地方。 desirable country than an earthly territory.

“Open country” refers to fields or pasture lands outside the walled cities (Heb. migrāš; Ezk. 48:15; cf. 27:28; šādeh; Dt. 21:1; Jgs. 20:31; 1 S. 30:11; 2 K. 25:23; Gk. agrós; Mk. 15:21; perichōros; Lk. 7:17; 8:37; érēmos tópos; Mk. 1:45). This land may be adjacent to the cities and subject to their control (Mk. 6:36; Lk. 9:12) or a completely distinct entity (1 Ch. 27:25; Mk. 6:56). In some instances the term designates rural towns (1 S. 27:5).

Implicit in some uses is a topographical or geographical reference. Gk. méros designates the “upper country” (thus “inland regions” or “the interior”; Acts 19:1; cf. Bauer, p. 507; see also HILL). Distant lands are called “far countries” (Heb. merhāq; Zec. 10:9; 'ereš; Isa. 8:9). Directional modifiers specify regions or nations as North Country (Heb. 'ereš šāpôn; Jer. 6:22; 10:22; 16:15; 23:8), East Country ('ereš qedem; Gen. 25:6), south country ('ereš hattēmān; Zec. 6:6), and west country (RSV reads 'el-'ah^arē hayyām; Zec. 6:6).

In some instances “country” may refer to the inhabitants rather than the territory (2 S. 15:23; cf. Mal. 1:4).

“郊野”指的是城外的空地或牧场（希伯来语：migrāš；结 48:15；参：结 27:28；šādeh；申 21:1；士 20:31；撒上 30:11；王下 25:23；希腊语：agrós；可 15:21；perichōros；路 7:17；8:37；érēmos tópos；可 1:45）。这个地方可能与城市相连并附属于城市（可 6:36；路 9:12）或完全不同的区域（代上 27:25；可 6:56）。这个词有时指的是京外的城邑（撒下 27:5）。

这个词一些用法暗示出该地的地形或地理学特点。希腊语 méros 指的是“上边一带”（也就是《使徒行传》19:1 中的“内地一带”或“内地”；参：Bauer, 507 页；另见 HILL[山]）。遥远的地方被称为“far countries”（“远方”）（希伯来语：merhāq；亚 10:9；'ereš；赛 8:9）。方向名词明确了一个地区或国家所处的位置，如“北方”（希伯来语：'ereš šāpôn；耶 6:22；10:22；16:15；23:8）、东方（'ereš qedem；创 25:6）、南方（'ereš hattēmān；亚 6:6）和西方（《修订标准译本》中将其理解为 'el-'ah^arē hayyām；亚 6:6）。

“country”有时可能指的是居民而不是地方（撒下 15:23；参：玛 1:4）。

COUPLE; COUPLED 相连

【希伯来语：hābar】；《新英文译本》译为 JOIN, JOINED，汉译均为“相连”。《修订标准译本》中的动词“couple” verb ḥābar (“touch, be joined”) and the participle based on it. It refers to the place where the curtains of the tabernacle are joined together (Ex. 26:3ff.; 36:10ff.).

COURAGE; COURAGEOUS.

In the OT the main words for “be courageous,” “be of good courage,” etc., are Heb. ḥāzaq and ’āmaṣ, both of which have the basic meaning “be strong (firm, hard).” For ḥāzaq the AV has “encouraged themselves” (Jgs. 20:22), “be strong” (1 S. 4:9; 2 Ch. 15:7; Dnl. 10:19; Hag. 2:4), “strengthened himself” (2 Ch. 23:1; 25:11), and “was strengthened” (Ezr. 7:28). For ’āmaṣ the NEB has “be resolute” (e.g., Dt. 31:6f.; Josh. 1:6, 9, 18; 1 Ch. 22:13); ḥāzaq is rendered “take heart” (2 Ch. 25:11; Hag. 2:4), and “felt himself strong enough” (2 Ch. 23:1). OT words for “courage” include lēb or lēbāb (“heart,” 2 S. 7:27; Jer. 4:9; Ezk. 22:14; Dnl. 11:25), nepeš (“soul,” Ps. 107:26; Lam. 1:16), rû(a)ḥ (“spirit,” Josh. 2:11), and yādôṭ (“hands,” 2 S. 4:1); the AV translates most of these terms literally. In 2 Ch. 17:6 “courageous” translates gābah (AV “lifted up”; NEB “he took pride”).

In the NT “take courage” and “be of good courage” translate Gk. tharrhéō (2 Cor. 5:6, 8, AV and NEB “confident”), tharséō (Acts 23:11, AV “be of good cheer”), and tolmáō (Mk. 15:43, AV “boldly”; NEB “bravely”). In 1 Cor. 16:13 “be courageous” renders andrízomai (AV “quit you like men”; NEB “be valiant”). Other words are “相连”)和过去分词“coupled”(“相连”)用来翻译希伯来语动词 ḥābar (“连接”)和 ḥābar 的过去分词。这个词指的是会幕的幔子幅幅相连的地方(出 26:3起; 36:10起)。

COURAGE; COURAGEOUS. 勇气; 勇敢的

在《旧约》中,表示“勇敢”“坦然无惧”等意思的主要词语是希伯来语 ḥāzaq 和 ’āmaṣ, 这两个的基本含义是“强壮[坚固、坚强]”。《钦定版圣经》中用“encouraged themselves”(“奋勇; 士 20:22)、“be strong”(“刚强”, 撒上 4:9; 代下 15:7; 但 10:19; 该 2:4)、“strengthened himself”(“奋勇”, 代下 23:1; 25:11)和“was strengthened”(“坚强”, 拉 7:28)翻译希伯来语 ḥāzaq。《新英文译本》中用“be resolute”(“刚强”, 如: 申 31:6-7; 书 1:6, 9, 18; 代上 22:13)翻译希伯来语 ’āmaṣ; 用“take heart”(“刚强”, 代下 25:11; 该 2:4)和“felt himself strong enough”(“奋勇”, 代下 23:1)翻译希伯来语 ḥāzaq。《旧约》中表示“勇气”的词有 lēb 或 lēbāb (“心”, 撒下 7:27; 耶 4:9; 结 22:14; 但 11:25), nepeš (“心灵”, 诗 107:26; 哀 1:16), rû(a)ḥ (“胆气”, 书 2:11), 和 yādôṭ (“手”, 撒下 4:1); 《钦定版圣经》按照字面意思翻译了其中绝大部分词语。《历代志下》17:6 中用“courageous”(“勇敢的”)翻译 gābah (《钦定版圣经》译为“lifted up”[“振奋的”]; 《新英文译本》译为“he took pride”[“他骄傲地”])。

《新约》用“take courage”和“be of good courage”(汉译均为“坦然无惧”)来翻译希腊语 tharrhéō (林后 5:6, 8, 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为“confident”[“坦然无惧”]), tharséō (徒 23:11, 《钦定版圣经》译为“be of good cheer”[“兴高采烈的”])和 tolmáō (可 15:43, 《钦定版圣经》译为“boldly”[“放胆地”]; 《新英文译本》译为

thársos (Acts 28:15), parrhēsia (Phil. 1:20, AV “boldness”; NEB “boldly”), and parrhēsiazomai (1 Thess. 2:2, AV “were bold”; NEB “frankly and fearlessly”). “Lose courage” in He. 12:5 renders eklyō (AV “faint”; NEB “lose heart”).

“bravely” [“放胆地”]。《哥林多前书》16:13 中用“be courageous”(“刚强”)翻译 andrízomai (《钦定版圣经》译为“quit you like men” [“作大丈夫”]; 《新英文译本》译为“be valiant” [“刚强”])。其他的词语还有 thársos (徒 28:15), parrhēsia (腓 1:20, 《钦定版圣经》译为“boldness” [“胆量”]; 《新英文译本》译为“boldly” [“放胆地”]) 和 parrhēsiazomai (帖前 2:2; 《钦定版圣经》译为“were bold” [“放开胆量”; 《新英文译本》译为“frankly and fearlessly” [“放胆”])。《希伯来书》12:5 中用“Lose courage”(“灰心”)翻译 eklyō (《钦定版圣经》译为“faint” [“灰心”]; 《新英文译本》译为“lose heart” [“灰心”])。

In Wisd. 8:7 courage (Gk. andria, NEB “fortitude”) is one of the four cardinal virtues; and cowardice ranks as one of the mortal sins (Rev. 21:8; cf. Sir. 2:12f.).

在《所罗门智训》8:7 中，“勇气”(希腊语：andria，《新英文译本》译为“fortitude” [“勇气”]) 是四个基本德行之一；而胆小是不可饶恕的罪行之一（启 21:8；参：便 2:12-13）。

COURSE.

The courses or layers (AV “rows”) of stones and of beams mentioned in descriptions of the Jerusalem temple and palace are called Heb. tûr in 1 K. 6:36; 7:12, and Aram. niḏbāk in Ezr. 6:4. The latter is an Akkadian loanword, occurring here in the text of a scroll from Ecbatana (6:2). The “courses” of priest and Levites in Ezr. 6:18 (Aram. maḥl^eqâ) are the divisions described in 1 Ch. 23:6ff., etc. (Heb. maḥ^alōqet); cf. Lk. 1:5, 8, AV (Gk. ephēmería).

On Jgs. 5:20, “the stars in their courses” (Heb. m^esillâ), see ASTROLOGY; ASTRONOMY II.C. “Out of course” in Ps. 82:5, AV (Heb. môṭ), is poetic for “shaken” (RSV) or “giving way” (NEB). The Gk. drómos is used to designate the earthly life of a servant of God in Acts 13:25 (John the Baptist); 20:24; 2 Tim. 4:7 (Paul). It is usually rendered “course,” but “race” in Acts 20:24, NEB, and 2 Tim. 4:7, RSV. The use of such a term to designate one’s life span shows utmost zeal for the Lord’s work. For “course” of life in a bad sense cf. Jer. 8:6; 23:10 (Heb. m^erûṣâ).

COURSE 层、编制、轨道

耶路撒冷圣殿和宫殿的石头和木头的层次（《钦定版圣经》译为“rows”）[行、排]在《列王纪上》6:36; 7:12 用希伯来语 tûr 来表示，在《以斯拉记》6:4 中用亚兰语 niḏbāk 来表示。亚兰语 niḏbāk 是一个阿卡德语外来词，在亚马他宫中发现的一卷书中发现了这个词（拉 6:2）。《以斯拉记》6:18 中祭司和利未人的“编制”（亚兰语：maḥl^eqâ）就是《历代志上》23:6 起等经文中提到的“班次”（希伯来语：maḥ^alōqet）；参：《钦定版圣经》《路加福音》1:5, 8（希腊语：ephēmería）。

关于《士师记》5:20 中的“星宿的轨道”（希伯来语：m^esillâ），见 ASTROLOGY（占星术）；ASTRONOMY II.C.（天文学 II.C.）。《钦定版圣经》《诗篇》82:5 中的（希伯来语：môṭ）“Out of course”（“脱离轨道”）是“动摇”的诗意表达（《修订标准译本》译为“shaken”，《新英文译本》译为“giving way”，汉译均为“动摇”）。希腊语 drómos 在《使徒行传》13:25; 20:24 和《提摩太后书》4:7 中用来表示神的仆人（施洗约翰和保罗）在尘世上的生命。这个词通常境况被译为“course”（“路程”），但是在《新英文译本》《使徒行传》20:24 和《修订标准译本》《提摩太后书》中译为“race”（“路程”）。用这个词表示一个人的生命程途表明这个人上帝的工作满怀热忱。关于贬义的生命“路程”，参：《耶利米书》8:6; 23:10（希伯来语：m^erûṣâ）。

COURTS, JUDICIAL.

The judicial courts of the ancient Near East and of Israel are not to be understood in the modern sense of the word. There was no appointed session of the court, with a public accuser and an advocate in criminal cases, or advocates on both sides in civil cases. The judicial courts came into operation only when a case was presented, and only with a judge (or judges) and witnesses.

I. Judicial Practice in the Ancient Near East.-The judicial practice depended on the way of life of the people in the ancient Near East. The legal practice of nomads or semi-nomads was understandably different from that of an agrarian or civilized society. The nomad had freedom of movement and was bound only by legal rules arising from custom. Nomadic society consisted of families and clans; and jurisprudence was pronounced by a prominent judge,

COURTS, JUDICIAL. 公会、司法法庭

不应当按照这个词的现代含义理解古近东和以色列的公会。古近东和以色列的公会没有约定的开庭期,也不像现在的司法法庭那样,在刑事案件中有公诉方和辩护方,在民事案件中有两个辩护方。只有出现案件时,司法公会才会出现,并且只有判官(或判官们)和目击证人。

I. 古近东地区的司法惯例。古近东民族的生活方式决定了他们的司法惯例。因此游牧民族或半游牧民族的法律实践理所当然不同于农耕社会或文明社会的法律实践。游牧民族可以自由迁徙并仅受源于习俗的法律规定的约束。游牧社会由家族和宗族组成;并且由一个著名的判官宣读他们的法律体系,这个判官可能是军队首领和宗族的伟大辩士,或者是宗族中的长老(参: J. Henninger, L'antico societa Beduina[1959], 82-83)。在今天的阿拉伯游牧社会中,当人们遇 who might be a military leader and great orator of the clan, or by the elders in the clan (cf. J. Henninger, L'antico societa Beduina[1959], pp. 82f.). In Arabic nomadic societies today, people will travel scores of miles to consult a famous sage or to get a judgment on a certain difficult case. This kind of judicial practice existed probably in all the nomadic societies of the ancient Near East, as is shown by various sources.

As soon as certain nomadic or seminomadic tribes settled down in a civilized country, the old judicial institutions were gradually replaced by fixed institutions of judges and officials under supervision of the king. In Mesopotamian society the king got his judicial rights from Šamaš, the supreme judge under the gods, the judge of gods and men; the king in turn delegated this authority to his official and judges. On the law code of Hammurabi, the king is represented with lifted arms in adoration before the sun-god Šamaš. In the prologue of the law codes of both Ur-Nammu and Hammurabi, UTU (Sumerian) or Šamaš is represented as the protector of the widow, the orphan, and the poor; this implies that the king also must protect the weak, which was one of the common ideals of the ancient Near East.

The judicial procedure in Near Eastern courts is amply illustrated by discovered documents. No actual distinction was made between criminal and civil offenses. In every case the injury done to a person was the important point, and the usual fine was compensation. The case was stated before a judge, and witnesses were called in to assist the parties. After all the witnesses and opposing parties had been heard, a final judgment was given. Sometimes a contract between parties was presented to strengthen a case.

到一个很难裁决的案件时，他们要行好几公里的路去咨询一个著名的哲人或请一个判官。各种文献都表明，古近东地区的所有游牧社会可能都存在着这样的司法实践。

当某些游牧或半游牧部落在一个文明地区定居下来时，旧的律法制度就逐渐地被固定的法官和官僚体制所代替，这些法官和官员要受到国王的监督。在美索不达米亚社会，国王从神的最高判官（即神和人的判官）沙马什（Šamaš）那里获得了审判权；然后国王将这个审判权授予他的官员和法官。根据《汉谟拉比法典》中的记载，国王举起双臂敬拜太阳神沙马什（Šamaš）。根据《乌尔纳姆法典》和《汉谟拉比法典》的前言中的记载，乌图（UTU，苏美尔人）或沙马什（Šamaš）是寡妇、孤儿和穷人的保护者；这表明国王也必须保护弱者，这是古近东人的共同理想之一。

已发掘出的文献充分证明了古近东公会的司法程序。刑事犯罪和民事犯罪之间没有实际上的差别。对一个人已经造成的伤害是审判每个案件的重点，通常的惩罚是对受害人进行补偿。首先在判官面前陈明案情，然后叫来证人为当事人作证。判官听完所有证人和对方当事人的陈述后，作出最终判决。有时判官会让双方当事人签订一份契约以加强判决

II. Judicial Practice in Isarel.-Israelite judicial practices were mainly instituted on the same principles as those of the ancient Near East. Judicial practices were reorganized by Moses during the wandering in the desert (cf. Ex. 18). This organization was made for a seminomadic society with Moses as the leader and judge of the people and a great number of minor judges or elders to assist him. The jurisprudence during these years was normally pronounced in the presence of all the members of the covenantal tribes (cf., e.g., Nu. 15:33). With the conquest of Palestine the same procedure continued for a while. The judges in the book of Judges were nothing more than military leaders and famous sages who gave decisions on difficult problems. Some of them were local leaders; others may have had intertribal authority.

With the establishment of the Israelite kingdom the situation changed. The king was now the judge, and the elders or priests in the various cities and towns were minor judges. Law was codified and definite rules were laid down. The situation was rather fluid in the time of Saul. According to the tradition in 1 Ch. 26:29-32, David appointed judges from the ranks of the Levites. This was a reorganization of judicial activities. It is not clear from Chronicles exactly how far this reorganization was carried through.

II. 以色列的司法惯例。以色列人的司法惯例所依赖主要原则与古近东民族的司法惯例所依赖的原则是相同的。摩西在旷野期间重新确定了司法惯例（参：出 18）。这个制度是为一个半游牧民族设立的，摩西是这个游牧民族的首领和判官，并且有许多小判官或长老辅佐他。在这一时期通常要在全体立约支派面前宣读律法体系（参：如，民 15:33）。以色列人征服巴勒斯坦后，这个司法程序被继续沿用了一段时间。《士师记》中的士师只不过是军事首领和解决难题的著名哲士。有些士师是地方首领；另一些士师可能有管理多个支派的权柄。

随着以色列王国的建立，情况发生了转变。国王成了判官，各个城邑中的长老或祭司成了小判官。以色列人制定了法典，并制定了明确的律例。这种情形在扫罗时期还是非常不稳定的。根据《历代志上》26:29-32 中记载的习俗，大卫从利未族中任命士师。这是司法体制的一种改革。从《历代志》中尚无法知晓这种改革到达了怎样的程度。

After a century or more Jehoshaphat (873–849 B.C.) was compelled to reorganize the judicial activities after a period of decay. According to 2 Ch. 17:7–9 and 19:5–11, his reorganization was carried through extensively, and has a good parallel in the reorganization of the judicial activities of Haremheb during the New Kingdom of Egypt (cf. Albright). The practice now was that minor offenses were put under the jurisdiction of elders and priests, but major offenses were directly referred to the king. This policy continued until the Exile.

A very important point to remember is that the Supreme Judge of all men (kings included) was Yahweh. He was regarded as the protector of the weak. All earthly power is delegated to man by God. Every judge must remember that his jurisprudence is under the continuous supervision of the Lord (cf. 2 Ch. 19:6).

The question may be asked: Were all the different laws given in the OT regarded as the law of the land and actually applied? It is a difficult question to answer because of the lack of evidence. We know, for example, that great parts of these laws were disregarded by the community and judges in times of decay, making necessary a reorganization and reinstatement of legal practices. It is, therefore, difficult to ascertain to what extent all the laws were executed. We must keep in mind that the laws described in the OT were formed over a long period and that certain laws were adapted to changing conditions.

Legal procedures in ancient Israel were similar to those in the rest of the Near

一个多世纪后，约沙王（公元前 873-849 年）不得不在历经了一段衰退期后重新改革司法制度。根据《历代志下》17:7-9 和 19:5-11 的记载，他在大范围内实施司法改革，约沙法的司法改革可以与埃及新王朝时期的司法改革相媲美（参：Albright）。新制度规定轻微的罪可由长者和祭司审判，重罪直接交由国王审判。这个政策一直持续到被掳时期。

最重要的一点是要铭记，耶和华才是所有人（包括国王）的最高审判者。祂是弱者的庇护者。地上所有的权柄都是神赏赐的。所有的审判者必须牢记耶和华始终在监督他们的审判（参：代下 19:6）。

有人会问：《旧约》中提及的所有不同的律法都是地上的律法并且实际上都实施了吗？由于缺乏证据，这是一个很难回答的问题。例如，我们知道，在败坏时期会众和审判者忽视这些律法的重要部分，因此需要改革和重新制定律例。因此很难确定律法的执行情况。我们必须记住所有《旧约》中记录的律法是经过很长一段时间才形成的，并且某些律法随环境的变化而变化。

古以色列的司法程序与其他近东地区的司法程序相似。刑事犯罪和民事犯罪之

East. No distinction was made between criminal and civil offenses. Witnesses were summoned to give evidence in a case. The verdict of the judge was usually final. There is some evidence that an appeal could be made to the king if one of the parties was not satisfied with the decision of the clan or judge (cf. 2 S. 14:5ff.). Cases were tried at the city gate, sometimes in the presence of the whole community; and these occasions called for great oratorical skill. Difficult cases were heard by the king himself (e.g., 1 K. 3:16ff.).

III. Judicial Practice in NT Times.—The supreme legislative and judicial body in NT times was the Sanhedrin. Its authority was exercised to such an extent that it could also administer criminal cases. It had an independent police force (cf. Mt. 26:47; Acts 4:3; etc.). In cases that did not involve capital punishment, its judgments were final and irrevocable (cf. Acts 4:2–23; etc.). Only for capital offenses must the consent of the procurator be secured (cf. Jn. 18:31). The procurator was free to grant or refuse it on principle of either Roman or Jewish law.

The smaller court of the Sanhedrin consisted of twenty-three members of pure Jewish lineage and the higher one of seventy-one or seventy. They gathered in Jerusalem, and the local sessions were held on the second and fifth day of the week (Monday and Thursday). No meetings were held on feast days or the sabbath.

间没有差别。在审理案件时需召唤证人提供证据。审判者的裁决通常是最终裁决。有证据显示，倘若当事人中任何一方对宗族或审判者的判决不满意，可以向国王申诉（参：撒下 14:5 起）。通常在城门前审理案件，有时在所有会众面前审理案件；这些场合都需要很好的演讲口才。难处理的案件交由国王亲自审理（如，王上 3:16 起）。

III. 新约时期的司法惯例。新约时期最高的立法和司法机构就是犹太公会。犹太公会的权力非常宽泛，甚至可以审理刑事案件。犹太公会有独立的警卫队（参：太 26:47；徒 4:3 等）。如果案件不涉及到死刑，那么对案件的判决就是最终判决并且无法更改（参：徒 4:2-23 等）。只有死刑的判决必须经过地方长官的允许（参：约 18:31）。地方长官可根据罗马或犹太律法批准或驳回审判结果。

较小的犹太公会有二十三位纯犹太血统的成员，较大的犹太公会有七十一或七十犹太人。他们聚集在耶路撒冷，并且在每周的第二天和第五天（周一和周四）举行地方会议。在斋日或安息日不举行会议。

I. General Meaning and Etymology.-The etymology of Heb. b^erît is by no means clear. Various roots have been suggested, but two have found wide acceptance, namely, Heb. bārâ, “eat bread with,” and the Akk. noun birîtu, “fetter,” or perhaps the prepositional phrase ina beri, or the preposition birit, “between.” Whatever the etymology, the OT term berît came to mean that which bound two parties together. It was used, however, for many different types of “bond,” both between man and man and between man and God. It has a common use where both parties were men, and a distinctively religious use where the covenant was between God and man. The religious use was really a metaphor based on the common use but with a deeper connotation.

II. Covenants Between Men in the Ancient World.-There exist today many ancient documents that show how wide was the range of agreements between men. Fundamentally, most if not all of them had religious sanctions of some kind. The contracting parties took an oath in the name of the gods, who both witnessed their solemn agreement and

I. 一般含义和词源。希伯来语 b^erît 的词源并不清楚。关于这个词的词根有很多种说法，但是有两个词根得到了广泛的认可，它们是希伯来语 bārâ (“一同吃饼”) 和阿卡德语名词 birîtu (“约束”)，或者介词短语 ina beri，或介词 birit (“两者之间”)。无论这个词的词根是什么，旧约词语 berît 表示的是双方结盟。然而，这个词还用来表示人与人之间以及人与上帝之间所立的多种不同类型的“约”。这个词通常表示人与人之间的盟约，而它的独特的宗教用法指的是上帝与人所立的约。宗教用法实际上是基于普通用法的比喻，但是含义更深刻。

II. 古代世界人与人所立的约。今天很多古代文献表明了人与人之间所立之约的广泛范围。从根本上来看，大多数的盟约（尽管不是所有的盟约）都有某种宗教意义。立约双方以神明的名义起誓，神明见证他们的庄严约定，并作他们之间的担保者。个体、部落、国家或民族之间都可以确立庄严的约定。强国之间的盟约（如，赫人和埃及人之间的盟约） would act as its guarantors. Such solemn agreements were made between individuals, tribes, states, or nations. The most complex of these were international treaties between great powers like the Hittites and the Egyptians. But in all cases the solemn engagement of one party to another and the promise of fidelity were fundamental. Many of the OT covenants are paralleled in the ancient Near East. Of main interest are the alliances and treaties between city-states and neighboring tribal groups, between tribal groups in the areas of influence of more powerful states, between states and nations, and in particular between vassal states and their overlords. The records of the Hittites from Asia Minor, of the people of Ugarit on the Mediterranean seacoast, of the people of Mari on the middle Euphrates, and of the Assyrians, all provide useful source material for study.

是最为复杂的。但是无论怎样，立约双方的庄严约定和忠于盟约的誓言是最基本的要素。《旧约》中的许多盟约与古近东的盟约相似。最为重要的是城邦和邻国部族之间联盟和盟约、强国势力范围内部族之间的联盟和盟约、国与国之间的联盟和盟约，以及诸侯国与领主国之间的联盟和盟约。小亚细亚的赫人，地中海的乌加里特人，幼发拉底河中游的马里（Mari）人和亚述人的记载都为研究古代世界人与人之间的盟约提供了有用的原始素材。

18th cent. B.C. have produced a number of significant phrases. In several of these a sacrificial ass was slain, and the phrase “to kill an ass” is almost the equivalent of “to make a covenant.” Again, when an agreement had been reached between parties, reference was made to “peace between X and Y” (cf. Jgs. 4:17; 1 S. 7:14; 1 K. 5:12 [MT 26]). Another phrase, “to kill an ass of peace,” is reminiscent of the Hebrew “to make a covenant of peace” (Ezk. 34:25; 37:26).

In international treaties, of which the most famous was that between Hattusilis III the Hittite King and Ramses II of Egypt, the two parties drew up by mutual consent a set of obligations, which were then written down on a treaty document set out according to a standard pattern. The basic elements were (1) a preamble giving the names and titles of the parties, (2) a historical prologue setting out the previous relations of the parties, (3) the stipulations, (4) a list of divine witnesses, (5) a statement of curses and blessings. Such a treaty was a “parity” treaty. A similar pattern was followed for the “suzerainty” or “vassal” treaty between the Hittite overlords and their vassals. The historical prologue here set out to define the past benefits bestowed by the Hittite king on the subject nation, benefits that put the vassal under perpetual obligation. Generally, provisions for depositing the treaty document in the temple and for a periodic public reading of it were written into the treaty tablet. In theory the Hittite suzerain drew up the stipulations that constituted the essence of the bond (riksu), and the vassal accepted the bond on oath (mamitu), so that the whole treaty was defined as “the oath and bond” (riksu u mamitu). In international treaties there were two bonds and two oaths, since each party drew up its own interpretation of the agreement and presented it to the other party to be accepted under oath of the gods. The presence of the gods guaranteed the fulfillment of the obligation, and in the case of a breach of the treaty ensured that the curses would operate. In the vassal treaties blessings were promised to the one who honored his obligations, and curses to him who transgressed the treaty. In every case, however, the “bond” between the parties was wider than the mere treaty obligations, although in Hittite documents the term riksu often seems to mean little more than the stipulations of the treaty. But there were intangible links as well, such as the sense of obligation in the vassal in many cases, the binding power of the oath, and the sanctions of the gods.

含了许多重要的短语。其中“杀死献祭的驴”或“杀驴”几乎与“立约”是一个意思。此外，当 X 和 Y 双方达成一致时，也就说明“X 与 Y 和好了”（参：士 4:17；撒 7:14；王上 5:12[《马所拉文本》26]）。另一个短语“杀死和好的驴”使人联想到了希伯来语短语“立平安的约”（结 34:25；37:26）。

人的文献中,词语 riksu 似乎仅仅表示条约中的规定。这“约定”还包含了无形的连接,如在很多情况下包含了诸侯的责任意识、誓言的约束力和神明的惩罚。

though not completely, dropped out of use. The adē were the sworn obligations and represented the essence of the treaty, although here too the bond between the parties must have been regarded as something more than a list of stipulations.

Religious ceremonies involving the slaughter of a beast were associated with each treaty, and customs similar to those at Mari are attested among the people of Syria in the 18th cent. B.C. as well as among the Assyrians and the later Arameans of Syria at least down to the 8th cent. B.C. (cf. Gen. 15:9f.; Jer. 34:18). A common element in the cursing formula in some treaties is: "Just as this [beast] is cut up, so may X be cut up." The recitation of such a formula was probably in the nature of a self-imprecation. The man who recited it thus declared his expectation of the fate that would befall him if he broke his treaty obligations.

It is against this wider Near Eastern background that the covenants of the OT should be studied in the first instance. In that way comparisons and contrasts may be made and the uniqueness of the OT picture may be understood.

III. Covenants Between Men in the OT.-A. Examples. The term b^erît is used for a wide variety of agreements between men in the OT. In translating the word it may be helpful to use different terms such as agreement, alliance, league, or treaty, according to the sense, and to preserve the term "covenant" for the b^erît between God and man.

The following examples may be noted in 誓的义务，体现了盟约的实质，尽管在这里也必须认为双方的约定不仅仅表示盟约中的规定。

每次立约时都会举行屠宰牲畜的宗教仪式，公元前 18 世纪的叙利亚人、亚述人和后来至少到公元前 8 世纪的亚兰人都有与马里地区相似的习俗（参：创 15:9-10；耶 34:18）。一些盟约中常见这样的诅咒：“X 当如这[牲畜]一样，也要被剪除”。诵读这个诅咒可能具有自我诅咒的性质。因此，诵读这诅咒的人公开宣布，如违背盟约，将遭此下场。

们应该首先根据这个更宽泛的近东背景来研究《旧约》中的约。这样就可以做出比较和对比，并可以理解《旧约》中描述的独特性。

III. 《旧约》中人与人之间所立的约。
A. 例子。在《旧约》中，词语 b^erît 表示人与人之间立的各种约。根据这种意义，应该用不同的词语（如，agreement（“契约”）、alliance（“盟约”）、league（“盟约”）或 treaty（“条约”））来翻译该词，“covenant”（“圣约”）只用来翻译上帝与人立的约（b^erît）。

《旧约》中记载的例子如下：（1）基于

the OT: (1) a mutual commitment of an intensely personal kind, as with Jonathan and David (1 S. 18:3; 20:8; 22:8; 23:18); (2) a personal agreement with political ends, as with David and Abner (2 S. 3:12f.); (3) an alliance between heads of tribes, as between Abraham and his confederates (Gen. 14:13), between Abraham and Abimelech (Gen. 21:22–32), between Isaac and Abimelech (Gen. 26:26–31), and between Jacob and Laban (Gen. 31:44–54); (4) an arrangement between an individual and tribal representatives, as for Rahab and the Israelite spies (Josh. 2); (5) an agreement between the king and an individual, as with Solomon and Shimei (1 K. 2:42–46); (6) an agreement between the king and the nation or elements of the nation, as with David and Israel (2 S. 5:1; 1 Ch. 11:3), Joash and Judah (2 K. 11:17), and Zedekiah and Judah (Jer. 34:8); (7) treaties between the king of Israel and his vassals, as with David (2 S. 8) or Solomon (1 K. 4:21); (8) treaties between states or tribes, whether a weaker state asks for an alliance—as the Gibeonites asked Israel (Josh. 9:6, 11, 15f.), the Israelites asked Nahash the Ammonite (1 S. 11:1f.), and Ben-hadad asked Ahab (1 K. 20:34)—or whether the stronger imposed a treaty, as Assyria on Israel (Hos. 12:1) and Nebuchadnezzar on Judah (Ezk. 17:13), or whether approximately equal parties arranged the treaty, as Solomon with Hiram (1 K. 5:12), and the kings of Judah and Israel with Ben-hadad (1 K. 15:19); (9) a solemn undertaking between the men of Judah to keep the law of Moses (2 K. 23:3; Jer. 34:8; Ezr. 10:3; Neh. 9:38; 10:29); (10) the marriage alliance (Mal. 2:14); (11) metaphorical covenants with things (Hos.

深厚感情的彼此承诺，如约拿单和大卫立的约（撒上 18:3；20:8；22:8；23:18）；（2）带有政治目的的个人协定，如大卫和押尼珥立的约（撒下 3:12-13）；（3）宗族首领间的盟约，如亚伯兰和他的同盟立的约（创 14:13）、亚伯拉罕和亚希米勒立的约（创 21:22-32）、以撒和亚希米勒立的约（创 26:26-31）以及雅各和拉班立的约（创 31:44-54）；（4）个人和宗族代表之间的约定，如赖哈和以色列的探子立的约（书 2）；（5）王和个人之间的协定，如所罗门和示每立的约（王上 2:42-46）；（6）王和国家或国家的重要人物之间的协定，如大卫同以色列立的约（撒下 5:1；代上 11:3），约阿施和犹大立的约（王下 11:17）以及西底家 and 犹大立的约（耶 34:8）；（7）以色列王和他的诸侯签订的条约，如大卫与臣服者立的约（撒下 8）或所罗门与臣服者立的约（王上 4:21）；（8）邦国或宗族间的条约，无论是弱国请求签订的条约，如基便人请求与以色列立约（书 9:6, 11, 15-16），以色列请求与亚扪王拿辖立约（撒上 11:1-2），以及便哈达请求与亚哈立约（王上 20:34），还是强国强行签订的条约，如亚述和以色列立约（何 12:1），尼布甲尼撒与犹大立约（结 17:13），或者双方签订近乎平等的立约，如所罗门和希兰立的约（王上 5:12），以及犹大王与便哈达立的约（王上 15:19）；（9）犹大人保证遵守摩西律法的庄严承诺（王下 23:3；耶 34:8；结 10:3；尼 9:38；10:29）；（10）婚姻盟约（玛 2:14）；（11）比喻与物品立约（何 2:18；耶 33:20, 25；赛 28:15, 18；亚 11:10；伯 5:23；31:1；41:4）。

2:18; Jer. 33:20,25; Isa. 28:15, 18; Zec. 11:10; Job 5:23; 31:1; 41:4).

B. Distinctive Language. In most of these OT passages elements of the Near Eastern pattern can be observed. There are references to stipulations or commandments (mišwôt), the oath (šêbû'â), the act of swearing (nišbâ'), the blessings (bêrākā), and the curse ('ālā). There is naturally no mention of calling on the gods as witnesses, since God is Himself the witness; but external "witnesses" ('ēd) in the form of a pillar or a heap of stones (Gen. 31:52) are known, and at times the people themselves act as their own witnesses (Josh. 24:22). The technical phrase kārat b'rit, literally "cut a covenant," is generally used for "making a covenant." The origin of this expression appears to lie in the ancient practice of slaying and cutting up sacrificial beasts at such covenant ceremonies. The covenant was made "with" ('im or 'ēt), "between" (bēn), or "for the benefit of" (l') the party or parties concerned. It was to be "kept" or "guarded," and at least in intention was immutable. Very often, however, one party "despised the oath and broke the covenant" (Ezk. 17:15f., 18f.).

IV. Covenants Between God and Man.

A. Religious Metaphor. The Near Eastern treaty pattern provided a beautiful metaphor for the relation between God and Israel. More particularly the suzerainty treaty provided a monarchical picture in which God became Israel's sovereign and Israel became his servant. The literary pattern of the Near Eastern treaty is clearly discernible in the OT narratives at many points. Thus in the

B. 与众不同的用词。在《旧约》的大多数章节中可发现近东地区立约的要素。这《旧约》中提到了约中的规定或诫命 (mišwôt)、誓言 (šêbû'â)、发誓 (nišbâ')、祝福 (bêrākā) 和咒诅 ('ālā)。《旧约》中自然没有提到让诸神作见证，因为上帝才是立约的见证；但是，柱子或石碓是立约的外在证据 ('ēd) (创 31:52)，有时人类为他们自己作见证(书 24:22)。专业短语 kārat b'rit (字面意思是“切下盟约”) 通常表示“立约”。这个词似乎源于古代在立约仪式上屠宰献祭牲畜的习俗。可以与 ('im 或 'ēt) 另一方或多个相关方之间 (bēn) 立约，或者“为了一方或相关方的利益” (l') 而立约。立约方必须“遵守”或“信守”约定，至少不可改变初衷。然而，常常有一方“轻看所起的誓，背弃所立的约” (结 17:15-16, 18-19)。

IV. 神与人立的约。A. 宗教比喻。近东条约的形式为神和以色列的关系提供了一个巧妙的比喻。尤其是领主之约呈现了一幅君主政治的画面，即神是以色列民的君王，而以色列是祂的仆人。旧约故事的许多方面都可以清楚地看出近东条约的文学形式。因此在西奈上的故事 (出 19-24) 中，立约前要列举上帝的作为 (出 19:4)，然后号召立约方回到约中并要守约。《出埃及记》20 章以摩西十诫的形式给出了约中的规定，并且在

Sinai story (Ex. 19–24) there is a recital of God’s acts prior to the making of the covenant (19:4), followed by the call to enter into a covenant and to obey. The stipulations in the form of the Decalogue are given in Ex. 20 and supplemented by other laws in Ex. 21–23. There is a reference to the oath that Israel took (Ex. 19:8; 24:3) and to the religious ceremony at which the covenant was ratified (Ex. 24:4–8). Curses and blessings are contained in the Decalogue (Ex. 20:1–17) and there is mention of the covenant document (Ex. 24:7). Similar patterns may be shown to exist in many passages in the OT but notably in Dt. 29–30; Josh. 23–24, and in Deuteronomy as a whole.

B. Language of Covenant. The standard Hebrew phrase kārat b’rit is used of God’s covenant with man (Gen. 15:18; Ex. 24:8; Dt. 4:23; 5:2; 2 K. 17:15; Jer. 11:10; Ezk. 34:25), but stress is laid on the initiative of God by the use of the verbs “establish” (hēqîm) in Gen. 6:18; 9:11; 17:7; etc., “grant” (nāan) in Gen. 9:12; 17:2; Nu. 25:12, “set down” (’sîm) in 2 S. 23:5, “command” (šîwwâ) in Josh. 7:11; 23:16; 1 K. 11:11. All these verbs at times have as their objects the noun b’rit. Further, there are numerous references to God’s having “commanded” and given Israel a “law,” “statutes,” “commandments,” “judgments,” etc. Israel on her part was expected to “obey” God’s word of command, to “keep” His covenant, to “remember” it, to “do” it, and to “walk in” it. Her history shows that she “forgot” the covenant, “broke” it, “sinned against” it, “rejected” it, “transgressed” it, and “profaned” it. Hence she experienced the curses of the broken covenant in the form of natural calamities, war, sickness, exile, and death, whereas had she kept the covenant she might have enjoyed the blessings of the covenant instead (Lev. 26; Dt. 27–28).

《出埃及记》21-23 中用其他的律法作了补充。经文中提到了以色列曾发过的誓言（出 19:8; 24:3）和使约生效的宗教仪式（出 24:4-8）。摩西十诫中包含了咒诅和祝福（出 20:1-17），《出埃及记》24:7 中提到了约书。《旧约》中许多章节中可能都有类似的立约形式，但是《申命记》29-30、《约书亚记》23-24 和整卷《申命记》中的记载尤为引人注目。

B. 表示约的词语。标准的希伯来短语 kārat b’rit 表示上帝与人立的约（创 15:18; 出 24:8; 申 4:23; 5:2; 王下 17:15; 耶 11:10; 结 34:25），但是经文中用了一系列动词来强调是神主动立约方，如《创世记》6:18; 9:11; 17:7 等经文使用了动词“establish”（“确立”）(hēqîm)，《创世记》9:12; 17:2; 《民数记》25:12 使用了“grant”（“赐给”），《撒母耳记下》23:5 使用了动词词组“set down”（“立”），《约书亚记》7:11; 23:16; 《列王记上》11:11 使用了动词“command”（“吩咐”）(šîwwâ)。这些动词有时用名词 b’rit 作宾语。另外，经文中还经常提到神“吩咐”和赐给以色列“命令”，“律例”、“法度”、“典章”等。而以色列要“服从”上帝的吩咐、“遵守”祂的约、“铭记”祂的话语，并且“谨守”祂的约。以色列在历史中曾“忘记”、“破坏”、“违背”、“轻视”、“亵渎”神的约。因此她因不守约而受咒诅，遭受天灾，饱受战争、疾病、被掳和死亡之苦，倘若以色列遵守圣约，她本可以享受到约中的祝福（利 26; 申 27-28）。

C. Examples. While in a sense there is but one covenant between God and men through which God in sovereign fashion dispenses His grace to men and fulfils His promises to them, a variety of occasions is mentioned in the OT, and the precise character of the grace bestowed and of the promise given differs according to the circumstances. In a few cases the word b^erîṭ is used with reference to God's creative and providential activity where He showed Himself to be utterly faithful (Jer. 33:20, 25; cf. Gen. 8:22).

Apart from these the following covenants may be distinguished: (1) God's covenant with Noah (Gen. 9:9–17). This arose from God's own initiative. It was universal in scope, unconditional, and everlasting. The promise was that never again would there be a deluge; the rainbow was the sign. (2) God's covenant with Abraham (Gen. 15:8–18; 17:1–14). In this covenant God promised a land and descendants to Abraham, who was commanded to “keep” the covenant (Gen. 17:9f., 14) and was given circumcision as the sign. The obedience of Abraham was not a condition of the covenant but rather his response inside a religious relationship. There could be no blessings and no fellowship without obedience. (3) God's covenant with the nation at Sinai (Horeb). Following the recital of divine acts and the call to obey, God constituted Israel a “peculiar treasure,” a “kingdom of priests,” and a “holy nation,” and gave them the stipulations that would guarantee the continuance of fellowship between them and their God. The covenant was ratified by a covenant sacrifice and the sprinkling of blood (Ex. 24:4-8). (4) Various covenant renewals. From time to time in Israel’s history the covenant was renewed. The most important renewals were those on the plains of Moab (Dt. 29), at Shechem in the days of Joshua (Josh. 24), in the days when Jehoiada was able to restore the Davidic line of kings under Joash (2 K. 11), in the days of Hezekiah (2 Ch. 29:10), and in the days of Josiah (2 K. 23:3). (5) The Davidic covenant. God gave a promise to David that his descendants should have an everlasting kingdom and be known as his sons (2 S. 7:12-17; Ps. 89:3f., 26f., 34; Ps. 132:11f.; 2 S. 23:5; cf. Isa. 55:3f.).

C. 例子。虽然上帝与人类只立了一个约，并且至高的上帝藉着这个约赐给人类恩典并兑现祂的应许，但是《旧约》曾多次提及立约，根据环境的不同恩典和应许也不相同。少数情况下，b^erîṭ 表示上帝的创造和旨意，上帝藉着创造和祂的旨意证明祂是完全信实的神（耶 33:20, 25；参：创 8:22）。

除此之外，下面这些约可能比较显著：(1) 神与挪亚立的约（创 9:9-17）。这是神主动立的约。这约惠及全地，是无条件的，永恒的。神在约中应许不会再有洪水；彩虹为立约的记号。(2) 神与亚伯兰立的约（创 15:8-18；17:1-14）。在这个约中，神吩咐亚伯兰“遵守”所立的约，并应许赐给亚伯兰产业和后裔（创 17:9-10, 14），而割礼是立约的记号。亚伯兰的顺服不是立约的条件，而是他在宗教关系中的回应。不遵守就得不到祝福和交通。(3) 神在西奈山（何列山）与以色列立的约。耶和華首先细数了祂的作为并吩咐以色列顺服祂，然后拣选以色列“特作自己的子民”，作“祭司的国度”，为“圣洁的国民”，并赐给以色列人律法，从而保证他们始终与他们的神交通。献祭和洒血是立约的凭据（出 24:4-8）。(4) 各种重新立约。在以色列历史中经常出现重新立约。最重要的重新立约包括：耶和華在摩押平原和以色列重新立约（申 29），约书亚时期在示剑重新立约（书 24），耶和耶大立

D. The New Covenant. Several passages in the prophets, but most explicitly in Jeremiah, speak of a new covenant in the messianic age (Isa. 42:6; 49:6-8; 55:3; 59:21; 61:8; Jer. 31:31, 33; 32:40; 50:5; Ezk. 16:60, 62; 34:25; 37:26; Hos. 2:18). If God’s promises were eternal, then even if historic Israel failed and suffered the curses of the broken covenant, the promise of God could not fail. There would be a remnant in whom, by way of judgment and repentance, God would honor His promises. He would make a new covenant, not new in essence, but new in fulfillment. His law would be written on hearts of flesh. In that day the throne of David would be occupied by one of David’s line and the people would enjoy an everlasting covenant of peace (Isa. 55:3; Jer. 23:5f.; 32:37-40; Ezk. 34:23; 37:25f.), in which the nations would also share (Isa. 42:6; 49:6; 55:3–5; cf. Zec. 2:11; 8:20–23; 14:16; etc.). In those days worship would be purified (Ezk. 40–48), true theocratic government would be established, and peace would be universal. It is very evident that in this picture the original Near Eastern metaphor has been completely transformed.

约恢复大卫的后裔约阿施的王位（王下 11），希西家时期立的约（代下 29:10）和约西亚时期立的约（王下 23:3）。(5) 大卫及其后裔立的约。神应许大卫要赐给他的后裔一个永恒的国度，并且他们要作大卫的子孙（撒下 7:12-17；诗 89:3-4, 26-27, 34；诗 132:11-12；撒下 23:5；参：赛 55:3-4）。

D. 新约。《先知书》中有好几段经文记载了弥赛亚时代的新约，但是最明确的记载是在《耶利米书》中（赛 42:6; 49:6-8; 55:3; 59:21; 61:8; 耶 31:31, 33; 32:40; 50:5; 结 16:60, 62; 34:25; 37:26; 何 2:18）。倘若上帝的应许是永恒的，那么即使曾经的以色列败坏了，且因违约而受到了咒诅，但是上帝的应许是不会落空的。上帝将通过审判和悔改将剩余的分别出来，上帝会兑现祂的应许。祂要立一个新约，这个新约在本质上不是新的，但在成就方面却是新的。神的律法将刻在人的心板上。到那日，从大卫的后裔将继承大卫的王权，并且人要得享永远平安的约（赛 55:3; 耶 23:5-6; 32:37-40; 结 34:23; 37:25），列国也同样得享永远平安的约（赛 42:6; 49:6; 55:3-5; 参：亚 2:11; 8:20-23; 14:16 等）。到那时，敬拜将被洁净（结 40-48），真正的神权政治将被建立起来，并且全地都将得平安。显而易见，在这幅图画中，原

V. History of the Covenant Idea.-Recent studies suggest that there is no serious ground for rejecting the biblical statements that the covenant idea was pre-Mosaic. The covenant pattern was known in lower Mesopotamia in the days of the Sumerians, in the 3rd millennium B.C. There is abundant material from the 2nd and 1st millennia B.C. to show how widespread both in area and in time this pattern was. Evidence of another kind comes from the recognition that tribal groups at an early age in the ancient Near East owned a particular god as “father” of their tribe and regarded each member of the tribe as united to the tribal head by close ties. In this conception lay the elements of the covenant idea also. The “secular” covenants in Genesis are certainly consistent with what we know of the contemporary Near East, and the idea that tribes were united by the closest ties to their God, with whom the tribal leader had particular contract, finds a parallel in the cases of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

It appears that it was Moses who gave the suzerain-vassal shape to the covenant of God with Israel. The narrative in Ex. 19–24 has, as we have seen, many links with the Near Eastern covenant pattern. Post-Mosaic portions of the OT make constant reference to the covenant at

V. 立约思想的历史。最新研究显示，没有重要的依据能反驳《圣经》中关于在摩西之前就有了立约观念的记载。公元前 3000 年的苏美尔人时期，在美索不达米亚下游出现了约的模型。公元前 2000 年和 1000 年的大量资料表明了这种模型在地域和时间上的广泛性。另一种证据源自于一种认识，即古近东有一个独特的神，他被视为部落的“祖先”，部落中的成员与这位部落首领紧密相连，结为一体。在这个观念中也构成了立约观念的要素。《创世记》中的“世俗”之约显然与我们所知道的现代近东的约是一致的，部落通过最亲密的纽带与他们的神（部落首领与他们的神建立了特殊的关系）合一的观念可以在亚伯拉罕、以撒和雅各立约的例子中找到相似性。

似乎是摩西将上帝与以色列立的约描述成了君臣之约。据我们所知，《出埃及记》19-24 中记载的约与近东约的模型存在密切的联系。后摩西时代的《旧约》经常提及西奈之约，并将视之为在一个特别的时间和特定的地点立的约。西奈立约确实是一个真实的历史事件。先知、

Sinai and regard it as having been established at a particular time and place. It was indeed an actual historical event. Prophets, historians, and psalmists alike were aware of the significance of that event (Jgs. 5:4f.; 6:13; 11:16; 1 S. 2:27; 4:8; 10:18; 15:6; Dt. 4:10–14; 5; etc.; 33:2; Hag. 2:5; Neh. 9:13; Ps. 105:8–12, 42–45; 106:45; etc.).

Israel's covenant relationship with God became the basis of interpreting her history. The argument of Jgs. 2 and 2 K. 17 may be discerned in many places in the OT, namely, that when the covenant people transgressed the covenant, failed to hearken to God's voice, and turned aside, national calamity fell upon them. It was the operation of the curse. The only hope of deliverance was repentance and faith. But when they turned from their evil and sought the Lord, He forgave them in His mercy and restored them to the fellowship of the covenant relationship. Such a theology of history lay behind the books of Kings and Chronicles, but it is clearly evident also in the preaching of the prophets.

At times prophets like Hosea and Jeremiah made use of the metaphor of the husband-wife relationship to describe the covenant. The father-son metaphor was also used (Hos. 11). But the most significant metaphor was finally that of the suzerain and vassal or of the Lord and servant.

The failure of Israel to live loyally as the covenant people led to the development of eschatological hopes in the prophets. Preexilic prophets like Isaiah and Jeremiah saw not only impending judgment and exile, but also looked

以色列和神的立约关系是解释以色列历史的基础。可以在《旧约》的多处经文中看到《士师记》2 章和《列王纪下》17 章中的论点，即，当约民违约、不听神的教诲和背弃神时，他们的民族将会遭难。这是咒诅的应验。只有悔改和信靠神罪才能得释放。但是当他们的民族厌恶自己的罪并寻求神时，神就用祂的恩典赦免了他们，并恢复了与他们的立约关系。这是隐藏在《列王纪》和《历代志》背后的历史神学，但是在先知的讲道中也有明确阐述。

何西阿和耶利米等先知用丈夫和妻子的关系来比喻圣约。《何西阿书》11 章也还用了父亲和儿子的比喻。但最重要的比喻是君臣关系和主仆关系的比喻。

由于约民以色列没有过忠诚的生活，从而导致先知的末世盼望不断向前发展。被掳之前的先知（如，以赛亚和耶利米）不仅预知了即将到来的审判和被掳，而且还预知了复兴的日子。但被掳时期到来时，以西结指明了神的约的永恒性，

ahead to days of restoration. When the Exile came, Ezekiel pointed to the eternal character of God's covenant and spoke of restoration and renewal. With the end of the Exile and the return of the Jews to their land, new disappointments were experienced. The new age did not seem to dawn the way the people expected, but rather there was famine, opposition, and frustration on every hand. Once more it was the prophetic voice that gave hope. Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi taught that restoration of full covenant fellowship with its attendant blessings was only delayed because of the sin of the people (Hag. 2; Zec. 2). God's covenant was eternal, and the people would yet witness the breaking in of the age of that everlasting covenant of peace.

These hopes continued through the centuries. The darker the hour, the brighter the hope. The discovery of the Qumrân Scrolls shows clearly that during the 1st cent. B.C. pious Jews in days of apostasy retired to the Dead Sea area to await the coming of Messiah and the dawn of the new age (Ezk. 47). These men constituted themselves into a covenant community and lived by the law of Moses, daily expecting the fulfillment of God's promise of an everlasting covenant of peace. The true nature of that new age and of the new covenant had to await the fuller revelation that came with the Lord Jesus Christ.

这些盼望持续了数个世纪。时局越黑暗，盼望越明亮。昆兰古卷中的发现清楚地表明，在公元前 1 世纪虔诚的犹太人在叛教时期下到死海地区，等候弥赛亚的到来和新时代的开始(结 47)。这些人建立了一个立约团体，并遵循摩西律法，每日期盼着神应许的永恒平安的约得以成就。只有当与主耶稣基督一同降临的更完全的启示到来时，新时代和新约的真正本质才会显明。

COVENANT (NT)

[Gk. diathékē]; AV also TESTAMENT (Mt. 26:28 par.; 1 Cor. 11:25; 2 Cor. 3:6, 14; He. 7:22; 9:15ff.; Rev. 11:19); cf. NEB at Gal. 3:17; He. 9:15. The choice of Gk. diathékē in the LXX to render Heb. b^erîth seems to have been occasioned by a recognition that the covenant which God makes with men is not fully mutual as would be implied in synthékē, the word commonly used for covenant (although not a NT word), while at the same time the rarity of wills among the Jews made the common sense of diathékē relatively unfamiliar. The apocryphal writers also frequently use the same word in the same sense and no other.

In the NT diathékē is used some thirty times in a way that makes it plain it should be translated “covenant.” In Gal. 3:15 and He. 9:15–17 it is held by many that the sense of covenant must be set aside in favor of will or testament. But in the former passage it can be taken in the sense of a disposition of affairs or arrangement made by God, a conception in substantial harmony with its regular NT use and with the sense of b^erîth. COVENANT (NT) 约、盟约 (《新约》) passage in Hebrews the interpretation is more difficult, but as it is acknowledged on all hands that the passage loses all argumentative force if the meaning “testament” is accepted, it seems best to retain the meaning “covenant” if possible. To do this it is only necessary to hold that the death spoken of is the death of the animal that was sometimes, if not indeed commonly, slain in connection with the making of a covenant. In the mind of the author this death symbolized the death of the contracting parties in the sense that thereafter, in the matter involved, they would no more change their minds than can the dead. If this view is taken, this passage falls in line with the otherwise invariable use of the word diathékē by Jewish Hellenists.

【希腊语: diathékē】:《钦定版圣经》还译为 TESTAMENT (“约”) (平行经文太 26:28; 林前 11:25; 林后 3:6, 14; 来 7:22; 9:15 起; 启 11:19); 参:《新英文译本》《加拉太书》3:17 和《希伯来书》9:15。《七十士译本》用希腊语 diathékē 翻译希伯来语 b^erîth, 这似乎会让人们以为, 上帝与人类立的约并不像 synthékē 通常所表示的“约”(尽管 synthékē 并不是新约词语)那样是完全相互的约, 与此同时, 由于犹太人很少立遗嘱, 所以 diathékē 的普通含义相对不太常见。次经作者也经常使用这个词的这层含义, 而没有使用它的其他含义。

《新约》中共使用 diathékē 三十次左右, 这明确说明该词应该被译为“covenant” (“约”)。在《加拉太书》3:15 和《希伯来书》9:15-17 中, 许多人认为 diathékē 一定表示的不是“约”, 而是遗嘱。但是, 在《加拉太书》中, diathékē 可能指的是上帝对事物的处置或安排, 这一观念非常符合这个词在《新约》中的普通用法和 b^erîth 的含义。《希伯来书》中的 diathékē 更难解释, 但是正如人们所公认的, 如果 diathékē 表示“遗嘱”, 那么

COVENANT, BOOK OF THE

[Heb. sēper habb^erît]. This name of the Hebrew code occurs in Ex. 24:7, where it is said that Moses read from “the book of the covenant.” There are differences of opinion about the limits of this book. Some think that it comprises Ex. 20–23. The commonly accepted view today is that it runs from 20:22 to 23:33.

I. Form Analysis.—One of the milestones in the study of the form of the Covenant Code is the work of A. Alt, Die Ursprünge des israelitischen Rechts (1934). By using form analysis based on the form-historical method Alt

这节经文完全没有说服力，最好还是应该保留“约”这种含义。因此，只需认为经文中提到的死亡是牲畜的死亡，有时（如果不是普遍现象）屠宰牲畜与立约有关。在作者看来，这种死亡象征着立约方的死亡，因此，立约方像死去的牲畜一样不会再改变他们的想法。如果接受这种观点，那么这节经文中 diathékē 的用法就符合希腊化犹太人对这个词的一贯用法。

COVENANT, BOOK OF THE 约书

【希伯来语: sēper habb^erît】。《出埃及记》24:7 中出现了这个希伯来法典的名字，其中提到摩西将“约书”念给百姓听。关于这本书的范围，有多种不同的观点。有些人认为约书包含了《出埃及记》20–23 章的内容。今天，人们普遍认为约书包含了从《出埃及记》20:22 至 23:33 的内容。

I. 形式分析。奥特 (A. Alt) 的作品 Die Ursprünge des israelitischen Rechts (1934) 是约典形式研究的里程碑。奥特通过使用基于形式历史研究法的形式分析得出了以下结论：在约典中有两种律法，即绝对律法和决疑律法。通过风 reached the following conclusion: There are two kinds of laws in the Covenant Code, namely, apodictic and casuistic laws. These groups are distinguishable from each other by style. The apodictic laws occur in three different styles: the “Thou shalt not” type with the 2nd person singular and a negative command, the participial type, and the curse formulas. The casuistic laws are stated in the “if” style, with the transgression placed in the protasis and the penalty in the apodosis. Besides the differences in style, there is also a difference in origin. The apodictic laws are concerned with the sacred sphere of Yahweh. It is thus possible that these laws are of Israelite origin and can even be carried back to the time of Moses. The casuistic group on the other hand is in the common style of the ancient Near East and reflects a more advanced agricultural background, for these laws were borrowed from the Canaanites after the settlement in Palestine. In the early Israelite period the two different types of law were fused together.

Alt's views are criticized by various scholars. B. Landsberger is not at all convinced that two types of law are present. The change in type might be ascribed to a rapid change in sermon style. Other scholars, like T. Meek, point out that the apodictic style is not peculiar to Israelite legal material but occurs throughout Near Eastern jurisprudence. E. Gerstenberger has held that the origin of apodictic material must be sought in the larger family unit, the “clan” (Sippe; Heb. mišpāḥâ), while W. Richter has pointed out the importance of the school as a possible origin. Another onslaught was made on Alt's contention that the causuistic material was borrowed from the Canaanites. Both W. F. Albright and G. Mendenhall emphasized that Canaanite society was differently stratified and organized from Israelite society. It is especially on this point that the weakness of Alt's views is revealed. It seems impossible that the Israelites and even their forebears could have been without casuistic laws until they had reached Palestine, because they shared in the culture of the ancient Near East, where casuistic laws were an integral part of jurisprudence.

格的差异可以区分这两种律法。绝对律法有三种不同的风格：第二人称单数和否定命令式(“Thou shalt not”[“不可”])、分词的形式和咒诅。决疑律法使用条件句(if 引导的从句)进行阐述,条件从句中是违反律法的行为,归结字句中是应受到的惩罚。这两种律法除了风格上不同,起源也不同。绝对律法与耶和华的神圣领域有关。因此这些律法可能起源于以色列,甚至可以追溯至摩西时代。而决疑律法是古近东常见的律法,反映出更为先进的农业背景,因为这些律法是以色列人定居巴勒斯坦后从迦南人那里借鉴的。在以色列早期,这两种律法是混在一起的。

II. Mosaic Background.-The reliable OT tradition ascribes the Covenant Code to the legal activities of Moses. There is nothing in the laws that throws any doubt on the Mosaic origin. According to the critical standpoint of the Wellhausen tradition, these laws are regarded as the most ancient part of Hebrew legislation. They are assigned either to J or to E. Everyone will admit that it is difficult to determine when the Code was written down. Several things point, however, to a date in the time of Moses or earlier. The Covenant Code formed an integral part of the covenant that was made at Sinai. In a comparative study of Hittite vassal treaties and the OT covenant form, Mendenhall shows that a close relation between these two existed. The Hittite vassal treaties are to be dated in the 14th and 13th cents B.C. This is roughly contemporaneous with Moses, and is thus a proof of the antiquity of the covenant idea of the OT and also of the laws of the Covenant Code. Certain laws, however, were added later as demanded by changed circumstances.

II. 摩西时代的背景。可靠的旧约圣传中认为约典是摩西写的。这些律法中没有任何证据可以驳斥它们是由摩西写的。根据韦尔豪森的传统批判观点，这些律法是希伯来律法的最古老的部分。它们属于耶典（J典）或者伊典（E典）。所有人都承认很难确定约典是何时被记录下来的。然而，有几个事实证明约典是在摩西时期或更早时期被记录下来的。约典是西奈之约不可分割的一部分。韦尔豪森通过对比研究赫人的附庸条约和《旧约》中盟约的形式，证明两者之间存在紧密的联系。赫人的附庸条约可追溯至公元前14至13世纪。这大致是摩西生活的年代，因此，这证明《旧约》中的立约观念有悠久的历史，也证明约典律法有悠久的历史。不过，有些律法是随着环境的变化后添加进去的。

Certain scholars emphasize that an agricultural background implied by the Code makes it impossible that it could have been used during the wandering in the desert. This view is open to serious questioning. Studies by Nelson Glueck have shown that agricultural activities in seminomadic society were not an exception. Extensive agricultural activities took place in the Negeb during the time of Abraham. Almost every law of the Code can now be explained in terms of Glueck's studies. Nothing in the laws is incompatible with the organization of a seminomadic society. On the other hand, it must be remembered that some of the laws given to the Israelites at Sinai might be traditional laws from the times of the patriarchs, which were transmitted from family to family. These laws were reinstated at Sinai as the common law of all the tribes and sanctioned by the Lord. The covenant was made between the Lord and the people. In this covenant were inserted certain stipulations according to which Israel must live. She was bound to observe the stipulations by the terms of the covenant and by the major party of the covenant, namely, Yahweh.

III. The Covenant Code and Near Eastern Codes.-After the discovery of the Code of Hammurabi in 1901-1902 at the ancient site of Susa, an enormous number of studies were produced which had the aim of comparing this code with Hebrew legal material. Some of these studies sought to establish that the Hebrew laws were dependent on the Babylonian laws. Our knowledge advanced meanwhile with the discovery of various other codes of the Near East, 某些学者强调约典中暗示的农业背景表明在旷野中不可能使用了这个律法。这个观点引起了严重的质疑。格吕克（Nelson Glueck）的研究显示半游牧民族的农业活动屡见不鲜。在亚伯拉罕时期南地就广泛存在农业活动。根据格吕克的研究现在几乎可以解释所有律法。一方面，律法与半游牧社会不是截然对立的。另一方面，必须牢记耶和华在西奈山赐给以色列人的某些律法可能是族长时期的传统律法，这些律法通过家族传承流传了下来。这些律法在西奈山被重新确立为所有支派的共同律法，并且得到了上帝的准许。神和以色列人立约。这约中包含着以色列人的生活准则。以色列人必须遵守约中的律例和主要立约方（耶和华）的规定。

III. 约典和近东法典。1901至1902年在古书珊地区发现了《汉谟拉比法典》后，学者们开展了大量的研究，旨在将这部法典与希伯来律法进行比较。有些研究试图证明希伯来律法是根据巴比伦律法制定的。同时随着近东其他各类法典逐渐被发现，我们对法典的了解越来越深，如鲁兹（Lutz）和兰登（Langdon）公布的以及最后由斯蒂尔（Steele）公布的闪族法典、Hrozný公布的赫人法典、沙伊珥（Scheil）公布的亚述中部法典、格策（Goetze）公布的伊施嫩纳法典和克雷 like the Sumerian laws published by Lutz and Langdon and finally by Steele, the Hittite by Hrozný, the Middle Assyrian by Scheil, the laws of Eshnunna by Goetze, and the Code of Ur-Nammu by Kramer. All these laws are from the 2nd and even 3rd millennium B.C. The oldest of them all is the Code of Ur-Nammu, from ca. 2050 B.C., although early reports of the discoveries at Tell Mardikh (Ebla) indicate that codified law may have been known by 2350 B.C. or even earlier.

There are many parallels between these laws and the Hebrew laws; indeed among laws in general there are many commonly recurring elements. All these laws, with a few exceptions in the Middle Assyrian group, are couched in the casuistic style, so that there is also a parallel trend in style with parts of the Covenant Code (the mišpāṭîm). It is very difficult to ascertain whether borrowing took place or not. The laws are separated by a long span of time and originated even in different countries. The parallels might be explained by noting that casuistic laws always have something in common because the same kind of problem arises in every community. On the other hand, to say that a common legal policy existed in the Near East gives a satisfactory explanation of certain parallel trends. One basic difference must be borne in mind: the different stratifications of the societies for which the laws were made. The Covenant Code was composed for a seminomadic society, the laws of Hammurabi for a highly developed community. Nearest to the Covenant Code stand the laws of the city Eshnunna, which provide important parallels to Hebrew law. All

这些法典和希伯来法典有很多相似之处;一般来说,这些法典中经常反复出现一些元素。除了亚述中部的法典,其他所有法典都是决疑风格的法典,约典 (mišpāṭîm) 中的一部分也体现出了类似的风格。很难确定这些法典是否存在彼此借鉴的情况。这些法典在很长时间内都是彼此独立的,并且源自于不同的国家。由于每个社区都出现了相同的问题,决疑律法总是有一些共同之处,这可能是这些法典存在类似内容的原因。此外,近东地区共同的律法政策很好地解释了这些相似的趋势。我们必须牢记一个基本的差异:不同的社会阶层制定了不同的律法。约典是为半游牧社会制定的,而《汉谟拉比法典》是为一个高度发达的社会制定的。与约典最相似的是伊施嫩纳法典,这部法典为希伯来律法提供了重要的相似之处。所有美索不达米亚的法典都与太阳神乌图 (Utu) (苏美尔人) 或沙马什 (Šamaš) (阿卡德人) 密切相关。约典在《旧约》中被视为上帝的话语 (出 24:3-8)。

Mesopotamian codes are bound to the sun-god Utu (Sumerian) or Šamaš (Akkadian). The Covenant Code is regarded in the OT as the direct word of God (Ex. 24:3–8).

IV. Nature of the Laws.—We encounter in the Covenant Code, in contrast to legal material in the ancient Near East, a strong humane element. There is still present some degree of blood-revenge, the so-called lex talionis (e.g., Ex. 21:22–25), but the humane trend predominates. The widow and orphan must be protected, and even the enemy's ox or ass must be assisted in case of need (e.g., Ex. 22:22–24; 23:4f.). There is a high ethical standard in these laws which can be ascribed only to the ethical religion of Yahweh. A direct responsibility to the Lord is postulated, and this responsibility reaches down to human relations. Any kind of damage done to a person must be compensated by giving in kind or in silver. All these laws are sanctioned by God and made into a common policy of the Yahwistic religion.

IV. 律法的本质。与古近东的律法材料相比，约典中包含了很强的人道元素。虽然约典中包括血债血偿的治罪法(如，出 21:22-25)，但是人道主义占主导地位。律法中要求保护寡妇和孤儿，在需要的情况下，甚至要帮助保护仇敌的牛或驴(如，出 22:22-24; 23:4-5)。这些律法中较高的道德标准只能是出于耶和华的道德宗教。律法要求直接对上帝负责，而这种责任延伸到人类关系中。对一个人无论造成何种伤害，必须要进行等价赔偿或用银币赔偿这个人的损失。这些律法都得到了神的允准，已成为耶和華宗教的共同原则。

COVENANT OF SALT

[Heb. b^erît melah; Gk. diathékē halós]. As salt was regarded as a necessary ingredient of the daily food, and so of all sacrifices offered to Yahweh (Lev. 2:13), it became an easy step to the very close connection between salt and covenant-making. When men ate together they became friends. Cf. the Arabic expressions, "There is salt between us"; "He has eaten of my salt," which means partaking of hospitality which cemented friendship; cf. "eat the salt of the palace" (Ezr. 4:14). Covenants were generally confirmed by sacrificial meals and salt was always present. Since, too, salt is a preservative, it would easily become symbolic of an enduring covenant. So offerings to Yahweh were to be by a statute forever, "a covenant of salt for ever before the Lord" (Nu. 18:19). David received his kingdom forever from the Lord by a "covenant of salt" (2 Ch. 13:5). In the light of these conceptions the remark of Our Lord becomes the more significant: "Have salt in yourselves, and be at peace with one another" (Mk. 9:50).

COVENANT OF SALT 盐约

【希伯来语: b^erît melah; 希腊语: diathékē halós】。盐是日常饮食所必需的配料, 也是所有献给耶和华的祭物的配料(利 2:13), 因此盐和立约之间很容易建立紧密的联系。当人们一起吃饭时, 他们成为了朋友。参: 阿拉伯语表达法: "在我们之间有盐"; "他食了我的盐", 意思是受人款待, 并因此巩固了友谊; 参 "食御盐" (拉 4:14)。祭物通常是立约的凭据, 而所献的祭物总是要配盐。由于盐也有防腐的作用, 因此它很容易便成了永恒之约的象征。所以献给耶和华的祭物当作永得的分: "在耶和华面前作为永远的盐约" (民 18:19)。神用 "盐约" 赐大卫王国 (代下 13:5)。依据这些观念, 神的话语最引人深思: "你们里头应当有盐, 彼此和睦" (可 9:50)。

I. Terminology.—The term "new covenant" necessarily implies an "old covenant," and we are reminded that God's dealings with His people in the various dispensations of the world's history have been in terms of covenant. The divisions of the Holy Scriptures keep this thought before us, the Old and the New Testaments or Covenants—the writings produced within the Jewish "church" being the writings or Scriptures of the old covenant, those within the Christian Church the Scriptures of the new covenant. The alternative name "Testament"—adopted into our English description through the Latin, as the equivalent of Heb. b^erît and Gk. diathékē, which both mean a solemn disposition, compact, or contract—suggests the disposition of property in a last will or testament; but although diathékē may bear that meaning, b^erît does not; and as the Greek usage in the NT seems especially governed by the OT usage, and the thought moves in a similar plane, it is better to keep to the term “covenant.”

I. 术语。词语“新约”必然暗示出还有一个“旧约”，并且我们知道在历史的各个阶段神与祂的子民都是通过约来沟通的。我们知道《圣经》分为《旧约》和《新约》——由犹太“教会”创作的作品被称为《旧约》，由基督教会创作的作品被称为《新约》。另一个词语“Testament”表示在最后的遗嘱中对财产的处置，这个词源于拉丁语，作为希伯来语 b^erît 和希腊语 diathékē 的同义词，这两个词都表示神圣的安排、契约或合约；但是虽然 diathékē 可以表示这个意思，而 b^erît 却不能表示这个意思；由于《新约》希腊语用法似乎特别受《旧约》用法的限制，这两个词的词义变得越来越相似，但是最好还是应该将这两词译为“covenant”（“圣约”）。

The one passage which seems to favor the “testament” idea is He. 9:16f. (the RV, which changed the AV “testament” into “covenant” in every other place, has left it in these two verses), but it is questionable whether even here the better rendering would not be “covenant.” Certainly in the immediate context “covenant” is the correct translation, and “testament,” if allowed to stand, is an application by transition from the original thought of a solemn compact to the secondary one of testamentary disposition (see III below, and see TESTAMENT).

The theological terms “Covenant of Works” and “Covenant of Grace” do not occur in Scripture, though the ideas covered by the terms, or at least the latter, may easily be found there. The “new covenant” here spoken of is practically equivalent to the Covenant of Grace established between God and His redeemed people, that again resting, as some think, upon the eternal Covenant of Redemption made between the Father and the Son, though there is no express reference to this in Scripture.

II. Christ’s Use at the Last Supper.-While textual evidence seems to show that the word “new” in the Synoptic accounts of the Last Supper is not original, it definitely occurs in the words of institution as recorded by Paul (1 Cor. 11:25); and there need be little doubt that Jesus used it. The old covenant was so well known to these Jewish disciples that to speak of the covenant in this emphatic way, referring manifestly to something other than the old Mosaic covenant, was in effect to call it a “new” covenant. The expression, in any case, looks back to the old and points the contrast; but in the contrast there are points of resemblance.

在《希伯来书》9:16-17 这两节经文中似乎使用 “testament” (“遗嘱、遗命”) 这个翻译更合适一些(《修订译本》将所有《钦定版圣经》中的 “testament” 改译成了 “covenant”, 唯独这两节没有改), 然而, 即使是在这两节经文中, 也无法证明 “covenant” 不是更好的翻译。当然, 在直接语境中, “covenant”(“圣约”) 是正确的译法, 而 “testament”(“遗嘱、遗命”, 如果接受这种译法) 用来表示从最初的圣约转变成次要的遗嘱(见下面 III, 和 TESTAMENT[遗嘱、约])。

神学词语 “行为之约” 和 “恩典之约” 没有出现在《圣经》中, 但是这两个词语涵盖了这层含义, 或至少很容易在下一个词语中找到这层含义。这里说的 “新约” 实际上就是神和祂救赎的人之间订立的恩典之约, 此外, 正如人们所认为的, 恩典之约依赖于天父和圣子之间订立的永恒救赎之约, 然而在《圣经》中没有这样的表述。

II. 耶稣在最后的晚餐中所立的约。虽然原文证据似乎表明, 对观福音在描述最后的晚餐时用到的 “新” 这个词并不是原词, 但是保罗在叙述最后的晚餐时确实用到了这个词(林前 11:25); 我们无需怀疑耶稣曾用过这个词。犹太门徒对 “旧约” 非常熟悉, 所以当它们特别强调 “那” 约时显然指的不是摩西的旧约, 实际上指的是 “新” 约。总之, 这种表达回顾了旧约, 指明了两者之间的明显差异; 但是两者之间虽有差异, 也

It is most significant that Christ here connects the “new” covenant with His “blood.” We at once think, as doubtless the disciples thought, of the transaction described in Ex. 24:7, when Moses “took the book of the covenant, and read it in the hearing of the people,” indicating God’s undertaking on behalf of His people and what He required of them; “and they said, ‘All that the Lord has spoken will we do, and we will be obedient,’” thus taking up their part of the contract. Then comes the ratification. “Moses took the blood [half of which had already been thrown on the altar] and threw it upon the people, and said, ‘Behold the blood of the covenant which the Lord has made with you in accordance with all these words’” (v. 8). The blood was sacrificial blood, the blood of the animals sacrificed as burnt offerings and peace offerings (vv. 5f.). The one half of the blood thrown on the altar tells of the sacrifice offered to God, the other half thrown on the people, of the virtue of the same sacrifice applied to the people; and so the covenant relation is fully brought about. Christ, by speaking of His blood in this connection, plainly indicates that His death was a sacrifice, and that through that sacrifice His people would be brought into a new covenant relationship with God. His sacrifice is acceptable to God and the virtue of it is to be applied to believers—so all the blessings of the new covenant are secured to them; the blood

耶稣用祂的“血”立了“新”约，这是最重要的事。毋庸置疑，我们立即会像门徒一样去思考《出埃及记》24:7中记载的事件，摩西“拿起约书，读给百姓听”，这显明了神对祂子民的应许和祂对他们的要求；“他们说：‘耶和華所吩咐的，我们都必遵行’”，从而使他们成了立约的另一方。然后确定立约。“摩西将血[这血的一半已经洒在了祭坛上]洒在百姓身上，说：‘你看！这是立约的血，是耶和華按这一切话与你们立约的凭据’”（出 24:8）。这血是祭物的血，而动物的血作燔祭和平安祭（出 24:5-6）。一半血洒在祭坛上说明献祭给上帝，另一半血洒在百姓身上表明将百姓也献为祭；因此契约关系完全被展现出来。耶稣基督的血表示祂用生命献作活祭，而通过祂的献祭，祂的百姓与神立了新约。神接受耶稣所献的祭，相信耶稣的人都同耶稣一样蒙上帝的悦纳——所以新约的祝福临到了他们；这血“是为你们流出的”（路 22:20）。祂特别强调了一个新约的祝福，罪得赦免——“为多人流出了，使罪得赦免”（太 26:28）。

“is poured out for you” (Lk. 22:20). He specifically mentions one great blessing of the new covenant, the forgiveness of sins—“which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins” (Mt. 26:28).

III. Use in Hebrews.-A. The Shed Blood.

This great thought is taken up in Hebrews and fully expounded. The writer draws out fully the contrast between the new covenant and the old by laying stress upon the perfection of Christ's atonement in contrast to the material and typical sacrifices (He. 9:11-23). He was “a high priest of the good things that have come,” connected with “the greater and more perfect tent.” He entered the heavenly holy place, “taking his own blood,” not that of “goats and calves,” and by that perfect offering He has secured “eternal redemption” in contrast to the temporal deliverance of the old dispensation. The blood of those typical offerings procured ceremonial cleansing; much more, therefore, shall the blood of Christ avail to cleanse the conscience “from dead works to serve the living God”—that blood which is so superior in value to the blood of the temporal sacrifices, yet resembles it in being sacrificial blood. It is the blood of Him “who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without blemish to God” (v. 14).

According to certain points of view, it is not the blood of Christ but His spirit of self-sacrifice for others that invests the cross with its saving power; and this last verse is sometimes cited to show that the virtue lies in the surrender of the perfect will, the shedding of the blood being a mere accident. But this is not the view of the NT writers. The blood-shedding is to them a necessity. Of course, it is not the natural, material blood, nor the mere act of shedding it, that saves. The blood is the life. The blood is the symbol of life; the blood shed is the symbol of life outpoured—of the penalty borne; and while great emphasis must be laid, as in this verse it is laid, upon Christ's perfect surrender of His holy will to God, yet the essence of the matter is found in the fact that He willingly endured the dread consequences of sin, and as a veritable expiatory sacrifice shed His precious blood for the remission of sins.

III. 《希伯来书》中提到的约。A. 流血。

《希伯来书》中接受了这一伟大的思想，并进行了全面的阐述。作者通过对比耶稣所献的完美赎罪祭和从前所献的祭物全面阐述了“新约”和“旧约”的差异（来 9:11-23）。耶稣是“将来美事的大祭司”，经过“那更大、更全备的帐幕”。祂“用自己的血”，而不是“山羊和公牛的血”进入圣所，只一次献上完美的赎罪祭就完成了“永远的救赎”，这与旧约暂时的救赎形成了对比。这些有代表性的祭物都能叫人洁净，何况主耶稣基督的血，岂不更能洗净人的良心，除去“你们的死行，使你们侍奉那永生神吗？——耶稣基督的血胜过暂时赎罪的祭物的血。这血是“藉着永远的灵，将自己无暇无疵献给神”的耶稣基督的血（来 9:14）。

根据某些观点，不是耶稣基督的血，而是祂舍己的灵使十字架有了救赎的力量；并且有时引用最后一节证明十字架的功效在于完全的意志献上，流血只是一个意外的事件。但是这不是《新约》作者的观点。对他们来说流血是必须要发生的事。当然，不是自然的、肉体的血，也不是流血的行为救赎了人类。这血是生命。血是生命的象征；而流血是

B. The Mediator. On the ground of that shed blood, as the writer goes on to assert, "Therefore he is the mediator of a new covenant, so that those who are called may receive the promised eternal inheritance, since a death has occurred which redeems them from the transgressions under the first covenant" (v. 15). Thus Christ fulfils the type in a twofold way: He is the sacrifice upon which the covenant is based, whose blood ratifies it, and he is also, like Moses, the mediator of the covenant. The death of Christ not only secures the forgiveness of those who are brought under the new covenant, but it was also for the redemption of the transgressions under the first covenant, implying that all the sacrifices gained their value by being types of Christ, and the forgiveness enjoyed by the people of God in former days was bestowed in virtue of the great Sacrifice to be offered in the fulness of time.

C. "Inheritance" and "Will." Not only does the blessing of perfect forgiveness come through the new covenant, but also the promise of the "eternal inheritance"

倒空生命的象征——承担了罪；重点应该放在耶稣完全把自己献给了上帝，这也是这节经文强调的重点，而且这个事件的本质在于，耶稣自愿承担罪的后果，并且为使罪得赦免，献上祂的宝血作了真正的赎罪祭。

B. 中保。作者紧接着说，由于流血，“祂作了新约的中保，既然受死赎了人在前约之时所犯的罪过，便叫蒙召之人得着所应许永远的产业”（来 9:15）。因此耶稣在两个方面应验了预表：耶稣是祭物，是立约的凭据，耶稣的血确立了这约；祂如摩西一样是立约的中保。耶稣的死不仅赦免了订立新约之人的罪，而且赎回了违反前约的人，这意味着，所有的祭物因是基督的预表而有了价值，并且及至时候满时，从前上帝的子民所得的宽恕会藉着伟大的祭物耶稣基督赐给万民。

C. “产业”和“遗命”。不仅可以藉着新约，而且可以通过“永远的产业”的应许得到完全赦免的祝福，“永远的产业”与以色列在旧约中得到的“地上的 in contrast to the earthly inheritance which, under the old covenant, Israel obtained. The mention of the inheritance is held to justify taking the word in the next verse as “will” (RSV) or “testament” (AV), the writer passing to the thought of a testamentary disposition, which is only of force after the death of the testator. Undoubtedly there is good ground for the analogy, and all the blessings of salvation which come to the believer may be considered as bequeathed by the Savior in His death, and accruing to us because He has died. It has, in that sense, tacitly to be assumed that the testator lives again to be His own executor and to put us in possession of the blessings. Still, we think there is much to be said in favor of keeping to the sense of “covenant” even here, and taking the clause which, rendered literally, is: “a covenant is of force [or firm] over the dead,” as meaning that the covenant is established on the ground of sacrifice, that sacrifice representing the death of the maker of the covenant. The allusion may be further explained by a reference to Gen. 15:9f., 17, which has generally been considered as illustrating the ancient Semitic method of making a covenant: the sacrificial animals are divided, and the parties pass between the pieces, implying that they deserve death if they broke the engagement. The technical Hebrew phrase for making a covenant is “cut a covenant.” See COVENANT (OT) III.B.

Whatever the particular application of the word in v. 17, the central idea in the passage is that death, blood-shedding, is necessary to the establishment of the covenant; and so the writer affirms that the first covenant was not dedicated without blood, quoting in proof the passage already cited from Ex. 24, and concludes that “without the shedding of blood there is no forgiveness of sins” (v. 22).

产业”形成了对比。经文中提及的产业证明应该将这个词理解为“遗嘱”（《修订标准译本》译为 will）或“遗命”（《钦定版圣经》译为 testament），作者谈论到了遗命处置的问题，只有当留遗命的人死了，遗命才有效力。这个类比无疑有很好的根据，信徒得到的所有救赎恩赐可以视为救赎主舍命留给我们的遗命。从这方面讲，立遗命的人复活了，成了祂自己遗命的执行人，将福分赐给了我们。我们认为，即使是对于这节经文也有很多证据证明应该坚持“约”这种含义，应该将这个从句理解成献祭成为立约的凭据，代表着立约之人已死，而这个从句的字面意思是“因为人死了，约才有了效力[或约才被确立]”。《创世记》15:9-10, 17 进一步阐述了献祭立约，这通常也被认为是古代闪族人立约的方式：将所献的祭物分成两半，立约双方交换彼此手中的祭物，这暗示着如若毁约必要受死。希伯来术语中表示立约的短语是“cut a covenant”（“切下盟约”），见 COVENANT (OT) III.B（约、盟约、结盟、约书[《旧约》] III.B）。

无论在《创世记》17章中这个单词到底有怎样的特殊用法，这段的中心意思是立约必须有死亡和流血；所以作者强调没有血，就没有前约，并引用《出埃及记》24章进行佐证，最后总结道：“若不流血，罪就不得赦免”（来 9:22）。

D. Relation to Jer. 31:31-34. This new covenant established by Christ was foreshadowed by the prophet Jeremiah, who uses the very word “new covenant” in describing it; and very likely Christ had that description in mind when He used the term, and meant His disciples to understand that the prophetic interpretation would in Him be realized. There is no doubt that the author of Hebrews had the passage in mind, for he leads up to the previous statement by quoting the whole statement of Jer. 31:31-34. He had in ch. 7 spoken of the contrast between Christ’s priesthood “after the order of Melchizedek” (v. 11) and the imperfect Aaronic priesthood, and he designates Jesus as “the surety of a better covenant” (v. 22). Then in ch. 8, emphasizing the thought of the superiority of Christ’s heavenly high-priesthood, he declares that Christ mediates a “better” covenant, “since it is enacted on better promises” (v. 6). The first covenant, he says, was not faultless, otherwise there would have been no need for a second; but the fault was not in the covenant but in the people who failed to keep it, though perhaps there is also the suggestion that the external imposition of laws could not suffice to secure true obedience. “For he finds fault with them when he says: ‘The days will come, says the Lord, when I will establish a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah.’” The whole passage (chs. 8-12) would repay careful study, but we need only

D. 与《耶利米书》31:31-34 的关系。先知耶利米用“新约”这个词预言了耶稣要另立新约；并且很有可能耶稣在使用新约这个词时心里就知道这个预言，并且耶稣的门徒知道只有耶稣能实现这个预言。毫无疑问《希伯来书》的作者将这段经文记在了心里，因为他引用了《耶利米书》31:31-34 中的内容做出上面的陈述。他在《希伯来书》第 7 章中说耶稣是照“麦基洗德的等次”（来 7:11），而不是照亚伦祭司的等次兴起的祭司，并且他认为耶稣是“更美之约的中保”（来 7:22）。然后在《希伯来书》第 8 章中他强调了耶稣作天上的大祭司的思想，他说耶稣是“更美”之约的中保，因为这约“原是凭更美之应许立的”（来 8:6）。他说前约并非无瑕无疵，不然就无需再立新约了；但是“约”本身没有瑕疵，是违约的人有瑕疵，虽然可能有人认为只遵守外在的律法不足以保证真正的顺服。“所以主指责祂的百姓说：‘日子将到，我要与以色列家和犹太大家另立新约。’”整段经文（来 8-12）值得仔细地研究，但是我们只需要注意，新约的福分、完全赦免和全备的知识不仅在新约很突出，而且是新约的精髓——将旧约和新约作了区分，立即显现出新约的优势并保证了新约的永久性——其中有一个奇妙的安排：“我要将我的律法放在他们里面，写在他们心上”（来 8:10）。这立即显示了新约的精意。新约的要求不仅以外在的律例典章体现出来，而且新约的里面有活的灵；律法成为内在的支配原则，从而保证了真正地顺服神。

note that not only is there prominence given to the great blessings of the covenant, perfect forgiveness and fulness of knowledge, but, as the very essence of the covenant—that which serves to distinguish it from the old covenant and at once to show its superiority and guarantee its permanence—there is this wonderful provision: “I will put my laws into their minds, and write them on their hearts, and I will be their God, and they shall be my people” (v. 10). This at once shows the spirituality of the new covenant. Its requirements are not simply given in the form of external rules, but the living Spirit possesses the heart; the law becomes an internal dominating principle, and so true obedience is secured.

E. Relation to Ezekiel. Ezekiel had spoken to the same effect, though the word “new covenant” is not used in the passage, in ch. 36:27: “I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes and be careful to observe my ordinances.” In ch. 37 Ezekiel again speaks of the great blessings to be enjoyed by the people of God, including cleansing, walking in God’s statutes, recognition as God’s people; and he distinctly says of this era of blessing: “I will make a covenant of peace with them; it shall be an everlasting covenant with them” (v. 26). Other important foreshadowings of the new covenant are found in Isa. 54:10; 55:3; 59:21; 61:8; Hos. 2:18–23; Mal. 3:1–4. We may well marvel at the spiritual insight of these prophets, and it is impossible to attribute their forecasts to natural genius; they can be accounted for only by divine inspiration.

E. 与《以西结书》的关系。《以西结书》中表达了同样的主题，尽管在《以西结书》36:27中没有用“新约”这个词：“我必将我的灵放在你们里面，使你们顺从我的律例，谨守遵行我的典章”。在《以西结书》37章中，以西结再次提到了上帝的子民得享的伟大祝福，包括洁净，谨守神的律法，承认是上帝的子民；他明确提到了祝福的时代：“我要与他们立平安的约，作为永约”（结 37:26）。其他关于新约的重要预言记载在《以赛亚书》54:10；55:3；59:21；61:8；《何西阿书》2:18-23；《玛拉基书》3:1-4 中。我们可能为这些先知的属灵洞察力感到惊奇，而且他们不可能靠自身的天资智慧预言未来；他们的预言只可能来自于上帝的启示。

The writer to the Hebrews returns again and again to this theme of the “new covenant”; in 10:16f. he cites the words of Jeremiah already quoted about writing the law on their minds, and remembering their sins no more. In 12:24, he speaks of “Jesus, the mediator of a new covenant,” and “the sprinkled blood,” again connecting the “blood” with the “covenant”; and finally, in 13:20, he prays for the perfection of the saints through the “blood of the eternal covenant.”

IV. Paul's Contrast of the Old and New.-In 2 Cor. 3 Paul has an interesting and instructive contrast between the old covenant and the new. He begins by saying that “our sufficiency is from God, who has qualified us to be ministers of a new covenant, not in a written code but in the Spirit; for the written code kills, but the Spirit gives life” (vv. 5f.). The “written code” is the letter of the law, of the old covenant which could only bring condemnation; but the Spirit which characterizes the new covenant gives life, writes the law upon the heart. He goes on to speak of the old as that “dispensation of death” which nevertheless “came with such splendor” (v. 7), and he refers especially to the law; but the new covenant is “the dispensation of the Spirit,” the “dispensation to righteousness” (vv. 8f.), and has a far greater glory than the old. The message of this “new covenant” is “the gospel of Christ.”

The glory of the new covenant is focused in Christ; it shines forth from Him. The glory of the old dispensation was reflected upon the face of Moses, but that glory was transitory and so was the physical manifestation (v. 13). The sight of the shining face of Moses awed the people of Israel and they revered him as a leader specially favored of God (vv. 7–13). When he had delivered his message he veiled his face, and thus the people could not see that the glow did not last. Every time he went into the divine presence he took off the veil, and afresh his face was lit up with glory; coming out with the traces of that glory lingering on his countenance he delivered his message to the people and again veiled his face (cf. Ex. 34:29–35), and thus the transitoriness and obscurity of the old dispensation were symbolized. In glorious contrast to that symbolical obscurity, the ministers of the gospel, of the new covenant, use great boldness of speech; the veil is done away in Christ (vv. 12ff.). The glory which comes through Him is perpetual, and fears no vanishing away.

《希伯来书》的作者反复地提及“新约”这一主题；在《希伯来书》10:16-17中，他引用了耶利米关于“将律法写在人的心版上，并且不再纪念他们的罪”这句话。在《希伯来书》12:24中，他提到了“新约的中保耶稣”，和“祂洒的血”，再一次将“血”与“约”连在一起；最后在《希伯来书》13:20中，他祈求神“凭永约之血”成全圣徒。

IV. 保罗对比“旧约”和“新约”。在《哥林多后书》3章中，保罗提出了一个有趣且有教育意义的新旧约对比。他说：“我们所能承担的，乃是出于神，祂叫我们能承当着新约的执事。不是凭着字句，乃是凭着精意。因为那字句是叫人死，精意是叫人活”（林后 3:5-6）。“字句”就是律法的字面意义，这律法只能定罪；但是新约的精意给人生命，并将律法写在人的心版上。他继续说道，从前“属死的职事尚有荣光”（林后 3:7），并特别提到了律法；而“新约”比“旧约”更有荣光，新约是“属灵的职事”，即“称义的职事”（林后 3:8-9）。这道或“新约”就是“基督的福音”。

新约的荣光集中在耶稣基督里面；这荣光从耶稣基督里面发出。旧约职事的荣光映照在摩西的脸上，但是这荣光是短暂的，律法也是短暂的（林后 3:13）。摩西脸上的荣光使以色列人对他充满敬

COVER; COVERING.

The RSV so translates thirty-seven Hebrew and Greek words. Most frequent is Heb. kāsâ; the Greek forms are kalýptō and derivative verbs. The AV also translates “fill,” “overlay,” “hide,” etc.; NEB also “conceal,” “wrap around,” “clothe,” “veil,” “cancel,” “uncover” (Heb. hāpā, 2 S. 15:30; Est. 6:12), etc.

The basic meaning is to place something on, over, or in front of a person or object to shield or protect it. Yahweh’s wings give protection (Heb. sākak, Ps. 91:4; cf. noun sēter, Ps. 27:5 [AV “secret”]; noun

畏，以色列人敬畏摩西，把他视为特别蒙上帝眷顾的领袖（林后 3:7-13）。他传道时用帕子蒙在脸上，因此人们不能看到他的荣光，这荣光将退去。每次他进入圣所时，都揭去帕子，他的脸就重新获得了荣光；及至出来的时候，面带荣光向人们传道，并且又用帕子蒙上脸（参：出 34:29-35），因此从前职事短暂而模糊的荣光是一种象征。新约的荣光与这种模糊的象征形成了对照，福音传道者和新约传道者可以放胆讲说；这帕子在基督里已经废去（林后 3:12 起）。基督里的荣光是永不消失。

COVER; COVERING. 遮盖、蒙

《修订标准译本》用这个词翻译三十七个希伯来词语和希腊词语。最常翻译的希伯来语是 kāsâ；kalýptō 和派生动词是它的希腊语形式。《钦定版圣经》还译为“fill”（“充满”）、“overlay”（“包”）、“hide”（“瞒着”）等；《新英文译本》还译为“conceal”（“藏”）、“wrap around”（“包”）、“clothe”（“穿上”）、“veil”（“遮盖”）、“cancel”（“废除”）、“uncover”（“揭开”）（希伯来语：hāpā，撒下 15:30；斯 6:12）等。

这个词的基本含义是用某物盖、蒙或挡在某人或某物的前面来遮蔽或保护这个人或物。耶和华的翎毛遮蔽你（希伯来语：sākak，诗 91:4；参：名词 sēter，诗 27:5[《钦定版圣经》译为“secret”（“秘 māsāk, Isa. 22:8); with his hand He shields Moses from His fiery glory (Heb. śākak, Ex. 33:22). The tabernacle and its contents are guarded by ram-and-goatskin (NEB“porpoise-hide”) coverings (Heb. mīkseh, Ex. 26:14; 35:11; 36:19; 39:34; 40:19; Nu. 3:25; 40:19; 民 3:25; 以及 kāsūy, 民 4:5 起; also kāsūy, Nu. 4:5ff.; šippūy, Nu. 16:38f. [MT 17:3f.]; cf. Noah’s ark, Gen. 8:13). The cloud, representing Yahweh’s presence in the wilderness wanderings, gives protection (Nu. 16:42 [MT 17:7]; noun māsāk, Ps. 105:39).

Clothing covers a person (Gen. 9:23; Dt. 22:12; Jgs. 4:19; 2 K. 19:1f.; Isa. 37:1f; Ezk. 16:10; 18:7, 16) or an object (Ezk. 16:18). In building activity, the meaning is “overlay,” referring to the pitch applied to Noah’s ark (Heb. kāpar, Gen. 6:14) and the ornamentation of the temple (1 K. 7:18, 41f.; 2 Ch. 4:12f.; šāpā, 1 K. 6:15; AV, NEB, “carve”; sapan, 7:3). Figuratively, wealthy Tyre is decorated with precious stones (Heb. noun m^esukkā, Ezk. 28:13).

Cover also means ensheath or enwrap. Fat covers the entrails of the sacrificial animal (Ex. 29:13, 22; Lev. 3:3, 9, 14) and disease spreads over one’s body (Lev. 13:12f.). Darkness envelops man (Heb. šūp, Ps. 139:11) and waters swell the sea (Hab. 2:14; cf. Heb. mālē, 2 K. 3:25). Yahweh’s glory covers the heavens (Hab. 3:3). He is depicted as surrounded by the seraphim’s wings (Isa. 6:2) and with light (Heb. ‘ātā, Ps. 104:2); His hands are ensheathed with lightning (Job 36:32). Yahweh covers the dry bones with skin (Heb. qāram, Ezk. 37:6, 8). The various plagues blanket Egypt (Ex. 8:6[MT 2]; 10:5, 15; 14:28; 15:5, 10),

拿衣服盖在某人 (创 9:23; 申 22:12; 士 4:19; 王下 19:1-2; 赛 37:1-2; 结 16:10; 18:7, 16) 或某物上 (结 16:18)。在建造活动中, “cover” 的意思是 “抹”, 指的是抹在挪亚方舟上的沥青 (希伯来语: kāpar, 创 6:14) 和殿的装饰 (王上 7:18, 41-42; 代下 4:12-13; šāpā, 王上 6:15; 《钦定版圣经》译为 “carve” (“雕刻”); sapan, 王上 7:3)。富有的推罗用宝石作衣服, 这是拟人用法 (希伯来语: 名词 m^esukkā, 结 28:13)。

“Cover” 还有遮蔽或包围的意思。动物盖脏的油脂 (出 29:13, 22; 利 3:3, 9, 14) 和疾病在四外发散 (利 13:12-13)。黑暗遮蔽人 (希伯来语: šūp, 诗 139:11) 和水充满海洋 (哈 2:14; 参: 希伯来语: mālē, 王下 3:25)。耶和華的荣光遮蔽诸天 (哈 3:3)。祂有六个翅膀 (赛 6:2) 和亮光 (希伯来语: ‘ātā, 诗 104:2); 祂以电光遮手 (伯 36:32)。耶和華用皮遮蔽骸骨 (希伯来语: qāram, 结 37:6, 8)。各种瘟疫遮满了埃及地 (出 8:6[《出埃及记》2]; 10:5, 15; 14:28; 15:5, 10) 以及许多的人 (民 22:11; 诗 80:10[《马所拉文本》11]; 结 38:9, 16) 和动物 (赛 60:6) 遮满了地面。

and masses of people (Nu. 22:11; Ps. 80:10 [MT 11]; Ezk. 38:9, 16) and animals (Isa. 60:6) swarm over a land.

Numerous qualities cover a person, implying pervasiveness: dishonor (Jer. 3:25; 51:51), shame (Ps. 44:15 [MT 16]; 69:7 [MT 8]; Ob. 10; Mic. 7:10; Heb. 'ātā, Ps. 89:45 [MT 46]), scorn (Heb. 'ātā, Ps. 71:13), cruelty (Mal. 2:16), violence (Heb. 'āṭap, Ps. 73:6), horror (Ezk. 7:18), guile (Prov. 26:26), favor (Heb. 'āṭar, Ps. 5:12 [MT 13]), and integrity (Heb. 'ātā, Isa. 61:10).

Cover also means hide or conceal. The cause may be disease (Lev. 13:45) or mourning (2 S. 15:30; Est. 6:12 [NEB “uncover”]; Heb. 'ātā, Ezk. 24:17). A woman veils herself in another's presence (Gen. 24:65), although a prostitute does not (38:15). Veiling is referred to in 1 Cor. 11:2–16 in the use of the Gk. terms katá kephalēs échō (v. 4), katakalyptō (v. 7; also used for “to veil,” “wear a veil” in v. 6), and peribolaion (usually, as in He. 1:12, an article of clothing) for the hair as “covering” in v. 15. (For the meaning of this difficult passage see the comms) Covering the lips indicates silence at the lack of an oracle (Mic. 3:7). A cloud of incense screens the mercy seat (Lev. 16:13), as the olivewood cherubim the ark (2 Ch. 5:8; Heb. noun sākak, 1 K. 8:7). Yahweh conceals the moon (Heb. 'āḥaz, Job 26:9), but darkness is His covering (Heb. sēter, Ps. 18:11 [MT 12]; AV “pavilion”; NEB “hiding-place”). Figuratively, peoples are hidden by clouds (Ezk. 30:18) or waves

许多品质遮盖了某人，暗示出这个人身上兼具很多品质：惭愧(耶 3:25; 51:51)，羞愧(诗 44:15[《马所拉文本》16]; 69:7[《马所拉文本》8]; 俄 10; 弥 7:10; 希伯来语: 'ātā, 诗 89:45[《马所拉文本》46])，轻蔑(希伯来语: 'ātā, 诗 71:13)，残忍(玛 2:16)，强暴(希伯来语: 'āṭap, 诗 73:6)，恐怖(结 7:18)，诡诈(箴 26:26)，恩惠(希伯来语: 'āṭar, 诗 5:12[《马所拉文本》13])和正直(希伯来语: 'ātā, 赛 61:10)。

“Cover”还有隐藏或掩盖的意思。可能因为疾病(利 13:45)或哭泣(撒下 15:30; 斯 6:12[《新英文译本》译为“uncover”[“揭开”]]而蒙面；希伯来语: 'ātā, 结 24:17)。一个妇女见他人时要蒙上脸(创 24:65)，然而妓女不必蒙脸(创 38:15)。《哥林多前书》11:2-16 中，用希腊语 katá kephalēs échō (林前 2:4)、katakalyptō (林前 2:7;; 林前 2:6 还表示“戴面纱”)和 peribolaion (通常如《希伯来书》1:12 中一样，表示一件外衣)表示《哥林多前书》11:15 中的用头发作“盖头”。(关于这段难以理解的经文，见注释)捂着嘴唇表示因预言未得应允而沉默(弥 3:7)。香的烟云遮掩法柜的施恩座(利 16:13)，橄榄木作的基路伯遮盖约柜(代下 5:8; 希伯来语: 名词 sākak, 王上 8:7)。耶和華遮蔽月亮(希伯来语: 'āḥaz, 伯 26:9)，以黑暗为藏身之处(希伯来语: sēter, 诗 18:11[《马所拉文本》12]; 《钦定版圣经》译为“pavilion”[“行宫”]; 《新英文译本》译为“hiding-place”[“藏身之处”])。还用密云遮蔽(结 30:18)或海水漫过(耶 51:42)比喻人们遭受的失败；撒玛利亚祈求大山遮蔽他们，从而逃避耶和華的

(Jer. 51:42) in defeat; Samaria begs the mountains to conceal her from Yahweh's punishment (Hos. 10:8; cf. Lk. 23:30). Floodwaters prevent God's seeing Job (Job 22:11) and judges and blindfolded from the truth (9:24). Covering with blood (Job 16:18) or darkness (Ps. 44:19 [MT 20]) represents the obscurity of death. In the parable, one is not to hide a lamp with a vessel (Gk. katakalyptō, Lk. 8:16).

Similarly, to cover may indicate forgiveness (Ps. 32:1; Job 14:17; Rom. 4:7; cf. Neh. 4:5 [MT 3:37]). The RSV also translates Heb. kāsā as "pardon" (Ps. 85:2 [MT 3]), "conceal" (Job 31:33; AV "cover"), and "forgive" (Prov. 17:9). Love covers a multitude of sins (Prov. 10:12; 1 Pet. 4:8; cf. Jas. 5:20). Heb. kāpar, "cover," indicates forgiveness (RSV, AV, "make atonement"; NEB "make expiation"; RSV also "forgive" Dt. 21:8; Ps. 78:38; 79:9; Ezk. 16:63), "pardon" (2 Ch. 30:18).

The nouns often have the simple meaning lid or top for a pit or well (Ex.21:33; Heb. noun māsāk, 2 S. 17:19) or a utensil (Heb. noun šāmīd, Nu. 19:15; AV for Heb. qašwā, qašā, Ex. 25:29; 37:16; Nu. 4:7; RSV, NEB, "flagons"). A covering (Heb. marbēd) is a fabric good, such as a bedspread (Prov. 7:16) or clothing (31:22).

惩罚 (何 10:8; 参: 路 23:30)。洪水漫过约伯, 无法看见上帝 (伯 22:11) 和审判官被蒙上脸, 看不到真理 (伯 9:24)。遮盖血 (伯 16:18) 或死荫 (诗 44:19 [《马所拉文本》 20]) 表示死亡的阴暗。在寓言故事中, 人不应用器皿盖上灯 (希腊语: katakalyptō, 路 8:16)。

同样, 遮盖可以表示赦免的意思 (诗 32:1; 伯 14:17; 罗 4:7; 参: 尼 4:5 [《马所拉文本》 3:37])。《修订标准译本》还将希伯来语 kāsā 译为“pardon” (“赦免”, 诗 85:2 [《马所拉文本》 3])、 “conceal” (“遮掩”, 伯 31:33; 《钦定版圣经》译为“cover” [“遮掩”]) 和 “forgive” (“原谅”, 箴 17:9)。爱能遮掩许多的罪 (箴 10:12; 彼前 4:8; 参: 雅 5:20)。希伯来语 kāpar, “cover” (“遮掩”) 表示赦免 (《修订标准译本》和《钦定版圣经》译为 “make atonement” [“赎罪”]; 《新英文译本》译为 “make expiation” [“赎罪”]; 《修订标准译本》还译为 “forgive” [“赦免”], 申 21:8; 诗 78:38; 79:9; 结 16:63) 和 “饶恕” (代下 30:18)。

COVERED WAY 廊子

【希伯来语: mēšāk——“廊子”】: 《钦定版圣经》译为 CONCERT (“廊子”);

“covered way” for the sabbath is mentioned in 2 K. 16:18 as a gallery belonging to the temple, concerning the purpose of which opinions differ. Some consider it to have been the place where the king stood or sat during the sabbath services; others, a public place for teaching; others, the way by which the priest entered the sanctuary on the sabbath.

COVERLET

[Heb. maḵbēr (2 K. 8:15); AV “thick cloth”; NEB BLANKET. A hapax legomenon of uncertain meaning, probably cloth that is either interlaced (cf. the cognates in Am. 9:9, “sieve”; Ex. 27:4, “granting”), or increased in some way; hence the suggestions of either netted cloth or thick cloth, blanket.

COVERT

[Heb. sukkā—‘thicket’ (Job 38:40; Ps. 10:9), sēter—‘refuge,’ ‘secrecy’ (Job 40:21; Ps. 31:20; Cant. 2:14; Isa. 32:2), sōk—‘thicket’ (Jer. 25:38)]; AV also SECRET PLACES, DEN; NEB also COVER, HIDDEN, CRANNIES, SHELTER, LAIR. The term “covert” is used only in the OT and denotes a hiding place or shelter.

COVET; COVETOUSNESS

[Heb. ḥāmaḍ, also ’āwā (Prov. 21:26), ’ahēb (Ps. 34:12), beṣa’ (Isa. 57:17); Gk. pleonexia, pleonéktēs (Eph. 5:5), epithymía, epithyméō, zēlóō (Jas. 4:2)]; AV also DESIRE (Dt. 5:21; 7:25), DESIRE TO HAVE (Jas. 4:2), LOVE

《新英文译本》译为 STRUCTURE (“建筑”)。《列王纪下》16:18 中提到了为安息日而建的“廊子”，指的是圣殿的走廊，关于建廊子的目的众说纷纭。有的人认为这是王在安息日侍奉期间所站立或就坐的地方；其他人认为“廊子”是进行教导的公共场所；还有人认为“廊子”是祭司在安息日进入圣所的通道。

COVERLET 床被、被窝

【希伯来语：maḵbēr（王下 8:15）；《钦定版圣经》译为“thick cloth”（“被窝”），《新英文译本》译为 BLANKET（“毯子”）。含义不明的罕用语，可能是交织（参：摩 9:9 的同根词“sieve”[“筛子”]；出 27:4 “granting”[“铜网”]）或重叠的织物；因此指的是编织的布料、厚布或毯子。

COVERT 隐秘处

【希伯来语：sukkā——“thicket”（“隐秘处”，伯 38:40；诗 10:9），sēter——“refuge”[“庇护所”]、“secrecy”[“隐秘处”]（伯 40:21；诗 31:20；歌 2:14；赛 32:2），sōk——“thicket”（“隐秘处”，耶 25:38）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 SECRET PLACES（“隐秘处”），DEN（“洞中”）；《新英文译本》还译为 COVER（“掩蔽处”），HIDDEN（“隐秘处”），CRANNIES（“洞中”），SHELTER（“避难所”），LAIR（“洞穴”）。“covert”这个词只出现在《旧约》中，意思是隐秘处或避身之处。

COVET; COVETOUSNESS 贪图、爱慕；贪心、贪婪、贪恋

【希伯来语：ḥāmaḍ 和 ’āwā（箴 21:26），’ahēb（诗 34:12），beṣa’（赛 57:17）；希腊语：pleonexia, pleonéktēs（弗 5:5），epithymía, epithyméō, zēlóō（雅 4:2）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 DESIRE（“贪恋”，申 5:21；7:25），

(Ps. 34:12), LUST (Rom. 7:7), CONCUPISCENCE (v. 8); NEB also DESIRE (Ps. 34:12), CRAVINGS (Prov. 21:26), “for a time” (Isa. 57:17, with LXX), RUTHLESS GREED (Mk. 7:22; Eph. 5:3; Col. 3:5), GREED (Lk. 12:15; Eph. 5:5), WANT (Acts 20:33), RAPACITY (Rom. 1:29), WRONG DESIRES (7:8), BE ENVIOUS (Jas. 4:2). (On Jer. 51:13, AV, see THREAD.) Both Heb. ḥāmaḏ and Gk. epithymía indicate strong desire; the bad sense of evil desire is present only in certain contexts. While the AV sometimes uses “covet” in a good sense (1 Cor. 12:31; 14:39), the RSV restricts its use to the unfavorable meanings. Gk. pleonexía always has the bad sense “greed,” “avarice.” For Heb. beša ‘see GAIN. See also DESIRE; GREED.

In the OT, covetousness is forbidden in the Decalogue; in the NT it is catalogued among the very gravest sins (Mk. 7:22; Eph. 5:3). Coveting is a basic and pervasive evil, for it is the very root of so many forms of sin: “Those who desire to be rich fall into temptation, into a snare, into many senseless and hurtful desires that plunge men into ruin and destruction” (1 Tim. 6:9). It lies behind biblical examples of theft (Josh. 7:21), lying (2 K. 5:20ff.), domestic trouble (Prov. 15:27), even murder (Ezk. 22:12). In Col. 3:5 it is termed “nothing less than idolatry” (NEB).

Covetousness has always been a very serious menace to mankind. It was one of

DESIRE TO HAVE (“贪恋”，雅 4:2), LOVE (“爱慕”，诗 34:12), LUST (“贪心”，罗 7:7) 和 CONCUPISCENCE (“贪心”，罗 7:8); 《新英文译本》还译为 DESIRE (“爱慕”，诗 34:12), CRAVINGS (“贪得无厌”，箴 21:26), “for a time” (“曾经”，赛 57:17, 《七十士译本》), RUTHLESS GREED (“贪婪”，可 7:22; 弗 5:3; 西 3:5), GREED (“贪心”，路 12:15; 弗 5:5), WANT (“贪图”，徒 20:33), RAPACITY (“贪婪”，罗 1:29), WRONG DESIRES (“贪心”，罗 7:8), BE ENVIOUS (“贪恋”，雅 4:2)。(关于《钦定版圣经》，耶 51:13，见 THREAD[线、绳]) 希伯来语 ḥāmaḏ 和希腊语 epithymía 都表示极度贪婪的意思；邪恶欲望这种负面的含义只出现在某些段落中。《钦定版圣经》有时使用“covet”（林前 12:31; 14:39）的积极含义，《修订标准译本》中只使用了这个词的消极含义。希腊语 pleonexía 始终表示“贪心”和“贪婪”这种负面的含义。关于希伯来语 beša ‘的含义，见 GAIN（得、获得）。另见 DESIRE（喜爱、恋慕）；GREED（贪心、贪婪）。

在《旧约》的摩西十诫中禁止贪婪；在《新约》中，贪婪是最严重的罪（可 7:22; 弗 5:3）。贪婪是一种基础且常见的邪恶，因为它是许多罪行的根源：“但那些想要发财的人，就陷在迷惑、落在网罗和许多无知有害的私欲里，叫人沉在败坏和灭亡中”（提前 6:9）。在《圣经》的例子中，贪婪是偷盗（书 7:21）、说谎（王下 5:20 起），内患（箴 15:27），甚至谋杀（结 22:12）的根源。在《歌罗西书》3:5 中，贪婪被描述为“与拜偶像一样”，（《新英文译本》）。

the first sins that broke out after Israel had entered into the Promised Land (Achan, Josh. 7), and also in the early Christian Church immediately after its founding (Ananias and Sapphira, Acts 5); hence the many warnings against it. A careful reading of the OT will show that a very great part of the Jewish law—such as its enactments and regulations regarding duties toward the poor, toward servants, concerning gleaning, usury, pledges, gold and silver taken during war—was introduced and intended to counteract the spirit of covetousness.

Eerdmans maintains (Expos [July 1909]) that the commandment, “You shall not covet your neighbor’s house” (Ex. 20:17), meant to the Israelite that he should not take anything of his neighbor’s possessions that were momentarily unprotected by their owner. Cf. Ex. 34:23ff. Thus it refers to a category of acts that is not covered by the commandment “You shall not steal.” It is an oriental habit of mind from of old that when anyone sees abandoned goods which he thinks desirable, there is not the least objection to taking them. Ex. 20:17b is probably an explanation of what is to be understood by “house” in v. 17a.

Other examples of covetousness include Saul (1 S. 15:9, 19), Judas (Mt. 26:14f.), and Balaam (2 Pet. 2:15; Jude 11).

伊德曼斯认为(Expos [1909年7月])“不可贪恋人的房屋”(出20:17)这条律法是在警告以色列人不可贪恋他人的财产,即使物主没有妥善保护这些财产。参:《出埃及记》34:23起。因此,“不可偷窃”的律法不包含这类行为。自古以来,当东方人看到被弃的东西并企图据为己有时,不会遇到任何阻拦。《出埃及记》20:17b可能是对《出埃及记》20:17a中的“房屋”的一种解释。

其他的例子包括扫罗(撒上15:9,19)、犹大(太26:14-15)和巴拿巴(彼后2:15;犹1:11)的贪婪。

The reproductive processes of the cow are mentioned in Lev. 22:27f.; Dt. 7:13; Job 21:10; etc., and the feeding of calves in 1 S. 6:7. Forty cows were part of Jacob's gift to Esau (Gen. 32:15), while Pharaoh's vision of seven fat and seven lean cows occurs in Gen. 41:1–36. In a figurative sense the term was used derogatively of Samaritan women in Am. 4:1. Similarly, in modern Israel “cow” is one of the most offensive terms that can be applied to a woman. As a general rule cows do not seem to have been sacrificed, and hence the circumstances of 1 S. 6:14 were evidently caused by the unusual conditions prevailing at the time.

I. Sources of Our Knowledge.-The landscape of the Near East today displays impressive ruins of ancient architectural achievements. A multitude of small finds have also been unearthed, revealing the variety of crafts engaged in and the level of sophistication reached at different periods.

When the Royal Cemetery at Ur was excavated, dozens of gold objects (e.g., vessels, a helmet, daggers) and finely detailed jewelry in silver and filigree gold were found. These pieces are of a standard that has seldom been surpassed since, and they demonstrate what a skilled metalworker could do in 2500 B.C.—some five hundred years before Abraham's appearance at Ur. Similarly, when Abraham visited Egypt, the pyramids of Giza, the sole survivors of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World, were even then centuries old. It is thus obviously a mistake to view early biblical personages such as Abraham as in a totally rustic or precivilized setting.

In addition to the small finds and architectural remains there are ancient

CRAFTS. 手工艺、工艺品

*I. 我们知识的来源。*现代近东的景观显示出古代建筑遭到了极大的破坏。许多已经出土小物件揭示了不同时期的各种高超工艺。

吾珥的皇家墓地被发掘时，发现了许多金制品（如，器具、头盔和匕首）和作工精美的银饰和金银丝制品。这些物品达到了一定的工艺水准，自那时起很少被超越，它们证明了在公元前 2500 年——亚伯拉罕到吾珥之前约五百年——经验丰富的匠人的技术水平。同样，亚伯拉罕拜访埃及时，古代七大奇观中唯一被保存下来的埃及吉萨金字塔已经存在了数百年之久。因此认为像亚伯拉罕这样的早期圣经人物是粗陋蛮夷之人的说法显然是一种错误的。

除了小物件和建筑遗迹，还发现了描述各种工艺和工作中的工匠的古代浮雕、

reliefs, paintings, and models depicting various crafts and craftsmen at work. Egypt supplies the most information of this sort. Scenes of Egyptian ship-wrights or masons at work provide insights into the techniques of that day as well as illustrations of the tools used.

Written records also bring us into closer touch with the early artisans. For example, two Mesopotamian texts precisely describe tanning methods and preparations in that country. There are also cuneiform texts in which Mesopotamian perfumers and glassblowers pass on their methods. Admittedly, written records sometimes allow our knowledge to proceed only so far. Thus, in spite of the wealth of technical terms pertaining to weaving in Mesopotamia, almost nothing has been deduced as to the type of loom used or the way it functioned.

II. Hebrew Craftsmen.-The Hebrews engaged in spinning and weaving (Ex. 35:25). They were able to draw from their own ranks craftsmen capable of building the tabernacle (Ex. 35:30-35). On the whole, however, the few references there are give the impression that before the Israelites came into contact with the people of Canaan and Phoenicia they had not developed any considerable technical skill. In fact, the decline in pottery and architecture that befell Palestine in the latter half of the 2nd millennium has been blamed on the coming of the Hebrews.

When David built his house he used carpenters and masons from Phoenicia (1 Ch. 14:1). David reminded Solomon of the large number of craftsmen, and the

绘画和模型。关于这类发现，埃及提供了最丰富的信息。埃及造船工或泥瓦匠工作的场景使人们深刻地了解了当时的技术和工具的使用方法。

文献作品也让我们更了解早期的工匠。例如，两部美索不达米亚文献精确地描述了这一地区制革的方法和过程。还有楔形文字文献中记载了美索不达米亚的香料商和吹玻璃的人的技艺传承。无可否认，文献作品有时只能为了我们提供率这些认识。因此，尽管有大量描绘美索不达米亚的编织技术的专业术语，但是几乎无法推短出织布机的类型或织布机的编织方法。

II. 希伯来工匠。希伯来人从事纺线和编织的工作（出 35:25）。他们可以从自己的民族中找到工匠建造会幕（出 35:30-35）。然而，总的来说，有几段经文会让人们以为在以色列人与迦南人和腓尼基人建立关系之前，他们并没有发展出任何高超的技艺。事实上，公元前 2000 年的后半叶巴勒斯坦地区制陶和建筑技术的衰退也被归因于希伯来人的到来。

大卫雇佣了腓尼基的木匠和石匠为他建造房屋（代上 14:1）。大卫提醒所罗门他们有许多工匠，并且这些工匠掌握着各样的技艺，可以为他们建造圣殿（代上

variety of their skills, on hand to construct the temple (1 Ch. 22:15f.). Solomon added to this number by importing additional workers from Phoenicia (2 Ch. 2:7, 13f.; 1 K. 5:18). By the time Nebuchadrezzar was pillaging Jerusalem one thousand craftsmen were available for deporting to Babylon (2 K. 24:16). There is an indication that when Jerusalem was rebuilt men of a like trade were grouped together (Neh. 3:8, 31f.). In spite of these hints that a body of Israelite craftsmen did develop—at least by the 6th cent.B.C.—it is usually held that the Hebrews never became greatly interested or especially creative in the arts. Certainly the Mosaic injunction against graven images must have created apathy toward at least some of the arts.

In any event it has been largely impossible to identify examples of Hebrew craftsmanship. In pottery, at least, this results from the absence of an Israelite ceramic tradition which could guide the Hebrew craftsman. Therefore the Israelite pots were copies of local Canaanite forms. The same consequence is probably true for most other crafts the Hebrews engaged in and would explain why, in the material things of life, their culture was little distinguishable from that of the other inhabitants of Palestine. Only in one field, gem cutting, has it been suggested that the Israelite craftsman attained a high degree of proficiency. Very skillfully graven seals with Hebrew inscriptions have indeed been found; but even here it is doubtful how many are really the work of this people.

III. Internationalism in the Crafts.—David's and Solomon's

22:15-16)。所罗门又从腓尼基招来了许多匠人（代下 2:7, 13-14; 王上 5:18）。尼布甲尼撒从耶路撒冷掠夺时，一千名工匠被掳到了巴比伦（王下 24:16）。有迹象表明重建耶路撒冷时，匠人被聚在了一起（尼 3:8, 31-32）。尽管这些迹象表明至少到公元前 6 世纪以色列确实拥有了大批的工匠，但是人们通常认为希伯来人从来没有对艺术真正的感兴趣或在艺术方面特别有创意。当然摩西律法反对偶像崇拜的禁令一定使人们对一些技艺漠不关心。

不管怎样，基本不太可能辨别出希伯来人制造的工艺品。至少在陶艺方面，之所以没有以色列人的制陶工艺，是因为没有引导希伯来工匠的制陶传统。因此，以色列人造的锅是迦南人的锅的仿制品。以色列人从事的其他大部分技艺可能也是如此，这也是在物质生活领域以色列文明与巴勒斯坦其他名族的文明几乎毫无分别的原因。以色列的工匠只在宝石切割技术这一领域达到了很高的水平。事实上，还发现了精心雕琢的且带有希伯来文字的印章；但即使是这样，有多少技艺确实出自以色列人之手却是值得怀疑的。

III. 工艺品国际化。大卫和所罗门雇佣外邦工人不是古近东地区独有的事。例 importation of foreign workers was not unique in the ancient Near East. For example, the Hittite King Hattusilis III borrowed a sculptor from the faraway Kassites. (A letter is preserved in which he requests a second sculptor.) As the craftsmen moved they took with them their technological knowledge and peculiar artistic motifs. Although their hosts might not be interested in the foreigner's language or religion, they did not hesitate to adopt his techniques and styles. Consequently, much of the Solomonic temple is "Phoenician." So widespread was the artistic borrowing that some cultures never originated a style of their own.

At times a feeling of cosmopolitanism existed in the Near East. Egyptians welcomed Aegean gifts and Canaanites coveted ornaments "made in Egypt." There are groups of objects made in obvious imitation of foreign originals. Mesopotamian lists of Syro-Palestinian booty refer to their superior multicolored garments as often as to gold and silver.

Despite this intensity of intercourse it is possible to speak of specific schools. Although the Hittites borrowed sculptors from Mesopotamia, their art shows that an original and competent school existed in Anatolia in the 14th and 13th centuries. In the glyptic art of the Near East there is a wholesale mixing of motifs and styles. But even here individual Akkadian, Assyrian, and other schools can be identified.

有时以东地区存在世界大同主义的理念。埃及人喜欢爱琴海的礼物，而迦南人钟爱“埃及造的”小饰品。有大量物品明显是外邦原版的仿制品。美索不达米亚人在从叙利亚和巴勒斯坦得来的战利品清单中除了经常提到金银之外，还经常提及华丽多彩的服饰。

尽管技艺交流很频繁，还是能够说出具体的流派。虽然赫人从美索不达米亚请来了雕刻家，但是他们的艺术品显示在公元 13 世纪和 14 世纪在安纳托利亚曾存在一个原始优秀的流派。近东雕刻艺术大量融合了各种装饰图案和风格设计。但是即使这样，还是能够识别出阿卡德流派、亚述流派和其他流派。

[Heb. ḥākām] (2 S. 13:3); AV SUBTIL; NEB SHREWD; [‘ārōm, ‘ārûm] (Job 5:12; 15:5; Ps. 83:3); NEB also DECEIT (Job 15:5), CUNNING (Ps. 83:3); [Gk. panoúrgos] (2 Cor. 12:16); NEB UNSCRUPULOUS; CRAFTINESS [Heb. ‘ōrem (Job 5:13); Gk. panourgía]; NEB also TRICK (Lk. 20:23), CUNNING (1 Cor. 3:19); DEAL CRAFTILY [Heb. nākal (Ps. 105:25); Gk. katasophízomai (Acts 7:19)]; AV DEAL SUBTILLY; NEB DOUBLE-DEALING (OT), “make a crafty attack (on)” (NT). The basic meaning of Heb. ḥākām is “wise”; in the broader senses it can mean “skillful,” “prudent,” “cunning”; in 2 S. 13:3 the word is applied to Jonadab, who devised an evil plan to enable Amnon to rape Tamar. In Proverbs ‘ārûm has the good connotation “sensible” or “prudent” (NEB “clever”) (e.g., 12:16, 23; 13:16; 22:3), but elsewhere it means “shrewd” in a bad sense (like the related forms ‘ārōm, ‘ōrēm). In Ps. 105:25 nākal means acting in a cleverly deceitful manner.

CRAFTY 狡猾、诡计、诡诈

【希伯来语: ḥākām】(撒下 13:3); 《钦定版圣经》译为 SUBTIL (“狡猾”); 《新英文译本》译为 SHREWD (“狡猾”); 【‘ārōm, ‘ārûm】(伯 5:12; 15:5; 诗 83:3); 《新英文译本》还译为 DECEIT (“诡诈”, 伯 15:5), CUNNING (“奸诈”, 诗 83:3); 【希腊语: panoúrgos】(林后 12:16); 《新英文译本》译为 UNSCRUPULOUS (“肆无忌惮”); CRAFTINESS (“诡计”)【希伯来语: ‘ōrem (伯 5:13); 希腊语: panourgía】; 《新英文译本》还译为 TRICK (“诡计”, 路 20:23), CUNNING (“诡计”, 林前 3:19); DEAL CRAFTILY (“施诡计”)【希伯来语: nākal (诗 105:25); 希腊语: katasophízomai (徒 7:19)】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 DEAL SUBTILLY (“诡计”); 《新英文译本》译为 DOUBLE-DEALING (“口是心非”) (《旧约》), “make a crafty attack (on)” (“谋害”) (《新约》)。希伯来语 ḥākām 的基本含义是“聪明”; 广义含义是“高明”、“谨慎”和“狡猾”; 《撒母耳记下》13:3 中这个词表示约拿达用诡计使暗嫩玷污了他玛。《箴言》中的 ‘ārûm 具有褒义“明智”或“谨慎”的含义 (《新英文译本》译为 “clever” [“聪明”]) (如, 箴 12:16, 23; 13:16; 22:3), 但是在其他经文中具有贬义“狡猾”的意思 (如相关形式 ‘ārōm, ‘ōrēm 一样)。《诗篇》105:25 中的 nākal 的意思是施诡计。

The Gk. panourgía means literally “doing everything,” with the usual bad implication “stopping at nothing,” hence “unscrupulous.” Paul’s use in 2 Cor. 12:16 is ironic, thus the RSV and NEB add “you say.”

CRAG

[Heb. šûr (Jer. 18:14), sela' (51:25)]; AV ROCK; NEB “rocky (slope)” (18:14), TERRACE; ROCKY CRAG [Heb. šēn hassela' (1 S. 14:4), šēn-sela' (Job 39:28)]; AV also SHARP ROCK (1 S. 14:4), “forefront” (for šēn, v. 5); NEB “sharp column of rock” (14:4), “crevice in the rock” (Job 39:28). In mountainous country composed of sedimentary rocks, cliffs are formed on a slope where hard strata cover softer strata. The soft strata wear away more rapidly, undermining the hard strata, which project for a time but finally break off; the fragments roll down to form the talus slope at the foot of the cliff. Since the breaking off of the hard strata occurs irregularly, sometimes projecting crags are left at the top of the cliff and at times lower down.

Two such crags, named Bozez and Seneh, marked the scene of the exploit of Jonathan described in 1 S. 14. These crags also formed secure resting places for predatory birds; the eagle is said to perch there to discern its prey (Job 39:27–29).

The RSV uses “crag” to render two words for “rock” in Jer. 18:14 and 51:25. In the former passage AV “field” is 希腊语 panourgía 字面意思是“无所不为”，通常为贬义“任意妄为”，因此有“肆无忌惮”的含义，因此保罗在《哥林多后书》12:16 中使用的“unscrupulous”（“诡诈”）一词具有讽刺的含义，而《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》增加了“你说”。

CRAG 磐石、岩石、峭壁

【希伯来语：šûr（耶 18:14），sela'（耶 51:25）】；《钦定版圣经》译为 ROCK（“磐石”）；《新英文译本》译为“rocky (slope)”（“岩石[坡]”）（耶 18:14），TERRACE（“山峰”）；ROCKY CRAG（“山峰”）【希伯来语：šēn hassela'（撒上 14:4），šēn-sela'（伯 39:28）】；《钦定版圣经》还译为 SHARP ROCK（“山峰”，撒上 14:4），“forefront”（“最前方”，šēn，撒上 14:5）；《新英文译本》译为“sharp column of rock”（“悬崖”，撒上 14:4），“crevice in the rock”（“断崖”，伯 39:28）。多岩石的国家由许多沉积岩组成，在陡坡上形成悬崖，陡坡上坚硬的岩层覆盖在较软的岩层上。松软的岩层磨损得更快，逐渐破坏了坚硬的岩层，坚硬的地层可能会凸出一段时间，但最终还是断开了；碎岩石滚落后形成了岩屑坡。由于硬岩层的断裂不规律，有时在悬崖顶端或下方形成凸起的峭壁。

播薛和西尼这两座山峰见证了《撒母耳记下》14 章中记载的约拿单的战绩，这些山峰还为猛禽提供了安全的栖息场所；鹰栖息在山峰上，等候着猎物（伯 39:27-29）。

《修订标准译本》用“crag”（“峭壁”）翻译《耶利米书》18:14 和 51:25 中的“rock”（“磐石、岩石”）。在《耶利米

CRANE

[Heb. ‘āgūr]; NEB WRYNECK. The RSV mentions the crane twice; once because of its noise (Isa. 38:14; omitted by the NEB), and again in the description of migrating birds (Jer. 8:7). However, the meaning of the Hebrew term is uncertain, and the cognate Akk. igirū does not help the identification specifically. If it was a member of the family Gruidae, it was one of the largest Palestinian birds, along with the ostrich and pelican. G. R. Driver opted for a species of the genus Jynx, but this also is uncertain.

See G. R. Driver, PEQ, 87 (1955), 132.

CRASH; CRASHING

In the hiphil form (as in Isa. 37:26) šā’ā means lay waste. Rē(a)’ literally signifies “shouting,” while qôl simply means “voice.” In most of these passages the RSV uses “crash”

CRANE 白鹤

【希伯来语：‘āgūr】；《新英文译本》译为 WRYNECK（“斑鸠”）。《修订标准译本》中两次提到 crane（“白鹤”）；一次是因为它发出的声音（赛 38:14；《新英文译本》省略了该词），另一次是在描述鸟迁徙时（耶 8:7）。然而，尚无法确定这个希伯来词语的意思，而同根词阿卡德语 igirū 并不能帮助确定该词的词义。倘若白鹤是鹤科的一种鸟，它与鸵鸟和鸬鹚同属于巴勒斯坦的大型鸟类，德赖弗（G. R. Driver）认为白鹤是蚁鸢（Jynx）属的一种鸟，但是尚无法确定这种说法。 krā'tēz [Gk. Kratēs]. Governor of the Cyprians, left as deputy of Sostratus when the latter, who was governor of Jerusalem, was summoned to Antioch by Antiochus Epiphanes as the result of a dispute with Menelaus (2 Macc. 4:29). As Cyprus was not at the time in the possession of Antiochus, the words generally have been taken to mean Crates “who had formerly been, or afterward was, governor of the Cyprians.” The Vulgate translates the Greek into Sostratus autem praelatus est Cypriis.

CRAWLING THINGS

I. Theistic Creation Versus Other Views.

Much negative ground has to be cleared away for any modern discussion of the doctrine of creation. No idea of creation can now be taken as complete which does not include, besides the world as at first constituted, all that to this day is in and of creation. For God does not create being that can exist independently of Him; rather, His preserving agency is inseparably connected with His creative power. We have long ceased to think of God's creation as a machine left, completely made, to its own automatic working. With such a doctrine of creation a theistic evolution would be quite incompatible.

Just as little do we think of God's creative agency as merely that of a first cause, linked to the universe from the outside by innumerable sequences of causes and effects. Nature in its entirety is as much His creation today as it ever was. The dynamic ubiquity of God, as efficient energy, is to be affirmed. God is still All and in all, but this in a way sharply distinguished from pantheistic views, whether of the universe as God, or of God as the universe. Of His own freedom He creates, so that gnostic theories of natural and necessary emanation are left far behind. Not only have the "carpenter" and the "gardener" theories—with, of course, the architect or world-builder theory of Plato—been dismissed; not only has the conception of evolution been proved harmonious with creative end, plan, purpose, ordering, guidance; but evolutionary science is thought by some to have given the thought of theistic evolution its best base or grounding. The theistic conception is that the world—that all cosmic existences, substances, events—depend upon God.

- VI. 创造的目的

I. 有神论的创造和其他观点。我们必须从创世学说的所有现代讨论中去除负面主题。所有的创世思想都不是完整的，因为这些思想只包括那个起初被创造的世界，并不包括当今所有的受造物。因为上帝不会创造在祂之外独立存在的生命；相反，上帝留在这世界上的代理与祂的创造大能存在着密切的关系。我们很久以前就不再认为上帝的创造是一台被保留下来的机器，这台机器已经被完全制成，自动运转。有神进化论与这种创世学说截然对立。

我们仅仅认为上帝的创世代理是创世的原动力，藉着数不清的因果次序将这个世界与外面的世界联系在一起。从总体上看，上帝创造了今天这个世界，正如祂曾经创造了过去那个世界。可以肯定上帝是无处不在的，是高效的能量。上帝是一切，也在一切之内，但是，这种观点与泛神论“宇宙就是上帝或上帝就是宇宙”的观点有很大的区别。上帝自由地创造了世界，因此，诺斯替派“自然和必要流出”的理论完全被否决。不仅摒弃了“木匠”和“园丁”的理论，当然还摒弃了柏拉图的建筑师或世界建造者的理论；不仅证明进化论与创世结局、计划、目的、次序和指引和谐一致；而且有些人认为进化科学为有神进化提供了最好的依据。有神论观念认为这个世界，即所有的宇宙存在、物质和事件都依赖于上帝。

Fragments of the third tablet of Enuma Elish (“When on high”), the Assyrian creation epic recounting the struggle between cosmic order and chaos. These copies from Ashurbanipal’s library at Nineveh are similar to older Babylonian versions, which in part may be traced to Sumerian originals of the 3rd millennium B.C. (Trustees of the British Museum).

The doctrine of creation—of the origin and persistence of all finite existences—as the work of God, is a necessary postulation of the religious consciousness. Such consciousness is marked by deeper insight than belongs to science. The underlying truth is the antipanthistic one, that the energy and wisdom by which the creation came into being are different in kind from their product. For science can only trace the continuity of sequences in all nature, while in creation, in its primary sense, this law of continuity must be transcended, and the world viewed solely as product of divine intelligence, immanent in its evolution. For God is the Absolute Reason, always immanent in the developing universe. Apart from the cosmogonic attempts at the beginning of Genesis, which are clearly religious and ethical in scope and character, the OT furnishes no theoretic account of the manner and order in which the creative process is carried on.

《以鲁玛·以利斯史诗》（“当在高处时”）的第三块版的碎片，这个亚述创世史诗记载了世界从混沌到形成的过程。这些副本源自尼尼微的亚述巴尼帕图书馆，与更古老的巴比伦版本类似，部分版本可追溯至公元前 3000 年的闪族原稿（英国博物馆理事会）。

II. Creation in the Bible.-The early chapters of Genesis were, of course, not given to reveal the truths of physical science, but they recognize creation as marked by order, continuity, law, adaptable power of productiveness in the different kingdoms, unity of the world, and progressive advance. The Genesis cosmogony teaches a process of becoming as well as a creation (see EVOLUTION). That cosmogony has been recognized by Haeckel as meritoriously marked by the two great ideas of separation or differentiation, and of progressive development or perfecting of the originally simple matter. The OT presents the conception of time-worlds or successive ages, but its real emphasis is on the energy of the divine word, bringing into being things that did not exist.

The OT and the NT, in their doctrine of creation, recognize no eternal matter before creation. We cannot say that the origin of matter is excluded from the Genesis account of creation, and this

的产物，上帝的智慧隐藏在万物进化过程中。因为上帝是“绝对真理”，始终隐藏在不断变化的宇宙中。《旧约》在《创世记》开篇记载了宇宙创造（这些记载显然属于宗教和道德上的描述），除此之外，《旧约》并没有对创世过程的方式和次序进行理论上的描述。

II. 《圣经》中的创造。《创世记》前几章当然不是为了揭示自然科学的真理，这些章节视创造为有序的、连贯的、有规律的，不同的国度中有不同的创造力，世界被创造成了一个统一的整体，并且不断向前发展。《创世记》的宇宙进化论讲述的是宇宙的形成和创造的过程（见 EVOLUTION[进化论]）。黑克尔(Haeckel)认为宇宙进化论可以分为两大思想，一个是分离或分化的思想，另一个是进化或原始简单事物不断完善的思想。《旧约》中呈现了不同时代的世界或连续年代的思想，但是《旧约》真正强调的是上帝的话语将无变为有的能力。 quite apart from the use of bārā' as admitting of material and means in creation. But it seems unwise to build such an interpretation upon passages of Genesis that can afford only an exegetically insecure basis. The NT seems to favor the derivation of matter from the nonexistent—that is to say, the time-worlds were due to the effluent divine word or originative will, rather than to being built out of God's own invisible essence. So the best exegesis interprets He. 11:3.

《旧约》和《新约》的创造教义认为创世之前没有永恒的事物。我们不能说物质的起源在《创世记》的创世描述之外，这也与 bārā' 的用法严重不符，这个词可能包括了创造的物质和创造的方法。

In OT books such as Psalms, Proverbs, and Jeremiah, creation is expressly declared to be the work of wisdom—a wisdom not disjoined from goodness, as is yet more fully brought out in Job. The heavens declare the glory of God, the world manifests or reveals Him to our experience, as taken up and interpreted by the religious consciousness. The primary fact of the beginning of the time-worlds—the basic fact that the worlds came into being by the word of God—is something apprehensible only by the power of religious faith, as the only principle applicable to the case (He. 11:3). Such intuitive faith is really an application of first principles in the highest sense—and a truly rational one (see LOGOS). In creation, God is but expressing or acting out the conscious Godhood that is in Him. In it the thought of His absolute wisdom is realized by the action of His perfect love. It is philosophically necessary to maintain that God, as the Absolute Being, must find the end of creation in Himself. If the end were external to and independent of Him, then He would be conditioned by it.

III. Creation a Free, Personal

但是，根据《创世记》中的记载得出这种解释似乎是不明智的，《创世记》中的记载只能提供一个不牢靠的释经根据。《新约》似乎支持从无到有的创造，也就是说，不同阶段的世界源于上帝说出的话语或创造的旨意，而不是源于上帝无形的存在。因此，《希伯来书》11:3给出了最佳的解释。

《旧约》（如，《诗篇》《箴言》和《耶利米书》）中明确提到创造是智慧的作工——与神不可分离的智慧，然而《约伯记》更完整地阐述了这一点。天堂彰显神的荣耀，世界在我们的经历中向我们证明或揭示了神，和宗教意识中所揭示和解释的一样。诸世开始的基本事实——神的话语创造了世界的基本事实——只有通过宗教信仰的力量才能理解，这也是解释这个事实的唯一原则（来11:3）。这种直观的信仰其实就是第一原则在最高意识（真正理性的意识）中的一种应用（见 LOGOS [道]）。在创造过程中，神只表现或表达出了祂里面有意识的神性。神完美的爱心彰显出祂绝对的智慧。从哲学上讲，我们必须认为绝对存在的神一定亲自终结了创造。如果创造的结局与祂不相关并且不依赖于祂，那么祂就要受它的限制。

III. 创造是一种自由的个体行为。宗教

Act.-What the religious consciousness is concerned to maintain is the absolute freedom of God in the production of the universe, and that He is so much greater than the universe that existence has been by Him bestowed on all things that do exist. This truth permeates the Scriptures, from first to last. Neither Kant nor Spencer, from data of self-consciousness or sense-perception, can rise to the conception of creation, for they both fail to reach the idea of divine personality. The inconceivability of creation has been pressed by Spencer, the idea of a self-existent Creator, through whose agency it has been made, being to him unthinkable. As if it were not a transparent sophism, which Spencer's own scientific practice refuted, that a hypothesis may not have philosophical or scientific value because it is what we call unthinkable or inconceivable. As if a true and sufficient cause were not enough, or a divine act of will were not a vera causa. Dependent existence inevitably leads thought to demand existence that is not dependent.

IV. Creation and Time.-Creation is certainly not disproved by evolution, which does not explain the origin of the homogeneous stuff itself, and does not account for the beginning of motion within it. Of the original creative action, lying beyond mortal ken or human observation, science—as concerned only with the manner of the process—is obviously in no position to speak. Creation may, in an important sense, be said not to have taken place in time, since time cannot be posited prior to the existence of the world. The difficulties of the ordinary hypothesis of a creation in time can never be surmounted, so long as we continue to make eternity mean simply indefinitely prolonged time. Augustine was no doubt right when, from the human standpoint, he declared that the world was not made in time, but with time. Time is itself a creation simultaneous with, and conditioned by, world-creation and movement. To say, in the ordinary fashion, that God created in time, is apt to make time appear independent of God, or God dependent upon time. Yet the time-forms enter into all our psychological experience, and a concrete beginning is unthinkable to us.

IV. 创造和时间。进化论当然无法证明创世是虚假的，也无法解释同种生物的起源和创世的动机。人类知识或人类科学显然无法提及起初的创造行为，因为它超越了人类的知识范围或观察范围以及科学范围，而人类知识或人类科学仅仅关注创世的方式。从某种重要意义上说，创世可能不是发生在时间范围内，因为时间不可能先于世界而存在。只要我们继续认为永恒仅仅意味着无限的时间，我们可能永远都解决不了在时间范围内创世这个普遍假设的的难点。毋庸置疑，奥古斯丁的观点是正确的，他站在人类的立场上宣布这个世界不是在时间范围内创造的，而是随着时间一起被创造出来的。时间本身就是创造，时间

The time-conditions can be transcended only by some deeper intuition than mere logical insight can supply—by such intuitive endeavor, in fact, as is realized in the necessary belief in the self-existent God. If such an eternal Being acts or creates, He may be said to act or create in eternity; and it is legitimate enough, in such wise, to speak of His creative act as eternal. Clearly did Aquinas perceive that we cannot affirm an eternal creation impossible, the creative act not falling within our categories of time and space. The question is purely one of God's free volition, in which—and not in “nothing”—the Source of the world is found.

V. Source of Creation.—This brings us to notice the frequently pressed objection that creation cannot be out of nothing, since out of nothing comes nothing. This would mean that matter is eternal. But the eternity of matter, as something other than God, means its independence of God, and its power to limit or condition Him. We have, of course, no direct knowledge of the origin of matter, and the conception of its necessary self-existence is fraught with hopeless difficulties and absurdities. The axiom that out of nothing nothing comes, is not contradicted in the case of creation. The universe comes from God; it does not come from nothing. Besides, the axiom does not really apply to the world's creation, but only to the succession of its phenomena. Entity does not spring from non-entity. But there is an opposite and positive truth, that something presupposes something, in this case rather someone.

的创造与世界的创造同时发生，并且受到世界的创造和变化的影响。上帝在时间范围内创造世界这种普通说法容易让人们误以为时间似乎独立于上帝之外，或者上帝依赖于时间。然而，时间形式成为我们所有心理体验中的一部分，一个有形的开端对我们来说是不可想象的。

只有依靠更深的直觉，而不是仅靠逻辑思维，才能超越时间的限制——实际上，只有相信独立存在的上帝才能得到这种直觉。如果这个永恒的存在者作工或创造，那么我们可以说祂的作工或创造是永恒的；按照这种理解，我们就有充足的理由说上帝的创造行为是永恒的。阿奎那（Aquinas）显然认为，我们不能断言不可能存在永恒的创造，因为创造的行为不在我们所理解的时间和空间内。问题在于世界的创造不是“什么”都不依靠，而是完全靠神的自由意志。

V. 创造的始源。这让我们想到了一个经常被提及的异议，即创造不能从无到有，因为无中生无。这就意味着物质是永恒的。然而，物质的永恒性意味着物质是独立于上帝之外存在的，并且物质可以限制或制约上帝，物质的永恒性不同于上帝。当然，我们还没有关于物质起源的直接知识，物质必然独立存在这一概念中充满了无法解决的难点和谬论。无中生无这个定律与创造并不冲突。这个世界是由上帝创造的；而不是从虚无中

It is enough to know that God has in Himself the powers and resources adequate for creating, without being able to define the ways in which creation is effected by Him. It is a sheer necessity of rational faith or spiritual reason that the something which conditions the world is neither hýlē (Gk) nor elemental matter, but personal spirit or originative will. We have no right to suppose the world made out of nothing, and then to identify, as Erigena did, this "nothing" with God's own essence. What we have a right to maintain is that what God creates or calls into being owes its existence to nothing save His will alone, ground of all actualities. Preexistent personality is the ground and the condition of the world's beginning.

In this sense, its beginning may be said to be relative rather than absolute. God is always antecedent to the universe—its prius, cause, and creator. It remains an effect, and sustains a relation of causal dependence upon Him. If we say, like Cousin, that God of necessity creates eternally, we run the risk of falling into Spinozistic pantheism, identifying God, in excluding from Him absolute freedom in creation, with the impersonal and unconscious substance of the universe. Or if, with Schelling, we posit in God something which is not God—a dark, irrational background, which original ground is also the ground of the divine existence—we may try to find a basis for the matter of the universe, but we are in danger of being merged—by conceptions tinged with corporeity—in that form of pantheism for which God is but the soul of the universe.

创造出来的。此外，这个定律实际上不适用于创世，只适用于世界中现象的演替。实体不是从虚无中来。但是，还有一个相反且绝对的真理，即如果是这样，事物以事物为先决条件，而不是以人为先决条件。

知道上帝有足够的能力和资源来创造世界就够了，而不用确定祂用何种方式创造了世界。世界既不是从原质（希腊语：hýlē）中创造出来的，也不是从基础物质中创造出来的，而是按照个人意识或创造意志创造出来的，这是理性信心或宗教理性的绝对要求。我们没有理由认为世界是从虚无中创造出来的，进而像艾利基纳（Erigena）那样，认为这个“无”是上帝的本质。我们应当认为单单因为上帝的意志，受造物从无变为有，祂的意志也是所有现实存在的依据。先在的上帝是世界形成的基础和条件。

从这层意义上来说，世界的开端被称为是相对的而不是绝对的。神在创世之前就一直存在——祂是世界的从前（prius）、起因和创造者。这世界是受造物，依赖于上帝，神是创世的原因。如果我们像库辛（Cousin）一样认为神必定创造了永恒，那么我们就陷入了斯宾诺莎派的泛神论主义，认为神是宇宙的客观和无意识的实质，并且否认神创世时的绝对自由。或者像舍林

The universe, we feel sure, has been caused; its existence must have some ground; even if we held a philosophy so idealistic as to make the scheme of created things one grand illusion, an illusion so vast would still call for some explanatory cause. Even if we are not content with the conception of a first cause, acting on the world from without and antecedently in time, we are not yet freed from the necessity of asserting a cause. An underlying and determining cause of the universe would still need to be postulated as its ground.

Even a universe held to be eternal would need to be accounted for—we should still have to ask how such a universe came to be. Its endless movement must have direction and character imparted to it from some immanent ground to underlying cause. Such a self-existent and eternal world-ground or first cause is, by an inexorable law of thought, the necessary correlate of the finitude, or contingent character of the world. God and the world are not to be taken simply as cause and effect, for modern metaphysical thought is not content with such a mere ens extra-mundanum for the ground of all possible experience. God, self-existent cause of the ever-present world and its phenomena, is the ultimate ground of the possibility of all that is.

我们确定宇宙已经形成, 它的存在一定有一些原因; 即使我们用如此理想的哲学将创造的计划变成一个伟大的幻影, 而如此庞大的幻影仍需要一些解释说明。即使我们对上帝从无到有、在时间存在之前就创造了世界的概念感到不满意, 我们也不能随意地添加一个原因。仍然需要将宇宙的根本原因和决定因视为它的基础。

VI. Purpose of Creation.—Such a deity, as causa sui, creatively bringing forth the world out of His own potence, cannot be allowed to be an arbitrary resting place, but must be a truly rational ground of thought. Nor can His creation be an aimless and mechanical universe: it is fully imbued with end or purpose that tends to reflect the glory of the eternal and personal God, who is its Creator in a full and real sense. But the divine action is not dramatic: of His working we can truly say, with Isa. 45:15, “Truly, thou art a God who hidest thyself.” As creation becomes progressively disclosed to us, its glory, as revealing God, ought to excite within us an always deeper sense of the sentiment of Ps. 8:1, 9, “O Lord, our Lord, how majestic is thy name in all the earth!”

VI. 创造的目的。作为创造的自因，这个神用自己的权能创造了世界，祂可不想让世界只是一个栖息之地，而是必须让它成为一个真正合理的思考之地。祂创造的也不是无目和机械式的世界：这个世界充满了目标或目的，从而彰显出永恒之神的荣光，祂是完全和真实的造物主。而且神的行为并不是戏剧性的：关于祂的作工我们确实可以像《以赛亚书》45:15 中记载的那样说：“你实在是自隐的神。”我们逐渐地了解神的创造，创造的荣光揭示出身的荣光，也必然激发出我们内心中更深的情感，正如《诗篇》8:1, 9 中所记载的：“耶和华我的主啊，你的名在全地何其美！”

CREATOR

[Heb. bôrē'; Gk. ho ktisas, ktistēs].

I. God the Creator.-The clear teaching of Holy Scripture is that God is the Creator of the world. Significantly, the Bible does not begin with the Creator in general and then move on more narrowly to the God of Israel. Its affirmation from the very first is that Yahweh is the Creator. He has created all things, heaven and earth and all that is in them.

This witness is taken up again in the NT, with additional specification. It is by the Word that the world was made; without Him was not anything made that was made (Jn. 1:3). The Son is the one of whom it is said that the heavens are the works of His hands (He. 1:10). By Jesus Christ all things were created (Col. 1:16). The full extent of creation is brought out in the clearest possible way in the NT. When it is said that all things are created (Eph. 3:9), this includes heaven and earth and sea and all that is in them (Rev. 10:6; Acts 4:24; Col. 1:16). The triune God, as Creator, is marked off from all else, which is creature.

II. Creator “ex nihilo”.-It must be stressed that the biblical creation is true creation. Although various words are used, some of them denoting no more than fashioning or making, creation in the Bible is more than manufacture or artistic arrangement on the assumption of existing material. God is not just an architect or builder who works with what is at hand. Nor is creation an emanation from God. Nor is it a natural product in the sense that a child is procreated by its

【希伯来语：bôrē'；希腊语：ho ktisas, ktistēs】。

I. 造物主上帝。《圣经》清楚地记载上帝是创造天地的主。值得注意的是，《圣经》没有以一般的造物主开始，进而提及以色列的神。《圣经》从一开始就明确记载耶和华是造物主。祂创造了所有，包括天和地以及它们里面的一切。

《新约》再次作了见证，并给出了更多的细节。藉着道创造了这世界；凡被造的，没有一样不是藉着祂造的（约 1:3）。论到圣子又说，天也是祂手所造的（来 1:10）。万物藉着耶稣基督造的（西 1:16）。《新约》最清晰地阐述了创造的整个范围。说到创造万物（弗 3:9），包括天、地和海洋以及它们里面的一切（启 10:6；徒 4:24；西 1:16）。三位一体的神就是造物主，祂与其他所有受造物都不相同。

II. 造物主“使无变有”。必须要强调的是圣经的创造是真正的创造。尽管应用了各种词语，一些词语仅仅表示制造或形成，《圣经》中记载的创造不仅是基于原有材料的生产或艺术加工。上帝不仅仅是一个用双手中材料去创造的工程师或建筑师。受造物也不是从上帝而来的。创造也不是一个天然产品，就像父母生孩子那样。上帝和宇宙之间不存在有机的联系。从严格意义上讲，上帝是万物的创造者，也就是说，祂使无变有（ex nihilo）。在《旧约》中，上帝的超然存 parents. There is no organic connection between God and the cosmos. God is the Creator in the strict sense, i.e., He creates out of nothing (ex nihilo). In the OT this finds expression in God's transcendence (Ps. 139:15, etc.) and in His being able to destroy as well as create (Ps. 102:26-28). It is more explicitly formulated in Gen. 1:1 and Isa. 44:6, particularly in the contrast between the eternity of God and the fact that the world comes into being. In the NT the variants of "from the beginning (or "foundation") of the world" (Mk. 10:6; Rom. 1:20; 2 Pet. 3:4) indicate plainly that the world as a totality had a beginning. They leave no place for preexistent matter, and the stress on God's positive action leaves no place for emanation. Also to be considered are statements like Rom. 4:17 and He. 11:3.

III. Creator by the Word.-The agent of creation is the word. Already in Gen. 1 we read that God spoke and it was done (v. 3, etc.). It is by God's word that the heavens were made (Ps. 33:8). God summons what is not into existence, and from its very origin creation is set in a relation of obedience to command. The creative word of God is not understood as a magical incantation that carries intrinsic potency irrespective of its meaning. God is no magician; His word is a meaningful command to which there is obedience. A personal element enters here. God is the loving as well as the commanding God. He cannot be viewed abstractly as a mere first cause. He exercises an initiative of gracious power, and the world of His creating is an organic world; it is not an effect, nor a sum of secondary causes and effects. The same truth is brought out with even greater clarity in the NT. The word by which the world of heaven and earth was made is the Word which was with God and which is God (Jn. 1:1ff.). It is the Word that became flesh (Jn. 1:14). In and by this Word, God calls into being things that are not—a paradox that throws the element of true creation into all the greater relief. As creator, God is the Lord of heaven and earth (Mt. 11:25f.). His will is to be done by all His creatures (Mt. 6:10). He is worthy to receive glory and honor and power because He has created all things (Rev. 4:11).

(诗 139:15; 等) 以及祂既创造又破坏的能力就体现了这一点(诗 102:26-28)。《创世记》1:1 和《以赛亚书》44:6 中更明确地阐述了上帝使无变有的能力, 尤其是神的永恒性和世界被创造这个事实之间的对比。《新约》中, “起初创世”(可 10:6; 罗 1:20; 彼后 3:4) 的各种不同表述明确表示世界作为一个整体有一个开始。这些不同的表述也说明, 创世之前不存在物质, 对上帝积极行动也说明不存在流出。还要思考《罗马书》4:17 和《希伯来书》11:3 等经文中的表述。

III. 藉话语创造的造物主。创造的媒介是话语。我们已从《创世记》1 章中得知上帝的话语创造了一切(创 1:3, 等)。上帝的话语创造了天(诗 33:8)。上帝创造了并不存在的事物, 因为受造物都是由祂创造的, 所以必须要顺服祂。上帝创造的话语不是像魔咒那样, 即使没有意义也充满了力量。上帝不是魔术师; 祂的话语是有意义的命令, 万物都必须遵守祂的命令。这里出现了一个个人因素。上帝是有爱的神, 也是发出命令的神。不能抽象地认为祂仅仅是创造的第一原因。祂主动施恩给受造物, 并且祂创造的世界是一个有机的世界。这个受造的世界不是一个结果, 也不是次要原因和结果的总和。《新约》更加明确地阐述了 this 真理。创造天地的道就是与神同在的道, 这道就是神(约 1:1 起)。这道成了肉身(约 1:14)。神在道中并藉着道将无变为有——这个悖论更加凸显了真正创造的元素。上帝就是造天地的主(太 11:25-26)。神的旨意行在地上(太

IV. Good Creator.-The Creator is the Almighty. His creative word is a word of power and wisdom (Jer. 10:12; Prov. 3:19; 8:27; etc.). He is the God of glory and majesty who sits on the throne from which proceed lightnings and thunderings and voices (Rev. 4:1ff). But this powerful Creator is good. “He saw every thing he had made, and, behold, it was very good” (Gen. 1:31). He can be compared to precious stones, for in Him, and in His work, there is no flaw (Rev. 4:3, 6). He is the Father in heaven who so loves man that He sends sun and rain on both the just and the unjust, i.e., irrespective of whether they bring Him anything in return (Mt. 5:45). If the combination of God’s power and goodness raises a serious problem of theodicy in view of manifest evils in creation, it should be noted that creation as we know it is in a real sense fallen creation and that the Creator is at work to bring it back to perfection.

V. Creator and Purpose.-This leads us to the further biblical truth that the Creator has a purpose. He does not create out of any outer necessity. He is not Himself a

6:10)。祂配得榮耀、尊貴和權柄，因祂創造了一切（啟 4:11）。

IV. 好的造物主。造物主是全能的。造物主創造的話語是有能力和智慧的話語（耶 10:12；箴 3:19；8:27；等）。祂是榮耀和威嚴的神，坐在有閃電、雷轟和聲音發出的寶座上（啟 4:1 起）。而且這位滿有能力的創造主是美善的神，“神看着一切所造的都甚好”（創 1:31）。祂可與寶石相媲美，因為祂和祂所造的都無瑕疵（啟 4:3, 6）。祂是如此愛人的天父，並將日頭和雨賜給好人和歹人，從不計較他們是否給祂任何回報（太 5:45）。如果上帝的力量和善良的結合因在創造中顯明了邪惡而引起了自然神學中的一個嚴重問題，那麼需要指出的是，正如我們所知道的，受造物實際上是墮落的受造物，造物主正在努力地使他們再次變得完美。

V. 造物主和祂的旨意。這讓我們更加了解《聖經》中的真理，造物主有一個旨意。祂沒有根據外在的需要創造一切。祂的創造也不是盲目的創造。所有的受 blind process. There is no eternal creating coextensive with the life of the Creator. God is free and sovereign. He resolves to create (Gen. 1:3, 6, 9, 11, 14, 20, 24, 26). Nor does He do so as an act of mere caprice. Creation itself gives evidence of planning (Gen. 1). Man is given a task in relation to creation (Gen. 1:26). God wills a free response of obedience to His own will (Mt. 6:10). He has created all things unto Christ (Col. 1:16). Creation moves toward a consummation of all things, when all things will be subject to the Son, the second man, and the Son Himself will be subject to the Father, that God may be in all (1 Cor. 15:28). God has created all things for His own pleasure (Rev. 4:11), not in the sense of selfish gratification, but in the sense of purposeful and meaningful activity. Even the fall cannot arrest the divine purpose. God brings it to fulfillment in the new creation in Christ. Christians already belong to this new creation; they are a new creation by the Word (2 Cor. 5:17; Gal. 6:15).

VI. Doctrine of God the Creator.-The doctrine of God the Creator finds credal expression in the phrase: "I believe in God the Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth." Since the witness of the OT and NT is plain in this matter, the clause relating to creation might seem to be superfluous. It was probably included in witness against the varied errors that threatened from the side of Gnosticism, namely, distinction between the creator of this world and the true God, the description of this creator as a mere demiurge, the belief that the world of matter is evil rather than good, and also the excessive prominence of the idea of 造物都不能像造物主那样永远存在。神是自由和至高的神，祂决定创造一切(创 1:3, 6, 11, 14, 20, 24, 26)。祂的创造也不仅是一种变幻莫测的行为。创造本身证明创造是有计划的(创 1)。上帝造人时给他分配了一个任务(创 1:26)。神希望受造物自主地回应祂的旨意(太 6:10)。祂藉着耶稣创造了一切(西 1:16)。当万物都服了圣子(第二个人)，创造就向着圆满的方向发展，子服了父神，而神为万物之主(林前 15:28)。神按着自己的旨意创造了万物(启 4:11)，乃不是为了满足自己的私欲，而是有目的、有意义的行为。即使人类的堕落也不能阻止神的旨意。神的旨意在耶稣基督新造的万物中得以完全。基督徒属于新造物；他们是藉着道而新造的人(林后 5:17；加 6:15)。

VI. 神(造物主)的教义。神(造物主)的教义是：“我信神，全能的父，创造天地的主”。《旧约》和《新约》为这个教义作了明确的见证，这个关于创造的句子似乎是多余的。它可能包括反对各种错误教义的证据，如诺斯替派的威胁，换句话说，世界的造物主和真正的上帝之间之间的区别，这个创造者仅仅是造物主的描述，物质世界是罪恶的世界，而不是美好的世界的信仰，以及对真正的上帝流出这种思想的过分强调。 emanation in relation to the true God.

VII. Creator As Redeemer.-Philosophical intrusion has been responsible for the attempt to separate the doctrine of creation from the special revelation of God and to make it a basic constituent of natural theology. On this view God may be known generally as Creator even though He is not known as the God of Israel or as the God incarnate in Jesus Christ. Indeed, His existence may be metaphysically demonstrated in terms of a first cause or ontological necessity. In support of this view, appeal is sometimes made to Paul's statement in Acts 17:24, though it is conveniently overlooked that Paul is here declaring the God of revelation who is merely the great Unknown for his audience. In fact, the Bible itself does not take the path of a demonstration of God as Creator followed by His specific revelation as Redeemer. God ought to be known in and through His creation, but in fact He is not (Rom. 1:20f.) and for sinful man to try to force open again this door which he himself has closed can only result in confusion. For one thing, the logical demonstration will always be insecure. For another, it can just as easily lead to a mere first cause or static abstraction as to the true and living God. Even if it does lead to God, this might well be the God of deism, or pantheism, or general theism, and a gulf has still to be bridged to the true God. Along the whole path is a battery of philosophical problems regarding the relation of this God to the world, e.g., to causality, to time and space, to finitude. At the end, even if things turn out well, what emerges is still only man's concept of God, and not God Himself in His

VII. 造物主是救世主。哲学试图将创造的教义从神的特殊启示中分离出来，使它成为自然神学的一个基本组成部分。从这一观点来看，尽管耶和华被认为是以色列的神或在基督里道成肉身的神，但是祂通常被认为是造物主。实际上，按照形而上学的观点，神的存在被解释成第一原因或存在论上的必然。为了支持这一观点，有时采用《使徒行传》17:24中保罗的叙述，虽然很容易忽略保罗在这里揭示了一个启示的神，对于听保罗传道的人来说，祂不过是一个伟大的“未知之神”。事实上，《圣经》并没有首先将耶和华描绘成造物主，然后再将祂描绘成赐予特殊启示的救世主。我们应该在神的受造物里并藉着受造物认识神，但是事实上，祂没有（罗 1:20-21）并且不是为了有罪的人试图再次强行打开那扇祂自己已经关闭的只会引发混乱的门。首先，这种逻辑论证总是不牢靠的。其次，这种逻辑论证很容易让人们误以为神仅仅是第一原因或真正永生之神的静态抽象概念。即使这种观念可以让人们认识神，那也很可能是自然神论中的神或泛神论中的神，与真正的神相距甚远。顺着这个思路，存在一系列的哲学难题，这些难题都涉及到这个神和世界的关系，即，因果关系的问题，时间和空间的关系的问题，限制关系的问题。最后，即使解决了所有问题，这个神不过是人类观念中的神，而不是那个既是天父又是救世主的神。 dynamic personal being as Father and Savior.

In contrast, the biblical presentation is a presentation of God Himself. This does not mean that it is experience instead of thought. It means that God declares Himself. God steps forth in His living reality. God reveals Himself, the First and the Last; the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; Yahweh, the God of Israel; the God and Father of the Lord Jesus Christ; the Alpha and Omega; the Almighty. This God, the God of history, the God of salvation, is also the Creator, the Lord of heaven and earth. It is from Him, from His revelation, that we are to learn about the Creator, for He is the Creator. It is from Him that we learn about the relation of the creature to Him. It is from Him that we are to know the Creator, i.e., God Himself as Creator, Jesus Christ as the Word of creation, and to enter into the fulfillment of His creative purpose for us.

CREATURE.

The word “creature,” as it occurs in the NT, often translates the Gk. ktisis or ktisma, from the verb ktizō, “create.” In the book of Revelation “creature” generally renders zōon (see CREATURE, LIVING). In the OT it stands for words that have in the original no reference to creation, but come from other roots. Heb. nepes̄ hayyā (lit. “a breathing creature”) occurs in the accounts of the Creation and the Flood and at the close of the lists of clean and unclean animals in Lev. 11:46; while ḥay (lit. “a living thing”) occurs thirteen times in Ezk. 1, 3, and 10 (see CREATURE, LIVING). Rāmas and remeš occur frequently in Genesis, generally translated “Creeping Thing.” ’Ōhîm, Howling Creatures, occurs once only in Isa. 13:21. See also CREATION.

相比之下,《圣经》的描述就是神自己的描述。这并不意味着这是经历而不是思考。这意味着神宣称祂自己是真神。祂在自己的生存现实中出现。祂显明祂自己是:起初和最终的神;亚伯拉罕、以撒和雅各的神;耶和华,以色列的神;耶稣基督的神和父;阿拉法和俄梅戛;全能的神。这个神,是历史的神、救赎的神,也是创造天地的主。藉着祂和祂的启示,我们认识了造物主,因为祂就是造物主。藉着祂我们知道了万物与祂的关系。藉着祂我们认识了造物主,也就是说,神就是造物主,耶稣基督是创造的道,藉着祂完成了神创造的旨意。

CREATURE. 被造的、受造物

《新约》中出现了“creature”(“被造的”)一词,常常用它来翻译希腊语 ktisis 或 ktisma, 这两个希腊语源于动词 ktizō, 意为“创造”。在《启示录》中“creature”(“被造的”)通常翻译希腊语 zōon (见 CREATURE, LIVING[活物])。在《旧约》中,这个词最初不表示创造,创造这层含义源于其他词根。希伯来语 nepes̄ hayyā (字面意思是“活物”)出现在创

CREATURE, LIVING

[Heb. usually ḥayyâ or nepes ḥayyâ; Gk. zōon, also ktisma (Rev. 8:9)]; AV also THING LIVING, BEAST; NEB also LIVING THING, CREATURE. Heb. ḥayyâ is a feminine adjective based on the root ḥyh, “to live.” These Hebrew and Greek terms denote water or land animals and celestial beings.

I. Living Creatures as Animals.—In the creation narrative of Gen. 1 the term ḥayyâ is translated “living creature,” referring collectively to water creatures (1:20f.; cf. Ezk. 47:9) in contrast to birds of the sky (Ps. 104:25), and to land animals (Gen. 1:28) in contrast to birds and fishes (Gen. 8:19; Lev. 11:2). The meaning of every “living creature” in Gen. 2:19 (here expressly nepes ḥayyâ) includes cattle, birds, and beasts of the field (v. 20). In the flood story Yahweh vows not to destroy again “every living creature as I have done” (Gen. 8:21), which make up all land animals and birds (8:19; 9:10). These are again included in the “living creatures” of the covenant made with Noah (9:12, 15f.). Ḥayyâ can also refer in a more restricted sense to wild,

造和洪水的故事中以及《利未记》11:46 关于洁净和不洁净的动物列表的末尾处; 而 ḥay (字面意思是“活物”) 在《以西结书》1, 3 和 10 章 (见 CREATURE, LIVING [活物]) 中出现了十三次。Rāmas 和 remeš 在《创世记》中频繁出现, 通常被译为 “Creeping Thing” (“昆虫”)。’Ōhîm, (“咆哮的兽”) 只在《以赛亚书》13:21 中出现过一次。另见 CREATION (创造)。

CREATURE, LIVING 活物

【希伯来语: 通常为 ḥayyâ 或 nepes ḥayyâ; 希腊语: zōon 和 ktisma (启 8:9)】; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 THING LIVING (“活物”), BEAST (“野兽”); 《新英文译本》还译为 LIVING THING (“活物”), CREATURE (“生物”)。希伯来语 ḥayyâ 是源于词根 ḥyh 的阴性形容词, 意思是 “活”。这些希伯来词语和希腊词语表示水里或陆地上的动物和天上的物。

I. 动物。在《创世记》1 章的创世故事中, 词语 ḥayyâ 被译为 “living creature” (“活物”), 表示所有海里的生物 (创 1:20-21; 参: 结 47:9), 与天空中的飞鸟形成了对比 (诗 104:25), 还表示地面上的动物 (创 1:28), 与鸟和鱼形成了对比 (创 8:19; 利 11:2)。《创世记》2:19 中 “活物” (这里显然是 nepes ḥayyâ) 包括牲畜、鸟和地上的野兽 (创 1:20)。在洪水故事中, 耶和华起誓不会再 “按着我才行的” 灭 “各种活物了” (创 8:21), 这些活物包括地上一切的动物和鸟类 (创 8:19; 9:10)。这些活物也被包括在神与诺亚立约的 “活物” 之中 (创 9:12, 15-16)。从更严格的意义上说, Ḥayyâ 可以表示未被驯服的野兽 (《修订标准译本》译为 “beasts” [“野兽”]), 与能被驯服的 “牲畜” (b^ehēmā) 形成了对比 (创 8:1; 诗 148:10; 伯 37:8; 结 14:15; 33:27; 番 2:15)。在关于洁净和不洁净 untamed animals (RSV “beasts”) in contrast to “cattle” (b^ehēmā) which can be domesticated (Gen. 8:1; Ps. 148:10; Job 37:8; Ezk. 14:15; 33:27; Zeph. 2:15). In the law concerning clean and unclean animals, “living creatures” refers to all clean animals on earth (Lev. 11:2f., ḥayyā) which are edible (v. 47) as well as those that are unclean and inedible (v. 47), and even the water creatures other than the aquatic “swarming creatures” (vv. 10, 46; cf. Gen. 1:20f.). In an exceptional case we find ḥayyā used once each to designate domesticated animals in the form of livestock (Lev. 27:34, NEB “livestock”; RSV “beasts”) and a beast of burden or pack animal (Isa. 46:1). In Rev. 8:9 the “living creatures” (ktismata, pl of ktisma) are created “living creatures” in the water (cf. Rev. 5:13; 1 Tim. 4:4).

II. Living Creatures as Celestial Beings.-A. In the OT. The “living creatures” of the throne vision of Ezekiel reflect ancient Near Eastern symbolism in depicting the transcendence of the Ruler of the World who sits enthroned in inaccessible holiness above the clouds of heaven (1:5-21). These four “living creatures” were celestial beings that supported the throne of God (1:26; 10:20); they had the appearance or form of human beings, but each with four faces and four wings, straight legs and hooves like that of a calf, and human hands under their wings (1:6-8); they made rumbling noises with their wings (3:13; 10:5). They are identified as “cherubim” (10:15). The description of the celestial “living beings” in Ezekiel symbolizes the plenitude of offices, capabilities, and adaptabilities.

的动物的律法中，“活物”指的是地上一切可吃的（利 11:47）洁净的动物（利 11:2-3, ḥayyā）和不可吃的不洁净的动物（利 11:47），以及除了水中“爬行的生物”之外的生物（利 11:10, 46；参：创 1:20-21）。我们发现在特殊情况下 ḥayyā 只一次用来表示家养的动物（利 27:34，《新英文译本》译为“livestock”[“牲畜”]；《修订标准译本》译为“beasts”[“兽”]）和驮重物的兽或牲畜（赛 46:1）。在《启示录》8:9 中，水中的“活物”（ktismata, ktisma 的复数）生“活物”（参：启 5:13；提前 4:4）。

II. 天上的活物。A. 《旧约》。以西结所见异象中的“活物”体现出了古近东的象征手法，这种象征手法描绘了那位世界统治者的超然存在，祂高坐在云端之上的圣洁宝座上（结 1:5-21）。这四“活物”是支持神宝座的天上之物（结 1:26; 10:20）；他们有人的形状，但是每一个活物有四个脸面和四个翅膀，腿是直的，脚掌好像牛犊之蹄，在四面的翅膀以下有人的手（结 1:6-8）；他们的翅膀发出轰轰的响声（结 3:13; 10:5）。他们被称为“基路伯”（结 10:15）。《以西结书》中记载的天上的“活物”象征着丰盛的职分、能力和适应力。

Symbolic winged creatures were a prominent feature of both mythology and architecture in the ancient Near East. Archeological discoveries in Palestine have brought to light some ancient representations of cherubim-like beings. As supporters of the divine throne and guardians of the sacred ark, winged figures support the throne of King Hiram of Byblos (ancient Gebal), who reigned ca. 1200 B.C., and similar creatures are found on incense altars discovered at Taanach, Hamath, and Megiddo. At Samaria some ivory panels depict a composite creature with human face and animal body of four legs and two elaborate wings. Representations of such beings, dating mostly from the 9th cent. B.C., have been found also at Carchemish, Nimrûd, Aleppo, and Tell Halaf (ANEP, nos. 649–655). In Mesopotamia winged bulls and lions and colossi were customarily placed at the entrance of Babylonian and Assyrian palaces and temples.

B. In the NT. The “four living creatures” of Rev. 4:6–9, which remind us of the zôa (LXX) in Ezk. 1:5–22, did not support the throne but were “on each side of the throne” (4:6; cf. 7:17) and had six wings (4:8) like seraphim (Isa. 6:2) instead of four each. They had each only one face, one like that “of a man” (Rev. 4:7), in contrast to the four faces of the celestial beings in Ezekiel. The first creature resembled a lion, the second an ox, the third had a human face, the fourth looked like a flying eagle (4:7). Each had eyes all over, inside and out (v. 8), and gave glory, honor, and praise unceasingly to the Deity seated on the throne (vv. 8f.). In the vision of the opening of the seals each of the “living creatures” cried “Come forward!” as the first four seals were broken (6:1–7). They gave to the angels the seven golden bowls containing the last plagues (15:7). Otherwise they worshiped God (7:11; 14:3; 19:4).

具有象征意义的有翅膀的活物是古近东的神话和建筑中一个非常突出的要素。考古人员在巴勒斯坦发现了一些基路伯似的活物的古代图案。作为神的宝座的支持者和神约柜的保护者，有翅膀的活物保护着巴比伦（古迦巴勒）希兰的宝座，希兰约在公元前 1200 年统治巴比伦，并且在他纳、哈马口和米吉多发掘的香坛上发现了类似的活物图案。撒玛利亚一些象牙板上描画了一个长着人脸，身体有四条腿和两个精巧翅膀的生物。在迦基米施，尼姆鲁德，阿勒坡和哈拉夫废墟也发现了这种活物的图案，其中大多数图案可追溯至公元前 9 世纪（ANEP, 649–655）。在美索不达米亚，翼牛、翼狮像和阿波罗神像通常被放在巴比伦和亚述宫殿和神殿的入口处。

B. 《新约》。《启示录》4:6-9 中记载的“四活物”让我们想到了《以西结书》1:5-22 中的“活物”（《七十士译本》作 zôa），这四个活物并没有支持宝座，而是“在宝座周围”（启 4:6；参：7:17），并且像撒拉弗一样（赛 6:2）有六个翅膀（结 4:8），而不是四个翅膀。他们各自都只有一个脸面，其中一个像“人的脸”（启 4:7），而《以西结书》中的活物有四个脸面。第一个活物像狮子，第二个像牛犊，第三个脸面像人，第四个像飞鹰（启 4:7）。每个活物内外都满了眼睛（启 4:8），将荣耀、尊贵、感谢归给那坐在宝座上的神（启 4:8-9）。在打开封印的异象中，当打开第一个封印时，每个“活物”都喊道：“你来！”（启 6:1-7）。他们把七个盛满了神大怒的金碗给了那位天使（启 15:7）。另外，他们都敬拜神

(启 7:11; 14:3; 19:4)。

CREDIT.

“Credit” occurs as a verb only in Lev. 7:18, where Heb. ḥāšab means “reckon” or “attribute” (AV “imputed”; NEB “counted to his credit”). In the NT the noun is used in the general sense of approbation, as Gk. kléos (1 Pet. 2:20; AV “glory”) and cháris (Lk. 6:32–34; AV “thank”), which is close in meaning to “reward” (Bauer, p. 885). Phil. 4:17 has a figurative use of a commercial term, for eis lógon here means “in settlement (of an account)” (Bauer, p. 479).

CREDIT. 算作、夸、酬谢

“Credit”只在《利未记》7:18 中用作动词,在这节经文中,希伯来语 ḥāšab 的意思是“算作”或“归属”(《钦定版圣经》译为“imputed”[“归于”];《新英文译本》译为“counted to his credit”[“算作”])。在《新约》中,这个名词的普通含义是“赞赏”,与希腊语 kléos (彼前 2:20;《钦定版圣经》译为“glory”[“夸”])和 cháris (路 6:32–34;《钦定版圣经》译为“thank”[“酬谢”])的含义相同,与“reward”(“酬谢”)含义相近(Bauer, 885 页)。《腓利比书》4:17 中有一个商业用语的比喻用法,因为 eis lógon 在这里表示“归在……账上”(Bauer, 479 页)。

I. Terminology.-A. Creed. The Oxford English Dictionary definition of “creed” is “a brief formal summary of the Christian faith.” But both the derivation of the term and the nature of the definitive creeds indicate that the element of personal trust in God is prominent. A creed is thus something more than a symposium of accepted belief or even an epitome of divinely revealed truth. It involves the existential commitment of the confessor to God.

The English substantive “creed” stems from the Lat. verb credo, which is the opening word in the Latin versions of both the Apostles' Creed and Nicene Creed. Its original significance was “I place confidence in,” “I rely upon.” It thus corresponds to the NT Gk.

I. 术语。A. 信经。牛津英语词典上将“creed”定义为“基督教的基本信仰纲领。”但是这个词的派生词和权威信经的本质表明个人对上帝的信心是信经的重要组成部分。因此，信经不仅仅是公认信仰的专题论文集，也不是上帝揭示出的真理的梗概。信经中包含了忏悔者对上帝真实存在的认可。

英语的名词性实词“creed”（“信经”）源于拉丁语动词 credo，这个词是《使徒信经》和《尼西亚信经》拉丁语版本的第一个词。它的原始意思是“我信”或“我依靠”。因此与《新约》中的希腊语动词 pisteuō 的含义相同；pisteuō 常常受 eis 的限制，后面的宾语只能是天父（上

verb pisteuō; and as the latter is frequently enforced by eis when the object is either God the Father or Christ the Son (cf. Bauer, p. 667), so credo is strengthened by in. Credo in unum Deum implies more than a bare recognition that only one true God exists; it brings the worshiper into a faith-relationship with Him that is expressed in the total unqualified surrender of the self. As Jungmann points out, the earlier fathers of the Church do not seem to have drawn particular attention to this factor. Nevertheless, since the time of Augustine the phrase has been interpreted as including both an intellectual adherence to God and a loving endeavor to attain to Him (J. A. Jungmann, The Early Liturgy [1959], pp. 95f.).

A further elucidation of significance is supplied by etymology. Although “creed” shares the same root as both “credit” and “credulity,” its affinities are with the former rather than with the latter. “Rightly understood as an act of worship,” explains P. T. Fuhrmann, “the use of a creed is related more to ‘credit’ than to ‘credulity,’ setting forth affirmations in order to give credit to God rather than to express credulity or unexamined statements of belief. In this sense, creeds are the declaration of confession and gratitude to the glory of God” (p. 9).

B. Confession. “Confession” comes from Lat. confiteor as found in the Vulgate and patristic literature. The intention of Augustine’s classic Confessiones was not only to acknowledge former transgressions but even more to thank and bless God openly for what He had done for his soul—“the confession of him who praises,” as he himself describes it, as well as “the confession of him who sighs” (Enarrationes iii, on Ps. 95 [Ps. 94, Vulg.], 4). The confession is usually longer than a creed. It is more detailed and systematic. It is designed not so much for recital as for reference.

帝)或耶稣基督(圣子)(参: Bauer, 667 页), 因此 in 加强了信经 (credo) 的意义。我信独一的真神(Credo in unum Deum) 不仅仅表示敬拜者承认仅有一位真神存在; 还使敬拜者和神建立了一种信仰关系, 这种关系体现在崇拜者无条件崇拜神, 把自己交托给神。格曼 (Jungmann) 认为早期的教父似乎没有特别注意这一要素。然而, 自奥古斯丁时期开始, 这句话被解释成完全信靠上帝和满有爱心地走近上帝 (J. A. Jungmann, The Early Liturgy [1959], 95-96 页)。

词源学进一步阐明了这个词的意思。虽然 “creed” (“信经”) 与 “credit” (“信任”) 和 “credulity” (“轻信”) 的词根相同, 但是与 “credulity” 相比, “creed” 与 “credit” 的关系更密切。富尔曼 (P. T. Fuhrmann) 解释说: “正确地理解是崇拜的一种方式”, 与 “轻信” 相比, 信经与 “信任” 的关系更为紧密。表明信心是为了相信上帝, 而不是为了表达轻信或未经核实的信仰告白。在这层意思上来说, 信条是悔改的声明和对神的荣耀的感恩” (9 页)。

B. 信条。 “Confession” (“信条”) 源于拉丁语 confiteor, 《武加大译本》和教父著作中出现了 confiteor 这个词。奥古斯丁写《忏悔录》这部经典作品不仅仅是为了承认之前的过犯, 更是为了公开地感谢和赞美上帝, 因为祂救赎了我们的心灵——他自己描述为 “称谢的忏悔” 和 “叹息的忏悔” (Enarrationes iii, 诗

C. Symbol. “Symbol” was first used in a credal context in the 3rd cent., in the correspondence between Cyprian and Firmilian. The latter refers to the baptismal formula as the “symbol of the Trinity” (PL, III, 1143). In the letter from the Synod of Milan to Siricius (A.D. 390) the term is specifically applied to the Apostles’ Creed (PL, XVI, 1213). Gk. sýmbolon (Lat. symbolum orsignum) is derived from the Gk. verb symbállein, “put together.” It was originally a secret password used as a token of recognition among religious groups and elsewhere. In early Christianity, however, it came to signify “a compendium of the fundamental facts or truths of faith that a candidate had to recite or to confirm as an evidence of his faith before being baptized and accepted as a member of the church” (Fuhrmann, p.12).

D. Rule of Faith. Regula fidei (or veritatis) is the Latin form of the Eastern kánōn tēs alētheías or ekklēsías (cf. Origen, comm. on John, xxxii.16). According to Cyril of Jerusalem, catechumens were supplied with a considerable body of Christian doctrine on such subjects as the being and unity of God, creation, the Incarnation, Christ the Second Adam, His birth, the Cross, the Resurrection, the Ascension, the future judgment, the Holy Spirit, the Church, the Christian doctrine of man, his soul and body, his free will, his resurrection,

95 [Ps. 94, Vulg.], 4). 信条通常比信经要长。信条更详细并且更成体系。制定信条不是为了诵读，而是为了供参考。

C. 教义。公元3世纪的信经（居普良与费弥里之间的书信）中第一次使用了“symbol”（“教义”或“信条”）这个词。费弥里认为洗礼条款是“三位一体的教义”（PL, III, 1143）。在米兰教会给西利修斯教会的信中（公元390年），这个词专门用来表示《使徒信经》（PL, XVI, 1213）。希腊语 sýmbolon（拉丁语：symbolum orsignum）源自希腊语动词 symbállein，意思是“组合在一起”。最初用这个词表示宗教团体和其他组织的一个秘密暗号。然而，在早期基督教教义中，这个词表示“一个信徒在他受洗和成为教会成员之前，必须要背诵或确认的基本事实或信仰真理的纲要[作为信心的证据]”（Fuhrmann, 12页）。

D. 信仰准则。信仰准则（Regula fidei 或 veritatis）是东方的 kánōn tēs alētheías 或 ekklēsías 的拉丁语形式（参：Origen, 《约翰福音》注释, xxxii.16）。根据耶路撒冷的西里尔（Cyril）的描述，新信徒要了解相当重要的基督教教义，其中包括上帝的存在和合一性、创造、道成肉身、第二位亚当耶稣、耶稣的降生、十字架、复活、升天、将来的审判、圣灵、教会、人类的基督教教义、人类的灵和肉体、人的自由意志、人的复活、圣经正典、圣事、以及基督徒在世俗生活中的一些简单实用的指导（Catecheses 4）。这个教导构成了使徒传统或信仰准

the canon of Scripture, the sacraments, together with some simple practical guidance on Christian living in a heathen world (Catecheses 4). This instruction constituted the Apostolic Tradition or Rule of Faith (cf. Bindley, pp 4f.). It was closely related to the incipient Apostles' Creed, and some scholars have actually made the identification (e.g., Harnack, Zahn). It would appear improbable, however, that these were interchangeable expressions (cf. A. J. Mason in H. B. Swete, ed., Essays on the Early History of the Church and the Ministry [1918], p. 51).

E. Other terms. Other incidental terms may be noted in passing. Clement of Alexandria speaks of "the faith" (Paed i.38; Misc. vii.10.56), and Probst claims a reference to the creed, although the allusion is uncertain. Origen describes the Latin translation by Rufinus as an "abbreviated word" (comm.on Romans, ix.25). Tertullian talks about the "words of the oath," which may relate to the baptismal confession (Ad martyres 3).

II. Scriptural Basis.-A recognition that the sacred Scriptures constitute a unity would make us expect to find the germs of credal confession in the OT, and this is in fact the case. Brief, spontaneous utterances of faith occur, such as those recorded in Ps. 7:1 and 63:1. In the Decalogue (Ex. 20:1-17; Dt. 5:6-21) are found the rudiments of credal formulation, and in the Shema (constructed from Dt. 6:4-9; 11:13-21; Nu. 15:37-41) we reach what may legitimately be regarded as the symbol of OT faith and the earliest attempt to enunciate a doctrine (cf. HJP, II/2, 77-

则 (Bindley, 4-5 页)。这与初期的使徒信经密切相关,有些学者实际上认为两者是相同的(如, Harnack, Zahn)。然而,这些似乎不太可能是可以互换的表达(参: A. J. Mason in H. B. Swete 编, Essays on the Early History of the Church and the Ministry [1918], 51 页)。

*E. 其他术语。*还可以顺便讨论一下其他的术语。亚历山太的革利免提到了“信仰”(Paed i.38; Misc. vii.10.56), 普洛斯(Probst)提到了信经,但是尚不清楚具体指的是什么。俄利根认为鲁非诺(Rufinus)翻译的拉丁语是一个“缩略语”(《罗马书注释》ix.25)。特士良提到了“誓言”,这可能指的是洗礼的信条(Ad martyres 3)。

*II. 圣经依据。*如果我们承认《圣经》是一个整体,就有望在《旧约》中找到关于信经的蛛丝马迹,而事实上我们确实找到了。《诗篇》7:1 和 63:1 中出现了信心的自发又简短的表达。我们在摩西十诫(出 20:1-17; 申 5:6-21)中发现了信经形成的基础,我们在《示玛篇》(根据《申命记》6:4-9; 11:13-21; 《民数记》15:37-41 构思而成)中的发现足可以被视为旧约信仰的教义(信条)和阐述教义的早期尝试(HJP, II/2, 77-79, 83-85)。博都斯(N. W. Porteous)毫不犹豫地将其视为“信经表述”,而罗宾逊(H. W. Robinson)称之为“一神论信仰的早期犹太教信条”,虽然他更喜欢第三版

79, 83–85). N. W. Porteous does not hesitate to describe this as a “credal statement,” and H. W. Robinson speaks of it as “the primary Jewish confession of a monotheistic faith,” although he prefers the third RV mg. rendering, “The Lord is our God, the Lord alone,” which mitigates the strictness of the assumed monotheism and thus prepares the way for trinitarian disclosures (H. W. Robinson, ed., Record and Revelation [1938], pp. 242, 308).

A later passage in Dt. 26:5–9 is actually designated by recent scholars as “the little Credo,” although its emphasis is less upon the nature of God than on His mighty saving acts (cf. OTMS, p. 89).

It is in the NT that one finds the fullest scriptural anticipations of the creeds. Immediately one is conscious of entering a realm in which the confessional declarations of the Church had their birth. “It is impossible to overlook the emphasis on the transmission of authoritative doctrine which is to be found everywhere in the New Testament,” affirms J. N. D. Kelly, who has written so exhaustively on this subject that we can do no better than to summarize his evidence at this stage (Early Christian Creeds [2nd ed. 1960], p. 8).

Certainly in the later NT strata the references to an inherited body of doctrine are sufficiently clear. In Jude 3, for instance, we read of “the faith which was once for all delivered to the saints”; and later in v. 20 the inspired author speaks of “your most holy faith” in the same sense. Likewise in the Pastorals such expressions as “the pattern of the

《申命记》26:5-9 中的一段稍晚时期的经文实际上被当代学者称为“小信经”，尽管这段经文主要强调上帝的本性，而不是祂救赎的行为（参：OTMS, 89 页）。

有人在《新约》中发现了关于信经的最完整的圣经预言。他随即便会意识到自己已经找到了教会信条的源头。凯利（J. N. D. Kelly）说“我们无法忽略掉《新约》对权威信条传播的重视，因为《新约》中随处可见”，关于这个主题，凯利写得非常详尽，现阶段我们最好总结他的证据（Early Christian Creeds [1960 年第 2 版]，8 页）。 sound words” (2 Tim. 1:13), “sound teaching” (2 Tim. 4:3), “sound doctrine” (Tit. 1:9), “what has been entrusted to you” (1 Tim. 6:20), and “the truth that has been entrusted to you” (2 Tim. 1:14); the “faith” in its concrete acceptance (1 Tim. 1:19; Tit. 1:13); and the “good doctrine” (1 Tim. 4:6) recur repeatedly. The writer of Hebrews often refers to “the confessions” (AV “profession”; Gk. tés homologías) that believers are urged to hold fast (3:1; 4:14; 10:23).

It is equally apparent that at a much earlier stage this process of formulation was at work. Paul reminds the Galatians that before their very eyes Jesus Christ had been “publicly portrayed as crucified” (3:1). In 2 Thess. 2:15 he exhorts his readers to “hold to the traditions” they had been taught, and in Rom. 6:17 he alludes explicitly to “the standard of teaching” to which they were committed (cf. also 1 Cor. 11:23; 15:3). Other recurring expressions include “the faith” (Col. 2:7; Gal. 1:23; Eph 4:5), “the word of God” or “the word of the Lord” (1 Thess. 1:6; 2 Thess. 3:1; 1 Cor. 14:36; Gal. 6:6; Phil. 1:14), “the gospel” (Gal. 2:2; Rom. 1:16; 16:25; 1 Cor. 15:1) or “the preaching” (Rom. 16:25; 1 Cor. 1:21). This latter, of course, is reflected in the actual instances in Acts from which C. H. Dodd has compiled his reconstruction (cf. Apostolic Preaching and Its Developments [2nd ed. 1954], p. 17; though this is criticized by R. Mounce, Essential Nature of NT Preaching [1960]).

This deposit must not be accepted in isolation, for it represents only one strand among several. It needs to be supplemented from the pastoral and liturgical aspects of NT church life. It is in this realm, nevertheless, that one can begin to appreciate the manner in which the rudiments of credal statement were first established.

前 6:20) 和 “从前所托付你的善道” (提后 1:14) 这样的词语; 并且反复出现健全的 “信仰” (提前 1:19; 多 1:13) 和 “善道” (提前 4:6) 这样的词语。《希伯来书》的作者常提及 “承认” (《钦定版圣经》译为 “profession” [“宣认”]; 希腊语: tés homologías), 信徒要坚持所承认的指望 (来 3:1; 4:14; 10:23)。

显然, 信经的形成过程在更早时期就已经开始了。保罗提醒加拉太人, “耶稣基督钉十字架”已经活画在他们的眼前(加 3:1)。在《帖撒罗尼迦后书》2:15 中, 保罗劝戒他的读者要 “坚守传讲给他们的教训”, 在《罗马书》6:17 中, 保罗明确表示他们要顺服 “道理的模范”(另参: 林前 11:23; 15:3)。其他反复出现的词语有 “信心” (西 2:7; 加 1:23; 弗 4:5)、 “神的道” 或 “主的道” (帖前 1:6; 帖后 3:1; 林前 14:36; 加 6:6; 腓 1:14)、 “福音” (加 2:2; 罗 1:16; 16:25; 林前 15:1) 或 “道理” (罗 16:25; 林前 1:21)。当然, 后者在《使徒行传》的实际例子中得到了体现, 多德 (C. H. Dodd) 根据《使徒行传》编辑了他的著作 (参: Apostolic Preaching and Its Developments [1954 年第 2 版], 17 页; 然而茅斯[R. Mounce]批判了这部作品, Essential Nature of NT Preaching [1960])。

千万不要孤立地接受这种继承部分, 因为它仅代表着众多组成部分中的一部分。这需从《新约》教会生活的教牧和礼拜仪式方面进行补充。然而, 正是

The evidence carries us further than this, however. As Canon Kelly observes, “The reader of the NT is continually coming across creed like slogans and tags, catchwords which at the time of writing were being consecrated by popular usage. In addition he lights upon longer passages which, while still fluid in their phrasing, betray by their context, rhythm and general pattern, as well as by their content, that they derive from community tradition rather than from the writer’s untrammelled invention. To explain them as excerpts from or echoes of an official ecclesiastical formula, as used to be fashionable, is unnecessary and misleading. Since the very existence of a creed in the precise sense implied is pure hypothesis, and unlikely hypothesis at that, it is more natural to treat them as independent units and examine them on their merits” (Creeds, p. 13).

Most frequent are the single-clause Christologies which recur so consistently throughout the NT. The centrality of the Son is a feature of the creeds. “Proclamation of Christ,” according to Cullmann, “is the starting-point of every Christian confession” (p. 39), and this is true both historically and theologically.

These Christologies are so profuse as to outnumber all other forms. The most elementary are the titles ascribed to Jesus of Nazareth. “Son of man” was never regarded as a confession, even though it was introduced by Jesus Himself; but

然而，这个证据提供给我们的信息不止如此。如凯利（Canon Kelly）注意到，“新约读者经常读到像口号、标签和流行语一样的信经，在写作《新约》时这些信经已被普遍认为是神圣的。此外凯利偶然还会读到一些较长的段落，虽然这些段落依然行文流畅，但是通过语境、韵律和普通模式，以及内容可以看出它们源自会众传统，而不是由作者随意捏造的。我们没有必要认为这些信经是教会信条的节选或对教会信条的回应，曾一度非常流行，而且这种解释也是有误导性的。有人认为这可能意味着存在一个意义明确的信经，不过这完全是假设，而且不太可能成立，因此，我们应该将它们视为独立的信经，并仔细地研究它们的价值。”（Creeds, 13 页）

最频繁出现的信条还是反复出现在《新约》中的有关基督的单句。这些信经的一大特点是都以人子为中心。库尔曼（Cullmann）认为“基督的宣告是每一个基督徒悔改的开始”（39 页），无论从神学还是从历史学看，这都是真实的。

这些基督论教义非常丰富，因此在数量上超越了其他所有的教义。拿撒勒耶稣的称谓是最基本的基督论教义。“人子”从来不被认为是一则信条，即使耶稣基督首先称自己是人子；但是“基督”（约 1:41；9:35；约壹 2:22）“神的儿子”（徒

“Christ” (Jn. 1:41; 9:35; 1 Jn. 2:22), “Son of God” (Acts 8:37; Mt. 16:16), and “Lord” (Rom. 10:9; 1 Cor. 12:3; Phil. 2:11) soon passed into use. New titles were added, in particular the divine predication theós. This was initially applied to Christ in connection with liturgical formulas. In Rom. 9:5 a doxology to God is employed as a doxology to Christ. In Tit. 2:13f. a doxology to God is changed into a doxology to Christ. As Stauffer comments, “After John 20:28 in the story of the creeds of the primitive Church there was no stopping the attribution of the word God to Christ” (NT Theology [Eng. tr.1955], p. 324 n. 803).

The most familiar of all the incipient credal declarations of the NT is the slogan kýrios Iésous (“Jesus is Lord”). Paul insists that “no one can say ‘Jesus is Lord’ except by the Holy Spirit” (1 Cor. 12:3). And again, “If you confess with your lips that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved” (Rom. 10:9). The precise context of these sayings is not indicated by the apostle, but the fact that the first is contrasted with the alternative of anathematizing Our Lord would suggest that some time of testing, perhaps by persecution, is envisaged. The verse from Romans is generally associated with the sacrament of baptism. The reiterated description of the rite as being “in the name of the Lord Jesus” (Acts 8:16; 19:5; 1 Cor. 6:11) seems to indicate that the formula was included. The expression recurs in Phil. 2:11 and Col. 2:6 (cf. E. von Dubschütz, ZNW, 30 [1931], 97–123; TDNT, III, s.v. κύριος [Quell, Foerster]).

8:37; 太 16:16) 和 “主” (罗 10:9; 林前 12:3; 腓 2:11) 的称谓很快就被采用了。另外还增加了新的称谓, 尤其是 theós 这个神圣称谓。起初在举行仪式时, 通常称基督为 theós。《罗马书》9:5 用上帝的赞美诗来赞美基督。在《提多书》2:13-14 中, 对神的称颂变成了对耶稣基督的称颂。斯托弗 (Stauffer) 评论道: “《约翰福音》20:18 阐述了初期教会的信经的来历, 此后, 始终称基督为神” (NT Theology [1955 年英译本], 324 页, 803)。

《新约》中最常见的初期信经是 kýrios Iésous (“耶稣是主”)。保罗认为 “若不是被圣灵感动的, 也没有能说 ‘耶稣是主’ 的” (林前 12:3)。此外, “你若口里承认耶稣为主, 心里信 神叫祂从死里复活, 就必得救” (罗 10:9)。使徒保罗并没有指出这些话语的确切背景, 但事实上, 第一个句与选择谴责我主形成了对比, 这表明此时正值试验期或迫害期。《罗马书》中的这节经文通常与洗礼的圣事有关。不断重复 “奉主耶稣的名” 施洗 (徒 8:16; 19:5; 林前 6:11) 似乎表明这句话是洗礼的惯用语。《腓利比书》2:11 和《歌罗西书》2:6 中也出现了这种表达 (参: E. von Dubschütz, ZNW, 30 [1931], 97–123; TDNT, III, 见词条 κύριος [Quell, Foerster])。

Thus far we have been concerned with creeds in miniature. But the NT also affords samples of fuller and more detailed confessions. In 1 Cor. 15:3-7 Paul supplies a fourfold summary worked out in the manner of the doxological formulas in the Petrine speeches of Acts. It is described as “in what terms I preached to you the gospel, which you received, in which you stand” (v. 1). It is not something he has invented but something he has received and handed on. With this we must associate the more deliberate doctrinal statement of Rom. 1:3f. and the abbreviated excerpts in Rom. 8:34 and 2 Tim. 2:8. A similar passage occurs in 1 Pet. 3:18-20.

In addition to these more elaborate multiple Christologies, we also meet instances in the NT of distinctly bipartite confessions in which the Father and Son are included together, although the approach is consistently christological. One of the most significant of such passages is 1 Cor. 8:6, “yet for us there is one God, the Father, from whom are all things and for whom we exist, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, through whom are all things and through whom we exist.” Here the unity of the Godhead is maintained in contrast to the “many ‘gods’ and many ‘lords’” (v. 5) of encircling heathendom, and the earliest allusion is made in the NT to the agency of Christ in creation. 1 Tim. 2:5 is equally relevant, laying emphasis as it does upon the mediatorial sacrifice of Our Lord. As Lietzmann shows, these formulas, especially the former, became the basis of all confessions containing more than a single article (ZNW, 22 [1923], 268-273).

到目前为止，我们一直关注的是简短的信经。《新约》还提供了关于更完整、更详细的信条的例子。在《哥林多前书》15:3-7 中，保罗用《使徒行传》中彼得的颂赞方式作了四重综述。这节经文描述道“我如今把先前所传给你们福音，告诉你们知道。这福音你们也领受了，又靠着站立得住”（林前 15:1）。这福音不是他自己创造的，是他先领受然后传给他们的。我们必须将这部分内容与《罗马书》1:3-4 中更深刻的信条声明和《罗马书》8:34 与《提摩太后书》2:8 的简短摘录联系起来。《彼得前书》3:18-20 中也出现了类似的表述。

除了这些较复杂多样的基督论，我们也可以看到在《新约》中看到显然由两部分组成的信条，信条中既提到了天父也提到了圣子，但是仍然采用基督论的方式。其中最重要的一处经文是《哥林多前书》8:6 “然而我们只有一位神，就是父，万物都本于祂，我们也归于祂；并有一位主，就是主耶稣基督，万物都是藉着祂有的，我们也是藉着祂有的。”这里神性的合一与异教的“多‘神’和多‘主’”（林前 8:5）形成了鲜明对比，并且《新约》最早提及了万物是藉着中保耶稣基督而造的。《提摩太前书》2:5 的相关的经文强调了我主作中保。利茨曼（Lietzmann）认为，这些惯用语（尤其是前者）是所有信条的基础，其中不只包含一个条款（ZNW, 22 [1923], 268-273）。

A fuller expression is located in 1 Tim. 6:13f. “In the presence of God who gives life to all things, and of Christ Jesus who in his testimony before Pontius Pilate made the good confession, I charge you to keep the commandment unstained and free from reproach until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.” The termini a quo and ad quem of the familiar credal statements are made evident here. The reference to the Parousia may be supplemented by 2 Tim. 4:1. A rather different bipartite formula appears in Rom. 4:24.

Nor is the fully trinitarian note altogether absent. The specific examples may be rarer, but the incidental references must also be taken into account. Mt. 28:19 from the first claimed a place in the rite of Christian baptism and, as Stauffer points out, on that basis came to determine the entire credal development of the primitive Church. The threefold benediction in 2 Cor. 13:14 is another explicit case. But other less obvious yet equally impressive passages must be considered, including 1 Cor. 6:11; 12:4-6; 2 Cor. 1:21f.; 1 Thess. 5:18f.; 1 Pet. 1:2. It is clear that the conception of a threefold manifestation of the Godhead was deeply embedded in Christian thought from the start. Because of this scriptural rootage, the trinitarian pattern was generally recognized as the foundation of doctrine (cf. Vincent of Lérins, Commonitorium [1895], p. 23; Bindley, p. 1).

We must beware, however, lest the significance of this evidence from the NT be exaggerated. “It cannot be too often repeated that, in the proper sense of the terms, no creed, confession or formula of faith can be discovered in the New Testament, with the possible exception of such curt slogans as Kurios Iesus.” At this stage a set body of doctrine was forming, and certain patterns of expressing that doctrine were beginning to emerge. “Generally, though the underlying structure was hardening, the language still remained fairly fluid” (Kelly, Creeds, pp. 23f.).

在《提摩太前书》6:13-14中给出了更全面的表述：“我再叫万物生活的 神面前，并向本丢彼拉多作过那美好见证的耶稣基督面前嘱咐你：要守这命令，毫不玷污，无可指责，直到我们的主耶稣基督显现。” termini a quo 和 ad quem 显然是信经中常见的词语。《提摩太后书》4:1可能还补充了耶稣的再临。《罗马书》4:24中出现了一个与众不同的且由两部分组成的信经。

经文中不是完全没有关于三位一体论的描述。虽然具体的例子可能很罕见，但是经文中偶尔会提到三位一体。《马太福音》28:19首先在基督徒的洗礼仪式中提到了三位一体论，斯托夫指出，在此基础上确定了原始教会整个信条的发展。《哥林多后书》13:14中的三重恩赐是另一个明确的例子。然而其他不太明显的例子同样令人印象深刻，因此必须加以考虑，它们包括《哥林多前书》6:11；12:4-6；《哥林多后书》1:21-22；《帖撒罗尼迦前书》5:18-19和《彼得前书》1:2。很明显三位一体的理念从一开始就深深植根于基督徒的思想中。由于这一圣经依据，三位一体论通常被视为信条的基础（ Vincent of Lérins , Commonitorium [1895], 23页； Bindley, 1页）。

III. Purpose and Use of Creeds.-Before examining some of the major credal definitions of the Church, we must pause to consider the intended use of creeds. O. C. Quick, borrowing a term from modern pedagogics, aptly described them as “the expression-work of the early Church” (Doctrines of the Creed [1938], p. 8). Their aim and usage may be conveniently summarized in the following categories.

A. Catechetical. A creed was designed as a basis for the instruction of candidates. When the ordinance of baptism was observed, the catechumen was required to repeat the confession. According to Rufinus, in the church of Rome “an ancient custom prevails that those who are about to receive the grace of baptism should recite the creed publicly: that is, so as to be heard by the congregation of the faithful; and of a truth the ears of those who precede them in the faith tolerate no addition of whatever kind to the words” (De fide et symbolo 3).

B. Commendatory. A creed was regarded as a test of church membership. This is related to the conception of the symbol as a token of identification. In primitive times, when a man sent a neighbor to a distant friend, he would take an oyster

这种简短的标语。”教义的主体在这一阶段逐渐形成，某些表达方式说明教义已经出现。“一般来说，虽然基础结构越来越牢固，但是语言仍保持流畅” (Kelly, Creeds, 23-24 页)。

III. 信经的用途和用法。我们在研究一些教会的主要信经之前，我们必须认真思考信经的用法。奎克 (O. C. Quick) 借鉴了现代教育学的一个术语，恰当地形容这些信经是“早期教会的表达行为” (Doctrines of the Creed [1938], 8 页)。信经的用途和用法归类为以下几类。

A. 教义问答。信经被认为是教导新信徒的基础。当遵守洗礼的条例时，要求新信徒重复信经。根据鲁非诺 (Rufinus) 的记载，在罗马教会，“流行一个古老的习俗，那些即将要领受洗礼的恩典的人要公开诵读使徒信经：即，让忠诚的会众能听到；实际上，已经归向主的人不容许受洗的人添加任何话语” (De fide et symbolo 3)。

B. 评注。信经被视为是对教会成员的一种测试。这是身份识别的一种象征观念。在远古时期，当一个人打发他的邻居去见一个远方的朋友，他会拿一个牡蛎壳，然后掰开两半，一半给他的邻居，另一半寄给他的朋友。当邻居到达目的时， shell and break it into two pieces, forwarding one half to his friend and entrusting the other to his neighbor. When the neighbor arrived at his destination, he would present his portion as a sign of identification. If it fitted, his identity was substantiated. Tessera were similarly employed, and the white stone of Rev. 2:17 may well have been of this nature. But more often in the early Church the recital of a creed was accepted as proof of identity.

C. Doctrinal. A creed was intended as a compendious statement of Christian truth and a criterion by which error could be exposed. Indeed, the creeds were as much directed against heresy as concerned with the positive declaration of the faith. It was the prevalence of falsehood that determined the presentation of truth. "This is only to say that, while the truths were undoubtedly held from the beginning," writes Bindley, "they were often latent in the Christian consciousness rather than verbally expressed, until the denial of them obliged the Church to ponder upon her Faith, and to put it into reasoned words" (p. 1).

D. Liturgical. The creeds were eventually incorporated into the worship services of the Church. From the baptismal liturgy they gained entrance into that of the eucharist. The Nicene Creed was inserted in the 11th cent. at Rome, but earlier elsewhere. The Spanish churches were the first to introduce it in the West. In the East the custom already existed and in 586 Justinian made it legal. The Gallican churches sang it after the Gospel at the end of the catechumens' service, and this also is the place

C. 教义。信经是基督教真理和行为准则的简要陈述。实际上，信经用积极的信仰告白直接驳斥了异端邪说。谎言泛滥时才需要真理的出现。宾德利 (Bindley) 写道：“这也就是说，虽然基督徒从一开始就坚持真理，但是真理通常隐藏在基督徒的意识中，而不是存留在他们的口中，直到后来有人否定真理，从而迫使教会表明信仰，并用理性的语言表述出来” (1 页)。

D. 礼拜仪式。信经最终被融入到了教会的敬拜仪式中。信经借助洗礼仪式融入到了圣餐礼中。尼西亚信经在公元 11 世纪传入罗马，但是之前在其他地方传播。西班牙教会是西方国家中第一个引入信经的教会。在东方已经存在这个习俗并且在公元 586 年查士丁尼 (Justinian) 将其合法化。加利亚教会在新信徒的宗教仪式快要结束时诵读福音书，然后诵读信经，并且在罗马地区也采用这种方式。英国教会从一开始就承认使徒信经，但是尚无法确定何时使徒信经首次应用到了西方教会的礼拜仪 accorded to it in the Roman use. The Apostles' Creed has been recognized in the Anglican order from the beginning, but the date of its first liturgical adoption in the Western churches is uncertain.

E. Experiential. A creed is also in a sense a personal confession of faith and thus at once reflects and ministers to Christian experience. Cullman emphasizes that the declarations of the historic creeds are in the present tense and relate to the "now" of grace. "Christian faith does not reduce to an affirmation about the past alone: this would lead straight to a 'historism' which impaired the Biblical conception of linear time. Neither does it reduce to an affirmation about the future alone: this would lead straight to an apocalyptic which, in contrast to the Biblical eschatology, tended to separate hope and faith. Christianity is true to its origin in ascribing first-rank importance in its strictly Christological plan of salvation to the present as a time of grace" (p. 64). It is this continuing contemporaneity that imparts an existential quality to the affirmations of the traditional creeds and demands or even evokes a commensurate experience.

IV. The Historic Forms.-We can supply only a cursory survey of the principal historic forms that have gained acceptance in the Christian Church in the process of credal development.

A. Apostles' Creed. "The present Apostles' Creed," wrote H. B. Swete, "is a document of composite origin with a long and complicated history" (Apostles' Creed, p. 15). Into the ramifications of that provenance we cannot here enter. The title symbolum apostolorum first

式中。
E. 经验。信经在某种意义上说也是个人信仰的宣告，并同时反映和援助基督教的经历。库尔曼强调历史信经的宣读用的是一般现在时，与“现在”的恩典有关。“基督教信仰不仅仅是关于过去的证词：因为这样会直接产生‘历史主义’，从而破坏《圣经》中的线性时间观念。基督教信仰也不是关于未来的断言：因为这样会直接产生不同于圣经末世论的启示，这种启示往往分裂了希望和信心。基督教教义忠实于它的起源，将基督完全的救赎计划视为最为重要的事，并将现在视为恩典的时代”（64页）。这种连续的同时代性赋予了传统信经证词存在主义的特性，并需要甚至唤起了相称的经历。

IV. 历史形式。我们只能对在信经发展过程中得到基督教会认可的主要历史形式进行一个粗略的调查。

A. 使徒信经。斯韦特（H. B. Swete）写道：“现今的使徒信经是一个拥有漫长而又复杂历史起源的综合文献”（Apostles' Creed, 15页）。我们无法在这里讨论出自这个源头的衍生物。如我们所知，公元390年在米兰教会的信函中第一次出现了 symbolum apostolorum（使徒信经） occurs, as we have already seen, in the communication from the Synod of Milan in 390, probably drafted by Ambrose.

The name originated from a widely prevalent legend that the creed was composed by the twelve apostles under the direct inspiration of the Holy Spirit. Indeed, ingenious, though forced, attempts have been made to divide the symbol into twelve parts and to claim that a separate disciple was responsible for each successive clause. In Western churches of medieval date it is not uncommon to see portraits of the apostles, under each of which is transcribed the article of the creed thus assigned.

This apocryphal account can be traced back to the 6th cent. (cf. Pseudo-Augustine, PL, XXXIX, 2189). It was adumbrated in a sermon attributed to Ambrose in which it is explained that the creed was “pieced together by twelve separate workmen” (PL, XVI, 671), and also in the Apostolic Constitutions (6:14). Rufinus provides a detailed genesis. He clearly regards it as the cooperative effort of the apostles and implies that the conference that produced it coincided with Pentecost. He furthermore explains that “they for many reasons decided that this rule of faith should be called the Symbol” (PL, XXI, 337). The apostolic authorship of the creed is confirmed by such writers as Maximus of Turin, John Cassian, and Isidore of Seville, whereas Priminus supports the further item of allotting each clause to a different source.

This version persisted until the 15th century. It was first seriously questioned

这个标题，这封信可能是由安波罗修起草的。

使徒信经这个名字起源于一个广为流传的传说，信经是由十二使徒在圣灵的直接启示下创作出来的。尽管他们领受了圣灵启示，但是实际上他们独创性地将信经分为十二部分，并声称每一位使徒要对每个连续的句子负责。中世纪时期，在西方教会中见到使徒的画像不足为奇，每一幅使徒画像上都记录了由这位使徒抄写的信经。

这种可疑的描述可追溯至公元 6 世纪。（参：Pseudo-Augustine, PL, XXXIX, 2189）。安波罗修的布道时作了概括，他解释说使徒信经是由“十二位作者拼凑而成的”（PL, XVI, 671），另外使徒宪章中也提到了使徒信经（6:14）。鲁非诺提供了使徒信经的详细起源。他显然认为使徒信经是由使徒共同抄写的，并暗指制定使徒信经的会议恰逢五旬节。他进一步解释道：“他们因为诸多原因决定将这个信仰的准则称为信经”（PL, XXI, 337）。都灵的马克西米努、迦贤努和塞维利亚的伊西多尔都证实使徒信经是由使徒抄写的，不过，普瑞米纽斯（Priminus）详细证明了使徒信经中每句话的不同出处。

这个版本的使徒信经一直存留到公元 15 世纪。公元 1438 年在菲拉拉举行的

at Ferrara in 1438 at an ecumenical council convened with a view to the reunion of East and West. At the outset Cardinal Julian Cesarini, the Latin spokesman, appealed to the authority of the Apostles' Creed. The Greeks, however, refused to recognize it, and Marcus Eugenius, Metropolitan of Ephesus, objected that in the East they did not possess nor had they ever seen such a symbol (H. Justiniani, Acta Concilii Florenti, IX, 842f.).

Soon the apostolic origin was challenged by the noted humanist Lorenzo Valla, when he interrupted a Franciscan monk who was explaining the traditional story to a group of children in a church at Naples. The cudgels were taken up with additional scholarly arguments by Reginald Pecock in England. In the 17th cent. Gerhard Vos and James Ussher resumed the debate and inaugurated the modern era of credal investigation (see Ghellinck).

The 19th cent., however, saw the launching of a critical onslaught upon the creeds comparable with that simultaneously directed against the Scriptures, and doubts were seriously expressed as to whether any collected body of doctrine, much less one attributable to the apostles themselves, could have existed in the NT period. This undermining of the biblical and apostolic origin of the creed paved the way for an attack upon its contents, with the consequence that violent attempts were made to thrust out some of the fundamental tenets of the Christian faith.

It is generally recognized today that, although the primitive Church did not 一个全体基督教会议上首次严重质疑了使徒信经，召开本次会议本是为了寻求东西方的再度联合。起初，拉丁发言人红衣主教犹利安（Julian Cesarini）对使徒信经的权威很认可。然而，希腊人拒绝承认使徒信经，而以弗所大主教马卡斯（Marcus Eugenius）反对说，在东方既不存在他们也没有见过这样的信经（H. Justiniani, Acta Concilii Florenti, IX, 842-843）。

然而，公元19世纪出现了一个针对使徒信经的批判运动，其猛烈程度可以与同时进行的直接反对《圣经》的运动相比较，并且人们开始严重质疑新约时期是否存在任何收录的信条，更要说可能存在使徒抄写的信经。这种否定使徒信经源于《圣经》和使徒的说法为抨击信经的内容铺平了道路，结果导致人们强制去掉了一些基督教信仰的基本原则。

现在人们普遍承认虽然初期教会没有正式的、坚定的信仰告白，但是早期的信

possess an official textually determined confession of faith, incipient creeds of a more flexible nature, anticipating the later formularies, began to emerge at a comparatively early date (cf. Kelly, Creeds, p. 7). The evidence from the NT itself has already been examined. It is clear that an apostolic tradition was latent from the start.

The lineal predecessor of the Apostles' Creed was the Old Roman Creed, dating from ca. 150. The primary source for the Latin text is the treatise of Rufinus mentioned above. Rufinus compared the creed of Aquileia, his own church, with that of Rome, which he believed to be the rule of faith composed by the apostles themselves. The Greek text is taken from the apologia of Marcellus of Ancyra delivered to Julius bishop of Rome, ca. 340. The latter reads: "I believe in God almighty [Rufinus has "the Father almighty"]; and in Christ Jesus His only Son our Lord, Who was born from the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary, Who under Pontius Pilate was crucified and buried, and the third day rose again from the dead, Who ascended into heaven and sits at the right hand of the Father, whence He will come to judge the living and the dead; and in the Holy Spirit, the holy Church, the remission of sins, the resurrection of the flesh, the life everlasting" (Rufinus omits the last clause) (from Epiphanius, PG, XLII, 385). F. J. Badcock has questioned the hypothesis that Rufinus and Marcellus have in fact preserved the Old Roman Creed, but his objections have not succeeded in overthrowing the theory.

It is recognized, however, that the Old Roman Creed was itself derivative and is a descendant of a more primitive form. The earliest outline is thought to have taken this shape: "I believe in God the Father almighty and in Jesus Christ, His only-begotten Son, our Lord, and in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Church, the resurrection of the flesh" (so Lietzmann; cf. Cullmann, p. 46). Two extant fragments support such a reconstruction. The first is from Epistula Apostolorum, which its editor, C. Schmidt, assigns to Asia Minor ca. 180, but which has one leaf in Latin, indicating a wider general distribution. We have to depend on Coptic and Ethiopic translations, suggesting that the work was familiar in Egypt, if indeed it did not originate there. Concerning the five loaves in the feeding miracle of the Gospels the treatise states: "They are the symbol of our faith in the Lord of the Christians, even in the Father the Lord Almighty, and in Jesus Christ our redeemer, in the Holy Spirit the comforter, in the holy church, and in the remission of sins" (Epistula Apostolorum 5.16, ANT; cf. H-S, I, 194).

经在相对较早的时间里就开始出现了，并且更加灵活，提前使用了后期信经中的内容（参：Kelly, Creeds, 7 页）。人们已经研究了《新约》中的证据。显然，从一开始使徒信经中就存在着使徒传统。

使徒信经的前身是古罗马信经，可追溯至约公元 150 年。拉丁版使徒信经的第一来源是上文提到的鲁非诺的著作。鲁非诺将阿奎莱亚他自己的教会的信经与罗马教会的信经进行了对比，他认为使徒信经是使徒亲自制定的信心原则。希腊版使徒信经源自约公元 340 年安卡拉的马尔克路 (Marcellus) 提交给罗马主教犹流的辩解文。其中写道：“我信神，全能的神”[鲁非诺译为“全能的父”]；我信我主耶稣基督，神的独生子，因圣灵感孕，由童贞女马利亚所生，在本丢比拉多手下被钉十字架，受死埋葬，第三天从死人中复活，升天，坐在全能父神的右边，将来必从那里降临，审判活人、死人；我信圣灵，我信圣而公之的教会，我信罪得赦免，我信身体复活，我信永生”（鲁非诺删除了最后一句）（源自 Epiphanius, PG, XLII, 385）。巴德科克 (F. J. Badcock) 对鲁非诺和马尔克路实际上保留了古罗马信经的假设表示怀疑，但是他的异议没有成功地推翻这个假设。

然而，古罗马信经被认为是衍生出来的信经，是较早信经的派生物。最早的信

The second fragment is from the Dêr Balizeh papyrus discovered by Flinders Petrie and W. E. Crum in 1907 and now housed in the Bodleian Library, Oxford. Toward the end of what is evidently an ancient Egyptian eucharistic liturgy this simple creed is recorded: "I believe in God the Father Almighty, and in His only-begotten Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, and in the Holy Spirit, and in the resurrection of the flesh, and the holy catholic Church" (C. H. Roberts and Dom B. Capelle, An Early Euchologium: the Dêr Balizeh Papyrus [rev. ed. 1949]). Its date may be late 2nd century.

At a later period, probably in the second half of the 2nd cent. and the beginning of the 3rd, this simple three-article formula was expanded by the inclusion of a more fully developed Christology. Certainly such an insertion is reflected in the baptismal catechesis contained in the Apostolic Tradition of Hippolytus (ca. 215 according to G. Dix [rev. ed. 1968]).

经大纲被认为是：“我信上帝，全能的父，我信我主耶稣基督，神的独生子，我信圣灵，我信圣而公之的教会，我信身体复活”（莉次曼[Lietzmann]也坚持这样的观点；参：Cullmann, 46 页）。两个现存的信经残篇为还原使徒信经提供了证据。第一个是施密特（C. Schmidt）编撰的 Epistula Apostolorum，他认为这个残篇源于约公元 180 年的小亚细亚，不过有一页是用拉丁语写成的，表明这部作品的传播范围非常广。我们必须依赖古埃及语和埃塞俄比亚语的译本，这表明在埃及人们非常熟悉这部作品，实际上，这部作品并不起源于埃及。关于福音书中记载的用五饼喂饱千人的奇迹，这部作品评论道：“这五张饼是我们信心的象征，我信基督徒的主，我信全能的父，我信我们的救主耶稣基督，我信安慰者圣灵，我信圣洁的教会，我信罪得赦免”（Epistula Apostolorum 5.16, ANT；参：H-S, I, 194）。

第二个残篇是佩特里（Flinders Petrie）和克拉姆（W. E. Crum）在 1907 年发掘的德巴利兹（Dêr Balizeh）蒲草纸，现存于牛津的牛津大学图书馆。这一简单的信经明显被记录在古埃及圣餐仪式的结尾部分：“我信神、全能的父，我信我主耶稣基督，神的独生子，我信圣灵，我信身体复活，我信圣而公之的教会”（罗伯茨[C. H. Roberts]和卡佩勒[Dom B. Capelle], An Early Euchologium: the Dêr Balizeh Papyrus [1949 年再版]）。这个残篇可追溯至公元 2 世纪。

The textus receptus of the Apostles' Creed as we now know it is first extant in the tract De Singulis libris canonicis Scarapsus by Priminus, abbot-founder of the famous monastery at Reichenau (ca. 710–724). Despite the arguments of G. L. Hahn and A. E. Burn, its Roman origin can hardly be sustained. A Hispano-Gallic source is now widely accepted. Southern Gaul is agreed upon, possibly Burgundy, or more probably the region called in ancient times Septimania. This suggestion finds powerful support in that Caesarius of Arles quotes a strikingly similar creed in the 6th century. Its canonization as the sole baptismal formula of the Western Church and subsequent reception into the Roman eucharistic rite was due in part to the liturgical preoccupation of the Carolingian renaissance. Nor was it used exclusively in public worship. The recital of the symbolum, together with the Lord's Prayer, formed the beginning of every Christian's morning devotions and the conclusion of those in the evening. "Say it daily," advised Augustine. "When you rise, when you go to bed, say your symbol; say it before the Lord; call it to mind, and do not tire of repeating it" (Sermones 58.11).

Such is still its position today. "As the Lord's Prayer is the Prayer of prayers, the Decalogue the Law of laws, so the Apostles' Creed is the Creed of creeds," declared Philip Schaff. "It contains all the fundamental articles of the Christian faith necessary to salvation, in the form of facts, in simple scriptural language, and in the most natural order—the order of revelation—from God and the creation down to the resurrection and life everlasting" (I,14f.).

公元 3 世纪前期，这个简单的有三句话组成的信经因为吸收了更为成熟的基督论变得更加完善。当然，希坡律陀的《使徒传统》中关于洗礼的教理传授也反映出使徒信经吸收了基督论（约公元 215 年，迪克斯[G. Dix，1968 年再版]）。

今天使徒信经仍然有这样的地位。沙夫（Philip Schaff）说：“因为主祷文是祈

"Christian truth," declared Luther, "could not possibly be put into a shorter and clearer statement"; and Calvin agreed that "it gives, in clear and succinct order, a full statement of our faith, and in everything which it contains is sanctioned by the sure testimony of Scripture" (cf. Luther's Works, ed. Lehmann and Pelikan, XXXVII, 360ff.; Calvin Inst. ii.16.18). To this we may add the verdict of T. Zahn: "Judging from its contents our Creed has a full right to the title apostolical. It does not contain one sentence which cannot be well derived from the history and teaching of Jesus, and the explanatory and illustrative teaching and preaching of the apostles" (p. 213).

B. Nicene Creed. In its present form what is commonly called the Nicene Creed should be more exactly distinguished as Niceno-Constantinopolitan or Niceno-Chalcedonian. The text of the original creed approved at the Council of Nicea in the year 325 (sometimes referred to as the creed of the 318 from the number of bishops reputed to have been present) can be consulted in a letter from Eusebius of Caesarea to his flock. This is extant in four recessions (Bindley, p. 27).

祷中的祈祷,摩西十诫是律法中的律法,所以使徒信经是信经中的信经。”“使徒信经包含了救赎所需的基督教信仰中的所有基本原则,并以事实的形式,简单的圣经语言和最自然的顺序展现出来,最自然的顺序就是救赎的顺序,即从神和创造到复活和永远的生命”(I, 14-15)。

路德说:“不能用更简短、更清晰的话语陈述基督教的真理”;加尔文也认为“这是我们信仰整个历史详细和有序的总纲,且它的所有教导都确实有圣经的根据。”(参: Luther's Works, LehmannPelikan 编, XXXVII, 360 页起; Calvin Inst. ii.16.18)。关于这一点,我们可能还要加上查恩(T. Zahn)的结论:“从内容上看,我们有充足的理由称这个信经为使徒信经。信经中的每一句话都可以从历史、耶稣的教训、教义解释和说明以及使徒的劝导中追溯来源”(213 页)。

*B. 尼西亚信经。*我们今天常说的《尼西亚信经》应该更准确地被称为《尼西亚君士坦丁堡信经》或《尼西亚迦克墩信经》。公元 325 年尼西亚会议上通过了最初的《尼西亚信经》(根据参加会议的主教人数,有时也被称为 318 信经),凯撒利亚的优西比乌给他的会众的信中提到了原始《尼西亚信经》中的内容。经过四次会议才形成了现在的《尼西亚信经》(Bindley, 27 页)。

According to Athanasius, Ossius of Cordoba, at whose instigation the council was convened, played a prominent part in formulating the statement. It was he who conveyed the imperial communication from Constantine to Alexander, bishop of Alexandria, and Arius the heretic, in which the emperor betrayed his imperfect grasp of the issues involved by suggesting that the trinitarian controversy was little more than a tempest in an ecclesiastical teapot. When this letter not surprisingly failed to effect a settlement, the emperor summoned a general council of bishops to decide these matters of faith, along with the Paschal question and the Meletian schism. It is probable that Ossius presided after the formal opening by Constantine himself (cf. Hefele-Leclercq, Histoire des conciles [1907–1952] I, 447).

In the course of the conference, it was agreed that a dogmatic standard of faith should be adopted. After an Arian creed proposed by Eusebius of Nicomedia had been summarily rejected, Eusebius of Caesarea produced his local diocesan creed which, according to his own account, was accepted as orthodox and approved (Socrates Scholasticus HE i.8). This was held to have formed a basis, with significant additions more specifically directed against the errors of Arianism (so Harnack, Holl, Hort, Burn, Gibson, et al.) It is now considered more likely, however, that the Nicene Creed represents a conflation of sources either from Jerusalem or Antioch. It is noteworthy that the formulation of a symbol was preceded by a careful searching of the Scriptures, the chief passages adduced being Prov. 8:22; Mt.

根据亚他那修的记载，科尔多瓦的霍修斯发起召开了此次会议，他是制定《尼西亚信经》的关键人物。他从君士坦丁堡为亚历山大主教和异端阿里乌带来了帝国的书信，从信中可以看出皇帝没有完全理解所涉及的问题，因为皇帝认为三位一体争论不过是教会的小题大做。这封书信未能解决问题，这不足为奇，皇帝召集主教开会解决这些信仰问题，以及逾越节的问题和主教米利提的分裂问题。罗马皇帝君士坦丁宣布会议开幕后，可能由霍修斯主持了会议（参：Hefele-Leclercq, Histoire des conciles [1907–1952] I, 447）。

在召开会议过程中，与会者同意采纳信仰的教义标准。尼科米底亚的优西比乌提出的亚流信经被草率地否决后，凯撒利亚的优西比乌制定了地方教区信经，他认为地方教区信经是正统且被认可的信经（Socrates Scholasticus HE i.8）。哈纳克、霍尔、霍特、伯恩和基顺等人认为改信经构成了重要的依据，矛头直指亚流主义的错误。然而，现在人们认为耶路撒冷或安提阿可能是尼西亚信经的另一个来源。值得注意的是，信经的形成必须以仔细研究《圣经》为前提，主要的引证经文有《箴言》8:22；《马太福音》19:17；20:23；《马可福音》13:32；《路加福音》2:52；《约翰福音》5:19；10:30；14:28；《使徒行传》2:36；《哥林多前书》15:28；《腓利比书》2:7；《歌罗西书》1:15；《希伯来书》1:3。

19:17; 20:23; Mk. 13:32; Lk. 2:52; Jn. 5:19; 10:30; 14:28; Acts 2:36; 1 Cor. 15:28; Phil. 2:7; Col. 1:15; He. 1:3.

The debate turned upon the nature of the Son and His relation to the Father. The term homooúsios (“of one substance with”) became the keyword of the logomachy. The Arians rejected it outright, while the Sabellians contended for the modification homoioúsios (“of like substance”). The majority, however, finally endorsed the former expression as best defining the orthodox view of the relation between Father and Son. Although the term was later pressed to imply numerical identity of substance, it is doubtful whether this was in the mind of those who framed the creed, for prior to Nicea homooúsios had borne a primarily generic sense (cf. G. L. Prestige, God in Patristic Thought [1936], pp. 197ff.). It would appear that the word was originally intended to make implicit the conviction that the Son was fully God in that He shared the same divine nature as His Father. Its further implication as expressing substantial identity was more fully worked out by Athanasius.

What is now designated the Nicene Creed, expanding the affirmation of Nicea, was recognized as an official formula at the Council of Chalcedon in 451. It was proclaimed as the faith of the 150 fathers at the Council of Constantinople in 381. The text is in Epiphanius (Ancoratus 118), extracted from the Catecheses of Cyril of Jerusalem.

The traditional ascription to Constantinople has been seriously questioned, and it is now widely held that what was approved at Chalcedon was in fact based on a baptismal confession of Palestinian origin. The Council of Constantinople certainly did not invent it, although the fathers may have touched it up here and there. In 553 the Second Council of Constantinople received it as a revised edition of the Nicene Creed.

人们就圣子与天父的本质以及圣子与天父的关系问题发生了争论。Homooúsios (“本体相同”)这个词成为了争论的焦点。亚流派完全否定这个词语，而撒伯流派认为应该将 Homooúsios 修订为 homoioúsios (“本体相似”)。然而，大多数人最终接受了第一种说法，认为圣子与天父同质这种说法最权威地定义了天父与圣子关系。虽然后来这个词专门用来表示物质在数值上是相同的，但是尚不能确定制定《尼西亚信经》的人是否也认为这个词表示这种含义（参：G. L. Prestige, 尼西亚 God in Patristic Thought [1936], 197 页起）。这个词似乎最初暗示着圣子是完全的神，因为祂与天父一样都是神。亚他那修进一步解释说，这个词说明圣子与圣父实质上相同的。

今天所谓的《尼西亚信经》是尼西亚会议中的主张的扩展形式，在公元 451 年的迦克墩会议上成为了正式的信条。在公元 381 年的君士坦丁堡会议上，《尼西亚信经》被称为“百五十教父正经之信经”。伊皮法纽 (Ancoratus 118) 从区利罗 (耶路撒冷) 的《教义问答》 (Catecheses) 中提取了该信经 (Ancoratus 118)。

The principal additions included clauses incorporated from the Apostles' Creed relative to the Incarnation, together with the phrase "whose kingdom shall have no end" directed against Marcellus of Ancyra, who denied the extension of Christ's reign beyond the Day of Judgment; and certain statements affirming the personality and deity of the Holy Spirit as against the Pneumatomachi, who regarded Him as a mere created being.

In 589 the Council of Toledo recognized the addition of the filioque, which is a feature of the Western version. Cyril of Alexandria taught that the Spirit proceeds from the Father through the Son, and this interpretation became current in the Eastern Church. But Augustine preferred to say that the Spirit proceeds from the Father and from the son (filioque), and this has set the pattern for the West. As early as 447 the insertion occurs in Spanish confessions. This doctrinal difference was one of the causes for the ultimate separation of the Greek and Latin churches in 1054.

C. Athanasian Creed. What is known as the Athanasian Creed is often cited as Quicumque Vult from its opening words. In the earliest extant MS copy it is designated as Fides Catholica.

墩会议上通过的信经实际上源于巴勒斯坦的洗礼信条。虽然教父可以随意地修改或润色信经中的内容，但是他们并没有在君士坦丁堡会议上杜撰该信经。公元 553 年君士坦丁堡第二次会议上，该信经被认为是《尼西亚信经》的修订版。

该信经中主要增加了使徒信经中有关道成肉身的条款，为了反对安提阿的马尔克路，还增加了“祂的国也没有穷尽”，马尔克路否认耶稣的统治超越了审判员日；并且信经中的某些句子肯定了圣灵的人性和神性，这与圣灵受造派的观点截然相反，圣灵受造派认为耶稣不过是一个受造物。

公元 589 年托利多议会增加了“和子”一词，这是西方信经版本的一个特色。亚历山大的区利罗教导说，圣灵藉着圣子从天父而出，这种解释在当今的东方教会非常流行。但奥古斯丁则认为，圣灵源自圣父和圣子 (filioque)，这塑造了西方的信经模式。早在 447 年西班牙信条中就穿插着这样的话。教义上的分歧是导致 1054 年希腊教会和拉丁教会最终走向分裂的原因。

C. 亚他那修信经。我们所知道的《亚他那修信》经常被称为 Quicumque Vult (该信经中的第一个词语)。现存《亚他那修信经》最早原稿的抄本被称为 Fides Catholica。

The first certain allusion is in the Acta of the Synod of Autun in Eastern Gaul, when Leger was bishop (i.e., between 659 and 670). Several canons were approved, one of which read: "If a cleric does not know exactly either the Apostolic Symbol or the Attestation of Faith of Saint Athanasius especially, let him be condemned by his Bishop." The context makes it clear that Quicumque Vult was intended. Further evidence of its use is contained in a capitulary of Charlemagne requiring priests to learn this creed and a similar promulgation ca. A.D. 800 by Haito of Basel.

The symbol is said to have been composed by Athanasius himself during his exile in the West. It occurs only in Latin, and according to the papal envoys visiting the Eastern Church in 1233 after the conquest of Constantinople, it was quite unknown there. This ascription, however, is strongly disputed, and it appears in fact that, as F. F. Bruce points out, "What is traditionally called the Athanasian Creed is not really a creed at all, and is not the work of Athanasius. It is a theological exposition in the form of a canticle, composed in the West towards the end of the Fourth Century" (Light in the West [1952], p. 27).

The Athanasian authorship was first challenged by Gerhard Vos in 1644. Since that time many ingenious conjectures have been propounded. Antelmus in the 17th cent. suggested Vincent of Lérins, while Waterland preferred Hilary of Arles. Other nominations include Ambrose (Brewer and Badcock), Honoratus of Arles (Burn and Kattenbusch), Caesarius of Arles (Morin and Turmel), Fulgentius of Ruspe (Stiglmayr), Vitricius of Ravenna (Harvey), and Venantius Fortunatus (Muratori). A provenance from Southern Gaul seems probable.

这个信经据说是由亚他那修本人在他被流放于西部时所著。它只有拉丁语版本, 据说教皇的使节在征服君士坦丁堡后的 1233 年访问了东正教会, 那儿的人完全不知道这个信经的存在。然而, 这个赞美上帝的话语引起了强烈争议, 并且事实上, 如布鲁斯 (F. F. Bruce) 所指出的那样: "传统上所谓的亚他那修信经并不是一个真正的信经, 也不是亚他那修的作品。它是四世纪末在西方形成大的一种以颂歌的形式展现的神学论述" (Light in the West [1952], 27 页)。

1644 年, 原创作者亚他那修首次受到格哈德 (Gerhard Vos) 的挑战。从那时起, 人们提出了许多独创的猜测。17 世纪 Antelmus 认同莱兰的文森特的猜测, 而瓦特兰钟爱阿尔勒的希拉里的猜测。其他提名包括安波罗修 (布鲁尔和巴德科克)、阿尔勒的诺拉图斯 (伯恩和凯藤布什)、阿尔勒的该撒留 (莫兰和特梅尔)、拉斯佩的富尔根狄 (斯蒂格美)、拉文纳

At one time the so-called Athanasian Creed was considered to be a forgery of the same genre as the infamous decretals and the Donation of Constantine (so Swainson and Ffoulkes). A late origin was claimed on the basis of a letter in which Alcuin thanks Paulinus for having sent him a libellus containing a digest of the Christian faith which might be circulated and committed to memory as symbolum fidei. But Alcuin's further reference to the prevailing errors refuted in this compendium reveal that it could hardly be equated with Quicumque Vult. Fuhrmann dates it somewhere between 434 and 670 (p. 58).

Whereas previous creeds were concerned largely with safeguarding the faith against error, Quicumque Vult seeks to present the trinitarian revelation in sharper focus. After its solemn introduction, declaring that eternal salvation depends upon holding fast the catholic faith, the creed asserts that this consists in worshiping one God "in Trinity, and the Trinity in Unity." We are here confronted with a most remarkable affirmation. Whereas the Apostles' Creed and Nicene Creed proclaimed first the Father, then the Son, and finally the Holy Spirit, and assigned an article to each of the three persons seriatim, the Athanasian represents the trinity as a unit. "The Father is God, the Son is God, and the Holy Ghost is God. And yet there are not three Gods: but one God."

Vitricius (哈维) 和福蒂纳图斯 (穆拉多利)。这部信经似乎起源于南部的高卢。

曾经认为所谓的亚他那修信经是同类体裁的一个伪造版，如臭名昭著的教皇教令和君士坦丁御赐教产谕（还有斯温森和弗勒克）。据称晚期的起源是根据一封信而来，信中阿尔昆感谢保利努送给他一本含有基督徒信仰文摘的小册子（libellus），这个文摘可能就是被人们流传和记住的信经（symbolum fidei）。但是阿尔昆对普遍错误的进一步引用驳斥了这个纲要，这显示该纲要不能等同于亚他那修信经（Quicumque Vult）。福尔曼推测它的成文日期在 434 年和 670 年（58 页）。

反之，之前的信经主要维护错误的信仰，亚他那修信经试图用尖锐的视角呈现三位一体的启示。在隆重介绍了宣称依靠遵守天主教的信仰可得到永恒的救赎后，使徒信经坚持敬拜一个神“三位并且三位是一体”。我们在这里所面临的是一个非凡的断言。而使徒信经和尼希亚信经首先强调父，然后是子，最后是圣灵，并且依次任命三位中各自担当自己的职能；而亚他那修信经认为三位是一体。“父就是神，子是神，圣灵是神。并且没有三位神：而是只有一位神。”

“Of the ancient creeds of Christendom,” writes Canon Leonard Hodgson in an authoritative volume, “the so-called Athanasian Creed, the Quicumque Vult, is the only one which explicitly and unequivocally states the full Christian doctrine of God” (Doctrine of the Trinity [1944], p. 102). Quicumque Vult reflects the fullest stage of credal development. If the Apostles’ Creed determined the nature of God and the Niceno-Chalcedonian that of the relation between Son and Spirit, this may be regarded as establishing the doctrine of the trinity.

A further feature of Quicumque Vult is the inclusion of the monitory clauses both at the beginning and ending. “Which faith except every one do keep whole and undefiledly without doubt he shall perish everlastingly.” “This is the Catholic faith: which except a man believe faithfully, he cannot be saved.” Jeremy Taylor misconstrued their purpose when he complained that “it seems very hard to put uncharitableness into a creed and so to make it become an article of faith” (quoted in Schaff, I, 40). If this creed is magisterially solemn in its admonitions, we must remember that even more so are the Scriptures themselves, and in particular the sayings of Our Lord.

The Athanasian Creed has scarcely enjoyed the reputation achieved by its two major predecessors; but its stock is rising today, and we are in a better position to appreciate the enthusiasm of Luther, which led him to describe it as the most important and praiseworthy composition since the days of the apostles.

亚他那修的另一个特点是它的开头和结尾都包含了训诫的话语。“此信仰，凡守之不全不正者，必永远沉沦。” “这是天主教信经：若不是完全的相信，就不能得救。” 泰勒 (Jeremy Taylor) 误解了信经的目的，因此抱怨说：“将苛刻的条款列入信经中，并且使之成为信心的条款似乎很难” (引用 Schaff, I, 40)。倘若这个信经是权威而严肃的告戒，那么我们必须记住《圣经》更是如此，尤其是神所说的话语。

亚他那修信经不像前面两个版本的信经那样享有声望；但是现今它的价值开始上升，而且我们可以处在一个更好的视角来鉴赏路德的热忱，这热忱使他认为亚他那修信经是自使徒时期最重要和最值得称赞的作品。

With the adoption of the Athanasian Symbol, the creed-making of the early and medieval Church virtually ceased. Of the three reviewed, only one, the Nicene, is in the broadest sense catholic. Neither the Apostles' Creed nor the Athanasian Creed is recognized by the Greek or Eastern Church, which remained loyal to the statement of faith approved at Nicea and Constantinople. The Niceno-Chalcedonian formula is in fact the one truly ecumenical creed, accepted and recited by all confessional communions.

随着采用亚他那修信经，早期和中世纪教会实际上停止信经的创作。回顾三版信经，只有尼西亚信经是最广义的天主教信经。希腊人或东部教会都不承认使徒信经和亚他那修信经，他们仍然忠于在尼西亚和君士坦丁堡获得认可的信仰声明。尼西亚-君士坦丁堡信经公式实际上是真正的基督教信经，并被所有宗教聚会所接收和诵读。

D. Reformation Confessions. With the Reformation began a new and creative era in the history of credal development. The following are some of the chief confessions of Protestantism.

D. 信条改革。信条的发展随着改革的开展，开始了历史上一个新的、创造性时代。下面是部分主要的新教信条。

1. Augsburg Confession (1530). The first great Protestant symbol was the Augsburg Confession of 1530. It arose from the Marburg Colloquy, an abortive attempt by Philip of Hesse to reconcile the doctrinal positions of Luther and Zwingli. Luther subsequently drew up fifteen items to be used as a basis of further discussion with a view to agreement. With the addition of two more clauses, these appeared as the pacificatory Articles of Schwabach. When the emperor summoned the Diet of Augsburg, the Wittenberg theologians, convened by John of Saxony, agreed on a further set of propositions, derived from the previous draft and named the Torgau Articles after the place of meeting.

On arrival in Augsburg, however, the deputation discovered that Dr. John Eck had circulated a book containing some four hundred statements culled from the Reformers' writings alleged to be heretical. It was evident that the Torgau Articles in themselves were insufficient to match this new and serious challenge. The Confession was composed by Melancthon with the approval of Luther (who was still under the ban) and signed by seven princes. It was read in German before the Diet on June 25, 1530, by Christian Beyer, vice-chancellor of Saxony. The Augsburg Confession was aimed primarily at demonstrating the orthodoxy of Protestantism and is couched in moderate and restrained terms, although it closed by exposing certain Roman deviations from the Christian tradition.

The Confession is in two parts, the first containing twenty-one articles of faith and the second detailing the seven chief abuses requiring reform. The original document was lodged in the imperial archives in Brussels, but in 1569 Philip II had it brought to Spain “so that such a pernicious work be destroyed for ever” (C. F. Rosenstiehl, La Confession d’Augsburg 1530 [1949], p. 11). Some fifty MS copies, however, still exist. As Fuhrmann observes, “It is a rather lengthy document and it may not create such an impact as do the shorter and more concise creeds of former times. But as Calvin, on becoming a pastor in Strassburg, endorsed this document, it should be of interest to all Protestants to know its essence” (p. 88).

1. 奥斯堡信条（1530年）。首个伟大的新教信条是1530年的奥斯堡信条。它兴起于马尔堡对谈，黑森的菲利普试图调和路德和慈运理的教义立场。路德随后制定的十五项被用来作为进一步讨论的基础，目的是为了达成协议。另外添加的两个条款是施瓦巴赫信条的和解条款。当皇帝召集奥斯堡会议时，萨克森的约翰召集了威登堡神学家，这些神学家同意进一步的主张是源于之前的草稿，并且以会议的地点将其命名为托尔高信条。

然而到了奥斯堡后，代表人员发现约翰（Dr. John Eck）已经有一本所谓的异端的改革者们的作品，其中包含四百页的声明。很明显，托尔高的信条不足以匹配这个新的、严峻挑战。莫兰顿编撰的信条受到了路德的肯定（路德仍受制于律法之下）并且七个国王都为他签了字。在萨克森的副校长基督徒拜尔发起1530年6月25日的会议前，这个信条是德语。奥斯堡信条的目的主要是为了证明新教是正教，并且用温和和节制的词语表达信条的内容，然而由于它揭露了某些罗马人偏离基督教的传统而被禁止。

该信条分为两部分，第一部分含有二十一个信仰条款，第二部分列举了需要改

“This Confession of our preachers and of ourselves shows how we have thus far taught in our territories the doctrine founded on the Holy Scripture and the pure Word of God.” So runs the Preface (para. 8), indicating the unambiguously biblical foundation of the Confession. The first section culminates in the affirmation that “they wished to transmit to posterity no other teaching except that which is conforming to the pure Word of God” (Art. 21). The Augustana, as it is commonly called, was incorporated into the Book of Concord in 1580 and is thus still authoritative for the Lutheran communion.

The assessment of W. A. Curtis is worth recording, that the Confession of Augsburg “is the classical statement of Lutheran doctrine, and has remained to the present day the bond between all Lutheran Churches. Its dignified simplicity, its temperate tone, and its Christian spirit have endeared it to successive generations, and have made it the model as well as the mother of later Confessions.... Its profound loyalty to the best traditions of the Catholic Church and the great Fathers, its faithfulness to Scripture, none the less impressive because it is unlaboured and unobtrusive, and its deep note of evangelical experience, have secured for it a sacred place, perhaps beyond all other Confessions, in the living faith of its ministers and people” (pp. 42f.).

“我们的牧师和我们自己的信条表明了我们如何在我们的领域用圣灵和神的话语创造了这个教义”信条的引言（para. 8）显示了这个信条含糊不清的圣经基础。第一部分以这个主张告终，“他们希望传给后代的教义，仅仅是符合神纯正的话语的教义”（Art. 21）。1580年通常被称为豫中信义会的教义被纳入了《协同书》，因此同样是路德教会的权威。

柯蒂斯（W. A. Curtis）的评价是有价值的记录，奥斯堡信条“是路德教义的经典描述，时至今日仍是所有路德教会的纽带。它庄严而简单的话语、温和的基调和基督徒精神使其连续几代都受到人们的钟爱，并且如同后来的圣母信条一样成为了典范……它极大程度地忠于天主教会和伟大天父的最佳传统，忠实于《圣经》，因为它自然和低调以及福音派

2. Waldensian Declaration of Faith (1532). In 1532 the Waldenses summoned a general convention at Cianforan and received three Reformed delegates from beyond the Alps, one of whom was William Farel. For six days the principles of the Reformation were discussed. Eventually a Declaration of Faith was adopted, running to seventeen articles and affirming the basic tenets of Protestantism (S. Morland, History of the Evangelical Churches of Piedmont [1658], pp. 39–41).

3. First Helvetic Confession (1536). The first Reformed creed of national authority was the Helvetic Confession of 1536, composed at Basel. It originated from the peace-making overtures of the Strasbourg theologians Bucer and Capito and was adopted as the Swiss Confession. It consists of twenty-seven short paragraphs, the first five of which affirm in unequivocal language the authority and sufficiency of Scripture.

4. Geneva Confession (1537). A further Reformed confession emanated from Geneva in 1537. It has been attributed to Farel, but there can be little doubt that John Calvin was involved in compiling and editing it, if not in its actual

经验的深刻基调，所以令人印象深刻，它或许超越所有其他信条，在官长和人们的信仰生活中，获得了其神圣的地位”（42-43 页）。

2、瓦勒度派信仰宣言（1532 年）。1532 年，瓦勒度在 Cianforan 召开了一个普通会议，从远在阿尔卑斯山外接到三个改革委任，法惹勒（William Farel）是其中一个。他们就改革的原则讨论了六天。最终采纳了信仰的宣言，这个信仰的宣言共有十七个条款并且肯定了新教教义的基本宗旨（S. Morland, History of the Evangelical Churches of Piedmont [1658], 39–41 页）。

3、第一瑞士信条（1536 年）。国家权威的第一改革信条是 1536 年在巴塞尔形成的瑞士信条。它起源于斯特拉斯堡的神学家布塞珥和卡皮托的和平提议并被视为瑞士信条。它包含二十七个短段落，前五段用明确的语言确定了圣经的权威和充分性。

4、日内瓦信条（1537 年）。1537 年日内瓦发起了进一步的信条改革。法惹勒发起了此次改革，但是约翰加尔文无疑参与了这个信条的编写和编辑，即使不是实际的部分（A. Rilliet 和 T. Dufour, Le Catéchisme français de Calvin[1878]; E.

composition (cf. A. Rilliet and T. Dufour, Le Catéchisme français de Calvin[1878]; E. Doumergue, Jean Calvin [1899–1928], II, 237–39). It consisted of twenty-one articles based on the Institutes. It was approved by the council, and the citizens were required to swear to its tenets. “Probably the first instance,” claims Schaff, “of a formal pledge to a symbolical book in the history of the Reformed Church” (p. 468).

5. Gallican Confession (1559). A Confession of Faith was adopted by the Reformed Church of France in 1559. Two years previously, Calvin had cooperated with the Parisian pastors in drawing up a statement. In 1559 a general assembly was summoned to the capital to draft a constitution. In the strictest secrecy some twenty delegates, representing seventy-two churches, met for four days and, among other things, prepared the first French confession. Calvin’s thirty-five articles were increased to forty, but his regulative affirmation concerning the supremacy of the Word was unfortunately excised. As Léonard remarks, no passage in Calvin is finer and more replete with significance. “Since the foundation of belief, as St. Paul says, is the Word of God, we believe that the living God is manifest in His law and through His prophets, and finally in the Gospel; and that He has there given testimony to His will insofar as it is expedient for the salvation of men. Further, we hold the books of sacred Scripture in the Old and New Testaments as the sum of the sole infallible truth proceeding from God, which is not to be contradicted” (E. G. Léonard, Histoire générale du Protestantisme [1961], II, Doumergue, Jean Calvin [1899–1928], II, 237–39)。以基督教要义 (Institutes) 为基础, 编入了二十一个条款。会议通过了该信条, 并且市民需要对它的宗旨发誓。沙夫认为“它可能是第一个实例, 是改革宗教会历史中信经书的正式誓言”(468 页)。

5、加利亚信条(1559年)。1559年法国的宗教改革采用了信仰的条款。两年前, 加尔文已经与巴黎的牧师一起合作拟定了信条的论述。在1559年, 在首都召开了联合国大会, 目的是要起草一部宪法。为了严格保密, 召集了二十位委派人员, 代表七十二个教会, 聚在一起四天, 除了为其他事情外, 还为第一部法国信条作准备。加尔文的三十五个条款被增至四十条, 但是他关于话语的至高地位的主张被不幸去除了。伦纳德(Léonard)评论说, 加尔文的作品中没有一处章节的重要性是更精细和更饱满的。“如圣保罗所说: ‘信仰的基础是神的话语, 我们相信永生的神用祂的律法以及通过先知的预言, 最终在福音中得以显明; 并且祂的旨意的证明就是祂救赎世人的方式。此外, 我们无法反驳, 我们所拥有的圣经《旧约》和《新约》是从神而来的唯一可靠的真理的总结”(E. G. Léonard, Histoire générale du Protestantisme [1961], II, 102)。然而《圣经》是唯一信仰原则和权威的来源, 它不证自明, 因此不受人的支配; 三个历史信经因其符合神的话语而被人们所接收。1571年在拉罗谢尔第七次改革会议上确定了加利亚信条。

102). The Scripture is nevertheless set forth as the only rule of faith and source of authority, self-evident and therefore independent of man; and the three historical creeds are accepted as conforming to the Word of God. The Confessio Gallicana was confirmed at the Seventh Reformed Synod at La Rochelle in 1571.

6. Thirty-nine Articles (1571). The Thirty-nine Articles of the Church of England, ratified by Convocation in 1571, represent the outcome of a long process of evolution from Henry VIII's Ten Articles in 1536, which Foxe described as intended for "weaklings newly weaned from their mother's milk of Rome," and more clearly from the Thirteen Articles of 1538 promulgated by joint conferences of Anglican and Lutheran divines at Wittenberg and Lambeth. The purpose of the Articles is admirably expressed by Bishop Pearson, who insisted that they were not intended to represent "a complete body of divinity, or a comprehension and explanation of all Christian doctrines necessary to be taught: but an enumeration of some truths, which upon and since the Reformation have been denied by some persons: who upon denial are thought unfit to have any cure of souls in this Church or realm; because they might by their opinions either infect their flock with error or else disturb the Church with schism or the realm with sedition" (cf. C. Hardwick, A History of the Articles of Religion [1895], p. 158).

Much controversy has surrounded the proper interpretation of the Thirty-nine Articles, and it has even been urged that they are to be viewed in the light of essentially Catholic principles. The history and nature of the Articles themselves, let alone their content, are sufficient to dispose of such an account. More precisely, it must be conceded that the Articles are predominantly Calvinist in tone, though not polemically so. "These Articles are not developed, much less exaggerated Calvinism. They are not Calvinistic in any partisan sense. But with Calvinistic doctrine, as already formulated, they are in unmistakable sympathy" (Curtis, p. 177).

6、三十九条信纲（1571年）。1571年在教士会议上通过了英国教会的三十九条信纲，体现了它从1536年亨利八世的十条信纲中演变的漫长过程的结果，而福克斯认为其目的是说“罗马就如软弱者刚从母亲那里断奶”，1538年圣公会、威登堡路德教会的教士们和兰伯特大主教官邸联合会议上发布的13条信纲的解释更加明确。皮尔森主教极好地表达了信条的目，他坚持表示这些信条没有刻意表示“神学的完整的主体，或需要教导人理解和解释所有基督教教义：而是列举一些真理，这些真理在宗教改革以来，某些人一直否认这些真理：那些否认这些真理的人被认为不适合在教堂或王国拥有治愈灵魂，因为他们可能会通过他们的错误观点影响他们周围的人，或用扰乱教会分裂，或煽动教会叛乱（参：C. Hardwick, A History of the Articles of Religion [1895], 158页）。

关于三十九条信纲的合理解释存有许多争论，甚至有人呼吁用天主教的原则来查看三十九条信纲的解释。除了这些信条的内容，它们的历史和本质足够用来

7. Canons of Dort (1619). The Canons of the Synod of Dort (1619) constitute the final answer of orthodox Calvinism to the Arminian Remonstrants. Distinguished visitors from almost every Reformed country were present at the invitation of the Dutch States General. It has been claimed that no more learned or respectable synod was ever convened and no body more representative of the Protestant world ever met. Along with the Belgic Confession and the Heidelberg Catechism, reaffirmed by the Synod, the Canons of Dort have remained the formal standard of the Dutch Reformed Church to the present day.

8. Westminster Confession (1647). The Westminster Confession of 1647 stands as the doctrinal norm of English-speaking Presbyterians. It arose from the Westminster Assembly, called in 1643 by the Long Parliament to revise the Thirty-nine Articles. It has been said that four major principles govern its content: the authority of Scripture, the sovereignty of God, the validity of conscience, and the independence of the Church. According to W. A. Curtis it "marks the maturest and most deliberate

解释信条。更确切地说，必须承认这些信条虽然不是那么好论辩，但是它们主要是加尔文主义基调。“这些信条并不成熟，不及夸张的加尔文主义。就任何党派意义而言，他们都不属于加尔文教派。但是如已经阐明的那样，他们随着加尔文教义明显得到了支持 (Curtis, 177 页)。

7、多特信条（1619年）。多特信条（1619年）构成了正统加尔文主义针对亚美尼亚劝告的最终答案。几乎来自所有改革国家的著名访问者出席了荷兰总会议的邀请。并声称从未召开过更博学或受人尊敬的会议，也从未见过更代表新教的团体。大会再次确认，随着荷兰信条和海德堡教义问答，多特信条对现代来说，保留了荷兰归正教会的正式标准。

8、威斯敏斯特信条（1647年）。1647年的威斯敏斯特信条是说英语的长老派教义的标准。它兴起于威斯敏斯特会议，在1643年召开长期会议，并修改了这三十九条信纲。据说四大主要原则构成了威斯敏斯特信条的内容：《圣经》的权威，神的统治权，意识的有效性和教会的独立性。柯蒂斯（W. A. Curtis）认为威斯敏斯特信条“标志着圣经启示最成熟和最深思熟虑的计划，因为它似乎展现了最文雅和最虔诚的清教徒思想。这是加尔文主义最后一个伟大的信经表达方式，从理智和神学上讲，它是神学教义 formulation of the scheme of Biblical revelation as it has appeared to the most cultured and most devout Puritan minds. It was the last great Creed-utterance of Calvinism and intellectually and theologically it is a worthy child of the Institutes, a stately and noble standard for Bible loving men” (p. 275).

The foregoing survey will have sufficed to indicate the relationship between creeds and confessions. Both are doctrinal affirmations of belief. Both are attempts to conserve the truth of revelation. Both have been employed as a criterion by which orthodoxy may be distinguished from heresy. But creeds are much more restricted in scope and confine themselves to short and simple declarations, whereas confessions range over a broader field. Creeds are properly used in public worship, whereas confessions exist primarily for reference. Yet despite these obvious differences, it would be misleading to adopt the view of R. C. Moberly that, whereas the creed is a necessary feature of spiritual reality, the confession is an unfortunate consequence of spiritual failure (Problems and Principles [1904], p. 379). Both are part of the Church’s positive witness to the faith once delivered to the saints.

一个有价值的产物,《圣经》中记载的爱世人的庄严和崇高的标准(275页)。

上述调查可以充分表示信经和信条之间的关系。两者都是教义信仰的决心,都试图维护启示的真理,都曾为正教的标准,这正教可能有别于异教。但信经比较受范围的限制并将自己局限于简短和简单的声明,而信条的范围在一个更广泛的领域。信条适合公共崇拜,而信条主要作为参考。尽管有这些明显的区别,采用莫伯利(R. C. Moberly)的观点会误导我们,然而信经是灵性现实的一个必要特性,而信条是灵里堕落的一个不幸的产物(Problems and Principles [1904], 379页)。两者都是教会见证圣徒信心的积极见证。

CREEPING THINGS 昆虫、爬行的动物、爬物

【希伯来语：remes】(创 1:24, 26; 6:7, 20; 7:14, 23; 8:17, 19; 诗 148:10; 结 8:10; 38:20; 何 2:18); 《新英文译本》还译为 REPTILES (“爬物”), “things that creep on the earth” (“地上的昆虫”) (何 2:18); THING THAT CREEPS (“爬物”) 【rāmas】(创 1:25-26, 30; 7:8, 14; 8:17; 9:2; 申 4:18; 诗 104:20; 结 38:20); 《新英文译本》译为 REPTILE, THING THAT CRAWLS, THING THAT MOVES, 汉译均为“爬行的动物”; 【šeres】(利 22:5); 《新英文译本》译为 VERMIN (“爬物”)。

Remes 是表示一大类动物的集合名词，之所以称它们为“爬物”，是因为它们在地上爬行的动物。这个名词源于动词 rāmas，意思是“轻盈而平稳地移动或滑行。”这个词语常指地上的生物（“地上爬的一切昆虫”），有别于牲畜（创 1:24-25; 7:14; 诗 148:10）、一般的动物（创 6:20; 7:8; 8:17, 19）、人（创 6:7; 7:23）、鸟（创 6:7; 7:8; 等; 申 4:17-18; 结 38:20; 诗 148:10）和鱼（申 4:18; 结 38:20）。 etc.; Dt. 4:17f.; Ezk. 38:20; Ps. 148:10), and fish (Dt. 4:18; Ezk. 38:20).

Although commentators limit remes to the reptiles, the term seems to be used more comprehensively. For instance, it apparently designates all living terrestrial forms (cf. the Hebrew of Gen. 1:28; 7:21; 9:3), fish (Ps. 69:34; 104:25; Hab. 1:14), the beasts of the forest (Ps. 104:20); and even the swarming creatures (šeres) are called hārōmēs (Lev. 11:44, 46). In the final instance, šeres refers to weasels, mice, lizards, and crocodiles (cf. Lev. 11:29f.). (For šeres hā'ōp [Lev. 11:20f.; Dt. 14:19] see INSECTS.)

Consequently, restriction of the term remes to reptiles alone is too narrow. It is a general term signifying the smaller animals which, to the eye of the observer, appear to creep or crawl along the ground.

CREMATION.

The term refers to the practice of disposing of the deceased by means of burning (Heb. šārap; Gk. kaiō). It takes two forms: (1) the ancient practice of burning all but the bones, which are later interred, and (2) the practice of complete cremation.

In the Mediterranean area cremation was avoided by the Egyptians, who embalmed their dead, the dryness of the climate facilitating this practice. The Persians, following Zoroastrian belief, exposed the corpses—a practice still followed by the Parsees, especially in and near Bombay. Among the ancient

尽管释经者认为 remes 仅可以表示爬物,但是这个词语的用法似乎非常广泛。例如:它显然表示地上一切的生物(参:希伯来语:创 1:28; 7:21; 9:3)、鱼(诗 69:34; 104:25; 哈 1:14)、林中的百兽(诗 104:20);甚至连成群的活物(šeres)也被称为 hārōmēs (利 11:44, 46)。最后一个例子中, šeres 指的是鼬鼠、鼯鼠、蜥蜴和鳄鱼(参:利 11:29-30)。(关于 šeres hā'ōp [利 11:20-21; 申 14:19], 见 INSECTS[昆虫]。)

因此, 仅用 remes 这个词表示爬物是很狭隘的。它是表示较小动物的通用词语, 对观察者来说, 它们似乎是在地上爬行或匍匐前进。

CREMATION. 火葬、火化

这个词语表示用火葬处理死者的习俗(希伯来语: šārap; 希腊语: kaiō)。火葬有两种形式:(1) 部分火葬的古老习俗(骨头不烧, 而是埋葬), (2) 完全火葬的习俗。

在地中海地区, 埃及人不实行火葬, 他们用香料熏尸体, 埃及干燥的气候为这一习俗提供了便利条件。波斯人遵循琐罗亚斯德教的信仰将尸体暴露在外——帕尔西人, 尤其是孟买和孟买附近的人仍然遵循这个习俗。古希腊人通常实行火葬; 但是后来火葬应用的范围变得更广泛, 尤其是在瘟疫期间或战争后, 为

Greeks burial was the normal custom; but later cremation became widely practiced, particularly during a plague, or after a battle, in order to prevent enemies from disinterring the dead. Among the Romans likewise, especially the aristocracy, the practice of cremation largely was later than that of burial. Today memorials along the Appian Way testify to its prevalence prior to the rise of Christianity.

Among the early Hebrews cremation was the exception. It was regarded as appropriate only for serious offenders, such as Achan (Josh. 7:15, 25; cf. Lev. 20:14; 21:9; Isa. 30:33). The burning of the bodies of King Saul and his sons by the men of Jabesh-gilead is disputed (1 S. 31:11f.); it is an isolated incident and is omitted in the account given in 1 Ch. 10:11f. Tacitus noted that the Jews bury their dead rather than burn them (Hist v.5). Some rabbis considered the burning of the corpse consistent only with idolatry (Abodah Zarah i.3). Many rabbis concluded that burial is positively commanded in the Pentateuch (cf. Dt. 21:23). The main reasons for the Jewish preference for burial appear to be their belief that God intended the soul and body to be compatible and their belief (especially in later Judaism) in the resurrection of the body. Other factors that may have contributed are the relative scarcity of fuel in the land of Israel and the availability of caves, whether natural or artificial, for burial. Exposure without burial was regarded as a calamity among the Hebrews (1 K. 14:11; Jer. 7:32; Ezk. 29:5; Ps. 79:3; 2 S. 21:10). The burial of the dead was a duty even to strangers (Tob. 1:17-2:8).

对早期希伯来人来说，火葬属于例外情况。只有对严重的罪犯实行火葬，如亚干（书 7:15, 25；参：利 20:14；21:9；赛 30:33）。关于扫罗王和他儿子的尸体被基列雅比人火化的记载是存有争议的（撒上 31:11-12）；这是一个独立的事件，并且在《历代志上》10:11-12 的记载中删除了这部分信息。塔西佗注意到犹太人埋葬尸体，而不是火葬尸体（Hist v.5）。有些拉比认为火烧尸体只与偶像崇拜是一致的（Abodah Zarah i.3）。许多拉比总结说，埋葬是摩西五经中的明确诫命（参：申 21:23）。犹太人偏爱埋葬的主要原因似乎是他们相信上帝定意要让灵魂和肉体共存（尤其后来的犹太教），以及他们相信身体复活。其他的原因还包括以色列缺乏染料，同时以色列的土地上有很多可供埋葬的自然洞穴或人工洞穴。希伯来人认为尸体暴露在外是件不幸的事（王上 14:11；耶 7:32；结 29:5；诗 79:3；撒下 21:10）。甚至连陌生人都有责任埋葬死者（比 1:17-2:8）。

The Christians followed the precedent of the Jews with respect to disposal of the dead. The early Christians, following the example of Jesus (e.g., Mt. 9:24; Jn. 11:11), spoke of the deceased as being “asleep” (cf. 1 Cor. 15:6, 20). Early memorials referred to the deceased as “asleep in Jesus.” A church in Jerusalem today bears the title the “Dormition of the Virgin Mary” (“dormition” meaning “sleep”). It seemed quite inappropriate to incinerate the body referred to as being “asleep.” The early Christian expectations of the Lord’s early return and NT examples of the dead being raised (e.g., Acts 9:40) contributed to their reluctance to cremate the deceased, since the Parousia might occur very soon after burial. In this respect the Christians, like the Jews, differed from many of their contemporaries, as noted by Tacitus. Unlike the Greeks, who regarded the body as a prison of the soul, both Hebrews and Christians saw it as the integration of human personality. Furthermore, the Christian emphasis upon the body as the temple of the Holy Spirit increased their disinclination toward cremation (1 Cor. 3:16f.; 6:19).

Christian apologists also approved the preference for burial (Minucius Felix Octavius 34 [PL III, 362]). Although martyrs were sometimes burned with the intent of lessening the Christians’ confidence of resurrection, it did not deprive them of this hope. If possible, they would gather the ashes or bones of the martyrs and bury them (M. Polyc. 18). They were confident, however, in the affirmation that the manner of death and disposition of the corpse would not affect the resurrection, because of God’s omnipotence. This has 基督徒在处理死人时遵循犹太人的先例。早期基督徒效仿耶稣（如，太 9:24；约 11:11），认为已死的人“睡着了”（参：林前 15:6, 20）。早期的记载中提到了“在主里睡了”的死者。现在耶路撒冷的一个教会命名为“童贞女马利亚安眠教堂”。既然认为死者已经“安睡”，那么焚烧尸体似乎就不合适了。早期基督徒期盼主早日再临，《新约》中死人复活的例子（如：徒 9:40）促使他们更加愿意选择火化，因为可能在埋葬完尸体后不久基督就复临了。正如塔西佗所记载的，基督徒与犹太人一样，选择不同于同时代人的尸体处理方式。希腊人视肉体为灵魂的牢笼，希伯来人和基督徒则坚持不同的观点，他们认为肉体是人的性格不可分割的一部分。此外，基督徒强调身体是圣灵的殿，所以他们不愿意尸体火化（林前 3:16-17； 6:19）。

基督教护教士同样愿意选择埋葬尸体（Minucius Felix Octavius 34 [PL III, 362]）。尽管为了削弱基督徒对复活信心，有时会火化殉道士，但是这并没有使他们丧失希望。如果可以，基督徒会将殉道士的骨灰或遗骨收起来，然后埋葬他们（M. Polyc. 18）。然而，他们相信死亡和处理尸体的方式不会影响复活，因为上帝是全能的神。几个世纪以来，教会一直坚持这样的立场——尤其是希腊正统教会和罗马天主教会。

音译: krēt【希腊语: Krētē】。地中海的一个大岛屿。位于希腊大陆的东南部, 是爱琴海的南部边界, 塞西拉岛是爱琴海的西北部边界, 而卡帕梭斯岛和罗底岛是爱琴海的东北部边界。克里特岛东西长 156 英里 (250 公里), 约 8 英里至

It is some 156 mi. (250 km.) long from west to east and varies from approximately 8 to 35 mi. (13 to 56 km.) in breadth. The island is mountainous, with three ranges: Dikte in the east, Ida in the center, and the White Mountains in the west. The last two ranges have peaks slightly in excess of 8000 ft. (2440 m.). On the south coast the mountains tend to drop sheer into the sea, so most of the cultivable areas and the best harbors are on the north side. This is nicely illustrated by the difficulties Paul encountered along the southern coast on his voyage to Rome (recounted in Acts 27). The Cretan mountains consist basically of limestone, which, exposed by the severe deforestation, has weathered to form steep ravines, fissures, crevasses and numerous caves, the source of many legendary and historical episodes throughout Crete's long history. The land is marked by the number of upland plains, with the main areas suitable for cultivation and settlement being in the east. The soil is mostly rocky with little alluvium. The main and most disastrous change since antiquity has been the deforestation of the island, which, now virtually complete, has transformed it from one of the most fertile and prosperous locations in the Mediterranean to one of the most rocky and barren.

The name Crete does not occur in the OT, but it is possible, and usually assumed, that the CHERETHITES of David's bodyguard were Cretans, because of similarity of name and their close geographic association with the Philistines. The place name CAPHTOR and the gentilic term Caphtorim, as origins of the Philistines, are generally taken to refer to Crete and its inhabitants.

35 英里（13 公里至 56 公里）宽。这个岛屿是个多山的岛屿，岛上有三大山脉：东边为迪克特山，中部为依达山，西边为怀特山。后两个山脉的最高峰超过 8000 英尺（2440 米）。南部海岸山脉往往陡峭入海，所以大部分可耕种的土地和最好的港口都在北海岸。保罗乘船去罗马时南岸遭遇海难恰好证明了这一点（《使徒行传》27 章中的记载）。克里特岛的山脉主要由石灰岩组成，由于森林开采过度，土地暴露在外，经风化形成了陡峭的峡谷、裂纹、裂缝和许多洞穴，这种地貌是克里特岛悠久的历史中许多传奇和历史事件的发源地。克里特岛有许多高地平原，东部主要地区适合种植和居住。克里特岛的土地不半是岩石，很少有冲积土。克里特岛的森林采伐是该岛自古以来经历的最主要的、最灾难性的变化，实际上，现在克里特岛的森林已经被采伐一空，克里特岛已经从一个土壤最肥沃、经济最富庶的地区变成了地中海地区最多山、土壤最贫瘠的地区。

In the NT Cretans are named as present at the Feast of Pentecost (Acts 2:11), and the island plays a significant and unfortunate role in the shipwreck that occurred in the course of Paul's journey to Rome (Acts 27:7-44). It is possible that Paul revisited Crete upon release from prison in Rome, for he left Titus there to organize the work (Tit. 1:5). In 1:12 he quotes the Cretan poet Epimenides to the effect that Cretans were men of low repute in the ancient world.

在《新约》中，在五旬节的宴席中提到了克里特人（徒 2:11），值得注意的是，保罗途径该岛向罗马传道时发生了船难（徒 27:7-44）。保罗在罗马被释放后，可能重访了克里特岛，因为他留提多在克里特办好未办完的工作（多 1:5）。在《提多书》1:12 中，保罗引用了克里特诗人埃庇米尼得斯（Epimenides）的话来说明克里特人在古代世界名誉扫地。

Although the island had little significance in the classical world, such was not the case in the earlier periods. Crete was first settled by Neolithic farmers in the 4th and 3rd millennia B.C., but it was in the Bronze Age, beginning ca. 3000 B.C., that Crete developed a powerful civilization that frequently played a dominant role in the Aegean, and that lasted for nearly two thousand years. This civilization has been termed Minoan by Sir Arthur Evans after king Minos, known from the Homeric epics.

尽管在传统世界这个岛不太重要，但是在较早时期情况并非如此。克里特岛是公元前 4000 和 3000 年间新石器时代农民首先定居的地方，但是直到青铜器时代，约公元前 3000 年初，克里特岛才形成了发达的文明，克里特的发达文明通常在爱琴海地区起到支配性地位，这种支配性地位持续了近两千年。亚瑟埃文斯爵士（Sir Arthur Evans）根据《荷马史诗》中的记载认为这种文明是以国王迈诺斯的名字来命名的。据传说，迈诺斯在克诺索斯作王，埃文斯在世纪之交历时数年发掘了克诺索斯遗址。埃文斯

Minos, according to legend, ruled at Knossos, a site that Evans excavated over many years at the turn of the century. Evans divided Minoan chronology into three periods, Early, Middle, and late Minoan, which roughly correspond to the Early Bronze (3150–2200 B.C.), Middle Bronze (2200–1550 B.C.), and Late Bronze (1550–1200 B.C.) periods of Palestinian archeology.

Remains of the Minoan palace at Phaestos. Built entirely on terraces, the palace was a self-contained community, strikingly similar in plan and architectural detail to the palaces at Knossos and Mallia. (W. S. LaSor)

The golden age of Minoan civilization was reached in the Middle Minoan Period, ca. 2000–1500 B.C. In this period colossal, almost labyrinthine, palaces were constructed. Four have now been found at Knossos, Phaestos, Mallia and Zakro. Writing was in use, initially pictographic, but developing by ca. 1700 B.C. into a linear script, syllabic in type, that was in use until the fall of the Palace civilization shortly after 1500 B.C. Interpretation of this script is still in its infancy, although C. H. Gordon has plausibly interpreted a few inscriptions as a dialect of West Semitic.

All the known Minoan palaces were violently destroyed, presumably by earthquake, about 1700 B.C. They were very quickly rebuilt on an even grander scale, and Minoan civilization reached its zenith during the two and a half centuries from 1700 to 1450 B.C. The general level of attainment of the arts and crafts in this period matched the grandeur and splendor of the palaces. Metalworking, pottery, and especially the carving of ivory and stone and the production of jewelry reached heights not to be rivaled before the classical age of Greek civilization in the first millennium. During the latter part of this period Minoan civilization spread overseas and colonies were established on Thera, Melos, and Rhodes, at Miletus on the Anatolian coast, and possibly even on the Greek mainland itself. Certainly the mainland was deeply influenced by Cretan culture and fashions.

This grandeur was, however, short-lived. Soon after the great volcanic eruption that destroyed Thera, ca. 1500 B.C., the Cretan centers were violently destroyed. Since this destruction included fire, it is probable that it was caused by an invading force rather than earthquake. Whatever the cause, none of the palaces except Knossos was occupied thereafter, and Knossos itself was taken over by foreigners. Changes in pottery style and palace architecture make it very likely that the conquerors were Mycenaean

所有著名的迈诺安文明时期的宫殿可能都被公元前 1700 年的地震严重地破坏了。不过随后不久便重建了更加宏伟的宫殿, 迈诺安文明在公元前 1700 年至 1450 年近两百五十年间达到了鼎盛时期。这一时期的工艺水平可以金碧辉煌的宫殿相媲美。金属制品、陶器, 特别是象牙和石头的雕刻品以及珠宝的制造都到达了最高水平, 公元 1000 年古典希腊文明出现之前没有可与之匹敌的文明。在这段时期的后期, 迈诺安文明传播至海外, 并且在锡拉岛、米洛斯、罗兹岛、安纳托利亚海岸的米利都、甚至是希腊大陆建立了殖民地。当然, 希腊深受克里特文化和时尚的影响。

然而, 这么辉煌的时期如昙花一现。不久后, 约公元前 1500 年的一场巨大的火山喷发摧毁了锡拉岛, 克里特的中心也遭到了严重的破坏。既然这次破坏是由火造成的, 那么这场大火可能是由入侵者放的, 而不是由地震引起的。无论怎样, 除了克诺索斯宫之外, 其他所有的宫殿都被摧毁了, 而克诺索斯宫被入侵者占领了。从陶器的风格和宫殿的建筑风格的变化可以看出, 征服者可能是来自希腊大陆的迈锡尼希腊人。强有力的证据同样证明了这一情况, 实际上, 在克诺索斯、派洛斯 (Pylos)、迈锡尼以

Greeks from the mainland. Strong evidence in the same direction is the fact that a new script termed Linear B, apparently an adaptation of the older Linear A, came into use in this period at Knossos, as well as at Pylos, Mycenae, and other sites on the mainland. In 1952 M. Ventris succeeded in interpreting this script as an early form of archaic Greek, although the interpretation is not without its problems or its critics.

Shortly after 1400 B.C. the last palace at Knossos was destroyed and the grandeur of Bronze Age Crete came to an end, although it apparently remained under Mycenaean domination during the next two centuries. At the end of this period Dorian Greeks invaded the island and Crete sank into relative oblivion during the Iron Age.

Crete played a minor role in the Aegean during the classical age, being noted as a source of mercenary soldiers and traders. In 67 B.C. it fell under Roman hegemony and was organized into the province of Cyrenaica, linked with territory in Libya on the North African coast.

公元前 1400 年后不久，克诺索斯最后一座宫殿被摧毁，青铜器时期克里特岛的辉煌就此结束，虽然在接下来的两百年期间克里特岛显然在迈锡尼人的统治下着。在这一时期之后，多里安的希腊人入侵了该岛，铁器时代期间，克里特岛沦落成了一个相对被遗忘的地方。

在古典时期，克里特岛在爱琴海地区是个无足轻重的岛屿，据记载雇佣兵和贸易商人多来自克里特岛。公元前 67 年，罗马人占领了克里特岛，并且将该岛并入了昔兰尼加省，毗邻北非海岸的叙利亚地区。

CRIB 槽

【希伯来语: 'ēbūs】; 《新英文译本》译为 STALL (“槽”)。“Crib” (伯 39:9; 赛 1:3) 准确地翻译了希伯来语 'ēbūs (源自 'abās, “喂”), 因为这个词表示牛棚和羊圈里用来装饲料的带有栅栏的槽子; 还可以表示在冬天喂养田间牲畜的槽子。

CRICKET 蟋蟀

【希伯来语: ḥargōl】; 《钦定版圣经》译为 BEETLE (“蟋蟀”); 《新英文译本》译为 GREEN LOCUST (“蝗虫”)。仅在《利未记》11:22 中出现的一个词语, 可能指的是蝗虫或蚱蜢。见 LOCUST (蝗虫); INSECTS (昆虫)。

CRIME; CRIMES 罪; 犯罪、罪案

【希伯来语: 'āwōn】(申 19:15); 《钦定版圣经》译为 INIQUITY (“罪”); 【ḥēṭ】(申 21:22); 《钦定版圣经》译为 SIN (“罪”); 《新英文译本》译为 OFFENCE (“罪”); 【rā'ā】(士 9:56); 《钦定版圣经》译为 WICKEDNESS (“恶”); 【n^ebālā】(士 20:10); 《钦定版圣经》译为 FOLLY (“丑事”); 《新英文译本》译为 OUTRAGE (“暴行”); 【'āwen】(诗 56:7 [《马所拉文本》8]); 《钦定版圣经》译为 INIQUITY (“罪孽”); 《新英文译本》作了修订; 【'ōlōṭ】(诗 64:6 [《马所拉文本》7]); 《钦定版圣经》译为 INIQUITIES (“奸恶”); 《新英文译本》中省略了这个词; 【希腊语: aition】(路 23:4, 22); 《钦定版圣经》译为 FAULT (“错”); 《新英文译本》译为 “case ... to answer” (“罪案”); 【rhadiourgēma】(徒 18:14); 《钦定版圣经》译为 LEWDNESS (“奸恶”); 《新英文译本》译为 MISDEMEANOUR (“行为不端”)。

Words for “crime” and “crimes” do not appear very frequently in the original languages of Scripture nor in the English versions. The AV and RV translate no word “crime” in the OT, although with the RSV they render Heb. mišpaṭ in Ezk. 7:23 as “crimes.” The AV, RV, and RSV all render Heb. zimmâ (Job 31:11) as “a heinous crime.” The AV has “crimes” for Gk. aitiasin Acts 25:27, while the RV, RSV, and NEB have “charges” (see Jn. 18:38; 19:4, 6). The AV has “crime” for Gk. enklématos in Acts 25:16, while the RV has “matter,” the RSV and NEB “charge.”

A crime is a transgression against the public right, a serious offense against the law, or a base weakness or iniquity, all of which are regarded as obnoxious to the Creator. Specific forms of crime, many treated in separate articles, are the following:

ADULTERY

Bestiality. Sexual relations with a beast. This form of vice was considered loathsome and abhorrent, partly because of its associations with certain pagan rites and mythology; it called for extreme language in its description and rigorous measures in its punishment. Both the beast and the guilty human were to be put to death (Ex. 22:19; Lev. 18:23; 20:15f.; Dt. 27:21).

“crime” (“罪”)和“crimes” (“犯罪”)这两个词不太常出现在《圣经》原文或英文译本中。《钦定版圣经》和《修订译本》没有将《旧约》中任何词语译为“crime”，然而《修订标准译本》在《以西结书》7:23中将希伯来语 mišpaṭ 译为“crime” (“罪”)。《钦定版圣经》、《修订译本》和《修订标准译本》都将希伯来语 zimmâ (伯 31:11) 译为“a heinous crime” (“大罪”)。《钦定版圣经》用“crimes” (“罪案”)翻译《使徒行传》25:27中的希腊语 aitiasin，而《修订译本》、《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》用“charges” (“罪状”)来翻译该希腊语 (见路 18:38; 19:4, 6)。《钦定版圣经》用“crime”翻译《使徒行传》25:16中的希腊语 enklématos，而《修订译本》译为“matter” (“问题”)，《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》译为“charge” (“控告”)。

罪就是违反公共权力，严重违反律法、或是某种不良嗜好或邪恶，这些都被造物主视为是可憎的。罪的具体形式如下 (分词条中也讨论了很多具体的罪)：

行淫 (见 ADULTERY [通奸、行淫、奸淫])

人兽相交。与牲畜相交。这种罪被视为可憎的，一定程度是因为这种罪与某些异教的习俗和神话有关；《圣经》中用极端的语言描述了这种罪，而且犯这种罪的人将受到严厉的惩罚。如果兽与罪人，那么兽与人都会被处死 (出 22:19; 利 18:23; 20:15-16; 申 27:21)。

BLASPHEMY

Breach of Covenant. Heb. pārar'et-habb^erît. According to Poucher (HDB, s.v. “crimes”), this term included: (1) failure to observe the Day of Atonement (Lev. 23:29); work on that day (Lev. 23:28); (2) sacrifice of children to Molech (Lev. 20:3); (3) neglect of circumcision (Gen. 17:14; Ex. 4:26); (4) unauthorized manufacture of the holy oil (Ex. 30:33); (5) anointing an alien therewith (Ex. 30:33); (6) neglect of the Passover (Nu. 9:13). Note also the following: Gen. 17:14; Lev. 26:15–44; Dt. 29:25; 31:16, 20. Paul (Rom. 1:31) speaks of asynthetoi, “covenant-breakers.”

Breach of Ritual. A term not found in the Scriptures, but covering a number of acts prohibited by the ceremonial law. They have been exhaustively enumerated by Poucher: (1) eating blood, whether of fowl or beast (Lev. 7:27; 17:14); (2) eating fat of the beast of sacrifice (Lev. 7:25); (3) eating leavened bread during the Passover (Ex. 12:15, 19); (4) failure to bring an offering when an animal is slaughtered for food (Lev. 17:4); (5) offering sacrifice while the worshiper is under the ban of uncleanness (Lev. 7:20f.; 22:3f., 9); (6) making holy ointment for private use (Ex. 30:32f.); (7) using the same for perfume (Ex. 30:38); (8) neglect of purification in general (Nu. 19:13, 20); (9) slaughtering an animal for food away from the door of the tabernacle (Lev. 17:4, 9; even the alien must comply, so that the introduction of worship at other places might be avoided); (10) touching holy things illegally (Nu. 4:16–20). The punishment

违背圣约。希伯来语 pārar'et-habb^erît。根据普切尔 (Poucher, HDB, 见词条 “crimes”) 的记载, 违背圣约包括: (1) 不守赎罪日(利 23:29); 赎罪日作工(利 23:28); (2) 将儿女献给摩洛(利 20:3); (3) 忽视割礼(创 17:14; 出 4:26); (4) 非法调制神圣膏油(出 30:33); (5) 用膏油膏外邦人(出 30:33); (6) 不守逾越节(民 9:13)。还可参考以下章节:《创世记》17:14;《利未记》26:15-44;《申命记》29:25; 31:16, 20。保罗在《罗马书》1:31 中提到了“背约的”(asynthetoi)。

违反宗教礼仪。在《圣经》中没有出现的这个术语, 但是, 这个术语涵盖了许多被律法禁止的行为。普切尔 (Poucher) 详尽地列举了这些被禁的行为: (1) 吃血, 无论是家禽还是牲畜的血(利 7:27; 17:14); (2) 吃献祭牲畜的脂油(利 7:25); (3) 过逾越节时吃有酵饼(出 12:15, 19); (4) 未将屠宰的动物献祭(利 17:4); (5) 不洁净的敬拜者献祭(利 7:20-21; 22:3-4, 9); (6) 私自使用神圣的膏油(出 30:32-33); (7) 私自使用香(出 30:38); (8) 忽视洁净(民 19:13, 20); (9) 不在会幕门口屠宰动物为食(利 17:4, 9; 即使是外邦人也要遵守这个律法, 因此有可能避免在其他地方敬拜); (10) 非法触摸圣物(民 4:16-20)。不遵守这些禁令的人将从民中“剪除”(希伯来语: nikrat miqqereb, 意为“从中剪除”, 也就是被逐出教会的意思, 等)。 for the nonobservance of these prohibitions was the “cutting off” of the transgressor from his people (Heb. nikrat miqqereb, “cut off from among,” i.e., excommunicate, etc.).

Breach of Trust. See TRUST, BREACH OF.

BRIBERY

Burglary. This term does not occur in the main English versions. The corresponding act is defined as “thievery accompanied by breaking in,” and it places the offender beyond protection from violence (Ex. 22:2). The crime might be committed in various degrees, and to burglarize the “devoted things” was punishable by death (Josh. 7:15), as was also man-stealing (Ex. 21:16; Dt. 24:7).

Falsehood. Heb. ma'al, “treachery,” “sin,” “trespass” (Job 31:34), and šeqer, “a sham,” “deceit,” “lying” (2 S. 18:13; Ps. 7:14; 119:118; 144:8, 11; Isa. 28:15; 57:4; 59:13; Jer. 10:14; 13:25; Hos. 7:1; Mic. 2:11). In every case wilful perversion of the truth or preference for untruth is at least presupposed. Hence

盗窃。这个词语在主要的英文译本中没有出现。相应的行为被称为“挖窟窿盗窃”，并且罪犯受了暴行也不会受到保护 (出 22:2)。人可能犯不同程度的罪，而盗窃“当毁之物”将被处死 (书 7:25)，拐带人的也要被处死 (出 21:16; 申 24:7)。

欠债 (见 DEBT[债务])

不顺服 (见 DISOBEDIENCE[不顺服])

占卜 (见 DIVINATION[占卜])

醉酒 (见 DRUNKENNESS[醉酒])

毁谤 (诽谤)。见下面的“说恶言”。

说谎。希伯来语 ma'al, 意为“背叛”、“罪”、“犯罪” (伯 31:34), šeqer, 意为“骗子”、“谎言”、“说谎” (撒下 18:13; 诗 7:14; 119:118; 144:8, 赛 28:15; 57:4; 59:13; 耶 10:14; 13:25; 何 7:1; 弥 2:11)。无论怎样，至少可以看出说谎的人故意颠倒了事实或偏爱谎言。所以说谎总是有犯罪的倾向，并且对真理怀有敌意，

falsehood always marks an evil disposition, enmity against truth, and thus against God. Consequently it is criminal. See also LIE.

False Swearing. “Swearing to a lie or falsehood” (Heb. šeqer) is mentioned in Lev. 6:3, 5; 19:12; Jer. 5:2; 7:9; Hos. 10:4; Zec. 5:4. From these passages and their context it appears that this crime was considered in the twofold sense of a wrong against the neighbor and against God, for the oath was an appeal to God to witness to the truthfulness of the statement; hence to swear falsely was to represent God as supporting a false statement. It is condemned also in 1 Tim. 1:10 (Gk. epiorkoi, “perjurers”).

False Witnessing. Heb. idiom ‘ēd šeqer, “witness of a falsehood,” “lie” (Ex. 20:16; Dt. 19:16, 18; Prov. 6:19; 14:5, 25; 19:5, 9); Gk. pseudomartyrēō, “bring false testimony” (Mk. 10:19; 14:56f.); pseudomartyria, “false testimony” (Mt. 15:19; 26:59). In order that the innocent might be protected against the lying accuser, a criminal was to be convicted only on the testimony of at least two or three witnesses, testifying to the same facts (Nu. 35:30). If one was found testifying falsely, he was to be punished by suffering the penalty that would have been inflicted on the one against whom he testified, had he been convicted (Dt. 19:16–19).

Fornication. Heb. taznūt (Ezk. 16:29) and zānā refer to committing fornication figuratively, by idolatry (Isa. 23:17; Ezk. 16:26), or causing to commit such (2 Ch. 21:11). The Greek counterparts, porneia (33 times) and porneūō (7 times), are much more frequent, which indicates the

因此与上帝为敌。因此说谎是一种罪行。另见 LIE (谎言)。

起假誓。《利未记》6:3, 5; 19:12; 《耶利米书》5:2; 7:9; 《何西阿书》10:4; 《撒迦利亚书》5:4 中都提到了“说谎言起假誓”(希伯来语 šeqer)。从这些经文和上下文语境可知,这种罪中包含了双重错误,既欺骗了邻舍,又欺骗了上帝,因为发誓时要祈求上帝见证誓言的真实性;因此,起假誓呈现出了一个支持假见证的上帝。《提摩太前书》1:10 同样谴责了起假誓(希腊语: epiorkoi, 意为“起假誓的”)。

假见证。希伯来语习语 ‘ēd šeqer, “假见证”、“说谎”(出 20:16; 申 19:16, 18; 箴 6:19; 14:5, 25; 19:5, 9); 希腊语 pseudomartyrēō, 意为“假见证”(可 10:19; 14:56-57); pseudomartyria, 意为“妄证”(太 15:19; 26:59)。为了避免无罪的人被说谎的控告者诬陷,只有当至少两或三个见证人见证同一事实之后,才可判定一个人有罪(民 35:30)。如果一个人作了假见证,那么他就要受到他想要陷害之人所要遭受的惩罚(申 19:16-19)。

淫乱。希伯来语 taznūt(结 16:29)和 zānā 将拜偶像(赛 23:17; 结 16:26)或类似的行为(代下 21:11)比喻为行淫。porneia (33 次)和 porneūō (7 次)这两个希腊语出现得更加频繁,这说明《新约》中更加憎恶淫乱或卖淫(多数情况也是比喻用法,实际上指的是崇拜偶像)。《犹 greater abhorrence of fornication or whoredom in the NT (although here again, some usages are figurative, referring to idolatry). The intensive Gk. ekporneúō is found in Jude 7, “be utterly unchaste.”

Forswear. Found only in Mt. 5:33 in the sense of committing perjury (Gk. epiorkéō).

Harlotry. The avocational or at least habitual, notorious practice of unchastity. In most instances the ordinary term for unchaste living (Heb. zānā) is employed (Gen. 34:31; 38:15, 24; Lev. 21:14; Josh. 2:1; Jgs. 11:1; 16:1; 1 K. 3:16; Prov. 7:10; 29:3; Jer. 5:7; Am. 7:17). For the publicly known woman of the street and the professional devotee in pagan temple worship, the Heb. qēdēšā was employed (Gen. 38:21f., AV; Hos. 4:14). The Gk. pornē occurs in Mt. 21:31f.; Lk. 15:30; 1 Cor. 6:15f.; He. 11:31; Jas. 2:25. Often it was used metaphorically of idolatry or any defection from the divine covenant, and applied particularly to Jerusalem (Isa. 1:21); the Jewish nation (Jer. 2:20; 3:1, 6ff.; often in Ezk. 16 and 23; Mic. 1:7); Israel (Hos. 4:15); Nineveh (Nah. 3:4); Tyre, with reference to the various arts employed to renew her commerce (Isa. 23:16) and to her restored traffic (v. 17); and to anti-Christian “Babylon” (Rev. 17:5, 15; 19:2). See also “Fornication,” above.

HOMICIDE

Homosexual Relations. Often called sodomy, from reference to it in Gen. 19:5–7 (cf. Gen. 13:13; Isa. 3:9; Lam. 4:6; 2 Pet. 2:6f.; Jude 7). In Lev. 18:22 it is referred to as an “abomination,” and

大书》1:7 中用希腊语 ekporneúō 来加强语气，“一味地行淫”。

背誓。只有《马太福音》5:33 中提到过背誓，指的是违背诺言（希腊语 epiorkéō）。

卖淫。丑恶的淫乱习俗，遵守这种习俗已成为人们的嗜好，至少已成为人们的习惯。在大多数例子中，采用普通词语（希伯来语 zānā）表示淫乱的生活（创 34:31; 38:15, 24; 利 21:14; 书 2:1; 士 11:1; 16:1; 王上 3:16; 箴 7:10; 29:3; 耶 5:7; 摩 7:17）。而用希伯来语 qēdēšā 来表示众所周知的路旁的妓女和异教神殿中侍奉的专业信徒（《钦定版圣经》，创 38:21-22; 何 4:14）。《马太福音》21:31-32; 《路加福音》15:30; 《哥林多前书》6:15-16; 《希伯来书》11:31 和《雅各书》2:25 中使用了希腊语 pornē。这个词常通常用来比喻拜偶像或所有背叛神的行为，专门用来形容耶路撒冷（赛 1:21）、犹大国（耶 2:20; 3:1, 6 起; 常出现在《以西结书》16 和 23 中; 弥 1:7）、以色列（何 4:15）、尼尼微（鸿 3:4）、推罗（用各种技艺更新她的贸易[赛 23:16]，恢复她的交通[赛 23:17]）和反基督徒的“巴比伦”（启 17:5, 15; 19:2）。另见上面的“淫乱”。 according to 20:13 both parties “shall be put to death.” In the OT reference is made only to men lying with men, not to the same practice among women—although in another “unnatural” sin, bestiality, the prohibition is for women as well (Lev. 18:23). When Paul in Rom. 1:26f. speaks of men who are “consumed with passion for one another” (NEB), he refers also to “women” who have “exchanged natural relations for unnatural.” The term “sodomite” (Heb. qādēš, a [quasi-] sacred person) is generally used in the OT, however, in connection with apostasy and licentious idolatry (Dt. 23:17; 1 K. 14:24; 15:12; 22:46; 2 K. 23:7). Cf. 1 Tim. 1:10; 1 Cor. 6:9.

杀人（见 HOMICIDE[杀人]）

同性恋关系。在《创世记》19:5-7 中提及了这个关系，常被称为同性性行为（参：创 13:13; 赛 3:9; 哀 4:6; 彼后 2:6-7; 犹 1:7）。《利未记》18:22 中称这种行为是“可憎恶的”，根据《利未记》

IDOLATRY

Ill-treatment of Parents (Ex. 21:15, 17; Lev. 20:9; Dt. 21:18ff.). See “Parents, Crimes Against,” below.

Incest. Heb. zimmâ, “vice,” “wickedness,” “refined immorality” (Lev. 18:17; 20:14); also “unnatural vice” (Heb. tebel, the same word that is used to designate the unnatural commingling with beasts). Amnon’s deed is designated as hesed, indicating the degradation of the tenderness natural between brothers and sisters into an immoral intimacy (2 S. 13). The crime is that of sexual relation between persons within the degrees of relationship forbidden by the Levitical law, as that of Lot’s daughters with their father (Gen. 19:33); the son with his father’s concubines, as Reuben (Gen. 35:22), and Absalom (2 S. 16:22; cf. 1 Cor. 5:1); that of the father-in-law with his daughter-in-law (Gen. 38:15ff.; cf. Ezk.

20:13 中的记载,发生同性性行为的双方“要被治死”。在《旧约》中仅表示男人与男人苟合,没有提到女人之间的苟合——不过提到了另一种“不正常”的罪行,即与兽淫合,女人同样被禁止与兽淫合(利18:23)。保罗在《罗马书》1:26-27中提到了“男和男行可耻的事”(NEB)时,他同样提到了“女人”将“顺性的用处变为逆性的用处”。而《旧约》中通常使用词语“sodomite”(“兽奸者”,希伯来语:qādēš,一个[半]神圣的人)表示与叛教和偶像崇拜有关的行为(申23:17;王上14:24;15:12;22:46;王下23:7)。参:《提摩太前书》1:10;《哥林多前书》6:9。

偶像崇拜(见 IDOLATRY [偶像崇拜])

虐待父母(出21:15,17;利20:9;申21:18起)。见下面的“悖逆父母”。

近亲通婚。希伯来语 zimmâ, “罪行”、“大恶”、“极不道德的”(利18:17;20:14)以及“不顺性的罪行”(希伯来语 tebel, 也用这个词表示与兽淫合)。暗嫩的行为被称为 hesed, 表示兄妹之间的亲密关系堕落成了一种淫行(撒下13)。利未人的律法禁止近亲之间同寝,并视之为是一种罪行,如罗得的女儿与她们的父亲同寝(创19:33);儿子与他的父亲的妾同寝,如流便(创35:22)和押沙龙(撒下16:22;参:林前5:1);公公与儿媳同寝(创38:15起;参:结22:11);男子与他的妹妹或同父异母的妹妹同寝,如暗嫩(撒下13:14);姐夫或妹夫和兄嫂或弟妹同寝(太14:3);或同时与女人和她的女儿或孙女同寝(利20:14;18:17)。与兄弟的遗孀发生不正当的关系(利20:21)被视为是一种可耻的行为,字面意思是“不洁净”(寡妇与

22:11); of the brother with the sister or half-sister, as Amnon (2 S. 13:14); of the brother-in-law with the sister-in-law (Mt. 14:3); or with both a woman and her daughter or granddaughter (Lev. 20:14; 18:17). Illicit relation with the brother's widow is designated (Lev. 20:21) as a disgraceful act, literally "uncleanness" (excepting the levirate marriage). Such acts were forbidden on the ground that the Jews were to avoid the evil practices of the Canaanites and the Egyptians in regard to marriage within the specified limits, because this would naturally result in breaking down the sanctity of the bonds connecting near relatives, and in throwing open the floodgates of immorality among them. Then, too, such provisions would secure higher results in discipline and in mentally and physically healthy children.

Infanticide. This crime seems to have been quite foreign to the minds of the Hebrews, for they had too lofty a conception of the value of human life; besides, children were considered a blessing, and their absence in the home a curse (cf. Ex. 1:17, 21; Pss. 127, 128). For this reason, there was no reason to prohibit it by law, except as the Israelites might be influenced to sacrifice their children to Molech when following the religious customs of the Canaanites.

Injuries to the Person (cf. Ex. 21:18ff.; Lev. 24:19f.; Dt. 25:11).

Irreverence. Lack of respect for God or His natural representatives, the parents or governmental officers. See "Parents, Crimes Against," below; see also BLASPHEMY.

亡夫的兄弟结婚除外)。为了避免犹太人守迦南人和埃及人的恶俗，《圣经》中禁止犹太人行这种行为，并且在婚姻上有明确禁令，因为近亲结婚自然会玷污近亲间的圣洁关系，并将打开堕落之门。因此，禁止近亲结婚的规定保证了更高的行为标准，并保证了孩子智力和身体的健康。

杀婴罪。这种罪行似乎对希伯来人来说并不是十分陌生，因为他们极为看重人类生命的价值；除此之外，孩子被视为一种祝福，没有孩子的家庭被认为是受咒诅的（参：出 1:17, 21；诗 127, 128）。因此，律法本没有必要给出禁止杀婴的规定，只是以色列人可能会效仿迦南人的宗教习俗，把他们的孩子献给摩洛。

伤人（参：出 21:18 起；利 24:19-20；申 25:11）。

不敬。不尊敬上帝或上帝的实体代表、父母或统治的官员。见下面的“悖逆父母”；另见 BLASPHEMY（褻渎）。

Kidnapping (Man-Stealing). No word for this is found in that OT, but in Ex. 21:16 it is said that “whoever steals a man” is to be “put to death” (see Dt. 24:7). Such a word, Gk. andrapodistés, does appear once in the NT (1 Tim. 1:10), AV and RV “menstealers,” RSV “kidnapers,” NEB “kidnappers.” While it is a rather frequent crime in our 20th cent. even where the death penalty obtains, no instance of it appears among the Hebrews.

MURDER

OATH

Parents, Crimes Against. The law enjoined upon the child reverence toward his parents, especially the father. That the mother was to share this reverence practically on equal terms with the father is seen in that each is mentioned separately whenever obedience and reverence are enjoined upon the child (Dt. 5:16). Deliberate disobedience and stubbornness was a serious crime (Dt. 21:18). Both the father and the mother are directed to lay hands upon such a child and bring him to the elders for punishment. How greatly such conduct was held in horror is seen in many of the Proverbs, especially 30:17. Everything that would lower a parent’s dignity and influence or violate his sense of just recognition must be carefully avoided (Gen. 9:20–27).

绑架（拐卖人口）。在《旧约》中没有出现这个词语，但是《出埃及记》21:16提到“拐带人口的”必要被“治死”（见申 24:7）。希腊语 andrapodistés 确实在《新约》中出现过一次（《提摩太前书》1:10，《钦定版圣经》和《修订译本》译为 menstealers（“抢人口的”），《修订标准译本》译为 kidnapers（“拐带人的”），《新英文译本》译为 kidnappers（“拐带人的”）。在 20 世纪，拐卖人口是一种极常见的罪行，即使拐卖人口面临着死罪的惩罚，希伯来人中间似乎没有出现过拐卖人口的案例。

说谎。见 LIE（谎言、说谎）。

恶毒（见 MALICE[恶毒]）

误杀。见 MANSLAYER（误杀人的）。

谋杀（见 MURDER[谋杀]）

誓言、诅咒（见 OATH[誓言、诅咒]）

悖逆父母。律法吩咐孩子尊敬父母，尤其是父亲。律法中每次提及孩子要顺服父母时，都会分别提及孩子要顺服父亲和顺服母亲（申 5:16）。故意不顺从和悖逆父母是一种严重的罪行（申 21:18）。父母要抓住这孩子，并把他带到长者面前接受惩罚。《箴言》（尤其是箴 30:17）中记载了不顺从父母的人要受到的严厉惩罚。必须谨慎提防一切贬低父母尊严和威信或破坏父母公信力的行为（创 9:20-27）。

Perjury. See “False Swearing”; “Forswear,” above. 伪誓。见上面的“起假誓”和“背誓”。

Prophesying, False. By reason of his position as the recognized mouthpiece of Yahweh, the prophet’s word was weighty in influence; hence to prophesy falsely was equivalent to practicing fraud publicly. Jeremiah described the condition that made such things possible as “wonderful and horrible” (5:30f.). See also Jer. 23:32; 29:8f.; Ezk. 21:23; Zec. 10:2; Mt. 7:15; 24:11, 24; Mk. 13:22; Lk. 6:26; Acts 13:6 (Bar-Jesus); 2 Pet. 2:1; 1 Jn. 4:1; Rev. 16:13; 19:20; 20:10. See also PROPHECY.

假预言。由于先知是耶和華的代表，所以他們的話有很重的分量；因此，說假預言就等同於行騙。耶利米將假預言說成是“可驚駭、可憎惡的事”（耶 5:30-31）。另見《耶利米書》23:32; 29:8-9; 《以西結書》21:23; 《撒迦利亞書》10:2; 《馬太福音》7:15; 24:11, 24; 《馬可福音》13:22; 《路加福音》6:26; 《使徒行傳》13:6（巴耶穌）; 《彼得後書》2:1; 《約翰一書》4:1; 《啟示錄》16:13; 19:20; 20:10。另見 PROPHECY（預言）。

Prostitution. Hebrew and Christian morality never condoned this practice, although the Bible recognizes its existence even among God’s people. The Hebrew father was forbidden (Lev. 19:29) to give his daughter over to a life of shame (Heb. ḥālal, “profane a person, place, or thing,” “pollute”). See also “Fornication” and “Harlotry” above; “Whoredom,” below.

為娼。希伯來人和基督徒決不能容忍為娼的行為，儘管根據《聖經》中的記載，神的子民中存在這樣的行為。希伯來父親不可辱沒自己的女兒（利 19:29），使她作娼妓（希伯來語 ḥālal，意為“辱沒一個人、地方或東西”、“玷污”）。另見上面的“淫亂”和“行淫、賣淫”；以及下面的“賣淫”。

Rape. Heb. ḥāzaq, “seize,” “force,” “ravish.” The punishment for this crime was greater when the act was committed against a betrothed woman (Dt. 22:25–29). See “Seduction,” below.

強姦。希伯來語 ḥāzaq，意為“抓住”、“強迫”、“玷污”。倘若對一個未婚的女子犯了這種罪，犯罪者將遭受更嚴重的懲罰（申 22:25-29）。見下面的“引誘”。

Removing Landmarks (Dt. 19:14). See LANDMARKS.

挪移地界（申 19:14）。見 LANDMARKS（地界）。

Reviling (Ex. 22:28). See “Irreverence,” above; see also REVILE.

毀謗（出 22:28）。見上面的“不敬”；另見 REVILE（毀謗）。

Robbery. Heb. gāzal, “pluck off,” “strip,” “rob,” “take away by force or violence.” It was forbidden in the law and frequently referred to as despicable (Lev. 19:13; 26:22; 1 S. 23:1; Prov. 22:22; Isa. 10:2, 13; 17:14; Ezk. 33:15; 39:10; Mal. 3:8f.).

搶劫。希伯來語 gāzal，意為“撕裂”，“剝去”，“掠奪”，“通過武力或暴力掠奪”。律法禁止這一行為，搶劫常常被視

Sabbath-breaking. As the Hebrew sabbath was regarded as a day of rest, all acts absolutely unnecessary were considered a violation, a “breaking” of the sabbath, which appears sufficiently from the commandment (Ex. 20:8–11); and the head of the household was held responsible for the keeping of this commandment by all sojourners under his roof. See also SABBATH.

Seduction. Heb. tā‘ā, t̄ā‘ā, “dissemble,” “seduce”; Gk. apoplanáo, “lead astray”; planáo, “go astray,” “deceive,” “err,” “seduce”; góēs, “a wizard,” “impostor,” “seducer.” In all the passages in which the idea of seduction is expressed in the English, the term is used not in the modern sense of sexual entrapment but in the more figurative sense of leading into sin generally (2 K. 21:9; Prov. 12:26, AV; Isa. 19:13, AV; Ezk. 13:10; Mk. 13:22, AV; 2 Tim. 3:13, AV; 1 Jn. 2:26, AV; Rev. 2:20). However, the modern English idea of the word is expressed in the law in Ex. 22:16f.

SLANDER

Sodomy. See “Homosexual Relations,” above.

Sorcery. Divining, etc., by help of evil spirits; witchcraft. Heb. kāšap, “use sorcery” (Ex. 7:11; Dnl. 2:2; Mal. 3:5); Gk. pharmakeía, “enchantment with drugs” (Rev. 9:21; 18:23); other Hebrew and Greek words also appear. Sorcery was not a crime in the Mosaic law, but in

为是一种可耻的行为（利 19:13; 26:22; 撒下 23:1; 箴 22:22; 赛 10:2, 13; 17:14; 结 33:15; 39:10; 玛 3:8-9）。

不守安息日。由于希伯来人的安息日被视为是安歇的日子，所以，做完全没有必要的工就违反了律法，就是“不守”安息日，律法中明确规定了这条诫命（出 20:8-11）；而一家之主有责任让家中所有寄居的都守这条诫命。另见 SABBATH（安息日）。

引诱、迷惑。希伯来语 tā‘ā, t̄ā‘ā，“假装”、“诱惑”；希腊语 apoplanáo，“迷惑”；planáo，“失迷”、“欺骗”、“引诱”、“迷惑”；góēs，“行巫术的”、“骗子”和“诱惑者”。在所有体现出引诱观念的经文中，seduction 这个词都不表示“色诱”这个现代含义，而是更多地表示“引人犯罪”的比喻义（王下 21:9；《钦定版圣经》箴 12:26；《钦定版圣经》赛 19:13；结 13:10；《钦定版圣经》可 13:22；《钦定版圣经》提后 3:13；《钦定版圣经》约壹 2:26；启 2:20）。然而，《出埃及记》22:16-17 的律法条例中使用了这个词的现代含义。

诽谤（见 SLANDER）。

同性性行为。见上面的“同性恋关系”。

法术、巫术。在邪灵的帮助下进行占卜等活动。希伯来语 kāšap，意为“用法术”（出 7:11；但 2:2；玛 3:5）；希腊语 pharmakeía，意为“被邪术迷惑”（启 9:21；18:23）；经文中还出现了其它的希伯来语和希腊语。摩西律法中没有视行法术为一种罪行，但是在《玛拉基书》

Mal. 3:1-5 sorcerers are classed with adulterers and others whom God will judge when His “messenger” (Christ) will appear (see Gal. 5:20; Rev. 9:21; 18:23; 21:8; 22:15). See also MAGIC.

Speaking Evil. In the OT “bring an evil [Heb. rā’] name upon” (Dt. 19:15; 1 K. 22:23; Ps. 34:13; 41:5; 50:19; 109:20; 140:11; Prov. 15:28; 16:30). Evil speaking is considered a crime because it is simply the expression of the evil intents of the heart. This is brought out more clearly in the NT (Mt. 7:17f.; 12:34f.; Mk. 9:39; Lk. 6:45). As such, evil speaking (Gk. blasphēmía) is represented as entirely unworthy a Christian character (Eph. 4:31; 1 Pet. 4:4, 14; 2 Pet. 2:2, 10, 12; Jude 10; also Gk. katalalēō, “babble against,” “gossip,” Jas. 4:11). It will be noticed from the above that evil speaking against those in authority is designated with the same word (blasphemy) as raillery against God, since they are considered God’s representatives on earth (Rom. 13). See also SLANDER.

Stealing. Heb. gānah, “thieve” (lit. or fig.); by implication, “deceive,” “carry away,” “secretly bring,” “steal away” (lit. Gen. 44:8; Ex. 20:15; 21:16; 22:1; Prov. 6:30; Zec. 5:3; fig. Gen. 31:30; 2 S. 15:6; 19:3; Prov. 9:17 [“Stolen waters are sweet,” i.e., the forbidden is attractive; cf. Rom. 7:7]); Gk. kléptō, “filch,” “steal” (Mt. 6:19f.; 19:18; Jn. 10:10; Rom. 2:21; 13:9; Eph. 4:28). See also “Theft,” below.

Suicide. No special law is found against this crime, for it is included in the prohibition against killing. Contrary to

3:1-5 中，行邪术的与奸夫和其他人被视为同一类人，当上帝的“使者”（耶稣基督）到来时，将对他们施行审判（见加 5:20；启 9:21；18:23；21:8；22:15）。另见 MAGIC（法术）。

说恶言。在《旧约》中，表示“将丑[希伯来语：rā’]名加在……上”（申 19:15；王上 22:23；诗 34:13；41:5；50:19；109:20；140:11；箴 15:28；16:30）。说恶言被认为是一种罪，因为它是内心邪恶意图的表达。《新约》中给出了更明确的阐述（太 7:17-18；12:34-35；可 9:39；路 6:45）。说恶言（希腊语 BLASPHEMÍA）完全不符合基督徒的品质（弗 4:31；彼前 4:4，14；彼后 2:2，10，12；犹 1:10；以及希腊语 KATALALÉŌ，“论断”、“批评”，雅 4:11）。从上面可知，抨击有权柄的人就是对神不敬，因为有权柄的人是上帝在地上的代表（罗 13）。另见 SLANDER（诽谤）。

偷窃。希伯来语 GĀNAB，意为“偷窃”（字面意思或比喻义）；暗含“欺骗”、“拿走”、“偷拿”、“偷走”的意思（关于这个词的字面意思见：创 44:8；出 20:15；21:16；22:1；箴 6:30；亚 5:3；比喻义见：创 31:30；撒下 15:6；19:3；箴 9:17 [“偷来的水是甜的”；也就是说，被禁止之物反而引人注意；参：罗 7:7]）；希腊语 KLÉPTŌ，意为“窃取”、“偷窃”（太 6:19-20；19:18；约 10:10；罗 2:21；13:9；弗 4:28）。另见下面的“所偷之物、偷盗”。

自杀。没有反对这一罪行的具体律法，因为禁止杀人的律法中包含了禁止自杀的律例。自杀行为违背了异教的习俗和

the practice and the philosophy of paganism, the act was held in deep abhorrence by the Hebrews. Only the remorse of the damned could drive one to it, as witness Saul (1 S. 31:4) and Judas (Mt. 27:5).

Theft. Heb. g^enēbā, “stealing,” “theft,” “something stolen” (Ex. 22:3f.). It is mentioned in connection with other wickedness (Gk. klopé) in Mt. 15:19; Mk. 7:21; and (Gk. klémma) in Rev. 9:21. All three words are used abstractly for the act and concretely for the thing stolen. See also “Stealing,” above.

Unchastity. No other form of sin is mentioned more often with disapproval and threats than the various forms of carnal vice, for no other sin is more natural or widespread. See LEWD; MARRIAGE; SEX; VIRGIN.

USURY

Whoredom. Heb. zānā, “commit adultery,” “fornicate,” designates illicit incontinence of any kind; taznūt, “fornication,” “harlotry,” “whoredom”; Gk. porneúō, porneía. The following passages will reveal the estimate in which such uncleanness was held, and will show that both men and women given to it were held in equal abhorrence and designated by the same terms: Gen. 38:24; Lev. 19:29; Nu. 14:33; 25:1; Ezk. 16; 23:3, 7f., 11, 27, 29, 43; 43:7, 9; Hos. 1:2; 2:4; 4:11f.; 6:10; Nah. 3:4; Mt. 5:32; Rom. 1:26f.; 1 Cor. 5:1; 7:2; 10:8; Jude 7; Rev. 2:14, 20f.; 18:9; 19:2. Because of the infidelity involved in such acts both to one’s spouse and to right living, the practice became symbolical of infidelity to God and His law, and thus served as a

哲学，希伯来人对这种行为深恶痛绝。只有当受诅咒的人十分懊悔时才会这样行，如扫罗(撒上 31:4)和犹大(太 27:5)。

所偷之物、偷盗。希伯来语 g^enēbā，意为“偷窃”、“所偷的”、“所偷之物”(出 22:3-4)。在《马太福音》15:19(希腊语 klopé)；《马可福音》7:21 和《启示录》9:21(希腊语 klémma) 中这种罪与其它 的恶行一并被列出。这三个词的抽象含 义是偷盗行为，具体含义是偷盗之物。 另见上面的“偷窃”。

不贞洁。与其他各种形式的肉身之罪相比，不贞洁之罪被提及的次数更多，且《圣经》中经常警告人们不要犯这种罪，因为不贞洁是最原始、最普遍的一种罪。见 LEWD(淫行)；MARRIAGE(婚姻)；SEX(性)；VIRGIN(处女)。

放债(见 USURY)

通奸。希伯来语 zānā，意为“通奸”、“行淫”，表示所有不当和不节制的行为；taznūt，意为“邪淫”、“行淫”和“通奸”；希腊语 porneúō，porneía。下面这些经文揭露了这种不洁的行为，并且说明无论男女犯了通奸罪都同样被憎恶，并且受到同样的惩罚：《创世记》38:24；《利未记》19:29；《民数记》14:33；25:1；《以西结书》16；23:3，7-8，11，27，29，43；43:7，9；《何西阿书》1:2；2:4；4:11-12；6:10；《那鸿书》3:4；《马太福音》5:32；《罗马书》1:26-27；《哥林多前书》5:1；7:2；10:8；《犹大书》1:7；《启示录》2:14，20-21；18:9；19:2。由于这种行为即是对配偶的不忠贞，也不是正确的生活方式，所以这一行为成为不忠于上帝和祂的律法的象征，因此常用来比喻以色列人的罪和背教行为。见上面的“行淫”；另见 HARLOT(妓女)。

CRITICISM

[Gk. hē kritikē téchnē-‘the discriminatory art’]. A comprehensive term embodying a number of techniques employed in the study of (among other things) written documents in order to establish as far as possible their original text, the literary categories to which they are to be assigned, their sources, mode of composition, date, style, authorship, purpose, and so forth. The techniques applicable to literature in general are of great service in the study of the Bible; this article is concerned with biblical criticism. Biblical criticism embraces various critical disciplines, notably textual criticism, literary and historical criticism, and form criticism.

I. Textual Criticism.—The function of textual criticism is the restoration of the original wording of a document when alterations have been introduced (deliberately or inadvertently) in the course of copying and recopying. Before the invention of printing, when each copy of a document had to be written out separately by hand, scribal errors were especially apt to occur. If the autograph or original document survives, scribal errors can be corrected by reference to it. But if it has long since disappeared (as has happened with all the original exemplars of biblical books), and the surviving copies differ from one another here and there, the original wording can be determined only by careful comparative study of these copies. The scribal habits of individual copyists, and the remoteness or proximity of individual MSS to the original (which is not simply a question of their relative dates), must be investigated. The main types of scribal error must be classified—those arising in copying by sight being quite different from those which arise in copying by dictation. Expertness in textual criticism comes only by long study and practice, although some scholars do seem to be gifted with a rare instinct for divining the original text even when the available copies are almost hopelessly corrupt.

V. 考证和基督论

I. 文本考证。文本考证是为了还原一个文献中的原词，因为抄写和重抄原文时（有意或无意地）修改了原文。在发明印刷术之前，每个文献的副本都是用手抄录下来的，因此，抄写错误尤为常见。倘若手稿或原稿被保存了下来，那么可以照手稿或原稿更正抄写错误。但是如果原稿已失传很久（如，所有的圣经原稿确实都没有被保存下来），保留下来的抄本又各不相同，那么只能靠谨慎地研究这些抄本来确定某些词的原义。必须仔细研究每一个抄录员的抄写习惯和每个抄本距原稿（这不仅是相对时间的问题）时间的远近。必须对主要的抄写错误进行分类——临摹型抄写错误和口述造成的抄写错误是不同的。虽然有些学者似乎具有推测原文的罕见天赋，即使抄本已经残破不堪几乎无法还原，但是只有通过长期的研究和实践才能熟练地进行文本考证。

Textual criticism plays a very important part in biblical study, and is an indispensable handmaid to biblical theology, for biblical theology must depend on sound exegesis, and sound exegesis in turn must be based on a reliable text. Because of this basic character of textual criticism it was formerly called “lower criticism,” since it represents the lower, foundational courses in the structure of critical study. (For further details see TEXT AND MANUSCRIPTS OF THE NT; TEXT AND MANUSCRIPTS OF THE OT.)

II. Literary and Historical Criticism. -A. Higher Criticism. If textual criticism represents the lower courses of the critical structure, the upper courses consist of those critical studies that can best be pursued when a trustworthy text is established—those which used to be lumped together under the designation “higher criticism.” This designation appears to have been first used in the context of biblical study by J. G. Eichhorn, in the preface to the 2nd edition of his OT introduction (1787): “I have been obliged to bestow the greatest amount of labour on a hitherto entirely unworked field, the investigation of the inner constitution of the individual books of the Old Testament by the aid of the higher criticism—a new name to no humanist.” By the “inner constitution” he meant the structure of a book, including a study of the sources on which the author drew and the way in which he used or combined them. This last aspect of the study is commonly called “source criticism.”

The structure of a biblical book is

文本考证在圣经研究中起到了重要的作用，并且是研究圣经神学不可或缺的辅助工具，因为圣经神学必须依靠可靠的释经注释，而可靠的圣经注释必须依靠可靠的原稿。由于文本考证具有这样的基本特征，所以文本考证以前被称为“低等考证”，因为它代表着考证研究结构中的低级和基础结构（详情见 TEXT AND MANUSCRIPTS OF THE NT[新约文本和手稿]；TEXT AND MANUSCRIPTS OF THE OT[旧约文本和手稿]）。

II. 文学和历史考证。 A. 高等考证。如果文本考证代表的是考证结构中的低级结构，那么考证结构就是由确定了可靠的文本之后所进行的考证研究组成的一一这种考证研究过去被统称为“高等考证”。艾希霍恩（J. G. Eichhorn）在研究《圣经》时首次使用了这种称谓，他在第2版《旧约简介》的前言（1787）中说：“我不得不竭尽全力地研究这个迄今为止完全未知的领域，即，借助于高等考证对《旧约》每卷书的内部构成进行调查——对于非人文学者来说高等考证是一个新名称。他所说的“内部构成”指的是一本书的结构，其中包括对作者所使用原始资料的研究以及对作者使用和组合材料的方法的研究。最后这种研究方法通常被称为“出处考证”。 sometimes illuminated by internal evidence. From the narrative of Jer. 36, for example, we learn of the first edition of the collected oracles of Jeremiah, dictated to his secretary Baruch in 604 B.C., containing his spoken ministry of the past twenty-three years. This edition, which consisted of a single copy, was almost immediately destroyed by King Jehoiakim, but it was quickly followed by a second and enlarged edition (Jer. 36:32). Even the second edition was by no means the final one, for Jeremiah continued to prophesy for nearly twenty years after that. We have two extant editions of the posthumous collection of his oracles, together with some biographical and other historical material—a longer one preserved in the MT and a shorter one in the LXX. Fragmentary Hebrew copies have been found at Qumrân representing both the longer and the shorter editions.

《圣经》的内部证据有时可阐明《圣经》

The structure of many other books of the Bible is not so apparent from the record, and a greater measure of conjecture is necessary for reconstructing the history of their composition.

It is plain, too, from the book of Jeremiah that the author or editor of a prophetic book need not be the prophet himself; in this case the oracles are Jeremiah's but it is to Baruch, who committed them to writing, that we should probably ascribe the authorship of the narrative sections of the book and the publication of the whole.

When a book actually claims to be written by a specific person, that is substantial prima-facie evidence for its authorship. In some categories of 各卷的结构。例如，从《耶利米书》36章的记载，我们了解了耶利米预言的第一个版本。耶利米在公元前604年把这些预言念给他的书记巴录听，其中包含了耶利米在过去二十三年的传道话语。这个版本只有一本，几乎在抄录完直接被约雅敬王毁掉了，但是随后出现了第二个更加完整的版本（耶36:32）。然而即使是第二版也绝不是最终版，因为耶利米在那之后又说了将近二十年的预言。我们现在有两版在耶利米死后收录成书的耶利米预言书，另外还有一些传记材料和其他历史资料——较长的版本收录在《马所拉文本》中，较短的版本收录在《七十士译本》中。在昆兰发现了希伯来语耶利米预言书的抄本残篇，既有长篇版本也有短篇版本。

根据经文记载不太容易看出其他许多经卷的结构，要想还原这些经卷成书的历史还必须进一步地推测。

从《耶利米书》中显然可以看出一本预言书的作者或编辑者不一定是预言家本人；因此，预言虽是耶利米说的，却是由巴录记录下来的，我们应该认为巴录是这本书中故事的作者和这本书的出版人。

当称某人写了某本书时，一定有大量初步证据可以这个人是此书的作者。然而，在一些文学分类中（如，智慧书和启示录），有时会在书名中使用某个人名来吸 literature, however, such as wisdom books and apocalypses, a name may sometimes (but not invariably) be employed for dramatic purposes or the like: a good canonical example is Ecclesiastes, a postexilic series of meditations put into the mouth of Solomon. (Two examples in the Apocrypha are Wisdom of Solomon and the apocalyptic 2 Esdras, ascribed respectively to Solomon and Ezra.) Again, in Jewish schools a disciple was apt to ascribe his dicta to his master, on the ground that “whosoever says a thing in the name of him who said it brings salvation to the world” (Mish. Pirke Aboth vi.6). It is noteworthy that a number of the most important books of the Bible are, strictly speaking, anonymous; this is so, for example, with the four Gospels and Acts. Their authorship has to be determined as far as possible by a consideration of relevant internal and external evidence.

B. Source Criticism. Source criticism can be pursued most confidently when a documentary source has survived alongside the later work that has drawn upon it. In the OT the most obvious example of this is seen in the books of Chronicles. The books of Samuel and Kings were the Chronicler’s principal sources, and as they have survived we can make rather definite statements about his use of them. (It is specially interesting that an early MS of Samuel found at Qumrân, 4QSam^a, exhibits a type of text closer to that which the Chronicler appears to have used than to the MT.) In the NT the Gospel of Mark is generally recognized to have been a major source of the other two Synoptic Gospels, and since the source survives alongside the works that drew upon it we can without difficulty study the use Matthew and Luke made of Mark.

B. 出处考证。只有当原资料和源于原资料的后期作品同时保留下来时,才能自信地进行出处考证。《旧约》中最显著的例子就是《历代志》。《撒母耳记》和《列王纪》是历代志作者使用的主要资料,由于这两本书被完整的保存了下来,所以我们可以肯定地说他引用了这两本中的内容。(在昆兰发掘的《撒母耳记》原稿[4QSam^a] 引人注目,从这个原稿中可以看出,相比较于《马所拉文本》,这个原稿的文本类型更接近于历代志作者所使用的文本的类型。)在《新约》中,《马可福音》通常被认为是其他两部对观福音书的来源,由于原资料和源于原资料的作品都被完整的保存了下来,所以我们可以毫不费力地研究《马太福音》和《路加福音》中引用《马可福音》的内容。

Where, on the other hand, the sources do not survive, source criticism is a much more uncertain and speculative business. In the 2nd cent. A.D. Tatian unstitched the contents of our four Gospels and rewove them (with minor additions from another document) into one continuous narrative, the Diatessaron. If the four separate Gospels had disappeared completely and only the Diatessaron survived, it would be impossible to reconstruct the four in anything like their original form. It would be clear that the Diatessaron was a composite work, and it would be relatively easy to isolate most of the Johannine element in it, but to disentangle the three Synoptic records would defy the keenest critical skill, not least because of the large amount of material common to the three. It might be possible in some degree to distinguish Matthaean from Lukan material, but the very existence of Mark's record would probably be unsuspected. Exponents of the four-document analysis of the Pentateuch have at times aptly compared their task of distinguishing these four lost documents to the hypothetical task of reconstituting the four Gospels on the basis of the Diatessaron.

C. Criteria for Dating. Structure, date, and authorship are the three principal concerns of the "higher criticism." The criteria for dating an ancient work are partly external and partly internal. If a work is quoted or alluded to in a reliably dated document, we conclude that it is earlier than that document. The work may mention persons or events whose date is clearly indicated by other documents; thus some parts of the OT can be dated from their reference to people or incidents mentioned in Mesopotamian or Egyptian historical records. Contemporary Assyrian records enable us to date the oracles of Isaiah at various points within the forty years or so preceding 701 B.C., the year of Sennacherib's invasion of Judah.

C. 断代标准。结构、日期和作者是“高等考证”的三个主要关注点。要依据部分外部证据和部分内部证据来确定一部古老作品的年代。如果一部成书日期确定的作品引用或提到了某部作品，那么我们认为这部作品比成书日期确定的作品出现得更早。这部作品可能提到了某些人物或事件，而其他的文献中清楚地提及了这些人物和事件的年代；因此，

A work may date itself; thus some prophetic books of the OT name the actual years in which successive oracles were uttered or the reign or reigns within which certain prophets prophesied (cf. Isa. 1:1; Hos. 1:1; Am. 1:1; Mic. 1:1; Zeph. 1:1; Hag. 1:1, etc.; Zec. 1:1, etc.). As the history of the ancient Near East is reconstructed in ever more precise detail, it becomes increasingly possible to put the various books of the OT into their appropriate historical settings.

The predictive element in biblical prophecy necessitates special dating criteria for the prophetic oracles. To interpret all fulfilled predictions as prophecies made after the event is a completely uncritical procedure. A genuine piece of predictive prophecy will be dated before the events it predicts but after those which it records or presupposes as having taken place. Thus, if Nahum's oracle is a prediction of the fall of Nineveh (as seems probable) and not simply an outburst of exultation over its fall, it will be dated before the destruction of the city in 612 B.C. but after the fall of Thebes in 663 B.C., to which it refers as a past event (Nah. 3:8f.). Again, the oracles of Jeremiah and Ezekiel must be dated to the years preceding, during, and immediately following the Chaldean siege of Jerusalem in 588–587 B.C., since they record the happenings of those years as historical events, but before the return from exile and reconstitution of the Jewish commonwealth (537 B.C. and the years following), which they definitely predict.

根据一部作品本身也可能推测出它的年代；因此，《旧约》中的一些预言书指明了一个个预言被说出的时间或某些先知说预言时的统治时期（参：赛 1:1；何 1:1；摩 1:1；弥 1:1；番 1:1；该 1:1 等；亚 1:1 等）。随着古近东历史的更多细节逐渐被纰漏出来，人们越来越可能推测出《旧约》各个书卷的恰当历史背景。

《圣经》预言书中的预言需要采用特殊的断代标准。将所有应验的预言解释成事后发出的预言是完全不明断的做法。一则真实的预言所处的年代应该在所预测事件之前，在预言记载或假定已经发生的事件之后。因此，如果那鸿的预言是对尼尼微的倾覆的预测（似乎很可能发生），而不仅仅是对尼尼微倾覆发出的欢呼狂喜，那么这则预言应该在公元前 612 年尼尼微倾覆之前，公元前 663 年底比斯倾覆之后，因为在那鸿预言中底比斯倾覆已经是一个过去的事件（鸿 3:8-9）。此外，必须根据公元前 588 至 587 年间迦勒底人围攻耶路撒冷之前，期间和之后来的年份来确定耶利米和以西结预言的时间。因为人们将这段期间发生的事当作历史事件来记载，但是耶利米和以西结一定是在被掳归回和重建犹太国之前（公元前 537 年和 538 年）说的预言。

D. OT Criticism. The central issue in OT criticism is that of the structure of the Pentateuch.

1. Early Period. Discussions of the authorship of the Pentateuch took place among the Jewish rabbis, but the main question debated by them was whether the account of Moses' death (Dt. 34:5–12) was written by Moses himself, which was the opinion of Rabbi Simeon ("Moses wrote with tears"), or by Joshua—a view ascribed to Rabbi Judah or, according to others, Rabbi Nehemiah (cf. T.B. Baba Bathra 15a; Menahoth 30a). An interesting anticipation of a phase of later pentateuchal criticism is the remark ascribed to Ben Azzai that where sacrifices are mentioned in the Pentateuch God is always called Yahweh (Midrash Siphre on Numbers, 293).

Later Jewish scholars made further critical observations. Isaac ben Yayos (Yiṣḥaḳi) of Toledo (d. 1057) pointed out that the list of kings of Edom in Gen. 36:31ff. must be later than the rise of the Hebrew monarchy, and dated it not earlier than Jehoshaphat's reign; he identified Hadad of Gen. 36:35 with Hadad of 1 K. 11:14.

Abraham ibn Ezra (d. 1167), commenting on Dt. 1:1, where Moses is said to have spoken to Israel "beyond the

D. 旧约考证。《摩西五经》的结构问题是旧约考证中的核心问题。

1、早期阶段。犹太的拉比们讨论了《摩西五经》的作者，但是他们讨论的主要问题是摩西去世的描述（申 34:5-12）是由摩西本人所写的，还是由约书亚写的，拉比西缅（“摩西含泪写道”）认为是由摩西本人写的，拉比犹大或拉比尼希米认为是由约书亚写的（参：T.B. Baba Bathra 15a; Menahoth 30a）。摩西五经考证后期阶段的一个有趣预测是由本·阿扎（Ben Azzai）提出的，他说，《摩西五经》每次在提及献祭时，上帝总是被称为耶和华（Midrash Siphre on Numbers, 293）。

后来犹太的学者做出了进一步的考证。托莱多（Toledo）的以撒·便·亚撒斯（Isaac ben Yayos, Yiṣḥaḳi, 卒于 1057 年）指出《创世记》36:31 之后以东诸王的名单一定是在希伯来王国崛起之后出现的，并且不早于约沙王统治时期；他认为《创世记》36:35 中的哈达就是《列王纪上》11:14 中的哈达。

亚伯拉罕·伊本·埃兹拉（Abraham ibn Ezra, 卒于 1167 年）在《申命记》1:1 的注释中提到摩西“在约旦河外”对以

Jordan,” adds that his readers will learn the truth if they understand “the mystery of the twelve [probably the twelve verses of Dt. 34], ‘and Moses wrote’ [Ex. 24:4; Nu. 33:2; Dt. 31:9, 22], ‘and the Canaanite was then in the land’ [Gen. 12:6, a verse that he says “contains a mystery, concerning which the prudent man will hold his peace”], ‘in the mount of the Lord it shall be seen’ [Gen. 22:14], ‘and his [Og’s] bed was a bedstead of iron’ [Dt. 3:11].” What he is hinting at is that these passages are later than Moses.

Isaac Abrabanel (d. 1509) adumbrated the theory that the books as they stand were later compilations out of earlier archives.

Christian scholars were making similar observations throughout these centuries. Jerome (d. 420) discerned that the law book discovered in the Jerusalem temple in Josiah’s day (2 K. 22:8) was Deuteronomy (comm. On Ezk. 1:1). Commenting on the phrase “unto this day” (Gen. 35:20; Dt. 34:6) he says: “We must certainly take ‘this day’ to refer to the time when the history was composed; whether you take it as said by Moses, the author of the Pentateuch, or by Ezra, the restorer of Moses’ work, I have no objection” (Against Helvidius 7). But he vigorously defended the authenticity of Daniel against Porphyry the Neoplatonist who, mainly on the evidence of ch. 11, dated it in the time of Antiochus Epiphanes (a dating revived in 1726 by Anthony Collins in his Literal Scheme of Prophecy Considered).

Hugh of St. Victor (1096–1141) thought that the list of kings of Edom in Gen. 36:21ff. was inserted by Ezra, “for it

色列说的话, 并说读者们可以了解真相, 前提是他们能够明白“这十二个谜团(可能是《申命记》34 章的十二节经文), ‘摩西写’ (出 24:4; 民 33:2; 申 31:9, 22), ‘那时迦南人住在那地’ (创 12:6, 伊本说这节经文 “含有一个秘密, 谨慎的人将得享平安”), ‘在耶和華的山上必有预备’ (创 22:14), ‘他的[噩的]床是铁的’ (申 3:11)。” 他所想表达的是, 这些经文记录的事件都是在摩西之后发生的。

以撒·阿巴伯内尔 (Isaac Abrabanel, 卒于 1509 年) 认为这些经卷是后来根据早期的文献编辑而成的。

基督徒学者们在数个世纪进行了相似的考证。耶柔米 (卒于 420 年) 认为约书亚时期 (王下 22:8) 在耶路撒冷圣殿发现的律法书就是《申命记》(《以西结书》1:1 的注释)。关于短语“到今日”(创 35:20; 申 34:6), 耶柔米说道: “我们必须认为‘今日’指的就是这段历史形成的时期; 无论你认为它是摩西说的、《摩西五经》的作者说的, 还是摩西作品的修订者以斯拉说的, 我都没有异议” (Against Helvidius 7)。但是耶柔米极力捍卫《但以理书》的真实性, 而反对新柏拉图主义者波菲利 (Porphyry), 波菲利主要根据《但以理书》第 11 章中的描述, 认为《但以理书》是在安提阿哥·伊皮法纽统治时期写成的 (Anthony Collins 于 1726 年在他的作品 Literal Scheme of Prophecy Considered 中再次提到了这个成书日期)。

圣维克托的休格 (Hugh of St. Victor, 1096-1141 年) 认为《创世记》36:21 之后的以东诸王名单是以斯拉插入的, “因 seems frivolous to say that Moses narrated it by the spirit of prophecy” (PL, CLXXV, 36 d).

Luther drew similar inferences from Gen. 36:31. His contemporary Andreas Bodenstein von Carlstadt (1480–1541) said that no sane person would suppose that Moses recorded his own death, and since the style of Dt. 34 was that of the Pentateuch generally, the Pentateuch in its completed form was not the work of Moses, but was earlier than Josiah’s time.

Other biblical scholars of the 16th and 17th cents, both Roman and Reformed, made further contributions to the question, as did also Thomas Hobbes in England (Leviathan [1650]) and Benedict Spinoza in the Netherlands (Tractatus Theologicopoliticus [1671]). But thus far pentateuchal criticism was concerned with detecting the presence of post-Mosaic elements in the Pentateuch, the conclusion being that the tradition of Mosaic authorship could not be maintained without qualification.

2. Old Documentary Hypothesis. R. Simon, priest of the Oratory, argued in Histoire critique de l’AT (1682) that the duplication of certain narratives in the Pentateuch (e.g., the Creation and Flood narratives), accompanied by diversity of style, pointed to diversity of authorship.

H. B. Witter (Iura Israelitarum in Palaestina [1711]) pointed out that the duplicate accounts of the Creation were marked by the use of two different divine names, ’Elohim and Yahweh. This last point was taken up by the French court physician Jean Astruc, who used it as a

为如果认为摩西借说预言的灵记录了这些名字似乎太轻率了” (PL, CLXXV, 36 d)。

路德从《创世记》36:31 中得出了类似的推论。路德同时代的安德烈 (Andreas Bodenstein von Carlstadt, 1480-1541 年) 说, 任何有理智的人都不会认为摩西记录了自己的死亡, 由于《申命记》34 章的风格就是《摩西五经》的一般风格, 所以, 完整形式的《摩西五经》不是摩西的作品, 成书年代却早于约西亚时期。

其他 16 世纪和 17 世纪的罗马和改革派的圣经学者们为进一步解决这个问题作出了贡献, 英国的托马斯·霍布斯 (Thomas Hobbes, Leviathan [1650]) 和荷兰的本尼狄克·斯宾诺沙 (Benedict Spinoza, Tractatus Theologicopoliticus [1671]) 也对解决这个问题作出了贡献。但是迄今为止《摩西五经》的考证关注的是《摩西五经》中的后摩西元素, 因此, 不能不经考证依然坚持《摩西五经》原作者的传统说法。

2、古文献假说。雄辩的牧师西蒙 (R. Simon) 在 Histoire critique de l’AT (1682) 中辩论道, 《摩西五经》中某些反复叙述故事 (如, 创世的故事和洪水的故事) 和《摩西五经》的风格多样性表明它不是由一个作者写成的。

威特 (H. B. Witter, Iura Israelitarum in Palaestina [1711]) 指出重复叙述的创世故事中使用两个不同的神名, 即伊罗兴和耶和华。法国宫廷医师阿斯特鲁 (Jean Astruc) 也坚持最后一个论点, 并且在《创世记》中始终以此作为区分两部资料 (《亚历山太抄本》和《梵蒂冈

criterion to distinguish two sources (A and B) throughout Genesis—pre-Mosaic sources on which Moses drew (Conjectures sur les mémoires originaux dont il paroît que Moïse s'est servi pour composer le livre du Genèse [1753]).

Astruc's work was epoch-making, and marks the beginning of the continuous history of modern pentateuchal criticism. His criterion was a limited one, which could not be applied to the whole Pentateuch, since it fails after Ex. 6. The real question raised by the use of the divine names in Gen. 1–Ex. 6 was later seen to be the question of when the name Yahweh is represented as first coming into use—whether in primeval times (Gen. 4:26) or in the days of Moses (Ex. 3:14f.; 6:2f.). But Astruc introduced on this basis the rudiments of a documentary analysis of the Pentateuch whose influence remains to this day. His general results were adopted by J. G. Eichhorn (Einleitung in das AT [1780]), who continued Simon's investigation into stylistic diversities in Genesis and found that they corresponded largely to Astruc's analysis.

K. D. Ilgen, in Die Urkunden des jerusalemischen Tempelarchivs in ihrer Urgestalt (1798), wrote out the documents from which he believed Genesis was compiled, and distinguished two unrelated documents that used the divine name 'Elohim.

3. Fragmentary Hypothesis. The fragmentary hypothesis, propounded by a Scots Roman Catholic priest, Alexander Geddes (Biblia Sacra [1792–1797]; Critical Remarks [1800]), envisaged a much greater number of sources. The 抄本》)的标准——摩西之前的原始资料,也是摩西所依赖的资料(Conjectures sur les mémoires originaux dont il paroît que Moïse s'est servi pour composer le livre du Genèse [1753])。

阿斯特鲁的作品具有划时代的意义,是现代《摩西五经》考证连续历史的开端。他的标准有其局限性,不适用于整部《摩西五经》,因为《出埃及记》6章之后就不能采用这个标准。后来,实际上把《创世记》1章和《出埃及记》6章中所使用的神的名字的问题视为何时首次应用耶和华这个名字的问题——是在上古时期(创4:26)还是在摩西时代(出3:14-15; 6:2-3)。但是,阿斯特鲁在此基础之上介绍了《摩西五经》记录分析的基本知识,《摩西五经》的影响力一直延续到今天。艾希霍恩(J. G. Eichhorn, Einleitung in das AT [1780])大体上接受了他的结论,在西蒙研究的基础上继续考证《创世记》体裁的多样性,并发现它们大多符合阿斯特鲁的分析结果。

埃里根(K. D. Ilgen)在 Die Urkunden des jerusalemischen Tempelarchivs in ihrer Urgestalt (1798) 中列出了他认为的《创世记》所使用的资料,并区分了两个使用了“伊罗兴”这个神明的无关联的资料。

3、残篇的假说。苏格兰罗马天主教的神父亚历山大(Alexander Geddes, Biblia Sacra [1792–1797]; Critical Remarks [1800])提出了残篇的假说,并预测《摩西五经》使用了更多的资料。他认为现在的《摩西五经》不是摩西的作品;《摩

Pentateuch, he argued, was not in its present form the work of Moses; together with Joshua, it was written, probably at Jerusalem, not before David nor after Hezekiah but preferably under Solomon, and it was compiled from a large number of short documents or fragments. There is an obvious similarity between Geddes' hypothesis and F. A. Wolf's contemporary view about the composition of the Homeric epics (Prolegomena ad Homerum [1795]). Geddes' hypothesis was introduced into Germany by J. S. Vater in his three-volume commentary on the Pentateuch (1802–1805).

Vater's work greatly influenced W. M. L. de Wette. In his Beiträge zur Einl. in das AT (1806–1807), de Wette accepted Vater's views, except that he envisaged one fundamental Elohist document in Genesis which was expanded by the addition of other "fragment." This fundamental document was continued in the middle books of the Pentateuch—"the epos of the Hebrew theocracy," into which collections of laws, etc., were inserted from time to time.

4. Supplementary Hypothesis. De Wette thus marks the transition from the fragmentary to the supplementary hypothesis—so called because it postulates one main document supplemented by others. But his chief importance in biblical criticism lies in his work on Deuteronomy. At the age of twenty-five he published his Dissertatio qua Deuteronomium a prioribus Pentateuchi libris diversum alius cuiusdam recentioris auctoris opus esse demonstratur (1805), in which, accepting

西五经》与《约书亚记》可能都是在耶路撒冷写成的,既不是在大卫统治之前,也不是在希西家统治之后,而是恰好在所罗门统治时期写成的,它是由许多简短的资料或残篇编辑而成的。格迪斯(Geddes)的假说和同时代的沃尔夫(F. A. Wolf)关于《荷马史诗》构成的观点(Prolegomena ad Homerum [1795])显然非常相似。法特(J. S. Vater)在他的三册《摩西五经》注释(1802-1805年)中将格迪斯的假说带到了德国。

法特的作品极大地影响了德威特(W. M. L. de Wette)。德威特在他的 Beiträge zur Einl. in das AT (1806–1807) 中接受了法特的观点,只是他假设存在一个使用了“伊罗兴”这个神名的《创世记》基础文献,而其他的“残篇”扩展了这个基础文献的内容。这个基础文献被保留在《摩西五经》的中间部分,《摩西五经》是“希伯来人神权的史诗”,而后不时地添加大量的律例典章。

4、补充假说。德威特的作品标志着从残篇假说到补充假说的过渡——之所以称之为补充假说,是因为这种假说假设其他的文献资料补充了一个主要的文献资料。德威特写的关于《申命记》的作品奠定了他在圣考证中的重要地位。他在二十五岁时发表了他的作品 Dissertatio qua Deuteronomium a prioribus Pentateuchi libris diversum alius cuiusdam recentioris auctoris opus esse demonstrator (1805),在这部作品中他接受了耶柔米提出的约西亚的律法书就是《申命记》的观点(王下 22:8 起), Jerome's identification of Josiah's law book (2 K. 22:8ff.) with Deuteronomy, he went on to date the composition of the book in that period (7th cent. B.C.).

The chief name associated with the supplementary hypothesis is that of Heinrich Ewald. In his History of Israel (Eng. tr. 1867-1883) Ewald identified the foundation document (Grundschrift) with the "Book of Origins," so called because it was marked by the recurring formula "These are the origins" (Heb. tôl' dôt, RV "generations"). Into this, he held, other (later) documents were fitted.

The foundation-document was also characterized (in Genesis and the early chapters of Exodus) by the use of 'Elohim for the divine name. But exactly a century after Astruc work, Herman Hupfeld, in Die Quellen der Genesis und die Art ihrer Zusammensetzung (1857), distinguished two documents in Genesis that used the name 'Elohim. One of these was the primary "Book of Origins," which formed the framework of the whole Pentateuch; the other he called "the later Elohist." In addition two other documents had already been isolated in the Pentateuch—the Yahwist (so called from the use of the name Yahweh) and the Deuteronomist. These four were placed in that order, and indicated by the letters E¹ E² J D. The four-document analysis thus propounded by Hupfeld has been widely adopted in pentateuchal criticism ever since.

5. Development Hypothesis. Thus far the analysis of the Pentateuch was conducted in terms of literary criticism alone. A new stage now appears in which literary

他继续总结说，这本律法书就是在那个时期（公元前7世纪）成书的。

补充假说的代表人物是埃瓦尔德 (Heinrich Ewald)。埃瓦尔德在他的 History of Israel (1867-1883 英译本) 中认为基础文献就是“源文献” (Grundschrift)，之所以称之为“源文献”，是因为其中经常出现这样的话“这些是起源” (希伯来语: tôl' dôt, 《钦定版圣经》译为“generations” [“世代”])。在这部作品中，他认为其他的文献 (后期的文献) 也源于“源文献”。

使用“伊罗兴”这个神名是基础文献的一个特点。但是恰逢阿斯特鲁作品发表一个世纪，胡普菲尔德 (Herman Hupfeld) 在他的 Die Quellen der Genesis und die Art ihrer Zusammensetzung (1857) 区分了两部在《创世记》中均使用了伊罗兴这个神名的文献。其中一部是主要的“源文献”，它奠定了整部《摩西五经》的框架；另一部被称为“晚期的伊典”。此外，还从《摩西五经》中分离出了另外两部文献——《耶典》(因为使用了耶和华这个名字而得此名)和《申典》。E¹ E² J D 这几个字母的排列顺序体现出了这四个底本的顺序。因此，从那时起胡普菲尔德提出的四底本分析被广泛地应用到《摩西五经》的考证中。

5、发展假说。迄今为止，只能用文学批评的方式对《摩西五经》进行分析。如今进入了一个新阶段，历史考证 (尤其是宗教历史考证) 补充了文学批评。这

criticism was supplemented by historical (especially religious-historical) criticism. This stage saw the emergence of the development hypothesis, in which the laws and institutions of the Pentateuch, classified in three distinct codes, are correlated with three distinct periods of Israel's religious development.

The development hypothesis took over the four-document hypothesis, but treated the fundamental document (E¹) as the latest, not the earliest, of the four. Indeed, this had been done as early as 1834 by E. G. Reuss in lectures at Strasbourg, although he did not publish his views until 1879, in L'Histoire sainte et la loi. In 1835 W. Vatke (Die Religion des AT nach den kanonischen Büchern entwickelt) and J. F. L. George (Die älteren jüdischen Feste mit einer Kritik der Gesetzgebung des Pentateuchs) argued that Israel's religious development was gradual and that the Levitical legislation (i.e., the laws of Leviticus and kindred sections of Exodus and Numbers) was not only post-Mosaic but later than Deuteronomy, belonging, in fact, to the exilic period. Vatke and George were both greatly influenced by Hegel's philosophy of history, with its pattern of thesis, antithesis, and synthesis; Vatke in turn exercised considerable influence on Julius Wellhausen.

K. H. Graf, in Die geschichtlichen Bücher des AT (1866), dated much of the Levitical legislation to the age of Ezra (5th cent. B.C.) He ascribed the greater part of Lev. 17–26 to Ezekiel, thus largely anticipating August Klostermann ("Beiträge zur Entstehungsgeschichte des Pentateuchs: Ezechiel und das

个阶段出现了发展假说,《摩西五经》的律例典章被归类于三个不同的法典中,并且与以色列宗教的三个不同发展阶段密切相关。

发展假说取代了四底本假说,却将基础文献(E¹)视为四底本中最新而不是最早的文献。实际上罗伊斯(E. G. Reuss)早在1834年在斯特拉斯堡(Strasbourg)的讲道时就使用过这种假说,但是直到1879年他才在*L'Histoire sainte et la loi*中表达了他的观点。1835年法特克(W. Vatke, Die Religion des AT nach den kanonischen Büchern entwickelt)和乔治(J. F. L. George, Die älteren jüdischen Feste mit einer Kritik der Gesetzgebung des Pentateuchs)认为以色列的宗教是逐步发展起来的,并且利未人的律法(也就是,《利未人记》中的律法,以及《出埃及记》和《民数记》的类似律法)不仅是后摩西时代的作品,而且晚于《申命记》,实际上属于被掳时期的作品。法特克和乔治深受黑格尔历史哲学的影响,采用黑格尔哲学中的正题、反题和合题的结构;法特克对威尔豪森产生了相当大的影响。

格拉夫(K. H. Graf)在他的*Die geschichtlichen Bücher des AT* (1866)中将大部分利未人的律法追溯至以斯拉时期(公元前5世纪)。他认为《利未记》17-26章中有很一部分内容源于《以西结书》,因此他的观点在很大程度上早于奥格斯特的观点(August Klostermann, "Beiträge zur Heiligkeitsgesetz,” Zeitschrift für Lutherische Theologie und Kirche, 38 [1877], 401ff.), who marked off these chapters as a separate law code, the “Law of Holiness” (H). It was objected to Graf’s late dating of the Levitical legislation that, on literary-critical grounds, this legislation could not be divorced from the narrative of the foundation-document (E¹), and must therefore be dated early. Graf replied that since the Levitical legislation was later than anything else in the Pentateuch, therefore the whole of E¹ must be dated late. E¹, as containing the “priestly” legislation, came later to be known as P, and E² accordingly was thenceforth designated simply as E.

Graf’s thesis was strengthened by the Dutch scholar Abraham Kuenen (Religion of Israel [Eng. tr. 1874–1875]; Historisch-critisch Onderzoek naar het Ontstaan en de Verzameling van de Boeken des Ouden Verbonds [2nd ed. 1885], pt. 1 of which appeared in English as An Historico-Critical Enquiry into the Origin and Composition of the Hexateuch [1886]).

But the long regnancy of the development hypothesis is due mainly to Julius Wellhausen. He related the order JE-D-P to the religious history of Israel, paying special attention to the laws regarding sanctuary and sacrifice. “I differ from Graf chiefly in this,” he wrote, “that I always go back to the centralisation of the cultus and deduce from it the particular divergences” (History of Israel [Eng. tr. 1885], p. 368). Following Vatke’s Hegelian pattern, he distinguished the following stages in the history of Israelite worship:

Entstehungsgeschichte des Pentateuchs: Ezechiel und das Heiligkeitsgesetz,” Zeitschrift für Lutherische Theologie und Kirche, 38 [1877], 401 起), 他将这些章节视为独立的律法法典, “圣洁法典” (H)。这恰好与格拉夫的观点相反, 格拉夫认为利未人的律法形成的较晚, 根据文学批评的证据, 这部律法不能从基础文献 (E¹) 的叙述中分离出来, 因此一定形成的较早。格拉夫回答说, 由于利未人的律法晚于《摩西五经》中所有的律法, 因此整部 E¹ 一定是在较晚时期形成的, 因为 E¹ 含有“祭司”律法, “祭司”后来被称为祭典 (P), 因此 E² 相应地被称为伊典 (E)。

荷兰的学者亚伯拉罕 (Abraham Kuenen, Religion of Israel, [1874-1875 年英译本]; Historisch-critisch Onderzoek naar het Ontstaan en de Verzameling van de Boeken des Ouden Verbonds, [1885 年第 2 版], 第一部分 An Historico-Critical Enquiry into the Origin and Composition of the Hexateuch [1886 年] 为英文版) 巩固了格拉夫的论点。

然而发展假说的长期支配地位主要归因于威尔豪森 (JULIUS WELLHAUSEN)。他将耶典、伊典、申典和祭典与以色列的宗教历史联系起来, 并特别关注了有关至圣所和献祭的律法。威尔豪森写道: “我在这一点上与格拉夫不同, 我总是追溯集中敬拜, 进而从中推断出不集中敬拜的特例” (History of Israel [1885 年英译本], 368 页)。根据法特克的黑格尔哲学风格, 威尔豪森将以色列的敬拜历史分为以下几个阶段:

(1) Thesis. JE corresponds to the period of the settlement and early monarchy, when there were many local sanctuaries at which sacrifice was offered by local priesthoods or chosen members of local families.

(2) Antithesis. The eighth-century prophets attacked the whole institution of sanctuary and sacrifice as an obstacle in the path of true ethical religion.

(3) Synthesis of “cultic” and “prophetic” positions.

(a) Preexilic. The Deuteronomic law code prescribed the concentration of national worship at one sanctuary only; the Levitical priests who served the local sanctuaries (suppressed in Josiah’s reformation, 621 B.C.) were to be attached to the staff of the central sanctuary.

(b) Postexilic. The Priestly law code, which takes for granted a single central sanctuary, makes much more elaborate cultic regulations. The priesthood is restricted to the family of Aaron; the supremacy of the high priest reflects the postexilic situation in which he was head of the Judean temple-state. The Levitical priests of the older local sanctuaries are depressed to the status of temple servants (Levites) with no sacerdotal functions.

The Graf-Wellhausen development hypothesis speedily attained a dominant position because of the apparent success with which it correlated the main strata of the Pentateuch with successive phases of Israel’s religious history. But it was constructed on the basis of an

(1) 正题。耶典和伊典与定居时期和早期君主政体相符，那时有许多地方性的至圣所，地方祭司或被选立的地方家族成员在这些地方至圣所内献祭。

(2) 反题。八世纪的先知认为关于至圣所和献祭的全部制度是真正伦理道德宗教路上的绊脚石。

(3) “宗教崇拜”观点和“预言”观点的合题。

(a) 被掳之前。申典中规定要在唯一的至圣所中敬拜神；在地方性至圣所中侍奉的利未祭司（公元前 621 年，约西亚改革禁止了这种侍奉）是中心至圣所中的成员。

(b) 被掳之后。祭典将唯一的至圣所视为理所当然之事，并更加详细地阐述了敬拜律例。只有亚伦的后裔可以履行祭司的职分；大祭司的至高地位反映出了被掳之后的形势，大祭司是犹太圣殿的最高管理者。古老的地方至圣所中的利未族祭司后来不再履行祭司的职能，仅是圣殿的服侍人员（利未人）。

由于格拉夫和威尔豪森的发展假说显然成功地将《摩西五经》的主体部分与以色列宗教历史的连续的时代关联在了一起，所以这种假说很快便成为了主流观点。然而，这种假说建立在一种极为教条主义的历史哲学基础之上，那时几乎没有任何关于公元前 9 世纪之前的以色

excessively doctrinaire philosophy of history, and at a time when hardly any external evidence for the historical setting of the religion of Israel and her neighbors before the 9th cent.B.C. was available.

The increasing evidence brought to light by archeological research, and most of all the discovery and decipherment from 1929 onward of the Ugaritic texts, with their wealth of information about Canaanite myth and ritual, have revolutionized the situation. While Wellhausen's documentary analysis of the Pentateuch and his relative order of the documents (JE-D-P) are still widely adopted as a convenient framework, his reconstruction of the religious history of Israel has gone by the board, and many would agree with H. H. Rowley: "A mere concentration on the acknowledged difficulties of the Graf-Wellhausen view, and then on a selection of points that may seem to give support to a rival view, will not do. For none of the rival views can accommodate so many of the facts, or can escape far more difficulties than the view it seeks to replace. Yet having said this, it remains true that the Graf-Wellhausen view is only a working hypothesis, which can be abandoned with alacrity when a more satisfying view is found, but cannot with profit be abandoned until then" (Growth of the OT [1950], p. 46).

6. Since Wellhausen. Many others, however, reject the Graf-Wellhausen scheme even as a working hypothesis. Even in its heyday there were some who refused it completely and maintained the substantial Mosaicity of the Pentateuch, like W. H. Green (Higher Criticism of the 列宗教背景和邻国的外部证据。

考古发现揭露出了越来越多的证据，并且公元 1929 年之后绝大多数关于乌加里特文献的发现和破译，以及文献中关于迦南神话和宗教仪式的大量信息彻底改变了这种情况。虽然威尔豪森对《摩西五经》的记录分析和他排列的文献的相对顺序 (JE-D-P) 仍然是被广泛采纳的实用结构，但是他对以色列宗教历史的还原被否定了，而且许多人都认可圣洁法典 (H)。罗莱 (H. Rowley) 认为：“仅仅关注格拉夫和威尔豪森观点中公认的难点，然后选择几个似乎有利于反对派的论点是不够的。因为任何反对派的观点都不能提供这么多的事实，或者说他们的观点可能面临着更多的难题。不过，即便如此，格拉夫和威尔豪森的观点仅仅是一种假说，如果发现了更令人满意的观点，便可欣然抛弃这种观点，但是在这之前不能抛弃这种观点” (Growth of the OT [1950], 46 页)。

6、威尔豪森之后的旧约考证。然而，许多其他的学者甚至认为格拉夫和威尔豪森的观点连假说都算不上。甚至在这种假说盛行时期，某些学者的完全拒绝它，并认为《摩西五经》中存在大量的摩西元素，如格林 (W. H. Green, Higher Criticism of the Pentateuch [1895])、奥尔

Pentateuch [1895]), J. Orr (Problem of the OT [1900]), and A. H. Finn (Unity of the Pentateuch [1917]); more recently, similar positions have been defended by O. T. Allis (The Five Books of Moses [1943]), E. J. Young (Intro. to the OT [repr. [1963]]), and G. C. Aalders (A Short Intro. to the Pentateuch [1949]). Of these three Aalders allows a larger post-Mosaic element than the others do; he looks on David's capture of Jerusalem in the seventh year of his reign as the terminus ad quem for the final redaction of the Pentateuch.

Others have moved in the opposite direction and posited further documentary sources, subdividing J (e.g., O. Eissfeldt, Hexateuchsynopse [1922]; J. Morgenstern, HUCA, 4 [1927], 1ff.; R. H. Pfeiffer, ZAW, 48 [1930], 66ff.) or P (e.g., G. von Rad, Die Priesterschrift im Hexateuch [1934]). The seventh-century date of the Deuteronomistic Code, the linchpin of the Graf-Wellhausen scheme, has been called in question—some making it postexilic, like G. Hölscher (ZAW, 40 [1920], 161ff.), R. H. Kennett (Deuteronomy and the Decalogue [1920]), and J. N. Schofield (Studies in History and Religion, ed. E. A. Payne [1942], pp. 44ff.), while others such as T. Oestreicher (Das deuteronomische Grundgesetz [1923]) and A. C. Welch (The Code of Deuteronomy [1924]) have pushed it back to the early monarchy; and E. Robertson (The OT Problem [1950]) dates it in Samuel's time. The very existence of one or another of the four documents has been doubted: M. Löhr (Untersuchungen zum Hexateuchproblem [1924]) denied that there was ever an independent source P, (J. Orr, Problem of the OT [1900]) 和芬恩 (A. H. Finn, Unity of the Pentateuch [1917]); 最近, 阿利斯 (O. T. Allis, The Five Books of Moses [1943])、杨 (E. J. Young, Intro. to the OT [repr. [1963]]) 和阿德尔斯 (G. C. Aalders, A Short Intro. to the Pentateuch [1949]) 也为类似观点作了辩护。这三位学者中阿德尔斯在对待后摩西元素上比其他两位学者更宽容; 他将大卫在他作王第七年占领耶路撒冷这件事作为最终修订《摩西五经》的结论 (terminus ad quem)。

其他学者则正好相反, 他们假设还有更多的文献资料来源并且进一步细分了 J 底本 (如, O. Eissfeldt, Hexateuchsynopse [1922]; J. Morgenstern, HUCA, 4 [1927], 1 起; R. H. Pfeiffer, ZAW, 48 [1930], 66 起) 或 P 底本 (如, G. von Rad, Die Priesterschrift im Hexateuch [1934])。格拉夫和威尔豪森假说的中心论点就是《申命记》法典形成于公元 7 世纪, 但这个中心论点也受到了质疑——有人认为是《申命记》法典是被掳之后形成的, 如霍斯克 (G. Hölscher, ZAW, 40 [1920], 161 起)、肯尼特 (R. H. Kennett, Deuteronomy and the Decalogue [1920]) 和斯科菲尔德 (J. N. Schofield, Studies in History and Religion, E. A. Payne 编 [1942], 44 页起), 而其他学者, 如厄斯特赖歇尔 (T. Oestreicher, Das deuteronomische Grundgesetz [1923]) 和韦尔奇 (A. C. Welch, The Code of Deuteronomy [1924]) 则认为《申命记》法典形成于早期君主制时期; 而罗伯森 (E. Robertson, The OT Problem [1950]) 认为形成于撒母耳时期; 而 E. Robertson (The OT Problem [1950]) 认为它属于撒母耳统治时期。有人怀疑除了四底本还存在一个底本, 或者还存在另一个版本的四底本: 勒尔 (M. Löhr, Untersuchungen zum Hexateuchproblem and P. Volz and W. Rudolph (Der Elohist als Erzähler [1933]) have argued that the hypothesis of a separate E narrative represented a false turning in pentateuchal criticism.

Unaided documentary analysis has plainly reached the limit of its powers. Other critical approaches have been made in recent years to supplement the limitations of source criticism. The cultic and liturgical influence on the grouping of the material has been emphasized; e.g., Gen. 1:1–2:4a has been looked upon as a liturgical text for the Hebrew New Year's Festival (cf. S. H. Hooke, In the Beginning [1947], p. 36); the whole complex of Ex. 1–15 has been regarded as a liturgical text or “cult legend” of the Passover, which has not been compiled out of originally distinct documents but has been modified and added to in the course of time (ILC, III–IV, 726ff.).

The “traditio-historical” school of Uppsala has presented a radical challenge of a different kind to the basic principles of classical OT criticism; it lays great emphasis on the part played by oral tradition, and on the great reliability of such tradition. The leading exponent of this “traditio-historical” criticism, I. Engell, distinguishes in the Torah and the Former Prophets two collections—the Tetrateuch (Genesis-Numbers) and the Deuteronomie history (Deuteronomy-2 Kings)—which originally had no connection with one another (Gamla Testamentet: En traditionshistorisk inledning [1945], I).

The reconstruction of the early history of Israel, based on an evaluation of the OT texts in the light of archeological [1924]) 认为根本没有独立 P 底本, 而弗尔茨和鲁道夫(P. Volz 和 W. Rudolph, Untersuchungen zum Hexateuchproblem [1924]) 则认为独立 E 底本的假设是《摩西五经》考证的错误转折点。

独立文献分析显然已经达到了极限。近几年出现了其他的考证方法以填补出处考证的局限性。这些考证方法强调了敬拜和礼拜仪式对材料收录的影响; 如, 《创世记》1:1-2:4a 被视为是关于希伯来人庆祝新年的礼拜仪式的记载(参: S. H. Hooke, In the Beginning [1947], 36 页); 《出埃及记》1-15 章的整个内容被认为是逾越节的“敬拜传奇”, 这部分内容不是源自最初的文献, 而是后来被修订和添加的部分(ILC, III–IV, 726 起)。

乌普萨拉“传统历史”派以一种不同的方式向经典旧约考证的基本原则发起了激进的挑战; 传统历史派主要强调口头传统的作用和可靠性。“传统历史”考证的主要倡导者恩格尔(I. Engell) 区分了《摩西五经》和两部前先知书——四经(《创世记》至《民数记》)和《申命记》历史(《申命记》至《列王纪下》)——这两部作品彼此原本毫无关联(Gamla Testamentet : En traditionshistorisk inledning [1945], I)。

以色列早期历史的还原是对考证产生了影响, 还原以色列的历史时以根据考古研究对旧约文本做出的评价为基础。这

research, has made its impact on criticism. Among the pioneers in this field are: A. Alt (Essays on OT History and Religion [Eng. tr. 1966]), M. Noth (History of Israel [Eng. tr., 2nd ed. 1960]; Laws in the Pentateuch and Other Studies [Eng. tr. 1966]; OT World [Eng. tr. 1966]); and the versatile genius of W. F. Albright, whose influence has been exercised not only in his written works (e.g., From the Stone Age to Christianity [1940]; Archaeology and the Religion of Israel [1942]; Yahweh and the Gods of Canaan [1968]), but also through his brilliant disciples (e.g., John Bright, History of Israel [2nd ed. 1972]). But the radical differences between the historical conclusions reached by them has emphasized the need for more stringent methodological controls.

The situation in OT criticism is thus completely fluid, and a new school has yet to appear whose findings will command acceptance as a fresh “regnant hypothesis.”

E. NT Criticism. 1. Paul and the NT. In the NT the Pauline collection of letters constitutes the critical pivot that Deuteronomy has long provided in OT criticism. A new and vitally important phase of NT criticism was launched in 1831 when F. C. Baur contributed his paper “Die Christuspartei in der korinthischen Gemeinde” to the Tübinger Zeitschrift (4 [1831], 61ff.). Baur, whose theological position in Tübingen University caused the movement he unconsciously started to be called the “Tübingen school,” tended increasingly, as time went on, to interpret NT history as Vatke and others interpreted OT history. The thesis and antithesis in NT

一领域的先驱包括：奥特 (A. Alt, Essays on OT History and Religion [1966 英译本])、诺特 (M. Noth, History of Israel [1960 年英译本第 2 版]; Laws in the Pentateuch and Other Studies [1966 年英译本]; OT World [1966 年英译本]) 以及全能型天才奥尔布赖特 (W. F. Albright), 他的影响力不仅体现在他的作品 (如, From the Stone Age to Christianity [1940]; Archaeology and the Religion of Israel [1942]; Yahweh and the Gods of Canaan [1968]) 中, 而且还体现在他优秀的门徒上 (如, John Bright, History of Israel [1972 年第 2 版])。但是他们所得出的史学结论的根本差异凸显出需要实行更为严格的方法管控。

因此, 旧约考证的现状是完全不固定的, 还需要涌现出新的学派, 新学派的研究结果将得到认可, 并被视为新的“占支配地位的假说”。

*E. 新约考证. 1. 保罗和《新约》。*在《新约》中, 保罗书信成了考证的中心点, 而《申命记》是旧约考证的中心点。1831 年鲍尔在 (F. C. Baur) 在 Tübinger Zeitschrift (4 [1831], 61 起) 上发表了他的作品 “Die Christuspartei in der korinthischen Gemeinde”, 这标志着新约考证进入了全新且至关重要的阶段。鲍尔在杜平根大学研究神学的地位使他无意中发起了所谓的“杜平根派”运动, 并且随着时间的推移越来越愿意像法特克等人解释《旧约》历史那样解释《新约》历史。一方面保罗宽容地接纳外邦信徒进入教会; 另一方面以正直的雅各以及使徒保罗和约翰为首的耶路撒冷的保守派门徒主张外邦人只有接受割礼并且遵守犹太律法才能进入新以色列, 这 history were represented on the one hand by Paul, with his liberal policy of the free admission of gentile believers into the Church, and on the other by the reactionary disciples in Jerusalem, headed by James the Just and the apostles Peter and John, with their insistence that only by accepting circumcision and other obligations of the Jewish law could Gentiles be admitted to the new Israel. The conflict between the two parties he saw most clearly in 1 and 2 Corinthians, Galatians, and Romans, which were, in the Tübingen view, the only authentic writings of Paul and moreover the oldest books of the NT. The only other Pre-A.D. 70 NT book was Revelation, the one surviving document representing the opposite position. The remaining NT books reflected the outlook of a later generation, after A.D. 70, when the old conflict was not so sharp and the heirs of the two opposed parties tended to close their ranks in the face of imperial persecution and Gnostic deviations. The crowning literary manifestation of this later "synthesis" is Acts, in which Paul and the Jerusalem leaders are portrayed as maintaining harmonious relations throughout, and which was accordingly dated about the middle of the 2nd century.

Brilliant as the Tübingen reconstruction of NT history was, it was too vulnerable to endure in its pristine form. The historical and textual research of J. B. Lightfoot, A. Harnack, W. M. Ramsay, and others undermined its case for the late dating of the Gospels and Acts, and the antithesis that it postulated between the church of Jerusalem as a whole and the Pauline mission proved to be much exaggerated; in particular, the idea of a Judaizing Peter was little more than a figment of the imagination. But NT criticism has never ceased to be influenced by the work of the Tübingen school; witness the protest against its continuing influence by J. Munck in Paul and the Salvation of Mankind (Eng. tr. 1959). Indeed, it has enjoyed a substantial and vigorous revival at the hands of S. G. F. Brandon (The Fall of Jerusalem and the Christian Church [1951]), with arguments that, if not acceptable, demand a freshly reasoned confutation.

两派截然相反的观点呈现出了新约历史的正题和反题。他在《哥林多前书》《哥林多后书》《加拉太书》和《罗马书》中最为清晰地看到了双方的矛盾冲突，杜平根认为只有这几卷书是确实由保罗所写，并且是《新约》最古老的书卷。除此之外，《新约》中唯一早于公元 70 年的书卷是《启示录》，这部保留下来的文献表达了相反的观点。《新约》剩余的书卷反映出了公元 70 年之后一代人的观点，那时双方原来的冲突不再如此强烈，敌对双方的后代面对帝国的迫害和诺斯底异端派别时搁置了争议。《使徒行传》是后来“合题”的最高文学形式，在这部作品中，根据这部作品中的记载，保罗和耶路撒冷的领袖们始终保持着和谐的关系，因此，这大致是公元 2 世纪中期。

杜平根学派很好地还原了新约历史，但是这种历史还原的原始形式很难抵御攻击。赖特富 (J. B. Lightfoot)、哈纳克 (A. Harnack)、拉姆塞 (W. M. Ramsay) 和其他的学者们对历史和文本的考证破坏了福音书和《使徒行传》较晚成书之说，证据证明整个耶路撒冷教会和保罗代表团之间的对立被夸大了；尤其是犹太化的彼得不过是一个虚构的人物。但是新约考证一直受到杜平根派作品的影响；

Even more radical than the Tübingen criticism was that of the Dutch scholar W. C. van Manen, who treated all the Pauline Epistles as pseudepigraphs. His views were popularized in the English-speaking world through his contributions to EB, but retain little more than curiosity value.

2. Gospel Criticism. Some rudimentary Gospel criticism was practiced in the patristic age. The difficulty of harmonizing the order of events in the Synoptic and Johannine Gospels was discussed by Eusebius, who, in reply to arguments that the Evangelists disagree with one another, points out that the events in the earlier chapters of John antedate the imprisonment of John the Baptist (Jn. 3:24), whereas the Synoptists record that phase of Jesus' ministry which began after the Baptist's imprisonment (HE iii.24.8–13). Augustine (De consensu evangelistarum) deals in detail with the relations between the Gospels; on the most frequently quoted remark in this work (i.4), that "Mark followed Matthew as his lackey

蒙克 (J. Munck) 在他的 Paul and the Salvation of Mankind (1959 年英译本) 中并见证了蒙克 (J. Munck) 在他的 Paul and the Salvation of Mankind (1959 年英译本) 中对这种持续不断影响的抗议。实际上, 布兰登 (S. G. F. Brandon, The Fall of Jerusalem and the Christian Church [1951]) 极大地复兴了这种观点, 他辩论到, 如果不接受这种假说, 需拿出有力的反驳证据。

比杜平根考证更激进的是荷兰学者范曼恩 (W. C. van Manen) 的考证, 他认为所有的保罗书信都属于伪经。他是《圣经百科全书》(EB) 的撰稿人, 他的观点在说英语的国家得到了普遍的认可, 不过, 仅仅满足了人们的好奇心而已。

2、福音书考证。教父时期就存在对福音书的初步考证。优西比乌讨论了难以协调对观福音书和《约翰福音》中事件发生的顺序的问题, 他在解答福音书作者彼此持不一致的争论时, 指出《约翰福音》的前几章的事件发生在施洗约翰被下到监里之前 (约 3:24), 而对观福音记载耶稣传道时间发生在施洗约翰被下在监里之后 (HE iii.24.8–13)。奥古斯丁 (De consensu evangelistarum) 详细讨论了四福音书之间的关系; 关于这部作品中 (i.4) 最常引用的部分 "可以说, 马可参照了马太的作品, 因为马可省略了《马太福音》中的部分内容", 斯特里特 (B. H. Streeter) 评论说, 只要奥古斯丁事先对比列出福音书的纲要, 便能看出对于《马太福音》和《马可福音》中材料相同的部分, 并不是马可作了删减。 and abbreviator, so to speak,” B. H. Streeter observed that if only Augustine had had a synopsis of the Gospels in parallel columns before him, he would have seen at a glance that, where Matthew and Mark have material in common, it is not Mark who abridges it.

The Synoptic Gospels were so designated by J. J. Griesbach in 1774, because they have so much material in common that they lend themselves to a “synoptic” arrangement where the three can be studied side by side. Some 606 out of Mark’s 661 verses reappear in somewhat condensed form in Matthew; some 350 of Mark’s verses are paralleled in Luke. Matthew and Luke, again, have about 250 verses in common that are not paralleled in Mark. The approximate number of verses in each Gospel not paralleled in another is 31 in Mark, 300 in Matthew, and 550 in Luke. The interpretation of this distribution of common and special material in the three Gospels has been the principal task of Synoptic criticism for nearly two centuries. An epoch-making contribution to this study was made in 1835 by C. Lachmann in Studien und Kritiken, when he argued that Mark was the earliest Gospel and was a principal source of Matthew and Luke. His main argument, that Mark’s order is the common order of the three, is not so conclusive as has often been supposed; but his thesis has been supported by other and weightier arguments, and enjoys general, almost universal, acceptance. It is also fairly generally agreed—though here the area of dissent is wider—that the common non-Markan material of Matthew and Luke was derived by these two from another documentary source, a compilation of sayings of Jesus, called Q about the beginning of the 20th cent. independently by J. Armitage Robinson and J. Wellhausen. Whether the special material in Matthew and Luke is derived from earlier documentary sources must remain very doubtful, although we have the assurance of Luke himself that, at the time when he wrote, many had taken in hand to draw up a narrative of the gospel events.

1774 年格利斯巴赫 (J. J. Griesbach) 将这三卷福音书命名为“对观福音书”，因为这三卷书有许多相同的内容，其中有很多“对观”材料，因此可以一并研究。《马可福音》的 661 节经文中有 606 节在《马太福音》中以精简的形式重现出来；《马可福音》的 350 节在《路加福音》中有平行经文。此外，《马太福音》和《路加福音》约有 250 节相同的经文，而这 250 节经文在《马可福音》中没有平行经文。每部福音书的经文都有与其他两福音书中没有的章节，这样的章节《马可福音》约有 31 处，《马太福音》约有 300 处，《路加福音》约有 550 处。三部福音书共同和特殊内容的解释是近两个世纪来对观福音书考证的主要任务。拉赫曼 (C. Lachmann) 在 1835 年的 Studien und Kritiken 对这项研究做出了划时代的贡献，他认为《马可福音》是最早的福音书，并且是《马太福音》和《路加福音》的主要资料来源。《马可福音》的顺序是三部福音书共同的顺序，他的这个主要论点并不像人们通常想象的那样确定无疑；然而，他的论点得到了其他更有分量的论点的支持，受到了普遍的认可，几乎所有人都接受他的这个论点。虽然争论的领域不断扩大，但是人们也普遍认为《马太福音》和《路加福音》中的非马可的材料源于另外一个原始资料，大约在 20 世纪初期，罗宾逊 (J. Armitage Robinson) 和威尔豪森 (J. Wellhausen) 都称这个原始资料为 Q 字原材料，这个原资料是耶稣语录的汇编。《马太福音》和《路加福音》的特殊内容是否源于较早期的原始资料仍存在异议，但是我们可以确定路加在写《路加

Source criticism in the Fourth Gospel (cf. R. Bultmann, The Gospel of John [Eng. tr. 1971]) has never been carried out convincingly; the criticism of this Gospel has centered round its historical character, purpose, theology, date, and authorship. See articles on the individual Gospels, and see GOSPELS, SYNOPTIC.

III. Form Criticism.—Form criticism (Ger. Formgeschichte, “form history”) represents an endeavor to determine the oral prehistory of written documents or sources, and to classify the material according to the various “forms” or categories of narrative, discourse, and so forth.

A. In the OT. This approach has proved particularly fruitful in the study of the Psalms; their classification according to their principal types (Ger. Gattungen), where each type is related to a characteristic life-setting—e.g., Psalms of lament and thanksgiving, both individual and communal; royal Psalms; liturgical Psalms; etc.—has done more for the understanding of the Psalter than almost anything else in the 20th century.

H. Gunkel also applied form critical methods to the creation narratives and to 对第四福音书出处的考证（参：R. Bultmann, The Gospel of John [1971年英译本]）从未取得令人信服的结果；第四福音书的历史人物、目的、宗教体系、日期和作者是考证的中心。见关于各个福音书的词条和 GOSPELS, SYNOPTIC（对观福音书）。

III. 形式考证。形式考证（德语：Formgeschichte，“形式历史”）旨在确定书面文献或原始资料的口传阶段，并根据各种“形式”或叙述和论述的方式等来划分材料的门类。

A、《旧约》中的形式考证。这种方法在研究《诗篇》时特别富有成效；根据各个诗篇的主要类型（德语：Gattungen）进行分类，每个类型都与一个独特的生活背景有关——如，个人和集体的哀悼诗与感谢诗；王家诗篇、礼拜仪式诗篇等，在20世纪，这种分类为理解《诗篇》提供了最大的帮助。

贡克尔（H. Gunkel）还应用形式考证的方法研究创世故事和《启示录》中的象

the apocalyptic symbolism that later drew upon the ancient cosmogonic imagery (compare the overthrow of the primeval dragon of chaos in Ps. 74:13f. and Isa. 51:9 with the downfall of the great red dragon of Rev. 12:3, 7-9).

More recently form criticism has illuminated the OT law codes. Albrecht Alt pointed out in Die Ursprünge des israelitischen Rechts (1934) that the pentateuchal laws fall mainly into two categories—case law (beginning with a phrase like “If a man do so-and-so ...”) and apodictic law (“Thou shalt ...,” “Thou shalt not ...,” or “He that doeth so-and-so shall surely be put to death”). The case-law category reproduces the form known from the other ancient Near Eastern law codes; the apodictic category is not found in these. Apodictic law does, however, resemble in form the conditions embodied in interstate treaties of the ancient Near East, especially treaties between an imperial power and its vassal states. Since such treaties are essentially covenants, concluded in the names of the deities of the high contracting parties, it is evident that the apodictic laws of the OT (among which the Ten Commandments are the most prominent) represent Israel’s distinctive covenant law, imposed on the nation by Yahweh. See also COVENANT, BOOK OF THE.

B. In the NT. Form criticism has been intensively applied to the Gospels from 1919 onward. The pioneer in this study is usually reckoned to have been Martin Dibelius, whose Die Formgeschichte des Evangeliums appeared in 1919 (Eng. tr. From Tradition to Gospel), followed in 1921 by Rudolf

征, 后来逐渐形成了天体演化的形象描述(将《诗篇》74:13-14 和《以赛亚书》51:9 中记载的刺破上古混沌世界的海龙的故事与《启示录》12:3, 7-9 记载的大红龙的毁灭进行了对照)。

最近的形式考证阐明了《旧约》的律法法典。阿尔特(Albrecht Alt)在 Die Ursprünge des israelitischen Rechts (1934) 中指出《摩西五经》中的律法主要分为两类——判例法(以这样的句子开头“人若做……”)和绝对律法(“你要……”, “不可……”或“他若这样行必被治死”)。判例法再现了古近东其它律法法典的形式; 在古近东的其他律法法典中没有发现绝对律法。而从形式上讲, 绝对律法类似于古近东国与国之间的条约, 尤其是领主国和附庸国之间的条约。由于这些条约实际上是以缔约国之神的名字订立的契约, 因此《旧约》的绝对律法(其中十诫是最显著的律法)显然代表的是耶和華跟以色列国立的独特盟约。另见 COVENANT, BOOK OF THE (约书)。

B. 《新约》中的形式考证。形式考证自1919年起被广泛应用于福音书上。狄比流(Martin Dibelius)是这项研究的先驱者, 他1919年出版了 Die Formgeschichte des Evangeliums (Tradition to Gospel 的英译本), 随后的1921年布特曼(Rudolf Bultmann)出版了 Geschichte der synoptischen Tradition (HST 的英译本)。

Bultmann's Geschichte der synoptischen Tradition (Eng. tr. HST). But several important aspects of this form-critical approach had been anticipated as early as 1902 by Allan Menzies in The Earliest Gospel (a comm. on Mark).

1. Classification. The main division in form classification of the Gospel material is that between narratives about Jesus and sayings of Jesus. Narratives have been subdivided into (1) pronouncement stories, (2) miracle stories, and (3) "legends"; sayings into (1) wisdom sayings, (2) prophetic and apocalyptic sayings, (3) law pronouncements and community rules, (4) "I"-sayings, and (5) parables.

Pronouncement stories (which is Vincent Taylor's name for them; Dibelius called them "paradigms") partake of the character of both narratives and sayings. In them a situation develops that elicits from Jesus a pithy saying (an "apophthegm," in Bultmann's terminology), which constitutes the point of the story. Frequently the situation is a controversial one; some action or utterance of Jesus or His disciples arouses criticism, and Jesus replies to the criticism with a decisive pronouncement, e.g., "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick; I came not to call the righteous, but sinners" (Mk. 2:17).

A narrative may be assignable to more than one "form"; thus the incident of the paralyzed man (Mk. 2:1-12) is a pronouncement story because the criticism that breaks out when Jesus forgives the man's sins is silenced by Jesus' pronouncement that "the Son of

但是,早在1902年艾伦(Allan Menzies)在 The Earliest Gospel (《马可福音》的注释)中就曾预先提到过这种考证方法的几个重要方面。

1、分类。福音书材料的形式考证的主要分为关于耶稣的故事和耶稣语录。耶稣的故事细分为(1)宣告类型的故事,(2)神迹故事和(3)"传说";耶稣语录分为(1)箴言,(2)预言和启示,(3)律法声明和会众条例,(4)提到"我"的话语和(5)比喻。

宣告类型的故事(万森泰勒[Vincent Taylor]称之为"宣告类型的故事";狄比流称之为"范例")中既有关于耶稣故事,也有耶稣的语录。随着故事中形势的发展,引出了耶稣的一句精炼的话语(布特曼称其为"格言"),这句话就是故事的中心。通常是一个有争议的形势;耶稣或祂的门徒们的行为或话语招来的批评,耶稣以明确的宣告对批评做出了回应,如"健康的人用不着医生,有病的人才用得着。我来本不是召义人,乃是召罪人"(可2:17)。

一个故事可以有多种"形式";因此瘫痪病人的故事(可2:1-12)属于宣告类型的故事,因为当耶稣原谅人的罪时,人们开始批评,耶稣以宣告终止了批评"人子在地上有赦罪的权柄"(可2:10);不过也可以称这个故事为一个神迹故事,更具体地说,是一个治愈的故事。

man has authority on earth to forgive sins” (Mk. 2:10); but it can also be classified as a miracle story, more specifically a healing story. Healing stories are readily recognizable; all over the world from early times to the present day they follow a well-established form which emphasizes the interactability of the disease, the despair of the patient, the completeness of the cure, and sometimes the impression produced on the bystanders. But that a healing story conforms to this pattern tells us nothing conclusive about its historical truth.

“Legends,” as Dibelius calls them, are such stories about Jesus as the baptism, temptation, transfiguration, and resurrection narratives. Bultmann, who calls them “myths,” says that they are not “historical in character [but] are religious and edifying” (HST, p. 244). But this is not a form critical judgment; form criticism as such makes judgments about form, not substance.

Similarly, the classification of the sayings of Jesus according to form can throw but little light on the authenticity of individual sayings. Sometimes, when what is substantially the same saying or discourse has been preserved in two different “forms,” it may be possible to penetrate behind both to an earlier “unformed” stage of the tradition of what He said. At other times, however, the probability is that the form in which His words have been preserved is the form He Himself gave them. Much of His recorded teaching reproduces the well-known forms of OT poetry, as found, for example, in many of the prophetic oracles. Since Jesus was recognized by His contemporaries as a prophet, it is reasonable to conclude that here we have something approaching His ipsissima verba.

很容易辨别哪些是治愈故事;从古至今,这世界上的治愈的故事总是遵循一个固定的形式,都强调疾病的难以治愈、病人的绝望、病完全被治愈,有时还会提到旁观者的印象。但是,符合这种类型的治愈的故事无助于我们确定故事的历史真实性。

“传说”(狄比流给出的称谓)指的是耶稣受洗、被试探、登山变相和复活的故事。布特曼则称它们为“神话”,他们“是历史, [但是]属于宗教和有教育意义的故事”(HST, 244 页)。然而这不是一种形式考证的判断;形式考证本身对形式进行考证,而不是对实质内容进行考证。

同样,根据形式对耶稣语录进行的分类对于证明每个语录的真实性几乎毫无帮助。有时,当同一句耶稣语录以两种不同的“形式”保存下来,这可能说明还存在一个更早的“无形式的”耶稣语录。但是其他时候,保存下来的耶稣语录的形式是由耶稣亲自赋予的。大部分记录下来的耶稣的教导重现了《旧约》诗歌的著名形式,如,许多先知预言中的耶稣语录的形式。由于耶稣被祂同时代的人视为先知,因此,我们可以合理地总结说,我们有办法知晓“耶稣的真实话语”(ipsissima verba)。

T. W. Manson, who himself operated very fruitfully in The Teaching of Jesus (1931) with a classification of the sayings of Jesus based on the different kinds of audience addressed, remarked in characteristically down-to-earth language that “if Form-criticism had stuck to its proper business, it would not have made any real stir. We should have taken it as we take the forms of Hebrew poetry or the forms of musical composition. But,” he went on, “Form-criticism got mixed up with two other things. One was K. L. Schmidt’s full-scale attack on the Marcan framework; the other was the doctrine of the Sitz im Leben” (Studies in the Gospels and Epistles [1962], p. 5).

2. Framework. Many form critics, and outstandingly K. L. Schmidt (RGJ), have envisaged the Synoptic, and primarily the Marcan, tradition as consisting of originally unrelated units of narrative or discourse, joined together into a continuous narrative by means of connecting editorial summaries devoid of independent historical value. (It is conceded that the Passion narrative existed as a continuous record from early days.) An impressive answer to this argument was made in 1932 by C. H. Dodd (repr. in his NT Studies [1953], pp. 1ff.), who argued that the “editorial summaries” in Mark, when put together by themselves, constitute a coherent outline of the ministry of Jesus, comparable to those outlines of the early apostolic preaching which can be recovered from the speeches in Acts and various passages in the Epistles.

曼森 (T. W. Manson) 在 The Teaching of Jesus (1931) 中根据不同的听众对耶稣的话语进行分类, 取得了丰硕的成果, 他实事求是地评论说 “如果形式考证固守本身, 将不会产生任何真正的轰动。我们应该像欣赏希伯来诗歌或乐曲的形式那样理解形式考证”, 他继续说道: “但是, 形式考证还与另外两个事物混合在了一起。一个是斯密特 (K. L. Schmidt) 对《马可福音》框架的全面攻击, 另一个是 Sitz im Leben 的教义” (Studies in the Gospels and Epistles [1962], 5 页)。

2、结构。许多形式评论家, 尤其是斯密特 (RGJ) 认为对观福音书 (主要是《马可福音》) 中的传说最初是由毫不相关的故事或话语构成的, 后来通过加入毫无独立历史价值的编辑概要合并成了一个连续的故事。(耶稣受难的故事被认为是从早期流传下来的连续记录。) 多德 (C. H. Dodd, 在他的再版 NT Studies [1953] 中, 1 页起) 在 1932 年对这一论点做出了令人印象深刻的回应, 他认为《马可福音》中的 “编辑概要” 拼凑在一起时, 清晰地概括出了耶稣传道, 这种概括可与从《使徒行传》和使徒书信各卷中总结的早期使徒传道的概括相比较, 此外, 《马可福音》中对传道的一般描述表明, 传道的顺序和发展完全是自发的, 而非人为杜撰的, 完全符合逻辑, 不可能是偶然。

Moreover, the general Markan picture of the ministry suggests a sequence and development too spontaneous to be artificial and too logical to be accidental.

3. Life-Setting. It has become common practice among form critics to explain the various elements in the Gospels as called forth by some “life-setting” (Ger. Sitz im Leben) in the early Church. For example, the mission charge in Mt. 10 has been held to reflect the methods used by Jewish Christians who evangelized Palestine between A.D. 30 and 66; likewise the controversial discussions that end with some authoritative pronouncement of Jesus are said to reflect disputes in the same period between Jewish Christians and other Jews, or between legalist and libertarian groups within the Christian community. An extreme example in this last respect is the argument that the warning in Mt. 5:19 about the man who “relaxes one of the least of these commandments and teaches men so” is a covert attack by stricter Jewish Christians on Paul.

But one might ask why this practice was not carried on more widely and helpfully. The circumcision question, for example, was a live issue in Christian debate in the quarter century between A.D. 45 and 70; why has it not left a more distinct mark in the Gospels?

Early Christians, in fact, probably made a clearer distinction between their own views on disputed points and the teaching of Jesus than they are sometimes given credit for. Paul, for instance, in answering questions about marriage and divorce, distinguishes sharply between those matters on which he can quote an authoritative saying of Jesus and those on which he can express only his own judgment (1 Cor. 7:10, 12, 25).

3、生活背景。形式评论家通常认为福音书中的各种元素源于早期教会的“生活背景”（德语：Sitz im Leben）。例如，《马太福音》10章中记载的差遣门徒反映了犹太基督徒在公元30年至66年在巴勒斯坦地区传道的的方法；同样，以耶稣基督的权威宣告结束的存有争议的论述反映出了同一时期犹太基督徒和其他犹太人的争论，或基督徒团体中的守律法主义者和自由主义者之间的争论。最后一个极端的例子是，《马太福音》5:19中给那“废掉这诫命中最小的一条，又教训人这样作”的人的警告反映出了保守的犹太基督徒对保罗的隐秘攻击。

有人可能会问，为什么这种解释方法没有在更广泛的范围内得到应用，并产生更大的促进作用呢？例如，在公元45年至70年这二十五年间割礼问题一直是基督徒争论的问题；为何在福音书中没有保留更明显的印记呢？

实际上，早期的基督徒比有时人们所认为的更为明确地区分了他们对有争议问题和耶稣教导的看法。例如，保罗在回答关于婚姻和离婚的问题时，明确区分了哪些是耶稣对婚姻和离婚问题的权威表述，哪些是他对这两个问题的个人简洁（林前7:10, 12, 25）。

It must not be forgotten that during the period A.D. 30–70 many people could remember what Jesus had said, and attempts to claim His authority for things that He had not in fact said could not have been so successful as is often thought. The presence of eyewitnesses would certainly place a check on the free creation of the early Church in the manner presupposed by many form critics. If the evidence of Acts can be accepted, the appeal to public recollection of the ministry of Jesus is a recurring feature of early apostolic preaching (Acts 2:29; 10:36; 26:26).

A life-setting in the early Church—in preaching, in worship, in debate, in the training of catechists—will certainly explain why many Gospel incidents and sayings were preserved and recorded. When a question arose about divorce, or fasting, or sabbath observance, or the payment of the temple tax, it was natural to remember what Jesus had said on the subject. But such a setting in the life of the early Church does not account for the origin of the saying; its origin must be sought in a setting in the life of Jesus.

4. Conclusion. The sweeping claims that have been made by some form critics for the value of their discipline must be subjected to a heavy discount. It cannot of itself, no matter what is said to the contrary, lead to conclusions about the historical genuineness of the material. Even the modest claim of J. Jeremias that it helps us to remove a later Hellenistic

必须牢记，在公元 30 至 70 年期间许多人可能记得耶稣的话语，并认为一些事情得到了耶稣权柄的认可，如人们通常所认为的那样，倘若祂实际上没有说这些话语，事情不可能进展得如此顺利。许多形式评论家预先假定，见证者的存在当然可以阻止早期教会的自由创作。如果《使徒行传》的证据可被接受，那么大众对耶稣传道的回忆再现了早期使徒的传道（徒 2:29；10:36；26:26）。

传道、敬拜、讨论和问答训练中体现出的早期教会的生活背景当然解释了许多福音书中的事件和语录被保存和记录下来的原因。当出现关于离婚、禁食、守安息日或圣殿的奉献的问题时，自然会想起耶稣对这些主题是如何教导的。但是，早期教会的生活背景并不能解释耶稣语录的来源；必须从耶稣生活的背景中寻找耶稣语录的来源。

4、结论。某些形式评论家对形式考证价值的笼统表述一定会大打折扣。无论反方面如何，形式考证本身不能对材料的历史真实性下结论。甚至连耶利米亚（J. Jeremias）的谦虚表达都必须谨慎地对待，耶利米亚帮助我们揭开了隐藏在早期巴勒斯坦元素下的希腊化元素，并从早期教会的生活背景重新回到了耶稣生活的背景中（Expos.T., 69 [1957/58], layer which has overlaid an earlier Palestinian layer, and so to move back from a setting in the life of the early Church to a setting in the life of Jesus, must be treated with caution (Expos.T., 69 [1957/58], 337), if only because Palestine itself was not free of Hellenistic influences, and there were Hellenists in the primitive Jerusalem church, if not indeed in the entourage of Jesus Himself.

Form criticism does, however, make one more aware of the influence of early Christian life and witness on the shaping of the Gospel tradition. It underlines the inadequacy of documentary hypotheses alone to account for the composition of the four Gospels, and provides a fresh classification of their material which sometimes, when comparative study is possible, helps one to penetrate behind written sources to the oral stage of the tradition. It then becomes clearer than ever that no discernible stratum of Gospel tradition, written or oral, knows any Jesus but the one whom the NT presents as Messiah and Son of God.

A particular variety of form criticism relates to the study of the structure of the NT epistles. An impetus to this approach was given by Paul Schubert in his Form and Function of the Pauline Thanksgiving (1939). Until this work appeared, it was widely supposed that, apart from the conventional salutation and thanksgiving at the beginning and the greetings at the end, Paul's letters were unstructured for the most part; study since then has brought to light fairly well-defined structures in the main body of the letters. It is precarious, however, to use this recognition of structural forms as a means of removing as unauthentic passages which do not fit these structures easily; the structural forms are Paul's servants, not his masters.

337), 即使仅仅因为巴勒斯坦也受到了希腊文化的影响, 而初期耶路撒冷教会就有以希腊语为母语的犹太人, 即使实际上他们没有追随耶稣。

一种特殊的形式考证与《新约》书信结构的研究有关。舒伯特(Paul Schubert)在他的 Form and Function of the Pauline Thanksgiving (1939) 中提倡使用这种方法。这部作品出现之前, 人们普遍认为, 除了传统的问候、开头的感恩和最后的问候, 大部分保罗书信的内容都很松散; 此后的研究证明了保罗书信的主题部分有非常明确的结构。然而, 我们不能用这种结构形式删除那些不太符合这些结构的不可靠的段落; 结构形式服务于保罗, 而不是束缚了保罗。

IV. Redaction Criticism.—What is called redaction criticism has been pressed into service more recently to do more justice to the authors and redactors of biblical documents than they received in the heyday of source criticism and form criticism. This discipline has been applied to various parts of the OT, as for example to the Chronicler's use of the material which he inherited—much of it still extant in earlier OT writings—so as to present his distinctive understanding of Israel's history. But it has proved particularly fruitful in Gospel study, with reference to the way in which the individual evangelists shaped and presented, in accordance with their distinctive perspectives, the “tradition” which was delivered to them.

Thus, the First Evangelist, perhaps the spokesman of a school or other Christian community in a specific area, is well described as a “scribe ... trained for the kingdom of heaven ... who brings out of his treasure what is new and what is old” (Mt. 13:52); he arranges the teaching of Jesus according to its subject matter in composite discourses which might serve, among other things, as a manual of instruction for catechists and catechumens. He is clearly interested in the Church as a fellowship in which the teaching of Jesus is to be embodied and handed down from His resurrection to the end of the age. Mark not only writes to encourage Christians suffering for their faith (in Rome and elsewhere) to think of this as taking up their cross in the way of Jesus; he also gives prominence to the “messianic secret”—the veiling of the true nature of Jesus’ person and ministry even from His disciples until it is divulged in His death, as is symbolically indicated by the rending of the temple veil and by the centurion’s confession, “Truly this man was the Son of God!” (Mk. 15:38f.). Luke views the ministry of Jesus at the midpoint of time as the continuation and consummation of the mighty works and prophetic words in which God revealed Himself in OT times and also as being itself continued and amplified in the apostolic witness. John restates the essential gospel without changing its essence; its permanent and universal validity is brought out by its portrayal of Jesus as the eternal Logos or self-expression of God, incarnated in a real human life, active now in the new, spiritual creation as earlier in the old, material creation. Here, in the ministry and supremely in the death of Jesus, the glory of God is manifested to all who are given the power of seeing it.

IV. 修订考证。最近出现的所谓的修订考证比鼎盛时期的出处考证和形式考证更为公正地研究了圣经书卷的作者和修订者。这种考证方法适用于《旧约》的各个部分，例如，《历代志》的作者对他接手的资源的使用——其中大部分资料仍保存在早期《旧约》文献中——体现了他对以色列历史的理解。但这种考证方法在福音书研究方面取得了丰硕的成果，即研究每个福音书作者如何根据他们各自的观点编排和呈现流传下来的“传统”。

V. Criticism and Christology.—In all this we have dealt with criticism as it affects the external features of the biblical record, rather than its revelational essence. But, since the biblical revelation is so closely interwoven with the historical record, historical criticism in particular can become extremely relevant to the heart of the biblical message. Above all, when we consider the biblical presentation of Christ’s incarnation, earthly ministry, death, and resurrection as the midpoint of history, historical criticism, when it sets to work on the gospel story, may affect our understanding of the gospel itself. This is no reason for telling historical criticism to approach thus far and no farther; on the contrary, we must be grateful for historical criticism and all the help it can give in showing the historical Jesus in His own times. "It would seem that the only healthy attitude for conservatives is to welcome criticism and be willing to join in it. No view of Scripture can indefinitely be sustained if it runs counter to the facts. That the Bible claims inspiration is patent. The problem is to define the nature of that inspiration in the light of the phenomena contained therein" (E. F. Harrison, in C. F. H. Henry, ed., Revelation and the Bible [1958], p. 239).

V. 考证和基督论。由于考证影响《圣经》的外部特征，而不是影响它的启示本质，所以我们要进行考证。但是由于圣经启示与圣经历史紧密地交织在一起，因此历史考证与圣经的核心信息密切相关。尤其是当我们认为《圣经》中关于耶稣道成肉身、在上传道、受难和复活的描述是历史的核心时，当我们用历史考证研究福音故事时，对福音故事的历史考证可能影响我们对福音本身的理解。我们没有理由说历史考证迄今为止毫无进展；反之，我们必须感谢历史考证以及它对我们理解耶稣生活年代的真实耶稣的帮助。“对于保守派来说，接受考证并参与其中似乎才是唯一正确的态度。如果《圣经》与事实背道而驰，《圣经》

Historical critics are not free from the influence of their intellectual milieu, and it is not to be greatly wondered at if Jesus, who a couple of generations ago was portrayed as the ideal of nineteenth-century liberalism, tends to be pictured today as a twentieth-century existentialist or as a social revolutionary. It takes a bold and independent spirit like that of Albert Schweitzer to break loose from contemporary influences in this regard as in others; but even boldness and independence are no guarantee of truth, and Schweitzer's portrayal of Jesus as an apocalyptic visionary (cf. QMJ) has inadequacies of its own.

The tone and thrust of biblical criticism cannot remain unaffected by the critic's own attitude; it will in the end make some difference whether or not he adopts a theistic viewpoint in harmony with that which informs the biblical record. And when the critical issue relates to the Jesus of history it will in the end make a considerable difference whether the critic is content to know Christ “after the flesh” or shares the estimate of Him reflected in the apostolic witness.

的观点不可能被永久地保存下来。《圣经》显然是神默示的。问题是如何根据《圣经》中包含的现象确定这默示的本质”(E. F. Harrison, in C. F. H. Henry 编, Revelation and the Bible [1958], 239 页)。

圣经考证的基调和趋势不可能完全摆脱评论家个人态度的影响; 无论考证者是否采用与《圣经》一致的有神论观点, 考证结果总是有所差异的。当关键问题涉及历史中的耶稣时。无论批评家愿意接受“道成肉身”的基督, 还是认为基督体现在使徒的见证上, 最终在考证结果上都会产生相当大差异。

Criticism can carry us so far in bringing us face to face with the Jesus of history; but when it has brought us there, it brings us up against the christological question: “Who then is this?” The various critical presentations or reconstructions of the Jesus of history have been deeply influenced by the critics’ Christology, realized or unrealized, false or true. That is why Lives of Jesus so often tell us more about their authors than they do about their subject; as T. W. Manson put it, “By their Lives of Jesus ye shall know them” (C. W. Dugmore, ed., Interpretation of the Bible [1944], p. 92). If the Jesus of history is the Christ of the Bible, when we are brought to Him we are brought to the very vantage point from which history must be reviewed if it is to be understood aright. Criticism has then done its perfect work, and Christology takes over.

考证可以令我们直面历史中的耶稣；但是紧接着我们就遇到了基督论的问题：“祂是谁？”评论家的基督论深深地影响了对历史中的耶稣的考证还原，无论是实现还是未实现的，无论是虚假的还是真实的。这也是为什么耶稣的生平记录常给我们提供更多关于记录作者的信息，而不是关于他们的主题的信息；如曼森（T. W. Manson）所说：“通过作者们描写的耶稣的生活就能理解这些作者”（C. W. Dugmore 编，Interpretation of the Bible [1944]，92 页）。假如历史中的耶稣是《圣经》中的耶稣基督，当我们了解了耶稣基督，也就占据了有利的位置，并可以站在这个有利位置上正确地回顾历史。考证已经完美地完成了它的工作，而基督论接续了考证的工作。

CROSS; CRUCIFY

[Gk. staurós, vb. stauróō]. No word has become more universally known than this, because the history of the world since the death of Christ has been decisively shaped by that epoch-making event. The principal content of the Christian religion is symbolized in this one word.

- I. Meaning
- II. Forms
- III. Discovery Legend
- IV. Symbolic Uses
- V. Theology of the Cross
- VI. Crucifixion

I. Meaning.—Originally Gk. staurós designated a pointed, vertical wooden stake firmly fixed in the ground. Such stakes were commonly used in two ways. They were positioned side by side in rows to form fencing or defensive palisades around settlements, or singly they were set up as instruments of torture on which serious offenders of law were publicly suspended to die (or, if already killed, to have their corpses thoroughly dishonored). The same duality of meaning may be seen in the verb stauróō, “put up posts, protect by a stockade,” and its compound anastauróō, “fence around, enclose.” Both have the secondary meaning “crucify” (TDNT, VII, 581–84). The emergence of the solitary cross as a mode of punishment may be traced back to the ancient practice of making public display of the corpses (or heads; cf. Jth. 14:1, 11) of rebels, resisters, traitors, enemies, etc., on the pointed stakes of the palisade. It is then only a small step to the setting up of solitary stakes for more prominent

CROSS; CRUCIFY 十字架；被钉十字架

【希腊语：staurós，动词 stauróō】。没有任何一个词语比这个词更人所共知，因为通过这一划时代事件，即耶稣的死明确地形成了世界的历史。这个词代表了基督教的主要内容。

- I. 十字架的含义
- II. 十字架的形状
- III. 发掘的传说
- IV. 象征应用
- V. 十字架的象征用法
- VI. 被钉十字架

I. 十字架的含义。起初希腊语 staurós 表示将一个削尖了的垂直木桩钉在地里。这种木桩通常有两种用途。首先可以将这些木桩并排钉在地里作栅栏或围在房屋的周围作防护栏，其次，可以直接用这些木桩来作刑具，违背律法之人被公然悬死在木头上（或者，即使违背律法之人已死，为了彻底羞辱他们，将他们的尸体挂在木头上）。动词 stauróō 可能表示同一二元论含义，“立木头，作栅栏”，复合词 anastauróō 表示“围起栅栏”。这两个词都有第二层含义“钉十字架”（TDNT, VII, 581–584）。十字架是一种刑罚方式，它的出现源自古代的习俗，这种习俗将反叛者、抵抗者、叛国者、敌人等的尸体（或头；参：滴 14:1, 11）挂在尖的木头上示众。该习俗将单独的木桩钉在空旷的地方，为的是更为突出地公示罪犯（如，在亚述表示刺穿，参：ANEP, 362, 368, 373; ANET, 295 页[ii]）。

Impaled inhabitants of an unnamed Syrian town under siege. Such public display of corpses was common Assyrian practice. Engraved bronze band from gate of Shalmaneser III, provenience unknown (Trustees of the British Museum)

II. Forms.-In addition to this earliest form as a simple vertical stake (Gk. staurós or skólops; Lat. crux simplex), four variations became prominent. (1) The form usually seen in pictures, the crux immissa (Latin cross +), is that in which the upright beam projects above the shorter crosspiece. From the mention of an inscription nailed above the head of Jesus it may safely be inferred that this was the form of the cross on which He died. (2) The crux commissa differs only in that the cross-beam is at the top of the vertical stake, forming the Greek letter tau (T). This has also been called St. Anthony's cross, probably because it resembles the crutch with which this noteworthy hermit is usually depicted. (3) The so-called Greek cross (+) of later date has vertical and horizontal beams of 某个亚述城镇遭到了围攻，当地的居民在受刑。公开示众尸体是亚述普遍的习俗。撒缙以色列三世（Shalmaneser III）城门上雕刻的青铜环，来源不祥（大英博物馆理事会）。

II. 十字架的形状。除了初期的形状，即简单垂直的木头外（希腊语：staurós 或 skólops；拉丁语：crux 的简单形式），十字架还有四种不同的形状。（1）通常说的十字架，即拉丁十字架（crux，拉丁十字架+），这种十字架垂直木头的顶部越过较短的横木。根据上面耶稣的头被钉在十字架上的描述，可以完全推断出祂就是死在这类十字架上的。（2）三出十字架（crux commissa）的唯一不同之处是横木在垂直木头的最上端，形成了希腊语字母 tau (T)。这种十字架也被称为圣·安东尼（St. Anthony）十字架，可能是因为它代表了这位著名的隐士常提到的杖。（3）后期出现的所谓的希腊十字架（+）指的是横木与垂直的木头一样长的十字架。（4）侧置十字架（crux decussata），或者被称为圣·安德鲁（St. Andrew）十字架，这种十字架呈字母 X 形。原始十字架形状上的最初变 the same length. (4) The crux decussata, or St. Andrew's cross, took the shape of the letter X. The initial variation in form of the primitive cross was apparently the addition of the cross-beam. This development, in the Roman world at least, may be related to the carrying of the patibulum (a yoke-like instrument of punishment fastened to the neck) by convicted slaves. By the Imperial period crucifixion had become the "slaves' punishment" (servile supplicium; cf. Hengel, pp. 51ff.), and it had become customary for the condemned person to carry the cross-beam to the place of execution (TDNT, VII, 572f.).

III. Discovery Legend.-The early church historians Socrates (HE i.17), Sozomenus (HE ii.1), Theodoret (HE i.18), and others mention the tradition of the discovery of Jesus' cross. (It is significant, however, that Eusebius [*Vita Constantini*iii.26-28], who carries more weight than all the others, wholly omits it.) According to this tradition, Helena, the mother of Constantine the Great, in A.D. 325 when she was seventy-nine years old, discovered the true cross of Jesus by an excavation she caused to be made on the traditional site of His grave. A miracle of healing, wrought upon a crippled woman by stretching her on the true cross, revealed its identity. Along with the true cross were found the two crosses of the malefactors crucified with Jesus. The true cross was intact when found, including even the superscription and the nails. The exact number of nails used in Jesus' crucifixion has been the subject of considerable speculation. In the earliest depictions of the crucifixion Jesus' feet are shown separately nailed, but in later ones they are crossed and 化显然就是添加了这块儿横木。这种发展（至少在罗马世界）与有罪的奴隶搬运十字架的横木（patibulum，一种绑在脖子上类似轭的惩罚刑具）有关。罗马帝国时期钉十字架是一种惩罚“奴隶的刑罚”（servile supplicium；参：Hengel, 51 页起）。罪犯搬运十字架至刑罚之地已经成了一种习俗（TDNT, VII, 572-573）。

III. 发掘的传说。早期教会的历史学家苏格拉底（HE i.17）、索若门鲁斯（Sozomenus, HE ii.1）、狄奥多勒（Theodoret, HE i.18）和其他学者提到了耶稣十字架发掘的传说。（然而，值得注意的是，比其他所有人都重要的优西比乌[*Vita Constantini*iii.26-28]完全省略了这部分内容。）根据这个传说，公元325年君士但丁大帝的母亲赫琳娜（Helena）在她七十九岁时命人在传说的耶稣之墓中发掘了耶稣的真十字架。一个瘸腿的女人揭露了这个十字架的特性，她在真十字架上伸展她的腿，然后奇迹般地痊愈了。与耶稣的十字架一同被发掘的还有与祂一同被钉十字架的两个罪犯的十字架。最早关于钉十字架的记载显示耶稣的脚被分别钉在十字架上，但是后期的记载显示祂的两只脚是被一个钉子钉在了一起。通常认为耶稣被钉在十字架上用了四个钉子（仅见下面的 VI.B）。据说赫琳娜的传说中记载了这四个钉子是被这样处理：一个被投入大海平息风暴，第二个被打成铁圈装在伦巴第（Lombardy）的王冠上，另外两个被放在了米兰和特里尔做纪念。 affixed to the upright with one nail. The number of nails used in Jesus' crucifixion is usually understood to have been four (but see VI.B below). In the Helena legend the four nails are said to have been disposed thus: one was cast into the sea to still a storm, a second was beaten into the iron ring of the crown of Lombardy, and the other two were placed as relics at Milan and Trier.

The main part of the cross was deposited by Helena in a church erected over the spot. Of the remainder, one portion was sent to Byzantium and inserted into the head of a statue of Constantine, and another was placed in a new church in Rome, specially erected and named for it, Santa Croce ("Holy Cross"). Small fragments of the wood of the true cross were sold, encrusted with gold and jewels; and since many of the wealthy believers wanted to have such priceless relics, the miracle of the "multiplication of the cross" was devised so that the relic suffered no diminution (et quasi intacta maneret, "and, as it were, remained intact" [Paulinus Epistula II ad Serverum]). Fragments of the true cross are thus to be found in many Roman Catholic churches of many countries.

The finding (Lat. inventio) of the holy cross by Helena is commemorated by a festival on May 3, called the Invention of the Holy Cross, celebrated in the Western Church since the time of Gregory the Great in the 6th century. Another festival of the holy cross, observed on September 14, is called the Exaltation of the Holy Cross. This observance seems to have originated in the mid-4th cent. in the East in connection with new churches built at the site of the crucifixion and holy sepulchre, and from there passed to Constantinople and thence to Rome, where it apparently was introduced in the 7th century.

赫琳娜将十字架的主体安放在一个教堂的上面。剩余的部分，一部分被送到拜占庭插入君士坦丁雕像的头中，另一部分被安放在罗马的一个新教堂中，专门建造并将其命名为圣十字（“圣十字架”）。真十字架木头的小碎片被变卖，然后镶上金子和珠宝；由于许多富有的信徒想要拥有这种无价的遗物，“十字架”的神迹不断增加，所以该遗物的价值变得有增无减（et quasi intacta maneret, "and, as it were, remained intact" [Paulinus Epistula II ad Serverum])。因此在许多国家的众多罗马天主教教堂里可以找到真十字架的碎片。

五月三日是纪念赫琳娜发掘（拉丁语：inventio）圣十字架的节日，被称为寻获十字架的瞻礼（the Invention of the Holy Cross），西方教会自公元6世纪格列高利大帝时期开始庆祝这个节日。另一个庆祝圣十字架的节日是在九月十四日，被称为光荣十字架的瞻礼（the Exaltation of the Holy Cross）。这个习俗似乎起源于4世纪中期的东部，与建在受难地和圣墓的新教堂有关，显然在公元7世纪时，该习俗从这里传到了君士但丁堡以及罗马。

The legend was widely accepted as true, but the discovery and publication of the apocryphal Doctrina Addai (cf. H-S, I, 438) has made it evident that the entire legend of Helena's discovery is but a version of the old Edessa legend. This tells of an identical discovery of the cross, under the very same circumstances, during the reign of Tiberius, by Protonice (wife of Claudius who became emperor), who had been converted to Christianity by the preaching of Peter.

IV. Symbolic Uses. A. Nonbiblical. In various shapes and designs the cross appears as both decorative ornament and religious symbol on objects of art almost everywhere in the ancient world from the most remote pre-Christian ages. This has much to do, no doubt, with its striking simplicity of form and variability of design. India, Syria, Persia, Europe, and Egypt in particular have yielded numerous specimens dating from the late Stone Age to the Christian era. The Tau cross was common enough in Egyptian symbolism that it has sometimes also been called the Egyptian cross. Among the Egyptians it is said to have been the symbol of divinity and eternal life. The Spanish conquistadores found the cross to be well known as a symbol by the Incas and Aztecs, perhaps signifying the four elements, the four seasons, or the four points of the compass.

With the death of Jesus on a cross a new significance was attached to the figure. It became the primary symbol of the Christian religion and has been elaborated in a profuse variety of forms in Christian art. It was not, however, until the time of Constantine that the cross could be used without restriction as the public symbol of Christian faith. Constantine's sanction was doubtless the result of his vision of A.D. 317 in which he claimed to have seen a flaming cross in the sky with the accompanying words en toutō nika, "by this [sign] conquer" (Eusebius Vita Constantini i.28), and of the story of the discovery of the true cross by his mother.

这个传说受到了广泛的认可，但是《伪经》《亚戴之教训》的发掘和出版（参：H-S, I, 438）证明了整个赫琳娜发掘的传说实际上是古代埃德萨传说的一个版本。该版本讲述了普罗托尼斯（Protonice，革老丢的妻子，后来做了皇帝）在完全相同的情况下发掘了真十字架，在提庇留统治时期，普罗托尼斯通过彼得的教导成为了基督徒。

IV. 十字架的象征性用法。A. 非圣经中的用法。从最遥远的前基督徒时期开始的古代世界中，几乎各地的艺术品上都用十字架的各种形状和图案作装饰和宗教的标志。毫无疑问，这与它引人注目的简单形状和图案的可变性有很大关系。尤其是印度、波斯、欧洲和埃及自石器时代后期至基督徒时代期间制作了许多十字架的样本。*Tau*形十字架在埃及人很常见，有时称它为埃及十字架。据说埃及人认为它是神性和永生的象征。西班牙征服者发现这个十字架是印加人（Incas）和阿兹特克人（Aztecs）熟知的一种符号，可能表示四要素，四季或罗盘的四个方位点。

耶稣被钉死在十字架上赋予了十字架新的重要意义。十字架成了基督教的主要

Tertullian (De corona 3) reveals the extent to which the sign of the cross was employed among the faithful as a gesture by the late 2nd cent.: "At each journey and progress, at each coming in and going out, ... at meals, ... at bedtime, ... we mark the brow with the sign of the cross." Such pervasive use of the sign of the cross by the pious believers in everyday life suggests that it was also employed ceremonially in the public worship with great frequency.

See Plate 20.

B. Biblical. The suffering implied in crucifixion naturally made the cross a symbol of pain, distress, and burden-bearing. Thus Jesus used it Himself, requiring that those who would be His disciples deny themselves, take up their crosses, and follow Him. Set in different contexts, this saying appears five times in the Synoptic Gospels (Mk. 8:34 par. Mt. 16:24 par. Lk. 9:23; Mt. 10:38; Lk. 14:27). While a variety of explanations of such cross-bearing have been proffered (cf. TDNT, VII, 578f.), it would seem that the basis of the metaphor is the Roman custom requiring a condemned man to carry a part of his own cross to the place of execution. It is uncertain, however, to what extent, prior to Jesus' crucifixion, His listeners would have caught this allusion. At any rate it conveyed to the disciples the awareness that the expectation of suffering applied as fully to the Messiah and His followers as it did in earlier times to God's spokesmen, the prophets (e.g., Mk. 8:31; 9:13). It is a vivid metaphor for self-surrender, a way of life which might ultimately result in the surrender of life itself.

标志, 基督教精心制作了多种多样的十字架艺术品。然而, 直到君士坦丁时期, 十字架才可以毫无限制地作为基督徒信仰的公用标志。君士坦丁批准人们用十字架无疑是因为公元 317 年他所做的梦, 他自称看到一个在天空中燃烧着的十字架, 相应的词语是 en toutō nika, 意为“通过这个[标志]取胜”(Eusebius Vita Constantini i.28), 而他的母亲发掘了真十字架。

特士良 (De corona 3) 在很大程度上揭示了 2 世纪晚期的忠实信徒曾用手划十字架作为一种手势:“在每次旅行和出行时、每次进出时、……吃饭时、……睡觉时, 我们在额头上划十字架的形状。”虔诚的信徒在每日的生活中普遍使用划十字架的手势, 这表明在公开敬拜的仪式中人们也非常频繁地使用这种手势。

B. 《圣经》中的用法。 由于钉十字架所经受的苦难, 十字架自然就象征了痛苦、苦难和重担。而耶稣曾提到过十字架, 祂要求那些想成为祂门徒的人要舍弃他们自己, 背起十字架, 跟随祂。这种说法出现在不同的经文中, 在对观福音书中似乎出现了五次 (可 8:34 平行经文: 太 16:24 平行经文: 路 9:23; 太 10:38; 路 14:27)。人们提出了各种关于背负十字架的解释 (参: TDNT, VII, 578-579), 这种比喻似乎来源于罗马的习俗, 他们要求罪犯背着他的十字架到其行刑的地方。然而, 在很大程度上, 很难确定听

In the Pauline literature the cross stands for the preaching of the atonement (1 Cor. 1:18ff.; Col. 1:20; 2:14), expresses the bond of unity between Jew and Gentile (Eph. 2:16), the believer and Christ, and even symbolizes sanctification (Gal. 5:24). The cross is, in a profound manner, the center and circumference of the preaching of the apostles and of the life of the NT church, and already in NT thought has begun to represent the whole of the Christ-event.

V. Theology of the Cross. In the NT Paul elaborates a "theology of the cross." The organizing principle of 1 Corinthians is this theology of the cross—not a system of doctrinal statements but simply proclamation of the cross as the act of salvation. The "foolishness" of the cross, in fact, represents the destruction of every attempt to make a doctrinal system the way of salvation. As it is actualized in the preached word, Paul discovered

耶稣讲道的人是否在祂受难前就知道这个典故。不管怎样，门徒们知道弥赛亚和祂的跟随者如早期上帝的代言人，即先知们一样要受尽折磨（如：可 8:31；9:13）。这是舍己的一种生动比喻，这种生活方式最终可能要放弃自己的生命。

在保罗的作品中，十字架表示的是和好的教导（林前 1:18 起；西 1:20；2:14），它表示犹太人和外邦人（弗 2:16）、信徒和耶稣彼此归为一体，十字架甚至象征了成圣（加 5:24）。十字架以一种高深方式成为了使徒传道和《新约》教会生活的核心和范围，并且在《新约》思想中，十字架已经代表了耶稣基督事件的整个过程。

V. 十字架神学。在《新约》中，保罗详细阐述了“十字架神学。”《哥林多前书》的主旨就是十字架神学，十字架神学不是一个系统的教义论述，而是简单的说明十字架的救赎作用。事实上，十字架的“愚拙”使人很容易得救赎。通过这种传道方式，保罗发现这“愚拙”实则是神的智慧（林前 1:21）。对他来说，“十字架的道理”（林前 1:18）足以作为福音的一个简短的概述。仅仅用人的智慧或哲学不能取代这种“传道”方式，因为

this “foolishness” to be the very wisdom of God (1 Cor. 1:21). For him, then, the “word of the cross” (1 Cor. 1:18), suffices as a terse summary statement of the gospel. Mere human wisdom or philosophy cannot substitute for this “preaching” because they cannot convey the saving significance of the cross. In this preaching, form corresponds to content—not impressive words of wisdom, but, with allowance for human weakness, a demonstration of spirit and power (1 Cor. 2:3f.).

A theology that focuses disproportionately on the resurrection or exaltation of Christ too easily becomes a “theology of glory” in which knowledge becomes more important than love, lofty self-perfection than lowly self-giving. Instead, for Paul it is the crucified Christ who is the very power and wisdom of God (1 Cor. 1:23f., 30), and He comes to his exaltation only as the crucified Christ. In the Christ hymn of Phil. 2 the obedient death on the cross of the One who “took on the form of a slave” (morphén doúlou labón) is the absolute nadir of His humiliation, but also the completion of His obedience and of redemption, and simultaneously the first stage of His exaltation as Lord.

Conventional and widespread use of the cross as a common Christian symbol makes it difficult for contemporary readers to sense the harsh reality that underlies this theology of the cross and the cross sayings in the NT. When Paul preached the “crucified Christ” (1 Cor. 1:23; 2:2; Gal. 3:1) any audience in the Greek-speaking world would have known immediately that this Christ had suffered an especially agonizing and humiliating death, the sort usually reserved for rebellious slaves, political rebels, or criminals. The harsh reality of this grim fact imposed a particular burden on the early preaching—the cross was no mere symbol, but the gruesome instrument of Christ’s atoning death. The Corinthians’ penchant for religious enthusiasm may have been a reaction against the offensiveness of this “word of the cross.”

它们不能表达十字架救赎的重要含义。这种形式与内容相符的传道方式没有令人印象深刻的智慧语言，而是给软弱之人的福音，圣灵和大能的明证（林前 2:3-4）。

这种过分强调基督复活或基督轻易地被高举的神学变成了“荣耀神学”，根据这种神学，知识比爱心更重要，崇高的自我完善比卑微地舍己为人更重要。相反，对保罗来说，神使钉十字架的耶稣称为祂的力量和智慧（林前 1:23-24, 30），而耶稣只有被钉在十字架上才能被高举。《腓立比书》2章关于耶稣的赞美诗中描述了顺服神死在十字架上的那位“取了奴仆的形象” (morphén doúlou labón)，这是耶稣所受屈辱的最糟糕方式，而且祂因此完成了顺服和赎回的工作，同时这也是祂被高举为主的第一阶段。

传统和广泛使用的十字架是一种常见的基督徒的标志，这使现代读者很难理解构成《新约》十字架神学和十字架话语的残酷现实。当保罗传“钉十字架的基督”（林前 1:23; 2:2; 加 3:1）时，任何一位说希腊语的听众都能立即明白这位基督死时承受了特别的痛苦和耻辱，这种刑罚方式通常是为叛逆的奴仆、政治上的敌人或罪犯而准备的。早期传道中称这一可怕的残酷现实为特别的负担——十字架不只是一种标志，而是耶稣将

Roman historians and literary figures contemporary with the beginning of the Christian era (e.g., Tacitus, Suetonius, Pliny the Younger) were unimpressed by the Christian persistence of belief in a “dead God.” Suetonius (Nero 16.3) is perhaps representative when he dismisses the Christian persuasion as “a new and pernicious superstition” (superstitio nova et malefica). A common theme in the early anti-Christian polemic, preserved by Minucius Felix (one of the earliest Latin apologists) in his dialogue Octavius (29.2), was that Christians worship “a criminal and his cross” (hominem noxium et crucem eius). The scattered comments of Justin in his Apologia reveal that the extreme dishonor associated with death by crucifixion was one of the most common objections to the Christian claim that Jesus was Son of God; e.g., “They say that our madness [mania] consists in the fact that we put a crucified man in second place after the unchangeable and eternal God, the Creator of the world” (i.13.4; cf. 22.3f.; 55.1; also Hengel, pp. 1ff., for further documentation). This kind of contemptuous response to the theology of the cross should not have been surprising, for the “word of the cross” could not have been more

人从死里赎回的工具。哥林多人对宗教的热情可能是对“十字架话语”的冒犯的一种回应。

基督徒对“永恒之神”的坚定信仰没有引起耶稣纪元初期的罗马历史学家和文学家（如，塔西陀、苏埃托尼乌斯和小普林尼）的注意。苏埃托尼乌斯（Nero 16.3）可能是代表性人物，他不理会基督徒的信念，认为它是“一种全新且有害的迷信行为”（superstitio nova et malefica）。米奴修（Minucius Felix，最早的拉丁护教士之一）在他的作品 Octavius (29.2) 中支持早期反基督教辩论者争论的共同主题，即基督徒敬拜“一位罪犯和祂的十字架”（hominem noxium et crucem eius）。游斯丁在 Apologia 中的零星评论表明对人最极端的羞辱与被钉死在十字架上有关，这是对基督徒认为耶稣是神的儿子最常见的一种反对方式；如，“他们说我们将一个钉十字架的人位居永恒不变的神、世界的造物之后，也就是位居第二位，这种行为何其愚蠢 [mania]” (i.13.4；进一步的文献，参：22.3-4；55.1；以及 Hengel, 1 页起)。这种对十字架神学如此轻蔑的行为不足为奇，因为“十字架的道理”与罗马的政治思想和同时代宗教的整体道德规范相冲突。 incompatible with Roman political thought and the whole ethic of contemporary religion.

Not only Paul's Greek-speaking audiences would find this "word of the cross" offensive, however. Jews were all too familiar with the Roman crosses that had been erected throughout Palestine and could hardly have viewed crucifixions other than in the light of the Deuteronomic curse on anyone "hanged on a tree" (Dt. 21:23). The idea of a crucified savior was thus not only foolish to Greeks, but contradictory and offensive to Jews as well. Given his background, Paul would have been painfully aware that Jesus was "accursed" by being hung on a tree (Dt. 21:23), but it was his insight that Jesus willingly took upon Himself the law's curse, to transform it, and thus became Himself the means of freeing people from its curse (Gal. 3:13). The cross, a "stumbling block for Jews," became for this erstwhile Pharisee "the power and wisdom of God" (1 Cor. 1:23f.).

For Paul the cross of Christ is especially the mark of God's reconciliation of humankind (and of all creation; cf. Col. 1:20; 2:14) and a sign of the impotence of all barriers between persons. Christ's death on the cross was for all people and thus negated such human distinctions as Jew and Gentile, making all one new creation, and with His own body reconciling them to each other and to God by the cross (Eph. 2:14-16). In Gal. 6:14 Paul is willing to boast only in the cross, for "by means of his cross the world is crucified to me and I am crucified to the world." (The use of the perfect tense of the verb in particular indicates a state of identification with Christ.) The cross of Christ constitutes a radical “No” to the world. Paul discovers that the cross is precisely where his link with the world is severed, since he has come to share in that fundamental salvation-event himself by baptism into Christ (Rom. 6:3–11).

然而，不只听保罗传道的说希腊语的听众对“十字架的道理”很反感。而且所有犹太人也了解罗马十字架，在巴勒斯坦全境到处都立有这种十字架，根据《申命记》的记载，“被挂在木头上的”（申 21:23）是受咒诅的，所以它被视为是一种刑罚。因此不仅希腊人认为十字架的救赎观念是愚蠢的，而且犹太人也反对和抨击这种观念。根据保罗记载的背景，保罗痛苦地意识到耶稣是“被咒诅”挂在树上的（申 21:23），但是，他同样发现耶稣甘愿承受律法的咒诅，并改变了这种咒诅，因此祂将人们从律法的咒诅中赎出（加 3:13）。这十字架在“犹太人是绊脚石”，但对昔日法利赛人来说，“神的能力，神的智慧”（林前 1:23-24）。

The ethical dimension of the baptized life is delineated in Gal. 5:24 in terms of the imagery of crucifixion: to be baptized into Christ is to be a new creature, to speak a radical “No” to sin (Rom. 6). Indeed, in Gal. 2:20 Paul can say “I have been crucified with Christ.” Through baptism and lived faith he has been so identified with Christ in His suffering, death, and resurrection, that “it is no longer I who live, but Christ who lives in me” (note again the use of the perfect tense of the verb “crucify,” signifying a state of identification). The “enemies of the cross” whom Paul denounces in Phil. 3:8 are not those who deny saving power to the cross, but rather those who see no implication in the cross of Christ for the shaping of their own ethical life-style.

VI. Crucifixion. A. Historical Survey. From the numerous references to crucifixion in Herodotus (i.128.2; iii.125.3, 132.2, 159.1; iv.43.2, 7; vi.30.1; vii.194.1f.; cf. Thucydides i.110.3) handbooks tend to credit the Persians with the first use of crucifixion (e.g., TDNT, VII, 573). Other classical sources (many of little historical value) regard crucifixion as essentially barbaric—a form of execution used by barbarians (cf. Hengel, pp. 23f.). Both Greek and Roman historians found it more palatable to mention barbarian crucifixions and overlook the use of this cruel practice by their own people.

《加拉太书》5:24 根据受难的形象描述了受洗生活的伦理维度：受洗归入耶稣就是一个新造的人，对罪彻底说“不”（罗 6）。实际上，《加拉太书》2:20 中保罗说：“我已经与基督同钉十字架。”通过受洗和信心，他已同耶稣一起经历苦难、死亡和复活，“现在活着的不再是我，乃是基督在我里面活”（再次注意到动词“钉十字架”使用了现在完成时，表示基督身份的状态）。保罗在《腓立比书》3:8 中谴责“十字架的敌人”不是那些否认十字架救赎力量的人，而是那些没有领会耶稣十字架的含意的人，耶稣的十字架为他们形成了有道德的生活方式。

VI. 钉十字架。A. 历史考察。在众多关于钉十字架的文献中，希罗多德（i.128.2; iii.125.3, 132.2, 159.1; iv.43.2, 7; vi.30.1; vii.194.1-2; 参：Thucydides i.110.3）的册子中记载了波斯人首先使用了钉十字架的刑罚（如，TDNT, VII, 573）。其他古典资源（大多没多少历史价值）认为钉十字架本质上是一种野蛮的刑罚——蛮夷人使用的一种死刑方式（参：Hengel, 23-24 页）。但是希腊和罗马的历史学家们更愿意论及这种野蛮的钉十字架刑罚，而这种残忍的刑罚不适用他们本国人民。

A predecessor of crucifixion in the ancient Near East was impalement (forcing the living human body down onto a pointed stake), used by the Assyrians as a mode of executing deserters, captured enemies, rebels, and the like (cf. ANEP, nos. 362, 368, 373). It should be noted that the ancient texts are not always precise with respect to detail, so the descriptions cause difficulty in distinguishing impalement from crucifixion (or the crucifixion of a live person from the public display of a corpse). In any case, the process subjected the victim to the greatest possible humiliation, with the victim (whether dead or alive) either nailed or bound to a stake (Gk. staurós or skólops; it is uncertain exactly when the cross-arm came into common use). In general, Herodotus distinguished the living victim from the dead by using the verb anaskolopizō for the living and anastauróō for corpses. After Herodotus, however, the two verbs became interchangeable.

Crucifixion was later adopted by the Greeks (though it was not a typical Greek penalty; see Hengel, pp. 69ff.). It was used frequently by Alexander the Great (e.g., after the siege of Tyre was broken, “two thousand ... hung fixed to crosses over a huge stretch of shore” [Curtius Rufus Historia Alexandrii.4.17]), by the Diadochi (cf. Diodorus xvi.61.2), the Carthaginians (Polybius.24), and in turn by the Romans, from whom we have the term crux. In both Greek and Roman civilizations crucifixion was, with few exceptions, not applicable to the freeborn or to citizens (cf. Cicero In Verrem i.5.66). It was significant to the Roman upper classes that crucifixion was the servile supplicium, “the slaves’ punishment.” The Roman citizen’s abhorrence for crucifixion is typified in a line from Cicero (Pro Rabiro 5): “Let the very name of the cross be far away not only from the body of a Roman citizen, but even from his thoughts.” In the provinces, autocratic governors were known to bend the law as this penalty became more and more useful to the preservation of law and order. Thus Quintilian (Declamationes minores 274 [ed. Ritter, p. 124]) finds crucifixion to be an effective deterrent for crime and sedition as well as a source of satisfaction to the victim of the crime, so he advocates erection of crosses at the busiest intersections.

古近东时期的刺刑（强迫活人躺在尖木桩上）属于钉十字架的前身，亚述人用这种刑罚来惩罚逃兵、俘虏、反叛者和类似的罪犯（参：ANEP, 362, 368, 373）。应该注意的是古代文本并非总是记载准确的细节，因此我们很难区分刺刑和钉十字架的刑罚（或活人被钉十字架和将尸体公开示众的区别）。无论哪种情况，这种将被害人（无论是死是活）钉或绑在木头（希腊语：staurós orskólops，尚未确定何时开始普遍使用横木）上的过程都使被害人受到极大的羞辱。总之，希罗多德通过使用动词 anaskolopizō（表示活人）和 anastauróō（表示死人）来区分活着的受害人和死人。然而，在希罗多德之后，这两个动词可以互换。

In Roman times crucifixion was already the punishment of slaves as early as the Republic. Plautus (ca. 250–184 B.C.), the first writer to describe Roman crucifixions, considers slaves to have been crucified “from time immemorial” (Hengel, p. 52), usually for rebellion, but often at caprice (Juvenal Satires vi.219–223). This penalty was soon extended to include foreigners and “robbers” (Gk. lēstai; cf. the Gospel accounts of the crucifixion of Jesus together with the two robbers; for other examples of the crucifixion of robbers see Josephus BJ passim; Petronius Satyricon 111.5; Apuleius Metamorphoses i.14.2, 15.4, etc.; Aesop Fabulae 152), and was applied most extensively in the provinces. The connection between slaves and robbers was natural since it was from the ranks of runaway slaves that bandit gangs most commonly replenished their numbers. Josephus, who witnessed many gruesome crucifixions in connection with the siege of Jerusalem (cf. BJ v.11.1 [449–451]), characterized it as “the most wretched of deaths” (thanátōn tōn oiktiston, BJ vii.6.4 [202ff.]). Throughout his writings there is a consistent picture of the excessive use of crucifixion for the “pacification” of seditious provincials (cf. BJ ii.5.2 [75], 12.6 [241], 13.2 [253], 14.9 [306, 308]; iii.7.33 [321]; v.7.5 [289]; vii.10.1 [418]; Ant. xvii.10.10 [295]; xx.6.2[129]).

奴隶。”西塞罗 (Cicero, Pro Rabiro 5) 是罗马市民中厌恶钉十字架的典型代表：“十字架这个词，不仅应该从一个罗马公民的身上完全消除，也要从他的思想中消失。”在行省，由于这样的处罚对维护律法和秩序越来越管用，独裁的官长开始枉法。而昆体良 (Quintilian, Declamationes minores 274 [Ritter 编, 124 页]) 发现钉十字架是震慑犯罪和暴乱的有效方式，也是对罪犯处罚令人满意的方式，因此他主张在拥挤的十字路口立十字架。

罗马时期的钉十字架早在共和时期就已经是惩罚奴隶的方式。普劳图斯 (Plautus, 约公元前 250-184 年) 是描述钉十字架刑罚的第一位作家，他认为奴隶“自古以来”都被钉十字架 (Hengel, 52 页)，通常造反的奴隶被钉十字架，但是也常常随意对奴隶施行钉十字架的刑罚 (Juvenal Satires vi.219–223)。很快便对外帮人和“强盗”施行了这种刑罚 (希腊语: lēstai; 参: 福音书中记载了耶稣与两个强盗一起被钉十字架; 其他关于强盗被钉十字架的例子见 Josephus BJ passim; Petronius Satyricon 111.5; Apuleius Metamorphoses i.14.2, 15.4 等; Aesop Fabulae 152), 这种刑罚在行省中应用最为广泛。奴隶和强盗之间的关联是很自然的，因为盗贼帮的成员大多由逃跑的奴隶构成的。约瑟夫斯在耶路撒冷被围攻时目击了许多可怕的钉十字架刑罚 (参: BJ v.11.1 [449–451])，他认为这是“最悲惨的死法” (thanátōn tón oiktiston, BJ vii.6.4 [202 起])。他的作品

There was a very old Roman punishment—hanging on the “barren tree” (arbor infelix)—which could be applied even to Roman citizens for cases of high treason or serious crime. With very few exceptions (e.g., deserters crucified by Scipio in the Second Punic war, Gavius by Verres for spying, a guardian by Galba in Spain), this penalty was never imposed and was always considered extraordinary by citizens (cf. Hengel pp. 39f.). The Roman jurist Julius Paulus (ca. A.D. 200), in the Sententiae compiled from his works toward A.D. 300, lists crux as the foremost of the three summa supplicia, “supreme penalties” (the others are crematio, “burning,” and usually decollation “decapitation”), revealing that this was applicable in such cases as desertion, betrayal of secrets, incitement to rebellion, murder, etc. In Palestine it was particularly applied for the suppression of sedition and banditry.

中记载了人们为“平定”地方叛乱而过多地使用钉十字架的刑罚（参：BJ ii.5.2 [75], 12.6 [241], 13.2 [253], 14.9 [306, 308]; iii.7.33 [321]; v.7.5 [289]; vii.10.1 [418] ; Ant. xvii.10.10 [295] ; xx.6.2[129]）。

将罪犯挂在“枯树”上是一个非常古老的罗马刑罚 (arbor infelix)，这种刑罚甚至适用于犯了叛国罪或严重罪行的罗马市民。除了极少数情况（如，第二次布匿战争中西庇阿[Scipio]用钉十字架的刑罚处死了逃兵，卡妙[Gavius]因犯了间谍罪被弗里斯处死，西班牙的加尔巴[Galba]处死了一个护卫），罗马人从不接受这种刑罚，并且他们认为这种刑罚是及其特殊的刑罚（参：Hengel 39-40页）。罗马官长犹流·保罗 (Julius Paulus, 约公元 200 年) 根据他公元 300 年的作品编辑了《判决集》 (Sententiae)，他在《判决集》中将十字架 (crux) 列为三个最高刑罚 (“summa supplicia”) 之首，（其他两个分别是 crematio，意为“火刑”和常见的 decollation，意为“斩首”），诸如叛逃、泄密、煽动暴乱、杀人等这些情况显然都采用这种刑罚。巴勒斯坦地区尤其采用这种刑罚来镇压暴动和抑制盗窃。

Jewish law prescribed that idolaters and blasphemers, after execution by stoning, were to be hanged on a tree to demonstrate that they were accursed by God (Dt. 21:23). Such corpses, however, were not allowed to remain on the tree overnight. This rule was generally applied to those crucified as well. The excessive Roman use of crucifixion in the pacification of Judea made it unacceptable as a Jewish death penalty, but there is evidence (cf. Yadin, IEJ, 21; Wilcox, pp. 88f.) that crucifixion had been borrowed from the gentile world and used in cases of high treason during the Hellenistic-Hasmonean period. This would account for the crucifixion of eight hundred Pharisees by Alexander Jannaeus after he had captured the rebellious town of Bethome (Josephus BJ

犹太律法规定拜偶像和渎神者被石头打死后要被挂在树上，表明他们是被神所咒诅的（申 21:23）。但是禁止这类尸体在树上挂一夜。钉十字架刑罚同样有这样的习俗。罗马人在平定犹大地时过度使用钉十字架刑罚，这使犹太人无法接受这种死刑，但是证据显示（参：Yadin, IEJ, 21; Wilcox, 88-89 页），罗马人采用外邦人这种钉十字架的刑罚来防止在希腊化犹太人时期有人叛国。这说明了亚历山大·杨纽在抓获贝瑟户（Bethome）镇的反叛者后，将八百名法利赛人钉十字架（Josephus BJ i.4.6. [97-98]; Ant. xiii.14.2 起[380 起]）的原因。希律王没有采用钉十字架的刑罚，这可能是因为他故意从哈斯摩尼家族中分离出来。

i.4.6. [97f.]; Ant. xiii.14.2ff. [380ff.]). That no crucifixions are known to be attributable to Herod the Great may indicate his deliberate dissociation of himself from the Hasmoneans.

Crucifixion continued to be a political-military punishment, and a consistent example of class justice, until the time of Constantine when it was abolished as an insult to Christianity. After Constantine the “holy” word crux, “cross,” is replaced in legal writings by furca, “gallows.” This “hanging on the gallows” was also considered a more humane form of punishment in that it allowed for immediate death in contrast to crucifixion, the essence of which was slow torture.

B. Procedure. Some form of torture prior to the crucifixion was customary among the Carthaginians and, in the form of flogging, was the normal procedure of the Romans. Whatever else may have been done to the victim prior to crucifixion, there was at the least a flogging to the point of making blood flow. In actuality this hastened death and thus reduced the extreme agonies that intensified as long as the victim endured on the cross. As the next step in the process the victim carried his own cross-beam (if this form of cross was used) to the place of execution, where the upright stake had already been erected. Then on the ground he was fastened to the beam with arms outspread, usually by ropes, less commonly by nails (cf. Hewitt). The beam and body were then lifted into place on the upright. A small wooden block (sedicula) or a wooden peg positioned midway on the upright supported the body weight as the buttocks rested on it. This feature was extremely important in cases of nailing since it prevented the weight from tearing open the wounds. Once the condemned was thus immobilized he was left alone, unable to attend to bodily functions, unprotected from inclement weather or flies, and, because the place of execution was usually some public street or prominent place, subjected to abusive words and mockery from passersby. Often the body was left to putrify on the cross and become the prey of carrion birds to complete the utter humiliation. It could be claimed for burial, however (cf. Jn. 19:39). The extreme dishonor that lack of burial represented, especially in Jewish circles, can hardly be exaggerated (cf. Tob. 1:18; 12:13). It was not unusual for a tablet identifying the crime to be hung on the condemned as he went to the execution site, then attached to his cross for all to see.

B. 过程。 迦基太人的习俗中，在钉十字架之前要先施行某些酷刑，罗马人常在钉十字架之前使用鞭刑。无论在钉十字架前对罪犯使用何种其他的刑罚，至少都会有鞭打至血流出来的过程。事实上这可以加快罪犯的死亡，从而使他不必在十字架上长时间忍受极度的痛苦。接着，罪犯要背着横木（如果用的是这种形式的十字架）到行刑的地方，在那里已经立好了笔直的木桩。然后在地上将罪犯两手展开绑在横木上，一般很少用钉子，通常都用绳子绑（参：Hewitt）。横木和身体被举起固定在笔直的木桩上。并用一小块木头（sedicula）或木桩固定在笔直木桩的中部，使臀部依靠在上面支撑身体。倘若用钉子固定的身体，此功能极其重要的，因为它可以避免身体的重量将伤口撕裂。固定完死刑犯后，会将其独自留下，他身体不能动，只好忍受恶劣的天气和苍蝇的骚扰，由于行刑的地方通常在一些公共街道或引人注意的地方，因此还有遭受路人的羞辱和嘲笑。肉体在十字架上发霉并成为了腐尸鸟的猎物，以此达到对罪犯彻底地羞辱。

The first skeletal remains identifiable as those of a person crucified, discovered in Jerusalem in 1968, appear to raise as many questions as they answer with regard to the details of the methods of crucifixion. Ossuary remains from a first-century A.D. tomb unearthed at Giv'at ha-Mivtar in Jerusalem surprisingly included the two heel bones of a crucifixion victim still fastened together by a single iron nail (cf. Haas, pp. 49, 55f., and 56 fig. 6; Yadin, IEJ, 23, pp. 20–22).

The nail, 5.5 in. (14 cm.) long and bent over at the point to a length of 0.8 in. (2 cm.), also carried fragments of a plaque of acacia or pistacia wood, 0.6–0.8 in. (1.5–2 cm.) thick, between the nail and the heel bones. On the bent point of the nail minute pieces of olive wood were detected. It appears certain from this evidence that the feet in this case were not fastened to the upright post of the cross, because: (1) the gnarled wood of the olive tree would hardly be used for a cross upright; (2) the length of the nail suffices for joining two heels but leaves nothing for attaching them to the cross; (3) assuming that the point of the nail could have been driven into the cross upright, a nail of its thickness could hardly have been bent by a knot in the olivewood. It is likely, then, that the heels were joined between an acacia and an olive wood plaque with the nail deliberately bent over the bottom plaque to hold them securely. Depending on how one reconstructs the exact juncture of the heel bones, the victim's legs would have been in either an "adjacent" position (IEJ, 20, figure 24.B) or an "open" position (IEJ, 20, figure 24.A). The strong likelihood that the feet could not have been affixed to the cross favors the open position for this case. In either posture a sedicula would have been necessary. It should be noted also that the ancient records do not mention footrests (TDNT, VII, 573). The evidence of heels joined in this manner admits of one other posture for the victim—an upside-down one. With the heels firmly joined by the wood plaques and the nail, the legs would have been looped over the top of the vertical shaft, thus suspending the body in place while the backs of the knees rested on the cross-beam (see further Yadin, IEJ, 23, p. 21).

不过可以要求埋葬尸体(参: 约 19:39)。在犹太人中, 没有比不能埋葬尸体的羞辱更大的了(参: 托 1:18; 12:13)。对于碑文考证来说, 罪犯被判了死刑后前往行刑之地, 然后被帮在十字架上示众很常见。

1968 年在耶路撒冷发掘的一个被钉十字架之人的首个骨骼遗骸是可辨别的, 似乎引发了许多关于钉十字架方法细节的问题。公元一世纪在耶路撒冷的吉瓦特哈米塔尔发掘的藏古堂遗址中出人意料地发现某个被钉十字架的罪犯的两个跟骨, 它们仍然由一个铁钉固定在一起(参: Haas, 49 页, 55-56 页, 和 56 页插 6; Yadin, IEJ, 23, 20–22 页)。

这个钉子有 5.5 英寸 (14 厘米) 长, 钉尖而弯曲的弧度为 0.8 英寸 (2 厘米), 在钉子和跟骨之间还带有 0.6-0.8 英寸 (1.5-2 厘米) 厚的金合欢或黄连木的碎屑。这一证据明确显示, 在这种情况下

The evidence from the other bones of this man in the ossuary is inconclusive.

这两脚不是被固定在十字架上的，因为（1）很少用粗糙的橄榄木作十字架的笔直木桩；（2）钉子的长度足够将两只脚固定，但是不够将它们固定在十字架上；（3）假设这个钉子尖儿被钉入笔直的木桩中，这个密度的钉子几乎无法在橄榄木中弯曲打结。那么很有可能故意把钉子在金合欢木板和橄榄木木板的底部折弯将两个脚踝牢牢固定住。根据一个人如何重现跟骨的确切结合方式，可推断出罪犯的腿要么是“闭合”的姿势（IEJ, 20, 插图 24.B），要么是“张开”的姿势（IEJ, 20, 插图 24.A）。最具可能性的观点是双脚未被固定在十字架上的说法支持上述所说的张开的姿势。无论哪种姿势都必须要有个 sedicula。还应注意的是，古文献中没有提到脚踏板（TDNT, VII, 573）。以这种方式固定脚踝的证据显示罪犯有可能是以另一种姿势被钉在十字架上——倒立的姿势。用木板和钉子将脚踝固定，双腿则固定在笔直木桩的顶部，从而将身体挂在木头上，而双膝的后部靠在横木上（见 Yadin 的进一步说明，IEJ, 23, 21 页）。

尚无法确定这个人在藏古堂中其他骨骼提供的证据。小腿的骨头清楚地显示一

The bones of the lower legs clearly reveal that one was severed and the other splintered by a violent blow from a sharp tool like an axe. This undoubtedly represents a postmortem amputation of the feet—either the coup de grace familiar from Jn. 19:31–36 or the means of removal from the cross if it was an upside-down crucifixion. Since the nail was so firmly fixed in the bones as to have been buried with them, severing the feet may have been the simplest means of removal of an upside-down corpse. The “scratch” on the forearm bone (while the wrist bones appear undamaged) is inconclusive as proof that the arms of this victim had been nailed to a cross-bar. Finally, the puzzling name on the ossuary, h'qwl (the reading proposed by Yadin, IEJ, 23, pp. 18–20), admits a meaning “the one hanged with knees apart” (the verb 'ql in Mishnaic Hebrew has this meaning; cf. Yadin, IEJ, 23, p. 19; Naveh, p. 35).

The suffering of death by crucifixion was intense. In addition to exposure to the weather and insects (and sometimes animals), the body suffered from the intensifying damage of the wounds and from the stretching caused by the strained position. Some think that headache and convulsions added to the agony. The ultimate cause of death has been debated; generally it is considered the result of gradual suffocation brought about by fatigue. The length of this agony was wholly determined by the constitution of the victim and the extent of the prior flogging, but death was rarely seen before thirty-six hours had passed. Instances are on record of victims of the cross who survived their ordeal when taken down after many hours of suspension (Josephus Vita 75). Death was sometimes hastened by breaking the legs of the victims; crura fracta (“broken legs”) was a Roman expression for crucifixion (Cicero Philippicae xiii. 12 [27]).

条腿断裂，另一条腿粉碎性骨折，可能是被锋利的工具（如，斧头）猛烈地殴打过。这无疑表明是死后双脚断裂——或者类似《约翰福音》19:31-36 记载的致命一击，或者假如是倒立着被钉的十字架，将罪犯从十字架上取下了来的方法。由于钉子牢牢地钉在骨头里，如同埋在里面一样，将倒立的尸体取下了最简单的方法就是将脚切断。小手臂的骨头上的“划痕”（腕骨完好无损）无法确切证明罪犯的手臂被钉在了十字架横梁上。最后，藏古罐上令人费解的名字 h'qwl (Yadin 提出的书写方式, IEJ, 23, 18–20 页) 表示的意思是“被双膝分开挂起来的人”（拿希伯来语动词 'ql 有这个意思；参：Yadin, IEJ, 23, 19 页；Naveh, 35 页）。

被钉在十字架上所遭受的痛苦是非常强烈的。除了经受风吹雨打和虫子（有时是动物）的叮咬，身体还要遭受因伤口的严重损伤和由于不自然的姿势而拉伸所造成的痛苦。有人认为这痛苦还伴有头痛和抽搐。人们就最终死亡的原因展开了争论；通常认为是由于疲劳渐渐窒息而死。这个痛苦的时长完全取决于罪犯触犯律法的程度以及他之前被鞭打的程度，不过三十六小时内很少将罪犯折磨至死。实例记载了十字架上的罪犯经受折磨后活了下来，然后在延缓数小时后被取了下来 (Josephus Vita 75)。有时打断罪犯的腿会加快罪犯死亡；crura fracta (“打断腿”) 是一个罗马人表示钉十字架的表达方式 (Cicero Philippicae xiii. 12 [27])。

C. Crucifixion of Jesus. Since He had been charged with sedition, a serious crime, the prior flogging would have been extensive. It is thought that this flogging so weakened Him from loss of blood that He was unable to carry the beam to the execution site and required help. This is perhaps also the likely explanation of His relatively quick death, which was a matter of astonishment to Pilate (Mk. 15:44).

The actual crucifixion of Jesus is described in all the Gospel accounts with absolute brevity. The procedure in general followed Roman custom, though there were a few less common features. The mockery of Jesus was perhaps excessive (due to his claims) and the stripping and division of his clothes by the executioners, while not an unknown practice, was not common. There are also some significant Jewish features: the stupefying drink of wine mixed with myrrh (Mk. 15:23), intended to reduce the threshold of pain, and the removal of the body on Friday evening (Jn. 19:31; cf. Dt. 21:22f.).

All the Gospels mention the two robbers, one crucified on each side of Jesus. Although binding was more common, Jesus was nailed to His cross (Lk. 24:39; Jn. 20:25). Only the Fourth Gospel (Jn. 3:14; 8:28; 12:32–34) ascribes theological significance to the fact that Jesus was “lifted up” on the cross—His obedient death being the first step in His exaltation and the crucifixion being a visual symbol of that lifting up. Only John also records the symbolic spear incident (Jn. 19:34; see BLOOD AND WATER). Some have claimed that this points to death by rupture of the heart, independent of the cross. But many authorities dispute such a view, attributing death to aortic aneurysm or acute dilation of the stomach. Regarding the question of responsibility for the crucifixion, none of the Gospels attempts to excuse the Roman authorities of criminal complicity in the death of Jesus, and none attempts to conceal the fact that this was a Roman crucifixion. The Gospels also assert the involvement of certain Jewish leaders in Jerusalem in bringing this about, but there is no question of any indictment of the entire Jewish nation of Jesus' time, nor of any subsequent time.

C. 耶稣被钉十字架。由于耶稣被控犯了严重的作乱罪，在行刑前通常要被鞭打。据认为这次鞭打使祂流血过多非常虚弱，以至于祂需要帮助而自己不能将横木背到行刑之地。这可能也是祂快速死亡的原因，彼拉多对此非常诧异（可 15:44）。

所有福音书中都详细描述了耶稣被钉十字架的实际情况。行刑的一般过程符合罗马习俗，尽管有几处不太常见的特点。人们过度嘲笑耶稣（根据祂的描述）以及刽子手将祂的衣服撕裂虽然不是未知的习俗，但是很不常见。还有一些重要的犹太习俗特点：拿没药和酒给耶稣喝（可 15:23），目的是为了减轻痛苦，并在周五的晚上被取了下来（约 19:31；参：申 21:22-23）。

所有的福音书中都提到了两个强盗，在耶稣的两边被钉在十字架上。虽然捆绑是很常见的方式，但是耶稣是被钉子钉在十字架上的（路 24:39；约 20:25）。只有《约翰福音》（约 3:14； 8:28； 12:32-34）中体现了神学的重要事实，即耶稣在十字架上被“举起”——祂甘愿受死是被举起的先决条件，钉十字架

是被举起的视觉象征。约翰还记载了枪的故事（约 19:34；见 BLOOD AND WATER[血与水]）。有些人认为这种将心脏刺破的死法与十字架无关。但是许多当局对这个观点进行了讨论，认为是主动脉瘤或胃严重膨胀使人致死。关于谁为钉十字架事件负责的问题，所有福音书都试图谴责将耶稣致死的犯罪同谋罗马当局，并且揭露了这种刑罚就是罗马的钉十字架刑罚方式。福音书还声称耶路撒冷的某些犹太领袖也参与了这次事件，但是毫无疑问在耶稣时代没有任何人就这一事件控诉整个犹太民族，后来也没有人控诉他们。

CROWD. 众人、百姓、大众

这个词语在《修订标准译本》中出现了很多次，但是在福音书和《使徒行传》中出现的次数很少。该词通常用来翻译希腊语 óchlos, pléthos 或 laós。类似的词语还有《钦定版圣经》中的“multitude”（“众人”）。在许多情况下，《修订标准译本》还依照《钦定版圣经》中的词语

“multitude” or “people,” following the pattern set by the AV. All of these terms deal with a largely undefined group of people who apparently attached themselves to Jesus.

From the very beginning of Jesus' ministry the Gospel writers characterize Him as drawing great crowds. To a large extent these crowds were made up of the curious, who came not only to hear Jesus' teaching but also to see His miracles (Jn. 6:26). Lk. 12:1, 13, and the passages describing the feeding of the multitudes picture these crowds as being in the thousands. They came from as far away as Transjordan, Idumea, Tyre, and Sidon (Mk. 3:7f.). In general, the crowds may be characterized as desirous of healing (Lk. 6:17-19; etc.), astonished at Jesus' teaching (Mt. 7:29; Mk. 11:18), and unable to understand that teaching (Mt. 13:10-15 par.). T. W. Manson believed that “the crowds are curious and to a certain extent interested in this new teacher; but their interest is apt to be focused on wonderful cures of bodily ailments rather than on the things of the spirit.”

J. Arthur Baird, on the other hand, would claim that this neutrality of the multitudes is not implied. Rather, the text usually shows that the multitudes are either sympathetic to Jesus and thus generally to be classed as his disciples, or they are hostile to him and thus a part of Jesus' opposition. The character of the audience determined the attitude with which Jesus addressed it. The Gospels reflect an increasingly critical attitude toward the Pharisees, Sadducees, and the crowds connected with them (e.g., Lk. 12:54-56, where the multitudes are called “hypocrites”). In John these hostile groups are often called “the Jews.” On other occasions Jesus addressed the multitudes with the same attitude He used when He instructed His disciples in private (cf. Mt. 5:1f. at the beginning of the Sermon on the Mount). The attitude of Jesus to His hearers is an important consideration in the interpretation of His teaching. A study of the way the various Gospel writers preserved the audience relationships shows that the reaction of the audience was needed for the correct, meaningful reproduction of Jesus’ teaching.

形式,用“multitude”(“众人”)或“people”(“百姓”)翻译这些希腊词语。所有这些词语显然表示那些与耶稣有关的一大群身份不明确的人。

福音书的作者描绘耶稣最初传道时吸引了众人。这些人在很大程度上是因为好奇,他们出来不仅是为了见耶稣,还想见祂行的神迹(约 6:26)。《路加福音》12:1, 13 和喂饱众人的章节中将这些人形容为成千上万的人。他们来自遥远的约旦河外、以土买、推罗和西顿(可 3:7-8)。通常,众人都表现出渴望被治愈的特点(可 6:17-19 等),他们都稀奇耶稣的教训(太 7:29; 可 11:18),并且无法理解这些教训(太 13:10-15 平行经文)。曼森(T. W. Manson)认为“众人在某种程度上对这位新师傅充满好奇;但是他们好奇的是身体疾病被奇迹般治愈,而不是灵里得救赎。”

但是亚瑟·贝尔德(J. Arthur Baird)认为福音书中并有暗示众人这种中立的立场。相反,经文中通常显示众人要么认同耶稣的教导,常被视为是祂的使徒,要么反对耶稣的教导,因此是反对耶稣的一部分人。听众的角色决定耶稣讲道的态度。福音书反映了对法利赛人、撒该都人和与他们有关之人的批判在日益增加(如,路 12:54-56, 众人被称为“hypocrites”[“假冒为善的人”])。在《约翰福音》中,这些心怀敌意的人被称为“犹太人”。在其他的场合中,耶稣用私下里给门徒讲道的方式给众人讲道(参:太 5:1-2 登山宝训的开头)。解释

Often the Evangelists built passages on the basis of a multi-layered audience. The Sermon on the Mount begins with Jesus drawing His disciples to Himself and then speaking both to them and to the multitudes a bit further away. On other occasions the author reports one form of teaching as addressed to a group as a whole and then another form of teaching—usually explanatory in nature—as addressed to the disciples privately. (Note the roles of the disciples and the multitudes in the parabolic discourses and their interpretation, esp. Mk. 4:11.) On other occasions the Evangelists seem to gather together material on a certain subject and then divide the materials according to Jesus’ audience. In Mk. 7:1–13 Jesus has a sharp exchange with the Pharisees over the way they have used their oral tradition to nullify the commands of God. In vv. 14f. He gives the people a general saying concerning the way things coming from within a man are what really defile him. Then in the remaining part of the section (vv. 17–23) He addresses His disciples privately to provide them the correct interpretation of that saying. On many of these occasions Jesus seems to be more sympathetic to the crowd than to His own disciples. The crowd did not have the real opportunity to learn what the disciples should have understood (Mk. 7:18).

传道者常常根据听众的不同水平进行相应的教导。登山宝训的开头提到耶稣的门徒到祂跟前来，然后祂教训门徒和远处的众人。在其他情况下，作者记载了给众人讲道的方式，然后又记载了另一种讲道的方式，即私下里对使徒说，这种方式通常从实质上说明。（在比喻论述和对它们的解释中可注意到门徒和众人的角色。尤其是《马太福音》4:11）。在其他场合中，传道者似乎将某些主题的资料收集在一起然后根据耶稣的听众将这些资料分开。在《马可福音》7:1-13中，耶稣与法利赛人就他们拘守的废了神命令的传统进行了深刻地交流。在《马可福音》7:14-15中，祂用通俗的话语教训众人，即从里面出来的，乃能污秽人。然后在这段剩余的章节（可7:17-23）中，耶稣私下里为祂的门徒解释了这话语的正真含义。在这当中的许多场合中，耶稣比起同情祂的门徒，似乎更同情众人。众人没有机会了解门徒本应该明白的教训（可7:18）。

The role of the crowd became increasingly important, for it was from the crowd that Jesus built the group of disciples that became the nucleus of the Church. The crowd became attached to Jesus in such a way that the Jewish leadership feared its power. Thus, the rumors that some of the crowd believed Jesus to be the Christ spurred the religious leaders into action against Him (Jn. 7). Caiaphas noted that if Jesus were not checked all of the people would become His followers (Jn. 11:47-53). Mk. 12:12 indicates that during the last week of Jesus' life the sentiment of the crowd in Jesus' favor was so strong that the rulers of the Jews did not dare to arrest Him publicly. Yet this multitude was easily swayed. The same crowds are pictured as being carried away by the Jewish religious leaders, so that they cried "Crucify him, crucify him!" along with the rest (Jn. 19:15).

Yet a part of the crowd remained faithful to Jesus. They undoubtedly became the basic element of the early Christian community in Jerusalem which Acts 1:15 numbers at about 120. They provided the nucleus of Peter's audience in the early chapters of Acts and the basis of the early Church until it had grown to the point where it was itself described as a multitude (Acts 6:1f., 5).

众人的角色变得越来越重要，因为耶稣从众人中拣选了成为教会核心的众门徒。众人对耶稣如此的依赖使犹太人的领袖对这种力量感到畏惧。因此，谣传众人中某些相信耶稣是基督的人促使犹太领袖对耶稣采取了反对行动。该亚法说倘若不制止耶稣，人人都要信祂（约 11:47-53）。《马可福音》12:12 中暗示耶稣活着的前一周期间，百姓对耶稣的信赖非常强烈，所以犹太的领袖不敢公然地抓捕耶稣。然而这些百姓很容易就被动摇了。就是这群百姓被犹太宗教领袖带走，所以他们与其他人一起喊着说：“除掉他，除掉他！”（约 19:15）。

然而百姓中有一部分人仍然信靠耶稣。他们无疑成了耶路撒冷早期基督教社团的基本成员，《使徒行传》1:15 记载他们大约有 120 人。他们是《使徒行传》前几章中彼得听众的核心人物，也是早期教会的基本成员，后来被称为大众（徒 6:1-2, 5）。

In accounts of the ministry of Paul the multitudes are mobs in opposition to him. In Philippi the crowd joined the owners of the girl who had been cured in raising such a tumult that Paul and Silas were imprisoned and beaten (Acts 16:19–24). In Thessalonica the Jews recruited such a crowd that they threw the whole city into an uproar, and Paul was forced to leave (Acts 17:5–9). In Ephesus the crowd became such an unruly mob that the town clerk quieted them with the observation that the Romans might take action against them for riot (Acts 19:28–41). When Paul was arrested in the temple, it was because a crowd had become a riotous mob and the Roman officer feared for the apostle’s life (Acts 21:27–35). Such tumults characterized the role of the crowd in the ministry of Paul.

Several other words are used in the Gospels to refer to groups of people. The people standing in the courtyard before whom Peter denied his Lord are called “bystanders” (Mt. 26:73, Gk. hoi hestōtes; Mk. 14:69f., hoi parestōtes). The terms are used in a neutral sense with no connotation of opposition to or favor toward Jesus. The same terms are used in the crucifixion account for the bystanders who interpreted Jesus’ call to God as a call to Elijah for help (Mt. 27:47; Mk. 15:35).

Another term for a group or crowd is the English “number” (Gk. arithmós). While this term may be used for a group of indefinite size, e.g., in the description of the growth of the Church (Acts 6:7; 11:21), it generally designates a specific number of people (cf. Lk. 22:3; Jn. 6:10; Acts 4:4; 5:36).

根据保罗传道的记载，反对他的众人被称为暴徒。在腓利比，众人与被治好的使女的主人一起以引起骚乱为由将保罗和西拉下到监里，并殴打他们（徒 16:19-24）。在帖撒罗尼迦，犹太人招聚这样一群人使城里引起了骚乱，保罗和西拉被迫离开了那里（徒 17:5-9）。在以弗所，众人不受控制引起了轰动，城里的书记声称罗马人可能会查问他们的暴乱行为将他们安抚了（徒 19:28-41）。保罗在圣殿被抓，是因为众人已近成了暴徒，而且罗马的官长惧怕保罗（徒 21:27-35）。在保罗的教训中，众人都具有这种扰乱秩序的特点。

福音书中使用了几个其他词语来表示众人。在院中站在不认主的彼得前面的众人被称为“旁边的人”（太 26:73，希腊语：hoi hestōtes；可 14:69-70，hoi parestōtes）。这个词语被用来表示既不反对也不认同耶稣的中立含义。在耶稣被钉十字架时，用同一个词语表示站在那里的人听见耶稣呼叫以利亚救祂（太 27:47；可 15:35）。

另一个表示一群人或众人的英文词语是“number”（希腊语：arithmós）。然而这个词语被用来表示不确定人数的一群人，如教会人数增加的描述（徒 6:7；11:21），通常指代特定的人群（参：路 22:3；约 6:10；徒 4:4；5:36）。

Ps. 89:39; 132:18; etc.). “Crown” in the usual sense is otherwise ^aṭarâ or keṭer, both from roots meaning “surround,” and Gk. stéphanos, ordinarily a headwreath (1 Cor. 9:25) woven of palm or other branches (see CROWN OF THORNS), but a “golden” crown in Rev. 4:4; 14:14; etc.

CROWN 冠冕、圣冠

【希伯来语: ^aṭarâ, nēzer, keṭer, kōṭeret (王上 7:31); 希腊语: stéphanos】; 《钦定版圣经》还译为 CHAPITER (“座”, 王上 7:31), HELP (“救助”, 诗 89:19, 《马所拉文本》译为 'ezer); 《新英文译本》还译为 “symbol of (holy) dedication” (“[圣]冠”, nēzer, 出 29:6; 39:30; 利 8:9), GARLAND (“冠冕”, ^aṭarâ, 赛 28:1, 3, 5; 哀 5:16), CORONET (“华冠”, 结 16:12), “endow with princely gifts” (“救助之力”, 也译为 “set a crown upon”, 诗 89:19); 【动词, 希伯来语: 'āṭar, kāṭar; 希腊语: stephanóō】。希伯来语 nēzer(意为“归给”, 参: Nazirite)在《出埃及记》29:6; 39:30 和《利未记》8:9 中表示任命大祭司时用的头饰, 这头饰是他们侍奉的标志。在其他经文中, 该词可以表示王的神圣王冠(撒下 1:10; 王下 11:12; 代下 23:11; 参: 诗 89:39; 132:18 等)。通常意义上的“冠冕”指的是 ^aṭarâ 或 keṭer, 这两个词的词根意为“包围”, 而希腊语 stéphanos 通常表示用棕榈枝或其他树枝(见 CROWN OF THORNS[荆棘编的冠冕])编的头冠(林前 9:25), 在《启示录》4:4; 14:14 等经文中译为“金冠冕”。

Uses of crowns in the Bible include the following:

《圣经》中冠冕的使用情况如下:

(1) Consecration. The nēzer had a twofold use as the crown of consecration:

(1) 献祭时的冠冕。Nēzer 表示献祭的冠冕, 它表示两层意思: (a) 戴在大祭

(a) It was placed as a frontlet on the turban of the high priest, and was tied with a blue lace (Ex. 39:30). The priestly crown was a flat piece of pure gold, bearing the inscription, “Holy to the Lord,” signifying the consecration of the priest as the representative of the people (29:6; Lev. 8:9). (b) Likewise the Hebrew king (2 K. 11:12) was set apart by God in wearing on his head a royal nēzer, whether of silk or gold we do not know. It was set with jewels (Zec. 9:16) and was light enough to be taken into battle (2 S. 1:10).

(2) Coronation. Three kinds of royal crowns were used in coronation services: (a) The nēzer or consecration crown referred to above was the only one used in crowning Hebrew kings. What seems to be an exception is in the case of Joshua, who represented both priest and king (Zec. 6:11). (b) The tarâ and (c) the keṭer were used in crowning foreign monarchs. No king but a Hebrew could wear a nēzer—a “Holy to the Lord” crown. It is recorded that David presumed to put on his own head the tarâ of King Milcom (2 S. 12:30, RSV mg., NEB). The keṭer or jeweled turban was the crown of the Persian king and queen (Est. 1:11; 2:17; 6:8).

(3) Exaltation. The stéphanos was the usual crown of exaltation for victors of games, achievement in war, and places of honor at feasts (AV 1 Cor. 9:25; RSV, NEB, “wreath”). The tarâ was worn at banquets (Cant. 3:11; Isa. 28:1, 3), probably taking the form of a wreath of flowers; also as a crown of honor and victory (Ezk. 16:12; 21:26; 23:42). The stéphanos is the crown of exaltation

司头上的冠冕，并且用蓝色的带子系紧（出 39:30）。大祭司的冠冕是一块纯金的扁平牌，上面刻有铭文，“归耶和華為聖”，預表着祭司代表眾人給耶和華獻祭（出 29:6；利 8:9）。(b) 同樣地，神給希伯來王（王下 11:12）戴上尊貴的冠冕（nēzer）將其分離出來，這冠冕是絲質的還是金子制的不得而知。冠冕上鑲嵌了珠寶（亞 9:16）並且很容易在戰爭中被擄走（撒下 1:10）。

(2) 加冕禮時的冠冕。在加冕禮中曾使用過三種王冠：(a) 上面提到的 nēzer 或聖冠只能用來加冕希伯來王。約書亞似乎是個例外，他即是祭司又是王（亞 6:11）。(b) tarâ 和 (c) keṭer 被用來加冕外邦的君王。除了希伯來王，其他的國王不可以戴 nēzer——“歸耶和華為聖”的冠冕。根據記載推測大衛王戴了米勒公王的 tarâ（“冠冕”，撒下 12:30，《修訂標準譯本》旁注，《新英文譯本》）。波斯王和王后用 keṭer 或鑲有珠寶的冠冕（斯 1:11；2:17；6:8）。

(3) 得勝時的冠冕。Stéphanos 通常表示比賽和戰爭中獲勝之人以及宴會中地位尊貴之人戴的冠冕（《欽定版聖經》，林前 9:25；《修訂標準譯本》和《新英文譯本》譯為“wreath”[冠冕]）。tarâ 是婚宴上戴的冠冕（歌 3:11；賽 28:1, 3），可能是一種花環；還可以作為榮耀或勝利的冠冕（結 16:12；21:26；23:42）。Stéphanos 是授予耶穌的得勝的冠冕（啟 6:2；14:14；來 2:9）。“得勝是受辱的耶 bestowed upon Christ (Rev. 6:2; 14:14; He. 2:9). “Exaltation was the logical result of Christ’s humiliation” (Vincent). The apocalyptic woman and locusts receive this emblem of exaltation (Rev. 12:1; 9:7). The symbolic dragon and beast are elevated, wearing diadēmata (Rev. 12:3; 13:1). The conquering Christ has “upon his head ... many diadems” (Rev. 19:12). See further Tertullian De corona; and see DIADEM.

(4) Reward. Paul, witnessing the races and games, caught the vision of wreath-crowned victors flush with the reward of earnest endeavor. (See GAMES.) He also saw the persistent, faithful Christian at the end of his hard-won race wearing the symbolic stéphanos of rejoicing (1 Thess. 2:19, AV), of righteousness (2 Tim. 4:8), of glory (1 Pet. 5:4), of life (Jas. 1:12; Rev. 2:10). Paul’s fellow Christians were his joy and stéphanos (Phil. 4:1), “of which Paul might justly make his boast” (Ellicott). Long before Paul, his Hebrew ancestors saw the ^a*tarâ* of glory (Prov. 4:9) and the ^a*tarâ* of a good wife, children’s children, riches, and a peaceful old age (Prov. 12:4; 14:24; 16:31; 17:6). See 1 Macc. 10:29; 11:35; 13:39.

(4) 得赏赐时的冠冕。见证了比赛和游戏的保罗看到了得胜者因认真努力带上了冠冕的异象。(见 GAMES [比赛]。)他还看到大祭司, 就是那位虔诚的基督徒在难以取胜的比赛结束时戴上了代表喜悦的(《钦定版圣经》, 帖 2:19)、公义的(提后 4:8)、荣耀的(彼前 5:4)和生命的(雅 1:12; 启 2:10)冠冕(stéphanos)。跟随保罗的门徒是保罗的喜悦和冠冕(腓 4:1), “保罗完全可以以此来夸耀自己”(Ellicott)。早在保罗之前, 他的希伯来祖先们就见到了荣耀的冠冕(箴 4:9)和才德妻子的、儿孙的、富人的、和平静老人的(箴 14:4; 14:24; 16:31; 17:6)冠冕(^a*tarâ*)。见《马加比一书》10:29; 11:35; 13:39。

CROWN OF THE HEAD 头顶

【希伯来语: qodqōd】(申 28:35; 33:16, 20; 撒下 14:25; 伯 2:7; 诗 68:21; 耶 2:16; 48:45); 《钦定版圣经》还译为 SCALP, TOP OF THE HEAD, 汉译均为“头顶”; 《新英文译本》还译为 BROW

Akk. qaqqādu and the Ugar. qdqd, means properly “vertex,” and so in the AV and RSV is usually rendered “crown” or “crown of the head” (otherwise “brow” [Gen. 49:26], “head” [Isa. 3:17], “pate” [Ps. 7:16]).

CROWN OF THORNS

[Gk. akánthinos stéphanos]. Three of the four Evangelists mention the crown of thorns with which the Roman soldiers derided the captive Christ (Mt. 27:29; Mk. 15:17; Jn. 19:2). All speak of the akanthine (Acanthus) crown, but there is no certainty about the peculiar plant from whose branches this crown of cruel mockery was plaited. See THORN.

CRUCIBLE

[Heb. mašrēp—‘melting pot’] (Prov. 17:3; 27:21); AV FINING POT; NEB MELTING POT. A melting utensil, probably made of pottery, used in refining silver. In the Proverbs passages the word becomes a metaphor for the testing of men.

CRUEL; CRUELTY

[Heb. 'akzār] (Dt. 32:33; Job 30:21; Prov. 11:17; 12:10; etc.); NEB also “without mercy”; [qāšā, qāšeh] (Gen. 49:7; Ex. 6:9; Cant. 8:6); NEB also RUTHLESS; [hōmēš] (Ps. 71:4); [ra'] (Ps. 144:11 [AV, NEB, 10]); AV HURTFUL; [rab] (Prov. 28:16); AV GREAT; NEB GRASPING; [rāšaš] (“inflict cruelties upon,” 2 Ch. 16:10); AV OPPRESS; NEB “treat with great brutality.”

（“头上”），SCALP（“头顶”）等。这个词语相当于阿卡德语 qaqqādu 和乌加里语 qdqd，意思可能是“头顶”，因此在《钦定版圣经》和《修订标准译本》中译为“冠冕”或“头顶”（其他经文译为“头上”[创 49:26]、“头顶”[赛 3:17]和“头上”[诗 7:16]）。

CROWN OF THORNS 荆棘编的冠冕

【希腊语：akánthinos stéphanos】。四福音书的作者中有三位提到了荆棘编的冠冕，罗马巡抚的兵用荆棘编的冠冕嘲笑耶稣（太 27:29；可 15:17；约 19:2）。都说这种冠冕是一种叶状荆棘（Acanthus）编作的冠冕，但是尚无法确定这个令人痛苦和被人嘲笑的冠冕是用何种特殊植物编成的。见 THORN（荆棘）。

CRUCIBLE 鼎

【希伯来语：mašrēp——“鼎”】（箴 17:3; 27:21）；《钦定版圣经》译为 FINING POT（“鼎”）；《新英文译本》译为 MELTING POT（“鼎”）。可能是陶器制成的炼炉，用来炼银。在《箴言》中，这个词语使用的是它的比喻用法，表示人受试验。

CRUCIFIXION. 钉十字架

CRUEL; CRUELTY 残忍的；残忍

【希伯来语：'akzār】（申 32:33；伯 30:21；箴 11:17；12:10 等）；《新英文译本》还译为 “without mercy”（“残忍”）；【qāšā, qāšeh】（创 49:7；出 6:9；歌 8:6）；《新英文译本》还译为 RUTHLESS（“残忍的”）；【hōmēš】（诗 71:4）；【ra'】（诗 144:11[《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》，诗 144:10]）；《钦定版圣经》译为 HURTFUL（“害命的”）；【rab】（箴 28:16）；《钦定版圣经》译为 GREAT（“极大的”）；《新英文译本》译为 GRASPING（“贪婪”）；【rāšaš】（“虐待”，代下

16:10); 《钦定版圣经》译为 OPPRESS; 《新英文译本》译为 “treat with great brutality”, 汉译均为 “虐待”。

Recent English versions (RSV, NEB) tend to substitute for “cruelty” alternate terms which reflect the root meaning of 'akzār, “violence” (cf. Gen. 49:5; Jgs. 9:24; Ps. 27:12; 74:20). The only Israelites of whom the word 'akzār is used are Asa (2 Ch. 16:10) and “the daughter of my people” (Lam. 4:3); elsewhere (Ex. 6:9; Jgs. 4:3; Prov. 28:16; Jer. 6:23; 50:42) 'akzār characterizes an alien oppressor such as the Egyptians in the Exodus and the Canaanites of Hazor. The word is linked with wrath in Gen. 49:7; Prov. 27:4; Isa. 13:9. Isaiah (13:9) associates cruelty with the Day of the Lord. Job states that God, like a persecutor, has “turned cruel to me” (30:21). The cruel man is a wicked man (Prov. 12:10); the righteous man is kind (Prov. 11:17; 12:10). “A cruel messenger” (Prov. 17:11) denotes some violent disaster to come on one who rebels against the king. In the natural realm “the venom of asps” (Dt. 32:33) and the ostrich (Job 39:16) are cruel.

The verb qāšā means literally “be hard, severe.” It is used in Gen. 49:7 of the warlike wrath of Simeon and Levi, to which is apparently attributed their near disappearance among the tribes of Israel. It is used also of the Egyptian bondage (Ex. 6:9) and jealous love (Cant. 8:6). Used figuratively, the sword is cruel (ra', Ps. 144:10).

近代英文译本（《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》）倾向于用可取代“残忍”的替换词语来表示 'akzār 的词根意思，“残忍的”，参：创 49:5；士 9:24；诗 27:12；74:20）。以色列人中只有形容亚撒（代下 16:10）和“我民妇”（哀 4:3）时使用了 'akzār 这个词；其他经文（出 6:9；士 4:3；箴 28:16；耶 6:23；50:42）中，'akzār 表示外邦暴君的特征，如《出埃及记》中的埃及人和夏琐的迦南人。在《创世记》49:7；《箴言》27:4；《以赛亚书》13:9 中这个词语与残忍有关。以赛亚（赛 13:9）预言耶和华的日子必有残忍。约伯说神如暴君一样“待我残忍”（伯 30:21）。恶人是残忍的人（箴 12:10）；仁慈的人是善良的（箴 11:17；12:10）。“严厉的使者”（箴 17:11）残忍地攻击背叛国王的人。自然界中，“虺蛇”（申 32:33）和鸵鸟是残忍的。

动词 qāšā 的字面意思表示“冷酷、苛刻的”。《创世记》49:7 用它来形容西缅和利未人很残忍，这显然导致他们被分居在以色列支派中。这个词语还用来表示埃及人的苦工（出 6:9）和嫉恨（歌 8:6）。它的比喻用法表示害命之刀（ra'，诗 144:10）。

【希伯来语：šappahat】；《新英文译本》

elongated earthen vessel or flask about 6 in. (15 cm.) in height, generally used for holding liquids such as oil. The term is used to describe the container mentioned in the visit of Elijah to the Zarephath widow (1 K. 17:12, 14,16).

CRY; CRYING.

Words in the OT usually denoting a distressful cry are Heb. z'āqā and the older form š'āqā (e.g., Gen. 27:34; Ex. 3:7, 9; Neh. 9:9; Prov. 21:13), and š'wāhā (Ps. 144:14; Jer. 14:2; 46:12). A cry for help is šū(a) (Job 30:24; 36:19) or šaw'ā (Ex. 2:23; 1 S. 5:12; Ps. 18:6; Jer. 8:19; etc.). In 1 K. 8:28; Ps. 17:1; 61:1; Jer. 7:16; 14:2; etc., rinnā is used of a crying out to the Lord in supplication (cf. 1 K. 22:36, where the word means the “proclamation” of a herald, as in the AV); the related r'nānā in Job 3:7 is a “joyful cry” (cf. rinnā in Isa. 43:14, a cry of triumph [NEB]). In 1 S. 17:20, “war cry” is milhāmā; l'ru'ā is a “battle cry” in Jer. 49:2; Zeph. 1:16. An “empty cry” is šāw' (Job 35:13; AV “vanity”). Other words are qōl (“voice”) in Ps. 86:6; Prov. 8:4; etc., and by emendation (following the LXX), šarah in Ezk. 21:22 (AV “in the slaughter”).

The NT uses Gk. boē, kraugē, kéleusma (“cry of command,” 1 Thess. 4:16), and phōnē (Lk. 23:23; AV “voices”).

The most important verbs include Heb. zā'aq, šā'aq, qārā', and šāwa'; and Gk. boāō, krázō, and phōnéō.

J. W. D. H.

译为 FLASK (“瓶”); 6 英寸 (15 厘米) 高的细长的瓦器或瓶子, 通常用来装类似于油的液体。以利亚拜访撒勒法的寡妇时提到了这种瓶子 (王上 17:12, 14, 16)。

CRY; CRYING. 哭喊; 呐喊

在《旧约》中, 这个词语表示哀哭, 通常用来翻译希伯来语 z'āqā 和较古老的词语 š'āqā (如, 创 27:34; 出 3:7, 9; 尼 9:9; 箴 21:13) 和 š'wāhā (诗 144:14; 耶 14:2; 46:12)。 šū(a) (伯 30:24; 36:19) 或 šaw'ā (出 2:23; 撒上 5:12; 诗 18:6; 耶 8:19 等) 表示求救。《列王纪上》8:28; 《诗》17:1; 61:1 和《耶利米书》7:16; 14:2 等中的 rinnā 用来表示传令神旨意的呐喊 (参:《钦定版圣经》《列王纪上》22:36, 这里该词语表示传令官“宣布”); 《约伯记》3:7 中相关的词语 r'nānā 表示的是“欢乐的声音” (参: [《修订标准译本》]《以赛亚书》43:14 中的 rinnā, 表示喜悦的声音)。《撒母耳记上》17:20 中的 milhāmā 表示“呐喊要战”; 《耶利米书》49:2 和《西番亚书》1:16 中的 l'ru'ā 表示“打仗的喊声”; šāw' 表示“虚妄的呼求” (伯 35:13, 《钦定版圣经》译为“vanity” [虚妄])。其它的词语有《诗篇》86:6 和《箴言》8:4 等经文中的 qōl (“声音”); 以及《以西结书》21:22 中 (根据《七十士译本》) 修订的词语 šarah (《钦定版圣经》译为“in the slaughter” [“在杀戮中”])。

《新约》中使用的是希腊语 boē, kraugē, kéleusma (“呼叫的声音”, 帖 4:16) 和 phōnē (路 23:23; 《钦定版圣经》译为“voices” [“声音”])。

最重要的动词有希伯来语 zā'aq, šā'aq, qārā' 和 šāwa' 以及希腊语 boāō, krázō 和 phōnéō。

In the NT krýstallos is used to describe the glassy sea (Rev. 4:6) and the river of life (22:1), while the cognate verb was used of the beauty of the New Jerusalem (21:11).

CUBIT

[Heb. usually 'ammā; Gk. péchyis]. The standard for measures of length among the Hebrews, and mentioned over a hundred times in Scripture. Israel followed the example of other Near Eastern nations in using the distance from the elbow to the end of the middle finger as a means of measurement. Cubits differed somewhat throughout the ancient world, however, and Egyptian cubit measuring-sticks recovered from the 12th Dynasty (ca. 1570–1310 B.C.) varied by as much as an inch (2.5 cm.) in length. Whereas the average Egyptian cubit was about 20.5 in. (52 cm.), the Mesopotamian average was only about 19.5 in. (49.5 cm.). Small differences also existed between Sumerian and later Babylonian cubits. In Israel, too, there were differences in cubits, that of Dt. 3:11 being the “common” cubit, whereas in Ezk. 40:5 the “long” cubit, which added a handbreadth to the forearm measurement, was implied (cf. Ezk. 43:13). Perhaps Ezekiel’s cubit was the long Egyptian measure of 20.5 in. (52 cm.). The Siloam Inscription (ca. 701

【希伯来语：通常是 'ammā；希腊语：péchyis】。希伯来人表示长度的基本单位，《圣经》中曾无数次提到这个词语。以色列人效法其他古近东国家采用的长度测量方式，他们将肘部至中指的长度作为测量的尺寸。但是，古代的肘尺稍微有所差异，埃及人在第 12 王朝（约公元前 1570 年至 1310 年）恢复使用了一肘的测量尺，这种尺的长度差异差不多为 1 英寸（2.5 厘米）。普通的埃及肘尺约为 20.5 英寸（52 厘米），普通的美索不达米亚肘尺约为 19.5 英寸（49.5 厘米）。苏美尔肘尺和后来的巴比伦肘尺也存在细微的差异。同样，在以色列，肘尺也存在差异，《申命记》3:11 中记载的“普通的”肘尺，而《以西结书》40:5 中暗示有“长”肘尺，它的长度为一肘零一掌（参：结 43:13）。可能《以西结书》中的肘尺就是埃及人用的 20.5 英尺（52 厘米）长的肘尺。西罗亚碑文（约公元前 701 年）记载了希西家地下水道的长度是 1200 肘，根据严格的世袭原理推断，希伯来人的肘尺相当与 17.5 英寸（44.5 厘米）。然而，由于 1200 是一个整数，因此公元前 8 世纪肘尺的长度仍存有异议。《士师记》3:16 中的一肘用来翻译希伯来语 gōmed（《七十士译本》中

B.C.) gave the length of Hezekiah's conduit as 1200 cubits, which on a strictly lineal basis would make the Hebrew cubit equivalent to 17.5 in. (44.5 cm.). Since 1200 is a round number, however, the length of the cubit in the 8th cent. B.C. must remain in doubt. The cubit of Jgs. 3:16 is a Heb. gōmed (LXX spithamés; NEB "only fifteen inches long"), a word not found elsewhere and thus indeterminate in meaning. In the NT, péchys occurs in Mt. 6:27; Lk. 12:25; Jn. 21:8; Rev. 21:17.

Most modern scholars consider Heb. miqšâ in Jer. 10:5 to be the same word as in Isa. 1:8 (BDB; KoB; RSV, NEB; etc.); some, however, have thought it to be the miqšâ of Ex. 25:18, 31, etc., “beaten work,” “hammered work,” “the work of the turning-lathe” (KD).

大多数现代的学者认为《耶利米书》10:5 中的希伯来语 miqšâ 与《以赛亚书》1:8 中使用的是同一个词语 (BDB; KoB; 《修订标准译本》《新英文译本》等); 然而, 有的学者认为《出埃及记》25:18, 31 等经文中的 miqšâ, 意为 “beaten work”、“hammered work” 和 “the work of the turning-lathe”, 汉译均为 “用锤子锤的工作” (KD)。 kū-nē'ə-fōrm [from Lat. cuneus—‘wedge’; hence ‘wedge-shaped’]. A system of writing employing wedge-shaped impressions made by a stylus in plastic clay or cut with a chisel in stone or metal. Cuneiform is a very early (perhaps the earliest) and certainly the most widespread system of “writing” found in the ancient Middle East prior to the spread of the Phoenician alphabet.

Cuneiform writing is found first in lower Mesopotamia. Clay tablets from Uruk (Warka), Jemdet Nasr, and other sites are dated by various scholars to 3400 or 3200 B.C. Since these tablets are written in a Sumerian dialect, the Sumerians are generally credited with the invention of this system of writing. (The system of writing does not, however, seem to be well adapted to the phonemic structure of Sumerian; but no convincing alternate theory suggests itself.)

CUNEIFORM 楔形文字

音译: kū-nē'ə-fōrm【源自拉丁语: cuneus——“楔子”; 因此意为“楔形”】。一种采用楔形文字的书写体系, 一般在可塑性粘土上用尖笔写, 或在石头或金属上用凿子刻。楔形文字是古近东地区所发掘的并且应用最广泛的书写体系, 它 (可能是最早的文字体系) 比腓尼基字母的发展还早。

楔形文字首先在下美索不达米亚被发掘。乌鲁克 (Warka)、捷姆迭特·那色 (Jemdet Nasr) 和其他地区的泥板被不同的学者追溯至公元前 3400 年或公元前 3200 年。由于这些泥板上记录的是苏美尔方言, 因此苏美尔人通常被认为是这种书写体系的发明者。(然而这种书写体系似乎没有很好地应用苏美尔人的语音结构; 但是没有令人信服的推测来替代这一说法。)

公元前 3000 年中叶, 讲阿卡德语的人 (闪族人) 进入南美索不达米亚地区时

Mesopotamia in the middle of the 3rd millennium, they borrowed this system of writing, making some necessary adaptations. Thus it spread through the so-called Akkadian languages, namely, the various dialects of Babylonian and Assyrian. Following the trade routes, cuneiform writing (principally for bills, receipts, etc.) spread into Persia (Elamite, Old Persian), Asia Minor (Hittite, Hurrian, Khaldian or Vannic), Syria (Tell Mardikh [ancient Ebla], Alalakh, the Amarna Letters from Syria-Palestine), and elsewhere. In the Amarna period of Egyptian history (14th cent. B.C.), diplomatic correspondence between the Egyptians, the Hittites in Asia Minor, the Kassites in Babylon, the Assyrians, the Mitanni, and an unnamed king in Cyprus, as well as with the vassal states in Syria and Palestine, was written in cuneiform (see AMARNA TABLETS). In the Persian period, when Aramaic (written in a Phoenician alphabetic script) had become the international language of diplomacy, cuneiform writing was still used by the Persians (e.g., the Behistun inscription), and Late-Babylonian documents have been dated down to the 1st cent. A.D.

At first, cuneiform writing—which could not truly be called “cuneiform” at that time—was pictographic, i.e., each sign or character was an approximate pictorial representation scratched with a stylus in soft clay. Such a system is seriously limited to concrete objects, and is, needless to say, very cumbersome. Closely related to the pictograms are “evocative” symbols which call up an idea. (Thureau-Dangin termed them évocatrice, and used the illustration of a sign composed of a pictogram of an egg alongside the pictogram of a bird to evoke the idea “beget, bear.”)

借鉴了这种书写体系，并进行了一些必要的改编。因此楔形文字通过所谓的阿卡德语，也就巴比伦人和亚述人的各种方言传遍各地。随着贸易的发展，楔形文字（主要是账单、收据等的书写）被传入波斯（以拦语，古波斯语）、小亚细亚（赫梯语、胡利安语、Khaldian 或 Vannic）、叙利亚（Tell Mardikh [古艾伯拉]、亚拉拿、源自叙利亚巴勒斯坦地区的亚玛拿字母）和其他地区。埃及历史上的亚玛拿时期（公元前 14 世纪），埃及人、小亚细亚的赫人、巴比伦地区的加特人、亚述人、米坦尼人（Mitanni）和塞浦路斯地区无名的国王以及叙利亚和巴勒斯坦的附庸国之间的外交信函都是用楔形文字写的（见 AMARNA TABLETS[亚玛拿泥版]）。在波斯时期，亚兰语（用腓尼基字母书写的手稿）已成为了外交的国际语言，波斯人（如，贝希斯敦碑文[Behistun inscription]）和后巴比伦文献仍然使用楔形文字，这可追溯至公元 1 世纪。

The system quickly underwent development, at first on the rebus principle. (Using English for our example, we might draw the picture of an eye to suggest “I” and the picture of a well to suggest “in good health.”) Since Sumerian was largely monosyllabic, each sign (or phonogram) could be used to represent the sound associated with it. These phonograms could then be added to pictograms to indicate morphological alterations, etc.

这种文字体系得到了快速地发展，首先在字谜领域。（以英语为例，我们可能将“眼睛”(eye)想象成字母“I”，用“好”(well)表示“身体好”。)由于苏美尔语主要是单音节词，每个符号（或音形声字）可以用来表示这个符号的发音。这些形声字后来被加入到象形文字中来象征形态学的变化等。

前王朝时期的苏美尔泥版，上面刻有直接衍生自象形文字 (Jamdet Nasr, 约公元前 3100 年) 的线形字体。其中包含了关于田地、作物和商品的描述

When the Akkadian-speaking Semites borrowed the system of writing, additional modifications were made. For one thing, the polysyllabic nature of Akkadian led to the use of phonograms as syllabograms; in other words, signs were used to represent the sounds of syllables comprising the words. Sumerian signs, for example, having the values “a,” “na,” and “ku,” could be combined to read a-na-ku or anāku, “I.”

当说阿卡德语的闪族人借用这种书写体系时，他们会修改一些字体。首先，阿卡德语的多音节特征导致形声字被用作音节文字；换句话说，符号被用来表示包含文字的音节声。举例来说，苏美尔语符号可以表示“a”、“na”和“ku”，组组合在一起就是 a-na-ku 或 anāku，意为“我”。

There were many complications, however. For example, the Sumerian sign for “heaven,” pronounced “an,” also was used to represent the word “god,” pronounced “dingir.” The Akkadians used this sign for the syllable “an,” and they used it to represent the Akkadian word for “god,” ilum. This proliferation of values expanded until it was possible to read five or ten different values from the same sign. The student who is puzzled to find the same deity called sometimes Enlil and sometimes Illil, or to find an official variously called an ensi or a pa-te-si, can attribute these minor difficulties to the extensive polyphony of cuneiform writing.

The Akkadians, moreover, kept certain signs as logograms, or symbols representing words. Of course they usually assigned Akkadian values to such signs. Thus the Sumerian signs kù-babbar, “metal-sun” = “silver,” were used to represent the Akkadian word kaspum, “silver.” Since Akkadian is an inflecting language, with number and case endings, a phonetic complement (or morphogram) was sometimes added to indicate number or case. KÙ.BABBAR-im could be used to represent the singular genitive form kaspim, “of silver.” Likewise, ideograms (signs representing ideas) were sometimes used, but apparently not pronounced, when it was considered desirable to indicate the category of a word or expression. Thus the Sumerian uru (= Akk. ālum), “city,” was added before names of cities or villages; Sum. giš (= Akk. išum), “wood, tree,” was added before items made of wood; Sum. ki, “land, place” (Akk. value not definitely determined) was added after the name of a place (whether a city or a country); Sum. meš (Akk. value not determined) was added after a word to indicate the plural; etc. In transliterated Assyrian or Babylonian, superscript letters are used to indicate these determinatives (e.g., ^{uru}KA.DINGIR.RA^{ki} or ^{al}babilum^{ki} = “(city) Babylon (place).”

然而, 还有一些复杂的问题。例如, 表示“天堂”的苏美尔语符号(其发音为“an”)同样被用来表示“神”(其发音为“dingir”)。阿卡德语用这个符号表示音节“an”, 并且用它表示阿卡德语的“神”ilum。符号的含义越来越多, 直到后来同一个符号可以表示五或十个不同的音值。学者发现同一位神有时被称为 Enlil, 而有时被称为 Illil, 或者某位官员被称为 ensi 或 pa-te-si, 因此感觉很困惑, 这些小困难可能是由于苏美尔语中有大量的多音节楔形文字造成的。

此外, 阿卡德人还将某些符号用作可表意的语素文字或象征。当然, 他们还还为这些符号赋予了阿卡德语的音值。因此苏美尔语符号 kù-babbar (“太阳金”, 也就是“银”)被用来表示阿卡德语的 kaspum, 意为“银”。由于阿卡德语是屈折语言, 词尾有格和数的变化, 有时添加一个辅助音节(或形符)来表示数或格。KÙ.BABBAR-im 可以用来表示单数属格 kaspim, 意为“银的”。同样, 有时, 当形符(表意的符号)适于表明一个词或表达的类别时, 就会使用形符。因此, 苏美尔语 uru (相当于阿卡德语: ālum, 意为“城邑”)加在表示城邑或村庄的词前面; 苏美尔人语 giš (相当于阿卡德语: išum, 意为“木头、树木”)加在表示木制品的词语前面; 苏美尔语 ki, 意为“土地, 地方”(尚无法确定在阿卡德语中的意思), 加在表示地名(无论是城邑还是国家)的词语前; 苏美尔语 meš (尚无法确定在阿卡德语中的意思)加在某个单词后面表示复数含义。在直译的亚述语和巴比伦语时, 上标字母用来

Alongside this complicated development of cuneiform writing, another had taken place. The signs, we have said, were at first linear, drawn with a stylus in soft clay. Gradually these became stylized, so that the pictographic character was partially or completely lost. With the invention of the three-cornered stylus and its use to press rather than draw the characters on soft clay, cuneiform proper came into being. Conventions of direction and position of the wedges to form the conventionalized signs developed. These were not exactly the same in all areas, so a Babylonian convention became distinct from an Assyrian convention.

The wedges were usually made of one of four different forms: vertical (∇), horizontal (▷), sloping downward to the right (↘), and a large angle, generally called by the German term Winkelhaken (the Sumerians called it giguru) (◁). In some characters, a fifth form is found, sloping upward to the right (↗). The form of the wedge was determined by the angle of the wrist and/or fingers at the time of impressing with the stylus.

Signs were made of combinations of these wedges, using one or more strokes.

楔形文字通常是由四种不同的形状中的一种形状组成的：垂直(∇)，水平(▷)，向右下倾斜(↘)和大开角，德语通常被称为是“角钩”（苏美尔语为 giguru）(◁)。在某些字中，还出现了第五种字形，向右上倾斜(↗)。在用尖笔印字时期，楔形文字的形状是由手腕或手指的角度决定的。

这些符号是用一笔或多笔写成的楔形文字组合而成。据发掘显示，复杂的符号

In complicated signs, twenty or more strokes are found. As syllabograms, the signs could represent any of the following: a single vowel (V), a consonant followed by a vowel (CV), a vowel followed by a consonant (VC), or a closed syllable (CVC). Closed syllables were more often written by a combination of CV-VC (e.g., be-el = bel), without implying any lengthening of the vowel. Sumerian had a number of polysyllabic signs (CVCVC, CVCCVC, VCV, VCCVC, etc.).

The complexity of such a system of writing is obvious. About 600 signs are used in Akkadian. W. von Soden, Das akkadische Syllabar (1948), lists 325 in fairly common use; F. Thureau-Dangin, Le Syllabaire accadien (1926), lists only 285; A. Deimel, however, lists 598 (plus numerous variants) in Šumerisches Lexikon, Part 2, Vol. 4 (1933), and 972 in Part 1 (1947), many of which have Akkadian values. About 100 syllabograms (V, CV, and VC) are in common use in Akkadian, to which the student must add a score or more CVC-type syllabograms and perhaps 200 logograms (word-signs) and ideograms (determinatives), for reading the texts of any given area and period.

有二十或更多笔画。作为音节文字，符号可以表示：单元音 (V)，辅音加元音 (CV)，元音加辅音 (VC) 或闭音节 (CVC)。闭音节通常被写成 CV-VC 的形式 (如，be-el 相当于 bel)，这并不表示元音被延长。苏美尔人有许许多多音节符号 (CVCVC, CVCCVC, VCV, VCCVC 等)。

这种书写体系的复杂度是显而易见的。在阿卡德语中约有 600 个符号。索登 (W. von Soden, Das akkadische Syllabar, 1948) 列举了 325 个常用的符号；杜里奥连进 (F. Thureau-Dangin, Le Syllabaire accadien, 1926) 仅列出了 285 个；而迪梅尔 (A. Deimel) 在 Šumerisches Lexikon 第 4 册的第 2 部分 (1933) 列出了 598 个，在第 1 部分 (1947) 列出了 972 个，这些符号大部分有阿卡德语的音值。阿卡德语中常用的音节约有 100 个 (V, CV 和 VC)，为了能阅读所有地区和时期的文献，学者必须增加二十几个 CVC 形式的音节文字和大概 200 个语素文字 (词符) 和形符 (限定词)。

Clay conical nail of Entemena, recording in Sumerian cuneiform script the building of the temple of Dumuzi (Tammuz) and Inanna (Ishtar) at Badtibra (ca. 3000 B.C.) (Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto)

A change in the direction of writing also took place. It is of course impossible to determine how a clay tablet was held. But inscriptions such as Hammurabi's Code of Laws, where the form of the stele with the carved figures at the top determines the direction of the writing, indicate that writing was from top to bottom. At an undetermined date the individual characters, as well as the entire lines, were rotated 90°, and the writing was read from left to right. The original pictographic nature of some of the signs can still be recognized when they are rotated to their original position.

The decipherment of cuneiform was a long process, extending through most of the 19th cent., and the names of Georg Friedrich Grotefend (1802) and Henry Rawlinson (1846) are generally prominent in accounts of the task. Grotefend, working on Old Persian texts, managed to identify the words for “king,” “son,” and some of the kings’ names. Rawlinson, working on the Behistun trilingual inscription (Babylonian, Old Persian, and Elamite), was able to decipher the Old Persian. Later he succeeded in deciphering the Babylonian, with the help of the Irish scholar Edward Hincks and the French scholar Félicien de Saulcy. Many refinements to the earlier efforts have been through the discoveries of bilingual lexical texts. Some of these not only list the Sumerian and Akkadian equivalents, but also give syllabic transliterations of the Sumerian signs. The fruits of studies in lexical texts can be seen in Deimel’s Šumerisches Lexikon and in the Assyrian Dictionary currently being published by the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago (CAD).

书写的方向也发生了改变。当然，尚无法确定泥版是如何保存下来的。不过，《汉谟拉比法典》的碑文表明，上面的文字是从上至下书写的，上面刻有图案的石碑的形状决定了文字的书写方向。不知道在何时每个文字和整行的文字都被旋转了 90 度，需要从左至右阅读这些文字。当将这些文字旋转回它们原来的位置时，仍然可以识别出某些符号的原始象形文字特征。

楔形文字的破译经历了漫长的过程，大致从 19 世纪开始，格罗特芬 (Georg

Cuneiform writing is three-dimensional. Publication of cuneiform inscriptions, however, is limited to two-dimensional representation. The copying of a cuneiform inscription, whether freehand or by inking over a photograph and bleaching away the background, is a laborious and painstaking process, known as transcription. The representation of the cuneiform symbols by a standardized system using Latin characters, known as transliteration, is much more economical for publication, and is therefore the most common method of publishing cuneiform texts. In the most widely used system of transliteration, diacritical marks and subscript numbers are used to distinguish sounds that are represented by different cuneiform symbols. Thus tu is used to represent the Sum. tu; tú = Sum. ud or utu; tù = Sum. gub or du; *tu*₄ = Sum. tum; etc. No difference in pronunciation or tone is indicated by those diacritical marks. The scholar, however, must always check a transliteration against the original inscription or a careful transcription thereof.

Friedrich Grotefend, 1802) 和罗林森 (Henry Rawlinson, 1846) 为此项工作做出了卓越的贡献。格罗特芬研究了古波斯文本, 努力识别出了其中表示 “国王”、 “儿子” 和一些国王名字的古波斯词语。罗林森研究了刻有三种语言的贝斯希敦碑文 (巴比伦语、古波斯语和以拦语), 并且能够破译古波斯语。后来他在爱尔兰学者欣克斯 (Edward Hincks) 和法国学者索尔西 (Félicien de Saulcy) 的帮助下成功地破译了巴比伦语。双语文字文本的发现帮助人们完善了早期的研究成果。部分文本不仅记载了苏美尔语和阿卡德语同义词, 而且给出了苏美尔语符号的音节音译。迪梅尔的 Šumerisches Lexikon 和芝加哥大学东方学院出版的 Assyrian Dictionary (CAD) 展现出了词法文本的研究成果。

Of special note is the cuneiform writing of Ugaritic, discovered at Râs Shamrah in Syria since 1929. Although Assyrian texts have been found at Râs Shamrah alongside the Ugaritic texts, and although Ugaritic is written in cuneiform characters on clay tablets, it is important that we note that Ugaritic is written in an entirely different, specifically an alphabetic, system. There are thirty signs, each representing a consonant. The consonant 'aleph, however, is found in three forms which represent the soundless glottal stop plus each of the three vocalizations; I have called these signs 'aleph, 'ileph, and 'uleph. These alphabetic symbols are made by wedge-shaped writing on clay tablets, but they are not related in form or phonetic value to Mesopotamian cuneiform.

尤为值得注意的是 1929 年在叙利亚的拉斯珊拉 (Râs Shamrah) 发现的乌加里特语楔形文字。虽然在拉斯珊拉还发现了亚术语文本, 虽然泥版上的乌加里特语是用楔形文字书写的, 但是重要的是, 我们注意到乌加里特语是用完全不同的字母文字书写的。共有三十个字符, 每个字符代表一个辅音。但是辅音 'aleph 有三种形式, 这三种形式表示无声的喉塞音, 而且每种形式都代表一种发声法; 我称这些符号为 'aleph, 'ileph 和 'uleph。这些字母符号在泥版上是用楔形文字书写的, 但是它们在形式上和音值上与美索不达米亚楔形文字无关。

Ugaritic alphabet, showing cuneiform signs, their phonetic value, and transliteration. From UT, I, 13–15 (Biblical Institute Press, Rome)

The invention of the alphabet, and its representations in linear form that could be written on papyrus or leather (or any flat surface), and its wide dissemination by the Phoenicians in the 1st millennium B.C., made cuneiform writing obsolete. After all, why learn to write with six hundred cumbersome signs when twenty-two, or twenty-six, or at most some forty or fifty, will represent any combination of sounds that you may wish to use in any language?

字母表的出现，以及字母可在蒲草纸或皮革（或任何平面）上以线形呈现出来，再加上公元前第一个千年期间腓尼基人广泛地传播字母系统，最终导致楔形文字被淘汰了。毕竟，当你可以用二十二、二十六或最多四十或五十个字母就能发出任何语言中的组合音时，为何还要学习书写六百个繁琐的符号呢？

【希伯来语：ḥāḇar】：《钦定版圣经》译为“never so wisely”（“无效”）；《新英文译本》译为 SKILFUL（“精密的”）；【ḥēpeś——“图谋”】（诗 64:6）；《钦定版圣经》译为 DILIGENT（“勤奋”）；【’oqbā】（王下 10:19）；《钦定版圣经》译为 SUBTILTY（“诡诈”）；《新英文译本》译为 OUT-WITTED（“瞞骗”）；【’āram】（撒下 23:22）；《钦定版圣经》译为 SUBTILLY（“狡猾”）；《新英文译本》译为 CRAFTY（“狡猾”）；【’ormā】（书 9:4）；《钦定版圣经》译为 WILILY（“诡计”）；《新英文译本》译为 RUSE（“诡计”）；【śekel】：《钦定版圣经》译

为 POLICY (“计谋”);《新英文译本》译为“very active”(“非常机灵”);【tārmā——“诡诈”】(诗 119:118);《钦定版圣经》译为 DECEIT (“诡诈”);《新英文译本》译为 TALK (“说”);【希腊语: kybeia】:《钦定版圣经》译为 SLEIGHT (“诡计”);《新英文译本》译为 CRAFTY (“诡诈”);【panourgia】:《钦定版圣经》译为 CRAFTINESS (“狡猾”), SUBTILTY (“狡诈”)。

In Ps. 58:5 hābar originally means “unite,” then “tie a magic knot or spell”; hence the meaning “charm,” of serpents who lead astray. The “cunning” of Dnl. 8:25 (śekel) is derived from prudence and insight. Gk. kybeia originally referred to dice-playing; hence its meaning of craftiness or trickery in Eph. 4:14. In 2 Cor. 4:2; 11:3 panourgia is used to denote an evil sort of cleverness, in contrast to an open statement of the truth. In the AV “cunning” does not have these evil connotations, but simply means “wise” or “skilful.”

在《诗篇》58:5 中, hābar 原意为“联合”, 后来表示“系一个有魔力的结或迷住”; 因此可以表示将人引入歧途的蛇的“诡计”。《但以理书》8:25 的“诡计”(śekel) 是经过谨慎的思考和观察的。希腊语 kybeia 起初表示掷骰子; 因此这个词在《以弗所书》4:14 中表示诡计或骗人的手段。在《哥林多后书》4:2; 11:3 中, panourgia 用来表示诡诈, 与表明真理截然对立。在《钦定版圣经》中, “cunning” 没有贬义, 仅仅表示“聪明”或“灵巧”。

The word “cup,” referring either to the vessel or its contents, is often used figuratively in the Bible for that which is portioned out, and of which one is to partake. Thus it can mean God’s judgments, His wrath, afflictions (Ps. 11:6; 75:8; Isa. 51:17; Rev. 14:10); and Christ used the figure for His sufferings (Mt. 26:39; shared by His followers, 20:22f.). In the OT it applies also to the blessedness and joy of the children of God, and the full provision made for their wants (Ps. 16:5; 23:5; 116:13; cf. Jer. 16:7). These passages refer not only to the experience of an allotted joy and sorrow, but also to the sharing in this experience by all the community.

“The cup of the Lord” (1 Cor. 10:21) is so called because it is the Lord who makes the feast and tenders the cup, just as “the cup of demons” with which it is contrasted refers to what they offer and communicate. In 1 Cor. 11:25 the cup is called “the new covenant in my blood”; i.e., it is a pledge and seal and means of imparting the blessings of the new covenant (He. 10:16f.)—a covenant established by the shedding of the blood of Christ. The use of the word “cup” for the sacrament shows how prominent was the part the cup had in the Lord’s Supper in apostolic times. Not only were all told to drink of the wine (Mt. 26:27), but the very irregularities in the Corinthian church point to the universal use (1 Cor. 11:27). See also BLESSING, CUP OF.

“cup” (“杯”)这个词可以表示瓦器,或者表示瓦器作的器皿,《圣经》中常使用这个词语比喻分配之物或分享之物。因此它可以表示神的审判、愤怒和苦难(诗 11:6; 75:8; 赛 51:17; 启 14:10);而耶稣用杯子比喻祂的苦难(太 26:39; 祂的门徒同享这杯,太 20:22-23)。在《旧约》中,杯子还表示神的儿女的祝福和喜乐以及他们的产业(诗 16:5; 23:5; 116:13; 参:耶 16:7)。这些经文不仅可以表示喜悦和悲伤的经历,而且可以表示全体会众分享的经历。

之所以称“主的杯”(林前 10:21),是因为主摆设的筵席并且提供的这杯,而“魔鬼的杯子”指的是魔鬼提供和分享的事物。在《哥林多前书》11:25 中,杯子被称为“我的血所立的新约”;也就是说,杯子是分享新约祝福的承诺、标志和方式(来 10:16-17)——用耶稣流的血所立的约。“杯子”这个词可以表示圣餐,这证明了在使徒时代“杯子”是主的晚餐的重要组成部分。不仅所有人都要喝主的杯(太 26:27),而且在哥林多教会的不法行为表明杯子的用途广泛(林前 11:27)。另见 BLESSING, CUP OF (祝福的杯)。

CUPBEARER

[Heb. mašqeh-‘one giving drink’] (1 K. 10:5; 2 Ch. 9:4; Neh. 1:11). An officer of high rank at ancient oriental courts, whose duty it was to serve the wine at the king's table. On account of the constant fear of plots and intrigues, a person must be regarded as thoroughly trustworthy to hold this position. He must guard against poison in the king's cup, and was sometimes required to swallow some of the wine before serving it. His confidential relations with the king often endeared him to his sovereign and also gave him a position of great influence.

CUPBEARER 酒政

【希伯来语: mašqeh——“端酒的人”】(王上 10:5; 代下 9:4; 尼 1:11)。古代东方朝廷内的高官，酒政的职责是为王斟酒。由于国王害怕阴谋和诡计的陷害，因此必须选一个值得信任的人担当此职。酒政必须防备人在王的杯中下毒，并且有时需要在上菜前试酒。酒政与王之间的密切关系常使他成为身居高位且很有影响力的官员。

This officer is first mentioned in Scripture in Gen. 40:1ff., where the Hebrew word elsewhere translated “cupbearer” is rendered “butler.” The phrase “chief butler” (v. 2) accords with the fact that there were often a number of such officials under one as chief (cf. Xenophon Hellenica vii.1.38). Nehemiah (cf. 1:11) was cupbearer to Artaxerxes Longimanus and was held in high esteem by him, as the record shows. His financial ability (Neh. 5:8, 10, 14, 17) would indicate that the office was a lucrative one. Cupbearers are mentioned further in 1 K. 10:5; 2 Ch. 9:4, where among other evidences of royal splendor they are stated to have impressed the queen of Sheba with Solomon’s glory.

The RABSHAKEH of 2 K. 18:17ff.; Isa. 36:2, a highly placed Assyrian official, may have occupied this or a similar position, since Assyrian palace reliefs show how important the office of cupbearer was in relation to that of other court functionaries. See further on cupbearers in Herodotus iii.34; Xenophon Cyropaedeia i.3, 8f.; Josephus Ant. xvi.8.1; Tob. 1:22.

《圣经》的《创世记》40:1起中首次提到了这个官员的名字，而这个希伯来词语被译为“butler”，而其他的经文中译为“cupbearer”。“酒政大臣”（创40:2）这个短语符合许多酒政在一个大臣管理之下的事实（参：Xenophon Hellenica vii.1.38）。尼希米（参：尼1:11）是长臂王亚达薛西的酒政，根据记载，亚达薛西王很看重尼希米。尼希米的经济实力（尼5:8, 10, 14, 17）表明酒政的俸禄丰厚。《列王纪上》10:5和《历代志下》9:4再次提到了酒政，这些经文中的记载除了证明了酒政在王室的显赫地位，还提到酒政给示巴女王留下了深刻的印象，彰显了所罗门的荣耀。

《列王纪下》18:17起和《以赛亚书》36:2中的叙利亚的高官伯沙基（见Rabshakeh）可能担任酒政一职或类似的职位，因为叙利亚宫殿的浮雕显示了酒政大臣与其他王室大臣之间的重要关系。关于酒政的进一步介绍，见Herodotus iii.34; Xenophon Cyropaedeia i.3, 8-9; Josephus Ant. xvi.8.1; 《托比传》1:22。

This word as noun and verb renders different Hebrew words, some of them more or less synonymous, differing only in degree of strength. It is often used in contrast with "bless" or "blessing" (Dt. 11:29). In Zec. 14:11; Mal. 4:6 "curse" (Heb. hērem, RSV mg. "ban of utter destruction") refers to a ban which was sometimes placed on a captured city, which meant that everything in the city was consecrated to the deity and offered as a holocaust (cf. Josh. 6:17–19, 24). See DEVOTE. In some passages bāraḳ (which normally means "bless") is used as a euphemism for 'ārar, "curse."

这个词语既可以作名词,也可以作动词,用来翻译不同的希伯来语,这些希伯来语含义基本相同,只是语义程度不同。这个词常常与“祝福”或“福分”对比使用(申 11:29)。《撒迦利亚书》14:11 和《玛拉基书》4:6 中的“curse”(希伯来语: hērem, 《修订标准译本》旁注译为“ban of utter destruction”[“毁灭的咒诅”])表示一种禁令,有时在被攻取的城中实施这类禁令,这意味着城中的一切都献给了神,并且要被焚烧掉(参:书 6:17-19, 24)。见 DEVOTE (永献)。在某些经文中, bāraḳ (通常意思为“祝福”)用作 'ārar 的委婉语,意为“咒诅”。

当咒诅一个人时,我们不会仅仅认为这是一种咒那人遭灾的渴望,无论是多么

mere wish, however violent, that disaster should overtake the person in question, any more than we are to understand that a corresponding “blessing” conveys simply a wish that prosperity should be the lot of the person on whom the blessing is invoked. A curse was considered to possess an inherent power of carrying itself into effect. This can be illustrated by the nineteenth-century B.C. Egyptian Execration Texts, which recorded the names of the enemies of Egypt upon pottery bowls and figurines. These objects were then cursed magically and smashed, in the belief—typical of sympathetic magic—that the destruction of the nation’s enemies would follow that of the pottery objects. When it was not possible to commit such curses to writing so that they would find their mark (cf. Zec. 5:1–3), it was frequently deemed sufficient to utter them aloud. Generally the name of some deity was coupled with such imprecations, as Goliath cursed David by his gods (1 S. 17:43). Such curses, once uttered, possessed the power of self-realization. It was customary for heads of families in their declining years to bless their children, such a blessing being not simply a paternal wish that their children should prosper in life but a potent factor in determining their welfare (Gen. 9:25). In this case Jacob seeks his father’s blessing, which was more than his father’s good wishes for his future career. The bestowal of patriarchal blessings in Genesis has been paralleled in texts recovered from Nuzi, in which it is evident that such pronouncements constituted the last will and testament of the dying man. By contrast, a series of curses directed toward the enemy quite possibly signalled the start of many a battle in the Orient. The penalty for cursing God was death (Job 2:9).

强烈的渴望，相应地，“祝福”也不仅仅表达了一种祝愿得祝福应许的人兴盛的盼望。诅咒被认为拥有必然兑现的固有效力。公元前十九世纪的咒诅文中阐明了这一点，埃及人在陶瓷碗和雕像上刻上他们诅咒的敌人的名字。然后用魔咒咒诅这些物品并摔碎，他们认为他们的敌国将随着这些摔碎的陶器一起被摧毁，这是一种典型的交感巫术。如果无法记录咒诅以便使诅咒应验时（参：亚 5:1-3），通常大声地说出诅咒就够了。通常用某神的名来咒诅，如歌利亚用他神的名咒诅大卫（参：撒上 17:43）。一旦说出了咒诅，诅咒就会自行应验。家族的首领在垂暮之年祝福他的子孙是一种习俗，这种祝福不是简单的父亲祝福子孙一生富足，而是一种决定了他们幸福的强效因素（创 9:25）。因此，雅各寻求他父亲的祝福，这祝福远远超过他父亲对他未来事业的良好祝福。《创世记》中记载的族长的祝福类似于从努济（Nuzi）发现的祝福文本，从这些祝福文本中显然可以看出，这种宣告是临终之人最后的遗愿和遗言。相比之下，对敌人的诅咒很可能暗示出在东方爆发了许多战争。诅咒神的人将被治死（伯 2:9）。

Archeological discoveries at Boghazköy in central Turkey have shown that stated curses were integral to vassal or suzerainty treaties in the 2nd millennium B.C. These were listed as part of the overall agreement, the intention being that if the vassal broke the terms of the treaty, the curses would fall upon him, aided by the sanction of those deities which had been invoked as witnesses to the particular covenant. The provisions of the Sinaitic agreement between God and Israel included similar curses as the penalties for disobedience. When the Promised Land had been occupied, the curses were to be placed symbolically on Mt. Ebal (Dt. 11:29; 27:12f.) to remind Israel of the penalties which disobedience would bring upon the nation.

In the Near East a tomb was sometimes protected by having a curse formally imposed upon anyone who might attempt to break in and pillage it. The person who would be so foolish as to try to rebuild ruined Jericho was placed under a curse (Josh. 6:26), while at a different level past, present (Ps. 35:4ff.; 40:15f.; Jer. 11:20; etc.), or future (2 S. 18:32; Job 27:7) enemies were also accorded this treatment. The serpent was cursed for tempting Eve (Gen. 3:14), as also were murderers (Gen. 4:11; 49:7; etc.) and sexual deviates (Gen. 9:25ff.; 49:4). A person sometimes took a curse upon himself so as to guarantee the truth of some of his affirmations (Nu. 5:19ff.; Job 31:7f.; Ps. 7:4ff.; 137:5f.). See OATH.

Whereas curses by ordinary persons were

土耳其中部玻哈兹邱 (Boghazköy) 的考古发现证明在公元前第二个千年年间, 盟约中阐明的咒诅是诸侯盟约或宗主盟约不可分割的一部分。咒诅是所有盟约的一部分, 如果诸侯违背盟约, 那么这咒诅将临到他身上, 见证特定盟约的神明将辅助另一方惩罚违约方, 这是盟约中写明诅咒的目的。神和以色列人在西奈山上立的约也包含关于违约惩罚的诅咒。当以色列人进入应许之地时, 在巴路山上陈明的咒诅是一种象征 (申 11:29; 27:12-13), 目的是提醒以色列人, 如果违约, 惩罚就会临到以色列。

在近东地区, 坟墓有时也受诅咒的保护, 以免有人闯入坟墓或盗墓。企图重修耶利哥城的愚人也遭受了咒诅 (书 6:26), 而对过去、现在 (诗 35:4 起; 40:15-16; 耶 11:20 等) 或将来 (撒下 18:31; 伯 27:7) 的敌人给予不同程度的诅咒。蛇因为引诱夏娃而受到了咒诅 (创 3:14), 留人血的 (创 4:11; 49:7 等) 和放纵情欲的 (创 9:25 起; 49:4) 也要受到咒诅。有时, 一个人为了保证自己说的话都是真实的会诅咒自己 (民 5:19 起; 伯 31:7-8; 诗 7:4 起; 137:5-6)。见 OATH (起誓)。

considered more or less efficacious—some god being always only too glad to speed them on their way to their destination—yet special persons (“holy” persons), in virtue of their special relation to divine beings, possessed special powers of pronouncing effectual curses. Balaam, according to the narrative in Nu. 22f., was an expert in the art. Balak was convinced that Balaam’s curse would bring about the defeat of the Israelites.

The term—and the thing signified—plays an important part in Paul’s interpretation of the cross. In the light of the law all men are guilty. There is no acquittal through appeal to a law that commands and never forgives, prohibits and never relents. The violator of the law is under a curse. His doom has been pronounced. Escape is impossible. But on the cross Jesus Christ endured the curse—for “cursed be every one who hangs on a tree” (Gal. 3:10, 13)—and a curse that has overtaken its victim is a spent force.

Jesus commands His disciples, “Bless those who curse you” (Lk. 6:28; cf. Rom. 12:14). He Himself cursed the fruitless fig tree (Mk. 11:21)—a symbol of the doom of a fruitless people.

灵验——某些神非常乐意加快诅咒应验的进程——而特殊的人（“圣”人）凭借他们与神明特殊的关系，拥有发出有效咒诅的特殊能力。根据《民数记》22-23的记载，巴兰是说诅咒的专家。巴勒相信巴兰的咒诅可以帮他打败以色列。

这个词语和所代表的事物在保罗解释十字架时起了重要的作用。根据律法，人人都犯了罪。律法中只有命令，没有宽恕，只有禁止没有宽容，因此，不能赦免罪。违背律法的要受咒诅。诅咒中宣告了他要遭受的厄运。他不可能摆脱咒诅。但是耶稣在十字架上承受了咒诅——因为“凡挂在木头上都是被咒诅的”（加 3:10, 13）——应验的诅咒不再有影响力。

耶稣教导祂的门徒们，“咒诅你们的，要为他们祝福”（路 6:28；参：罗 12:14）。祂咒诅无花果树不结果（可 11:21）——这是无子嗣之人命运的象征。

CURTAIN 幔子、帐子、帘子

【希伯来语：y^eri’â（出 26；36；民 4:25 等），hûr（斯 1:6），dōq（赛 40:22）；希腊语：katapétasma（可 15:38 平行经文；来 6:19；9:3；10:20）】；《钦定版圣经》译为 VEIL（“幔子”），HANGINGS（“帐子”，斯 1:6）；《新英文译本》译为

1:5), TENT-HANGINGS (Jer. 49:29), COVERINGS (Jer. 4:20), VEIL (He. 6:19). For Heb. y^eri'â the RSV and NEB occasionally have “tent” (2 S. 7:2; 1 Ch. 17:1; Ps. 104:2); the AV uses “curtain” once for Heb. māsāk (Nu. 3:26; RSV, NEB, “screen”).

“Curtain” frequently appears parallel to and is synonymous with “tent” (e.g., Isa. 54:2; Jer. 4:20; Hab. 3:7); hence those passages where the RSV and NEB so render y^eri'â. Figuratively, the heavens are also a tent of curtains spread out by their Creator (Ps. 104:2; Isa. 40:22). All pentateuchal references are in the Priestly Code, where they refer to the curtains of the tabernacle which housed the ark. Ten curtains made of fine linen with blue, purple, and scarlet ornamentation formed the tabernacle; decorated with depictions of cherubim, each curtain was 4 cubits by 28 (Ex. 26:1f.). Much later, the Jerusalem temple used two curtains to shield the holy of holies and its contents from the outer world. The first, and theologically most important, was between the holy of holies and the holy place; the second separated the temple proper from the outer porch. It is the former which the NT says was torn from top to bottom at the moment of Jesus’ death (Mk. 15:38 par.). See also HANGINGS; TABERNACLE; TENT; VEIL.

Similarly, the book of Hebrews speaks of the true sanctuary above with its curtain guarding the heavenly holy of holies (6:19; 9:3). This curtain Jesus has opened

HANGING (“幔子”，出 26；36），TENT-CURTAINS (“幔子”，歌 1:5），TENT-HANGINGS (“幔子”，耶 49:29），COVERINGS (“幔子”，耶 4:20），VEIL (“幔”，来 6:19)。《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》偶尔会用“tent” (“幔子”，撒下 7:2；代上 17:1；诗 104:2) 来翻译希伯来语 y^eri'â；《钦定版圣经》曾用“curtain” (“帘子”，民 3:26；《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》译为“screen” [“帘子”]) 来翻译希伯来语 māsāk。

“Curtain” 常出现在平行经文中并且与“tent”意思相同（如，赛 54:2；耶 4:20；哈 3:7）；因此《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》中这两节经文就这样翻译 y^eri'â。天堂可以比作是造物主铺张的幔子（诗 104:2；赛 40:22）。《摩西五经》中提到的所有“幔子”都存在于祭典中，指的是存放约柜的帐幕的幔子。用捻的细麻和蓝色、紫色和朱红色线制造的十幅幔子作帐幕；并要用巧工绣上基路伯，每幅幔子要长 28 肘，宽 4 肘（出 26:1-2）。后来，耶路撒冷圣殿用两幅幔子来遮挡至圣所和它里面的东西，不让外面看到。首先，第一幅和神学上最为重要的幔子，就是在至圣所和圣殿之间的幔子；第二幅幔子分割了圣殿与外面的门廊。根据《新约》中的记载，耶稣受难时从上到下裂为两半的那幅幔子就是第一幅幔子（可 15:38 平行经文）。另见 HANGINGS（幔子、帘子）；TABERNACLE（帐幕、会幕）；TENT（帐幕）；VEIL（幔子）。

同样，《希伯来书》提到了天上的至圣所和保护神圣的至圣所的帐幕（来 6:19；9:3）。耶稣用祂自己的身体为祂的门徒们打开了这幔子（来 10:20）。

koosh [Heb. kūš]. A geographical name referring to (1) a region in Africa, identified with Nubia or Ethiopia, and (2) a region in Mesopotamia, identified with the Kassites. The Hebrew term possibly has other references in certain texts, but there is no agreement on the identification (cf. 2 Ch. 14:9–15 [MT 8–14]; 21:16).

According to the Table of Nations, Cush, the first son of Ham, was the ancestor of Seba, Havilah, Sabtah, Raamah, and Sabteca (Gen. 10:7), and he “became the father of Nimrod” (v. 8). The spread of the geographical location of these names confirms the problems of identifying the geographical limits of the term Cush. Further complicating the problem is the statement in Gen. 2:13 that the Gihon, one of the four rivers issuing from the river that flowed out of Eden, “flows around the whole land of Cush.”

Cush most frequently refers to an African region, and has often been identified as Ethiopia; kūš is often so translated in English versions. This leads to at least two erroneous interpretations: first that modern Ethiopia (Abyssinia) is meant, and second that a negroid people is intended. The second error can be corrected quite simply. There is no evidence, either in the Bible or in extrabiblical material, to support the

音译: koosh 【希伯来语: kūš】。一个地名,指的是(1)非洲的一个地区,被认为是努比亚或埃塞俄比亚,(2)美索不达米亚的一个地区,被认为是加瑟人生活的地区。这个希伯来词语在某些文本中可能有其他的意思,但是关于它的具体含义尚未达成共识(参:代下 14:9-15[《马所拉文本》8-14]; 21:16)。

根据列邦列国中的记载,含的第一个儿子古实是西巴、哈腓拉、撒弗他、拉玛和撒弗提迦的父亲(创 10:7),并且他“生了宁录”(创 10:8)。这些名字所表示的地理位置给确定古实的地区界限带来了难度。《创世记》2:13的记载进一步增加了这个难度,从伊甸园流出的河分成了四道河,其中一道是基训,就是“环绕古实全地的”。

大多数情况下,古实表示的是非洲的一个地区,并且常被认为是埃塞俄比亚;在英文译本中常用 Csh 翻译 kūš。这至少导致人们对古实产生了两种错误的理解:第一,现在的埃塞俄比亚(阿比西尼亚)就是古实。第二,古实人是黑人。可以很容易将第二个错误纠正过来。因为在《圣经》中或经文文献中没有证据可以证明含或含的祖先是黑人。希腊语 Aithiops 确实有“burnt face”(“黝黑的脸”)的意思,且无疑指的是住在埃及南 view that Ham or any of his descendants was negroid. The Greek term Aithiops does indeed mean “burnt face,” and was doubtless applied to peoples to the south of Egypt because of their dark complexion. However, both the Ethiopians and the Nubians lack the physical characteristics, other than skin pigmentation, that are used anthropologically to define the negroid peoples. Of the identifiable descendants of Ham named in Gen. 10 all are caucasoid. The first reference to the Negroes is found in late Egyptian records.

According to Ezk. 29:10 the southern border of Egypt was its common boundary with Cush (RSV “Ethiopia”), hence there can be no doubt that Nubia, and not Abyssinia, is meant. This was located by Ezekiel at Syene (modern Aswan), at the First Cataract. Isa. 18:1 also indicates that Cush (RSV “Ethiopia”) was on the Nile. The Egyptian name for Nubia was K3š, later Kš. The limits of Nubia in antiquity were not clearly fixed. At times, the region extended from the First to the Fourth Cataracts, at other times from the Second to the Fourth, and still at other times from the Second Cataract to the junction of the White and the Blue Niles at Khartoum. In fact, the northern boundary of Nubia serves as an indication of the strength of Upper Egypt, for whenever Egypt was unable to defend its southern territory, the Nubians pushed northward. It is therefore understandable why the Egyptians looked upon the Nubians as an ancient enemy. Likewise, Est. 1:1, referring to the extent of the Persian empire, places its limits at Cush (RSV “Ethiopia”), i.e., 部的人，因为他们的肤色很深。然而，埃塞俄比亚人和努比亚人出了皮肤颜色深一些，并没有这种体貌特征，人类学通常以这种体貌特征定义黑色人种。《创世记》10章提到所有含的后代都是白种人。后期的埃及文献中首次提到了黑人。

根据《以西结书》29:10的记载，埃及的南部境界就是埃及与古实共同的境界（《修订标准译本》译为“Ethiopia”[古实]），因此，这里无疑指的是努比亚，而不是阿比西尼亚。以西结认为古实是在第一瀑布附近的色弗尼（现代的阿斯旺）。《以赛亚书》18:1还表明古实（《修订标准译本》译为“Ethiopia”[古实]）在尼罗河旁。埃及人用 K3š 表示努比亚，后来用 Kš 表示努比亚。古代努比亚的界限还没有明确确定下来。有时认为努比亚的界限是从第一瀑布延伸至第四瀑布的地区，有时认为是从第二瀑布延伸至第四瀑布的地区，还有时认为是从第二瀑布至喀土穆地区的白尼罗河和蓝尼罗河的交界处。实际上，努比亚的北部境界表明了北埃及的实力，因为每当埃及不能保卫它的南部疆土时，努比亚人就会向北扩张。因此，这也是埃及人视古实人为老对手的原因。同样，《以斯帖记》1:1提到了波斯帝国的范围直到古实（《修订标准译本》译为“Ethiopia”[埃塞俄比亚]），也就是埃及南部的境界。

the southern boundary of Egypt.

During the Egyptian New Kingdom (ca. 1575–1087 B.C.), the time when the Israelites were coming into existence as a federation of tribes, Nubia was part of the Egyptian nation, and Nubian mercenaries (RSV“Ethiopians”) are mentioned in the armies of Shishak (2 Ch. 12:3) and Zerah (14:9; etc.). The 25th Dynasty (ca. 751–656) is often referred to as “Ethiopian.” Piankhy, the Nubian who conquered Egypt, had his capital at Napata, near the Fourth Cataract. His son Tirhakah (Tarhaqa) is mentioned in Isa. 37:9 (par. 2 K. 19:9). Tirhakah’s intrigues were at least partly responsible for the Assyrian reaction, which led to the retreat of the Nubians and the removal of their capital further south to Meroë. Something of Nubia’s fate, as well as that of Egypt, is hinted at in the prophecies of Jeremiah (46:9) and Ezekiel (30:4f., 9).

The Egyptians called the inhabitants of Cush Nḥsy (“Nehesyu” in *CAH*³ I/2 [1971], 508). Several writers have suggested that this word, or a related word, plus the Egyptian definite article (p-nḥs) underlies the name of Aaron’s grandson Phinehas (pîn^ehās; Ex. 6:25). A markedly similar name occurs in an Egyptian document from late in the reign of Ramses XI (1114–1087 B.C.), viz., Pinḥasi (A. Gardiner, Egypt of the Pharaohs [1961], p. 302). If this etymology is sustained, the name would be an additional datum to support the biblical account of Israel in Egypt.

The identification of Cush with the Kassites or some other Mesopotamian people depends largely on the references

在埃及新王国时期(约公元前 1575-1087 年),即以以色列成立支派联盟时期,努比亚是埃及的一部分,而《圣经》中提到士撒(代下 12:3)和谢拉(代下 14:9 等)的军队中有努比亚(《修订标准译本》译为“Ethiopians”[埃塞俄比亚人])的雇佣兵。第 25 王朝(约公元前 751-656 年)时期常提及“埃塞尔比亚人”。攻克埃及的比安基(Piankhy)建都于第四瀑布附近的纳帕塔(Napata)。《以赛亚书》37:9(平行经文,王下 19:9)中提到了他的儿子特哈加。特哈加的诡计至少对亚述人的反动负部分责任,他的阴谋导致努比亚人撤退并且将他们的都城转移至南部的麦罗埃(Meroë)。先知耶利米(耶 46:9)和以西结(结 30:4-5, 9)预言了努比亚与埃及的命运。

埃及人称古实的居民为 Nḥsy (在 *CAH*³ I/2 [1971], 508 中译为“Nehesyu”[“古实”])。部分学者认为这个词语或与之相关的词语加上埃及语定冠词(p-nḥs)构成了亚伦的孙子非尼哈(pîn^ehās; 出 6:25)名字的词根。拉美西斯十四世(公元前 1114–1087 年)时期一份埃及文献中出现了一个非常相似的名字,即 Pinḥasi (A. Gardiner, Egypt of the Pharaohs [1961], 302 页)。如果这个词源可以成立,那么这个名字所提供的额外资料证明了《圣经》中关于在埃及的以色列人的描述。

古实人就是加瑟人或美索不达米亚其他民族的说法主要以《创世记》2:13; 10:18 中的记载为依据。由于基训的位置在很 in Gen. 2:13; 10:8. Since the identification of the river Gihon is largely a matter of speculation, and since the geographical location of the Garden of Eden depends almost entirely on the mention of the Tigris and the Euphrates—an argument largely nullified by the statement that all four rivers, including the Pishon and the Gihon, originated from the one river of Eden (2:10), and by the obvious conclusion that the region's geography was greatly changed by the Flood—these references add little to our knowledge of a Mesopotamian Cush. The remaining reference, namely to Nimrod (10:8), seems clearly to tie the location of Nimrod and his descendants to Babylonia and Assyria (10:10–12).

But to assume that this identifies Cush with the Kassites, who ruled Babylonia for about four hundred years (ca. 1530–1151 B.C.), is certainly to assume more than the data will bear. True, the biblical word kûš superficially resembles the Akkadian kašī or kaššû (Kassites), but similar comparisons can be made with words from other areas. The period of Kassite domination (see KASSITES) does not fit well with any period proposed for the composition of the early chapters of Genesis, whether this material is considered pre-Mosaic (and possibly patriarchal), Mosaic (bearing in mind that Moses lived far from Mesopotamia), or from the time of the Israelite monarchy (the traditional date of “J”).

The link between Nilotic Cush, South Arabia, and Babylonia, nevertheless, remains, and the biblical student is faced with the problem of understanding and possibly explaining it. The identifiable names of the sons of Cush (Gen. 10:7) are generally associated with locations in South Arabia. The links between South Arabia and Abyssinia are rather firmly established. The Semitic origin of the Babylonians, together with linguistic evidence (cf. W. S. LaSor, "Semitic Phonemes" [Ph.D. diss., Dropsie, 1949]), indicates that there are also links that bind the Babylonians or their ancestors to South Arabia. It is therefore tempting to speculate that the descendants of Cush spread in two directions, i.e., both toward lower Mesopotamia and across the Babel-Mandeb into Africa, thence to Abyssinia and thence by the valleys of the Atbara and the Blue Nile to Nubia. This, however, is at present only speculation.

大程度上是一种推测，而且几乎只能根据经文中提及的底格里斯河和幼发拉底河确定伊甸园的位置——《创世记》2:10中关于四道河（包括比逊河和基训河）均发源于伊甸园中的一条河流的描述，以及大洪水极大地改变了当地的地貌这个显而易见的结论在很大程度上否定了这个论点——所以这些依据为我们了解美索不达米亚地区的古实没有多大帮助。其余的说法，即古实就是宁录的说法（创 10:8）显然将宁录和他的后裔的国家位置与巴比伦和亚述联系在了一起（创 10:10-12）。

但是假定古实人就是统治巴比伦约四百年（约公元前 1530-1151 年）的加瑟人，这种推测显然超出了信息所提供的范围。《圣经》中的 kûš 确实与阿卡德语的 kašī 或 kaššû（加瑟人）相似，但是从其他领域也能找到与之类似的词语。加瑟人（见 KASSITES）统治时期与《创世记》前几章的记载完全不符，无论这些材料是前摩西时代（可能是族长统治时期）的材料、摩西时代（需记得摩西住在离美索不达米亚很远的地方）的材料，还是以色列君主统治时期（传统的“耶典”时期）的材料。

然而，关于尼罗河古实、南阿拉伯半岛和巴比伦之间的关系仍然存在，圣经学者还面临着理解，可能还面临着解释这种关系的难题。可以确定的古实的儿子们的名字（创 10:7）通常与南阿拉伯半

实人”（不确定）；《七十士译本》中为 Chousarsathaim】（士 3:8, 10）；《钦定版圣经》译为 CHUSHAN-RISHATHAIM（“古珊·利萨田”）。美索不达米亚的一位王，耶和华拣选他来惩罚以色列人拜偶像的罪。他对抗叛教的以色列人达八年之久，这之后，上帝兴起迦勒的弟弟基纳斯之子俄陀聂作首位魅力非凡的领袖，即众所周知的士师，救赎以色列。

尚未确定古珊利萨田的身份。有人曾认为他是以东的领袖、公元前十四世纪的米坦尼王或叙利亚的统治者。他最可能是来自幼发拉底河上游地区的伊尔苏（Irsu）王，并于公元前 1200 年前后与埃及争战。

koosh'it [Heb. kūšī] (2 S. 18:21f.); AV CUSHI. The designation of the man who brought David the news of Absalom's death. It appears with the article seven times out of eight, indicating that the person was of the Cushite (Ethiopian) people, and precluding the use as a proper name. That the Cushite messenger to David was a stranger, and doubtless an Ethiopian, is shown by his ignorance of the shorter path taken by Ahimaaz, his unfamiliarity with the watchman, and his lack of knowledge—by comparison with Ahimaaz—of the feelings and reactions of David, whom he knew only as a king, not as a man.

CUSHITE WOMAN

[Heb. hakušīt]. Moses' wife is thus referred to by Miriam and Aaron (Nu. 12:1) in a derogatory manner as they protest his marriage to a non-Israelite. As a Cushite, she would be a descendant of Cush, the eldest son of Ham, grandson of Noah (Gen. 10:6) and father of Nimrod (v. 8). The habitat of this tribe was Ethiopia or Nubia.

Obviously the brother and sister of Moses resented the fact that he had married a woman outside the tribes of Israel. Mingled with this was resentment also against Moses' leadership—"Has the Lord indeed spoken only through Moses? Has he not spoken through us also?" (Nu.

CUSHITE 古实人

音译: koosh'it 【希伯来语: kūšī】(撒下 18:21-22); 《钦定版圣经》译为 CUSHI (“古实人”)。将押沙龙之死告知大卫的那个人。这个词语在《圣经》中总共出现八次，其中有七次使用了定冠词，这表明这个人是一个古实人(埃塞俄比亚人)，而不是一个专有名词。报信的古实人对大卫来说是个陌生人，并且他无疑是一个无知的埃塞俄比亚人，因为他不认识亚希玛斯走的近路，不熟悉守城门的人，与亚希玛斯相比也不了解大卫的感觉和反应，在他看来大卫只是一位王，而不是一位普通人。

CUSHITE WOMAN 古实女子

【希伯来语: hakušīt】。古实女子是米利暗和亚伦(民 12:1)对摩西妻子的蔑称，因为他们反对摩西娶外邦女子为妻。既然她是古实人，那她就是古实的子孙，古实是含的长子，含是诺亚的孙子(创 10:6)、宁录的父亲(创 10:8)。这个支派定居在埃塞俄比亚或努比亚。

摩西的兄弟和姐妹显然忿恨他娶了外邦女子为妻的事实。而这种忿恨还导致他们反对摩西——“难道耶和華单与摩西说话，不也与我们说话吗？”(民 12:2)。从经文中无法清楚地知道他们的忿恨主要来自于这个古实女子，还是源于摩西独得神的启示的特权。根据耶和華的反

12:2). Whether the source of their resentment was primarily the Cushite woman or the monopoly of Moses on divine revelation is not clear from the text. In the light of the Lord's reaction (vv. 2-15), the implication is that the real issue was their secondary status in the hierarchy and that they used the marriage as the ostensible reason for their protest.

The identity of this "Cushite woman" is far from clear. It could be a reference to Zipporah (Ex. 2:21; 4:25; 18:2) the Midianite, but here called "Cushite" because of her dark complexion. She could be a woman of Ethiopian origin, perhaps one of the "mixed multitude" (Ex. 12:38), whom Moses married either after the death of Zipporah or as an additional wife. Some scholars think that the words "because of the Cushite woman whom he had married; for he had married a Cushite woman" were inserted into the text by a later editor; it seems more probable, however, that she was Moses' second wife, an Ethiopian woman.

这位“古实女子”的身份远未确定。这位女子可能是米甸人西坡拉 (出 2:21; 4:25; 18:2), 但是经文中之所以称摩西的妻子为“古实人”, 是因为她的肤色深。也可能是一位来自古实的女子, 可能是“闲杂人”之一 (出 12:38), 摩西可能在西坡拉死后娶了她, 或者在西坡拉在世时娶她作了妾。有些学者认为“因为他娶的古实女子和因为他娶了古实女子为妻”这句话是后来的编者插入经文中的; 而且, 她似乎很可能是摩西的第二个妻子——一个埃塞俄比亚的女子。

CUSTODIAN 训蒙的师傅

【希腊语: paidagōgós】(加 3:24-25); 《钦定版圣经》译为 SCHOOLMASTER (“训蒙的师傅”); 《新英文译本》译为 (KIND OF) TUTOR (“启蒙教师”)。在古希腊和罗马的家族中常用奴仆管教少年人直到他们成人 (约十六岁)。这个奴仆不是教育者 (参: 现今为“教师”的意思), 这与很多译文中的翻译不同。更确切地说, 他主要负责指导少年的行为举止, 常常通过羞辱和惩罚 (参: 林前 4:14-15) 管教少年。因此, 他的地位和管教方式令被管教者感到不悦。保罗通过对比律法和“训蒙的师傅”阐明了 position and methods did not endear him with his charges. By comparing the law with the “custodian,” Paul illustrates the law’s role and its temporary character. The law’s role is to keep one under control by regulating one’s conduct. It was a temporary measure, in force until the “age of maturity,” i.e., the coming of Jesus Christ and the placing of one’s faith in Him. Resubmission to the law as a way of life would be like a young man returning to his “custodian,” relinquishing the freedom, rights, and privileges which had come to him through his coming of age (cf. Gal. 4:1–7).

By far the most common Hebrew word for “cut,” “cut off,” is kāraṭ, and the most common Greek term is kóptō. The primary meaning is of course the physical act of severing, removing, or dividing one thing from another. “Command that the cedars of Lebanon be cut for me” (1 K. 5:6); “break their pillars and cut down their Asherim” (Ex. 34:13); “he cut his hair” (Acts 18:18).

The derivative or extended use of the term is just prevalent in the biblical material. It often carries the connotation of destroying, rooting out, eliminating, extinguishing. Frequently the cutting off or separation is an act of divine judgment upon a person, group, or nation, carried out either indirectly by Yahweh’s representatives or by Yahweh Himself. “If anyone eats what is leavened, that person shall be cut off from the congregation of Israel” (Ex. 12:19). This alienation from the people of Israel is frequently the punishment enjoined by the Levitical laws (Lev. 7:20ff.; 17:4ff.; 18:29; 19:8; 20:3ff.). With reference to large groups, cf. Dt. 19:1, “the Lord your God cuts off the nations....” This usage is carried over into the NT. Speaking to Gentiles, Paul sounds the note of judgment to those who do not realize they are within the sphere of God’s lovingkindness only through grace. “Put away your pride.... Observe the kindness and the severity of God ... otherwise you too will be cut off” (Rom. 11:20–22, NEB; cf. also v. 24).

In Rom. 9:3 Paul expresses the depth of his concern for the original bearers of the covenant, the Israelites. “I could wish that I myself were accursed and cut off from Christ” (RSV; NEB “be outcast from Christ”). “Accursed and cut off” is the translation of Gk. anáthema. Accursed is the primary meaning of the word, but it carries the additional implication of separation from Christ; cf. also 1 Cor. 16:22; Gal. 1:6.

The Heb. verb qāṣaṣ is generally used of 这个词语的派生词或引申用法仅仅普遍保留在《圣经》资料中。它常表示剿灭、剪除、削除、灭亡的含义。剪除或分离表示神对某人、某社团或国家的审判行为，这种行为要么间接地出自于耶和華拣选的人，要么出自于耶和華自己。“凡吃有酵之物的，必从以色列的会中剪除”（出 12:19）。从以色列民中剪除是利未律法中常见的惩罚罪人的方式（利 7:20 起；17:41 起；18:29；19:8；20:3 起）。关于大范围的剪除，参：《申命记》19:1，“耶和華你 神将列国之民剪除……”《新约》中继续使用了这种用法。保罗提及外邦人时，向那些没有意识到他们只有藉着恩典才能活在神的恩慈里的人发出了警告。“只要你……在祂的恩慈里，不然，你也要被砍下来”（《新英文译本》，罗 11:20-22；另参：罗 11:24）。

在《罗马书》9:3 中，保罗向最初与神立约的以色列人表示了深度的关切。“就是自己被咒诅，与基督分离，我也愿意”（《修订标准译本》和《新英文译本》译为“be outcast from Christ” [“与基督隔绝”]）。“Accursed and cut off”（“咒诅和剪除”）是希腊语的 anáthema 译文。咒诅是这个希腊词语的原意，而咒诅本身涵盖了与基督分离的含义；另参《哥林多前书》16:22；《加拉太书》1:6。

cutting off a member of the body, such as hands (Dt. 25:12), hands and feet (2 S. 4:12), thumbs and great toes (Jgs. 1:6f.), corners of the hair (Jer. 9:26). Gk. apokóptō in Mk. 9:43, 45 also refers to the cutting off of parts of the body. This self-mutilation is intended to eliminate the sinful influence of wayward bodily members lest eternal punishment be the result of their presence. Stählin would not take this radical self-punishment literally but sees it as the exhortation to weaken the sinful influence of such bodily members (TDNT, III, 853; cf. also W. Lane, comm. on Mark [NIC, 1974], p. 347f.). In Mt. 5:30 and 18:8 ekkóptō, “cut off,” is used synonymously with the apokóptō of Mk. 9:43, 45.

Again in the parable of the barren fruit tree (Mt. 7:19; Lk. 13:7, 9; also Mt. 3:10; Lk. 3:9) the note of judgment is sounded by ekkóptō. Hewing down the unfruitful tree is symbolic of the separation of unproductive and unrighteous men from life in the kingdom of God.

The Heb. verb kārat is also used in the idiomatic formula for establishing a Covenant, kārat b^erît, “cut a covenant” (e.g., Gen. 15:18; 21:27; Isa. 55:3). This expression is derived from the manner in which the covenant was sealed. For instance, in Gen. 15:9–18 Yahweh in the form of a fire pot and torch passed between the pieces of the animals that Abram had cut in two. In this way Yahweh was taking a self-maledictory oath, assuring thereby the perpetuity of the promise; cf. also Jer. 34:18–20.

掉身体的某个部位，如手（申 25:12）、手脚（撒下 4:12）、拇指和拇趾（士 1:6-7）和鬓发（耶 9:26）。《马可福音》9:43, 45 中的希腊语 apokóptō 也表示砍掉身体的某个部位。这种自我伤害的行为是为了剪除某部分肉体的罪恶影响，以免使人遭受那永久的处罚。司达林（Stählin）不能从字面意思上接受这种激进的自我处罚的行为，而是认为这种自我惩罚是为了劝告人们削弱某些身体部位的罪恶影响（TDNT, III, 853; 另参：W. Lane, 关于《马可福音》的注释 [NIC, 1974], 347-348 页）。《马太福音》5:30 和 18:8 中的 ekkóptō（意为“砍掉”）是《马可福音》9:43, 45 中 apokóptō 的同义词。

此外，在不结果子的树的比喻中（太 7:19; 路 13:7, 9; 太 3:30; 路 3:9），ekkóptō 一词表明了审判的结果。砍掉不结果子的树象征着要剪除在神的国中不结果子和不公义的人。

希伯来语动词 kārat 还是表示立约的惯用语，kārat b^erît，意为“切下契约”（如，创 15:18; 21:27; 赛 55:3）。这种表达方式源自将契约封印的习俗。例如，《创世记》15:9-18 中，耶和华以火炉和火把的形式从亚伯兰劈开的那些肉块中经过。耶和华起了自我诅咒的誓言，从而确保约的永恒性；另参：《耶利米书》34:18-20。

音译: koo'thə 【希腊语: koutha】(拉一 5:32); 《钦定版圣经》和《新英文译本》译为 COUTH (“古沙”)。与所罗巴伯一同从巴比伦回归家园的圣殿工匠部族的族长; 正典中没有提到这个名字。

CUTHAH 古他

音译: kooth'ə 【希伯来语: kūtā; 巴比伦语: kūtū; 苏美尔语: gu-du-a; 希腊语: Chountha】(王下 17:34); CUTH (“古他”) 音译: kooth 【希伯来语: kūt; 希腊语: Choua】(王下 17:30)。亚述王撒珥根用殖民者代替以色列人的城市之一, 公元前 722 年驱逐了撒玛利亚的以色列人。可能是由于撒玛利亚的居民在该城占多数, 所以撒玛利亚人通常被称为 kūtīyīm 或古他人。

拉姆塞 (Hormuzd Rassam) 在 1881 或 1882 年确定古他就是易卜拉欣废丘 (Tell Ibrāhīm)。该遗址位于巴比伦东北部, 是巴比伦帝国最重要的城邑之一。发掘者描述该废墟周长约 3000 英尺 (915 米), 高 280 英尺 (85 米), 并且在废墟附近的西边有一个较小的土堆, 土堆上面建有一座献给亚伯拉罕 (Ibrāhīm) 的圣所。从废墟的性质来看, 拉姆塞总结说该城在巴比伦沦陷后, 人口更加稠密。有一部分遗迹被完好地保存下来, 并呈现出了一个未完工的建筑。

The great temple of the city was called Ê-mešlam, and was dedicated to Nergal (cf. 2 K. 17:30), god of the underworld. Both city and temple would seem to have been old Sumerian foundations, as the name Gudua and its later Semitic form Kutû imply.

CUTTER

[Heb. gāzām] (Joel 2:25); AV PALMERWORM; NEB LOCUST. Perhaps one of the stages of the maturing locust. The “palmerworm” is to be rejected because of its exclusive connection with developing moths. On account of the fearful devastation caused by plagues of locusts, the symbol in Joel is an apt one for the invasion of a powerful enemy.

CUTTINGS IN THE FLESH

[Heb. šeret, sāreṭet-‘incision,’ ‘tattoo’] (Lev. 19:28; 21:5); NEB GASH (THE BODY); [cf. Akk. šarātu-‘cut or tear to pieces’]. Physical self-laceration or self-mutilation inflicted as a sign of mourning or to seek the favor of a deity. See also GASH.

The custom of self-laceration of cheeks or chest and cuts on hands, arms, and backs was widely practiced as a part of mourning rites among the ancients (cf. Jer. 47:5; 48:37; 49:3). An Ugaritic epic describes how Baal, the god of

CUTTER 剪虫

【希伯来语: gāzām】(珥 2:25); 《钦定版圣经》译为 PALMERWORM (“毛虫”); 《新英文译本》译为 LOCUST (“蝗虫”)。“毛虫”是令人厌恶的昆虫, 因为只有毛虫可以变成飞蛾。在《约珥书》对蝗虫带来的可怕灾害的描述中, 蝗虫是强敌入侵的贴切象征。

CUTTINGS IN THE FLESH 划身

【希伯来语: šeret, sāreṭet——“划身”、“纹身”】(利 19:28; 21:5); 《新英文译本》译为 GASH (THE BODY) (“划[身]”); 【参: 阿卡德语: šarātu——“切或撕成碎片”】。自划身体或自残肉体是哀悼或寻求神悦纳的一种标志。另见 GASH (划破)。

自划脸颊或胸膛, 以及划伤手、手臂和背这种习俗是一种被广泛举行的古代哀悼仪式 (参: 耶 47:5; 48:37; 49:3)。一部乌加里特语史诗记载了乌加里特万神殿中最高之神伊勒 (El) 如何为掌管生育、植物和雨水之神巴力的死哀悼:

fertility, vegetation, and rain, was mourned at his death by El, the supreme god of the Ugaritic pantheon: El descended from his throne and sat on the ground, where he “lacerated himself” (Ugar. ylt), making cuts on his face, his arms, his chest, and his back (DOTT, p. 130; ANET, p. 139; Gaster, pp. 213–15). The prohibition of such “cuttings in the flesh” among the Israelites (Lev. 19:28; 21:5; Dt. 14:1) rests in (1) the rejection of pagan (Canaanite) practices and beliefs in which ritual laceration was thought to hand over man to the realm of the dead; (2) the affirmation of the uniqueness of the Israelites as “the sons of Yahweh” (Dt. 14:1), the covenant God who revealed Himself as the “I AM WHO I AM” (Ex. 3:14); (3) the emphasis on Israel as a “people holy to Yahweh” (Dt. 14:2), which finds its basis in Yahweh’s election of Israel; and (4) the concept of the sanctity of life and health. The deprivation of the sacral quality of death and the grave in Israelite religion was a great achievement. Despite this prohibition, self-inflicted laceration was practiced among the Israelites of the 6th cent. B.C. as a sign of grief and mourning (cf. Jer. 16:6; 41:5).

The Baal prophets “cut themselves after their custom with swords and lances, until the blood gushed out upon them” (1 K. 18:28) in their contest on Mt. Carmel with Elijah, the prophet of Yahweh, during the reign of Ahab. The self-laceration of the Baal prophets with its bloodletting was in all likelihood a Canaanite rite of imitative magic to cause the release of the vital rain upon which life depended, i.e., it was a rite intended to rouse Baal to bring rain (cf. Apuleius *Metamorphoses*viii.27; J.

伊勒从他的宝座上下来，坐在地上，他“划伤自己”（乌加里特语：ylt），即划身他的脸、手臂、胸部和背部（DOTT, 130 页；ANET, 139 页；Gaster, 213–215 页）。关于以色列人不可用刀“划身”的禁令（利 19:28; 21:5; 申 14:1）源于（1）对异教（迦南人）习俗的反对，以及划身仪式被视为将人交托给死人国度的信仰；（2）对以色列人独特性的肯定，即只有他们是“耶和华的儿女”（申 14:1），耶和华这位立约的神启示说：“我是自有永有的”（出 3:14）；（3）对以色列是“归耶和华为圣洁的民”的着重强调（申 14:2），耶和华拣选了以色列人是他们圣洁的根基；（4）圣洁的生命和健康的观念。剥去死亡和坟墓的圣洁性是以色列宗教的一大成就。尽管律法禁止以色列人划身，但是在公元前 6 世纪以色列人还是用划身来表达悲伤和哀痛（参：耶 16:6; 41:5）。

亚哈统治时期，巴力的先知们在迦密山与耶和华的先知以利亚争辩时，“按着他们的规矩，用刀枪自割、自刺，直到身体流血”（王上 18:28）。巴力的先知们的这种划身直到血流出的行为很可能是用巫术祈求降下及时雨的迦南仪式，也就是祈求巴力降雨的仪式（参：Apuleius *Metamorphoses*viii.27 ; J. Garstang 和 H. A. Strong , Syrian Goddess [1913], 84 页）。何西阿时期异教徒祭拜巴力的划身仪式显然是为庄稼求雨，何西阿谴责这种仪式（何 7:14）。《撒迦利亚书》13:2-6 中记载了在弥赛

Garstang and H. A. Strong, Syrian Goddess [1913], p. 84). The pagan self-laceration rite of the Baal cult, apparently intended to induce rain for the crops, was practiced in the time of Hosea and condemned by him (Hos. 7:14). The reference in Zec. 13:2–6 to the abolition of debased prophecy in the messianic age shows that self-inflicted wounding on their chests was practiced by prophets during certain periods.

The uncertainty surrounding the identification of a great many trees mentioned in the OT suggests that “cypress” should be restricted to translating t^e’aššûr (Ugar. tšrm), indicating the slender Cupressus sempervirens L. (Isa. 41:19; 60:13; Ezk. 27:6). Elsewhere the RSV “cypress” probably refers to one of the juniper species, several of which produce wood valuable for building purposes.

Ordinarily a gentilic (Bauer, p. 458; cf. Acts 4:36; 11:20; 21:16), the RSV apparently takes the Greek as a technical term. According to the NEB (2 Macc. 12:2) Nicanor was “chief of the Cyprian mercenaries” under Antiochus V Eupator (AV, RSV “governor of Cyprus”; Gk. Kypriárchēs; cf. JB). See CRATES; CYPRUS.

CYPRUS

sī'prəs. An island situated near the northeast corner of the Mediterranean Sea, in angle formed by the coasts of Cilicia (modern Turkey) and Syria. In the OT it is called Kittim; cf. the name of its Phoenician capital Kition.

I. Geography.-The island is the third largest in the Mediterranean after Sardinia and Sicily, with an area of about 3584 sq. mi. (9282 sq. km.). It lies only 46 mi. (74 km.) from the nearest point of the Cilician coast and 60 mi. (97 km.) from the Syrian. Thus from the northern shore of the island the mainland of Asia Minor is clearly visible, and Mt. Lebanon can be seen from eastern Cyprus. This close proximity to the Cilician and Syrian coasts, as well its position on the route between Asia Minor and Egypt, proved of great importance for the history and civilization of the island. Its greatest length, including the northeast promontory, is about 140 mi. (225 km.), and its greatest breadth 60 mi. (97 km.).

The southwest portion of Cyprus is formed by a mountain complex, whose highest peak is 6403 ft. (1951 m.). To the

I. 地形。塞浦路斯（居比路）是美索不达米亚地区三大岛屿之一，面积仅次于撒丁岛和西西里岛，约为 3584 平方英里（9282 平方公里）。塞浦路斯（居比路）距离基利家海岸最近距离为 46 英里（74 公里），距离叙利亚最近距离为 60 英里（97 公里）。因此从塞浦路斯（居比路）岛的北岸可以清楚地看到小亚细亚大陆，从塞浦路斯（居比路）的东部可以看到黎巴嫩山。由于塞浦路斯（居比路）靠近基利家和叙利亚海岸，且位于小亚细亚和埃及之间，所以塞浦路斯（居比路）的历史和文明非常重要。塞浦路斯（居比路）最大长度（包括东部角）约为 140 英里（225 公里），最大宽度为 60 英里（97 公里）。

塞浦路斯（居比路）的西南部是一个山系，最高峰达 6403 英尺（1951 米）。该山系的东北部是美索利亚（Messaoria） northeast of this complex lies the great plain of the Messaoria, nearly 60 mi. (97 km.) in length and 10 to 20 (16 to 32 km.) in breadth, in which lies the modern capital Nicosia. The plain is bounded on the north by a mountain range (the Kyrenia), which is continued to the east-northeast in the long, narrow promontory of the Karpass, terminating in Cape Andrea, the ancient Dinaretum. Its two highest peaks are just over 3100 ft. (945 m.). The shore-plain to the north of these hills is narrow, but remarkably fertile.

II. Products.-Cyprus is richly endowed by nature. Its fruits and flowers were famous in antiquity. Strabo speaks of it as producing wine and oil in abundance and corn sufficient for the needs of its inhabitants. The elder Pliny refers to Cyprian salt, alum, gypsum, mica, unguents, laudanum, storax, resin, and precious stones. The chief source of the island's wealth, however lay in its mines and forests. Silver is mentioned by Strabo; copper, which was called by the Greeks after the name of the island, was extensively mined there from the earliest period down to the Middle Ages; iron too was found in considerable quantities from the 9th cent. until Roman times. Scarcely less important were the forests, which at an early date are said to have covered almost the whole island. The cypress seems to have been the principal tree, and the island supplied timber for shipbuilding to many successive powers.

III. Early History.-The original inhabitants of Cyprus appear to have been a race akin to the peoples of Asia Minor. The island's vast resources in copper and timber gained for it a

大平原，长约 60 英里（97 公里），宽约 10 至 20 英里（16 至 32 公里），平原中间坐落着现代都城尼科西亚（Nicosia）。该平原的北部与一山脉接壤（凯里尼亚），该山脉由东向东北一直延伸，经过卡尔帕斯（Karpass）狭窄的海岬，直至安德里亚海角，即古代的迪娜瑞特姆（Dinaretum）。它的两座主峰刚好超过 3100 英尺（945 米）。这些山峰北部的海滨平原很狭窄，但是土地非常肥沃。

II. 产物。塞浦路斯（居比路）的位置得天独厚。它的水果和花在古代时非常著名。斯特拉博提到了塞浦路斯（居比路）盛产酒、油和玉米，这些出产物足以满足当地居民的生活需要。老普林尼提到了塞浦路斯（居比路）的盐、白矾、石膏、云母、药膏、鸦片酒、安息香、松香和宝石。不过，岛上的主要资源是矿山和森林。斯特拉博曾提到过银；从最早时期至中世纪期间曾在塞浦路斯（居比路）大量开采铜矿，铜这个名字时希腊人根据该岛的名字命名的；从公元前 9 世纪至罗马时期，在塞浦路斯（居比路）还发现了大量的铁。森林对塞浦路斯（居比路）来说几乎同样重要，据说在早期森林几乎覆盖了全岛。松柏树似乎是岛上主要的树木，该岛为后来历任占领该岛的政治力量提供了造船的木材。

III. 早期历史。塞浦路斯（居比路）的原始居民似乎是一个类似小亚细亚人的民族。岛上大量的铜和木材等资源使塞浦路斯（居比路）在遥远的年代占据着重要的地位，并建立了广泛的商业关系。 considerable importance and wide commercial relations at a very remote period. Its wealth attracted the attention of Babylonia and Egypt, and there is reason to believe that it was conquered by Sargon I king of Akkad, and about a millennium later by Thutmose III of the 18th Dynasty (1501–1447 B.C.).

But the influences that molded its civilization came from other quarters also. Excavation has shown that in Cyprus there were several seats of Minoan culture, and there can be little doubt that it was deeply influenced by Crete. Phoenician influences too were at work, and the Phoenician settlements of Citium, Amathus, Paphos, and others go back to a very early date. The breakup of the Minoan civilization was followed by a “dark age”; but later the island received a number of Greek settlers from Arcadia and other Hellenic states, to judge not only from Greek tradition but from the evidence of the Cyprian dialect, which is closely related to the Arcadian.

它的财富引起了巴比伦和埃及的注意，而我们有理由认为阿卡德王撒珥根一世占领了该岛，约一千年后第 18 王朝的图特摩斯三世占领再次占领了该岛（公元前 1501-1447 年）。

但是其他领域的影响力也塑造了塞浦路斯（居比路）的文明。考古发掘显示在塞浦路斯（居比路）有几处米诺斯文明遗址，毋庸置疑，克里特深深地影响了塞浦路斯（居比路）。腓尼基也影响了塞浦路斯（居比路），而且腓尼基人在很早时期就定居于西提姆（Citium）、阿马苏斯（Amathus）、帕弗和其他地区。米诺斯文明瓦解后出现了一段“黑暗时期”；但是后来许多从阿卡迪亚来的希腊人和其他希腊行省来的人定居在这座岛上，无论从希腊传统，还是从塞浦路斯（居比路）的方言都可以看出这一点，塞浦路斯的方言与阿卡迪亚语存在密切的关系。

Ancient harbor at Paphos, center of Roman rule on Cyprus. Paul, Barnabas, and John Mark visited the city on the first missionary journey. (W. S. LaSor)

In 709 B.C. Sargon II of Assyria made himself master of Cyprus, and tribute was paid by its seven princes to him and to his grandson Esarhaddon (681–667). The overthrow of the Assyrian empire probably brought with it the independence of Cyprus, but it was conquered anew by Aahmes (Amasis) of Egypt (Herodotus ii.182), who retained it till his death in 526 B.C. However, in the following year the defeat of his son and successor by Cambyses brought the island under Persian dominion (Herodotus iii.19, 91).

IV. Greek and Roman Periods.-In 501 the Greek inhabitants rose in revolt against the Persians, but were decisively beaten (Herodotus v.104ff.), and in 480 there were 150 Cyprian ships in the navy with which Xerxes attacked Greece (Herodotus vii.90). In 411 Euagoras

帕弗的古老港口，帕弗是罗马在塞浦路斯（居比路）的统治中心。保罗、巴拿巴和约翰马可在第一次传道之旅时访问过这座城市。（W. S. LaSor）

在公元前 709 年，亚述王撒珥根二世统治了塞浦路斯（居比路），岛上的几位诸侯向撒珥根和他的孙子以撒哈顿献上供物（公元前 681-667 年）。亚述王国被推翻可能使塞浦路斯（居比路）获得了独立，但是这座岛屿再次被埃及（Herodotus ii.182）的阿哈摩斯（Amasis）占领，阿哈摩斯一直统治塞浦路斯（居比路）直到到公元前 526 年阿哈摩斯去世。然而，次年由于阿哈摩斯的儿子被冈比西斯击败，从而使波斯人统治了塞浦路斯（居比路）（Herodotus iii.19, 91）。

IV. 希腊和罗马时期。公元前 501 年，希腊居民开始反抗波斯人，但是最终被波斯人镇压了（Herodotus , 104 起），公元前 480 年，薛西斯进攻希腊的军队中有 150 个塞浦路斯的船只（Herodotus vii.90）。公元前 411 年，厄瓦戈拉斯（Euagoras）继承了撒拉米的 ascended the throne of Salamis and set to work to assert Hellenic influence and to champion Hellenic civilization. He joined with Pharnabazus the Persian satrap and Conon the Athenian to overthrow the naval power of Sparta at the battle of Cnidus in 394, and in 387 revolted from the Persians.

Cyprus seems later to have fallen once again under Persian rule, but after the battle of Issus (333 B.C.) it voluntarily gave its submission to Alexander the Great and rendered him valuable aid at the siege of Tyre. On his death (323) it fell to the share of Ptolemy of Egypt. It was, however, seized by Demetrius Poliorcetes, who defeated Ptolemy in a hotly contested battle off Salamis in 306. Eleven years later it came into the hands of the Ptolemies and remained a province of Egypt or a separate but dependent kingdom until the intervention of Rome (cf. 2 Macc. 10:13).

In 58 B.C. the Romans resolved to incorporate Cyprus into their empire, and Marcus Porcius Cato was entrusted with the task of its annexation. The reigning prince, a brother of Ptolemy Auletes of Egypt, received the offer of an honorable retirement as high priest of Aphrodite at Paphos, but he preferred to end his life by poison, and the island passed into Roman hands and was attached to the province of Cilicia. In the partition of the Roman empire between senate and emperor, Cyprus was at first (27–22 B.C.) an imperial province. In 22 B.C., however, it was handed over to the senate together with southern Gaul in exchange for Dalmatia (Dio Cassius Hist. liii.12; liv.4) and was subsequently governed by ex-praetors bearing the honorary title of proconsul and residing at Paphos. Among them was Sergius Paulus, who was proconsul at the time of Paul's visit to Paphos. The title applied to him in Acts 13:7 is strictly accurate.

塞浦路斯（居比路）后来又再一次被波斯人统治，但是伊苏斯战役后（Issus，公元前 333 年），波斯人自动将塞浦路斯（居比路）的统治权交给了亚历山大大帝，这为他围攻推罗提供了极大的帮助。亚历山大死后（公元前 323 年），塞浦路斯（居比路）落入了埃及的多利买之手。然而，公元前 306 年底米丢（Demetrius Poliorcetes）在一场激烈的撒拉米战役中击败了多利买，夺得了塞浦路斯（居比路）。十一年后，多利买王朝统治了塞浦路斯（居比路），直到罗马入侵之前，塞浦路斯始终是埃及的一个行省或依赖于埃及王国的独立体（参：马二 10:13）。

公元前 58 年罗马人决定吞并塞浦路斯（居比路），并委任加图（Marcus Porcius Cato）来完成吞并的任务。统治君王，即埃及多利买·奥雷特斯（Ptolemy Auletes）的一个兄弟在帕弗以阿芙罗狄蒂（Aphrodite）的大祭司的身份光荣卸任，但是他选择用毒药结束了自己的生命，而塞浦路斯（居比路）落入了罗马人之手，并入基利家省。塞浦路斯（居比路）罗马帝国的参议院和皇帝之间，起初（公元前 27-22 年）是由皇帝管辖的行省。然而，公元前 22 年，为了换取挾马太（Dio Cassius Hist. liii.12; liv.4），塞浦路斯（居比路）和南部的高卢（Gaul）移交给了参议院，随后由获得方伯荣誉头衔、住在帕弗的前任长官管理塞浦路斯（居比路）。其中有一位叫士求保罗（Sergius Paulus），他在保罗访问帕弗时作帕弗的方伯。《使徒行传》13:7 中准确

V. Cyprus and the Jews.-The proximity of Cyprus to the Syrian coast rendered it easy of access from Palestine, and Jews had probably begun to settle there even before the time of Alexander the Great. Certainly the number of Jewish residents under the Ptolemies was considerable (1 Macc. 15:23; 2 Macc. 12:2), and it must have been increased later when the copper mines of the island were farmed to Herod the Great (Josephus Ant. xvi.4.5; xix.26.28). We shall not be surprised, therefore, to find that at Salamis there was more than one synagogue at the time of Paul's visit (Acts 13:5).

In A.D. 116 the Jews of Cyprus rose in revolt and massacred no fewer than 240,000 Gentiles. Hadrian crushed the rising with great severity and drove all the Jews from the island. Henceforth no Jew might set foot upon it, even under stress of shipwreck, on pain of death (Dio Cassius lxviii.32).

VI. The Church in Cyprus.-In the life of the early Church Cyprus played an important part. Among the Christians who fled from Judea in consequence of the persecution that followed Stephen's death were some who "traveled as far as Phoenicia and Cyprus" (Acts 11:19) preaching to the Jews only. Certain natives of Cyprus and Cyrene took a further momentous step in preaching at Antioch to the Greeks also (Acts 11:20).

V. 塞浦路斯（居比路）和犹太人。塞浦路斯（居比路）靠近叙利亚海岸，因此很容易从这里前往巴勒斯坦，而且犹太人可能在亚历山大大帝时期之前就已经在那里定居。当然，多利买王朝统治时期大批的犹太人定居在塞浦路斯（马一 15:23；马二 12:2），后来岛上的铜矿转包给希律大帝后，犹太居民的数目进一步增加（Josephus Ant. xvi.4.5；xix.26.28）。因此，我们发现在保罗访问塞浦路斯（居比路）时撒拉米不只有一个会堂不足为奇。

公元 116 年，塞浦路斯（居比路）的犹太人起来反抗，屠杀了多达 240,000 个外邦人。哈德良强力镇压了起义，并将犹太人赶出了塞浦路斯（居比路）。自此以后，犹太人不得再踏足塞浦路斯（居比路），即使遭遇船难也不可以，违者将被处死（Dio Cassius lxviii.32）。

VI. 塞浦路斯（居比路）的教会。塞浦路斯（居比路）在早期教会生活中起到了非常重要的作用。那些因司提反死后而遭难从犹太逃离的基督徒们有的“直走到腓尼基和塞浦路斯”（徒 11:19），他们只向犹太人讲道。某些塞浦路斯和古利奈人迈出了更为重要的一步，在安提阿也向希腊人传道（徒 11:20）。

Even before this time Joseph Barnabas, a Levite born in Cyprus (Acts 4:36), was prominent in the early Christian community at Jerusalem, and it was in his native island that he and Paul, accompanied by John Mark, began their first missionary journey (Acts 13:4). After landing at Salamis they passed “through the whole island as far as Paphos” (Acts 13:6), probably visiting the Jewish synagogues in its cities. Whether the “early disciple,” Mnason of Cyprus, was one of the converts made at this time or had previously embraced Christianity we cannot determine (Acts 21:16). Barnabas and Mark revisited Cyprus later (Acts 15:39); but Paul did not again land on the island, though he sighted it when, on his last journey to Jerusalem, he sailed S of it on his way from Patara in Lycia to Tyre (Acts 21:3), and again when on his journey to Rome he sailed “under the lee of Cyprus,” that is, along its northern coast, on the way from Sidon to Myra in Lycia (Acts 27:4).

In 401 the Council of Cyprus was convened, chiefly in consequence of the efforts of Theophilus of Alexandria, the inveterate opponent of Origenism, and took measures to check the reading of Origen’s works. The island, which was divided into thirteen bishoprics, was declared autonomous in the 5th cent., after the alleged discovery of Matthew’s Gospel in the tomb of Barnabas at Salamis. The bishop of Salamis was made metropolitan by the emperor Zeno with the title “archbishop of all Cyprus”; and his successor, who now occupies the see of Nicosia, still enjoys the privilege of signing his name in red ink and is primate over the three other bishops of the island, all of whom are of metropolitan rank.

实际在这之前，一个名叫巴拿巴的生在塞浦路斯的利未人（徒 4:36）是耶路撒冷早期基督徒中的重要人物，巴拿巴和保罗以及约翰马可就是在巴拿巴的故乡开始了第一次传道之旅（徒 13:4）。他们登陆撒拉米后，“经过了全岛，直到帕弗”（徒 13:6），可能访问了那里的几个犹太会堂。我们尚未能确定塞浦路斯的拿孙是在这时期悔改作了基督徒，还是这之前相信了基督教（徒 21:16）。后来巴拿巴和马可再次访问了塞浦路斯（徒 15:39）；但是保罗没有再次访问该岛，不过他在最后一次传道之旅去往耶路撒冷途中看到了塞浦路斯，在他从吕家的帕大喇前往推罗的途中，乘船从塞浦路斯的南面驶过（徒 21:3），此外，在他去往罗马的途中，他“贴着塞浦路斯背风岸”行去，即沿着该岛的北海岸，从西顿去往吕家的每拉（徒 27:4）。

公元 401 年，在亚历山大的提阿非罗的努力下，在该岛召开了塞浦路斯会议，提阿非罗是俄利根的老对手，他在这次会议中采取了一系列措施核查俄利根的作品。塞浦路斯被分为十三个主教辖区，公元 5 世纪在撒拉米的巴拿巴墓穴中发掘了所谓的《马太福音》后，塞浦路斯宣布独立。国王芝诺任命撒拉米的主教为大主教，被称为“全塞浦路斯的大主教”；他的继承者如今管辖着尼科西亚海，且享受用红墨水签名的特权，并且地位高于岛上的其他三位主教，这三位主教都是大主教级别。

VII. Later History.-Cyprus remained in the possession of the Roman and then of the Byzantine emperors, though twice overrun and temporarily occupied by the Saracens, until 1184, when its ruler Isaac Comnenus broke away from Constantinople and declared himself an independent emperor. From him the rule was seized in 1191 by the Crusaders under Richard I of England, who bestowed it on Guy de Lusignan, the titular king of Jerusalem, and his descendants. In 1489 it was ceded to the Venetians by Catherine Cornaro, widow of James II, the last of the Lusignan kings, and remained in their hands until it was captured by the Ottoman Turks under Sultan Selim II, who invaded and subjugated the island in 1570 and laid siege in Famagusta, which, after a heroic defense, capitulated on August 1, 1571.

The ensuing three centuries of Turkish rule were marked in general by laxness on the part of the rulers of Cyprus. Minor revolts were frequent, and there were serious revolts in 1764 and 1823. The population declined; the copper mines ceased to be worked; in the latter part of the 18th cent. cotton, the chief crop, dropped to an average annual crop of about 4000 bales from an average crop of about 8000 bales in the earlier part of that century (and from a crop of as much as 30,000 bales during the earlier Venetian period). In 1878 Britain and Turkey made a defensive alliance in view of the encroachments of Russia toward the south. As a part of this arrangement, Cyprus was occupied and administered by Britain, though nominally remaining a part of the Ottoman empire. When

VII. 后期历史。罗马仍然统治着塞浦路斯(居比路),后来落入拜占庭皇帝之手,尽管撒拉逊人曾两次短暂地占领该岛,直到 1184 年,塞浦路斯(居比路)的统治者以撒(Isaac Comnenus)摆脱了君士坦丁堡的统治,宣布自己是独立的君王。1191 年英国理查德一世统治下的十字军结束了以撒的统治,理查德一世将塞浦路斯(居比路)赐给了耶路撒冷有名无实的君王吕西尼昂的盖伊(Guy de Lusignan)和他的子孙。1489 年,吕西尼昂家族最后一位君王詹姆斯二世(James II)的遗孀凯瑟琳(Catherine Cornaro)将塞浦路斯割让给了威尼斯人,威尼斯人一直统治塞浦路斯(居比路)直到 1570 年苏丹塞利姆二世统治下的土耳其人入侵并占领了该岛,他们大举围攻法马古斯塔湾,塞浦路斯(居比路)人经过英勇抵抗后,于 1571 年 8 月 1 日宣布投降。

在接下来土耳其对该岛长达三个世纪的治时期,塞浦路斯的统治者一般采取宽松的统治策略,这一时期常有小型的反抗运动,1764 年和 1823 年爆发了剧烈的反抗运动;塞浦路斯(居比路)人口减少了;铜矿开采也停止了;18 世纪后期,塞浦路斯主要的农作物棉花的产量从 18 世纪早期的年均产量约 8000 捆(威尼斯人统治时期年均产量多达 30,000 捆)下降至年均 4000 捆。1878 年,面对着俄罗斯人的南侵,英国和土耳其组成了防御联盟。作为部署的一部分,英国占领并接管了塞浦路斯(居比路),但是名义上塞浦路斯仍然是奥斯曼帝国的一部分。土耳其在第一次世界大战期间与协约国为敌,英国吞并了塞浦路斯(居比路),并于 1925 年成为了英国的殖民地。

Turkey entered World War I against the Allies, Cyprus was annexed to the British empire, and in 1925 became a crown colony.

In recent years Cyprus has again been a land of tension. A small but powerful minority began agitating for henosis, i.e., union with Greece. The first open demonstrations occurred in 1931. Turkey, however, will not permit Cyprus to become a part of Greece, insisting that the island is more properly an extension of the Anatolian mainland. Though it is true that the larger part of the population of Cyprus (four-fifths) is Greek-speaking, largely through the influence of the Greek Orthodox Church, the natural and historical ties with Greece are not strong. Early in 1959 an agreement was reached among Britain, Greece, and Turkey that provided for setting up the Republic of Cyprus. Britain indicated her willingness to give up her sovereignty over the island providing she could maintain her military bases; Greece gave up the claim to henosis; Turkey gave up its insistence on partition. This agreement seemed to give promise of a lasting settlement, but it soon broke down, and Turkey invaded and occupied much of the island. Throughout its long checkered history the control of Cyprus has been regarded as essential for the control of the eastern Mediterranean. The continuing recognition of its strategic importance seems to destine Cyprus to a future of tension and struggle.

最近几年，塞浦路斯（居比路）又陷入了紧张的局势。有权势的少数人开始鼓动“联合”，即与希腊联合。第一次联合的公开尝试发生在1931年。但是土耳其不允许塞浦路斯（居比路）成为希腊的一部分，并坚持认为该岛更适合作安纳托利亚本土的延伸地带。尽管绝大多数塞浦路斯（居比路）的人口（五分之四）确实都说希腊语，这主要是由于该岛受希腊正教的影响，但是该岛与希腊的自然和历史联系并不紧密。早在1959年，英国、希腊和土耳其就达成了一致，准备建立塞浦路斯（居比路）共和国。英国表示愿意交出塞浦路斯（居比路）的统治权，但前提是英国要继续保留它的军事基地；希腊放弃统一塞浦路斯（居比路）的声明；而土耳其放弃“联合”塞浦路斯（居比路）的主张。这份协议似乎有望永久解决关于塞浦路斯的问题，但是这份协议很快便宣告失效，土耳其入侵并占领了塞浦路斯（居比路）的大片领土。塞浦路斯（居比路）的历史长期以来就一波三折，控制塞浦路斯被认为是控制地中海东部的必要条件。塞浦路斯（居比路）的重要战略地位似乎决定了它日后仍要面临紧张和争战的局势。

sī-rē'nē [Gk. Kyrēnē]. A city in North Africa, capital of the Roman province of Cyrenaica (ancient and modern Libya). The city, modern Shakhāt, is located on the “hump” of Libya, E of the Gulf of Sirte (Syrtis), about 100 mi. (160 km.) ENE of Benghazi. It lies on a plateau at an altitude of about 1600 ft. (490 m.), approximately 6 mi. (10 km.) from the sea, 8 mi. (13 km.) SW of Apollonia (modern Marsa Susah), which was its seaport, and lying against Jebel al-Akhdar, which rises to an elevation of 2894 ft. (882 m.), S of Cyrene. The plateau slopes downward to the south, and because of its location, it enjoys excellent climate and fertility of soil. Herodotus reports that Cyrene, “which is the highest part of the Libya that the nomads inhabit, has the marvel of three harvest seasons” (iv.199).

Cyrene was founded by Dorian Greeks from the island of Thera (Santorin). The first expedition set out ca. 630 B.C., but landed on the island Platea on the Gulf of Bomba. According to Herodotus (iv.150–54), the expedition had been instigated by the oracle at Delphi, so a second request was made of the oracle, and the second expedition landed on the mainland and was brought to the site of Cyrene by friendly Libyans. The founder was named Battus, which, according to Herodotus tells us that Cyrene was important enough for Amasis by the Delphic oracle before the expedition set sail, in fact before Battus was born. The dynasty of the Battiadae consisted of eight kings, alternately named Battus and Arcesilaus, and continued until ca. 440 B.C. A perennial spring nearby was named for the nature-goddess Cyrene (Kyrana) (in later Greek mythology said to be the bride of Apollo), which accounts for the city's name.

Because of its agricultural wealth, particularly in grain, stock-breeding, and the spice silphium (which was much used in Greek cooking and also had medicinal uses), Cyrene became a very important Greek colony. Herodotus tells us that Cyrene was important enough for Amasis pharaoh of Egypt (570–526 B.C.) to take a wife from there, possibly a daughter of Battus II (ii.181)—but Herodotus contains a mixture of factual and nonfactual legends. When the dynasty collapsed, a republic was established, and this passed into Ptolemaic Egypt in 322 B.C. Ptolemy I gave a constitution to Cyrene, a copy of which can be seen in the museum at Cyrene. During this period, Cyrene was one of the intellectual centers of the classical world. Its medical school was famous. Carneades (214–129 B.C.) was one of the heads of the Platonic Academy (Greek Academy), and the Cyrenaics, a Greek school of philosophers, were so called because the center of their activities was at Cyrene. Two well-known natives of Cyrene were Eratosthenes (276–194 B.C.), the geographer of Alexandria who calculated the circumference of the earth

由于古利奈在农业非常发达, 谷物种植、畜牧业和香料松香产业 (希腊人在烹饪时常使用香料, 此外, 松香还有药用价值) 尤为发达, 因此它成为了希腊非常重要的殖民地。据希罗多德记载, 古利奈对埃及法老雅赫摩斯 (Amasis, 公元前 570-526 年) 来说非常重要, 他娶了一位古利奈的女子为妻, 这个女子可能是巴图斯二世的女儿 (ii.181)——不过希罗多德的记载包含了真实故事和非真实的传说。王朝灭亡后, 古利奈建立了一个共和国, 并于公元前 322 年落入埃及多利买之手。多利买一世为古利奈制定了宪法, 该宪法的副本收藏在古利奈的博物馆中。多利买统治期间, 古利奈是古典时期的文化中心之一。古利奈的医学院非常著名。卡涅阿德斯 (Carneades, 公元前 214-129 年) 是柏拉图派 (希腊派) 的领袖之一, 而古利奈学派 (昔兰尼哲学派) 是一个希腊哲学派别, 之所以称这个学派为古利奈学派, 是因为这个学派的活动中心位于古利奈。古利奈的两个著名的本地人是埃拉托色尼 (Eratosthenes, 公元前 276-194 年) 和诗人卡利马科斯 (Callimachus, 约公元前 310-240 年), 亚历山大的地理学者埃拉托色尼估算古利奈的周长可能在 50 英里 (80 公里) 内, 这是目前被接受的数据, 诗人卡利马科斯对拉丁诗 possibly within 50 mi. (80 km.) of the presently accepted figure, and Callimachus (ca. 310–240 B.C.), the poet who so strongly influenced the Latin poets, particularly Catullus and Ovid.

By the provisions of the will of Ptolemy Apion, Cyrenaica passed to the Romans in 96 B.C., and Crete was united with it in 67 B.C. to form the Senatorial Province of Cyrenaica, with Cyrene as the provincial capital. In a large Jewish revolt in A.D. 115 there was widespread destruction and, according to Dio Cassius (Hist. Epit. lxxviii.32), 220,000 inhabitants were killed. Hadrian restored the city and left inscriptions on many of its buildings. But the city declined and the supply of silphium was exhausted. A disastrous earthquake in A.D. 365 contributed to the decline, and with the Arab conquest in 642 the city came to an end.

人产生了深刻的影响，尤其是卡图鲁斯（Catullus）和奥维德（Ovid）。

按照多利买·阿皮翁（Ptolemy Apion）的遗愿，公元前 96 年，昔兰尼加遗赠给了罗马人，并于公元前 67 年与克里特合并构成了昔兰尼加参议院省，古利奈是昔兰尼加参议院省的都城。公元 115 年，古利奈在犹太人的大规模起义中被大面积地破坏，根据卡修斯（Dio Cassius, Hist. Epit. lxxviii.32）的记载，220,000 万居民被屠杀。哈德良重建了该城并在许多建筑上刻了碑文。然而古利奈开始走向衰落，并且已经不能再供给松香。公元 365 年的地震加剧了古利奈的衰败，公元 642 年，随着阿拉伯占领古利奈，这座城市被彻底摧毁了。

Cyrene is significant for biblical studies because of its Jewish inhabitants. According to Josephus (CAp ii.4), Ptolemy I transported Jews to a number of Libyan cities, including Cyrene. From the magnitude of the disturbance in A.D. 115, mentioned above, it may be inferred that there was a sizable Jewish community there, and Jews who returned to Jerusalem from Cyrene were sufficiently numerous to have a synagogue “of the Cyrenians” (Acts 6:9). This doubtless accounts for the fact that a Cyrenian named Simon was present and could be compelled by the Romans to carry the cross of Jesus (Mt. 27:32; Mk. 15:21; Lk. 23:26). Worshipers from Cyrene are mentioned among those who witnessed the glossolalic preaching of the gospel by the disciples at Pentecost (Acts 2:10). Cyrenians not only disputed with Stephen (6:9), and possibly were also involved in his stoning, but some of them were also converted to Christianity and were spread by the subsequent persecution to become instrumental in the proclamation of the gospel to Gentiles at Antioch (11:19f.). Lucius of Cyrene was one of the prophets and teachers in the church at Antioch (13:1). We may assume that some of the Cyrenian pilgrims took the gospel back to Cyrene, for the Christian Church was established there at an early date. Two fine churches still existed in the days of Justinian (527–565). Synesius, who became bishop of Ptolemais ca. 409, was a native of Cyrene, boasting of royal descent, but we have no details of how or where he became a Christian.

Archeology of Cyrene, conducted by Italians between World Wars I and II, and since World War II by the Libyan government aided by British and Italians, has uncovered or restored numerous sites in the fountain area, in the upper city, and in the Roman town. These include the Greek agora, a theater (not yet fully excavated), a forum, the temple of Isis, 古利奈返回耶路撒冷的犹太人足够组建一个“古利奈”会堂（徒 6:9）。这无疑证明，古利奈人中有一位叫西门的在这里出现过，并且可能在罗马人的强迫下背了耶稣的十字架（太 27:32；可 15:21；路 23:26）。经文中还提到古利奈的敬拜者和其他人一同见证了门徒在五旬节用乡谈传讲福音（徒 2:10）。古利奈人不仅与司提反辩论（徒 6:9），而且可能还参与了用石头打死司提反的行动，但是有些古利奈人悔改后成了基督徒，并且由于被迫害而四散，成了在安提阿向外邦人传福音的器皿（徒 11:19-20）。古利奈的路求是安提阿教会的一个先知和教师（徒 13:1）。我们可以推断部分古利奈的朝圣者将福音带回到了古利奈，因为在早期这里就建立了基督徒教会。古利奈还保存下来了两座始于东罗马帝国时期的美丽教堂（公元 527 至 565 年）。约公元 409 年，修斯（Synesius）成了多利买的主教，他就是古利奈人，并自夸是皇室子孙，但是没有详细的资料记载他是如何或在哪儿成为的基督徒。

第一次世界大战至第二次世界大战期间，意大利人在古利奈进行了考古发掘，从第二次世界大战开始，在英国和意大利人的资助下，利比亚政府再次进行了考古发掘，并且在泉水区、上城和罗马城镇中发掘或修复了许多遗址。这些遗址包括一个希腊市场、一个剧院（尚未完全发掘）、一个广场、一座伊西斯圣殿、部分“圣路”、一座阿波罗神庙和一个希

I. Birth and Family.-Cyrus was the son of Cambyses I, ruler of Anshan, a region in the uplands of eastern Elam and part of the lands of the Persian tribes. Cambyses had inherited his rule from his father Cyrus I, to whom the western parts of the Persian lands had been allotted by his father and predecessor Teispes, the eastern portion being granted to Ariaramnes, brother of Cyrus I. Cyrus II himself has left a text (the Cyrus Cylinder) affirming his genealogy: "I am Cyrus, king of the world, great king, legitimate king, king of Babylon, king of Sumer and Akkad, king of the four rims (of the earth), son of Cambyses, great king, king of Anshan, grandson of Cyrus, great king, king of Anshan, of a family (which) always (exercised) kingship" (ANET p. 316).

Various stories concerning the birth and early history of this famous figure were of course in circulation in the ancient Near East, and some may contain genuine historical information. According to the best-known of them, as told by Herodotus (i.108-122), Cyrus was the offspring of the marriage of Cambyses, the Persian vassal of the Median king Astyages, and Mandane, daughter of Astyages. Astyages was warned in a dream that the child would grow up to slay him, and so gave orders that he should be put to death. The official entrusted with this task, Harpagus, instead gave the young Cyrus to a shepherd to bring up. Although Cyrus at the age of ten came to the attention of Astyages, once again his life was spared when the royal counselors persuaded the king to let the child live. Astyages' dream, however, came true, for

I. 出生和家族。居鲁士是安申的统治者冈比西斯一世的儿子，安申是位于以拦东部的高地上的一个地区，是波斯部族的领地的一部分。冈比西斯继承了其父居鲁士一世的统治权，居鲁士一世的父亲和前任铁伊斯佩斯（Teispes）王将波斯西部赠给了居鲁士一世，波斯东部地区是居鲁士一世的兄弟阿里亚拉姆涅斯（Ariaramnes）赠予的。居鲁士二世用一段文字记载了自己的家谱（古列铭筒）：“我是居鲁士、世界之王、伟大的君王、正统的君王、巴比伦的王、苏美尔和阿卡德的王、（地的）四极之王、伟大的安申之王冈比西斯的儿子、伟大的安申之王居鲁士（一世）的孙子、永世为王家族的一员”（ANET 316 页）。

古近东地区流传着关于这个著名人物的出生和早期历史的种种传说，有些传说中可能包含了一些真实的历史信息。据其中一个最著名的传说的记载，如希罗多德所描述（i.108-122）的，居鲁士是冈比西斯的后代，冈比西斯是玛代王亚士他基的波斯诸侯，娶了亚士他基的女儿曼丹尼。亚士他基梦见这个孩子长大后 会杀害他，因此下令杀死居鲁士。亚士他基的官长哈尔帕格（Harpagus）被赋予了这项任务，他却将幼小的居鲁士送给了一个牧羊人抚养。尽管居鲁士十岁时引起了亚士他基的注意，但是在皇家大臣的劝说下亚士他基免居鲁士一死。然而，亚士他基的梦变成了现实，因为当居鲁士成为波斯的王，便开始反抗亚士他基，并在战争中俘获了亚士他基，自己作了玛代的王。

when Cyrus became king of the Persians he revolted against Astyages, captured him in battle, and made himself master of the Median kingdom.

This legend has affinities with several other ancient tales concerning the founder of a dynasty, including those about Sargon of Akkad (24th cent. B.C.) and later Iranian rulers like Ardashir, founder of the Sasanian dynasty (3rd to 7th cent. A.D.). Herodotus' mention (i.122) that Cyrus' foster mother was named Spako, the Median word for dog, is further reminiscent of the tale of Romulus and Remus, the legendary founders of Rome, who were supposedly suckled by a wolf or dog. The more military aspects of the legend, e.g., Cyrus' revolt against Astyages, are much more likely to be historical.

A different story was told by the historian Ctesias, a court physician to the later Persian king Artaxerxes II (404–358 B.C.). According to his account, Cyrus was the son of a Persian bandit and a shepherdess; he rose to a place of honor in the Median court and eventually led a successful revolt against Astyages. The story of Cyrus given by the Greek historian Xenophon in his Education of Cyrus (Cyropaedeia) contains many factual details, but it is essentially a historical romance, portraying the ideal education of the ideal young prince. Within a century or two after his death Cyrus had become a legendary figure.

II. Early Conquests.—By his conquest of the Median empire (550 B.C.) Cyrus had in the first place welded Medes and Persians into a unified nation. Because Cyrus remained respectful of Median

这个传说与古代其他几个关于王朝建立者的故事存在密切的关联，其中包括关于阿卡德的撒珥根的故事（公元前 24 世纪）和后来关于伊朗的统治者的故事，如萨珊王朝（公元 3 至 7 世纪）的建立者阿达希尔的故事。希罗多德提到（i.122）居鲁士的养母名叫斯巴柯（Spako），斯巴柯的玛代语形式表示狗，这使人联想到了罗马的传奇建立者罗穆卢斯（Romulus）和雷穆斯（Remus）的故事，据说他们可能是由一只狼或狗哺育长大的。居鲁士传说中的更多军事细节很可能非常符合事实，如居鲁士反叛亚士他基。

历史学家克特西亚斯（Ctesias）讲述了一个不同的故事，克特西亚斯是后来的波斯王亚达薛西王二世（公元前 404 至 358 年）的御医。根据他的记载，居鲁士是一个波斯强盗和牧羊儿子的儿子；他在玛代宫中获得了令人尊敬的地位，并最终成功反叛了亚士他基。希腊历史学家色诺芬（Xenophon）在他的 Education of Cyrus (Cyropaedeia) 中记载了居鲁士的故事，其中包含了许多真实的细节，但是从本质上来说，Education of Cyrus 是一部历史传奇，描绘了这位完美的王子受过的完美教育。在居鲁士死后一个或两个世纪，他变成了一位传奇人物。

II. 早期的征服。居鲁士征服了玛代帝国（公元前 550 年）后，首先将玛代人和波斯人融合成一个统一的民族。由于居鲁士仍然尊重玛代的文化，所以他在玛代的伊克巴他修建了他的一个皇宫， culture, made Median Ecbatana one of his royal residences, and often appointed Medes to high positions in his provincial government, his kingdom became known as that of the “Medes and Persians” (cf., e.g., Dnl. 5:28; 6:8, 15; Est. 10:2). But secondly, his conquest over Media had given him rule over its former provinces of Assyria, Mesopotamia, Syria, Armenia, and Cappadocia.

To the west of the Median realm lay the powerful empire of the fabulously wealthy Croesus of Lydia. Croesus' attempts, after the downfall of the Median empire, to acquire some of the Median dependencies for himself were quickly frustrated by Cyrus. In 547 B.C. Cyrus launched an attack upon the Lydian empire, forcing Croesus, who had crossed the river Halys, his traditional eastern boundary, back to his capital city Sardis. After a short siege, the acropolis of Sardis was taken, and Croesus, rather than suffer the usual indignities meted out to a conquered ruler, had himself burned upon a pyre. The Nabonidus Chronicle from Babylon reports laconically (though restoration of certain passages is somewhat doubtful): “In May [547 B.C.] he [Cyrus] marched to the land of Lydia. He killed its king. He took its booty. He placed in it his own garrison. Afterward his garrison and the king were in it” (ii.16–18). Although Herodotus reports that Cyrus treated Croesus in a friendly manner, this may reflect the legend of Cyrus' clemency toward his conquered enemies rather than the facts.

This expedition against Croesus had taken Cyrus far into Asia Minor and had brought him into contact with the Greek cities of the Ionian coast. This was the first of many disastrous conflicts between Persians and Greeks that were to play such a dominant role in Greek history especially for a century thereafter. One by one the Greek city-states, previously under nominal Lydian rule, were picked off by Cyrus and reorganized into Persian provinces. Greek tradition holds that the general who was responsible for the subjugation of the Greek states and who became satrap of the newly formed Persian province was the same Harpagus who had saved the young Cyrus' life by his disloyalty to Astyages.

并常常任命玛代人作管理他的行省的高官，居鲁士的王国被称为“玛代人和波斯人”的王国（参：如，但 5:28；6:8，15；斯 10:2）。其次，征服玛代使他统治了玛代的亚述、美索不达米亚、叙利亚、亚美尼亚和加帕多家行省。

玛代帝国的西部是由吕底亚的克罗伊斯（Croesus）统治的极其富有的强国。玛代帝国毁灭后，克罗伊斯企图吞并部分玛代的属国，但他很快便被居鲁士打败了。公元前 547 年，居鲁士对吕底亚帝国发起了攻击，迫使已经越过吕底亚传统东部边界哈里斯河（Halys）的克罗伊斯撤回到吕底亚的首都撒狄。经过短暂的围攻后，居鲁士占领了撒狄的卫城，克罗伊斯不愿遭受居鲁士的侮辱，自焚而死。巴比伦的《拿波尼度年代志》中的记载很简洁（虽然某些被修复的内容令人怀疑）：“[公元前 547 年]五月，他[居鲁士]侵入吕底亚。杀了吕底亚的王。拿走了战利品。居鲁士用自己的军队驻守吕底亚。后来驻军和这位王都住在这里”（ii.16–18）。虽然希罗多德记载希罗多德善待了克罗伊斯，这可能是传说居鲁士善待征服者的体现，而不是事实。

此次针对克罗伊斯的远征让居鲁士深入小亚细亚腹地，并使他接触到了爱奥尼亚海岸的希腊城市。这是波斯人和希腊人之间爆发的首个灾难性的冲突，这些

Cyrus then turned his attention to the as yet unconquered Iranian tribes in the east. Parthia, in the hands of Hystaspes, grandson of Ariaramnes and thus cousin of Cyrus, soon became a Persian satrapy, Hystaspes exchanging his role as petty king for the no less exalted title of satrap of the Persian empire. Following the course of the Oxus river from high up on the Iranian plateau, Cyrus made himself master first of the land of Sogdia, introducing Persian systems of irrigation into that region, and then of Bactria. From there he pressed on finally into India, to the region known to the Iranians as Paruparaesanna, and to its inhabitants as Gandara, on the slopes of the Hindu Kush. Cyrus had, in no more than a decade, made himself ruler of a vast territory extending from the Aegean Sea to India, and had simultaneously established the structures of provincial government that were to serve his empire so well for many generations.

III. Conquest of Babylon.-Babylon, the next goal for Cyrus' ambitions, was ripe for change. Nabonidus, the last of the

冲突在希腊历史中尤其是后一个世纪的希腊历史中发挥了重要的作用。先前在吕底亚统治下的希腊城邦一个接一个被居鲁士占领，并入了波斯的领土。根据希腊的传说，这位负责征服希腊城邦的将军和后来波斯新行省的总督就是那位背叛亚士他基并救了年轻居鲁士性命的哈尔帕格。

居鲁士随后将注意力转移至东部尚未被征服的伊朗部族。叙司塔司佩斯（Hystaspes）统治下的帕提亚迅速成了波斯帝国的总督辖地，叙司塔司佩斯是亚士他基的孙子，也就是居鲁士的堂兄弟，叙司塔司佩斯成了波斯的诸侯王，地位与波斯帝国的总督不相上下。居鲁士沿着发源于伊朗高原的奥克苏斯河前行，首先占领了索格底亚（Sogdia）地区，并将波斯的灌溉技术传入这里，随后征服了巴克特里亚（Bactria）。居鲁士从巴克特里亚继续前行最终到达了印度，伊朗人称这个地区为帕鲁帕瑞尔撒纳（Paruparaesanna），而当地人称之为冈达拉（Gandara），这歌地区在印度库什的斜坡上。居鲁士不到十年的时间就成为了从爱琴海至印度的广袤疆域的统治者，同时建立了行省制度，这一制度很好地服务于波斯帝国达数代之久。

III. 征服巴比伦。野心勃勃的居鲁士的下一个目标就是巴比伦，巴比伦剧变的时机已经成熟。新巴比伦最后一位王拿

Neo-Babylonian kings, had absented himself from the capital for fourteen years to pursue his own antiquarian and religious hobbies at Teimā in northern Arabia. His continued failure to take part in the New Year festival at Babylon, the chief religious ceremony of the Babylonian cult, had alienated the powerful priesthood of the city-god Marduk, as had also his bestowal of favors upon the worship of Sin, the moon deity of Haran. The government of Babylon and of the empire was in the hands of his son Belshazzar, undoubtedly one of the less capable Neo-Babylonian rulers.

Nabonidus, sensing no doubt that Cyrus' success spelled severe danger for his own empire, returned to Babylon in the spring of 539 B.C. and began to bring into the city the statues of other Babylonian city-gods in order to afford greater protection to Babylon. Though New Year's day was celebrated in proper form on Apr. 4, 539 B.C., by late summer it was clear that nothing could hold back Cyrus. In early October Cyrus defeated a Babylonian force at Opis on the Tigris, and on Oct. 10 Sippar fell without a battle. Nabonidus hastily left Babylon, and on Oct. 12 Cyrus' troops under Gobryas (Ugbaru) governor of Gutium, a former general of Nebuchadrezzar who had defected to the Persians, entered the city. That night, according to Dnl. 5:30, Belshazzar king of the Chaldeans (Neo-Babylonians) was slain. When Nabonidus returned to Babylon he was made prisoner. Cyrus himself entered the city on Oct. 29, and presented himself to the citizens as its liberator.

波尼度离开首都十四年，在阿拉伯北部的蒂玛（Teimā）从事他古物研究，满足自己的宗教兴趣。拿波尼度连续多年不参加巴比伦的主要宗教仪式——新年庆典，疏远了巴比伦神玛尔杜克的权威祭司，并且开始崇拜哈兰的月神辛（Sin）。巴比伦和帝国交由拿波尼度的儿子伯沙撒治理，伯沙撒无疑是一位不太称职的统治者。

拿波尼度显然意识到居鲁士的成功使他的帝国面临着严重的威胁，因此他在公元前 539 年返回了巴比伦，并将巴比伦其他城市之神的雕像带到了巴比伦，企图为巴比伦带来更多的保护。尽管拿波尼度在公元前 539 年 4 月 4 日正常庆祝了新年，但是到了晚夏显然没有什么可以阻挡住居鲁士的进攻。10 月上旬，居鲁士在底格里斯河的欧皮斯（Opis）击败了巴比伦的军队，10 月 10 日，西巴尔（Sippar）不攻自破。拿波尼度迅速撤离了巴比伦，10 月 12 日，居鲁士的军队在古提姆（Gutium）的总督古巴鲁（Ugbaru）的指挥下攻入了巴比伦，古巴鲁原是尼布甲尼撒的一位将军，后来叛逃至波斯。根据《但以理书》5:30 的记载，当夜，迦勒底（新巴比伦）王伯沙撒被杀。拿波尼度返回巴比伦时被下在了监里。居鲁士于 10 月 29 日以巴比伦人的解放者的身份进入了这座城市。

Cyrus Cylinder (538 B.C.) recording the Persian king's bloodless capture of Babylon and his program of religious tolerance, including the release of the Jewish exiles and restoration of the temple (Trustees of the British Museum)

According to Herodotus, the Persians used the following stratagem to enter the city: “drawing off the river by a canal into the lake, which was till now a marsh, he [Cyrus] made the stream to sink till its former channel could be forded. When this happened, the Persians who were posted with this intent made their way into Babylon by the channel of the Euphrates, which had now sunk to about the height of the middle of a man's thigh” (i.191). A similar story is told by Xenophon (Cyropaedevii.5.7–34), though no cuneiform evidence supports this course of events.

Although the chief evidence for Cyrus' reception comes from sources obviously very favorable to Cyrus, there is little reason to doubt that his presence was welcomed. According to the “Nabonidus Chronicle,” “in the month of Arahshamnu, the 3rd day, Cyrus entered Babylon, green twigs were spread in front of him—the state of ‘Peace’ was imposed upon the city. Cyrus sent greetings to all Babylon” (ANET, p. 306). The Cyrus Cylinder, apparently composed by a Babylonian temple official, reports that “all the inhabitants of Babylon as well as of the entire country of Sumer and Akkad, princes and governors (included), bowed to him (Cyrus) and kissed his feet, jubilant that he (had received) the kingship, and with shining faces” (ANET, p. 316).

古列铭筒（公元前 538 年），上面记载着波斯王兵不血刃地占领了巴比伦，以及波斯王采取的宽容宗教政策，包括释放被掳的犹太人和修复圣殿。（大英博物馆理事会）

根据希罗多德的记载，波斯人采用以下策略攻入巴比伦：“居鲁士改变水道，将河水引入湖中，直到在这里仍是一片沼泽，他[居鲁士]使河水水流减小，直到可以涉水而过。波斯人用这种方式，由幼发拉底河的河床进入了巴比伦，现在这个河床只有一人高”（i.191）。色诺芬（Cyropaedevii.5.7–34）讲述了类似的故事，然而没有楔形文字的证据可以证明这些事件的经过。

虽然主要证据显示这些资料描述的居鲁士的反应显然对居鲁士有利，但是他确实曾经受人爱戴。根据“拿破尼度编年史”的记载，“第三天居鲁士在亚拉莎奴（Arahshamnu）口进入巴比伦，他面前绿树葱郁——强制声称巴比伦获得了‘安定’。居鲁士给全巴比伦送去了问候”（ANET, 306 页）。居鲁士圆柱显然是由巴比伦圣殿的官员建造的，上面记

The whole outcome of the city’s conquest was officially explained to its citizens as the doing of its city-god Marduk: “[Marduk] scanned and looked (through) all the countries, searching for a righteous ruler willing to lead him (in the annual procession). (Then) he pronounced the name of Cyrus, king of Anshan, declared him to be(come) the ruler of all the world ... Marduk, the great lord, a protector of his people/worshippers, beheld with pleasure his (i.e. Cyrus’) good deeds and his upright mind (and therefore) ordered him to march against his city Babylon. He made him set out on the road to Babylon going at his side like a real friend ... Without any battle, he made him enter his town Babylon, sparing Babylon any calamity” (Cyrus Cylinder; ANET, p. 315).

The events of October 539 B.C. were of more than passing importance. They marked the transition in the Babylonian and Assyrian world from Semitic to Aryan rule, a state of affairs that was to continue for a thousand years, and they made of Cyrus a world emperor, since he now became heir to the Neo-Babylonian empire, great in its heyday under Nebuchadnezzar (605–562 B.C.), and even in its decay still impressive. Cyrus was eager to make as little break in the continuity of Babylonian life as possible, so he proclaimed himself to the citizens according to ancient Semitic formularies and in the Akkadian language, to be “Cyrus, king of the world, legitimate king, king of Babylon, king of Sumer and Akkad, king of the four rims (of the earth) ... whose rule Bel and Nebo [the Babylonian deities] love, whom they want as king to please their hearts” (Cyrus Cylinder; ANET, p. 316).

载了“所有巴比伦的居民和全苏美尔人和阿卡德人（包括诸侯和省长）向居鲁士行跪拜礼并亲吻他的脚，面色发光地欢呼他（已经）作王”（ANET, 316 页）。

城隍庙之神玛尔杜克的行为向巴比伦的市民解释了巴比伦被征服的整个结局：“[玛尔杜克]扫视整个国家，寻找一个他原意带领的正直的统治者（在一年一度的游行中）。[然后] 玛尔杜克讲出了安申王居鲁士的名字，并宣布他作全世界的王……伟大之神玛尔杜克，人们/敬拜他之人的保护神对他的（也就是居鲁士的）善行和正直很满意，[因此]指派居鲁士进军巴比伦城。玛尔杜克在居鲁士去往巴比伦的路上与他同在，如痛他的真正的朋友……居鲁士不费一兵一卒就攻进了巴比伦，从而使巴比伦未遭受任何灾难”（居鲁士圆柱；ANET, 315 页）。

公元前 539 年十月发生的所有事不仅仅是曾经的重要事件。他们标志了巴比伦人和亚述人从闪族人到雅利安人（Aryan）统治的过渡，这种状态一直持续了一千年，然后出现了居鲁士作世界的王，而他现今成了新巴比伦的继承人，尼布甲尼撒统治时期是巴比伦的全盛时期（公元前 605-562 年），甚至在巴比伦衰退时仍令人印象深刻。居鲁士渴望将攻克巴比伦的伤害降到最低，因此他用

IV. Policy toward the Jews.-Part of Cyrus' conciliatory policy toward subject peoples was to resettle them in their homelands and to undertake the restoration of their places of worship. Cyrus' massive program of resettlement concerned more than the cities from which in recent months Nabonidus had brought the divine statues into Babylon; he wrote: “(As to the region) ... as far as Ashur and Susa, Agade, Eshnunna, the towns of Zamban, Me-Turnu, Der as well as the region of the Gutians, I returned to (these) sacred cities on the other side of the Tigris, the sanctuaries of which have been in ruins for a long time, the images which (used) to live therein and established for them permanent sanctuaries. I (also) gathered all their (former) inhabitants and returned (to them) their habitations. Furthermore, I resettled upon the command of Marduk, the great lord, all the gods of Sumer and Akkad whom Nabonidus has brought into Babylon to the anger of the lord of the gods, unharmed, in their (former) chapels, the places which make them happy” (Cyrus Cylinder; ANET, p. 316). The purpose behind these acts of repatriation was that a chorus of prayer

IV. 针对犹太人的政策。居鲁士针对巴比伦百姓的部分安抚政策就是让他们重返家园，重建他们的敬拜之所。居鲁士在多座城市实行了大规模的安置计划，就在几个月前拿波尼度还把这些城市的神祇雕像带到巴比伦；居鲁士写道：“（关于这个地区）……亚施户和书珊、亚甲、埃什南纳（Eshnunna）、匝穆班镇（Zamban）、默突尔奴（Me-Turnu）、德尔（Der）和亚提人（Gutians）的地区，我将神像送回到了底格里斯河对岸的（那些）圣城中，那些圣城的神庙早已成了废墟，这些神像（过去）矗立在这些城市中，是这些城市永恒的圣所。我（还）将这些城市（从前）的居民聚集起来，让他们回到自己的家园。此外，我按照伟大的神玛尔杜克的命令，重新将苏美尔人和阿卡德人的众神，就是拿波尼度之前带进巴比伦城惹怒了众神之神的雕像，完好无损地放回[原来的]小礼拜堂中，那里才是他们的乐园”（古列铭筒；ANET，316页）。居鲁士将这些雕像遣送回原来的地方是为了让帝国诸神的齐声祈祷能每天到达彼勒那里，也就是在玛尔杜克和尼波那里，居鲁士认为这两个神是巴比伦最高的神：“愿我安置的诸神在他们的圣殿祈求彼勒和尼波，保佑我长寿并把我推荐（给他）”（古列铭筒；ANET，316页）。 from the various gods of the empire might ascend daily to Bel, i.e. Marduk, and Nebo, whom Cyrus recognized at Babylon as the highest gods: “May all the gods whom I have resettled in their sacred cities ask daily Bel and Nebo for a long life for me and may they recommend me (to him)” (Cyrus Cylinder; ANET, p. 316).

The repatriation of the Jews, reversing the deportation policies of the Assyrians and Babylonians, was in accordance with Cyrus’ general policy. According to the Chronicler, generally recognized as author of the first chapters of Ezra, Cyrus’ permission for the Jews’ return was given in his “first year” (Ezr. 1:1), obviously not his first year as ruler (559–58 B.C.) nor yet his accession year (October 539–April 538 B.C.) in Babylon but his first full regnal year as king of Babylon commencing in April 538 B.C. Of course only after he had become king of Babylon did he come into contact with the Jews, so naturally they reckoned his reign from that time. The proclamation for the return was made both orally and in writing: he “made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom” (1:1) by dispatching a herald who after the public announcement of the royal edict would post a copy. Though Jewish exiles had settled mainly in Babylonia, the edict would apply equally to Jews elsewhere in his kingdom. This edict, preserved in Hebrew and no doubt drawn up in that language by some Jewish official in the Persian court, bears a strong Jewish coloring, especially in the phrases “Yahweh,” “each survivor,” “sojourns,” “free-will offerings”; a shorter form of the edict, free of most of these distinctively Jewish phrases, is preserved in 2 Ch. 36:23.

依据居鲁士的一般政策，犹太人遣送回国，这一政策改变了亚述人和巴比伦人的流放政策。根据历代志作者的记载（通常认为他是《以斯拉记》前几章的作者），居鲁士在“元年”就允许犹太人回到家园（拉 1:1），这个“元年”显然不是居鲁士统治第一年（公元前 559-559 年），也不是他在巴比伦登基作王那年（公元前 589 年 10 月至公元前 538 年 4 月），而是他从公元前 538 年 4 月开始作巴比伦王的第一个完整的即位年。只有当居鲁士成为了巴比伦的王之后，他才与犹太人发生了关联，因此，他们自然从那一年开始计算居鲁士的统治时间。居鲁士通过口头和书信两种方式下诏，允许犹太人返回家园：他“下诏通告全国”（拉 1:1），并派遣一位传令官在公开宣读诏书后将其副本张贴出去。虽然被掳的犹太人主要定居于巴比伦城，但是诏书中同样允许居住在巴比伦王国其他城市的犹太人重返家园。这份诏书以希伯来语形式保存了下来，显然是由波斯朝中的某些犹太官员起草的，并且有很浓厚的犹太人色彩，尤其其中使用了“耶和华”、“每个得救赎的人”、“寄居”、“自由的祭物”这样的短语；《历代志下》36:23 中记录了这份诏书的简短形式，其中绝大多数犹太短语都被删除了。

The permission for the return reads as much like a royal command as the requirement to rebuild the temple. But although about fifty thousand Jews responded to the royal decree (cf. Ezr. 2:64f.), many exiles remained in Babylonia (cf. Ezr. 7:6f.). Therefore, this part of the edict must have been construed simply as permission; the command form is used because that is the only mode of speech suitable for an autocrat! Though the Jewish exiles had, unlike other deportees, no images to carry back with them, Cyrus said, “May their God be with them” as they return, a phrase that would not have been offensive to the Jews. In place of restored images, Cyrus offered as a contribution to the reestablishment of the Jerusalem temple the sacred temple vessels that had been dedicated as a war trophy in Esagila, Marduk’s temple in Babylon, by Nebuchadrezzar after his capture of Jerusalem and plundering of the temple in 587 B.C. (2 K. 24:13; 25:13–16; Ezr. 1:7). These precious vessels of gold and silver, numbering between two thousand and five thousand (the text of Ezr. 1:9–11 is uncertain) were given into the charge of Sheshbazzar by the temple treasurer Mithredath.

Two further features of the royal edict of Ezr. 1 call for special comment. First, Cyrus professes himself to have been given all the kingdoms of the earth by Yahweh, the God of heaven. This does not mean that he himself was a worshiper of Yahweh; he was probably a Zoroastrian and worshiper of Ahura-Mazda, but obviously a feature of his imperial policy was to acknowledge with gratitude his blessings from the other high gods of his realm. Thus at Babylon it is Marduk, the city-god, who chooses him and declares him to be world ruler, while at Ur, it is Sin, the moon-god worshiped there, who gives him victory.

允许犹太人重返家园既可以视为一道王令，也可以视为关于重建圣殿的要求。然而，尽管约五万犹太人响应了国王的圣旨（参：拉 2:64-65），但是大部分犹太人还是留在了巴比伦城（参：拉 7:6-7）。因此，诏书的这部分内容只能解释成允许犹太人重返家园；之所以采用命令的形式，是因为这是适合独裁君王的唯一演讲方式！然而被掳的犹太人不像其他流放的人那样可以把崇拜的神祇像带回家园，居鲁士说：当他们返回家园时，“愿他们的神与他们同在”，这句话不会冒犯犹太人。居鲁士没有重修神像，而是将尼布甲尼撒在公元前 587 年攻占耶路撒冷和洗劫圣殿后献于以撒基拉玛尔杜克神庙中的战利品（即圣殿的器皿）重新送回到修复后的圣殿中（王下 24:13；25:13-16；拉 1:7）。这些珍贵的金银器皿，数量达二千至五千件（《以斯拉记》1:9-11 的记载不太明确），由圣殿的库官米提利亚交给设巴萨管理。

《以斯拉记》1 章诏书的另外两个特点需要我们给予特殊说明。首先，居鲁士称天上的神耶和华已将地上一切的王国赐给他。但这并不意味着居鲁士是耶和华的崇拜者；他可能是琐罗亚斯德教的教徒，迈扎尔（Ahura-Mazda）的崇拜者，但是，他的帝国政策显然具有感激他疆土中其他至高神赐福给他的特点。因此，在巴比伦城，这座城市的神玛尔杜克选择了居鲁士，并宣告他是世界的

Second, Ezr. 1:4 stipulates that non-Jewish subjects of the king were to help provide for the returning exiles money, food, and transport, together with offerings for the Jewish temple. This remarkable command reflects Cyrus' determination to restore regional cults, which of course required the presence of a body of worshipers in order to maintain them.

Another edict of Cyrus relating to the rebuilding of the temple is found in Ezr. 6:2-5. Because it does not mention the repatriation of the Jews but only the restoration of the temple, some have questioned the authenticity of the decree of Ezr. 1. But the two decrees have quite different functions: that of Ezr. 1 is a proclamation in Hebrew to the Jewish people, while that of Ezr. 6 is a document in Aramaic, the official language of the Persian empire, filed in the financial archives of the Persian administration at Ecbatana, one of the three imperial capitals. This records the stipulations made at the time of the grant from the royal treasury for the rebuilding of the Jerusalem temple. Thus the permitted dimensions of the temple are noted (the length is by some accident omitted), and the building materials (three courses of stone and one of timber alternating) are specified. This decree of Cyrus was confirmed and extended by Darius (522-486 B.C.) in the following verses (6:6-

王，而在吾珥，当地人敬拜的月神辛（Sin）助他得胜。

其次，《以斯拉记》1:4 中规定，非犹太国民要拿出金银、食物、工具和献给犹太圣殿的祭物帮助重返家园的犹太人。这道不同寻常的诏书体现出居鲁士恢复地区祭仪的决心，这自然需要涌现出大批的敬拜者。

《以斯拉记》6:2-5 中记载了有关居鲁士重建圣殿的另一道诏书。由于这里只提到了重建圣殿，而没有提到犹太人重返家园，有些人质疑《以斯拉记》1 章记载的诏书的真实性。然而，这两个诏书的作用非常不同：《以斯拉记》1 章的诏书是用希伯来语写给犹太人的，而《以斯拉记》6 章的诏书是一个亚兰语文献，亚兰语是波斯帝国的官方语言，这个文献收录在伊克巴拿他的波斯财物管理文献中，伊克巴拿他是三个帝国首都之一。这里记载了从皇室国库中拨款重建耶路撒冷圣殿时的规定。而且，这份文献中详细记载了圣殿的规模（圣殿的长度因疏忽遗漏了）和建殿的材料（每三层石头铺一层木材）。后面经文（拉 6:6-12）中的大流士（公元前 522-586 年）证实并扩充了居鲁士的这个诏书。

V. Cyrus in Isaiah.-Cyrus is alluded to or referred to a number of times in the prophecies of Isaiah 40-55. He is the one from the east whom Yahweh has “stirred up” (cf. Ezr. 1:1) and whom victory meets at every step (Isa. 41:2-4); he is likewise the one from the north and from the east who will trample on rulers as on mortar (41:25). Explicitly of Cyrus God says through the prophet: “He is my shepherd, and he shall fulfil all my purpose” (44:28); he is called Yahweh’s anointed one whose hand Yahweh has grasped and whom He will grant victories (45:1-4), the man of God’s counsel (46:11), the one whom Yahweh loves and who will perform Yahweh’s purpose against Babylon (48:14f.).

In spite of the warmth with which the prophet refers to Cyrus and the dignity accorded the king by Yahweh, apparently the prophet does not expect Cyrus to be converted to the Jewish faith; he is a pagan summoned to do God’s bidding though he does not know Yahweh (45:4). The one place which, by prophesying that Cyrus will “call on my name” (41:25), suggests that he will become a worshiper of Yahweh is textually uncertain and may in any case be adequately fulfilled in Cyrus’ ascription of his victories to Yahweh (cf. Ezr. 1:2). Even though Cyrus is Yahweh’s shepherd, anointed one, the one whom He loves (i.e., has chosen), Cyrus is nothing more than an instrument of God’s plans. Although the service he will render will be an indispensable one, his significance in the prophecies should not be exaggerated, for God and the people of Israel, not Cyrus, stand at their center.

V. 《以赛亚书》中的居鲁士。《以赛亚书》40-55 记载的预言中多次暗示或提及了居鲁士。他是从东方“兴起”（参：拉 1:1）、凭公义召到耶和华脚前（赛 41:2-4）的人；他就是那位从北方和东方来的，临到掌权的，好像临到灰泥（赛 41:25）。神借着先知之口明确提到了居鲁士：“他是我的牧人，必成就我所喜悦的”（赛 44:28）；他被称为耶和华所膏的，耶和华搀扶他的右手，使列国降伏在他面前（赛 45:1-4），他成就耶和华的筹谋（赛 46:11），他是耶和华所爱的，必向巴比伦行耶和华所喜悦的事（赛 48:14-15）。

尽管居鲁士有先知所说的热情和耶和华赐予的高位，但是先知显然没有预料到居鲁士会归向犹太人的信仰；居鲁士虽是个异教徒，不认识耶和华，但是耶和华却提名召他（赛 45:4）。尚无法确定居鲁士将“求告我的名”（赛 41:25）这个预言是否意味着居鲁士将成为耶和华的崇拜者，却足以说明居鲁士将胜利归于耶和华（参：拉 1:2）。尽管居鲁士是耶和华的牧人、祂所膏的和所爱的（也就是所拣选的），但是他不过只是达成神旨意的一个器皿。虽然居鲁士的侍奉是神旨意中不可或缺的一部分，但是不能夸大他在预言中的重要性，因为预言的中心是神和以色列民，而不是居鲁士。

While Isa. 44:28 and 45:13 suggest that Cyrus was to be responsible not only for the rebuilding of the temple but also for the reconstruction of the city, actually his successors Darius (522–486 B.C.) and Artaxerxes I (465–423 B.C.) saw these tasks through to completion. Still, Cyrus' policies toward his subjects in general and toward the Jews in particular provided the basis on which the later favorable decrees of Darius, ca. 520 B.C. (Ezr. 6:6–12), and Artaxerxes I, in 445 B.C. (Neh. 2:1–8), could be issued. And in fact the rebuilding of the temple was begun in Cyrus' reign (Ezr. 3:8–11), as was also possibly some rebuilding of the city in order to house those working on the temple reconstruction.

Whether Cyrus was aware in any way of the prophecies of Isa. 40–55 remains uncertain. Josephus indeed says that Cyrus came to know of his destiny with respect to the Jewish people “by his reading the book which Isaiah left behind him of his prophecies; for this prophet said that God had spoken thus to him in a secret vision:—‘My will is, that Cyrus, whom I have appointed to be king over many and great nations, send back my people to their own land, and build my temple.’ Accordingly, when Cyrus read this, and admired the divine power, an earnest desire and ambition seized upon him to fulfil what was so written” (Ant. xi.1.2). It is not implausible that a highly placed Jewish official, such as the book of Daniel represents Daniel to have been, could have drawn the emperor's attention to these prophecies, but without further supporting evidence this cannot be certain.

虽然《以赛亚书》44:28 和 45:13 中表明，居鲁士肩负起重建圣殿和重建耶路撒冷的责任，但是实际上居鲁士的继任者大流士（公元前 522 年至 486 年）和亚达薛西一世（公元前 465 年至 423 年）最终见证了这些工程的竣工。然而，居鲁士对臣民的一般政策和对犹太人的特殊的政策为后来大流士（约公元前 520 年，拉 6:6-12）和亚达薛西一世（公元前 445 年，尼 2:1-8）颁布有利于犹太人诏书奠定了基础。确实在居鲁士统治期间（拉 3:8-11）开始重建圣殿，而且他可能还为了给重建圣殿的人提供住处，重建了耶路撒冷的部分建筑。

尚不能确定居鲁士是否知晓《以赛亚书》40-55 章中的预言。约瑟夫斯确实说居鲁士知道他的命运与犹太人的命运息息相关“他读了以赛亚留给他的预言书；因为先知以赛亚说神在一个神秘的异象中对他说了：‘我定义要让我所膏的居鲁士作伟大的列国之王，将我的子民送回自己的家园，并修建我的圣殿’。因此，居鲁士读到这个预言时，感叹神的大能，热切地渴望和盼望应验书中的预言” (Ant. xi.1.2)。因此不难想象一位居高位的犹太高官（如，《但以理书》中的但以理）可能让居鲁士注意到了这些预言，但是没有更多的证据可以证实这种说法。

Tomb of Cyrus outside Pasargadae (modern Murghab), which he founded as his capital after defeating Astyages there in 550 B.C. (W. S. LaSor)

VI. Final Conquests and Death.—At the end of his accession year (539–38 B.C.) Cyrus had left Babylon for his capital Ecbatana, leaving his son Cambyses, who was resident in Sippar, to represent him at the Babylonian New Year Festival. Of Cyrus' activities during the final decade of his career little is documented. The sources become abundant again only concerning the occasion of his death, which occurred ca. 530 B.C. when Cyrus was dealing with the nomadic Massagetae on his northeastern frontier. Possibly the protection of that frontier had been his major preoccupation during that decade. According to Herodotus (i.205–215), Cyrus was at first successful against the Massagetae, capturing one of the sons of their queen Tomyris. But after the son had committed suicide in captivity Cyrus was defeated and killed in a further battle with that tribe. He was succeeded on the 帕萨尔加德 (Pasargadae) 城外的居鲁士墓穴 (现代的穆尔加布 [Murghab])，公元前 550 年居鲁士打败亚士他基之后，建都于帕萨尔加德。(W. S. LaSor)

VI. 最终的征服和死亡。居鲁士在登基之年的年末 (公元前 539 年至 538 年) 离开巴比伦，来到都城伊克巴他拿，留下他住在西巴尔的儿子冈比西斯 (Sippar) 代替他参加巴比伦的新年庆典。关于居鲁士最后十年的活动记载不多。但是，关于居鲁士死亡的记载却非常丰富，居鲁士约公元前 530 年去世，当时他正在东北边境与游牧民族马萨格泰人 (Massagetae) 交战。这一时期他主要关注边境的安危。根据希罗多德 (i.205–215) 的记载，居鲁士起初成功击败了马萨格泰人，俘获了他们的女王托米莉斯 (Tomyris) 的一个儿子。但是这个儿子在监中自杀后，居鲁士被和这个支派进行的另一场战役中被打败马萨格泰人打败，最终战死沙场。冈比西斯成功地继承了波斯帝国的王位，居鲁士在远征前不久就钦定冈比西斯为储君。

Persian throne by Cambyses, whom he had appointed as his successor shortly before setting out on the expedition.

The tomb of Cyrus that stands at Pasargadae is plain but impressive. A simple gabled edifice built of limestone blocks cramped together with iron bands and resting on a stone platform six courses high, it contains a windowless chamber 10.5 by 7.5 ft. (3.2 by 2.3 m.) in area and 8 ft. (2.4 m.) high. On it, according to Strabo (Geog. xv.3.7), was inscribed the following, in old Persian characters (Arrian Anabasis vi. 25): "O man, I am Cyrus, who gained the empire for the Persians, and was king of Asia. Do not begrudge me this memorial!" According to Plutarch (Alex. 69) the inscription read, "O man, whosoever you are, and whencesoever you come, for I know that you will come! I am Cyrus, who won for the Persians their empire. Do not begrudge me this little earth that covers my corpse!"

Cyrus had been not only one of the greatest conquerors of history, but by the tradition of his clemency to those he had defeated, and his policy of religious toleration, he had also left an example to mankind that, had it been followed, would have saved the world immeasurable suffering (Weissbach, col. 1166).

居鲁士的墓穴位于帕萨尔加德，这个坟墓很简单却令人印象深刻。上面是一个用石灰岩块和铁箍搭建的简单的三角墙，下面用六层石头砌了一个平台，墓穴没有窗户，长宽分别为 10.5 英尺和 7.5 英尺（3.2 米和 2.3 米），高 8 英尺（2.4 米）。根据斯特拉波（Strabo, Geog. xv.3.7）的记载，墓穴上用古波斯语刻着以下内容：“哦，世人啊！我是居鲁士，波斯帝国的缔造者，亚细亚的王。不要羡慕我永垂不朽的功绩！”根据的普鲁他克（Alex. 69）的记载，墓穴上面记着：“哦，世人啊，无论你是谁，无论你来自何方，因为我知道你一定会来！我是建立了波斯帝国的居鲁士，不要吝惜给我一寸葬身之地！”

居鲁士不仅是历史上最伟大的征服者之一，传说他对战败者非常仁慈，并且他采用宽容的宗教政策，他还为人类做出了榜样，如果人类以他为榜样，便可免遭无法估量的痛苦（Weissbach, 1166 栏）。
